Floydada public schools Hispanic enrollment up

Hispanic enrollment is up again this year in Floydada schools, while anglo registration is down and the percentage of blacks stayed the same, according to a study prepared by the superintendent's office.

As of September 15, 1988 the total enrollment was 1314. Of that amount, 801 were Hispanic, which is 61% of the student body. That amount is up from 58 percent in 1987-88 school year.

Anglos enrolled numbered 455, or 35% of the entire body. That is a decrease of 1% from last year. 56 black students comprise 4% of the student body.

The breakdown for race and enrollment for the 1987-88 school year were: Hispanic, 649; anglo, 548; black, 80; American Indian, 4; and Korean, 2.

According to this year's study, the student number by race in each of the school's classes include:

Salvation Army kicks off fund drive October 1st

A goal of $1500.00 has been set for the Floydada Salvation Army Service Unit Fund Drive which will kick off on October 1, as announced by Monte Williams, Service Unit Committee Chairman.

Funds collected in the drive will be used to pay for The Salvation Army's services to the underprivileged in Floydada through the current fiscal year.

In order to hold expenses to the minimum, the Service Unit has decided to use a direct solicitation, through a bank statement mailing with the First National Bank of Floydada, Sunbelt Savings and F.C.S. Credit Union this year. Chairman Monte Williams asks that you give serious thought to this request so that this local volunteer organization can continue these worthwhile services.

The committee, composed of business and civic leaders, carries out a year-around program to help people with emergency needs. In the name of The Salvation Army whom it represents, the committee helps with such basic necessities that families or individuals may require in a temporary crisis.

Unsigned letters taboo

Several unsigned letters have been received by this newspaper in recent months. The Hesperian's policy is that no unsigned letters shall appear in print. In certain situations, a signature may not appear on a letter but the original copy must contain a name and it will be shown to anyone requesting this information. Letters to the editor are welcome if they are signed, are not libelous and are not excessive in length.

The Service Unit also acts as liaison for The Salvation Army's state-wide program which includes summer outings for boys at Camp Hoblitzelle, care for pre-delinquent girls and unwed mothers, help for paroled prisoners, relief in major disasters and other services.

Members of the committee are: Monte Williams, chairman; Olin Watson, vice chairman; Martha Lotspeich, treasurer; Sheriff Fred Cardinal, welfare secretary; and Jim Word, Kathy Green, Lorin Liebfried, Jimmy Willson, Corky Guffee, the Rev. Howell Farnsworth and the Rev. William H. Wright, board members.

THE ONE AND ONLY—The new Floydada Pumpkin Capital of the World T-shirts and caps are hot off the presses and ready to sell to the public. The Chamber of Commerce will be using the funds from the sale of the shirts and caps to promote the City of Floydada and "Punkin Days". The logo you see on the cap and shirt is the official symbol being used by the Chamber for state wide promotions. There are plenty of shirts to sell right now, according to chamber spokesmen, and the caps should be in later this week. The shirts will sell for $8.00 and the caps for $5.00. You may purchase yours now at the Chamber of Commerce office. Staff Photo

Lions Club slates blood drive for October 11th

Floydada Lions Club will be sponsoring a blood drive, by United Blood Services, on Tuesday, Oct. 11. The drive will be in the Community Room in the First National Bank, from 3 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

United Blood Services is a non-profit community blood center, which provides blood and blood products for patients in area medical facilities. Community-minded volunteer blood donors supply the material out of which these products are made.

According to UBS, the blood donation process is easy, and usually takes just 30 minutes.

A brief interview is the first step. You'll be asked about your medical history and current health. Next your temperature, blood pressure, pulse and blood hemoglobin level are checked.

The actual donation takes only 10 minutes. A technician will draw approximately one pint of blood while you relax in a comfortable chair.

UBS states that it is impossible to contact a disease while donating blood as all material used in the process are sterile and used only once.

The blood is then typed and tested at a blood center laboratory, properly stored and distributed to area hospitals.

The blood will be used for medical advances and modern surgical techniques, such as; cancer treatments, organ transplants and open heart surgeries.

You must be 17 years or older to give blood and have a minimum weight of 110 pounds. There must be at least eight weeks between your last donation.

You may not donate blood if you have or had hepatitis, internal malignancy (cancer) within past 10 years, diabetes requiring insulin, intravenous drug use not prescribed by a physician, belonged to a group at high risk of contracting AIDS, sexual contact with an AIDS patient or with individuals who are at an increased risk of contracting AIDS, unexplained night sweating, skin eruptions, fevers, weight loss, swollen lymph glands or persistent diarrhea.

It is recommended that you eat a meal before donating, preferable one low in fats. Fasting is not recommended.

Chamber endorses Pride Publications

The Floydada Chamber of Commerce voted this week to endorse a magazine put out by Pride Publications. They joined almost a dozen other chambers participating in the production of a new magazine on economic development and quality of life in the South Plains area.

Leslie Frasier, of Pride Publications, will be visiting local merchants the week of Oct. 3, in search of advertising for this full-color publication.

"The magazine is part of what has become a statewide trend recently to regionalize efforts in economic development," said Bobbye Slack, president of the South Plains Association of Chamber Executives. "Chambers of Commerce are seeing the merit of acting together for wider exposure and greater impact in their moves to both attract new industries and expand existing ones."

The publication will be used by the chambers in the South Plains area in their economic development efforts locally, nationally and worldwide. It will also be available to concerns such as utility companies, real estate agencies, schools, hospitals and the like who have need of similar material in their recruitment and economic development efforts.

The magazine will focus on the economic assets and opportunities found in the South Plains area that are of interest to new or expanding businesses and industries. Data on current industries as well as facts about emerging ones in the area will be featured. Additionally, pertinent facts such as land availability, labor market, residential and commercial real estate opportunities, transportation access and related material will be included.

A quality of life section will focus on such items as educational programs, medical services, and recreational opportunities available in the South Plains area.

The South Plains Association of Chambers Executives will be reviewing the editorial content and providing direction.

It will be distributed extensively among the South Plains chambers which include Plainview, Snyder, Brownfield, Denver City, Lamesa, Floydada, Dimmitt, Muleshoe, Spur area, Tulia, Levelland, Littlefield and Lubbock.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor,
 Would you help me find a few good men by publishing this letter in your paper? The few good men mentioned are WWII Veterans and were assigned to the 351st Heavy Bombardment Group at Polebrook, England, between 1943 and 1945. There are about 5,000 lost souls and some of them may be in your area.

We have formed a 351st Association of flying and ground crews and have annual reunions. If you fit the above description, please contact: Ken Vaughn, 1 Shady Lane, Belleville, IL 62221.

Dear Editor,
 As newspaper carriers of Floydada we had numerous complaints of dogs stealing papers. Packs of wild dogs are allowed to roam our streets and attack its citizens and the leash law continues to go unenforced. We can no longer afford to deliver 20-30 people a second paper daily. I think people are complaining to the wrong person. Next time your paper is stolen please call the city or sheriff's office.

Hospital Happenings

by Molly Stringer
 We had a busy active weekend at the hospital. Six patients were admitted Sunday evening and night. Two surgeries and a scope were scheduled for Monday morning. We transported a cardiac patient by Flight for Life on Sunday evening also. All this week will prove to be busy here at the hospital, all departments are doing inventory. All medications, supplies and stock must be counted for the auditors.

Leroy attended a Quality Assurance meeting last Thursday in Lubbock at Methodist Hospital. This was a very timely informative meeting. Molly Stringer was unable to attend this meeting, due to the death of her aunt in Knox City.

Mammograms were done as scheduled on Tuesday of this week. We had 12 ladies participate in this service. We appreciate each one who supports this hometown service we offer. We usually get the reports mailed out within a week. We will also mail your report to any doctor of your choice.

We would like to familiarize the community with some other services we have to offer here at the hospital. We have a special piece of equipment to do scopes. We can do either gastro or colonoscopy. Dr. Lopez is specially trained to do both of these scopes.

The scope itself is a long flexible tube. The tube is equipped with lights and microscope to provide a clear view inside parts of the body.

Through the colonoscopy the lower colon can be visualized. Biopsies can also be taken through this tube of any tissue in the lower intestine. This examination can identify any polyps, tumors or sources of hidden bleeding. The intestine must be prepared before this exam is done. Laxative and enemas are given on the evening before the procedure is scheduled. Thirty minutes before the scope, an injection is given to sedate the patient, an IV is started and additional medication may be given IV push in the scope room is needed. After the scope is completed the patient will be monitored until fully awake and all affects of the medication gone.

The gastroscope tube is a bit longer than the colonoscopy. It is inserted through the mouth into the esophagus and into the stomach, after medications are given to sedate the patient. The physician is able to visualize the esophagus, stomach and duodenum. Ulcer, tumors, or obstructions may be identified by the procedure. Biopsies may be taken of any unusual tissue.

Scopes are an improvement over x-rays because the area involved can be viewed by the physician.

The gastro and colonoscopy is a valuable diagnostic piece of equipment and we are fortunate to have this available in our hospital.

Health Tip
THE ROOM IS SPINNING.
 Dizziness frequently is associated with three problems: loss of consciousness, vertigo, and most commonly, lightheadedness, that wozy feeling associated with colds and flu.

Lightheadedness is not usually serious. Many people with this problem are tense or anxious. Alcohol is a frequent cause. Some people have low blood pressure and feel lightheaded when quickly standing up. This is called postural hypotension and does not require treatment.

Lightheadedness can also be associated with medication use. If so, the physician should determine whether to discontinue the drug.

Persistent lightheadedness with other symptoms do not indicate a brain tumor or other hidden disease; it often disappears when anxiety is resolved. Not infrequently the patient must learn to live with this problem.

For postural hypotension, avoid sudden changes in posture. Unless the condition suddenly worsens or is extremely frequent and troublesome, a visit to the doctor is not needed.

Next week we will continue with vertigo and loss of consciousness.

On September 25, three people were arrested for driving while intoxicated and one man was arrested for public intoxication.

In the early morning hours of September 25, a man was arrested at 2nd street and charged with public intoxication.

Also early in the morning, Tomas Tomayo, was stopped at 2nd street for speeding and racing on HWY 70. He was found to be intoxicated and charged with DWI.

Earlier in the week on September 23, according to Sgt. Snell, a man was charged with reckless conduct after going on to someone else's property and threatening them with a gun.

On September 24, a woman reported to police that she had been assaulted and received a knot over her left eye. One man was arrested and charged with assault.

On September 26, police received a complaint from a man who lived in the 800 block of South 3rd, stating that someone had scratched his car down to the metal in several places. He had attended the Lubbock Fair the night before and could not be sure where the criminal mischief was done. The estimated damage was $1,209.04.

The driver of the pickup, traveling west on East Grover, had turned south on N. 11th and was blinded by the sun, hitting the Cordoba.

Also on Friday, at 7:00 p.m. at the intersection of Missouri and 2nd, a 1975 Ford F250 Ranger pickup which was traveling west on West Missouri, attempted to turn south on S. 2nd and failed to yield right of way to a Pontiac Phoenix, striking the left front fender of the Phoenix.

USPS rejecting misdated metered mail

Section 374.22, Domestic Mail Manual (DMM), allows postmasters to accept incorrectly-dated metered mailpieces under very specific circumstances, including that the allowance be

Willson elected as local SPAG delegate

South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) members elected delegates from each county to serve on the Board of Directors and approved their annual financial plan during their general assembly meeting Tuesday night.

One at-large representative from each county was selected to serve a one-year term on the board of directors beginning Oct. 1. Floydada will be represented by Nancy Willson, owner of Willson and Sons, and Floydada city councilwoman.

Also during Tuesday's meeting, members adopted their financial plan for fiscal year 1989. The plan calls for a total expenditure of $1.8 million to be divided among SPAG programs and capital expenses.

The aging program, which receives 67-1/2 percent of SPAG's total expenditures, will be allotted $1.2 million for senior citizens programs. Other areas receiving a large percentage of the association's funds include economic development, $207,000; regional services, $102,000; and law enforcement training programs, $134,000.

applied but once to any particular mailer. If the conditions described in section 374.22, DMM, are not met, or if the situation recurs, postmasters do not have the option to accept the incorrectly-dated metered mail. As a result, the provisions of section 144.471, DMM, apply, and the mail must be reentered (with a ".00" impression and the correct date) or reenvoloped (with a new meter impression including the correct date). The DMM instructions are similarly reflected in section 913.6, Handbook DM-102, Bulk Mail Acceptance.

The Postal Service cannot repeatedly accept misdated metered mailings from mailers regardless of whether that situation arises from presort errors, production problems, or late deposit at the post office. This general perspective underlies section 913.7, DM-102, even though that section follows specific discussion of metered mailings resubmitted (with incorrect dates) after presort problems were corrected.

The language of sections 913.6 and 913.7, DM-102, should not be interpreted as granting authority to the postmaster for repeated acceptance of metered mail bearing an incorrect date. Such acceptance decisions will skew ODIS performance. Appropriate revisions to the DMM and DM-102 are being prepared to further clarify this issue.

Harmony Extension Homemakers Club hears health care program

By Ruth Scott

Imelda Murry was hostess to the Harmony Extension Homemakers Club at the community center Monday, Sept. 19. The vice president, Maye Williams, presided in absence of the president, Vivian Curtis.

Roll call was answered by eight members and agent on "Something I like to eat when I'm sick."

Plans were made to go to Canyon Monday, September 26, to go through the Hudspeth home, a historical landmark that has been restored and opened to the public to see. Lunch is also served there.

Ruth Scott gave slips of paper to members, who in turn wrote down their predictions of when we will have the first killing frost and the first measurable snow. A prize will be given to the ones coming the nearest to the date.

Mary True, Extension agent gave the program on "Fallacies of Health." She showed a film on health care and discussed what to ask your doctor, write down things you want to ask and write the answers. Tell him/her where you hurt, what kind of medicine, if any, you are taking and always follow your doctor's treatment plan.

She gave out pamphlets on the subject and a health record book to be kept for your family members.

Blanche Williams conducted a game "Around the House," and read "The Dieters Prayer" and read a riddle for members to solve.

The hostess served a delightful plate of turkey salad sandwiches, chips and dips, sweet bread and pops to members and Mary True.

Alpha Mu Delta holds Ritual of Jewels

The 234th meeting of Texas Alpha Mu Delta #9314 was called to order at 7:00 p.m. on September 20 at Light-house Electric. Roll was called with all members present.

A thank you note was read from the 1956 Study Club thanking them for the $150.00 donation to the hospital. A rush party is being planned for prospective new members. In October they hope to take their children trick or treating around Floydada. A raffle was then held with Jeanine Helms being the winner.

Ritual of Jewels ceremony was held for Sidney Jackson, Dora Ross and Melanie Beedy. Pledge training for Tami Wofford and Tammy Wilson will be held again next time when they meet at the bank.

Hostesses for the meeting were Tami Wofford and Brenda Heflin, who served lasagna, tossed green salad, caramel pie and ice tea.

Monday, started the week as usual, we had morning coffee and juice. Bro. Bill Wright couldn't be with us, so we listened to some songs, and shared James 3:1-10. On wisdom, seek for peace and cultivate peace. At 2 p.m. the residents painted a red apple, so far they have painted an apple, orange and a banana.

At 2 p.m. the ladies from the Companions 'n' Caring came and did the manicures, then at 2 p.m. they served the residents some ice cream. Evelyn Juarez sent some cookies. We appreciate that. Also want to thank Harbie Vick for the water-melons, the residents really did enjoy them.

News and Views from Cedar Hill

WEATHER

An electrical storm with high winds and scattered patches of small hail swept across the community Thursday night. Damage from the hail was very slight; only a few leaves knocked off the cotton. Rainfall ranged from 1/4 to 3/4 inch but it made the ground as wet as it was following the heavy rains a few days earlier. Ground that had been heavily infested with wild rye or rescue grass earlier in the year now has an unbelievable stand of the tiny hair-like seedlings, as many as 50 to 100 per square foot. October 15 still looks like the frost date.

CROP COMMENTS:

Open cotton bolls are visible higher and higher on the stalks and some event, like the ginning of county's first bale or rumors of an impending late season price break, will provide that psychological nudge needed to trigger wide scale defoliation. There will be 1-1/2 bales per acre harvested from some dryland fields while others will produce no more than 1/4 BPA. Barring some disaster two bales per acre will be harvested from some irrigated fields. Gins will be busy places this fall. With the average number of wet spells it may be Valentine's before they finish.

CRP land can be seen in every stage. Some land is in the first stage of preparation while other has a good stand and is almost weed free. It all looks good.

CUCUMBER pickers were back in the fields Monday harvesting the first of the late planting. The first plantings are exhausted and have ceased to bear. Cool weather has reduced fruit - set on the young plants, but the packers are eager buyers.

HAY on dryland appears to be overcoming it's having been stunted by dry weather, but cool nights and short days are slowing it's recovery. Much hay is already baled and has been moved to the stack lots. Stubble from those already cut-over fields is making rapid regrowth, but there is little chance it will produce a second cutting.

MILO foundation seed is being harvested on the Edna Gilly farms. A special two row Allis-Gleaner mini-combine is "nibbling" it's way across the fields. The progress is slow, but it is very special seed.

SOYBEANS so tall and overlapped that the row direction cannot be determined are presenting occasional yellowed leaves on the E.R. Melton (Roe Jones) place. Those mottled-yellow leaves fore-tell that the major leaf-drop is imminent; combines will soon follow.

VEGETABLE harvest, mostly tomatoes, was brought to a sudden stop by the rain. Hands for gathering were badly needed Monday. No spoilage was noted, but many fully ripe "canners" were very ready for processing. Thursday night's storm left Carl Lemons with 179 windfallen apples on his hands so the old 114 watt fruit drier is back in action again.

WHEAT, barely up and still yellow, was shining down the drill furrows in many fields late Sunday. A wonderful advantage to those whose land is not infested with wild rye and rescue grass. It is noticed that many who delayed sowing a year ago have already sown this year, while last year's early birds are holding back this year. Those who have waited this year in order to kill another crop of wild rye have really been rewarded; a huge population has come up and is waiting for the plow.

PEOPLE:

There is a seasonal slow-down in trucking just now so I was lucky and caught Craig DuBois at home. He interrupted the corralling of the family saddle horse long enough for a brief interview. He gave this interesting account of the technique employed in the unloading of ten-wheel, 50,000 pound truck loads of cantalopes in Houston this summer. One man stands on the ground behind the 35 foot truck bed loaded with cantalopes. He catches and puts down the cantalopes tossed to him by another man who stands in the back of the truck. When the "tosser" gets too far toward the front of the truck a third man called the "deflector" gets in the back of the truck. This third man sometimes catches a cantalope and tosses it on to the "catcher," but more often he just bumps or deflects the airborne cantalope in the right direction, as it passes him, so that it goes on to the catcher. Craig says they usually unload 50,000 lbs. in an hour and a half. That figures between 15,000 and 17,000 tosses and catches in 90 minutes. Well, you have experienced tossed salad, now you have heard of "tossed" cantalopes.

Don't laugh at my gullibility, that is a perfectly logical way to unload cantalopes. Of course a sharp interviewee often has a marvelous opportunity to do a first class leg pulling number on the interviewer, but I'm sure it didn't happen this time. That is the way they unload cantalopes in Houston, I think.

Saturday, 9-17: Peat Kelley and Norma Welch are home from a reunion and business trip through parts of Southeast and East Texas, almost blown home by Hurricane Gilbert. In Conroe they visited with Marilyn Morton and her two boys, but missed seeing preacher Bud himself. The hurricane pretty well blew away all semblance of a reunion, so many people were fleeing further inland. One lady they visited was at the point of leaving home for Oklahoma, and when they left the lady locked her doors and pulled out of her drive behind them on her way to Oklahoma. They stayed one night in Mesquite with Frances Lemons Whatley and her family.

Tuesday, 9-20: Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry returned from a six day visit and vacation trip to central Colorado. Leaving home Sept. 14, they stayed Wednesday night with their daughter, Jean and Troy Smith in Dumas. On Thursday they drove on to the home of their eldest daughter Nelda and Wayne Jemigan, in Longmont, Colorado, 40 miles north of Denver. Nelda's son, Pat, who stayed here with them in 1987, now works at a computer assembly plant near Longmont. They stayed at Jean's again Monday night as they returned home.

Durrell Fortenberry's Excel Company, east of Cedar, continues to turn out a steady flow of air compressors, wire rollers, and hay handling equipment. The company reports that it's suppliers seem to be carrying smaller inventories which translates into more frequent trips required to bring in adequate reserves of work material. Back orders on some supplies are also becoming more of a problem.

The fields were muddy, but the roads were dry, so a number of the Gilly clan spent Saturday doing more work at the Ruthie Clark cabin on the shores of Lake Mackenzie.

Chemicals failed and the cultivator missed some so Craig Gilly has cockleburrs in his cotton patch. In order to promote that warm feeling of togetherness Craig and Trudy decided to make a family affair of the removal of those pesky cockles. It was about 3:00 one humid, 95 degrees, September afternoon, out there among the cockleburrs, that Trudy remarked how much more they would get done if some of the more obese family members wouldn't spend so much time mopping the perspiration from their brows. Craig says there is no question but he got a jewel when he got Trudy, but some of her talents would have been far more easily accepted before Lincoln made his Emancipation Proclamation.

Lindsey and Billie Ruth are still repairing the house at 724 W. Lee in Floydada, and waiting for Lindsey to get the inspiration to sow wheat. They had 6/10 inches rain and a smattering of small hail.

Friday of last week Raz Ware, Clint and Dara Ware and their sons, Cody and Clay attended a Ware reunion at Farmers Branch in Northeast Dallas County. About 35 Ware relatives from all over Texas attended. Also at the reunion was William Ware, a ministerial student, who stayed with Bill and Grace some 35 years ago and commuted to Wayland College. William now resides in Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Master Dusty Langley from Denver City, Texas, is visiting with his grandparents Neil and Charlene Langley. Cathy is not going to Texas Tech as previously reported. She is preparing to be a legal secretary and attends a Lubbock branch of Levelland Junior College. Charlene still takes orders and bakes cakes for special occasions. She also does emergency decorating for M-System stores in Plainview.

When I called Clara Mize at 10:30

Monday morning she was busy making a pound cake for a neighbor down the street. I'll bet it's good. Clara has had 90 years of experience. Yes, Clara made it to church Sunday as usual. When I drove past the Mize farm Sunday the ground was very, very wet and Clara's CRP was going in fine.

Rev. Jude and Marie Strickland were present to assist with services at the Assembly of God Church last Sunday. Attendance was up and the congregation was encouraged.

Thursday, 9-29: Gladys Fortenberry returned home today from a six weeks visit with granddaughter, Paula Turk and her family in Leucadia, California. She also visited a cousin, the former Irene Higgins, in San Diego. She flew to San Diego Aug. 14, then back to Lubbock Sept. 28. She wrote Sept. 14 that daytime temperature had been as high as 112 degrees while she was there.

Junior and Martha Taylor were in Lubbock Monday for his annual checkup. Junior came back feeling good about himself, thinks his report may be the best he has had in years.

Area minister to visit First Christian Church

Dr. Harold E. Cline, Area Minister for the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in the Hi-Plains will be the guest leader for a church growth seminar at First Christian Church, Floydada, this weekend.

The special two day event will begin this Saturday, October 1, at 6:30 p.m. with an all-church salad supper. Pauline Pierce is in charge of the meal arrangements. Following the meal the guest leader will speak to the church on the theme, "Let it begin with me!"

Sunday morning the Area Minister will teach the adult Sunday school class which gathers at 9:45 a.m. Dr. Cline will bring the lesson on "Getting on Touch with your Spiritual Self." Kinder Farris is the regular adult Sunday School Class teacher. Ed Wester is the first substitute.

The 11:00 a.m. worship service will be led by Dale M. Harter, pastor, with Mary Harter at the organ. The guest leader will bring the morning message entitled, "Beginning With Me." The scripture lessons are from Mark 9:38-40; Philippians 1:12-18 and Mathew 22:1-14.

Dr. Cline began his ministry with the thirty-seven congregations of the Hi-Plains Area on June 1, 1985, after serving Disciple congregations in Indiana for nearly thirty-six years. For the past twenty-six years he had served as Senior Pastor of First Christian Church in South Bend, of First Christian Church in Fort Wayne, and South Side Christian Church in Kikomo—all in the state of Indiana.

The guest leader comes to the local congregation well qualified having served four years as President of the National Evangelistic Association. Under his Leadership this Disciple organization moved from merely sponsoring a biennial assembly to a major evangelistic agency serving the Disciples and other denominations on a year round basis.

HEALTH TIP

The Quick Fix. Make these tension relievers part of your daily routine. Close your eyes and take several slow, deep breaths. Reach back and "knead" your neck and shoulders, gently squeeze and relax.

Drop your chin to your chest, and gently roll your head in circles, two or three times in each direction. Too much head rolling could cause dizziness or nausea.

1989 wheat program provisions announced

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Peter C. Myers has announced a required 10 percent acreage reduction and other provisions of the 1989 wheat program.

Other provisions of the 1989 wheat program include:
— A price support loan and purchase rate of $2.06 per bushel, a 20 percent reduction from the basic loan and purchase rate of $2.57. Myers said the downward adjustment was determined necessary to maintain U.S. wheat competitiveness in domestic and international markets.

This is the statutory minimum and seven percent below the 1988 loan and purchase rate of $2.21 per bushel.

— The established target price is $4.10 per bushel, the statutory minimum, and down three percent from the 1988 target price.

— A paid land diversion will not be implemented.

— No marketing loan or related program provisions will be implemented.

— Producers will be required to maintain in acreage conservation reserve an area equal to 11.11 percent of program payment acreage.

The Secretary of Agriculture reserves the right to initiate later cost reduction options as outlined in Section 1009 of the Food Security Act of 1985. These options may include reopening or changing a program contract entered into by producers if they voluntarily agree to change.

Other provisions common to program crops will be announced at a later date.

Irrigation systems being shown at Fair

Farmers and ranchers can learn how to improve the efficiency of their irrigation systems at an exhibit sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) at the Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock through October 1st.

Representatives from the Agricultural Conservation Unit of the TWDB will man the exhibit and provide technical advice and distribute educational literature. Display panels and a videotape program will provide additional information.

Visitors at the exhibit can also learn about loans offered by the TWDB through local conservation districts to help farmers buy efficient irrigation equipment. Surface water irrigation districts can also use loan funds to improve district distribution systems. Another program provides grants to local soil and water conservation districts, surface water irrigation districts, and underground water conservation districts for the purchase of portable equipment to test the efficiency of on-farm irrigation systems and other agricultural water conservation practices.

The Texas Water Development Board is the state agency charged with developing and maintaining a long-range water plan to assist the state in meeting its water requirements into the 21st century.

For more information about the Agricultural Water Conservation Program of the TWDB, contact: CONSERVATION, Texas Water Development Board, P.O. Box 13231, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Guidelines set for herd quarantine

New federal guidelines set to be in effect October 1 may change the way Texas ranchers will manage heifers born in herds quarantined because of brucellosis infection.

Brucellosis, commonly called "bang's," is an incurable bacterial disease contagious among cows during and shortly after calving. Infection can cause abortions or the birth of weak calves.

In a stepped-up effort to eradicate the disease, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (USDA) will require that all heifers being moved from infected herds, regardless of their age or vaccination status, be branded with an "S." These "S"-branded heifers may be sold through a livestock market or be issued permits for direct movement—but their only destination may be quarantined feedlots or slaughter. Steers and spayed heifers will be exempt from the restrictions.

At their September meeting, commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) will consider a proposed regulation that would bring Texas into conformity with the new federal guidelines. USDA guidelines are considered "minimum requirements" for states.

About 29,000 heifers in Texas will be affected this year by the upcoming federal guidelines and state regulation. This number is estimated, based on the number of heifers born in brucellosis-infected herds.

Ranchers with infected herds already operate under some "S" brand restrictions. Currently, heifers being moved from infected herds come under "S" brand regulations if they are unvaccinated (any breed) and older than four months, vaccinated dairy breeds and older than six months, or vaccinated beef breeds and older than 8 months. Other movement restrictions also apply to the herds under quarantine.

"The USDA guideline changes are creating some confusion, because traditionally, we haven't considered sexually immature heifers to be a factor in the brucellosis problem," said Dr. John Holcombe, executive director of the TAHC.

Holcombe explained that studies have revealed, however, that heifers exposed to brucellosis can incubate the disease and may not test positive until their first—or even second—pregnancy. This phenomenon has been nicknamed "heifer syndrome." "By this time, the infected heifer may have calved or aborted and potentially, may have spread disease," Holcombe said.

TAHC veterinarians and inspectors are often asked why calfhood vaccinations may not protect heifers originating from infected herds, Holcombe said. Although vaccinations have proven to be successful for heifers from uninfected herds, the vaccine may not protect animals already exposed to brucellosis and incubating or carrying the disease.

A survey in June by the TAHC found that brucellosis in 66 of 1,080 infected herds in Texas could be traced to heifers from infected herds or to heifers purchased from an unknown source.

"That accounts for more than six percent of the infection in Texas," Holcombe said. "Brucellosis can be eradicated only when we control the sources of the disease."

"Teamwork in the livestock industry is essential in fighting brucellosis in Texas," he said. "The federal government sets minimum standards for us, and, in coming years, restrictions will continue to be tightened as increased efforts are made to prevent the spread of the disease from state to state."

About 92 percent of the brucellosis infection in the U.S. is found in Texas and six other southern states—Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Florida and Louisiana.

"We are seeing progress in cleaning up brucellosis in Texas. But we still have a lot of work ahead to ensure freedom of movement for Texas cattle," Holcombe said.

1989 0/92 guidelines announced

The "0/92" provisions are available for the 1989 wheat and feed grain programs. Some producers are debating whether or not to plant winter wheat because of the dry soil conditions. This remainder may assist them in making this management decision ASCS official, Bob Lotspeich, said.

The "0/92" provisions gives wheat and feed grain producers the option to devote all or a portion of their permitted acreage to conserving uses and receive deficiency payments on the acreage. The maximum acres for deficiency payments under this provision is 92 percent of the permitted acreage.

Lotspeich pointed out that the sign up dates and the projected deficiency rates for the 1989 wheat and feed grain crops have not been announced. However, he said that the "0/92" provisions will be available for these crops.

Chemical conference to be held October 5 and 6

The West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute will hold its annual conference at the Lubbock Plaza Hotel (3201 S. Loop 289) on October 5-6. Activities at the conference will include presentations on the latest technological advances in agriculture, a demonstration of various computer decision aids, and displays and information booths by manufacturers and chemical company representatives.

Formal presentations will begin on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 5, and will include such topics as Conservation Compliance, agricultural production systems, and conservation tillage. Presentations on Thursday will include topics such as computers for decision making, the Right to Know Law, biotechnology, Russian wheat aphid, chemical application, and new chemical products.

Conference registration will be $45.00 per participant, and includes an evening meal on October 5, and a luncheon on October 6.

LaVerne McCarty of the Goen & Goen Insurance Agency recently attended a Multi-Peril Crop Insurance seminar in Breckenridge, Colorado.

Some top officials from Washington, DC, were also in attendance. These officials included John Marshall, Manager of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, and Congressman Glenn English, Democrat - Oklahoma and heir apparent to chair the United States House of Representatives' committee on Conservation and Credit. This committee has direct oversight on the operations of FCIC. Other officials included Tim Witt, Assistant Manager of FCIC's compliance division - Washington, DC; Jim Driscoll, Assistant Manager of FCIC's actuarial division - Kansas City, MO; and Gene Gantz, Executive Vice President of the American Association of Crop Insurance located in Washington, DC. Jack Kintzel, National Corn Growers Association; Ray Davis, National Weat Growers Association; and Craig Weir, American Soybean Association, were also in attendance.

Symposium on pivot irrigation set for January

Center pivot irrigation is of increasing importance to farmers in West Texas. In light of new labor laws and the significance of the water supply, center pivot use is increasing throughout the state.

On January 18-19, 1989 a statewide symposium and trade show on center pivot irrigation will be held at the Lubbock Plaza Hotel, South Loop 289 at Indiana Avenue, Lubbock.

Interest rate set at 8 percent

Commodity loans disbursed in September by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation will carry a 8 percent interest rate, according to Vern Neppel, acting CCC executive vice president.

The new rate, up from August's 7 5/8 percent, reflects the interest rate charged CCC by the U.S. Treasury in September.

22nd "Water for Texas" conference scheduled

The future of Texas hinges on adequate supplies of clean, safe water, and an upcoming conference will focus on water issues.

"Managing Texas' Waters: Stewardship in a Regulatory Environment" will be the theme of the 22nd Water for Texas Conference set for Oct. 19-21 in League City, just south of Houston. Conference site is the South Shore Harbour Resort and Conference Center of the shore of Clear Lake.

The conference is a joint effort of the Texas Water Resources Institute, a unit of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; Texas A&M University at Galveston; Texas A&M's Sea Grant Program; and the Harris - Galveston Coastal Subsidence District.

"It is the responsibility of every resident to help assure that adequate supplies of clean, safe water will continue to be available to support the continued prosperity of our state," said Dr. Wayne Jordan, director of the Texas Water Resources Institute and conference chairman. "But before we can exercise this responsibility, we must be informed of the major water issues facing Texas. This conference will highlight these issues and will illustrate the roles for private citizens and local, federal, and state governments in each area."

"We have an outstanding program of more than 50 national and state experts to discuss both short and long term water problems facing Texas," Jordan said. "For example, Dr. William Kellogg of the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colo., will point out the likely problems Texans will face as a result of an expected global climate change during the next three decades. Dr. Julian Andelman of the University of Pittsburgh will discuss human exposure to and risk from water contaminants, a topic that continues to receive national attention in the press and one that may be the subject of new federal legislation."

Jordan said that a substantial portion of the conference program will deal with agricultural water issues. In Texas, agriculture consumes the largest quantity of water, and the industry is accused of being a major contributor to surface and groundwater contamination, he said.

Dr. Wes Oneth, state conservationist with the USDA's Soil Conservation Service, will describe beneficial impacts of the 1985 Food Security Act of reducing erosion and sediment loads in surface waters. Nancy Cox with the Texas Department of Agriculture will discuss groundwater and agricultural chemicals and will present data from recent well surveys. Texas Agricultural Experiment Station soil scientist Dr. Kirk Brown will discuss environmental dangers associated with pesticides used in rice production, and TAES weed researcher Dr. John Abernathy will describe what is currently known about the fate and movement of agricultural chemicals through soils. Minimum standards for groundwater districts and management of both surface and groundwater in the Edwards Aquifer will also be discussed.

Other discussions will deal with managing in-stream flows and freshwater inflows to maintain the attractiveness and productivity of bays and estuaries, current status and plans for wetlands protections, groundwater management and protection, opportunities to get more surface water from current watershed and reservoir systems, the Texas Water Plan, and water research needs, Jordan said. Also, a panel of Texas legislators will discuss possible legislative action to implement needed changes on the way Texas develops, protects and manages its water resources.

"This is the state's major water conference of the year," Jordan said, "and it's timed to bring these issues and problems before the public prior to the next legislative session. Thus it enables us to express our feelings to elected officials at a time when they can make a difference."

Whirlwinds drop 14-12 thriller to Canyon Eagles

By Bill Gray

The Canyon Eagles carried a perfect 3-0 mark going into last Friday's date with the visiting Whirlwinds of Floydada. Both clubs sported impressive defensive credentials and the evening lived up to its expectations — it was one of the area's best high school contests of the young season. When the final horn sounded, the scoreboard read, "Canyon 14, Floydada 12." The game was every bit as close as the score indicated.

Deron Alexander rushed 150 yards for the Eagles, including an electrifying 84-yard TD scamper when the game was on the line in the fourth quarter. Alexander's big play virtually "iced" the outcome, to the delight of the partisan Canyon Homecoming crowd. It wasn't until a two-point conversion attempt by the Whirlwinds came up short — in the last minutes of play — before the Eagles could breathe easier and post their fourth win in as many attempts in 1988.

Canyon received the opening kickoff, but couldn't generate any offense and had to punt. The 'Winds put the ball in play on the Eagle 43, but were stopped short of picking up a first down. A Floydada punt drove Canyon back to its own 17. On Canyon's first play, Jacob Galvan literally stole the ball in the middle of the pack — giving Floydada good field position at the Eagle 16. An incomplete pass, a QB sack, and a costly penalty deprived the Whirlwinds of the scoring opportunity; the ball went over to Canyon on downs at the Eagle 26.

Canyon managed to drive 28 yards before having to punt from the Floydada 47. Adam Cates, Rueben Chavarria, Leonard King and Jacob Galvan all turned in good defensive efforts in this series. The 'Winds were flagged twice in the next set for illegal procedure and failed to make a first down. Galvan punted for 32 yards and Canyon took over at the 'Wind's 48.

An intense Floydada defense, led by King, Frank Suarez, and Chad Quisenberry, stopped Canyon cold, and the Whirlwinds took over on their own 42. The first quarter came to a close with the score 0-0. On the first play of the second quarter, Floydada fumbled to the Eagles, and Canyon was in business on the Whirlwind 37. The Eagles moved down to the Floydada 20, where a fourth-down field goal attempt was wide and short. The 'Winds moved the ball from their own 20 to almost first down territory before giving up the pigskin on another fumble.

The Whirlwinds displayed their best defensive stand of the game as they stopped an Eagle drive at the Floydada 3-yard line. Quisenberry directed the 'Winds out of the hole and Galvan punted back to Canyon. The Eagles then moved from the Floydada 48 to the first score of the night in just nine plays. The score came on a William Langley-to-Matt Watson pass with just six seconds remaining in the first half. A flag was dropped on the play, citing Floydada for pass interference (offensive pass interference could have just as easily been called on Watson as he pushed off the Floydada defender on the play). Following the PAT, Canyon took the 7-0 lead into the locker room at intermission.

The second half resumed just as the first 24 minutes; neither team was able to dominate play. After several changes of possession, Floydada was deep in Canyon territory at the end of the third quarter. With 10:59 left in the game, Jesse Suarez took the handoff from Quisenberry and blasted his way into the end zone for Floydada's first score. An errant snap on the PAT led to a blocked kick, and the Whirlwinds trailed 7-6.

Floydada came close to recovering the ball on the ensuing kickoff, but Canyon was able to maintain possession. Armando Morales, Adam Cates, Leonard King and Jesse Suarez led the Whirlwind's continued defensive pursuit and Canyon was forced to punt. Quisenberry's pass to Ismail Delgado moved the 'Winds into Canyon territory at the 30, but a fumbled pitch several plays later resulted in another Eagle recovery.

A jarring tackle by Frank Suarez on the second play of the drive separated the ball from Alexander, but Canyon recovered its own fumble. Two plays later, Joe Cisneros fell on yet another loose ball and gave the 'Winds excellent field position. Quisenberry found Jesse Suarez open, but double coverage by Canyon broke up the pass play. Another incomplete pass set up a Floydada punt and Canyon was driven back to its own 14.

Two snaps later came the Play of the Game. Eagle halfback Deron Alexander took a Langley pitch, turned the left corner, broke two tackles and raced 84 yards down the sideline for a Canyon TD with 3:49 left in the game. The PAT was good, and it appeared as though the Eagles had the victory in their pocket, 14-6. But, Floydada did not fold!

The 'Winds negotiated one of their best offensive thrusts of the night, and marched from their own 38 to deep in Eagle territory. On second down from the Canyon 11, Quisenberry found Ismail Delgado open and fired a perfect aerial for the TD. The 'Winds came up short on the try for a two-point conversion with only 1:12 left in the game.

The anticipated onside kick was recovered by the Eagles near midfield. Canyon maintained possession, ran out the clock and came away with the hard-fought 14-12 victory. This week Canyon will try their luck at Littlefield (that should be interesting), while Floydada travels to Abernathy for its last tune-up before district play.

BILL'S REMARKS

Although the Canyon loss was disappointing, there is nothing the 'Winds should be ashamed of. In the 13 years I've been following Floydada football, I have never seen the Whirlwinds play a more aggressive and hard-hitting game. They were in it from whistle to final gun because of their intensity on both sides of the line of scrimmage. That kind of dedication will pay off when district play commences. It may not have had anything to do with the final outcome, but I would like to comment on the field at Canyon's Kimbrough Stadium.

The high crown on the field was something Floydada had not anticipated. While passing to his backs out in the flat, several of Quisenberry's attempts were overthrown. The receivers were a good four to six inches lower than what Chad was accustomed. Canyon's quarterback, William Langley, had previously played on the field and was prepared for the slope. A number of years ago, former Texas Tech great Ron Reeves experienced similar difficulties in hitting his Lubbock Monterey receivers on the same field. In fact, Monterey was only able to grind out a 7-0 win over Canyon (and that year, Reeves led Monterey into the semifinals in AAAAA). It's true — the field is the same for both clubs so there should be no excuses. However, this factor has to be a distinct advantage for the Eagles over any of its opponents playing at Canyon.

Superlatives of the Canyon game: The entire team deserves an honorable mention because of the intensity shown on both sides of the ball. There were no real standouts, as such, but some of those "pops" put on the Eagles by Frank Suarez were probably heard in Tulsa! Offensive plays of the game: Canyon's clinching touchdown, produced by Deron Alexander's 84-yard run; Quisenberry's TD pass to Delgado, which gave the 'Winds the chance to go for the tie. Defensive plays of the game: Galvan's swiping the ball and almost breaking away for a Floydada score early in the game; Canyon's block of the PAT following Floydada's first score, which forced the 'Winds to go for two in the later moments of the game. Now come the Abernathy Antelopes. As I wrote early in the season, the Whirlwinds will use their Abernathy victory as a springboard into the rough waters of district warfare. It would be difficult to improve on my picks from last week, so here we go for some more upset specials in my "Picks of the Week":

- Floydada 20 Abernathy 7
- Idalou 24 Seagraves 14
- Texas Tech 20 Texas A&M 15
- Arkansas 32 T.C.U. 17
- Dallas 27 New Orleans 21
- Houston 30 Philadelphia 24
- Upset Special of the Week: Canyon 15 Littlefield 14

Laura Hale leads football contest

Taking first place in the fourth week of the Hesperian football contest was Laura Hale. She had only three incorrect choices this week and chose a tie-breaker score of 27, only one point off the actual 26 points scored. She will receive the $10.00 first place prize money.

Second place went to Dell Yandell with three misses and a tie-breaker score of 38. The second place check for $6.00 will go to Yandell.

Claiming third place was Joe Hawkins who had a total of four misses. He was the only entrant with four misses and will receive the $4.00 first place prize.

Honorable mention goes to four people who missed five games. They include Tiffany Gentry, Keith Marricle, Anita McCormick and Mike Anderson

CONTEST STANDINGS

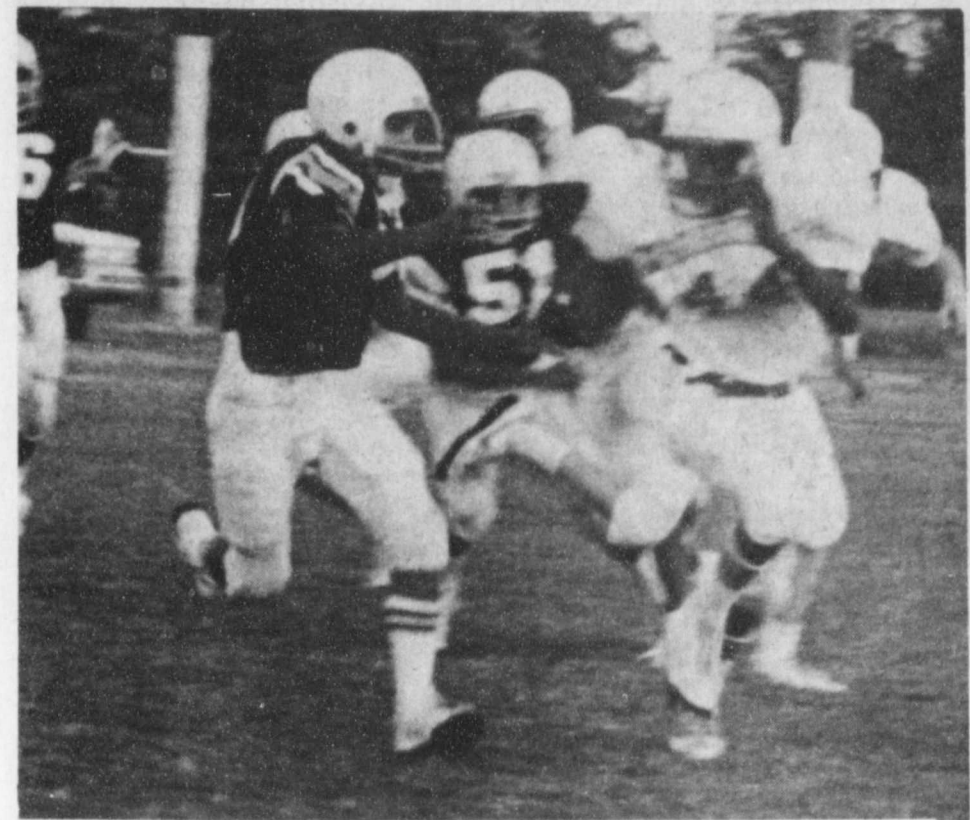

Leading the contest this week by virtue of her first place entry is Laura Hale with a total of 64 points. She is followed closely by Steve Brooks and Jean Hale with 63 points and Doug Ward and Mike Anderson with 62 points.

Currently standing at 61 points are Sherry Hale and Juan P. Martinez. Lucio Vasquez, Suzanne Wyrick, Deneen Marricle, Jared Mosley and Franklin Harris each have a point total of 60.

There are several others who are in the high fifties range and could easily overtake the leaders if they choose wisely in the next weeks. Remember to turn in an entry each week to keep those points adding up. Also, try to let the businesses sponsoring the contest know that you appreciate their participation.

Watch out for food poisoning in sack lunches

Remember, many lunches sit in a child's locker all morning. To avoid the possibility of food poisoning,

* Cook food thoroughly. If the foods should be kept hot, keep them hot. If it's meant to be cold, keep it cold. Preheat or prechill insulated vacuum bottles to keep foods at adequate temperature.

* Ideally, a lunch should be kept in a refrigerator, if one is available. If not, put something cool in the bag; use an ice pack, or even a frozen beverage in a plastic container.

* Sandwiches can be made ahead of time and frozen. Take them out of the freezer in the morning and by the time lunch arrives, the sandwich will be thawed.
