Bevy of activities await pioneers this weekend

Older settlers are not the only ones who will participate in the Floyd County Pioneer Reunion. The Pioneer Reunion Committee is encouraging future pioneers to take part in the festivities on May 26 & 27, and they especially want Future Pioneers to bring their 2, 3, & 4 wheelers, along with their bicycles, to the Parade on Saturday.

"Anyone who wants to be considered for the contests in the parade, must be sure and register at the Duncan Abstract Office in Floydada before the parade," said Pioneer Reunion President Boyce Mosley. "If you have any questions about the parade contact Carolyn Jackson in Lockney, or Sarah Sanders in Floydada. We want to encourage organizations to bring their floats. For those in Lockney who want to bring a float, empty buildings are available in Floydada where they can put the floats together."

Besides all the favorites that are seen each year in the parade, such as old cars, new cars, bicycles, three wheelers, horses, floats, bands, tractors, fire engines and an assortment of old and new pioneers, Sparky the SPS Safety Mouse will be also be on hand. Candy throwing is no longer allowed in the parade, so Sparky will be at the SPS main office for an hour before the parade handing out candy.

HALL OF FAME AWARDS

"We want everyone to remember that the activities don't start on Saturday morning," said Mosley. "Floyd County's first officers, who were elected May 28, 1890 will be honored with The Hall of Fame Awards. A reception and visitation at the Floyd County Courthouse, Friday evening at 6:30 p.m., will be a part of the awards ceremony. Finger food will be served." The first officers honored will be: John C. Hendrix, county attorney; Robert T. Miller, county and district clerk; Daniel W. Jenkins, sheriff and tax collector; Elmer E. Keeley, treasurer; Levi C. Darby, tax assessor; Will M. Massie, county surveyor. Judge Duncan was inducted into Hall of Fame, last year. Exhibits representing the first officials and their county offices will be on display at the Floyd County Museum.

"We also want to encourage everyone to attend the play, 'How The West Was Won,' which is being presented afterwards under the pavilion," said Mosley. "The play is being presented in honor of our old settlers and is directed by Amy Thornton, the music teacher of Lockney Public schools. The play is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m., following the Hall of Fame Awards presentation."

Registration for all pioneers begins on Saturday, at 8:30 a.m. and continues until 1:00 p.m. The flag raising ceremony, always an emotional experience, will be under the direction of the 4th Cavalry on the courthouse square at 9:00 a.m.

CHANGES IN MEMORIAL SERVICE

The business meeting, including the awards to pioneer woman, man and couple, and the memorial service, will be conducted a little differently this year. "We will have a memorial service again this year," said Mosley, "but in order to save time and stay on schedule we will not read the list of all Floyd County residents that have died since last May. The names will be printed on the back of the program and there will be a service. It would be a good idea to get a program for a keepsake of the occasion."

The Lone Star Ballet, of W.T.S.U. will provide entertainment, after the business meeting, starting at 10:15 a.m.

ITEMS NEEDED FOR AUCTION

The auction starts at 11:15 a.m. and will also be held under the pavilion. "We need people to donate items for the auction. We are looking for antiques and what nots. The money raised here helps to pay for the lunch which is served complimentary to the 'Old Settlers'." Money left over from the auction proceeds, after lunch, will go to benefit next years Pioneer Reunion," said Mosley. Lunch starts at 11:45 a.m. Tickets are $5.00 each, (as previously mentioned, "Old Settlers" eat free) and lunch entertainment will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. John Francis.

AFTERNOON ENTERTAINMENT

"The Floyd County Tumbleweeds," directed by Beth Faulkenberry will present their show at 1:00 p.m. under the pavilion, followed by the Pioneer Selections Style Show at 1:30 p.m. Treena Aston, of Lockney, has put together the nostalgic style show featuring old fashions of years gone by.

The children's favorite, the long awaited parade, will be at 2:30 p.m. followed by everybody's favorite, entertainment from "Country Caravan". The "Country Caravan" a lively group of students from the South Plains college of Levelland, will present their music at approximately 3:30 p.m. It is a pretty sure thing that everyone will see or hear something they like at this concert.

PARADE AWARDS AND RAFFLE DRAWINGS

During the Country Caravan intermission, parade awards will be presented. The winners of the drawing for the quilt and shotgun will be announced at intermission. (The quilt and shotgun will be on display at Hale's Department Store throughout the day, and tickets can be purchased until 2:30 p.m. on Saturday). Floyd County Day Care will also announce the winner of the "19" color TV during the intermission.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

The Floyd County Museum will be open 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday during the annual Pioneer Reunion Celebration. The museum will host the Floyd County Art Association's Annual Art Show and Wildflower Show.

Registration for the Wildflower Show will be from 9:00 a.m. - 11:00 a.m. Division 1 will feature Miniature Flowers; Division 2, Unusual container; Division 3, Antique Container; Division 4, Mens Arrangement; Division 5, Youth; Division 6, Miscellaneous; Division 7, Old Fashioned Mix.

For more information on the Wildflower Show contact anyone on the Placement Committee, including: Mamie Wood, 983-2608; Virginia Taylor, 983-3639; Oleta Wilson, 983-3897; or Mary McPherson, 983-2228.

Also featured during the day will be the Nifty-Fifty Auto Club Show. The old vehicles will be in afternoon parade, but for those who would like a closer look the cars will be parked in the 100 block of North Wall starting at 9:00 a.m.

The Floyd County Roping Championship will be held at 4:00 p.m. at the Floydada Rodco Grounds and the country western dance will start at 9:00 p.m. at the Massie Activity Center. The "Blue Denim Band" will be the featured entertainment at the dance.

Gramm outlines new federal drug laws

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm visited Floydada on Tuesday morning to brief local law enforcement officers, community leaders and Floyd County citizens on congressional efforts now in progress, aimed at fighting the national drug problem.

Local law enforcement officers were first given the opportunity to address the crowd and Sen. Gramm, about their problems with drug enforcement.

Lockney Police Chief and Floydada Chief James Hale stressed the need for help in undercover work. "Drug dealers know who we are and where we are. They know what we drive on and off duty," said Chief Gilroy. "We can't make drug buys and pose undercover."

"It takes about 3 months of work to establish an undercover agent," said Chief Hale. "Small towns can't afford it. I wish we could get a rural agent involved to work all over. He could come in, make his case and move on. We could make arrests after he had been gone awhile."

All law officers stressed the fact that the criminal needs to spend more time in prison once they are caught.

According to Deputy Raymond Hamilton, "It is my understanding that with good behavior a prisoner spends 21 days for each year sentenced. We have about 20 people in our county jail now. We received a letter from TDC telling us that we can only bring one prisoner down each month. Seven of our prisoners are now ready to go and we have to wait."

"Fighting drugs is like fighting cancer," said Hale. "We have to take out everything from the small dealer to the big dealer. The biggest problem in the small towns is the small street dealer. Young children who may have problems at home see the dealer driving the nice car, wearing lots of jewelry, with lots of money. That appeals to them. They do not relate to big time dealers being busted. They only relate to what they see in their community."

Trooper Chris Ray told the audience that the Highway Patrol deals largely with how the drugs are being moved. "It is so easy to move drugs. In such a large county, for instance, with so many back roads and only 2 Highway Patrolmen working split shifts, we have a hard time catching them. To get more troopers we need more money." Ray also reiterated what all the officers said, "We need tougher prosecution and longer prison stays. Jurors don't understand how soon a criminal gets out. They need to be educated on this. We also need more prisons and no parole for drug dealers. Because marijuana is so accessible your help is important. We can't do it by ourselves."

Sen. Gramm thanked the officers for their tough fight and thanked the large gathering for attending the meeting.

"For too long law enforcement officials have had to fight a big battle with a small stick.

"I believe the #1 problem is crime without punishment. In the District of Columbia last year, 44,000 were arrested for felonies. Only 1,400 went to jail. Criminals are getting out too soon. This is not an effective deterrent. The drug dealer puts his money in a safe place until he gets out of prison. When he returns the money is still there.

"First we have to eliminate the situation where Federal Judges come in and in the name of overcrowding set these 'caps' on prisons in terms of the number of people that will be there. In the process it forces us to let violent criminals back out on the street.

"We do not have a prison in Texas that is as crowded as any nuclear submarine in the Navy. We have a lot of prisons that are less crowded than Texas Tech and A&M dorms. We need to force these federal judges to not only look at the convenience of the felon but also toward the safety of the public. We want to take some of these military bases that are being closed and convert them into temporary detention centers to put people in until we can build more prisons. We have to stop the revolving door.

"We want provisions that not only put the burden on the criminal to prove where their assets came from when they are arrested on drug charges, but also have them subject to an audit for the rest of their life. If they can't prove where their money came from then take it away.

In terms of the drug bill that was adopted last year, we now have put about 1.8 billion into new funding split equally between enforcement, education, and rehabilitation. We are using the military more than we have ever used before and that will increase. Funds are available to help schools in drug education. The bill requires that schools have a zero tolerance for drugs before they can get the funding (for instance any student that brings drugs onto school grounds be expelled.)

Another provision is the mandatory sentence of 30 years if you use an automatic weapon in the commission of a drug related crime (since that law there has been a very sharp decline in the use of the automatic weapon in the commission of crimes.)

President Bush has asked in the new crime bill for the death penalty for people who use firearms in violent crimes and kill people. I support that.

The law that went into effect last year gives an automatic death penalty to anyone who kills a police officer.

Commissioners court hires county agent

Meeting in special session on Tuesday, May 23, the commissioners of Floyd County interviewed and approved the employment of a new county agent. Brent Crossland will begin his duties in the local extension office on July 1. He replaces Richie Crow who recently vacated the office.

A nine year veteran of the extension service, Crossland was hired following a review of his credentials and a brief interview. He was highly recommended by Bob Robertson, district extension director for the Texas A & M University Extension Service. Robertson told the court, "I have found him to be a man of exceptional quality with a proven track record." He also referred to Crossland as, "a strong performer and high achiever."

Crossland also came with good recommendations from Mary True, the home extension agent in Floyd County and Mark Brown, the entomologist who serves Floyd and Crosby Counties. Both indicated their confidence in and willingness to work with Crossland.

Unanimous approval of the commissioners for the employment of Crossland.

Youngsters have opportunity to grow pumpkins

Floydada youngsters are in for a real treat this week. Not only will they have a chance to win a super bicycle, but they are also in store for a summer learning experience.

All parents be on the look-out for bright orange letters that will be brought home from Duncan Elementary on Thursday afternoon. In the letter will be directions for growing a big pumpkin for the big 'Punkin Day Contest'. Attached to the letter will be an envelope with a certain variety of pumpkin seeds, all provided to the kids by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce.

All kindergarten through 6th graders will be provided with a letter entitled,

"READY - SET - GROW!" In the letter will be instructions for planting the pumpkin seed and nurturing it to a full grown pumpkin. The pumpkin should then be saved and brought to 'Punkin Days' celebration on October 28. The child who has the heaviest pumpkin will win a super dirt bike.

Pumpkin seeds that have not been treated with chemicals could not be found, so all kids will be warned to wash their hands after handling the seeds and also told not to put them in their mouth. Parents should also be aware that the seeds have been treated. Children will not be told what kind of pumpkin will grow from these seeds. They will have to be surprised.

"This is a great learning experience all around for the children," said Anne Carthel, who is on the 'Punkin Day' committee and volunteered to head up this activity. "It will help them in learning more about Science and the growth and development of plants."

This contest has been started now because of the necessity of planting the seeds by mid June. Watching the pumpkins grow is one way the Chamber of Commerce hopes to encourage participation and excitement in Punkin Day's on Oct. 27-28.

Sixty-nine FHS seniors are candidates for graduation

Sixty nine seniors will cross the stage in commencement exercises on Tuesday evening, May 30, on their way to a new and hopefully exciting future.

The Whirlers will meet for an Old Settlers Dance and Salad Supper, beginning at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday at Duncan Elementary. The public is invited to participate. There will be a $3.00 charge for dancing and dinner. If you just want to watch it's free.

The callers for the evening will be Sid Perkins and Dick Parrish.

Sid Perkins is the caller for five clubs in the Lubbock area. He is a veteran square dancer and caller for 26 years, and has been a full-time caller for the past three years. He has called in Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana, Texas and the New England states. He has called festival dances in several states and has called benefit dances in Texas and surrounding states.

He is a past president of West Texas Callers and Teachers Association, past president of Amarillo Area Callers and Teachers Association, and past president of New Mexico Callers and Teachers Association.

Perkins taught a beginners class before he started calling, and has continued to teach beginners classes throughout his calling career. He has also helped many beginner callers to perfect their calling skills. Throughout out all of the states he has called in, he feels that the dancers all come out to have fun and to enjoy the fellowship of one another.

Perkins believes, "If you square dance your're a little happier person."

Dick Parrish and his wife, Betty have been in square dancing for nearly 30 years. He began calling square dances 27 years ago.

Parrish lives in Hobbs, N.M., and has called throughout the U.S. and several foreign countries. He has called on square dancing cruises for several years.

There will be door prizes given throughout the dance.

Approximately 240 attend 46th Producers Cooperative stockholders meeting

Approximately 240 people gathered on May 12, for the 46th annual stockholders meeting for Producers Cooperative Elevator. The gathering was treated to a dinner by Danny's Catering and door prizes throughout the meeting.

President Melvin Lloyd called the meeting to order. Bob Alldredge gave the invocation and Kenneth Willis introduced guests. Secretary Carmel Eastham read the minutes and the audit report was given by Brandon Durbin, of Durbin & Company.

Chairman of the Nominating Committee, A.C. Pratt gave the committee report. The committee consisted of Jim Covington, Rob Heflin, Eddie Smith and Jay Lackey. The directors elected were Carmel Eastham and Lanny Glasscock. Eastham and Glasscock were both incumbents.

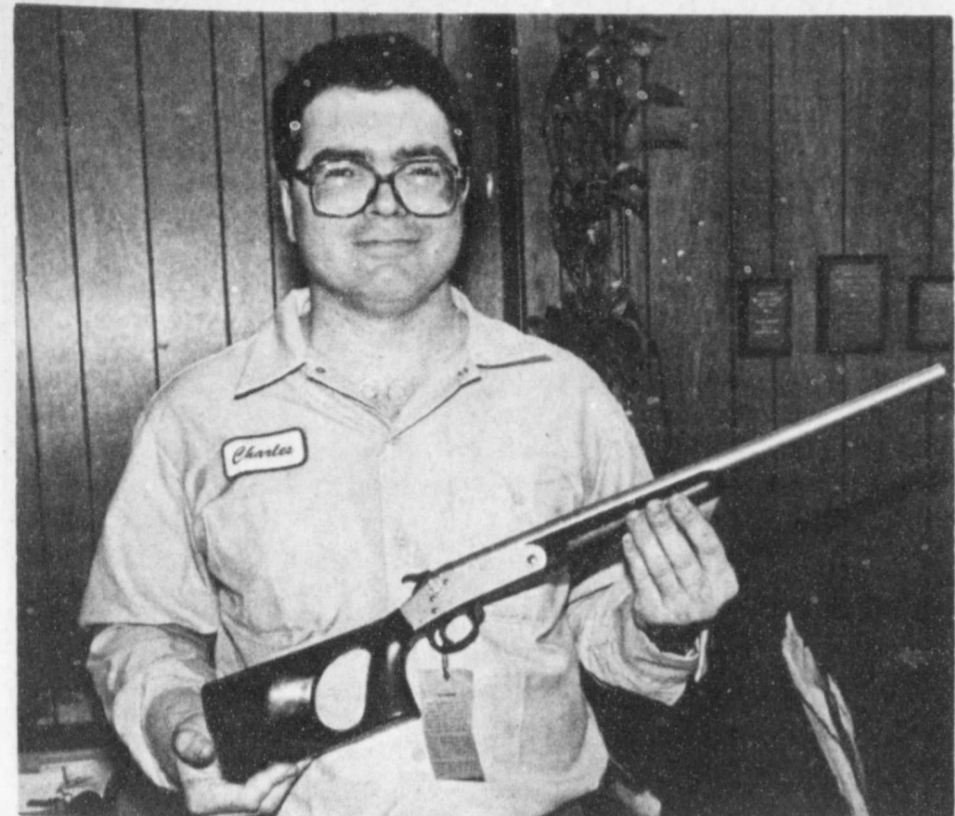

Manager Bob Vickers reported that last year's earnings were about $275,000. Of this amount $142,000 was paid to member patrons in cash for 1974 stock credit retirement and 45% cash dividend on current year patronage income.

The audit report indicated a profitable and successful year for Producers.

"Although the net income was down this year, of some eighty thousand dollars," said Vickers, "the gross income or revenue of your association has continued to increase. Gross revenue this year was some ten million plus."

The grand prize at the meeting was won by Mrs. Ted Anderson. She won $250.00 in cash.

Gramm outlines new federal drug laws

In terms of mandatory sentencing, I want in the new bill, 10 years mandatory sentence in prison without parole for selling drugs to a minor.

I would like to have a three time loser provision that is mandatory. If you are convicted three times for felony drug related crimes you receive an automatic life in prison without parole. At that point it is simply cheaper for society to keep you off the streets than it is to put you back on the streets. The money we have for rehabilitation ought to be spent on first time offenders. By the time someone has been convicted three times they probably have committed a thousand felonies.

There are 23 million Americans who are regular drug users. They are not drug addicts. They are people like you and me, they go to work, pay taxes, but they buy drugs. In doing so they provide the high stake incentive for the drug peddling thugs who swarm our neighborhoods and school campuses. To win the drug war, we must ultimately cut-off the demand for drugs. We need to raise the cost for these individuals. We have under the new bill a provision where you can be fined up to $10,000 for drug possession based on your income. If you operate a radio station or TV station you can lose your license for one year after a drug possession conviction. If you participate in the farm program you will be out one year after conviction of simple drug use. If you are in public housing you are out. If you have one marijuana cigarette on a 2 million dollar yacht and you knowingly took it on there, we take your yacht. We take your house and we take your automobile if you have any amount of drugs there for your own use. More and more we are trying to move into federal prosecution where we have higher sentencing and where people actually do more of the time."

District Attorney Becky McPherson asked the senator, "If we get a case that we want to prosecute in Federal court, where they would get the mandatory sentencing for some crimes, we may be told that the case is too small and we can't get them to prosecute. What can be done about that?"

"We are trying to change that," said Gramm. "In the new bill it will substantially increase the number of prosecutors and we are asking for more."

McPherson also asked, "Is there any provision for when our local police make a drug case and the feds come down to prosecute, the property seized during the arrest will not go completely to the 'feds' but will be split between the two agencies?"

"I think it should be split," said Gramm. "I will go back and look at that and see if the feds will get all the property if they prosecute. I believe they should share which provides incentive for everyone. Under the new law a state court can take away federal benefits. For instance, if someone in Floydada is convicted of drug possession a state judge can take away their ability to participate in the farm program."

"What specifics can you do with someone like William Wayne Justice?" asked McPherson.

"What Justice is doing," said Gramm, "is ruling on class action suits involving the eighth amendment of the constitution which is cruel and unusual punishment, and the 14th amendment which is due process. Basically what he is saying is that prison overcrowding represents cruel and unusual punishment. We are trying to change the law in such a way where it has to be proven that an individual inmate suffers cruel and unusual punishment as a result of overcrowding. It cannot be found in the case of one inmate and then applied to all others. It would eliminate the ability of the federal courts to set "caps" on the number of people that would be in prison. We are also going back and looking at our standard of prison construction. Maybe we can't afford color TV and central air conditioning, but there is no doubt about the fact that we have been dominated for 20 years in the criminal justice system by people who feel that society is responsible for criminals. We have had a bunch of nonsense become part of our system, and we have to go back and change this."

"Is there any chance that local programs such as Crime Call and Crime Line would ever be able to get funding from the DEA or anyone else, to provide assistance for upfront money to make drug buys," asked Bill Gray.

"One of the things we are trying to do is expand the concept of rural task force, said Gramm. "Some areas of the state have had good luck with the task force concept where they bring together seven or eight counties and we bring in one federal person, one state person, and the local communities put up one part time person. It helps us in terms of getting around the problem of everyone knowing the local police. The task force concept allows you to bring in people from the outside and have them move around the counties. Once they become known you move them to another area. Of course the problem would not be so severe if when you put people in prison for 10-15 years, they stay there; at least not as severe as it is today."

"In terms of money to make local buys, I don't ever see the federal government getting involved in that. The local citizens have got to be involved in it. I have seen small communities raise money to buy drug dogs or make drug buys. But again you have to have someone to make the buys. On the federal level we need to be sure we have these prisons out there so when we do get someone we have somewhere to put them. We need more DEA and FBI to help our local law enforcement officials with training and assistance."

Commissioners hire new county agent

land came on a motion by Connie Bearden, seconded by Floyd Jackson.

911 EMERGENCY FEE APPROVED

The commissioners approved a resolution authorizing a 50 cent fee on each phone in service in the county each month to provide funds for a 911 emergency service. This money will be collected as part of each telephone customer's monthly bill beginning in January, 1990 along with a 1/2 of one percent surcharge on all intra-state (within Texas) long distance calls.

The money thus collected will be used to implement a 911 emergency service program in Floyd County. The emergency network is scheduled to be on line and in service by December 31, 1991 according to the inter local contract between the county and South Plains Area Governments (SPAG). SPAG is serving as the co-ordinating agent in setting up and administering the 911 project throughout this area.

Motion for the matter came from George Taylor with a second from Kay Crabtree. The court approved the 911 funding resolution by unanimous vote.

OTHER ACTION

Farm work contracts were approved for Lonnie Hinsley and Jack Whitfill. Contract #701 for Truett McCarty was voided. A bounty agreement was approved with Keith Marricle.

Attending the morning session were county judge Bill Hardin, commissioners Bearden, Jackson, Taylor and Crabtree, county treasurer Glenna Orman, Margaret Herrera, Bob Robertson, Mary True, Mark Brown, Brent Crossland and the Hesperian reporter.

Mrs. Benson marks birthday last week

By Lorilla Bradley

April is so sunny
...A lovely month of spring...
With all the songbirds singing
They make our "heart bells" ring!
*****

We greet our Mrs. Benson
...Her years are 92...
She is a lovely person
And very pretty, too!
*****

To serenade this lady
Let's do the Birthday Song...
So everybody ready
And sing out good and strong.
*****

Thursday, May 18, was party time at the Rest Home with ladies of the City Park Church of Christ hosting.

The Hesperian photographer came for the "picture taking" after which everyone was ushered into the dining room with the honoree being seated at the "honor" table. It was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of silk flowers in shades of pink and blue.

Mrs. Benson wore a corsage of red carnations compliments of Williams Flower and Card Shop. We surely do appreciate their thoughtfulness in providing the fresh corsages each month.

The poem was read and all joined in singing the Happy Birthday song. Mrs. Benson had as her special guest her sister, Mrs. Artie Webb.

A delicious refreshment plate of pound cake, angel food cake and a tasty fruit punch was served to the honoree, guest, home residents and employees.

The next party will be Thursday, June 15, 2:30 p.m. You are invited to attend.

By Ruby Lee Higginbotham

The past three weeks Floyd and surrounding counties have experienced all sorts of weather. Rain, hail and wind did some damage in some communities. Two to six inches of rain fell in most parts of the county. Farmers are busy planting their dry land crops, much of the irrigated land shows pretty stands of cotton and other crops.

South Plains community welcomes a brand new Future Farmer of America as a neighbor. He is John Cameron Calahan, son of Randy and Denise Calahan. He arrived in Lockney May 15, weighing 8 pounds, 4 ounces. His grandparents are Shelby and Margaret Calahan of South Plains and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny C. Cates of Floydada.

Congratulations are in order for Tanner Johnson on winning first place in U.I.L. impromptu competition. Tanner is a sixth grade student in Lockney Jr. High. He is the son of Carlton and Diane Johnson.

We also congratulate Tim Julian for his many accomplishments and honors received in school, also Tracy Johnson, Keith and Bryan Teeple for their awards in F.F.A.

On May 14 Mother's Day was a good day to be in church in South Plains. We had fair attendance. The church honored the mothers present by presenting each with a beautiful silk rose. Those receiving either a red or white rose were Carlene Johnson, Deneen Marricle, Mamie Wood, Ruby Lee Higginbotham, Peggy Roberts, Gleyenn Earle Cummings, Mrs. W. J. Epperson, Connie Johnson, Janis Julian, Shari Smith, Lillie Mae Milton, Bobbie Kinnibrugh, Diane Johnson and Kelly Fisher. God has blessed each of us with nice families. We are grateful for having been chosen to be mothers.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Mrs. Opal McHam. Mrs. McHam lived with her son and family, The Tommy McHams of South Plains for some time. Funeral services were held in South Plains Baptist Church on May 15, with the Rev. Tom Fisher officiating. Burial was in Crosbyton Cemetery under direction of Moore-Rose-White Funeral Home of Floydada.

Ruby Lee Higginbotham, along with her brother, Warren Cypert, and sister, Edith Guggenheim of Amarillo, were called to Columbus, Georgia, to be with their brother, James (Mack) Cypert, who was critically ill in Medical Center Hospital in Columbus. We were gone two and a half weeks, returning home May 13 and receiving word that Mack had passed away on May 17.

James Madison (Mack) Cypert was born July 12, 1919 in the Cedar Hill Community in Floyd County. His parents were the late O. G. and Ollie (Lackey) Cypert. He grew up and attended school in Cedar Hill. He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the Aleutian Island of Alaska, Germany, and Fort Benning, Georgia.

He is survived by his wife, Mattileen; one son, Gary Cypert; one daughter, Teresa Blair; two stepsons, Verlon Ford and Don Edmonds; three grandchildren; five step-grandchildren, all of Columbus; one brother, Warren Cypert of Amarillo; three sisters, Ruby Lee Higginbotham of South Plains, Edith Guggenheim of Amarillo, and Ruth Larson of Brookings, South Dakota.

A brother, Albert, preceded him in death on March 6, 1989, and a sister, Zala Frances in May 1930.

We are sorry to hear about our friend, Edna Gilly, being in the hospital. We hope she is feeling better and will get to go home soon.

The Fred Marble home in South Plains was the site for a potluck dinner and reunion for the Marble children, grandchildren, brothers, sisters, neices and nephews of Carolyn, the Tye family. Those enjoying the occasion were Bill and Edna Beth Tye, Jane Pruitt, Betty Simpson, Trena, Neisha, and Na'Lyn Simpson, Cindy and Jeff Bertrand, Justin and Micah Marble, all from Floydada, Keith and Gwen Tye of Lubbock, Kelly Marble, Lubbock, Dorothy and Bill Shenk of Dallas, Jim Tye of Plainview and Kerry Tye of Amarillo.

Marvin and June Wells of Denton are happy to announce the birth of their first grandchild, Jacqueline Elizabeth Hurlburt, born May 7, in Fort Worth. She weighed 9 pounds and 11 ounces. Her parents are the former Jill Wells and John Hurlburt of Fort Worth. June reports the little girl has black hair, a round face and rosy cheeks, resembling very much her late great-grandmother, Lillian Marble.

Sparky and Maurine Parks hosted a family reunion for their children, grandchildren and many other relatives on Mother's Day weekend. Their granddaughter, Lee Parks, daughter of Eddie and Mary Parks, helped plan the reunion. She wished to meet as many relatives as she could. Lee graduated Cum Laude from Tech this May. A bountiful barbeque lunch, with all the trimmings, and six gallons of ice cream were served to the 49 family members. Everyone had a grand time.

Friday and Saturday, May 19 and 20, was a busy time for grandmothers, Mamie Wood and Lula Teague. They spent the weekend in Lubbock. On Friday, they were guests at a bridal luncheon for Brenda Giboney, bride-elect of their grandson Bodie Teague. The luncheon was hosted by Bodie's mother, Mrs. Juanell Teague and his sister-in-law, Lori Teague, at the Lubbock plaza.

Friday evening at 7:00 in the fellowship room of Monterey Church of Christ, Roy Teague, uncle of Bodie hosted the rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and guests.

Roy prepared a bountiful barbeque and fajitas for the occasion.

Saturday, May 20, at 7:00 p.m. Monterey Church of Christ in Lubbock was the site for the wedding of Bodiejo Teague and Brenda Giboney.

Bodie's cousin, Brad Teague, a Church of Christ minister, read the ceremonial vows for the couple.

Parents of Bodie are James and Juanell Teague. Mr. and Mrs. Kent Giboney are the parents of Brenda. The young couple will make their home in Lubbock.

The shower for Brett and Gayla Marble was scheduled in the home of Mamie Wood on May 13, but was moved to the Fellowship room of South Plains Baptist Church because of rain and muddy roads. The young couple received many useful and lovely gifts. The hostess gift was a set of cookware, bride's book and the centerpiece.

Hostesses were Mamie Wood, Pat Stewart, Pat Wood, Ruby Lee Higginbotham, Melanie Beedy, Nina Upton, Lillie Mae Milton, Connie Johnson, Jan Beedy, Dara Ware, Helen Teeple, Ann Hartman, Margaret Calahan, Margaret Kitchens, Meredith Rose, Tonya Kitchers, and Teresa Lutrick.

The couple are at home in South Plains Community, on the place of Brett's late grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Marble.

We welcome you, Brett and Gayla, as neighbors and friends to South Plains.

Don't forget the wildflower show Saturday on Old Settler's Day. Have a happy week.

Lloyd and Fuller pledge marriage promises

Mary Ellen Lloyd and Trev Eric Fuller exchanged wedding vows Saturday, May 20, at the First Baptist Church in Floydada. Bill Smith and Howell E. Farnsworth Jr., officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lloyd of Floydada. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lloyd of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Boren of Farmersville. Her great-grandmother is Mrs. John A. Lloyd of Yuba City, California. Fuller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fuller of Columbus, Georgia. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bud Beauchamp, Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Dean Blake, Lawton, Okla.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk taffeta. The slightly elongated basque bodice was beaded with sequins and pearls on alencon lace and featured a deep "V" neckline and short double puff sleeves. The full skirt was adorned with a beaded lace hemline and flowed into a cathedral train. It was accented at the waistline with a bow. To complete her attire, the bride wore a braided pearl headband accented with cascading flowers and pearl filament sprays. The cathedral veil was finished with a dainty pouf scattered with pearl drops. The veil was borrowed from her sister, Karen Jones.

The bride carried a bouquet of white cattleya orchids featured as a cluster and nestled in a spray of assorted greenery. Nerine lilies in raspberry pink and stephanotis highlighted the orchids. Tied in the arrangement were heirloom rings from the bride and groom's families.

Maid of honor was Terri Lloyd, Floydada, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Karen Jones, Abilene, sister of the bride, and Paige Cannon, Floydada, and Kathryn Peeler, Pampa. They wore seafoam green chintz tea length dresses accented with a floral print cummerbund tied in a bow at the back. Matching hats were covered with the floral print, accented with trim and a bow made of seafoam green chintz, which were designed by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ray Lloyd. They carried hand tied bouquets of nerine lilies and freesia which were overlaid with bridal tulle and tied with bows and streaming cascades of the tulle.

Best man was Mark Napier of Austin. Groomsman were John Jones, Abilene; Mario Agro, Laredo, and Tim Patterson, Houston. Guests were seated by Kerry Pratt of Floydada and Bill Wiggins of Wheeler.

Guests were registered by Shawnda Brown of Dallas and Tracy Nagel of Clovis, N.M.

The front of the church was decorated with brass candelabrum entwined with plumosa fern and babies breath. Raspberry candles carried out the color theme. Candlelighters were Laura Hale and Eric Smith, both of Floydada.

Instrumental music selections were given by Penny Giesecke, piano, and Roberta Hardin, organ. "The Wedding Hymn" was sung by the group Proclaim, which consisted of Ruth Crump, JenniSu Smith, Rosemary Finley, Atha Sue, Gayla Griffin, Jan Rubio, Jane McCulley, Stacy Smith and Dawnell Smith.

Curt Shannon and Teresa Gentry sang "To Me" as the grandparents of the couple were seated. The mothers carried a small nosegay of dendrobium orchids and nerine lilies. After the mothers were seated, Sheldon Sue and Stacey Smith sang "Household of Faith." The wedding party entered the sanctuary to the bridal procession from the Sound of Music.

Bill Smith sang "The Lord's Prayer" after the exchanging of the rings. During the lighting of the unity candle, Sheldon Sue and Stacey Smith sang "Together."

A reception was held at the Wall Street Parlor following the ceremony. Serving at the bride's table were Tammy Watters, Enid, Okla., and Cheryl and Tracy Lloyd, Colleyville, cousins of the bride. Serving at the groom's table were Dee Leatherman and Sandra Schwertner, both of Floydada.

After the reception the bride and groom left the Wall Street Parlor in an Amish buggy driven by Leon Pinkert of Slaton. The buggy ride was a gift from Travis Jones to the couple.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Floydada High School and attended Amarillo College. The groom is a 1985 graduate of Spencer High School in Columbus, Georgia, and is a May, 1989 graduate of the Dallas Institute of Funeral Services.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will live in Columbus, Georgia.

The backyard of Joe and Ann Jones was the setting for a cowboy cookout hosted by the groom's parents. The meal consisted of brisket, German sausage, goat, beans, cole slaw and sourdough biscuits and cherry cobbler that were cooked in dutch ovens. The meal was prepared by Travis Jones, Norman Muncy, Joe Jones, Jack Fuqua, A.C. Pratt, Gladys Jones, Ann Jones, Jan Rubio and Edith Muncy. Music for the event was provided by Bill and Dell Gray and Laural Jones and Curt Shannon.

Other courtesies included a miscellaneous shower in the home of Beth Pratt assisted by Jean Appling, Sherry Hale, JenniSu Smith, Judy Beedy, Gladys Jones, Molly Stringer, Judy Dunlap, Glenda Livingston, Atha Sue, Betty Edwards, Linda Matsler, Jan Thayer, Rosemary Finley and Leora Younger. Mrs. Dee Leatherman hosted a lingerie shower in her home and a bridal luncheon was hosted by Sheree Cannon, Carolyn Cheek, Emma Pate and Janice Lloyd in the Cannon home.

They were joined the following day by the Keith Patzers, Orval Newberry and guests, Fay and Ruby Gooch.

Points of interest toured in the area were a granite workshop and quarry, Old Greer County Museum and Hall of Fame and the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church of Mangum. The members enjoyed a catfish buffet on the patio at Quartz Mountain Lodge.

A May Wild Flower Festival at the park offered the Whirlwind Sams an opportunity to participate. Several members took advantage of the beautiful golf course at the park. A nearby arts and crafts show and an Antique Mall were attended by several of the Good Sams. The Festival activities concluded with a program by a humorist and singer at the Lodge.

On Sunday morning, Alan Benson gave the devotional on "Kindness." The next campout of the local RV club will be at Palo Duro Canyon in June.

It was reported by several members of the club that the hospitality and cooperation shown by the officials of Quartz Mountain were "second to none."

According to one member, "The Oklahoma folks really made our club feel at home. The Lodge furnished a tour guide and traveled with us to several of the locations we visited. It was a very pleasurable trip, and we are looking forward to going back again sometime."

Rachel and Laura Boyd assisted in serving the guests.

Mrs. Nicolas Garcia sat beside her daughter as she opened the many useful gifts presented to the couple by friends and relatives.

Bridal courtesies fetes Gutierrez

Mrs. Steve Gutierrez, the former Alice Garcia, was guest of honor at a bridal shower Sunday afternoon, May 21, at the Della Plains Home Ec. room. Hostesses were young ladies of the high school home ec. class.

Guests were registered by Miss Modesta Garcia, sister of the honoree. The refreshment table was covered with a rose colored cloth. Rose and white napkins were used. Refreshments of a white heart shaped cake, decorated in pink icing and fruit punch were served by Miss Ruth Gutierrez and Miss Irene Gutierrez, sisters of the groom. Crystal serving pieces were used. An arrangement of fresh flowers, baby's breath and greenery centered the table. Misses

Courtroom Activities

In county court on May 16, Joe Angel Falcon pled guilty to criminal trespass. He was sentenced to 3 days in jail and fined court costs.

It was reported last week that Jose Falcon had been charged with criminal trespass. Family members requested that we clarify the name from the court records. It was not Jose Falcon, but Joe Angel Falcon.

In J.P. court from May 2-20, there were 96 misdemeanor cases filed.

include a cookout that same evening at the Della Plains school. We had originally planned to go to Roaring Springs but the bad weather caused us to cancel the out-of-town evening trip. We had a good time.

The boys of Mr. Dale Smith's and Mr. Al Galloway's classes cooked the hamburgers and hot dogs for us, on outdoor grills and in the home ec. room. Cory Kemp, Leonard King, Rolando Cisneros and O.B. Smith cooked and served for the party. All the boys and girls helped clean up afterwards. Everyone had a good time. We took pictures of everyone.

CVAE takes field trip

On Thursday, May 18, the CVAE-Home Ec. class went to Lubbock to tour the housekeeping and dietetic departments at Methodist Hospital. The directors talked to us about jobs and requirements. They showed us through the kitchen where food is prepared for patients and visitors and told us of the many jobs at different levels. Pay starts at $5.20 per hour for entry level jobs.

The housekeeping department is run by a retired Army man, Ed Mayfield. He told us about a school in Norman, Ok., that trains people for jobs in managing the housekeeping of large institutions. Jobs start at $30,000 per year for this work.

After we left the hospital we visited the Bernina Sewing Center and ate lunch at Furr's Cafeteria. Later at South Plains Mall, we got to shop for a little while and one student bought her graduation outfit.

The senior girls, Kellie Van Cleve, Alice Garcia, Rachel Boyd, and Donna Cooper stopped at W.D. Wilkins and received their complimentary cedar chests from the Lane Company. Alice had lost her letter, but we had a copy of the Hesperian showing all the seniors' pictures so the store accepted that as proof that she was a senior.

Students making the trip to Lubbock were Becky Avila, Rachel Boyd, Donna Cooper, Alice Garcia, Louisa Gomez, Gracie Gonzalez, Mary Lou Herrera, Maria Lopez, Alice Machado, Rolando Maldonado, Janie Sanchez, Maria Torres, and Kellie Van Cleve. Our teacher, Mrs. Joyce Williams, drove the bus.

We thank Mr. Wood for permitting us to make the trip. We learned a lot and had a good time too. We have had a lot of fun this school year.

Caprock Hospital Happenings

By Molly Stringer

The Board of Directors met Thursday, May 18, for their regular monthly meeting. Outgoing board member and president, Don Bean, led in the swearing in of the newly elected members. Members reelected were William Bertrand and Joy Assiter. Kenneth Pitts is the new elected board member. Officers elected were: William Bertrand, president; Fred Thayer, vice president, and Joy Assiter, secretary. Those attending this meeting were: the board members mentioned, Brandon Durbin, our auditor; Leroy Schaffner, Molly Stringer and Nell McClung.

We appreciate all that Don has contributed to our hospital in the ten years that he has served on our board.

It has been quiet around the hospital the past few days.

The nurses are getting ready for their bake sale on Old Settlers. The proceeds will be used for improvement and small equipment for the nursing area at the hospital. We will have lots of goodies, please come by and buy some. Last year's money was used to purchase oscillating fans and a tape player.

Frances Miller has been on vacation, she did not go anywhere. Judy Miller took her place in the pharmacy while she was out.

Clara Vickers went to Georgia last week to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law. We offer our condolences to Clara.

Linda Brewer has been in the hospital, but was able to go home this week. We wish her a speedy recovery.

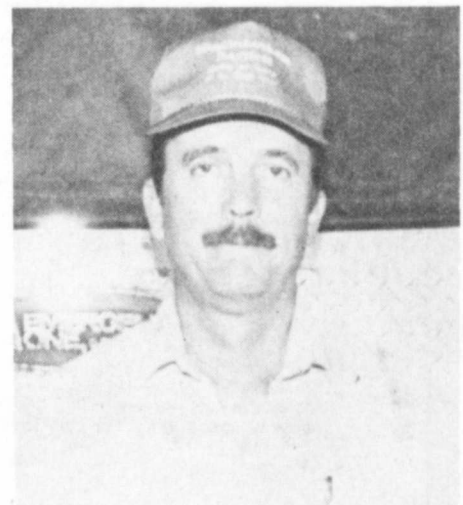

To all diabetics, please remember that class meets this week in the dining room. Shelley Fillipp from Methodist Hospital will give practical demonstrations on selecting and substituting fast food. Shelley is our dietary consultant.

All interested in having a mammogram done please call 983-2875 to schedule an appointment for June 17. The mobile unit from Odessa will be at our hospital. We hope enough ladies will use this service so we can continue to offer this every two months.

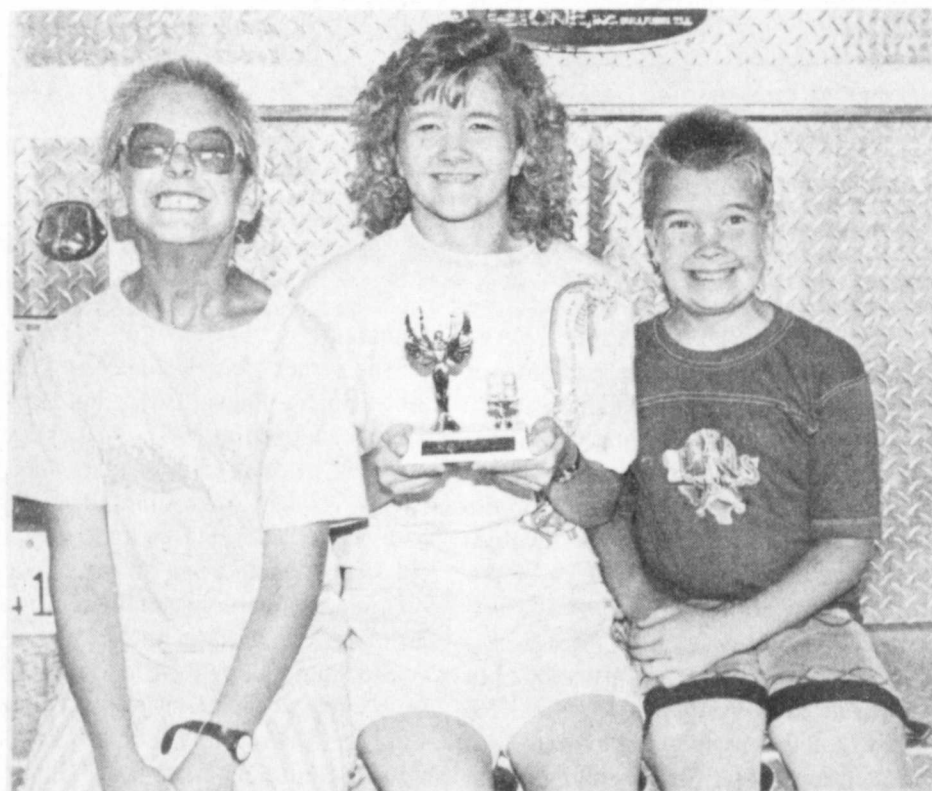

Mary Vickers enjoyed a trip to Houston to visit her son, Mike and his wife.

She was accompanied by her other son, Todd and his family.

Lydia Garza is back to work following the birth of her son a month ago.

Management strategies need to be planned for heavy thrip population

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Observations of thrips numbers in area wheat fields indicate a relatively heavy thrips population. Crosby-Floyd producers need to plan management strategies for this tiny, but important cotton pest since thrips will invade seedling cotton emerging at the same time wheat fields begin to dry down.

Studies conducted on the High Plains have indicated that in irrigated cotton, where thrips occur annually as a pest of cotton, that prophylactic treatments for thrips control using in-furrow, at planting insecticide treatments are cost effective. More studies are needed concerning cost effectiveness of these automatic insecticide applications under limited irrigation or dryland production management systems. Three thrips control studies were conducted under dryland conditions in the Crosby-Floyd area in 1988. Significant thrips control was achieved in all three tests; however, some thrips pressure continued after insecticides had lost effectiveness. None of the treatments tested indicated significant yield increases over the untreated check. In one test, square counts were significantly greater in treated plots vs. untreated plots, but this potential difference was lost during the remainder of the season, probably because of the droughty conditions experienced in 1988. The question then becomes: "How many times in a given number of years will these at planting insecticides be cost effective under dryland or limited irrigation conditions?"

Various thrips control methods include in-furrow granular insecticides, seed treatments, planterbox treatments, and foliar sprays after cotton emerges. Granular insecticides such as Temik, Thimet, and Furadan generally provide the longest and most effective control as compared to other treatment methods, but granular insecticides are more expensive than other applications. Seed treatments or planterbox treatments with Orthene provide approximately 3 weeks of control from time of planting. These treatments are less expensive, but as indicated by 1988 demonstrations, may not provide long enough control. One strategy of thrips control might be to use Orthene on the seed or in the planterbox, and if thrips pressure continues after 3 weeks from planting, to apply a foliar insecticide. However, the cost of this combination of treatments would approach the cost of granular, in-furrow insecticides. Another strategy is to use only a foliar application after plants emerge; however, there are some definite disadvantages to this method. Fields may be too wet to apply foliar insecticides with a ground rig when needed. Also, if much acreage is to be sprayed using a ground rig, thrips may cause significant damage to seedling cotton before all the acreage can be covered. Also, multiple combinations may be required.

Seedlings should be protected for 3 to 4 weeks after cotton emerges. Once leaf crinkling is visible, irreversible damage has already been done. Therefore, producers should scout fields beginning at 25 to 50% emergence since the first plants to emerge will make the most significant attributes to overall yield.

Thrips are slender, straw colored insects, only about 1/15-inch long. Adults are usually winged. Immatures are whitish in color when first hatched, and take on a more yellowish appearance as they grow. Thrips move in a snake-like or zig-zag pattern, and are found on underneath sides of leaves, and in the folds of tiny leaves in the terminal area. When scouting fields, producers should count at least 10 randomly selected plants per 25-30 acres of the field. If fields were treated at planting, remember that finding a few adult thrips is not necessarily a sign that the insecticide is not working. Thrips must feed on the plant and ingest some of the chemical for control to be achieved. The key to determining whether the chemical is still effective is the lack or presence of immatures. These immatures are not winged. Therefore, their presence indicates that adults are living long enough to lay eggs in the field. The following treatment level is in accordance to the average number of thrips found per plant in each field.

Textile designers presented awards from Cotton Inc.

Cotton Incorporated has presented its ninth annual Cotton True Performance Textile Designer Awards to eight textile designers, four from the apparel category and four from the home fabrics category. "Through innovative design and styling, cotton continues to outpace the rest of the textile and market in retail sales," says J. Nicholas Hahn, president and CEO of Cotton Incorporated. "It's the ingenuity of designers that is helping drive cotton's fabric and product submissions, all commercially available, were judged for ingenuity, design, construction and creativity. All samples submitted featured 100 percent cotton.

Sunflower oil assistance program set

The National Sunflower Association has high marks for USDA's implementation of the Sunflower Oil Assistance Program (SOAP). The first SOAP sale took place in December of 1988, and within less than three months more than 55,000 tons of sunflower oil had been sold to Egypt.

Last week, USDA announced the second round of SOAP with a 20,000 ton allocation to Egypt. According to Larry Kleingartner, Executive Director of the National Sunflower Association, this second phase of the program should move another 50,000 to 70,000 tons of oil. "This level represents up to 20 percent of our crop. What we like about this program is that it is mandated by Congress, unlike the Export Enhancement Program which is subject to the vagaries of Washington," said Kleingartner.

Kleingartner said the SOAP program functions similar to the Export Enhancement Program in that it allows the U.S. to compete in the heavily subsidized world market. The combination of these two export programs is keeping a nice premium on sunflower oil. "We have estimated that these export programs have added as much as $2 a hundredweight to the farm price of sunflower seed. Without the programs, it would be impossible to export an oil until the subsidized European oils were sold." Despite large U.S. stocks of some competing oils, Kleingartner indicated sunflower oil stocks are very manage-able at the present time. The National Sunflower Association has asked Congress for a third appropriation for SOAP. If an allocation is made, it would carry the program through 1991.

The National Sunflower Association is sending a team to Egypt in June to discuss the SOAP and other programs with government and private officials.

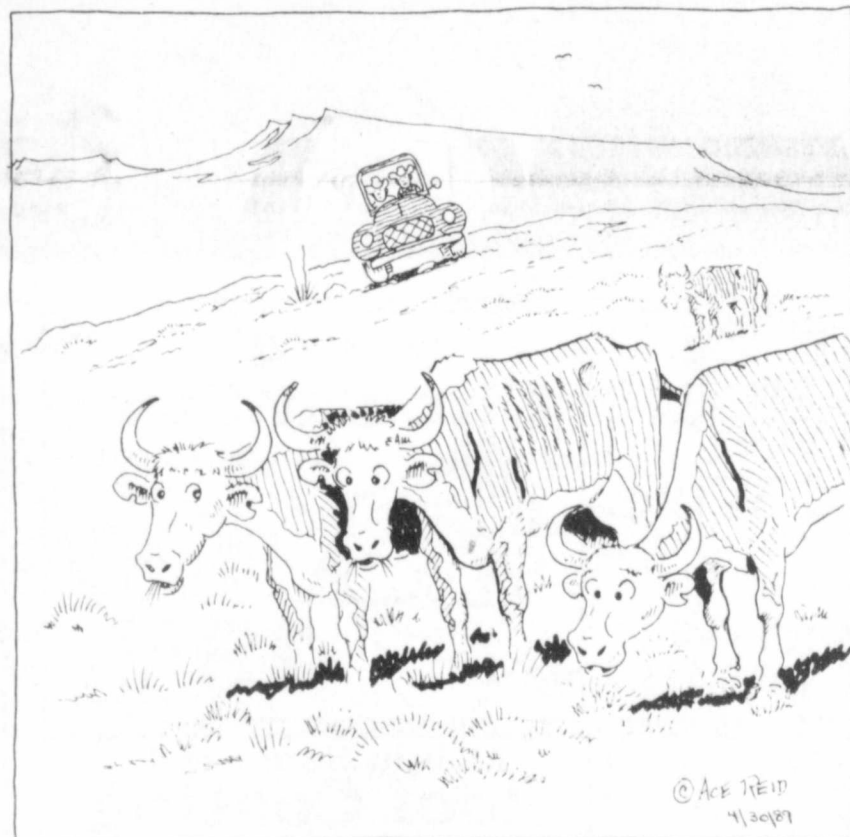

For further information please call Larry Kleingartner or Karl Schmidt at (701) 224-3019.

Report given by subcommittee

Although the fate of the 1989 cotton crop on the High Plains is yet to be determined, the threat of a crop disaster for many producers is "too obvious to be ignored."

So says a statement prepared by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, and presented in Amarillo May 19 to a hearing before the House Subcommittee on Wheat, Soybeans and Feed Grains. On hand to give an oral summary of the statement and answer committee questions was PCG vice president Larry Nelson, Hale and Swisher County farmer and ginner of Tulia.

The hearing was called by Subcommittee Chairman Dan Glickman (D-KS) as an outgrowth of the severe drought that devastated winter wheat crops in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Congress in 1988 passed legislation giving federal assistance to last year's drought-plagued corn and sorghum producers. But the administration advised the National Association of Wheat Growers that any extension of that bill's benefits to winter wheat producers would have to come from Congress.

In response, both chairman Glickman and subcommittee member Bill Sarpalius (D-TX) have introduced legislation. The chairman's bill would give aid only to drought-affected wheat producers who planted in 1988 for 1989 harvest. The Sarpalius' measure would extend the 1988 disaster relief program to all 1989-planted crops and add freeze damage to the list of covered losses.

The PCG statement said "All indicators point to a subnormal if not disastrous year," citing a severe shortage of subsoil moisture all over the High Plains, the general absence of rainfall for seed germination on dryland farms, and the ever-present threat of wind and hail losses.

And if the threat of widespread losses becomes reality, PCG continued, "producers who lose a cotton crop will suffer just as much and will need and deserve help just as much as those who lose a corn or wheat crop."

Asked about the extent to which rains in the week preceding the hearing might have alleviated cotton's problems, PCG executive vice president Donald Johnson said the overall moisture deficit for most of the High Plains has barely been touched.

"Hardly any of our area has had enough rain to even begin to replenish the deep moisture we normally depend on for normal production," he explains, "and I'd guess there's still well over a million acres on dryland farms where getting a stand without more rain is either our of the question or very iffy."

PCG earlier had projected 1989 cotton acreage in its 25 counties at about three million, 1.8 million of which is without irrigation.

Sulphuric acid delinting use increases

Approximately 45 to 50 percent of all cottonseed planted in the United States is delinted by the dilute sulfuric acid delinting process, a method developed by Cotton Incorporated in the mid-seventies. According to Glenn Reynolds, president of Western Equipment and Supply Company in Lorraine, Texas, only five years ago, 85 percent of cotton planting seed was still delinted with anhydrous hydrochloric acid.

Why the shift? Reynolds says several factors contributed to the cotton industry's switch to the dilute acid process. "The dilute acid process has an environmental advantage. It leaves no waste material to be released in the atmosphere, waterways of ground. All acid is recirculated back through the system and re-used."

Another advantage, Reynolds says, is the lower expense of the system. "Although the capital investment in the dilute acid process is higher, operational costs are 10 to 15 dollars cheaper per ton delinted compared to the other system."

Dr. Gay Jividen, Cotton Incorporated's director of agricultural research, adds that the process turns out planting seed closer to what nature intended. "The dilute acid process doesn't destroy the waxy seed coating, and with this heartier seed situation, seed planted in a wet spring has less of a tendency to flood."

Carl Lemons News and Views from Cedar Hill

WEATHER:

Rain! Rain! Blessed rain in amounts from 4.5 to 6" has fallen across the community, and, as in most spring storms, there was some hail. It is so wet here that it is hard to believe that there are farms in the Blanco Canyon-Lakeview area that have had less than one inch of moisture in all of May. Here at Cedar Hill, this Monday morning, the waves are rolling across the surface of the playa lakes; toad frogs continue their hop to the lakesides for their annual singing conventions, the volume of their songs of thanksgiving increases with each passing evening; and the poor dryland terrapins have resumed their futile efforts to cross the roads ahead of on-coming autos.

From nowhere the mud-martins are back to begin the daubing repair of their last-years nests; ducks rise in pairs from roadside ditches to circle over prospective nesting sites; and the ants are excavating the moisture softened soil madly, making tall mounds around their holes from the material they have mined as they increase their underground storage to hold the harvest nature tells them is sure to come.

Yes, nature has made a 180 degree turn from Monday of last week when the wind was sending occasional skitters of dust drifting across the bottoms of those same lakes. It is with trepidation that your writer admits to any responsibility for the drastic turn-around that nature has taken but his involvement was very clearly spelled out in last week's News and Views. Because of this area's desperate need for moisture he elected, a week ago, to deliberately sacrifice his reputation as a weather forecaster in order to bring moisture to this drought-stricken area. Quoting from the ruse he used to prod Mother Nature into action, his words were, "Farmers, go ahead, get those seed in the ground! There will be nothing but quarter and half inch cotton showers the rest of May!" He even spelled out how Mother Nature would react, "Since the Weather Man delights in making a fool out of West Texas weather prophets, the above statement should fill every lake in Floyd County."

Did the ruse work? It flailed a hornet's nest! Nature began an instant response even as the words were being printed, for, as he carried the News and Views to Monday's mailbox, your writer could see nature was already amassing her clouds on the horizon. By bed-time she had dumped 4.1 inches, 25% of it hail, in his rain-gauge, had targeted him specifically by beating his back-door onion patch mercilessly while leaving the neighbor's onions virtually unscathed.

Trepidation? You bet! What if Mother Nature should come back with that other 4 or 5 inches that is needed to finish filling those lakes, and maybe use ICE to do it with, all because this writer kinda hemmed Mother Nature up in a corner while trying to conjure up a little rain for his neighbors!

CROP COMMENTS:

COTTON farmers have gotten exactly what they needed, the right amount of rain at the right time! Many irrigated fields had already been planted, but, to this writer's knowledge, not one of them has yet been written off as lost. Timely working with rotary hoes has fully salvaged many of those fields, while final judgment on the questionable ones will be withheld until the rest of the crop has been planted. Most of the rotary hoeing was finished on Sunday and the switch was made back to the planters. There will be many an ear to car grin at this Saturday's Old Settler's Day as cotton farmers announce, "Mine is ALL in the ground!"

If you have to stay on that cotton planter come Old Settler's Day, here is a bit of consolation: Tom Fortenberry, he was buried on Old Settler's Day in 1988, had this saying, "Floyd County's best cotton is made each year by the farmers who stay away from Old Settler's and keep their planters going."

CRP grasses already show increased growth, and bountiful seed production along with natural re-seeding for this year is virtually assured. Those who are in the program will not receive maximum net income from their contracts until the grasses choke back competing vegetation to the point where further weed control will not be needed.

Assuredly these rains will cause some of the "doubtful stands" of cover crops to go ahead and gain sufficient size to meet government requirements.

WHEAT has suddenly received far more moisture than it needed to finish maturing the grain it has started. The grain should be well developed since it is early enough to be ahead of the stem-cooking winds of early June. It is debatable if wheat will develop second growth, or sucker shoots, at this late stage. If that should happen, it would only serve to make a bad situation worse.

Hail was much lighter to the center and along the north side of the community and wheat shows little damage. One four hundred acre field to the east near the cap was so beaten down that no attempt will be made to even pasture the residue. Norrels have some good wheat on the L. R. McCormick quarter across 97 south of the Yearly half that also took some heavy hail but it stood up surprisingly well.

There will be some fifteen bushel yields from Cedar Hill's dryland wheat, barring more hail of course.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE COMMENTS:

APPLES: Apples at the Listening Post show up much better now that hail has removed half of the leaves, but there are still not very many. One neighbor's trees have a fantastic load, a quart mixing bowl would cover as many as a dozen apples. Nature will have to kick many an apple off of trees like that. It is curious that not one apple was found that hail knocked off.

PEACHES: Peach trees, here at the Listening Post, lost half of their fruit to the hail storm, and many more are too badly damaged to survive. Marked branches that once had 64 peaches are now down to 14 with more to fall.

On a Saturday afternoon visit at the Charlie Starkey home, two miles west of Flomot, Mrs. Bessie Malone Starkey stated that the late freeze claimed all their '89 crop. Their blackberries are doing well, but the large Starkey orchard will do well to produce enough fruit for their family's use this year.

PLUMS: Plum bushes on the Starkey place are practically barren! For the first time in history, wild plum thickets up on the plains are more heavily loaded than their below-the-cap cousins. Only thing there may be no more than a half dozen "backyard thickets" on the plains, curiosity bushes that got out of hand, and "ran wild."

CHERRIES: Cherry trees presented a surprise this week because a few of last week's pink cherries had suddenly become red and ready. It takes longer to check a tree with ripe cherries than it does a tree with green cherries, especially when a flock of hungry blackbirds are perched up on a high-line above you, greedily watching and protesting every move that is made. What would be a fair way to divvy up two gallons of cherries between one writer and four and twenty blackbirds? Logic says the birds will let the burden of that problem lie with the writer, a writer whose first reader had an ominously suggestive poem about "four and twenty blackbirds all baked up in a pie."

PECANS: Most of the pecan racemes lie brown and withered on the ground while those still attached to the tree look almost as bad as those that have fallen. It appears that pecans at the Listening Post will join the walnuts in WAITING FOR NEXT YEAR.

ONIONS: Onions in commercial fields were pecked up enough by Monday's hail that a mild dessicant/astringent was sprayed on them Friday to help disinfect the wounds and check their bleeding. They are doing alright in the field; the big question, how will they do in the July/August market?

BELL PEPPERS: Bell peppers for market have finally made it through a long and difficult germination period. One grower, speaking of peppers, says, "You can't hardly get 'em up, but, once up, they are tough as a boot, you can't hardly kill 'em."

Busby's truck patch on 207 west of old Liberty has started a wider selection of vegetables this year. He hopes to have corn, beans, squash, okra, tomatoes, peppers, blackeyed peas, and cucumbers.

LIVESTOCK COMMENTS:

Only seven days following a good soaking rain and already cattle have backed away from reaching between the wires to tug at that "grass that's greener on the other side of the fence." Now, grazing out in mid-pasture, standing in the cool shade of the mesquites, or lying down for a peaceful cud-chewing, the community cow-calf herds are presenting a picture of contentment. They have experienced an instant switch from bogging into muddy pits for their drinking water to wading out into cool lakes holding millions of gallons of nature's bounty.

Let them graze, let them lie down and put on layers of fat, and let them be happy and content, for in 30 or 40 days millions of mosquitoes will have hatched from those millions of gallons of lake-water and the lives of those cattle will have become a nonstop nightmare of stomping, switching, head tossing, rubbing, and scrubbing, anything for a little relief from the itching, stinging bites of the blood-thirsty insects that will torment them.

If those medicated ear-tags really work on cattle, the government should issue them as a humanitarian gesture; would make better sense than some of the issuing they are doing these days.

PEOPLE:

Edna Gilly awoke Thursday morning, May 18 with a strange sense of imbalance and difficulty with her speech. Her doctors at Lockney General recommended a cat-scan at Central Plains Regional Hospital in Plainview. She returned to Lockney General later that day and since that time has remained under close observation. She was some worse the following day but has shown gradual improvement since that time. Excessive visitation Sunday brought her to the brink of exhaustion, and hospital personnel put restrictions on visiting. Another scan on Monday showed her condition very stable, and at noon Tuesday much more improvement had been noted.

Her doctors seem optimistic regarding her condition, however, they caution that much therapy will be needed, it will certainly not be an instant recovery.

Charley Starkey, one of the oldest ex-residents of Floyd County, is now staying at the Lockney Care Center. Charley has been almost totally bedfast with a gradually decreasing amount of time spent in his wheelchair for a number of years. A sudden change in his condition on Sunday, the last day of April, caused the family to rush him to the Lockney General Hospital. He has shown a marked improvement, but his doctors advise that he remain very near a physician's services.

Today Charley is 89 years, four months, and 25 days old. He has the distinction of being born January 1, 1900, a thing that didn't happen to lots of folks. Charley and Bessie moved just one mile over into Motley County fifty years ago when their family left Cedar Hill. Their home is in a saddle on that north-south ridge about two miles west of Flomot. In fact that tallest, pointiest peak, or maybe it's a mountain, one mile east of the county-line and south of 97 lies partly if not wholly within Charley's boundaries. So, on most days you can see the Starkey land from 20, sometimes 30, miles away.

Bessie says Charley enjoys talking to people when he is able, he doesn't see too well so you may have to tell him who you are. See you in a few days, Charley!

Rosa Lackey had recently returned home from the hospital 30 days ago when the News and Views for April 27 was written. Since that time, her healing process has continued, however, she still has some rather pronounced areas of soreness. Her youngest, Greer, is still caring for her and he reports that she has graduated to a more supportive walk-type cane which allows her to use both hands to maintain her balance. Many of her daytime hours are spent in her wheelchair, it is as comfortable as the regular chairs, and not nearly so low, which makes it much easier for her to rise to her feet when she wants to walk.

Rosa is very much a home-body. She seldom ventures outside the house except for a trip to see her doctor.

A Reverend Stafford and his wife preached and assisted with both services at the Assembly of God Church last Sunday. Due to a minor mix-up in timing Brother Blythe and Esther Alexander and their two small sons were also present. The Alexanders had preached here earlier, on April 23.

Peat Kelley and Norma Welch drove to Weatherford Saturday for the 80th birthday anniversary and a family reunion honoring Mrs. Willie B. Strain. Mrs. Strain is a first cousin of John Kelley and the sole survivor of the John and Beedie Estes family who took John into their family, after he lost his own parents in the early 1900s, and finished raising him like he was one of their own. Old cousins met for the first time, a whirlwind of activity, and a nearly worn-out camera. Then, on Monday, back home to those hungry cattle.

Clara Mize, if age ever catches up with her, may eventually be in Floyd County for an Old Settler's meet. Right now she is visiting with Steve, Emilee, and family out in Stockton, California; flew there Tuesday, May 16. Finally agreed to take her cane along on this trip; something might happen, you know; she admits that, after all, she will be 91 come July 7, and has been known to stumble a time or two in the past. The Steve people report she is a fireball of energy, anxious to see all the things she missed on previous trips; this is her third flight to Stockton in the past 24 months. They say California agrees with her, she sleeps like a log and is eating like a hoxxx small pony. She plans to stay there at least 30 days so we'll mail her a copy of News and Views, she might like to know how wet her CPR grassland is, and that the frogs are croaking again in Albert's minnow pits.

A man remains wise as long as he seeks wisdom...the moment he thinks he has found it he becomes a fool.

Heart Association elects new officers at May 16th meeting

The annual meeting of the Floyd County Division of the American Heart Association was held at the First National Bank of Floydada on May 16 at 7:00 p.m. The purpose of the meeting was to elect new officers and a delegate to the state annual meeting in Fort Worth in July and to report on the various activities sponsored by the Floyd County Affiliate.

Jim Word, retiring president, presided at the election of the incoming officers for 1989 and 1990. Those elected were Wanda Hickerson, president; Daphna Simpson, secretary; and Tom Farris, treasurer. Lynn Marler accepted the position of development chairman, Jim Word was designated as communication chairman and Vickie Cates accepted the position of memorial chairman.

The Heart Association had a very successful year. Kathy Mulder presented educational programs to teachers at in-services. Mary True had a successful Food Festival at Pay-n-Save Grocery which was presented by the 4-H.

Fundraising activities throughout the year of 1988 and 1989 were very successful. The Bridge for Heart tournament was organized by Frances Stanforth, Margaret Fowler, Anne Willson, Kellie Williams, Joyce Williams, Lynn Marler, Polly Cardinal and Lavene Moore. A Telepledge Campaign was organized by Nancy Willson. The business drive was organized by Lynn Marler.

The Jump Rope for Heart was supervised by Anne Carthel and Vickie Rainer at Duncan School and Andrews School was organized by Beverly Cates. The Jump Rope for Heart at the Lockney schools was organized by Jamie Moerbe and Robin Bowden. These volunteers were recognized for their efforts. The fund raising goal was $6,600.00 and due to the dedication of these people $9,265.65 was raised.

Tom Farris was recognized for 10 years service to the American Heart Association.

Carolyn Kennedy, regional director, of the American Heart Association congratulated the Floyd County Division for its most successful year.

Wainwright speaks at 1946 reunion

By Will Martin

To begin my story I would like to tell a few things about a man that I feel had more to do in getting General Wainwright to come to Floydada than any other single individual. Of course there were others that worked hard on the project. I think we will all agree that very few persons ever accomplish important things by themselves.

The man I refer to was W.B. "Jack" Henry who lived in Floydada all of his life. I think he was born in 1896 and lived until 1971. Jack organized the Cub Scouts in Floydada and also was commander of the American Legion several times.

Jack married Allene Hopkins in 1920. She was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E.A. Hopkins. The W.B. Henry's had one son who became an orthopedic surgeon who now lives in San Antonio.

As I have already mentioned Allene Henry was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E.A. Hopkins. Her parents had 8 children. I never personally knew but 3 of them, Maury, A.G. and Allene. Allene worked at the fountain, which I believe was in the Woody Drug Store. I was about 15 years old at the time. Of course she was a few years older than I was but I felt she was the prettiest girl I had ever seen in my entire life.

Maury Hopkins did, I think, as much for the development of Floydada as any one person that I can remember. Maury worked in both banks for a time. He was the one that was instrumental in organizing the first Chamber of Commerce in Floydada. Later he moved to Plainview and organized the first Fat Stock Show there. Maury died in 1942. The last I heard of A.G. he was in Lubbock. I knew A.G. when we went to school a few grades apart.

I suppose I made one of my usual bofoes by not telling more about Jack's family to begin with. But I will use one of my early training habits as an excuse. That was "ladies first in all things."

Jack Henry was the son of F.P. and Mrs. Henry whom I believe came to Floydada in 1896. Mr. Henry was former Postmaster for a while. Later he was elected County Judge for, I think, six years. This gave him the loving term of "Judge Henry." He was chosen as mayor of Floydada in 1923 and was a well liked mayor by most people. Judge Henry and his wife had four children, but I was never personally acquainted with any of them except Jack. Judge Henry died in 1932.

Now we will come back to our guest and Hero who made a speech at the 1946 Old Settlers meeting. I am not infallible, this could have been in 1947, but I find no history that it was not in 1946.

Some people will remember Jonathan Wainwright, General in the Phillippines. He was left in command of U.S. troops when General McArthur was flown to Australia. You remember that he was in the Death March. If any ex-soldiers read this and find me in error, I would be glad if they would correct me.

As I have already said, I believe Jack Henry was the main one in getting General Jonathan Wainwright to come to Floydada on Old Settlers Day. If Jack knew him personally, I don't know. But I do know he was a guest at the Henry home while he was here. If I remember correctly it was well advertised before hand and I believe that it was the largest crowd ever in Floydada. I am sure we had visitors from neighboring towns as well as Floyd County people.

On this day I remember, Pioneer or Old Settlers Day is now carried on pretty close to the way they had been in years past. They had the usual business meeting of electing new officers for the next year. The older people made short speeches concerning old time. I can't remember if they had barbecue or not. We went home for dinner and that is when we went close by Jack's home and there were quite a bunch of cars around the place. A friend told me the General was a guest of Jack and Allene Henry.

I can't remember if they had a parade before the General spoke or after. Most parades are just about the same to me. They show the old and the new, interesting floats and sometimes pretty band music by Floydada and Lockney. I was so excited that day I don't remember near everything, as my main purpose was to see a real live General, or "top Brass", as some people called them.

The officials of the Pioneer day had borrowed heavy boards and concrete blocks and used them for seats covering almost the southwest corner of the Courthouse lawn. They also had a speakers platform just south of the courthouse steps and porch. This was before the fire and the courthouse was rebuilt. The pillars were on each side of the porch just before going down or up the steps.

We heard Gen. Wainwright and his friends leaving the street and starting up the walk to the platform. My family happened to be standing about 5 feet from where he passed by. So we got a good view of him. He was a nice looking man. He was slender of stature and walked straight as a string stepping as all soldiers walk and carry themselves.

They happened to have a large horn amplifier to carry the General's speech, but there was so much static on the horn and so much noise in the town that I could not hear hardly anything. We were also far back from the speaker.

I did get that he was glad to be a guest among such nice people, and of course that he was very glad that he had a chance to serve his country as well as he had tried to do in the past war.

The greatest excitement that evening was a woman fainted in the hot sun and Dr. Guthrie was called to revive her. After the General's speech most of the people went home after a very exciting and enjoyable day. I don't know when the General left town.

Many of us have the right aim in life - we just never get around to pulling the trigger. (By Dian Ritter)

AT&T MultiQuest<sup>SM</sup> Service

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. (AT&T) announces its intent to introduce within Texas on July 14, 1989, AT&T MultiQuest Service, a new interactive 900-type telephone service. Since February 19, 1989, this innovative service has been available to Texas businesses only on an interstate basis. With AT&T MultiQuest Service, Texas business customers (otherwise known as sponsors) may offer value-added information services to callers originating long distance calls from Texas or elsewhere in the United States over AT&T's public switched network. A Texas caller, accessing the service by dialing the sponsor's 1-900 plus seven-digit number, can obtain recorded and/or live information by communicating with attendants, voice messaging equipment and computer data bases. Flat-rate, time sensitive usage charges will be billed to the caller for the sponsor's service.

AT&T is offering AT&T MultiQuest Service within Texas in response to requests by its business customers for a service that offers intrastate as well as nationwide interactive voice & data transport capability. Potential sponsors include entrepreneurial companies entering into new ventures that are information intensive, local mass announcement sponsors who want statewide as well as national coverage coupled with interactive capability and other information service providers.

The Texas intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service will be tarified as an "add-on" offering to a sponsor's existing interstate AT&T MultiQuest Service. The intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service costs will be recovered from sponsor usage charges set forth in AT&T's intrastate tariffs. The usage charges billed to the caller are determined by the sponsor as appropriate to the service being offered and are not tarified charges.

For more information about AT&T MultiQuest Service please call your AT&T Account Executive or AT&T's business consultants toll free on 1 (800) 552-0212. They can answer your questions regarding this service and how it can be of benefit to you.

AT&T intends to file a tariff to offer this service with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on June 13, 1989, effective July 14, 1989. Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may contact the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf, or write to them at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757.

Intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service is projected to generate $1.1 million in the first year of its offering or .1% of AT&T's total gross service revenues in Texas.

Floyd County -- The Early Years

Part 7: "Social Life and Organizations"

By Bill Gray

By today's standards the early days of Floyd County were unbelievably difficult. Carving out new lives on the barren, tempestuous prairies of West Texas in the 1890s was not an easy matter.

There were no railroads, telephones or telegraphs. Homes were very primitive — most were tents and dugouts. Roads were no more than narrow Indian trails. Manufactured goods had to be transported hundreds of miles by wagons or horseback.

Daily life was lonely and bleak, with many setbacks. As the early pioneers settled and drew together in the various communities, they traded, visited, opened schools and joined in worship. They also found the time for fun and social diversions.

Even before Floydada was formally recognized as Floyd City there was no lack of social activity. The first town picnic and barbecue occurred on 24 June 1890. It was a festive occasion and well attended. Except for a cowboy who "had imbibed too freely of the Exchange's liquid goods," a good and clean time was had by all.

Fourth of July celebrations became yearly events, with notable townspeople giving patriotic and inspirational speeches. Various committees represented all parts of the county in making plans for the event (shades of today's Floyd County Pioneer Reunion Committee). They provided for music and dancing before the orations. Dinner, baseball and more dancing closed out the day's activities.

In 1890 Floyd City had its citizens who were determined to have the advantages of a Masonic Lodge to enrich their own lives and help build the community. It has been said that whenever and wherever responsible men have gathered, it could be assumed that one or more would be Freemasons.

As was the case in frontier development throughout Texas in the 1800s, a number of those settling in Floyd County belonged to the Masonic Fraternity. Just as the founders of the Grand Lodge of the Republic of Texas had been the creators of the state, so were the early members of Floyd City Masonic Lodge instrumental in the formation of Floyd County.

Charter or early members of the lodge served in the majority of the elective offices of early Floyd County, including County Judge (Arthur B. Duncan), Sheriff-Tax Collector (D.W. "Dan" Jenkins), Treasurer (W.T. "Billie" Montgomery), Tax Assessor (L.C. Darby), and County Commissioner (B.P. "Uncle Perry" Merrell). The Lodge is virtually as old as Floydada itself, with a number of its brethren listed among the leaders in founding the town.

A petition for a dispensation to form a lodge of Masons was forwarded by resident members of the Craft to Grand Master George W. Tyler in April 1891, along with the recommendation from Plainview Lodge No. 709 (the first lodge to be granted a charter on the Panhandle-South Plains). The Grand Lodge of Texas met in Houston in December 1891 and examined the records of Floyd City Lodge, Under Dispensation.

On 8 December 1891 this report was submitted to the Grand Lodge:

"...We have also examined the records of Floyd City Lodge, U.D., and find them neatly and correctly kept in a well-bound book, and as our venerable Bro. W.O. Menefee (sic) is Worshipful Master, we feel safe in recommending a charter upon the payment of the usual fee."

Fraternaly submitted,
J.R. Harper, Ed. Smallwood, D.C. Hammer, J.C. Lester, Committee

The Grand Lodge was quick to grant the request due to the involvement of W.O. Menefee. He is known to have been responsible for the formation of at least three other lodges prior to his arrival in Floyd County.

val in Floyd County.

Grant Master Tyler granted the charter on 11 December 1891 with the designation "Floyd City Lodge No. 712;" it was the second body of Masons to be chartered on the Llano Estacado. In the 1930s the name was changed to Floydada 712 to conform and identify with the name of the community.

In reviewing the rolls of the charter membership, early brethren and Past Masters of the lodge, it is easy to recognize those whose legacies are remembered as the namesakes of R.C. Andrews Elementary School, A.B. Duncan Elementary School, Arthur B. Duncan Abstract Company, Menefee Street and the L.C. Surginer Building (which today is the home of the Floyd County Historical Museum).

The lodge initially met upstairs over S.B. Chadwick's store (later the site of a bowling alley, and — in recent years — the location of Parker Furniture Company, on the west side of the square). The lodge suffered a fire on its first night of operation, and the meeting place was for a while moved to Della Plain. It would be plagued by two more disastrous fires before locating in a two-story brick building further north on the block (presently the location of Sears, Roebuck and Company).

The lodge moved to its beautiful, modern facility at Mississippi and Fifth Street in 1959. Floydada Lodge No. 712, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, is the oldest, continuous-operating organization in Floyd County, and will celebrate its Centennial in 1991.

According to the Floyd County Hesperian, dated 28 May 1940, "Social life in the early days was centered around the activities of the Eastern Star." Floyd City Chapter No. 31, Order of the Eastern Star, was established on 12 February 1898, and was the first chapter of the Order on the Staked Plains.

The chapter's principal officers were Mrs. J.D. Starks, Worthy Matron, and J.L. Crabtree, Worthy Patron. The chapter was instituted by R.W. Lemond of Hale Center (Lemond Lodge No. 832, A.F.&A.M., and Lemond Chapter No. 38, Order of the Eastern Star, Hale Center, were named after him).

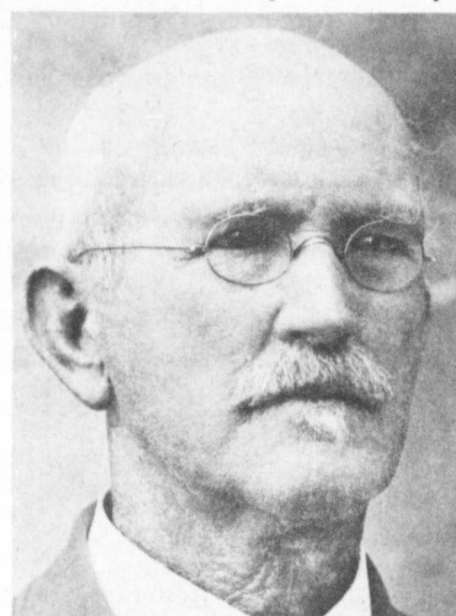

The first white woman to settle in Floyd County, Mrs. Arthur B. Duncan, was an early Worthy Matron, and serving with her as Worthy Patron in 1901 was Doctor R.C. Andrews — the Charter Junior Warden of Floyd City Lodge.

From filling the void for social relationships and fraternal friendships to active involvement in church, civic, county and state affairs, Floydada's Masons and Eastern Stars have continued through the years to maintain organizations that have been tributes to their respective Orders.

Floydada Camp No. 852, Woodmen of the World, was organized as early as June 1900. The first members of that fraternal body included J.D. Starks, Carr Surginer, James B. Posey, Doctor T.J. Taylor, Claude V. Hall, L.B. Whitlow, W.B. Arnold, W.W. Nelson, John N. Farris, W.T. Montgomery and Tom P. Steen.

A few years later the name and number of the camp were changed to Floydada Camp No. 1175. The brotherhood met in a building on the southeast corner of the square, which they would later share with the Odd Fellows.

The Woodmen of the World have not been active in Floydada for over fifty years. Evidence of their existence and local membership can be found among the many impressive and ornate monuments to long-deceased brethren in the older section of the Floydada cemetery.

DOCTOR R.C. ANDREWS (name-sake of an elementary school in Floydada) was not only one of the principal officers when Floyd City Masonic Lodge was formed, but was also the co-founder of Odd Fellows Lodge No. 34 and an early Eastern Star leader.

Doctor R.C. Andrews was the prime mover in bringing the I.O.O.F. (Independent Order of Odd Fellows) to Floydada. Floydada Lodge No. 34, I.O.O.F., was organized by Doctor Andrews, J.C. Malloy, J.F. McCarty, W.S. Compton and W.A. Gound in 1902. At first they shared a meeting hall with the Masons.

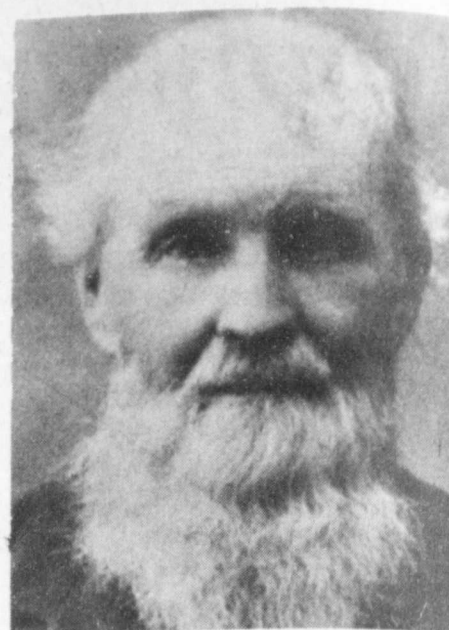

During the early days of frontier settlement, it was not uncommon for Masons and Odd Fellows to share lodge facilities; in smaller towns many were members of both fraternities. (Doctor Anson Jones, the first Grand Master of Texas Masons in 1837, was Grand Master of Pennsylvania Odd Fellows prior to his arrival in Texas. He later was a charter member of a lodge of Odd Fellows at Washington, Texas, and was elected Grand Master of Texas Odd Fellows in 1852.)

Several early Odd Fellows in Floydada were not only Masons, but were "Woodmen" as well. In 1903 the local Odd Fellows and Woodmen of the World erected a building on the southeast corner of the square. The Odd Fellows Lodge is no longer active in Floydada, having ceased operations in the mid-1980s.

Floydada Rebekah Lodge No. 77 is still active, and its facility is located on North Fourth Street. The lodge was instituted in the "early 1930s," but disbanded at the start of World War II. However, it was reorganized on July 10, 1942, and continues to the present time with its beneficent work and fraternal relationships.

Lockney Lodge No. 867, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, was chartered on December 4, 1902. As with the Floydada brethren, the organizers at Lockney included many of the leaders in the community. The principal officers of the Lockney Masonic Lodge at the time of its charter were: W.H. Freeman, Worshipful Master; N.H. Bobbitt, Senior Warden; and E.P. Thompson, Junior Warden.

Lockney Chapter No. 437, Order of the Eastern Star, was formally organized on 13 October 1909, with the following principal officers: Mrs. Lillie Britton, Worthy Matron; E.P. Thompson, Worthy Patron; and Josephine McGhee, Associate Matron.

W.O. MENEFFEE, the Charter Master of Floyd City Masonic Lodge, was instrumental in organizing at least three other Masonic bodies prior to his arrival in Floyd County. Menefee Street in Floydada is named for this distinguished early settler.

Through the years there would be many organizations founded in Floydada and Lockney, such as music and singing clubs, study clubs, Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, etc. However, those groups started before or around the turn of the Century formed the basis of social and cultural life in the respective communities. Membership in those organizations helped make the early days a "little easier," and their civic involvements created very positive attributes which remain in modern times.

SPS files to credit $13 million to Texas customers

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) has filed to distribute $13 million in credits to its Texas retail customers, primarily representing these customers' share of proceeds from SPS's sales of electricity to other utilities.

A residential customer who uses 1,000 kilowatt hours a month would receive a credit of $10.21.

These new credits are separate from and in addition to previously announced credits related to recent SPS rate reductions.

As a participant in an experimental market program, SPS has been able to sell electricity to western utilities as far away as California on a competitive basis, said Jerry Diller, SPS's group manager of rates and regulation. Under the program, 75% of the difference between the cost of production and the sales price is to go to customers in the SPS service area, Diller said.

"Previously, these sales required time-consuming approvals of individual transactions and a rigid price formula established by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission," Diller said. "Under the experimental program, utilities are able to buy and sell electricity in what amounts to a daily auction."

The credit also represents proceeds from SPS sales to other utilities made in the traditional regulated manner.

SPS has been successful in the bulk-power plants because it is a low-cost producer, Diller said.

"Demand has been high because several power plants in the western United States have been out of service for various reasons," Diller said. "Also, hydroelectric power from the Pacific Northwest was limited due to relatively dry conditions."

These circumstances will change, Diller said, so it is difficult to predict if SPS sales at past levels will continue.

SPS filed the requested credit with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT). If approved, the credit would be recognized in August electric bills.

"We also are requesting that the PUCT establish a procedure whereby we can pass on any future credits from such sales on a periodic basis as they accumulate," Diller said. "Under present PUCT procedures this is not possible."

The proceeds from these bulk-power sales to other utilities are treated as a fuel-cost credit. The $13 million credit requested by SPS includes approximately $2 million in traditional fuel savings resulting from lower costs for coal and natural gas. The credit also includes interest at 11.7%.

FORD ANNOUNCES PEACE OF MIND

The first time you pay for a repair should also be the last.

The Lifetime Service Guarantee means you'll never pay twice for a covered repair — parts or labor — for as long as you own your car.

No ifs, ands or buts. Only participating Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers can offer this kind of Peace of Mind. And only Ford, Lincoln, or Mercury owners can get it.

Once your dealer makes a covered repair on your car, he guarantees that if the same repair is needed again, he'll do it free. For as long as you own your vehicle, whether it's new or used. The Lifetime Service Guarantee covers thousands of repairs. And it's backed by certified technicians and quality Ford Motorcraft parts.

Developed by Ford Motor Company, this limited warranty is another example of the Quality Care programs offered by Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers.

APPRAISAL REVIEW BOARD FOR THE FLOYD COUNTY, TEXAS, APPRAISAL DISTRICT
Notice of Public Meeting of the Appraisal Review Board:
Notice is hereby given that a public meeting of the Appraisal Review Board of the Floyd County Appraisal District will convene at 8:00 A.M. on June 13, 1989, at the meeting room in the County Courthouse, Rm 107, and will continue in session at that time and place on June 13, 1989.
The board will examine and equalize the appraisal records of the chief appraiser, and will hear and determine taxpayer and taxing unit appeals on all matters permitted by TEX. PROPERTY TAX CODE Chapter 41.
The Appraisal Review Board will be in session until all tax appraisals have been equalized and approved and all timely filed appeals heard and resolved.
This notice is given pursuant to TEX. REV. CIV. STAT. ANN. art 6252-17.
Taxpayers who feel that the 1989 value of their property is incorrect are asked to please contact the appraisal district office immediately at 983-5256. If the situation cannot be resolved, the taxpayer will be given an opportunity to schedule a hearing with the Appraisal Review Board. In order to be entitled to a hearing, a written protest must be filed at the Floyd County Appraisal District office. DEADLINE FOR FILING A PROTEST IS June 2, 1989.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Richard Ellison would like to thank all the many friends for the beautiful flowers, food, phone calls, love and support, during our time of losing a husband, father and son.

We would like to thank Reverend Higgs and Pat Adams for their thoughtfulness and help during this time.

We would also like to thank Dr. W. J.
Mangold and the Lockney Hospital staff.

Dear Friends,

I would like to thank each of you for all the many deeds of kindness shown to me during my recent surgery. I appreciated all the many prayers, phone calls, beautiful cards, flowers, gifts, visits and the delicious food. All the kindness and consideration has made my convalescing easier. I love each of you and may God richly bless you.

In Christian love,
Alyne Evans
5-25p

My family and I want to express publicly our gratitude to Dr. Jack Jordan, Dr. Andy Hale, Rhonda Stovall and all the staff of Caprock Hospital. Although it developed that Jack had to be transferred by helicopter to Lubbock, he was in Caprock long enough to be aware of and to appreciate the effort and care expended by all who were working with him. We appreciate it deeply.
Ruth McIntosh

The Family of F. L. Williams Jr. would like to thank their many friends and neighbors for their many acts of love and kindness during the loss of our loved one. It has made our sorrow easier to bear. Special thanks to the First United Methodist Church and to Moore-Rose-White Funeral Home for a job well done. Also thanks to the sheriff's department for all they did. We'd like to thank everyone for the many cards, flowers and food. Also thank you to the ladies of Grants Chapel for the meal they prepared and a special thanks to Reverend Langston Williams Jr. for the words of comfort to the family.
