The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

"Learning," said Montaigne, "is a dangerous weapon, and apt to wound its master if it be wielded by a feeble hand, or by one not acquainted with its use."

We apologize to our readers for not being able to bear up under the strain. In short, over the past 30 or 40 years we have grown exceedingly weary of the very latest "scientific" discovery concerning how and where mankind developed, why he came down out of the trees, why he decided to walk on two legs rather than all fours, why he decided the oceans were no fit place for him (so his earliest ancestors flip-flopped out of the water, liked what they saw on land and decided to develop lungs that dealt with air rather than brime), how they all lived in peace until modern man came along and discovered war, etc. That sort of thing.

There is, for the edification of our readers, an "imperative" among the scientific community that one must "publish or perish." What good is it to have all that vast knowledge if one's peers, not to mention the lesser beings going about their daily tasks, do not know of your existence, much less your limitless learning and startling discoveries?

The very latest discovery, or at least the very latest discovery that received widespread publicity, was by one Allan C. Wilson, described as a biochemist at the University of California in Berkeley. Sitting in Berkeley and comparing "genetic material" from around the world, Mr. Wilson has come to the conclusion that human capacity for speech came from a woman who lived in Africa (that's the "in" place now) about 200,000 years ago.

Her descendants, he says, went on to colonize Europe and Asia. They, of course, could talk. For some strange reason the descendants of those other folks all died out. They probably got tired of listening to the chatter. He didn't mention it, but they also must have changed their skin color, their skeletal configuration, things like that, when they colonized Europe and Asia.

Two years ago Mr. Wilson broke into the news by claiming that all humans now alive are descendants of a woman who lived in Africa about 200,000 years ago. It naturally follows, from this latest discovery, that she must be the one who invented speech, or the "capacity" for speech.

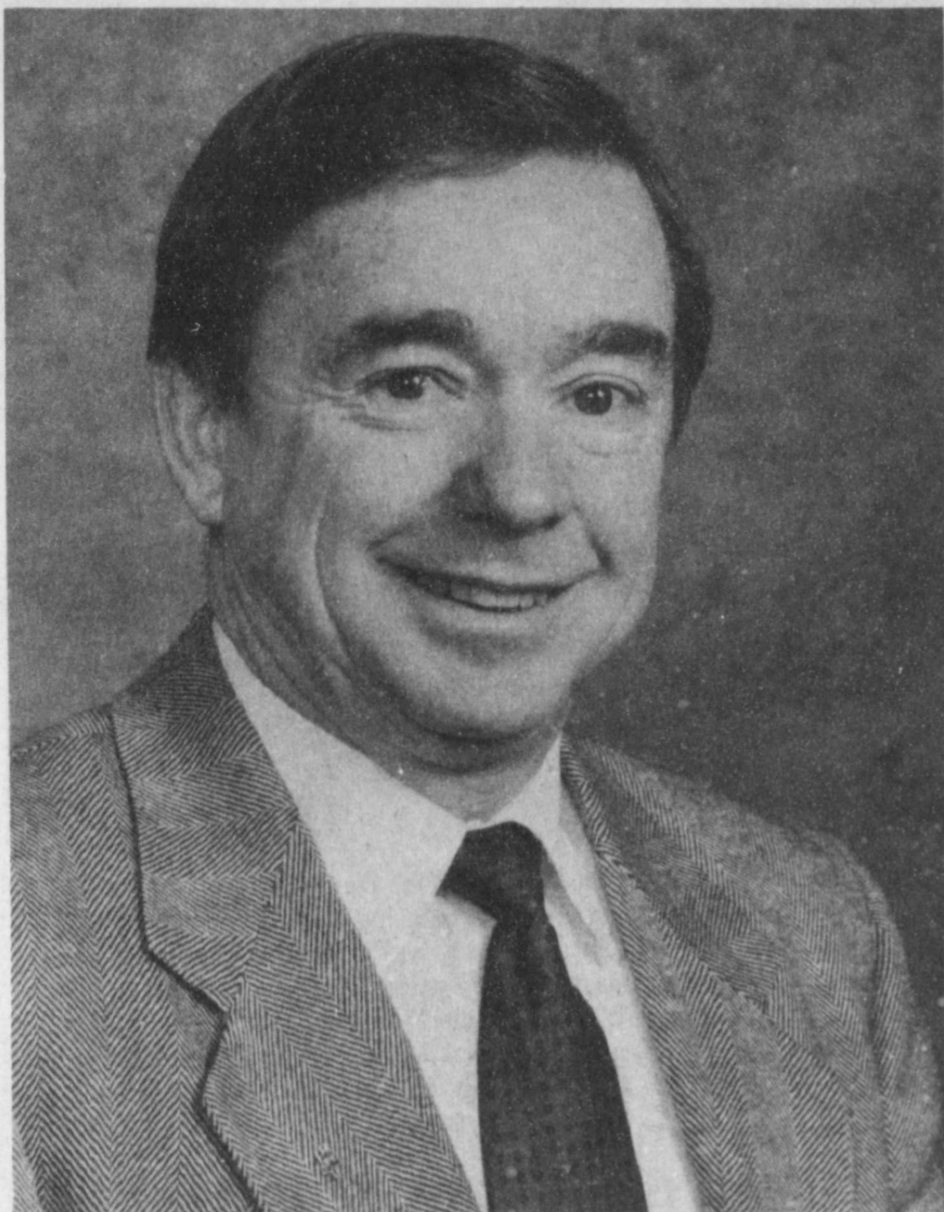

Needless to say there are a few holes in Mr. Wilson's theory, if we can call it that, some of which have been pointed out by his fellow scientists. Always trying to be helpful, and without being too disrespectful, we would point out that Mr. Wilson did not explain "why" the lady developed the capacity for language, a capacity she is said to have transmitted to all her offspring, and which he says was handed down through the maternal line.

We have put a good bit of thought into this, and have a theory of our own. The lady in question simply got tired of banging her mate over the head with a club when he consistently came home without the leg of a woolly mammoth, or some such animal, for supper. She sought some greater punishment, something he would dread far more than a bashed noggin. She invented speech. Then when he came home empty handed she lit into him with all sorts of vituperative utterances. He got the message. Other men sitting around the campfire observed and followed his example. Civilization began.

This also explains why the men got together and left for Europe and Asia. They really didn't know where Europe was, or that Asia was there. But they went anyhow, figuring the change was worth the chance. This exodus from Africa was later described in Europe as an "invasion", after they had learned how to talk.

If Mr. Wilson had merely included the foregoing explanation in his talk to the American Association for the Advance-

STATE REPRESENTATIVE WARREN CHISUM

County requests reimbursement for pits dug at Lockney landfill

Another installment in the continuing saga of the landfill controversy between the City of Lockney and Floyd County Commissioners Court was aired on Wednesday, February 15 at a 4:00 p.m. special session.

At this time, the commissioners took action to recover the cost of digging pits at the Lockney landfill in accordance with the contract signed on October 28, 1988 by Mayor Dan Smith (acting for the City of Lockney) and Judge William Hardin (acting for the county). The court requested reimbursement for the pro rata cost of pits already dug, but unused, at the Lockney sanitary facility, invoking the fourth clause of the contract.

Item number 4 of the landfill contract cancelled by Lockney as of February 13, 1989, states, "The City of Lockney or the Floyd County Commissioners Court may at any time cancel this contract upon a 30 day written notice to either party from the date of cancellation. The City of Lockney further agrees if this becomes necessary that they will refund the pro rata cost of the unused portion of pits dug at whatever cost ($1,800 or $2,000) per pit to the County."

During the past few weeks, Lockney has cancelled the landfill contract and closed the landfill site to county residents, restricting use only to Lockney residents. Commissioners court has acted to recover costs already incurred by the county as a result of the contract. No benefit of these expenses will be returned to the county with its rural residents barred from using the landfill, therefore these costs should be reimbursed according to the court.

The motion for the action came from Precinct 3 Commissioner George Taylor and was seconded by Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden. The vote was unanimous in favor of the motion.

South Plains voting precinct in FISD elections corrected

It was erroneously reported in the February 16, 1989 Hesperian that South Plains residents would vote in Precinct 4 for school elections. In actuality, South Plains residents now included in FISD will vote in Precinct 1. The Hesperian regrets any inconvenience this error may have caused.

Rep. Chisum will highlight Chamber of Commerce banquet Saturday night

Who in Floydada is considered to be the Employer of the Year? The winner of this award, along with several other awards, will be announced at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, Saturday, February 25.

A rare opportunity is being presented to the citizens of Floydada by their chamber of commerce, in that they are being provided with the opportunity to meet and hear their elected representative. Guest speaker for the banquet is Warren Chisum, Floydada's newly elected representative to the State House of Representative. The fifty-year old oil and gas producer is a 1957 graduate of Lefors High School. He is the owner of Omega Energy, Pampa Diesel Service Inc., and the previous owner of J.T. Richardson Inc. He is the past board director of Highland General Hospital, and is on the board of directors of the Salvation Army and also the SRD University of Texas. He is on the board of advisors at Clarendon Junior College in Pampa and is the past president of the Chamber of Commerce in Pampa. He is a member of First Baptist Church in Pampa and is also a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Several awards will be handed out at the banquet, and all have been kept secret by the individual committees. Miss Floydada, Janet Himes, will present the Employer of the Year Award. Employers are picked by their employees, who present their own reasons why their boss should be recognized as Employer of the Year. This award, sponsored by the Women's Chamber of Commerce, is judged by out of town judges who do not know any of the employers involved.

A Citizen of the Year Award will be presented to an outstanding citizen of Floydada, by last year's Citizen of the Year Jimmy Willson. Willson has headed up a blue ribbon secret committee, that he selected, to help in the selection of the new Citizen of the Year.

Chamber President Monte Williams will present the Extra Mile Award. This closely guarded secret goes to a person that a select panel feels has gone "that extra mile promoting Floydada."

An additional special award will be handed out this year. It is also a closely guarded secret, but insiders say it is sure to delight those in attendance.

Monte Williams and Women's Chamber President Ginger Warren will both recap the activities of the chambers during the year.

Musical entertainment will be provided by Spring Lipham and dinner music will be provided by Joyce Lipham.

The catered brisket dinner, by Bobby Rainer, has been chosen to enhance the western dress theme for the evening. Decorations will be provided by the Women's Chamber of Commerce. Men are being asked to wear western shirts and bolo ties and women are asked to wear western skirts.

Not only will you have the chance to meet and talk to your state representative Saturday, you will also have a meal prepared and served to you. But those aren't the only reasons you should come to the chamber banquet. Besides supporting the organization that's only objective is to support you and promote Floydada; there is always that chance that you could be recipient of one of the awards.

Love Fund started for Holbert

A Love Fund has been started at the First National Bank in Floydada for Kami Holbert, who recently had heart surgery. She is the daughter of Phillip and Stephanie Holbert.

The county is asking for a total of $5,600. This includes one unused pit at $2,000, one unused pit at $1,800 and one pit, 10% used at $1,800.

OTHER ACTION

A motion by Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden, seconded by Precinct 4 Commissioner Kay Crabtree, authorized Aaron Carthel to "place underground irrigation pipe across a county road at a depth of 30 inches below the bottom of the present bar ditch". The road being crossed is on Section 28 and Section 31, both in Block G, as described in a written proposal from Carthel. The motion carried by unanimous vote.

Study Club to spearhead drive for ambulance fund

On February 16, members of the 1950 Study Club met with the Caprock Hospital Board of Directors and announced plans to begin a drive to raise $55,000.00 for the purchase of a new ambulance.

A meeting of local civic organizations is planned for Monday, February 27, at the Community Room of Light-house Electric at 7:00 p.m.

Caprock Hospital District has run the service for many years as a service to the citizens of the community. There is no legal responsibility of the hospital to run an ambulance service. With the reduction of Medicaid payments, it has become harder for the District to buy new equipment.

Anyone interested in helping with this worthy project should contact Marjorie McElyea, Mrs. Jane McCulley, or Mrs. Lovene Moore of the 1950 Study Club.

NEW COMPUTER BUSINESS--Bobbie Hamilton, of Floydada's newest business, CRH Systems, will assist persons who are venturing into the computer age, as well as those who are thinking about purchasing a computer for their home or business. --Staff photo

Computer business opens in Floydada

A service has finally arrived in Floydada that will help all those who have ventured into the computer age while still thinking in the typewriter age. For those of you who have not adjusted to your newly acquired computer or who are not sure what system can help their business, now you can call Bobbie and Charles Hamilton at CRH Systems.

CRH Systems moved into 122 West California Oct. 19, and officially opened with a ribbon cutting on February 17. The new business, owned by Charles and Bobbie Hamilton is "mostly a service organization", according to Bobbie. "Anything that can be done on computers I can do for people."

CRH will offer IBM compatible computers for sale. "We will find you the best buy at the best cost, and we will also find a computer company that has a reputation for good service," said Bobbie. "We basically act as consultants to people and will recommend software for their needs. We will train people on the programs and if we sell them the program we will supply a certain amount of training for free."

The Hamiltons have been involved in computers for 6-7 years and are there to help solve other people's problems. Bobbie also has an accounting service available. She will not only set you up in the software and train you to handle your accounting needs or she will take care of them for you.

Charles writes programs for customers needs and has done inventory programs and programs for the cotton gins. "We don't have a large selection of software because they are changing so frequently, but we can get whatever you need in just a couple of days. We also sell computer supplies, such as: disks, ribbons and stands. We can get almost anything people need for computers," said Bobbie.

"CRH Systems will find the hardware to meet your need and which will best fit your budget. We screen and test software programs to find the best ones to perform the tasks your business requires. The installation of all hardware and software, plus training your personnel is included with all purchases."

LITTLE DRIBBLERS START SEASON--The junior high gym was the sight of this first Little Dribblers game between, The Blue Thunders (dark) and The Bobcats (light). The Dribblers will play every night except Wednesday and Sundays, stopping for Spring Break, March 18-26, and resuming March 7 through April 8. Monday - Thursday games will start at 6:00 p.m. Friday games start at 5:30 p.m. Saturday games start at 1:00 p.m. Staff Photo

Carl Lemons' News and Views from Cedar Hill

WEATHER

It was pitch dark, 28 degrees, and rain was drumming steadily on the roof at 6 a.m. last Friday when radio stations across West Texas began to announce that the farm sale for Edna Gilly and others was being called off. How about that! Not content with messing up one's operation to the point that it is decided to throw in the towel and quit, then weather messes up the quitting too. Oh, let's take it like farmers! Two or three weeks from now, with a few inches of new moisture soaked into the soil, and that equipment stands a good chance of selling for a few thousand more. New sale date - 2/28, Tuesday, last day of the month.

Less than one inch of moisture has fallen during the five day period that county residents have been teased with the promise of rain. The consensus was 0.8 inches. There has been much fog with some ice forming on trees and power lines, then an hour or two of warming and the ice would be gone. The blanket of clouds and fog has prevented radiation and kept night-time temperatures in the twenties except for one brief dip to the high teens. Late report! 1-1/2 inch at the Craig Gilly's.

Those of you who read the News and Views a week ago were treated to the column's biggest blooper. You were told that, "The coldest day of the year came on the 'mildest (middle) day' of winter." The writer hereby accepts full responsibility, he had just invented "middlest," a new word that failed to be recognized the first time it was tried. "Middlest" will be quietly filed away until there comes a time when those who speak English may have a greater need for it. It still seems highly logical, and not at all coincidental that, "The coldest day of the year, a chilling minus seven, should come on February 5, the exact middle of winter."

CROP COMMENTS

Cotton: The pulverizing effect by the additional freezing and thawing of wet clods these last few days, as temperatures played above and below the freeze mark, has vastly improved soil conditions for the incorporation of herbicides. Finding those days when the wind is quiet enough for application will be the hardest part.

Wheat: Wheat has reached its present stage of development more on faith than anything else. It has gotten its moisture in small portions with barely enough to carry it one day at a time. The rain just received is typically, just barely enough. However we stand at the threshold of March and April, a period of greater atmospheric instability, when showers and thunderstorms become more numerous. Much wheat, seeded behind cotton strippers and for no other purpose than to grow a cover crop for CRP's permanent grasses, still lies unsprouted in the ground. There is still time for it to perform its function, but it must hurry.

Vegetables: Your writer has a problem! Someone please advise him if there is a gardener's anonymous. The 1988 garden was late, but it was relaxing and yielded quite well. Fresh, but shriveled, tomatoes will last on into March. Despite the good things about gardening, this writer's time could be better spent doing other things. Hence, in the late fall and through the winter the resolution was made and repeated a few times for emphasis, "Keep away from gardening in '89, don't do it anymore, stay away from it! Never again!"

Resolutions are fine things, practical things when they are kept, but a broken resolution can be very demoralizing, even debilitating in extreme cases. This writer's gardening resolution ran head on into its first test last week in a local grocery store. There was this tray of beautiful onion plants, some bunches were white, others yellow, and there were even some purples. At times of temptation a good firm resolution will take care of you, so just walk on by. A step away and back comes a forgotten memory. Roots! Some greenhorn might be taken in with plants that had weak roots. Check those roots! With a bunch in hand the roots check out fine, plants a little small, lots of onions in one of those bunches, maybe 55 or 55 cents! You know it wouldn't take long to set out one bunch of onions, and if set in a circle they wouldn't take much water either. That bunch of onion plants went right in the grocery cart. After all one bunch of onions isn't a whole garden! On down the aisle for peanut butter and a box of crackers and you realize you don't feel too good.

On over by the laundry detergents you realize what is wrong, your broken resolution is beginning to hurt. Why did you buy those onion plants? What is wrong with you? You cluck! Have you no backbone? You know once those onions are in the ground it will be nearly time to plant corn! Could you have onions and corn and then not plant Irish potatoes? "Lemons you are hopeless! Then you suffer all the way over to the bread rack, and suddenly the answer becomes clear, you know what has to be done. Two minutes later you are back on the other side of the store, this time putting a mighty pretty bunch of onions right back in the same tray you took them out of a few minutes earlier.

All the way home you are troubled, broken resolutions take time to heal, even this one, that got the instant fix. What dumb thing will you do next? At home the groceries are unpacked: the crackers, the peanut butter, the laundry soap, then the loaf of bread from the last sack. Hey! What's this? A second loaf of bread? Puzzled, the last item is pulled from the sack, an exceptionally fine bunch of white onion plants! Toby, on his boy scout's honor, swears he didn't do it, swears he knows nothing about it.

Your writer has a problem! Someone please advise him if there is a gardener's anonymous.

Cattle Comments: The monthly cattle on feed report came out Thursday 16 and traders were surprised at the large numbers of cattle that had been placed on feed. One day a report very similar to that of a week ago will mark the end of the present cycle of high cattle prices, and it will signal the beginning of years of tougher times for cattle raisers. Fortunately these numbers do not indicate an oversupply of cattle, but rather a shortage of winter pasture. Owners, unable to find feed in the usual places, are turning to the feedlots as a temporary repository for their animals until normal pastures improve.

Toby got the facts on why the Texas Farm Bureau holds Texas' Ag. Commissioner, Jim Hightower in such low regard. Seems Jim wants Texas beef producers to remove all hormones, growth stimulants and etc. from the rations of all cattle whose meat is to be shipped to the EEC. That is the only condition on which they will purchase our beef. Our feeders are saying, with those stimulants removed, it would cost another $100 per head for the extra feed it would take to grow each animal to slaughter weight. The Farm Bureau seems to resent Jim's enthusiastic invitation for them to jump in and lose money. In fact they endorsed a resolution and presented it to Mr. Hightower wherein they asked him to resign his position.

PEOPLE:

Let it be noted that those listed as attending the Frank Taylor funeral last week were the ones who made the trip to the services in Hollis, not the graveside service in Lockney. Riding with that group from Cedar was Frank's niece Shelia Joiner.

Obituaries in several area newspapers listed Frank's birthplace as Cedar Hill when in reality he was born in the Mayview School District in Floyd County which later became the Dougherty School District. Frank's father, M.H. Taylor, who later held the office of Commissioner of Floyd County Precinct 3 for several terms, and for a time was acting County Judge, found rural work in that area while Frank's mother Lily May Fortenberry Taylor taught in the Mayview School during the 1911-1912 school term.

Sunday, Feb. 19: Edna Gilly took Sunday dinner with her daughter, Deliece Harrison and her girls in Plainview. Later Edna visited with Gertrude Hammit at her new home in NW Plainview. Gertrude often suffers from arthritis and presently she has been trying to recoup her energies after making the move from her old estate type home on Olton Road.

It was by accident that your writer was in Floydada at 3:00 Saturday afternoon and witnessed the desolation of the "inner city." The "square" sported three cars that evidently had been abandoned at the time of the "mass exit." Reputedly there were some rugged individuals holding out at the Sheriff's office, at Kirk's, and at Rudy's who had resisted the Exodus. Strange! Where had all the people gone?

It was during a conversation with a lady who happened to have been in Lubbock at 3:00 that same afternoon that your writer was stricken by the enormous difference the scenes presented. Heavy traffic was flowing in the streets, malls and shopping centers were overflowing with people. Strange, very strange! Where did all the people come from?

Cephus and Imogene are back among the braggers. Their grandsons, Rodney Durham and Terry Harris both carried barrows to the San Antonio Stock Show. Terry's mixed breed did quite well for a show that size and won 12th place. Terry's cross breed barrow was Grand Champion barrow of the Floydada Junior Livestock Show. In the Floyd County Junior Livestock Show his Duroc barrow was judged champion of his breed. Terry has still another barrow which most who have seen him judge to be Terry's very best animal. This one is a Hampshire that was too light for the earlier shows, but will qualify by the time of the Houston Show and he has already been entered there. Good luck in Houston, Terry. Rodney's barrow in San Antonio was quickly classed in with the floor bid group.

Vance Lemons joined the district competition at Plainview's Pinewood Derby, and his racer was judged second best by a judge's decision at the end of a race that was virtually a dead heat from start to finish. Vance's racer was clearly one of the superior vehicles to compete in the Cub Scout group at Valley. Pretty good, Vance, for your first year.

Sunday guests in the Lindsey and Billie Ruth Lackey home were their daughters and sons-in-law, Linda and Donnie Turner from Flomot, and Kim and Kelley Mixon from Amarillo. Now that Bell Helicopter has closed its Amarillo plant Kim and Kelley are giving some consideration to a job with Beechcraft in Wichita, Kansas.

The flu bug has struck in the Assembly of God pastor's home. Marie came down during the school week and had to miss some days teaching. Jude went back to Amarillo to see about her and, by Sunday they were both laid up. Services were dismissed Sunday night.

Tuesday, Feb. 21, Gladys Fortenberry, Patsy and LaFayette Boone and Danita and Loran Clark made their final trip to "This Old House" this morning. The house has been sold to Mrs. Mable Morris, a widow lady, who lives in Sweetwater. When Gladys told your writer, he was skeptical and asked a question where he had no business, "You are kidding! Have you got a check for it yet?" Gladys gave him a look that said, "It's none of your business," then she said, "Sure I've got the check, and it is already drawing interest in a C.D." That's my aunt Gladys! When she does up a package, there are no loose ends! Mrs. Morris plans to move the house to Turkey and make her home where she will be near many of her relatives.

Gladys moved her last few pieces of furniture this morning, nothing is left in the house except a radiant heater that Peat Kelley bought and has not taken out yet.

Worry does not empty the day of its troubles...only its strength.

DPS Report

Capt. L.A. Reinhart, District Supervisor of the Lubbock Highway Patrol District comprised of 21 counties said, "For the month of January, our troopers investigated two fatal accidents, 53 personal injury accidents, and 53 property damage accidents. There were two persons killed and 53 persons injured in these accidents."

Sgt. Glenn Fant of Crosbyton stated, "In Floyd county, our troopers investigated no fatal accidents, two personal injury accidents, and one property damage accident in the month of January. No one was killed and two persons were injured in these accidents."

VISITS FARM BUREAU IN WACO—Phil Dunavant (left) of Floydada, president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau, and Randy Rainwater (middle), of Dougherty, secretary-treasurer, visited the Texas Farm Bureau headquarters in Waco February 1 on a one-day orientation trip with other county presidents from this area. Warren Newberry (right), TFB executive director explains television equipment. The Texas Farm Bureau is organized in 216 counties in Texas and has a membership of 326,167 member families.

DPS entrance exams and agility tests are now offered year round

The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) has announced that beginning on March 1, 1989, they will be giving entrance examinations and physical agility tests every Monday and Wednesday, year round instead of only during a short period just before an announced recruit school, according to Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander for this area.

Major Cawthon said, "Even though a date for a recruit school has not been determined, we will begin testing all year long. This change in testing periods, will allow the applicant to take the test, more so, at his convenience and will allow the D.P.S. ample time to conduct the background investigations and hold the interview boards."

Testing will begin at 8:00 a.m. on each Monday and Wednesday, except days that fall on state holidays. The tests will take most of the day to complete. Tests will be given at the Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Lubbock Department of Public Safety Offices. The application must be completed and all basic requirements must be met prior to taking the entrance exams. Employment qualifications and application forms may be picked up at the above mentioned offices or by contacting your local Department of Public Safety Trooper.

Major Cawthon stated, "The D.P.S. is actively recruiting qualified minorities and females. For an exciting and rewarding career in law enforcement, come by and see us."

The Texas Department of Public Safety is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Public Notice

On November 9, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed a tariff which proposes to prevent local exchange calling over interstate, unrestricted, multi-jurisdictional, WATS Access Lines (UWALS) and intrastate WATS Access Lines (WALS).

UWALS are provided to interexchange carriers for their use in the provision of interexchange interstate and intrastate long-distance and WATS-type services. Similarly, WALS are designed for use in the provision of interLATA and intralATA WATS services. The UWALS and WALS were not intended to allow local exchange calling.

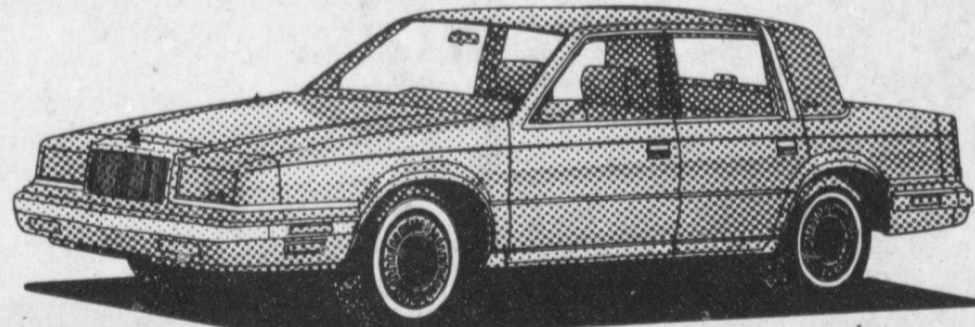

If these proposed tariff changes are approved, the blocking of local exchange calls over intrastate WATS access lines and UWALS will take place within 30 days. This proposed tariff change will not result in the blocking of local calls placed to an 800 Service number.

The Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas has assigned this matter to Docket 8421. A hearing on the merits of these proposed tariff changes is scheduled for March 13, 1989.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should mail a request to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757 by February 27, 1989. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

New DA secures 17 indictments

Newly elected District Attorney Becky McPherson, was hard at work, Tuesday, February 21, with her first Floyd County Grand Jury which handed down 17 indictments.

Ten burglaries, two thefts, two forgeries, one felony DWI, one possession of prohibited weapon and an aggravated sexual assault charge were reviewed by the grand jury. All were true billed.

Indicted were: Gustavo Beltran, Antillon Asencion Rojo and Raymundo Rodriguez Silva who are all residents of Old Mexico for burglary of a barn.

Billy Ray Burks, 28, of Floydada, for two counts of forgery which occurred on Oct. 17, 1987 and Dec. 20, 1988. He was enhanced as a habitual criminal which will set his sentence from 25-99 years or life.

Joe Castro Jr., 17, of Lockney, for burglary of a habitation which occurred on Nov. 19, 1988. Castro was indicted for the burglary of the home of the San Jose Catholic Church's nuns, Sister Margarita Jimenez and Sister Marilyn Dietz. This is a first degree felony.

Randy Clay, 27, of Amarillo, for Theft-3rd degree. Clay allegedly wrote a hot check for a saddle.

Donald Lavon Cook, 17, of Amarillo, for burglary of a building/second degree felony, which occurred on Aug. 7, 1988.

Delia Falcon, 21, of Lubbock, for burglary of a motor vehicle/3rd degree felony, which occurred on Nov. 20.

Ruben Falcon, 18, Kingsville, two counts of burglary of a motor vehicle/3rd degree felony, and one burglary of a habitation/1st degree felony. The motor vehicle burglaries occurred on Nov. 5 and 12. The habitation burglary occurred on Nov. 23.

Jose Guadalupe Gonzales III, 18, of Lockney, for aggravated sexual assault/1st degree felony. The assault occurred on Aug. 21, 1987.

Preston Griffith, 28, of Brownsville, for possession of a prohibited weapon/

2nd degree felony, which occurred on Dec. 1, 1988.

Ronald Lee Johnson, 42, of Floydada, for DWI/felony. This occurred on Jan. 13, 1989 and is the 4th DWI charge making it a felony. He can be sentenced to 2-5 years in the penitentiary or up to two years in the county jail.

John Paul Mendoza, 19, of Floydada, for burglary of a habitation, which occurred in Floydada on Dec. 30, 1988. Guns were stolen.

Champ McGavock, 45, of Floydada, for 3rd degree Theft, which occurred on May 21, 1988.

Duncan PTA Book Fair gets underway next week

The books are here for the Duncan P.T.A. Book Fair. It will start next week, on February 27, and go through March 3. It will be set up in the Duncan cafeteria. The children will be able to buy their books on the same day that they come to look at them.

Kindergarten will view the books on Monday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. First grade will view them on Tuesday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday the second grade class will view the books from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Thursday the third grade class will also view the books from 1:30 to 3:30 and on Friday the books will be on display for anyone who could not come to look at them earlier.

If you would like to look at the books with your child, come on the day your child's grade will be viewing them or on Friday. The price range is from .89 cents to $9.95.

The Campbell's Labels for Education drive for A. B. Duncan ends March 6. Please send your Campbell's Soup Company labels with your children to school or bring them to the drop off boxes we have at Pay-n-Save and Shop Rite Foods. We greatly appreciate the labels that have already been turned in.

CHAMBER RIBBON CUTTING--The Women's Chamber of Commerce once again sponsored a ribbon cutting, this time for the new computer business of CRH Systems. The business, owned and operated by Bobbie and Charles Hamilton is a service oriented business ready to help you

ment of Science he would have had far fewer doubters for his theory. It makes sense to me.

Please do not misread us. We have a deep and abiding respect for learning. Indeed it sometimes seems that our life has been spent in trying to acquire just a smattering of learning. The love of humanity for learning, and the love of humanity for each other, seems to us to be about the best things going for the race. Perhaps that is why we get so exercised when someone who call themselves "scientists" come forth with such outlandish "truths" about why the giraffe "decided" to grow his neck long, or some early reptile "decided" to grow wings and feathers and begin flying.

If it were that easy, if the decision was merely up to the creature involved, why has man not grown wings, given his occasional desire to fly?

Perhaps it would be well for Professor Wilson, and for all of us, to occasionally repair to Montaigne.

Hospital inspection reviewed and motion made for director's election

The directors of Caprock Hospital District met in regular session at 7 a.m. Thursday morning, Feb. 16. All directors were present for the meeting.

Financial and statistical reports were presented by the hospital administrator and Quality Assurance report was presented by the Director of Nurses.

The Medicare inspection that was conducted by the State Department of Health was discussed. The inspectors completed their inspection on Jan. 20, and at the present time the deficiencies are being corrected.

A motion was made to conduct a director's election on May 6, 1989. Other details of the election will be handled by the administrative assistant. Petitions for the election may be picked up at Caprock Hospital District for anyone interested in running for the Board of Directors.

The board of directors also passed a motion to change the meeting times of the regular meetings to the third Thursday at 7:00 p.m.

Also a resolution was approved to contract with the Floyd County Appraisal District to be the agent for the collection of tax money for the hospital district.

Three ladies from the 1956 Study Club met with the directors and stated that the club would like to spearhead a drive to raise funds for a new ambulance. Plans were made to start the drive and more information will be forthcoming from the study club.

A motion was made to accept bids on the ambulance that has been used as a backup to the main ambulance. The backup ambulance is in need of repair and is not worth the repairs needed.

After 25 years insurance hoax continues to frustrate veterans

A GI insurance dividend hoax that first appeared more than 25 years ago continues to plague veterans.

The Veterans Administration Insurance Center in Philadelphia reports it is receiving between 7,000 and 15,000 applications a week for a nonexistent dividend.

For many years the principal victims of the rumor were World War II and Korean Conflict veterans, who were told that the VA was sending a check for hundreds of dollars—a so-called insurance dividend—to any veteran who requested. In recent years, however, bogus brochures also have been targeting veterans of the Vietnam war.

The phony applications claim dividends have been authorized by recent Congressional legislation. In fact, there is no insurance dividend for veterans who do not keep their insurance in force and no dividend legislation has been proposed in Congress.

The hoax causes thousands of veterans and dependents wasted effort, and generates needless labor and mailing expense at the VA's 58 regional offices across the country.

The hoax applications usually are unwittingly printed in magazines, newspapers and newsletters, or distributed in handbills. When notified of the error, editors have been cooperative about publishing retractions. Attempts to trace the origin of the hoax have been unsuccessful, but it is believed that its life has been perpetuated by the innocent duplication of bogus information.

The VA's legitimate insurance dividends are paid annually to current policyholders. More than 3 million veterans share in an annual dividend distribution, but payments are automatic and no

'Money earning chain letter' is illegal

Many citizens of Floydada have been approached in recent weeks and asked to participate in a "money earning chain letter." Because the letters are not mailed citizens erroneously believe the scheme does not constitute an illegal chain letter.

According to District Attorney Becky McPherson, "I have had several inquiries concerning the letter and I want people to know that it is illegal. It is against state law Sec. 32.48 of the Texas Penal Code. Under the Endless Chain Scheme Statute it is a class B misdemeanor to participate, promote, or operate a chain scheme of this kind."

The state penal code defines an Endless Chain Scheme as: (1) any scheme for the disposal or distribution of property whereby a participant pays a valuable consideration for the chance to receive compensation for introducing one or more additional persons into participation in the scheme or for the chance to receive compensation when a person introduced by the participant introduces a new participant.

(2) "Compensation" does not mean or include payment based on sales made to persons who are not participants in the scheme and who are not purchasing in order to participate in the scheme. (b) A person commits an offense if he contrives, prepares, sets up, proposes, operates, promotes, or participates in an endless chain. (c) An offense under this section is a Class B misdemeanor.

The chain letter that is circulating around Floydada requires you to buy a letter from a seller for $10.00. For your $10.00 you get two letters (which you sell for $10.00 each) and a $5.00 money order to give to the top person on the list. You then sell your letter for $10.00 and provide another money order to the new buyer for the next person on his list.

"Mailing a chain letter constitutes a federal offense," said McPherson. "Participating without mailing is still against the law, but it is against state law."

Seven residents mark birthdays

By Lorilla Bradley

February is a month
Of lots of hearts and flowers...
A party is the very thing
To pass some happy hours!
*****

A very lovely lady
Is Mrs. Mamie Gray...
She's always nice and cheerful
Most any time of day!
*****

For our Mrs. Iva Wells
...Whose years are 83...
We want a celebration
The best that it can be!
*****

Mrs. Marr we honor...
...Alta is her name...
We wish for her good fortune
And now and then some FAME!
*****

We welcome Mrs. Withers
...Whose years are 84...
May future days be happy...
May blessings come "galore!"
*****

We greet our Mrs. Benson
...She counts from '99...
May all the years in passing
To her be very kind!
*****

We welcome Mrs. Henry
...Her family named her Akice...
She always looks so nice and neat
Like "walking from a palace!"
*****

Mr. Hart we welcome
...His years are 89...
He's done a lot of singing
And kept the "beat on time!"
*****

Let's serenade these people
With the same old Birthday Song...
So get your "vocals" ready
And sing out good and strong!

Thursday, February 16, was party time at the rest home. Ladies of the City Park Church of Christ hosted the occasion.

The Hesperian photographer came for the "picture taking" after which everyone was ushered into the dining room with the honorees being seated at the "honor" table. It was laid with a white cloth with an arrangement of red silk flowers being the focal point. Places were marked with special cards and each honoree wore a fresh corsage compliments of Williams Flower and Card Shop.

Helping Mrs. Benson celebrate were her son and daughter-in-law, Al and Fay. Seated with Mr. Hart was his wife, Amanda and son David. Visiting with Bennie Wilson was Mrs. Jessie Stewart. We are sorry Mrs. Henry was unable to attend the party.

Jo Bryant read a brief history of each honoree after which the poem was read and all joined in singing the Happy Birthday song. A delicious refreshment plate of angel food cake, iced birthday cake and a delightful fruit punch was served to the honorees, guests, home residents and employees.

The next party will be Thursday, March 16, 2:30 p.m. Please join your friends and loved ones at that time.

This 'n' That Club entertain husbands for Valentine's

This 'n' That Hobby Club entertained their husbands with a Valentine party Feb. 14 held in the bank community room.

Sandwiches, chips, dips, relish plate and pie was served to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy, Earl Crawford, Son Jackson, T.L. Holland, Floyd Lawson, Johnny Cates, Johnny Bill Sue, Sam Baker, Glenn White and C.O. Lyles. Games of 84 were played.

South Plains News

By Ruby Lee Higginbotham

This past week's weather has been one of chilly, foggy, damp and maybe a bit dreary at times, but giving us almost an inch of rain, falling slowly, soaking into the dry, thirsty soil. We are very thankful for the moisture and hopefully we will receive more rain.

Sunday, February 19, was a good day to be in South Plains Church. After the wonderful rain everyone was happy and feeling good, looking forward to spring and the busy activities it brings.

The flu bug has bitten several of the school children from South Plains, Kevin Staples, Tyler Young, Jennifer and Chad Givens. Also Amy and Robert Bethel, Mathew and Timothy Fisher have all been sick with fever and a trip to the doctor. Hope everyone is well and back in school.

Shirley Parker and daughter, Marci of Hartley, Texas, were weekend visitors in the home of their mother and grandmother, Nell McClung. Shirley and Marci returned to their home Sunday afternoon.

Ruby Higginbotham, along with L.N., Carlene Johnson, David and Denise Cochran, Keith and Deneen Maricle, enjoyed the basketball game Saturday evening in Plainview between the Flying Queens of Wayland and Mid Western.

Doodle Milton, Louis Lloyd, Dr. Craig, Dr. Guthrie and Dr. Jordan returned to their homes in Floydada. After a 10 day missions and sightseeing trip to Belize, Central America. Missions in Action is a wonderful and rewarding experience.

Chad Givens has been busy practicing basketball with the third and fourth grade little dribblers. Chad will play his first game on Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, at 6 p.m. Congratulations Chad. Go, go, go.

Also Ken Cummings is playing for the fifth and sixth grade team. Basketball is good training, a game to develop good sportsmanship. We learn how to lose and appreciate a win.

Kendis and Tim Julian were in San Antonio last week for a couple of days attending the stock show.

AT&T ANNOUNCES PRICE CHANGES FOR LONG DISTANCE CALLS WITHIN TEXAS

AT&T announces April 1, 1989, price changes for Long Distance Service (MTS) within Texas. AT&T's prices for long distance calling within Texas will be increased by two cents per minute for calls under 82 miles in distance and one cent per minute for calls that are 82 miles or greater in distance. AT&T's current discounts of 25% for evening calls and 40% for night and weekend calls will remain in effect. The price increases are expected to produce approximately $22.8 million, which is nearly 2.9% of AT&T's annual revenues for Texas Long Distance Service.

This represents the first AT&T price increase for long distance calls within Texas. AT&T's long distance prices for calls within Texas have been reduced overall by about 12% since 1986.

The Long Distance Service price changes will also impact AT&T's PRO<sup>SM</sup> WATS Texas offering, which offers subscribers a 10% discount on all long distance calls within Texas. These price changes are expected to produce approximately $661,000, or about 3.5% of the annual revenues for AT&T's PRO<sup>SM</sup> WATS Texas offering.

Prices for AT&T's REACH OUT<sup>SM</sup> Texas offering will also change. The price for initial hour usage will increase from $12.55 to $12.95; the additional hour price will increase from $11.40 to $12.00. These price increases are expected to produce approximately $364,000, or about 2.1% of the annual revenues for AT&T's REACH OUT<sup>SM</sup> Texas offering.

AT&T's tariffs implementing these changes will be filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on March 1, 1989, with an effective date of April 1, 1989. The combined price increases are expected to produce approximately $23.9 million, which is approximately 2.4% of AT&T's annual revenues for all Texas intrastate services.

If you have questions regarding these price changes please call AT&T's service consultants at 1-800-222-0300 for residential customers or 1-800-222-0400 for business customers. Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may also contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas in writing, at 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 450N, Austin, Texas 78757, or by calling the Public Information Office at 512-458-0223, or 512-458-0227, or 512-458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

World Day of Prayer will be observed in Floydada March 3

The World Day of Prayer did not begin as a world-wide event, but rather had its beginning as a small prayer circle in the United States in 1887. Now, 102 years later, this eventful day unites women in more than 107 countries and regions of the world for prayer and prayerful action!

In Floydada, the World Day of Prayer will be observed on Friday, March 3rd, at the First United Methodist Church. The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church is planning the service with the cooperation of representatives from several other churches.

The program for this year was written by the women of Burma who are "grateful for the growth of the World Day of Prayer in Burma." They also credit continual prayer for a year of grace for the people of their land, therefore the theme chosen is "Jesus, Teach Us To Pray." Those attending the service will find the interpretation of prayer by the Burmese women both unusual and interesting. Through readings, the hymns, and a rhythmic choir of three young women the congregation will be inspired to reach out in prayerful action to those around us.

Participating in the service this year, which begins with an organ prelude and a quiet time for prayer at 10:00 a.m., will be Mrs. Dale Harter, organist, Mrs. Ed Wester, song leader; Mrs. Jimmy Willson, Mrs. Monte Williams, Mrs. Edd Neff, Mrs. Jimmy Green, and Mrs. Ray Macha. Special music and readings will be done by Jane McCulley and Gayla Griffin; the rhythmic choir will be composed of Julianne Cornelius, Debra Graham, and Stacy Reeves, accompanied on the piano by Joyce Lipham, and vocal by Spring Lipham. Rev. Dale Harter will bring the benediction, and Mrs. Melvin Lloyd will sing the World Day of Prayer solos written by the Burmese women.

Following the service, a luncheon will be served in the fellowship hall. Those attending the service are asked to bring a covered dish. There will be child care available for small children.

Harmony Homemakers tested on "Low Cholesterol Foods"

By Ruth Scott

The Harmony Extension Homemakers Club met February 13 at the club room, with Blanche Williams as hostess. The president Vivian Curtis presided. The hostess read Leviticus 26:26 for opening and gave three good household hints - for her "share an idea."

Roll call was answered by naming a food that is low in cholesterol. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary Juanita Pool.

Maye Williams, program committee chairman, told of the plans for the first meeting on March 13, when the Homebuilders Club members will meet with a speaker from the Lubbock State School will meet with us and give the program on Living, Loving and Learning. This will be a luncheon at 12:00. Each member is to bring gifts to give to the school. Gifts can be new or used clothes, personal items like toothpaste, brushes, cosmetics, etc.

The finance committee chairman, Nita Pool stated her committee had bought material for tablecloths for the card tables. Members took one or two home to hem.

The program was given by Mary True, agent, on Low Cholesterol Foods. A test was given testing our knowledge on high cholesterol foods, she discussed how to decrease your cholesterol intake by choosing foods that are low in cholesterol and saturated fats, and gave out material from American Heart Assn.

The hostess served refreshments to Maye Williams, Doris Snodgrass, Lucille Miller, Imelda Murry, Bess Carr, Vivian Curtis, Juanita Pool, Mary True and Ruth Scott.

Valentine's Day motif used for February Triple L Club meeting

The Triple L (Live Long and Like It) Club of First Baptist Church met on February 14, for the regular luncheon meeting. The tables in Fellowship Hall were beautifully decorated in a Valentine's day motif by Wanda Turner and Pat Rucker. The Rev. Hal Farnsworth, pastor, led in prayer of thanks for the food. After the bountiful meal, Letha Mulder, president, presided over the business session.

The minutes of the January meeting were read and approved. President

Companions 'n' Caring host Valentine party at Floydada Nursing Home

Companions 'n' Caring hosted a Valentine party Feb. 14 at 2:30 p.m. for the residents of the Nursing Home, their families and friends. Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Holcomb reigned as Valentine King and Queen wearing their gold crowns and each holding a red rose.

All joined in singing songs of yesterday accompanied by Frieda Simpson and directed by Jo Bryant.

Red punch and decorated cookies were served along with crispy crackers, yogurt covered raisins and salted peanuts.

Those members assisting were Frances Badgett, Delores Cannon, Dorothy Neff, Shirley Varner, Leona Neff, Ola Smith and Jo Bryant.

Floydada city manager speaks to 1934 Study Club members

The 1934 Study Club met Feb. 7 in the home of Mrs. Floyd Lawson with Mrs. L.D. Simpson as co-hostess.

The president Mrs. J.R. Turner called the meeting to order. The minutes were read and approved and the roll called.

The speaker Gary Brown was introduced by Mrs. Dennis Dempsey.

Brown informed the members of things about the town and what the City Council is doing for the townspeople.

He stated that financially, Floydada is sound.

Floydada was founded in 1909, the water system in 1916, and the electric system in 1939.

The fire department rates in the top 10. They had 98 fire calls in the last year.

Street repairs and paving are some of the plans for the near future, along with plans for the 911 emergency system which should be a reality in the next two years.

He made everyone realize what the city manager, city council and city employees are doing for everyone.

Twelve years ago there were 42 people employed by the city, today there are 12, due to training, computers, improvements and modern equipment.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi, another week has come and gone. I must say that we had all kinds of excitement and parties around here.

Monday, Bro. Bill Wright came and gave the devotion for us. It was taken from Psalms 139. At 2 p.m. the residents sang some songs from Memory Lane, from the by-gone days, singing from song books.

Tuesday was the great Valentine Party. Otis Johnson was voted King of Hearts of the Nursing Home, and Ruby Holcomb was voted Queen of Hearts of the Nursing Home. They were each presented with a long-stemmed red rose and a box of candy. We all sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart", accompanied by the piano played by Freida Simpson. We also sang some other old songs. The ladies from the Companions 'n' Caring came and served cookies and punch to the residents. Those helping with the party were Ola Smith, Dolores Cannon, Leona Neff, Dorothy Neff, Shirley Varner, Frances Badgett, and Opal and Letha Lightfoot. The Hesperian came and took a picture of the King and Queen.

Wednesday Bro. Sammy Rodriguez came and shared from Psalms 121 with us. We sang some songs. At 2 p.m. the residents played bingo. Thelma Hoffman had the first bingo. Mary Alice came and assisted the residents, she also brought home-baked heart-shaped cookies and valentines for the residents to enjoy.

Mrs. Ellen Enriquez's third grade class made the residents some pretty valentines, too. Mrs. Nancy Young's Sunday School class from the First United Methodist Church made a huge poster with all their names on it. It brought some joy and sunshine to the residents. Thanks.

Thursday Helen Lipham came and played the banjo for us and we sang some songs. We had seven residents celebrating their birthdays for the month of February. I would write a social history for each one but that would be too lengthy. Those celebrating their birthdays were Iva Benson, Iva Wells, Icy Snow Weathers, Mamie Gray, Alta Marr, Alice Henry, and Paul (Faye) Hart. The ladies from the City Park Church of Christ served delicious cake and punch. They were Clorene Holladay, Elva Blum, Eunice Hardy, Lorilla Bradley, and Beulah Baker. Guests of Iva Benson were her son, Al, and his wife, Fay. Guests of Faye Hart were his wife, Amanda, and son, David. Jessie Stewart was the guest of her sister, Bennie Wilson.

Friday Letha Mulder shared Psalms 105 and Evelyn Latta played the piano for us. At 2:30 the residents saw a movie, as it was too cold and foggy to go on a bus ride.

Our sincere sympathy, prayers, and love go out to the families of Mr. Clay Henry and Mrs. Mary Meason of Matador. We also welcome Ruth Benson home from the hospital and wish for speedy recoveries for Faye Hart and Addie Lindley. Both are in Caprock Hospital.

This week's visitors were: Clorene Holladay, Beulah Baker, Willie Mae Smith, Mae Sue, Laura Henry, Rebecca and Sam Henry, Joanna Greenwood, Dave and Frances Willis of Paducah, Mac and Marj McElyea, Hazel Bradley, Frances Badgett, Winnie Neil, Bob Aildredge, Rudolph McCurdy, Irene Wexler, Lucille Dennis, and Freida Simpson.

Mazie Hegi feted with gift coffee

Mazie Hegi was given a gift coffee on Saturday morning, Feb. 11, in the home of Vernola Hanna. The occasion was to honor Mazie upon her recent marriage to Don Hegi of Petersburg. The couple's children had started them a china service and the guests and hostesses for the coffee completed the service.

Coffee, orange juice, a variety of sweet breads, blueberry muffins and sausage balls were served. Silver appointments were used to complement the table that had been laid with a cut-work cloth. The centerpiece was a silk arrangement of earthtones and federal blue.

Hostesses were: Vernola Hanna and Elva Blum, Lorilla Bradley, Clara Bradshaw, Judy Dunlap, Bill Ferguson, Eunice Hardy, Ruby Hartsell, Elaine LaBaume, Troye Massie, Claudia Porter, Wanda Smith, Alta Thurston, Ruth Walker and LaFaun Young.

Tannahill uses garden hose

(Editor's Note: The following article is being taken from the February 1989 edition of The Cross Section, a monthly publication of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, Lubbock.)

Eugene Tannahill says he got some strange looks when he ordered 15,000 feet of garden hose and told people that he was going to water cotton, corn and wheat with it. However, the Lockney producer has discovered that heavy duty garden hose is just the right material to use for flexible, long-lasting LEPA (low energy precision application) center pivot droplines.

Tannahill had tried several hose materials as droplines before deciding upon the garden hose.

"The first systems used metal droplines which weren't too good. Then I tried plastic, but it was brittle and would break when the weather got cold. I also tried heater hose, but it just wouldn't stand the weather. I finally thought about the garden hose that I had had at the house for years. It's flexible and does well in all weathers," he says.

Tannahill first bought a small roll of garden hose, attached the hose to a few drops on one of his pivots and tested it for a year. When he saw that his idea worked, he replaced all the drops on two of his systems with garden hose in 1983 and equipped two others in 1984. He says that the garden hose has been installed on the pivots for five years and that it still works well with very little maintenance.

He uses Gates Flexigan™ hose which easily withstands the 9-15 pounds per square inch (psi) water pressure required by his pivots. Garden hoses in most cities have to withstand water pressures ranging from 35 to 90 psi.

Although the hose is relatively lightweight, Tannahill says the wind has not caused major problems with his irrigation. "The water adds weight to the hose. The wind will move the hose somewhat, but it hasn't been a problem."

Tannahill also likes the hose's pliability, noting that he can tie the hose in a knot for a long time and it will straighten out when water flows through it. "It is easy to unplug the nozzles because you can bend the hose up and stop the water," he adds.

He says that it is important to get a good quality garden hose that will be flexible in cold weather. "The initial cost is more expensive, but in the end, it is a cheaper investment. A disadvantage is the higher cost (over other drop line materials). The price has increased from 27 cents per foot four years ago to 35 cents per foot now," he says.

Tannahill says using the garden hose LEPA drops to irrigate his cotton, wheat and corn is not without a few minor problems. "Sometimes the nozzle will hang on the corn ears and cause the drop to break off at the top of the pivot. If the clamp is not tight enough, a drop or nozzle may be pulled off," he says.

He attaches the garden hose LEPA drops to gooseneck pipes connected to the pivot span. A hose barb screws into the gooseneck, and the garden hose fits over the hose barb. The hose works better when attached to a gooseneck than when added on to a partial dropline, he says. Another hose barb connects the hose to the nozzle. Clamps help hold the barbs and hoses together.

He says that attaching the garden hose is easy, but time consuming. One person atop the pivot attaches the hose to the gooseneck and then drops it down to another person on the ground, who cuts the hose at the desired length. The person on the ground must then toss the hose back up to the man on the pivot so that it can be attached to the next gooseneck. The hose installation process for one pivot system takes Tannahill and his son about a day.

Tannahill uses five-eighths-inch diameter garden hose, purchased in 125-foot lengths. The hose and hose barbs are available in most hardware stores. It takes about 2,200 feet of hose to equip one of Tannahill's quarter-mile sprinklers with 196 drops spaced 80 inches apart. The orifices next to the pivot base are 5/64 of an inch in diameter and gradually widen to one-fourth of an inch diameter at the machine's outer edge. The pivot operates at 15 psi on the inside circle and eight to nine psi at the end, running at 500 gallons of water per minute. Two end hoses are attached without goosenecks to the underside of the pivot span, and they continually flush sand out of the system, Tannahill says.

Tannahill waters two half circles of 60 acres of corn and 60 acres of cotton, and two full circles of 120 acres each of wheat. He irrigates with three sprinklers which are moved between pads on five quarter-sections. He starts seven or eight wells when he begins irrigating in the spring, but usually has to turn on the ninth well in August to maintain water pressure on these three pivots.

Conserving as much water as possible is important to Tannahill. When he first started using high impact center pivots in 1976, he pumped 900 gallons per minute through the sprinkler. "Now, the water is getting weaker. The sprinklers run about 500 gallons per minute through the sprinkler. "Now, the water is getting weaker. The sprinklers run about 500 gallons per minute," he notes.

The Lockney irrigator began with a high pressure impact center pivot and then converted his system to droplines. Tannahill was an early user of the LEPA system, and he is convinced of its advantages. "LEPA is as near to 100 percent efficient as you can get," he says.

Tannahill's LEPA system has also eased maintenance chores and the splash plates are easy to check for trash and blocked orifices. "I'm getting to the age where it's nice not to have to climb up on the center pivot. With the drop lines, I can just put on rubber boots, walk up to the pivot and unplug the nozzle. I don't get wet, and I don't have to stoop over as much," he says.

Tannahill says he is sold on the LEPA system's water use efficiency. "You get 25 percent more water on the ground with LEPA drops than with high pressure impact spray. If you're watering with a LEPA system and the wind is blowing, you'll be standing in the dry 10-15 feet downwind. In comparison, I was driving about 100 yards from one of my pivots with mid-level drops, and water was splattering on the windshield."

Farmers urged to check pipeline

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 reminds irrigators to check their concrete underground pipelines for possible mortar joint leaks prior to the 1989 irrigation season.

"Mortar-jointed underground pipeline is still used across the Texas High Plains. In most cases, the pipelines were installed prior to the early 1970s and need to be checked for leakage caused by age deterioration," says Ken Carver, High Plains Water District Assistant Manager.

Mud puddles forming on the land surface usually indicate large underground pipeline leaks. In some instances, smaller leaks may occur on the underside of a pipeline. If the pipe was placed in a trench cut into a caliche layer, the porous caliche absorbs water, and a tell-tale mud puddle may never appear on the land surface.

Water losses equivalent to 50 percent of the well yield can occur when several small leaks are added together. Irrigators should check their underground pipelines during the winter so that they can make any necessary repairs before the summer irrigation season.

"A flow meter is probably the best and easiest way to find out if your underground pipeline is leaking and to what extent the leaks affect crop water application," says Carver.

Flow meters are usually installed on the well discharge pipe and on the discharge from the underground pipeline. The difference in readings from the two flow meters will give irrigators an indication of the underground pipeline water loss.

Water District field staff now use electronic transit-flow meters to check pipeline leaks. This service is free of charge, and requests are handled on a first-come, first-served basis.

"With the new meters, all we have to do to obtain a flow reading is connect the sensors to the exterior of the discharge pipe on the pump and to the discharge pipe from the hydrant valve on the line. The wells do not have to be stopped," says Carver.

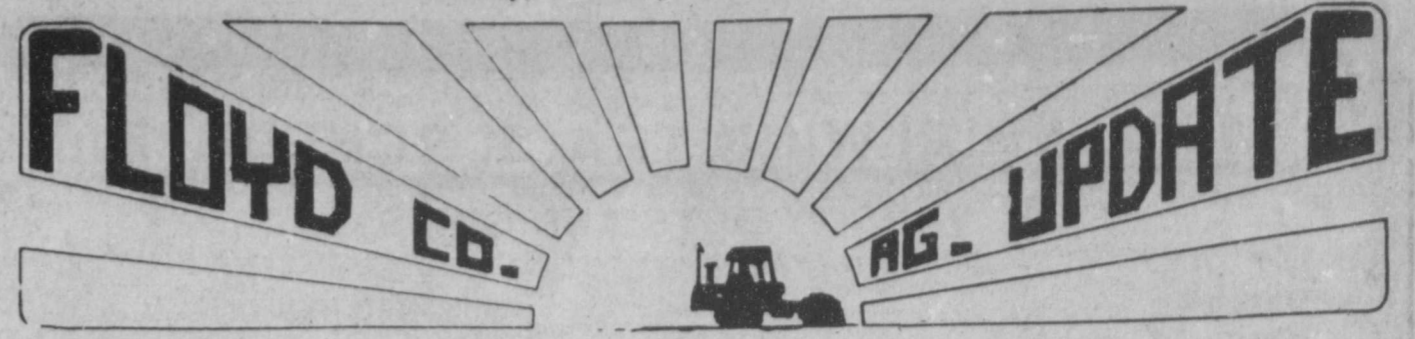

For those who wish to check their own pipelines, the older-style flow meters are available on a free-loan basis to irrigators within the Water District's service area.

Water escaping from the underground pipeline eventually returns to the Ogallala Aquifer, but does not benefit the irrigator. With pipeline repairs, irrigators will obtain an increase in their water supply equivalent to the water loss; a reduced fuel cost per unit of water applied to their crops; reduced labor costs; and increased production.

Assuming that an irrigator had a fuel cost of $3 per acre-inch of water pumped and a loss for 100 gallons per minute for a 120-day irrigation pumping season, the fuel cost to pump the lost water would be $1,909.

If the same irrigator replaced 500 feet of leaking underground pipeline for $2.75 per foot, he would have an expense of $1,375. Given the $1,909 wasted fuel expense, the irrigator can easily recover the repair expense in just over a year's time.

Additional information and assistance on checking for underground pipeline leaks can be obtained from the local USDA-Soil Conservation Service Office, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service or the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405 or call (806) 762-0181.

Field bindweed can be controlled

Field bindweed can be controlled in two to three years using a combination of sweep tillage at three week intervals and the herbicides, 2,4-D, Banvel or Tordon during fallow periods in a wheat-sorghum-fallow crop rotation. That conclusion was based on four years of research by Monty Schoenhals and Dr. Allen Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Weed Scientists at the USDA Research Laboratory at Bushland, Texas. The experiments were located on a heavily infested field two miles north of Bushland. Schoenhals announced these findings on February 8 to the 800 members of the Weed Science Society of America in Dallas, Texas.

The two researchers compared sweep tillage at three week intervals in a no-tillage system where Landmaster was sprayed at monthly intervals to control all weeds including bindweed in a wheat-sorghum-fallow rotation. Untreated check areas were sweep plowed every six weeks during fallow periods. In the no-tillage system using Landmaster, atrazine was applied to wheat stubble, and Glean was sprayed in April following sorghum harvest. In the sweep system, 2,4-D was sprayed four to five weeks after the last tillage about two times a year when there was enough soil water to cause lush growth of bindweed. In two additional treatments, the 2,4-D and sweeping was supplemented with either Banvel at two pounds per acre or Tordon at 0.25 pounds per acre sprayed in October during the first fallow period. Banvel and Tordon were sprayed also in the no-tillage system. Weeds in wheat were sprayed with Glean, and atrazine was sprayed post-emergence to sorghum. Bindweed were controlled in sorghum with 2,4-D.

After one 11 month fallow period prior to planting sorghum, bindweed control was 66 percent where 2,4-D and sweep tillage were used, and 100 percent where Banvel or Tordon were sprayed in October. Control was a little less with the no-tillage systems. After three fallow periods control was 100 percent when Banvel or Tordon were used with sweep- or no-tillage. Control with sweep tillage and 2,4-D was 78 percent.

In 1986, after one fallow period, sorghum yield was about 1600 pounds per acre for all sweep treatments and 1000 pounds per acre for no-tillage. Untreated areas that were plowed every six weeks produced only 200 pounds per acre. After three years of fallow and good rains in the spring of 1988, all sweep treatments produced 3000 pounds per acre. No-tillage was better and averaged 3400 pounds per acre according to Schoenhals.

Bindweed control after one year of fallow prior to wheat planting was 66 percent or less with all treatments, however, after three fallow periods, all treatments eliminated bindweed.

It was a very poor wheat year in 1986 after one year of fallow and the untreated check produced 5 bushels per acre. Control treatments yielded about 9 bushels per acre. Wheat grown after two years of fallow had much more rain, and the untreated check and the sweep 2,4-D treatment produced 25 bushels per acre. Yield was 30 bushels per acre with both sweep and no-tillage where Tordon or Banvel were used.

According to Schoenhals, bindweed reduced wheat and sorghum yield by competing for soil water. Soil samples to four feet showed that bindweed reduced soil water storage during an 11 month fallow period by about two inches. "This is enough soil water to produce from 500 to 700 pounds per acre of sorghum," the Researcher said. In dry times, like the fall of 1988 the difference was even greater. Available soil water stored from wheat harvest in June 1988 to December 1988 was zero inch on untreated bindweed and three inches where bindweed were controlled.

Schoenhals summarized by stating bindweed could be controlled in three years with combinations of 2,4-D and sweep tillage at three week intervals or the new no-tillage system he devised. Control time could be reduced to two years when Banvel or Tordon were sprayed in October of the first fallow period. He said, "Control measures developed prevented bindweed from competing with wheat and sorghum for soil water." "This doubled or tripled yields which easily paid for the cost of treatment," he concluded.

Shine of '89

The two seniors in the spotlight this week are Janie Cuevas and Christy Lopez.

Janie is the daughter of Gloria and Bonifacio Cuevas and has one brother and one sister. She has gone to school in Floydada all of her school days. She plays baritone in the Whirlwind Band and works as a library assistant one period a day. Her future plans are to go to nursing school, to become an LVN and to take care of elderly patients. Janie would like for FHS to have a swimming pool. Christy plays the French horn in the Whirlwind Band and is in the speech club this year. Last summer she worked at the Floyd County Day Care Center and after school this year she works at Pizza Gold. She is the daughter of Bolanda Perez and Frank Lopez. She has one brother, Robert. Christy plans to go to Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos to become a legal assistant. Then she plans to go to law school and become a lawyer.

High school students hold FHA-HERO session

By Alice Machado

The Floydada High School FHA-HERO met Thursday, Feb. 16, in the Home Ec. room. President Janie Sanchez called the meeting to order. Song leader Rolando Maldonado led the group in giving the club creed. Secretary Rachel Boyd read the minutes. Treasurer Maria Torres reported on the success of the candy sale and the Valentine cookie sale.

The breadsticks and salad prepared for the Heart Fund luncheon helped raised over $600. The Adopt-A-Highway cleanup will start when the weather warms up.

We baked an angel food cake to give to our teachers during FHA week. During the business sessions we elected Louisa Gomez to serve as sgt.-at-arms, replacing San Ja Garcia who has moved.

Our advisor Mrs. Joyce Williams reported that hotel rooms at the Holiday Inn have been reserved in Houston for delegates to the state convention in April.

She also talked about the regional meeting in Odessa March 11.

Hostesses Donna Cooper, Melissa Garza and Alice Machado served angel food cake and cherry vanilla ice cream.

A Valentine theme was used in the table decorations.

Karate students take rank exam

Walters Karate of Floydada held rank examinations Saturday, Feb. 11.

Students were tested on proficiency in self defense techniques, kicking, punching, blocking and art form.

Students from Floydada receiving promotions were: Rance Barnett, orange; Fabian Falcon, orange; Josh Tip-

Instructors in charge of testing were Darren Walters and Walt Bushey.

Fitness Center has grand opening

Floydada Fitness Center, Aaction Kenpo Karate and Floydada Boxing Club held their grand opening Saturday, Feb. 11, from 1:00 to 5:00.

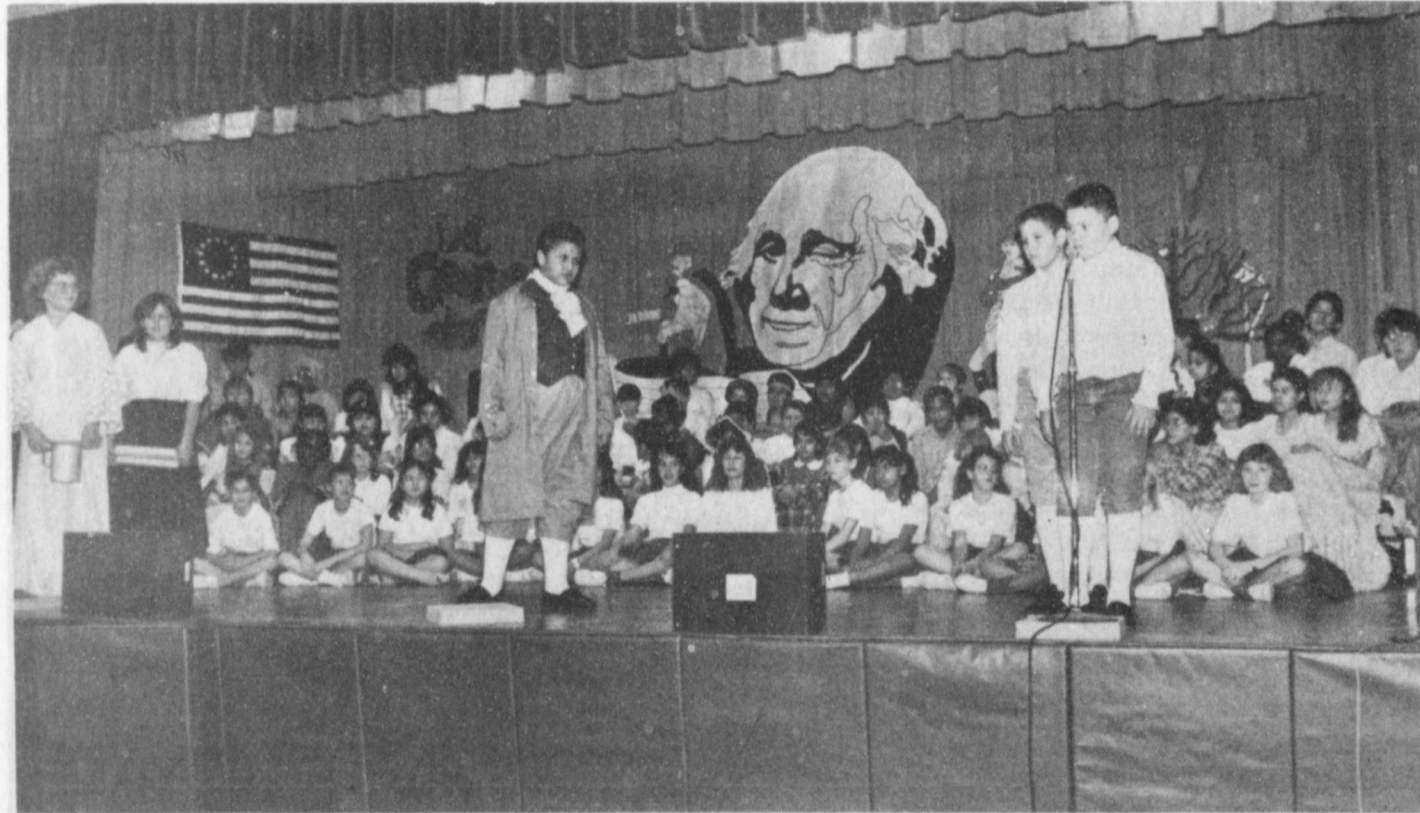

Loretta Burns served finger sandwiches, dips and chips, cookies, pound cake, banana bread, cokes and coffee.

Sheryl LeCroy showed tanning beds and the use of the workout equipment.

Sharkey LeCroy and his students from Floydada, Levelland and Lubbock gave karate, kickboxing, and boxing demonstrations throughout the day.

Door prizes were drawn at 5:00 that afternoon with Samuel Segura, Sammy Segura, Mark Gutierrez, Richard Casillas, Gabriel Garcia, Shane Derryberry, Valree Turner, Juan Vasquez, Johnny Vasquez, Gloria Enriquez, Hannah Morris, DeAnn Evans, Judy Emert, Stephen Morris, Elisha Morris and Joseph Morris, all of Floydada, Scott Goen, Geoff Johnson and Jim Johnson of Lubbock, Linda Wright, J.T. Wright, Amy Wright, Daniel Padilla, Andy Roberts and Rosie Lara of Levelland, and Larry Webb of Lockney winning a variety of gifts.

Gonzales completes basic at Lackland

Airman Rogelio Gonzales, son of Raul and Dolores C. Gonzales of South Plains, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the community college of the Air Force.

His wife, Suzanne, is the daughter of Frank and Romona De Leon of Floydada.

The airman is a 1988 graduate of Floydada High School.

To all customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company:

Public Notice

On December 22, 1988 Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas several proposed changes in its Universal Emergency Number Service (911) Tariff. These proposals include:

- deletion of the current regulation which restricts E911 Service to a single exchange area which has 50,000 exchange access arrangements or more;
- revising the tariff text to clarify that costs associated with network rearrangements required to accommodate the 911 code may result in additional charges to be determined on an individual case basis;
- a text addition to clarify that telephone company provided Public Safety Answering Equipment is required when a service includes Automatic Location Identification (ALI); and
- a text addition to explain emergency ringback.

The application is styled Docket No. 8565, Application of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for Approval of Amendment of Universal Emergency Number Service (911) Tariff. It is anticipated that Docket No. 8565 will be evidentiary in nature.

The public may intervene or participate in this docket but it is not required to do so. Anyone who wishes to intervene in this proceeding or comment on the relief sought by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company should contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757 or call the Public Utility Commission Information Office at (512) 458-0010 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf. Motions to intervene in this proceeding must be filed with the Commission's filing clerk by April 12, 1989.

SCIENCE FAIR—Sixth graders participating in the Science Fair at Andrews this week include: (l-r) Penny Wilson, D.G. Hollums and Danika Dudley. The Fair starts Feb. 23-24. It will be open to the public on Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m. On Feb. 24, exhibits can be viewed from 8:30-4:00 p.m. —Staff photo

Floydada Junior High FHA-HERO club meets

The Floydada Junior High FHA-HERO met Wednesday, Feb. 15, at 2:30. President Susie Segura conducted the meeting which was held at the Home Ec. room. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Yadira Martinez, secretary. A financial report was given by the secretary since treasurer Emma Cabello has moved.

Jennifer Gutierrez was elected as new vice-president and Annette Gutierrez will be the new sgt.-at-arms. Yadira Martinez was elected secretary-treasurer. She reported that the club had prepared bags of bread sticks and a quart of salad dressing for the heart fund bridge luncheon on Feb. 10 at Massie Activity Center.

They baked an angel food cake for the junior high teachers and took it to their lounge Valentine week to show their appreciation. They also baked heart-shaped chocolate chip cookies and sold them for Valentine's Day. The chocolate candy bar sale has made the club money for their trips, outings and the new club pins the advisor, Mrs. Joyce Williams, handed out to them. They could not decide where to go on a trip, so they will vote next time.

The president's table was covered with a red tablecloth. It was decorated with a Valentine bouquet, a Valentine and a red rose given by the high school and junior high students to Mrs. Williams.

The hostesses, Yolanda Barrientos and Susie Segura, served angel food cake which had been baked by Annette Gutierrez, Yadira Martinez and Maria Ascencio. It was served with cherry vanilla ice cream. Libby Martinez served iced drinks from the hostess cart. Meeting was adjourned.

APPLE OF OUR EYE — Selected as the teacher who is the Apple of Our Eye this week at A. B. Duncan Elementary School was Kathy Wood. Wood has been teaching for 23 years. She worked in Big Spring for 5 years prior to coming to Floydada. Following graduation from high school in Colorado City, Texas, Wood attended Howard County Junior College in Big Spring and received a Bachelor of Music Education degree from NTSU in Denton. She is currently working on her masters at Texas Tech. Her hobbies are reading, cooking, sewing and playing the piano. Wood says, "Ever since childhood, I have valued and loved music. My concern is that each child benefit from and enjoy music." Staff Photo

FHS ex earns educator award

(Editor's Note: The following article about Fred March was submitted to The Hesperian by Jettie Moss. March was recently named Educator of the Year at Southwest Texas State University. The article presenting March's accomplishments to receive the award appeared in the school's program. March, a graduate of Floydada High School, is the son of Sybil March, who at one time worked at Milady's and Oden Chevrolet in Floydada. He is a former drama student of Mrs. I.T. Graves.)

Is there anyone who doesn't know Fred March's mother's favorite actor? Seriously, the Fred March we have come to know and admire is a celebrity in the field of educational theatre.

Fred earned his B.A. in theatre from Texas Technological College in 1966 and his M.A. in 1968. He also has post degree hours from the University of Texas. He is currently chairman of the Theatre Arts Department at Southwest Texas State University. While at SWTSU, Fred has directed 18 productions, been technical director for over 50 productions, and served as designer for 40 productions. In addition to his teaching duties, he has found time to write the curriculum for several new theatre courses that he has implemented at SWTSU.

Frequently, when a student goes off to the university, they find themselves in a community of peers with no significant adult in their life. For many students, this causes a problem. If you are lucky enough to be in the theatre department at Southwest Texas State, then Fred March comes into your life. This dedication has been noticed by his dean Richard Cheatham, and he comments: "Fred March's constant concern for the theatre student, and the extraordinary amount of time he spends advising students is undeniable. These, plus his many other activities, has not detracted in the slightest from his overall artistic leadership of the production program."

Dr. James Barton, Professor Emeritus of Theatre Arts at Southwest Texas State University, echoes Richard Cheatham's comments when he states: "Fred March's relationship with all of our students has been a one-on-one relationship that has been basic to their achievements both in school and after graduation." Speaking to Fred's importance in the theatre department at SWTSU, Dr. Barton adds, "During the years since Fred began serving as Director of Theater, the department continued to grow and is at present one of the largest, and we believe, strongest theatre programs in the Southwest. He has brought us to a point that we will before too long be a Department of Theatre instead of a Theatre Division."

Fred has been a very active member of the Texas Educational Theatre Association. He is currently on the Board of Directors. As far as other professional organizations are concerned, Fred is a member of the Southern Speech Communication Association and is a past member of the Board of Directors of USITT, where he served as the president of the Regional Section. An active supporter of the University Interscholastic League One-Act Play, Fred frequently serves as a judge for various levels of competition.

Because of his list of achievements, contributions to educational theatre in the state of Texas, and work with the Texas Educational Theatre Association, Fred March is, without qualification, deserving of the award of Education of the Year.

Short Takes of Happenings Past

By Will Martin

Most times I call to mind a subject I feel like writing on. It takes me several days to call to mind the various happenings of the story. I go over and over in my mind the various things in the story to try to be sure as I can that my memory is correct. Then I start writing as though I am talking to someone in person.

Pretty soon my time and space runs out, and there is no room for some of the things I had in my best memory.

I hope this writing will allow me to drop in a few of the former left-outs from various writings and I will try to keep them as short as possible.

FEEDING THE CATS AND PIGS

As most all know we milked the cows by hand to get our milk to drink, churn for butter and buttermilk. As soon as I was old enough to know how to milk a cow Papa and Mama had me to do that chore night and morning. As long as the old cow was docile we got along fine. If I happened to pinch her teat with my fingernail, it was just too bad. She would kick me off the stool when the bucket was about two thirds full and spill all the milk.

The little pigs had the run of the farm and I suppose they could smell the milk when we were milking. So could the cats. I suppose brother Henry showed me how to feed both of them.

When a little pig came to about four or five feet from me I would squirt milk in his mouth and he knew how to catch it all. The cats were experts, maybe better than the pigs. It sure was a fun thing for me to see the pigs and cats lick the milk that my poor aiming left on their lips.

After I reached school in the morning, after milking, I often forgot to wash the splattered milk off my shoes. The boys would tell me that they knew I had milked cows that morning because I had left half of it on my shoes.

A CLOSE CALL WITH A CULTIVATOR

We had two one row plows called cultivators to clean the middles, after the crops were tall enough, that with four or six sweeps we could cut most of the weeds between the rows and cover up some of the small weeds in the row. The plow had a beam on each side of the row with shanks on feet that had sweeps on the bottom. The cultivator I operated had springs made in such a way that if they hit a stump on solid rock they would spring back leaving a gap in the shank. This was done so that it would not break the plow sweep or any other part. Of course when the driver backed up and went around the obstacle the spring would go back in place.

One day Papa and I were plowing and skipping rows for each other. I was driving a real slow and gentle team that were so slow it made a person think the dead lice were falling off them.

As we neared the end of the row one of the sweeps hit a short mesquite stump. The team stopped on their own. The spring opened up the gap on the shank. I didn't know then what was happening. So I got down and tried to put the shank in place. I got part of my hand in the spring opening and it began to hurt as the horses eased backward allowing the spring to get tighter. I began to yell at Papa who was near. My team must have thought I meant for them to get up. The plow was still sticking in the stump so the spring opened the gap wider and I jerked my hand out real fast.

If things would have come out different my old plow team might have let me lose my hand.

MAMA WITH KEROSENE COOKSTOVE

One day late in the evening Papa and I were gathering feed with short handle hoes, to feed the stock. We were close to the house in easy hearing distance.

Mama was cooking supper on a kerosene four burner stove. Two of the burners were under the oven and the other two burners were beside the oven to fry, boil or heat things. Of course the oven was to bake bread, cakes and other things that required baking.

Sister Annie Lee ran out the door and yelled, "Papa, Will, come here quick!" We both made a run for the house. When we got inside, we saw that Mama had knocked the globes off two of the burners. She was smothering the fire out of the burners with an old quilt.

My what a relief to know that Mama had self control to know what to do. Those old kerosene stoves would get out of hand many times. The blaze would run up high and if a person didn't know what to do they would generate heat and burn the house down. I suppose the kerosene stove in those days burned down as many houses in the country as any other cause.

COMBINING TWO KINDS OF HEADS

Sam and Birdie were a man and wife, of a family of the best neighbors that the Martins ever had.

His real name was S.H. Shultz who moved to Floyd County in the Spring of 1918 from near Sherman, Texas.

Sam took a liking to me and I to him. When I finished high school in 1928 Sam gave me odd jobs. In about 1932 he hired me to drive an old 18-36 Allis Chalmers tractor to pull a 20 foot cut case combine. I made two more seasons driving the tractor pulling the combine and driving the tractor pulling a one-way plow preparing wheat land. Then for about two more seasons I operated the combine for Sam.

I don't remember which year but we were combining a patch of wheat at the south end, just about two hundred yards north from Shultz's house. About the third round, as we got even with the house, Birdie came toward us waving her hands and yelling stop.

Sam waved for me to stop so we got on the ground to see what was wrong. We all looked behind the combine and there lay three dead turkeys with their heads cut off. Birdie and Sam used words at each other that I am sure they didn't use on their honeymoon. Sam told her she should have moved their setting place somewhere else before harvest time. Birdie told him he should have told her that we were going to combine the field so soon. The turkey nests were about 15 feet apart.

Sam said, "Let us go Bill," and that stopped the argument. I think Birdie put the eggs under some setting chicken hens. There was no way to put the dead turkeys under refrigeration as could be done now.

BIG SHOT RALPH FROM MESQUITE

I suppose it is not nice to say ugly things about our kinfolk, or anyone else for that matter. Ralph came to Floydada in the early 1930's to visit Uncle Wes and Aunt Sallie and said he wanted a job. Ralph's Papa was one of Papa's half brothers.

Ralph was a blow hard and knew everything about all things. He told all of us that we knew very little about anything out here on these barren plains compared to their great knowledge in Mesquite and Dallas. You know just about how those remarks impressed me, a native of the plains.

I was using an old two cylinder Hart Parr tractor, one-waying wheat land at night for Sam Shultz.

Sam would have his daughter pull the oil and gas trailer to wherever we needed them and carry us to and from work. This evening after we greased and filled up, Sam and his folks went home.

We were about one mile from our place. I had plowed a couple of rounds and it was just getting dark. I looked toward home and here comes Ralph. He said he wanted to show me how well he could drive a tractor. After awhile, I decided to let him try it. He did very well keeping the plow in the furrow until he attempted to turn the first corner.

I was standing on the floor board and the clutch was on the other side of Ralph. As he turned, instead of guiding the tractor down the furrow anglewise, he just kept turning left. The tractor was a steel wheeler with iron lugs so the plow caught on the lugs and was almost on top of us before I realized what was happening. I knocked Ralph to one side so I could disengage the clutch and stop the tractor. I backed the tractor off the plow.

Ralph wasn't much help while I spent about two hours straightening the hitch rods on the plow. After we got going Ralph was sure pretty guite, and he sat on the storage battery that gave us light so we could see the furrow.

I should have been ashamed of myself for not covering the battery with something for Ralph to sit on. The next morning when Sam and his daughter came to bring Sam, the whole seat of Ralph's pants were eaten up with battery acid. Sam never asked me why I didn't plow any more land and I sure never told him.

Mama was so disgusted with Ralph, that two of the relatives devised a plan that they hoped would scare him off back to his home. There was a newly married couple, who were well liked by the family. The woman talked friendly with everyone.

The two evil planning relatives told Ralph to come out to the windmill that they wanted to warn him concerning the married couple. They told him the newly married husband was very jealous and did not like for anyone to talk to much to his wife.

The next morning, Ralph told Aunt Sallie he ought to go home. All we have heard of him since has been a visit from his Papa and Mama who came by our house for a short visit, a few years after the past happening.

WEATHER

Allow me to compare the past and present weather wise. I hope I am correct, but I might be getting old and weakly. I have lived through many real "wet" spells in my life that were real cold and maybe a couple of weeks duration of sleet and snow. But I don't ever remember seeing it stay so long as cold as it did around the first of February. If I made a mistake it was the first one and I hope it won't be the last one. You know that they say, "He who tries to forecast the weather on the plains is either a fool or a newcomer."

Here goes-If I were dry farming now, my hopes for a crop would be mighty slim. We might even see a few sand storms before June.

THE RAT AND MOUSE

They tell that long ago an old man and old woman lived in a half dugout on these plains. This might be true and it might not be true.

They lived peacefully until they got very old.

One day they sat at the table eating supper. The old man asked his wife if she saw a rat run under the bed. She said it wasn't a rat it was a mouse. The argument got very heated with each one staying with their point.

Pretty soon, the old man grabbed his hat and left for two weeks. The old woman was so glad to see him when he returned that they made up. They were talking later and the old woman said, "Weren't we silly to argue over the mouse."

The man said, "It was a rat." When I came by on my mule, the fuss was so heated I was afraid to stop. I don't know how it came out that time.

Good luck to all.

'Texas First' plan would freeze Floydada phone rates at current level

Southwestern Bell Telephone proposes to freeze local telephone rates in Floydada for the next five years as part of the company's "Texas First" plan to boost the state's economy.

Also under the "Texas First" plan, four-party telephone service would be eliminated, some long distance rates could be reduced and the Texas telecommunications network would become one of the most modern in the country.

"The 'Texas First' plan was presented to the Public Utility Commission January 19, 1989," said Jim West, Southwestern Bell Telephone's Area Manager-External Affairs.

"The 'Texas First' plan includes network upgrades which will make the state more attractive to existing businesses, as well as those seeking to relocate," West said.

Floydada's current monthly telephone rates are $8.15 for one-party residence service and $19.15 for one-party business service. (These rates do not include federal subscriber line charges, taxes, or charges for any other services, such as Touch-tone or Custom Calling features.) Under the "Texas First" plan, those basic local rates would not change for five years.

The five-year freeze would keep Southwestern Bell's local rates among the lowest in the nation. The company's last basic local rate increase in Texas was June 1, 1984—almost five years ago.

Thus, by the end of another five-year freeze, Southwestern Bell's rates in Floydada will not have changed for nearly a decade if the Public Utility Commission approves the "Texas First" plan.

"We also will offer four-party customers the opportunity to upgrade their service to two-party service at the old four-party rate," West said. "If the customer chooses to upgrade to one-party service, the present one-party rate would apply."

Other elements of the "Texas First" plan would:

*Reduce Southwestern Bell Telephone's charges to long distance carriers for their access to the local network. We would expect those carriers to then reduce their rates for long distance service within Texas.

*Install digital switches in 195 communities where such systems are not currently in place. These switching systems would give all Southwestern Bell-served customers in Texas the most up-to-date service in the nation, giving the state an advantage as it competes with other states for new jobs and business growth.

*Expand optional toll-free calling scopes around Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

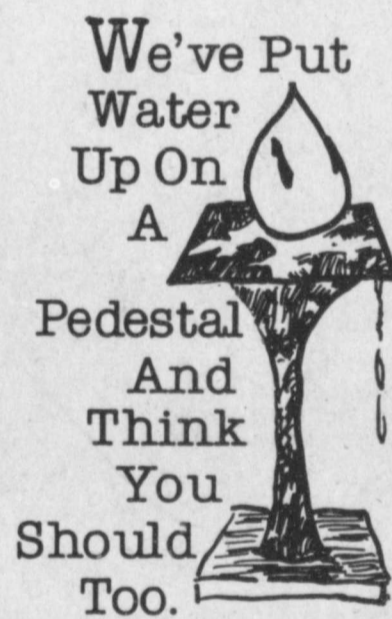

"Over a five-year span, these 'Texas First' proposals would require $327 million in investment outlays, plus $320 million in revenues that the company would forego," West said.

"The key to our plan to speed up installation of new technology and lock in local rates would be the PUC's agreement that an earnings range would replace the current fixed ceiling on Southwestern Bell's earnings," West said.

Currently, Southwestern Bell is limited to earnings of approximately 12 percent on investment. West pointed out that a fixed return does not provide an additional incentive for innovation. "Once a company reaches a certain level of earnings, the existing regulatory scheme calls a halt which is not practical in today's marketplace," he said.

"Under our proposal, we are asking that the PUC authorize a range of return on our investment from 11 to 13 percent," West said. "If the company's earnings should exceed 13 percent, Southwestern Bell would automatically credit half of the amount over 13 percent to customers' bills."

"Our goal is to enhance economic development in Floydada and to provide quality telecommunications service," West said. "Texas First will allow us to achieve both goals."

So let the State of Texas show you how to save it!
