Scheele turns over Republican chairman position to Kerry Pratt

After nine years of serving Floyd County as the Chairman of the Republican Party, Albert Scheele turned over the position, May 1, to Floydadian Kerry Pratt.

"I will always remember this experience," said Scheele. It has been a pleasure to work in this position. I've enjoyed meeting the different people and working with them.

"Highlights for me have been the election of Beau Boulter and carrying the county for Ronald Reagan."

During the time that Scheele has served as Republican County Chairman, the amount of people that vote in republican in the local primary has doubled.

"I want to thank the people that have helped me," said Scheele. The people in the courthouse and the former Democratic Chairman, Ben Ayers, have always been real nice to me. They have treated me with courtesy, respect and cooperation and I appreciate it.

"I feel like it would be good if we could develop a good two party system in the county. I don't believe all democrats are bad and all republicans are good. I just believe to have good government you need the balance of a two party system."

The new chairman, Kerry Pratt, who makes his living farming east of Floydada, stated, "I am real excited about this position. I hope to do as good a job as Albert did as County Chairman. I want to carry on Albert's tradition, but they sure are big footsteps to fill."

"I hope I can also continue to work well with the people in the courthouse. I agree with Albert in that we need a two party system in the county, I would like to see republicans make more of an inroad into county government."

"I hope we can soon elect a republican county official in the courthouse and want to continue to have Floyd County support republican candidates in the general elections at the state and national level."

Producers has arrival of first load of wheat

Bob Vickers, manager of Producers Cooperative Elevator, reported the arrival of the first load of wheat for the 1990 season on June 4. Vickers timed the arrival at 1:15 p.m. at the cooperative's Dougherty location.

Covington Partnership earns the $75.00 bonus for delivery of the first load which weighed 20,800 pounds. Test weight was 58 pounds to the bushel with a moisture content of 13.4%, according to Vickers.

A load brought to the gin later in the day tested out at 12.70% moisture content and 61 pounds to the bushel.

The Covington Partnership is made up of Kent Covington, Jim Covington and Marty Covington. The latter states that the wheat was grown in southeast Floyd County along Highway 28 and Highway 70.

Vickers also said that wheat was expected at the Cooperative's Boothe Spur location later on Monday.

Hospital board reviews financials

The Caprock Hospital Board of Directors met in a regular session on May 24, 1990 at 7:00 a.m. at the hospital.

Leroy Schaffner gave a financial and statistical review that included the following breakdown:

Hospital Inpatient Revenue, $58,772; Hospital Custodial Care Revenue, $5,023; Medicare Swing Bed Revenue, $2,718; Total Inpatient Revenue, $66,513;

Emergency Room Revenue, $12,030; Out-Patient Revenue, $23,121; Observation Revenue, $13,902; Ambulance Revenue, $3,519; Total Outpatient Revenue, $52,572; Other Revenues, $7,931; Total Revenue, $127,413;

Deductions from Revenue including: Estimated Medicare contractual allowances were, ($11,500); Estimated Medicaid contractual allowances were, ($4,500); Estimated bad debt, ($6,000); Net Revenue, $105,413;

Operating expenses for the month, $108,023; Depreciation, $7,200; Interest Expense, $3,000; Total Expenses, $118,223;

Revenue-Expenses...Net Loss,

($12,810).

The Statistical Information: Admissions: 22; Patient Days: 79; Observation Days: 11; Emergency Room Visits: 129; Outpatient visits: 279; Surgeries: 5.

Inpatient Medicare was 60.8%. The Board of Directors discussed the past due bills, including the City Electric bill, and it was hoped that with the installation of the new computer system the cash flow will increase so that some of the bills can be paid.

Many of the board of directors planned on attending the next city council in June.

Early in the month Methodist Hospital controller Joe Maddux performed a cash flow analysis and provided the board with this statement, "In February of this year, the hospital experienced a computer crash. Combined with Medicare's computer being down because of the repeal of the Catastrophic Insurance plan the cash flow was severely curtailed."

There was also discussion on cutting expenses and increasing revenue and increasing utilization of Caprock hospital. No action was taken on these items.

Molly Stringer, the director of nurses, gave the board a report on Quality Assurance studies that were on going.

The board declared Fred Thayer and Melba Vickers as elected board members in the May 5, 1990 election. The following were elected officers: William Bertrand, president; Fred Thayer, vice-president and Joy Assiter, secretary.

The Tax Appraisal office notified the hospital that the attorney fees for collection of delinquent taxes had not been paid since 1982. This amounts to $21,000 and the administrator was instructed to verify and report to the board at the next meeting.

The directors present for the meeting were: William Bertrand, Fred Thayer, Joy Assiter, Melba Vickers and Kenneth Pitts. Also present were: hospital administrator Leroy Schaffner, Molly Stringer, director of nurses; and Nell McClung, controller.

Donations begin for shelter of new ambulance

Rhonda Guthrie and Molly Stringer of Caprock Emergency Services were in the Hesperian office last week to report that donations have started coming in toward the construction of a building to house the newly purchased ambulance.

Among the larger donations has been the contribution of $100 by Floydada Coop Gins.

Others making donations include Martin and Louise Orr in memory of Pansy Bond, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bertrand in memory of Pansy Bond, and Sue Guthrie in memory of Jack Stansell.

Autograph party slated for cowboy poet

Dennis Gaines, area cowboy poet who performed at the National Cowboy Symposium at Texas Tech University last week, will be guest of honor at an Autograph Party at the Motley County Library, Matador, on Saturday, June 9.

Gaines will be on hand to perform and sign autographs for his first book, "New Tradition: Western Verse" from 2 to 5 p.m. An entertainer in much demand for club programs throughout the area, the Matador Ranch cowboy has performed at the famous Cowboy Poetry Gathering at Elko, Nevada, the Institute of Texan Cultures, San Antonio, and the Lubbock symposium.

Born into an Air Force family that moved more times than he could count, the former oil field worker of Louisiana, Texas, Gulf of Mexico, India, Brazil, the North Sea, and Alaska, has thrown his bedroll on the Matador range for the past four years. Writing poetry began as a diversion "to pass the time after I had already swatted all the slow files in the bunkhouse," Gaines explained.

Book collectors, Old West fans, and rural folks who value their heritage but can still enjoy a humorous look at their

THE CLASS OF 1940

By The Way

Lockney's Chamber of Commerce and the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department are gearing up for a good ol' fashioned Saturday, June 23. There will be a street dance with music by Slow Motion band, entertainment by the Whirlers, food booths, fun booths and crafts booths all up and down Main Street, all day Saturday.

All the money raised by the chamber will be donated to the Lockney Fire Department in an effort to buy a new ambulance.

If you are interested in having a booth at the event, be sure and call Lesca Durham at the Lockney Gin. There is more on the event in the Lockney paper. Be sure and check it out. It is going to be a lot of fun and I can hardly wait to play.

We forgot to mention in last week's paper that the Monte Williams quoted in all the daily papers, as being an Ann Richards consultant, is not Floydada's very own Monte Williams.

It's hard to believe that there could be more than one Monte Williams, but there is. I'm sure the other Monte Williams' are not as fine a fellows as Floydada's. I'm not just saying that because I may want a loan someday. That has nothing to do with it!

I met a very honest man in Lockney the other day. Unfortunately I forgot to get his name.

He came into the Beacon after he got his Centennial edition in the mail (he was a subscriber) and wanted to know if he owed us $2.00 extra. He saw the $2.00 on the cover and wanted to come pay us. I was very impressed, but obviously not quick enough to get his name.

Then, this week, we got $5.00 in the mail from a subscriber out of town. She had not seen the article in the paper that said subscribers get a free centennial edition, however she did read that if we mail someone a copy it will cost you $5.00.

When she got her complimentary centennial edition, she sent us $5.00 because we mailed it to her. She also told us how much she liked it and thanked us for sending her one. We will send her money back of course, but we still thought it was really sweet.

See I hope people stop turning in Centennial mistakes soon. We are starting to look bad.

Here are this week's boo-boos. Get out your Centennial edition and prepare to correct.

Doyle Walls pointed out to us that we messed up the Oden ad. We have Oden's instead of Oden. He said that it has never been Oden's, is not Oden's now and will never be Oden's. The ad can be found on page 31 in the 2nd agricultural edition.

We also misspelled Stephen Fyffe's name. Under the picture, please change Steven to Stephen. We also did not put the names of all the employees under the picture. That was a misunderstanding on everybody's part, so we are reprinting the picture inside this week's paper. Please check it out and write the names in your edition.

Gayle Reay also requested that we put Olien Bilbrey's name in the Lockney General Hospital story. She was sorry she had left it out. The story can be found on page 8 in the first section. Add Bilbrey's name to the last column, near the top of the page, where she lists those who have given many years of faithful dedicated service and their time to the doctors, patients and hospitals.

Gladys Jones asked me to put out the word that a Minolta lens cover was found in one of the red aprons that were worn by the lunch servers at the Pioneer Reunion. If your missing your lens cover, call Travis Jones please. He's got it!

My little boy is growing up so fast. I'm so proud of him and he's breaking my heart. He started his first Vacation Bible School this week, and I'm here to tell you it was no easy feat.

It all started about a year ago when reverse psychology worked on him. He grew out of the stage before we did and we went too far.

He told us one day that he didn't want to go to school, so my husband decided to turn the table on him thinking it would change his mind. Lennie said things like, "You don't want to go to school and play with other kids. You don't want to go learn how to read and write and color and make things. You don't want to play on the playground."

Get the picture? Anyway, this year when Vacation Bible School started and Brandon was old enough to go, I went home last week and laid out the plans for the upcoming exciting week. I told him he was going to go to Vacation Bible School and have lots of fun.

"I DON'T WANT TO GO TO SCHOOL!!!"

That's all I heard for days. We tried everything. We even changed the name, but he was too smart for us. So Monday morning when we set out for the First Baptist Church in Floydada, he screamed all the way from Lockney. I mean SCREAMED! You would have thought I was going to put him in a burning fire.

The only way to calm him down was to lie — so I did. I told him I would stay with him.

When we got to the class everything was peachy while I was sitting on the floor within reach. When I tried to leave he bolted down the hall, SCREAMING AGAIN.

I wish I had had a video camera. He latched on to the nursery lobby doors and would not let go. I grabbed him by the legs, picked him up and tried to pry his fingers off the handles. Everytime I let go of one hand to get the other hand, back came the first hand latching on to the door. Brandon's whole rigid body was parallel to the floor, like a hurricane wind was blowing him up and away, only it was me.

Finally I got him loose and sat on the couch holding him close while he cried hysterically. I prayed and prayed because he wasn't listening to me and I wasn't getting anywhere.

Then a nice young man, named Chris came up and offered Brandon a piece of cheese. Brandon got quiet, got off my lap long enough to grab the cheese and crawled back up. He had to quit crying to eat his favorite stuff. Then a nice woman came out and said, "Hurry Brandon, we are gonna play with macaroni and green paper. You don't want to miss this."

It was like someone turned off a faucet. He got off my lap, took her hand and only looked back long enough to make sure the guy with the cheese came too!

When I came back to pick him up he happily showed me what he had made: A macaroni necklace, green poster paper with buttons and knick knacks glued on, and a flower he had potted himself. I cried.

I really appreciate all the churches that sponsor these Bible Schools. If you don't enroll your child in someone's Bible school you are making a big mistake. There were about 214 children that were enrolled in Floydada's First Baptist Bible School, with about 43 workers helping out. Everyone is having a good time.

I feel the same way Brandon did when he left the second day of class. As we were walking toward the car he suddenly remembered something he forgot to do. He turned toward the building and in a very sincere voice shouted, "Thank-you".

life style are likely to find this collection of 60 poems a delight.

"Yes, Ma'am, I Ride Horses" describes a shy cowboy on a rare visit to a soda fountain where he does his best to impress a pretty urban lady. "Cow-punching for Kodak" addresses the need of "them writer folks an' artists an' wannabee cowpokes" to record a failing life style at the cowboy's expense.

The darker side of lonely lives finds expression in "The Journey of Three-Fingered Jake" and "Silver Lady". The folklore of the South Texas cattle country where "everything has a sticker, a stinger, or fangs" is the poignant theme

Letters to The Editor

Genealogical Society meets in Briscoe County courthouse

Editor,
We, the Employees and Council of the City of Floydada, would like to take this opportunity to say "THANKS" for the great job you and your staff did on the Centennial Edition. Everyone enjoyed reading the articles and viewing the pictures. Your long hours and hard work sure paid off. It's GREAT!

Also, we would like to say "Thank You" for all the other nice things you and your staff do for our community. Your dedication to promoting this community is certainly appreciated.

City of Floydada
Employees & Council

Dear Editor,
Congratulations and "Hats Off" to Travis Jones and all the Centennial Committee! The hard work and long hours they devoted to our celebration was most evident.

Citizens of Floyd County and friends and relatives from near and far were able to enjoy a whole week of activities. The Founder's Day Services, the business open-houses, the Centennial Edition of the Hesperian, the special shows at the Museum and First National Bank, and then topping off the festivities with Friday's and Saturday's full schedule made it most memorable.

Hundreds of volunteer hours went into these preparations and those of us who benefited from all your hard work salute you. S-A-L-U-T-E!!

Because of the inspiration of a few politicians in both parties, Floydada was able to pull off a coup over every other city and town in Texas. Readers may not be aware that nine TV stations and reporters from most major daily newspapers in the state were in town Saturday. A long summer of hard campaigning for the governorship was kicked-off here. Those reporters and news people spent money and time here, and thanks goes to the First National Bank and Floyd County Democrats for providing a Hospitality Room. It may well be another 100 years before we have another chance at that much free state-wide press coverage.

The terrific parade, the concert, and the dances were a swell way to wind up the Centennial Celebration. The Early Pioneers must surely be proud of the many ways they were celebrated and remembered Memorial weekend, and the Future Pioneers of Floyd County now have a lofty achievement to match or beat. Thanks everyone for a really fun time!

Deen Braly

Dear Editor,

I have been thinking about the hospital and the article in the Hesperian on Thursday, May 10th, 1990, about the Floydada hospital and clinic being behind in their utility bills, we have a good hospital and clinic and good doctors and nurses and all the other staff members, also the new ambulance, if we are in an emergency the helicopter will come to us. We have all of this going for us. It would be so sad for us to lose this just because of the back bills. It's a long way to Lubbock if some of our children are sick or if some of our older folks have fallen and broken a leg or hip, or someone is in an automobile accident.

Several other small towns have had other programs such as bake sales and auctions, etc.

Wouldn't it be much simpler if everyone with a water meter would just add one dollar each month to their water bill, until we got their back utility bills caught up. Then they could go on from there.

It wouldn't hurt any of us much and it would help them a lot and if anyone else wanted to help it would be appreciated.

I am an elderly lady and live on my social security and a small pension and I'd be glad to do this and I don't feel like I would miss this for a few months and when I go to the hospital, I will feel like I have helped in a small way.

If anyone else feels this way let us hear from you or has another plan.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Pauline Pierce
Floydada, Texas

P.S. Or call the city hall.

To The Editor:

Many, many people in Floyd County and even in Texas are well aware that we are 100 YEARS old in Floyd County!

Happiness was the only expression evidenced all day Saturday!

I would like to express my thanks to all who had a part in any of the activities for this beautiful celebration.

A special thanks goes to the President of the Old Settlers Association and his leadership in planning every detail. Travis Jones spent endless hours and months in planning to have everything just right for the 'Old Timers' of today and for those of you who have not been here so long. Of course, Trav couldn't have done all this without the help of many others.

Because there is no way to name all, or even remember those, who contributed to the success of the 100th birthday event, I will not attempt to name others — but you know who they are!

I know that I express the feeling of all those working for the Pioneer Centennial celebration and observance, when I say that all of Floydada, Lockney and Floyd County should be very proud of the events that were finalized on the 100th birthday of Floyd County on May 26, 1990.

The weather was perfect (even tho' a little hot), the program went off without a hitch, the State candidates and press coverage was an honor to us, the lunch (except for the minor shortage) was wonderful, the music and the style show was excellent, the museum was a beehive of wonderful events, the parade was the best ever, the crowd was super and the airiness of happiness was everywhere! On the scale of 1 to 100, I rate it 100!! By-the-way, I have been here all of my life and have attended most of the "Old Settlers Day" celebrations!

Tho' I was not mentioning persons, I would be amiss if I did not give a big and sincere THANKS to Alice Gilroy and her staff for the wonderful publicity all through the preceding months in reminding their readers of the events and creating excitement for the final day on May 26.

Also, any city in Texas could well say that the Centennial Edition that was published of our history and as a momentous for the generations to come, could be a compliment to any of the BIG publishers!

Thanks again, Alice, for all your plans and hours of hard work — you made alot of people happy! You are surely a true Floyd Countyan now!

Sincerely,
Flora McNeill

Editor,

Another magnificent Floyd County Pioneer Reunion-Centennial Celebration has been somewhat clouded by the controversy over an incident occurring during the visits by gubernatorial aspirants Clayton Williams and Ann Richards in Floydada on May 26.

The candidates' formats had been clearly established in April by the Pioneer Reunion-Centennial Committee. Although most members of the committee expressed pleasure to have both candidates attend the event, it was a consensus feeling that political overtones should not be allowed to take away from the celebration.

Therefore, some "ground rules" were made. The procedures for the candidates were again reviewed during the meeting of May 15. Each candidate would be allocated equal time at the Courthouse pavilion prior to the lunch break, and each would be requested to keep that particular time "non-political."

Separate news conferences were to be scheduled away from the crowds following their public appearances, thus affording both Mr. Williams and Ms. Richards a more appropriate time and place to air their political views and discuss partisan issues of the campaign.

Williams was first to come to the stage. He introduced his wife and family, told of his grandfather's having been an early surveyor in Floyd County, and alluded to the significance and importance of the pioneer heritage being observed that day.

The Republican candidate abided by the wishes of the sponsoring committee during his public appearance, and for this he was unfairly criticized by Ms. Richards and some members of the media. Even some Floyd County residents complained that Williams avoided the important issues. By design, ISSUES were NOT to be a part of the program.

On the other hand, Ann Richards dwelt on issues and stated, "I didn't come here just to tell you all a bunch of stories." Either Ms. Richards was uninformed in advance of the policy (as claimed by her consultant Glen Smith in an A-J/Dallas Associated Press dateline of May 28), or the Democratic nominee chose to ignore the requests of the committee to "not talk politics on the stage."

I just thought that I would set the record straight!

Dear Alice,

I was so happy I got to meet you at "Old Settlers" day. I always read your "By The Way" and also the column by your father.

The celebration was just wonderful and really put Floydada on the map. My children are enjoying reading your special 100th Edition.

Even though I've been gone 20 years, I still love Floydada and the good people who live there. Your paper is doing a fine job, so "Hang in There."

Best Wishes
Alma N. Holmes

Dear Hesperian-Beacon Crew:

You did GREAT! The Floyd County Centennial issue which you created will be maintained and passed down to future generations to preserve history. Without your efforts, many of these historic events and day-to-day remembrances would have been lost.

I can appreciate the commitment each of you made in totally dedicating yourself to the creation of this superb documentation of history in Floyd County. Only you know the countless hours devoted to this project.

Each of us who loves Floyd County owes each of you a Texas-size THANK YOU!

Your buddy and number one fan,
Jim Reynolds

Dear Alice,

WOW!... what a fantastic job you and your staff did on the special anniversary edition. You found news and historical data that I never knew although I lived there some 16 years.

Certainly, the people of Floyd County can be most appreciative of the long, hard hours of work that it takes to produce such an edition.

In the meantime, you can send some prayers our way, as we work to produce a similar edition for the 100th anniversary of Swisher County.

Keep up the good work!
Your newspaper friend to the north-west,
Wendell Tooley

We appreciate all the kind words about the Centennial edition. It made all the work worthwhile.

We couldn't have done it without the help of the whole community. Thank you.

Sincerely,
The staff of the Lockney Beacon and

Carl Lemons' News and Views from Cedar Hill

WEATHER

There was trouble on the line a week ago when it came time to transmit N&V to the printing office. A thunder storm was building and static was rampant.

After several attempts the transmission was completed, but soon hail stones were rapping the roof; lightning and thunder from the storm cloud speeded the final filing of documents and caused a hurried shut-down of the Listening Post computer system. When it was over the LP rain gauge read 1.35 and there were a few hail-stripped leaves beneath the trees.

A neighbor, starting his inspection tour, stopped by the house and your writer joined him in a 20 mile appraisal trip that circled and criss crossed Cedar Hill. Some fields of cotton had been lost, other fields apparently were undamaged.

Some wheat, only a week away from harvest, had been severely beaten; but all the wheat seen would still justify harvesting.

Two days later, on Thursday, the rains came again and this time the heaviest spots registered two inches and better. This cloud also dropped hail stones but those were few and thus considered to be of no consequence.

Much cotton 2.5 miles SE of Cedar was lost with the area of most severe damage arcing from that point onward in a north easterly direction.

With conditions ideal for sand damage to occur, rotary hoes flashed across the fields. By Monday afternoon cotton planters were marching behind rod weeders across fields that were much too muddy. Planting number two was under way! The planting of June cotton was under way! Do it now or miss the crop! There were no options!

A rough breakdown of Cedar Hill's Cotton acreage following the hail puts 50% of the crop slightly damaged or damage free; 35% damaged, but better to risk recovery than replant; 15% has been replanted.

Since last week's column 2.35 inches of rain has fell at the Listening Post. That brought the total for May to 4.57, and, Weatherman, if it please you sir, hold up Cedar Hill rain for a couple weeks, then kinda scatter it out over the next 90 days.

VEGETABLE CROPS

The community onions were not ruined, but they are very susceptible to hail.

They really took a beating and the fields smelled quite oniony for a day of two.

Astringent and fungicide were flown on almost instantly, and another dose or two are in the offing.

Bell peppers, dry planted, and barely finished being watered, had no need for the pounding they took. Still they are down there beneath a heavy crust. A crust softening irrigation will be tried, however two four tenth inch showers would do the job much better.

THE LEANING CEDARS

Edna Easily Love, Cedar Hill's "little room" school teacher from the early thirties, still resides in a rest home in Bridgeport. She is better, talks better, and puts regular, everyday folks to shame in her ability to recall the names of acquaintances of long ago. Edna still has that rapid-fire, ninety mile a minute delivery of speech which was her characteristic years ago. She still suffers paralysis on her right side.

Mike Pigg, the good samaritan who brought his equipment and his hired hand over from Lone Star to help Uncle out of a tight spot and got a broken hip for his pains, spent two or three days in the hospital. Then his doctor told him to go home, keep moving, the more you move the better. A week, maybe ten days after the break, Mike's cultivator needed to start, so Uncle went over to help the hand get everything set and running right; seemed like the charitable thing to do. Mike drove out to the turn row to watch. Uncle made the first round then inquired if the job looked all right. Mike says, "Well, I could tell more about it from the tractor seat. Let me take it a round." So Mike made a round, then he made round after round day after day. What's a broken hip these days?

THE PLAIN CEDARS

May 31: Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry returned home from a visit to Bridgeport, Texas. They stopped in Paducah Thursday for Grand-daughter Michelle Harris's high school graduation. They were joined at the graduation by daughter Melba and Troy Smith from Dumas. The Smith's accompanied them back to Cedar then went to Dumas Sunday.

June 4: Reverend and Mrs. Willis Dewey had his brother from Nebraska in their home as guests last week. Brother bought a combine from Durrell Fortenberry and left Monday morning hauling it back to Nebraska with him. Simultaneously Reverend and Mrs. Dewey left Cedar towing their travel trailer with the intention that the two families would part company when they reached Pampa. Bet the folks north of us thought the "harvest invasion" was getting off to an early start this year.

LOST DOG SECTION

Nick Joiner, Junior and Martha's grandson, has gone back home to Irving, Texas. Buffy, the family's two year old female cocker spaniel, thought Nick's visit was the grandest thing that could ever happen to any dog. Where Nick went Buffy went.

Once, when Junior drove north from his house toward South Plains, Nick wanted to ride in the back of the pickup. Refusing to part company with Nick, Buffy came galloping behind. A quarter mile north of Junior's house Nick lost sight of the distant Buffy.

That was days ago, but Buffy has not been seen since. Buffy is bobtailed, Junior says she is brown, Martha says she is reddish, but your writer says she is probably buff...y. Buffy may be over on the north edge of Briscoe County now, still trying to catch up with Nick in the back of that pickup, but the Taylors want her back.

A GENIUS IS OFTEN NOTHING MORE THAN A TALENTED PERSON WHO DOES HIS HOMEWORK.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Well, Monday was a holiday for some of us. Some of the residents had visitors, and some got to go visit their families.

Tuesday, Bro. Richardson came and shared the word with us and we sang some songs. Thanks for the bananas too. Dolores Cannon came and had beauty shop day, we appreciate you. At 2:30, the residents had a sing-a-long. The songs from the good ole days.

Wednesday, was bingo as usual. Ottis Johnson had the first bingo. Mary Alice Davis came and helped us. Treats were bananas, cheese balls, and marshmel-lows.

Thursday, the residents enjoyed ice cream. We had current events and games.

Friday, Evelyn Latta came and played the piano for us. Letha Mulder is no longer with us, as she has moved to Clarendon. If there is anyone from the First Baptist Church who would like to come share and spend some time with us, feel free to come visit some Friday morning, you will be blessed for it. The residents were treated to ice cream Friday from the Dixie Dog, then on to a ride in the country. We went by Sandhill to Lockney. The rain had washed some of the crops, and looked like some hail damage.

If any of the students from Jr. High age to High School, would like to come and volunteer at the nursing home this summer, feel free to call Jo Bryant, Activity Director at 983-3704. We would love to have you, and the residents would too.

We want to welcome a new resident, Mrs. Nettie Adams, her son is Boone Adams.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas opened its doors in 1876 with a student body of about forty men. Its aim was to provide male students with an affordable education. It was to remain a bastion of men for nearly a hundred years. In 1963, however, a new era arrived. The institution's name was changed to Texas A&M University and a limited enrollment of women was allowed. Thus, the "Maggie" was born! By 1970, A&M was fully coeducational.

The youngsters are being sponsored by 159 county Farm Bureaus.

Purpose of the seminar is to provide the students with a better understanding of their American heritage and the capitalistic free enterprise system, according to James Gipe of Waco, the seminar coordinator.

Since the seminar began in 1963, more than 10,000 high school students have attended the annual training school, among them a U.S. congressman and many others now in leadership positions in government, education and business, Gipe said.

Major speakers and their topics are as follows:

Michael Broome of Charlotte, N.C., a motivational speaker, "You and America — Two Great Champions."
Steve Pratt, American Fork, Utah, constitutional expert, "Constitutional Government."

Robert H. Rowland, Oklahoma City, president of the American Citizenship Center, "Free Enterprise."

Basilio Bachor of Corpus Christi, a Polish immigrant, "Selling America."
Jack Jackson of Fort Worth, president of Jackson Associates, "Price of Free Enterprise."

Dr. Lynne Thibodeaux of College Station, an Extension 4-H specialist, "Becoming a Winning Citizen."

Vernie R. Glasson, Waco, executive director of Texas Farm Bureau, "Farm Bureau, Your Host."

DPS advises cautious summer driving

It's the beginning of summer and with it brings an end of another school year. Children will soon be filling the streets to play and parents will be planning for that summer vacation.

Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reminds parents and motorists that safety should continue to be part of their daily routine.

Parents should instruct their children in the safe operation of all recreational equipment, such as: all terrain vehicles, bicycles, scooters, motorbikes and skate boards. Instruction on proper use, care of and laws applying to all such equipment should be reinforced. Safety equipment, such as pads and helmets, should be worn to minimize injuries. Smaller children should be instructed to never ride such equipment as ATV's and scooters without appropriate supervision.

If you are going to be around water this summer, remember, never let anyone swim alone. Establish pool rules. Keep electrical appliances away from the water. Prohibit horseplay. Never leave a child alone and never consider young children water-safe despite their swimming skills.

Motorists should use extra caution when driving in residential areas, remembering that we have longer hours of daylight. Always be looking out for children darting in and out from behind cars. Never assume that a child will see you. Slow down and honk your horn to get their attention, if needed.

And remember, when travelling, please buckle up and drive friendly, the Texas way.

Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety reminds us that Memorial Day signals the beginning of summer vacations. He states, "During this holiday period there will be more vehicles on the roadways of Texas, because of school being out and many families are starting their summer vacations. With the increase of traffic, the danger of more accidents, more injuries, and more deaths naturally increase."

"This holiday period, all available Department of Public Safety Troopers will be on the road and will be especially watchful for individuals committing hazardous violations, especially those speeding, passing in no passing zones, and the people who have been drinking and refuse to stop driving," state Major Cawthon.

Recreational areas are always flooded with traffic and other activities and he urged the Texas motorist to be especially careful and to exercise caution around these areas during this holiday and throughout the summer.

"Remember to take that two seconds that it takes to reach for that seat belt and to buckle up and to use that same two seconds to think about what you have in this life, and how easily it can end," Cawthon concluded.

Public Notice

TO ALL FORMER AND CURRENT INTRASTATE WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE (WATS/800) SUBSCRIBERS:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has instituted a Class Action Lawsuit seeking judicial approval of a settlement reached in Docket No. 7297, an inquiry of General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas into possible overcharges which occurred between September, 1976, and February, 1987, due to rounding practices, on bills of intrastate WATS/800 customers sent by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies which concur in Southwestern Bell's tariff. The suit is styled "Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Plaintiff, vs. MCI Telecommunications Corporation, A Member of the Class of Texas Intrastate WATS and 800 Service Customers Who Paid Overtime Charges From September 1976 Through February 1987, Defendant," and identified as Cause No. 471,460 in the 126th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas.

Pursuant to the settlement, while not admitting liability, Southwestern Bell, the other local exchange telephone companies in Texas, and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. have agreed to pay refunds to those WATS/800 customers who paid overtime charges attributable to the rounding practices for intrastate WATS/800 services at any time between September, 1976, and February, 1987. The refunds will be based upon either the actual or estimated amount of overtime charges attributable to such rounding practices. An exact refund will be determined for customers able to produce copies of their WATS/800 service bills. For customers who do not have copies of their WATS/800 service bills to establish actual overtime charges paid, an average refund of $4.53 to $5.95 per WATS/800 service line per month will be applied. All claims will be subject to verification. The refunds will also include interest at the rate of 7.80% per annum.

Claim Forms And Additional Information

Those customers who think they may be entitled to a refund or who desire more information must call 1-800-782-3026, 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or write to WATS Refund Pool Administrator, One Bell Plaza, Room 670, P.O. The WATS Refund Information Package will contain further information regarding the lawsuit and eligibility for a refund, a description of documentation required to support a customer's claim for refund, and a refund claim form to be filled out and submitted requesting a refund. REQUESTING A WATS REFUND INFORMATION PACKAGE DOES NOT OBLIGATE YOU IN ANY WAY.

All claims for a refund must be received by the Refund Pool Administrator by Friday, October 5, 1990, and all rejections of the settlement (that is, requests for exclusion from the class action lawsuit) must be received by the Court by Wednesday, September 5, 1990. Descendents in county for historical marker unveiling

By Bill Gray

Several descendants of Floyd County's first elected officials attended the dedication of the Texas Historical Marker on May 25. The marker, located on the courthouse lawn, commemorates the organization of Floyd County on May 28, 1890. It also lists the initial slate of county officers.

R.T. Miller served as the first Floyd County Clerk from 1890 until 1897. His grandsons, W.A. Robbins of San Antonio and W.D. Miller of Lubbock, were on hand for the marker dedication and the Hall of Fame ceremonies. Also present was Miller's great-grandson, Wallace Robbins Jr. of San Antonio.

R.T. Miller settled in Floyd County in 1887, and built a one room sod house at Della Plain the following year in preparation for his family's arrival in 1889. The Miller children were taught by W.M. Massie in a one-room school at Della Plain. By 1891 the school had expanded to a two-story frame building with two teachers.

During the first year at Della Plain, Miller made a living by hauling large loads of wood out of the "Breaks" and sold them at the Quaker colony of Estacado. Miller was also in the real estate business in the early days of the county. He later served as County Attorney and was a Justice of the Peace at the time of his death in 1917.

W.A. Robbins Sr. was born and received his schooling in Floydada. Robbins and the other family members were very proud of their ancestor and the contributions their family made during Floyd County's early years.

What are you giving Dad?

What are you giving Dad for Father's Day? If you had lived in China 4,000 years ago, you might have presented your father a silken robe with the Chinese characters for "long life." This was a favorite son-to-father gift in Old China, where great age implied prestige.

Father's Day has become the traditional occasion to honor every family's number one hero—Dad!

Walking can lead to a healthy, happy heart

Every step you take can lead to a healthier heart. An everyday activity such as walking can help condition your heart and lungs if it is done briskly for 20 to 30 minutes at least three times a week. Conditioning increases the oxygen available to the body and enables the heart to use oxygen more efficiently. Lack of exercise has not been clearly established as a risk factor for heart disease, but it can lead to excess weight, which is a risk factor. Vigorous exercise is not the miracle cure for heart disease. Major heart and blood vessel disease risk factors, such as high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol levels and cigarette smoking greatly reduce the benefits of exercise. To lose weight, a person should consume the amount of calories needed to maintain a healthy desirable weight, and exercise regularly. Check with your physician before beginning a vigorous, regular walking program.

City provides services to residents

By Gary Brown
In order that the city of Floydada may better meet the needs of its citizens, the city would like to point out some of the things that it does for the citizens and some things the city would like the citizens to do to help the city give better service. The city has extended the hours for the landfill to be open. The new hours of operation, during daylight savings time, will be 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays. The city offers the use of a trailer for tree limbs, brush, building material, furniture and other large items that cannot and should not be placed in the dumpsters. We would like to ask the citizens to call the city office and schedule a trailer instead of putting these items in a dumpster or leaving them in the alley. It is also necessary that rocks, bricks or other heavy items not be placed in the dumpsters. These items will cause damage to both the dumpster and the trash truck. The city wants to remind citizens that any construction work, that amounts to $100.00 or more and effects the outside of the house or is new construction, must have a building permit from the city. City ordinances restrict location and encroachment of property lines. If you plan to do remodeling or new construction, check with the city. One other service that the city offers and most citizens are not aware of is 24 hour phone answering service. If you encounter a problem with water, sewer, electric, etc., just call 983-2834 and the phone will be answered and the problem will be referred to the proper city employee. Please remember that this is your city and that the city employees are here to be of service.

Ag survey has begun

Although some of us may have trouble getting from "here" to "there," Trell Meadows of Petersburg has no problem finding her way as she travels the back country roads with only a stock tank or windmill as a landmark. In fact, the less travelled highways and byways of Texas provide many of the short cuts Meadows needs as part of her job as a field enumerator with the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service.

Beginning June 1, Meadows will once again fill up the gas tank and log many travel miles, as she begins interviewing farmers and ranchers in Floyd County for a national agricultural survey. 1990 may be the year to count people, but Meadows is going to be busy counting livestock and collecting data on crop acres.

Information gathered on this confidential survey will be used to make state and national estimates of crop acres, livestock inventories and grain stocks, information that is vitally important to the producers in Floyd County, Meadows noted.

"These estimates are a working tool farmers and ranchers can use in their production, marketing and investment decisions and are the only unbiased information source available," state statistician Dennis Findley reported.

Survey information will be extremely important this year in measuring crop and livestock losses from the severe flooding across north and east Texas.

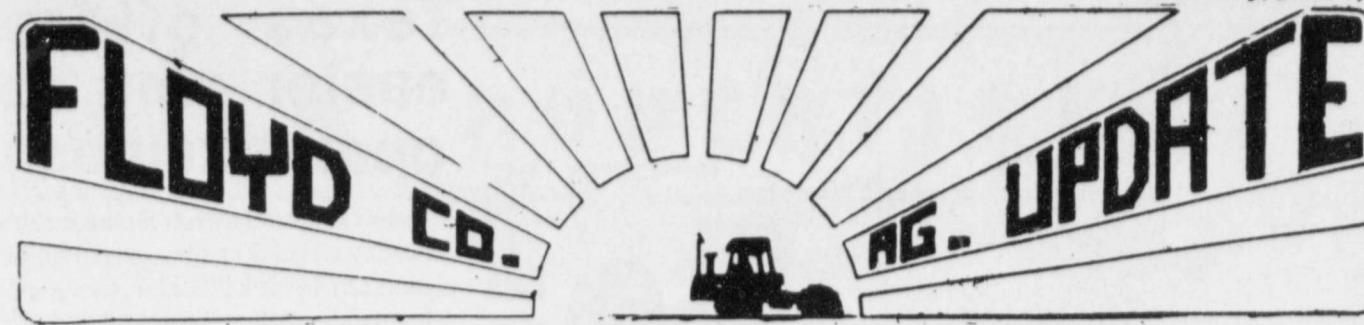

Field enumerators provide a basic link in the data collection service of the Texas office, since they are the primary personal contact Texas producers have with the agency. Currently there are over 100 field enumerators working on farm and ranch surveys across the state.

Most of the enumerators have an agricultural background and are familiar with the many day-to-day problems facing Texas producers. "Like the farmers and ranchers they are interviewing, our enumerators also deal with low prices and severe weather conditions at harvest and mother cows that wait until 3:00 a.m. to calve," Findley added.

The June Agricultural Survey is the largest of a series of surveys conducted throughout the year by the Texas office. The random sample of producers selected for this survey represent a broad cross-section of Texas agriculture, and producers selected for this survey represent other operators of similar size and type.

"Our field enumerators will be putting in some long hours during the next two weeks," Findley reported, "but their hard work is the only way to provide Texas producers with accurate, reliable agricultural information."

Pesticide container disposal discussed

A group which represented the major segments of agriculture met in Lubbock recently to discuss the questions of pesticide container design and disposal. Present were basic manufacturers of crop protection products, local dealers and aerial applicators, farmers, and state regulatory agencies such as the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Texas Water Commission. The meeting was sponsored by the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute and was attended by people from all over the U.S.

The open forum was moderated by Charlie Rogers, program administrator with the Texas Water Commission, who explained that once a pesticide container has been triple-rinsed, it is no longer considered hazardous waste under federal law. However, he said, to accomplish the triple-rinsing operation, a worker is exposed three times to the container's contents and residues. Closed systems and reusable containers are vastly preferable, he said.

The first speaker of the day was Tom Crumby, a Mississippi-based technical service representative for FMC Corporation, which pioneered the use of reusable containers for insecticides back in 1986. Crumby traced the history of the FMC U-Turn (R) container's development, and shared information with the other companies in attendance. "We're tremendously proud of FMC for introducing this concept and making the technology possible," Rogers said. "We have monitored worker exposure to pesticide very closely, and the problem is declining rapidly. We think this is due to the industry's efforts and not our enforcement efforts. We think you're doing a great job and we congratulate you."

Link Bradley of E.I. DuPont De Nemours & Company described a 1989 pilot project in Mississippi during 1989 for recycling plastic containers. The project, sponsored by the National Agricultural Chemicals Association and several state agencies, was successful and is expected to be a model for other state, Bradley said.

Bill Rogers, pesticide specialist with the Texas Department of Agriculture, said, "Our purpose for this meeting was to study what companies and other states have done in the area of container disposal and to get ideas for what will work here. We are tremendously encouraged by the response and confident that the manufacturers of pesticides are aware of potential problems and actively seeking solutions."

Opportunity to export beef widens

Within this decade, the United States beef industry has the opportunity to export to every country in the world, Ewen M. Wilson, the newly appointed executive director of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, said May 21 at College Station, Texas. He urged beef producers to expand their marketing efforts to take advantage of this global market.

"This certainly is not the time for the U.S. beef industry to be looking inward," Wilson told approximately 300 persons attending the National Conference on International Cattle and Beef Marketing from May 20-23. "It is time to look outward. It must think internationally."

The conference drew beef producers, packers, marketers, exporters and retailers from 21 states and eight foreign countries. Also attending were 23 Japanese meat company executives who are touring the United States to learn more about U.S. beef production practices. The conference was sponsored by the U.S. Meat Export Federation, Texas A&M University, and seven other beef and cattle organizations. It was designed to help any interested person enter the export market.

Wilson said trade negotiations combined with economic changes in Eastern and Western Europe will provide an expanding new market for beef producers. He pointed to the Pacific Rim countries, primarily Japan and Korea, as prime areas of opportunity.

Wilson said annual growth of between 1 to 2 percent is needed by the beef industry if it is to meet the expanding demand in this decade. During this period, the world population is expected to grow by about 10 million new persons each year. At present, there is about 1 bovine for every 5 persons in the world.

U.S. Meat Export Federation President Phil Seng, also addressing the conference, said one reason why the Pacific Rim will become a great market for beef is the current round of trade negotiations in Uruguay under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trades. These talks are helping alter the face of foreign trade, he said.

Major changes being considered in the Uruguay round by foreign countries include dropping quotas on imports, halting producer and export subsidies, standardizing food safety regulations and labeling new products.

In this country, Seng added, more information is needed on improving chilled products, controlling microbial growth during shipment, and increasing shelf life.

Seng said one of the most exciting areas for growth will be the Pacific Rim countries. He predicted that beef sales to Korea, Taiwan, Japan and Hong Kong will increase tremendously during the rest of this decade.

Dr. Gary Williams, director of the Texas Agricultural Market Research Center, pointed out that exports are already of tremendous importance to the U.S. industry. At present, he said, one-third of the income of beef producers comes from foreign customers. He said it is important for producers to stay informed about foreign regulations and political events overseas.

The south, tremendous opportunity for U.S.-produced cattle and beef will be found in Mexico, a country with 85 million people, Homero Recio, MEF director of the Western Hemisphere, said. U.S. cattle will help upgrade the Mexican cattle herds. Some of these cattle may come back to the United States for feeding and then return to Mexico for slaughter.

For the beef industry, Mexico will become a primary market of offal for the native population as well as high quality beef for sale to the 6 million tourists who visit Mexico's many resort sites, Recio said. The Mexican market will have its highest demand between October and Easter. This period is normally sluggish for the U.S. beef industry, so development of the Mexican market could help the U.S. beef industry develop a more consistent annual production and marketing plan.

Eastern Europe and the USSR will also provide some markets for U.S.-produced beef, although lack of hard currency may cause those markets to develop more slowly. One product that these countries will buy now is inexpensive sausage. Dr. Dermot Hayes, assistant coordinator of the Meat Export Research Center, Iowa State University, said the U.S. industry can now produce a sausage made out of beef byproducts that will sell for about 20 cents a pound. By developing a range of such products that use native Soviet or Eastern European recipes, this market too can be accessed by U.S. producers.

Price increase announced

The U.S. Department of Agriculture May 31 announced a 65-cent average farm price for U.S. cotton in April, up from 64.1 cents in March. According to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, that brought the January-April year's weighted average price to 62.0 cents on cumulative marketings of 3.338 million bales.

The figures are significant to producers because they'll be part of the average price calculation at the end of the year. And the higher of the 50.25-cent loan rate and the calendar year's price average will be subtracted from this year's 72.9-cent target price to determine the 1990 crop deficiency payment rate.

Producer interest in assessments of payment prospects stems from their own efforts to project 1990 cotton income. Theoretically the formula for calculating payment rates minimizes any impact on income by producing higher payments when markets are weak and lower payments when markets are strong. But in the practical world of price variance between farms, from region to region and from month to month through the season, the national 12-month weighted farm price average is a poor indicator of individual farm prices.

There also are special situations to be considered. Payment rate projections can be a factor in decision making when forward contracts, futures and/or options are used as hedging strategies.

And if and when crop conditions become such that producers consider to 50-92 program choice, payment expectations take on added importance. The 50-92 program gives producers the option to produce only 50 percent of permitted acres and collect payments on 92 percent.

Average farm prices for the first four months of this year will carry less weight in the annual average than did the early-season prices of 1989. Averages are weighted by volume, and 1990 marketings are running almost 30 percent behind the 4.7 million bales sold through April of 1989. And, says PCG, under current tight supply conditions, relatively high prices and slow sales can be expected to continue until 1990-crop cotton becomes available.

Even so, PCG thinks, the weight of new crop sales may not be sufficient to totally offset the strong upward trend in average farm prices and the corresponding erosion of deficiency payment prospects. Monthly prices have moved up from 59.8 cents per pound in January, and the mid-month price for May is reported at 66.3 cents.

Also bearing on PCG's price and payment rate expectations are figures from USDA's May estimate of 1990-91 U.S. production, consumption and carryover. USDA puts U.S. production at 16 million bales, the largest in over 35 years. Added to this year's beginning stocks of 3.3 million bales, production at that level would give a total U.S. supply of 19.3 million bales, unchanged from 1989-90.

U.S. mill use is expected to fall 300,000 bales to 8 million, and exports are projected at 7.5 million, also down 300,000. Based on these estimates stocks at the end of the 1990-91 marketing year would total 3.9 million bales, up only 600,000 from 1989-90. The stocks-to-use ratio would rise slightly to just over 25 percent, still well below the historical average.

CROP INSURANCE BULLETIN

The best time to turn in your acreage report is right after you finish planting while its fresh on your mind.

Cotton insurance has a difference set of rules for unit divisions this year. You need to report the crop on each farm separately and indicate the section number as well as the farm number.

Dryland and irrigated cotton need to be shown separately too.

In most cases it will be to your advantage to break your farms down into separate units if we can so that each one will stand on its own when you have a loss.

Come by or call and let us help you complete your acreage report form and we'll answer some of your questions at the same time.

Masses of moths invade county

C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology
(PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

A large number of moths are now congregating at night around lights in Crosby and Floyd Counties. These moths are the adults of two or three species of mesquite cutworms. The number of these moths increased rapidly during the past few days. They will be present in large numbers for only a short period of time, then they will quickly disappear.

The mesquite cutworm larvae feed on mesquite leaves. They feed at night and remain hidden under the rough bark or at the base of the tree during the day. When full grown the larvae are about 1 1/4 inches in length. They are black with light-colored to gray parallel lines running the length of the body.

Most of the foliage may be stripped from mesquite trees that are heavily infested by mesquite cutworms. When these cutworms are damaging mesquite trees in the home landscape carbarly (Sevin R) will provide effective control when sprayed on the foliage.

The moths which are almost black have a light colored line about 1/3 of the way back across the wings. When the wings are folded this line forms a V. There is a crescent shaped orange spot on the end of the underwings.

If the moths become a problem in the home, aerosol sprays containing pyrethrins or resmethrins will be helpful in controlling the moths. They will not cause any damage in the home but may be a nuisance. Use yellow lights that do not attract the moths if the presence of large numbers of moths become a problem.

Texas offers easier way to open business

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday it is now easier to start a small business in Texas with a new, shortened sales tax application form.

"We have cut the red tape to get a sales tax permit for people starting their own business," Bullock said. "It's hard enough to start a new business without having to worry about a lot of unnecessary paper work."

The new sales tax application form for a business with a sole owner has been reduced to a single sheet of paper.

The new forms are available at Comptroller offices throughout the state or by calling toll free at 1-800-252-5555.

Explaining the national budget to the American family

By Wayne E. Gable
President, Tax Foundation

When President Bush released his 1991 budget in January, special interests stole the show with an uproar of criticism and commentary. Unfortunately, the clamor nearly drowned out taxpayers' weary question, "How much is it going to cost me this year?"

To answer this question the Tax Foundation recently calculated how the new budget will impact a typical American family. A family with two children and two working parents who earn a total of $45,000 will face a tax bill of $12,938 for 1990. That's 28.8 percent for just federal taxes. Surprisingly, the basic income tax and Social Security only account for about three-fifths of that amount.

The government will extract another $4,719 through less obvious means, such as excise taxes on gasoline, liquor, and tobacco. All this will go to support the estimated $1.23 trillion that Uncle Sam plans to spend in his new budget.

So where is Uncle Sam spending the family's taxes? Eighty-three percent is spent on only four major areas of the budget.

First of all, Social Security, federal retirement, and unemployment will claim the heaviest piece of the family's tax dollars, extracting $4,237 of the total $12,938. That's 33 cents out of every tax dollar — enough to pay a family's grocery bill for eight-and-a-half months!

After all the excitement about cuts in the defense budget, national defense still takes second place in the race to spend taxpayers' dollars. It will eat up a sizable chunk amounting to $3,070 — or 24 cents of each family tax dollar. That's almost enough to cover four months' rent for most American families of four.

Capturing third place, payments on the national debt will require a staggering $1,751 of the family's tax bill. This is not to pay off the debt, but simply to cover the interest payments! These interest payments will consume a total of $173 billion in 1991. If the 1991 annual deficit were paid off, the typical family would have to pay an additional $718 to cover its share.

Of all these sizable spending areas, the interest payments on the national debt are perhaps the most disturbing. For the amount the typical family has to pay in taxes for this area alone, it could pay a year's tuition for one child at a four-year university. Furthermore, for what the federal government intends to spend in interest payments on the national debt this year, all high school graduates between 1980 and 1986 could receive a four-year college education.

Uncle Sam will direct 13 percent of the family's taxes toward Medicare, Medicaid, and other health benefits. That amounts to $1,643 of the family's total tax bill — enough to pay an average family's life insurance for almost four years.

Using these comparisons, it's easy to see how Uncle Sam's spending imposes a substantial burden on the family. It's time for the government to look beyond the special interest uproar and begin considering the budget's impact on American taxpayers. After all, it's America's families who have to pay the high price of government spending.
