Green places theft loss at auto parts firm at 'close to $10,000'

"They seemed to know what they were looking for," Don Green, owner of Don Green Auto Parts, told The Hesperian while surveying losses sustained in a late Saturday night or early Sunday morning burglary of his firm, located at 117 West California.

Green says the burglar(s) took expensive tools and left less-expensive items. The auto parts owner places the loss at "close to $10,000."

An extensive police investigation was underway early this week.

Green says at least one person apparently came through the roof and opened the back door for accomplices. A ladder on an adjacent building presumably allowed one of the yeggs to climb onto the roof. The businessman believes that one individual was involved.

"They cleaned everything out of our shop," Green says. Tools had to be borrowed to begin the work week.

Speaking of the burglars, Green says "They even used my two-wheel hand trucks" to remove a portion of the merchandise. Tracks made by the hand trucks indicated that it did not contain much weight, Green says. Tracks were traced "about 2-1/2 blocks."

A grocery cart from the firm was found outside the back door.

ITEMS REMOVED

An edger was removed from the front window, but a lawnmower was left.

A "new shipment" of approximately 25-30 Crescent wrenches, along with all hacksaw blades in stock, were among the stolen items.

One set of battery cables, which was on display outside the box, was taken but other nearby cables inside boxes were not removed.

From one wall, "They took the higher priced tools and left the cheaper tools."

Also stolen were the firm's entire stock of vice grips, flashlights, hammers, files, radios and other items. Musical tapes were not disturbed.

Several empty boxes had been left in the back. However, instead of taking these boxes, the burglars emptied boxes filled with filters and used these to remove merchandise.

SAFE ENTERED

The firm's safe was opened and a significant amount of cash was taken although checks were not removed.

Stolen from the shop area were transmission jacks, a floor jack, drills, impact sockets, large wrenches and other tools. "They left what was on the floor (tools left at the conclusion of the work week) and cleaned out our tool cabinets."

A neighbor reported that he heard his dog barking "between 1 and 1:30" Sunday morning. About 3 o'clock, the dog "started barking in a different direction." The animal likely was barking at the burglar(s), Green believes.

The business owner noted that his burglar alarm was unplugged.

Sunday fire inflicts heavy house damage

Volunteer firemen and a large group of spectators rushed Sunday morning to 907 S. Leonard where flames had attacked a three-bedroom frame house. A dozen firemen took four trucks to battle the blaze.

Time of the fire was 10:20 a.m.

Owned by Maurice Threadgill, the dwelling was rented to Douglas Verone.

The occupants — two adults and three children — lost a portion of their possessions to fire and smoke, The Hesperian was told.

Estimate of the house and personal losses were placed at $20,000.

The blaze started in the garage, which is attached to the house's south side. The garage and two bedrooms sustained fire damage, while the remainder of the dwelling had heat and smoke damage.

The family reportedly was at home at the time of the fire but "got out with no injuries."

Volunteer firemen reached the site four minutes after the fire was reported. The blaze was "already vented through the roof" when firemen arrived.

Authorities again ask the public to allow emergency vehicles to reach their destination as quickly as possible without traffic interference and also to remain out of the way of firemen or ambulance personnel while they are engaged in emergency situations.

Names needed for unmarked graves

Unidentified individuals occupy a number of gravesites in Floydada Cemetery.

Individuals who believe they can identify persons buried in any of the unmarked graves are asked to give this information to Moore-Rose Funeral Home.

The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Another Old Settlers Reunion has come and gone and folks are back to the routine of making a living. Nevertheless, my mind keeps going back to the event. It was truly a remarkable celebration and the folks who are responsible for the festivities deserve all the accolades that have come their way. We got in town just minutes before the parade started and the crowds were so great that we had to park some distance from the office and take our place, indeed find our place, among those who had been waiting to see what would take place. None, to our knowledge, were disappointed.

As we watched the parade unfold we overheard one visitor telling another "I'll say one thing for the people in this town. They sure know how to do things right." It was a nice thing to hear. All in all, it was a wonderful occasion. The rains came, and stopped. The festivities took place. The rains came again. The countryside looks great.

Speaking of rain. This area is evidently most fortunate, judging from what we read in the national press and what we hear from visitors to other parts of the country. When the mighty Mississippi gets so low that barges can no longer navigate, we know things are bad. The "heartland" region, the agricultural midwest, is terribly short on moisture. The northwest, usually wet this time of the year, is now unusually dry. Even the Mississippi Delta is short on water, with failing crops. Closer to home, the region below the cap, all the way to the Hill Country, is getting worrisome. And farther south, toward the Rio Grande, conditions have long since passed the critical stage.

All that can change in a hurry of course. But even if rains come to the midwest soon a great deal of damage has already been done. About all we can do, I suppose, is be thankful we have been blessed, and hope it continues...and that we deserve it.

Not everything is coming up roses, however. We are losing Jim Reynolds here at the Hesperian and the Beacon. He's going back where he was born, raised, and started his newspaper career many years ago. Jim will be taking over at the Tulia Herald next month and he will be sorely missed at these newspapers, certainly the staff and, we believe, by the community as well.

Jim deserves most of the credit, in our opinion, for the attractiveness of our product during the time he has been with us, as well as the quality of the news coverage. In truth he is about as good a "community journalist" as we've run into in this business, and that covers a lot of territory.

We wish him well in his new endeavor. The welcome mat will always be out.

Correction

The vote reported in last week's Hesperian on the new band hall for Floydada High School was not complete. Previously reported as 4 to 2 with Charlene Brown, board president asking to be included, the actual vote was 4-3. Voting for the new band hall were Michael Hinsley, Don Hardy, Andy Hale and Charlene Brown. Voting against were Adolfo Garcia, John Dunlap and Cyndi Williams.

The book was closed on an era when the South Plains School concluded its existence on May 31, amid sighs of regret and whispers of memories.

South Plains School was the last rural school in Floyd County and one of only seven in Texas.

Opened in 1895 as Sunset School, district number eight, the educational institution which was moved in 1929 to the new town of South Plains had a lengthy and proud heritage.

It provided the education for up to three generations of several families.

In addition to being one of the county's largest rural schools through the years and having a strong reputation for education, the South Plains school and community were known for one other trait: strong softball teams. Rarely, if ever, did South Plains put a team on the diamond which wasn't competitive...and they won their share of championships.

Softball, however, wasn't the only sporting event involving the South Plains community's youth.

"We played basketball on a dirt court...and we nearly wore the ground out playing," remembers Kendall Cummings, one of the three-generation family members to attend the school.

When the school opened in the fall of 1929, there were 133 pupils who studied in the new South Plains School building. This was the school's peak enrollment through the years.

The next largest class enrolled in 1967. It numbered 132, with 34 students in the first grade. Since that time class numbers have dwindled as many families moved from farms into nearby towns and larger cities.

"Hard economic times for the farmers and the dwindling population resulted in only 27 students in the six grades taught in 1987-88," this newspaper was told.

Fewer persons living on the land — and the accompanying enrollment decline — plus more rigid state requirements led to the inevitable: closing of the beloved South Plains School.

Sunset School opened in 1895, two miles east of the present site in South Plains. That was a one-room frame building.

With no long yellow school buses, cars and pickups at that time, students either walked to school, rode horseback or rode in buggies.

Frank Nix, one of the first teachers, earned a salary of $30 per month.

In 1926, a brick school building was erected one mile north of the original location. It was large for its days, containing eight rooms where an enrollment of 180 pupils studied. They ranged from primer through tenth grade.

Among the teachers at Sunset were J.W. Taylor, Mr. Ragle, Mrs. Hughes, Mr. Robbins, Mrs. Nix, Dave Hopper, Fannie Wilson, Mr. Duck, Price Scott, Joe Weaver, Mrs. Joe Hanes, Hubert O'Neal, Grayson D. Tate, Mrs. E.O. Nichols, Mr. White (who had no legs, but did not let his handicap hinder him as he later became Floyd County tax assessor), Mr. Grubbs, Belva Soloman, Ebed Baker, Mrs. Blanche Phegley, Mrs. Verna Snodgrass, Bessie Wood, Mrs. J.P. Looney and W.F. Cook.

JOHN WILSON STARTED EDUCATION IN 1914

John Wilson started to school at Sunset in 1914. This qualifies him as the oldest student of the school still living in Floyd County.

Wilson remembers his favorite lunch as being cold biscuits and sausage, which he carried to school in a syrup pail. He also recalls the big rain of 1919. It filled the draw west and south of Sunset from bank to bank. The teacher decided that it would be too dangerous to cross and sent the students to the homes of Grigsby Milton Sr., Charlie Wilson and Mrs. Verna Snodgrass.

With the coming of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad in 1927, the town of South Plains was born and began to flourish. Located on the railroad halfway between Floydada and Silverton and an equal distance from Lockney, the town soon became a thriving community.

The decision was made in 1928 to move the school from Sunset to South Plains. It was completely dismantled and rebuilt at its present site.

Noel Deavenport, one of those who studied in all three schools — old Sunset, new Sunset and South Plains — remembers helping clean the brick when the school was rebuilt.

Teachers for the 133 pupils when the new South Plains School opened in the fall of 1929 were Mrs. W.F. Cook, Mrs. Blanche Phegley and Novelle Hawkins. W.F. Cook was teacher and principal.

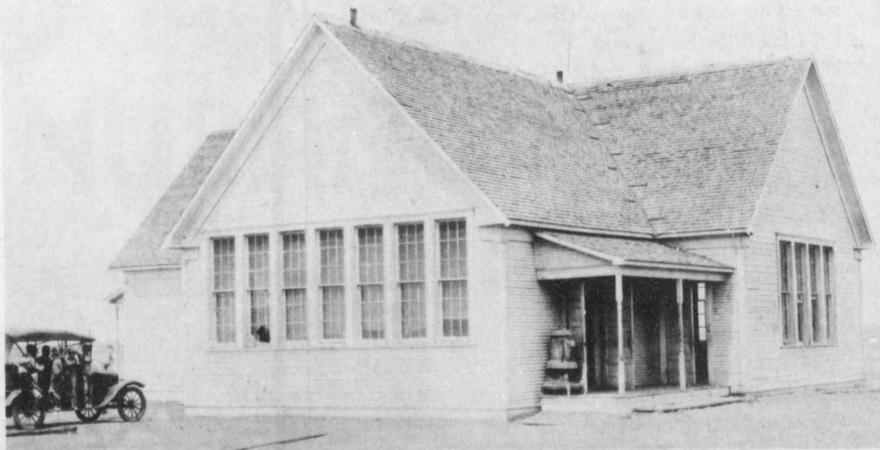

Clarence Guffee served as superintendent of the 32 rural schools in Floyd County.

ROSELAND CONSOLIDATION

In 1935, the Roseland School consolidated with South Plains, adding a number of students to its rolls. The school taught first through seventh grades with the older students going in to Floydada.

Kendall Cummings remembers attending ninth and tenth grade at South Plains. "Well over 100" students were enrolled. "We had six rooms, and there was somebody in every room," he recalls. He adds that some students from Cedar Hill were also attending the school.

Cummings attended Roseland and Lone Star schools before returning to Roseland. It was the Roseland consolidation with South Plains which brought him to the later school.

The longtime resident of the community remembers that he "finished the tenth grade" at South Plains, which was the highest level at South Plains. He attended Lockney schools the following year, graduating from the eleventh (final) grade there in 1938.

After completing tenth grade at South Plains, some teenagers from that community went to Lockney and some to Floydada for the eleventh grade.

"They were trying to get the school accredited with a full high school then, but it went the other way." Two years later, South Plains School "was cut back to ninth grade."

In athletics, South Plains youngsters played Lakeview, Cedar Hill and possibly other schools. A major happening in those years was the county intramural competition which involved all Floyd County schools. South Plains athletes played basketball and softball and participated in track.

FARM HOMES

Records indicate that the majority of students came from farm homes in the early days. A few were children of railroad workers, ministers, grocers, merchants, filling station operators, ginners, grain elevator operators, truck drivers and teachers. Later, with the beginning of irrigation, there came the children of farm laborers. Eventually these children made up a large number of the student population.

Many of them were seasonal, attending school while their parents were working in the fields and then checking out when the work was completed.

There have been many families in the community that had two generations of students go to school at Sunset-South Plains.

At the closing of the school there were a trio of families present that had sent three generations through the school: Kendall Cummings, his children, Kay Cummings, Zacha Gregory and Kelvin Cummings and Kelvin's offspring, Ken and Victoria Cummings; Arby Mulder his daughter and son, Kathy Taylor and Nathan Mulder, and Nathan's offspring, Penny Poole, Cindy Mulder, Jimmy Mulder and Cory Mulder; Carleen Daniel Johnson, her offspring, Carlton Johnson, Shari Smith, Denise Cochran and Deneen Marricle, and Carlton's offspring, Tanner Johnson and Velvet Johnson.

"I had aunts and uncles on both my dad's and my mother's side of the family who attended Sunset School, and some to South Plains," Kendall Cummings remarks.

His three children attended South Plains School through eighth grade and then completed their public school education at Floydada. This year, his grandson, Ken, finished fifth grade and granddaughter Victoria, completed first grade in the South Plains School's final year.

ACADEMICS AND SOFTBALL

Academics and softball have always been among the strong points of the school.

Kendall Cummings' family is a prime example. All three of this offspring were studying in colleges at the same time. One attended Rice, another studied at Texas A&M University and the third attended Texas Tech University.

Comments have been made by teachers in Floydada that students coming in from South Plains were always well versed in math, English and history.

In a memory book belonging to L.H. Alldredge, teacher and principal, and written in by his students, are the following two letters:

May 4, 1939 — "Dear Mr. Alldredge: I have enjoyed having you as a teacher and friend. You have been a very good history teacher. I hate to see you leaving the school as it seems like the school can't get along without you. I don't want to say goodbye but so-long. Your pupil and friend, Carol Reeves. P.S. Remember the 'Gold Bug.'"

May 10, 1939 — "Dear Mr. Alldredge: Shall I ever forget our golden memories of dear ole S.P.H.S.? I'm afraid not. I shall always keep in mind our victorious baseball games at Floydada. I shall also remember the many plays you have directed in which I have taken part. There are so many things to remember, so just remember what you can, but I should like for you to know that I have enjoyed every class you have taught me. May you make as great success elsewhere as you have made here in our little community. We are all indeed sorry to see you leave our place but we hope to see you here again sometime (Signed) A pupil, schoolmate and friend, Frances Field."

Softball was the most played outdoors game at the school, and South Plains' ability was well known.

SPENDS THE DAY

Ruby Lee Higginbotham remembers packing lunches and spending the day at the various schools while the students participated in tournaments.

One young fellow remembers his disappointment when a fellow classmate—a girl—was chosen to play third base over him.

In the early 1950's Art Willis and later I.H. Parks furnished uniforms for organized teams which played in leagues and tournaments in Lockney, Floydada and Silverton. It was quite an achievement to defeat a team from one of these towns...and often as not they did!

Basketball games were also popular and played on outside courts after school. Later a concrete court was poured behind the school building and used until the gym was built.

Scout troops have been a part of the school since the early days. At the school reunion on May 29, Mose Damron, teacher and principal from 1943 to 1957, related that "I had a hard time finding a place for the Scouts to camp, but the first time that we took them to Armstrong Camp they made such a good impression on W.E. Burleson with the cleanliness in which they left their camp that he continued to allow them to camp on his ranch."

"I could always count on John and Ernest Smitherman to go along and help me."

After Scout meetings at the school, Damron taught the boys to box. They had a regulation ring set up on the stage in the auditorium. Damron was always careful to pair the boys up according to size and ability.

Doug Beedy and Calvin Pyle boxed one night until some of the younger boys thought they were going to kill each other. Both were determined to win. Doug Reeves was another combatant hard to beat.

In the late 1960's Scout leaders Mike Wood and Ed Harman planned a camping trip for their young charges. They went ahead and set up camp and then came back and gave the boys a map and told them that everything was there that they would need at the end of the trail marked on the map.

The boys set out to hike to camp. When they arrived they discovered that water had to be carried from the creek, wood had to be gathered and a fire started with no matches. Dinner had to be cooked using the live chicken tied at the campsite. They managed—although it was reported that the chicken was burned on the outside and rare on the inside.

The Cub Scouts raced their handcrafted racers in the pine-wood derbies, learned to tie knots, participated in Scout roundups with other Scouts in the district, received their awards at Blue and Gold Banquets and looked forward to the days when they could be full-fledged Boy Scouts.

GOOD COOKS

There have been many good cooks down through the years. Two who are remembered for their homemade hot rolls are Mrs. Lee Pearson and Mrs. Lottie Stewart. Mrs. Pearson gave everyone two rolls, and youngsters could come back for as many as they could eat. Honey and peanut butter added to their taste.

Mrs. Stewart insisted that students taste everything on their plates, even things they did not like or were unfamiliar with.

Students came to the kitchen, filled their trays and took them back to their rooms to eat until several years ago when enrollment was down and a classroom was transformed into a cafeteria.

When buses and bus drivers came on the scene they gathered up the children and transported them to South Plains in three-buses. When they met at the school the older students transferred onto the "town bus" and were taken on to school in Floydada.

There were few problems until the town bus got underway, and it became a challenge to see how much the driver would let the students get away with.

Charlie Jarrett had trouble with students on the first day he drove the bus. Finally, he stopped beside the road and had a talk with them. He explained to the students that he was hired to drive the bus and maintain law and order, and he had the authority to put anyone off the bus who did not conform to his rules and regulations.

Therefore, in a short period of time, there were several students who had to find their own transportation to school for several days. After this test of willpower the students fell in line and they had little more trouble.

Jarrett is remembered as one of the best-liked drivers. The next driver lasted only one day!

Through the years the P-TA mothers have contributed to the well-being of the school. They held bake sales, sold pecans, sold refreshments at ball games and at farm sales, raising money for extras for the school and "to help out the teachers."

One year the P-TA decided that the stage curtains needed to be replaced. The mothers secured estimates for new curtains and decided to hold an old-fashioned box supper.

Raymond Akin, auctioneer from Plainview, donated his services. He knew what the curtains cost and how many people were present. When the event ended, the money was earned, with no boxes having gone for under $40.

At the next P-TA meeting, members voted to give everybody back half of the money they had spent.

SCHOOL PLAYS

Holidays, school plays, spelling bees and blackboard math contests were always big events. School plays were held for the community and everyone came. Each spring a three-act play would be presented by the adults along with some of the teachers and pupils.

These were exchanged with other communities, and some

Fannie Alstine Wilson first of four generations of Floyd teachers

When Frances (Fannie) Alstine Wilson became a teacher at Sunset School in 1895, she undoubtedly had no idea that she was the first of four generations of her family to be a teacher in the schools of Floyd County.

Ensuing members of the family to teach at public schools in this county were:

Granddaughters

Roberta Garrett Hardin, a graduate of West Texas State University, taught at A.B. Duncan Elementary and R.C. Andrews Elementary from 1969 to the present.

Great-granddaughters

years there were five or six plays.

Money from these plays was used to improve the school and playground. There was always a packed house and people came from Lockney, Floydada and Silverton to see these fine plays.

Mrs. Sylvia Yeary had a private music class starting in 1950 at the school. Parents of the music students sponsored a pie supper and made $100 to buy a piano for the music room. Some of the men bought three and four pies and resold some of them in order to get enough money.

The Halloween carnival was always a popular event. Spook houses, cake walks, fishing ponds and other forms of entertainment took place in the auditorium and classrooms until the gym was built and then the event was moved out there.

The P-TA always had plenty for everyone to eat and lots of goodies and prizes to take home.

One year, Don Probasco came as a gorilla and scared adults and children alike.

The costume contest always drew a good crowd of contestants. Along with the witches, goblins, cowboys, Indians and pirates there was usually an unusual entry.

Trudy Taylor came one year as a flower. She had a yellow cardboard daisy around her face and, leaves on her arms and was dressed all in brown. When it came time for the adults to be judged, she stepped into a wash tub flower pot. "Trudy made a good-looking flower," South Plains residents remember.

Carolyn Marble has been a clown for every year since she made matching clown suits for herself and her young son Mike.

The favorite event of the year was probably the Christmas program. A tree was cut — or in later years bought in town — and stood in the auditorium. It was first decorated with popcorn and then years later with wooden Christmas symbols painted by the students.

A play about the birth of Christ was presented, with an assortment of wise men, shepherds and angels. Santa Claus put in an appearance and passed out gifts, candy and fruit. Carols were sung and refreshments were served.

Easter egg hunts and games were held before the Easter holiday. Prizes were given for the most eggs found and the least eggs found. The prize egg was always a treat for the lucky person who found it.

The end of school brought graduation. Proud parents came to hear speeches, poems and recitations and to see their children receive their diplomas. Youngsters were ready to move on to school in town — Floydada or Lockney — or out into the world and a life of their own.

South Plains students have gone out into the world with the close ties that they have formed during the years that they were in school together. The memories are there and the friendships are there...and these will continue.

In the southwest room of the South Plains School house, Mrs. Blanche Phegley taught the first and second grades for many years.

She always said that each of us sat in the same desk in the first grade.

Today all four of us are college graduates, and we all look back to the excellent start given to us by Mrs. Phegley, now living in Lockney.

I remember so much more than a wonderful, sweet, kind teacher in the classroom. Mrs. Phegley would take two of us at a time home with her to spend the night in the "teachery."

By Carol Reese

Phegley has remained a special friend of all of her ex-students. She never forgot a name or a face.

I attended school at South Plains for nine years and had many fine teachers, such as Miss Verna Snodgrass, J. R. Fisher, W. H. Scroggins, Zilda Battey, Mary Nell Hodges and especially Louis H. Alldredge, but probably no one else has had a more lasting influence on my school life than my first grade teacher, Mrs. B. C. Phegley.

The Floydada Chapter of the American Cancer Society recently completed its annual residential and business crusade. Kacky Jackson and Kay Zimmerman were co-chairmen for the 1988 Crusade.

They recruited seven block captains, and they in turn recruited 40 NEIGHBORHOOD "CRUSADERS".

Captains for 1988 Crusade were Leora Younger, Pat Zimmerman, Martha Farris, Jan Thayer, Shirley Coleman, Esterline Window and Kaye Orman.

Crusaders were Nell Swinson, Eunice Hardy, Kathy Himes, Billie Jordan, Darlyn Hambricht, Pam Bennett, Sharon Vickers, Lovene Moore, Sue Crow, Carolyn Hale, Teresa Hollums, Linda Matsler, Sherry Hale, Jo Wester, Beth Faulkenberry, Penny Golightly, Jane Pruitt, Maria Brown, Jan Thompson, Loretta Burns, Madge West, Emily Johnston, Trena Simpson, Mary Martinez, Judy Beedy, Frances Hambricht, Julianne Cornelius, Judy Schacht, Holly Hendrix, Glenda Livingston, Rena Turner, Barbara Edwards, Allison Robertson, Shirley Morton, Ann Ferguson, Ina Lewis, Martha Leatherman, Fern Hartsell, Martha Lotspeich and Kathi Fondy.

The neighborhood crusaders raised $2,073.49 for the American Cancer Society.

Kyle Smith and Jim Word conducted the business crusade, raising $1,054.00 from the businessmen of the community.

The American Cancer Society wishes to thank all the crusaders, captains, and co-chairmen, for a successful campaign, and for all those who donated to the Crusade.

"If by chance you were not home when called on, you may still send your donation to P.O. Box 9, Floydada, TX 79235. Make your check payable to the American Cancer Society," officials say.

SPOT THE DIFFERENCE—What was the difference in this building when it was the Sunset School (1927 photo) and when it was moved and became the South Plains

School in 1929 (Dec. 26, 1934 photo)? The main physical change was that the structure had a flat roof after it was re-erected at South Plains.

Hospital Happenings

The Board of Directors met this past week for their regular monthly breakfast and meeting. Board members present were: Don Bean, president; William Bertrand, vice president; Joy Assiter, secretary; Fred Thayer and Melba Vickers. Others present were Leroy Schaffner, Nell McClung and Molly Stringer. These people are trying very hard to provide our community with good health care, despite the perilous times facing small hospitals, such as ours. They deserve a pat on the back for their conscientious efforts to offer the best possible care on the limited budget they have to work with.

Several of the staff have been working to complete the remodeling: Kathie Ross, Willie Mae Gregg, Tammi Galloway and Molly Stringer finished wallpapering the patient rooms this week. This about finishes all the work planned for the patient areas. We want to thank all who helped with the work.

We are planning an Open House and Health Fair in July. Please watch for notices and information on these activities. We are proud of the work that has been done and we want you as a community to share in it.

Our Health Fair will consist of screenings for cholesterol, triglycerides, and glucose in our lab. We will have a section for our diabetes materials, and possibly a film. The EMS staff will be doing blood pressure and weight checks for those who desire it. The dietary staff will serve refreshments and have available special diets for special needs.

Also, in July, we will have another mammogram screening. The mobile unit will be here on July 26. For an appointment, please call the hospital.

Carol Scribner, RN, our 11-7 supervisor, attended the National Nurses Meeting in Kentucky this past week. Joy Breed, medical records director, spent the weekend at Brownwood Lake with family and friends. Joyce Smith, LVN, spent time with her family this past weekend at White River. They enjoyed fishing and swimming.

The next diabetes class is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. this Thursday in the hospital dining room. We welcome all who have an interest or need more information about diabetes.

With the soaring temperatures during the past several days, we have made good use of the new fans purchased by the nurses station fund.

This week's spotlight employee is Frances Miller, LVN. Frances has been an employee at our hospital since 1967 with over 20 years of experience. She attended LVN school at Lockney General Hospital in 1966. She worked for a few months at Lockney and a short while in the Plainview hospital before coming to work at the new hospital built here in 1967.

Frances and her husband, Doyle lived and farmed west of Barwise community for several years before moving to Floydada in 1968.

She has worked in several of our departments including staff nurse, surgery, ambulance, and is presently our pharmacy nurse. She has been a very loyal and capable employee and we appreciate her years of dedication to Caprock Hospital.

We hope you stay well, but if you don't, we are here for you.

HEALTH TIP

If you're 40—or if it's rushing up on you—it's time to re-evaluate your eating habits.

The metabolism slows down about 10 percent each decade. That means we need 100 fewer calories per day each decade. If you consume 1800 calories a day in your 30's, you'll need to modify that to 1700 calories a day in your 40's to keep the same weight.

The American diet is still too high in fat. (It's somewhere around 40 percent when it should be more like 30 percent.) Our diets also are lacking in fiber, which comes from such foods as whole-grain breads and cereals, fruits, and vegetables. We also consume too much sugar, which supplies calories and none of the nutrients the body needs.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Monday was beauty shop day. Dolores Cannon came and did the ladies hair. They always enjoy having that done. At 10:30 Irene Wexler came and played the piano and we sang songs. At 2 p.m. the residents painted ceramics.

Tuesday Brother Neeley and Zelma came and gave the devotion then sang some songs. In the afternoon, the residents painted and had arts and crafts. They made refrigerator magnets and little hats.

On Wednesday, the devotion was from Matt. 5:38-48, love of enemy. The residents played bingo in the afternoon with Angeline Reynolds helping. Mrs. Lennie Willis had the first bingo. Later, the players had bugles, bananas and marshmallows. Participating were Myra Hall, Maude Galloway, Della Halencak, Thelma Hoffman, Iva Wells, Oda Birchfield, Brooks Callaway, Charles Breeding, Otis Johnson, Burmah Probasco, Ruth Smitherman and Lennie Willis.

Thursday, Helen Lipham came and played the banjo. The monthly birthday party was held during the afternoon honoring Jura Roberts, Pauline Faulkenberry, Ruth Lyles and James Taylor. Cake and punch was served to honorees, residents and guests by the ladies of the Church of Christ.

Carnation corsages were given to the birthday ladies and Mr. Taylor received a boutonniere, complements of Williams Florist. The Hesperian came and took photos. Thanks a lot!

Friday Letha Mulder opened the devotion with a prayer and Mrs. Lillian Ross read Ps. 145. She also shared some jokes. Dairy Queen treated the residents on the bus ride to ice cream and they enjoyed a ride through the country to Lockney.

This week visitors included Wayland Faulkenberry, Chris Butas, Faye Pope, Alice Cook of Abernathy, Angeline

Reynolds, Wenona Brooks of Paducah, Ann Thompson, Viola Wise, Mary Wilson, Artie and Floyd Webb, May Sue, Willie Mae Smith, Helen Breed, Tina Verone, Jan Poteet, Ola Smith, Ethel Warren, Winnie Neil, Fred Beard, Ave and Frances Willis of Paducah, Bessie Wilson and Wilma Payne.

True presents Harmony program

By Ruth Scott

Harmony Extension Homemakers Club met Monday, June 13, in the club room with Arvie Schulz as hostess. Roll call was answered with "Where I'd like to spend my summer vacation." For her SAI (Share an Idea), Arvie named a new medicine, Zalactin, now available for cancer sores. She also read a paper on Prophecies for the 21st Century.

Mary True, extension agent, gave the program on the causes of cancer and how to detect it. One cause, according to True, is too much sunshine. It is important to use sun screen products when sunbathing or working in the sun. Among the symptoms to watch for are moles which change size or color, lumps on the body which grow, hoarseness which could be a sign of a malignancy in the larynx or throat, and unusual passage of blood. Early detection and a trip to your doctor may prolong your life.

True conducted a concentration game of matching squares and Ruth Scott led a game of finding cliches in a jumbled picture.

Hostesses served a fruit plate, crackers and sodas to Blanche Williams, Juanita Pool, Vivian Curtis, Lucille Miller, Anna Maude Hopper, Maye Williams, Imelda Murry, Ruth Scott and Mary True.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ellis of Floydada. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strickland, also of Floydada.

the bride. The pianist also played "You Are My Miracle" as the mother's were seated. The mother's lit family candles as the pianist played and sang "The Rose."

After the bride was presented to be married, her father sang "Sunrise, Sunset," accompanied by Jo Payne. Sherman and Tammy Aten of Seminole sang "After All Those Years" during the lighting of the unity candle. Judith Strickland, of Lubbock, aunt of the groom, sang "The Lord's Prayer" She was accompanied by Pam Lockwood of Lorenzo on the piano.

Centering the altar was a fan shaped candelabra holding fifteen white taper, dressed with green ferns, white day lilies, forget-me-nots and a white butterfly. This was flanked with a pair of peach candles adorned with greenery, peach and white lillies and fan shaped ferns accented with peach day lillies and miniature blue mums tied with accents of peach, blue and white satin bows and ribbons. The unity candle completed the altar area. The mother's pews were marked with peach satin bows.

As the bride was given in marriage by her father, she wore a romantic gown of slipper satin. The bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline and melon sleeves, was enhanced with venice lace, studded with sequins and pearls and a basque waistline. The full skirt trimmed with venice lace flowed into a semi-cathedral train. To complete her attire, the bride wore a two tier fingertip veil attached to a tiara of Alencon lace, trimmed with sequins and pearls. She carried a peach and blue nosegay of day lillies accented with white tea roses, a blue hand crocheted butterfly, and satin streamers mounted on a white crocheted fan.

Following bridal tradition, tied into her bouquet was the Bible her mother carried 23 years ago in her wedding. And a gold wedding band that belonged to her great-great-grandmother, for something old. Her wedding attire was new. She borrowed a diamond teardrop pendant from her aunt, Rosa Lee Rainwater. She also wore the traditional blue garter made by her mother, holding pennies minted in the years of the bride and groom's birth and marriage. She also wore her mother's garter.

Lisa Graham attended the bride as maid of honor. Also attending were JoLee Ellis and Melissa Strickland, sisters of the bride and groom, respectively.

The flower girl was Reagan Rainwater of Lorenzo, cousin of the bride. She carried a white crocheted basket with peach and blue petals.

The feminine attendants wore teal-length dresses of peach cotton trimmed with white lace collars, mother of pearl buttons, and white lace on the hems. Their headpieces were combs adorned with peach and blue satin ribbon with blue bachelor buttons accented with pearl sprays and satin streamers. They carried bouquets similar to the bride's mounted on hand-crocheted fans.

All of the flower arrangements, bouquets, headpieces, corsages and boutonnieres were designed and made by Lucretia Edwards of Lorenzo, cousin of the bride.

Joel Prock of Lubbock was the best man. Groomsman were Terry Fincher of Canyon and Greg Strickland, brother of the groom. Ring bearer was Dayton Grundy of Matador, cousin of the bride. He carried a white satin pillow trimmed with satin streamers and lace.

Male attendants wore grey suits, with blue miniature day lily boutonnieres. The groom was attired in a grey tuxedo accented with blue and a white miniature daisy boutonniere. The father of the bride wore a grey tuxedo accented with peach and a peach bachelor button boutonniere.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was dressed in white damask, covered with a French alencon lace skirt. Featured was a three tiered wedding cake decorated with pearls, peach and blue crocheted butterflies, blue floral puffs and topped with shimmering bells. The towering center cake was flanked by twin single layers connected by peach and blue satin ribbons. Also featured was the bride's bouquet. Apricot bridal punch was served from an antique crystal punch bowl, belonging to Rosa Rainwater. Nuts and butterfly mints, made by the bride's mother, were also served. The bride's table was attended by Cynthia Covington of Amarillo and Alisha Roberts of Lewisville, cousin of the bride.

A second table, swagged in peach linen, was tied with white bows and centered with silver boot and saddle conchos carrying out a western motif.

Featured was a chocolate cake topped with a Precious Moments cowboy and cowgirl bridal pair. A cut crystal dome holding a blue candle centered the table surrounded by bridal flowers. Coffee was served with antique silver appointments, and chocolate shaped boots and nuts completed the groom's table. Presiding at this table were Pam Woody of Floydada and Pam Richardson of Lubbock. The cakes were made and designed by Loraine Robb of Lorenzo, cousin of the bride.

Bird seed bags were distributed by Deborah Edwards, Amy Rainwater, Jennifer Beshirs and Lacy Roberts, all cousins of the bride.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Golden Corral Restaurant in Plainview.

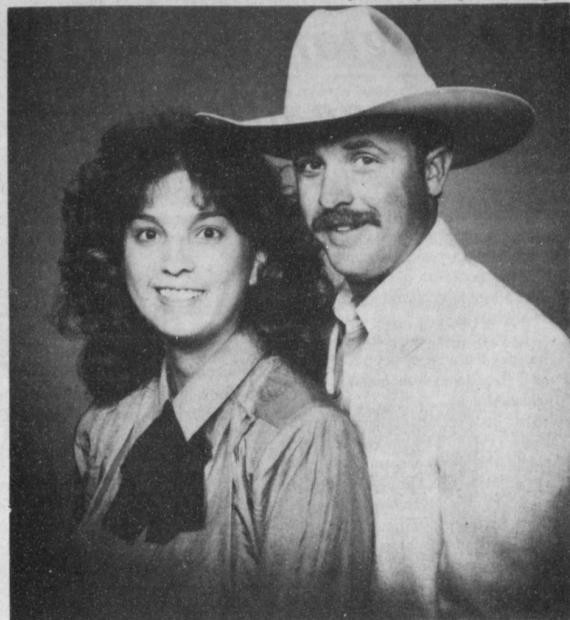

For a short wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride wore a dress matching her attendants' with white accessories and a corsage of blue miniature day lillies. The bride, a 1987 graduate of Floydada, is employed by Wal-Mart and plans to attend West Texas State University. The bridegroom, a 1982 graduate of Floydada and a 1987 graduate of South Plains College in Levelland is employed by the T.J. Max company and will attend West Texas State this fall. The couple will reside in Canyon.

A bridal shower hosted by the W.M.U. of Calvary Baptist Church was held for Kimberly on May 21 at the church. Honorees beside the future bride were Dana and JoLee Ellis, mother and sister of the bride-elect and Pamalia and Melissa Strickland, mother and sister of the prospective groom.

Other hostesses were Lynda Seymour, Mary Shurbet and Sherre Cannon.

The table was covered in white lace over white and featured a peach and blue wedding bell shaped cake and a blue and rose flower arrangement in a crystal vase. Punch was served from a crystal bowl.

The gift table was covered with an antique quilt made by the honoree's great-grandmother. The hostess gift was a set of cookware and the flower arrangement from the table.

Wellington man, Nocona woman exchange allegations in incident

Rash of minor accidents result in no injuries

Proving that truth can be stranger than fiction, charges have been filed on both a Wellington man and a Nocona woman in connection with a bazaar incident which allegedly occurred enroute to and in Floydada.

The man reported to local police on Thursday the theft of papers, clothing and U.S. currency from his room at the Fieldan Motel.

The complainant told police he caught a ride to Floydada to pick up a vehicle which had been involved earlier in an accident here. The Nocona woman presumably had given him a ride here. He alleged that the woman left the motel before he departed and took the above-mentioned items, valued at $250.

She was apprehended in Nocona and made bond.

Then the woman pressed charges against the man for assault and kidnapping.

Police were summoned Friday afternoon to the 600 block of South Wall, where the resident complained that a Mohawk brand red lawnmower with three horsepower engine had been stolen from his unfenced backyard. The mower reportedly had been used "only twice."

It was valued at $150.

In a Saturday night or early Sunday burglary of a motor vehicle in the 500 block of East Ross, officers were informed that a commercial radio was broken while the would-be burglars were attempting to remove it from the vehicle. Also, a microphone had been removed and was found near the left tire.

Freddie Luna, 25, of Floydada was arrested Monday and charged with burglary of a motor vehicle in connection with the above-mentioned incident.

A patron who had stayed at the Floydada Inn Motel called police after the individual and the motel owner had argued. The two reportedly had disagreed earlier and when the persons and others checked out of the motel, a room was found to be flooded.

Damaged were carpeting in that room, along with ceiling and other damage to the room below.

One individual had paid for lodging in four rooms with a credit card. However, the credit card firm refused payment.

Police say that motel officials are contemplating civil action to recover $219 in room rent and "several hundred dollars damage" resulting from the criminal mischief damage mentioned above.

Police report that plumbing in the upstairs room does not appear to be faulty, reinforcing the criminal mischief theory.

A family disturbance call about 5 p.m. Thursday resulted in the apprehension of a Hispanic male on assault charges in connection with alleged abuse of his wife.

The assault reportedly occurred in the street in front of a West Tennessee residence. The arrest was made in the 800 block of West Hallie.

TRAFFIC MISHAPS

No injuries were reported following four "minor" traffic mishaps during the past week.

At 12:15 p.m. Monday, a two-vehicle crash occurred at the intersection of Fifth and Mississippi streets.

An '85 Lincoln driven north on Fifth Street by a Matador woman reportedly failed to yield right-of-way and was struck by an '86 Chevrolet pickup which was being driven east on Mississippi by a Lockney woman.

The Lincoln's driver was cited and her vehicle sustained damage to a door.

An '85 Ford four-door sedan was struck at 1:50 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Thirteenth and Virginia streets by an '84 Dodge van. The Ford was westbound on East Virginia when it was struck in the left rear corner by the van.

A Floydada woman was driving the Ford, and the van — traveling south on Thirteenth Street — was being driven by an Abilene woman, who was charged with failure to yield right-of-way.

Only minor damage resulted and both vehicles were driven away.

Both vehicles also were driven away last Wednesday from the site of a collision at the intersection of Houston and Wall streets.

A Floydada woman, driving an '87 Chevrolet pickup south on Wall, was charged with failure to yield right-of-way. The pickup struck an '82 Buick, driven north on Wall Street by another Floydada woman, who was attempting to turn left onto Houston. The Buick sustained minor damage to the right rear quarter.

An '81 Pontiac four-door was backing from a private drive when it pulled into the path of a '78 Mercury two-door, driven east on Kentucky Street by a Floydada man. The Mercury struck the Pontiac about 5:30 p.m. last Tuesday in the 500 block of East Kentucky. The site was "82 feet east of South Ninth Street," according to Sgt. Harold Snell.

The Pontiac's owner was charged with failure to yield right-to-way and for having no insurance.

Five arrests during week

A 22-year-old anglo man has been arrested by county lawmen on an outstanding warrant from Wellington. The individual is a suspect in a burglary of a habitation at Wellington.

Two individuals were charged within the past week of driving while intoxicated. A 31-year-old black male was charged with the offense on Saturday.

Last Thursday, an anglo male, 27, was arrested for DWI, along with evading arrest and speeding.

Simple assault charges were filed Thursday against a 24-year-old Hispanic male.

A Hispanic male, age 38, was charged early last week with public intoxication.

Steer validation day scheduled Saturday for youth exhibitors

By Richard Crow, CEA-Ag.

All 4-H and FFA members planning to show steers at any of the junior livestock shows in the state of Texas in 1988-89 must have their steers validated before July 1, 1988.

The Floyd County Steer Validation Day will be held on Saturday, June 25, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Brock's Feedlot, located six miles north of Lockney, on FM 378 (the Lone Star Highway). Approximate cost for the validation (which includes cartag, noseprint, and photograph) will be about $3.00 per head. Please bring your check book with you.

I plan on having Mike Gilmore present that day to trim feet. I think he charges around $10.00 per animal to trim hooves. This would be an excellent opportunity to have that done.

If you are only planning to show at the county show, this is still a good opportunity, because you never know how you will feel come this fall when entries are due. This is an effort to have all steers tagged that are on feed at the present time.

Remember, steers which are not validated on this date set by the Floyd County Validation Committee will not be eligible to show at any major stock show in Texas and we request that even county steers be validated at this time. Please make every effort to attend.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

South Plains Head Start satellite pre-registration

The satellite Head Start Program will have pre-registration for all eligible four-year-old children on Wednesday, June 29, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Floyd County Day Care Center. Participating children must be four-years-old on or before Dec. 31, 1988.

Following documentation is required

Control bagworms now

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Bagworms are one of the major pests of junipers and other trees and shrubs in Texas. Spring hatch began in early May on the South Plains this year. Hatching is usually completed in about three weeks. Insecticide control is most effective in late May and early June when the bagworms are small.

In the spring, bagworm larvae emerge from hatching eggs inside last year's bags and begin feeding on leaves. They soon begin to construct their own protective bag of silk, twigs and leaves, making them camouflaged and hard to see. As the larvae and their bags continue to grow, control becomes more difficult. Bagworms feed throughout the summer months, building their bags until the bags are about 1 1/2 inches long. In the fall, the bagworms become adults, mate and the females lay eggs inside their bags. They then overwinter in these bags in trees and shrubs. Each overwintering female bag on a tree contains from 500 to 1500 eggs.

Since the bagworm only complete one generation a year and spreads very slowly from plant to plant, picking the bags off infested plants in the winter will help a lot toward controlling this pest. But if bagworms were present on the plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good that an insecticide will be needed this spring.

Insecticides which can be used to control bagworms include sevin, dursban, diazinon, malathion, dylox and orthene. The biological insecticide Bacillus thuringiensis can be used. To obtain effective control, thorough coverage of the foliage is important. The addition of a small amount of liquid soap or surfactant to the spray solution will improve control because it helps adhere the insecticide to the treated trees and shrubs. Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides.

Have a nice week!

Supply, weather add up to best beans prices since '84

There's nothing but blue sky these days over soybean futures prices. The Commodity Credit Corporation has sold the last of its soybeans, removing the ceiling its resale trigger prices represented. All remaining supplies are in private hands.

Similarly, but for a shower here and there, blue sky has been the trend over much of the agricultural heartland. Dwindling supply and dwindling moisture sent prices for nearby soybean futures above $7 for the first time since 1984.

Some analysts feel it is too early for weather to drive prices. Spring has been cool and dry. Too cool to plant, at first, but not too dry to germinate when planting was complete. Subsoil moisture has been deemed adequate to do the job.

Long-range forecasts, whatever their historic accuracy (or inaccuracy), call for below normal rainfall into early summer. Every passing dry day that confirms the forecast, though, feeds the concern over adequate soybean supplies to meet immediate and deferred demand. Soybean prices rose their 30-cent daily price limit in trading at the Chicago Board of Trade May 16 and again May 31 after weekends of only sporadic showers.

The return of fundamental market forces in the determination of soybean prices has even spilled over into the corn and wheat markets where still-large reserves should keep a lid over prices. Investors as well as commodity users are lined up to buy and some of their money is going into corn and wheat as well as soybeans.

Another factor in the recent run-up in commodity prices has been the vitality of the overall economy. The Federal Reserve had made funds available to the marketplace in response to the stock market's downturn last October. Now concerned that the economy is overheating, the Fed has tightened the money supply. Investors who anticipate inflation try to buy commodities in advance.

Steve Freed, an analyst for Dean Witter Reynolds, traces the origin of current price boom to the 1985 Food Security Act. "It all goes back to the last farm bill," he said. "It encouraged farmers to decrease acreage. It offered incentives to foreign buyers. Combine that with the weaker dollar and you have new export demand. Demand outpaced supply; add inflation and now weather and you've got a bull market."

It is interesting to note that the last time soybeans moved their daily price limit was twice in May, 1987. Then, too, weather was the determinant. Dry weather concerns had driven prices "limit-up," in trader jargon, on one day. Substantial rainfall over the weekend alleviated industry worries and prices responded "limit down" the following Monday.

That could happen again in corn or wheat, but already limited soybean supplies would make such a price recoil in that commodity unlikely. Indeed a soaking rain in the Midwest a week after the most recent limit-up move produced a 20-cent retreat from the contract highs of the week before. The market returned with a nearly limit-up session the next day when sunshine returned over much of the soybean belt and plunged again when the forecast was revised from hot and sunny to wet. The farmer fortunate enough to have the moisture may find an opportunity during one of the upswings to lock-in a good price on his soybean crop.

Darrell Good, an economist with the University of Illinois college of Agriculture said the weather rally represents a good opportunity for farmers to hedge a portion of their anticipated soybean crop at a price above their counties' loan rates. "History tells us that $8 is a pretty good place to be selling beans," he said.

"A lot of farmers may have already forward contracted a portion of this year's bean crop," he continued. "If this is a real weather problem, they wouldn't want to get oversold (forward contract or hedge more bushels than they will produce)."

"A weather rally coming this early leaves the market vulnerable to a selloff in the weeks ahead if some good rain should develop. It's difficult to sustain a rally like this for very long. The market will probably peak before harvest, then move lower. So producers may want to look for ways now to sell part of their 1989 crop as well."

SPIDER MITES—TINY PESTS CAUSE BIG PROBLEMS

Spider mites are tiny, but they can cause big problems in home gardens.

These pests prefer tomatoes, beans and peas and do most of their damage in hot, dry weather.

Spider mites, also called red spiders, are only 1/60-inch in length and vary in color from white to green to red.

The tiny pests can build up quickly and completely engulf plants. Eggs laid on the underside of leaves hatch in four to five days. A complete life cycle takes three weeks, and as many as 20 overlapping generations can occur in a single year. Mites spin a thin web which often can be seen on the underside of a infested leaf. They feed by inserting their mouth-parts into plant tissues and sucking juices. While feeding, they inject toxic substances into the plant.

Infestations of spider mites can be identified by tiny white spots on the underside of a leaf. Heavy infestations cause bleaching or yellowing, first along the main leaf veins and then throughout the plant.

Chemical herbicides and advanced tillage systems notwithstanding, hand hoeing remains a necessary expense in High Plains cotton production. And that leaves producers with the formidable task of understanding a maze of ever-changing federal and state laws regarding farm labor, including hoe hands.

Dominating the many questions reaching Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., association officials note, are those related to minimum wage requirements, social security, unemployment compensation coverage and worker's compensation coverage.

"We answer as best we can by telephone," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "then follow up by mail with an updated two-page written summary prepared last year by the Texas Cotton Ginners Association."

Also answering the demand for information on farm labor laws is the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. State Extension Economist Dr. Richard A. Edwards of College Station has just compiled a "Texas Farm Labor Handbook" spanning 52 pages.

The TAEX publication offers expanded explanations of the above mentioned subjects plus 17 others, including housing, transportation, income tax withholding, requirements under the Immigration Reform and Control Act, and the new Texas "Right to Know" law concerning chemical usage.

Copies of Dr. Edwards' work are available to producers from PCG or through county extension agents, and PCG suggests that all producers review that publication before finalizing labor use decisions.

Air conditioning repair for tractors seminar

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent
Entomology-PM

With the coming of enclosed cabs to protect tractor operators from dust, chemicals, heat and noise, the necessity of air conditioning is assured. If your tractor or combine air conditioner goes on the blink, in situations it is almost impossible if not very uncomfortable to operate it.

Maintenance and repair is not as complicated as it seems says Tommy Valco, Extension agricultural engineer, College Station. Because the system is sealed, it's very difficult to tell what's

Compost can improve soil fertility

Adding organic matter such as compost to soil can improve soil fertility in home gardens, said a soil chemist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Organic matter serves to 'open up' a clay soil, thus improving drainage and aeration," said Dr. Michael G. Hickey, soil chemist and director of the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock. Hickey added that in sandy soils, compost increases water holding capacity.

Compost is refuse such as leaves, small prunings, weeds, vegetable matter from the kitchen and grass clippings which have been converted into a "synthetic manure."

"In our region, grass clippings will predominate," said Hickey. He noted that compost from clippings will be high in nitrogen, depending on lawn fertilization practices.

Hickey said that a home gardener can construct a compost pile by spreading out a four-inch layer of refuse in a three-foot square area. They should cover this layer with enough soil to fill a two-pound coffee can. This allows microorganisms from the soil to break down the refuse. To stimulate these microorganisms, a quarter cup of ammonium sulfate fertilizer should be added to the pile. The home gardener should repeat these steps until a desired depth is reached, noted Hickey.

"The pile should be turned in two to three weeks—sooner if the materials are green—and again in five weeks," Hickey said. New clippings which are added should be mixed with the older refuse. A layer of the older material should also be placed over the top.

The compost will be ready in three months or sooner depending on the type of refuse, temperature, or moisture, said Hickey.

To utilize the compost, the home gardener should spread about five bushels of the material over 1000 square feet and mix it thoroughly into the soil.

going on, but it's really very simple.

The system consists of a pump, or compressor, two heat exchangers, or radiators, a valve, some hoses and fans. And the only thing that takes place is raising and lowering the system pressure says Valco.

Of course there is a magical fluid called Freon or R-12 which makes the system work. This fluid boils at -22 degrees F so it must be kept under high pressure to contain it. It is important not to disconnect any hoses until system pressure is released.

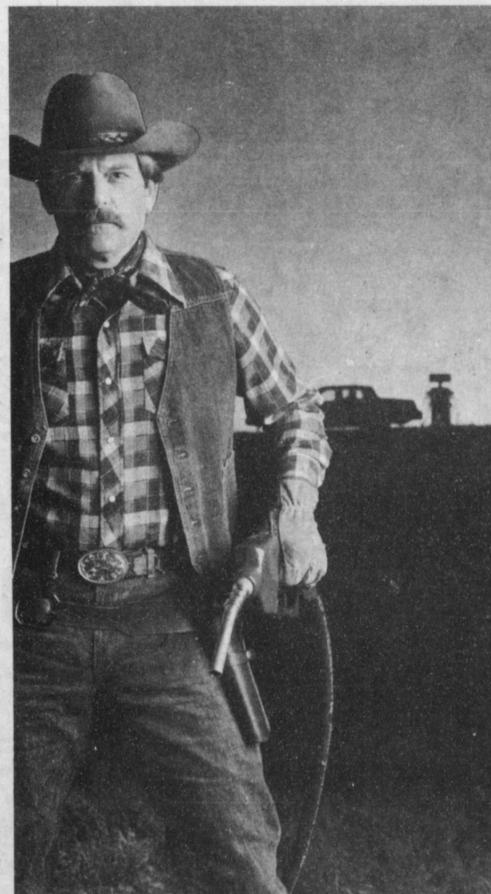

To learn how to safely work on farm equipment air conditioners, a repair and maintenance clinic will be held July 1, on the Joe Appling farm located 14 miles northeast of Crosbyton (1 mile south and 1 east of Blanco Gin.)

Valco will cover the basic principles of refrigeration, system components, diagnosing malfunctions, using refrigeration gauges, adding refrigerant to the system, inspection and maintenance. Bring your tractor, we will conduct a performance test. The program will last 3 hours starting at 9:00 a.m.

Farmers are encouraged to bring tractors that have trouble with air conditioning.

Floydada youths claim places in track meet

Despite stern competition Saturday in the Texas Classic track meet in Amarillo, four members of Floydada Track Club earned ribbons. Misty Bertrand placed in three events and a trio of male teammates each placed in a pair of awards.

Miss Bertrand was runner-up in the 400 meter dash, third in long jump and sixth in the 100 meter dash. She competed in the girls midget division.

Vying in the boys youth division, Micheal Gilliland placed second in discus and third in shot put.

His brother, Brandon Gilliland, claimed third place in both shot put and discus in the boys midget division.

D.G. Hollums garnered two ribbons with his fifth place finish in discus and sixth place in shot put.

Travis Bailey, Brandon Daniels and Tyson Edwards also participated.

All those who placed in the top six in any event qualified for the state meet in Houston in July.

Due to conflicts, local tracksters may be unable to participate at state.

Randy Hollums, coach-sponsor of Floydada Track Club, says athletes from Albuquerque, N.M., Dallas, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo and other Texas cities and towns were among about 375 participants in the Texas Classic.

Floydada church will be host for National Women's Convocation

Free Church of God in Christ in Jesus' Name, Inc. of Floydada will be the host church for the 58th annual National Women's Convocation, which begins on Sunday, June 26, and continues through Sunday, July 2.

Elder Alex Wall Jr. and his wife, Laddie Marie Wall, will serve as official hosts.

Bishop R.B. Johnson of Phoenix, Ariz., senior bishop of the Free Church of God in Christ in Jesus' Name, Inc., will be arriving the first day. He succeeded the late Bishop Earl Evans Jr., founder and first senior bishop of the Dallas-based religious organization.

Elder Wall explains that meetings of the national church body are held in March, June and September of each year, with the June and September events being highlights.

"We are flattered and happy to have the convocation in Floydada," Elder Wall says.

He expects participants from California, Arizona, Colorado, Arkansas and various points in Texas, including Dallas, Fort Worth, Hawkins, Houston, ELDER ALEX WALL JR.

Corpus Christi and other cities and towns. "We're expecting about 250 people," he says.

"All people are invited" to participate, Elder Wall says.

All church services and other main activities will be held in Floydada, primarily at the Free Church of God in Christ in Jesus' Name, Inc. The church building, erected four years ago by Elder Wall and his three sons, is located at 604 East Lee.

All of the convocation participants possible will be lodged at a local motel, and others plan to stay at a Plainview motel. Due to this situation, some activities may be conducted in Plainview.

"The people of Floydada have been very cooperative" in assisting with preparations, Elder Wall says.

Although the convocation is a women's event, male church leaders will also be involved.

A catered breakfast will be held one morning at the Massie Activity Center for wives of bishops and preachers.

On another date, a men's barbecue is to be staged at the city park near high school.

Also tentatively planned is a musical program, which will be presented by musicians from different churches.

Elder Wall explains that "the first three days" of the convocation, a daily fast will be held until 3 p.m., when lunch is to be served.

Different programs are planned each day, including a prayer service and a preaching service. A guest speaker will appear before the gathering each time.

Elder Wall, overseer of the host church, joins with other local members to "welcome the pastors, delegates, visitors and all to our convocation services, workshops, seminars and to join in with us as we lift up Jesus.

He adds that, "We are glad that people will travel many miles to join with us in this holy convocation. As we celebrate, we anticipate the greatest convocation ever! We have gone to the limits to make this convocation enjoyable, remarkable and memorable."

He says that as participants return to their home, "It is our desire that they will be uplifted and possess a greater determination and zeal to do a work for the Lord."

Wrights receive warm welcome

"We've always enjoyed involvement. We try to get involved with the community and make it our home," the Rev. William H. Wright says as he and his wife, Peggy, establish their home in Floydada. He succeeds the Rev. Earl Blair as pastor of First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. Wright have moved here from Childress, where he pastored the First United Methodist Church in that city for seven years.

The couple emphasize that "We are very pleased to be appointed here. This church has endeared itself to us by the way it treated Earl during his illness and in the way it ministers to the community."

The Wrights have been "warmly welcomed by people of the church and of the community."

He acknowledges "the high quality of pastors" at Floydada FUMC through the years. "I know I have big shoes to fill," he states.

The Rev. Wright, who appears to be easy to know, adds that "I hope to work with other pastors in ministering to the community. I am looking forward to getting to know them and working with them."

A former Lions Club member, the Rev. Wright has been involved with human resources types of programs during past ministries.

Born and reared in Knox and Haskell counties, he moved with his parents to Hale County after his father, a farmer, purchased land in that area. Bill Wright was graduated from Hale Center High School.

Following high school graduation, he enlisted for active duty in the U.S. Air Force. His military career spanned from 1946 until 1953.

Following his discharge, he and his family resided in Munday from 1953 until 1960, being associated with an electronics service firm.

"I made my commitment to the ministry at the age of 31," he says. That was in 1960.

He began his undergraduate studies at McMurry College in Abilene in the fall of 1960. His education continued until he received a master of theology in 1969 from the Southern Methodist University Perkins School of Theology.

During this period from 1960 through 1969, the Rev. Wright pastored small churches near the schools where he was studying.

His "first appointment out of the seminary" was the Fair Park and St. James United Methodist Churches in Abilene, where he served from 1969 until 1973, when he was appointed to the St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

In 1976, the Rev. Wright was appointed to pastor the First United Methodist Church in Idalou, where he served until going to Childress in 1981.

Mrs. Wright is the former Peggy Smith, who was born and reared at Gonzales, Tex. Following graduation from high school she attended business college in San Antonio. Four years later she met her future husband, and the couple was married in San Antonio.

She is conference secretary for United Methodist Women, one of 16 elected conference officers.

Mrs. Wright, who says she enjoys "sewing and reading," has worked as a secretary in the past. She served as executive secretary to the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce manager while the family resided in that city.

The Rev. Bill and Peggy Wright are parents of four offspring:

* Mrs. Pat (Donna) Watkins of Abilene. Her husband is the owner of a heating and refrigeration business.

* Mrs. Jim (Cynthia or Cindy) Hutson of Lubbock. Her husband, Dr. Jim Hutson, is a member of the Texas Tech University medical school's faculty.

* Bill Wright Jr. resides with his family in League City and is employed by Lykes Bros. Steamship Co.

* Mike Wright resides with his family in Waco, where he is associated with a manufacturing concern.

The Wrights have nine grandchildren.

REV. WILLIAM H. AND PEGGY WRIGHT

Where's The Fire.....

By Mike Reeves

Firemen have been summoned the previous two Sundays to house fires.

Eight men and three trucks went to the home of Helen Wickware at 4:40 p.m. on Sunday, June 12. The three-bedroom frame house, located at 405 East Jackson, sustained an estimated $12,000 in damages.

The fire was believed to have been caused by a faulty extension cord. A front bedroom and hallway were ruined and the entire dwelling sustained extensive smoke damage.

Twelve men and four trucks went to 907 S. Leonard, a residence rented to Willemena Verone, at 10:20 a.m. Sunday, June 19. The house, owned by Maurice Threadgill, sustained damage from the fire and smoke.

PUBLIC ASKED TO WATCH FOR EMERGENCY VEHICLES

The public is again reminded not to follow or interfere with emergency vehicles which are answering a call.

In response to questions, the ambulance service and fire department have an informal agreement to both take emergency vehicles to the site of a major structural fire or a major accident.

The fire department's jaws-of-life sometimes are needed at the scene of an accident to which the ambulance has been summoned. There is always the possibility of injuries to occupants or volunteer firemen at a major fire.

Lake report

Rodney Hill of Floydada caught a 2-3/4 pound largemouth bass on Sunday at Lake Mackenzie. He was using tube bait and fishing up Williams Creek.

A pair of Amarillo fishermen, Glenn Maddox and Paul Sessions, reeled in four nice largemouth bass on Saturday. Their catches include 3-1/2, 2 and 2 1-1/2 pounders. Fishing in the main part of the lake, the pair were using Pop-R bait.

Maddox also caught a dandy hybrid striped — a 9 pounder — near the small island on Saturday. He was using Pop-R bait.

A 7 pound striper was pulled in Saturday by D. Waggoner of Tulia. He was using a hot spot worm for bait while fishing near the dam.

- Watch for power lines when climbing in trees.
- Do not climb electrical poles, towers or structures.
- Do not trim trees near power lines.
- Do not set ladders or scaffolds near power lines.
- Do not shoot at insulators on poles, towers or structures.
- Never climb on or go inside a substation fence. Call SPS to help you retrieve anything thrown into the substation or caught in its fence.
- Avoid using electrical tools like lawn mowers or hedge clippers when grass and leaves are wet.
- Be careful when digging. Call SPS to find out if there are any buried electrical lines in the area.
- Electrical cords should not be spliced or taped. Repair by shortening them or replace them entirely.
- Beware of exposed wires.
- Don't touch portable appliances (coffee makers, radios, hair dryers, etc.) with wet hands or while standing or sitting in water.

19 88 Property Tax Rates in Caprock Hospital District

This notice concerns 19 88 property tax rates for Caprock Hospital Dist.. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. Compare it to the tax rate the taxing unit proposes for this year. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Erma Lee Duckworth, City Secretary

Proposals for employee group hospitalization and life insurance were opened during the June regular session of the Floydada City Council. With all members present except Wayne Russell, the council reviewed plans submitted by five firms. Due to the complex nature of insurance plans and price quotes, action on the matter was tabled until the various proposals could be correlated and presented to the council in a form which would compare "apples and apples or apples and oranges."

Submitting proposals were Mutual of Omaha, Hartford Insurance Company, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Floyd County Insurance Agency and Goen and Goen. Each firm presented one or more plans to choose from with several extra options and premium schedules.

Bids were opened for the sale of a 1951 Chevrolet fire truck. Three bids were presented, ranging from $333.34 from Carthel Brothers to $450.00 from Norrali Kassin and $930.00 from Adams Well Service. A motion by Nancy Willson, seconded by Amado Morales, awarded the bid to Adams on a split vote. Ginger Warren joined Morales and Willson voting yea, while Leroy Burns and Frank Breed voiced no votes.

The first required public hearing was held in regard to the possible annexation of Lots 1, 2 and 3, Block 2, Stewart Addition into the city limits of Floydada as requested by Larry Westbrook and Paul Westbrook. No one attended to voice an opposing or supporting opinion. The second public hearing on the matter will be announced in a few days.

Council member Frank Breed made a motion to request that the Westbrooks bear half of the cost involved in making the necessary sewer connection if annexation is approved. Discussion of the annexation led to council instructing city manager Gary Brown to "develop a plan for any future annexation requests." Stated one council member, "We need to have it in black and white so anyone making this request will know just what has to be done and who is responsible for the costs involved."

Resolutions were adopted approving the lease purchase of a new computer system and signing the lease purchase agreement for the system. A resolution was also adopted authorizing Mayor Parnell Powell to sign an agreement to participate in the South Plains Regional Narcotics Task Force. This will provide for inter-agency mutual aid in narcotics cases.

A request for an additional $1000 per month in funding for the Caprock Hospital District ambulance service was tabled until such time as hospital administrator Leroy Schaffner could be asked to appear and discuss the finances and use of the service with the council. Floydada pays $500 per month to support the service at this time. The increase would make the city's contribution $1,500 per month.

Requests by Floydada Livestock Sales and J.&M. Livestock for trash containers and pick up service was approved on a motion by Burns, seconded by Morales. The two businesses will pay the previously set rate for such services adjacent to the city limits.

Purchase of a 1985 Chevrolet pickup for use by the water department was ratified and authorization was given to put the 1981 GMC water department pickup it will replace up for bids.

Discussion of whether to repair or replace the digger truck belonging to the Power and Light department. Costs for repairing are estimated at "$10,000 to $20,000" to renovate the digging unit on the 1966 vehicle as opposed to replacing the unit with a rebuilt assemblage at costs ranging from $26,500 to $41,500. The matter was tabled pending more information on the two plans.

Two ordinances were adopted closing an alley and a street in Floydada. The 300 block of North Wall Street was closed at the request of Scott Gin and the alley in Block 2, Honerhea Addition was closed at the request of the Apostolic Assembly Church and Adrain West.

City employee Jesse Morales was appointed to serve as building official for the City of Floydada. Approval came on a motion by Breed, seconded by Willson and approved unanimously.

A proposal for adopting an ordinance to prohibit the use of any liquid gas except natural gas for all permanent structures in the city was discussed briefly before being tabled pending more information. The proposal was brought up at the recommendation of the state fire marshal as a means to "prevent a fire hazard or an explosion."

Attending the June 14 evening session were council members Burns, Breed, Warren, Willson and Morales, Mayor Powell, city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart, city manager Gary Brown, James Hale, Connie Galloway, David Cates, Kyle Smith and the Hesperian reporter.

19 88 Property Tax Rates in Floyd County

This notice concerns 19 88 property tax rates for Floyd County. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the county used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. Compare it to the tax rate the county proposes for this year. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the county can set before taxpayers can start a rollback procedure. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.
