

A view from
The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Here are our picks in a few selected races.

But first: No doubt all races are viewed as important by some people, particularly by those running for the office in question. Our comments today, however, will be limited to those races we view of extreme importance. In some cases they will be races that have not received as much attention as they should, but which nevertheless have tremendous bearing on the kind of society in which we live. In some cases our recommendations will amount to keeping some people in office, and in some cases to removing some people from office so better men, or women, may have a chance to serve us better.

We will get rid of the easiest one first. Jim Hightower ought to be retired from the office of State Agriculture Commissioner and Rick Perry ought to be elected in his place. In short, Perry is qualified for the office, and Hightower is not. Perry is an active farmer and rancher with three terms in office as a State Legislator, one of our better legislators, we might add. He knows, and sympathizes with, the agricultural community. We could expect him to devote his energies to that task.

Hightower, on the other hand, has consistently portrayed a bias against the mainstream agricultural producers of this state. His interests run toward the politics of politics. He thinks it more important that he devote his time to the political fortunes of Jesse Jackson than the economic problems of Texas farmers and ranchers. He will probably be re-elected, but he ought not to be re-elected by the votes of people who have an interest in seeing mainstream agriculture survive and prosper in this state.

Next, the Judicial races. These are probably some of the most important votes we will cast. It is the Judges, after all, who interpret the laws passed by the Legislature, and in some cases make their own laws. Unfortunately the judicial races are somewhat "low profile" and escape the attention of voters.

In the race for Chief Justice we would recommend a vote for Tom Phillips, whose name can be found in the Republican column. He is a sound jurist, whose candidacy has been endorsed by a host of concerned citizens, including three former Chief Justices, all Democrats. His opponent is Oscar Mauzy, of whom little can be said, other than the fact that he is a political nut.

Also on the Supreme Court ballot will be John Cornyn of San Antonio. He should also be elected. He has the reputation of being a sound, conservative jurist, the kind we need on the Supreme Court. His opponent is a man named Gene Kelly, (not the dancer) who has neither the experience or qualifications to recommend him for the office. This too is an easy pick. It should be Cornyn.

The next pick is a little more difficult. Neither is what we personally would like, but in the final analysis we will pick the Democrat Bob Gammage over Republican Charles Ben Howell for Supreme Court Justice, Place 2. Gammage is too liberal, but Howell is too erratic for our taste. Pick Gammage and hope for the best.

Next, the Court of Criminal Appeals. This is the Court that bears the responsibility for turning criminals loose on technicalities. If you care about a little less "liberalism" in the treatment of convicted criminals, this is the Court be concerned with. As a group, the Republican candidates for positions on the Court of Criminal Appeals are far superior to those running as Democrats. But there is one among the Republicans, Oliver Kitzman, who most certainly ought to be elected. Not merely because he has the reputation of being a sound, conservative, hard-nosed jurist, but because he is running against Sam Houston Clinton, the incumbent, who

Judge McCoy sets hearing on legality of special prosecutor

Cave and McPherson battle in civil suits

Judge Bill McCoy, of the 358th District Court, has set Thursday, Nov. 1, as the date for the hearing on a motion to remove the special prosecutor. The hearing will start at 10:00 a.m. in the 110th District courtroom.

This hearing stems from the motion filed by McPherson's attorney, Bob Bass, on September 27, asking the court to vacate the order appointing a special prosecutor, that Judge Cave signed September 21.

On that date, Cave signed an order appointing William F. Warnick, an attorney from Lubbock, as a special prosecutor to "investigate and prosecute certain matters in which the District Attorney is not qualified to act arising out of disposition of public funds under the control of Becky McPherson."

In Bass' answer to this order, and in his motion to vacate the above order, he said, "On August 16, 1990 Judge Ray Anderson, administrative judge of the ninth judicial region, recused Judge David Cave from 'judicial acts related to the controversy at issue in this cause..."

"The 110th District Court is therefore recused from any acts that pertain to the Show Cause Order of July 16, 1990...any existing orders related to this controversy are ordered stayed pending further orders by the visiting judge."

Bass also said that the attorney Rush Wells (who is representing the auditors, Doyle & Love, who are currently involved in the audit of the District Attorney's records) and Mr. Warnick

(the special prosecutor appointed by Cave) share the same office. "This creates a potential for conflict."

Bass further asks the courts, if it is shown that a special prosecutor is needed, that a "currently serving state's attorney could be appointed at no costs to Floyd County. Such serving state's attorneys are generally more familiar with the law related to grand juries and such appointment would be judicially efficient."

Judge McCoy is expected to rule on the above motions and may rule on the motions that have been filed since then.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY
PRO-TEMS APPOINTED BY CAVE

On October 26, Judge Cave signed an order appointing two more attorney Pro-Tem's. According to the order, Cave felt that the District Attorney, Becky McPherson had forfeited her office as DA when "she accepted another public office (as county attorney)" and that a Quo Warranto suit should be issued

"GOURD-EYED" PUMPKIN—This unusual pumpkin was carved by Anne Jones, and submitted for judging during Saturday's Punkin Days. The eyes were gourds, the nose was a carrot and the mouth was a squash. The Floyd County Museum registered 367 visitors on Saturday, and "a lot of people didn't sign the book. There were a lot more people than last year," said Nancy Marble, "and they were all having a good time." Forty towns were also represented on the register at the museum.

Absentee balloting ends November 2

Absentee balloting for the November 6 General Election will end on Friday, November 2. Until that time, votes may be cast at the office of the county clerk in the courthouse in Floydada.

Voting day for the General Election is Tuesday, November 6, with the polls opening at 7:00 a.m. Voters may cast ballots until 7:00 p.m. at their usual polling place.

At press time this week, 248 absentee ballots had been processed by County Clerk Margaret Collier.

Punkin Day attracts large crowd

By Alice Gilroy
The Punkin Days Committee, the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of Floyd County outdid themselves again this year. If you made it to the square on Saturday, you saw Floyd County's very best making the day a memorable one.

Crowds were gathering before the races started at 10:00 a.m. Booths were set up and the respective committees were busy with their jobs before the sun ever came up.

The games were the highlight of Punkin Days because of the opportunity for all ages to participate.

The races were well attended by runners and watchers. This year's Fat Man's Race was very laid back for some runners and a killer for others.

The good natured runners in this race, started their race across from Floyd County Farm Bureau and ran their first block to Sears, where they were to eat a piece of pumpkin pie as they ran to the next block.

To make sure there were no accidents, the men were led by the Floydada Police Department's patrol car, and followed by a wailing ambulance.

Two of the runners, Clar Schahct and Larry Ogden, decided that the ambulance looked like a safer and easier way to travel. They could always stop at their drive-ins and eat the food that was part of the race.

Some of the racers (who really ran hard) were disqualified because they forgot to stop at one food check point. It hardly seems fair does it?

ADVANCE holds political rally

A modest, but interested, group of local citizens turned out Tuesday evening to hear spokesmen from various statewide races explain why their favorites ought to be elected.

All in all, according to Jimmy Willson, who moderated the ADVANCE sponsored event, it was an informative and interesting meeting.

None of the statewide candidates were able to make it to the meeting, but their spokesmen were on hand to explain their candidate's position on issues, and to answer questions from the audience.

Highlights of the evening, according to Willson and others who attended the meeting, were probably the presentations put forth by spokesmen for candidates for State Agriculture Commissioner and U.S. Congress for this District. Candidate Rick Perry, running for the post now held by Jim Hightower, was represented by Steve Verette, a farmer in Crosby County. Hightower was represented by Amonett Gaylon, also a farmer in Crosby County and an employee of Hightower.

Dick Waterfield, the Republican candidate for the U.S. Congressional seat now occupied by Bill Sarpaluis, was represented by his campaign manager

Caprock Hospital District secures temporary funds

The board of directors of Caprock Hospital District met for the second time in four days on Monday, October 29, to consider temporary funding to carry the facility through the end of 1990. Under discussion at the early morning session was a proposed loan from the Floydada Branch of the First National Bank in Lockney.

According to information discussed at the October 25 regular session of the board, the district is in need of operating funds to cover the period during which a $260,000 note payable to the First National Bank of Floydada is being repaid. Current tax collections are being turned

Dedication ceremony slated for bank's 100th anniversary

Floydada's First National Bank will celebrate 100 years of banking in Floydada, with a historical marker dedication ceremony and reception, on November 4. The public is invited to the ceremony and reception, which will be held at the bank from 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Banking in Floydada started in Johnson Bros. & Ainsworth Store in 1890. The store was housed in the old Exchange Saloon building, which was the first building to be constructed in Floydada. It sat on the S.W. corner of the public square. It was custom in those days for the owners of general mercantile store to act as the bankers for the cowboys who needed a safe place to keep their wages.

In 1896, McMannis and Posey bought out the Johnson & Ainsworth stock and became the "bankers" of Floydada. J.B. Posey, who bought out McMannis in 1898, would take the money to Amarillo for deposit in the First National Bank. The banker in Amarillo convinced Posey that he should establish a bank in Floydada.

This private bank was called the James B. Posey Bank until 1900 when he was joined by L.T. Lester in establishing the Floyd County Bank. This was the name the bank carried in 1903 when it was nationalized and became the First National Bank of Floydada with a capital stock of $30,000.00.

On November 27, 1903, a charter was issued for the Office of the Controller of the Currency, Washington, D.C., to the First National Bank, to commence the business of banking.

The originators and stockholders included L.T. Lester, James B. Posey, John N. Farris, Columbus Suringer, Will W. Nelson, R.C. Andrews, and J.R. Burrus. Mr. Lester was named President, Suringer was named Vice President and Mr. Posey was named cashier. Dr. R.C. Andrews was named secretary of the board.

Then bank was located on Main Street between the Floydada Meat Market and J.T. Morris & Sons' Cash Store in a building belonging to John N. Farris. The bank continued in this location until the fire of July 4, 1911, when it was moved to the lower floor of the temporary courthouse.

In March, 1909, the charter was amended to increase the capital stock to $50,000, necessary because of the rapid growth of Floyd County. A building site was also purchased from A.C. Bowers, lots 1 and 2 in Block 71, the southwest corner of the square.

In 1910, Mrs. Fannie Nelson was elected a director, and E.C. Nelson, who later became a president of the bank, was elected cashier. John N. Farris, W.M. Massie, and others put up money to buy the right of way for a railroad into Floydada, and the first train pulled into town in March, 1910.

In January, 1910, the motion was made to give bond for the money of the Floydada Independent School District for the bank, which established the first depository for the school district.

In 1912, FNB moved into a new brick two-story building, 25X50 feet, which was the largest building in Floyd County. John N. Farris had been elected president in January, 1911, a position he held until his death in December of 1918.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor,
I really didn't know where this article should be placed. In the thank you column, or the column about all the hospital business going on or in the accident column, because it sort of covers all three, plus more.

It's about the accident that happened Saturday during Punkin Day to our daughter, Shawnda.

We want all those in Floydada to know we appreciate the help and support and concern shown for Shawnda.

The staff here at Caprock and the ambulance people and those at Methodist were just great! It was the type of accident which as they say - if it'd been an inch higher or over an inch "it would have done this or that" and that's what made me think of the letter my daughter wrote on the eleventh of Oct. "Two" weeks "before" the accident. She's only seven so bare with her spelling. And this brought to mind the saying "Yes! Virginia there is a Santa Claus." Well "Yes Shawnda there is a God."

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

Boy there were a lot of people in Floydada on Saturday. Rickie Burns and Nick Long both told me that they saw a lot of people in town that they didn't know. That made me feel better, because I saw a lot of people I didn't know either, but I always feel that way.

Nick was up on the stage keeping the crowd upbeat with his announcements. He said he would stop everyone that he didn't know that came up to the chamber table. He would ask them where they were from and if they were having a good time. He said he talked to people from Dallas, Amarillo, Hereford, Lubbock, Abilene and Daingerfield—and they were all having fun.

Everybody outdid themselves. It was Floydada at its best and I personally had a blast. I was running around trying to take pictures of everything, and I couldn't keep up with the committees. There was always something going on and I know I missed a lot of pictures.

The weather started out beautiful, turned very windy and then calmed down. The wind never seemed to dampen the spirits of those wanting to play.

The only ones who looked like they weren't having a good time, were the cows at the Cow Patty Bingo. They certainly took their sweet time getting down to business.

I suggested to Travis Jones, that maybe we should hang a sheet around the pen for a little privacy. Maybe the cows would hurry up.

After one of the bingo's (which was extremely messy) I made the remark that "that was disgusting!" Somebody sitting on the sidelines laughed and said, "Yeah, but what is worse is that we are all sitting around cheering it on!"

Juanita Stepp, who works at The Hesperian won $175.00 from the Bingo. What made all of us mad, was that she was the only one in the office that gripped about buying the tickets. She figured she was just wasting her money.

I personally am still holding out for the Publishers Clearinghouse.

Oh By The Way—Nick Long said that the same stuff used in the cow patty bingo was not the same stuff used in the Pumpkin Pie Relay Race (as some racers probably accused him of).

Nobody knows how many people were in town Saturday, but I do know that there were lots and lots. Somebody suggested about two thousand, and since nobody knows, we are going to say there were probably thousands.

If you don't think there were that many—PROVE IT!

If you had a good time, please let the chamber know about it. They worked so very hard on the event, and all any of the organizers wanted in return, was your support (which they got lots of), and for you to have a good time!

I know one thing for sure. There were plenty of people from out of town, that left here feeling good about Floydada and they WILL BE BACK!

For those of you who were worried about Shawnda Owens (she was the little girl hurt at Punkin Days)—she is OK. After a big scare and lots of X-rays, she was released from the hospital Saturday night. We all owe a lot of thanks to God that Shawnda wasn't hurt worse than she was. It could have been tragic.

She was back in school on Monday and we are truly grateful.

My husband and I went to the dance, Saturday night at the Massie. It was supposed to be a costume dance. I dressed up in a 50's costume and Lennie wore a leather motorcycle jacket, leather boots, sunglasses and greased his hair with vaseline.

We walked into the dance, and there was only one other couple there in costume (they were grateful we showed up).

I've never been able to get Lennie to dress up, and then when I did, this had to happen.

looked around the room and said, "This is April Fools right?"

We had a great time anyway—and we easily won the best dressed couple!

Did you know that there is an ex-Floydadian running as an independent write-in for Governor. Her name is Evelyn Dehart Fain. She was born in Floydada and is the first cousin of Sterling Cummings. Her mother is Beulah Cummings and her father is Mark Dehart. That's all I know about her. Maybe Sterling Cummings can recommend her, but I don't think he has talked to her in a long time.

Mr. Samuel Rutledge wrote us a letter this week. It was such a nice letter. Of course we thought so, since he complimented Mr. Lamplighter. He wanted to buy a subscription for one of Floydada's boys in Saudi Arabia. He just wanted us to pick out one. We are sending Adolfo Garcia Jr., a subscription courtesy of Mr. Rutledge. Thank-you.

Have those of you with kids ever spent your day looking for an insignificant toy, of no consequence to you, but of great importance to your child. It may be just a piece of a piece of a toy, that doesn't do anything, but if he wants it, then By Gosh you better find it. You crawl around on the floor—you look through the beds, under the beds, in the cushions, outside in the driveway, in the car, in your pockets, in his pockets, and in the dirty clothes. You get the picture.

Anyway—this week, my little boy went through that, but this time it wasn't for him, but for his Papa!

That's right. Papa lost his prize possession. His hearing aid. A little bitty thing that blends real well with everything.

Everyone searched the house—even Brandon. Brandon spent the day with his MeMaw looking everywhere and he knew it was real important to his Papa.

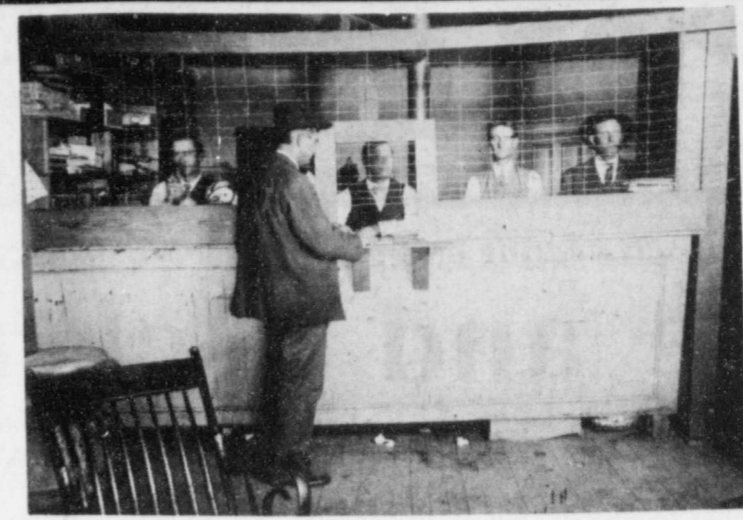

Finally, after everyone had given up and quit looking (already figuring in your head how much the replacement cost was), Brandon decided to comfort his Papa. He told him, "Don't worry Papa. It will turn up. My hammer always does!"

He was right. It did turn up. MeMaw found it in the very bottom of the kitchen trash, in a wadded up kleenex. Papa had thrown it away accidentally.

By the way—we aren't going to have an election party this year, and we won't put out the board this time. Sorry!

Parents warned of stamps laced with harmful drugs

(The following article was submitted to The Hesperian as a public service from UPS managers.)

A form of tattoo they may be called the "Blue Star" is being sold to school children.

The tattoo is on a small sheet of paper containing "Blue Stars". They are the size of pencil erasers and each star is soaked with LSD.

The drug can be absorbed through the skin simply by handling the paper. There are also brightly-colored paper tabs resembling postage stamps that have pictures of the following: Superman, butterflies, clowns, Mickey Mouse, and other Disney figures. Each is box-wrapped in foil.

This is a new way of selling acid by appealing to children.

A young child could happen upon these and have a "fatal trip". It is also believed that little children could be given a free "tattoo" by other children who want to have some fun by cultivating new customers without the child's knowledge.

A "stamp" that may be called "red pyramid" is also being distributed along with microdots in various colors.

Another kind of "window pane" which has a grid that can be cut out is also being distributed. These are laced with drugs.

Everyone is asked to advise your neighbors, friends, relatives and children about these drugs. If your child gets any of the above, do not handle them! These are known to react very quickly and some are laced with strychnine.

Symptoms include hallucinations, severe vomiting, uncontrolled laughter, mood changes, and changes in body temperature.

Mammography service to be in Floydada Nov. 15th

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, Texas, which services Floydada, received the certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program.

Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer.

The program is voluntary and is designed to insure that women received optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality, and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent the disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival.

The American Cancer Society recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule:

A baseline mammogram (for reference) between 35 and 39.

A mammogram every one or two years between 40 and 49.

An annual mammogram from age 50.

The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Floydada, on Thursday, November 15. You may call 983-2875 for an appointment.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Harmony Club members hold show and tell

By Doris Snodgrass
The Harmony Extension Club met Monday, Oct. 22, at 2 p.m. in the club room in the Harmony Community Center with Juanita Poole as hostess. Vice-president Lucille Miller presided over the meeting in the absence of Maye Williams, president.

Roll call was answered by "Something I look forward to in the future." Anna Maude Hopper read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the treasurer's report. Ruth Scott gave the council's report. The council's Christmas party was announced for Dec. 7.

The program was given by Vivian Curtis. It was a show and tell program. Each member bringing different articles most homemade. They also told something about what they brought. Donna Moore, a guest, gave a demonstration on making lamp shades and also brought a lamp she had made of a quart fruit jar and demonstrated how it was made. Vivian Curtis lead the recreation. Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following members and guest: Vivian Curtis, Ruth Scott, Anna M. Hopper, Bess Carr, Blanche Williams, Arvie Schulz, Karen Miller and children, Doris Snodgrass and the guest, Donna Moore of Petersburg, and hostess, Juanita Poole.

The club's next meeting will be Nov. 12 with Imelda Murry. Mary True, agent, will be presenting the program "Cooking For The Holidays."

Local church makes plans for Annual Harvest Festival

Local United Methodists are busy preparing for the Annual Harvest Festival Weekend scheduled for Nov. 4 and 5. Craft items are being readied, preserves and jellies prepared, and final touches made on the just published cookbook "Methodist Menu Vol. II". A book sale is supervised by donated used books of all types and a "Woodworker's Shop" will be open.

A traditional turkey dinner will be served Saturday at noon. The meal is being supervised by Bobby Rainer and "crew", and prices are $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Both a take-out service and a "drive-thru" will be available.

This Harvest Festival offers area residents a unique opportunity to "Feast and Fellowship" with their Methodist friends and neighbors, and also do some early Christmas shopping.

Sunday evening's concert by Mr. Randy Stevens on the Allen Digital Computer Organ promises to be a major highlight of the Fall Festival/Advent season.

Happenings at Caprock Hospital

By Molly Stringer
We had a good time with our bake sale on Punkin Day and appreciate all of you who supported us and bought goodies. We made $440.00. This will be used to buy material to redecorate the front desk area, buy a new vacuum cleaner for housekeeping and $100.00 will go into the nurses fund. We especially want to thank Beth Tye for baking some banana nut bread and Thelma Jones for her donation of money.

We continue to stay busy. Patient census is 11.

We have had a LOT OF ILLNESS among our staff. One of our nurses has been in the hospital. Several people have been in with pneumonia.

The Board of Director's met in special session at 7:00 a.m. on Monday morning of this week. Attending were William Bertrand, Joy Assiter, Fred Thayer, Leroy Schaffner and Molly Stringer.

We are planning a Health Fair at the hospital on November 15 and 16. We invite all our community to come and participate in this. We will have a booth for diabetes, with information, videos and teaching. The mobile mammogram unit will be here and we are now taking appointments, call the hospital at 983-2875 to schedule a mammogram. The cost will be only $60.00. We will be offering the following blood test: Cholesterol, Glucose and Triglyceride, all free to ValuCare members and a total of $5.00 for others.

We will have a table of goodies in the dining room and tables for visiting. The nursing staff will have a booth for taking blood pressures and doing weights.

- Not telling the doctor every drug being taken. Avoiding drug misuse requires watchfulness on the part of patients, families and physicians who must ask themselves these questions.

* Can fewer drugs be taken? Lifestyle changes, such as reducing dietary sodium, maybe a better option.

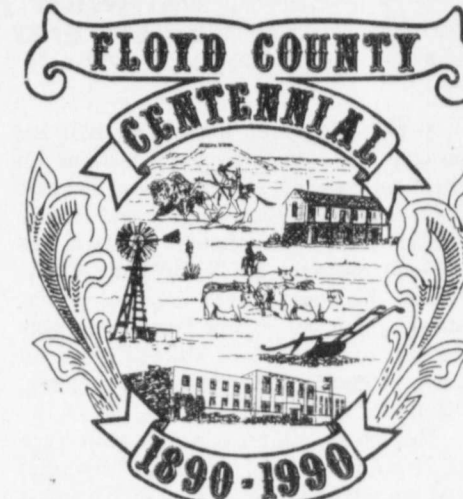

* Is the dosage correct? The standard adult dosage may be too high for someone who has grown smaller with age.

* Are the drugs taken responsibly? Learn how the drug should be taken and for how long. Are any side effects evident? If you observe any sign of a side effect or reaction, call the physician.

Remember that absentee voting is in progress for the Caprock Hospital tax roll-back election. Anyone may vote by coming to the hospital, to the office of the Director of Nursing.

Floydada leads district 2-3A with 3-0 record

Whirlwinds blitz Mules 44-0

By Bill Gray

The Floydada Whirlwinds continued their march to their second consecutive District 2-3A championship with a convincing 44-0 route of Muleshoe on October 26. The Dimmitt Bobcats helped Floydada's cause with a 27-13 victory over Littlefield, knocking the Wildcats out of a tie with Floydada for the league leadership with two games remaining in the regular season.

Scoring at the rate of the Whirlwind powerhouses of the 1970s, Floydada has outscored its first three district opponents 97-6. Only Dimmitt has crossed the Green Gang's double stripe this year in district action.

The Whirlwinds served notice in the opening minute that it would be a long evening for the Mules. Sophomore Michael Henderson returned Muleshoe's opening kickoff 27 yards out to Floydada's 41-yard line. Four plays later, Ruben Chavarria blasted through the right side, broke a tackle and sprinted 32 yards for Floydada's first touchdown. Kenneth Collins' conversion kick split the uprights, and the Whirlwinds were on their way, 7-0.

Muleshoe picked up a first down on its ensuing drive before the 'Wind defense stiffened, forcing the first of nine Mule punts. Floydada managed two first downs on Collins' runs of 18 and 10 yards, but bogged down at Muleshoe's 46. Collins' booming 45-yard punt was downed by Michael Aleman inside the hosts' 1-yard line, putting Muleshoe with their backs to the wall deep in their own territory.

Three rushes and a short Mule punt gave the 'Winds excellent field position at the Muleshoe 30. Michael Henderson carried 28 yards on first down, and two plays later QB Brian Teeple cracked the end zone from four yards out. Collins tacked on the PAT, and the first quarter ended with the 'Winds in command, 14-0.

Floydada moved 45 yards in just six plays on its first possession of the second period for another touchdown (the 'Winds rushed for four first downs in five attempts). Ruben Chavarria tallied his second 6-pointer of the night from eight yards out. Collins' kick was true, and Floydada extended its lead to 21-0.

The Whirlwind defensive units were punishing throughout the game, and limited the Mules to 24 yards of total offense and only two first downs in the first twenty-four minutes of play. As has been the case most of the season, Freddie Portee once again led the defensive charge, and sacked Mule QB Galin Latham for a 14-yard loss on the Mules' drive following the Floydada score.

Jaime Suarez, Johnny DeOchoa, Jesse Rodriguez and Ramero Rios all turned in superb defensive plays. This was the second district game in which an opponent failed to complete a pass against the Floydada secondary of Brian Teeple, Jaime Suarez, Kenneth Collins and Michael Aleman. A lot of the passing failures has to be attributed to the relentless pursuit of Floydada's defensive front and linebackers, but the 'Winds' secondary has certainly come through in recent weeks in preventing any long gainers via the airways by an opponent.

A Teeple-to-Collins pass for 22 yards highlighted an 8-play, 38-yard drive which produced the Whirlwinds' fourth score. Teeple passed to Collins off the option for the final three yards, Collins added the PAT, and the avalanche continued, 28-0.

Muleshoe managed its second first down on the next series, but could only move to the Mule 33-yard line before having to punt back to the 'Winds. Teeple tossed for 18 to Jaime Suarez and for 16 to Chavarria as the half drew to a close. On the final play of the first half, Collins connected on his first field goal of the season, a 23-yarder, to extend Floydada's lead at intermission to 31-0.

The 'Spirit of the 'Winds' Band was first to entertain at halftime. The band continues to perform well, polishing its performance in anticipation of the U.I.L. Marching Contest this week at Lubbock's Jones Stadium. Regardless of the ratings handed down at contest, the FHS Band is something we can all once again be proud of — and, they did win the "Battle of the Bands" at halftime. (I would say that for no other reason than their rendition of "The Great Gate of Kiev"!)

Muleshoe received the second half kickoff, but was unable to gain a first down, forcing Michael Hardwick to punt for the sixth time. Billy Joe Villarreal took over at quarterback as Floydada's first unit offense didn't snap the ball in the second half. There was no letup as the second-teamers continued Floydada's total domination.

Keeping the ball on the ground, the younger 'Winds drove 37 yards in four plays — with Quincy Johnson carrying the last five yards for the score. Andrew Cameron's conversion kick was good, and Floydada's blitz continued, 38-0. After an exchange of punts the Whirlwinds maintained control at the end of three quarters.

Floydada's only turnover gave the ball back to the Mules early in the fourth stanza. Muleshoe gained its third first down late in the final period, but three plays later Jammie Davis intercepted Mule QB Galin Latham's aerial at Floydada's 49-yard line. Davis rambled untouched for 51 yards and the final Floydada score. The PAT kick attempt failed and the scoreboard read: Floydada 44, Muleshoe 0.

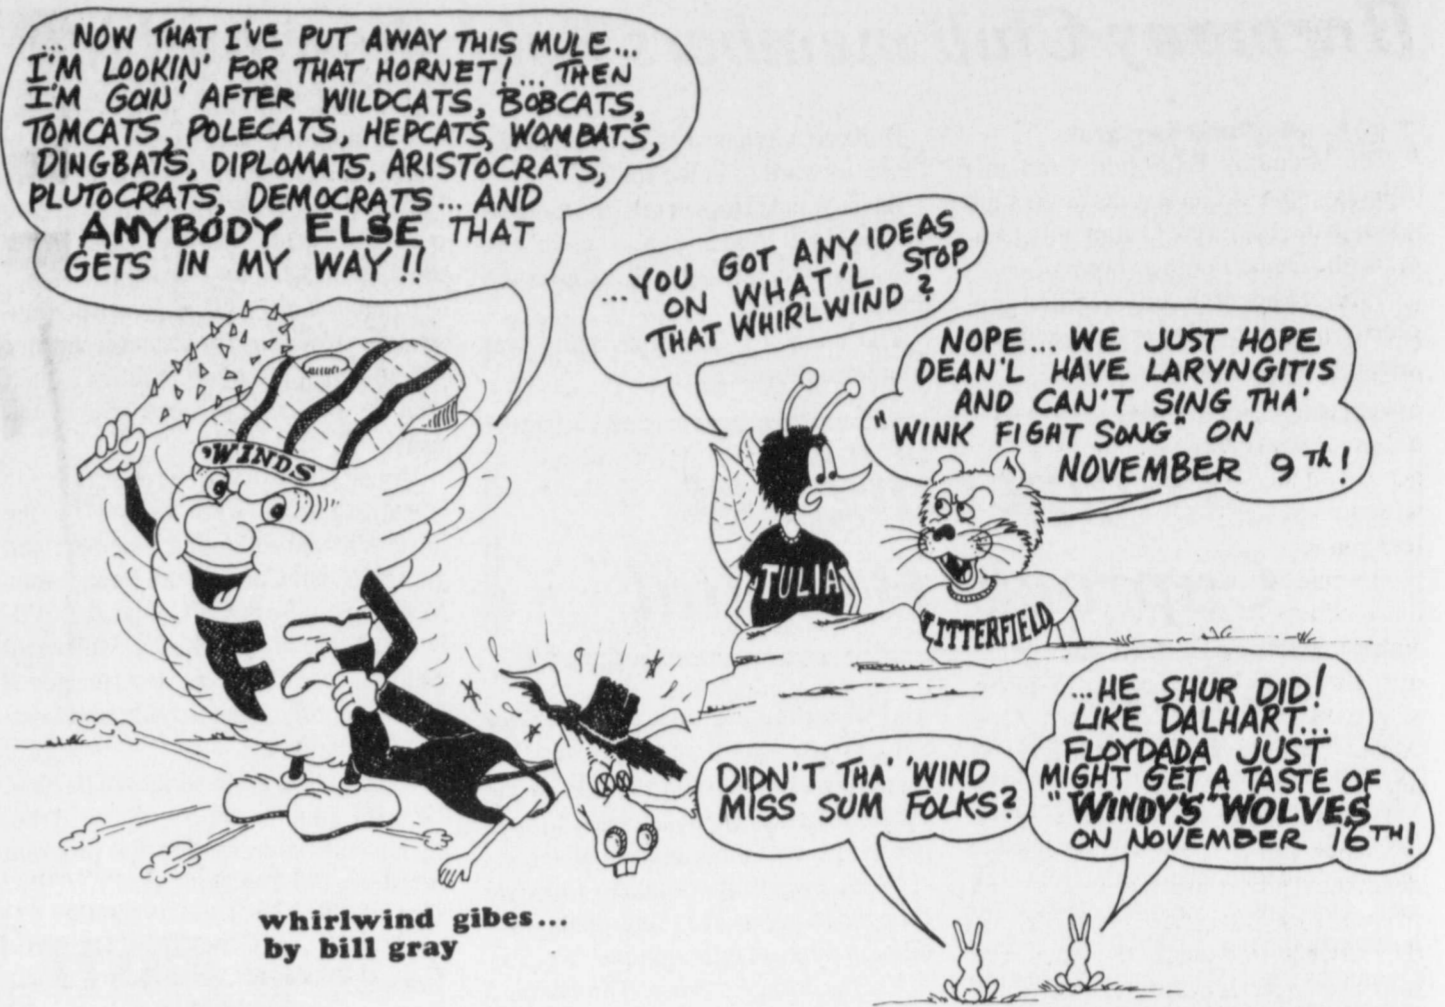

As the clock ran down, Muleshoe's John Orozco carried to the Whirlwinds' 47-yard line. It was to be the Mule's last play and their deepest penetration into Floydada territory in the one-sided contest. The 3-5 Mules travel to Littlefield this week, with little hope of improving upon their winless district record. Floydada's record improves to 5-2-1 (3-0 in district). The Whirlwinds host the Tulia Hornets at Wester Field this week in a game that will have a strong bearing on District 2-3A's playoff representatives. Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m.

BILL'S NOTES

The Whirlwinds continue to roll — and at the right time. The 'Winds quickly put to rest any ideas of a letdown after the tremendous effort against Dimmitt the previous week. Younger people are getting alot of play time, which will come in handy if the 'Winds make the playoffs. Speaking of playoffs, Floydada could beat Tulia and wrap up a district co-championship but still not be assured of a playoff slot.

The Muleshoe game was a blow-out in every respect. The 'Winds had over 200 yards of offense in the first half, while holding the Mules to two first downs and less than 30 yards. Floydada's offense clicked all evening, producing the biggest point total in recent memory.

The Whirlwind defense is now playing at the intensity level it will take to control the whirlwind gibes... by bill gray

next two ball games. Ruben Chavarria and Ramero Rios deserve special mention for their linebacking performances, as does Jesse Rodriguez, Lalo Delgado and Johnny DeOchoa for their defensive work. It was difficult to select the "Headhunter of the Game" this week, due to a number of outstanding hits, but Freddie Portee again gets the nod for his sack of Mule QB Latham early in the second quarter. Good going, "Bullet!"

The Whirlwinds are scoring at an average of 21 points a game (166 in eight contests) and are giving up an average of 7 points a game (55 total). That sounds like a good point spread, so why don't we just say, "Floydada over Tulia — 21-7"! Bill's other pics: Lockney, 28, Morton 6; Littlefield 33, Muleshoe 13; Childress 26, Dalhart 14; Canyon 14, Perryton 7; Crane 35, Kermit 10; Slaton 40, Brownfield 20.

Upset Special: Motley County 33, Spur 31.

Coach's Comments

By Coach Dean Bates
 We are very proud of our efforts against Muleshoe. We executed very well on both sides of the ball. Muleshoe is a better football team than they were a year ago, and had played everybody on their schedule tough — so we were pleased with the margin of victory. We were able to play our second units a lot and they executed well.

We have two games left, and they are crucial games against very good ball clubs. Tulia comes here Friday night with a talented team. They were the overwhelming favorite to win the district championship. The Hornets have one district loss and cannot afford another one, so we will get their best effort. The 'Winds can control their own destiny and they are preparing to take care of business. We will have a city and school-wide pep rally at the Junior High on Friday at 3:15 p.m. See you there and at the game for this important contest.

Breezer footballers take two from Muleshoe Mules

Floydada's 7th grade Breezers tallied in every quarter, while holding Muleshoe scoreless, and blitzed the young Mules 28-0 at Muleshoe on October 25. John Mendez led the Breezers' offensive charge with touchdown runs of 3, 2, and 4 yards. Mendez also added a 2-point conversion. Arnulfo Cervera accounted for the other Floydada points with a 55-yard TD scamper in the second quarter.

The coaches named the following as outstanding players on offense: Alex Valles, Michael Mercado, John Mendez, and Arnulfo Cervera. The defensive stalwarts were: Tim Rando, Zach Abshier, Arnulfo Cervera, Bobby Luna and Joe Sanchez.

The coaches stated, "We had a great defensive effort from the whole first defense. They were aggressive and played good technique in recording their fourth shutout of the year. The offensive unit showed good discipline and poise in driving the ball as it mounted four scoring drives of 40+ yards."

"The offensive line had a good outing as well in dominating the line of scrimmage. The 7th Breezers are really putting it together in playing well on both sides of the ball — and doing it consistently. We hope to continue this improvement in our final two games at home. The 7th Breezers record now stands at 4-3 (2-1 in district), and will host Tulia at 5:30 p.m. on November 1 at Floydada's Wester Field. The 8th Breezers vs. Tulia game will start at 7:00 p.m.

8TH BREEZERS 14, MULESHOE 0

The coaches stated, "Our football team played an excellent defensive game. We are very aggressive and are getting a lot of players to the football. The defense was responsible for a blocked punt (Bruno Mendez) and two pass interceptions (Sammy Rodriguez and Dimas Marmolejo).

If we can eliminate a few mental mistakes, this team has a chance of continuing its winning ways. The coaches are very proud of the kids' efforts and hard work habits. This ties in with the success the 8th Breezers have enjoyed all year."

Named as offensive players of the game were: Ian McIntosh, Peter Luna, Bruno Mendez, and Juan Martinez. Cited for their defensive play were Derrick Martinez, J.R. Quilantan, Jimmy Taylor, Rey Cuba and Dimas Marmolejo.

TEA Accreditation Team Schedules Floydada Visit

Members of an accreditation team from the Texas Education Agency will be available Wednesday, November 14, 1990, to meet with parents and patrons who have an interest in expressing their views and opinions about the Floydada Independent School District, according to Jerry Cannon, school superintendent.

Interviews will be conducted by team members beginning at 6:00 p.m. in the A.E. Baker High School Auditorium located at 618 South Tree Street, Floydada, Texas.

Every school district in the state is required by law to be visited by an accreditation team from the Agency to evaluate the quality of its educational programs and to determine what progress the school district has made since the last visit.

During the interviews, emphasis will be given to the quality of instruction and community support present on each campus in the district. Areas to be evaluated by the team include planning, curriculum, instruction, services to students, instructional resources, personnel, governance, community conditions, and physical facilities.

WILL YOU BE AUDITED?

Do you fear an IRS audit? Most taxpayers do. Yet those who have gone through the process report that, if not pleasant, it is certainly less awful than expected. Your chances of audit are slim. Only a small percentage of returns are audited each year. Contrary to common opinion, the IRS does not choose its victims by occupation; however, higher incomes with more complex returns are more likely to get an audit.

In addition to a random sampling of returns at every income level, certain other factors may trigger an audit: deductions much higher than the norm; any connection with a suspect entity, quite likely a tax shelter already under investigation; deviation between income reported by a bank or broker and that listed on the return; and an allegation by an informant that something is wrong.

Most of the revenue agents will tell you what is sought, usually documentation of certain deductions. It's wise to gather up receipts and cancelled checks for presentation in such an audit. Don't bring EXTRA checks and receipts that may prompt the examiner to look further.

Gas. It's A Natural For Economy.

When it comes to heating your home or business, cooking your food or heating water, nothing does it better or more economically than natural gas.

Heating with gas costs less, by far, than electric heat. Gas also out-performs electric heat pumps. As it gets colder, heat pumps become less and less efficient. But, whatever the weather, the air flowing from gas heat is as much as 30 degrees warmer than heat pump air.

Water heaters using natural gas far out-perform electric water heaters. On average, a gas water heater can save hundreds of dollars in energy costs over five years. And, gas heats water much faster than electricity.

Looking to the future, gas may play a significant role in vehicular use. It is estimated that if only 10% of our vehicles were converted to natural gas in America, it could displace 700,000 barrels of foreign oil per day!

Whatever the energy job, go with gas. For economy, it's a natural.

Reeves, Anderson and Mosley win 8th week of FB contest

Five entries in this weeks installment of the football contest missed only two out of 22 possible games on the contest. (Note: Due to an error in the listing of the Abernathy game, this game was treated as a freebie- no one lost a point for their answer.) Each of the five selected Floydada as the winner in the Floydada-Muleshoe confrontation, necessitating the use of the tie-breaker score to determine the winner.

Claiming first place this week was Mike Reeves. He chose 44 as the tie-breaker score, hitting the exact total score on the nose. A $10 check for his share of the weekly purse will be waiting at the Hesperian Office on Friday.

Monty Anderson earned second place in the contest with a tie-breaker score of 36, just seven points under the actual combined score. He will receive the $6.00 check for his efforts this week.

Ricky Mosley chose a tie-breaker score of 35 points. He will earn the $4.00 third place check for the week.

Honorable mention goes to the other entries that missed two games. These contestants and their tie-breakers were Andy Hale (34) and Terry Turner (30).

Also to be credited this week were those missing three games. They include Carrie Davis, Jana Davis, Laura

Hospital secures temporary funds

Bank in Lockney will provide up to $50,000 in operating capital for the district until such time as current tax funds are available for use. The loan will be secured by selected accounts receivable to provide repayment. Repayment in full is due by December 31, 1990, on any amounts drawn.

The board accepted the loan and the terms as stated on a motion by Fred Thayer, seconded by Joy Assiter and approved by unanimous vote.

An account for operating expenses will be opened at the Floydada Branch of the FNB in Lockney.

Board members also opted to ask FNB Floydada to pledge securities as protection against loss on district deposits in the tax escrow account when the account balance totals $100,000 or more. This would protect the district from losses of amounts over $100,000 which are unprotected by FDIC insurance.

Present for the Monday morning session were William Bertrand, Joy Assiter, Fred Thayer, Leroy Schaffner and Molly Stringer.

REGULAR OCTOBER SESSION

Meeting in regular session last Thursday, the board heard a financial and statistical report from administrator Leroy Schaffner. Schaffner stated, "We had a total of 319 patient days in September. This gives us an average daily census of 10 patients. In addition, there were 174 emergency room visits and we treated 211 on an out-patient basis."

Schaffner indicated that local physicians have utilized the hospital facilities more in recent weeks, contributing to the improved patient load.

The profit and loss statement passed out to the board showed $116,139 in expenses for the month of September. Revenues totaled $160,408. The report also projected tax collections by the end of October would total an estimated $75,000.

The quality assurance report was brought to the board by Molly Stringer. The report's focus is on the improvement of hospital operation and services. Stringer told the board that new lab director Trent Wauson had identified a few areas in the lab which need improvement and is currently working on a plan for dealing with the deficiencies.

Representatives of Methodist Hospital met with the board to renew their pledge to assist Caprock Hospital in every way possible. Steve Grappe and Jim Bullard will be attending future meetings. Grappe told the board that all amounts due to Methodist including the administrators salary since February are being absorbed by Methodist. Caprock will not be required to pay these debts. Grappe assured the board that his group was committed to rural health care and would work closely with the district to preserve their services in Floyd County. Bullard and board member Fred Thayer presented an outline for developing and implementing improvements in all areas of the hospital. Among the areas addressed was the business office. Policies to dictate procedure for admissions, collections, bad debts, billing and accounts receivable are to be formulated and instituted.

The outline recommended regular meetings between the staff and the doctors, the doctors and the board, and all personnel on a regular basis. The pair feel that increased communication in all areas would improve patient care as well as operation of the hospital in the future.

Other business handled at the Thursday session included arrangements for workman's comp insurance at a cost of $35,000 for the coming year, medical liability ($12,400) and general property insurance ($4,411) and boiler insurance ($1,719).

Board members also approved the sale of a tax title lot to Kevin and Terry Nelson for $250. The property, Lot 1, Block 2, Bartley Heights Addition, may be purchased if other taxing entities involved agree.

Other items addressed included the reading of the minutes and a review of September invoices.

Present for the October 25 session were William Bertrand, Melba Vickers, Fred Thayer, Kenneth Pitts, Leroy Schaffner, Molly Stringer, Steve Grappe, Jim Bullard, Michael Benson and the Hesperian reporter.

OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF THE 84TH DISTRICT

September 28, 1990

Dear Friend:

In my travels throughout the district, I have had many questions about my support for Dick Waterfield for Congress. I will explain my position because I believe it is important for you to know why I have made this decision.

First and foremost, Dick Waterfield is a long time friend of mine. But, that is not the only reason I support Dick.

Dick is a farmer and works the land he owns. He is a cattle rancher and owns and manages a very large cattle feeding operation. He is presently serving as a bank director of the local bank. He has served on the school board as well as serving four years in the state legislature. He has served on the Board of Directors of the Abraham Nursing Center in Canadian.

I believe Dick to be uniquely qualified to serve the people of the 13th Congressional District because of his diverse background and I urge you to consider him when you go to vote on November 6.

Sincerely,

Warren Chisum

FLOYD COUNTY VOTERS

The National Congress is, and has for years been controlled by Democrats. They determine the level of taxation, and who gets taxed. They determine the level of spending and who gets what. They vote their own expense accounts and their own pay raise. REMEMBER?

The Texas Legislature is, and for years has been, controlled and run by Democrats. They too determine the level of state spending and state taxation. Their policies influence the level of local taxes you pay.

If you are happy with what Democrats in Washington and Austin have done FOR themselves and TO you, then vote to keep them there. But if you are unhappy and want to see a change - then VOTE TO MAKE A CHANGE -

Large crowds attend annual Punkin Day activities

The winner of the Fat Man's race, David Manley, played by the rules and was awarded the distinguished title.

The Pumpkin Pie Relay Race, the first ever for Punkin Days, provided some major obstacles that had to be overcome by the teams.

The idea was to run from Sues Gifts to Fred Thayer's office while eating one quarter of a pie, hand off the pie plate to your team member who had to run back eating one quarter of pie. You had to keep this up with your four team members, until all the pie was eaten.

The problem arose, when right before the race, someone read the instructions on the ready to eat pies. OOPS THEY AREN'T READY TO EAT!

They were thrown into an oven at the Floyd County extension service office. They were supposed to cook an hour, and they didn't quite get done. They also didn't quite make it to the finish line. The gob of whipped cream on top of the runny mess did little to disguise to the runners, what was underneath.

Before the race was over, there was orange runny gook all over the runners faces, clothes, spectators and the street. No one made it the finish line with pumpkin pie, because it promptly slid off the plate as soon as the first runner took off.

You knew there was going to be trouble when the announcer, Nick Long, said before the race began, "Uh, we are having a little trouble with the pie. They are a little runny, just eat the crust!"

Speaking of runny stuff, the Cow Patty Bingo was a big success for the Chamber of Commerce and also for several winners. The first Bingo, which was worth $200.00 landed on a square that did not belong to anybody and so the money was added to the $500.00 first place prize.

The cow decided to splatter his second bingo, which was then divided among two people. That went over so well, she then bingoed on four squares simultaneously. The $700.00 was then divided among four winners. (For a list of winners in all categories, see the "Punkin Day" insert in this paper.)

There was a long wait on the bingos, and some were heard to comment that maybe the cows were slightly intimidated bingo-ing in front of a cheering crowd.

The jail stayed busy once again, with prisoners carving pumpkins for their ticket to freedom. For some the freedom did not last long, as they were promptly arrested again.

Patience and friendships were once again tested in the famous Wheelbarrow race. I did not notice any husbands and wives teaming up and maybe that was best. Until roles are reversed, each team members will not truly understand what it feels like to drive a wheelbarrow through a maze of pumpkins blindfolded. The navigators were heard shouting at their drivers and some were obviously frustrated that the wheelbarrow wasn't going where they were supposed to go. The drivers also need to experience the joy of being dumped out of the wheelbarrow.

The pumpkin rolling, pumpkin carving, pumpkin drawing, pumpkin bowling, and the great pumpkin toss kept children and adults busy and happy throughout the day. The games committee, Kyle Smith, Eric Cornelius, Nick Long, Bill Smith, Bobby Gilliland, Larry Ogden, Layne Kirk and Becky McPherson really need to be congratulated. They worked hard to keep everyone entertained, and they are responsible for the majority of the fun that was had throughout the day.

There were so many people working behind the scenes making the day the best "Punkin Days" ever.

No one got paid for their contributions to the day and many long hours were put into the event.

The city crew was up very early, on their own time, working at making the grounds ready. The stands for sitting, the trash cans, the marked off streets, the fixed electrical plugs, etc., etc., were all done courtesy of your friends and neighbors that work with the city and the police department. They deserve a great big THANK-YOU.

Visitors to the city were astounded at the family fun to be had all around them. Not only were they treated to Floyd County hospitality, but they were also given free pumpkins to take home, courtesy of Scott Faulkenberry, Ronnie Graham, and Marble Brothers.

Faulkenberry and Graham provided the pumpkins that were used in all the games, and in the Guess The Weight of the Pumpkins Contest.

Marble Brothers parked a trailer load of pumpkins near the square and offered them free to anyone who wanted one.

One visitor, from Dallas, couldn't get over the fact that so many games were free and still lots of fun.

Herman J. Hoffman, of Panhandle, had so much fun last year when he visited our town that he came back for this year's "Punkin Days." He also brought some more of his large pumpkins and he won the Largest Pumpkin entry for the second year in a row, with his 210 pound pumpkin. We want Herman to come back every year, but out growers are going to have to get some Pumpkin Capital pumpkins out there to beat Mr. Hoffman next year. (I'm sure, Brent Crossland, Wally Davis, Nick Long and Bill Smith will be more than happy to haul lots more pumpkins to the scales.)

As everyone who was at Punkin Days knows there was one unhappy experience in the day.

When a crew was taking down the panels that made up the jail, one of the panels fell, knocking seven year old Shawnda Owens to the ground. One of the boys taking down the panel, yelled for Shawnda to watch out and she ran just far enough for the panel to miss her head, but it hit on her shoulder blade,

She was immobilized, and in a lot of pain. An ambulance was called and she was taken to Caprock Hospital where X-rays were done. As an extra precaution, the doctor on call asked the parents to take Shawnda to Methodist for a Cat-scan. After more X-rays at Methodist, it was determined that a Cat-scan was not necessary. She was allowed to go home, by 8:30 p.m., Saturday night, and was in school on Monday. Shawnda was a very brave little girl, and everyone is very glad to hear that she is going to be OK.

But even with this accident, the community spirit of Floydada shone through. The family was overwhelmed by the calls from worried people wanting to help.

It doesn't seem to matter whether it is a tragedy or a blessing, the citizens of this county always come through for each other. No where was that more evident than in the actions of those planning Punkin Days and those attending Punkin Days. It was a day that left you smiling and optimistic about the future, and visitors couldn't help but leave Floydada with a good feeling about this town and its citizens.

against McPherson. (Quo Warranto is a proceeding to determine if an official has the right to hold public office).

Cave then went on to order the law firm of Griffith and Glasheen, P.C. and the attorneys Thomas J. Griffith and Kevin Glasheen as District Attorney's pro tem for the 110th Judicial District.

Glasheen and Griffith are to investigate the charges brought against McPherson by Cave, and to "exercise their official discretion in that capacity to decide whether to institute an action in Quo Warranto to remove McPherson from the office of District Attorney."

On October 24, Glasheen and Griffith took oaths to faithfully execute the duties of the office of special District Attorney Pro Tem.

According to district records, William Warnick, also took the oath to execute the duties of the office of special

District Attorney Pro Tem, on October 25.

Two days after taking the oath, on Friday, October 26, Glasheen filed a petition of Quo Warranto against McPherson, another petition seeking removal of McPherson from her office and a motion for emergency relief (which would ask for a DA pro-tem to fulfill the duties of the vacated office, while the suits were pending).

On Monday, October 29, Attorney Bob Bass filed his response. He urged the court to decline the Quo Warranto action, stating the order was void, because the appointment of the special District Attorney pro-tem was void.

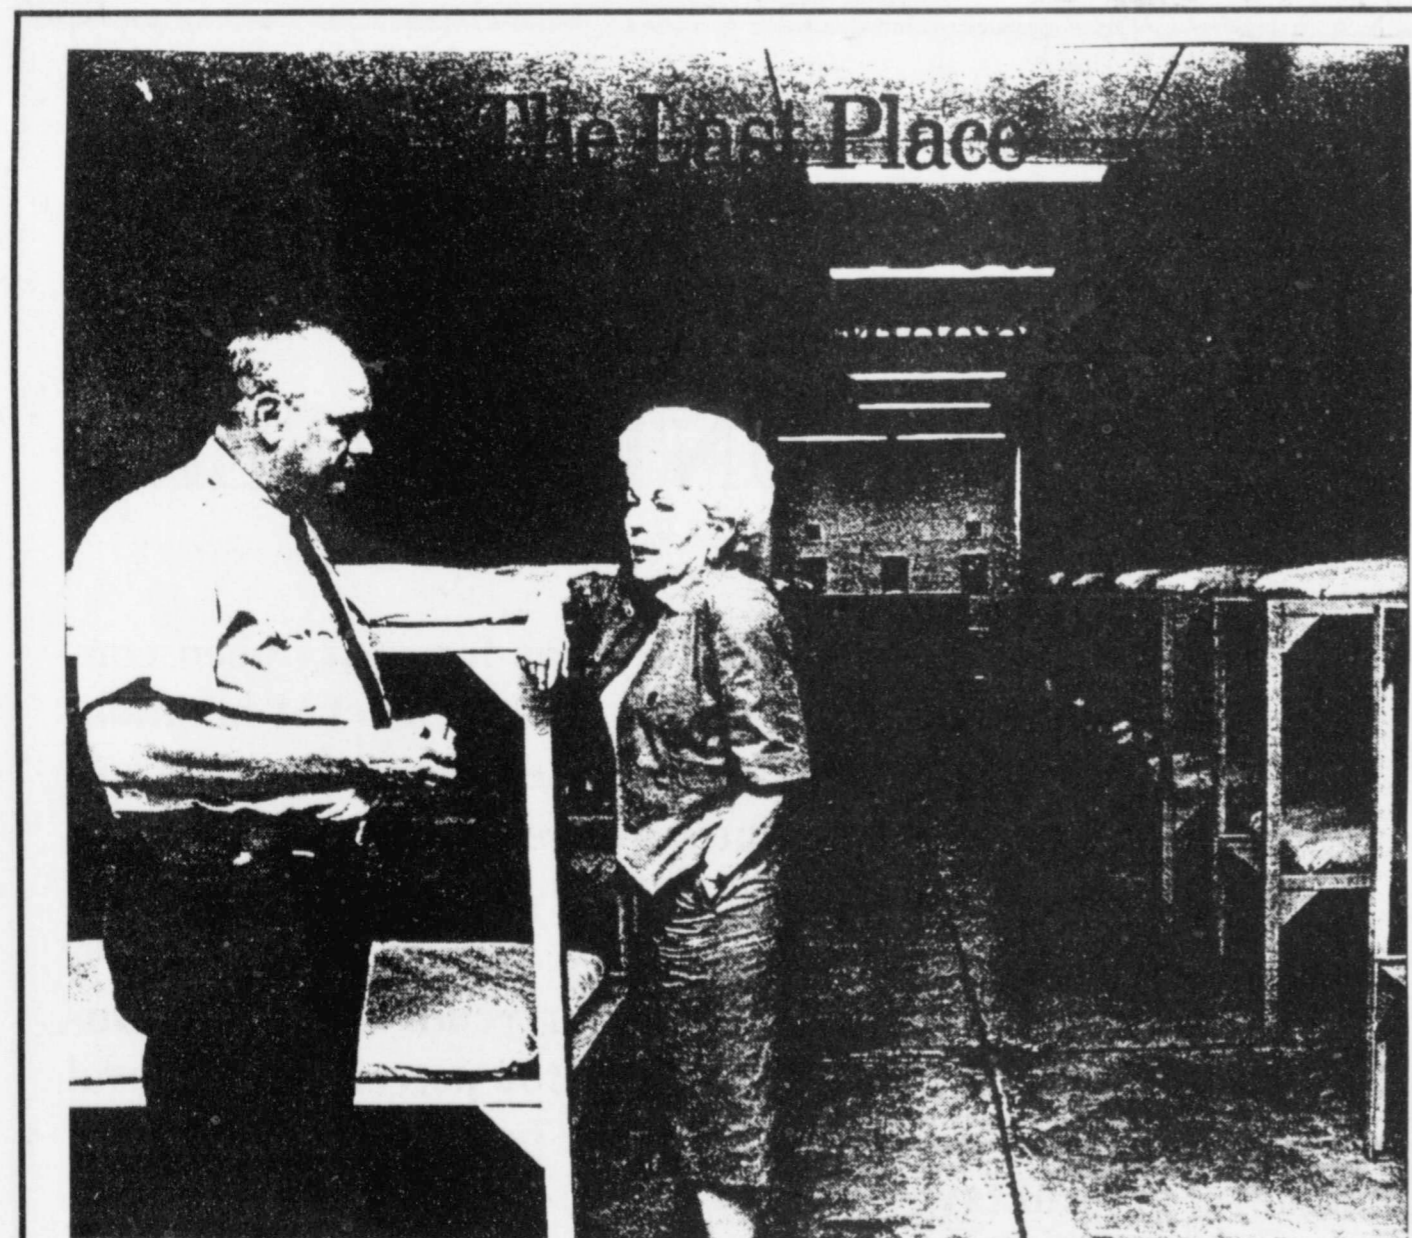

"The District Court is without legal authority to remove a district attorney."

The response says that the attorney general or an agent of the state has to file an Quo Warranto and that Judge Cave had no jurisdiction in the matter. The response further stated that the contested order was entered in a manner which relates to matters in which Cave has been recused.

In response to the petition for removal and the Quo Warranto, Bass stated that Cave had no authority to appoint special DA pro-tems. The answer further stated that the petition was not proper because the law requires a removal suit to be filed by someone who has lived in the county for six months and they must swear to the petition. Neither was done, according to McPherson's attorney.

Bass further stated, "On Oct. 4, 1990 Judge Bill McCoy, visiting judge, entered an order whereby an audit of the questioned funds would be undertaken. The present action for removal is premature and untimely until such audit is completed, in that many of the questioned procedures will be answered by the audit."

A few words about the "investigation" of the ag department...

"The Machiavellian motivations have become obvious. Consider, for instance, the Texas Farm Bureau's vendetta against Hightower...."

In late 1989, authorities cleared Hightower of allegedly charging some meals and other inappropriate items to a federal-state crop inspection service. But six weeks before the March 13 primary, Vernie Glasson, the Farm Bureau's executive director, urged his national affiliate to prod the USDA to investigate Hightower again.

"What would help is a Feb. 15 or so (prior to March 13) announcement, or leak, to Texas press," Glasson said in his letter, which was forwarded to USDA. "We can be successful — but a little smart politics on the part of a Yuetter-directed USDA sure will help."

Clayton Yuetter, a Republican, is the U.S. agriculture secretary."

— Austin American Statesman
Sunday, October 28, 1990

"That [letter] is as close to a smoking gun as I can recall. No one should be able to call up the FBI and say, 'I'm a good Republican and I'd like you to investigate allegations against my opponent.'"

— Prof. David Anderson
University of Texas School of Law

"The facts of the case argue persuasively that the FBI has allowed itself to be used as a political hit-man in the ag commissioner race.... Acting on the flakiest of gossip, FBI officials have continued to root around the Agriculture Department looking for dirt. At every turn, they have failed."

— Dallas Times Herald

"They keep catching us with our pants up!"

— Jim Hightower

...and about Hightower himself.

"Hightower seems to be attacking every problem at once with indiscriminating vigor. He gives off ideas like a grindstone gives off sparks."

— Corpus Christi Caller-Times

"The entrenched powers feel alienated. Jim won't get in bed with the good ol' boys."

— Joe Rankin, President
Texas Farmers Union

"Call him outrageous. Call him controversial. But call him effective, too. Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower won't wilt under a stream of adjectives. Part of Hightower's effectiveness is being out front, participating in the discourse about agricultural problems and not being afraid to ruffle feathers."

— Waco Tribune-Herald

"He (Hightower) has operated innovative programs and has done a first-rate job of promoting Texas agricultural products."

— San Angelo Standard Times

"Jim Hightower is the closest thing we have to an environmental hero. He is smart and tough and courageous enough to do what's right."

— David Zwick, Director
Clean Water Action

"Jim Hightower has led agriculture in Texas toward the brightest hope it may have known in decades. His vision and inspirational leadership have pointed the way toward a whole new future for agriculture — market-driven, entrepreneurial, sustainable, hospitable to small operators and family farms but savvy in the needs of major corporations."

Aubrey E. Guthrie II holds first art exhibit at FNB during November

The First National Bank of Floydada is sponsoring Aubrey E. Guthrie II in his first one-man photography exhibit during the month of November. This unique collection of the efforts of a Floydada High School graduate may be seen during regular banking hours throughout the month.

Organizer of the exhibit Martha Farris stated, "We are very proud to host this talented photographer's first show."

Guthrie was born in Clayton, New Mexico, on July 1, 1933 to a struggling young family doctor, Aubrey Guthrie, and his nurse-wife, Sue. He moved to Floydada at the age of two months where he lived for 18 years. While growing up in Floydada, Guthrie was primarily interested in athletics and horses. Yet, at about the age of twelve, he and Dan Hagood secured a darkroom kit for developing photographs which was the beginning of an intense and lasting interest in photography for Guthrie.

During his educational years, photography took a back seat to his preparation for a medical career. Guthrie graduated from the University of Texas in 1955 and from Baylor College of Medicine in 1959. After an internship and residency in family medicine, Guthrie began his medical practice in the Hurst-Eules-Bedford area where he continues to practice today.

Guthrie's wife, Barbara, has just completed a Ph.D in Health Education and is a nurse with the Fort Worth Independent School District. They have three children and three grandchildren with another grandchild on the way.

In the early 1970's, Guthrie was able to seriously pursue his interest in photography. He began to enter photography contests with some of his favorite photographs and spent hours at the local junior college learning to develop black and white prints. Training in photography came through the junior college courses, many workshop seminars, researching through reading journals and books, and by taking hundreds and hundreds of pictures.

Over the years, Guthrie has tried several kinds of art starting with pencil sketches, then watercolors, then oils. However, he never experienced the creative satisfaction which he has found in photography. Guthrie has received many honors and recognitions in his photographic work in local art shows, college photographic competitions, national medical magazines, the H-E-B

Harris Methodist calendar competition, and the State Fair of Texas.

When Martha Farris invited him to do a show at the First National Bank of Floydada he jumped at the opportunity.

"My mentor in photography, Fred Picker, has advised photographers who are learning and growing to have a show no matter the quality of their work. Organizing a show is a way to learn about photography and about one's own talents in particular. Through preparing the Floydada bank show, I have been forced to look at what my photographs mean to me intellectually and philosophically rather than merely experiencing the joy of creating the pictures," states Guthrie.

"Doing this show has made me look at my photographs and allowed me to verbalize my own personal vision through which photography is the channel. When people see my photographs in the First National Bank of Floydada, they will notice that crosses, churches, flowers, and architectural forms dominate the work. My quest in the practice of medicine and in photography, and indeed, in life is the search for the Holy Spirit. In medicine, my daily prayer is that I might be a channel of healing and peace to anyone who needs me. In photography, I find the Spirit in the simplicity of flowers, in the symbols of the church, and in man's need to reach up into the heavens through the creation of beauty. A quote from C.S. Lewis sums up these feelings and ideas for me, "If anything is spiritual, everything is," concludes Guthrie.

The photographs of Aubrey E. Guthrie II can be seen in the First National Bank of Floydada during the month of November. He has approximately 40 color and black-and-white photographs displayed.

FBC hosting Drug Awareness Emphasis Sunday

Nothing in modern times has so drastically affected the total population morally and economically as the drug epidemic in America. Current estimates indicate that over one-third of the families in our country are adversely affected by drug abuse.

First Baptist Church is hosting a Drug Awareness Emphasis on November 4, at 11:00 a.m. to assist in better understanding of the personal and social impact of drug abuse in Texas.

This special Drug Awareness Emphasis will be conducted by Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, the oldest prevention organization in the state. The presentation will be made by Phil Watson, who has been specifically trained to provide significant information and prevention alternatives for families.

Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE) provided materials and programming for prevention strategies for individuals, families, schools, churches, community organizations and businesses. It is their belief that prevention is the only answer to the widespread problem of substance abuse. While treatment is necessary to assist those affected by addiction, in the end it is seen to only accommodate the problem.

TANE believes the drug problem will only be solved when public awareness and understanding reaches the level required to invoke the needed response from the whole community. First Baptist Church is concerned that every effort be made to provide the community with the information necessary for each person to both understand the potential dangers of abuse to themselves and to ones they love and take the steps necessary to prevent the spread of drug abuse.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting First Baptist Church at 983-3755.

Goen awarded third in show

The Texas Caprock Arts Festival sponsored by the Briscoe County Activities Association was quite successful.

In the paintings and drawings division, Jo Goen of Floydada won third with an oil painting. She also received honorable mention and merit awards.

David Reindlesbacher from West Texas State University judged the show. A large number of area residents attended the show and were highly complimentary of the quality of the work and the manner in which it was displayed.

Time to check wheat fields for greenbugs

C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology
(PM)

Crosby/Floyd Counties

Now is the time that producers should check wheat fields for greenbug infestations. In cool weather, the greenbug may increase to enormous numbers while its natural enemies multiply more slowly. I have checked a limited number of Crosby-Floyd County wheat fields and have not found any insect problems. However, producers should keep an eye on the greenbug situation between now and the more severe winter months.

Greenbugs are aphids that suck plant juices and inject toxins into the plant while feeding. Adults are approximately 1/16-inch long and are pale-green with a darker green stripe running down the middle of the back. The tips of the legs and cornicles (tailpipes) are usually black.

Several other aphids infesting wheat are often confused with greenbugs. The corn leaf aphid is dark bluish green with entirely black legs, antennae, and cornicles. The bird-cherry oat aphid is broadly oval and its color ranges from olive green to greenish black, with reddish patches around the base of the cornicles. The Russian wheat aphid is pale green with an elongated, spindle-shaped body, and it has no apparent cornicles, and a "double tail" when viewed from the side with a magnifying glass.

Greenbugs reproduce rapidly at temperatures between 55 and 95 degrees F. Greenbugs cause more damage when wheat suffers from deficient moisture. Greenbugs initially cause red spotting of the leaves at the point of feeding, then the tissue dies because of the toxins injected. Greenbug damage may be confused with moisture stress and/or nitrogen deficiency.

When sampling for greenbugs, a minimum of five random counts per 20 acres of field should be made, with each count consisting of one linear foot of drill row. Counts should be made during the warmest part of the day when greenbugs are most likely to be exposed on the above-ground parts of plants. During cooler periods, greenbugs may congregate in the loose soil at the base of plants, making detection difficult. If greenbugs are numerous, estimate the number present.

The need for applying insecticide depends on the number of greenbugs, size and vigor of wheat, temperature, time of year, moisture conditions, stage of growth, and effectiveness of beneficial insects. Although it is impractical to specifically outline all conditions under which insecticides should be applied, the information in the following table should serve as a general guide.

Plant height (inches)	Number of greenbugs per linear foot
3 - 6	100 - 300
4 - 8	200 - 400
6 - 16	300 - 800

Occasionally, populations of 25 to 50 greenbugs per foot of drill row in very young wheat may warrant treatment.

Ladybeetles and parasites wasps, under favorable weather conditions, can reduce greenbug populations to below the treatment levels given below. Where there are 1-2 lady beetles (adults and larvae) per foot of row or 15 to 20 percent of the greenbugs have been parasitized, control measures should be delayed until it can be determined if the greenbug population is continuing to increase.

Low temperatures will slow the activity and effectiveness of most insecticides, therefore, it will take longer for control. It may take twice as long for an insecticide to kill at 45 degrees F as it would at 70 degrees F. For best results, apply insecticides when temperature is above 50 degrees F. If you must apply them when the temperature is low, apply the highest rate recommended.

SWCD fiftieth anniversary

Directors attend state meeting

Leslie L. Nixon, Jr., Junior Taylor and Leon Ferguson, directors from the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District, in Austin, October 22-24, 1990 to attend the Fiftieth Annual State Meeting of Texas Soil and Water Conservation District Directors. The meeting was held in the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Others attending from the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District were Jon J. LaBaume, District Conservationist with the USDA Soil Conservation Service, wives of the directors, Doris Nixon, Martha Taylor and Bill Ferguson.

James R. Moseley, Assistant Secretary, Natural Resources and Environment, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington D.C.; State Senator Teel Bivins, Amarillo; State Representative Lena Guerrero, Austin; and Wes Oneth, State Conservationist, USDA Soil Conservation Service, Temple were speakers that highlighted the program of the Fiftieth Annual State Meeting of Soil and Water Conservation District Directors.

The purpose of the meeting was to review developments affecting state and national conservation programs.

Approximately 1,200 SWCD directors and other conservation leaders attended the meeting.

Speaking at the Tuesday morning general session were Assistant Secretary Moseley, Senator Bivins, and Representative Guerrero. Moseley is responsible for directing the policies and supervising the activities and programs of the Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service. Prior to his current position, Moseley served as Agricultural Advisor to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency on issues affecting the agricultural industry.

A rancher and businessman, Senator Bivins currently serves on the Economic Development Committee, the Natural Resources Committee and the Jurisprudence Committee. Bivins' 31st Senatorial District covers 29 counties in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Representative Guerrero, who serves as Vice Chair of the State Affairs Committee, and as a member of the Committee's Budget and Oversight Subcommittee, will welcome the conservation district officials. She is also expected to give an overview of issues the next regular session of the Legislature will be confronting.

During the general session, the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board will report on a study concerning the conditions of Texas watersheds relative to their physical conditions and how these conditions relate to water quality and quantity.

Oneth addressed the conservation district officials on Soil Conservation Service assistance to Texas SWCDs. He also talked about the agency's budget outlook for fiscal year 1991 as it relates to conservation programs in the state.

Clyde Hale of Sherman, president, Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts also addressed the group on Tuesday morning.

Five workshops were held on Tuesday afternoon. The district operations workshops were primarily a training session for district directors and district employees concerning day-to-day operations of districts.

In the education/information workshops, discussions were focused on improving communications among TSSWCB, SCS and district officials. A representative from the Texas Education Agency talked on how SWCDs may apply for and obtain approval for locally developed conservation education programs.

The agricultural and silvicultural nonpoint source management workshop involved detailed discussions of the draft results of the statewide watershed study. Talk also centered on an indepth explanation of the 1990 agricultural/silvicultural nonpoint source pollution assessment program.

In the legislative issues workshop, a panel of Legislative Leaders discussed legislation expected to be introduced in the upcoming session which could affect Texas Conservation Programs.

A presentation on the formation of underground water conservation districts with a discussion on the activities of UWCDs were focus of the underground water districts workshop.

Wildlife packets and windbreak trees available from SWCD

The Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District is now selling trees for the establishment of windbreaks around fields and farmsteads and wildlife packets adaptable to CRP acres to establish wildlife habitats. Windbreaks are relatively cheap to install and maintain. They provide for multiple-use benefits such as beautifying the countryside and/or farmstead, reduction of energy costs for heating and cooling buildings, reduction of soil blowing, and establishes livestock shelters.

We encourage all CRP landowners who are incorporating wildlife habitats into CRP acreage to purchase a wildlife packet(s). A limited number of wildlife packets are available. They include quail and pheasant, turkey, deer, and squirrel. Each packet contains 4 species and 25 seedlings of each species (100 total seedlings).

Trees will be sold at a nominal price through the Texas Forest Service. The seedlings are grown at the West Texas Nursery in Lubbock and are adapted to this area. Two new species added this year are the American plum and skunkbush sumac.

Conifers available this year include the Afghanistan Pine (Bullet), Afghanistan Pine, Arizona Cypress, Arizona Cypress (Bullet), Austrian Pine, Ponderosa Pine, and Redcedar. Conifers will be sold for $60.00 for 40 seedlings plus tax. Bullets will be sold for $30.00 for 30 seedlings plus tax. We will accept a minimum order of 20 seedlings.

Hardwoods available this year include American plum, Catalpa, Cottonwood cuttings, Desert willow, Green ash, Honeylocust, Little walnut, Osage orange, Pecan, Red oak, Russian Olive, Sandcherry, and Skunkbush sumac. Hardwoods will be sold for $35.00 for 100 seedlings plus tax. We will accept a minimum order of 25 seedlings per species.

Tree orders are now being taken at the Soil Conservation Service Office in Floydada. The SWCD Board will continue to sell tree seedlings upon their availability until March 1, 1990. All orders are filled on a first-come first-serve basis. Be sure to get your order in early to get the seedlings you desire most. These trees are made available to all Soil and Water Conservation Districts in this area and the supply is limited.

For information and order placement, contact your local Soil Conservation Service, Floydada Field Office, USDA

7140 MAGNUM Tractor

Five years or 5000 hours. That's the coverage you get—at no extra charge—on every new MAGNUM tractor. In fact, it's the same warranty* that covers every MAGNUM tractor ever built.

And, while the competition offers an occasional free warranty, they haven't put it on every tractor. Besides, only MAGNUM'S 5-year/5000-hour warranty can be fully transferred without a fee. That gives the MAGNUM tractor's already high resale value another boost. And it gives you another good reason to buy.

But what makes MAGNUM tractors even more attractive are the special buyer incentives we're offering this fall. Ask us about low-rate financing, waiver-of-financing or cash discounts in lieu of special financing. Offers too good to ignore.

ought to be retired from the bench forthwith. Clinton is, and always has been, a liberal. He comes from the ACLU, union labor camp, and his decisions on the Court have consistently reflected that position. Clinton ought to be beaten badly, and Kitzman ought to be elected, in our view.

Also in the Republican column you will find the name of Louis Sturns, for the position of Place 2, Court of Criminal Appeals. He is a black jurist, with a reputation for fairness and intelligence. We believe he can be counted on to apply the law fairly and to avoid the "turn 'em loose" philosophy of Sam Houston Clinton, or that of his opponent, Morris Overstreet.

There are obviously a number of other judicial races, but those are the ones we would concentrate on.

On to other races. Obviously Phil Gramm is the pick for U.S. Senator. He is a heavyweight who has demonstrated he can get things done. His opponent, Hugh Parmer, is a lightweight who was merely looking for a way to keep his name alive, politically, until something else opened up. There's no problem making a pick in this race.

The Governor's race: Quite honestly we are somewhat underwhelmed with what we have to choose from here, but there are important differences that make it possible for us to make a choice, unlike the confused, "hands off" approach exhibited by the Lubbock daily. The reason for this is that governors do not stand alone when they go into office. They take with them a vast number of people who share their sense of values. These are the people who staff the various agencies and departments of government. They are the people who are appointed to judicial vacancies when they occur. And to get some idea of who these people might be, and the attitude they would take into office with them, one must look to the track record, the background, of those who would make the appointments.

We have a good idea of the kind of people Ms. Richards would place in office to govern us, and quite frankly we don't like what we see. It would be her friends and supporters from the past. They would not have the values most Texans cherish, in our view.

For that reason, and for others, we pick Clayton Williams for Governor over Ann Richards. And hope for the best.

Somewhat the same reasons dictate our pick in the race for Attorney General. We believe Dan Morales is probably the best person running for office, statewide, on the Democrat ticket. He has generally exhibited a sound approach to government while serving in the State Legislature. But he owes so terribly much, in this campaign, to people like Jim Mattox that we fear he would not clean house in the Attorney General's office, and a house cleaning is sorely needed.

Accordingly we would pick Buster Brown for the office. He too has been a good, solid State Senator, with a background as a prosecuting attorney. We believe he would clean house in the office. One would not go terribly wrong in voting for either, but for the reasons stated, we pick Brown.

The race for State Treasurer: Kay Bailey Hutchison against Nikki Van Hightower. No problem here. Mrs. Hutchison is the obvious choice.

State Comptroller: Warren Harding and John Sharp. In our view two able men, but Sharp tried to convince us all that Mr. Dukakis should be President of the United States, even when he knew what we have to choose from here, but there are important differences that make it possible for us to make a choice, unlike the confused, "hands off" approach exhibited by the Lubbock daily.

Lt. Governor: This is a hard one, for us. Again, we have two able men seeking the same spot, one the ultimate "insider", and one the "outsider" who is not quite an outsider. Bob Bullock served in the Legislature before becoming Comptroller and now seeks to be Lt. Governor. Rob Mosbacher is a young, energetic businessman who wants to serve in government, and whose family has the resources to help him in his quest. Bullock is a partisan Democrat who has some Republican support, based on his record in the Comptrollers office. Mosbacher is running as a Republican who has some Democratic support, based, we presume, on his general approach to government. The importance of this race to West Texas, like the Governor's race, is hard to overstate. In some respects it is an essentially powerless office, but in others it is one of the most powerful in state government. Next year, in particular, it will have a tremendous influence in the redistricting process. There is no doubt that Bullock would use all the influence of his office to protect the entrenched Democratic establishment in state government. Some will see that as a good thing. Others will see it differently. It is for that reason, more than anything else, that we voted for Mosbacher. We are not prepared, however, to urge our readers to follow our example in this instance. Consider the issues, and how they affect you, and vote accordingly.

The race for U.S. Congress for the 13th District: This is not difficult for us, but may be for many of our citizens. We have no quarrel with many of Mr. Sarpalius' votes. He has cast some good ones and some bad ones, but our decision runs along different lines. Both Sarpalius and Dick Waterfield, his opponent in this race, served in the Legislature in Austin, where Waterfield is still serving. We are aware of the service of both. Waterfield was, and is, regarded as a heavyweight among his peers. Sarpalius, on the other hand, was not so highly regarded, and is not now regarded as a heavyweight among his peers in Congress. In our opinion that would be the case no matter how long Sarpalius served in Congress. In our view Waterfield will move into a position of influence among his peers much more quickly than Sarpalius, and that would be better for this District.

Too, Waterfield would be in much better position to oppose the ridiculous goings-on in Congress than will Sarpalius. If people want to send a message, this is one place to start. We pick Waterfield.

We understand that many of our citizens, viewing the irresponsible delays and infighting in Congress, may decide to just stay home on election day. We hope this will not be the case here in Floyd County. There are good people seeking office, some for the first time, and some who deserve reelection because they have worked diligently on the people's behalf. The problem, of course, is telling the difference. We have tried here to relay our thoughts on the matter, as we see it. Others may not see it the way we do, but in any event we hope our readers vote their choice.

On a entirely different subject: The matter of our hospital.

As our readers are aware, and most certainly as we here at the paper are aware, we have had an outpouring of letters, pro and con, on the issue of the hospital. We feel we have been more than generous in the space we have devoted to the subject, and we have done so for several reasons.

First, we thought that it was and is an important subject on which legitimate differences of opinion exist, and those opinions deserved a thorough ventilation. Too, we are somewhat proud that local citizens look upon our (their) paper as a place where they can have some input into community affairs. We have tried to oblige, at considerable expense to the paper. For that we have no regrets.

We do have a few regrets that some aspects of the community debate has taken on a tone we would not have preferred. While we can understand the (at times) emotional nature of the debate, we should all be able to disagree without being disagreeable.

We have, on numerous occasions, had to edit some of the letters coming into this office dealing with the subject. This has occurred on both sides. We hope partisans on both sides understand.

At any rate we feel that just about everything that could be said, has been said. Accordingly, we will announce now that we will run no letters on this particular subject on the week preceding the vote on November 20. This will prevent charges being made in letters to the editor that cannot be answered before the vote. And in the edition preceding the vote we will indicate our own thinking on the matter.

Where's The Fire?

By Paul McIntosh

Fire personnel answered a call at Scott Gin at 11:50 a.m. on Sunday, October 28. Eleven firemen responded. Two cotton modules were on fire.

A fire on the highway right of way, Tuesday, October 30, was answered at 2:45 p.m. The fire was two miles south on Hwy. 62. Nine firemen responded to the blaze caused by grass and cotton in a bar ditch.

Everyone is asked to use ashtrays in order to avoid this type of fire. Cotton lint and dry grass are easily ignited by carelessly tossed cigarettes.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CAPROCK HOSPITAL DISTRICT:

On November 20th voters will go to the Massie Activity Center to vote in the hospital rollback election. We need to stop the waste and mismanagement that has taken place for the last several years by voting for the rollback.

Some of the acts of mismanagement and impropriety are as follows:

1. Failure of the Caprock Hospital Board to require the hospital administrator to file the annual sworn financial statements which are required by law. The law requires these statements to be prepared and signed under oath and presented to the hospital board so they can study them and know how the taxpayers money is spent.
2. Failure of the board to require the administrator to collect accounts receivable, keep the billing straight and accurate, file insurance claims correctly and timely, cut the number of office employees and other employees down to a reasonable level. Considering that the annual average of in-patients is only 3 per day.
3. Step entering into ridiculous contracts such as the one entered into with Dr. Chamales (a dermatologist of all things!) whereby the hospital contracted to guarantee his salary to be $240,000 over a 2 year period, paid his moving expenses from the state of Oregon, paid his house rent of $800 per month on a house that courthouse records show was owned by Fred Thayer, a member of the board.
4. Failure to make use of the vacant space in the hospital by utilizing it as a nursing home.
5. Failure to terminate the contract with Methodist Hospital. This obligates the district to pay $20 per hour consulting fees to Methodist Hospital when they have not had a representative at all the board meetings as the contract requires.
6. Failure to sell the residence owned by the district. The district does not need to own this house and rent it to Dr. Lopez for 1/2 its rental value.
7. Failure to charge the Drs. using the clinic enough rent to cover the utility bills, maintenance and repair bills and other expenses. The $250 per month just won't begin to cover these expenses.
8. Failure to prosecute the claim against Caprock Hospital Medical Services and Dan Powers, former lessee of Caprock hospital. This claim was filed in the district court by the former Caprock Hospital Board. Total amount of the claim was $565,000. This was broken down as follows: A. Advances made to lessee $172,351; B. Pharmacy inventory carried away by the lessee $43,923; C. Reimbursement of insurance paid by the hospital district $26,916; D. Note owed to the First National Bank of Floydada which the Powers failed to pay, which the bank withdrew from the hospital account $90,000; E. Overdraft owed by the Powers that was not paid to the FNB of Floydada withdrew from the hospital account $41,854; F. Advance payments made by payments to Powers which was not paid over to the hospital $27,000; G. Advance made to the Powers by the hospital district $170,000.

Total claim of Caprock Hospital against the Powers and Caprock Medical Service Inc. $564,494. Present Caprock board failed to prosecute this claim with the result that $564,000 of the taxpayers money went down the drain.

The FNB of Floydada claimed to have the authority to withdraw the above mentioned amounts for notes and overdrafts made by the Powers pursuant to a "continuing guarantee" signed by Edmund Aldine Williams, who was president of the Caprock Hospital Board at that time. The other Caprock board members at that time were Claude Weathersbee, Louis Anderson, Don Bean, and Jo Wester. This "continuing guarantee" was made even tho the Texas Constitution and Statutes prohibit the state and political subdivisions of the state from lending its credit to any private person or corporation.

The board should not be threatening the people with closing the hospital. They cannot dissolve the district until they call an election and the people vote to dissolve the district. They don't have the legal authority to dissolve the hospital district and the people will not tolerate that. If they attempt to close the hospital, we can get them out of office and get some people who will continue to run it.

While the administrator is promoting a 70% tax increase, he is inquiring about other jobs. He can walk away and leave us this enormous tax burden. If the administrator is not willing to straighten up his act, comply with the law, keep his billing straight, file the insurance claims on time, cut the staff down to what is actually needed, and cut other expenses that need to be cut; then many of us are hopeful that he can find himself another job.

This town is Totally Dependant on Agri-Business. The Farmers and Ranchers, who will Pay The Brunt of This Tax, Are Not Compelled To Sell Their Cattle, Cotton, or Grain Here. Nor Is There Any Reason We Should Assume That They Will Continue to Support This Community, Buying Our Goods, If We Continue To Levy Heavier and Heavier Taxes On Them Each Year. The Landowners Can Take Their Money From The Banks and Transact Their Business Elsewhere If Taxing Entities Do Not Show Some Real Restraint, Very Rapidly.

The whole future of Floydada depends upon maintaining the good will of the people of the rural areas of this county. This is of vital importance if Floydada is to have any future at all.

One reason the hospital doesn't have any more patients the doctors charge about twice as much as the doctors in Lockney. The board members don't have any control over this but they do have control over their rent on the clinic. The taxpayers are not supposed to subsidize individuals and that's what we're doing on the house rent and clinic.

IT IS TIME FOR ALL VOTERS OF THE DISTRICT TO JOIN TOGETHER TO STOP THIS USELESS, NEEDLESS AND IRRESPONSIBLE WASTE AND THERE IS JUST ONE WAY TO DO THIS - TO LIMIT THE AMOUNT OF TAXES BY VOTING "FOR" THE ROLLBACK ON NOVEMBER 20TH AT THE MASSIE

Dedication ceremony slated for bank

Following the passage of the Federal Reserve Act by Congress, the bank entered the Federal Reserve System in January, 1914, buying stock in the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank.

In 1918 an addition of 50 feet west, facing California Street, was made to the bank building. In this addition were located three businesses: the Floydada Post Office, Warmie Hilton's Barber Shop, and Jones and Howard Meat Market. Above the bank, on the second floor, were the offices of professional men.

By 1928, the 25th anniversary of the bank was celebrated in a new remodeled and refurbished banking room. The public was invited the formal opening and view the black and white tile floor, the teller cages of marble and plate glass with sandblaster edges, finished with bronze wrought iron. A Tennessee marble check stand testified to the increased use of checks and number of depositors. Deposits now totaled $665,691.41, denoting a period of expansion in the plains area.

The First National Bank weathered the depression years, along with Floyd County citizens. Deposits were few and far between. Floydada script money was issued, redeemable at the bank "after 36 three-cent trade stamps were affixed."

The stockholders and directors borrowed of their own resources and contributed a fund of $25,000.00 to provide for bank losses.

After the bank moratorium and the organization of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the institution became a member of this group. At that time, deposits up to $5,000.000 were insured by FDIC.

Deposits increased after the depression years, and in 1941 were $992,371.33. In March, 1949, the capital stock was increased to $100,000.00.

After serving in the U.S. Air Force, Thomas Kinder Farris returned to Floydada to establish his home and continued the interest in the bank that had played a great role in the lives of his mother and father, John N. and Lora Rucker Farris. He was named director in 1948.

In 1959, the bank was expanded and remodeled. An additional 25 feet were added to the north, the top story was removed, and Floydada's first drive-in window was opened off California Street.

The interior addition included a community room to be used by the townspeople.

The bank had to be moved to the old Clements Building from April-November, 1959, when a sudden 2 inch rain-storm broke through the temporary construction shelter, soaking everything and everybody in the bank. The new quarters on the same corner of the square were opened November 22, 1959.

Deposits were increasing, and by 1960, they were $8,089,899.26. Kinder Farris was named chairman of the board in 1960, a position he still holds today.

Thomas Kinder Farris Jr. joined the bank force in July, 1973, making the third generation to continue the interest that had begun with his grandfather, John, in 1903. Tom is now a director and has been the bank's president since January 1, 1978.

In June, 1983, Thomas Montgomery (Monte) Williams joined the bank, currently a vice president and senior loan officer. He was also elected to the board of directors in January, 1989.

This year, September 30, 1990, the Sales tax rebates on upswing for city of Floydada

The City of Floydada continues to show an increase in monthly sales tax rebate receipts over figures. The check received in October was in the amount of $8,879.15 showing an increase of 12.14% over the $7,917.69 payment received in October of 1989. Payments to date in 1990 received by Floydada total $92,038.06, a decrease over all of 0.90% from the $92,877.33 received at this time in 1989.

Lockney received a check for $4,747.48 this month. This represents a decrease of 35.84% from the October payment of $7,399.80 received in 1989. Over all, Lockney payments have fallen from $58,520.91 at this time in 1989 to $40,775.48 received to date in 1990. This is a decrease of 30.32%.

Mr. Towery,
I grew up in Floydada but have not lived there for many years. Do pass thru and visit occasionally with a few old-timers, and subscribe to the Hesperian so as to keep up with those I remember. I really enjoy your columns and agree with your political philosophy. Keep up the fight.

I am enclosing my check to pay for a subscription to the Hesperian for someone from Floydada or Floyd County who is presently serving in the armed forces in Saudi Arabia. I'll appreciate your picking someone, since I have no acquaintances there of that age. If this doesn't cover the cost, let me know.

Thank you,
Sam S. Rutledge

Dear Alice:
The Chamber of Commerce and the Punkin Day Committee would like to thank everyone who helped make our celebration a great success.

Our special thanks to the employees of the City of Floydada. To Connie Galloway and the Electric Utilities Crew, also to Jim Green and the Street Department Crew. Our thanks also to the Police Department and James Hale. Thank you all for a job well done.

We would also like to thank Brent Crossland and Mary True for their help, and for the use of their facilities. Thanks to Bill Smith for the use of the PA system, and to Nick Long for a fantastic job of announcing.

To all who furnished equipment, fences, cows, tables, chairs, and to all who loaded and set up for the games, our thanks.

We extend a special thank you to Scott Faulkenberry and Ronnie Graham for donating the pumpkins. We also would like to thank The First National Bank, for furnishing the banners that make our Town Square look so festive on special occasions throughout the year.

Thanks to all the race sponsors for your donations. Most of all we want to thank the citizens of Floydada for supporting our efforts by your attendance and participation in this event.

Sincerely,
Betty Marquis, Mgr.

Letter to the Editor:
I would like to respond to the statement made by write-in candidate Rosemary Segura. The 42 juvenile cases this office has handled this past year were related to traffic offenses and some alcohol law violations, i.e. minor in possession of alcohol and public intoxication. The only connection the JP's office has with drop-outs is by school personnel filing on the parents for thwarting compulsory attendance law Article 4.25 of the Texas Education Code. The Judge of Peace Justice Court has no direct authority over juveniles and school attendance.

I wholeheartedly agree with the statement that 80 per cent of prisoners of the Texas Department of Corrections were drop-outs. I again agree it is much cheaper on tax payers to educate our youth and possibly keep them from becoming expensive inmates. The office of the JP handles a wide variety of offenses, but I felt it needed to be clarified as to the relation between the Justice of the Peace and juveniles.

Thank you,
Kathy Himes

Dear Editor:
I would like to ask Vicki Webster some questions.

First, I would like to know who and what is the Floyd County Tax Payer's Association? Why were all tax payers not notified of the Association forming? Who are the officers and members? Where and when does the association meet?

I am a tax payer! I did not give anyone permission to represent me in any form on the hospital tax issue, nor did a lot of other tax payers.

I wonder if Vicki has ever had to rush to the emergency room in the middle of the night with her Mother or anyone near or dear to her? I have many times and was very glad to be only minutes away from trained, professional help. It disturbs me very much to think I might be facing a race in the middle of the night to Lubbock. I wonder have you ever given these things a thought?

We have always been treated with loving, professional care when we have needed the hospital and their excellent staff to help us.

We are not happy when taxes are raised, but will gladly pay our share in order that we have a hospital. If our hospital closes, we also will lose Doctors, our nursing home, pharmacies, and the chain reaction will go on and on. People have to have jobs and will go elsewhere to find them, lots of people are not willing to live where there is no medical care.

I have never gone to the Doctor's office and been charged $25.00 for an office call. It was $25.00 with a shot, office calls are $18.00.

I understand that Methodist hospital has agreed to waive the repayment to them by our hospital district.

I think people need to think about the effect this will have on our community! Please Vote Against The Tax Roll Back!

A Tax Payer!
Doris Nixon

Dear Editor,
Being a resident of Crosbyton, I am not a regular reader of your newspaper. However, last week I was encouraged to read the Letters to the Editor section because Crosbyton Clinic Hospital was mentioned in a letter from Molly Stringer, Director of Nurses at Caprock Hospital. Being the administrator of Crosbyton Clinic Hospital, I naturally was interested in the information addressed by Ms. Stringer.

Overall, I feel Molly's letter was very informative and valuable. I empathize with the governing board, administration, and physicians of Caprock Hospital and the long, stressful hours they must be expending in looking after the best interests of the hospital and the people it serves. However, I must set the record straight about the comparative information shared by Molly regarding Crosbyton Clinic Hospital.

In her letter, Molly indicated: "As for Crosbyton Hospital who has a census of 13 patients daily and 80 employees in their hospital and clinic, they have three more patients daily but 33 more employees to take care of those three patients. How does this compare?"

In answer to Ms. Stringer's question, let me point out the following accurate statistics since she initiated the issue:

1. The year-to-date average daily census of Crosbyton Clinic Hospital is 14.9 as of today (10/29/90), not 13. The 14.6% difference really is a big difference for a rural hospital.

2. Crosbyton Clinic Hospital has 70.0 full-time equivalent (FTE) employees, not 80 employees; 59.0 FTE employees in the hospital and 11.0 FTE employees in the clinic. In other words, we have 59 employees caring for and serving roughly 15 hospital patients per day (about 4.0 FTE per occupied bed), and 11.0 FTE employees assisting our physicians in their busy office practices (over 1,300 patient visits last month; still climbing due to the addition of new physician).

I hope this information might be of value to Ms. Stringer and other concerned citizens. I wish the best of luck and inspiration to Leroy, governing board members and physicians as they work together to keep the doors of Caprock Hospital open.

Sincerely,
David D. Clark

1990 Annual Report

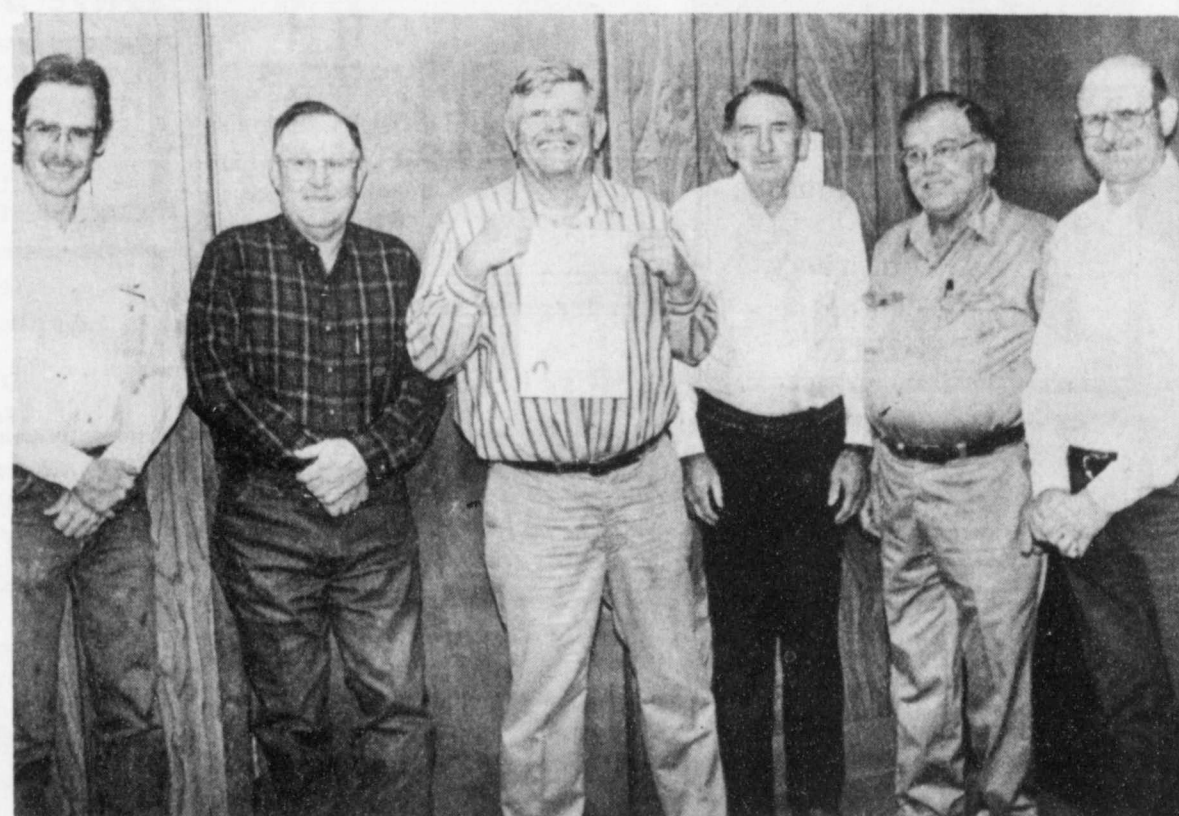

Floyd County SWCD celebrates 50 years

April 30, 1990, marked the Golden Anniversary of the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District. A petition was signed and submitted to the State Soil Conservation Board September 7, 1939, by W.H. Nelson. On October 5, 1939, the State Soil Conservation Board held a public hearing in the District Courtroom in Floydada; the application was affirmed November 6, 1939.

An Election to form the District was granted by the State Soil Conservation Board on March 9, 1940. The election was held and four voting boxes were polled for a total of 270 votes. 181 for and 89 against. All landowners of Floyd County were eligible to vote. The State Soil Conservation Board gave the final approval March 18, 1940. The charter was granted April 30, 1940, making it one of the first Soil and Water Conservation Districts in the State of Texas.

District Conservationist Jon J. La Baume is shown examining CRP grass that was accidentally burned last fall. The grass has come back, but La Baume stated that CRP producers can establish fire guards, producers need to contact the SCS office for details.
