County may pursue prison

A recently received request from the Texas Department of Corrections has once again raised the question of whether or not the Floydada Development Corporation will actively and seriously pursue the quest for a prison here.

According to members of the development organization, "The state has raised the minimum standards a community must meet in order to be considered for a prison site."

"We need to decide," said Bill Harbin, "If we want to go after a prison for Floydada or if we feel the cost is too high this time."

He pointed out that the TDC is asking for proposals on two types of prison facilities, the 2250 bed maximum security or the 1000 minimum security facilities.

"The 1000 bed minimum security prison would employ 260 people at yearly salaries ranging from $12,000 to $37,000," said Harbin. "It would have a monthly payroll of $460,000. Construction would cost approximately $22 million and would take 17 to 19 months to complete."

Those attending indicated a willingness to take the original proposal previously submitted to TDC and rework it if possible to again apply for a 1000 bed prison for this area.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

The proposal forwarded to the local development corporation from TDC requires a 300 acre site of "level ground" with all utilities extended to the site and a perimeter road around the site as well as an access road to the site. The compound itself would be a 43 acre area in the center of the site.

All utilities would include electricity, natural gas, water, sewer and trash disposal. Any utilities entering the site must be brought onto the site through a common easement corridor.

Water utilities would have to meet minimum pressure and supply standards or furnish an elevated water storage container capable of storing 100,000 to 150,000 gallons of water. Water usage for the facility is estimated at a 206,000 gallon average per day with 410,400 being used during peak usage times.

Sewer usage is estimated at 185,400 gallons per average day with peak usage totaling 341,280 gallons. Solid wastes from trash and garbage will amount to approximately 821 tons per year according to the TDC estimate.

Another factor affecting the choice of a site will be the results of a geo-technical report, another new item on the state's check list. This report will come from five sample soil borings 25 feet deep on the proposed site. It must accompany the proposal which must be submitted to TDC at Huntsville by July

Whittle retiring as Chamber manager

"I applied to just answer the phone and it took off from there," said Chamber Manager Nettie Ruth Whittle. And take off it did! Whittle has become known all over Floydada and surrounding areas, as an energetic and enthusiastic promoter of Floydada. Anywhere there was a function promoting Floydada, it's residents and businesses, you could always find Nettie Ruth. Now the time is drawing near for her retirement from Chamber life into helping her husband C.C. promote his business.

Oct. 1, 1984 was the day Nettie Ruth applied for the chamber position. "I had never even filled out a resume," said Whittle. "I got a friend to help me. Whatever I said must have appealed to the chamber," said Nettie Ruth with a smile.

Tommy Ogden was the Chamber President at the time Whittle started as Office Manager. "He took over from Bud Rainey," said Nettie Ruth. "We learned together through trial and error. They needed someone to do more than just answer the phone. I started the first bookkeeping system the chamber had."

President after president, transition after transition, Whittle has always been there to make sure things keep running smoothly. She is the consistent force in the chamber office, the one that knows year after year what has to be done. Every new director and new chamber president knows to "go ask Nettie Ruth."

"Like I said, I didn't know anything about this job when I first came," said Nettie Ruth. "I learned by going to Lubbock to the South Plains Association of Chamber Executives meetings, otherwise known as SPACE. Other chamber managers have always been glad to help me."

Every year, since 1984, Nettie Ruth has overseen the Membership Breakfast, Chamber Banquet, buying supplies for stock show and groceries for the Membership Breakfast, the contests at Christmas and Punkin Days, and plans all Board of Directors meetings and agenda's. She also serves on the Old Settlers Board as the Chamber representative, plans ribbon cuttings that the Women's Division prepares, acts as a liaison for the Miss Floydada contest and Style Shows. She also helps with the Employer of The Year contest and arranges for judges and plaques for all contests.

On a daily basis, Whittle stays busy on the phone answering all kinds of ques-

Veteran Extension Agent to fill Floyd County post

A veteran county extension agent for agriculture who has a reputation for conducting strong educational programs in crop and livestock production, water use and conservation, and economic development has been named to serve Floyd County.

W. Brent Crossland, 31, will fill the vacancy in the Floyd County office of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. His appointment was announced by Floyd County Judge William D. Hardin and Bob Robinson, district director for the Extension Service, Lubbock, on May 23.

A native of Kaufman, Crossland holds a B.S. degree in agricultural education from Texas A&M University. He is pursuing a Master of Agriculture degree in plant science at West Texas

State University, Canyon. Crossland joined the Extension Service in 1980, serving in Hale County under the late Ollie Linder, longtime extension agent there. In 1982 Crossland transferred to an assistant position in Collin County. In 1984, he transferred to Dallam County, where he now serves as county agent.

"To sum it all up - I promote Floydada!"

Even though Nettie Ruth is retiring from the chamber office, we can still look forward to her being busy with Floydada activities. "I'm retiring to be with my family and help with the farm this summer. But you're not getting rid of me. I will still serve on boards."

Nettie Ruth will be missed among chamber members and directors, and she will miss them too. "I enjoyed everything I did, including the relationships I've had with the board. All the presidents have been very nice and easy to work with. Everyone has been receptive to new ideas. I've met so many people that I wouldn't have known otherwise. I hope I'll be remembered well."

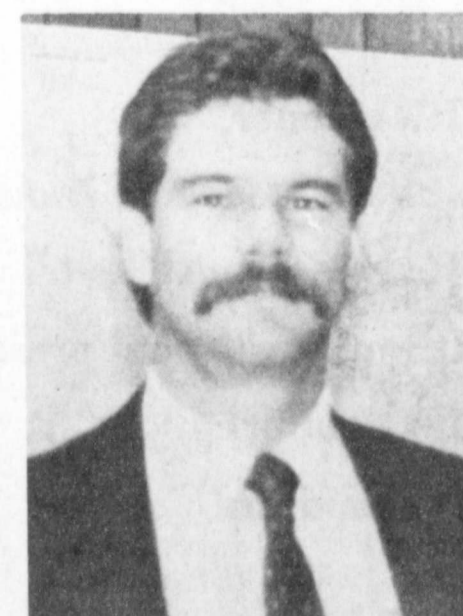

State University, Canyon.

Crossland joined the Extension Service in 1980, serving in Hale County under the late Ollie Linder, longtime extension agent there. In 1982 Crossland transferred to an assistant position in Collin County. In 1984, he transferred to Dallam County, where he now serves as county agent.

"Crossland has implemented broad-ranging result demonstration programs to provide producers of those counties with timely, research-based information to meet their needs," Robinson said. In Dallam, these have included plant variety trials, insect and disease control programs and programs in plant fertility, range improvement, cattle production, irrigation efficiency, water conservation, strategic planning for community economic development, development of a farmer's market, and industrial and tourism development in conjunction with the local chamber of commerce.

Crossland serves on the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce board of directors and chairs the chamber's agriculture committee. He is a member of the Dalhart Planning and Zoning Commission, the XIT A&M Club and the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

Crossland and his wife, Dana, have two children: Jeffrey, 3 years old, and Katie, one month old. The family will be moving to Floyd County before July 1, when Crossland will be assuming his new post.

1989 Floyd County Pioneer Reunion is unqualified success

Selected pioneers honored during the Floyd County Old Settlers Reunion for 1989 included Mary Lou Bollman, Walton B. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Fawver.

Bollman was chosen as the Pioneer Woman of the Year, Wilson was named the Pioneer Man of the Year and the Fawvers were honored as the Pioneer Couple of the Year. The announcement of the awards came during the business meeting on Saturday, May 27 under the pavilion adjacent to the Floyd County Courthouse.

Doing the honors for the presentations was Boyce Mosley. He also conducted the election of new officers for the 1990 reunion, "an especially exciting event, coming as it does during the county's centennial year," according to Mosley.

1990 OFFICERS

Named president of the reunion next year was Travis Jones. Serving as vice president will be Virginia Taylor, with Gayle Reay as secretary and Norman Muncy acting in the capacity of treasurer.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The traditional Memorial Service was altered this year with the listing of names of those who died since the last reunion being printed on the back of the program for the days events. It was felt that this would provide a more lasting memento than the previously used reading of the names. Flora McNeill was in charge of the memorial portion of the program. Polly Cardinal gave an especially emotional reading of the first verse of the song "Sunrise" by B. D. Ackley for the benediction of the service. The list of names will be published elsewhere in this edition of the Hesperian.

OTHER ENTERTAINMENT

Opening the days events was the traditional flag raising. Following the cancellation of the Fourth Cavalry for the posting of the colors, local boy scouts stepped in and performed the duty with great dignity. The boys then assisted in the VFW sale of Poppies, passing among those attending the reunion and exchanging the colorful flowers for donations to the VFW.

Dance students from West Texas State University and the Palo Duro Canyon production of "Texas" once more graced the concrete floor of the pavilion with their rendition of several

Fawver's selected as Pioneer Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Fawver were escorted to the podium and into the limelight of the 1989 Pioneer Reunion by two of their four great-grandchildren as they were singled out for the honor of Pioneer Couple of the Year.

Gilbert L. Fawver was born in the Baker Community October 13, 1913 in the house where he has lived his entire life up to now. His wife, the former Thelma Colston was born May 2, 1914, in Eldorado, Oklahoma. The couple married October 19, 1932 in the Floyd County Courthouse with Judge Howard performing the ceremony.

The marriage bore fruit in the persons of two daughters, Mary Sinor of and Doris Wilcox. The family now includes five grandchildren. The Fawvers are members of the First Baptist Church of Floydada.

Through the years, the pair have contributed to their community in various ways, including working with young people. They have been extremely active in 4-H and FFA projects and have long assisted with the Floyd County Livestock Show. He was honored with a Chapter Farmer Degree by the Floydada FFA. Mrs. Fawver is a former 4-H leader.

A retired farmer, Fawver has served as a director on the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District Board. During that time, he chaired the board for 12 years and has held every other board office. He is also a member of the S&WCD 100 Man Committee. He received the Certificate of Merit for the Outstanding Soil Conservation supervisor from the Texas Bank and Trust Company of Dallas in 1962 and was elected president of the South Plains Association of Conservation Districts in 1971. In addition, he has served as a board member for South Plains Area Governments, Farmers Home Administration, Floydada Co-op Gin and as a rural school trustee. He is past president of the Floyd County Old Settlers.

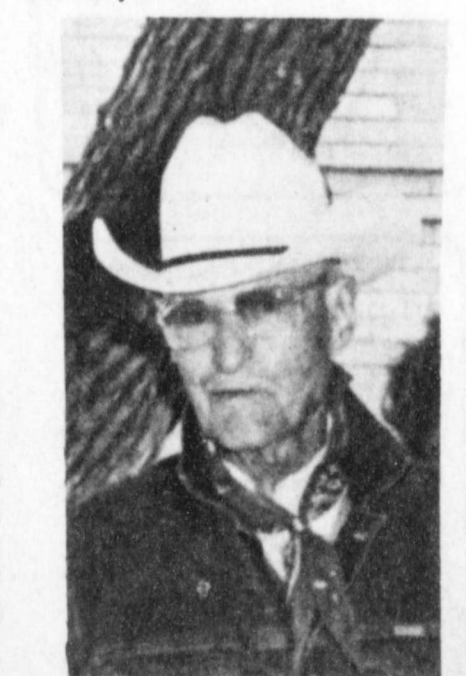

Wilson named Man of the Year

Walton B. Wilson, a lifelong resident of Floyd County was named Pioneer Man of the Year by the Floyd County Pioneer Reunion Association during the Old Settlers Day festivities in Floydada last Saturday. Wilson was born in Floyd County April 28, 1909. He was the son of Bradford and Calla Wilson and the grandson of H. C. and Lizzie Randolph. Educated in Floydada, he attended Wayland Baptist University after graduating from high school.

Wilson married Anna Austin in 1931. The union was blessed with three children, Leonard Wilson, Mary Ann Mallard and Judy Allen and has expanded to include eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Following the death of his wife in 1976, Wilson and Veda Horton were married in 1978. This union provided him with a stepdaughter, Louise Lytle, three step-grandchildren and seven step great-grandchildren.

A rancher in the Fairview Community area of Floyd County, Wilson moved into Floydada in 1978. He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Floydada and has served as a deacon for several years.

PIONEER MAN OF THE YEAR -- Walton B. Wilson was selected to receive the honor of being the Pioneer Man of the Year for 1989 at the Old Settler's annual reunion in Floydada last Saturday.

Floyd County may pursue prison

COMMUNITY EXPENSE

Any community submitting a proposal must be willing to bear the cost of acquiring a site, installing utilities and services, the geo-technical report and whatever other incentives are being included in the submitted proposal.

A total cost estimate for a submission by Floydada would be around $750,000. Members of the development corporation estimate cost of a site at $200,000. The soil samples and report could run approximately $5,000 and water utilities would mean another $200,000 for line extension plus about $100,000 for the overhead water storage facility.

Sewer could be handled with an on-site settlement pond system such as the city utilizes now. Building the system would cost "at least $100,000, possibly more," according to Floydada city manager Gary Brown. He also stated that the access road and paving could run "in excess of $100,000."

Bill Hale told the gathered businessmen, "If we could make a $750,000 investment and get a prison with a $460,000 monthly payroll in return, we would be getting it dirt cheap. It would be a really profitable deal for our area and it could save our community."

IN FLOYDADA'S FAVOR

Grants might be available for the water and sewer expansion necessary to serve a prison. Floyd county is classed as economically depressed and a minority population area according to population and income statistics available at this time, therefore money might possibly be found through grants, loans, and other resources to finance a project which could result in increased jobs.

Brown agreed to check into what might be available and report back to the development corporation at the next meeting on June 6. He will also obtain more exact estimates of cost on the paving, water, sewer and garbage services needed.

Randy Duke of Southwestern Public Service stated that he would check with his company's engineers concerning the soil sampling and whether or not there may be a way to get it done less expensively. He said he would also check with South Plains Area Governments (SPAG) concerning the possibility of obtaining grants or loans, etc. to fund the project.

Floyd County Judge Bill Hardin told the board he would find out what the county could do to help with the proposed project.

BRING COUNTY TOGETHER

The suggestion was made that the corporation should consider finding a site midway between Floydada and Lockney. It was suggested that a prison in a central location might offer employment to both communities and allow the county as a whole to participate in securing the necessary funds for the project.

Residents of Floydada, Lockney and the county are urged to contact any member of the development corporation and let their feelings on the matter be known. The corporation needs to know how people feel about the proposed location of a prison in this area. The corporation also needs to know of anyone interested in working on the project or interested in donating money towards such a project.

Public opinion and willingness to become involved in the project must be ascertained prior to the June 6 meeting. At that time, a decision will be made concerning whether or not to pursue the project further.

forms of dance, ranging from rock and roll to classical ballet and covering virtually every category in between. The group performed to a standing room only crowd for about an hour with each member of the troupe serving in several roles as the dancing unfolded.

AUCTION

A fund raising auction held each year was successful once more in raising money to fund the Pioneer Association for another year. Approximately $650 was raised by the auctioning of donated items of arts and crafts. The money will supplement the other fund raising activities the group holds throughout the year to finance reunion activities in 1990. Bennie Reagan conducted the auction with Jimmy Kemp and Larry Ogden assisting. Francis Stanforth clerked for the sale.

Following the auction, a catered lunch was served on the west side of the courthouse. The barbecue lunch was prepared by Smokey's of Plainview.

A total of 567 guests registered for the reunion, although the crowd was actually larger. Those who chose not to register and those who were here for the festivities, but are not residents or former residents of the county made the difference.

WENONAH SAUNDERS RETIRES -- Floydada school superintendent Jerry Cannon presents teaching assistant Wenonah Saunders with a watch to commemorate the occasion of her retirement from FUSD after 20 years of service to the students of this community. She has worked in the remedial reading program of R. C. Andrews Elementary for most of that time.

Saunders retires after teaching 20 years

"I really enjoy helping people learn," says Wenonah Saunders, a twenty year veteran in the war against illiteracy. She will be hanging up her battle gear, but not laying down her cause as she leaves her post at R. C. Andrews Elementary School in Floydada with the close of school this year.

"I intend to continue working with remedial reading projects where ever my husband's calling takes us," said Saunders.

"I also intend keeping busy with the many things a minister's wife is called upon to do as well as helping out in his business. I am not one to just sit," stated Saunders.

Her husband of four years, Manfred Saunders is a semi-retired minister in Lubbock and runs South Plains Restoration and Maintenance. He has preached at Floydada's Calvary Baptist and at the First Christian Church in the past.

"My first husband, Gerald Thompson, was the ag teacher here for 8 years before we moved to Oklahoma. Following his death, I returned to Floydada to live and work because I felt like the little Mexican-American children needed someone to help them," says Saunders.

She worked three years as a migrant teaching assistant before going into the remedial reading program with Elaine Reed. She has worked in that capacity for the past 17 years. She has continually augmented her skills by learning and using Spanish as well as obtaining extra training wherever she had the chance.

A retirement reception was held for Saunders on May 25 at R. C. Andrews Elementary. School superintendent Jerry Cannon presented the departing instructor with a watch to commemorate her many years of service to the school and to her students. She also received many personal gifts from her co-workers.

Charlie Reid joins sales department at City Auto

City Auto is once again welcoming Charlie Reid into their sales department. After an absence of 25 years, Reid returned to City Auto last week.

"I moved to Floydada, about 30 years ago, when I got out of the Army," said Reid. "I went to work for Leroy Burns (owner of City Auto) for about two years. I also farmed during that time.

"Then I moved into sales and management with the Morman Feed Company out of Quincy, Illinois. My sales territory went from Claude, Texas, to Old Mexico. I had been with that company for 21 years and took my early retirement Feb. 15, 1989. I also sold my farms about 10 years ago."

Reid has been married to Elayne (formerly Elayne Snodgrass) for 34 years. Elayne is a teacher of 4th and 5th grade Remedial Reading at Andrews Elementary. The Reid's have two children, Joe, of Lubbock, and Donna of Stillwater, Oklahoma.

Reid was born in Canadian and was raised in a car dealership family. "My father owned the Chevrolet dealership in Canadian for 53 years," said Reid. "I learned to sell, sitting on his desk. Eventually my sales paid my way through New Mexico Military Institute and West Texas State. I even had some extra spending money through college."

Police kept busy with array of activities

City police have had two hectic weeks investigating a variety of crimes, incidents and accidents.

An initial investigation of a traffic accident that occurred on May 13 led police into a case of assault and possible retaliation. The police department has turned this case over to the Texas Rangers for investigation.

BURGLARIES AND THEFTS

Sometime between May 14-15, a Chevrolet truck tractor parked in the 300 block of East Houston was burglarized. Stolen from the truck was a battery valued at $70.00.

Police received a report of a lawnmower that had been stolen sometime during the winter. The lawnmower had been stored and when the owner went to retrieve it on April 17, it was gone. Stolen was a Sears Craftsman 22" lawnmower, self propelled with a rear vinyl bag, valued at $400.00.

On May 21, sometime between 4:00 p.m. and 10:40 p.m., a vehicle was burglarized in the 200 block of W. Virginia. A 5 shot Army rifle built in 1943 was stolen from the back of a pickup. It is a "SAKO" Russian 7.62 x 54 calibre.

Two dogs were reported stolen from a residence in the 200 block of East Mississippi, while the owners were out of town, sometime between May 20-22. Missing is a female Chow, tan with a black face and a Brittany bird dog, white with orange.

A business located in the 800 block of East Houston was burglarized between the evening of May 20 and the morning of May 21. The back door to the company was kicked in and $1250.00 worth of property was stolen.

Another business, located in the 400 block of West Houston, was also burglarized. Sometime between the evening of May 22 and the morning of May 23, someone broke out the south window and crawled through. $90.50 in cash was stolen.

Fifty aluminum rails which are used on truck trailers were stolen from a lot in the 400 block of W. Crockett sometime between May 19-22. The rails are valued at $40.00 each which put the loss valued at $2,000. Approximately half of the rails have been recovered and charges are pending.

Police received a complaint of a stolen lawnmower on May 25. The owner reported to police that the mower was in the back of a pickup and must have rolled out on N. 2nd Street. The lawnmower was yellow and "beat up." It was valued at $50.00.

A residence, located in the 600 block of E. Kentucky, was burglarized on May 27. The back door latch was pried open to gain entry. Stolen were: an RCA 13" color TV, Zenith 19" color TV, Magnavox VCR, Fisher VCR, Yox, stereo and Kenmore microwave. Total value of items stolen was estimated at over $1,200.

On May 22, police received a report of a forged check cashed at a local business. The investigation is continuing.

CRIMINAL MISCHIEF

Sometime between May 17 in the evening and the morning of May 18, someone broke out the 8x10 window in the back door of the post office. Entry could not be made because of the size of the window.

The right rear glass of a car, parked in the 200 block of W. California, was broken sometime between May 18-19.

ARRESTS

On May 16, police observed a man driving on 2nd Street who was not operating his vehicle in a single lane of traffic. Angel Velasques, 44, of Ralls, was stopped and arrested for DWI. Because this is his third arrest for DWI, the case may be tried in district court as a felony.

On May 21, at 10:20 p.m., in the 500 block of E. Grover, a woman reported she had been assaulted resulting in a cut across her jaw. Charges of Class A assault were filed against Evelyn Coleman Jones and a warrant was issued for her arrest.

On May 24, at 12:30 a.m., Calvin Craver, 35, of Floydada, was stopped in the 300 block of W. Grover for failing to drive in a single lane. Police determined that he was intoxicated and he was arrested for DWI. Also with Craver was Evelyn Coleman Jones who was arrested for the above mentioned assault, and another man who was arrested for public intoxication.

On May 27, at 12:30 a.m., Martin Marin Suarez, 32, of Floydada, was arrested for DWI. He also failed to maintain a single lane when driving. Because this is his third DWI, he may be charged with felony DWI.

On May 29, Lonnie Mac Portee, 20, of Lubbock, was arrested at Mississippi and 3rd for DWI.

On May 28 at 10:10 p.m. police received a report of an assault on a man. One man was arrested and charged with Class C assault.

On May 18, at 12:30 a.m., three people were arrested for public intoxication at 2nd and California.

ACCIDENTS

On May 19, at 10:52 a.m. at the 200 block of East Mississippi, the engine on a 1974 Buick Electra quit. When the driver hit the brakes the vehicle pulled to the right and hit a pole on East Mississippi.

On May 21, at 12:30 a.m. a Buick LeSabre and a Chevrolet Camaro were both southbound on 12th street. The Camaro stopped to turn on Thornton Street and after skidding 26 feet the LeSabre hit the Camaro in the rear.

On May 25 at 12:15 p.m. in the parking lot of Fast Freddie's parking lot, located at 102 S. 2nd, a 1976 Oldsmobile was northbound in the parking lot when a 83 Monza pulled from an angle space and hit the Oldsmobile in the left rear door.

On May 25, at 10:02 a.m., a Caterpillar Motor Grader was pulling a Chevrolet pickup eastbound on Houston Street. The Caterpillar hit the dip at Main Street and the pickup came loose, crossed westbound lanes and hit a Chevrolet Silverado pickup parked at the curb. The door, fender, and bumper of the Silverado were damaged.

LUCKY TO SURVIVE—Local DPS troopers were called out Sunday morning, May 28, at 12:30 a.m., to investigate a one-car accident 15 miles northeast of Floydada, on a dirt road. The driver of this 1988 Chevrolet Camaro, Julian Moreno of Floydada and passenger, Raul Ascencio of Lockney, both survived this accident with minor injuries. According to Trooper Chris Ray, the vehicle was eastbound on a dirt road when it drove off into a ditch and continued to travel east in the ditch. The vehicle then struck a culvert in the ditch and became airborne. The Camaro then landed on the right front fender which dug into loose dirt causing the car to flip over landing on its top, facing south, in the bottom of the ditch. Moreno and Ascencio were both taken to Caprock Hospital and kept for observation. The vehicle belonged to Louis Cervera of South Plains. --Staff photo

Parade attracts everything from horse drawn buggies to brand new automobiles

"Old Settler's" and Future Pioneers all took their places on Saturday afternoon, to view the passing Floyd County Pioneer Reunion parade. Old and new were well represented in dress and mode of travel.

"Antiques autos were registered from Hart, Plainview, Lubbock and Floydada. The Nifty Fifty Auto Club do not enter their cars for competition, said Jo Lyles (parade chairman). They just like to bring their cars and participate. We sure appreciate that. We appreciate all the people who participated in the parade. If it were not for those people who show the interest and excitement the parade would not be a success.

"We can all remember when we didn't have the Lockney and Floydada bands participating in the parade. We are very lucky that we have two very cooperative and caring band directors who worked very hard to bring the music to the parade. We sure appreciate them too."

Winners in the parade were:
Best Commercial Float: 1st place, Davis Farm Supply with the theme, "Country Store"; 2nd place, Walters Karate with the theme, "Workout Studio."

Best Club Float: 1st place, Floydada 4-H, "Go To The Moon With 4-H"; 2nd place, Texas Migrant Council, "Touching The Future"; 3rd place, Brownie Troop 201, "Girl Scouts Around The

Both Lockney and Floydada bands received $50.00 each, for their participation in the parade.

Lamb County Sheriff's Posse was the only riding club entered in the parade and they took home the much deserved trophy and 1st place title.

Best Junior Cowboy (up to 12 years): Jeffrey Lyles
Best Junior Cowgirl: Juree Jones

There was no one who registered as best modern cowboy or cowgirl.

Best Decorated Bicycle: 1st, Jessica Charles (won $10.00); 2nd, Trey Fryman (won $8.00); 3rd, Victoria Cummings (won $7.00).

Best Antique Autos: 1st, Marvin Marshall, of Plainview, with a 1931 Model A Ford Coupe. Marshall won $20.00; 2nd, Raymond Poole, of Floydada, with a 1937 Chevrolet 2 door Sedan. Poole won $15.00; 3rd, W.R. Daniels, of Floydada, with a 1930 Model A Ford Coupe. Daniels received $10.00 in prize money.

Future Pioneers (motorized 3 & 4 wheelers): 1st, Johnny Mosley, of Lockney; 2nd, Jarred Mosley, of Lockney; 3rd, Monte Quisenberry, of Floydada.

Oldest Tractor: 1st, 1934 John Deere B, driven by Jim Collins grandson of James Lovell of Floydada; 2nd, 1939 John Deere B, driven by Scott Faulkenberry.

Oldest Trucks: 1st, 1931 Ford Pickup, driven by Mr. Ralph Trice of Hobbs, N.M.; 2nd place, 1931 Model A Ford Pickup, driven by Mr. Wilmer Archer of Lockney. "There was no 3rd place category for this division," said Jo Lyles, "but Honorable Mention should go to Jim Gomez, of Floydada, who entered his good looking 1942 Dodge Pickup."

Best Dressed Old Time Cowboy: Cecil Pope (winner of $15.00)
Best Dressed Old Time Cowgirl: Ada Ellis (winner of $15.00)

Best Team Drawn Vehicles: 1st, White Vis-a-Vis, driven by Greg Pinkert, of Slaton; 2nd, Black Auto-top surrey, driven by Leon Pinkert of Slaton. "There was a 3rd entry," said Lyles, "but the horse acted up at the last minute and they had to withdraw from the parade. It was very disappointing because it was beautiful. South Plains News

By Ruby Lee Higginbotham

The weather the past week brought hot winds, a couple days of sultry hot still, good cotton weather. Then back to high winds from every direction. Only a light sprinkle Saturday morning, after being awakened by a loud thunderstorm.

Very chilly temperatures greeted us for the Old Settler's Day reunion, quite a bit different from many other Old Settlers Days in the past. We recall heavy rains, muddy roads, hail storms, high winds and even a few sand storms, although Saturday was a nice day, cool enough for a sweater or jacket. Old Settler's Day 1989, another well planned and organized celebration, something for everyone of all ages to enjoy. We enjoyed visiting with several former South Plains people: Shirley Faye (Harper) Jackson, her sister, Ethylene (Harper) Brown; Aileen Gilliland (Dunn); her sister, Gladys Gilliland (Morris); Tillman Powell and Brother Fred Blake. The group had a good time looking at pictures and reminiscing past experiences and times while living in South Plains Community.

The Chappell's, Jerry, Darla and B.J., were weekend guests of their parents, the Grigsby Miltons of South Plains and the Ozell Chappells of Floydada. They attended baccalaureate at First Baptist Church, Floydada. Darla's nephew, Rusty Edwards is an honor student of the 1989 class.

Sunday, May 28, was a good day at South Plains Baptist Church.

A pre-Sunday school brunch and visiting, honored Bro. Fred Blake, former pastor, on his birthday. Visitors and friends dropping in were E.J. and Navolia Kinslow, Carolyn Marble, Nathan and Cathy Mulder, Letha Mulder, Tillman Powell, Mamie Wood, Nina Tipton, Oleta Wilson, Ruby Lee Higginbotham, Nathan, Connie, Tracy, Troy Johnson, Neta Marble, Doodle and Lillie Mae Milton, Jerry, Darla and B.J. Oleta's daughter, Sue and Tom Blythe spent several days in Cloudcroft, N.M., at the family cabin. Sue reports very hot and dry weather. The forest and grounds aren't pretty, green and lush as usual.

This week's thought: One ship drives east, another west with the self-same winds that blow; "Tis the set of the sails and not the gales, which decides the way to go."

Like the winds of the sea are the ways of fate; As the voyage along through life; "Tis the will of the soul that decides it's goal and not the calm or the strife."

CATASTROPHIC HEALTH CARE—The Floydada Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a seminar on the new Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act. The seminar is being presented by Jeffrey B. Lucas (pictured) of Shearson, Lehman, Hutton, and will cover the new legislation which will impact taxpayers over 64 years of age. Senior Citizens will be informed of the new Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988. Even though Congress extended Medicare to cover some catastrophic health care costs the taxpayers over 64 will finance the additional coverage through supplemental premiums of $4 monthly per person and an additional 15% surcharge on every $150.00 of their federal income tax liability. Mr. Lucas will inform those present on ways to minimize the new federal surcharge. The seminar will be held June 13, 7:30 p.m., at the First National Bank community room.

Finley and Huddleston pledge marriage vows

Melanie Joy Finley and Harlon Blain Huddleston were united in marriage April 29 in the sanctuary of Crestview Baptist Church in Midland. Dr. Rex Horne officiated the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Finley of Midland, formerly of Floydada. She is the granddaughter of Mamie Bunch and the late W.H. Bunch. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlon Huddleston of Midland.

Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride wore a white debutante glitter satin dress. The bodice, sleeves and chapel train were accented with scalloped appliqued French tulle. The Queen Anne sleeves and bodice were embroidered with various sizes of opaque pearls and silk. Silk embroidered paisley shaped appliques of French tulle adorned the front and back. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a hat covered with flowers of embroidered opaque pearls. She carried a bouquet of Calla lilies, Lily of the Valley and fuchsia.

Melody Bowdon of Midland and Sandra Jordan of Missouri City were matrons of honor. Bridesmaids were Suzanne Bachman of Midland and Kristi Law of Kermit, sisters of the bride; Krista Gochenaur of Lubbock and Kathy Schwoppe of Midland. Kimberly Wolfe of Midland was bridesmaid.

Harlon G. Huddleston served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Devan Adams of Midland, Scott Collins of Lubbock, Terry Emery of Burleson, Doak Huddleston of Odessa, Keith Hull of Arlington and Mark Thompson of Midland. Ushers were David Bachman of Midland, Jerry Bullion of Odessa and Wendell Law of Kermit.

Candlelighters were Erra Bachman, niece of the bride, and Jacob Bullion, nephew of the groom.

The Thouvenel String Quartet performed selections from Haydn, Bach and Mozart as the instrumental prelude. The Allegro from Handel's "Water Music" (the Hornpipe) was played by a concert trumpeter as well as the Thouvenel as the bride entered the sanctuary. "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" by Gounod from Oratorio "Ruth" and "A Wedding Blessing" by Pelz were sung by Susan Graham, Opera Mezzo Soprano, of New York City.

The sanctuary of the church was accented with Boston ferns atop white Grecian pillars. A four-foot silver fan accented with opaque sequins and a gold shell centered the front. Large white flower arrangements were placed in memory of the bride's grandfather and the groom's grandfather.

The reception was held in the Family Center. White pillars graduating from eight to four foot were the back drop of the bride's table. Atop the eight foot pillar was a large Boston fern. Giant bubble bowls contained clear glass beads and arrangements of calla lilies and asparagus fern. The other pillars were topped with Boston ferns. Two 48" round and one six foot oval table comprised the bride's table. Tablecloths were made of blush pink debutante satin, trimmed with French lace and seed pearls. The five layer wedding cake was built on five different levels. Each layer was topped with gardenias, English ivy and fuchsia. Punch was served from two silver punch bowls.

The groom's table was draped in a charcoal gray cloth. The scalloped, chocolate cake sat atop a 36 inch round mirror and was decorated with white chocolate calla lilies and leaves. A silver tea and coffee service and silver candelabra with fresh flowers completed the decor. Different height acrylic pedestals trimmed with opaque paper, topped with calla lilies decorated the buffet table.

Various sizes of dieffenbachia, philodendron, ficus, Hawaiian schefflera, golden pothos, Boston and asparagus ferns were set in white etageres and fern stands of various heights. Strands of twinkling lights were strung throughout four white 10 foot trees. Twelve white pillars topped with fern transformed the hall into a garden scene.

The groom is a graduate of the University of Texas at Odessa, attended Southwestern Seminary in Ft. Worth and is now employed by the Midland Independent Schools. The bride is a graduate of Midland College and Texas Tech University. She is general manager of Energy Software of Midland. The couple resides in Midland.

Double ring ceremony unites Burch and Waits

Jacki Burch and John Waits exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, May 27, in the Coronado Room of the Texas Tech University Center in Lubbock with the Rev. Bob Evans of Calvary Baptist Church, officiating.

Mothers of the couple, Mrs. Patricia Davis and Mrs. Virginia Waits, lit white tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Patricia Davis of Lubbock and the groom is the son of Stanley and Virginia Waits of Hale Center.

The couple chose a royal blue satin with an impressed rose print for her gown and his shirt. She wore a full length gown with a scooped neckline and pouf short sleeves.

The groom was attired in a silver tuxedo with the royal blue western cut shirt.

Toni Clark of Massachusetts was maid of honor. She also wore a matching royal blue gown.

Jeff Waits of Nacogdoches, brother of the groom, wore a silver tuxedo and was his brother's best man.

The bride and her attendant carried bouquets of white carnations, blue babies breath and yellow roses with blue and white streamers.

Following the exchange of vows, the Rev. Evans presented the symbolism of the rings to the marriage. The rings are a circle not to be broken. John and Jacki lit the unity candle.

Guests were registered by Deana Presley of Lubbock, sister of the bride, and Elaine Siewert of San Angelo, sister of the groom.

Honored guests included Mrs. Julia Newton of Tahoka, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Decota Odam, Floydada, grandmother of the groom.

Serving at the reception table were Dee Rushing of Plainview and Karen Rastetter of San Angelo, sisters of the groom.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will reside in Irving.

Waits is a 1978 graduate of Hale

Center High School and Del-Mar College, Corpus Christi. He is employed by Hitachi Electronics in Irving.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Coronado High School, Lubbock, and is employed by Emergency Maintenance of Texas Tech.

A rehearsal dinner at Yesterday's Restaurant in Lubbock was hosted by the groom's parents on Friday evening. Bridal courtesies included a bridal shower on Saturday, May 6, in the home of Mrs. Keith Brashers, Hale Center.

Legislation of interest to the 84th District

by State Representative Warren Chisum Public School Finance Revisions

Financing the public school system is one of the major concerns of most Texans. The House of Representatives passed a bill last week which has now been sent to the conference committee. The Rudd substitute for CSSB 1019 makes some needed improvements in the financing system.

The cost of operating public schools in Texas is shared by the state and about 1,060 local school districts. The state share comes mainly from tax revenue. Local districts get their money by collecting ad valorem property taxes.

The Rudd Substitute for CSSB 1019, which I voted for and which passed the House last week, would revise the Texas school finance system, instituting a guaranteed-yield system of equalization aid, providing a vehicle for state aid for capital outlays and debt service, and raising teacher minimum salary levels.

As part of the two-tier system of financing public education, districts receive a basic allotment of $1,350 per student, augmented for district size, location, types of students and other factors. The new bill would raise that basic allotment to $1,589 per student. Beginning in school year 1991-92, subsequent increases to the basic allotment would be made after considering the recommendations and reports of the SBOE (State Board of Education) and the Legislative Budget Board.

The Rudd substitute would increase the local share of the foundation program from 33.3 percent to 34 percent, and would prorate state aid according to district tax effort. The bill also includes a provision to adjust a district's local share to account for tax value losses exceeding 8 percent. Under Rudd, the districts are guaranteed $23 in state and local funds for every one-cent of local tax effort, with the maximum tax rate to receive the guaranteed amount at 36 cents per $100.

The bill would eliminate the price differential adjustment, and make adjustment for cost differences on size using a new formula.

Teachers salaries are also increased in the Rudd bill, with $114 per month salary increase given across the board, and two new steps added to the upper end of the teacher salary schedule. The maximum salary in 1989-90 under this bill is $27,740, and the maximum in 1990-91 is $28,880.

The current career ladder supplement is changed to $80 for 1989-90 in the Rudd bill, and $90 for 1990-91. The bill would also limit the use of the career ladder supplement to support of the career ladder supplement.

The Rudd substitute allows the SBOE to determine the weights for the special program allotments, which could be rejected by the Legislature.

The bill also directs the SBOE to study and develop a funding system for compensatory education regarding students in remedial education, at-risk programs, and pregnant students.

We'll keep you informed on the progress of this bill, and what form it takes in its final passage.

Employee Drug Testing And Unemployment Benefits

Another which I voted for this week is the Employee Drug Testing and Unemployment Benefits bill. This bill would disqualify a person from receiving unemployment benefits if that person had been fired for from his job for violating the employer's written drug policy. The person could not be disqualified for unemployment benefits if the employer had not complied with the requirements of the bill to have his policy written, or if the employee was fired for participating in a drug treatment program, or if the employee's drug use was medically necessary and prescribed by a physician.

I thought the bill was important to help employers in their efforts to keep a drug-free workplace.

No Driver's License For Drop-Outs

Another bill which I was in favor of is the No Driver's License for Drop-Outs bill. This legislation, which has been very effective in other states, would prohibit anyone under the age of 18 from receiving a driver's license or motorcycle operator's license or an instruction permit without proof of high school graduation or current enrollment.

According to one recent report, a 1988 West Virginia law similar to this one has already helped reduce the drop-out and truancy rates by an estimated 25 percent.

If you have any questions, comments, or concerns about any of these bills, please call my office at my toll-free number, 1-800-692-1389.

Calahan appointed Tarleton Dean

The approval of three administrative appointments and the acceptance of a gift of land were the major items of importance to Tarleton State University this week at a meeting of the Board of Regents for the Texas A&M University System.

Dr. John Calahan Jr. was named as Chairman of the University's Department of Biological Sciences. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Calahan of the South Plains Community. Also Dr. Jesse Tackett and Dr. Jerry DeHay were named to serve as Deans of the Colleges of Agriculture and Technology and Business Administration, respectively.

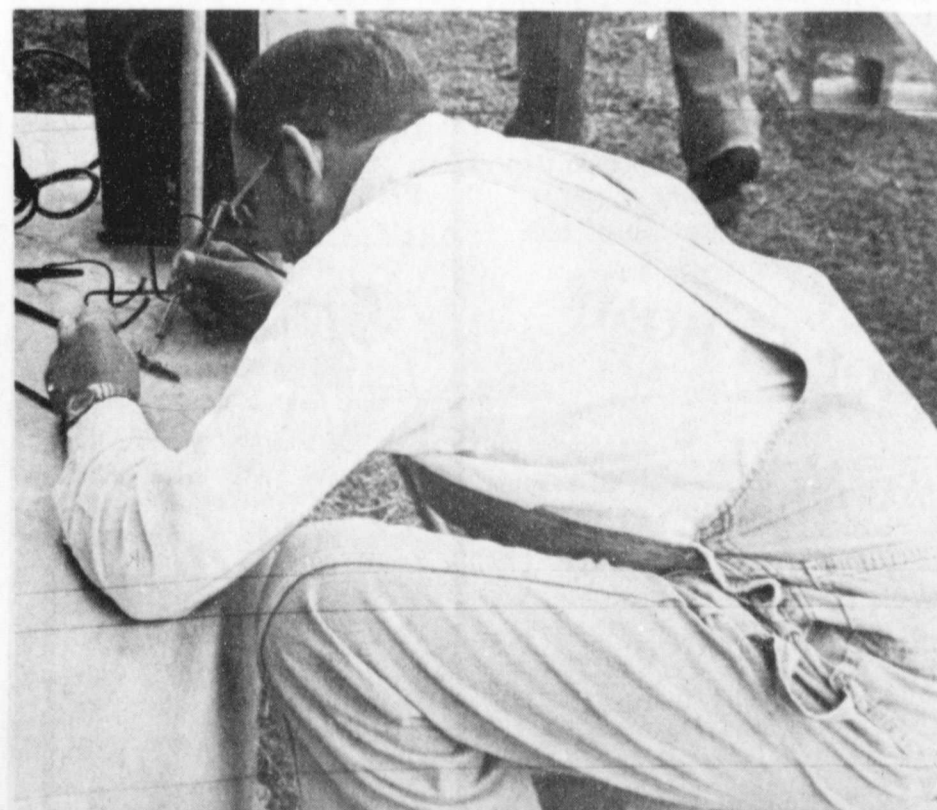

Dr. Calahan, a professor of Biological Sciences at Tarleton, was named as Department Chairman to replace Dr. James Konvicka. Dr. Konvicka, who has served as chairman since 1983, elected to return to full time teaching duties effective September 1.

Dr. Calahan joined the faculty at Tarleton in 1974. A native of Lockney, he holds a Bachelor of Science in Plant and Soil Science from Texas Tech University and a Ph.D. in Plant Physiology from Texas A&M University.

He was named as recipient of the first "Distinguished Teaching Award" presented at the University in the spring of 1979 and he is a former recipient of the National Science Foundation Study Fellowship.

"Dr. Calahan has played an active part in the growth of this University by his service as a caring, dedicated faculty member," said Dr. Thompson. "We expect him to continue this outstanding service as he assumes administrative responsibilities."

TO THE RESCUE—Taking time out from his own preparations for the parade, Larry Ogden spent many long, cold minutes working diligently to repair a broken wire hampering the sound system being used for the reunion festivities. He was able to effect repairs and the program went forward with only a small delay. —Staff photo

News and Views from Cedar Hill

It looks like the weatherman is doing a pretty good job here right now; there are very few complaints. A light shower early in the morning of Old Settler's caused the gauge wheels on cotton planters to pick up soil, get a little bigger, and carry their tool-bars a little higher, but after a couple of hours the sticky soil had dried and everything was back to normal. The biggest worry was how quick would the drying wind draw germination moisture from around the seed.

The way the weatherman handles the wind in these parts reminds me of those times, years ago, when my uncles and aunts used to bring my city-bound cousins out for a day in the country. Those kids had no idea how to handle space, seemed to just want to run and run, and run everything else. They loved to run the pigs, run the chickens, and they would get in the calf lot and run the calves. Once they opened the gate and ran with the calves to the backside of the pasture where the calves ran to join their mothers. Well, there was no milk left for the bucket that night, the cream check was a mite smaller, and we had to run and doctor sick calves for a few days.

Once a girl cousin came running proudly to the house with eighteen eggs in a bucket, "Look what I found in your harness shed! I had to fight a fussy old hen to get them! She must have laid all of them because they all look just alike, each one has a circle around it with "28" on the side!"

My mother explained, "Hazel, honey, I put the circle and the 28 on all those eggs. They are setting eggs and the circle tells me they are all "Buff Orpington" eggs and the baby chicks will be little yellowish-white, fuzz-balls with darker streaks on their heads and around their eyes. The "28" tells me that, on March 28 they will crack a narrow line around the big end of the egg, push off the cap and crawl out into the warm nest beneath their mother, and now we must run and put them back under the mother hen while they are still warm. If they get cold the baby chicks will die inside their shells."

Hazel took on a surprised and chastised look, a look of interest and cooperation. She said, "Oh!"

Thus it is that, shackled for a thousand miles or so by mountains, and valleys, hills and rivers with their trees, the wind wants to kick up its heels and "let'er rip" when it finds itself out on these flat and spacious plains; and the old weatherman, like those city uncles, seems to think it does no harm to take off the bridle and let the wind blow until it can blow no more.

CROP COMMENTS:

Cotton: A week ago that wind was the biggest fly in the cotton farmer's ointment. It caused planters to be readjusted sometimes twice daily as concerned farmers gradually thickened that moisture conserving layer of loose soil on top of their seed furrows. As you read this article the danger of seed drying is a thing of the past, the latest planting now has sprouts anchored to the soil and those rootlets will pump enough moisture for the crooks to keep pushing up to the surface.

Some of the earliest cotton, the part that took the worst of the rain and hail, had to be replanted, but those acres were comparatively few. Cedar Hill's "first forty" that showed such early promise eventually had to be redone.

There was definitely a noticeable generation gap at Saturday's Old Settler's. Many of the "center section citizens" were still too enamored with their iron horses and Perfume D'Diesel to let go and celebrate. Good thinking! They must have the opportunity to indulge in a more solid and comfortable celebration at crop-selling time as they sit across the desk from their bankers!

Nature can be so cold and heartless, then at the snap of a finger switch to warmth and promises. When it comes to cotton, Floyd County farmers are now in a position to make it "three in a row" with very little help from the weather. Probably the most timely planting and the best "off-with-a-bang" start in history. Of course at Cedar it would be "two in a row"; those tandem hail storms on July 12 and 14 practically wrote off Cedar Hill's 1987 cotton crop.

CRP: Some grass is still being drilled in and around Cedar. Drought slowed some of the spring-seeded wheat and barley to the point that it would not qualify as a cover crop; those acres will be sown to a legume this summer in preparation for grass seeding in the spring of '90.

Wheat: Tuesday, May 23, the temperature hit 102 here at the listening post, and there was wind with it, but wheat stems still had too much moisture for a complete dry-down. Now, on Tuesday, May 30, most fields appear ripe, but a close inspection still shows a touch of green just above the boot on the latest heads. Two windy days with temperatures at 100 or higher will completely cook the moisture from the stems and full harvest will be on us.

Samples were cut Saturday, May 27, in the Dougherty area with the driest testing between 13 and 14. Even after the hail this writer still expects some Cedar Hill dryland to hit 15 bushels. Pretty high expectations when there are scarcely more than a dozen fields in the community that will be cut.

Onions: Onion fields are recovering nicely from their hail damage, have been watered once more, some as high as five times at this point.

PEOPLE:

Monday, 5-22: Lindsey and Billie Ruth Lackey arrived back home from a week-end visit with their daughter, Kim and Kelly Mixon in Amarillo. Saw some good looking cotton through Happy but wheat just so-so.

Martha Taylor had her sister, Erma Glover Sullivan, from Las Vegas, Nevada, as a guest from last Thursday until Monday morning. Mrs. Sullivan will visit other relatives along a route that treks through the Metro-plex into Arkansas, back into Oklahoma and Kansas, then home again to Las Vegas.

Lindsey and Billie Ruth Lackey had their daughters, Linda and Kim, their husbands, and another couple, friends of Kim's and Kelley's, from Wichita Kansas as guests over the week-end. Kelly and the Kansas couple headed out Sunday afternoon for their Monday morning jobs in Wichita. Kim stayed over to help Lindsey put the finishing touches to readying some of the harvesting equipment. Kim can never be sure things are going to run just right unless she personally gets in a few good solid licks at preparation time. She went back to her laboratory work in Amarillo Monday.

Edna Gilly has shown continued improvement and on Monday she transferred from Lockney General to Lubbock's Methodist Hospital in order to participate in their therapy programs. This is a major milestone along her road to complete recovery. She was accompanied to Lubbock by her daughter, Deleice Harrison; and her mother Ruthie Belle Clark.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE EXES:

Goldie Brown Cypert: (10/10/1899) Goldie still resides at Frontier Retirement Home in Lubbock at 21st and Ave. Q. She moved there seventeen months ago, in October 1987 very near her 88th birthday. She is still cared for and is quite content. Her family and friends were very faithful in taking her to reunions, old settler's meets, and etc. until it became obvious that Goldie was having difficulty relating those she met to her memories. They wanted to bring her to the Old Settler's just past, but were sure that it would not be best for her.

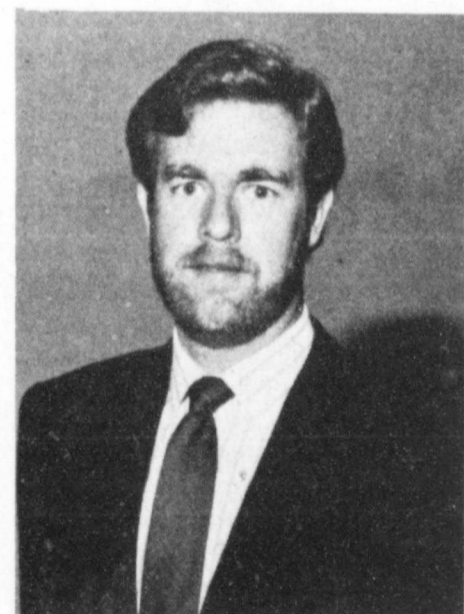

JB and Cecil Whitehead (average age 81) moved from Cedar Hill to their present home at 815 W. Grover in Floydada, 14 years ago. Cecil acquired a pace-maker in '87 and has had surgery several times since then. She has wonderful resilience, spoke vigorously over their speaker-phone, along with JB. They arrived in Cedar Hill in 1944 with seven children, the oldest, Ethel, later Mrs. Winston Brown, then in high school. Their children all went through the county school systems.

At the time of Cecil's birthday in '88 they made a grand tour to visit their children that carried them to Tennessee, Kentucky, on to Florida, then home again.

Hey! It thundered! I'm fixing to get this computer knocked out!

1st grades do well on TEAMS

The State Board of Education recently released the fourth annual cycle of TEAMS results for first grade students tested in April, 1989. These results include scores for mathematics, reading and writing tests given to first grade students to assess established state objectives.

Floydada first graders fared well on the TEAMS tests. On the mathematics section 85% of the students mastered which is the same percentage of students mastering as last year. However, this year 118 students were tested as compared with 106 students tested last year. On the reading section of the test, the results showed significant gains. Last year only 55% of the first grade students mastered while 85% of the students mastered this year. Writing also showed significant gains with 76% of students mastering in 1988 and a rise to 91% of students mastering this year, 1989.

The TEAMS test results are reviewed each year to determine each student's needs. Curriculum and instruction are planned to improve the student's proficiency in the areas where there is a need.

JOHNNY VASQUEZ of Floydada won the boxing novice 106 lb. division 13-14 year old Junior Olympics held in Shallowater. He qualified for state, running his record 3 wins, 0 losses.

Goen awarded $500 scholarship

New Mexico State University student Cheryl L. Goen, a senior majoring in accounting, has received a Peat Marwick Main & Company Scholarship for $500.

She is the daughter of Betty Goen of Floydada.

The scholarship was announced at a College of Business Administration and Economics Scholarship luncheon recently at the Holiday Inn de Las Cruces. Scholarship donors and representatives presented award letters for the 1989-90 academic year and were given an opportunity to visit with the students.

Since February 19, 1989, this innovative service has been available to Texas businesses only on an interstate basis. With AT&T MultiQuest Service, Texas business customers (otherwise known as sponsors) may offer value-added information services to callers originating long distance calls from Texas or elsewhere in the United States over AT&T's public switched network. A Texas caller, accessing the service by dialing the sponsor's 1-900 plus seven-digit number, can obtain recorded and/or live information by communicating with attendants, voice messaging equipment and computer data bases. Flat-rate, time sensitive usage charges will be billed to the caller for the sponsor's service.

AT&T is offering AT&T MultiQuest Service within Texas in response to requests by its business customers for a service that offers intrastate as well as nationwide interactive voice & data transport capability. Potential sponsors include entrepreneurial companies entering into new ventures that are information intensive, local mass announcement sponsors who want statewide as well as national coverage coupled with interactive capability and other information service providers.

The Texas intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service will be tariffed as an "add-on" offering to a sponsor's existing interstate AT&T MultiQuest Service. The intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service costs will be recovered from sponsor usage charges set forth in AT&T's intrastate tariffs. The usage charges billed to the caller are determined by the sponsor as appropriate to the service being offered and are not tariffed charges.

For more information about AT&T MultiQuest Service please call your AT&T Account Executive or AT&T's business consultants toll free on 1 (800) 552-0212. They can answer your questions regarding this service and how it can be of benefit to you.

Governor signs bill that makes juries aware of parole laws

Governor Bill Clements has signed a "truth in sentencing" measure that will enable Texas juries to be informed of the consequences of parole if state voters approve a constitutional amendment in November.

"We can no longer afford to handcuff our juries with a lack of information in sentencing criminal defendants," Clements said after signing the measure.

"If the jury can be trusted to make complex and difficult decisions concerning the defendant's guilt, then they should also be trusted to exercise the same care when setting a defendant's punishment. Texas juries have a right to know about Texas "parole laws."

Senate Bill 54, the enabling legislation for the constitutional amendment, requires that a jury in a criminal case be given instructions regarding the award of good conduct time and eligibility for parole in certain circumstances.

The enabling legislation was sponsored by Sen. Buster Brown, R-Lake Jackson, and Rep. Dan Morales, D-San Antonio.

The governor also has signed three other anti-crime measures.

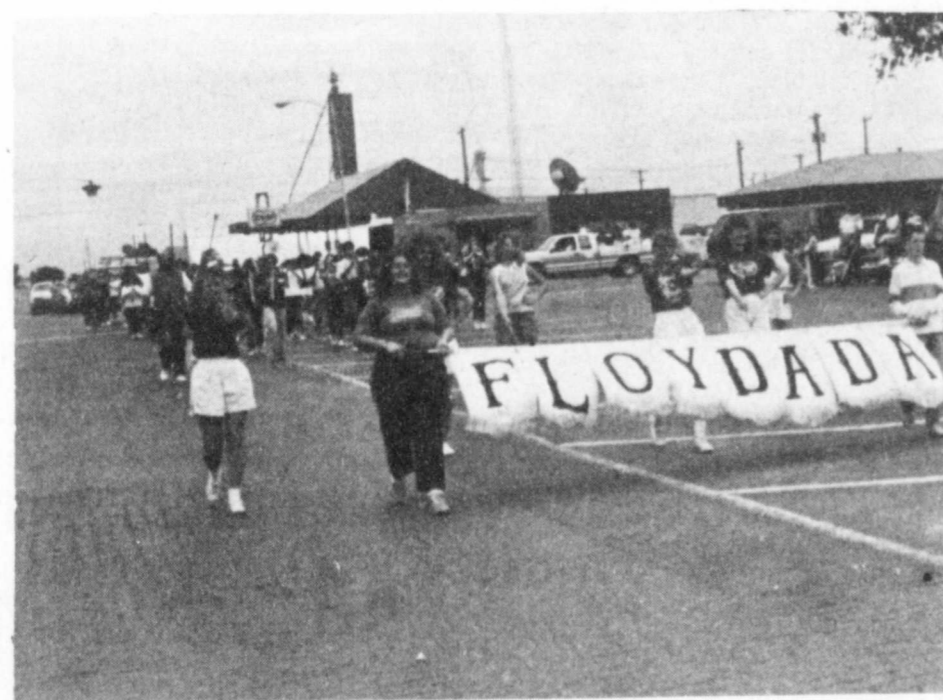

One of the measures, Senate Bill 85 by Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston and Rep. Ashley Smith, R-Houston, effectively requires criminals to help pay for their own capture by making a contribution to a certified Crime Stoppers program as a condition of felony probation.

"Crime doesn't pay, but under this measure, criminals will," Clements said.

Other bills signed by the governor include Senate Bill 439 by Sen. Ken Armbrister, D-Victoria and Morales which enhances victim restitution, and Senate Bill 916 by Sen. Frank Tejeda, D-San Antonio and Morales which enhances criminal penalties for suspects apprehended after attempting to flee from law enforcement officer questioning.

Home improvement con artists hit South Plains

One or more teams of the "Irish gang" of home improvement schemers are operating in the South Plains area. These professional con-artists travel the country taking consumers for hundreds of thousands of dollars each year.

Operating from mobile home parks, the gang seeks out victims for their asphalt driveway scam. They approach the target and state that they have an extra load of asphalt that they will have to haul off unless they can unload it locally.

In order to avoid having to haul the material off, they are willing to give the consumer a "great deal." This great deal costs the consumer from $2-4,000. The workmanship and materials are reportedly very sub-standard. Most of the victims have been seniors, especially widows.

Another similar scam operating locally involves painting contractors using watered down paints. Consumers that are approached or that have had dealings with the gang are asked to contact either the Attorney General's office (747-5238) or the Better Business Bureau (763-0459 or 800-692-4466).

Segments of cotton industry united

All segments of the U. S. cotton industry are united in the desire to maintain a competitive price for U. S. cotton in domestic and foreign markets. But there the unanimity ends.

According to reports brought back to Lubbock, that fact became clear in Washington May 22, 23 and 24 in meetings where first the Producer Steering Committee (PSC) of the National Cotton Council (NCC) and then the full NCC Board debated means to achieve that objective. Centerpiece for both discussions was a Federal Register notice from USDA proposing to broaden the formula by which the adjusted world price (AWP) is determined and to change the way the cotton loan program is administered.

The USDA proposal would continue utilizing the current formula for fixing the AWP except when it is determined that it results in an AWP that "does not accurately reflect the prevailing world market price of upland cotton adjusted to U. S. quality and location." When that determination is made, the Secretary of Agriculture would be permitted to make further AWP adjustments based on U. S. spot market prices, the level of weekly U. S. export sales, a comparison of available actual volume of cotton available for sale from competing foreign sources.

In addition, "to facilitate the more timely movement of cotton into the market," USDA would stop the current practice of paying or forgiving storage charges during eight-month loan extensions. Instead, producers seeking a loan extension beyond the original ten-month period, would be required either to prepay eight months storage to the warehouseman or provide documentation from the warehouseman that USDA will not be held responsible for such charges.

The NCC Board, made up of producers, ginners, warehousemen, crushers, cooperatives, merchants and manufacturers, had no serious problem adopting an industrywide position on the AWP adjustment. The Board was split, however, on loan program changes, leaving the Council per se without a voice on the issue.

Out of the Producer Steering Committee came a proposal to determine the need for and the amount of any AWP adjustment based on the share of U. S. exports as compared to world exports. The merchant segment offered a method whereby decisions would hinge on whether in any given week Memphis territory cotton was included as one of the five cheapest world growth quotations that make up the Liverpool "A" Index now used to establish the AWP.

The NCC Board found merit in both suggestions, together with additional details omitted here, and agreed that both would be submitted to USDA as acceptable to the industry, used individually or in tandem, at the Secretary's discretion.

On operation of the loan program, the PSC agreed to and asked the Council to support the accrual of interest and warehouse storage charges during the eight-month extension, to be paid by the redeemer of the cotton, and the continued waiving of interest and storage when cotton is forfeited to CCC.

The merchant segment had entirely different ideas, calling for mandatory producer prepayment of interest and storage on eight-month extensions, plus making payment of interest and storage on the original ten-month loan period a prerequisite to granting loan extensions.

According to Charles Bragg, NCC vice president for Producer Affairs, the Board recognized its inability to reconcile producer-merchant differences on the issue and voted unanimously, in accordance with NCC By-Laws, to leave the PSC on its own to pursue the committee's position.

Producer Steve Verett of Ralls, who attended the PSC meeting as president of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said on his return that adoption for either USDA's or the merchant's proposal for practical purposes would be tantamount to cancelling the loan extension option granted to producers in farm law dating back to 1977.

And, he added, "PCG, and I expect the Producer Steering Committee and other producer groups, will do all we can to save that option as the one way producers can extend marketing decisions over two full crop years."

Workshop set for 8:30 a.m. Friday

C. MARK BROWN
Crosby/Floyd Counties

The insect scouting season is fast approaching, and a workshop has been planned for High Plains consultants and producers to address identification and scouting techniques for crop pests.

The workshop is to be held on Friday, June 2, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the Ollie Limer Agriculture Center in Plainview. The workshop is open to the public, and there is no charge for participation. The workshop emphasizes scouting, and as such, provides little information on economic thresholds or pesticides. However Crosby-Floyd Co. producers participating in the program will study pest management principles and sampling, pesticide safety, plant growth and development, beneficial insects, pests of major crops, major plant diseases, and nutrient deficiency symptoms. Speakers on the agenda include Extension agents-Pest Management, District Extension entomologists Pat Morrison and Jim Leser, Extension pathologists, Harold Kaufman, Extension cotton specialist James Supak, and Extension soil chemist, Michael Hickey.

The workshop will last from 8:30 a.m.

to 12:30 p.m., and will emphasize on early season pests. A subsequent training session will be held at the Wayland Baptist University, Llano Estacado Museum, in Plainview on July 10 to cover mid and late season pests.

Farmers and farm laborers need to note Social Security rules pertaining to wages

Farmers and farm workers should be sure to note the rules that cover farm wages for social security purposes. The rules determine how workers earn social security protection for themselves and their families.

Farm workers get credit for work for an employer who spends $2,500 or more a year for agricultural labor, regardless of the amount of wages earned or how many days they worked.

A recent exception to this rule provides that if a person works as a seasonal hand harvest laborer commuting to work daily from home, and is paid on a piece rate basis, the work is ONLY covered if cash wages amount to at least $150, regardless of the amount of total farm wages the employer pays.

In all other cases, if an employer spends less than $2,500 a year on agricultural labor, the worker is still covered if he or she is paid at least $150 in wages during the year.

The reporting of farm wages is important to the financial security of farm workers. The coverage can mean benefits to a worker and his or her family when a worker retires, dies, or becomes disabled. Although the benefits are intended to be a base and not total income, for many low income workers social security becomes the main source of income in retirement, or if they become disabled, or to their families should they die.

The farmer is responsible for keeping a record of wages paid, deducting the taxes owed, reporting the wages to social security and the taxes that are due. Failure to do so can result in a penalty.

When the farmer hires farm crew workers, the crew leader may be the "employer". This is true if there is a written agreement, or the crew leader pays the workers. If the farmer pays the workers, whoever has the final right to control the workers on the job is the employer.

Farm workers who wish to check to make sure their earnings have been reported may contact any social security office. The office will send them a Form 7004 with which they can request a "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement." The statement will indicate the earnings credited to their record and the benefits payable at retirement, or if they become disabled, or to their family should they die.

Homestead exemption under scrutiny by Texas Legislature

By Annette LoVoi, President, Texas Consumer Association

Texans have a powerful consumer protection of which most Texans are unaware. Did you know that your homestead, your most valuable asset, cannot be taken away from you for bad debts? This protection is guaranteed by the Texas Constitution.

Quite simply, the Texas Homestead Exemption states that you cannot lose your home if you are unable to pay your bills. The only exceptions are the failure to make house payments, payments on a home improvement loan, or taxes.

It also means that you cannot buy a car, go to Las Vegas, or borrow money for any other "worthwhile purpose" and use your home as collateral for the loan. The Texas Consumer Association says this is an important consumer protection for Texans, particularly in tough economic times.

We've seen record savings and loan failures during our state's slump, and numerous home foreclosures. Without the Constitutional homestead protection, many more Texans would have lost their homes and family nest eggs.

There is legislation pending, H.B. 1704 by Representative Debra Danburg and H.J.R. 44 by Representative Barry Connelly, that will abolish this 150-year old protection. It would allow lenders to take out liens on homes for nearly any type of loan, including "open end" loans, such as credit cards.

Thus, in the future, when individuals or small business people apply for credit, they would be forced to sacrifice the protection of their home in order to get a loan. If they defaulted on the loan, they would lose the family home.

Many other organizations have joined the Texas Consumer Association in opposing this legislation, including Public Citizen, Gray Panthers, the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), Farmers Union, and Texas AFL-CIO.

Texas Consumer Association is a statewide consumer organization formed for the purpose of representing the consumer interest before the Legislature and administrative agencies. The Texas Consumer Association is an all-volunteer organization, formed in 1969.

Sales increase for All-Cotton apparel

According to an article in a recent issue of DNR, consumers have demonstrated increased preference for all-cotton men's apparel during the last three years. A report by NPD Research indicates that during a time of generally flat retail sales, all-cotton apparel has steadily increased.

The most dramatic example of cotton's current power in the market is in young men's all-cotton sports shirts where cotton's share went from 66 percent of total sales in 1986 to 85 percent in 1988. Men's all-cotton slacks, excluding jeans, doubled its share of the market from 20 percent in 1986 to 43 percent in 1988.

Contest open to sorghum producers

If your sorghum crop looks like a winner, you'll want to enter the 1989 Grain Sorghum Yield and Management Contest. Sorghum producers from across the nation are entering the contest which is sponsored by the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association (NGSPA).

Top producers in each division, irrigated and non-irrigated, will win a trophy and a cash award of $1000 from NGSPA. Pat George, contest committee chairman, said that many seed companies and agri-businesses are showing their support of the contest by offering prizes to winners who use their products.

Winners will be named at the county, state and national levels. National and state winners will be recognized at a banquet during the NGSPA winter meeting at the Wyndham hotel in Corpus Christi, Texas, February 10-12, 1990.

Winners will also be featured in the Results and Data handbook which is published each year. The handbook contains management information of all contestants. Handbooks from previous contests are available from NGSPA.

The deadline for entering the contest is 30 days prior to the harvest of the contest field. Harvest report forms must be mailed by December 1, 1989 and received by NGSPA by December 11, 1989.

A qualified supervisor must be present during harvest of the contest field. Supervisors can be vocational agricultural instructors, county extension agents, senior Soil Conservation Service staff persons or Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office managers.

The contestant's score will be the amount by which his yield exceeds his county's five year average yield. County averages are supplied by the National Agricultural Statistics Service.

Contest entry forms and rules are available from NGSPA, P. O. Box 530, Abernathy, Texas 79311, Phone (806) 298-2543.

Fly management controls needed in livestock herds

C. MARK BROWN
Crosby/Floyd Counties

With fly season at hand, Crosby-Floyd livestock producers should practice methods that provide control for pests such as horn flies, yet do not promote insecticide resistance in fly populations.

House flies are suspected of reducing weight gain and feed efficiency in livestock. Stable flies suck blood, irritate animals, and reduce weight gain and milk production. House and stable flies breed in mixtures of manure and decaying organic matter and can breed to overwhelming numbers in confinement operations. Proper sanitation procedures in combination with insecticide sprays or baits are necessary to accomplish adequate control.

Horn flies suck blood, irritate animals, and reduce thrift and vigor. They feed primarily on the back and sides of the animal, usually with their heads pointed toward the ground. Since horn fly larvae must develop in fresh, undisturbed manure, they are primarily a pest of pastured animals. The introduction and use of insecticide impregnated ear tags has provided an excellent method for controlling horn flies in cattle herds. However their widespread use in conjunction with the constant exposure of flies to pyrethroid insecticides contained in the tags has allowed for rapid development of fly resistance to pyrethroid insecticides. Studies conducted in 1984 confirmed pyrethroid resistance in horn flies in Texas. The following are suggestions for managing horn flies to delay or prevent resistance in our area.

*Do not apply insecticide ear tags to animals before economically damaging populations of horn flies develop. Tags should be applied to animals when fly numbers reach approximately 100 to 250 per head. Horn fly resistance can be suspected if fly numbers are not reduced below 150 per animal within 10 to 12 days after new tags are used. Apply tags to animals according to label directions.

*Tags should be removed as soon as possible from the animal once they have lost their effectiveness in killing target pests. Tags emitting a sub-lethal dose will add to the resistance problem.

*If pyrethroid ear tags have provided good seasonal control, continue to use them, but be alert to control failures. If resistance is suspected, alternate chemicals are available in ear tags, or oilers or dusters can be used. If cattle are forced to use dust bags or oilers to obtain water, feed, or minerals, they will provide excellent horn fly control.

*If cattle can be worked with a minimum of labor and stress to animals, sprays at three week intervals will provide adequate control. However, do not use whole body pyrethroid sprays on resistant horn flies since this will put more selection pressure on already resistant flies.

*If cattle are isolated or if neighboring producers are controlling flies, feed additives or boluses may provide good fly control. They contain insecticides that pass through the animals digestive system and destroy developing fly larvae in the manure.

These suggestions are summarized from recommendations by Texas, Colorado, and Nebraska Extension services. For more information, please contact your local county Extension office.

Animal welfare is growing concern

Farm animal welfare is a growing concern in the U. S., and agricultural producers must understand and pay more attention to this issue, said a speaker at the Texas Swine Short Course here recently.

"We need to understand what farm animal welfare is all about and practice principles of good welfare," said Dr. Stanley Curtis, professor of animal science in environmental management of livestock and poultry.

"Farm animal welfare is a complicated and emotional issue, and there is a lot of misunderstanding," said Curtis, who has chaired a committee that has developed guidelines for the care of farm animals in research.

"In the absence of scientific evidence, we (agricultural producers) are being asked to eliminate certain practices, including such surgical procedures as castration and dehorning, unless an anesthetic is used," he said.

Curtis said that he felt most producers are concerned about animal welfare although there are still some that want to maintain a "macho" image in dealing with farm animals. "In those cases, we need to clean up our act," he said.

The scientist said that producers should address the concerns of animal rightists and should support research efforts to obtain information based on scientific knowledge.

"There is a clear need for more research on farm animal welfare," Curtis said. "However, because farm animal welfare science is such uncharted territory, research may seem to be fraught with numerous pitfalls. For instance, what if research showed that certain widely used equipment was harmful to animals? Would we then outlaw that equipment?"

"While more research is needed on farm animal welfare, it is not the most welcomed kind of research because it strikes off in new directions that involve things other than the quantity or quality of production," Curtis said.

"But we need research so that various political remedies being sought can be based on scientific knowledge rather than on emotion," he said. "In fact, some changes being advocated by animal rightists could actually decrease animal welfare."

Curtis presented these key points to support his call for more research on farm animal welfare:

—Consumer demand for human foods of animal origin is strong and will continue so for decades.

—Food-animal production is a business; as such, it is constrained by economic factors.

—Society requires that food animals should not be caused to suffer. So, food-animal production is also constrained by humane considerations.

—Economic and humane factors do not always work in tandem. Compromise between economic and humane constraints is inevitably necessary for designing animal production systems.

—Animal agriculture quickly adopts appropriate technologies, especially when the benefit-cost ratio is favorable.

—Animal producers are at least as humane as members of society in general.

—If animal producers have adopted inhumane production technologies, it has been because they and those who advise them have been ignorant due to the lack of scientific evidence.

—Those who care about animals and want to try to improve the welfare of food animals ought to do everything within their power to learn more about what these animals need and how they feel.

"We're going to see more pressure from the grassroots level on animal rights, so we all need to seek the highest level of welfare possible for farm animals," Curtis said.

The annual short course was a cooperative effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Pork Producers Association and Board.
