We received a check for $256.95 the other day from the Lockney Meat Company, signed by Kelly Fortenberry, for "one hog purchase."

Can you imagine? $256.95 for one pig. (Pig sounds better than hog)

Actually, she was not all that young. She decided, some time ago, that she was tired of being a mamma pig, that life was much better just laying around in the sun and eating all she wanted. Which she did. With a vengeance. So she got very big, and very expensive. Despite all the courting that was afforded her by various boy-types, that's the way it remained. So the decision had to be made. Are we going to eat her, or is someone else going to eat her. Out of deference to her, we let someone else have the honors.

The mind boggles. In 1941, when we went off to the Army, a brother and I had a few head of cattle and some 25 mamma pigs and all their offspring. There was almost no market, despite the fact that the depression was supposed to have long been over. The absolute "tops" for hogs at the time, if memory serves, was about 5 cents per pound. Rather than keep and feed them, we sold the little ones at weaning age to restaurants in San Antonio, where they were roasted for banquets with an apple in their mouth, and things like that.

Of course, hamburgers cost only about 10 cents then, so it all comes out in the wash, as it were.

All of which is apropos of nothing, except we needed a lead for a column about something else. (We wanted to write a column about the Senate's version of campaign finance "reform", and we didn't want the Senators to notice. We figured if we led the column about pigs, they wouldn't take notice, and therefore wouldn't get unhappy with us. This is part of our new "kinder and gentler image" foisted upon us by your editor.)

Now about the campaign finance "reform." The Senate has passed its version and sent it to the House, where they too were wrestling with the subject. From where we sit both the House and the Senate versions stink, and we hope the President will veto the bill if it is not substantially altered in conference committee.

Like most "reforms" enacted by our elected representatives, the Senate version ends up sticking the people with a few million more dollars out of our Treasury, and therefore out of our pocket. The Senators say they will be happy, (well maybe not happy, but they will do it anyway), with the idea of giving up their lucrative PAC money, and their "honorariums" in return we taxpayers give them some money out of our Treasury to pay for their television and radio commercials, and if we give them some extra money out of the Treasury to pay for their mailings, etc. etc. etc.

It reminds us of the situation over in the House of Representatives some time ago, when they were slipping the pay raise through. You remember that situation. They said, in essence, if you want us to give up some of these things we have gotten used to, to be more honest, you have to pay us more than a mere $86,000 or so each year, plus all sorts of expenses.

To be absolutely frank about it, both the House and the Senate are controlled by a bunch of liberal Democrats, with the help of a few nutty liberal Republicans. To ask a liberal, of whatever party, to correct any situation without dipping into the people's Treasury, is like asking a coyote to walk among the sheep without tasting blood now and then. It's against their nature.

There are many things in the Senate bill that are good, and that need to be done. Why they had to stick in the provisions calling on taxpayers to pick up the tab is beyond us, unless it was one

Public attends tax hearing

By Juanita Stepp

Just over a dozen persons were in attendance at the scheduled public hearing concerning the proposed 70.52% increase in local hospital taxes. Those present heard Caprock Hospital District board president William Bertrand state, "We just flat need the money to operate."

Bertrand explained that the district will end the current budget year approximately $450,000 in debt with an estimated $190,000 loss for the year. Some major repairs are needed on the roof and the plumbing. Bertrand also stated that the x-ray equipment needs major repair or replacement. Hospital administrator Leroy Schaffner quoted figures from the Texas Hospital association citing the average percentage of hospital budgets devoted to operating costs is 41%. He then stated that Caprock Hospital averages 27%, so operating costs are below average.

Board member Melba Vickers informed those gathered for the hearing that the district had been able to cut operating costs by about half a million dollars over the last four years and is doing everything possible to keep operating expenses down.

One of the reasons for the enormous debt problem of the district, according to hospital officials, is the poor collection rate for services. Schaffner said that about 39% of the hospital billing can not be collected and that the district cannot legally or ethically turn away anyone seeking treatment whether or not they can pay. The ambulance service also adds to the deficit since the district shoulders the uncollectible debts of the ambulance service.

Another problem contributing to the debt is the lower rate of payment for medicare and medicaid to rural hospitals. Recent announcements that such funds are unavailable for disbursement until late August were also discussed.

Under the proposed budget of $1,648,215.00 based on a tax rate of .42 cents with a collection rate of 98%, the district hopes to emerge at the end of the 1990-91 budget year with the outstanding debts paid, the major repairs done and a reserve fund of about $25,000. The proposed tax increase would give the district more than $688,000 in tax revenue.

CITIZENS CONCERNS

Although no one present voiced an opinion indicating opposition to the proposed tax increase, several people asked if the hospital would realistically be able to turn the financial situation around and put things back on track, using the increased revenue wisely. Concern was expressed that the board would again be asking for more money this time next year.

Board members vowed to do their best to supervise the budget and oversee the hospital operations in a manner which would insure that taxpayers receive the best care possible for the best value of their tax dollars.

Schaffner stated that every effort would be made to make billing and collections operate more smoothly and to encourage residents of the hospital district to utilize the facility, making it more cost effective.

The hospital has a capacity of 40 patients, but has an average patient load of just over three out-patients and three in hospital patients per day.

"The alternative to a tax increase would be to close the facility," said

Bertrand.

In that event, the taxing district would remain in effect and would still collect taxes as long as there was any outstanding debts. The hospital district would also be liable for the care of indigent patients at other facilities in value to the current debt load.

The public hearing was closed following public comment and Tuesday, August 14, at 7:00 p.m. was set as the date and time for the board to vote on setting the tax rate at 42 cents.

Attending the session were board members William Bertrand, Fred Thayer, Joy Assiter and Melba Vickers and hospital administrator Leroy Schaffner as well as the Hesperian reporter.

South African student visits Floydada

By Alice Gilroy

Malcolm and Flora McNeill, of Floydada, were hosts to South African exchange student Cheryl Boswell, and her host family, last week in their home.

The McNeill's had met Cheryl while they were vacationing in South Africa in September, 1989. Cheryl knew then that she would be coming to America as an exchange student. The McNeill's asked her to come visit them when she got here, and to their delight she took them up on their hospitable offer.

"We traveled all over South Africa," said Flora McNeill. "We met Cheryl while we were visiting the wildlife preserve in Mpongo Park. She was working there and when she heard where we were from she told us she would be coming to America. She is a very friendly girl and we asked her to come see us. We think it is wonderful that she would make the drive here to visit."

Cheryl is now staying with Bill and Jackie Meacham in Cameron, Texas. The Meacham's have been her host family since her arrival. Cheryl, 18, came to Cameron from Mpongo Park, which is near East London in South Africa.

She has already graduated from her high school, Cambridge High, in East London. After arrival in Cameron, Cheryl enrolled in the spring semester at C.H. Yoe High School. She will attend the fall semester in Cameron and then return to Durbin, South Africa.

Cheryl's high school in East London has an enrollment of approximately 750 students. "That is about an average size for a high school," said Cheryl.

"Our schools are broken down in grades differently in East London than they are over here. First, second and third grade go to elementary school; fourth through seventh grade go to junior high and eighth through twelfth grade are in high school."

When asked how the curriculum compares in the United States to the South African schools, Cheryl replied that "studies here are easier."

"In school here the tests are fill-in-the-blanks, True or False and Multiple Choice. There are hardly any essay questions. Our exams (in South Africa) are a minimum of three hours long (that's on regular testing not final exams).

"In English class, for example, we are graded orally (100 points) throughout the year. We also are graded on literature (100 points) where we write a three hour exam on four literary books we have been assigned to read. We also have a 3 hour composition test with a possible score of 80 points and another 3 hour test on language, grammar and comprehension, for a possible score of 120 points. My biology exam was 55 pages, mostly essay, which lasted three hours."

According to Cheryl students in South Africa are required to take English and Afrikaans. Afrikaans is the official white language in South Africa. There are also eleven different black languages in South Africa. Students are also required to learn one black language, from whatever area you live in.

Junior high welcomes principal Larry Baer

There will another newcomer among the many new students at Floydada Junior High. Principal Larry Baer will also be learning his way around and memorizing new names and faces.

Baer, who replaces Principal Joe Christian, comes to Floydada after three years in Itasca, Texas, where he was principal of the elementary school and the junior high.

Born in Paris, Texas, Larry Baer is 42 years old and has been married to his wife, Donna, for 17 years. They have two children, a six year old son, Derek, and an eight year old daughter, Shelley.

Baer attended college at East Texas State University where he majored in math and physical education.

After graduation from East Texas, Baer taught math and coached at Delmar High School in Paris, for nine years. He coached football, basketball, track and some baseball.

He then moved to Imperial, Texas (in far west Texas), and taught at Buena Vista High School for two years. From Imperial, Baer moved to Coahoma, (which is 10 miles east of Big Springs), and taught math and coached for the first year at Coahoma High School. "After the first year teaching math and coaching," said Baer, "I then worked as the assistant high school principal for the next four years."

Baer then took the job as principal in Itasca and then on to Floydada.

Donna Baer has been teaching for fifteen years in areas such special education, educational diagnostician, and elementary school. She will now be teaching fifth grade reading at R.C. Andrews.

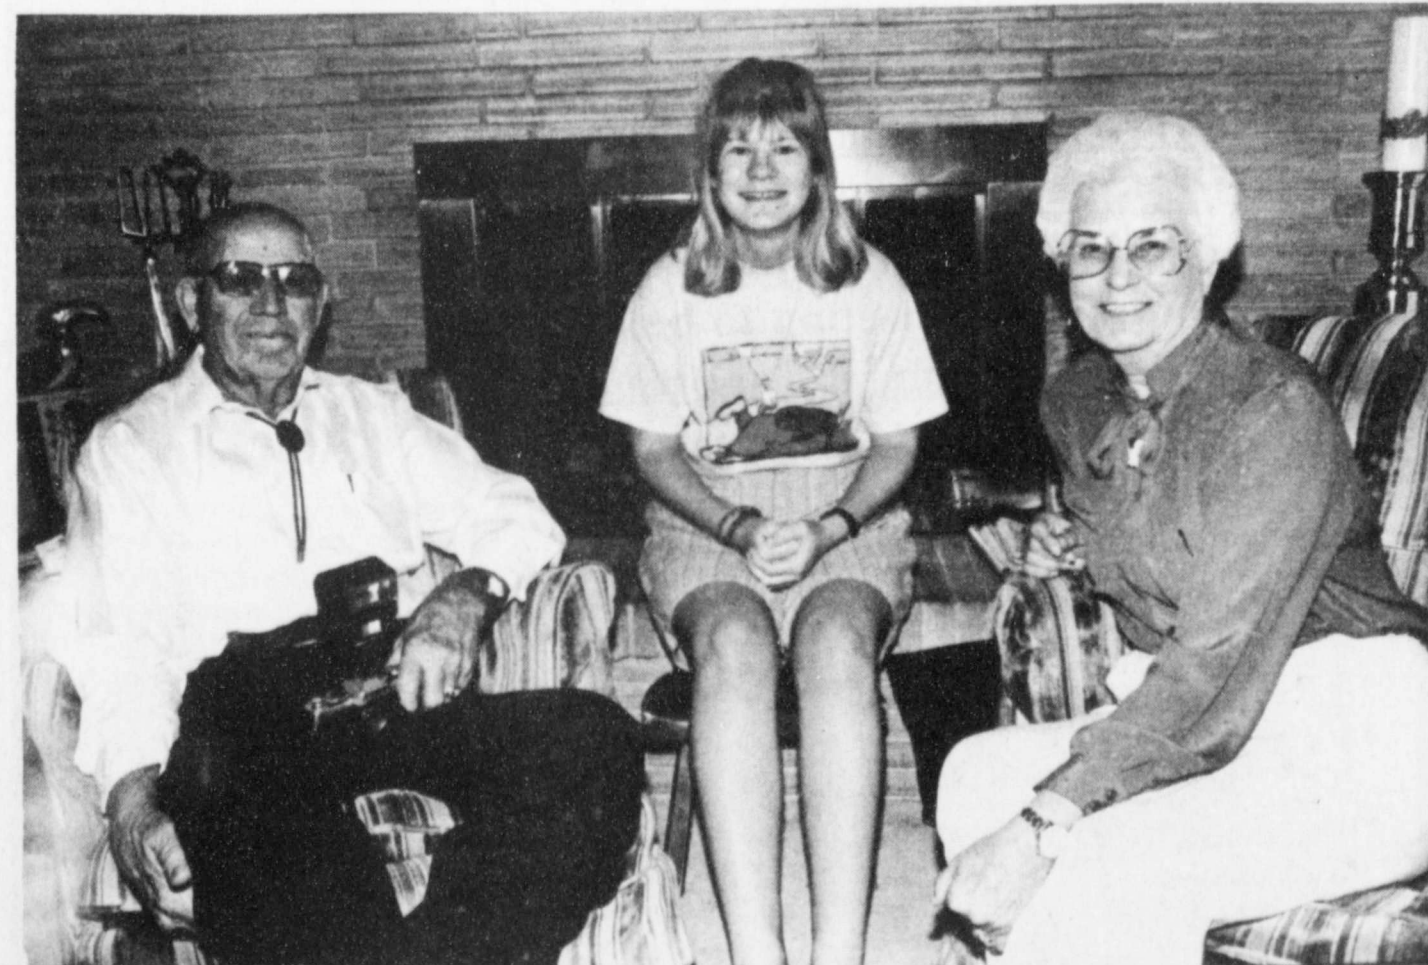

"We came here looking for a place in West Texas," said Baer. "We have always liked West Texas and wanted to return. We understood Floydada had a good school system and we wanted were also looking for good schools for our children to go through."

"I want to help the teachers do the best they can to educate the kids. That is the most important thing."

"With all the changes that are coming about in the school system we will be working to keep up and implementing the changes the best way for the kids."

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

Well I shouldn't have left the 'Punkin Day' meeting so fast the other day. I goofed up on my story about 'Punkin Days' and I'm sorry.

Anyone who is interested in renting space on the square for an arts and crafts booth should listen up. The cost for rental will be $20.00. There will be no booths under the pavilion. All booths will be set up on the north side of the courthouse, except for the food booths. The food booths will be on the south and west side by the plug-ins.

Anyone interested in rental should get in touch with Dawnell Smith, 983-5522, or Brenda Heflin, 983-5060.

I sure have gotten a lot of nice comments from last week column. I didn't realize that the Mother's Guilt Syndrome was such a wide-spread disease.

Women all over this county have got it. I was writing from the perspective of the working mom, but I heard more from the mom's who have decided to stay at home.

They have a whole different kind of guilt. The most common ailment seemed to be the feeling of, "I'm not contributing anything to the community, or to the 'world'."

Other symptoms included: "Other mothers think I'm lazy—they think all I do is sit around and watch soap operas all day;

"Working women think I'm too dependent on my husband—that I don't have any money for myself;

"I should be helping my family out more and go back to work!"

I was wondering how much of this guilt us mothers bring on ourselves. I never would have thought that a mom who devotes her time to her work at home would feel guilty.

I am probably going to make some women's libbers mad at me and there are people that have known me for a long time that are not going to believe I would say this—but, I think it is more important for women to stay at home and be full time mommies. There I said it.

However—of course most people's finances don't allow it. Many parents who want to provide for their children have got to work. I'm glad I went on to college and got a degree. I'm glad I went to work and I like the feeling that I could take care of myself if I had too. I had a fulfilling life in my work without children.

But for a housewife and mother to think that she is not contributing anything to society is silly. To bring children into the world and to raise them as kind Christians, in my opinion is the most important contribution a woman could make.

I remember a news story about some women's libbers at a women's university that were mad because Barbara Bush had been asked to be the commencement speaker. They were put out because she had never done anything in her life. They said her only claim to fame was that she was married to the president. She didn't have an identity of her own aside from standing in the shadow of her famous husband.

That really rubbed me the wrong way. She had the same identity that my mother has always had. Her children and her husband came first. My mom, like Barbara Bush, has stood in the shadows and helped my dad to be successful at whatever he has tried. Because of 3 1/2 years in a Japanese prison camp, my dad has not had good health throughout his life. My mom has always cared for him and looked after him.

She has supported her children and always provided a safe and secure home. That warm loving home was someplace I could always run to and it still is. Her kitchen always smells good because she always seemed to be feeding someone at different times.

Now, like Barbara Bush, she is doing the same for grandkids. They will grow up thinking almost as much of her as her kids do. I don't think the majority of housewives are examples of lazy, dependent and useless people. I think, like my mom, they are proud, hardworking, and selfless.

Gilbreath retires after 42 years

Local phone office to close

After forty-two years with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Betty Gilbreath will resign effective August 14, to pursue home interests and travel plans.

"I started with the phone company in 1943, during WWII, when I was about 18 years old," said Betty. "I was an operator in Floydada. The switchboard was located where Kenneth Bain's office is now.

"I worked there until 1956 when the company cut over to dial. A lot of the girls went to Plainview, but since my husband J.W., had his service station business, I quit and stayed here."

In May of 1957, Betty went back to work as a service representative in Floydada. "I took payments and orders for service and installation. I did everything."

Betty stayed at that job until July of 1976 when that office closed here and then she started working in Plainview. On April 12, 1978, Betty retired from the phone company after 32 years.

"On Nov. 3, 1980 I took over this payment agency from Tommy Assiter and I have been doing that ever since. Leaving this position, Betty remarked, "I've already retired from the phone company — now I'm just tired."

Betty Gilbreath was born three miles east of the cemetery in Floyd County. Except for living in Kress for two years, she has been a resident of Floyd County all of her life. She married J.W. Gilbreath in 1950 in Plainview. "We have no children," said Betty, "just a spoiled black cat."

Southwestern Bell will no longer have a payment agency in Floydada, when Betty goes home for the last day, Tuesday. Customers will now have to pay by mail or at Furr's Grocery on 24th Street in Plainview.

"In November I would have been working for the phone company for 42 years. The phone company has been my life," said Betty. "I'm going to miss my customers. I have gotten very attached to them. I'm also going to miss looking out my window and watching people come and go and the activity around the courthouse."

with malice aforethought and designed to assure a Presidential veto. In which case, of course, they can write letters back home about how they really tried to fix things, but the President foiled their efforts.

From where we sit, Senator Gramm voted right on the bill, and Senator Bentsen voted wrong. The wrong votes prevailed.

Maybe the Good Guys can delete the subsidy provision in conference committee, but our guess is that it is the one provision that will surely stay. Which means that in the final analysis, we probably won't have "campaign finance reform" at all.

Come to think about it, maybe there is a connection after all, between the front part of this column and the last part. There is, after all, some similarity between a fat, useless hog sleeping in the sunshine, and a liberal politician in Washington. The difference is that we can sometime get rid of at least one of them. And make a little money in the process.

See, it is entirely possible to write a column from a "kinder and gentler" perspective. We feel better already.

GRAVES PROMOTED TO SERGEANT

Russell C. Graves, son of Ronnie C. and Diane M. of Post, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of sergeant.

Graves is a military police specialist at Fort Bliss, Texas.

His wife, Lonna, is the daughter of Jackie and Edna Duke of Floydada.

He is a 1986 graduate of Post High School.

Exchange student from South Africa visits Floydada home.....

The school year lasts from January through December. There is no summer vacation. Vacation comes for South African students from the eighth or tenth of December until January 15.

"In the eighth and ninth grade we are required to take all courses," said Cheryl. In the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade we take English, Afrikaans and four other courses. I took Science, Biology, Math and Accounting. Our math course encompasses everything: trigonometry, geometry, algebra, calculus and analytic geometry."

Cheryl has plans on attending college in Durban and wants to get her BA in political science and legal theory. "I haven't decided if I want to go into law or foreign diplomatic service."

When asked how life in the United States differs from South Africa, Cheryl stated that, "people and day to day activities are very similar. They are very friendly here also. The only thing I have to worry about is crossing the street. The cars drive on different sides of the road here and I'm always looking the wrong way to see if a car is coming. Thank goodness they don't let me drive over here."

Seventeen is the age that teenagers have to attain before they are allowed a learners permit in South Africa. Drivers license cannot be given until an individual is 18 years of age.

"I think that South Africa is portrayed very badly in the press over here," said Cheryl. "I will hear about something happening that sounds so terrible, and I will immediately call him to my parents because I am worried. They tell me that what I saw or heard was not what happened and that I shouldn't worry."

"The press here does not seem to be interested in the good things that happen there. The contradiction is also very bad in the media, when it comes to South Africa. I will hear one story reported one night, and the next morning they are saying something else."

"I've learned to not listen while I'm over here."

Cheryl's father is in the construction business and her mother is a bookkeeper. Her trip to the United States was sponsored by Bonza Bay, East London Rotary International. She is hosted by Cameron Rotary.

Courtroom Activities

On August 1, in county court, Danny Chavera, 26, of Lubbock, was charged with driving while his license was suspended and DWI. There was no disposition on this case.

On August 2, the following cases were tried:

Randy Enriquez, 21, of Floydada, pled guilty to his July 30 charge of DWI. He was fined $500.00 plus court costs. He was sentenced to 180 days in jail which was probated for two years;

Juan Jose Garcia, pled guilty to his Aug. 1 charge of resisting arrest. His sentencing date was set for September 6; Juan Lopez, 45, of Lockney, pled guilty to his July 16 charge of DWI. He had originally pled not guilty on July 19. He was fined $500.00 plus court costs of $147.50 in court costs and sentenced to 180 days in jail;

Juan Mendoza pled guilty to the July 23 charge of assault. He was fined $250.00 and $152.50 in court costs. He was also sentenced to 30 days in jail which was probated for one year;

Jesus Ochoa Soliz, 19, of Lockney, pled guilty to his August 1 charge of DWI. He was fined $500.00 plus court costs of $157.50 and sentenced to 180 days in jail which was probated for two years.

In J.P. court for the weeks of July 10 through August 7, there were 140 misdemeanor cases filed.

Floydada Police Report

On August 4, at 9:30 a.m., police arrested Herman Garza, 34, of Floydada on an outstanding warrant for assault which occurred in July.

Billy Ray Leadon, 38, of Floydada, was also arrested by police at the Furr's Supermarket. Leadon was observed falling and swaying in the store. He was arrested for public intoxication and while searching him after his arrest, police found a package of sliced ham under his belt and shirt. He was also charged with theft under $5.00.

On August 5, Renaldo Garza, 35, of Floydada, was arrested in the 500 block of North 12th Street and charged with public intoxication.

Police also received a report this week, that sometime Sunday or Monday night, the office at the Floydada Swimming Pool was entered. A VHS tape was taken.

ACCIDENT

On August 4, at 10:30 p.m., police investigated an accident that occurred in the Allsup's Parking Lot. A Pontiac 6000 was parked in a space in front on the Allsup's. A Ford Torino was backing into a space and backed into the Pontiac. There were no injuries.

Comptroller rep to visit Floydada

A representative from the state comptroller's office will be in Floydada on Friday, August 17, 1990, to assist taxpayers with paper work and problems and to answer questions about Texas taxes.

Johnny Laceywell, enforcement officer, from the Lubbock Field Office will be available at the Floyd County Courthouse in the county court room from 10:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon. There is no charge for this service.

Floydada area taxpayers who can not meet with the representative may still receive individual tax assistance by calling the comptroller's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-252-5555.

MRS. GARY BOB ARMSTRONG

Shurbet and Armstrong wed

Angela Zahn Shurbet and Gary Bob Armstrong exchanged wedding vows, at 7:00 p.m., Saturday, July 28, 1990, in the First Baptist Church Sanctuary. Rev. Howell Farnsworth Jr., minister of First Baptist Church in Floydada, officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mary Shurbet and the late Don Shurbet of Floydada.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar (Lee) Armstrong of Amarillo.

They stood before an altar of 36 white tapered candles in brass holders with english ivy, baby's breath and pink rosebuds. Brass baskets of ivy and baby's breath marked the passage to the altar. Large white tulle bows with ivy and forest green streamers marked the pews.

Given in marriage by the bride's brother, Shannon Shurbet, she chose a white regal satin gown with a scalloped V neckline, bishop sleeve, princess style encrusted with pearls and jewels bodice.

The elongated waistline dropped to full flowing satin skirt. The back of the gown plunged to a low back, centered with a designer bow with beaded back. The train was chapel length, all satin accented with European lace cut-out, studded with pearls and jewels, decorated at the hemline, double edged with borders of European lace. She carried a bouquet of hot pink and white roses with english ivy and baby's breath giving a lacy elegant effect.

Following tradition, something new was her wedding gown, something blue, was a blue garter borrowed from her mother and is the same garter worn at her wedding. She wore pennies in her shoe with the birth date of the bride and groom.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was Julie Anderson, friend of the bride, of Lubbock; and Mendy Shurbet, sister-in-law of the bride, of Floydada served as bridesmaid. They wore floral tea length dresses with hot pink and forest green predominate colors, a low back with forest green bows, and a drop waist line with a full skirt. The groom wore a white full tux with a white rosebud boutonniere.

The best man, groomsman, father of the groom, ring bearer and ushers wore a black tux with forest green bow ties and cummerbuns. They wore hot pink rosebud boutonnieres.

Music was provided by Barbara Edwards who played the organ and Darla Chappell played the piano, they are second cousins to the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony.

A three tier cake with a fountain of pink flowing at the bottom, a Precious Moments bride and groom topped the white cake at the bride's table. The cake sat on a white satin skirt scalloped with tulle caught with english ivy and green satin streamers. Pink and white mints and assorted nuts were also served. The bride's and bridesmaids bouquets adorned the brides table. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Forest green napkins with 'Gary & Angela' July 28, 1990, imprinted in silver were used. Serving at the bride's table were Cathy Langley, Denise Morren, Tonya Gooch and Andrea Bonner.

The groom's table held a large selection of finger sandwiches, fruit k-bobs used with a pineapple base, grapes cascaded to a brass tray. Iced tea was served.

Birdseed bags tied with hot pink and forest green bows were passed out at the reception by Mesha Pate of Lubbock, Tana Henderson of Lorraine, Whitney Kigos of Goose Creek, S.C. and Ashley Green of Plainview.

Serving in the houseparty were Nelda Howard, Gwen Henderson, Shawn Pate and Edris Edwards.

The bride wore a white street length dress sprinkled and bordered with hot pink flowers, for her traveling attire, her dress was made especially for her by her Aunt Ruby. The groom's traveling attire consisted of jeans and a pink shirt.

Strickland named to 1990 High School Who's Who

Melissa M. Strickland, 17, the daughter of Bob and Pam Strickland, has been accepted into the 24th edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students.

According to Who's Who, only 5% of all students from the nation's 22,000 high schools are honored in Who's Who each year.

Melissa is now eligible to compete in the annual scholarship program. A minimum of $65,000 will be awarded this year, bringing total scholarships to 1,100,000 to date.

She has also been invited to use the College Referral Service, a reference service for college-bound Who's Who students.

Melissa's biography will be published in this annual edition because of her achievements.

Floyd County 4-h'ers compete in fashion show

The District Fashion Show was held in Lubbock last week at Lubbock Christian University. Grant Cage of Floydada served as Master of Ceremonies for the annual event involving 137 youths from 20 counties.

The 4-H Fashion Show culminates a year long 4-H learning program, explained Gail Gladden, Cochran County Extension Agent for Home Economics, who was chairman of the District Show. The clothing project teaches skills in decision making, style and fashion, clothing selection, consumer choices, planning and clothing construction as well as use of accessories and poise.

Kaci Mathis of Lockney won 1st place in her division of Junior 1 Dressy. Others participating in the show from Floyd County, but not placing were: Lacey Aston - Junior 1 Casual, Lindi Miller - Junior 1 Sports, Stacey Lloyd - Junior 1 Buying, Charla Yeary - Junior 2 Casual and Misty Bertrand - Junior 2 Buying.

These 4-H members did an excellent job of representing Floyd County in some tough competition. Congratulations to each of you!

CRP may threaten early planted wheat

West Texas wheat growers should avoid planting in August and early September to reduce the threat of infection with the devastating wheat streak mosaic virus, cautions a plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some counties in the South Plains and Texas Panhandle have been hit hard by the wheat mosaic virus since 1988, said Dr. Harold E. Kaufman, the Extension Service plant pathologist here. Several fields in Parmer County had nearly 100 percent of the plants infected this spring, he said.

The disease is spread by a wind-borne wheat curl mite that is most active in warm weather. The mite generally moves in a northeasterly direction with the prevailing summer winds. Infected plants have yellow, discontinuous streaks on the leaves.

"Fall infection is common and very devastating," Kaufman said, "but symptoms rarely show until temperatures increase in the spring."

The wheat curl mite is the only vector of the virus. The mite thrives on the tender, young growth of many grasses, corn, wheat and other small grains, such as barley, oats and rye.

"Volunteer wheat, one of the two most important hosts for the mite, should be plowed two weeks before planting the wheat crop," Kaufman said.

"However, the past three year's experience has convinced me that Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) acres are the most important host of the wheat curl mite in our area.

"Volunteer wheat can be destroyed, depriving the mite of food and shelter it needs before moving into the young wheat crop. But CRP acres can't be destroyed. These acres are an ever present menace for the wheat farmer, a source of wheat streak mosaic virus he must learn to avoid," the Extension Service plant pathologist warned.

He suggested four steps to control wheat streak mosaic virus: Destroy volunteer wheat; avoid planting near CRP land; plant later, and plant resistant varieties. "Losses from wheat streak mosaic virus can be greatly reduced if growers use all four control measures in combination," Kaufman said.

Wheat planted north or east of CRP land is most likely to be infested with mosaic-carrying wheat curl mites, Kaufman said. These small insects are active during warm weather and they are usually carried in a northeasterly direction by the warm southwest winds.

Planting in late September or early October, after mite populations usually have declined, may keep the field from becoming infected, or at least delay the time of infection and thus reduce the destructiveness of the virus.

Planting resistant varieties in high risk locations near CRP land is an important control option, Kaufman said. Varieties such as Thunderbird and Triumph 64 have demonstrated some resistance to the virus, he said. Others, such as TAM 107 and TAM 200 are resistant to the wheat curl mite, which may reduce wheat streak mosaic infection.

Varieties to avoid are Mustang, Hawk and Centurk 78. These have been very susceptible to the virus over the past three years.

Meeting addresses Texas water plan

The Texas Water Development Board announces a public meeting to be held at the Lubbock Public Library, Mahon Community Room, 1306 9th Street, Lubbock, Texas on August 13, 1990 at 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Any interested persons are urged to attend and provide written and/or oral comments on the draft Texas Water Plan Update for 1990, which has recently been completed. This is one of a series of regional meetings across the state to receive comments on the draft Plan.

State law directs the Executive Administrator of the Board to prepare and maintain a comprehensive water plan for the orderly development and management of the state's water resources in order that sufficient water will be available at a reasonable cost, to further the economic development of the entire state.

Plan development began in the spring of 1989 when the Board conducted 28 meetings across the state to receive public comments on the Board's projections of population and water needs. The draft Plan projects an annual statewide water demand of about seven trillion gallons by the year 2040, to meet the needs of Texas' population which is projected to increase from about sixteen million in 1985 to thirty-five million persons in 2040.

To meet these increasing needs for water, the Board is recommending phased-in conservation initiatives that can reduce water usage by as much as one trillion gallons annually by the year 2040, along with the development of new water supplies, including 13 new surface water reservoirs, four salinity control projects, re-allocation and modification of existing reservoir storage, and 29 major water conveyance systems. Also recommended is a more intensive reuse of water.

A significant feature of the 1990 draft Water Plan Update is an emphasis on the maintenance of adequate instream flows to support Texas' abundant and varied fish and wildlife population, and to supply the freshwater needs of bays and estuaries along the Texas coast.

The draft Plan projects the need for an investment of over $37 billion by the state's utilities for water and wastewater facilities, and an additional $1.9 billion to address those flood protection needs which have been quantified to date.

The draft Plan also proposes a number of policy initiatives, on the following subjects:

1. Efficiency and management of available water resources.
2. Protection of our water supplies for future generations.
3. Continuing investment in water resources as federal funding for these purposes decreases.
4. Education so that Texans can learn more about our water resources.

For purposes of water planning, the Board has divided the State into eight geographical regions. The City of Lubbock and the surrounding area are in the High Plains and Trans-Pecos Region. The High Plains and Trans-Pecos Region is comprised of 56 counties located in the Canadian River Basin and portions of the Red, Brazos, Colorado, and Rio Grande River Basins. The regional population is currently estimated at 1.16 million residents, with over 230 thousand in the Lubbock area. By the year 2040, population of the region is projected to range between 1.7 and 1.9 million residents, while the population of the Lubbock area is projected to range between 350 and 390 thousand.

Current total annual water use within the region is estimated to be approximately 1.5 trillion gallons with approximately 62 billion gallons per year being used in the Lubbock area. Region-wide, water used for irrigation purposes accounts for almost 89 percent of the total. This current water use pattern is not expected to change drastically over the 50-year planning period.

Regional irrigation water requirements will decline due to a reduction in irrigated acreage and improvements in irrigation efficiency and management practices. However, irrigated agriculture will remain the predominate water user in the region.

Ground water levels are expected to continue to decline and, even with conservation, water needs for irrigation could exceed supplies in localized areas.

Other water related problems in the region include limited surface water supplies, high concentrations of total dissolved solids in Lake Meredith and the Colorado River, and in many areas, concentrations of fluoride and nitrate in the ground water that exceed state and federal standards for public consumption.

It is estimated that $1.5 billion will be needed for water and wastewater infrastructure in the region over the 50-year planning period. Approximately $596 million would be required in the first ten years and an estimated $874 million in the remaining 40 years of the planning period.

With the completion of Lake Alan Henry and the construction of the permitted Post Reservoir Project and the necessary transmission and treatment facilities, and in conjunction with an effective water conservation program, the City of Lubbock should have ample water supplies to meet its needs through the year 2040.

In addition, to improve the water quality in Lake Meredith, the proposed salinity control project near Ute, New Mexico should be constructed.

The meeting, scheduled for 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. on August 13 is for the purpose of receiving input into the draft Texas Water Plan Update. Copies of the draft Plan are available for review at river authorities and other major water suppliers in the state, as well as at most public libraries. Written comments on the draft Water Plan will be received through September 14, 1990. After that, the Plan will be revised as necessary to respond to public comments, considered by the Texas Water Development Board for adoption late this year, and presented to the Legislature in January, 1991.

Floyd County 4-H hosts Missouri 4-H'ers

Ten 4-H members and two sponsors from Chilicothe, Missouri were hosted last week by Floyd County 4-H members, according to Brent Crossland, County Extension Agent - Agriculture. The exchange provides opportunities to share ideas and cultures from other states. Floyd County 4-H members will, of course, travel to Chilicothe next summer.

Events began on Sunday evening of last week with a get acquainted sandwich supper at Lockney.

On Monday, over eighty 4-H members and parents attended "TEXAS" at Palo Duro following a trip to the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum and a picnic in the canyon.

On Tuesday, the host families and their Missouri 4-H members met at the M.A.C. for ice cream and movies.

On Wednesday, over eighty 4-H members and leaders participated in a day camp at Roaring Springs. Recreational activities and an educational session on electricity were held. A hamburger supper was also held. Many new 4-H members also attended.

Thursday morning started bright and early with a Cowboy Breakfast on the Martin Warren ranch. "Cowboy Cooks" included Travis Jones, Joe Jones, Norman Muncy and Don Bybee.

The week was culminated with a dance held at the Floydada Rodeo grounds. The "Aces" band from Abernathy provided the musical entertainment.

Carl Lemons' News and Views from Cedar Hill

WEATHER

From out of the mists of antiquity down through all the ages, mankind has learned to look about himself, regardless of the locality wherein he may live, and observe the native, trustworthy conservative forms of vegetation that grow there in the belief that certain forms of plant life, with little else to do, were more sensitive to nature's subtle changes and were constantly making adjustments in their seasonal responses to nature's signals. Man decided, since he had an imperfect communication with nature, that he would use these sensitive plants as interpreters, or forecasters, of things that were to come.

Perhaps it was the Indians, or maybe our own early settlers, that first evolved the formula, "Sixty days from the first broom weed blossom until frost." Be that as it may, there are those among us who believe in the "broom weed blossom forecast" nearly as strongly as they believe in motherhood and apple pie.

FROST WARNING NUMBER ONE

Broom weeds blooming in Floyd County on the first day of August! Unheard of! But there it was, a bit of yellow perfection, just a little larger than an okra seed, giving off that usual broom-weed odor so similar to the resinous emissions of uncurved pine boards that have baked in the summer sun. It had concealed itself among the yellow florets of a late blooming clover plant, and would have gone unnoticed had it not been for a transient Junk Buyer who had stopped by with his endless pitch that we should "give him the store"; part with all our treasured mementos of yesteryear: such as dismantled cotton strippers; remnants of random tandems; and a melted-down May-Tag washer, once owned by my wife's mother, that lost its identity and became a mass of molten metal in the inferno-like heat of a burning building.

Your writer had spent some thirty minutes coming up with belatedly civil variations of saying, "No! Get lost!", to that junk man when, lo and behold, down at his feet, among the trampled vegetation, was this solitary broom weed flower.

A broom weed blossom on the first day of August! Now that was a major discovery; almost as important as the "missing link" would be to an evolutionist. Mr. Junkman soon found himself relegated to his proper place, playing second fiddle to a patch of broom weeds, and he came to realize he was shooting his unpopular pitch at a moving target, a nature-nut whose attention had suddenly switched to conducting a crazy census down among the broom weeds in a yard full of junk. Discouraged, and, in a sense, beaten by a broom weed, Mr. Junkman soon slammed the door to his flatbed truck and went roaring off in search of another ear, an ear that would listen.

That first found broom weed blossom was just the tip of an iceberg. Further search revealed that many, many broom-weeds were in bloom. More than fifty percent of the Listening Post broom weeds were blooming on August 1.

That promises Floyd County a frost at least by October the first, perhaps earlier! Well, back in the fifties we had a frost that killed the north side of maturing maize heads the last week in September. That year sure had a long Indian Summer!

FROST WARNING NUMBER TWO

A number of people, whom we will call the "Wind Watchers", say that a year's frost date can be predicted by observing the arrival dates of the first northers in the months of July and August.

The July people add 90 days to the July date to determine an October frost date. Skippy records at the Listening post show we had a light 5 MPH wind from the north early on Thursday, July 12, which would deliver us a frost on October 12.

The August people say frost comes 60 days following the first norther in August. August began with light and variable winds for the first three days, but on Saturday, August 4, strong winds blew in from the north northeast. The winds switched back and forth, sometimes north, sometimes northeast, all day long on both Saturday and Sunday. On Monday morning the breeze was still blowing from the northeast, but the temperature had then dropped to a chilly 56 degrees!

The wind formulas promise us a frost on October 4th or perhaps as late as the 12th of October.

Like a watchman on the wall, N&V has sighted the danger and sounded the warning. Treat the forecast lightly or take it seriously the aforementioned dates will be not miss the actual freeze date by more than 30 days. Consider early October to be the worst possible scenario and make plans accordingly. Then, if it varies to your advantage you will have much to be thankful for.

PEOPLE:

THE LEANING CEDARS

Aug. 2. Goldie Brown Cypert, now a resident of the Lockney Convalescent Center, removed her restraints and fell from her bed Thursday and suffered numerous facial and bodily bruises. Her examining doctor stated that she was fortunate in that no bones were broken or fractured. She seems to be mending satisfactorily.

Aug. 2: A simple thing like cutting a roll of hardware cloth to two almost resulted in disaster for Phil Lemons last week. When the last strand was cut the wire attempted to snap back to its original curl and one of the strands raked across the bridge of Phil's nose then penetrated his right eye. It cost him one day's work, and the doctor said a few thousandths of an inch closer toward the pupil and it would have cost him an eye. However medics promise that, when the bloodshot has gone, when medication has been discontinued so the pupil can shrink back to normal, and when the soreness leaves, there will be a return to normal vision.

Aug. 6: Edna Gilley was at Central Plains Hospital in Plainview much of the day Monday. Her sister-in-law, Gertrude Gilley Hammit underwent a complete hysterectomy for the removal of malignant tissue. Tests later in the week will determine the success of the operation. Among other concerned persons present were her son Gene Hammit and his wife Darla from Holley, Colorado.

Aug. 6: Funeral services for Alice Azalene Beauchamp were held in Rankin, Texas, last Monday. Mrs. Beauchamp passed away in a Rankin Hospital on Friday, August 3 after a lengthy illness. Burial was in a cemetery in McKamey, Texas, beside the grave of her husband. Mrs. Beauchamp and her husband, the late Reverend Olan Beauchamp, were pastors of the Cedar Hill Assembly of God Church during most of the 1940s. She had been making her home with Gwendolyn Phillips, the elder of her two daughters. She is survived by Gwendolyn and one other daughter, JoBeth who also lives in the Rankin/McKamey area.

Aug. 9: Clara Randolph Mize, who joined with her son and daughter-in-law, George and Betty Ann, in their move from Floydada to a new location in Mesa, Arizona last May, is returning this Thursday from a two weeks visit with her other son, Steve and his wife EmmaLee, who live in Stockton, California. Clara had her 92nd birthday some thirty days ago in early July; she saw the turn of the century while still a toddler at Cedar Hill. In Mesa, George often wheels Clara down to a Pavillion where golden agers are wont to meet. Once there, the effervescent Clara quickly establishes rapport with other "kids her age" and, for a time, this old mundane world gets left behind.

THE EVERYDAY CEDARS

July 29-Aug. 3: Charla Yeary and the rest of the Max Yeary family entertained Miss Christina Green, an exchange 4-H member from Chillicothe, Missouri, most of last week. A number of 4-H girls from Missouri arrived in Floydada on Sunday and fanned out across Floyd County as guests in various 4-H homes. The Yearlys, except for breadwinner Max, took Christina through the museum in Canyon and on to view "Texas" Monday afternoon and night. The Missouri guests and their host families all met in Floydada Tuesday evening to enjoy a ice cream supper. A county wide picnic for all county 4-H'ers and their Missouri guests was held at Roaring Springs on Wednesday. A cook-out was enjoyed by the group on Thursday. The week's activities ended with a going-away breakfast for the Missouri girls at 6:30 Friday morning. In 1991 it will be the Floyd County 4-Hers turn to spend a week in Chillicothe, Mo. Shortly after the 4-H guests departed the Yeary family, except for bread-winner Max, departed for a few days rest & relaxation at the lake-side home of their grandparents, Billy and Doris Hinkle, in Possum Kingdom, Texas.

July 30/Aug. 3: The Bud Taylors spent five days last week in the metro-plex area visiting relatives and sampling the offerings of Six Flags Over Texas. Although gone only from Monday through Friday, Bud says the cotton really grew while they were gone; some is now almost too large to plow; broken limbs and bolls drug off would be much worse now.

Aug. 3: Shelia Joiner and her son Nick, of Irving, Texas, arrived Friday for a week's visit with her parents Junior and Martha Taylor. They rode back with the Bud Taylors on their return trip.

The Clint Wares continue to forge ahead in their achievements. Dara finished her Summer courses at WTSTU on Thursday, August 2, and will have a few quiet days with her family before the commuting to the fall classes begins. Clint, as you may have noticed in Marisue Burleson Potts' account of the Burleson Memorial Roping in last week's paper, has mounted one rail higher in his rating among the local rodeo contestants. A first place buckle this time! Watch it Clint! Remember when you stand on the top rail you stand without support; there's nothing up there to hold to, nothing to lean on!

FROM THE POST YARD

COMING SOON: Fortenberry relatives are prompting, "Do it again!" So their reunion begins the afternoon of Friday, Aug. 10, at the MAC in Floydada. Day two kicks off with a cook-out breakfast at approx. 6:30 A. M. Saturday.

The Lackey Family's annual reunion will begin in Floydada's Massie Activity Center around 10:00 A. M. on Saturday, August 18. It will be a covered dish affair. All family friends and relatives are invited to attend.

BROWNSINGS: Your writer's dwelling place has been dubbed "The Listening Post" for a long time now, and the description fits well enough. However it sometimes seems that there is another name that might be still more appropriate.

Tom Fortenberry, above all the people of Cedar Hill, was the most qualified person to wear a mantle that marked him as the "Community Champion Stay at Home." In many respects it seems that Tom's "championship" mantle should fall upon your writer's shoulders. There are many reasons; here are two: from time to time your writer's gas tank goes empty not from traveling but from sitting still until the gas evaporates; he may go for months without setting foot in any town, i.e. from Dec. 29, 1989 to Mar. 9, 1990, catching up after an overspent Christmas you know.

In addition to living like a hermit your writer thinks like a hermit, he talks like a hermit, writes like a hermit, and from time to time he looks like a hermit. Mebbysso "The Hermitage" would be a better name for this place.

NOVICIO'S EAGLE

Novicio was not long out of the city, quite inexperienced in handling farm machinery, still his trustworthy uncle stood up for him so he got the job. In western parley he would be termed a "tenderfoot" but due to his racial extraction we will call him by the Spanish equivalent, "Novicio."

It was along some Cedar Hill back road or near a pasture fence at the end of a cotton field that Novicio first saw his eagle. The eagle seemed very tame to Novicio, because the tractor was so near that he should have flown but the eagle just stood there, hardly moving.

Novicio finished that field an hour before lunch time, and a daring idea took form in his mind. It would be something very special if the other hands could see a live eagle there in the central barn when they came in to eat; an eagle that he, Novicio, the town kid, had captured and brought in single handedly. It was too good to pass up.

How he did it no one will ever know, but when the other hands arrived Novicio met them at the barn door with, "Look! See the eagle that I caught!"

It must have been a miracle because 60 years ago your writer had thoughts just like Novicio's, only it was not an eagle but a chicken hawk that had been injured and was unable to fly. Your writer still bears a scar on each wrist as evidence that chicken hawks are far better at catching kids than kids are at catching chicken hawks. For an hour that hawk dug his talons into my wrists while I grasped the tips of each of his wings and wished fervently that I had brought along a buddy; even my old dog, Shep, would have been some consolation. As darkness closed in that evening, I finally managed to get a knee on the hawk's neck and shut off his air supply. I could tell when the hawk died, but those taloned feet had minds of their own; nature had programmed those feet to cling automatically and tenaciously to the swaying branches of a hawk roost all during those long nights while the hawk slept soundly. I can't remember how I finally freed myself from the death grip of those taloned feet.

Anyhow Novicio was beside himself with pride, but the darker of the two hands interjected, "Why you dumb...;" But he never got to finish for Novicio's uncle quickly put in, with a twinkle in his eye, "Novicio what ever you do don't let that eagle get away. Things like that fascinate the boss, he wouldn't miss seeing that eagle for anything!"

So, while they ate their lunches, Novicio considered what descriptive terms he would use to make the greatest impression on his city friends when he told them about his daring and dangerous capture of a live eagle.

Soon the owner arrived and Novicio's uncle told him, "I think you would be especially interested in seeing the eagle that Novicio caught. He has him tied to that old irrigation motor."

With an air of great interest the boss took two quick steps toward the tethered bird, then he stopped short and stood, apparently in meditation. "Some eagle!" He finally said.

Slowly he circled to the other side of the bird, stopped again, and in a tone of wonder he said, "Well, now that is one more eagle!" Then after a moment he asked the uncle, "Have you told Novicio about eagles?"

"I started to tell him," spoke up the dark hand, "but we decided it would be better if you told him."

"Well Novicio," said the boss, "there is a law against catching or keeping eagles. But this eagle you have here just happens to be a turkey buzzard. However buzzard laws are the same as eagle laws, so, either way you will have to turn him loose."

It was midafternoon of the next day that a bold buzzard came walking along beside where I was working in my garden, and still another day passed before I heard the story of Novicio's eagle. For maybe two weeks "Old Turk", as I came to call him, lived at my place and did an excellent job of clearing bashed rabbits and smashed terrapins from FM 97 for a quarter mile on each side of The Hermitage. Then one day Old Turk was gone!

Did he run out of the automobile carriage he had lived on so long and finally starve to death? Did his crippled wing heal so that one day he spread his wings and fly off into the wild blue yonder? It is a wild thought, but it is possible that some new Novicio came driving by and captured an EAGLE, my Old Turk, and carried him home with him!

You know "The Hermitage" worked all right just a few lines up in lieu of "The Listening Post". Come to think of it another option might be to call my place "THE BUZZARD ROOST."

A GOOD EXAMPLE HAS TWICE THE VALUE OF GOOD ADVICE.

RACE ACROSS AMERICA -- Bob Wieland, a double amputee, was first through Floydada Tuesday evening as Race Across America made a 1400 mile check point in Floydada. Wieland cycles with the aid of a specially built bicycle and began the race ahead of riders who will arrive later in the week. Staff Photo

RAAM check point in Floydada

For the ninth consecutive year the Race Across America will draw together the top ultra-marathon cyclists in the world to begin a cross country odyssey.

The cyclists will mount their bicycles on August 5th at 9 a.m. at the Irvine, California, Holiday Inn on the west coast and pedal almost around-the-clock for 2,922 miles to the finish line at Rousakis Plaza in Savannah, Georgia.

The 1400 mile checkpoint for the riders will be in Floydada. They will also travel through Lockney. The riders will also pass through Plainview, Aiken, Cone, Ralls and Post. They should be passing through Texas August 8-12.

Since the speed of the bicycle travel is greatly affected by weather, estimating exact times of arrival at specific locations across America is impossible to predict.

The spread from the first rider to the last rider will increase as the riders move eastward. If a rider lags 48 hours behind their divisional leader's time, they are dropped from the event and will stop cycling.

Unlike traditional cycling events, as in the tour de France, the RAAM riders cannot ride in packs or draft each other. They must maintain at least 100 meter splits, follow a prescribed route, and abide by all state vehicle code laws.

In essence, each rider must "time trial" or ride solo the entire distance, which makes this race physically and mentally among the toughest athletic events in the world.

Each rider is accompanied by a personal support crew of 4 to 12 people who follow in mini-vans and motorhomes.

Bonner retires from Army

Johnny B. Bonner, son of J.P. and Iva Jewell Bonner of Floydada, is retiring from active duty in the United States Army. Bonner is the grandson of Mrs. Annie Taylor of Floydada. He is a graduate of the old Della Plains High School.

Bonner leaves military service after 26 years on active duty. He retires with the rank of Sergeant First Class and was separated from the service at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indiana on June 30, 1990.

In addition to his Certificate of Retirement, Bonner received a Certificate of Appreciation for service in the armed forces of the United States which was signed by President George Bush.

RESOLUTION CALLING FOR AUDIT OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY ACCOUNTS

WHEREAS, the Commissioners' Court of Floyd County, Texas, has received a written request from the Honorable Becky McPherson, District Attorney for the 110th Judicial District, to audit all accounts of the District Attorney's Office, and

WHEREAS, such request specifically calls for the audit to include not only funds which originate from the Floyd County budget, but also funds received from the State of Texas or any other source, and

WHEREAS, this request has been made at a time in which the 110th District Court of Floyd County has also undertaken to conduct an audit of the District Attorney's office, it is the determination of the Commissioner's Court of Floyd County, Texas, that an imperative public necessity exists that such audit be done so as to restore public confidence in the office of District Attorney, and

WHEREAS, the public interest requires prompt and diligent inquiry in any situation in which public funds are in issue, it is the intent and purpose of the Commissioner's Court of Floyd County, Texas, to insure that public funds are appropriately and diligently managed, administered and applied to purpose in conformity with the public interest.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that DAVIS, KINARD & CO., a firm engaged in public accountancy presently engaged by Floyd County to conduct its annual audit, is hereby directed to undertake, with all deliberate speed, a full and complete audit of all books, records or accounts of the District Attorney, 110th Judicial District of Texas, and to make a report thereof not later than 60 days from the date of an Order for Accounting, which shall issue from this Commissioner's Court following publication of this Resolution as required by Article 115.031, Local Government Code.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED that an audit, and any findings made therein, shall be filed with the Commissioner's Court by delivery of the same to the County Judge of Floyd County, Texas who shall return the same to the next regular session of the Commissioner's Court or to a called session of the Commissioner's Court.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED that this Resolution shall be published in the FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN, a newspaper of general circulation in Floyd County, Texas, and following such publication, that this matter be placed on the Agenda of the August 13, 1990, Commissioner's Court meeting, at which time a final Order for Accounting shall be submitted to a vote of the Commissioner's Court. In the event such Resolution receives a majority vote of the Commissioner's Court and approval of the County Judge such order shall vest upon the Commissioner's Court authority to execute a contract for accounting services with the auditing firm in conformity with this Resolution.
