District Judge orders DA to court in hearing on contempt charges

District Judge David Cave, on Monday, July 16, served District Attorney Becky McPherson with an "order to show cause why she should not be held in contempt of court for refusal to turn over the financial records requested by the auditor." The auditor, Mr. Love, of Love Hays & Musick, was recently appointed by Judge Cave to audit the district attorney's records.

"The hearing will be held on Thursday, July 19, at 10:00 a.m. in the district courtroom," said Cave. "McPherson will have to show her cause for not supplying the records the auditor has requested."

Judge Cave will be the presiding judge at the hearing and will determine if Ms. McPherson is in contempt. "In this case, since she is a lawyer," said Cave, "if I find her in contempt another judge will decide the punishment."

Two weeks ago, Judge Cave appointed the auditor in a move to account for expenses the District Attorney's office incurred from the additional caseload of prosecuting misdemeanor offenses. The audit, at that time, was to be a limited audit.

During an interview with this reporter Cave then stated, "I want an accounting for $12,250.00. I want to know what the money was spent for and I want the remainder returned to Glenna Orman's office."

McPherson agreed at that time to cooperate with the audit and stated that she, "had no problem with accounting for the money."

Since that time an audit of the County Attorney's Trust Account has been completed, but Judge Cave has ordered the auditor to also check into the District Attorney's Trust Account.

"The auditor wants bank statements and supporting documents of the District Attorney's Trust Account," said Cave. "The records show that approximately $3,000 was taken from the County Attorney's Trust Account and placed in the District Attorney's Trust Account in March, and then put back in the County Attorney's Trust Account in late June."

"Mr. Love has done some auditing but he can't finish until Ms. McPherson turns over the rest of the financial documents requested by the auditor, and she has refused to do so."

"She stated in a letter to Mr. Love, dated July 6, that she will turn over specific documentation, relating to that reimbursement transaction. That won't work for an audit. You have to look over everything," said Cave.

"For this reason I will have the sheriff serve Ms. McPherson with an order to show cause why she should not be held in contempt of court for refusing to turn over all her records."

McPherson expressed surprise over being served with the order, stating, "I told the auditor on Friday, July 13, that I would agree to allow access to all my records. He wanted to do it on Tuesday morning, July 17, and I'm scheduled to be in court in Briscoe County on that day. I told the auditor I couldn't do it this week."

"My secretary will also be out of town this week and I felt she should be there for questions that she may be able to better answer. I set an appointment for July 26. It was agreeable with the auditor until he (the auditor) talked to Judge Cave. Mr. Love then called me back and said he had talked to Cave and Cave wanted it much sooner than that, and they would be here on the 17th."

"I don't question the integrity of this firm," said McPherson, "but my concern is that we want it to be an impartial and independent audit."

"We do know that the state government has the capacity to do an audit at no cost to the county. The county also has a CPA firm that they use every year to audit their accounts, but for some reason Judge Cave did not want to use that firm."

When asked if she could explain the Citizens protest proposed budget

By Juanita Stepp

A special meeting of the Floyd County Commissioners Court intended to "clear up a few items in the budget and adopt a proposed budget for 1990-91" came to an abrupt halt following the presentation of a written objection to the proposed budget. Upwards of three dozen people were present in the courtroom and standing in the hallway during the course of the unusually brief meeting.

Convening on Tuesday, July 17 at 2:00 p.m. in the county courtroom, the Commissioners Court of Floyd County was called to order by Judge Bill Hardin and told that the first order of business was to clear up a few items on the budget.

Hardin then called for a motion regarding the salary of the Justice of the Peace for Precincts 2 and 3. George Taylor, commissioner of Precinct 3, made a motion to change the salary set last week at $10,800.00 to the previous level of $14,036.40 and add the insurance allowance granted to other employees upon termination of county health insurance, making the salary for the office $15,836.40. The motion was seconded by Floyd Jackson, Precinct 2 commissioner, and passed by unanimous vote.

Hardin next called for a motion regarding the $3,000.00 previously cut from the ambulance services in the county and designated for South Plains Emergency Medical Services in the proposed 1990-91 budget. Connie Bearden, commissioner of Precinct 1, made a motion to restore the funds to the ambulance services and to cut SPEMS from the proposed budget. The motion was seconded by Jackson and passed by unanimous vote.

At this point, less than thirty minutes into the proceedings, attorney Rush Wells of Lubbock rose and informed the court "A concerned taxpayers group here in Floyd County objects to this budget and if it continues, will file for injunctive relief to stop the taxing authority."

A period of silence followed as Rush distributed written copies of the formal protest to each commissioner and the judge, detailing the reasons for the protest. (See WRITTEN PROTEST, below.) After the documents were read by the judge and commissioners, Judge Hardin stated, "I believe we should

Opinion polls due this week

Thanks to those who have taken the time to fill out the Opinion Poll for the County Community Center. If you have not filled one out, please do so this week because this will be your last opportunity. Your opinion really counts because this will be YOUR community center.

The Community Development Committee is working on a county community center to be placed between Lockney and Floydada so that citizens of both communities will feel free to use it. Also, a large building such as the facility being considered is needed in the county because large banquets, educational meetings, etc., do not have a place that is large enough to house them, the county stock show has more animals than the present building can hold, and there are other reasons that this committee has considered the center. Let them know YOUR thoughts on the community center today!

Camp meetings begin Sunday

An Old Fashioned Community Camp meeting will begin at 7 p.m. Sunday evening, July 22.

The four day event will begin Sunday, under the pavilion on the courthouse lawn, where it will meet each evening.

The first service on Sunday night will be led by First Baptist Church of Floydada with Bro. Howell Farnsworth preaching.

The next three evenings will begin at 7:30 p.m. Bro. Ralph Jackson, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, will preach on Monday evening.

Tuesday evening, Bro. George VanHoose, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church of Floydada, will be preaching.

Wednesday night, Bro. Bill Wright, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, will bring the message. Many of the local churches will share in the music throughout the week.

Everyone is asked to bring a lawn chair or a blanket, to sit on for each service. Everyone in the community is invited to attend and be part of the special services.

"We will all be blessed by worshipping together as a community," sponsors add.

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

I wasn't going to have a column this week because of a catastrophe at our house. I just didn't have time to think on it. I didn't want to write about the catastrophe at our house because I didn't want to bore you with another story about our child.

So I figured I would just write a short explanation about why I wasn't going to write a column. Once I got started it was obvious it was going to turn out to be a column about my kid again. I may be boring you again, but if you have lived through one of these catastrophes you may be able to relate.

Last night, (Monday), after dinner, while I was cleaning up the dishes (and nowhere in the vicinity of this catastrophe) I heard a blood curdling scream coming from the TV room (where my husband and kid had been playing).

Brandon came running into the kitchen, holding his wrist, followed by a worried looking Daddy. "I think he may have B-R-O-K-E his arm, spelled Daddy. We were playing on the couch. He was sitting on my shoulders and he fell onto the floor. I heard a snap."

Because the crying wouldn't stop and the swelling starting, we all went to the Lockney Hospital's emergency room. (Brandon did NOT want to go in).

The nurses were kind and tried every trick in the book to make him quit crying. The only thing that worked for a little while was getting to listen to his heart through their stethoscopes. Blowing up the rubber gloves didn't even work.

Dr. Mangold was called and patiently, kindly and gently applied a cast to Brandon's arm. The screaming never stopped. We asked him if all kids were like this and he smiled and told us most of them quit crying after the cast was on. Brandon seemed just as afraid of the cast as he was of the pain.

Brandon has come through all of this with a pretty Lockney Red Cast of which he is beginning to get accustomed. Mom and Dad have come through this with ulcers and a huge guilt complex.

The questions started in the emergency room, (they were necessary and we understand completely, but we still felt guilty). They were questions like, "How did he break it?" "What happened Brandon?" "How far did he fall?" "What did he fall on?"

You know the expression, "Lower Than A Snake's Belly!" I could feel us getting smaller and smaller, even though the nurses and Dr. Mangold were wonderful.

I was beginning to feel better until this morning sitting in the waiting room at the hospital, for a check on the cast. Brandon was curled up in my lap and a pretty white haired lady came over to talk to him. "What happened to your arm honey? How did you break it?"

Brandon looked up at me to tell the story as we had done many times before. I told him to go ahead and tell her what happened. So he did.

He said, "Daddy did it."

Oh well — here we go again.

Hart Police Department. Back was a member of the Castro County Sheriff's Department before going to Hart.

Says Back, "I am here as an officer because I enjoy the work and like living in a small town. I will try to help anyone that needs my assistance and I am looking forward to serving the City of Floydada."

Hale expressed his confidence in the qualifications of the new officer and his abilities. "I think he will work well with the other officers and be an asset to the city."

He added that many Floydada residents have been surprised to see an officer on duty in the early hours of the morning since Officer Back has been on duty. "Many residents have told me that it is a welcome sight after so long without the early morning covered," said Chief Hale.

Committee offers chance on trip to Mexico

By Bill Gray

A trip for two people to the tourist mecca of Puerto Vallarta awaits the lucky ticket holder in the raffle being conducted to raise funds for the upcoming 16th of September celebration. The 16th of September Committee met on July 10 and finalized plans for underwriting the expenses of the Fiesta, which commemorates Mexican Independence Day.

Raffle tickets are now being sold for three different items: a hog (donated by Robert Delgado of Lockney), a shotgun, and the trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico. Three vacation sites were considered, with Puerto Vallarta being chosen over Cancun and Acapulco. The trip will originate from Houston and has a value of about $600.00. More information about the Puerto Vallarta trip will be released at a later date.

The Queen Pageant was discussed, and the following criteria was established:

3. "B" or above grade average
 4. Bilingual
 5. Floyd County resident

If enough interest is generated, the queen pageant will be expanded to include younger age groups. For more information regarding the pageant, call Rosie Rendon at work, 652-2342 or home, 652-3725.

Organizations and individuals are invited to have food and arts and crafts booths at the courthouse square that day. The committee will release information soon regarding guidelines for the food booths to insure that the same food items will not be duplicated.

The advance sale of raffle tickets is very important, as the Mariachi and Folkloric Dancers will be major expenses of the celebration. Tickets are currently being distributed in Floydada and Lockney. The public is encouraged to support the fund drive. Floydada's 16th of September Fiesta is an officially sanctioned event of the Floyd County Centennial Celebration.

approximately $3,000 that was moved from the County Attorneys Trust Account to the District Attorney's Trust Account and then back again, McPherson stated, "Most of my employees salary is paid by the state. We get that money once a month. When my investigator left, the salary he was owed was paid to him from the County Attorney's Trust Account, and then when the state sent the money the County Attorney's Trust Account was reimbursed."

In response to the order to show cause why she should not be held in contempt of court, McPherson on July 17, 1990, filed a Motion For Recusal of District Judge David Cave.

According to this order the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure sets forth the grounds for disqualification and recusal of judges, stating: "judges shall recuse themselves in proceedings in which their impartiality might reasonably be questioned, including but not limited to, instances in which they have a personal bias or prejudice concerning the subject matter or a party, or personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the proceeding."

McPherson maintains in the order that the current proceedings should be abated, "that the Honorable David Cave recuse himself from further adjudicative or administrative jurisdiction in this controversy, and that the Honorable David Cave should request that the Administrative Judge for the Ninth Administrative Judicial Region, the Honorable Ray D. Anderson, Terry County Courthouse, Brownfield, Texas 79316, undertake an immediate hearing to determine the necessity for interim orders or other ancillary relief as justice may require, including orders to make an immediate appointment of a special judge to preside over this cause to final disposition."

If Cave refuses to voluntarily recuse himself, McPherson asked the court to forward an Order of Referral, together with this Motion for Recusal and all opposing or concurring statements, to Judge Anderson, and that additional steps be taken to have a successor, special judge, appointed to preside over this cause.

When asked how much the audit has cost the county so far Judge Cave stated that the firm of Love, Hays & Musick has already been paid approximately $468.00 and has projected an additional cost of approximately $450.00.

Glenna Orman, county treasurer, stated that the county has been billed $1,307.50 by the auditing firm. "The check was turned over to the county judge who stated he wanted the commissioners to approve it."

Judge Hardin stated, "The bill for $1,307.50 includes $468.75 for professional services already done and $838.75 for retainer estimated hours."

Council discusses paving grant and cattle trucks

By Juanita Stepp

Floydada's proposed application for a 1990 Texas Department of Commerce Community Block Grant for paving additional blocks of city streets was again the topic at a special meeting held on Monday, July 16. The evening session considered a petition presented by councilman Amado Morales and signed by five of the eight residents concerned.

Morales stated that he had been approached by some of the residents on two blocks of East Virginia Street who expressed the desire to have two blocks of 10th street paved instead of their two blocks on E. Virginia as proposed in the grant application being prepared.

According to Morales, he had spoken with the residents on the blocks concerning the possible change and had secured signatures on the petition supporting the substitution of the blocks on 10th street for the blocks on E. Virginia in the grant application.

Representatives of two of the families named on the petition, Windom and Guerra, were on hand and addressed the council. Willie Windom indicated that he had not understood the purpose of the petition and wished to withdraw his signature. He stated that he wanted to see the two blocks on his own street, Virginia paved if possible.

Veronica Guerra told the council that her husband must have signed the petition and not been aware of what it was for. She said, "Of course I want to have my street paved. I have to get out in the mud in bad weather to get my kids to school."

Following a brief discussion, councilman Leroy Burns proposed a motion finalizing the selection of the two blocks on East Virginia for inclusion in the paving grant application as originally proposed. Morales seconded the motion and the council approved it unanimously.

The blocks named in the grant application will be East Virginia from 10th to 12th, East Mississippi from 11th to 12th, Crockett from Main to 8th, Leonard from Burrus to Ollie, Henry from Lee to Grover and 1st from Ross to Price.

CATTLE TRUCKS PARKING IN CITY

The council next heard the complaints of a group of residents of the Texas Addition area. Larry Noland, self appointed spokesman for the group, told the council that he and his neighbors were concerned about Rick Fuller parking his cattle truck on Sunset Avenue near their homes.

Noland called the truck, "an eyesore" and expressed the opinion that having it in the neighborhood was lowering property values and occasionally causing problems due to odor and noise. He requested that the city consider designating a place where such vehicles could be parked and not be a nuisance to city residents.

David Blakeway, a trucker who lives in the area, told the council they should "consider carefully what they were getting into." Blakeway said he "and about fifty other truckers and their families" were forced to move from El Dorado after that city instituted an ordinance banning their trucks from parking in the town. He pointed out the large investments involved in such trucking equipment and the loss of revenue and work time if the vehicles are vandalized or damaged which would be a major problem if they were not parked in a secure area.

Rick Fuller addressed the council saying, "At one time or other in the year and a half I have lived there. I have talked to each of my neighbors about my truck with the exception of Mr. Noland. I did not approach him because he would not come to me with his complaints." Fuller indicated that he had tried to work with his neighbors concerning the problems that can stem from his truck and that he kept it in good condition and tried to keep it clean.

Another neighbor, Mal Jarboe told the council that his main objection was the noise when Fuller started up his truck and left it to idle for long periods, especially at night. He gave the council a copy of the deed restrictions on the abstract for lots in the Texas Addition. Notably, the deed restrictions specify that no trucks, trailers or boats will be parked on or around these properties.

Mayor Wayne Russell told Jarboe that the city is not in a position to enforce deed restrictions. That is between the original land owner and the land purchaser. Asked how it could be enforced, Russell recommended that the Massie Estate be contacted as that is where the deed restrictions originated.

Kathy Jahay, also a neighbor of Fuller, told the council that she had never had any trouble with Fuller and his truck. She said, "The one time it bothered us, we asked him to move it and he did."

Councilman Burns suggested tabling the matter and having a workshop on it at a later date. Councilman Ruben Barriento seconded the motion and the council voted unanimously in favor of the suggestion.

EXECUTIVE SESSION NETS EMPLOYEES 5% RAISE

The council then entered an executive session for the purpose of discussing employee benefits and the employment of a police officer. Two motions were made following the closed session.

Councilman Burns moved that the employee benefits be accepted as presented to the council. Barriento seconded the motion and the council passed it by unanimous vote. According to city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart, the benefit package as presented includes a 5 percent increase in the salary of each city employee. Merit increases for some are also included. The increases will take effect at the beginning of the new budget year on October 1, 1990.

Following the discussion concerning the Floydada Police Department in executive session, Councilman Morales made a motion to hire a fifth police officer. Mayor Russell called for a second three times and none was given. The motion died for lack of a second.

The special session was adjourned at approximately 9:00 p.m. Attending the session were councilmen Leroy Burns, Wayne Tipton, Amado Morales, Ruben Barriento and Eric Cornelius, Mayor Wayne Russell, city manager Gary Brown, city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart, Sharon Quisenberry, Connie Galloway, Bobby Welborn, James Hale, about twenty citizens and the Hesperian reporter.

FVFD GOLF SCRAMBLE--Floydada Volunteer Fire Department held an 18 hole golf scramble Saturday morning with two teams participating. Winning team members, with a score of 70, were (l-r) Randy Duke, Jeff Smith, Darrell Gooch, Mike Reeves and Jesse Morales. In second place, with a score of 71, were Chris Ray, Gary Vick, Dan Nixon, Larry Smith and Carroll Sims.

July sales tax rebate shows increase

Floydada's share of the $75 million in sales tax rebates recently mailed out by the comptroller's office was $7,741.03. This displays an increase of 19.83 percent over the $6,459.91 received during the same month in 1989. The $62,543.85 received to date still lags behind the 1989 total of $63,252.22 by 1.12 percent.

Lockney received a check for $2,679.63 this month, a decrease of 8.79 percent from the $2,937.88 received this time last year. The total rebates received by Lockney are down 34.20 percent from last year with the current total being $27,588.44 and the 1989 to date total being $41,927.72.

Other area cities, their rebates and percent of change are listed below.

Quitaque; $696.10, +35.64%
 Silvertown; $960.26, -1.80%
 Crosbyton; $4,573.39, +59.46%
 Lorenzo; $1,206.52, +5.63%
 Ralls; $4,849.21, +55.36%
 Plainview; $123,621.35, -5.57%

Lubbock; $947,955.36, -4.74%
 Matador; $1,030.63, -1.06%
 Roaring Springs; $1,161.03, -46.03%
 Tulia; $12,548.57, -3.12%

July rebate checks include taxes collected on May sales and reported to the comptroller's office by monthly business filers. These filers are merchants who collect the taxes on sales and forward them to the state. The state retains its share and rebates the share of the cities and counties collecting the tax.

Floydada and Lockney each levy a 1 percent city sales tax in addition to the state sales tax. Floyd County does not levy a sales tax. All local sales taxes have been approved by area voters and may be used for any legal city or county expense.

Braly named delegate to AHA meeting

Deen Braly represented the Floyd Division of the American Heart Association Texas Affiliate at the 55th Annual Meeting of the Membership in Dallas on July 14.

Braly joined over 300 delegates, officers and board members at the Hyatt Regency at Reunion in Dallas to elect officers and adopt goals for the coming year.

During the meeting, all delegates took part in "skill building sessions" presented by Dale Carnegie and Associates, Inc. These presentations offered volunteers professional training in leadership, teamwork and conducting productive meetings.

Cardiovascular research was highlighted during lunch, where the "LBJ" award for meritorious research was presented to a new, American Heart Association-funded researcher. Distinguished Service Award recipients, who had American Heart Association research projects named after them, were also honored at this time. Lynn Marler received this prestigious award in May for her many years of service to the American Heart Association.

The meeting culminated with the American Heart Association Awards Dinner, where outstanding volunteer achievements were recognized. Also awarded were the "Paul R. Ellis Media Awards," recognizing efforts by Texas media reporting on the cardiovascular disease problem.

The mission of the American Heart Association is to reduce disability and death from cardiovascular diseases and stroke. For more information about volunteering for the American Heart Association in Floyd County, contact Deen Braly.

WEATHER

The summer of '90 is four weeks old today, on this 19th day of July, and virtually one third of it has already gone. Even back in mid-June, during the last days of spring, long standing heat records had been broken. Records that had been in place nearly sixty years, since the terrible drought and depression years of the early thirties, were toppled from their pinnacle.

Then on Sunday, the 24th day of June, when the summer was only three days old, temperatures soared to heights never before achieved in this area. Numerous readings of 108 to 110 degrees were reported to establish new all time highs. The hypermeter at the listening post hit 114 that afternoon; came within six degrees of peaking out and blowing it's top!

Nature was certainly lending support to the current theory of global warming and the green-house effect. Margaret Thatcher and her British scientists have records showing that the earth is gradually warming so that the polar ice caps will eventually melt, the seas will rise, and water will once again cover the Texas high plains and the corn fields of Iowa.

But, wait! Don't let the melting ice and rising seas scare you out of Floyd County yet! During this past week the weather has changed! It has turned so cool that some Cedar Hillians with goose bumps have been seen standing in sheltered places; the downwind side of vehicles and buildings because that extra warmth sure feels so good.

In fact the weather people are telling us that new all time records for coolness were set last week. Supposedly, somewhere in the Texas Panhandle, the temperature never got above the seventies for that day's high; the lowest high temperature this area has seen since plains people began keeping records.

That makes our American scientists, who say Prime Minister Thatcher's British doomsayers are all wet, quite happy. Their records; in Berkeley, or Biloxi, or Mt. Polmar, or somewhere; say the world is not in that much trouble; and that our temperature has only risen about one tenth of one degree since 1915. That should give us a few million extra years in which to run up the national debt before we all have to start clinging to scrub trees along the sides of the Rocky Mountains to keep from falling into the ocean.

Yep, this is centennial year for a lot of things here in Floyd County, and apparently nature means for us to remember it!

Oh, it rained an inch or so over toward Hillcrest and Fairview last Wednesday, and three to four inches in parts of the South Plains and Lone Star communities. Cedar Hill got two tenths that had completely dried up before the sun went down; with this areas prevailing southwest winds the people at Cedar Hill won't even get to smell their damp breezes.

CROP COMMENTS

More than once, while sitting in a Cedar Hill schoolroom, have I heard Clarence Guffee say, "All things cometh to him who only standeth and waiteth!" Then Mr. Guffee would put his tongue in his cheek and add, "If he knoweth the right place to waiteth."

That old saying, "This is the world's best NEXT YEAR country!", should have been worn out decades ago, still it is one of our most frequently used sayings. You can't abandon it; many times it is the best thing, the only thing, left for you to hang on to. That brings us to the 1991 wheat crop.

While Lindsey and Billie Ruth Lackey were still combining wheat all over eastern Floyd County they already had a tractor and plow back at the house, all hooked up and ready, just waiting to hit that stubble at the first opportunity. When they thought the cutting was over Billie started the riding lawn mower and Lindsey took the plow rig and headed for the stubble field. He didn't stay long, came driving back to the house with mud balled between his disks, and said, "Too wet."

Forty eight hours later he and some of his neighbors were back again, plowing wheat stubble, now dry enough, but still fully wet. All that moisture is still down there; looks like a fine wheat crop lining up next year. For those financially strong enough "to hangeth on and waiteth."

COTTON! Cedar Hill cotton in 1990! A study in contrasts! In '89 most of all Cedar Hill cotton was irrigated; all farms, even if they had wells, chose the cheaper alternative, to pump water from the playa lakes. This year the lakes had little water and that has made a great deal of difference. Cotton already drought stressed and, even should immediate and timely rains fall through the remainder of the fruiting season, could never fully recover to it's original potential.

Irrigation wells, although expensive to operate, and, on many farms a subject of indecision, have become objects of "intensive care" lately. If ever irrigation would pay on cotton it looks like 1990 might be the year. It will be from a different cause but this fall's cotton market could well be a watered down rerun of 1973. Already a few acres have been sprayed for boll worms and a weak solution of growth inhibitor was included in the mix. In 1973 we had neither the product, pix, nor the experience in it's use that we have today. Cedar Hill's best cotton should be better than that of a year ago, while her worst will probably not be as good as the worst was a year ago.

Corn and milo are coming on great with farmers impatient to get them finished so there will be more water to go on the cotton.

Onions at Cedar Hill are all still in the field, but the cessation of watering is imminent. Not a great deal remains to be done before onion crews will be harvesting and their trucks will be rolling through Cedar Hill again. Pricewise the market is just so this year. No net loss is expected by the growers, but the profits will look like small potatoes beside the bonanza of 1989 when the gross per bag, at ten to sixteen dollars, was slightly more than double this year's current price.

Moraima Vasquez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Vasquez of Floydada celebrated her 15th birthday with a mass celebration at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 14, in St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church, Floydada. The mass, officiated by Father Adolfo Valenzuela, pastor, began with Good News to the Lord.

Readings were voiced by Sandra Barrientos, Kathy Luna and Yolanda Barrientos. Musical selections were presented by Noe Ramas and family of Plainview.

The Quinceanera (15th celebration) is the beginning of a preparation period before she is fully initiated into the church, as a mature and responsible person.

Persons assisting during the mass were Adrianna Gomez, Stephanie Riojas and Jim and Gloria Gomez. Moraima was assisted by Christy Garcia and Nelda Enriquez. A prayer of faithful was presented by Monica Garza.

Moraima knelt before the altar and prayers were presented by Godparents Gabriel and Elizabeth Juarez, parents Abel and Maria Vasquez, and grandparents Roberto and Elvira Rodriguez. She renewed her baptismal vows and presented a prayer to Our Father Almighty.

Miss Vasquez wore a lovely floor-length gown styled of white delustered satin print and Chantilly lace. It had a ball gown neckline which featured a cascade of pearls in the front. The bodice was designed in front in a unique shirred effect, and was fitted, with a low basque waistline.

The back of the bodice had a low V, and at the waistline in the back was a satin rose of the material and a double bustle effect of the satin. The sleeves, designed to be either on or off the shoulder, were also of the satin, but had a wide row of the Chantilly lace at the edges.

The full bouffant skirt featured the satin picked up at various points where handmade rosettes highlighted the skirt. Two wide rows of the Chantilly lace were at the bottom of the skirt in front, but at the back, starting just below the satin bustle effect, four wide rows of the lace formed a cascade to the bottom of the skirt.

In preparation of the Eucharist, Esmeralda Jimenez and Rosie Barrientos passed the collection baskets. Offering the gifts were Moraima and Brenda Vasquez and Jennifer Rodriguez, cousin of the quinceanera. After serving communion, Nancy Morales presented Moraima with a vase of daisies and roses, which in return Moraima presented them to the Blessed Virgin, who played a role of our salvation.

Blessings of gifts and a blessing were presented by Father Adolfo and her parents to Moraima.

Gifts presented were: crown, Gabriel and Elizabeth Juarez; ring, Arturo and Anna Rivera; earrings, Jessie and Maria Delgado; medallion, Juan and Rosa Mosqueda; bracelet, Oscar Murillo; bouquet, Mauro and Margie Martinez; necklace, Juan and Velma Rodriguez; rosary and Bible, Juan and Lupe Navarro; doll, Samuel and Rosemary Segura; watch, David and Ester Ramos; surprise gift, Ray and Alamar Mercado; kneeling pillow, Irene Rodriguez and Renae Jimenez, and church video, Ruben Barrientos.

A dinner reception, consisting of turkey, dressing, green beans, gravy, bread and tea, followed. The meal was prepared by David Ramos. Decorations of the reception hall were blue and white streamers, balloons, candles, and flowers. The center table consisted of fresh fruits and raw vegetables with dip.

A dance, with music by "Passion" of Plainview, ended the day's festivities at La Hacienda in Plainview.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi, once again from the Floydada Nursing Home staff and residents. Well, we welcome the cool, cloudy days, and wait patiently for rain, as we are one day closer to the rain.

Monday, started the week as usual with morning coffee, juice and cookies. Irene Wexler came and played the piano for us, and Bro. Wright gave the devotional. In the evening, the residents had arts and crafts, they made red, white and blue paper chains.

Tuesday, the residents had current events. We discussed an article on hot weather, and how they kept cool in the good ole days without electricity or air conditioners, etc. They also enjoyed some popcorn.

Wednesday was their regular bingo day, Mary Alice came and assisted us. Charles Breeding had the first bingo. They always enjoy the bingo. We had a good group playing.

Thursday, they played games and had popcorn.

Friday, Evelyn Latta came and played the piano for us, and we sang some songs. Jo Bryant shared a scripture on being faithful to God in our daily lives and serving him, as God is always faithful. At 1:30 the residents went to Crosbyton on the bus ride. My T Burger treated them to some ice cream. Wilma Payne drove the bus for us.

We want to thank Paul McIntosh for giving a session on CPR and the adult Sunday school class of the Methodist Church for the funds given toward the ceramic fund.

We invite you to come join us for the July birthday party. We have five birthdays this month, Margaret Lovell, Willard Young, Flo Ella Jarboe, Creard Bridges and C.C. Burns.

We have three residents in the hospital this week, Bennie Wilson, C.C. Burns and Lucille Poague. We wish for them a speedy recovery.

We have a new LVN, Marilyn Ellis from Plainview. We want to welcome her to our facility.

Last week we went once again through our fifth month inspection by Texas Health Dept. We did fine in every area, so we are grateful for this.

South Plains Baptist Church holds Coming Home Day

Submitted by Mamie Wood

The South Plains Baptist Church was formed on July 27, 1906 and the minutes of the organizational meeting read as follows:

"We, the undersigned members of the Missionary Baptist Church met at the Sunset school house on the 27th day of July and were organized into a Missionary Baptist Church. Charter Members were J.W. Sims, Mrs. E.E. Sims, Mrs. M.M. Harper, Mrs. J.M. Mason, and Anna Sims.

We elected Bro. J.W. Winn as moderator and Bro. H.J.E. Williams as clerk.

We adopted Covenant and Articles of Faith as laid down in Pendleton's Church Manual.

The church received as members by statement W.K. Early, Mrs. M.A. Brunson, Mrs. L.M. Blakemore, Mrs. M.C. Pearson and by baptism J.H. Harper, R.D. Harper, A. Brunson, Mrs. Grace Upton and Ora Upton. We named the church "Bethel" and called Bro. H.J.E. Williams pastor." (Taken from the Church Roll and Record Book, no I, 1906 - 1926.)

"COMING HOME DAY"

July 8, 1990

As part of the Floyd County Centennial Celebration, we experienced a wonderful "Coming Home Day" at the South Plains Baptist Church on Sunday, July 8, 1990.

SOUTH PLAINS BAPTIST CHURCH COMING HOME CELEBRATION - Lillie Mae and Doodle Milton (center) along with other members of the South Plains Baptist Church enjoyed the fellowship of former and present members at the Coming Home activities held at the church on Sunday, July 8.

After weeks of planning, phone calls, writing letters, committee meetings and remodeling our fellowship hall July 8th finally arrived and surpassed even our wildest dreams. The testimony of our church witness was reaffirmed by the coming home of approximately 250 members and their families. They brought with them many precious memories.

Our guests were welcomed with yellow ribbons tied to a mosquito tree. Each resident members name was written on a ribbon.

The day of worship and reunion started with the Grigsby (Doodle) Milton family registering each guest in a book. The book was done in calligraphy and provided by Lola (Knierim) Pohl, a former member from Matador.

Diane Johnson and Darla Milton Chappell played the prelude as the mixed choir, made up of former and present members, entered.

The song service, led by Kendis Julian, started with the song "Victory In Jesus". It was sung as only the South Plains Baptist Church can sing it.

Rev. Tom Fisher, present pastor, gave the welcome. He was followed by Sterling Cummings who gave the introduction of the former pastors and deacons and present pastor and deacons.

Pastors present were: Rev. R.C. Guest, Silverton (retired); Rev. Larry Faus, Gospel Baptist Church, Sparta, Wisconsin; Rev. John Gillespie, Knox

Bill Harper was represented by his daughters, Shirley Harper Jackson of Lubbock, Etholene Harper Brown of Amarillo and Billie Harper Rich of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Murray Julian was represented by his son Kendis Julian of South Plains. Dock Jones was represented by his son Frankie Dee Jones of Lubbock. Sim Reeves was represented with a letter written by his daughter Carol Reeves Reece of Floydada. J.H. Karr was represented by his son Bryan Karr of Lockney. Walter Wood was represented by Mrs. L. T. (Mamie) Wood of South Plains.

H.S. Calahan Sr. was represented by his children, Ora Calahan Brown of Lockney, Helen Calahan Karr of Lockney, H.S. Calahan Jr. of Abilene and many grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Current deacons present were Sterling Cummings, Kendis Julian, Doodle Milton, Nathan Johnson and Carlton Johnson.

It was noted that there are fifth generation members still in attendance at South Plains Baptist Church. They are Tim Julian, son of Kendis and Janis Julian, and Ken and Victoria Cummings, children of Kelvin and Jolene Cummings.

Sue Wilson Blythe of El Paso sang a beautiful hymn followed by a memorial service presented by Janis Julian.

Memorials in the form of floral arrangements, potted plants and candles graced the front of the sanctuary. The candles represented a period of 10 years in history. As each candle was lit Rev. Tom Fisher sang "Precious Memories".

The offertory prayer was led by Rev. H.S. Calahan Jr. and the offertory music was a beautiful medley of songs played by Darla Milton Chappell and Barbara Sue Milton Edwards in honor of their parents Doodle and Lillie Mae Milton.

Rev. John Gillespie's sermon was preceded by special music and song presented by his daughter Jacque Gillespie Riley of McLean.

After the benediction and blessing was given by Rev. Larry Faus a bountiful meal, planned by Ruby Lee Higginbotham and her committee, was served to the guests in the newly remodeled fellowship hall. The tables were decorated with bud vases filled with lavender phlox, yellow day lilies, wisteria tendrils and queen anne lace. The flowers were arranged by Gleyenn Earle Cummings and her committee.

Following the meal everyone enjoyed visiting and viewing the bulletin boards prepared by Nancy Marble and her committee. The pictures consisted of weddings performed in the church, activities of the church, old church families, deacons, pastors. Also on display were letters of regret from those who were unable to attend.

The church history book was on display. The book was provided by Peggy Roberts and her family. The book will be placed in the church library when completed.

After lunch the group assembled for a time of reflection. This time was planned by Virginia Taylor and her committee.

The opening prayer was led by Rev. Nathan Mulder, who was licensed and ordained in the South Plains Baptist Church. He is now the pastor at the Flomot Baptist Church in Flomot.

Dr. Fred D. Howard, a former interim pastor from Wayland University, read his historical poem honoring "Coming Home Day - South Plains Baptist Church." Special music was provided by Rev. Tom Fisher.

"A Time for Reflection" was given by Virginia Taylor. She read passages from the church minutes and gave the pastors present the opportunity to reflect on their ministry while at South Plains.

Pastor Tom Fisher called for memories from those present and received many spirit filled testimonies of the witness the church had in their lives.

The benediction was given in song, "Till We Meet Again".

"We are helping to preserve the heritage left by our faithful friends who have labored so long and hard to keep the home fires burning in South Plains Baptist Church and community and to keep the well of Jesus Christ open to anyone who needs a drink."

The members of the South Plains Baptist Church are already making plans to do this again in 2006 as the church will be 100 years old and celebrating its centennial.

Applications for emergency farm loans are being accepted

Applications for emergency loans for losses caused by severe storms, flooding and tornadoes occurring April 15, 1990 and continuing through May 29, 1990 are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Floydada, FmHA County Supervisor Becky V. Rainer said.

Floyd County is one of 22 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the severe storms, flooding and tornadoes.

Becky Rainer said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Becky said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until February 15, 1991 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," Mrs. Rainer said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S.

Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Floydada is open from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

PCG adopts $310,125 budget

The 50-member Board of Directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. July 11 adopted a $310,125 budget for the 1990-91 fiscal year, up from $294,075 in 1989-90.

In other action the Board vowed to "do all that can be done" to secure federal disaster assistance on this year's crop and voted to express its "extreme concern" for the threat to cotton future posed by ongoing General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) negotiations.

The budget increase, pointed out PCG Secretary-Treasurer and Finance Committee Chairman Frank Jones of Lamesa, primarily reflects higher insurance costs and an increase in the allocation for salaries and employee retirement. The latter increase may be needed, PCG President Larry Nelson of Tulia explained, to cover the cost of an overlapping of personnel in preparation for the pending retirement of Cotton Fanning, a PCG employee since 1962. On balance all other budget items were raised less than three percent.

The need for a disaster program was made abundantly clear by Board members' reports on dryland crop conditions. In a word, crops west and south of Lubbock were described generally as "gone." Saddest of the lot was the report of Yoakum County's Rickey Bearden. Of the county's estimated 70,000 to 75,000 dryland cotton acres, no more than 200 are left, Bearden said. And he quoted an old-timer in the county as saying crops are the worst he's seen in 60 years.

Prior to the PCG vote on disaster aid, discussion revealed that four disaster bills have been introduced in Washington, one in the Senate and three in the House, but none "appear to be going anywhere." PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson further said getting a disaster measure through this budget-conscious Congress would require, first, that it can be funded by projected savings in deficiency payments, and second that crop conditions in the mid-west and elsewhere become bad enough to engender broader base of political support.

On GATT negotiations, the Board instructed PCG officers and staff to "express to the appropriate senators and representatives, the Secretary of Agriculture and the office of the U.S. Trade Representatives are willing to sacrifice its well-being as a means to achieve other objectives in pursuing an all-inclusive international trade agreement."

The fundamental U.S. policy calling for global elimination of all agricultural subsidies and import barriers, long a source of anxiety in cotton circles, of late has become even more portentous in light of indications U.S. negotiators may now lean toward accepting something less than a tit-for-tat commitment on subsidies from foreign competitors

PCG past president and director Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, who also serve as Chairman of the National Cotton Council's International Trade Committee, stated that the Council has repeatedly registered its objections to including cotton in any subsidy ban. But, he said, so far all protest have fallen on deaf ears.

Cotton Briefs... Why Buy Cotton?

For many consumers, cotton and comfort are synonymous, whether thinking of shirts or socks, jeans or slacks, underwear or towels, consumers associate cotton with the comfort they want. And tests prove comfort is a determining factor for consumers in selecting clothing. Just what are the elements of cotton's comfort?

SOFTNESS. To consumers, the feel of the fabric next to the skin is a key factor in determining comfort. Why does cotton feel softer than other fabrics? Because cotton's fiber surfaces are finely textured, trapping air, which cushions the contact with the skin. The naturally tapered ends of the cotton fiber yield to the touch and contribute to the pleasurable sense of cotton's soft touch.

BREATHABILITY. Another primary criterion for personal comfort is the removal of body moisture. Cotton facilitates this process by absorbing moisture and wicking it away from the skin. Through its fiber structure, cotton also transmits water vapor more easily into the air.

ABSORBENCY. Cotton is also highly absorbent because it actually absorbs water within the individual fibers themselves. This extra capillary storage accounts for cotton's impressive absorption properties, familiar to anyone who has ever used a cotton towel and particularly important for physically active people.

Beef checkoff explained

Questions on how the beef checkoff program operates are answered in a newly released brochure available from the Texas Beef Industry Council.

The easy-to-read brochure entitled "Understanding the Beef Checkoff" helps beef producers meet their legal responsibilities under the Beef Promotion and Research Act of 1985. This act authorizes TBIC to collect $1 per head every time bovines are sold.

"Time has shown that the beef checkoff is an effective, positive way to fund promotion, education and research of beef," Anne I. Anderson, TBIC executive directors, said. "Our goal is to make collection of the checkoff dollar as effective and positive. We produced 'Understanding the Beef Checkoff' specifically to help producers gain more understanding about their checkoff program."

The pocket-sized, eight-page brochure explains the buyer's and the seller's responsibilities whenever any bovine animal is sold. It provides step-by-step information on how checkoff dollar collectors can complete the monthly report and remittance form for TBIC.

The brochure discusses who qualifies for non-producer status and many other important details that may confuse veal, dairy and beef cattle producers.

For your free copy of "Understanding the Beef Checkoff," write TBIC at 8310 Capital of Texas Hwy. N., Ste. 440, Austin, Texas 78731. Or call Greg Perin, TBIC director of collections, at 512-345-3531.

TBIC will also provide bulk copies for field days, purebred or club calf sales or other group events.

COWPOKES

By Ace Reid

"Wul life may begin at 40, but that's when everything starts wearin' out, fallin' out and spreadin' out!"

Proper chemical handling protects health and environment

Fertilizers and pesticides are common chemicals used on the farm and at home. The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 reminds homeowners and agricultural producers to use safe chemical handling procedures during storage, usage and disposal to protect human health and the environment.

PROPER STORAGE

Proper chemical storage by agricultural producers and homeowners prevents hazards and extends the chemical's shelf life.

Chemical containers should be stored in a locked cabinet located in a well-ventilated area. If the containers are too large to be placed in cabinets, then they should rest on a firm, level base on barn floors. The containers should be regularly inspected to make sure they are leak-free. It is important that all chemicals be stored in their original container with a legible label.

Chemicals in storage should be protected from extreme temperatures and direct heat sources. Chemicals with flash points of 140 degrees F or less can be fire hazards. (Water boils at 212 degrees F.)

Dusts and wettable powders may cake when subjected to wide temperature variations. Liquid formulations may crystallize out of solution and lose their effectiveness when exposed to temperatures of 32 degrees F or below.

To reduce the potential for groundwater contamination, it is important that agricultural and household chemicals never be stored near wells or in well-houses.

STORING LARGE CHEMICAL AMOUNTS

If chemicals in storage exceed more than a few gallons, producers and/or homeowners should note the following storage practices.

Chemicals should be kept in a locked storage area which is well ventilated and clearly identified as a chemical storage area at all entry points. Stored chemicals should rest on a stable base and should be kept away from feed and seed.

All chemical containers should be dated, and a log of all chemicals and the amount stored should be maintained.

Chemical containers should be regularly inspected for any leaks, tears or punctures.

Persons storing large quantities of agricultural and/or household chemicals should check with fire protection authorities and public health officials concerning possible legal ordinances. Those persons who store more than 55 gallons or 500 pounds of chemicals combined are governed by Texas Agricultural Hazard Communication Act provisions.

Empty chemical containers should be kept in a separate, safe storage area pending disposal.

PROPER CHEMICAL USE

Homeowners and producers should use special care when applying fertilizers and/or pesticides.

It is important to purchase and apply only the amount of chemicals needed. Stockpiling chemicals only increases the potential for accidental spills.

Read and follow the manufacturer's label directions. Persons should use the recommended lowest effective chemical application rate. The old adage, "if one pound is good, then two pounds is better," doesn't apply to agricultural or household chemical use.

The proper protective gear is a must when applying agricultural chemicals.

A long sleeve shirt, gloves and a face mask are recommended to protect applicators.

In order to reduce the chance of chemical spills near well sites, producers should move their nurse tanks about 100 feet from the well.

During the nurse tank filling operation, producers are reminded to use check valves in hoses to prevent back-siphoning from the tank to the well. If check valves are not used, the water supply hose should be secured above and out of the liquid in the nurse tank.

Producers are also reminded that they should never leave a filling tank unattended, since it could overflow. The label recommended chemical amount should be added to the nurse tank only after it has been filled with water.

PROPER CHEMICAL DISPOSAL METHODS

All empty chemical containers should be properly disposed of to avoid chemical contamination.

Producers should pressure rinse or triple rinse empty chemical containers and add the rinse water to the solution to be sprayed on the field. Chemical containers should not be re-used except for refills of that specific chemical.

Producers should properly dispose of chemical containers according to the product's label directions. Unwanted chemicals should never be poured into open, abandoned water wells or other openings in the ground.

Homeowners and producers should use a minimum amount of rinse water when cleaning spray equipment after use. If the chemical was applied outdoors, the rinse water should be sprayed back on the field or yard.

After the empty container has been thoroughly rinsed, homeowners can wrap it in newspaper and/or a paper sack and place it in a dumpster for disposal in a sanitary landfill.

For more information on agricultural/household chemicals and groundwater, contact the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405 or call (806) 762-0181.

Happenings at Caprock Hospital

By Molly Stringer

We had our employee luncheon last Tuesday. Rhonda Stovall was named employee of the month for July. Rhonda is always very helpful to all of us and pitches in and helps wherever she is needed. We appreciate her and thank her for all she contributes to our hospital. When you are at the hospital come by the bulletin board and see pictures of Rhonda at all ages and stages.

Sharon Hinton recently went to Tennessee to visit her family. She was accompanied on her trip by Betty Edwards who went to see her daughter and family.

Carol Scribner has finally returned from her wandering. She enjoyed her trip to Boston. She also made several side trips in that area.

Penny Womack and her family are enjoying a few days of fishing at Stamford Lake this week.

Molly and Bill Stringer spent a couple of days in Ruidoso. The weather was cool and lovely. It showered every day.

Nell Schuster visited her daughter in Claude last week.

Leroy Schaffner and his family attended Methodist Hospital day at Texas Water Rampage last Saturday. They reported a wonderful day of fun and activities.

Bettye Baker hosted a farewell party for Willie Mae Gregg and her family last week. They enjoyed a hamburger cook-out. Those attending were: Gail, Willie Mae and Randy Gregg, Frances Miller, Joyce Smith, Marie Cummings, Mary Simmons and the hostess Bettye Baker.

The Board of Directors will have their regular monthly meeting on Thursday at noon in the hospital library. Any interested persons are invited to attend.

Health Tip

Insect bites come in all varieties, from mosquitoes, fleas and chiggers to ants, spiders and bees.

Signs and symptoms of insect bites include reddened lumps and itching on skin that may appear within minutes after the bite or up to 6-12 hours later. Skin reactions fall into two categories:

1. A toxic reaction with pain, such as from bee stings.
2. A toxic reaction with itching due to the body's release of histamine at the bite site, such as mosquito bites.

Most troublesome symptoms disappear in two or three days, but scratching may prolong symptoms for several weeks. Treatment helps, but if it doesn't cure quickly. General measures for comfort include soaking the affected area in cool water and taking non-prescription medications to reduce inflammation and decrease itching. As always use medication according to label directions. Call your doctor if:

1. Self-care does not relieve symptoms or symptoms do not improve after two or three days of treatment.
2. A bitten area becomes red, swollen, warm and tender, indicating infection.
3. Your temperature rises to 101 degrees.

Diabetes class meets July 26, at 7 p.m. at the hospital.

News and Views from Cedar Hill

This year's project has been the installation of an A&M designed drip system to get water to their plants. They had their oldest grandson, Aaron, visiting with them a week ago and he helped complete the installation of their drip system. Last week-end they took Aaron back to Amarillo so he could participate in a youth camp, and traded him for his siblings, brother Matt, and sister Rachel. There is life aplenty at the old Conner place!

July 11: Rodney Durham, Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry's grandson from Dumas, Texas, visited with them Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Grandson Terry Harris also came out from Floydada and visited until Sunday.

July 15: There has been a flurry of activity at Edna Gilley's this week what with her mother Ruthie Bell Luttrell Clark, of Austin, visiting in her home.

Ruthie's sisters in the area have been popping in and out, and Ruthie going to visit them. On Sunday, Ruthie's Amarillo sister, Vergie Flowers, was at Edna's home and preparing to spend the night with them.

suffered a stroke something like five months ago, is still immobile, rational, and holding her own in a Bridgeport care home. She has experienced no particular turn for the worse, only inactivity itself is taking it's toll.

Sarah Lackey Beard was able to return to her home last week after a few rough, rough days in the Floydada hospital.

THE STRAIGHT CEDARS

Somehow your writer seems to always miss the Stricklands. At their home on the old, old Conner place they established quite a variety of fruits and berries

THE POST YARD

When you reach for a potato it is hard to know just what you will get. This classifying of Cedar Hillians as some type of "cedars" has turned into something that is a little like a hot potato; maybe nobody will get burned, still a bit of diplomacy is required. "Leaning Cedars" was the first one thought of and that classification has worked best of all.

The problem is when a "leaner" goes terminal do they become "laying Cedars"? You wouldn't like that if you had filled a thousand cases with eggs back in the thirties and forties. "Laying Cedars" comes to mind but that gets a quick and very decisive "unacceptable." Would "Horizontal Cedars" do at all? It seems that maybe that phrase carries a connotation of stiffness, super formality, or possibly decadence. Yes the going gets tougher, it bothers other people more than it does you, when you get demoted to the next step below the "Leaning Cedar" class. Actually that classification is seldom needed, so will table it and await help from General Public.

The next group, listed above as "Straight Cedars" looks alright at first glance, however popular usage is giving a new and very personal meaning to the word "straight". Actually "straight" is a good and wholesome word, but it is beginning to suffer from "guilt by association" because of it's frequent use as the antonym of a form of behavior that acceptable people frown upon.

"Plain Cedars" has been used occasionally but that imparts a sense of lack of color, or the predominance of drabness if you please, and goodness knows there is nobody like that at Cedar Hill. Everybody at Cedar Hill is out there in a red coat with yellow pants, tooting some kind of horn one way or another. Actually at Cedar Hill there is no such thing as a "Plain Cedar".

Once that portion of the column got headed up "Plains Cedars" but your writer quickly decided that might be considered discriminatory; the making of a distinction between cedars below the caprock and cedars up on the wind-swept plains. There was the very real possibility that some supreme court justice might hear that had been done in which case a legal citation, and the possibility of a fine, would very likely be forthcoming. "Plains Cedars" may be used some in the future but it causes your writer to break out in a rash.

That last one, "The Post Yard" is the "let down" place where this writer can be comfortable; go without a shave, hair not combed, and no boots on. The only thing is the Post Yard never gets used; that dogged deadline always deborns this column before anything ever gets written for that finale.

A letter from Mary Dorris in Clovis, N.M., this past week, had this excerpt from a column my wife, Grace Lemons, wrote for the Hesperian years ago:

The rung of a ladder was never meant to rest upon, but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other foot somewhat higher.

Water is best drink

A nutritionist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service recommends drinking water instead of iced tea or soda to quench your thirst.

On hot days like these, it's important to increase your fluid consumption. The best way to do this is by drinking water, according to Dr. Bethann Witcher.

"The body needs more fluids when it's exposed to extreme heat, or during exercise, fever, infections or even when traveling to high altitudes," she said.

Iced tea, like any other drink, is okay in moderation, Witcher said. However, you should not drink it with every meal, especially in the heat. Tea is a diuretic that takes fluid out of the body.

If you don't like the taste of water, try adding a twist of lemon, lime, orange or tangerine to improve the flavor, she said.

Drinking water is just as important as eating the right types of food, Witcher said. Here are some water facts:

- * The body contains 40-50 quarts of water.
- * Two to three quarts of water are lost daily through perspiration, urine and breathing and must be replaced.
- * As little as a 3 percent reduction of body weight from water loss can affect strength and endurance.
- * A 15-20 percent water loss can be fatal.
- * Water helps the digestive process.
- * In the form of perspiration, water sets up a self-cooling system during exercise.

* Water carries nutrients to the cells and removes wastes.

* A healthy complexion depends on water-enhanced skin tone.

* Joints are lubricated by water. "On the curative side, water can often help relieve headaches and decrease premenstrual bloating," Witcher said. Also, drinking large glasses of water during the day and right before meals can help curb your appetite and avoid impulse snacking to help you maintain or lose weight."

Witcher said that when nutritionists suggest drinking six to eight glasses of liquid each day, they mean water. Caffeine- or alcohol-containing beverages are not recommended because they are diuretics.

Alcoholic beverage consumption, which should always be in moderation, should include other liquids to dilute the effect of alcohol, she said. Soft drinks and milk shakes are not recommended in excess because of their high caloric content.

"Drinking sufficient water will help you look and feel your best," Witcher said. "Water should be an integral part of your dietary plans and practices.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR APPROVAL OF LARGE POWER WHOLESALE DELIVERY POINT RATE AND STATEMENT OF INTENT

Notice is hereby given that LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. (the "Utility") intends to implement a new rate for large power service received by the customer at the Cooperative's wholesale power supplier's delivery point. Additionally, the Utility intends to change the power cost recovery factor applicable to other customers to exclude power costs and energy sales under the proposed rate. The proposed rate and changes in power cost recovery factor are applicable to all areas served by the Utility and may affect all customers. Based upon a test year ending May 31, 1990, implementation of the proposed rate and changes in power cost recovery factor will not produce any change in revenues to the Utility.

Implementation of the proposed changes is subject to approval by the appropriate regulatory authority. A statement of intent, including the proposed revisions of tariff and schedules and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change is available at the general office of the Utility located at Floydada, Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757.
