Crow and Womack claim Grand Champion recognition

Temperatures warmed for a large number of animals, exhibitors and an overflowing capacity of spectators at the 46th Annual Floyd County Junior Livestock Show, February 3 and 4.

Lockney and Floydada youngsters displayed the true spirit of good sportsmanship during the long days of competition. Several months of hard work paid off for many of the 4-H'ers and FFA members and hard work continues for those destined for other shows.

Judges John Weathers and Mark Chavez worked patiently with exhibitors explaining reasons for decisions and how to improve for future shows.

One hundred and forty-two sheep were shown Saturday morning, followed by 198 swine. A total of 36 steers and herefords were shown Sunday morning.

Judge Weathers viewed lambs for four hours before announcing Kevin Womack, son of Joe and Penny Womack, of Floydada, as the Grand Champion with his 140 lb. heavyweight Hampshire. The lamb was bred by Womack Farms.

After a long 6-1/2 hours of viewing pigs, in a packed arena, Weathers named Heath Rexrode, son of Joe Neil and Margie Rexrode of Lockney, the Grand Champion winner with his 231 lb. medium-weight Cross barrow. The barrow was bred by Rexrode Farms.

The Grand Champion steer, named by Judge Chavez, was won by Floydadian Jennifer Crow, with her 1255 pound medium-weight Cross. Crow is the daughter of Richie and Sue Crow. The champion steer was bred by Barron's Farm in Nebraska.

RESERVE CHAMPIONS

Kevin Womack once again stepped into the winners circle when he was named Reserve Champion with his 122 pound lightweight Suffolk. This Suffolk was also breed champion in his division.

Tate Harris, son of Franklin and Dixie Harris, was named the Reserve Champion with his 238 pound, breed champion, heavyweight Hampshire barrow. The barrow was bred by Harris Farms.

Reserve Grand Champion Steer was won by Jamie Crow, daughter of Sue and Richie Crow, with her 1290 pound medium-heavyweight Cross. This steer was the reserve breed champion in his division, and was bred by Hilberts Farms in Missouri.

BREED CHAMPIONS

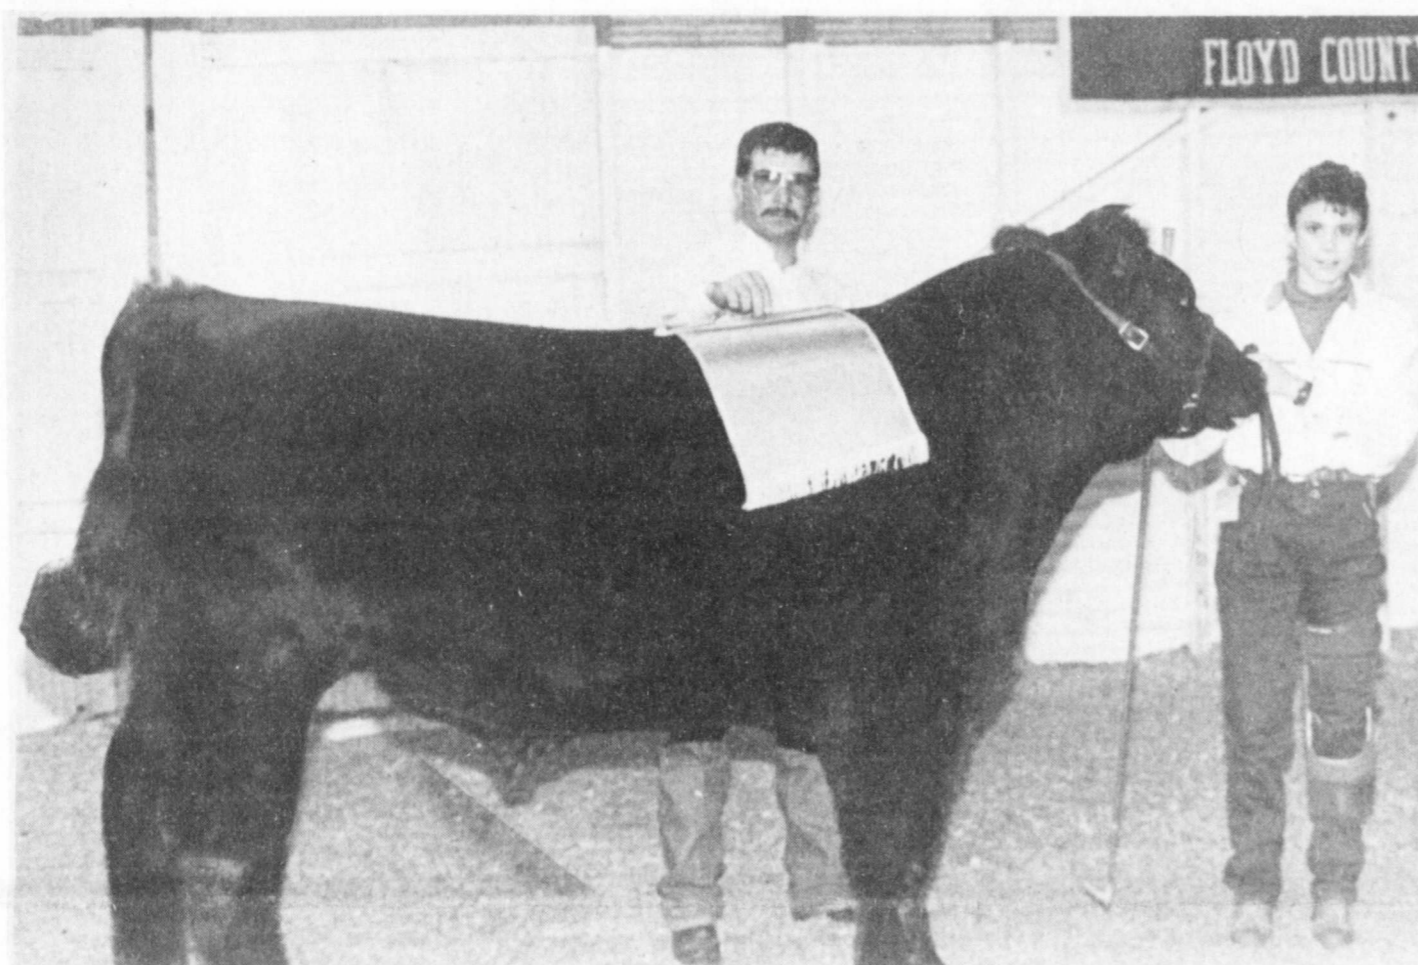

Breed champions and reserve champions in the respective breed groupings were:

Lambs—Finewool, Corbin Kellison and Amanda Henderson; Finewool Cross, Kevin Womack and Ryon Smith; Southdown, Tanner Johnson and Ryon Smith; Hampshire, Kevin Womack and Ryon Smith; Suffolk, Kevin Womack and Aric Hendricks; Other Breeds, Corbin Kellison and Allen Martin.

Swine—Berkshire, Brad Jackson and Misty Bertrand; Chester, Terry Harris and Neal Nelson; Duroc, Michelle Delgado and Chad Dale Guthrie; Hampshire, Tate Harris and Kip Holt; Poland, Kelli Bertrand and Shannon Christian; Yorkshire, Stacy Bigham and Jodee Breed; Cross, Heath Rexrode and Anthony Mathis.

Steers—Angus, Kristy Hinley and Zane Colston; Hereford, Rain McCandless and Melissa Faulkenberry; Cross, Jennifer Crow and Jamie Crow.

A view from The Lampighter

By Ken Towery

The President, in accordance to the terms of the Constitution, has delivered his "State of the Union" address to Congress.

By and large he sees a country with some problems, but one that is in pretty good shape, overall.

He also delivered his proposals of what the country needs to do in order that our problems might become a little less onerous. He would cut spending here and there, increase spending here and there, and take a big bite out of the deficit.

The President is rocking along with one of the highest approval ratings ever accorded a President in these United States. Something like 80 percent of the people seem to think he is doing a reasonably good job, and approve of the way he is handling the Presidency. Considering the fact that about half the people consider themselves Democrats, and about half consider themselves Republicans, there must be an awful lot of people in both parties who are satisfied with what Mr. Bush is doing.

Judging from the Congressional reaction to the President's State of the Union speech however, and particularly the reaction to his budget proposals, the Democratic leadership in Washington is not part of the choir. Or they belong to a different choir. There's nothing really peculiar about that, in our view. Those who run Congress have been out of touch with the American people for lo these many years, which is one reason they have occupied the White House so briefly during the past 20 years.

But what is peculiar is why some of the underlings act the way they do. Our own Representative Sarpaluis is a case in point. He represents a District that voted heavily for Ronald Reagan. It voted overwhelmingly for George Bush. It voted that way for U.S. Senator Phil Gramm. It even voted, if memory serves, for Bill Clements. Every poll

Chamber banquet tickets going fast

Tickets are selling fast for the Floydada Chamber of Commerce Banquet. One hundred and fifty-eight tickets have already sold to the annual event. The chamber is urging anyone wishing to come to the banquet to hurry and buy your tickets so a count can be made for the caterer. Tickets are $12.50 a plate and can be bought at the chamber office or from any chamber director.

"Spike" Dykes will be the featured speaker at the banquet this year. Dykes has been a football coach with Texas Tech since 1984, and assumed the duties as head coach in 1986. He is known for his wit and easy going personality. His fame has spread as an after-dinner

District 2-AAA remains intact

By Bill Gray

The University Interscholastic League biennial realignment was announced on February 1. Although a number of districts and several schools in the Panhandle-South Plains were affected, District 2-3A will not be changed for the 1990-91 and 1991-92 scholastic years.

District 2-3A will again be composed of Floydada, Tulia, Dimmitt, Muleshoe, Friona and Littlefield. Few changes were announced in the 3A ranks of Region I although former District 3-3A Post has now been moved to AA classification. The Antelopes, 1989 Regional football semi-finalists in AAA will now be competing in District 5-AA.

The non-conference opponents for the Floydada Whirlwinds this fall will see some new faces. Idalou will not appear on the schedule for at least the next two years. Another change is also anticipated, but the confirmation has not been received.

Dean Bates, Floydada Athletic Director, is presently negotiating with several teams. The results of those actions will be released on February 21. The District 2-AAA schedule for 1990 will also be released on that date.

speaker, and is sure to be an asset for the chamber of commerce fund-raiser this year.

One lucky individual will receive a football, autographed by the Texas Tech Football team, as a door prize at the banquet.

Time is running out for Employer of the Year applications. If you would like to nominate your employer for this honor, be sure and submit your application by February 12 to the chamber office. You must be able to say, in 25 words or less, why you think your employer deserves this honor. A panel of out-of-town chamber executives will review the applications and pick the winner of this award.

Other awards handed out at the banquet include, "Citizen of the Year" and the "Extra Mile Award". Rumor has it that there are so many deserving people in the community, that picking the winners of these awards will be very difficult.

Be sure and make plans to attend the banquet to find out who will win the awards and to be entertained by Spike Dykes. The 'Punkin Days' committee is also in the process of lining up entertainment that will feature "surprise appearances" by many in the community.

Barbeque dinner will benefit Dougherty Fire Department

The volunteer firemen of Dougherty, who have always been there when you needed them, now need your help. A fund raising bar-b-que dinner will be held Feb. 17, at the Dougherty Gym, to raise money to update equipment and maintain their truck.

The Dougherty Fire Department has been in existence for approximately two years. Their fire truck was purchased from the county with donations made by the community. The truck had previously been used by the City of Floydada before being sold to the Dougherty Community.

The one fire truck and another truck to carry an extra water tank, are housed in a Fire Hall in Dougherty. The building, which belongs to Producers, has been made available to the fire department to store their truck and equipment.

Before Dougherty was lucky enough to have a fire truck the City of Floydada responded to calls. Fire calls still go to the city of Floydada, but are now dispatched over the radio. All the Dougherty firemen, who make their living farming and ginning, carry scanners in their cars and pickups to answer any alarms.

The strictly volunteer department consists of: Wes Campbell, Bob Covington, Jim Covington, Marty Covington, Randy Pernell, Rick Pernell, Lance Poole, Mike Rainwater, Randy Rainwater and Tom Ross.

This small but independent and hard working community is now seeking your help to keep their much needed fire department going. These dedicated men will be struggling with a fire on the bar-b-que grill next Saturday, February 17, and doing all the cooking for their fund raiser.

The bar-b-que plate will be $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for children. The meal starts at 11:00 a.m. and lasts until 2:00 p.m. There will be carry-outs available. If you think you can't make it to Dougherty for the bar-b-que, a donation would still be appreciated.

Voter registration deadline is Feb. 11

The deadline for Voter Registration for the March 13 primary is February 11, 1990. Any address changes that you might have must be reported to the Voter Registrar by February 11, 1990. If you do not report the changes by the deadline you will have to vote in your old precinct. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Thank-you Mrs. Alma Holmes! She reads our paper and she saved the day! Not only was Mrs. Holmes there when they buried the time capsule, but she kept records of it.

Having read about our confusion over when the box was buried and what was in it, she was kind enough to call and set us on the right path.

Mrs. Holmes is the mother of Sara Teague and is now living in Horseshoe Bay with her daughter. It sure was a pleasure to talk to her. She told us that she had records of everything that went in the box and she would send it to us. There is a separate story about that in today's paper.

The old papers are hard to look through. The layout is not as easy for the eye to read as today's papers are. Combine that fact with the problem of getting lots in all the other stories you want to read and we still come up empty on finding any story on the burying of the Time Capsule.

So thank goodness for people like Mrs. Holmes. I noticed in one of the 1959 papers that the 1950 Study Club had the good sense to name her Woman of The Year!

I went to the Buyer's Luncheon at Lighthouse Electric Monday. It was the first one I've attended. The food was great—especially the sausage. Since this was the first time I've been, I couldn't compare the food to previous years. However everyone I talked to said it was a lot better this year — but not because of the food—it was because of the atmosphere.

Having had all the past lunches in the sale barn with the pigs, sheep and cows, people said the food tasted like — um — well it tasted like — uh — How can I put this?

It sometimes tasted like the showbarn smelled. There I said it! Anyway, Thanks Lighthouse Electric for the atmosphere!

By the way - did ya'll know that the parking lot at Lighthouse Electric is colder and windier than any other parking lot in the county? I was all put together when I drove to the buyers luncheon. I was completely unraveled when I stepped out of the car.

If you haven't gotten your tickets to Floydada's Chamber of Commerce Banquet, you had better hurry. Floydada's banquet is Feb. 24 and approaching fast. Lockney's banquet is March 9, so you have a little more time to wait until the last minute.

Both of these communities need all of our support. Your chamber is always there, behind the scenes working for you. This is one of the few times they ask for your support. So Buy Them Tickets! The board of directors of Floydada's Chamber of Commerce had a contest to see who sell the most tickets. They were divided into pairs and hit the streets last week.

I have never been asked so many times to buy a ticket. It was great! They were so motivated and competing so hard. It thought it was because they were dedicated —BUT NOOOOOO! One director confessed and told me that everyone was competing for a grand prize. AH-HA!

I asked what the prize was. "We don't know," was his reply. "It's a surprise!" Well the great selling team of Kyle Smith and Laura Johnson won the prize. What jubilation! Anxiously they awaited their prize—one whole dollars worth of gasoline from Cornelius Conoco!

Rumor has it that Laura took it because they drove her car.

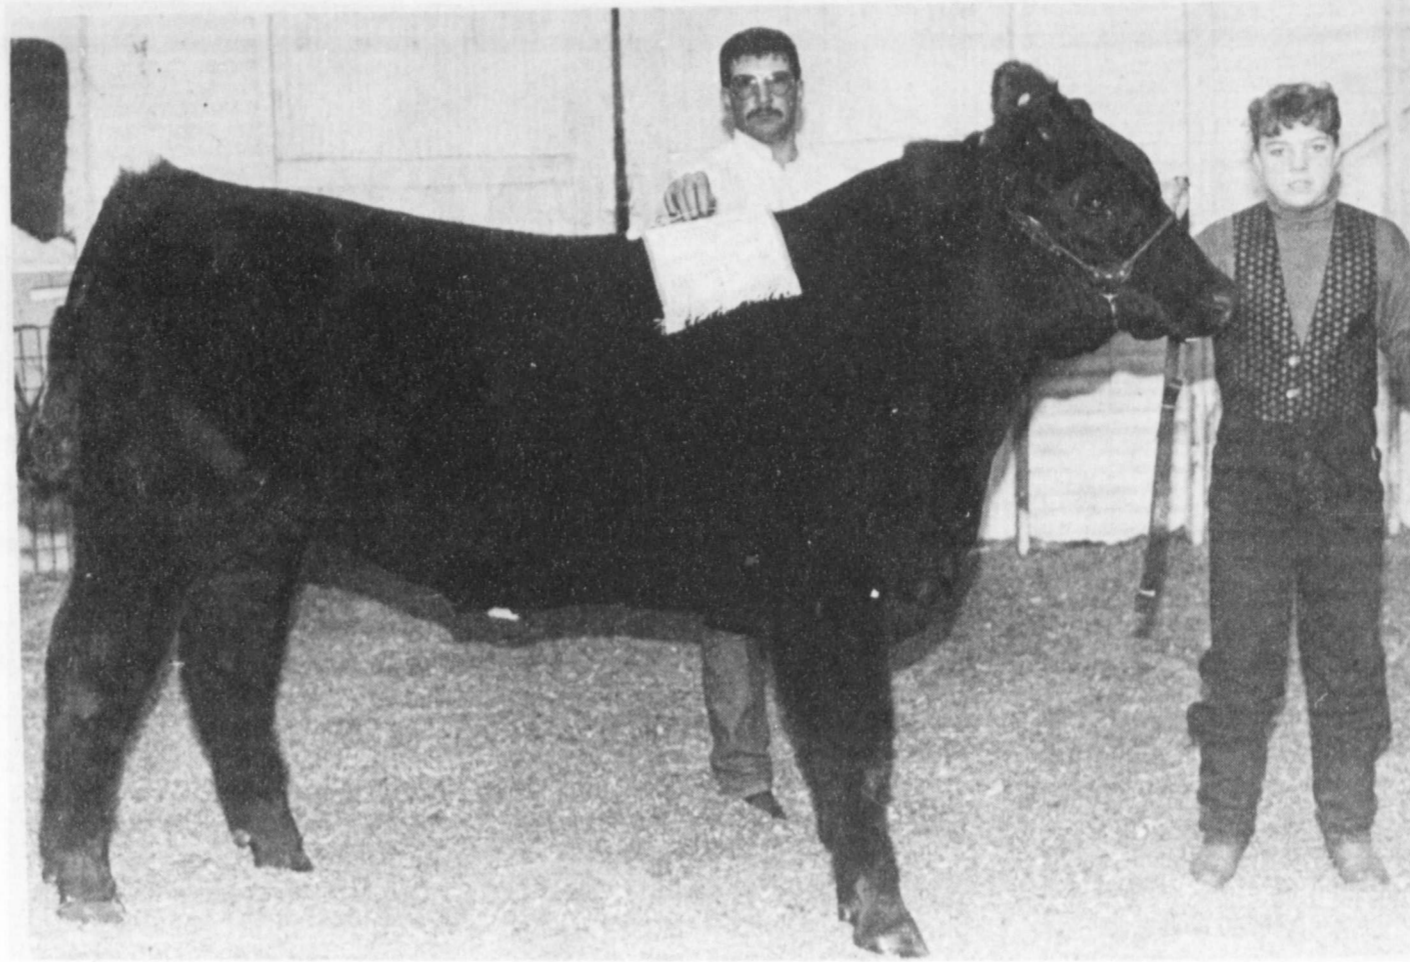

Second place was a coloring book from Nick Long. I don't know who won that.

I'm hoping to write a column on people's pet peeves soon. It could lead to a lot of discussion and hopefully people will laugh. Penny Ogden told me her pet peeve was people listening to her phone conversations!

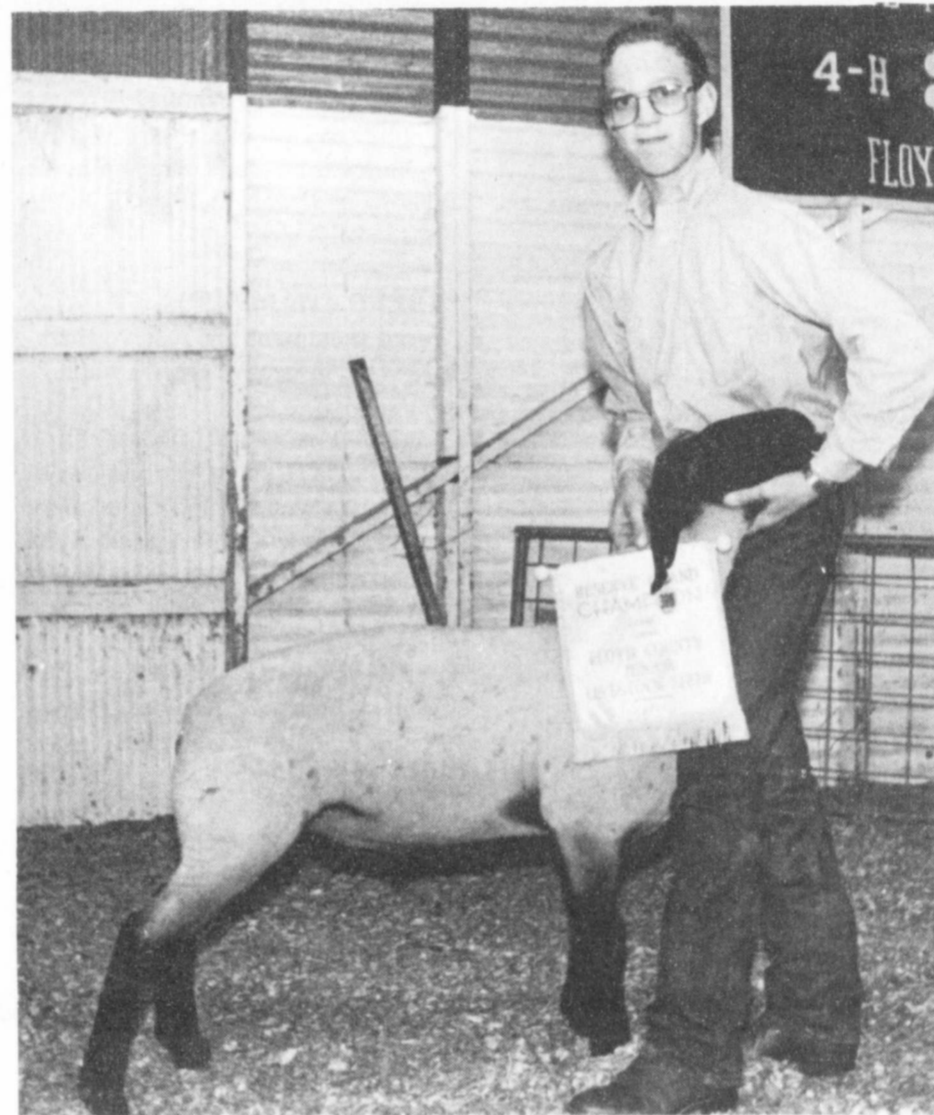

I then asked a man nearby (who told me not to dare put his name in) what his pet peeve was. He said, "My pet peeve is my Mom is still trying to raise me!" (He has never been a mom).

Anyway I decided I'd get even with him by not putting his name in the paper. This way - not only is his mom going to be mad at him, but all the other moms will be mad at their sons.

Tell your special Valentine how you feel about them

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to tell all the people in Floydada how truly special and wonderful you are. It takes caring and kindness, and generosity to make this town a place we all want to raise our children in. 95% of the people who come in my office have a very positive attitude when it comes to the growth of our town. The other 5% are chronic soreheads so their opinion doesn't really count.

As everything else has been, my first stock show was a memorable one. I thought a pig was a pig, was a pig. WRONG! There are Hampshires, Durocs, barrows, crossbreeds, etc. This has truly been an eye opener. For those of you who do not know what goes into one of these events please accept this as your personal invitation to sit in on one of the stock show board meetings. We have some of the most dedicated people in this town working for our young people. Even if you do not have an interest in show animals, you all have a talent of some kind. Please get involved in our community and show our young that Floydada is a growing and energetic town. WE ARE THEIR EXAMPLE.

ADVANCE holds first public meeting

Over 30 citizens attended the first public meeting of ADVANCE at Light-house Electric on February 3. Recently formed, the committee is a non-profit and non-discriminatory organization, designed to "educate residents of the community on political issues and their right to vote."

ADVANCE is non-partisan and will not endorse any candidate or a particular political platform.

The meeting was called to order by Linda Ratliff, president. Following the invocation by the Reverend Ralph Jackson, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Mrs. Ratliff introduced the officers and members of the board of directors. Her opening remarks outlined the primary purposes of the group. She stated, "By sharing ideas, experiences and knowledge, we hope to improve community relations through unifying and educating the people."

According to Ratliff, the organization places a great deal of importance on voting rights and involvement by everyone in the political process. ADVANCE encourages active involvement by all segments of the community in voter education and awareness. More qualified potential candidates for public office is but one of the goals of the committee.

Vice-president Jack Ochoa added to Mrs. Ratliff's comments by saying, "We feel that by the participation of every single one of us...in getting to know our candidates on a one-to-one basis...we'll be a better informed electorate. We'll be able to ask questions at the public forums, thus enabling us to be better acquainted with the candidates and where they stand on the issues."

Due to the large numbers of minorities residing in Floydada, Ochoa stressed the need for more Hispanic and Black candidates. He said, "We are not trying to push anybody aside. All we're trying to do is open the doors to the people who don't understand our public offices. Hopefully they'll get a wider view of what's going on and will better understand the system by their input and involvement."

Ochoa mentioned another important aspect of the organization. He said, "By holding open forums, with issues properly presented, rumors and heresay can be reduced or discredited. The more we, as a community, know about the issues facing our local governments, the better understanding we'll develop between the people and their elected officials."

Several board members expressed concern over an article which appeared in the February 1 issue of the Floyd County Hesperian, which mentioned a list of "targeted individuals" appearing on a copy of the organization's agenda of November 4, 1989. Jesse Vela, Israel Sanchez and others desire to "clear the air" on the issue by stating, "ADVANCE and its board were not responsible for those names added on the copy of the agenda. Because of our non-partisan nature, we neither support nor deny individuals for public office. Therefore, as an organization, we would have had no reason to submit such a listing. We just want the public to know that the list was added to a copy of our agenda, after-the-fact, and without our knowledge."

Several questions were received from the floor concerning the overall aims of the group. It was announced that a forum for candidates will be held on February 17. The time and location are yet to be determined. Mrs. Ratliff also noted that there are two vacancies remaining on the board of directors. They hope to fill those slots soon.

Sanchez, board members. The main goal of the organization is unification and voter awareness within the community.

Floydada sales tax rebates again increase

The first check from the state comptroller's office for 1990 sales tax rebates received by the City of Floydada showed an increase of 21.66% over the first such check in 1989. Floydada received a check in the amount of $7,707.79 compared to a payment of $6,335.28 for the same period in 1989.

Sales tax rebates included in this payment reflect sales made in November and reported to the comptroller's office in the month of December. According to the office, the state has shown an approximate 10% increase over 1989 and this indicates continued optimism about the economy.

Lockney received a check for the period in the amount of $4,068.69, representing an increase of 33.49% above the previous year. The rebate for the same period in 1989 for Lockney was $3,047.05.

A view from The Lamplighter

that has been undertaken in this District finds a vast majority of our people calling themselves "conservative", whether Democrat or Republican, or Independent.

Why then would Rep. Sarpalius join the Congressional liberal camp in jumping down the President's throat no sooner than he had completed his report to Congress and the American people? One would think he would at least study the matter for awhile. Or, he could have looked around and picked out a few things he liked, and a few things he didn't like, and said so. That would have been smart from the standpoint of this district. After all, that is what Sarpalius, was sent there for, not to make points with his liberal colleagues.

Sarpalius has no opposition in the Democratic primary. So he was free, politically, to go any way he wanted to with his reaction. The fact that he threw in his lot with the liberals and did their bidding may enhance his standing in the social circles of Washington, but it will not be a big help for this District. After all, the President will be President for at least three more years, and if the polls don't change drastically, for probably another four years after that. And the President still has a few ways to help or hurt. We can all hope, for the good of this District, that Mr. Bush merely ignores Mr. Sarpalius. Which is what he will probably do.

If the President can comment on the State of the Union in his big world, we suppose we can comment on the State of the Paper in our little world, which, to us, is a pretty big world.

In a way they are similar. A few problems here and there, but overall things are in pretty good shape. We have good people in place, doing a good job. Our circulation rivals his approval ratings. The Editor has finally acquiesced and begun writing a column that seems to be well received. Carl Lemons' computer is finally hooked up with the Hesperian computers. (He can now write his column from the suburbs of Cedar Hills, push a button and have it laid down in the editorial offices in downtown Floydada. How about that.) Bill Gray continues to cover the waterfront for us on sports, history and anywhere else he is needed. Juanita Stepp continues to give us the play-by-play description of things that happen in City Hall and County government. Neta Marble continues to cover Lockney like a blanket. We have welcomed Tami Nielson as a new staff member, and other staff members say she is doing a great job. Rosemary Gonzales somehow keeps it pulled together on publication date. And, of extreme importance, our advertisers seem to think this is a pretty good place to inform the public about what they have to sell.

On top of all that, the Post Office says it probably won't raise our rates until next year.

Now, if it would just rain more.

Caprock Hospital Report

By Molly Stringer

We had a wonderful turnout for the reception welcoming of Dr. Michael, Linda and daughter, Mika Chamales to our community. Over 150 guests registered. We had several guests from out of town. These included Dr. W.G. and Martha Mangold from Lockney, Dr. John Gregg from Plainview, and Rick and Linda Hardwig, representing Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. We thank each of you who came and appreciate your continued support of our hospital.

Dr. Chamales will open his practice in Cogdell on Thursday, February 8, at 9:30 a.m. Office hours are 9:30 - 12:00 noon and 1:30 - 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call 983-2703 for an appointment. Cindy Fuller will be working in Dr. Chamales office.

We have two new employees in the business office. Sue Fuller and Gloria Enriquez begin training for their new positions on Monday. We welcome them to Caprock Hospital.

Wendy Pierce has recently been promoted to medical records secretary after the resignation of Joy Breed.

Several of the hospital attended the Customer Development Seminar at Duncan Elementary last Monday night. We have all been doing our assignments this week, and the interaction has been good for the staff.

Leroy Schaffner was in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock last week for treatment of a kidney stone. The problem is solved and he is back at work this week.

We will be offering Mammograms again in March. We will publish a date and take appointments in the near future.

We want to say thank you to several of our auxiliary members, Beth Tye, Juanita Henry, Jane Pruitt, Marge McElyea, Ethel Carmack and Mildred Cates for the help they gave in preparing for the reception for Dr. Chamales. Several addressed invitations, then also helped on Sunday. Juanita Henry furnished the tablecloth, Park Florist made and furnished the centerpiece. We appreciate all help that was given. Our dietary department made most of the refreshments and several of the R.N. charge nurses served.

Rebecca Smith is in the hospital in Lubbock and several others are ill in their homes and other hospitals that I don't know about.

Clara Martin of Hale Center visited relatives over here last week.

There was a large crowd who attended the reception Sunday afternoon for the doctor and his family. We welcome them to our community.

Monola Day and Ethel Barker visited Mrs. W.J. Wilks last week.

Health Tip:

On the home front

The war against pollution doesn't stop at our front door. In fact, toxins within your own four walls may pose as great a risk to your health as outside pollutants. Fortunately, you can protect yourself and your family from potentially dangerous toxins in the home. Here's how:

Don't smoke indoors - and ask guest to follow suit. If you do smoke in the house never smoke in bedrooms and don't leave cigarettes smoldering in ashtrays.

Use your green thumb - House plants help clean the air. As few as 15 to 20 plants in an 1,800 square room home can remove a great deal of the impurities in the air.

Vent heating devices - Gas stoves, fireplaces, nonelectric space heaters and wood burning stoves emit carbon monoxide and other gases in the surrounding area if not vented properly.

Don't inhale cleaning products - Many household cleaning products contain chemicals that can damage the respiratory system. If a label direction says to use the product only in a well ventilated space, be sure to open the windows and turn on a fan to blow the fumes outside. Always make an effort to avoid inhaling aerosol sprays.

Leave the garage door open - If your garage is attached to your home, leave the door open long enough to eliminate dangerous carbon monoxide fumes. Just starting up the engine or pulling into the garage fills a garage with noxious fumes.

Callahan artist of month

The First National Bank of Floydada is proud to present a return exhibition by South Plains artist Margaret Callahan for the month of February. The Floyd County native has lived "in and around" South Plains since 1928.

The artist recalls, "A childhood dream of painting was rekindled with the gift of a small paint set from my son Randy in 1971." She began serious study with Ruth Barnett in Hale Center in 1972 and has attended workshops under such noted artists as Pat Krahn, Connie Martin, Paul Wylie, Ben Konis, Jon Birdsong, Doard Fitz, Elsie Sherman, Jean Green, Mary Montandon and the late Ramon Froman of Dallas.

Callahan prefers to work in oils and favors horses and portraits as subjects.

The works of Margaret Callahan have been displayed at several exhibitions and juried shows in the area during her career. "I paint for the fun of it," says Callahan. "The fact that others see and enjoy my work is just an extra added bonus."

Callahan is married to Shelby Callahan. The couple has three sons, Johnny, Jerry and Randy, as well as one daughter, Beth Russell. They also have four grandsons and one granddaughter.

Art lovers are encouraged to drop by the bank during normal business hours throughout the month of February to view the works of this talented artist.

The bank is open from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. each Monday through Friday except holidays.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi, this finds us busy getting ready for the Valentine party and the birthday party. We have seven birthdays this month. They are Lucille Poage, Edward Jameson, Henry Willis, Iva Benson, Iva Wells, Alta Marr, Icy Snow Weathers. We invite all of you to come and pay us a visit, and vote for the King and Queen Sweetheart for our party.

Monday, Irene Wexler came and played the piano for us, and we sang some songs. Then we shared from Romans 8, about our Hope of Future Glory, but can have and enjoy the glory here and now. In the evening the residents had current events, and enjoyed hearing about the article on Dougherty in the Lubbock paper. Several of the residents had lived in and around Dougherty, and really enjoyed discussing the townspeople.

Tuesday, the residents had Bible Study, on worship and the means of worship in the Old Testament and the new. They also enjoyed having some popcorn.

Wednesday, Bro. Sammy Rodriguez, couldn't be with us, as he went to Dallas to a convention, etc. We missed him. Myra Hall had the first bingo. It was good to have Myra play once again, as she doesn't get to play as much as she used to. Mary Alice came and assisted the residents in playing.

Thursday, the residents made Valentines for their art and craft time. They remarked that they would give them to their family, grandchildren, etc. They were pretty. We want to thank Ann Helms, and others from Duncan school on the lovely red hearts for the residents doors, and for the children who came and visited.

Friday, we had Letha Mulder again with us, we missed her last Friday. She opened with a prayer, and read some scriptures to us. Evelyn Latta played the piano for us. In the evening, the residents went on a bus ride to Plainview, Stars treated the residents to some ice cream. The residents going were E.O. McElyea, Brooks Callaway, Edward Jameson, Billy Probasco, Charles Breeding and Della Halencak. It was a lovely day to go.

We want to thank Mrs. Ruth Duncan from the Sunshine Sunday School Class for bringing the bananas, cookies and crackers.

This week's visitors were: Freida Brooks, Paducah, Texas; Suzanne Paschall, Scott Faulkenberry, Frances Badgett, Lonnie and Julie Halencak, Barbara and Jimmy Halencak, Vernon, Texas; Phillip Wilson, Pauline Robertson, Linda and Lisa Crader, B.J. and Bess Campbell, J.W. These 4-H and FFA exhibitors compete in one of two divisions of the Houston Livestock Show - the junior show division. The other division, the open show, attracts its exhibitors from the world's agricultural industry, primarily professional breeders and ranchers.

Entries in both the open and junior shows combine with horse show entries to make the Houston Livestock Show the world's largest.

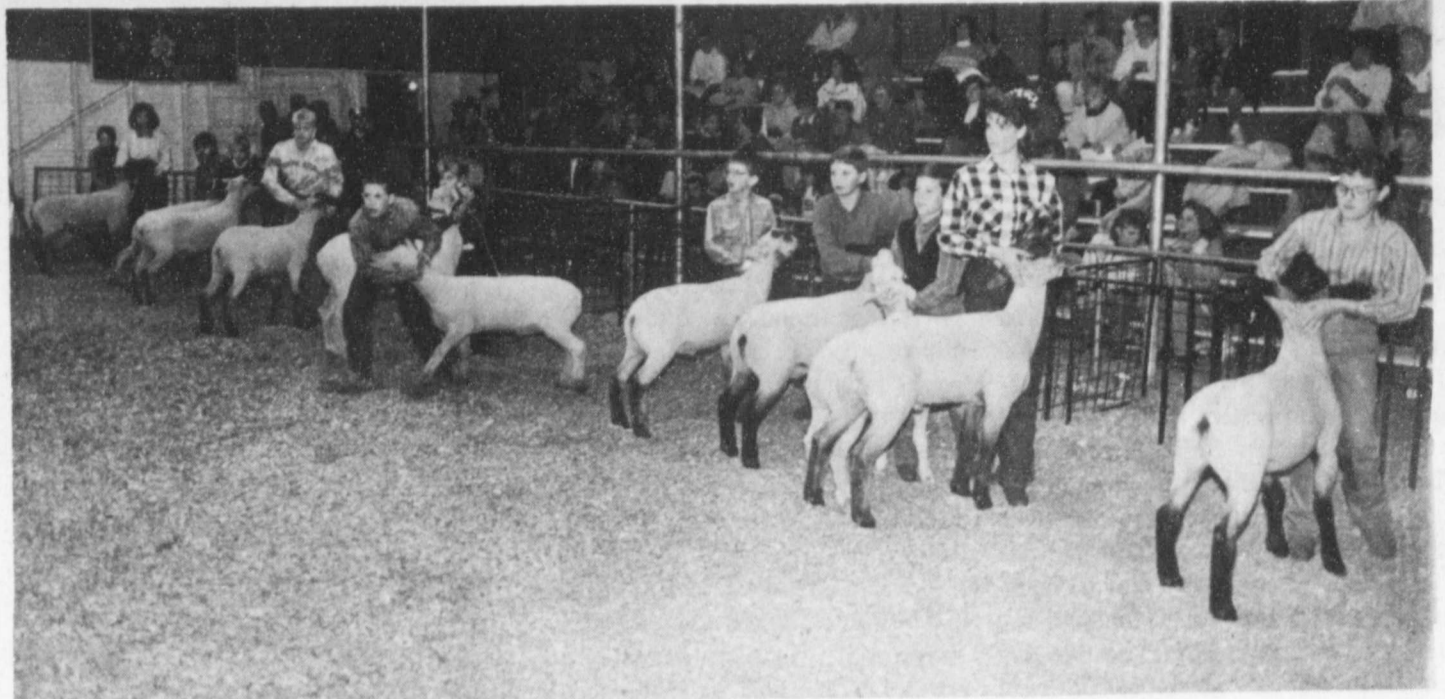

Representing 841 Texas 4-H clubs and FFA chapters, the junior show is expected to exceed 12,000 entries this year. A variety of animals are shown in the junior show division: market steers, market swine, market sheep, market poultry, beef and dairy heifers, breeding sheep, goats, commercial steers and breeding rabbits.

The four market animal categories represent animals raised by the exhibitor as food sources. Top animals in each of these categories are eligible for their individual market auctions. Total money paid in 1989 at the four junior show auctions exceeded $4.5 million.

"Our Show, the world's largest livestock show, attracts some of the finest breeders and ranchers from throughout the world. Yet during the second week of livestock show competition, the young 4-H and FFA exhibitors take over the Astrohall. We feel these outstanding youngsters exemplify the purpose behind our event - to benefit youth and support education," said Steve Woodley, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo assistant manager.

All net proceeds from the annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo provide funds for scholarships and research projects throughout the state. Currently, more than 1,000 students receive some form of Show-sponsored financial assistance, with 30 research projects funded. More than 6,500 volunteers ensure the success of each year's event.

Red Rose FHA-HERO News

By Mary Segura

The Red Rose Chapter for the FHA-HERO met in the homemaking room at 9:30 a.m. Jan. 26. The advisor, Mrs. Joyce Williams, conducted the meeting because the president, Elvia Huerta, was absent. The club read the creed.

Secretary Gail Ledbetter read the minutes of the last meeting. Treasurer Janie Sanchez gave the financial report. New officials were elected for students who have moved away.

Those elected to serve double jobs were Janie Sanchez, vice president and sgt.-at-arms; Gail Ledbetter, song leader, and Mary Segura, reporter and historian.

Our club voted to give a Valentine party next month. Janie Sanchez was appointed party chairman. We voted to bake a red and white cake for the teachers during FHA week, Feb. 12-16.

Mrs. Williams said our FHA pins had come in and will be handed out in February. We paid for our club pins by selling M and M candy. The District FHA-HERO meeting will be held in Lubbock this year on March 9 and 10, the weekend before Spring Break.

In class we have been studying different service carts such as a bus cart, cleaning cart and the different carts used in the hospital. We visited Caprock Hospital and saw the use of cleaning, food and dish carts. Several of our class are working as teachers aides at Duncan and in the cafeteria.

We will help prepare food for the Heart Association Bridge Luncheon in February, as one of our projects.

Education featured on upcoming phone books

The increased desire to upgrade the Texas educational system is the inspiration behind the cover of the 1990 Southwestern Bell Telephone directory.

The new directory will be delivered in Floydada starting February 14, said Jim West, Area Manager External Affairs, of Southwestern Bell Telephone.

"Southwestern Bell believes that Texas has a bright future because its citizens care about children and their education," said West. "In our increasingly complicated world, new technology creates the need for bright minds — and new teaching methods so that our children never lose interest in learning."

The copyrighted photo titled "You're never too old" — by Austin photographer Stan Kearl — was taken as part of a photography contest conducted by Dr. Frederick Williams and the University of Texas to portray "The New Texas" theme.

It was selected to be shown as a part of the photography exhibit at the State Fair of Texas in 1987 in which Southwestern Bell promoted economic development.

The new cover will be featured on some 190 directories throughout the state reaching more than five million Southwestern Bell customers.

West said about 2332 directories will be delivered to area residences and businesses. Delivery should be completed by February 28, 1990.

Residential customers usually receive one directory. For additional copies, customers should call their Southwestern Bell Telephone business office. However, West requests that customers not call until after February 28th.

"If your friend across town got his directory before you received yours, you'll probably get one within a few days," he said.

This year, 17 white pages and 25 yellow pages make up the Floydada directory. There are 2,136 white page listings.

Local emergency numbers are listed in the front of the new directory.

Hearing or speech impaired customers using a TDD/TTY may contact the Customer Assistance Bureau to communicate their telephone needs. They may call toll-free 1-951-7088 during business hours for an immediate response. Calls will be answered after hours and directed to the bureau during the next business day.

In the Customer Guide at the front of the directory, customers will find tips on how to save money on their phone service. Also included is a toll-free number Texas customers may call if they have a complaint about their telephone service (1-800-422-0499).

First Christian Church to host coffee

First Christian Church is having their traditional free Valentine coffee for the community of Floydada.

They began this community project on February 13, 1978 to foster goodwill and love in the community in the light of the Christian tradition. The church has served this coffee each year since then, except when Valentine's Day fell on a Saturday or a Sunday.

This year's coffee will be served in the fellowship hall of the church on Wednesday, Feb. 14 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. It is free to the public and the church is encouraging merchants, shoppers and townspeople to take a short break and come by for coffee and a light refreshment.

Nancy Hagood is general chairperson. Assisting her with decorations are Jo Wester, Martha Farris and Mary Harter. Pauline Pierce is in charge of the food arrangements. All of the ladies of the church are helping with the food items.

The men of the church will be doing other odd jobs as needed.

You are asked to register when you come. One or more door prizes will be given at the close of the coffee.

Everyone is welcome.

Other boys competing in this division were: Hector Palacios, Jimmy Parks, Trey Holmes, Josh Tipton, Clent Fyffe, David Rainwater, Sam Holmes, Brandon Wickware, Jermaine Wickware, Zach Logan, Justin McGuire and Eric Reyes.

Carl Lemons' News and Views from Cedar Hill

Last week's N&V's was virtually ready for delivery, but a little flicker of a power failure wiped it from computer memory only an hour before the admission deadline. An all-night effort to restore ran head-on into Hesperian machines and personnel already fully assigned the following morning. Hailed out again! At harvest time!

Weather one Puxicani Phil was here Monday morning and he helped me with my column. We worked so well together that I resented the fact we had not met sooner. But now Puxi is gone and I fear that he is dead. If he be dead, then possibly I caused his death! Later, in the midst of midnight mulling, came this strange and eerie reasoning, "Perhaps Puxi never lived?"

Life was much more simple a few short hours ago, before the evil glitch robbed me of the fruits of my labor and, with the same lethal stroke, possibly consigned poor Puxi to eternal oblivion.

It must have been twenty years ago that I first heard of Puxicani Phil, how those words were the Latin name for our American ground hog, but who can be sure; time has become a whirling dervish who changes pace with confusing rapidity. Since that time, even though it may have begun fifty years ago, his name was banded about with enough regularity that I chose to assign him a permanent place far back in the coordinates of my memory.

It was the nearness of the "February First" issue of News and Views to the public acceptance of Feb. 2nd as ground hog day that sent me combing back through the labyrinth of my mind, searching for those names I had forgotten. In a matter of moments I had located "Phil," the last of the two-part name, but it was hours before "Puxicani" came into focus. I knew the names were right, but about the spelling of "Puxicani" I remained in doubt.

Webster's Unabridged gave no help, neither did the encyclopedias. So we plunged on with the column, Puxi and I. When we got to the frightening part, the part where Puxi got a peripheral glimpse of his shadow, and, in terror, cried out, "Oh Momma! A chicken hawk's got me!" then instantly curled himself tightly into a ball and rolled downward to safety in the depths of his burrow, he was perfect, just perfect!

Alas, it was only a matter of minutes until the light bulbs blinked, the computer's display died, and hundreds of words dissolved into nothingness; all our labor was lost. I would have tossed a towel into the ring, had one been handy, and cheerfully fled the fray.

Deciding to press on, I called our public library to get the correct spelling of the latin name for "ground hog." So I sat back, rather pleased, waiting for Mrs. Crawford to tell me how to spell Puxicani Phil. Soon her pleasant but firm voice was carefully spelling out for me, "Marmota Monax."

"Marmota Monax! Wh! Uh! Duh!" sez I, in my best imbecilic voice, "How about, I mean could 'ja, er or er, Would it be too much to ask you to look up the latin for 'WOODCHUCK' for me?"

"They are listed together, Mr. Lemons. One of those joint things, because they are the same animal, you know. There is only one latin identity." Her tone closed the conversation with polite librarian-like finality.

Now Puxicani Phil has been discredited, he is gone! Perhaps he is dead! It's my fault! We worked so well together! I liked him so, but did he ever really exist?

I will erect a monument to Puxicani Phil, back among the quieter, more peaceful coordinates of my mind. The inscription will have to wait until I remember where he came from. Puxi, I never once thought that you were a nothing! I hate it had to end this way.

WEATHER TWO
Warmer than average! Drier than average! That wraps up last week's weather.

When the chisel plows and tandems hit the fields, following our last wet spell, they told us the rain gauges had given us the wrong report. They found the ground wetter than half an inch or three quarters could possibly have made it and, according to them, we must have had a full inch of moisture, maybe more!

Mouldboard plows and deep rippers are penetrating much deeper than the last moisture has reached; to them it is still as dry as ever. Those farmers say the scant precipitation made no difference; they are quite willing to accept the skimpy report the rain gauges gave us.

On Thursday night, Feb. 7th, when your clock struck twelve it marked the end of the first half of winter. The final day of winter is weeks away, but we are definitely into the last lap. Sunday a year ago, on Feb. 5th, the temperature fell to a minus seven, the coldest reading of that whole winter. With our present winter more than half gone, and having already exceeded last winter's coldest by several degrees the odds are beginning to indicate that we have already seen this winter's coldest day. Most of us could probably live with that, but if winter moisture is going to be tied to cold weather, we had better hope for more cold, and lots of it.

CROP COMMENTS
Jan. 29: Wheat roots are developing rapidly since the rain. Vigorous plants, in John Dunlap's field south of Cedar, were sporting as many as a dozen moist, new, soil coated roots up to 2.5 inches in length. Even stunted bunches were developing impressive roots. Grazing cattle might still uproot a few random plants from soil that is still loose at the surface, but they would be few compared to those that would have been lost back on Jan. 15th.

CATTLE AND HAY

port. A surprisingly large number of cattle had been placed on feed during December and the forecasters, taken by surprise, went into a state of shock. One and all, they predicted Thursday's market would open lower with prices growing weaker throughout the day.

Contrary to the seers expectations the buyers bid the market higher at the opening, supported it at higher levels, throughout the day, and there has not been a serious price break since. When a market can absorb a blow as hard as that report, without the slightest weave or bobble, it has got to be exceptionally strong.

The buyers understood that the extra cattle were put in the feedlots because feed was in short supply out on the ranches; they understood there had been no great build up in the numbers of the breeding herd, and the nation was not on the verge of being swamped with cattle.

Hay is so scarce that some "graze out" wheat has been seeded on the plains since the rain. A still higher percentage of cultivated land below the cap rock has been seeded to wheat, with a few acres of oats also being sown. With "fodder" stocks as low as they are, still more cattlemen are planning to seed "spring pastures."

THE LEANING CEDARS
Jan. 22: Azalee Beauchamp, with her husband, Olan, served the Cedar Hill Assembly of God parastate back in the early fifties. She is now a widow living at Ranger, Texas, and she is having a serious bout with a malignancy. While she waits on her Lord, she badly needs your prayers.

Jan. 28: Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry visited with Edna Gilly in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital Sunday afternoon. It was one of Edna's bad days, experiencing severe leg cramps. The hospital staff discouraged visiting.

Feb. 1: Edna Gilly was dismissed from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Thursday morning following knee surgery on January 23. After a particularly bad day on Sunday, Edna made a sharp turn for the better. Her aunt, Clara Redd from Floydada, stayed with her until her mother, Ruthie Bell Clark of Austin, arrived on Monday. From admission to dismissal, Edna was there nine days.

The flu-bug seems to have loosened its grip on our populace, few complaints are heard, but there is still an occasional cough.

The annual, January through mid-March, calender oriented disorder known as IRSitis is causing discomfort to many Cedar Hill residents; in fact it is spreading rapidly, already having reached near-epidemic proportions, and it is becoming more toxic with each passing day. IRSitis is characterized by muscular taughtness, sleepless nights, and, in some instances, stomach disorders. Dr. Lemons, the sage of Cedar Hill, prescribes a series of corrective steps listed as follows: firstly, build-up your intestinal fortitude, use the "grin and bear it" strain as a starter if it can be obtained; secondly, indulge in the ritualistic burning of oil at midnight while the afore-mentioned build-up is in progress; thirdly, keep a goodly supply of faith and hope, in the form of a Bible, constantly within arms reach, and, when the walls press in too closely, wave your Bible above the work-material to banish the besetting spirits of evil. Follow these steps implicitly and you will find that Malady-IRSitis, too, will pass away.

PLAINS CEDARS:
On Saturday, Jan. 20: Bob and Florene Teel, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a family supper at their home in Lubbock. Those attending from Lubbock were: their son Robert, his wife, and their two sons; also Winston and Ethyl Whitehead Brown. Those attending from Floydada were her sisters: Geraldine and T.L. Calloway and Nancy and Howard Bishop.

Florene Brown Teel was born at Cedar and lived there until she married Bob in 1940. Bob, a grandson of Fairview pioneer, S.L. Rushing, was a native of the Fairview/Center communities. They have been residents of Lubbock practically all of their married lives. Until his retirement, Bob was active in Lubbock's construction business. Florene worked at the Plains Cotton Compress for years and at the time of her retirement, and, in her capacity as a cotton purchasing agent, and sometimes "The Voice of Tel-Cot," was one of the most visible of the Co-op employees. Now, both in a semi-retired status, they own and operate Flo's China Shop just outside the Loop in northeast Lubbock. The shop features decorative heirloom china as well as plain china for every day use. Their store also carries assorted maintenance supplies for the home.

Their daughter, Judy and Gary Tatsch, with their one son and two daughters, lives near Denver, Colorado. The Teels did not rate the Leaning Cedars section, their health has been too good for that; however when you add fifty years to however many it takes for growing up, maybe it's about time to start shopping for a couple of good canes; made of seasoned CEDAR of course.

Feb. 4: Mrs. Minnie Coe, of Pampa, visited a fortnight at Cedar in the home of her daughter, Mrs Willis Dewey. Mother Coe returned to Pampa following Sunday morning services.

On Sunday, Jan. 28, Junior and Martha Taylor visited with Gladys Fortenberry at her home in Plainview. Also visiting Gladys were her nephew, Max Stevenson and his wife. Formerly of Silverton and New Mexico, the Stevensons now live south of Canyon, and Max has gotten his finger into still another pie, the operation of a Canyon leather shop.

Trudy Gilly used the Hesperian ad section a few months back, "Three puppies for free!" and it was amazingly successful, perhaps overly successful. The puppies were gone in a flash and Trudy was exuberant! Then followed a procession of disappointed puppy-seekers! Skeptical remarks, ruffled feathers, unhappy children; those were in abundance; here is a sample: "Already gone? Why, it was only yesterday the ad came out!"; "I don't wanna' go, Mommie! You don't got me no puppy yet!"; "You promised me, Daddy, you promised!"; "You couldn't run a grocery store like that!" Trudy bears witness that freely giving sometimes exacts an emotional toll.

The Phil Lemons' family toyed with the idea of an ad that would say, "Five boy puppies free! Four brown, one black, 8 weeks", however Trudy's experience scared them off. Poor folks! But not to worry, one way or another, the word always gets around!

Feb. 4: No broth was spoiled out in Neil and Charlene Langley's cake factory, "The Bake Shop," but they had cooks a-plenty for a few days last week. Grandchildren, Dusty and Whitney, stayed with them, livened up the place, while Brenda went to Corpus with Andy on one of his work assignments. Monday found Brenda and the kids back in Pampa, she back in classes, and Andy still tightening nuts down in Corpus.

The Yearly sisters brought home ribbons from the Annual Floyd County 4-H and FFA Stock Show last week. Little sister, Mandi, captured 2nd place with her Suffolk lamb, and 7th place in the "other breeds" class. Charla showed her Hampshire lamb to 9th place, and claimed 12th place with her Suffolk.

Although this is Brad Yearly's first year in kindergarten he has already figured that life has stacked the deck against him. On his birthday anybody will talk about is "ground hog day." When it is time for his birthday party everybody is always out brushing on some dumb sheep, washing a sheep, or weighing a sheep! It will go on forever, at least it hasn't missed a year yet!

Brad's grandfather and grandmother, Billy and Doris Hinkle did come up from Possum Kingdom for a few days when he had his birthday, but they paid an awful lot of attention and spent a lots of time around those dumb sheep and stuff.

There is no way of judging the future but by the past.

HEARING PEP TALK—Laura Johnson, Edd Henderson and Wayne Tipton listen intently as Nick Long gives "pep talk" to officers on February 1 to kick off the ticket sales for the Chamber of Commerce banquet. The annual affair is scheduled for February 24 at 7:00 p.m. at Duncan Elementary Cafetorium. Spike Dykes, head football coach at Texas Tech University will be the featured speaker.

Dependent care credit requires new IRS form

Beginning with the 1989 returns, taxpayers claiming child or dependent care credit must identify the care provider. Form 2441 (and Schedule 1 for those filing the short form) will have space for the care provider's name, address, and identification number. If a tax-exempt organization, such as a

Congress repeals supplemental Medicare premium

Congress recently repealed the supplemental Medicare premium after the tax forms for 1989 were printed. Thus, Form 1040A and Form 1040 have lines for reporting the supplemental Medicare premium. Since there is no supplemental premium to be paid for 1989, no entry should be made on line 23, Form 1040A, or on line 54, Form 1040.

According to Kathy Green, owner of the H&R Block office in Floydada, taxpayers who would have been subject to the supplemental premium may have taken the addition to their tax liability into account when they determined the amount of their estimated tax payments for 1989.

A portion of the cost of the supplemental care was scheduled to be covered by an increase in the Medicare Part B premium, said Mrs. Green. "Individuals who receive Social Security benefits and elect the Medicare Part B coverage will see an increase in the Part B premium in 1990 because the Social Security Administration has already programmed the higher premium into their computers." The Social Security Administration recently announced that these individuals will receive a refund of the premium increase.

Scouts attend Khawadi dances in Amarillo

Scout Troop 357 traveled to Amarillo January 26, for an overnight camping trip and attended the Khawadi winter ceremonial dances. The Khawadi Dancers are scouts from the Golden Spread Council centered in Amarillo.

They travel across the U.S. to do many performances and visit various indian pueblos to learn dances they perform.

Scouts attending from Floydada were: Dustin Owens, Chris Bretas, Adam Soto, Tyson Edwards, Brandon Daniels, Anthony Emert, Jason Harrison, Austin Williams, and Vernon Cooper. Scoutmasters attending were Rex Harrison, Curtis Emert and Bob Gilliland.

During the campout scouts were instructed on the safety merit badge. A short hike was taken by the scouts and they learned that they as well as the scoutmasters, that they didn't take enough warm clothing or sleeping gear.

church or charity, provides the care, you need not include an identification number. You must provide, in any case, the care provider's name and address.

Taxpayers not including this information on their returns will not be allowed to claim the dependent care credit. If you cannot provide the required information, you must show you made every effort in attempting to obtain it.

The IRS has developed Form W-10 for use in obtaining dependent care provider information. You will have met your responsibility once you have obtained the form, properly completed and signed, from your care provider. There are other ways to show that you have made every effort; Form W-10 is, however, the simplest.

Taxpayers would be wise to obtain their completed Form W-10s as soon as possible. That way you protect your insurability for the dependent care credit even if your care provider moves to another location between now and the time you file your 1989 return. If your care provider does not have copies of Form W-10, your local H&R Block office can provide them for you and answer any questions you may have about the child care credit.

Time Capsule Contents

By Alice Gilroy

Alma Holmes has solved the mystery of the "Time Capsule." A search had been conducted through numerous old papers in an effort to find out when the "Time Capsule" was buried and what was inside.

The Floyd County Centennial Commission dug up the box several weeks ago to prepare for future celebrations. The box had been buried, it was at first believed, in 1965, during the 75th county celebration and contained historical memorabilia of that time.

Instead of finding anything inside, the committee found muddy water and sludge. A search was then conducted to find out the contents. The 1965 papers were searched until more leads sent us to 1959, during the city's 50th celebration.

Still, nothing could be found listing the contents of the box, but with Mrs. Holmes' help, we have narrowed it down. Reading about the search, Mrs. Holmes contacted The Hesperian and told us that she had a list of the items placed in the box. She also told us to check the May 28, 1959 paper for information.

Mrs. Holmes also sent us a list of items buried. It included: 5 (1 each) buttons, 1 top hat, 1 derby, 1 Jubilee tie, 1 bonnet, 2 wooden nickles, 1 book advance tickets, 2 fliers, Letter from Mrs. Alma Holmes who prepared the script for Prairierama, a copy of the historical script, Golden Jubilee sticker, map of present world—Space Age, program-book, queen contest rules, auto sticker, hat band, letter from Golden Jubilee Queen of 1959, copy of property list, copy of cast requirements.

Mrs. Holmes also sent us an announcement about the 1959 play, "Prairierama," which ran May 24-30, and a copy of a proclamation, signed by Mayor Jimmy Willson, decreeing May 24-30th as Floydada's 50th Golden Jubilee Celebration.

We got excited and went to May 25th's paper to find a story about the Time Capsule. We still couldn't find it, but we did find stories on other activities going on at the time. These stories shed some light on the meaning of some of the items placed in the box.

On May 28, the historical play, Prairierama was already into its fourth showing. Briefly described, the Prairierama sequences, then the first settlers in 1884, ranchers, cowboys, etc., then the founding of the town in 1890, early struggles for education, early religious activities, the county seat celebration, the coming of cotton, hailing the agricultural era, the destructive fire of 1911, WWI, WWII, the finale and the fireworks.

The play was written by Mrs. Alma N. Holmes, assisted by Joyce Williams, under the professional direction of John B. Rodgers Producing Co.

A beard growing contest had been underway for some time. According to the proclamation sent to us by Mrs. Holmes, these men became a fraternity, dubbed the "Brothers of the Brush."

The Proclamation read:
WHEREAS: The male citizenry of this City are desirous of entering into the spirit of this historic event by wearing hair on their face where heretofore it has not appeared to remind us of the customs of our male citizens in early days,

BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED: That I Mayor of Floydada, hereby proclaim that these public spirited citizens shall become members of the great fraternity known hence forth as the

BROTHERS OF THE BRUSH

Members in good standing will agree to raise facial adornment in the form of mustaches, sideburns, goatees, full beards, or any combination thereof from this date forward until May 30th, 1959. Members in good standing shall participate in such activities as directed to publicize our FLOYDADA GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATION: By joining in and participating in wearing official derbies, or top hats and/or similar old fashioned apparel on our actual celebration days.

The proclamation was signed March 19th, 1959, by Mayor Jimmy Willson. Already the beard growing battle had begun. The Brothers of the Brush had been formed.

A "take it off" contest in which seven "Brothers of the Brush" raced to see how long it took to remove months of chin whisker growth was set for Friday, May 29. Seven of the contestants in the "Biggest, Bushiest, Full Bearded category of the Beard Growing contest had to place identical shavers to their faces, and, at the word "go" start the "whisk-off."

The men in the whisk off were: James Willis, F.A. Faulkenberry, Scott Faulkenberry, Jack Cooper, Wayland Faulkenberry, Johnny Roberts and Babe Jones.

Preliminaries had already been held the Tuesday before. The winner of the youngest with a beard went to sixteen year old Royce Leatherman.

G.L. Fawver, 85, won the oldest man with a beard.

Tommy Assiter won the best moustache and chin whisker division.

Herschel Hammonds won the ugliest beard. Prettiest beard went to Wayland Faulkenberry.

May 16 was the date of the first pre-celebration event of the 50th anniversary by Golden Jubilee participants, and others. Floydada Junior High Band led off a parade started from Jubilee headquarters on West Missouri Street at 8:30 p.m. Everybody was told to get into the mood by wearing jubilee regalia, hats, ties, buttons and bows, old time dresses and bonnets.

Keystone cops and lady cops were in evidence everywhere. A program of old time music wound up the evening.

The next weekend more pre-celebration took place when the Brothers of the Brush and the Jubilee Belles got together for ice cream and cake, and old time music. The entertaining area was roped off and the affair was free for all who wore buttons and bonnets.

Reading about the happenings in 1959 can help one to understand why certain items were placed in the time capsule, although The Hesperian would like readers to answer a few questions.

What kind of buttons were being worn? What was their significance?

What was the difference between a Golden Jubilee celebrant and someone else? Was there a difference?

Who were the Jubilee Belles?

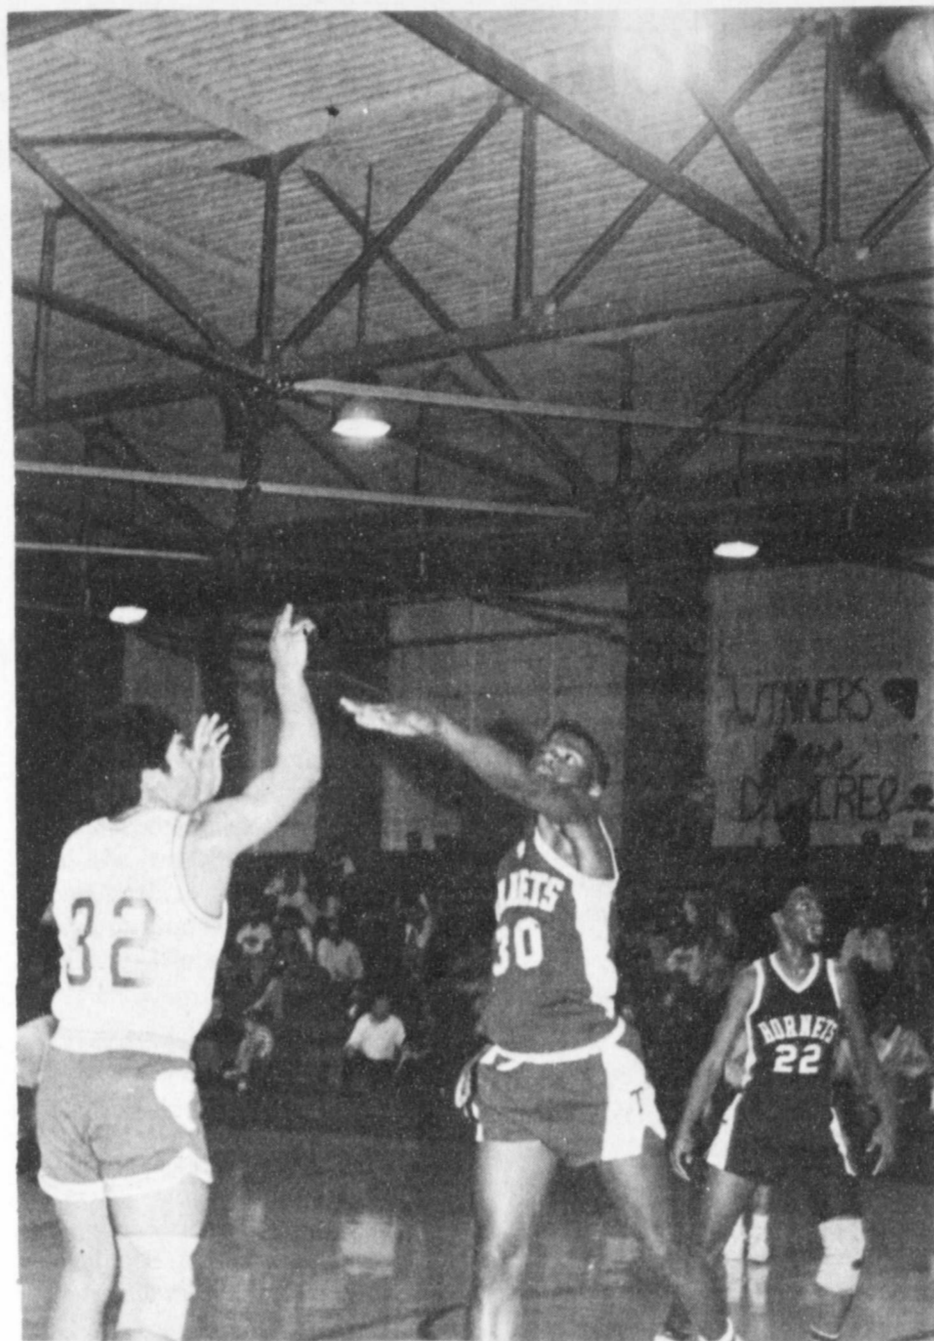

We would love to get some stories from people that remember the activities of that year. We could include them in our Centennial edition this year. If we keep getting the kind of help like we received from Mrs. Holmes, the Centennial edition will be a lot easier for us to put together and more fun for everyone else to read.

Floydada boys varsity edges Littlefield for district victory

The Floydada boys varsity team edges past Littlefield for a district win on Tuesday, February 6. Floydada emerged from the match with a 5 point win over Littlefield, earning 59 points to their opponents 54.

"We have been in a slump," said Coach Mike Cocanougher. "We needed to win this game to get back in the groove. We played a poor first half, but second half, we played much better."

High point man for the team was Kenneth Collins with 28 points. Grant Stovall was next in line with 14 and Frank Suarez had 10. Joe Cisneros made 6 points and Ryan Burns netted 1.

The team now has a season record of 15-9. Their record for the second half of district is 2-2.

The boys played Tulia on February 2, coming up a little short of the win. Tulia beat the 'Winds 67 to 58.

"Tulia has a big, physical team," said Cocanougher. "We had trouble matching up with them on the boards. The kids played hard, but we could not get our shots to fall when we needed them."

Collins scored 32 points during the match. Suarez had 12, Cisneros made 8 and Stovall got 6.

FEATURE TEACHER—Robbie Odom has been selected as this week's Feature Teacher at Duncan Elementary. Mrs. Odom and her husband, John, are the parents of three children, Patrick, 8, Nicole, 6, and Brian, 3. A graduate of Hobbs High School in Rotan, she attended Western Texas College and Hardin Simmons University. Mrs. Odom has been a teacher for 12 years, having taught kindergarten, music, K-1 comb., third grade and Pre-Primary. Before coming to Floydada, she had taught in Iraan-Sheffield, Miami, Lakeview and Olton. Her hobbies include art, sewing, reading and handwork. Mrs. Odom's feelings of teaching are, "I believe every child has a wonderful talent in some area. If we can have fun learning then we can discover the next Picasso or Einstein. We have to teach to the child, not the other way around."

County needs two to eight inches

Floyd County irrigators within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 will have to apply from two to eight inches of water to bring the five-foot root zone soil profile to field capacity before 1990 spring planting, according to soil moisture survey data released by the Water District and the USDA-Soil Conservation Service.

A small area near the Providence and Lone Star Communities, in the northwest part of Floyd County, has soil moisture deficits ranging from two to four inches. However, the majority of Floyd County will need from four to six inches of water to fill the soil profile. Six to eight inch soil moisture deficits were found in an area between Floydada and Lockney and in an area south of the Baker Community.

Stored soil moisture is limited with most of the county having from two to four inches of plant-available water, says Mike Risinger, USDA-SCS Soil Scientist. "The north and northeastern portions of the county have about four to five inches of stored water. The area between Floydada and Lockney is the driest portion of the county, where fields average less than two inches of stored soil moisture," he says.

Water District and USDA-SCS personnel take annual soil moisture readings by inserting neutron probes into aluminum access tubes at more than 230 monitoring sites across the District's service area.

The annual soil moisture survey results are designed to inform irrigators about general soil moisture availability and deficit conditions across the Water District's 15-county service area. With this information, irrigators can estimate the amount of water they will need to apply during pre-plant irrigation to bring their soil to field capacity without over-irrigating or under-irrigating.

Soil moisture levels have traditionally been a good indicator of potential crop yields. If the soil profile is near field capacity at planting, the chances for good crop yields is greater.

Rain gauge totals at the 20 Water District soil moisture monitoring sites in Floyd County averaged about 25 inches of precipitation for 1989.

Any precipitation and/or irrigation received between now and planting season will improve soil moisture conditions and improve crop yield prospects.

For more information about the pre-plant soil moisture survey, contact your local USDA-Soil Conservation Service field office or the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405 or call (806) 762-0181.

Deficiency speculation over

Speculation on the size of the 1989-crop cotton deficiency payment is over.

The National Agricultural Statistics Service January 31 advised Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. that 1,830,000 bales were marketed in December at 61.4 cents per pound, resulting in a January-December weighted average price of 60.3 cents. Subtracted from the 73.4-cent 1989 target price, that leaves a total deficiency payment of 13.1 cents per pound. Producers who requested and received an advance of 8.56 cents at the time of the 1989 program sign-up as most did, will receive a final payment of 4.54 cents.

County offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service expect official notification of the payment rate no later than February 5 and most should have producer checks in the mail by the end of the month. The amount of producer payments will equal the payment rate times program payment yield times planted acres.

Based on preliminary figures for 11 months through November, PCG early in January projected a final payment rate of 3.94 cents, reflecting a 60.9-cent price average for the year. Included in that calculation was estimated December sales of three million bales at 64 cents per pound, almost one million bales and 2.6 cents per pound too high. However, considering preliminary November marketings of 2.879 million at 65.8 cents, officials say, the estimates looked reasonable at the time. They note too that downward revisions of prices and upward revisions of sales for the August through November months were also factors in the lower-than-expected average annual price.

PCG figures the final payments will bring about $50,929,000 into the economy of its 25-county High Plains territory. This estimate uses 2.8 million planted acres and an average payment yield, weighted by county acreage figures, of 404.2 pound per acre.

Also contributing to producer finances and the area economy in the early months of 1990, PCG notes, will be advance payments to producers as they sign into the 1990 cotton program. USDA has estimated the total deficiency rate for this year at 10.5 cents per pound and offers 40 percent of that amount in advance. So, were it not for the terms of last year's Budget Reconciliation Act and the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings, thus the actual advance will be only 3.633 cents per pound.

ACP sign-up set

The 1990 ACP program has been announced by the Floyd County ASCS office. Sign-up is scheduled for Monday, February 5 through Friday, February 9. There are no funds available at the present time for the 1990 ACP program, but due to the funds being late, sign-up is being done to save time when funds are received.

A number of conservation practices are available for cost-share assistance including parallel terraces, standard terraces, diversion terraces, grass waterways, irrigation tailwater recovery pit, lake system for irrigation tailwater only, irrigation land leveling and irrigation pipelines.

Larry Benjamin, SCS Conservation Technician, states that anyone who would like more information about the cost-share program should contact the Floyd County ASCS office or the Soil Conservation Service in Floydada. Telephone numbers are 983-3763 for the ASCS office, and 983-2352 for the SCS office.

All programs and services provided by the ASCS, ASCS and SCS are available to everyone without regard to race, religion, sex, handicap, color, age or national origin.

Now is the time to spray trees, ornamentals with dormant oil

Application of petroleum oils is one of the older methods of pest control that is still practiced today. They are contact insecticides that interfere physically, rather than chemically, with respiration. Oils on the market today are greatly improved over earlier formulated oils. They are light, highly refined, well standardized, and consistent.

Petroleum oils control the egg, immature, and adult stages of scale insects, aphids and mites on ornamental fruit and nut trees. Some labels list other pests such as mealybugs, whiteflies, casebearers, leaf rollers, lace bug eggs, and phylloxera. A benefit of using oil sprays, especially dormant oils, is that they usually interfere less with natural control by parasites and predators than conventional pesticides applied during the growing season. They are also safe for the user. However, oils must be used in accordance with all label directions to avoid damage to the plants being treated.

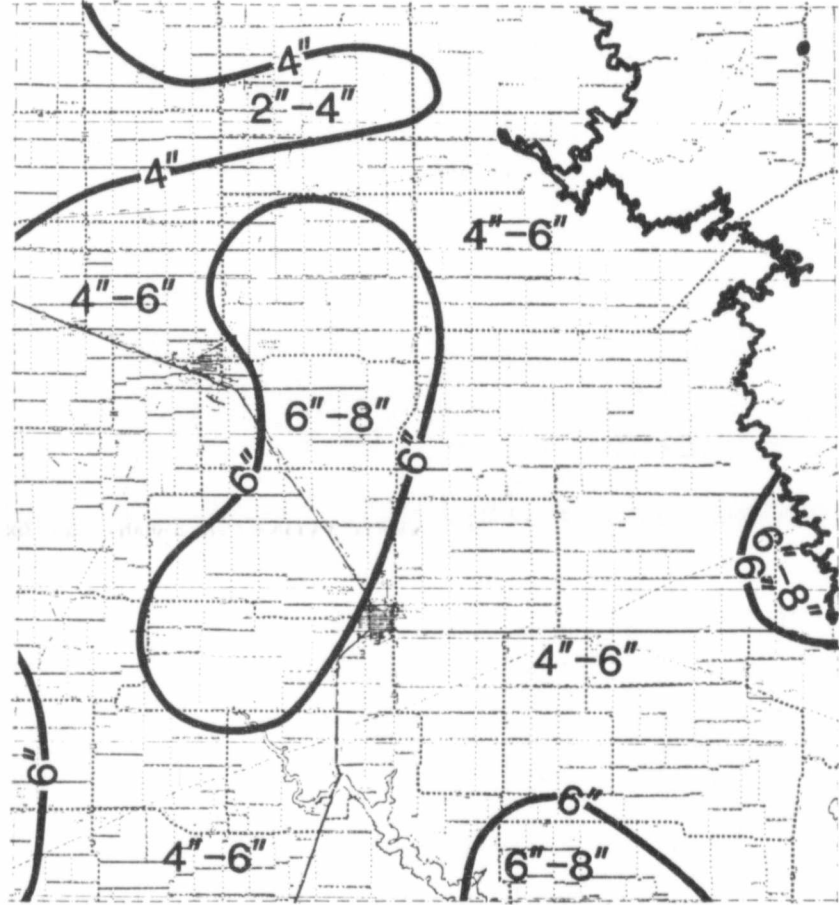

Dormant oils are the heaviest of all petroleum oils. For maximum effectiveness, they should be applied as late in winter as possible before buds begin to swell. These should not be applied after bud break.

Summer oils are lighter than dormant oils and are formulated for use during spring and summer. Superior oils are the most highly refined of all petroleum oils, and are excellent for horticultural pest control. Superior oils are primarily used on trees during the growing season.

To avoid plant damage, the following precautions should be taken. Never mix oils with Sevin or sulfur compounds, or use these within 30 days of application of oils. Most labels recommend that oils be used at temperatures between 40 degrees and 90 degrees F. Do not apply oils if a freeze is likely within 48 hours after application. Since we are in a low humidity area, care must also be taken not to apply dormant oils when temperatures are high. Certain plants are highly sensitive to oils and should not be treated. These include Sugar and Japanese maples, beech, hickory, walnut, certain conifers, such as blue spruce, ferns, palms, African violets, cacti, and other succulent plants. If you have doubts about a plant's sensitivity, treat only a few leaves or a single plant before making an overall application.

Properly mixing oils with water is important. Always consult the label for detailed directions for mixing and to avoid plant damage. Since oils kill by suffocation, good coverage is a must. The oil must penetrate into the cracks and crevices of the bark where the insects overwinter.

We want to thank the Floydada Businessmen and Farmers and Producer's Co-operative Elevator for purchasing our Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion steers.

We appreciate those who contributed to the Floydada Businessmen and Farmers fund. Without those who help, many Floyd County youngsters could not receive the benefits they do.

A special thanks to our friends and those in the community who have helped us achieve these honors.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Crow

Software available from Cotton Council
Cotton producers, researchers, extension workers, consultants and others now can obtain software from the National Cotton Council that allows access to a bibliography on reports of the latest production practices, cotton research, products and other useful information.

The software package contains a database listing all reports presented at the 1987-89 Beltwide Cotton Conferences. Through a "key word" search, the database can produce a listing of every paper delivered at those conferences on a given topic such as "bollworm," "defoliant," or "module."

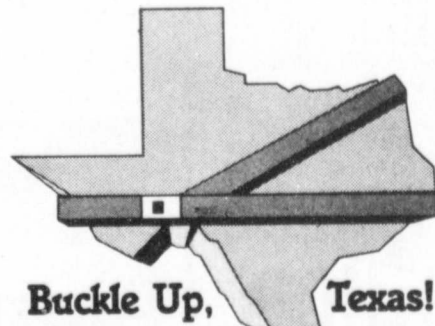

The Council will furnish the software and 1987-89 Beltwide database for $3 plus postage, said Joe Wyrick, the Council's Information Systems director.

The Council demonstrated the bibliography feature during an "Emerging Computer Technology Show-And-Tell" Jan. 11-12 at the 1990 Beltwide Cotton Conferences in Las Vegas.

The bibliography is a feature of the Council's Cotton Telecommunication Network, which also provides its members a daily cotton newswire, production forecasts, spot prices, the Council's news publications and other timely data.

The CTN is a Cotton Foundation project sponsored by ICI Americas and managed by the Council. For more information on the bibliography software package or the CTN, please contact Wyrick or Tammie Martin at the Council, P.O. Box 12285, Memphis, TN 38182.
