The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

We are indebted to the folks over at the Floyd County Museum for allowing us to peruse some old copies of The Della Plain Review, which predates even the Floyd County Hesperian in antiquity. The Hesperian began life in 1896 and is still alive and breathing. The Review was around even earlier, beating the drums for Floyd County and its people. Today we'll look at the issue of December 27, 1889, R.E. L. McLain, Editor. His column of that date notes:

"The following gentlemen were in town the past week and gave us a pleasant call. E.E. Keely, Dr. J. Keely, J.K. Fullingim, T. Williams from Callahan Draw, T.B. Steward and lady, R.M. Emerson and lady, E. Brogden, M. Fore from Lockney; Joe, Day and lady Mrs. and Miss Parson. J.E. Day and Mr. Vanderver, V.M. Massey from the Canon; Coke Fullingame and several others from the Matador Ranch.

Don't you want a rubber stamp with your name on it to mark your clothing and sign your name to papers, and a pen and pencil? Send us 25 cents.

Mr. H.O. Hockenberry returned last Monday from Childress accompanied by Judge Lawe from St. Jo, Mo. who comes here with the intention of locating near town and seems highly pleased, they leave this morning for St. Jo and will return early in the Spring with their families.

We think a "Lemon Party" would be the capitol idea, as every young man would be expected to bring a lemon, girl and squeezer.

One of Della Plain's promising young hopefuls is writing an 'Essay on Man' says that, "man's body is split half way up and he walks on the split end."

The Editor's column goes on. In fact, one could say it goes on and on. There is paragraph after paragraph on the glories of Floyd County, its climate, the fertility of its soil, the promise of its future. We must remember there were very few people here at the time and he was trying to fill up the countryside. We will reproduce one paragraph here and try to tackle more later. We find it fascinating.

"Come to Floyd County where you can get a home by locating on 160 acres of vacant land and cultivating the soil three years. Beautify your homes with nice fruit trees, raise grape vines and all kinds of small fruits, drink pure water, breathe fresh air and enjoy a pleasant climate and good health of the staked plains. Bid chills and malarial fever, swamps, pine hills and post oak runners good bye and come where you can till ten thousand acres of fine land without dulling your plow against rocks or make you use profane language because your plow struck a stump. We will welcome all live, wideawake, industrious people to our county. Come and help us make beautiful homes, build good schools and churches."

About 500 words later, in a further effort to reassure the people of the wonders awaiting them, he notes that "many build wind breaks of sod walls, by taking a large plow and breaking the sod, then cutting it in the required length, (2 or 3 feet long) and building walls 40 to 100 feet long by 5 or 6 feet in height which makes a good windbreak for stock. Many build houses of sod, or adobe (sun dried bricks) which makes good and comfortable houses."

The welcome mat is still out. The climate is still good. The soil is still rich. The sky is still beautiful. The schools and churches have been built. And the homes and roads are much, much better.

By the way. The typographical errors were in the original. Not that I'm any less prone to them than Mr. McLain, but we tried to reproduce his words faithfully.

Attend the Rodeo this weekend!

Absentee votes low in special called election

Absentee voting in the State Senate District 30 special election appears off to a slow start.

When the Hesperian went to press Wednesday only four absentee votes had been cast in the special election called by Governor Bill Clements to find a replacement for former State Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls. Farabee resigned his seat to take a position as legal counsel for the University of Texas. On the special election ballot are Representative Steve Carriker, Democrat, and Republican Bobby Albert, a Wichita Falls businessman.

Winner of the Special Election will serve until replaced by the winner of the seat in the November General Elections. Absentee voting got underway on July 25 and will end August 9 at 5 p.m.

The special election itself will be held on Aug. 13, at the 16 Floyd County precincts. The precincts and their polling places are:

'Punkin Day' recipes sought by chamber

The "Punkin Day" committee is still meeting and plans are underway for the big event October 28 and 29.

To help speed up the final plans people are still encouraged to send in any recipe with pumpkins as the main ingredient. The recipes will be used to compile a cookbook that will be handed out free, by the Women's Chamber of Commerce. The cookbooks will be available at the Women's Chamber booth on "Punkin Day", October 29. Please send recipes to: Women's Chamber, Box 291, Floydada, Texas 79235.

Also being requested by the Punkin Committee is early sign-up for booth rental. Anyone interested in displaying arts and crafts at the festival is asked to contact Julianne Cornelius at 983-2982.

Space rental will be $10.00 and participants will be responsible for their own area. You must bring your own table and clean-up afterwards. Tables will be set up under the pavilion for protection from the weather, and it will be a first come first serve basis for site selection. People are encouraged to sign-up early.

TDA requests information

The Texas Department of Agriculture would like to know who would be willing to donate hay from CRP acres if they were able to recover their baling costs of approximately $30.00 per ton. Secretary Lyng has made this allowance in Minnesota and we expect Texas farmers will also be allowed to help their neighbors.

So that we can know how much acreage would be available, please call the 1-800-DIAL HAY program.

EASY DOES IT—Equipment had to be brought through a window to the third floor of the Floyd County Jail during renovation started on Friday. Cranes lifted bunk beds and bars to the floor that will be remodeled to fit the specifications of the Texas Jail Standards. Fourteen bunks are being added to the third floor along with showers and lavatories. The detoxification room is also being remodeled into a holding cell. —Staff photo

Gray presents stories through his leather art

By Sharon Thames

Every picture presents a story for an artist who paints on canvas, but a Floydada resident paints on leather.

Bill Gray, leather artist, said, "I would rather call it leather art other than a traditional or commercial design." Leather art is quite different from imprinting designs with specialized tools which are often seen on leather crafted belts, purses and book covers. Gray paints his picture on top of his leather canvas.

"I am like a washer woman who does not like to do windows — I don't do belts," said Gray.

The time spent in working with leather art could be anywhere from 60 hours to 140 hours. In comparison, Gray says an artist who paints with oils may produce four or five oil paintings to one piece of leather art.

Gray said he likes to cut his leather canvas into odd sizes rather than the conventional picture framed sizes. The purpose is to make it difficult for anyone to duplicate or counterfeit his art work.

But then, perhaps that's understandable for many artist who do not want their art duplicated, considering the lengthy process of Gray's painted leather pictorial.

Gray explains, "The leather is carved and tooled in a moistened stage in order to mark an imprint to make the high tones and shadows." He said he may begin this process at 10 p.m. and work till dawn because the moisten leather is the right consistency to work with and otherwise might take him days to recapture.

Gray uses several types of painting mediums in one picture. Gray said, "I have been told by leather experts these mediums cannot be mixed together and I have to disagree with their theories."

To capture different mediums Gray uses acrylic paints, magic markers, coloring leather dye of an alcohol base and artist oil base paint. He said he rarely uses the artist oil base because it does not dry very well on leather.

For instance, 15 hours may be spent by Gray to paint a blue sky. "Animal skin is porous and needs to be cured," he said.

Research plays a major role in Gray's hobby. When painting historical battles, he says he tries to be authentic. He will research the location of the battle. Then he paints nearly the exact location by illustrating familiar landscapes in the background of the picture from where the battle probably occurred.

"Battle of Camp Resolution August 31, 1841" is Gray's immediate work. He has already spent about 120 hours with approximately 20 hours more expected until its completion.

Gray said, "This is a depiction of the battle that took place near the site of Camp Resolution in 1841 with the Texan Santa Fe Expedition."

According to Gray, on the expedition five U.S. military men were rampaged by 150 Kiowa Indians. He painted in as much detail as possible the military men holding Colt Repeating rifles and the horses tacked with saddles and harnesses of the period of 1841 based on his research.

One of Gray's earlier paintings is "Monarch of the Woods."

When viewing the painting, he said, "You can look out of the barn door and see a wild turkey in flight." Gray spent about 60 hours painting this one.

According to Gray, "I like subtle humor in my work." He said in one painting he painted his signature on the river bank with his name reflecting in the water. Gray added, "It gives me a lot of creativity for my own personal pleasure."

Gray says leather craft can be taught; however, leather art is an art which he learned by trial and error. As a child, Gray was taught how to paint on canvas by his mother and leather craft from his relatives.

When he lived in New Mexico he watched his cousin make photo albums made of leather. The following year in the eighth grade Gray wanted to make a book cover for his Arizona history class.

Gray speaks of his uncle saying, "Here are the leather and tools, get after it."

Gray used his leather craft by making belts and zipper book covers for several

Walk to store turns into nightmare for local man

The four drug dealers walked away in handcuffs and the innocent bystander was sent away in an ambulance. Bill Staples, a 1985 graduate of Floydada High School was in the wrong place at the wrong time. What had started out as a normal day quickly turned into a nightmare.

About 5 p.m. Wednesday, July 27 Bill Staples decided to walk to the 7-11 located at Fourth and University, Lubbock, approximately two blocks from his apartment, to purchase laundry detergent.

According to Staples, he was walking through the Day's Inn Motel parking lot when a drug bust was put into motion. A white unmarked car came directly at him at a high rate of speed, coming to a screeching halt a few feet away from him. Two men jumped out of the car and pointed their guns at him. Startled and not realizing what was happening, or that they were policemen, he turned to get out from in front of the car and took several steps before Staples said he was tackled, thrown to the ground, and handcuffed.

He asked "Whats wrong, what did I do?" Staples said the officer shouted obscene language at him and hit him on the neck and the back of the head. He was told to shut up. According to Staples' parents, he has an imprint of the pavement on his forehead as a result of the pounding.

Staples says he was then picked up off the ground by his handcuffs and taken to a grassy area and forced down roughly. The officer put his knee in Staples back and held him down for several minutes before calling another officer and telling him to "watch this man".

After several minutes, which, according to Staples, seemed like an eternity, he heard an officer ask "who is the man on the ground?" The officer replied "an innocent bystander, I think." They questioned Staples as to who he was, where he lived and why he was there, then one of the officers told the other to uncuff him. He then told Staples to "behave and not give him any trouble".

Staples told them that he was hurt and they called an ambulance. According to Staples parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Staples, of South Plains, he has a broken collarbone and scrapes and abrasions.

According to Jim Hogan, safety coordinator for the city of Lubbock, "The matter is under investigation."

George Thompson, an independent attorney hired by the city of Lubbock was unavailable for comment.

Commissioners Court holds public tax hearing

The Floyd County Commissioners Court held a special session on Monday, August 1 for the purpose of conducting a public hearing concerning a proposed tax increase.

The court proposes a 1.8 cent increase in taxes. The 1987 rate was 27.2 cents per $100 valuation. Proposed for 1988 is a 29 cent per $100 valuation rate.

With an effective tax rate of .26995, the 29 cent rate exceeds the 3 percent limit and necessitated the public hearing. It remains below the 8 percent limit of .29155, therefore the county will not be subject to any possibility of a roll back election.

Attending the hearing were county judge Bill Hardin, commissioners Sam Spence, Floyd Jackson, Thomas Warren and Kay Crabtree, county treasurer Glenna Orman, budget clerk Jane McAnally, George Taylor, Henry Finley and the Hesperian reporter.

The 29 cent tax rate is due to be adopted at 9:00 a.m. on August 8 as there were no objections raised at the public hearing.

Those present at the hearing were told that county expenses increased $116,003.55 from 1986 to 1987. Similar increase can be expected from 1987 to 1988 due to the jail renovation, rising insurance and rural fire costs and increased costs for worker's compensation and unemployment compensation insurance. The loss of revenue sharing funds also figures into the need for additional county funds.

'Spirit of the Winds' needs you

The Floydada Whirlwind Band, also known as the Spirit of the Winds, is looking for any and all individuals who are interested in becoming part of the excitement of the 1988-89 Band.

According to band directors, John Odom and Grant Hambricht, anyone who has ever been in band before is especially encouraged to join. They stress that previous experience is not necessary and that they encourage band students to be in a variety of school activities. "It doesn't matter if a student is in athletics, cheerleading, vocational/agricultural activities, or does nothing at all, the band needs you and you need the band," state Odom and Hambricht.

The band offers its students the opportunity to participate in a wide variety of activities and contests. This year the band will compete at the South Plains Fair Parade, the Texas Tech Marching Band Festival, and all U.I.L. band events. The U.I.L. Regional Solo and Ensemble Contest enables qualified musicians to advance to the State Solo and Ensemble Contest. Band students may also audition for the prestigious AAA All-Region Band. A spring trip is a possibility as well. Join the excitement and catch the Spirit of the Whirlwind Band.

Students who are interested in being a band member and have not pre-registered for the course should contact Mr.

Where's The Fire...

Fourteen firemen and two trucks responded to a call of smoke odor at 102 E. Hallie on July 31. The problem was in the city's electrical service line and was repaired by the city. This was the only call answered by the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department in the last two weeks.

The regular business meeting of the fire department was held on Monday, August 1 at 7:30 p.m. The upcoming Agro-Rescue School was discussed.

Old agricultural equipment is being sought by the fire department so it could be used for training at the Agro-Rescue School. If you would like to donate some used equipment contact City Hall or any fireman. All donations are tax deductible.

Once again this year, the fire hall will be the location for the Muscular Dystrophy Association Telethon. The fire-fighters are planning a fundraiser for Jerry's Kids. Please be ready to donate when contacted.

Five Floydada firemen attended fire school at Texas A&M University last week. Bobby Welborn, Dinks Eckert, Cowboy Wylie, Alan Fondy and Danny Nixon completed the 30 hour school. Local insurance premiums are reduced as a result of Floydada Firemen attending this school.

SAFETY TIP

The fire department would like to remind everyone to buckle up. Your chances of surviving are greatly enhanced by use of the seat belt. Not only is it a good idea, It's The Law!

Hart artist featured at First National in August

The First National Bank of Floydada is happy to present Jonalyn Jones of Hart as the featured artist this month. Her exhibit offers the viewer a variety of subject matter and medium to enjoy.

"I started out painting on canvas in oils in 1971," Jones said. "I had always wanted to paint, but had always been too busy or had not had an opportunity for instruction," she continued. "I was working in the bank in Hart and a group of us car-pooled and drove to Olton one

Ladies Golf Assn. elects new officers

A salad luncheon and playday followed by a business meeting was held Monday, August 1. The Ladies Club Championship Tournament will be Saturday, September 10 at 9 a.m. Election of officers for 1989 was held, officers elected are: president, Susan Simpson; secretary, Daphna Simpson; and reporter, Joyce Caldwell.

Playday winners for July are as follows: July 11, Joyce Caldwell; July 18, Susan Simpson; July 25, Susan Simpson; and August 1, Pat and Donna Pernell.

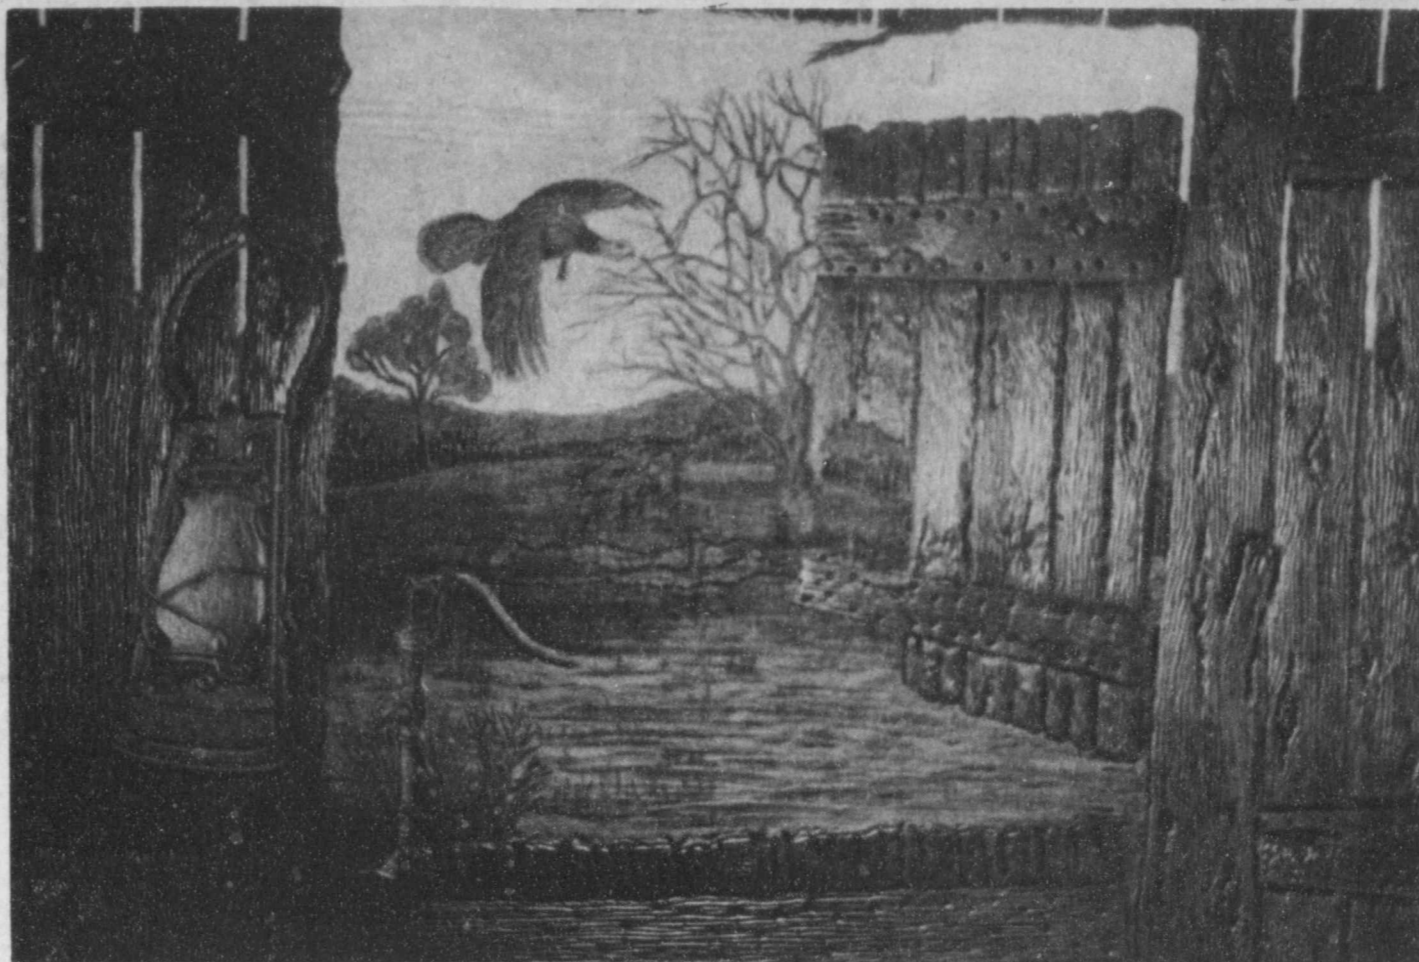

night a week to take painting under Jean Green there." She gives Jean Green credit for really getting her started in oils, and for stimulating her artistic interest.

Jones retired from her position as vice-president in the Hart bank, and now devotes more time to her painting. She has taken additional instruction from Suzanne Patterson, Plainview; Bill Huffacher, Lubbock; Donna Hunt, Odessa; Ken Cargle, Jon Birdson, Russell Brown, Ben Konis, Marsha Wilkes, Gale Webb in Lubbock, Canyon and Amarillo. "I learn something more ever day, and enjoy each new experience," she added.

In addition to her fine art, Jonalyn Jones has developed other interests. She paints wooden necklaces and crafts. A friend wore one of her necklaces to a furniture market and people from different areas inquired how they may obtain the wooden jewelry. She has also developed an interest in framed calligraphy art. On display at the bank this month are examples of poems and paintings, some with a place for a picture (snapshot). These are framed in various colors.

Her husband, Weldon, farms, and Jonalyn helps with the farming, operating a base station in the home that controls six mobile units for the farm. She and Weldon also do custom-farming. The Jones' are parents of two sons. These sons, and two grandsons, have been the inspiration for some paintings featuring two boys.

Jones has exhibited her work in numerous shows including the Running Water Draw Show, Plainview. The First National Bank invites area residents to view the interesting exhibit of this talented artist during regular banking hours in August.

Gray presents stories through leather artwork

local businesses or as gifts in Lubbock, Arizona, New Mexico and Tennessee. Then over the years he developed his own style and refers to it as leather art by using paint.

Gray said leather art is not appreciated by many artists because its concept is new and isolated. Fine artists refer to leather art as a craft. This type of art is usually shown in the southwest art shows, cornered in with the crafts. Gray said he would like to see leather art expanded.

"Let's create a division of leather art by itself," he said.

Leather art is an outlet for Gray. Whether he is writing articles about history in the Floyd County area or painting its history on leather, he remains active within the Floydada community in addition to working at Russell Equipment and Supply Inc. Someday he would like to have a studio. Perhaps in Cloudford or Ruidoso, N.M., but with one reservation. He said, "It would not be a pleasure to paint if it begins to be like a business instead of a hobby."

This is a recreation for relaxation and Gray says it gives him joy when someone he sees is getting pleasure from his paintings.

Stolen bicycle, minor accidents reported

Criminal activity reported this week to the Floydada Police Department consisted of a bike stolen from the swimming pool.

Police reported that an 11-year-old boy parked his 20-inch chrome bike outside of the swimming pool area when he went in for a swim. He did not lock the bike. When he returned it was gone.

Three accidents were reported to police during the week.

On July 27 at 12:00 noon, a westbound Chevrolet Suburban turned left at the intersection of Second and Missouri, in front of an eastbound Chevrolet Celebrity. The Celebrity struck the Suburban in the front of the vehicle. There were minor injuries and both cars were towed.

On July 29 at 10:44 a.m. in the 100 block of North Second, a 78 Ford pickup and a 78 Buick Century were both traveling north. The pickup pulled into the Century's lane causing the vehicles to collide. There were no injuries and both vehicles were driven away.

On Sunday, July 31, at 3:43 p.m. in the My-T-Burger parking lot an 84 Ford Bronco backed into an 87 Pontiac Firebird. There were no injuries.

Hart artist featured at First National in August

The First National Bank of Floydada is happy to present Jonalyn Jones of Hart as the featured artist this month. Her exhibit offers the viewer a variety of subject matter and medium to enjoy.

"I started out painting on canvas in oils in 1971," Jones said. "I had always wanted to paint, but had always been too busy or had not had an opportunity for instruction," she continued. "I was working in the bank in Hart and a group of us car-pooled and drove to Olton one

Ladies Golf Assn. elects new officers

A salad luncheon and playday followed by a business meeting was held Monday, August 1. The Ladies Club Championship Tournament will be Saturday, September 10 at 9 a.m. Election of officers for 1989 was held, officers elected are: president, Susan Simpson; secretary, Daphna Simpson; and reporter, Joyce Caldwell.

Playday winners for July are as follows: July 11, Joyce Caldwell; July 18, Susan Simpson; July 25, Susan Simpson; and August 1, Pat and Donna Pernell.

night a week to take painting under Jean Green there." She gives Jean Green credit for really getting her started in oils, and for stimulating her artistic interest.

Jones retired from her position as vice-president in the Hart bank, and now devotes more time to her painting. She has taken additional instruction from Suzanne Patterson, Plainview; Bill Huffacher, Lubbock; Donna Hunt, Odessa; Ken Cargle, Jon Birdson, Russell Brown, Ben Konis, Marsha Wilkes, Gale Webb in Lubbock, Canyon and Amarillo. "I learn something more ever day, and enjoy each new experience," she added.

In addition to her fine art, Jonalyn Jones has developed other interests. She paints wooden necklaces and crafts. A friend wore one of her necklaces to a furniture market and people from different areas inquired how they may obtain the wooden jewelry. She has also developed an interest in framed calligraphy art. On display at the bank this month are examples of poems and paintings, some with a place for a picture (snapshot). These are framed in various colors.

Her husband, Weldon, farms, and Jonalyn helps with the farming, operating a base station in the home that controls six mobile units for the farm. She and Weldon also do custom-farming. The Jones' are parents of two sons. These sons, and two grandsons, have been the inspiration for some paintings featuring two boys.

Jones has exhibited her work in numerous shows including the Running Water Draw Show, Plainview. The First National Bank invites area residents to view the interesting exhibit of this talented artist during regular banking hours in August.

Gray presents stories through leather artwork

local businesses or as gifts in Lubbock, Arizona, New Mexico and Tennessee. Then over the years he developed his own style and refers to it as leather art by using paint.

Gray said leather art is not appreciated by many artists because its concept is new and isolated. Fine artists refer to leather art as a craft. This type of art is usually shown in the southwest art shows, cornered in with the crafts. Gray said he would like to see leather art expanded.

"Let's create a division of leather art by itself," he said.

Leather art is an outlet for Gray. Whether he is writing articles about history in the Floyd County area or painting its history on leather, he remains active within the Floydada community in addition to working at Russell Equipment and Supply Inc. Someday he would like to have a studio. Perhaps in Cloudcroft or Ruidoso, N.M., but with one reservation. He said, "It would not be a pleasure to paint if it begins to be like a business instead of a hobby."

This is a recreation for relaxation and Gray says it gives him joy when someone he sees is getting pleasure from his paintings.

Stolen bicycle, minor accidents reported

Criminal activity reported this week to the Floydada Police Department consisted of a bike stolen from the swimming pool.

Police reported that an 11-year-old boy parked his 20-inch chrome bike outside of the swimming pool area when he went in for a swim. He did not lock the bike. When he returned it was gone.

Three accidents were reported to police during the week.

On July 27 at 12:00 noon, a west-bound Chevrolet Suburban turned left at the intersection of Second and Missouri, in front of an eastbound Chevrolet Celebrity. The Celebrity struck the Suburban in the front of the vehicle. There were minor injuries and both cars were towed.

On July 29 at 10:44 a.m. in the 100 block of North Second, a 78 Ford pickup and a 78 Buick Century were both traveling north. The pickup pulled into the Century's lane causing the vehicles to collide. There were no injuries and both vehicles were driven away.

On Sunday, July 31, at 3:43 p.m. in the My-T-Burger parking lot an 84 Ford Bronco backed into an 87 Pontiac Firebird. There were no injuries.

Quilantan-Walden joined in garden wedding

Mary Lou Quilantan and Brad Walden exchanged wedding vows during a garden wedding ceremony at the home of Douglas and George Ann Walden with the Rev. Clarence Tedder of Primitive Baptist Church in Littlefield conducting the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Quilantan of Floydada. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Walden of Littlefield.

The bride and groom were united in a beautifully decorated gazebo surrounded by Swedish ivy and lavender ribbon. Decorated alongside the aisle were white poles, which were surrounded by an arrangement of fuschia flowers and more of the lavender ribbon.

The bride wore a romantic gown made of a shimmering satin studded with a multitude of pearls. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline enhanced by an illusion lace which was also used for the sleeves of the gown. The full skirt trimmed with more of the pearls flowed into a complete train that expanded to an array of flowing ruffles. ### Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hello, back again after a few days off. I went to a family reunion in Vernon. It was the Halencak reunion, descendants from Joseph and Mary Halencak. There were about 175 of us there, it was a happy time and a celebration, as we didn't meet just for a death.

Wednesday, Bro. Sammy Rodriguez came and gave the devotional from Rev. 3: about Jesus standing at the door, knocking for our hearts. We also sang some songs. At 2 p.m. the residents played Bingo. Thelma Hoffman had the first Bingo. Thanks Mary Davis for coming to help us.

Thursday, Helen Lipham couldn't make the devotional as she has gone to a workshop and to learn and take more lessons on playing the banjo. I gave a devotional from James 1-3, "Draw near to God and He will draw near to you." At 2:00 p.m. the ladies from the First Baptist Church came and served the residents ice cream and played some sing-along songs. The residents enjoyed the singing. Thanks go out to Charlene Alldredge, Pat Rucker, Pauline Nash, and Freida Simpson for their time and serving the ice cream.

Friday, Mrs. Lillian Ross came and shared an article on Women's Suffering, when women couldn't vote or have any rights, etc. Evelyn played the piano and we sang some songs. Evelyn closed with a prayer.

At 1:30 the residents went on the bus ride to Plainview, McDonald's treated them to some ice cream.

Our love and sympathy go out to the family and friends of Ruth Lyles. We also want to thank the family for the card. We want to welcome three new residents at this time, Esther Freeman, Robbie Hatley and Willard Young, Matador.

We also want to extend a welcome to two new LVN's on our staff, Clara Burns and Marie Cummings. Thanks to Rudolph for the delicious squash which he brought for the residents. Also thanks for the apples, Ed Wester.

This week's visitors were: Artie Webb, Bill and Clorene Holladay, Bessie Wilson, Ann Thompson, Iris Blevins, Zelma Crump, Mrs. W.A. Lovell, Winona Jackson, Pauline Pierce, Lucille Lobban, Nila, Jack Ball and sons, Plainview; Irene Wexler, Wanda Huckabee, Chris Perry, Elva Blum, Jo Nita Gilbert, Lubbock; Mel and Marjorie Holcomb, Angelina Reynolds, Edna Patton, Faye Holladay, Lucille Sisson and Ethel Carmack.

something old. Her wedding attire was new. She borrowed pennies minted in the years of the bride and groom's birth, which she wore in her shoes. She also wore the traditional blue garter.

Mary Ann Quilantan, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor. The flower girl was Natalie Walden, daughter of the groom.

Both the maid of honor and flower girl wore tea-length dresses made of a lavender satin material.

Ashton Walden, son of the groom, attended his father as best man.

The male attendants wore gray tuxedos accented with white rose boutonnieres which complimented the bride's bouquet. A brunch was held following the ceremony, which was arranged by George Ann Walden and Freddie Carol Smith of Highland Park, Dallas, mother and aunt of the groom.

The bride's table was decorated with an antique white lace tablecloth, featuring a three-layer wedding cake which consisted of lavender flowers with white icing. On the bottom of the cake was a unique fountain flowing with lavender colored water. The bride's table was attended by Tori Santos, of Plainview, niece of the bride.

The brunchon was served at the groom's table, where coffee was also served with antique silver appoint-

Will Martin's mark 53rd wedding anniversary

WILL AND BEATRICE MARTIN, JULY 29, 1953

WILL AND BEATRICE MARTIN, JULY 29, 1988

This year, on July 29, Will and Beatrice Martin celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary.

The Martin's were married in Floydada on July 29, 1935 by the Elder Joe Day. Except for two years of their married life, Will and Beatrice have lived in Floydada since they were married.

Will was born in Floydada and spent his life farming. Beatrice was born in Wingate, Texas. As a baby she traveled from Big Spring, Texas, to Moriarty, N.M., in a covered wagon. She was living in Petersburg at the time she was introduced (through his sister in Floydada) to Will.

"Our courtship lasted two years," said Will. "When I couldn't catch a ride to see her in Petersburg, I would walk."

Laughing about the long courtship, Beatrice says, "If I had to do over again, I'd take my time." Time didn't seem to phase the persistent Will who said, "She was worth the wait."

The Martin's have two children, Jesse Martin of New Deal, and Carolyn Sue of Lockney. Another son, Bobby, died five years ago at the young age of 37.

People celebrate their anniversaries in different ways but the Martin's memory of their 53rd anniversary will be more memorable than some. They celebrated the birth of their great-great-granddaughter, Carleigh Nicole, born to Chris and Anne Sue of Slaton. She was born at 3:15 p.m. July 29.

The Martin's advice of what makes a marriage last this long are simple but well worth following. Beatrice says, "Give and take." Will advises, "Don't be selfish; do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

OCTOBER WEDDING SET—Clara Burns of Floydada wishes to announce the engagement of her daughter, Delma Mae to Shannon Jeff Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Guthrie of Lubbock. The couple plan an October 7 wedding in the First Baptist Church of Shallowater. The groom is a graduate of South Plains College with a degree in commercial art. He is currently employed by McCoy's.

Reception set Sunday for Word's birthday

James H. Word will be honored on the occasion of his 70th birthday with an informal reception at the Floyd County Museum on Sunday, August 7, from 3 to 5 p.m. The affair will be hosted by his daughters: Beth Arnold of Lee's Summit, Missouri; Mary Garrett of Lexington, North Carolina; and Ann Carr of Floydada.

The youngest of four children, Word was born on August 8, 1918, in Globe, Arizona. His parents were Mary and Freeman Word. He has resided in Floydada for the past 42 years, having moved to the community following his tour of duty with the United States Marine Corps to open an insurance business.

He also has served for many years as scout master for the local Boy Scout troop, as Sunday school teacher in various departments of the First United Methodist Church, and in diverse capacities for organizations such as the Floyd County Museum, the Floyd County Library, and the local chapter of the American Heart Association.

Word's friends and neighbors are invited to share in a time of fellowship and celebration with his family.

Covingtons celebrate sale of operation with reunion

The Covington family recently celebrated the sale of their family operation, Covington Oil and Butane, with a reunion.

Jean and Warden Mayes, the daughter and son-in-law of Maddie Covington, hosted the event in Mrs. Covington's front lawn.

Served was barbecue with all the trimmings, cold drinks, watermelon and cantaloupe.

Twenty-five to 30 relatives joined in the festivities, coming from Petersburg, Dallas, Victoria, Lubbock, Iowa Park, Lockney and Dougherty.

Enjoy your day!

COUPLE TO MARRY—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith of Littlefield proudly announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sheryl Renae to Scott Allan Stephens, both of Lubbock. Stephens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Stephens of Littlefield. Sheryl is the granddaughter of Ona Ruth Neff and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith of Floydada. Wedding vows will be read Saturday, Sept. 3, in the First United Methodist Church in Littlefield. The bride-elect is a 1984 graduate of Littlefield High School and a graduate of South Plains College in Levelland. She is currently employed as a wholesale clerk for Chrysler Credit Corporation in Lubbock. The prospective bridegroom is a 1983 graduate of Littlefield High School and attended South Plains College in Levelland. He is a service technician for State Heating and Air Conditioning.

Lyme disease carried by ticks in summer

Summer is the season for ticks in Texas. And anyone working or playing outdoors, should be alert that some ticks, and the corkscrew-shaped organism they carry, can inflict serious arthritic misery.

People can contract Lyme disease after being bitten by an infected tick carrying bacteria called spirochetes. Lyme disease is named for the Connecticut town where it was first recognized in the U.S. in 1975.

The first symptom is often a red circular rash that enlarges. Victims seem to have a flu-like illness with fever, headache, chills, a stiff neck, and extreme fatigue.

Later, other health problems may include arthritis, and disorders of the heart and nervous system lasting months or years. The disease can be passed from a pregnant woman to her unborn child.

Lyme disease was detected in Texas by microbiologist Julie Rawlings at the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Bureau of Laboratories in Austin. Suspecting the presence of the disorder, she began looking for it while examining lab specimens submitted for Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Today, health professionals at TDH's laboratories use a blood test to detect the disease.

"If a doctor begins treatment soon after infection, consequences such as long term joint problems can often be prevented, Rawlings explained. "If you have Lyme disease symptoms and a known tick bite, you should go see your doctor."

She added that Lyme disease is not a life-threatening health hazard, but can cause long-lasting discomforts.

In 1987, a total of 33 cases of Lyme disease were confirmed in Texas, compared to nine cases the previous year. Most of the cases occurred in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, but other cases also occurred in the Panhandle, and in Central, East and South Texas.

"We have found the spirochete in six kinds of ticks in Texas," Rawlings said. These are the Lone Star Tick, the American dog tick, the brown dog tick, two types of rabbit ticks, and the Ixodes tick.

"The disease is reported most during the summer months, and a good preventive measure is to check yourself and your pets for ticks after being outside," Rawlings said.

To remove a tick, she said, gently grasp it with tweezers close to the skin, and slowly pull it loose. Avoid crushing the tick with your fingers.

Rawlings said that Texans needing more information about the disease can contact the Southwest Division of the National Lyme Disease Foundation. The leader of the support group is Judith Williams, at 214/796-2806.

Drought to have impact on prices of meat, poultry, produce and canned goods

Drought-driven increases in feed grain prices will eventually have an impact on consumer costs for meat, poultry, some produce and canned goods, according to specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

"Food shoppers probably won't see higher meat prices until late this summer," said Dr. Dick Edwards, an agricultural economist.

"The first indication of rising prices is usually fewer and fewer sales on meat, or slight discounts only on the less expensive cuts such as chuck and hamburger," he said.

"During the mid-summer consumers should find attractive meat prices and sales as farmers continue to sell off their stock," said the economist.

Extension Service poultry marketing specialist Dr. David Mellor said shoppers will find a similar situation with poultry.

"Consumers can expect a 3-6 month lapse before poultry prices rise because most poultry producers locked in grain prices on the futures market months ago. But the drought will eventually have a heavy impact on poultry since 60-65 percent of the price the farmer receives goes to feed," he said.

"With the large supply of poultry and especially eggs on the market now, consumers can expect low prices and more specials throughout the summer."

According to Edwards, the produce counter may be the first place shoppers notice the effects of the drought.

"Now should be the start of the summer vegetable season from the midwest, but consumers aren't going to see the abundance of produce that usually prompts sales and falling prices as the season progresses," he said.

"We've already seen this effect with Texas watermelons, cantalopes and peaches. There's no shortage, but prices aren't falling as you would expect during the height of the summer."

Since the upper midwest is the source of many vegetables for canning, such as sweet peas, Edwards said consumers will also see higher prices on some canned goods next winter.

While prices are still low this summer, consumers may want to stock their home freezers.

"If you do buy meat in bulk, protect it with moisture-vapor proof freezer wrap, freezer containers and tape so you have a good quality product three or four months later," said Extension family economics specialist Bonnie Piernot.

"Also consider the cost of the electricity it takes to run the freezer. If, for example, the electricity for your freezer costs $15 per month, that could offset the savings you realized by buying extra meat now," she said.

Letter to the Editor...

Editor,
It has been brought to my attention that the city will not respond to any calls from a citizen to pick up stray dogs, that are running loose and are becoming a nuisance to the homeowner, unless that dog shows a sign of having rabies, and only if that dog has already inflicted a bite on a homeowner or a child.

Now I say it's bad, and I feel something should be done before our children are badly bitten by these stray dogs.
Dianna Owens

Local Calvary Baptists host August revival

Can you imagine putting a child through the pain and ordeal of a dog bite and all the troubles that follow.
I run a licensed Child Care Day home and will begin again in Sept. and I will not subject those I care for, to come face to face with some of 'stray biting them.
I witnessed a week ago some four children of varied ages playing over at the tennis court on Marivena and a stray dog of medium build was outside the court. Those kids were "literally" scared to death of that dog. They were screaming so loudly that the mother who lives one block away drove her car up to the court to get those kids into the car. The children did not use the two exits on the corner and exited through the opening.

Calvary Baptist Church will host a revival on August 12, 13 and 14 at the church in Floydada. Evangelist for the event will be O.J. Bewley.
Services will be at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. Sunday services will begin at 11:00 a.m. A covered dish luncheon is slated for the Sunday noon meal.
Gospel singing will be featured during the revival.
Everyone is invited to attend and enjoy the fellowship.

Ogallala Aquifer research continues

An estimated 70,000 irrigation wells pump water from the Ogallala Aquifer to water crops on the Texas High Plains. However, the only source of natural recharge to the aquifer is precipitation falling on the area's land surface.

Any precipitation not soaked up by the soil or lost to evaporation will run off and collect in playa basins. Most playas are lined with swelling clays which allow limited water recharge into the aquifer.

The highest recharge points for most playas are the pits and trenches dug by local landowners into the caliche below the swelling clays. The next highest recharge point is the outer fringe area of the playa above the gray-black clay bottom.

When water flows into the playa, the clays swell in the basin, and this restricts water from passing through to the aquifer. Generally, when the playa basin water level recedes to the area of the clay bottom, the remaining lake water will be lost to evaporation.

Researchers hope to find a practical method to artificially recharge the aquifer by draining runoff water collected in playa basins back into the formation. An acceptable recharge method must be: 1) economically feasible and have an operating cost per unit volume of water below the cost of irrigation water; 2) technically feasible and show high flow rates of good quality water for recharge; 3) acceptable to the user with easy installation, operation, maintenance and replacement; and 4) long-lasting enough to remain intact and operable for several years.

If ongoing experiments prove successful, artificial aquifer recharge may become a viable method of water conservation. Residents in the water district service area may find artificial recharge an attractive option to increase or stabilize their water supply.

Current recharge experiments, conducted in a playa basin near Shallowater, show the most promising results to date for the development of a practical artificial recharge system. The experiment tests the feasibility of utilizing a layer of natural playa bottom materials above a layer of sand and then passing the water through geotextile filters to remove the silt, sand, sediments and biological life.

The filtered water is finally recharged by using gravity forces to move the water from the filter beds to the well, then down the well to the aquifer. The soil and sand materials trap most solids suspended in the runoff water before it reaches the filters which remove the remaining finer particles.

The recharge experiment, which has been under way for two years, consists of three drain fields installed in the playa basin bottom. One drain field is composed of 19 partially gravel filled, V-shaped trenches. HiTek Stripdrain filters lie on the gravel beds and are covered with a six-inch layer of sand and a six-inch layer of playa basin top soil. The filter drains are connected to a PVC pipe which transports the water to the recharge well.

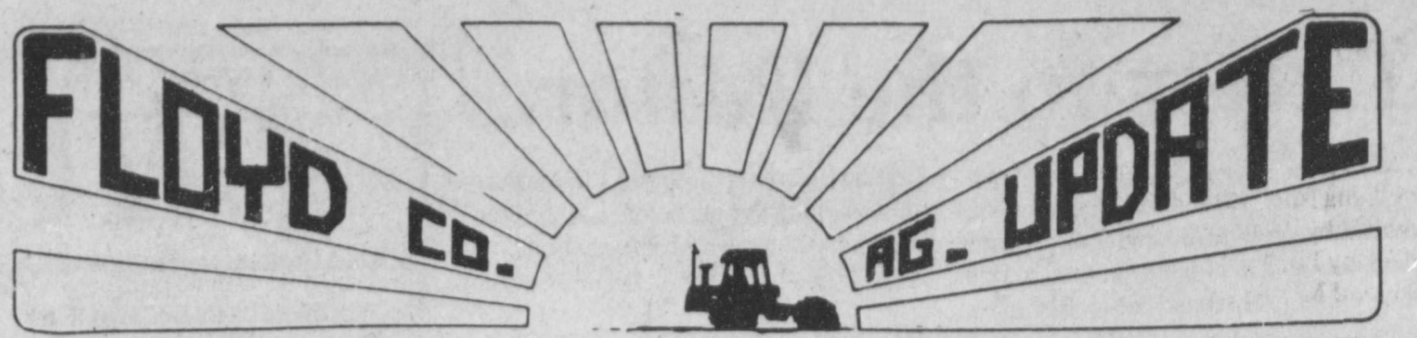

The A.D.S. installation features trenches containing a flexible plastic pipe covered with a geotextile fabric filter. The pipe rests on a gravel bed, and the trench is backfilled with six inches of sand and six inches of natural playa material. The A.D.S. system is connected to PVC pipes which carry the water to the recharge well.

A 12-inch layer of soil was excavated from the playa bottom to create the "pan" installation. Forty trenches dug in the pan contain perforated plastic pipe surrounded by gravel. Fabric filter material covers each trench, and the pan is backfilled with six inches of sand and six inches of playa bottom material. Each drain connects to a central collection line in the field's center, which carries the filtered water to the recharge well.

In 1987, the three installations displayed a combined flow rate of about 200 gallons per minute. This allowed nearly one acre-foot of water to be recharged daily. The A.D.S. and HiTek installations initially showed 100 to 110 gpm flow rates, while the pan system demonstrated an estimated 150 to 160 gpm flow rate.

Researchers have noted that the recharge water meets or exceeds the native quality of the water in the aquifer at the recharge site.

For information on artificial recharge, contact the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405 or the Texas Tech University Water Resources Center.

Treatment of lawn grubs described

By Richie Crow, CEA-Ag.

Floyd county residents who want to protect their lawns need to keep a close lookout for white grub worms.

May or June beetles have been emerging from the soil and swarming the lawns in the evenings. Females laid eggs which have hatched into white grubs. These grubs are beginning to feed on roots of home lawn grasses. Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken. Treatment time varies with the area of the state. Homeowners in the South Plains need to treat between mid-July and early August. Timing of chemical application is critical for adequate control.

White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns. Check for white grubs by cutting a square foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to a depth of four inches. Examine at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 square feet of lawn area.

Chemical treatment is needed if there are more than four grubs per square foot of sod. Diazinon, Dursban or Oftantol provide adequate control and should be used at recommended rates given on the chemical container label.

The Extension agent said the granular form is easier to apply and to wash into the soil than are liquid or spray formulations. After using granules, drag the grass with a tow sack or waterhose to knock them down to the soil. Then apply enough water to soak the granules into the soil. The insecticide should be watered in with a half-inch to an inch of water immediately after application.

Diazinon sprays should be applied at the rate of 25 gallons of water including the insecticide, per 1,000 square feet to ash the chemical into the soil. Wetting the lawn before spraying also helps.

Always keep children and pets off the treated lawn until the grass is dry.

The key to controlling white grubs in homelawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where the grubs are feeding.

Reference to commercial products or trade names is made with the understanding that no discrimination is intended and no endorsement by the Cooperative Extension Service is implied.

Rural population decreasing

The rural farm population dropped by about one million between 1980 and 1987 to 4,986,000, according to a report by the Commerce Department's Census Bureau and the Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service.

The farm population declined an average of 2.5 percent per year during the 1980's, continuing a long downward trend. About 1 in 49 persons, or 2 percent of the U.S. population, lived on the farm in 1987, compared with 30 percent in 1920, when this information first appeared in census statistics.

The farm population consists of all people living on farms in rural areas. About one in 13 rural residents, or 8 percent of the 63,889,000 total rural population lived on farms in 1987.

Half of all farm residents lived in the midwest in 1987, compared with about a third in 1950. The South was the most populous farm region until the mid-1960's, but the farm population there declined rapidly from its 52-percent share in 1950 to 29 percent in 1987.

Early breeding boosts profits

Cattlemen who use estrous synchronization with replacement heifers and breed them early can boost their profits.

The impact of these two practices was demonstrated in a study of four herds of commercial beef replacement heifers, points out Dr. L.R. Sprott, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Estrous synchronization allowed heifers to conceive an average of 10 days earlier, improving the expected gross dollar value per heifer exposed by about $25 per head," Sprott points out. "Breeding heifers 30 days before the rest of the cow herd allowed them to conceive an average of 24 days earlier. This was calculated as a $58 improvement in expected gross dollars per heifer exposed."

Combining the two practices enabled heifers to conceive an average of 35 days earlier than heifers in the conventional group, resulting in an $82 improvement in expected gross dollars per heifer exposed, according to the specialist.

"These studies show that it's profitable to use estrous synchronization and 30-day early breeding in beef replacement heifers," says Sprott. "This gives heifers more time to recover from subsequent calving so that they will be more likely to conceive for their second calf. Given this lead in breeding, calves also will be older and heavier at weaning time than if born during the usual calving season."

In the study, half the heifers were assigned to a 30-day early breeding schedule while the other half were kept on the same schedule as the mature cow herd. Within both groups, half the heifers received a single injection of prostaglandin on the first day of their assigned breeding season to synchronize estrous. Breeding continued in both groups for 60 days.

Gannaway to receive cotton breeding grant

Where cotton breeding is concerned, members of the Plains Cotton Improvement Committee (PCIC) of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., admit to having a one-track mind.

That track, says committee chairman Wayne Huffaker of Tahoka, is aimed at putting and keeping Texas High Plains cotton producers ahead of the field in the race to satisfy ever-increasing worldwide demand for high performance cotton.

Huffaker's remark summarized the feelings of the PCIC at a recent meeting where the committee agreed to pump another $100,000 into the work of Dr. John Gannaway, cotton breeder at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. This 1988-89 grant brings to $470,000 the total of producer funds provided for the program since its inception in late 1983.

The committee was formed by PCG at the request of area compresses under an agreement whereby compresses would collect 10 cents per bale to be used exclusively for breeding research. Producers are given the option to request refunds, but PCG records show such requests over the life of the program have totaled only a few dollars.

Gannaway reports substantial progress in research to breed varieties with the strength, fineness and maturity needed by mills for today's advanced spinning technology. In 1986 and 1987 a total of 90 germplasm were released to commercial breeders, all of which "exhibited various combinations of excellent fiber quality traits," Gannaway states, and all with yield potential equal to or above varieties now being planted. In 1988 another 80 germplasm are being increased for possible release next year, he says, providing they live up to the promise of quality and yield seen so far.

These releases are being incorporated into existing materials of commercial companies, and the beginnings of results more visible to producers, according to Gannaway, may be seen in 1989 as cottons with improved genetic potential are made available, on a limited scale, for testing in producer operations.

Interest in the High Plains quality program has spread across the Cotton Belt and throughout the textile world, Huffaker notes. Gannaway in 1987 and 1988 has given presentations to some 34 commodity and industry groups and has five invitations pending.

The most prestigious of the groups addressed, Gannaway says, was a large number of foreign and domestic users and potential users of High Plains cotton at last November's textile symposium, sponsored by Texas Tech's International Center for Textile Research and Development. And, as a result of that presentation, Gannaway and John Price, Assistant Director of the textile research center have been invited to conduct seminars in England, Germany, France, Switzerland and Belgium.

Tentative plans for that trip are being made, but since PCIC funds can't be used for that purpose, Huffaker notes, plans are contingent on finding an alternative source or sources to cover the cost.

Eleven experienced two-person teams July 5 began the six-week job of mapping an estimated half million acres of cotton fields in all or parts of 12 High and Low Plains counties along and just below the Caprock.

As every year, the meticulous job is a key step in preparation for the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program that's been going on since 1964. All fields planted to cotton in the defined area are pinpointed on county maps for quick location by spray planes in the Fall if manual surveys determine weevil infestations justify treatment.

Every county through which the Caprock passes, from Briscoe on the north through Floyd, Crosby, Lubbock, Garza, Boflen, Dawson and Howard on the south will be mapped, plus Modley, Dickens, Kent and Scurry Counties to the east.

All fields in the area aren't likely to require spraying, of course, program officials say. "But if and when weevil populations begin to build in an area, treatment can't wait for mapping."

Weevil emergence from hibernation has been monitored by means of phero-none traps throughout the control zone and in adjacent fields since early Spring. The primary purpose of trapping is to give preliminary indications of where manual surveys should begin prior to the initiation of spray operations in the latter half of September.

Additionally, by comparing in-zone trap catches to catches outside the control zone, officials can gauge the effectiveness of the previous year's spray program and get a general idea of the size program to expect in the Fall.

In this latter respect, according to Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., comparisons this year have been encouraging on two counts. "They verify the excellence of results from 1987 spraying and point to the possibility that fewer acres may need treatment this year," Dean says. PCG, the organization responsible for the overall program, maintains it has kept weevils out of an average 2.5 million acres of cotton in PCG's 25 county territory above the Caprock for the past 24 years.

In the untreated area outside the control zone through June this year, Dean points out, 30 traps caught 27,208 weevils, as opposed to only 2,699 weevils counted from 45 traps inside the zone where treatment occurred in 1987. "To us, that's pretty convincing evidence that last year's program did its job—it killed over 93 percent of the weevils in the control zone before they could go into winter hibernation."

Trap catches from all areas through June in 1987 tallied 114,541, against only 29,907 in 1988. So officials are speculating that the 1988 program may be significantly smaller and less expensive than last year when an aggregate of 615,000 acres were treated at a cost of over $1.8 million.

The program is jointly funded by High Plains cotton producers, the Texas and U.S. Departments of Agriculture. Producers, with a small contribution from TDA, furnish 70 percent of the total.

FARM... Short cuts

Do you know there was really a man named John Deere? He is given credit for being the first man to use steel in a commercially successful plow.

Louis Chevrolet was a famous race car driver and he was so unhappy with the car he designed and built that he walked away from it less than four years after it went into production.

Lewis Bergman Maytag was into agriculture equipment manufacturing, but his company changed the domestic washing machine forever. By 1923 the company abandoned all other manufacturing to concentrate on washers. Within five years, Maytag had cornered 60 percent of all American washing machine business.

B. Haehnel is guest speaker at Rotary

Texas' economy in the next two decades will be as significantly influenced by the revolution in telecommunications technology as it was by highways in years gone by, according to Bill Haehnel, Southwestern Bell Telephone science demonstrator.

Haehnel's program, titled "Gateway to the Information Age—Part II", was presented to the Floydada Rotary Club on Wednesday, August 3.

"At the core of our business existence in Texas are knowledge-intensive industries—finance, medicine, energy, electronics—all of which are dependent on a sophisticated communications network," said Haehnel.

He noted Southwestern Bell is at the center of the high-tech explosion in Texas, and improvements in the Texas network will have major impact on productivity in the state of years ahead.

"Lightwave systems, digital switching, and other advanced technologies will be required to meet customers' demands," said Haehnel.

A 45 year veteran of the communications business, Haehnel examined technological changes affecting the whole spectrum of human endeavor, both in business and personal lives of Texans.

Haehnel predicts telecommunications sales world-wide, more than $40 billion in 1980, are likely to double by 1990, and could even double again by the turn of the century.

Southwestern Bell's construction budget in Texas in 1985 was more than $1.2 billion. "This expenditure is essential if we're to meet our goal of providing first-class service," said Haehnel.

"Good telephone service costs money, but poor service is no bargain at any price."

"The customer of tomorrow will expect things like shopping without leaving home, electronic mail, point-of-sale credit, and many other services," Haehnel said. "We want to be in a position to provide those services, and the many others people will want, today and tomorrow."

Floydada Caprock Hospital Happenings

What a wonderful busy week we had last week. We saw many of the community as you came to participate in our Health Fair. We had over 160 who attended and took advantage of the services offered. A special thanks to all who came and also to those who helped us present it. The ladies from the Auxiliary who helped register were: Beth Tye, Rene Chapman, Jean Baird, Juanita Henry and Ethel Carmack. We had several people sign up for ValuCare while at the health fair.

Julianne Cornelius provided information on aerobics. She is starting a new class at the hospital this week. If you are interested, please give her a call.

Members of the 1956 Study Club who assisted with our Open House Sunday, July 31 were: Janet Lloyd, Sharon Vickers, Sherry Hale, Donna Henderson, Jan Thayer, Jan Thompson, Luann Schaffner and Lisa Becker. We had a very nice turn out and we thank each who came. A special thanks goes to Sue's Gifts for furnishing the centerpiece for the table.

The 1956 Study Club is hoping that this fall we will be able to get the lobby redecorated with new carpet, furniture, wallpaper, paint and wallhangings. Remember this upcoming project.

We have part of the Memorial Plaques up on the doors at the hospital and the others are being made. These are made and placed in the hospital for those who contributed $150.00 or more to do the redecorating fund. There is a special plaque at the nurses station for those who contributed for that particular project. Jerry Thompson is graciously donating his time and skills to make these plaques. We thank you, Jerry for doing this for us.

Dr. Jordan is vacationing this week.

We look forward to his returning next week.

Candy Thrasher, LVN, is training for our surgery team. Candy has worked at the hospital before and we are glad to have her back. Helen Teeple, RN, is our Supervisor of Surgery and has been very busy the last few weeks with her crew, with 3-4 surgeries performed in the last week.

Our employee spotlight this week is Mae Jarrett. She has been a scrub tech at the hospital since 1972. She came to work at the hospital in March of 1968. She first worked the floor as a nurse's aide, then on to Central Supply and surgery, and worked there until 1979 when she became office nurse for Dr. Hong. She worked also with the ambulance crew for 10 years. When Dr. Lopez came in 1986, Mae became his office nurse.

Mae was born in Pike County, Arkansas. She moved to Clarksville, Texas, at the age of 16. She lived there until she married J.C. Jarrett. They moved to Floydada about 40 years ago. Mae has three children all of which are grown up and gone. Mae has been a great help to our hospital and has done very capable work wherever she has been placed. She plans to semi-retire soon, but we look forward to her still working for us some at the hospital.

HEALTH TIP

Water—Our Most Important Liquid Asset. Without water, we would not survive. It delivers nutrients and oxygen to cells, helps us digest and absorb food, and lubricates all of our joints. In addition, water is our natural air-conditioning system. The loss of water through perspiration helps keep us cool.

Because the risk of dehydration (water loss) increases with age, it is important to take in enough water to meet your body's needs.

Although eating a balanced diet can meet some of your water needs, the amount of water found in most foods is not enough to prevent dehydration. Therefore, experts recommend that we drink at least six 8-oz. glasses of water each day. If you are physically active, you should drink more.

You can replenish body water by drinking unsweetened and diluted fruit juices and clear, unsalty beef or chicken broth, but the best source of water is water itself.

Social Security News

By Terry J. Clements

It's a good idea about this time of year for people who are receiving Social Security benefits and are still working to check their earnings to make sure the estimate of their annual earnings they made earlier is still accurate. If expected earnings are higher than estimated on their annual earnings report, they should notify Social Security as soon as possible to avoid problems with the overpayment of benefits.

A change in earnings during the year is one of the most frequent causes of overpayments. This is why beneficiaries should review the earnings estimate they were required to submit to Social Security by April 15. Monthly benefits payable are based on expected earnings for the year.

Under the law, an annual earnings limit applies to people receiving Social Security benefits who work. Earnings over the limit result in benefits being reduced $1 for each $2 of earnings above the limit. The 1988 earnings limits are $8,400 for people 65-69 and $6,120 for people under 65 all of 1988. People who do not report their correct earnings and who receive benefits to which they are not entitled are required to repay the overpayment. Generally, the repayment is made from deductions from future checks.

A mass mailing is conducted each August as part of an effort to alert working beneficiaries to update their earnings reports to avoid overpayments. An estimated 70 percent of over payments likely to occur in 1988 will result from low estimated of annual earnings reported to Social Security.

Changes can be reported by phone, mail, or in person. For more information you may call us at 293-9623.

Have a Good Week!

News and Views from Cedar Hill

Rain has hop-scotched across the community this past week allowing some farms to be caught up on their plowing while others are still too wet. Wednesday, July 27, the eastern and southern portions of the community received all the way from a "good shower" to water running out of J.R. Belt's fields on the old Fred Brown place. Saturday, July 30, showers skipped to the west and as far north as the canyons east of South Plains. These showers, as much as three quarters of an inch, were heaviest on that tier of sections from the C.L. Gilly farm through Jerry Lackey's on the old Lum Lackey place. Field work was not hampered in the center of the community nor in that area to the southwest.

Corn is virtually made however some fields have just finished receiving lake water in hopes of raising the test weight a few points.

Cotton farmers with rank growing crops were busy last week putting water furrows in their fields for fear of excessive damage to the plants later when the stalks begin to lap in the middles. Unless it rains very soon lake pumps will be pushing water to most cotton fields by the end of this week. Aerial spraying continues for the control of bollworms and aphids. Also some growth retardant is still being applied.

Cucumbers are moving to the vegetable sheds on a regular basis and the market appears very strong.

Hay growers have been scrambling to hurry their cane and haygrazer seed into the ground between showers. Some, seeded on weedy ground, was classed as "dry sowed," and is waiting for rain, however fields that were reasonably weed free before the rains have germinated and already the seedlings can be seen down the drill furrows.

Milo fields have just received a quick watering before cotton makes its peak irrigation demands. Excellent prospects continue however some spraying is being done for green bugs and spider mites. So far midge has not been a problem.

Vegetable gardens are moving into their period of peak production. Roadside markets are now offering watermelons, cantaloupes, squash, onions and the first pickings of blackeyed peas. Peas will be in full production the second week of August.

People:

Edna Gilly had Clara Redd of Floydada as a dinner guest Sunday. After lunch they drove to the Clark cabin at Lake Mackenzie and visited with Juanita Teeple, Ruth Clark and Rhonda Gayle Parker.

Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry joined Mary Ann and Garland Tucker of Lubbock last Tuesday, July 26, for a trip to visit their brother, Fred Fortenberry in Clarendon. Jewell Fortenberry of Lockney also planned to go, but was prevented at the last moment by the serious illness of a niece in Lockney.

We oldsters tend to get a little discouraged some time, then out of the blue something will occur that proves the world hasn't really changed all that much. One night last week a well organized "snipe hunt" was arranged for the benefit of Reverend Morton's boys, and Vance and Traca Lemons. Also partici-parting in the hunt, but with uncertain status, was Linda Faye Lemons. Contrary to the usual lake shore or running stream this snipe hunt was held out on CRP land not far from Cephus and Imogene's house. Cephus was tipped off to the situation when the kids showed up at this house, along about news time, with their sacks, asking permission to conduct the hunt in his field. As you can imagine snipe hunts can be very boring, and they may last for hours, until that electrifying moment when, in the darkness, a close flying flock of snipes plunges pell-mell into the sack you are holding open. Out of curiosity Cephus would step out into the stillness of the night from time to time, and listen for some clue as to how the hunt was going. Thus it was that much, much later he heard an excited cry from out in the darkness, "I got one, I got one!"

So history in the annals of snipe hunting was made last week. Somebody got one!

Mrs. Mary Lou Godfrey Clump and her husband Joe Clump of Houston spent Friday night in the Edna Gilly home. They had come to Lubbock to attend a wedding. Mr. Clump is in real estate development in Houston.

It was a happy birthday for Leah Lackey last Monday, Aug. 1, then she remembered: her dentist had her scheduled for a root canal.

Phyllis and Mychelle Harris, JoLee Ellis and Todd Hodges from Iraan, Texas, visited with Cephus and Imogene last Sunday. Todd is scheduled for induction into the Navy in El Paso Thursday, August 4, 1988.

A number of Cedar Hill residents attended the funeral services for Charles Higgins in Hereford Thursday, July 28. Among those attending were Durrell Fortenberry, Pat Kelley, Norma Welch, George Taylor, Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry, Carl Lemons and Garland and Mary Ann Tucker.

Excerpt from a July 27 letter from Ruth (Mrs. Boone) Brown Hall. She reminisces from around 1910: "There was a lovely, little, humble, gracious teacher named Miss Maggie Cooper that taught in the little one room school house at Cedar Hill. I think she was a cousin of Monroe and Bob Smith. Any way the pupils adored her, yea, worshipped her. Discipline was no problem, but for some reason little Joe Fortenberry had broken some rule. Dear little Joe, always laughing and drooling as he laughed.

Miss Maggie called him to the front and said, "Joe, you know you should not have broken the rules and you know you must be punished. Now Joe I want you to go outside and bring in a whip to punish you with."

Every one was horrified! Miss Maggie; gentle, angelic little Miss Maggie! Would spank Joe? After a period of anxious waiting, a great thumping, bumping noise was heard, the big double doors were pushed open and in came little Joe pulling a cedar post left from putting a barbed wire fence around the school house.

Joe dragged the post up to Miss Maggie's desk. Well, what could she do? She couldn't even lift the post much less spank him with it! So tension lifted, and all laughed, relieved!

Backward, turn backward, oh time in your flight.

When our happy hearts brimmed over with neither sob nor sigh,

In the olden, golden, glory of the days gone by."

Thank you Ruth.

Notice of Effective Tax Rate

This notice contains a summary of actual effective and rollback tax rate calculations. You can inspect a copy of the full calculations at Floyd County Central Appraisal Dist., Floydada, Texas.
Name of person preparing this notice Shelia Faulkenberry Title Chief
Date prepared August 1, 1988 Appraiser

19 88 Property Tax Rates in MACKENZIE WATER AUTHORITY

This notice concerns 19 88 property tax rates for Mackenzie Water Auth. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. Compare it to the tax rate the taxing unit proposes for this year. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:	.2873
Last year's operating taxes	$ 74,688.89
+ Last year's debt taxes	$ 355,333.53
= Last year's total taxes	$ 430,022.42
÷ Last year's tax base	$ 149,677,138
= Last year's total tax rate	$ .2873 /$100

This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and taxes to correct appraisal roll errors)	$ 429,950.45
÷ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting taxes on new property)	$ 151,065,426
= This year's effective tax rate	$ .2846 /$100
× 1.03
= Maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearings	$ .2931 /$100

This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and taxes to correct appraisal roll errors and adding taxes lost in court suits)	$ 74,685.74
÷ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting taxes on new property)	$ 151,065,426
= This year's effective operating rate	$ .0494 /$100
× 1.08
= This year's maximum operating rate	$ .0534 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ .2397 /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ .2931 /$100
