County rescinds 43 cent tax rate

Floyd County Commissioners voted 3-2 to rescind a previously adopted 43 cent tax rate and levy a rate of 31.22 cents on September 8 during a special emergency session. The lower rate places the increase at the 8 percent level and ends the possibility of a roll back election in the county.

The action followed two separate emergency sessions, one on September 7 and one on September 8. The September 7 session, (called to "rescind action taken by the commissioners court on August 11, 1989, setting tax rate at 43 cents per $100 valuation and to adopt a tax rate of 31.22 cents per $100 valuation and that an emergency exists because otherwise a lawsuit against the county and the appraisal district effecting all taxing entities will be filed before a 72 hour notice could be posted") ended with a 3-1 vote on the same issue.

Commissioners Connie Bearden, Floyd Jackson and George Taylor voted in favor of leaving the tax rate at the adopted 43 cent level and leaving the door open for a roll back election despite the rumored threat of a lawsuit.

(The rumored lawsuit was expected to ask that the county be separated out of the consolidated tax role and county taxes not be billed until the issue of the exact tax rate was settled. No one was willing to say what exactly the source of the rumor of the lawsuit was. The estimated cost of separating the tax roles was placed at approximately $8,000 by Shiela Faulkenberry of the appraisal district and would delay the mailing of other tax statements an undetermined amount of time.)

The trio said this would allow the public to dictate the tax rate and make the public responsible for whatever cut backs might be necessitated by a lower tax rate. Each expressed the thought that they had voted for the 43 cents because this is what the budget said is needed to operate the county and retain an adequate emergency cash fund. They felt the voters should have the chance to vote on the issue and did not wish to be intimidated by the threat of an anonymous lawsuit.

Commissioner Kay Crabtree stated that he felt "It would just be wasting money since a roll back election will probably result in a 31.22 cent rate." He voiced the opinion that there was no reason to put the county to the expense of the election or the expense and problems of a lawsuit should one be filed.

The court had received petitions containing 1068 Floyd County signatures (plus 2 signatures from Motley County) requesting a roll back election on Tuesday, September 5 and Crabtree felt the large number of signatures was probably indicative of the way people would vote in a roll back. 502 signatures were necessary to obtain a roll back election given the 5017 registered voters on county roles.

During the meeting, the court consulted with District Attorney Becky McPherson concerning their options should a lawsuit be filed. She in turn talked with John Fuller in the state attorney general's office and with Mike Estes of the state property tax board to answer the court's questions.

SECOND EMERGENCY SESSION ON FRIDAY

Meeting in a second emergency session last Friday (The meeting notice was worded exactly as the first emergency session had been, with the exception of the date which was changed to September 8.), the court listened to a plea from city resident and local banker Kinder Farris that they consider rescinding the 43 cent rate and adopt a 31.22 cent rate at this time. He urged the group to then "Do some public education about the cost of operating the county in an attempt to obtain a larger increase next year."

Farris felt that proceeding in this manner would defuse the current situation and avoid both the roll back election and a possible lawsuit. He did not wish to see tax collections for the financially strapped hospital districts, the cities and local schools delayed. Farris would not comment on the source of the lawsuit rumors.

Another resident, Doyle Walls, sat in on part of the commissioners discussion and then voiced the opinion that, "You will be letting a very small minority and a lot of supposition dictate what you do if you rescind the tax rate now." He then stated that the roll back election "Would give the people that elected you the opportunity to say how they feel about the 43 cent tax rate."

Commissioners Taylor and Bearden again spoke up for letting the issue proceed as the law dictates with a roll back election. The pair continued to say they did not want the court to bow to the threat of a lawsuit.

Jackson said that he had reconsidered since the Thursday meeting and was leaning towards rescinding the tax and avoiding the problems it seemed to be creating.

In the end, the court vote came on a motion by Kay Crabtree and seconded by Floyd Jackson. The motion read "To rescind action taken by the commissioners court on August 11, 1989, setting tax rate at 43 cents per $100 of valuation and for adopting a tax rate for the year 1989 for Floyd County as follows:

"There is hereby levied a tax against all real and personal property situated in Floyd County, Texas for the year 1989, at a rate of 31.22 cents upon each $100 of assessed valuation of property as rendered to or assessed upon the tax roles of Floyd County, as of January 1, 1989. The commissioners court of Floyd County, Texas has heretofore held a public hearing on the proposed increase and has otherwise complied with Section 26.06 of the Property tax code V.T.C.A."

Commissioners Bearden and Taylor voted against the motion, making the vote 2-2. County Judge Bill Hardin voted in favor to break the tie.

OTHER ACTION

Other action at the session was the signing of a proclamation recognizing Mary Lou Bollman for her many years of dedication and service on the occasion of her 80th birthday on Saturday, September 9. A unanimous vote passed the proclamation.

Persons attending the two sessions at various times included the judge, the commissioners, Becky McPherson, Glenna Orman, Margaret Herrera, Kinder Farris, James Williams, Shiela Faulkenberry, Jane McAnally, Bill Beedy, Doyle Walls and the Hesperian reporter.

All accounts were examined and payment ordered for those properly presented. Farm work contracts were approved for Gladys Fortenberry, Eva Whitfill, Hershel Swepston and the

Floydada council members hear citizens' 'complaints'

Despite pouring rain and cooling temperatures, emotions ran quite high in Floydada City Council chambers Tuesday evening, September 12, 1989. Approximately 100 citizens filled the available seating in the meeting room and spilled down the two entry halls to attend a scheduled public hearing for the purpose of airing citizens complaints toward the Floydada Police Department. The hearing was called to hear complaints. Answers would be made at a later time after the city attorney had studied the complaints.

Following the invocation and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mayor Parnell Powell called for registration of anyone wishing to speak. A total of five individuals signed the list prior to council determination of a ten minute time limit for each person's presentation.

First to address the council was Floydada resident, Oscar Garza. Garza did not express a complaint against the department, rather he inquired as to the reason there are no Mexican-American officers in the local department. He said that he had lived in Floydada since 1959 and there had been two or three such officers during that time, but they each left.

Garza stated that he knew of a Mexican-American officer named Joe in "1962 or 1964" who had taken a job in Plainview in order to leave Floydada. He quoted the officer as saying he was unable to do his job as he should in Floydada because the city had "city law and city rules".

According to Garza, the officer said that he was expected to treat the anglo population differently than the Mexican-Americans and the blacks. When asked if he had any documentation or would give the officer's last name, Garza replied that his information came from a conversation and had no written documentation. He also said that he did not remember the officer's last name.

Mayor Parnell Powell told the gentleman and those in attendance that this question had been answered in June when it first arose. Police Chief James Hale had indicated at that time that the applicants for the last vacancy in the department had been checked out and the one Mexican-American applicant had lied on his application.

Councilman Amado Morales asked Hale to give the name of the applicant. Hale declined to do so in a public meeting.

Next to speak was Juan Gomez. Gomez also stated that he had no complaint with the department, but expressed his opinion that Hispanic officers were needed to deal with the segment of the local population which speaks little or no English. He said that he felt it was important since someone who speaks only Spanish and someone who speaks only English would not be able to communicate.

Morales elaborated on this saying, "What he is referring to is when they stop them out in the streets and what have you, if you get somebody that don't know how to speak English at all, and you get into some kind of vibes with him, all of a sudden, you might just whack him over the head cause he don't understand what's going on. He might be drunk or maybe he's getting some kind of attack and the policeman thinks that he's trying to get to him or attack him or something."

Mayor Powell asked, "Has that happened, Amado?"

Morales replied, "I don't know."

A smattering of laughter from the crowd at this point brought councilman Ruben Barrientoz into the discussion saying, "Excuse me, you might think that's funny, but it has happened. A fourteen year old boy was hit in the head by a police officer. I am not going to mention no names, they know who they are. I don't have no complaints about that because that happened before I was here, but if anything like that happens now, then the police, the city, would be liable for a lawsuit. That was a fourteen year old boy. They couldn't get him down, he was drinking. A fourteen year old boy and they had to smack him on the head and put four stitches in his head. Now you might think that's funny, but turn it around and see what happens if you're in Mexico and they are talking to you, you don't understand and then they try to get you handcuffed and you don't understand what they are talking about cause they are talking in a tongue you don't understand. Then there would be a problem. That's all we are trying to do, we are trying to do away with the problems that would create a lawsuit for the City of Floydada."

Tino Morales, a Floydada resident who lives away while attending school, interrupted at this point stating, "It's already too late. It's already too late." No explanation was given for this comment.

While waiting for the next speaker to prepare, Amado Morales requested the records of police officers Darrell Gooch and Harold Snell to determine what their background and training consisted of and how they came to be officers in Floydada. He said, "We want to determine if we have competent law officers here in Floydada."

Gooch told the gathering his qualifications and indicated that he would be willing to learn to speak Spanish if given the opportunity. He said that a former officer had taught him a little Spanish and that Joe Aleman, an observer with

We write a column like this, or at least a few paragraphs like this, every year. We know it won't help much, but maybe a little. Besides, it makes us feel better, and we can at least hope.

The subject is trading at home.

We don't want to preach on the subject. Nearly everyone knows the arguments on all sides. But sometimes we need reminding that trade is the lifeblood of a community, and when a certain amount of trade goes out, a little of that community's lifeblood goes with it.

Sometimes, when people get material through the mail, from Chicago, or Atlanta, or some such place, they are wont to marvel at the pretty pictures and the prices, and say to themselves "Why can't our local merchants match those prices?"

The answer is relatively simple. The out-of-state seller pays no state sales tax, (unless they have a "physical presence" in this state, like Sears, or Montgomery Ward, in which case they do pay the tax) so they start off with about a seven percent price advantage. They pay no local property tax. They pay no tax to support the local schools. They pay no tax to support city or county police forces. They give no employment to local citizens. The list goes on and on. Obviously they should be able to offer their wares more cheaply. They are getting a free ride on the backs of those who do those things, and who, in the process, are providing a community into which they can mail and make their sales.

No one can blame a shopper for trying to get the best deal he or she can. It is true of course that some people shop at the most expensive out-of-town stores just to impress their friends and perhaps their relatives. Nieman-Marcus in Dallas got rich that way. (And with effective advertising.) But most people are impressed with bargains. They want to save money on this item, knowing that pretty soon they are going to need to spend money on some other item. That is where effective advertising comes in. It does no good to have a bargain, for instance, if no one knows that bargain is available.

The world is full of ex-store owners who took the position that "I've been here a long time and everybody knows what I have here. Why should I spend good money telling them about it?"

Well, Sam Walton, who built Wal-Mart, didn't think that way. Neither did the people who built Sears, or General Motors, or Pay-n-Save, or any number of others we could mention. They've all been here a while too, but they never cease telling us what they have to sell, and how good it is, and what good bargains they have for us. That's one reason they are still with us.

But back to the point. Our local businesses are generally very supportive of our local community. And they are exceedingly well stocked, in our opinion, for a small community. Let's at least give them a fair break. Check their ads. Check their wares and their prices. And then reflect upon how much support this community gets from those who run the t.v. sales campaigns, or the bulk mail solicitation campaigns, or the out-of-town "discount" houses. Chances are very good that one will find, in balance, that some of our very best bargains are right here.

FmHA farm borrowers invited to Sept. 20 meeting on loan servicing

Floyd County farmers with loans from the Farmers Home Administration are invited to a meeting on September 20, 1989 on how FmHA's computer program is used in considering loan servicing options such as rescheduling and write-downs, FmHA County Supervisor Becky Via said.

The meeting will be at 1:00 p.m. at the Ollie Linder Center (Ag Building), South Columbia Street, Plainview, Texas.

Becky Via said the meeting is particularly important for FmHA borrowers behind in their payments and those having difficulty with their loans.

"We will go over all the options available to those borrowers and explain how to go about finding one that will keep them in operation," Becky said. "We will be putting emphasis on the Debt and Loan Restructuring (DALRS) computer program that was developed just for this purpose."

Becky said DALRS does many mathematical calculations quickly and in a number of combinations in helping in the analysis of farm financial plans.

"If a restructuring plan exists that will keep the borrower on the farm, DALRS will find that plan, and that plan will minimize the cost of debt restructuring," she said.

DALRS was developed as a tool to help debt restructuring authorized by the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987. FmHA borrowers who are behind in their payments should, by all means, try to attend this meeting, Becky said.

Sanders earns first in grid contest

Making the first mark on the road to the Cowboys-Eagles game was Sarah Sanders of Floydada. Sanders missed a total of five games in the initial week of the Floyd County Hesperian Football Contest. This places her in the lead in the race for the end of season tickets with a score of 17. Sanders will receive the first place check for $10 this week.

The race for second place turned into a real battle with five entries missing six games on the contest. Five of the entries selected Floydada as the winner of the tie breaking game. The sixth did not circle a winner.

Joseph Henderson of Floydada earned the second place check of $6 by virtue of his tie breaker score. The total score in the Floydada-Idalou matchup was 38. Henderson predicted 35. His point total in the race for the Cowboy Thanksgiving day tickets stands at 16, as do the other five who missed 6 games this week.

Sherry Hale and Sheree Cannon, both of Floydada, tied for third place with six misses, Floydada as winner and a total points prediction of 21. Each will receive a check for $2 as their share of the third place weekly purse of $4.

Others missing six games were Hugh Miller and Leroy Schaffner of Floydada. The tie breaking points on Millers entry were 14 with Floydada winning while Schaffner selected 24 as the score, but did not circle a winner. These two intrepid gentlemen deserve an honorable mention for their efforts.

Seven was the magic number as seven entries missed seven games this first week of the contest. Brent Sanders, Susan Simpson, Jerry Galloway, Mike Anderson, Dale Jahay, Nick Long, and Suzanne Wyrick were the entrants in this category. All are from Floydada. These entrants have a score of 15 in the race for the Cowboy tickets.

Nine entries missed 8 games this week. All are Floydada residents and now have a score of 14 in the season contest for the Thanksgiving Day game tickets. Those in this category include Glenda Wilson, Sammy Bradley, Travis Gentry, Elisha Morris, Kimberly Redden, Andy Hale, Pam Tipton, Kevin Tipton and Jack Robertson.

Six more entries remained in the single digit missing category with 9 wrong choices this week. They are Joy Allen, Wes Campbell, Jean Hale and Carrie Davis of Floydada and Coby and Brady Marr (combined entry) and Roy Saucedo of Lockney. These entrants have a score of 13 in the ticket race.

Sponsors will be delighted to know that more people than ever before have entered the contest this year during the first week. Usual number of entries in the first week of the contest is around 50 to 60. A total of 78 entries were received this week at the Hesperian Office.

Entrants are reminded to keep entering each week as the highest cumulative score of the 10 week contest will determine the winner of the tickets. A week of upsets can really change the overall outlook of the contest, so it is important that you not miss a week in pursuing points.

Be sure to use the same name on your entry each week and be doubly sure you carefully circle your choices on your entry blank. It is necessary only to turn in the entry blank, not the entire sheet. Make sure you circle a winner in the tie breaker game and write the total score of both teams in the tie breaker football each week.

Let the contest sponsors know you appreciate their efforts to enliven the 1989 football season for Hesperian

Approximately 100 persons attend annual Coop meet

Stockholders with Floydada Co-op met Tuesday, September 5, at 7:30 p.m., for the annual stockholders meeting, in the Massie Activity Center. About 100 members and guests were present for the business meeting and election of three new directors.

Directors elected by the members were Randy Bertrand, Steve Lloyd and Mike Hinsley. Bertrand and Lloyd are both returning directors and Hinsley is a newly elected director who was elected to fill the void left by retiring President Eugene Beedy.

A net income of $1,062,677 was earned by the co-op and a record year of dividend checks were distributed to all members in the amount of $989,000.00. Included in this amount were current dividends of $447,000.00 and stock retirement from 1978 to 1984 in the amount of $542,000.00.

A record number of bales were ginned by Floydada Co-op last fall. The 1989 total of 44,477 bales beat out the 1985 record of 33,990 bales. Cotton producers were praised for the efforts in growing the record amount of cotton and for keeping it tarped and dry in the fields, waiting for their turn in the gin.

Door prizes were handed out to winning members and refreshments were served to members and guests after the meeting.

Letter to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

It is time for us to direct our own destiny. You should be thankful the media does not create your leaders, you do; on a local level, we can enter the battle that continues in the area of education, social justice, municipal services and economic development.

A most important development has occurred in the past decade which we as leaders and officials have to confront; and that is the increased discrimination and bigotry affecting the poor, the young and particularly ethnic minorities of all social status. We must separate the rotten apples from the bushel before it spreads its cancerous rot throughout the rest of the community.

To start out this process, we need to put a caption on the number of years a councilman can serve as an elected official; 10 years is ample time for anyone to give of his time before passing the reigns to new leadership; as it is now, there's members that have served well over 20 years and feel that their decisions are final regardless of others opinions.

These are the type of rotten apples we must get rid of. I believe that democracy is valid only if the governed have a voice in their own governance. We have to restore the faith, the belief, and trust in a system that had excluded Hispanics for over a century. All that has drastically changed now. Hispanics all over West Texas are getting on the band wagon on this new era of the Hispanic movement. It's not a movement to discriminate against any other ethnic race, but a movement to be able to govern ourselves and have representation in all segments of our local government. Our first priority should be in having Hispanic police officers in our community. As it stands now, the Hispanics make up more than 50% of the population in this town. Look around, open your insights; No Hispanic police officers. Join with me in the fight to get this uneven scale balanced out.

What is an Emergency Medical Technician?

By Wayne Jones,
Cypress Creek EMS Assoc.

An EMT is the man or woman who lives next door and is the one called when you have the medical problem.

An EMT is a woman that puts her family's dinner on hold when she is called to help a person in need.

An EMT is a person who leaves their dinner or party guests to render aid.

An EMT is a person who leaves the comfort of their home at any time day or night, in all kinds of weather to help others.

An EMT is a neighbor who is called to your house when your child has overdosed and the other neighbors never hear of your child's problem.

An EMT is a person who risks their own life in the middle of the street during a driving rainstorm trying to save a life.

An EMT is a person that stands waist deep in a drainage ditch full of water trying to stabilize a broken body.

An EMT is a person who carries all sorts of medical equipment, in the August heat, for a quarter of a mile or more to help someone and knowing, all the while, that they will have to carry both the patient and the equipment back to the ambulance.

An EMT is a person who is called out of their home in the middle of the night and cannot go back to sleep because of the trauma they have seen, knowing that they will have to go work or take care of their own family the next day with little or no sleep and there being no guarantee that the same thing will not happen again the next night.

An EMT is a person who runs into a storm door in the dark of night and wonders what the "hell" happened.

An EMT is a person who carries stomach sedatives and mouth wash so they can settle their stomach and get the foul taste out of their mouth after giving CPR to a person who has thrown up in a full beard.

An EMT is a person who gets kicked in the face while trying to help a drunk or an overdose victim.

An EMT is a person who remains calm and renders life saving aid when all they can see are broken and torn bodies.

An EMT is a person who frantically tries to wash the blood off of their hands and face while enroute to another emergency so they will not frighten the patient or the patient's family when they arrive to render aid.

An EMT is a person who continues to walk toward the scene when all they want to do is turn around and run in the other direction.

An EMT is a person who has seen more suffering and death than any person should ever have to experience.

An EMT is a person who cries when they are unable to save a patient.

An EMT is a person who laughs with joy when they deliver a baby and goes to the hospital on a day off to see "their" baby.

An EMT is a person who risks their life driving in rush hour traffic to find out that it was only a prank call.

An EMT is a person who goes home and gives their own child a little extra loving after seeing a child die.

An EMT is a person who cannot get the smell of a horribly burned victim out of their nose, hair, and clothes.

An EMT is a person who gets mad at a suicide victim because they were not given a chance to help.

An EMT is a person who knows that they will probably be injured enroute or on a scene at some point in their career.

An EMT is a person who pulls a fever thermometer out of their own mouth when a call comes in and runs out into a cold rain to help someone. When they return home with a chill and pickup their thermometer they see 101 degrees on it.

An EMT is a person who goes into a pit of raw sewage to help a trapped victim.

An EMT is a person who cares.

So, when you are awakened in the middle of the night by the sound of thunder, the flash of lightning and the pounding of rain on your roof and hear a siren scream in the night you know that EMT's will be risking their lives trying to help some unknown stranger. Will you, then, take a moment to offer a prayer and silently give them a "thank you" before turning over in your warm bed and falling back to sleep?

the force, is teaching him a little now. He also stated that "If you work with the person, I have found that I can communicate with someone who doesn't speak English."

Amado Morales then stated that the problem is increasing with the new immigration laws and that he thought there were about 15 percent of the current population in Floydada who could not speak any English.

Tino Morales spoke next. He stated, "As far as litigation is concerned, we have been advised under our counsel not to elaborate on the information that we have gathered. We pass it on to them for litigation against the City of Floydada. You will be hearing from our attorneys pretty soon."

The fourth speaker was David Bass, an attorney who attended to represent the interest of a client, James Hale. Bass declined to speak as nothing had arisen requiring him to speak in his client's behalf.

Councilman Morales then returned to the question of Officer Snell's qualifications. Snell detailed his background for the group followed by a question from Morales asking, "You ever had any trouble with the law? Have you ever been charged with anything or acquitted or anything?"

Snell responded, "No."

Morales continued, "Laid off your job due to things that might have occurred?"

Councilman Leroy Burns entered the discussion saying, "I don't think your people are speaking tonight, is that right? You want to wait and have it before your attorney, your lawyers."

Morales responded, "They are not speaking, I am speaking."

Burns asked, "Then why should our people have to answer then?"

Barrientos then asked, "Your people, what do you mean your people?"

Morales said, "Your people, that's our people, too. Everybody is our people."

"Okay, then why should they have to answer these questions when your people are not?" asked Burns.

Morales invited him to ask any questions he would like of anyone present.

Burns responded, "What did your brother just say, he had to confer with his lawyer?"

Councilman Morales then stated, "All these people are the same people. The council has the right to ask whatever questions they want. Am I correct?" A nod to the affirmative brought the response, "All right, I think that's all I have to ask," from Morales.

Barrientos then asked if Snell had filled in an application and given a resume to get his job. Snell replied that he had. Barrientos then asked why Snell had left Brownfield to come here.

Snell replied, "To come back here."

Barrientos continued, "Okay, but what was the reason, were you terminated, were you laid off or you just chose to come back to Floydada?"

Snell stated that he had returned to Floydada because his family was here.

Floydada resident Bill Hicks was the fifth person on the list to speak. He declined, asking to wait until a later date.

The public hearing was closed on a motion by Amado Morales, seconded by Wayne Tipton and passed by unanimous vote.

BUDGET HEARING

The next item to be handled was a public hearing concerning the proposed budget for October 1, 1989 to September 30, 1990. Mayor Powell informed the crowd that the tax rate on which the budget had been based was 40 cents per $100 valuation. He added that this had not changed in more than 15 years.

Amado Morales began the discussion with "one last plea" for provisions to pave a street in northeast Floydada. Councilman at Large Wayne Russell objected, saying everyone should be treated fairly and that the council should not pave in one precinct without paving a block in all precincts. He added that since the proposed budget was already over extended by more than $90,000, adding another $120,000 for four blocks of paving was not feasible at this time.

Morales asked, "Don't we have any CD's?"

Russell answered, "We didn't come in here to spend all the money we've got. We would be in the same shape as the county if we did that."

"Well, we're only talking about $20-$25,000," said Morales.

"No, we are talking about four times that much," said Russell. "There is not anyone represented here who doesn't have a part of Floydada they don't want to pave."

Morales then asked if any projects had been considered for northeast Floydada during the more than 20 years Russell had served on the council. Russell replied that the council had been responsible for graveling all the streets, used grant money and rehab funds in that part of town.

Comments from the crowd questioned this and indicated that gravel streets were not part of northeast Floydada. Reverend Ralph Jackson told the council that they needed to drive in the area and see what was actually there. It also was suggested that the drive take place when the streets were muddy.

Tino Morales stood to say, "We are missing the real issue. The issue is pavement on the streets, not gravel."

Barrientos questioned the use of city funds to contribute to grant funds for

County rescinds 43 cent tax rate

Rankin Estate. A previously approved contract for Bill Beedy was voided.

Commissioner Taylor suggested that the farm work contracts be amended to allow for charging of a 1.5 percent interest fee on contracts remaining unpaid after thirty days. Payment would be due when the work was completed and no further work would be approved until the payment had been made to the county. The matter will be placed on a future agenda for action.

County treasurer Glenna Orman made her monthly report, stating that the county began the month of August with $170,237.04 and took in receipts of $393,271.10. Disbursements totaled $426,776.38, leaving $136,731.76 in the general fund at the close of the month.

She also reported $265,000 in certificates of deposit due to mature on September 12. These funds will be combined with the balance in the general fund to pay the accounts approved by the commissioners on September 11. Payroll for September will also be paid out of these funds. The balance remaining at the end of September is expected to be around $270,000, according to Orman. This will be the carry over figure for the new budget set to begin on October 1.

The court approved a schedule of fees for various county services for the next year. There were no changes from last year's fees.

County Judge Bill Hardin was again appointed to serve on the appraisal district board for a two year term beginning January 1, 1990 and ending December 31, 1991.

The court decided to continue meeting on the second Monday of each month as they have in the past. State law has been changed to allow counties to choose the day of their choice rather than having to meet on a day set by the state.

Wording on the street maintenance contract with the City of Lockney was changed from "at all times" to "when necessary" regarding the required presence of a city employee on site whenever the county is doing any work. All street work in Lockney must be requested by the city and will be done at the discretion of the commissioner involved.

The annual order allowing discounts to those who pay their taxes early was approved by unanimous vote. Taxpayers paying in October will receive a three percent discount, those paying in November will be discounted two percent and payments in December will be discounted one percent.

Board handles routine agenda Tuesday night

Meeting in regular session on Tuesday, September 12, 1989, the board of trustees of the Floydada Independent School District moved through a fairly routine agenda.

The board approved the hiring of Linda Hodges as transitional coordinator at Caprock Special Education Cooperative. Resignations were accepted from Lisa Enriquez (migrant aide at A.B. Duncan Elementary) and Connie Bertrand (computer aide at R.C. Andrews Elementary).

Board members also approved the student absence policy as presented by the state for adoption. A $500 supplemental funding expenditure was approved for use by the juvenile probation department which works with the school to rehabilitate delinquent students.

The trustees confronted representatives of Quality Air Conditioning in Plainview concerning the delays in installation of the new equipment at local campuses. The board was assured that the work, due for completion before school began, would be finished within 10 to 14 days.

Other action taken by the board was the renewal of membership in the South Plains School Board Association.

Attending the session were superintendent Jerry Cannon, administrative assistant Jimmie Collins and board members Charlene Brown, Michael Hinsley, Cyndiann Williams, John Campbell, Adolfo Garcia, Andy Hale, and Don Hardy. Robert Redden was also present.

'Winds' storm past Idalou Wildcats 25-13

By Bill Gray

The Dean Bates era at Floydada High School was inaugurated in grand style on September 8, as the Whirlwinds handed their new mentor a convincing 25-13 victory over the Idalou Wildcats. The contest had the usual opening day jitters, miscues and penalties, but the Whirlwinds served notice on other AAA clubs on the South Plains by displaying an awesome ground game — coupled with a mixture of timely passing and an opportunistic, swarming defense.

Grant Stovall, Kenneth Collins and Frank Suarez monopolized the statistics, but it was an overall team effort that propelled Floydada into defeating Idalou for the first time since 1981. This trio had a hand in the production of all the Whirlwind points and most of the offensive output.

Under threatening skies, Idalou received the opening kick and discovered — in a hurry — that the Floydada defense would take up where it left off last year as one of the area's premier stopping units. Floydada held the 'Cats to a minus five yards in their initial offensive set, forcing Idalou to punt after three futile attempts to dent the Floydada wall.

From there, it didn't take the Whirlwinds long to score. They mounted a 4-play, 48-yard drive, capped by a 31-yard sprint off the wishbone option by quarterback Grant Stovall for the first points of 1989. An errant snap on the PAT caused Frank Suarez to be wide on his kick attempt, and the score remained Floydada 6, Idalou 0.

Idalou's offense sputtered after the ensuing kickoff, due mainly to the defensive efforts of Lalo Delgado, Victor Chavarria and Adam Cates. First time starters Freddie Portee and Kenneth Davis also contributed to the 'Winds' stopping power from the outset of the ball game. Ruben Chavarria and Jay Mendoza turned in outstanding jobs at the linebacker spots.

After an exchange of punts, Idalou registered its deepest thrust when full-back Brent Respondek skirted for a 22-yard gainer. Only a saving tackle by safety Kenneth Collins prevented a Wildcat score. Idalou moved the ball to the Whirlwind 38-yard-line before punting again.

A few plays later the Wildcats failed to capitalize on a Whirlwind fumble and again were forced to punt. Idalou's defense stiffened, with Brent Respondek sacking Grant Stovall (one of the few times all evening that the 'Cats managed to get to the 'Wind QB).

The Wildcats set up shop at their own 49-yard-line following a Floydada punt. On the next play, Adam Cates, Freddie Portee and Jay Mendoza exhibited their own version of "sack time" by throwing Wildcat QB Chris Criswell for a 12-yard setback. After completing a 6-yard screen pass to Brent Respondek, Criswell again elected to go to the airways.

This time it was picked off by Whirlwind defender Kenneth Collins, who broke into the clear and raced 57 yards for an apparent Floydada touchdown. The score was nullified by a Floydada blocking foul. Following a twelve yard gain by Frank Suarez, the 'Winds appeared to be on a scoring drive, but a pass interception near the end zone by Idalou stalled the effort.

Idalou was unable to mount anything in the shadows of their own goal posts and again had to punt the ball back to the 'Winds. On the second play, Grant Stovall suffered his second interception by Idalou. David Carrillo made the important play for the Wildcats. The first half ended with Idalou QB Chris Criswell firing blanks as Floydada's Joe Cisneros and Kenneth Collins offered good protection from their secondary positions.

As the first half drew to a close, with Floydada holding a 6-0 lead, thunderstorms began moving into the Idalou area. The "Spirit of the 'Winds" Band was first on the field for halftime activities. John Odom's troops turned in a solid performance for the first show of the year.

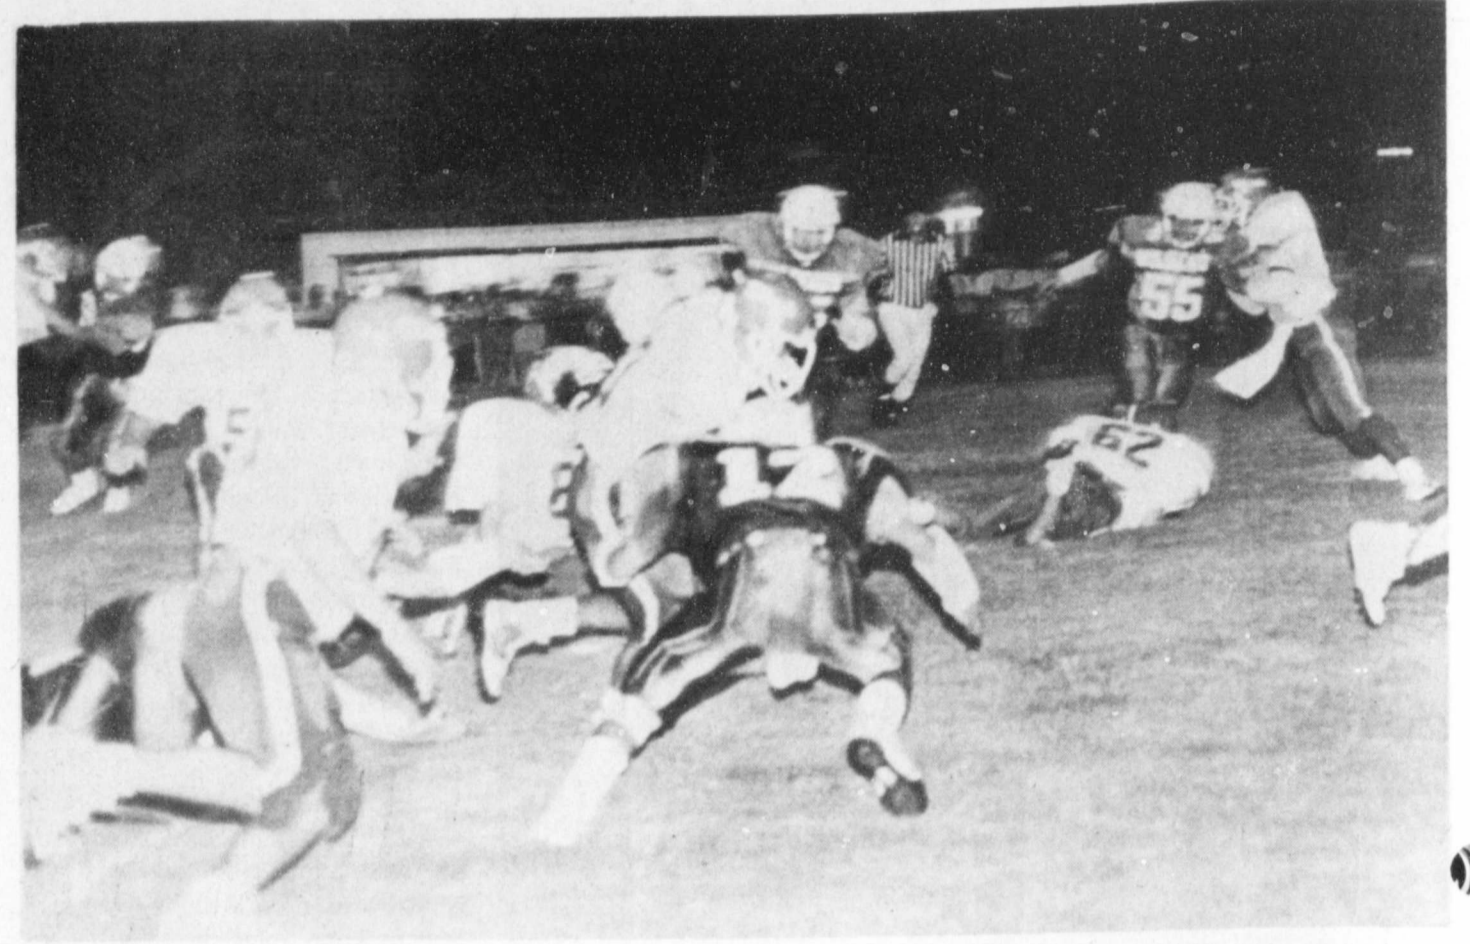

However, as the storms developed, a more appropriate musical show might have included Burt Bacharach's Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head, Stormy Weather, or perhaps selections from Handel's Water Music. Because it did cut loose! The Idalou Band was caught in the deluge, which lasted more than a half an hour. The start of the second half of play was delayed due to the severe lightning (which had spectators running for cover or to their cars).

Mother Nature's lightning show foretold of the fireworks that were about to unfold in the second half. Idalou received and after exchanges of possession, the Wildcats controlled the ball at their own 44-yard line. Chris Criswell's overthrown pass found a wide-open Kenneth Collins, who breezed 58 yards down the west sidelines toward the north end zone for a Whirlwind touchdown. Speaking of lightning — yes, it does sometimes strike twice. The play was almost identical to an earlier Continued on Page 7

Coach's Comments

Coach Dean Bates and his staff welcomed a large crowd of supporters at 1989's first Monday night Booster Club meeting. The coach was quick to bring attention to the new state-of-the-art video equipment, and expressed his appreciation for the new "tools" to work with (such as the fine weight room facility).

Bates said, "The weight program we now have is second to none, and is a very important part of our strength and conditioning approach."

He stated, "We were tickled to death on our effort on Friday night against Idalou, and we may be better than people thought we were."

Bates went on to say, "One game does not make a season, but it was a solid performance in most respects and should give us added confidence going into next week.

"We had some breakdowns in the kicking game that we intend to rectify," he added. He also noted that "We are playing 'em one at a time, but this team could do something big before the year is over."

The coach gave the good news that Jesse Suarez (injured the first time he had the ball against Idalou) and Freddie Portee are doing fine and should be back in the lineup against Roosevelt. Everyone is pretty healthy now except Zach Nutt and Jessie Vela.

In discussing the Roosevelt Eagles, Bates warned, "They may be the biggest ball club we'll play this year. They have a good tailback, good receivers, and an experienced line. It will take a determined effort and continued intensity to handle them."

Whirlwind JV tops Idalou

The Whirlwind JV (composed mostly of 9th graders) hosted the Idalou JV on September 7 and came out on top to the tune of 26-14.

A 14-point first quarter was highlighted by Jammie Davis' 20-yard TD scamper. Davis then added a run for the two point conversion. Quarterback Billy Villarreal ran for an 8-yard touch-down off the option. The conversion attempt failed again and Floydada lead 14-0.

Davis added a 5-yard run (PAT failed) in the second quarter to help the JV 'Winds to a comfortable 20-0 lead. Jammie scored again in the third quarter on a 35-yarder to increase the winning margin. Idalou scored twice in the final quarter, but it was too little, too late.

Outstanding offensive players, as cited by the coaches, were Jammie

Davis, Michael Henderson, Scott Crader and Billy Villarreal. Defensive standouts included Ramiro Rios and Jesse Rodriguez.

The ninth graders will travel to Roosevelt for a 5:30 game on September 14. The sophomores on the JV will suit up for the Roosevelt home opener, and some of them may see action with the Varsity against the Eagles.

'Winds "storm" past Idalou Wildcats

Collins' theft of an Idalou aerial for the TD that was called back.

The 'Winds elected to go for two. Stovall's pass, intended for Collins, fell incomplete and the score remained 12-zip Floydada. Following the kickoff, Idalou wasn't able to muster much offense and punted again. The 'Winds then marched 43 yards in 9 plays, with Frank Suarez leading the charge. At the Idalou 20, Stovall sighted tight end Kenneth Collins on a post pattern (instead of the designed sideline fly route), and threw a perfect strike to "KC" for the 6-pointer. Another bad snap prevented the PAT and the scoreboard read: Floydada 18, Idalou 0.

Idalou's first play after the kickoff was a well-executed pass from Criswell to the talented Cliff Alexander for a 24-yard gain. Travis Becton then rolled for 17 yards, with a Floydada penalty tacked on at the end of the play for "spearing." The third stanza ended with the Wildcats knocking on the door at Floydada's goal line.

Becton punched across on a 1-yard plunge for Idalou on the first play of the fourth quarter. The 'Cats also had troubles with their conversion attempt, and kicker Baard Aune's run for two came up short after a bobbled snap.

Following the kickoff, a Floydada fumble gave the Wildcats new life at the Whirlwind 42-yard-line. Idalou drove all the way to the 'Wind 10 before Floydada's defense held and turned the ball over to Stovall and Company.

With the game still on the line, the Whirlwinds started their most impressive drive of the evening. Frank Suarez carried five times for over 80 yards in the series, which was capped by a 13-yard TD toss from Stovall to Kenneth Collins to put the game out of reach. Frank Suarez then kicked his first extra point of the young season, extending the Floydada advantage 25-6.

As time wound down, Idalou put together its best drive of the game. Starting from their own 33, the Wildcats marched down the field in the closing moments and scored on a Criswell-to-Alexander pass on the final play of the game. Baard Aune (Foreign Exchange Student from Norway) scored his first points in American football as he kicked the PAT through the uprights with no time remaining in the contest.

The 25-13 final score was pretty indicative of the game's action. Floydada clearly dominated the game, but numerous penalties and four turnovers by the 'Winds helped keep it close. Idalou is a scrappy team and will make some noise in their district once some of their younger players gain experience.

On September 15 the Whirlwinds open their home schedule at Wester Field by hosting the Lubbock Roosevelt Eagles (12-6 losers to the Dimmitt Bobcats last Friday).

BILL'S NOTES

Not enough can be said about the overall team effort in the 'Winds' first outing. The offensive line, those unsung heroes, really deserve credit for making a lot of things happen — just ask Frank Suarez! The "Little Big Man" couldn't have popped for those 191 yards without their superb blocking. The right side — Delgado, DeOchoa and Joe Cisneros — cleared holes for Frank all night. Adam Cates took up where he left off last season with on-field leadership and excellent blocking from his center spot. Adam made some big plays from his new defensive end location, and helped linebackers Jay Mendoza and Ruben Chavarria contain the Idalou option and passing game. Joe Cisneros handled his new position at defensive corner very well, and Kenneth Collins certainly displayed his value to the team on outstanding offensive and defensive efforts. Although Grant Stovall was twice intercepted (one was better than a punt), the Senior signal-caller kept his composure. The 90-yard drive late in the game was a coach's dream, and Grant's talents and experience certainly paid off on that one. The kicking game still needs some work, but it will come around. There were times that it was hard to figure out which was dropping more — raindrops or officials' flags. Floydada was flagged ten times for 83 yards. Some of the late hit calls were questionable, but with the 'Winds' aggressive defense, some of those are to be expected. Offensive play of the game: Grant Stovall's 31-yard TD off the option. Offensive player of the game: Frank Suarez (19 carries for 191 yards). Defensive play and player of the game: Kenneth Collins' 58-yard pass interception for a touchdown.

S.M. True urges abolishment of the current Legal Services Corporation

Texas Farm Bureau President S. M. True has urged the Texas delegation to Congress to support legislation that would provide a complete revision of the present legal services system.

In letters to all of the Texas delegation, the president of the state's largest general farm organization asked for their support and co-sponsorship of H. R. 2884, a bill that would create a new legal services administration within the Department of Justice and that would abolish the current Legal Services Corporation.

According to True, the bill would continue necessary legal services for the indigent but would eliminate many of the harassing tactics currently condoned by the Legal Services Corporation.

The agency under H. R. 2884 would be allowed to represent eligible clients in a wide variety of local situations, but

In addition, True wrote, all grants of over $20,000 in the new administration would be awarded on a competitive basis and be available to individuals, corporations or non-profit organizations. Those grants of less than $20,000 would be awarded subject to regulations governing sole source awards.

"In summary, H. R. 2884 is a comprehensive revision of the present legal services system, and merits your co-sponsorship," True wrote.

Producers to study 1990 farm bill

By Brent Crossland
Beef cattle producers and others in related fields will want to attend a statewide policy symposium October 9, at the College Station Hilton.

Theme for the seminar will be "Potential Impacts of the 1990 Farm Bill."

Brent Crossland, county agent with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, said the symposium will feature a noted group of speakers who will present policy viewpoints and express opinions on how the 1990 Farm Bill will impact cattlemen and consumers.

Crossland said the program is designed for beef cattle producers, consumers, agricultural lenders and other associated agribusiness groups.

Among keynoters will be U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford, chairman of the Agriculture Subcommittee for Livestock, Dairy and Poultry, and Mrs. JoAnn Smith, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Marketing and Inspection Service with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Among other subjects to be addressed by key speakers will be mandatory meat price reporting, animal welfare and patents, food safety and feed grain and dairy policy. An industry viewpoint also will be presented.

The program is being coordinated by the South Central Texas Beef Herd Improvement Association in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, A&M's Department of Agricultural Economics and Texas A&M University, Crossland said.

TGSP announces election results

Six sorghum farmers were elected to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board in mail balloting which ended on September 1. They are: Alton Norman, Howe; George Reeves, Dalhart; Troy Sublett, Hereford; Winfred Kainer, Victoria; Richard Kotzur, Edinburg; and Michael Wiede of Harlingen. Reeves and Kotzur were incumbents. Norman has served as a representative to the board. Sublett, Kainer and Wiede are new to the board.

Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board (TGSPB) is a fifteen-member board elected by sorghum producers to administer the program of market development, research and education that is conducted with sorghum checkoff funds. The TGSPB checkoff is eight-tenths cent per hundredweight and is refundable upon request.

TGSPB is regulated by the Texas Commodity Referendum Law which specifies election procedures. Members of the election canvassing committee were Lubbock County Judge Rod Shaw; Dr. Jackie Smith of Texas Agricultural Extension Service; Mr. Joe Sanchez with the Texas Department of Agriculture; and Jack Cobb, outgoing director of TGSPB. The election results were certified by Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Hightower.

This election was the final stage of a statewide districting plan to give equal representation to all sorghum producers in the state. Each district is represented by three directors.

Other directors serving on the TGSPB are: J. W. "Chato" Bauer, Refugio; Albert Scheele, Lockney; Richard H. Perry, Robstown; Howard D. Salge, Skidmore; Billy Bob Brown, Panhandle; K.B. Parish, Springlake; Ralph Mabry, Lubbock; Dale Spurgin, Lucas; and Wilbert Vorwerk of Taylor.

The new directors will take the oath of office at the next regular meeting of the board on September 14 in Austin.

Floyd County Farm Situation

C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology
Crosby/Floyd County

GENERAL SITUATION

Weather has remained hot and humid this week, with widely scattered rain showers, and some hail in very localized spots. Corn harvest is underway. Cotton bolls are beginning to open in earlier fields.

This will be the last regular issue of the Crosby-Floyd Pest Management newsletter. Check in your local newspapers for continued pest situation updates until we completely wind down the season.

- * Aphid problems continue.
- * Bollworm egg counts have begun increasing in late and lush fields.
- * Boll weevils continue to plague cotton producers on the edge of the Caprock.
- * Midge numbers increasing in blooming sorghum.

COTTON

Aphids continue to be the major problem across the area at this time. Aphids continue to be found in program fields; just below treatment levels (17/leaf) in most fields, and requiring treatment in other fields. Parasitic wasp activity is occurring in many fields at this time, resulting in brown, swollen aphid mummies. The wasps may clean up light infestations, but don't allow your cotton to get sappy while waiting on wasps to control your aphids. If aphid numbers reach an average of 25 per leaf, you should consider treatment. This pest can still cause considerable damage, especially if the weather remains warm. Scouting for aphids is relatively simple. Count all aphids, both winged and wingless forms on the undersides of a minimum of 30 fullgrown, major leaves selected randomly from the upper, middle, and lower third of the plants and from several locations in the fields. A magnifying glass may help you to count small aphids until you get your eye trained. If aphids number more than 20 or so, counting them in groups of 5 or 10 will be accurate enough. Average the number of aphids per leaf. (You'll be amazed at the range in number on individual leaves. go with the average).

Remember that once bolls begin opening, heavy aphid numbers can cause sticky lint problems. Watch this situation carefully. If as many as an average of 15 aphids per leaf are present once bolls begin opening, an application is probably warranted.

You should be aware that Di-Syston is not labeled for use after boll opening. Bidrin has a 30 day harvest interval. Cygon has a 14 day harvest interval if mixed in water, and 40 day interval in oil. Repeated applications of Cygon should not be made at intervals closer than the harvest interval. Continue to use labeled rates, and not the low rates we have used in the past. Ground rigs should be equipped with drops, 3 nozzles per row, and hollow cone nozzles.

Bollworms continue to be found in individual fields. Earlier this week, worm pressure was light. Since Wednesday, I have begun finding what appears to be an increased egg lay. This situation will require intensified scouting and closer scouting intervals. Do not treat fields on the basis of eggs or 1 day old worms, since they may not survive. Control decisions after the first week in September become extremely difficult, since the amount of damage these worms can do is largely related to weather and crop conditions. Worms have difficulty surviving in fields that are cutting out and toughening up. In lush fields, they tend to feed longer in the upper part of the plant (in squares and blooms) before moving down to damage harvestable bolls. When making an application after September 5, you are gambling that weather conditions will favor both worm activity and value of small bolls. If the current weather pattern holds, conditions (unseasonably warm weather and a delayed crop) will be in favor of the worms.

Boll weevils continue to be an economic problem in fields along the edge of the Caprock. Punctures of nickel-sized bolls have been recorded at as high as 29% in program fields near Dougherty. Square punctures are no longer of any relative importance. However, if infestations are heavy enough, they will also damage nickel and quarter-sized bolls. These bolls may have a chance of making cotton. However, if shot up by weevils, they will reduce grades and increase ginning costs. Producers in weevil hot spots should randomly pick 100 small bolls from several locations of each field. If boll punctures number 10-15%, control may be warranted. A pyrethroid would be the choice of bollworms are also present. Otherwise, Guthion would be the most likely choice.

The projected starting spray date for the USDA boll weevil suppression program is September 25, as I understand. Many producers feel that this is too late. However, you must remember that the primary objective of the program is to prevent the westward advancement of this pest into the High Plains by reducing numbers of weevils which will overwinter in the suppression zone. Therefore, until the program begins, we must deal with late-season economic infestations ourselves. I know you all are aware that without the program, the boll weevil might be a season-long pest.

SORGHUM

Last weekend, in some fields, I found infestations of 2-5 day old armyworms averaging about 1 per head. Continue to shake heads into a bucket and monitor these infestations.

Midge are becoming more readily found. Of course, most sorghum is safe from midge attack. However, if any of you have any quick-maturing sorghum that is still blooming, it should be checked carefully for midge.

The crisis exemption for use of Asana XL on headworms and sorghum midge was amended to include use in seed production sorghum in all High Plains counties.

SOYBEANS

Earlier this week, I received several calls on cabbage loopers infesting soybeans. In fields that I have seen, small cabbage loopers (1/4 inch long) are averaging as many as 8 per row foot and causing up to 10% defoliation of upper leaves. Economic thresholds are based on % defoliation. Many of these small loopers will not survive. Also, loopers are susceptible to various diseases, and populations may crash suddenly. Treatment is justified when defoliation exceeds 20% during blooming and pod fill and 35% from pod fill to harvest.

WHEAT

Just a reminder that seedling wheat should be monitored over the next several weeks for both greenbugs and fall armyworms. The high fall armyworm populations we've seen this year have potential of causing wheat damage.

SCOUTING PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS

I appreciate your patience with me as I try to cover all the acreage in our scouting program. The total amount you paid in scouting fees went to pay wages, insurance, and travel for field scouts from June through August. In addition to that, I promised to continue spot-checking fields as my schedule allowed until the crop could be laid by. I am doing my best to uphold that promise, but unfortunately my best won't be good enough this year. Normally by this time, my phone has stopped ringing, I am finished monitoring in -depth demonstrations, and at least half the program acreage has cut out; but we are still currently in full swing. I cannot monitor all fields as frequently as they need to be checked. You must help me out, primarily in checking for aphids and this new worm hatch. If you'll check just 15-20 plants per field as I've instructed in this newsletter and then call me with your counts, I'll be glad to help you calculate numbers per acre. I will continue to check fields until its over with, and my mobile telephone will remain connected through September.

paving. He asked what difference it made if the money was used that way to pave and using it to pave a block in northeast Floydada.

Amado Morales asked that something be started on a yearly basis to get the paving done. He suggested that the city cutback on some major expenditures such as a backhoe and a digger truck for the utility departments and start paving.

Barrientoz instead attacked the budget for including $2500 for enclosing the pavilion at the R.V. Park. Russell countered with references to the nearly $7,000 in the budget for Annie Taylor Park in northeast Floydada and money earmarked for the swimming pool and the other city parks.

During the nearly fifteen minute discussion of the R.V. Park and the money budgeted to it, several citizens expressed concern and objections for the expenditure.

Councilman Barrientoz suggested that the city "do away with the wants and concentrate on the needs."

Bill Smith spoke up saying that money comes in to the city because of the R.V. Park in the form of people who buy gas, groceries and other services while parked there.

Tino Morales indicated that the same could be said of the parks when ball tournaments are held there.

Some citizens expressed displeasure with the actions of some who use the city parks. Others stated that they did not wish to see city money spent on enclosing the R.V. Park pavilion.

Barrientoz suggested that they complain to the police.

City manager Gary Brown then told the gathering that the city budget was calculated on income of $2,356,833.00 and expenses of $2,451,172.00. This will leave a negative cash flow due to capital expenditures.

The public hearing was closed on a motion by Russell, seconded by Breed and passed by the council.

Barrientoz made a motion to remove the $2500 for the R.V. Park from the budget. It was seconded by Amado Morales. The vote was 2 in favor and 4 against, resulting in no change in the budget.

The budget as presented was adopted by a 4-2 vote with Barrientoz and Morales opposed to the motion made by Burns and seconded by Russell.

Barrientoz went on record as being opposed to the $2500 for the R.V. Park, not the entire budget. He then told the group "Elections are coming up and if you want your money spent ridiculously on some kind of R.V. to benefit 10 percent of the city, say so. You've got your vote, you've got your right, you do it."

Councilman Morales then said, "There's going to be some hurting in the elections."

Councilman Morales then suggested that a dollar be added to the sanitation fees in the future and that money set aside for paving projects. A survey was proposed to determine if local citizens would be in favor of such action. City attorney Randy Hollums was directed by the mayor to check into the issue and see if this type of funding for paving would be legal. He is to report at the next council session.

The Ad Valorem tax rate of 40 cents per $100 valuation was adopted by unanimous vote on a motion by Russell, seconded by Morales.

Floydada resident Linda Ratliff next addressed the council concerning the paving in the northeast section of town. Much of the arguments presented were similar to those discussed over the past few months in council sessions. Ratliff questioned the contributing $24,000 in funds proposed for the application for a $180,000 water improvement grant.

She asked why that money could not have been used for paving. She also asked why the public was not consulted for their preference for paving or water lines. Mayor Powell reminded her that two public hearings concerning the grant application had been held.

The possibility of obtaining a paving grant for that area was also discussed, but will probably not be feasible.

Councilman Morales then suggested that a dollar be added to the sanitation fees in the future and that money set aside for paving projects to be carried out in future years for all areas and all citizens. A survey was proposed to determine if local citizens would be in favor of such action. City attorney Randy Hollums was directed by the mayor to check into the issue and see if this type of funding for paving would be legal. He is to report at the next council session.

Local resident Freddie Morren asked if anyone would refund the money people paid to have their streets paved. He indicated that providing paving with no charge to others would be discriminating against those who paid for their own paving in the past.

OTHER BUSINESS

A public hearing was held on the demolition proceedings of structures at 613 W. Grover (owner, Rosie Lee Jones) and 608 E. Lee Street (owner, Jose Garcia).

Demolition proceedings will proceed on the property at 613 W. Grover on a motion by Breed, seconded by Barrientoz and approved unanimously. A 60 day grace period was allowed for the other property as the owner of the structure is trying to purchase the property and renovate the building. Motion for this action came from Breed, seconded by Russell and approved by unanimous vote.

The council approved line item adjustments for the current budget for both the city and the electric department.

Doyle Walls was reappointed to represent the city on the Appraisal District board from January 1, 1990 to December 31, 1991. Edina Espinoza was appointed to the housing authority board. Both appointments were approved unanimously.

Discussion of a railroad signal on East Missouri was tabled pending further information from the state department of highways and transportation.

Council members approved applying for an American Express card to be used when traveling on city approved business. The MasterCard previously used was cancelled by the company which closed all of its corporate accounts in July.

The purchase of a used vehicle to be kept in reserve for use by the police department was ratified by the council. The council was also apprised of the delinquent situation existing with the electric bills for Caprock Hospital and Cogdell Clinic. The two facilities are more than 60 days in arrears for a total of $6500. Payment is expected after tax collections begin in October. No action was taken on the matter.

City Attorney Hollums was instructed to prepare an ordinance banning skateboard riding, bicycling and roller-skating in the downtown area for safety reasons. He will present the ordinance at the next session.
