Back in January the Texas Legislature assembled down in Austin to set things right by the people of this state. They do that regularly every two years.

This time it was supposed to be a little easier than usual, since the treasury was in pretty fair shape. They would have some extra money to spend without the burden of new and additional taxes, which has become the norm in recent years. Committees had spent the interim studying major problems that might be addressed, but compared to a session devoted to redistricting, or new taxes, or cutting expenditures, this was supposed to be kid's play.

It didn't work that way. One of the first bills introduced, if not the very first bill, addressed the problem of "Workmen's Comp," or "worker's compensation." This has to do with the law, currently on the books, that determines the procedure involved in compensating members of the work force for injuries received on the job. Employers are generally held to be liable for those injuries and as a result carry insurance to protect themselves against the danger of being put out of business, should potential claims exceed their own ability to make restitution for the injuries.

The situation surrounding this issue in Texas is generally regarded as one of the worst in the nation. Employers pay one of the highest insurance rates in the nation, and injured workers get some of the lowest benefits in the nation. There is one group, however, that has fared exceedingly well with things like they are, and want no change if they can help it. As we will see, they can help it.

The legislature wrestled with the problem of reforming the worker's compensation law throughout the 140 day regular session. They failed to come to agreement and the Governor called them back for another 30 day try. They failed again, and the Governor says he will call them back in November for another try, after they have had a few months at home visiting with their constituents. In the paragraphs that follow we will explore why a bloc of Senators determined there would be no bill this session, and why there is likely to be no real reform next session unless some changes are made in the makeup of the Senate.

A word of background may be helpful. Lawyers in the bigger cities of this state are essentially divided into two broad categories. Those who make their living suing and those who make their living defending those who are sued. Obviously the lines are not that clearly drawn in all instances. Small town lawyers, for instance, will often be found on either side. They do not have a large enough population to draw from, for instance, to "specialize". They perform the role traditionally expected, admired and respected, by the general populace. But in the bigger cities it is not uncommon for lawyers, or law firms, to concentrate their practice on certain aspects of the law. And out of that situation there has grown a host of lawyers, commonly known as "plaintiff's attorneys", or "trial lawyers" who specialize in seeking out, or being sought out by, potential clients who have been injured, or who want to make the case that they have been injured, physically, mentally, or financially.

It is not uncommon for many to gather like buzzards at the scene of major accidents. Remember how they flocked to the scene in India, when the accident occurred at some chemical complex? Or how quickly they arrived on the scene when the Delta plane went down in Dallas? They are, one hopes an embarrassment to their brethren of the bar. But they make good money. Or rather, they make lots of money.

That money finds its way into the political process, as we will see shortly. It translates into seats in the Texas Senate, which translates into the way laws are written. And obviously the laws have been written in a way that makes

Floyd County -- The Early Years Part 12: "Depression, Dust Bowl, and Hard Times"

By Bill Gray

The United States has experienced many periods of prosperity and depression during its over two hundred years of existence. An almost unlimited market and the mechanization of machinery during World War I brought about prosperity never before achieved. The prosperous boom times of the 1920s prompted speculation. The good times of the "Roaring Twenties" resulted in disaster.

The stock market crash on October 29, 1929, ushered in the "Great Depression." It was one of the most trying times in the nation's history. Giant corporations and businesses collapsed, banks and savings institutions failed, and lifetime investments were wiped out.

Although the entire country was in financial chaos by the early 1930s, what was to become a worldwide crisis did not affect West Texas until 1933. When the depression finally hit the rural areas, it had a profound impact upon Floyd County.

The widespread bank failures included Floydada's First State Bank, which was forced to close its doors. Loan companies foreclosed on many farms and ranches in the area. Ed Holmes, Buck Jackson, M.D. Ramsey and John West formed The Farmers and Homeowners Protective League of Floyd County to assist the struggling farmers and property owners.

"Floydada Script Money" was issued by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce. The "script" was accepted in trade at face value by Floydada business firms. In her anthology, Favorite Stories About Floyd County, Alma Holmes commented, "The only thing that made it possible for us to live through those appalling years was the fact that all our neighbors were in the same boat."

Home demonstration work made the depression years easier for many Floyd County citizens. Women made do with what they had, and learned to can food and sew. Commodities were bartered; eggs and milk were exchanged for clothes and other necessities.

Even doctors were paid for their professional services with home produced products. Times were hard, but they brought about a certain togetherness between friends and neighbors which enabled folks to survive the tumultuous period.

As part of the "New Deal," the Roosevelt Administration established the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1933. The CCC hired unemployed young men for public conservation work. They developed natural resources by planting trees, fighting forest fires and building dams and other structures.

Many a windbreak of Chinese Elm Trees along the states' highways owe their origins to the CCC projects. A testimony of the program's contributions can be seen today in the form of Childress' Fair Park football stadium and other similar structures throughout the area.

Another program of the New Deal era, designed to assist the depressed condition of the country, was the Works Progress Administration. It was introduced in 1935 and provided for work for needy persons on public works projects. Working for $2.40 per week (.60 per day), millions were removed from the relief rolls and given gainful employment.

Unlike the modern-day welfare programs, those in the WPA program worked in return for their government assistance — and WORK they did! The WPA was responsible for the building of numerous chemical toilets in rural Floyd County. The WPA surfaced many streets and highways with materials

Council appoints Tipton, retains police department

The Floydada City Council accepted the resignation of one of its members and appointed a replacement during the regular monthly session on August 8. Resigning from her post was council woman Nancy Willson of District 4. She resigned effective July 31 and has moved to Fredericksburg. The resignation was accepted by unanimous vote of the five remaining council members on a motion by Frank Breed, seconded by Amado Morales.

A unanimous vote also approved filling the newly created council vacancy by appointment. Mayor Parnell Powell advanced the name of Wayne Tipton, local businessman and resident, as a candidate for the appointment. He then called for other nominations for consideration.

Councilman Amado Morales placed the name of Manuel (Mike) Hernandez into consideration. Hernandez is a long-time resident of Floydada and a former deputy sheriff. He is now retired.

Councilman Morales made a motion to appoint Hernandez, seconded by Barrientoz. The motion was voted down, 3 to 2, with Morales and Barrientoz in favor and Wayne Russell, Leroy Burns and Breed voting against.

The motion to appoint Tipton was then made. The vote was 3 to 2 with Russell, Burns and Breed in favor and Morales and Barrientoz against.

Tipton was then sworn in by city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart. He assumed his seat on the council immediately and will serve until the next municipal election in the spring. He will then have to stand for election in order to remain on the council.

SPAG BOARD APPOINTMENT

Willson's resignation also created a vacancy on the South Plains Area Government (SPAG) board. Barrientoz moved that councilman Morales be appointed to the post. The motion died for lack of a second. Councilman Burns moved that Mayor Parnell Powell, a former member of the SPAG board, be appointed to fill the remainder of Willson's term on the board. The motion was seconded by Russell and approved on a 4 to 2 vote with Burns, Breed, Russell and Tipton voting in favor and Morales and Barrientoz opposing.

Councilman Morales was agreeable to the suggestion by Russell that he attend SPAG meetings with Mayor Powell as a "learning experience".

ABANDONING POLICE DISCUSSED

An item tabled at the June regular session for consideration in August resurfaced during the Tuesday evening session. Councilman Morales had asked in June that the council abandon the police department and allow the county to provide law enforcement for the city.

Morales began the discussion by saying, "Your honor (Mayor Powell), on this one here, they misinterpreted me. I wanted to hold a public hearing for the people to have a say so. A lot of people have got some things they would like to discuss with the council. If we can not let the people talk now, I suggest we table until next month when we can hold a public hearing."

Mayor Powell responded, "This was

Public hearings on tax increases held

August 3 was the date of two public hearings concerning proposed increases in taxes for local taxpayers.

COUNTY PROPOSES 48.74% TAX INCREASE

The first hearing, held at 9:00 a.m. in the county courtroom at the courthouse, concerned the proposed 14 cent increase in Floyd County taxes. This proposed increase would be a 48.74 percent increase over the current 29 cents per $100 valuation.

Any increase of 8 percent or more is subject to a roll back election if local voters so desire. A petition to call for a roll back election would have to be circulated and signed by eligible voters before such action could be taken.

Three people attended the public hearing held last Thursday for public discussion of the possible increase. Mary Lou Bollman, Grady Tyler and D. M. Cogdell attended the hearing. Bollman did not speak, but Tyler and Cogdell expressed their displeasure at the proposed increase.

Commissioners Connie Bearden, Floyd Jackson, George Taylor and Kay Crabtree were present at the hearing as was County Judge Bill Hardin.

The next step in the process of seeking the tax increase is a special called session on Friday, August 11, 1989, at 9:00 a.m. in the County Courtroom of the Floyd County Courthouse. At that time, a vote of the commissioners will be taken to adopt the increased tax rate. This session is open to public attendance as are all commissioners court meetings unless called into executive session.

FISD ASKS 14.14% TAX INCREASE

No members of the voting public attended the second public hearing, held at 8:00 p.m. in the administrative offices of Floydada Independent School District on August 3. The hearing was held to hear taxpayer views on the proposed 10 cents per $100 valuation tax facing FISD property owners.

Attending the hearing were school superintendent Jerry Cannon, administrative assistant Jimmie Collins and trustees Charlene Brown, Michael Hinsley, Cyndiann Williams, John Campbell, Adolfo Garcia and Andy Hale. Don Hardy was unable to attend.

The next step in seeking the tax increase is a special called session on August 14, 1989, at 6:30 p.m. in the district administrative offices. At that time, the board will vote on adopting the proposed tax increase. The regular monthly session of the FISD school board will follow at 7:00 p.m. The public is welcome to attend the session as they are to attend all public session of the school board.

FISD hosting exchange teacher from Thailand

The Floydada Chapter of the American Field Service (AFS) Intercultural Programs is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Kaiyasit Plarin to serve as a foreign exchange teacher in the Floydada schools. According to local chapter president Wanda Hickerson, eight years ago AFS initiated a teacher exchange program in conjunction with their student exchange program. The local chapter applied for this relatively new program after successfully hosting over twenty foreign exchange students. Mr. Plarin will be teaching within the school district throughout the 1989-90 school year.

Mr. Plarin comes to Floydada from Khon Kaen, Thailand. His teaching credentials include bachelor and master degrees in teaching English. At his home school, Mr. Plarin teaches English to secondary level students. He is also actively involved in his local AFS chapter's activities. While in Floydada, Kaiyasit hopes to improve his proficiency in English as well as to learn about the culture and educational system of the United States. Mr. Plarin wants to share the culture and history of Thailand with his fellow teachers and students. He will also be available to speak to local civic, social, and church groups.

Mr. Plarin will be residing in the home of Grant Hambright. A get-acquainted reception is being planned after the arrival of Mr. Plarin in a few weeks.

from a large caliche pit just west of today's Dairy Queen in Floydada.

Highway 207 from Floydada to Silvertown was improved with caliche from the Floydada pit in 1935 by the WPA. Other federal programs of the time, which benefited Floyd County and the surrounding areas were: Rural Electrification Administration (REA), Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC), Federal Housing Administration (FHA), Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), Electric Home and Farm Authority (EHFA), Farm Credit Administration (FCA), Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), and Farm Security Administration (FSA).

1933's Federal Farm Loan Act financed farm mortgages at low interest rates. The Resettlement Administration of 1935 helped farmers in poor agricultural areas to resettle. President Roosevelt also advocated legislation to improve the working conditions for industrial workers and farmers. The act also included long-term, low-interest loans for sharecroppers.

Many of Roosevelt's programs helped those in Floyd County to survive the depression, but another developing calamity delivered yet another blow which aggravated the conditions. A drought, the likes of which had never been experienced, reached deep into the nation's Midwest and Southwest farm belts.

The areas involved became known as the "Dust Bowl," and the drought affected the entire country. Few food crops could be grown; food became scarce, and prices increased across the land. The soil in the region was subjected to wind and water damage due to the cover of vegetation being impaired or destroyed through the grazing of too many animals or poor farming techniques.

Much of the Dust Bowl area was sown in wheat during World War I to meet the great demand for this grain. As it was grown then, the wheat did not adequately protect the soil against wind erosion — which resulted in the drifting of the soil. By 1934 great clouds of dust were carried across the continent from west to east and far into the Gulf of Mexico. Floyd County was not to be spared.

During such storms, it was impossible to see for more than a few feet. People wore masks to protect throat and lungs. Farmhouses, barns and machinery were nearly hidden behind drifts of sand. Alma Holmes best gave this assessment in describing the conditions in Floyd County:

"...The West Texas sandstorms were soul-deadening; especially, when they lasted three days and nights. I remember hanging wet sheets over our bedroom windows to keep the dust from choking my baby. Many a time after a sandstorm I swept up a tubful of dirt from my floors. Our neighbor, Mr. A.R. Hanna, lived on a real sandy farm, and he used to tell this joke for the truth. Seems that after a real 'bugger' of a storm, Mr. Hanna found a man's hat on the road in front of his house. He picked up the hat and under it was a man's head. Mr. Hanna began scratching sand from around him, and the man said, 'Get a shovel, there's a horse under me.'"

The Roosevelt Administration's programs to help the nation out of the throes of the depression and dust bowl conditions appeared to be working by the late 1930s. But, war clouds were again looming on the horizon.

Was it President Roosevelt's leadership and social programs that pulled the country out of the doldrums of the depression-ridden 1930s? Or was it a warmongering, fanatical corporatist-dictator on the other side of the world, whose aspirations of conquest was about to plunge America in yet another global conflict? War does strange things. It certainly ended the depression!

"His Last Days" to be shown by FBC

The First Baptist Church of Floydada will present a new powerful motion picture, depicting the life of Jesus Christ.

Filmed on location in the Middle East. The movie retraces the steps of Jesus from the banks of the Jordan River to the Sea of Galilee, as He calls His disciples to follow Him.

Their journey takes you through the street of Jerusalem and down the original steps of the Temple.

Dynamically presented in the words and songs of Dallas Hom, His Last Days, this musical is more than a film. It is an experience that demands a decision.

His Last Days will be presented in the First Baptist Church sanctuary on Sunday, August 13, at 7:00 p.m. It is open to the public and free of charge.

exactly the way it (the item) was on the agenda that was tabled for tonight."

"Well, when I talked to the city manager here," said Morales, "I wanted to hold a public hearing. He misinterpreted me. So in other words, I think we might have to table it until the next meeting."

Powell then asked Morales if he had been misinterpreted when the issue was originally placed on the June agenda. Morales replied, "No, not the first time, but in this second go around."

The meeting proceeded with the council considering the abandonment of the police force. Councilman Burns requested a report from Mayor Powell on his recent conversations with County Judge Bill Hardin and County Sheriff Fred Cardinal concerning this issue.

Powell told the council and the more than sixty people in attendance at the session, "The sheriff said he was not interested in any way, that he had more problems than he could handle over there and didn't want to take on any more."

"I also talked to the county judge...and he said that he was not for it, and he was not speaking for the commissioners, but he was sure that the problems they were having paying their (the county) bills, that they would not be interested in it in any way," stated Powell.

Councilman Russell then asked, "What else do we have to talk about then?" Morales interjected, "If that's all we are going to talk about, I'll just go ahead and wait until our next regular meeting where I can rewrite or reemphasize that we want a public hearing. Some of these people want to talk about some of the police officers from the city."

Action on the item before the council came on a motion by Breed, seconded by Russell, that the city keep the police department. The vote was 4-2. Breed, Russell, Burns and Tipton voted for the motion. Morales and Barrientoz were opposed.

SANITATION FEES TO INCREASE

Effective October 1, 1989, residents of Floydada will pay an additional $1.00 per month for trash collection services. Residential rates will raise from the current $5.75 per month to $6.75 per month. Commercial rates, which vary, will also increase by the same amount.

The additional revenue created by the increase in charges will be used to offset the growing cost of current and future operation of the city landfill. Motion for the increase was made by Burns, seconded by Russell, and approved on a 5-1 vote with only Barrientoz dissenting.

An increase in charges for another city service, this one from the water department, was also approved. The cost of a new service tap will raise from $125 to $150. The actual cost of the materials involved in tapping a new line for a residence is $135.06. The tapping of a new commercial line will now cost $200, up from the $150 of previous years. The actual cost of a commercial tap is now $196.21. The new rate schedule was approved unanimously on a motion by Morales, seconded by Burns.

OTHER BUSINESS

John Earl Simpson, manager of the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority (MMWA), and Gail Wyatt came before the council at the night session to report on the 1989-90 budget for operation of the water supplier and recreational center. Their report detailed the costs of operation estimated for the coming year and the monthly amounts Floydada will have to pay in order to meet their share of the district's operating cost which allows the city to receive water supplies from MMWA.

Brad Suggs of Tommy Lewis Industries in Plainview appeared before the council to relate the progress and terms of a recycling project now being undertaken in the Plainview area by MHMR. He asked that the city urge residents to participate in a voluntary recycling project of their own to encourage returning reusable materials to the manufacturing cycle rather than the landfill. No action was taken on the matter.

Travis Jones and Bill Gray of the Floyd County Centennial Committee met with the council to urge them to find ways to participate in the upcoming one hundredth anniversary of the founding of Floyd County. Billboards and banners were suggested by Jones and Gray asked for ideas for inclusion in a time capsule. No action was taken concerning the issue.

Layne Kirk representing the Floyd County Historical Committee asked that the council consider preparing an ordinance designed to protect and preserve historical sites and buildings in Floydada. He also asked that the city consider appointing a commission to deal with historical preservation issues. No action was taken at this time.

An item concerning the operation of a business in a residential area by Don Chesshir was tabled on a motion by Morales, seconded by Breed. A unanimous vote tabled the item since no one appeared before the council to voice complaints or defend the operation.

Reverend Ralph Jackson appeared before the council to request that the council remember their promise in June to consider funding for paving in northeast Floydada at budget planning time. Councilman Morales asked that the city try to provide funds for the project "one block at a time if there is no other way." Councilman Barrientoz stated that he felt "that area of the city has been neglected and we should spend some city tax money over there."

City manager Gary Brown was asked to gather facts and figures so the council could make a decision at a later session.

The council also scheduled a noon work session for the preparation of the 1989-90 budget for August 16 on a motion by Russell, seconded by Barrientoz and approved by unanimous vote. A proposed longevity pay schedule for city employees was presented to city council members for their consideration as a future pay supplement. No action was taken on the issue at this time.

The first public hearing on the 1989 Texas Community Development Program Grant will be held by consultant Kay Howard on August 21 in the target area of the city. The council elected to schedule the second of the required hearings for August 28 on a motion by Breed, seconded by Morales and passed by unanimous vote.

The September regular session of the council will be the time and date for a public hearing concerning two properties being kept in violation of city ordinances. A motion by Breed, seconded by Russell was approved by unanimous vote authorizing city officials to call the hearing as the next step in the process for the proposed demolition of the dilapidated properties.

A unanimous vote of the council approved the passing of Ordinance #723 adopting Plan I of the updated service credit and annuity increase for city employees covered by the Texas Municipal Retirement System. The update and increase was approved at the last session. Motion for approving the ordinance was made by Russell, seconded by Morales.

The council authorized the auditing of the city financial records for the 6 month budget period from April 1, 1989 to September 30, 1989. Edd Henderson CPA was again accepted as the auditing authority on the motion by Russell, seconded by Barrientoz.

Attending the session were council members Wayne Russell, Leroy Burns, Frank Breed, Amado Morales, Ruben Barrientoz and Wayne Tipton. Also present were Mayor Parnell Powell, city manager Gary Brown, city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart, city attorney Steve Hale and the Hesperian reporter. More than 60 other interested individuals were also in attendance.

Courtroom Activities

In district court on August 2, Martin Marin Suarez, 32, of Floydada, was convicted on 2 counts of subsequent DWI. He received 5 years probation on each count and was admitted to the Alcohol Residential Treatment Center in Waco, for an undetermined period of time, not less than six months. He was also fined $500.00, plus court costs.

Also in district court, the probation of Ernest Vasquez, 22, of Floydada, was revoked. Vasquez was placed on five years probation in April 1985 for the burglary of a habitation, which occurred on Feb. 28, 1985, in Floydada.

The probation was revoked because Vasquez failed to report to his probation officer, failed to pay probation fees, court costs and restitution, and he changed his place of residence without permission. He will now have to serve his five year sentence in TDC.

In county court, Mario Alberto Hernandez, 25, of Floyd County, pled guilty on August 1, to his July 31st charge of DWI-2nd offense. He was fined $500.00 plus court costs of $88.50 and sentenced to 30 days in jail. He was given credit for the three days he has already spent in jail. His drivers license was also suspended for 180 days.

Also in county court on August 1, Martin Rios, 26, of Floyd County, pled guilty to his July 31 charge of DWI. He was fined $550.00 plus $90.50 in court costs. He was sentenced to 180 days in jail which was probated for 2 years and his drivers license was suspended for 6 months.

On August 4, Gary Wayne Holloway filed a speeding appeal. There was no disposition on this case.

Jesse Velasquez Ibarra, 35, of Floyd County, pled guilty August 4, to his Aug. 1 charge of DWI. He was fined $600.00, plus $90.50 in court costs. He was also sentenced to 180 days in jail which was probated for 5 years. His drivers license was also suspended for six months.

On August 7, Marselino Tapia Ascencio, 28, of Hale County, was charged with DWI. There was no disposition on this case.

On August 8, Jimmy Jasso, was charged with theft of property. There was no disposition on this case.

MORALES FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL OF TEXAS — Dan Morales, left, was in Floydada on a get-acquainted tour Friday, August 4. The late afternoon visitor was accompanied by State Representative Warren Chisum life much easier for those who give the money. The laws, particularly the laws dealing with workers compensation, and with liable laws generally, are written to make the courtroom most attractive for those doing the suing.

The Lamplighter...

We are talking big money here. A lawyer whose client injured his back, for instance, and who retained a lawyer to sue his employer for one million dollars as a result, will likely receive, if successful, a fee in the neighborhood of $300,000. No wonder they can work up a degree of excitement. No wonder they flock to the scene of the accident. No wonder they are so generous with their contributions to those who protect them in the Legislature and in the courts.

What is to be done about it? Obviously we are not going to stop the contributions from flowing. Nor should we, necessarily. But if we know who is giving to whom, and how much, perhaps we can make intelligent decisions at the voting booth, which is where it really counts.

Since Mr. Steve Carriker is now serving his first term as State Senator representing this District, and since he was part of the Senate bloc who did the trial lawyers' bidding in the recent regular and special sessions, we have examined his list of contributors and now share it, or part of it, with our readers. Before we get into that however, we would point out that Mr. Carriker represents an essentially rural District. During his campaign for the job he made the case over and over that he was from a small town, and that he would represent rural interests. He would represent the small towns and rural people by fighting for us down in Austin. As you peruse his list of contributors you can perhaps better understand why this didn't happen. And be aware that the term "LIFT

IV" is the political action committee representing those lawyers commonly referred to as "plaintiff's attorneys", or "trial lawyers." We have consolidated some of the contributions, since for obvious reasons they were scattered throughout the filing report, a report required by state election laws and on file in Austin.

During the period July 1, 1987 to December 31, 1988, the plaintiffs lawyers, through their LIFT IV organization, gave Mr. Carriker $73,450. Additionally, contributions from individual plaintiffs lawyers, or law firms, amounted to $49,519. The State Democratic party, through its various committees, kicked in $36,735. The medical lobby (through its political action committee TEXPAC) put in $10,000.

The Texas Real Estate PAC put in $10,000. (Why the medical lobby, and the real estate lobby got in bed with their arch-rivals in this instance is another of those political puzzles. It may be something the grass roots people need to talk to their "leaders" about.) Various labor unions and front organizations came through with several thousand more. The Mortgage Bankers were in for $1,000. The "Texas Educators PAC" came through with $6,000, the Higher Education Legislative PAC for $2,500. Houston Industries PAC, $1,000. Houston attorney Donald Bowen, $6,000. Houston attorney Joseph Jamail, $1,000; Houston lawyer Ernest Cannon, $1,000; Austin attorney Tommy Jacks, $2,500; Austin attorneys Johnson & Johnson, $4,000; Austin attorneys Gibbins, Bratton and Pan, $2,500; Austin attorneys Spivey, Grigg, Kelly & Knisely, $2,000; Dallas attorneys Mason & Snodgrass, $10,000, (plus another $1,477 in "in-kind" contributions.)

So it went as trial lawyers from all over the state rallied to funnel money into the campaign coffers of those who would do their bidding in the Texas Senate. Nearly half of all Mr. Carriker's "major contributors" (those giving $1,000 or more) came from that one source, in most instances from people far removed from this District. In the meantime small businessmen, farmers, anybody else cast in the role of the employer, will continue paying through the nose, and the injured workers will continue taking it in the neck.

I suppose the only solution is for us to form a Floyd County PAC, or a South Plains PAC, or a West Texas PAC, raise a bundle of money and deliver it with a little ribbon tied around. Evidently our votes, by themselves, are not enough to get very much attention.

Rotary student visits with Williams'

Jasper Goritz of West Berlin has been very busy seeing the United States since his arrival in Floydada on July 18.

Goritz, a Rotary exchange student, has been staying with the James Williams family in Floydada. It is obvious when talking to Goritz and the Williams' that everyone has enjoyed the experience. Since Goritz is leaving on August 15, the Williams' have seen to it that he has seen a lot of the United States and met a lot of Americans.

Besides speaking at the Floydada Rotary Club, Goritz has traveled to Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Wyoming. He has also attended the play "Texas", in Palo Duro Canyon.

"I liked the Rocky Mountains in Colorado the best," said Goritz. "Here in Floydada it is very hot and very flat, but the people are very open and friendly towards me. People are very interested in me here in Floydada. People are not that interested in foreigners in West Berlin, because the whole city is full of people from other places."

"West Berlin", explained Goritz, "is located in East Germany. Berlin is divided by a wall (erected after the war) with East Berlin on one side and West Berlin on the other."

West Berlin residents are allowed to travel in East Germany or over into West Germany, but East Berlin residents are confined to communist East Germany. "There is a road that travels straight out of West Berlin into West Germany for us to travel, or we can go on the underground train. People are shot for trying to get over the wall from East Berlin. Sometimes when you travel on the subway you will see people from East Berlin sneaking on the train. West Berlin passengers will cover them with coats or suitcases so they won't be seen. Since Gorbachev has been in power, it is a little easier for someone to come over the border to visit. But they still will not let a whole family come over at the same time. That way they insure that you will come back."

Goritz's mother is a teacher in West Berlin and his father is a dentist and Rotarian. He has one 10-year-old brother, and relatives living all over the world. Except for a stop in the New York airport on his way to visit his uncle in Canada, this is Goritz's first trip to the United States.

Goritz, who is 17, will start the 11th grade when he returns to his high school of approximately 1,500 people. "Our summer break only lasts seven weeks," said Goritz. "We have more little breaks during the year."

In the 12th grade, Goritz plans to spend half of his school year in England, perfecting his English (which is very good already). After graduating, he plans to attend a university and hopes to study architecture or design. His hobbies include soccer, volleyball, hockey and playing his guitar.

As he travels throughout Floydada and the United States it is apparent that Goritz is not the only one learning from this experience. If you take the time to talk and to listen, everyone benefits.

South Plains News

By Ruby L. Higginbotham

The past two weeks, weather has been the topic of conversation, hot, humid and dry, the first half, then cooler and finally the good rains. South Plains has received approximately three inches, thus far. For the good rains we are very thankful.

Visiting with Nina Upton, Saturday, July 29, was her daughter Bonnie Craig and granddaughter Shelly Camp from Slaton.

Revival services at South Plains Baptist Church closed out on Wednesday evening, July 26 after a series of evening services and noon time fellowship. We wish to thank each lady who faithfully prepared meals each day for the morning services, also those who hosted the evening meals. Kelly Fisher, Mamie Wood, Gleyenn Earle Cummings and Carlene Johnson.

Tillman Powell was a visitor in South Plains and for church services Sunday, July 30. Several of our people visited the residents of Lockney Care Center. South Plains Church pastor gave the devotion after the residents had enjoyed the singing many old hymns. Those sharing and visiting were: Tom and Kelly Fisher, Matthew and Timothy, Connie Johnson, Mamie Wood, Kendis and Janis Julian, L.N. and Carlene Johnson and Ruby Lee Higginbotham.

The Nathan Johnsons traveled to Colorado last Monday for a week of relaxation and vacation. The Rocky Mountain Lodge was the head quarters for horse back riding, hiking, fishing and rafting down the river. Keith Teeple went along with Troy, Tracy, Nathan's sister and husband Vicky and Rhligh Long met the Johnsons for the wonderful vacation on Thursday the group had pot-luck supper at Rocky Mountain Lodge. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Record. They returned home Friday reporting a wonderful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Stewart along with family members and friends were in Logan,

New Mexico for a visit and celebration of the birthday and retirement of her brother, Tom Babb, 62. Ann Hartman was in on the honors also, she and Tom chose the same day in July for their birthdays. Around forty people attended the celebration at the lake. Camp out, cook out, boating and fishing, just an all around good time was had by all.

The Carlton Johnson family along with Diane's brothers Bernie and Tony Ford and families enjoyed the past week at Rocky Mountain Lodge in Colorado. They were vacation neighbors to the Nathan Johnsons. All rafting, hiking, riding and card playing, truly a great time for all.

Tanner Johnson had an accident, cutting his hand while removing a broken pane from the storm door, the glass slipped cutting his hand. He has seven stitches in his hand.

After all is said and done, more is said than done:
Be thankful, be happy and have a good week.

Pastor and wife attend General Assembly of Christian Church

The Reverend Dale and Mrs. Mary Harter returned last Thursday from the biennial meeting of the General Assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) which was held in Indianapolis, Indiana, July 28 through August 2, 1989. They were among the 8,000 people who traveled from all fifty states and most of the provinces of Canada to a six day conclave.

The theme of the assembly was: "Come Holy Spirit, Come!" The scripture text was taken from Romans chapter 8. All speakers touched upon some aspect of this theme. There were over fifty speakers touched upon some aspect of this theme. There were over fifty speakers and leaders who spoke from the main platform or in smaller groups.

Among the nationally known spiritual leaders speaking before the General Assembly include the following:

Dr. Beverly Gaventa, Professor of New Testament, Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Georgia, delivered the 9:00 a.m. Bible study lectures on the 8th chapter of the book of Romans.

Dr. Charles L. Allen, noted author and pastor emeritus, First United Methodist Church, Houston, Texas, delivered the National Evangelism message at the 7:30 a.m. breakfast Sunday.

Dr. Fred Craddock, Professor of Homiletics, Candler school of Theology, Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia, delivered the all assembly banquet message held in the Hoosier Dome (the home of the Indianapolis Colts professional football team).

Dr. Gilbert Davis, Jr. Director, Church Relations, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, delivered a message on Stewardship Monday evening. At the close of his message he received a standing ovation by the entire assembly which seemed to never quit, until he stood and motioned for the audience to be seated!

Other speakers include Dr. Norman Bent, Pastor, Moravian Church, Managua, Nicaragua, Central America, and Dr. Walter D. Bingham, Third Christian Church, Louisville, Kentucky. (This is the second largest church in the Disciples brotherhood.)

Fifty-six items of business were presented to the delegates in the twice daily business sessions. Twenty-nine resolutions were passed. They dealt with items about the beginning of new congregations to the encouragement of stronger enforcement of laws on drunk drivers. Six resolutions were defeated; four were turned back to the committee on referral; seventeen reports were heard and received from the different church units.

K. David Cole, Pastor of Swope Parkway United Christian Church, Kansas City, Missouri, is the newly elected moderator who will preside over the next General Assembly to be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, October 25 - 30, 1991. This is the first time Oklahoma, the seventh largest region of the Christian Church, has hosted the assembly since 1950. Brother Harter states that he attended that assembly which was held in Oklahoma City while he was a seminary student at Texas Christian University.

The Reverend Dale and Mrs. Mary Harter will bring a short report of the assembly to the congregation this Sunday at the 11:00 a.m. worship service.

Over 50 band members attend camp

Over fifty members of Floydada High School's "Spirit of the Winds" Band recently participated in a three day band camp at Plains Baptist Assembly. The camp's purpose was to prepare the band members for the upcoming marching season.

The camp instructors, music education majors from Texas Tech University, directed sectional rehearsals and taught marching fundamentals. The Texas Tech instructors included: Mark Brumley, Drum Major and high brass instructor; Jimmy Olague, percussion section leader; Jennifer Kindren, flag instructor; Christine Farina, woodwinds instructor; and Mike Blass, low brass instructor.

Band director John Odom and Grant Hambright termed the camp a big success. Odom stated, "We feel that a lot was accomplished in a short amount of time in preparing these students for the marching season." He added, "We believe that the students who were unable to attend the camp missed out on some quality instruction as well as mental preparation."

"It was really neat to see these band members begin to pull together and work as a unit this early in the season. We believe that our students benefited a great deal from their experiences here," concluded the second-year Whirlwind Band directors.

Upcoming band activities include the remainder of the summer band rehearsals, which will be held during the week of August 14. Section and full rehearsals will be conducted during the afternoons and evenings of that week.

On Friday, August 25, various band members will be traveling to Big Spring to attend a leadership workshop conducted by Dr. Tim Lautzenhelsler. The first official appearance of the "Spirit of the Winds" will be August 26, when the band will be marching in the annual Floyd County Fair Parade in Lockney.

Cult Awareness Workshop slated in Plainview

The Charter Plains Counseling of Plainview, in co-sponsorship with the Hale County Juvenile Probation Department and the Hale county Adult Probation Department, will be holding a day long "Cults Awareness Workshop" for area-wide law enforcement departments, juvenile and adult probation departments, school personnel, mental health professionals, parents and any other interested citizens.

The workshop is to be held at the Ollie Liner Agricultural Center south of Plainview, Wednesday, Aug. 16, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. There is no cost for the 8 hour workshop. Credit hours for this training will be available through many federal and state agencies.

Ben Kennedy, a law enforcement professional from Andrews will be bringing the program on The New Age Movement, Satanism and Occultism. He has presented his program in all parts of the United States and has numerous years of first-hand knowledge, experience and research concerning these subjects.

Cal Farley's Rodeo set for Labor Day weekend

Boys and girls of all ages are preparing for exciting Old West Action and the 45th Annual Cal Farley's Boys Ranch Rodeo.

More than 10,000 people are expected to attend the two-day event Labor Day weekend. Rodeo action will begin at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 3 and 4. Approximately 200 of the Ranch's boys will ride calves, steers, bulls and bareback broncs in competition for belt buckles and the titles of Junior and Senior All-Around Cowboys.

Specialty acts will include the antics of the rodeo clowns, a calf scramble and little boys riding stick horses and sheep. The rodeo is for all of the boys and those who are not contestants will sell barbecue beef plates and other refreshments or will play in the band and assist guests.

For the second year, the young cowgirls from Girlstown, U.S.A. will participate in several rodeo events. Along with a challenging flag race, the girls will also compete in goat dressing, a new event.

Among the spectators will be many of Boys Ranch's graduates who are expected to return for their annual reunion. Since Boys Ranch was founded more than 4000 boys have called the Ranch home and many will attend the activities because of the 50th Anniversary year.

Reserved bleacher seat tickets for $3.50 are on sale at the Boys Ranch administrative offices at 600 West 11th St. in Amarillo and can be obtained by calling (806) 372-2341. General admission tickets are $2.50 and children 6-12 are admitted for $1.00. Barbecue beef plates, prepared by the boys, will be sold at noon each day for $3.50 each.
