Television commentators and editorial writers across the nation are all aflutter over prospects for some sort of peace in the middle east between Arabs and Jews. We'll believe it when we see it.

Oh, we'll try to keep our hopes alive, like everyone else. But how many times during past years have we gone through this? We've seen the horses go to the trough time and time again, only to see them balk when it comes time to drink. The Israelis now say they are agreeable to a conference, of sorts, but they also say there is no way they are going to give up any of the Arab lands they now occupy. And the Arabs say occupied land is the key to the matter.

We had hopes, but no real expectation, that once Iraq's potential for military expansion was demolished, Israel would see that they could afford to be a little more reasonable, and perhaps, just perhaps, take America's guidance on matters affecting that region, since we are, after all, paying the bill. But it is now obvious there will be no rush to peace between the two sides.

There is one simple way this country could convince Israel to give us a break, but chances of that happening are slim and the reasons are obvious. We'll explain.

We've just returned from Washington where we wrapped up 10 years on the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. While there we tried, as we usually do, to catch up on a little flavor of our nation's capitol by reading all the local papers and watching all the local T.V. news that happened to be convenient. Former Mayor Marion Barry was still in the news. Now out of work and without the government limos he had grown accustomed to, Barry finds himself in dire straits. So his many friends and supporters chipped in to buy him a suitable replacement, in order that his dignity might be upheld, and he could ride around Washington in the style to which he had become accustomed.

Another prominently displayed story on page one of the Washington Post informed us that the AIPAC was in town for its annual meeting. That's the American-Israeli Political Action Committee, and it is also one of the more potent fundraising arms for Israeli interests in this country, contributing heavily to political "friends", and working equally hard to defeat those whom they consider "enemies." Not the only one, just one of the largest and most active.

Nothing really strange about that. Special interest groups are always holding such meetings in Washington. The usual procedure is for them to meet in business sessions, then hold a "reception" in the evening, to which Senators and Congressmen are invited. Occasionally a Senator or Congressman will show up, but usually it is a chore relegated to some junior staff member from the various offices, just to keep peace with the lobby group. The office holder doesn't mind taking their money, they just don't want to be seen in public with them.

Fannon returns home

Floydada native, James Fannon of the U.S. Marine Corps was one of the first to arrive in Saudi Arabia on Aug. 26, 1990. He left behind him, at his base in Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, his wife of two years, Melinda Fannon, and their two-month-old daughter, Victoria. "We were part of BSG1. The 82nd Airborne (army) were the only ones already there when we arrived," says Fannon.

Fannon and another returning Floydada Marine, Adolfo Garcia Jr., both arrived in Saudi Arabia in August. "Adolfo and I knew each other in Floydada and at one time we were stationed together at Camp Pendleton. We saw each other quite a bit the first month I was there, because we were part of the same group unloading all the transportation vehicles off of the MPS ships. It was real nice getting to see a familiar hometown face."

Within a month as groups split up into more groups, Adolfo and James never saw each other again, until they both arrived in Floydada to visit family.

Fannon, 21, is the son of Weldon and Gloria Fannon of Floydada and a 1987 graduate of Floydada High School.

He enlisted in the Marines the summer after graduation and has 2 1/2 more years to serve. Fannon has already decided that he won't re-enlist. "After the service, I would like to study engineering in college, probably at San Angelo."

Though waiting and boredom may have been a problem for some soldiers in Saudi Arabia, it was never a problem for Fannon.

"We stayed busy all the time," said Fannon, "usually working 18 hours a day. When the ships were unloaded we were broken down into smaller units. Then, as part of a motor transport battalion, we started moving ammo and setting up ammo dumps. We were supporting everyone. When someone needed ammo we took it to them. We did this for about two months."

"Then we split up into combat service support detachments. Our job then was to support the ground elements - the artillery and the 'grunts' (infantry). Basically all we did while I was there was support the grunts in the 3rd Marine, 11th Marine, 12th Marine and 7th Marines, with everything they had; food, water, ammo, fuel and parts."

The day the ground war started February 24, Fannon and the unit he was in were loaded down with artillery. "We followed the artillery in the 111th Infantry Battalion and 'round robin'ed," said Fannon. "We would drive back and forth from ammo dumps to wherever the grunts were. We had about 20 trucks

Garcia is back after eight months in Saudi Arabia

By Alice Gilroy

Cpl. Adolfo Garcia Jr. arrived in Saudi Arabia the second week in August with the 1st Battalion 5th Marines. He arrived back in Floydada to a relieved family April 12.

Cpl. Garcia, 24, is the son of Adolfo and Irma Garcia. He graduated from Floydada High School in 1985 and enlisted in the Marines in 1988 for six years of duty. With three more years to go, Garcia is not sure whether he will re-enlist.

Arriving in Saudi Arabia as part of the 1st Marine Division from Camp Pendleton, Garcia was put to work immediately unloading vehicles off the MPS ships. "Our first job was to get the transportation ready and road worthy."

"We worked hard and it was very hot. The heat was completely different than what I was used to, but the rainy season was the worst. You would get wet and then it would get cold. It rained for about a month."

Caprock Hospital District reviews financial problems

The board of directors for the Caprock Hospital District have met twice in April and will meet at another called meeting April 25, to discuss financial problems.

In a special called session, April 9, Terry Keltz, the hospital administrator, informed the board that he had been seeking financing for the hospital for the remainder of the year. He stated that the First National Bank of Floydada had declined to loan the hospital any money this year because of their inability to legally secure ad valorem taxes as collateral.

The First National Bank of Lockney, Floydada Branch, has agreed to loan the money needed, said Keltz, based on the following contingencies:

- (1) That Methodist Hospital will guarantee the loan.
- (2) Methodist Hospital will furnish sufficient information to support its ability to guarantee the debt.
- (3) Methodist Hospital will subordinate all payments due from Caprock Hospital until the bank debt is retired.

The board suggested to Keltz that he apply for a loan from the American State Bank in Lubbock. Keltz did so and informed The Hesperian-Beacon on Tuesday.

Senate Bill 351 is accepted by court

By Juanita Stepp

The Floydada Independent School District and the Lockney Independent School District should receive the next allotted state funds on schedule on April 25. The school funding was in jeopardy until the compromise bill state legislators formulated was accepted by State District Judge Scott McCowan only minutes after being signed into law by Texas Governor Ann Richards on April 15.

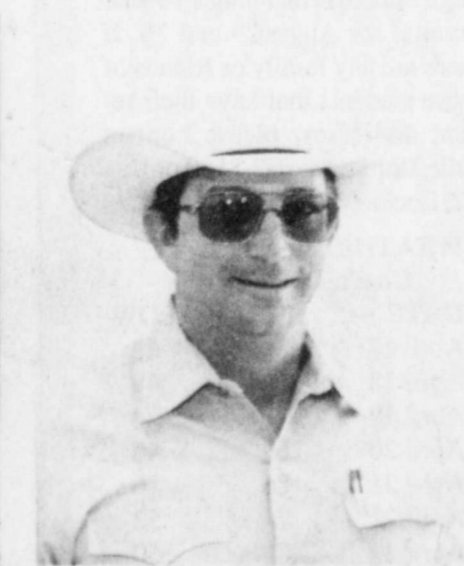

McCowan indicated that he would retain jurisdiction in the case, letting the plan stand until it is challenged in court or until Texas lawmakers failed to live up to it's terms.

Don't forget the elections are coming up on May 4. You can vote absentee until April 30.

You may not think it is necessary to vote in the City of Floydada councilmen races because there is no announced opposition to any of them. But remember, a person does not have to declare his write-in candidacy and it is very possible for a person who is a declared candidate to be defeated simply because his supporters did not think it was necessary to vote.

So don't be apathetic—Get Out And Vote. There may come a day when you won't have this luxury, so you better show everyone you appreciate the privilege now.

 Guess what! Someone has volunteered to be the this year's Punkin Day Chairman. That's right—you heard it right. I said VOLUNTEERED. She wasn't railroaded and she wasn't forced. That means all you other people on the Punkin Day committee can relax. The pressure is off. You won't have to be chairman this year.

The new chairman is (drum roll please)—Brenda HeFlin! Thank-you Brenda! Don't worry, you will get lots and lots of help. The Punkin Day Committee is a fun hard working group.

 A big bash is being planned for military personnel (active and reserve) from Floyd County on July 4. The activities will be held in conjunction with the big celebration that Floydada's Pay-N-Save has every year.

The Floydada Chamber is in the process of gathering up names of men and women to invite to the celebration. Since the Floydada Chamber has a full time office manager it would be best to call their office for anybody you want added to the list.

Now remember, this is for all over the county. So if you know of anyone from Floyd County who is active military or reserve—call 983-3434 and tell them the name and how to reach them.

*****
 The Women's Chamber of Commerce in Floydada says they haven't gotten enough response back on their window decorating campaign for Old Settler's Day.

If you're club, organization, or business is putting off calling the Women's chamber until the last minute—give them a break and tell them now what you plan to do.

If you plan on decorating your own window or an empty store downtown call them now. If you've got some ideas and some props but don't have the time—call the Women's Chamber and they'll do it for you.

If you've got a window and no ideas—call them. They'll take care of it! See—you've got no excuse.

Our excuse here at the newspaper is that no one can see inside our window. But, we did change the writing on the little newsboys sign on the outside of our

He and his wife, Retha, are the parents of two daughters, one son and nine grandchildren.

He served on the Lockney School Board for six years in the 1960's, five of those years as chairman.

Wofford is semi-retired and states that he is "proud to be from Lockney." "I have the time to spend to be mayor. I am interested in the city of Lockney and I feel that I have the experience to serve as mayor."

According to Wofford, "During my term on the city council we have not wasted money. I am happy to say that the city is in the black as we go into our next fiscal year."

window. We are proud of that!

 I don't know if you've noticed or not, but Al Galloway's welding and metal works class competed in state competition recently. They took 24 entries and came back with 24 blue ribbons. Galloway and the boys are very proud—and rightly so.

Two students in Dale Smith's wood-working class also brought back some ribbons.

The kids really work hard and they are going somewhere with their talents. Every one of them will leave these classes with a talent and skill they can put to work for themselves.

I went down to the new building that houses the vocational training and took some pictures of a lot of kids and their metal projects. I was impressed with the way Al Galloway got along with his students and they with him. There was a mutual respect and trust among them.

Galloway was like a father or a grandfather that wants everyone to know what his kids have accomplished. I couldn't hardly get back to the office, without Al stopping me to brag on an accomplishment of another young man in the class.

If those kids are as smart as they are talented, they will take advantage of the many things that Al Galloway and Dale Smith can offer them besides the industrial training. They will learn about love and trust, and how to grow up to be good honest hardworking men.

She stated that items that are donated are given to people in need in the Lockney area and are not sent to other places. She continued "The only way we can keep the doors open is with the donations and help of the community."

Lockney Police Report

Late Tuesday night, April 16 or early Wednesday morning, April 17 someone burglarized a 1981 pickup that was parked in the 400 block of West Willow in Lockney. ## Court passes resolution urging quail season limit

By Juanita Stepp
 The four members of the Floyd County Commissioners Court unanimously approved a resolution on Tuesday, April 23, calling for a limit to the quail hunting season. Copies of the resolution are being forwarded to Representative Warren Chisum and Senator Steve Carraker in an attempt to secure the changes in the hunting season.

The resolution asks that state legislators work toward a reduced season with hunting open from December 1 to January 31. Other restrictions requested include a bag limit of 12 per day with a possession limit of 36.

The resolution came as a result of the estimated low quail population in Floyd County during recent years. Motion for the action was made by Precinct 4 commissioner Howard Bishop and seconded by Precinct 1 commissioner Connie Bearden.

A motion by Bearden, seconded by Bishop and approved by unanimous vote authorized the payment of bills for the purchase of diesel fuel for Precincts 1 and 4.

Other action included the approval of five farm work contracts and the voiding of another. Work was approved for L.L. Wilkes, Paul Hrbacek, Louis Pyle, Eddie Smith and Mickey D. Hammonds. Contract #1000, previously approved was voided.

Attending the session were Commissioners Bearden, Bishop, Floyd Jackson and George Taylor, County Judge Bill Hardin and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Burleson Arena hosts steer roping

Oklahoma cowboys coming to Texas

Burleson Arena, Flomot, Texas, is proud to present the 4th Drag A Ranch Steer Roping the weekend of April 27-28. Featured events of the weekend will be the Senior Steer Roping, the Match-Roping between Guy Allen and Shaun Burchett, and awarding the winner of the "Open" Roping a "W" horse trailer. Over 150 steer ropers are expected for the weekend ropings.

Circle "A", Carl and Johnnie Alford,

Hereford, will hold the Friday night April 26 team roping at the Burleson Arena. Ropers can enter at 6 p.m. and rope at 7 p.m.

Saturday morning steer roping will begin at 9 a.m. for the "C" ropers. Introduction of the "ISRA", will begin at 11 a.m. followed by the "B" and "A" ropings.

Sunday roping events begin at 9 a.m.

with the senior ISRA steer ropers. The Match-Roping and "Open" Steer Ropings begin with the introduction of ropers at 1 p.m.

Guy Allen, five time world champion steer roper will be returning for the third year in the Match-Roping. This year he will compete against Shaun Burchett, two time world champion steer roper from Pryor, Oklahoma.

Shaun Burchett, who is 27 years old, won the steer roping championship in 1987 and 1988 and is known as one of the fastest ropers in the world. Burchett has competed in the past at Burleson Arena and won the "Open" Roping in 1989.

Guy Allen is definitely a first class champion, a credit to steer roping and a most dominate steer roper of modern day. At the NFSR Finals in November, Allen entered the competition to defend his world championship and attempted to tie the late Everett Shaw's record of six world steer roping titles.

Allen let Phil Lyne by $2,188, a year of "nip and tuck" when Lyne occasionally overtook the lead in competition. This close competition continued throughout the weekend of the finals. Lyne was 19.3 seconds on his 10th steer, Allen only needed to tie that time to win the world championship for the 6th time. Allen tied that last steer in 12.7 seconds, but a broken barrier added 10 seconds to his time costing him the title.

Shaun Burchett went to the NFSR Finals in 3rd place behind Lyne and Allen and gave them fierce competition throughout the finals weekend.

The new president of the senior ISRA, Tom Gipson, Cisco, Texas, has accepted the invitation for Sunday morning competition among the members. World champion Walter Arnod, Silverton, and James Allen, the 1990 senior champion steer roper, will be on hand Sunday morning to compete.

PRCA announcer Curt Robinson, Pendleton, Oregon, will introduce the ropers on both Saturday and Sunday and keep the fans informed about their favorite ropers' times and standings in the competition.

Sponsors of the "WW" horse trailer to be awarded to the winner of the "Open" Roping on Sunday are Bob Wills Day, Sam Fortenberry Auctioneer, Frontier Trophies, Jim Smith Roping Cattle, and Log-n-Tie.

Frontier trophy buckles will be awarded to winners in the steer ropings.

Lockney Lions Club will be there Friday, Saturday and Sunday with barbeque for your eating pleasure.

The gate admission of $5 will give spectators the opportunity to win a pair of handmade bits by Jim Bo Humpherys of Dickens, on Sunday during the "Open" Roping. Spectators and competitors can plan on a weekend of exciting competition.

TRAILER IS PRIZE--The winner of the "Open" Roping at this year's 4th Drag A Ranch Steer Roping at Flomot will be awarded this "W" horse trailer. The events will be this weekend at Burleson Arena.

News From Caprock Hospital

By Molly Stringer

We appreciate all of the employees who went out to Lighthouse Electric and helped with their health fair last Saturday. The good lunch we were provided was a real treat. It was fun to visit with each one of you who came by to have your glucose and blood pressure checked. We express our appreciation to Paul Newberry and Jerry Livingston for letting us use their glucometers.

We want to thank Helen Teeple for her donation of some bedding plants to put out in our patio and front area. Several of the staff have helped in getting these set out.

Molly Stringer attended the regional Director's of Nurses meeting at Methodist Hospital last Friday. Also attending from Lockney was Director of Nursing Deneen Marricle. After a meeting directed by Elaine Flynn and Jim Cline, the group toured the new women's center, the birthing center and nursery, including neonatal ICU.

We were able to purchase a small lawnmower to mow the small areas with money from the basement sale, a donation, sale of scrap metal and will finish up with our bake sale on Old Settlers. We ask for all of you to remember our bake sale booth and buy our goodies from us. Proceeds from this sale go to various projects and departments in the hospital.

The board of directors meets on Thursday, April 25, for their regular monthly meeting.

Dolan and Gail Hanna have had their young grandson, Jordan visiting with them the past week.

Christy and Paul Newberry visited with Bill and Molly Stringer for a short time last week. They were on their way to Snyder for a revival.

Health News

Balance is the key to a healthy life.

Good nutrition and regular exercise are important for all of us, but for people who are overweight or those with a family history of diabetes, a healthy lifestyle may be the key to controlling or even preventing "adult onset" or Type II diabetes.

Understanding Diabetes

When we eat, food is converted into a sugar called glucose. Normally, insulin, a hormone manufactured by the pancreas, guides glucose into the cells where it is used for energy. Type I or "insulin-dependent" diabetes occurs when the body makes little or no insulin, and sugar cannot get into the cells. It is most often seen in a child, adolescent or young adult. People with Type I diabetes must have daily insulin injections to live. Of the 11 million diabetics in the United States, only about 10 percent have Type I diabetes. The rest have a more common form known as Type II.

Type II diabetes usually occurs in people over age 30. The pancreas of the person with Type II diabetes may not produce enough insulin. In some cases, enough is produced, but the body cannot use it properly.

Experts believe many people have Type II diabetes and don't know it because the symptoms (blurred vision or change in sight; frequent urination; excessive thirst; tingling or numbness in legs, feet, fingers; frequent skin infections; slow healing of cuts and bruises; and drowsiness or weakness at normal tasks) are not always identified or are blamed on other causes. Many times, there are no warning signs at all. Because the disease can go undetected for years, the Type II diabetic is vulnerable to complications such as heart disease, stroke, nerve damage, blindness or kidney failure.

Who's at risk? People who are overweight are more prone to developing the disease. Diabetes is also linked to heredity—if one of your parents has Type II diabetes, there's a 30 percent chance that you'll have it as well.

Balance is the key to prevention and control

While there is no cure, diabetes can be managed or possibly even prevented. Research indicates that for those at risk, balancing a healthy diet with regular exercise and maintaining a normal body weight may be the best way to stop diabetes before it gets started. People who already have diabetes must maintain the same healthy balance in order to control the disease. If diet, exercise and weight control do not bring diabetes under control, oral medication or insulin may be necessary.

If you are overweight or have a family history of diabetes, the American Diabetes Association recommends having a blood glucose test. The earlier diabetes is diagnosed and treated, the better your chances of living a long, healthy life.

RULES OF COMPREHENSION

(Part 3)

Upon this next, vital rule of comprehension hinges everyone's ability to "all speak the same things" (I Corinthians 1:10)

5). Psalm 119:160 - "The sum of Thy Word is Truth:"

The Bible is not involved in an internal struggle with itself over the interpretation of doctrinal topics and subjects. Since passages of Scripture do not contradict one another proper interpretation of the Scriptures does not result from using one verse against another in an effort to support one doctrine and nullify another, neither can we accept one verse on a Bible topic while rejecting, neglecting or ignoring others.

In fact, the harmonization of all Scriptures only occurs when we have carefully considered and studied all that the Bible has to say on any one topic. This is in exact agreement with what David said in Psalm 119:128, "I esteem right all Thy precepts concerning everything."

Our interpretation cannot be "right" if we consider anything less than "all" of God's "precepts concerning everything." It cannot be accurate unless we have added together all that the Bible says in order to arrive at "the sum of Thy Word."

Floydada Masons celebrate lodge founding

Members of Floydada Masonic Lodge, their families and friends, met on April 22 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the organization of the local Masonic body. In April 1891 the resident members of the Masonic Fraternity forwarded a petition, accompanied by the recommendation of Plainview Lodge No. 709, to the Grand Master of Texas Masons.

Their request for a dispensation to form a lodge was granted by Grand Master George W. Tyler, and the lodge was set to work on April 22, 1891, by the Grand Master's proxy, A.J. Welter of Clarendon. Grand Master Tyler later granted a charter on December 11, 1891, with the designation "Floyd City Lodge No. 712." In 1931 the name was changed to "Floydada" 712 to conform and identify with the name of the community.

The lodge is the oldest, continuing organization in Floyd County. The lodge is virtually as old as Floydada itself, with its brethren having been among the leaders in establishing the community. Their memories live today in the names of schools, businesses, and other places and locations.

In reviewing the rolls of the charter membership, early brethren and Past Masters, it is easy to recognize those whose legacies are remembered as the namesakes of R.C. Andrews Elementary School, A.B. Duncan Elementary School, Arthur B. Duncan Abstract Company, Menefee Street, and the I.C.

Surginer Building (which today is the home of the Floyd County Historical Museum).

This week's special observance was the first of many Centennial activities planned. Later this year a Texas State Historical Marker will be placed and dedicated at the lodge hall, commemorating the 100 years of service performed by the Freemasons of Floydada.

Following the welcome by Delmas McCormick, Master of the lodge, Master of Ceremonies Doyle Walls recognized the Masonic widows who had been invited for the celebration. Douglas Maxey, District Deputy Grand Master of the 96th Masonic District, presented a 50-year pin and certificate to Hershel Swepston of Floydada. Maxey also presented 25-year service pins to a number of members who were present.

Herman Cole of Plainview, District Deputy Grand High Priest of the 39th Capitular District of Texas, presented a 50-year pin and certificate from the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Texas to Honorable Frank Pohl of Matador. Pohl also received a 50-year service award from the Grand Council of Royal and Selected Masters of Texas. This award was given by Kenneth Pitts, District Deputy Grand Master, 39th Cryptic District of Texas.

A program of gospel musical selections was presented by the Gospel Heirs women's trio. The trio, Janet Lloyd, Esther Parker and Jane McCulley, was accompanied by Dell Gray, piano, and Bill Gray, drums. Following the musical entertainment, a brief history of the formation of the lodge was given by Bill Gray, lodge historian and an Active Member of the Texas Lodge of Research.

Floydada Chapter No. 31, Order of the Eastern Star, assisted in the preparation and serving of the dinner prior to the program, which was attended by more than 85 Masons, their families and guests.

On Friday night we went to the Cafe R.S. for a fish dinner. Those attending were the Adams', Cates', Cockrell's, Gilbreath's, Thaxton's, Russell's, Norrell's, Lyles', Parker's, Assiter's, Feuerbacher's, Pyle's, Kendrick's, Newberry's, West's, Carol Reese, Patzer's and guest, Jennie Gaunt, Hartsell's and their son, Larry and grandson, Colby of Colleyville, Texas. We had 19 rigs represented with 37 members and four guests present.

On Saturday morning some of the ladies went into Roaring Springs to Thacker Jewelry for jewelry repairs and lots of looking. In the afternoon, we played spinner and also lots of visiting. Saturday night, we loaded into three suburbans and station wagon and drove to Dickens to eat barbeque.

On our way back to camp, Louis Pyle took us by an old landmark north of Dickens, "Cantina Esquivel", an old bar used by the cowboys during the era of settling this country.

On returning to camp we stopped at the recreation center and enjoyed games of spinner and Mexican train.

Sunday all gathered at the recreation center for our devotional time. Opening prayer was by W.B. Cates and J.W. Gilbreath led the singing. Frances Weathersbee had our devotional titled, "Look Unto Jesus." As always this is our special time of being together. After singing Happy Trails all departed for home.

But with the American-Israeli Political Action Committee it's a different story. The Post noted that 84 United States Senators and more than 100 United States Congressmen were on hand for the occasion, anxious to be noted, and equally anxious to hear what was expected of them. What they heard, of course, is what they have heard for lo these many years. Send more money to Israel. And the Congress is only too happy to oblige.

In a normal year the government of Israel gets a minimum of $3 Billion in "foreign aid" from the U.S. taxpayer, courtesy the U.S. Congress. That is equivalent to $1,000 for each man, woman and child in Israel, excluding the Arabs of course. This year they got an additional $1 Billion, $400 million to provide homes for immigrants from Russia, and another $600 million just because. The latter $600 million was given, according to press reports, with the provision that they not ask for any more until after September 2, 1991. We don't know the significance of that date.

And the annual stipend of $3 Billion, plus, obviously does not include the billions that have been given Israel in military hardware over the years. So you figure it out, gentle reader. In whose interests is it that peace not come to the middle east? And when you've got that figured out, you can easily figure how difficult Jim Baker's job, and George Bush's job, will be in trying to move things along.

Under normal circumstances all they would have to do is tell Israel they intend to cut their annual allowance by, say $500 per capita, if they don't cooperate. But the White House can count as well as anyone. When they see 84 Senators (out of a total of 100) and more than 100 House members show up for dinner with the AIPAC, begging for instructions, they know such a determination could never stick. And what is equally important, the government of Israel knows it, and they know the government of the United States knows it. So Bush and Baker are working with an exceedingly short stick.

Still, we would like to see them take that approach. We would like to see them put the Congress, both House and Senate, on the spot and make them choose who they are going to represent. There's no doubt where some of them would come down, but the President might be surprised how much support he got from "the people". And if he could make it stick, there's no doubt what the government of Israel would do. Where money is involved, they can become exceedingly cooperative.

Thursday, April 18, was party time at the Rest Home with ladies of the City Park Church of Christ hosting. The Hesperian photographer came for the "picture taking" after which everyone was ushered into the dining room with the honorees being seated at the "honor" table.

We are so sorry Beno Wilson and Thelma Hoffman were unable to attend the party.

Each honoree was presented a fresh carnation corsage compliments of Williams Card and Flower Shop. Jo Bryant gave a brief history of the life of those being honored. The poem was read and all joined in singing the Happy Birthday Song.

Seated with Mr. Pena was his daughter, Maria Camacho. Visiting with Mrs. Willis was her daughter, Dovie Holmes and sister-in-law, Gladys Widener.

A delicious refreshment plate consisted of cherry chip cake and angel food cake, along with a delightful pineapple-mango punch. Being served were the honorees, guests, home residents and employees.

The "honor" table was covered with a pink cloth and centered with an arrangement of silk flowers in shades of pink enhanced with tiny blue flowers. The next party will be Thursday, May 16, 2:30 p.m. You are invited to attend.

1934 Study Club meets in Appling home

By Lorene Newberry

The country home of Jean Appling was the meeting place for the 1934 Study Club for their April 16 meeting. Lorene Newberry led the club collect as the members voiced the prayer, followed by the roll call and minutes read and approved.

The program "Transportation In The 21st Century" was brought by Faye Benson. Her discussion began with the Model T Ford and on to the automobile that we have for our pleasure today. Then she discussed the car of the future which has flying ability, carries four passengers and cruises at 322 miles per hour and travels on standard gasoline.

The Sky car is operated with computers which makes driving a simple matter of pushing a few buttons. She also discussed other transportation - the train, the subway and the air travel.

Floydada Cub Scouts attend 1991 Scout Show

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi, once again on this beautiful spring morning. Are you planting flowers, etc. since it has turned warm? Alan Hoogstra has been putting some plants out, and he did a good job.

Monday started the week as usual with morning coffee, juice and cookies. Bro. Bill Wright was under the weather and couldn't be with us, do hope that he is much better. Also, Irene Wexler wasn't with us either. We listened to some music on tape, and sang some songs. A devotional was shared by Jo Bryant. At 2 p.m. Ruth McIntosh came and shared a story from the Book, "One Saint, seven sinners", since it was National Library Week. The residents enjoyed the story very much and could relate to it.

Tuesday, the ladies from the Companion & Caring came and did manicures. Also, Dolores Cannon came and did the ladies hair and men for our monthly birthday party.

Wednesday, Charles Breeding had the first Bingo. Prizes were bananas, cheese crackers and candy. Mary Alice Davis and Ruth Hammonds came and helped assist the residents to play.

Thursday was our monthly birthday party. The ladies from the City Park Church of Christ came and hosted the party. We want to thank all the guest who came, we had several to attend the party with their loved ones. The five celebrating their party were Lennie Willis, Thelma Hoffman, Florence Curry, Andreas Pena and Bennie Wilson. Delicious cake and punch were served.

Friday, Jane McCulley came and played the piano for us, we sang some songs. Evelyn Latta couldn't be with us. We missed you. Then at 1:30 the residents were treated to some ice cream here at the Dairy Queen. Thanks, they enjoyed it. Then on the road to Plainview on the bus ride.

April 21-27, is National Volunteer Week. We would like to acknowledge all our volunteers, as we thank, and appreciate you, as you are the heart of service here. You are a special person to come share your time, talents and love with our dear residents. Also, this is Secretary Week, do don't forget her.

Poem

I bend to spade the rich, brown earth,
From which will come a slow rebirth.
As Flowers seeds I plant today,
Reach up to open sky in May.

And then one day without a sound

A bit of green pokes through the ground,
So delicate and yet so strong,
A hearing of nature's song.

I think I have a special part,
In shaping beauty, nature's art,
Because together, God & I,
Love flowers reaching toward the sky.

Sun Facts

* A tan is the skin's natural protective reaction to the sun resulting from melanin production.

* Damage doesn't stop just because you've gotten a tan. You always need to apply sunscreen when exposed to the sun.

* Even if you never lie out by the pool or participate in outdoor activities like golf or tennis, you still absorb UVA rays while driving a car, sitting by a window, reading in a sunny corner at home, walking the dog, etc.

* People with fair skin are genetically less protected, and therefore the sun is more likely to damage their skin.

* Immunity to sunburn does not mean immunity to skin cancer. Black skin is not protected from the sun because of its natural pigment. EVERYONE needs to wear sunscreen.

* Sunrays are not filtered by the clouds so they are as damaging as on a sunny day.

* Beware of reflective surfaces. Sand, concrete and water can reflect more than half the sun's rays onto your skin.

* Beach umbrellas block only about half the sun's rays.

* Children and adolescents who experience a single blistering sunburn are twice as likely to develop skin cancer later in life, regardless of their total exposure or skin type.

* Begin using sunscreens on children at 6 months of age, and then allow sun exposure with moderation. Keep young infants out of the sun.

* According to recent research estimates, regular use of a highly protective sunscreen for the first 18 years of life can reduce the risk of certain types of skin cancer by as much as 78 percent.

* Certain medications (antibiotics, diuretics, antihistamines, tranquilizers, oral contraceptives and sugar substitutes, to name a few) can cause the skin to have a photosensitive reaction — irritation or a bad sunburn.

Over 500 attend 52nd annual Lighthouse meeting

The 52nd Annual Meeting of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative was held Saturday, April 20, at the Cooperative headquarters in Floydada.

Over 575 members and guests were in attendance for the noon meal and business meeting which followed. A large percentage of these had earlier attended the Member Health Fair, held this year for the fourth time, and becoming a highlight of the meeting. Stations at this year's Health Fair ranged from informational booths manned by volunteers from the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association, to diabetes screening, cholesterol testing, glaucoma tests, and many more tests administered by health care professionals.

To begin the business session of the meeting, Cooperative President Louis Lloyd called the business meeting to order and welcomed members and guests. He expressed the Cooperative's thanks to the volunteers who manned the Health Fair booths, contributing their valuable services to the members and guests who attended. He then called on Lighthouse member Nathan Mulder, pastor of the Flomot Baptist Church, for the invocation.

Ann Jones of Floydada served as emcee and conducted the prize drawings throughout the meeting. Board Secretary Gaylord Groce was in charge of roll call, the reading of the minutes of last year's meeting, and the reading of the official Notice of Meeting.

Cooperative attorney Harry Jung presented the Nominating Committee Report, introduced the director nominees, and conducted the election of directors. Incumbents Louis Lloyd of District 2, L.B. Brandes of District 5, and Harold Burk of District 8 were re-elected to the Board of Directors.

Board member L.B. Brandes of Plainview introduced special guests in attendance.

Emcee Ann Jones then introduced Bob Smith, Job Training and Safety Instructor with the Electric Power Utilities Training Division of the Texas Engineering Extension Service, Texas A&M University, who presented the Cooperative with a safety accreditation certificate on behalf of A&M, REA, and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. This award recognized the Cooperative's safety programs and achievements, both internally with employees and with the general public. Lighthouse Operations Manager Buck Marrice accepted the certificate on behalf of all Lighthouse employees and members.

Golden Spread Electric Cooperative General Manager Bob Bryant then gave a report on the activities of Golden Spread in the area of wholesale power supplies, including the decisions by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in the rate cases filed by Southwestern Public Service in 1984 and 1985, and the settlement between SPS and Golden Spread of another filing made by Golden Spread in 1989 asking for lower wholesale rates. As a result of the settlement of the three cases, Golden Spread received approximately $11.5 million, which was returned to its member systems. Lighthouse's share of this refund amounted to about $995,000. In addition, the wholesale power rate was lowered approximately 10% effective January 1, 1990.

Bryant reported that Golden Spread was pleased with what had been accomplished in 1990 in keeping wholesale power rates affordable, but he also reported that the 1984 and 1985 rate cases were not completely settled just yet, as the FERC decisions had been appealed to Federal Courts, and Golden Spread is still in a position of defending these cases. He also stated that Golden Spread will continue to make every effort to see that electric rates remain affordable both now and in the future.

Emcee Jones then introduced Orland Gilbert of the Cooperative's accounting firm of Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert, and Moss, to present the report of their audit of the Cooperative's 1990 business.

Next on the program was Lighthouse General Manager Bill Harbin, who expressed his appreciation to the members for showing an interest in their Cooperative by attending the meeting. He then introduced the Lighthouse directors and their wives, and recognized two employees who have reached milestones in their careers. First to be introduced was Athalee Beckham, Cooperative accountant, who retired in 1990.

Athalee was presented a resolution of appreciation for her 32 years of service to Hall County and Lighthouse Electric Cooperatives. Harbin then paid tribute to Hall County District Line Superintendent W.M. Kilpatrick, who plans to retire later this year after 45 years of service to the Cooperatives.

In his business report to the membership, Harbin stated that, as the auditor had said in his report, the financial condition of the Cooperative is excellent. He also reported that the operational condition of the Cooperative is excellent, and that the employees of the Cooperative are striving for excellence in service to the members.

Harbin reported that the Cooperative experienced a good year in 1990, with some growth in services, and was able to retire about a quarter of a million dollars in capital credits. He also stated that capital credits in about the same amount will be paid in 1991, and the power cost reductions of 1990 continue to be enjoyed in 1991.

He then reviewed a graph in the annual report which showed the members average cost of power from 1987 to 1990. While the cost of power was down in 1990 from what it was in 1987, Harbin stated, "We're not satisfied. We would like to see your power costs even lower. That is why we continue to work through Golden Spread to explore every possibility, and every alternative, to reduce your power costs."

He went on to say, "We have what I feel is a new cooperative spirit with our power supplier, Southwestern Public Service Company. They are an excellent power company. We have been at odds with them from time to time, but there is no doubt that they are one of the best power companies in the country. We have worked with them, and we have had the reductions we have talked about through the FERC."

"They have also instituted a new program of load management that we may be able to take advantage of. If you are an irrigator, you will be hearing from us very shortly about a program which may be an opportunity for you to reduce your power costs by accepting some Cooperative control over the scheduling of your irrigation. We will certainly talk to you about the details, and it will be strictly a voluntary program."

"It appears to be an opportunity to save as much as 7% to 8% on your irrigation bill if you choose to participate in the program, but you will of course be able to examine the details before you are asked to make a decision on whether or not to participate. We hope to have the details forthcoming to you very soon."

In closing his remarks, Harbin stated, "I pledge to you that we plan to do every reasonable thing we can to control your power costs, while at the same time maintaining your electric system as it should be maintained."

After recognition of this year's Member Services Committee who planned the meeting, the youngest and oldest members present were also recognized. The youngest member present was Marsha Ball of Plainview, and the oldest member present was W.F. Sauls, 94, of Quitaque.

Door prizes were given throughout the meeting. The grand prize, a choice of several appliances, was won by Mrs. J.R. Kelley of the Cedar Hill community.

Hospital reviews problems

day, April 23, that the loan had been denied by The American State Bank for the same reason as made by the First National Bank of Floydada.

"At this point," said Keltz, "our alternatives are limited. We are seeking a legal opinion regarding the legality of a hospital district borrowing funds to meet operational deficits and to service debts. It will all be discussed at the board meeting on April 25, at 1:00 p.m., and we should know more by then."

Also discussed at the April 9 meeting was the possibility of the hospital applying for a grant.

Bill Bryant, of Methodist Hospital, discussed with the board a grant which may be available to rural hospitals in the near future. The grant could be as much as $200,000.00. The hospitals who apply for this grant must be willing to scale down their services and meet the requirements set forth.

Melba Vickers made the motion and Joy Assiter seconded that the hospital apply for the grant. The motion stated that the board, given the current financial status and census, make a resolution that it is their intent to make a wholehearted effort to convert to a Rural Primary Care Hospital, PCH (pronounced "peach").

The board also voted during this meeting to amend their enabling legislation to allow the board to borrow money as needed for operations, maintenance, and debt retirement. This motion passed unanimously.

In the April 15 meeting Dr. Jordan and Dr. Hale met with the board to discuss the financial status of the hospital. The board members asked for the support of the doctors with as many admissions and census days as possible.

Both doctors assured the board of their support and stated that they were admitting all who met criteria. The doctors told the board that they felt a surgeon was needed to increase census days, as the doctors now had to send cases out.

In the regular board meeting in March, Keltz reported that the house owned by the hospital was been listed with a local real estate agent, Sammy Hale. The starting price was set at $35,000.00.

Keltz also gave a comparison report of hospital patient days. The census for the past five months was greater than any year in comparison with the exception of February. It was felt that this decline was due to the leaving of Dr. Lopez.

The financial review was given at the March meeting. It reported money on hand in the:

Tax Account: $65,893.39
EMS Account: $4,371.15
FNB Lockney: $28,975.39
FNB Floydada: $-2,301.31
Total: $96,938.62

January income was reported at $89,388.08 and disbursements were, $93,386.50.

February income was reported at $110,099.14 and disbursements were, $121,528.53.

Bids were opened on the station wagon and jeep owned by the hospital. The high bid on the station wagon was $350.00 by Noorali Kassom and $301.50 for the jeep by Wayne Edwards. The bids were accepted.

Keltz also presented a plan to offer patients a way to pay their bills if they do not have money. The Sterling Credit Systems will take these patients with very little paper work and will attempt to collect these bills. They will pay the hospital 90% of the amount collected. Melba Vickers made the motion and Fred Thayer seconded the motion that the system be used at Caprock. The motion carried unanimously.

Hiring a firm to recruit a physician for the hospital was discussed at the March meeting. The board decided to use the Methodist recruiter and Terry Keltz.

Methodist's recruiter offered one physician, Dr. Gordon, from New Jersey, to come to Floydada (expenses paid by the board) for an interview and visit.

Keltz will go to Ft. Worth and interview some resident physicians and attempt to recruit one of them. The board indicated that they would desire to not go over $120,000.00 in a guarantee. Dr. Ochoa's desire to come back to Floydada was discussed, and the board indicated that when he received his Texas license, they would talk to him.

Harbin, Younger victorious at regional track tune-up

By Bill Gray
Floydada's Aaron Harbin and Tian Younger won their respective events at Abernathy's regional qualifiers' track meet on April 19.
Although Harbin cleared 12 feet to finish second to Dimmitt's Ken Heller in last week's district contest, the F.H.S.

junior's 11'-6" at Abernathy held up to take first place honors in pole vault. Heller didn't compete at Abernathy, but is expected to be a top contender in the regional finals on April 26 and 27 in Odessa.
Younger, who set a new record in the 300 hurdles in last week's district finals will be one of the favorites in Odessa. Although off her district-winning mark of 47.49, the Lady 'Wind sophomore finished first at Abernathy with a 47.75 effort. The regional competition will be strong, but if Tian continues to rack the 48-second barrier, and can manage to knock off some more ticks from her time, she has a good chance to represent Floydada at the state meet.

Elisa Suarez is the only other Lady 'Wind to qualify for regionals. Suarez continues to improve her time in the 3200. She finished fourth at Abernathy after cutting her time in the metric two mile by 37 seconds.

Gymnastics participants earn ribbons and medals

The following children represented the Floydada area in the Southwest Tumbling and Trampoline Association District II Championship and state qualifying meet on April 13.
"These kids worked very hard and represented the Floydada area wonderfully at this meet," said coaches Albert Treto and Topper Cogan. "Thanks for all the support of the parents of these children and congratulations to the kids."

Following is a list of the participants, along with their places. Their place in tumbling is listed first, followed by their place in trampoline:

- Chelsea Kirk, 6, 5; Dea Watson, 8, 8; Laura Reddy, 2, 1; Lindsey Reddy, 5, 4; Ragan Beedy, 3, 2; Resa Mercado, 4, 7; Sabrina Osborn, 6, 4; Dustin Covington, 6, 4; Ashley Norrell, 6, 4; Jeffrey Lyles, 2, 2; Melissa Dunlap, 7, 1; Monica Mason, 2, 1; Jamie Taylor, 1, 2; Victoria Cummings, 2, 5; Ken Cummings, 1, 1; Tricia Coursey, 3, 6; Jason Henderson, 3, 1; Tiffany Henderson, 2, 4.

These children qualified for the state meet at Texas Tech in Lubbock on May 11: Jeffrey Lyles, tumbling and trampoline; Sabrina Osborn, trampoline; Ragan Beedy, trampoline; Lindsey Reddy, tumbling; Jamie Taylor, tumbling; Ken Cummings, both; Victoria Cummings, both; Jason Henderson, both.

FHS senior pictures needed

The Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon will be printing pictures of the 1991 Floydada High School graduating class next month. Photos have been obtained for the majority of the students, but some were unavailable.

If these students would like to have their picture included in the newspaper, please bring your photograph by the Hesperian-Beacon office by 5:00 p.m. Thursday, May 2. If you do not have a photo, we will take your picture here in the office.

Photographs are needed for the following students: Victor Chavarria, Guadalupe Chavez, Kenneth Collins, Donlee Cooper, Michael Gonzalez, Sallinda Hart, Noelia Huerta, Freddy Martinez, Troy Peel, Adrian Pleasant, Jerry Wickware, Armando Rios and Janie Rios.

The Whirlwinds' Jaime Suarez registered a disappointing seventh place in the 3200 at Abernathy with a time of 10:50 (a full ten seconds slower than his district runner-up clocking). Tulia's Darin Via set the pace in the two mile at Abernathy with a quick 10:20.52. Via won the event at the 2-3A meet with a 10:36.53, and will be one of the favorites at regional.

Floydada's Michael Henderson performed well in the triple jump with a 41'-3-1/4" leap (short of his school record of 43'-4-1/2" set last week). Mike Smith of Tulia won the triple with a jump of 43'-8-1/4". Whirlwind Brad Emert found the going rough in the 100 meters and finished sixth with a time of 11.18. Littlefield's Marcus Huey, the District 2-3A champ in the 100, placed second with a time of 10.73.

The Whirlwinds' 400 relay team of Emert, Henderson, Brian Teeple and Freddie Portee figures to be one of the front-runners at region, along with their old nemesis, the Tulia Homets. The 'Wind 400 team ran well at Abernathy. Memphis won with a 42.72, followed by Tulia's 42.78. Floydada closed fast for the third spot with a time of 43.64.

The Whirlwinds and Lady 'Winds have several possibilities for advancement from the regionals to Austin's 2-3A State Track Meet in May.

City Council hears complaint

for that meeting.

At that time, Ratliff stated that Hale had been "rude and vulgar" in telling her she was interfering in an investigation and to return home and mind her own business when she attempted to inform him that the mother of the juvenile he was questioning had asked her for assistance. Ratliff told the council that the woman had called her and asked her to come inform Hale that she did not want him talking to her son without a lawyer present.

The council returned to open session at 8:05 p.m. after hearing statements from both Hale and Ratliff. Mayor Russell asked the council for whatever motion they felt was proper and necessary regarding the matter.

Councilman Eric Cornelius said, "As I understand the situation, Mrs. Ratliff was wrong in interfering in the investigation conducted by Chief Hale."

Mayor Russell said, "Our attorney has advised us that Mrs. Ratliff was acting in an unlawful manner in interfering in the matter and that she was in error in not leaving when asked to by Chief Hale."

Councilman Tipton added, "Based on that fact, I don't see the need for taking any action in the matter."

Mayor Russell then said, "I would like to say for Mrs. Ratliff's benefit that we have suggested to our chief that he be a little more professional in the manner in which he conducts himself in the future."

Ratliff attempted at this point to begin an open discussion of the matter saying, "Whatever Chief Hale has lead you to believe is wrong."

City attorney Karen Houchin informed the council that further discussion and any rebuttal statements by Hale or Ratliff should be in executive session. She asked that the council return to executive session and that everyone be removed from the council room so that she might speak with the council concerning their options in handling the matter.

The council again returned to open session about fifteen minutes later.

Councilman Amado Morales then explained to Ratliff, "The evidence doesn't weigh too heavily at this time. With no witness such as the mother or the son, it is your word against Chief Hale's."

Mayor Russell continued the explanation saying, "in accordance with what our attorney advises us, there is no action we should take at this time other than to ask the chief to act in a more professional manner in doing his job."

Morales made a motion to take no action at present. The motion was seconded by Councilman Leroy Burns. Vote for the motion was unanimous.

Russell then told Ratliff that this ended the matter at present but did not prevent her from bringing charges again if she could present witnesses or evidence to prove her allegations.

Ratliff thanked the council for hearing her complaint and said, "I don't feel that it will be necessary to bring the matter up again."

Adjournment followed her statement.

Attending the session were Mayor Wayne Russell and councilmen Leroy Burns, Amado Morales, Ruben Barrientos, Wayne Tipton and Eric Cornelius. Also present for the session were city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart, city manager Gary Brown, city attorney Karen Houchin, Linda Ratliff, Joe Stepp and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Senate Bill 351 is accepted by court

indicate that Floydada will gain approximately $200 per student during the first year of the plan based on average daily attendance.

Cannon added, "It is hard to figure out, but basically what we are talking about is an increase that takes care of inflation."

Cannon estimated a tax rate increase of about eight cents in order to qualify the Floydada district for the maximum level of state funding. The eight cents would be added to the current rate of 78 cents per $100 valuation, bringing the local school tax rate to 84 cents per $100 valuation.

"I am convinced that we will receive additional money, but how much is anybody's guess at this point," said LISD superintendent Dub Hallmark. "I am equally convinced that we will break even but at this point, I do not know how much we will have to raise taxes in order to do it.

"The best I can tell, looking at my figures, we should have an estimated increase in state revenues of $154,000.00," stated Hallmark. "In order to receive that amount from the state, we will have to raise taxes an estimated 3 cents.

"This level of state funding would result in an estimated shortfall in next year's budget of approximately $254 per student. It would take an additional three cents to make that up, resulting in a tax increase of at least 6 cents per $100 in valuation added to our current rate of 86 cents."

FUNDING ELEMENTS

OF SENATE BILL 351

The compromise school funding bill establishes 188 taxing regions for the purpose of equalizing local property wealth and provides certain basic guarantees for districts which tax themselves at set tax rates. The plan is formulated in two parts or tiers, a basic program and an enrichment, debt service and facility funding level. The entire plan containing both funding and educational reforms is to be phased in over the next four year period.

The bill establishes a minimum tax rate of 72 cents per $100 valuation beginning next year. This minimum tax level must increase to a rate of $1.00 per $100 valuation by the 1994-95 school year in 10 cent increments. Local districts would have the option of increasing taxes by an additional amount of up to 45 cents per $100 valuation for the purpose of maintenance and operations, construction or debt retirement. In addition, the plan provides for the establishment of an immediate $50 million emergency grant program for facilities construction during the next two years.

Under tier one of the bill, a basic allotment of $2,200 per student is established. This will increase by $200 each year until it reaches $2,800 in 1995. For each cent a district levys in tax at the tier two level (above the minimum rate), the state will provide a guaranteed yield of $21.50 per student increasing to $28.00 in 1995. These funds are no longer subject to recapture if a district raises more than these amounts.

The plan imposes a revenue limit which goes into effect if two percent of the students in Texas have access to more than ten percent of the total revenue available at a tax rate of $1.25 as calculated for the 1994-95 year.

The bill also calls for an extensive interim study of all program costs, cost differences, size differences and other elements.

QUALITY, EFFICIENCY AND ACCOUNTABILITY ELEMENTS OF SB 351

Among the non-financial elements of the bill is a lengthening of the school year. Beginning in the 1991-92 school year, students will attend school for 180 days rather than the standard 175 days. Teachers will remain on 183 day contracts.

The bill requires that notices of public hearings concerning tax increases include a statement of the tax rate which would maintain current revenues and the proposed rate. The notice must also contain a statement that the state does not require a district to maximize its state funds under the guaranteed yield portion of the plan.

Among the changes the bill calls for is the development of a three-year-old pre-kindergarten beginning with the 1991-92 school year. A district with 15 qualified three-year-olds will receive daily funding for those attending the special kindergarten program. Qualified children are those who are unable to speak or comprehend English or come from a family whose income is at or below the state subsistence level.

The bill includes a technology allotment in the tier one level. The allotment begins in the 1992-93 school year at $30 per student. It increases each year until it peaks at $50 per student in the 1996-97 school year. This allotment must be used for computer software, hardware, training and related services. A minimum of 75 percent of these funds must be used for classroom instruction.

Final provisions of the plan transfer the power to grant waivers and exemptions from certain state requirements and restrictions to the commissioner of education. It also requires districts to report their progress towards a district level decision process.

Currently, schools deemed ineffective may be operated by the state, closed or consolidated by the commissioner of education if they remain academically unaccredited for a period of two years. This bill changes the unaccredited period to one year before state authorities step in.

Garcia is back after eight months

Because of their work, when the ground war started, Garcia's unit was out in front headed for Kuwait. "We were there to clear passageways through minefields and trenches for the soldiers coming behind us."

Asked if he stayed worried over the danger of clearing minefields, Garcia said, "Our training for the job was very difficult, and the mines weren't anywhere near as hard to disarm as what we had expected. They were a big joke."

"The anticipation and the wait was the worse part. Once we got started it wasn't bad at all."

Because of being 'out in front', thousands of prisoners surrendered to Garcia's unit. "We took a lot of prisoners. There were so many I couldn't even guess at the numbers. We would turn them over to the reserve unit behind us. I don't know where they would take them because we were moving too fast. "They (the prisoners) were glad to see us and glad the bombing had stopped. They seemed to be in pretty good shape and were very friendly toward us. They hated Hussein and many of them were carrying signs that said, 'NO SADDAM'."

"A few tank and artillery rounds were fired but we didn't have to fight them. Most of them had leaflets that had been dropped to them from the air. (The leaflets asked the Iraqis to surrender and promised they would be treated well).

Because the forward movement went so quickly and easily, objectives were accomplished much faster than expected (Garcia was back in Saudi Arabia in four days). "We were supposed to go into Kuwait but another unit got there before we did, so we stopped outside the city," said Garcia.

"We were part of the liberators," said Garcia with a smile. "The civilians were not there when we arrived, but as we were leaving and going back to Saudi Arabia the civilians were coming back home.

"We saw a lot of them driving into Kuwait waving flags and cheering at us. It made you feel pretty good."

Even though the city of Kuwait wasn't in too bad of shape, said Garcia, the city of Khafgi was "Khafgi looked terrible, and the environment (referring to the burning oil wells) was in a horrible mess."

"It seemed like it was raining oil on us. You would keep taking showers but you felt like you couldn't get it off. One time at noon it was pitch black because of the burning oil."

Dealing with the fear of war and the separation from his family was made easier on Garcia through his companionship with the other men in his unit and the support he received from home.

"Our unit was real tight," said Garcia. "We stayed close together and spent a lot of time joking around to keep our minds off of things. There were also some Vietnam vets there with us who helped us out a lot."

"The people in Floydada showed us a lot of support, and I want to thank them for that. I would receive ya'lls paper and it would be passed around. Everybody wanted stuff to read."

Sneaking back to Camp Pendleton at 2:00 a.m., Garcia and his unit were not met by any large crowds, but they knew the support was there. "Even though we didn't see it," said Garcia, "we heard stories from the guys who came in before us. They told us people were lining the roads cheering. It was a massive show of support."

"We still felt like we were a part of that and it made us feel good."

May 1 is the day Garcia is expected back in Camp Pendleton. With luck he will return for Floyd County's July 4th celebration to honor their servicemen. "I'm going to try and be here," said Garcia. "Maybe since it is so important I'll be granted a leave."

With even better luck, Garcia won't be so far away from his close knit family by July 4. Maybe he'll get his wish and be transferred to the Lubbock base.

Drive safely.

Don't wreck your life.

Producers Cooperative Elevator elects directors at annual meeting

Producers Cooperative Elevator served 249 guest and members at their annual stockholders meeting, April 16, at the Massie Activity Center.

Elected to the board for the 1991-92 year were Melvin Lloyd (holdover director) and new director Tom Pierce. Other directors returning to the board are: Kenneth Willis, president; Carmel Eastham, vice president; Larry Jones, secretary-treasurer; Joe Jones, and Bob Vickers, manager and assistant treasurer.

Brandon Durbin, of Durbin and Company, gave the audit report. Net income for 1990 was reported to be $151,454 compared to the 1989 report of $149,999. Total current assets are $2,319,734 compared to 1989 $2,777,704.

Total liabilities as reported by Durbin, are $698,401 in 1990, compared to $1,213,417 at the end of 1989.

Bob Vickers gave his yearly manager's report to the crowd. "He stated that Producers had a 10,000 bushel bin all cleaned out, and if it didn't rain soon, it's all we're going to need."

"There are several reasons for this strong financial report. I think it is a lot stronger than it is going to be next year."

For one thing we had the best wheat crop with the best yield per acre in recent history. In 1990 your association received about 3/4 of a million bushels of wheat. That is compared to 1989 when we received about 150 thousand bushels.

"Milo and corn receipts were also good for the year, considering the large acreage and excellent cotton crop grown in this area in 1990.

"Grain marketing is a two fold operation. Receiving or originating the grain is only one function at Producers. The other very important and most important is merchandising."

"In this respect we have some very good assistance in the area as provided by Texas Cooperative Marketing Exchange in Dimmitt, Texas. Producers became a member of TCMX in 1986."

"We also had continued improvements in the chemical and fertilizer department of Producers. Sales revenue in 1990 in this area increased 1/2 million dollars."

"A total of $640,000 has been returned to members in the past five years," said Vickers.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I hope that we have Little Dribblers next year. I don't blame you if we do not have it, but it is really good for people my age, 11, to learn from and how to play basketball and be pretty good at the sport before we get into Jr. High and High School. I can tell how much I have improved just during the two years I have been in it. I believe others will be the same way in the future if people in the stands would calm down, sit down, relax, and just enjoy the ballgame.

Sincerely,
Leslianne Hickerson

Program planning underway

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby-Floyd Counties

The 1990 insect scouting season is just around the corner. Planning is currently underway for the 1990 Crosby-Floyd Pest Management scouting program. Crosby-Floyd county producers should be receiving a notice shortly concerning acreage enrollment into the program. Producers interested in enrolling some acreage should either complete and return that card or call my office at 675-2426. Following are some of the details about the program, which will hopefully provide producers with a fair understanding of the program's structure and intent.

The Crosby-Floyd Scouting Program is designed to assist and educate producers in proper pest management decision making, and to demonstrate the value of regular field scouting. The program is education-oriented. Participating producers are not alleviated of making management decisions or of all field-scouting activities. Rather, they are provided with enough information to make educated pest management decisions, and they receive assistance in making decisions, if needed. This program demonstrates the value of regular field scouting on a field by field basis, either by the producer or a hired consultant.

Scouting program participants receive a weekly scouting report for each field enrolled in the program. These reports include such information as plant growth stage, plant damage ratings, number of pests per acre, number and types of beneficials present, and fruit set. A copy of each report is received by the County Entomologist (PM) within one day or less of the time in which the information was recorded. If any pest populations are at critical levels, the producer is contacted immediately and is advised of possible options in making a management decision.

Program guidelines are set by the Crosby-Floyd Pest Management Steering Committee, which is made up of producers and agri-businessmen from the two-county area. Field scouts are hired by the Texas Pest Management Association (TPMA), a non-profit producer organization. Technical assistance is provided by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The program is funded entirely by per acre scouting fees collected from participating producers. A portion of the scouting fees will go to TPMA for administrative purposes. However, all the rest of the money is used to pay field scouts for wages and travel reimbursement. The number of scouts hired depends totally on the amount of participation in the program. The scouting period lasts approximately 13 weeks.

Producers can enroll an entire farm, or just one field. Depending on the location of the field, there is a minimal field size required to justify time and travel required for the 13-week scouting period. Optimum field size is 80-100 acres per enrolled field. Payment for scouting services is paid at the beginning of the season. In the event that a field is hailed out, payment will be pro-rated and returned, less the cost of TPMA fees and previous scouting. Producers receive maximum advantage of the program by enrolling fields early. In this way, we can help producers set and maintain an early crop.

Producers may not have insect problems in every field, every year. However, the cost of per acre scouting fees can be recovered several times over by only one properly-timed control application or by prevention of only one unnecessary insecticide application.

Steps needed to reduce disease

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Crosby-Floyd County producers need to take steps to reduce the chances of seedling disease development in cotton. Seedling disease reduces plant stands, delays maturity, causes reductions in yield, and may even cause total stand loss, resulting in replanting.

The three components necessary for disease development include: host, pathogen, and conducive environmental conditions. The seedling disease complex affecting High Plains cotton is made up of various soil-borne fungi. The major pathogens in the High Plains include Rhizoctonia solani, Fusarium, Pythium, and sometimes Thielaviopsis basicola. Cool, wet weather is conducive for infection of seedling cotton and for development of these disease pathogens.

Seedling diseases often occur in combinations, thus the term "seedling disease complex". Seedling infection occurs either pre-emergent or after

USDA/EPA to assist growers

The United States Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency are working together to assist growers affected by the accelerated process to re-evaluate existing agricultural chemicals.

EPA is conducting a major review of older pesticides to make sure they meet current scientific standards. Based on changes to the Federal pestilentially law (the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act, or FIFRA), pestilentially registrants must provide EPA with an up-to-date data base for their chemicals. Registrants must also pay fees to EPA to help support this massive re-registration effort.

The FIFRA re-registration requirement, and the anticipated reduction in number of agricultural chemicals available, will impact producers who rely upon chemicals for which there is a limited market, especially those of "minor crops" such as most fruits, vegetables, flowers, and ornamentals.

To help growers and producers, USDA Deputy Secretary Jack Parnell and EPA Assistant Administrator Linda Fisher have convened a minor Use Work Group to improve how information about pestilentially cancellations is communicated to growers and other interested people in a timely fashion.

Growers can call 1-800-262-0216 Monday-Friday (9 a.m. to 3 p.m. EDT) for more information on the re-registration of minor use chemicals. This number will connect them with personnel operating USDA's National Agriculture Pesticide Impact Assessment Program.

The Minor Use Work Group also is evaluating alternatives for reducing the impact of re-registration requirements.

USDA and EPA are supporting the development of a database to keep current the registration and re-registration information for pesticides on a crop-by-crop basis. They are also taking steps to set up an early notification network to keep growers and any other potential registrants advised of the current status of pesticides important to their crops.

In most instances, chemicals or their uses are being dropped by their registrants for economic, marketing, or other reasons and not because they are known to pose unacceptable risks to human health or the environment.

Under the provisions of re-registration, registrants have the option of deleting pestilentially uses by voluntarily withdrawing registration for product uses that are not economically attractive to continue producing. In those cases EPA has the responsibility to cancel the registration or crop use.

Pesticide uses have already been dropped for many fruit and vegetable crops. Many more uses are expected to be dropped in the near future. Efforts are underway to allow for the re-registration of vital uses and to address the concerns of growers.

Growers can contact extension specialists, pestilentially coordinators in state Departments of Agriculture and the planned user notification system to obtain early warning about the regulatory status of chemicals that are vital to the production of specific crops. The key to dealing with the consequences of re-registration is keeping informed of the re-registration process and following the progress of the chemicals in use.

seedlings emerge from the soil. Damaged seedlings may show stunting, slow growth, and chlorosis. Plants pulled from the soil often have rotted roots and sunken dark lesions on the hypocotyl (the area between roots and stems). The greatest loss from seedling disease may not necessarily be from a thinner stand, but from poor vigor of surviving seedlings. Seedling diseases are most severe when poor quality seed are planted.

Control is best achieved by utilizing both cultural and chemical practices. Planting should be delayed until the 10-day average of the minimum soil temperature at the 8-inch soil depth is 60 degrees F or greater and the 5-day weather forecast is favorable for planting. Use high quality seed preferably acid delinted.

Plant the most vigorous seed first, as indicated by the cool-warm vigor germination index. Plant on raised, well-prepared seed beds and at a minimum depth. Practice crop rotation to the extent possible. Treat seed with at least one recommended seed-protectant fungicide.

AGRICULTURE
is the life-blood of Floyd County
Let's all support it.

HB enhances ethanol production

Hearings began in Austin last month on a bill which Texas corn producers have backed for a long time. House Bill 819 promotes economic development of ethanol production in Texas by providing a .50 cent a gallon incentive to small ethanol producers.

"We have been a supporter of sound ethanol legislation in Texas for years," says Carl King, TCPB executive director. "This bill will help provide a stronger market for Texas corn and help our state meet clean air requirements set forth by the federal Clean Air Act last year."

The bill, introduced by Rep. Pete Laney of Hale Center, provides for funding at no cost to state taxpayers. Money would come directly from the state rural development fund. Funding would be most beneficial to smaller ethanol producers.

King, who testified before the legislative hearings along with TCPB board member Lois Wales, points out that "the whole idea behind this proposed legislation was to promote research and production of farmer-owned and other small, privately-owned ethanol plants."

The legislation includes a cap in which plants which produce more than 10 million gallons of ethanol don't qualify for funding.

King sees a strong possibility of small ethanol plants being constructed at or near feedyards.

"In these cases, wet or dry distillers grain obtained in the ethanol production would be fed to livestock," he says. "Ethanol produced at such plants would actually be a by-product."

"In the past, ethanol production hasn't been feasible in Texas when corn prices reached a certain level," says King. "But the .50 cents a gallon incentive, plus a measure in the Clear Air Act which provides a relief from federal excise tax, should help offset this situation."

Passage of this House bill would enable ethanol sales to compete more evenly with unleaded gasoline sales.

Also, the measure would help Texans and other Americans become less dependent on foreign oil and less likely to become engaged in another "Gulf War," says King.

Rural land values projected to remain steady after decline

Most state-wide Texas rural land values decreased from 1989 to 1990 but are projected to remain steady through the next 12 months, say observers of the state's rural land markets.

Gilliland's projections are based on median value estimates—not actual sale prices—reported by knowledgeable observers of the Texas rural land market.

"The focus in land markets has returned to economic fundamentals," Gilliland said. "In locales where agricultural product markets are economically sound, values are firming or increasing. Those areas where values reflect non-agricultural factors face difficult times."

Texas panelists recorded a median estimated value of $550 per acre for irrigated cropland, virtually unchanged from the $563 per acre estimate in the second half of 1989. Typical tract size was 300 acres. Values ranged from $250 per acre for low quality land in extreme north Texas to $2,000 per acre for high quality land in central Texas. Observers noted an estimated 4 percent increase in the number of parcels offered for sale and the number of parcels sold from 1989 to 1990. Irrigated cropland values are expected to remain stable during the next 12 months.

Average quality nonirrigated cropland was estimated at $500 per acre, down $100 from the second half of 1989 estimate. Typical tract size was 200 acres. The lowest estimate of $188 for low quality land was found in the Panhandle and the highest estimate of $1,425 for high quality land was reported in south central Texas. Panelists reported a 5 percent increase in both the number of tracts offered for sale and the number of tracts sold over the past year. Respondents predicted no change in nonirrigated cropland values during the next 12 months.

Native rangeland had an estimated value of $450 per acre. The second half of 1989 value was $513 per acre. Panelists reported a median tract size of 310 acres. Low quality land in extreme West Texas was estimated at $30 per acre, and high quality land in Southeast Texas was estimated at $1,375 per acre. Observers reported a 5 percent average increase in both the number of tracts for sale and the number sold from the past year. No change in value is forecast for native rangeland over the next 12 months.

Producers and consumers dominated the Texas rural land market, according to respondents. Panelists cited "agricultural production" and "expansion of existing operations" as buyers' primary motivations. In contrast, "financial stress" was listed as the primary motivation behind sales.

Across the rest of the Southwest, estimated values of irrigated cropland and rangeland increased or decreased, depending on local conditions. However, irrigated cropland appears to have maintained its value better than any other type of agricultural land in the region, Gilliland said.

State-wide median estimated native rangeland values increased in New Mexico and decreased in Arizona and Oklahoma. Gilliland said these comparisons represent state-wide values, which frequently differ substantially from regional estimates.

Rural land values in Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma also are expected to remain stable through the next 12 months.

Gilliland's findings are detailed in Rural Land Values in the Southwest: Second Half, 1990. The 40-page report analyzes trends in Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. It is available for $2.50 from Department NR, Real Estate Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2115. Request publication 845.

WEATHER

This week's moisture, two medium dews! Lowest temperature, 42 both Thursday and Saturday mornings. Maximum temperature was in the mid-80s Wednesday. Not saying that '91 is a cooler year, but that excessive push into 90 degree temperatures experienced in March or April on most years has not happened this year.

Sunday marked the end of the first 30 days of Spring and with it went most of the merciless winds each new March throws at us, apparently for no purpose other than to prove just how onery and cantankerous West Texas weather can be. The difference in the 30 days just past and the days to come lies in the little going-away presents they leave behind. March winds are like a compulsive woman who is never satisfied with her furniture arrangement. After a night of fitful rest she arises each morning to move yesterday's little dunes of sand to different locations on the assumption that a new grouping might please her better. !A present of drifted sand!

!The winds of April, although fully capable of ripping the roof from your house, are different; often they are winds pregnant with promise! Unlike the dry and vengeful winds of March, who, stealing a term from modern shrinkos who labor mightily to excuse the inexcusable, must have been molested and abused by February when they were small; April winds more often bring along a welcome companion, moisture laden clouds and thunderstorms which, in the end, determine the success or failure of that year's efforts in agriculture. The winds of the second 30 days of Spring, when we are lucky, sometimes leave us with puddles of rainwater.

CROP COMMENTS

WHEAT improvement has been impossible this week since no new moisture has been received. The crop continues in its effort to head, but the lack of moisture is halting many heads when only half extruded. Several fields, once designated for harvest, have been condemned, then fenced, and are now being grazed. Occasionally a field can be seen that is virtually in full head, and these fields show less deterioration than the younger wheat. This presents a slim chance for a harvest, however the stalks are very short and many heads will be mangled and lost at the sickle.

COTTON growers continue to exercise restraint in their plans for planting. 1991 is proving to be a year with narrow temperature ranges. It has been warmer than average on the cold side, but those extremely warm afternoons needed to raise soil temperature to planting warmth have also been absent. May 10 is mentioned more often than any other as the date to start planting. However the drying factor worries some farmers and they are moving their plant dates ahead to as early as Wednesday, May 1. There is concern that the early watered ground may have to be watered once more due to evaporation losses.

CORN seems to have lost its last friend at Cedar Hill this year. No known commercial corn is being planted, however producers of hybrid seed corn may be contracting their mini-plots again in '91.

CATTLE on feed numbers, according to a USDA report released Friday, Apr. 19, indicate continued price strength and stability for producers and feeders alike in the immediate future. By the close of futures trading Monday no weakness had developed on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, neither had there been any sharp advances. The futures market, by this action, was endorsing the USDA report, agreeing that the report was exactly on target, and also stating that they considered last week's trading prices needed little adjustment. Much more cautious was Monday's early trading in the feedlots and auction sales. Note these were not paper cattle, but flesh and blood critters, and they were down as much as fifty to seventy five cents per cwt.

It is likely that traders in actual cattle are aware of the tight feed supplies and gloomy prospects for summer pasture and that they anticipate country cattle will soon move to market in numbers large enough to create a temporary glut. There has to be a time when traders who hope to survive will begin to think scared, thereby generating a period of nervous trading before they begin to run scared.

Two weeks ago, on Apr. 17, a portion of Junior and Martha Taylor's yearling cattle were sent to the sale ring, and early this last full-week of April saw a few of the larger operators in the area shipping out their first truck loads of cattle.

ONIONS that were being set in the ground only 30 days ago are firmly rooted and growing beautifully in spring's warming weather. We had fancied the dinner tables of local growers to be well supplied with green onions, but, no, that is not the case; another few days' growth and they will be table size.

Onion growers are not a tight-fisted group, they do share the wealth; the ebbing and flowing sound of a spray plane motor could be heard in the sun-down quiet of Saturday evening as community onion fields got their bi-weekly bath.

FRUITS AND NUTS

APPLES, apples, and more apples; tiny things yet and still concealed within their blossom bases, but already the trees have begun their culling and thinning procedures. Many blossom stems are loosening from the branches; tap a branch and several will be sent falling to the ground; but many, in all probability too many, will survive. The petals have fallen; spraying should have been done days ago.

APRICOTS, what few are left, are approaching marble size, and they are very difficult to see among the developing foliage. After the birds and the bugs have taken their slice from the top, and the hail threat has been factored in, the share left for people could very easily disappear.

CHERRIES in '91 did not bloom with the reckless abandon of former years. The original tree, set out by Marvin near the Listening Post some 25 years ago, has now become a thick forty feet in diameter. Perhaps the thicket's dense tree population inhibited the bloom, still, like the apples, many tiny cherries are coming fast, just days short of being visible.

PEACHES are assuming a more normal appearance and seem becoming more firmly attached to their branches as time goes on. The Listening Post's fruit is very unevenly distributed among the branches. Fruit on the north and west branches is widely scattered while the branches to the south are definitely overloaded. It is essential that thinning be done, and therein lies a problem. We are nearly sure to experience a series of hail-storms when the current drought breaks up, that is the way drought critters normally die. If hand thinning is done first and the correct population is left, then along comes this hail and takes another cut, one could very easily have thinned himself out of a peach crop. It would be nice if nature would hurry and get her thing done first. Fancy one who stands close to farming slowly jockeying himself into a position where he is virtually saying, "I wish it would hurry up and hail."

"I wish it would hurry up and hail," really not such a bad idea! Better to take it the last days of April on defunct wheat than on excellent stands of cotton and other row crops around "June 'teenth!"

PECAN suckers near the Listening Post have born only a few nuts the last two years but for '91 they promise nothing!

WALNUT, our exotic young "Carpathian" generated a lot of excitement in early April '89 when it threw a number of strange raceme-like appendages before any leaves formed. They were similar to the seeding mechanism of the mesquite and the cottonwood and it came as no surprise when they disappeared, the tree was still so very young. !A more determined effort was expected on succeeding years, but nothing has happened! ?Is '91 not to be a nut year?

THE MINI-FARM FRONT

Trudy Gilly's softening her ground with water from a garden hose, allowed her tiller to finally do it's job. Now seeding can begin as soon as Craig demonstrates his skill in applying Prowl herbicide with a hand-held hose applicator. !It's a trap, Craig! !You are being set up to share the blame if that garden doesn't fly!

Cephus Fortenberry rounded out a full week in the hospital after a serious heart scare. Within twenty-four hours after dismissal he had his tomato plants set out. !It's a trap, Cephus! !You are being set up for—! :: ?Oh, what's the use? !Just go ahead; hope you get to eat those tomatoes! !And next years too!

Martha Taylor has several of the little spring swifties up and growing. Last year's tomato plot has been soaked to germinate volunteers; that's her source for plants each year.

Penny Taylor hired a columnist with a roto-tiller to follow Bud's ripper across her garden last Friday. She rushed her seed into the ground and today her plants are starting to break the surface.

Listening Post onions, some of them "purples" extracted from onions gleaned in Jay Lackey's field last August, are well established. Potatoes, English peas, and a few cloves of garlic are reaching for the surface.

Clint Ware has field-planted a roasting ear patch where he lives along the rim of the canyons down in "coon country." !Down 'mongst all those coons Clint will need a powerful big corn patch or maybe something in the way of special skills! !Maybe the Wares have that skill! !Clint's grand-dad, Old-Bill Ware, successfully ranched sheep for years, right where Clint lives, deep in the heart of "coyote country."

A number of community gardeners are walking the conservative path, holding back their efforts until good, old, solid cotton planting time gets here. !Mebbe-so that's smart; mebbe-so they'll miss being hailed out that way!

THE LEANING CEDARS

Apr. 18: After rounding out a full eight days of treatment for heart related problems Cephus Fortenberry was dismissed from Lockney General Hospital last Thursday. They gave him all the do's and don't's, the customary cautions heart patients usually get at dismissal, so he went home and fenced a grazing patch for his solitary calf. Don't be influenced too much by the wording of this article, Cephus also spent considerable time in the house, taking care of himself.

THE DESSICATED CEDARS

A busy week at Edna Gilly's saw the arrival of her mother Ruthie Bell Clark from Austin on Monday, Apr. 15; the working of her cattle on Tuesday; the shifting to cattle to different wheat pastures on Wednesday; a trip to visit her Aunt Virgie Flowers in Amarillo, accompanied by her mother and her Aunt Juanita Teeple on Thursday; and dinner in Plainview Saturday with nephew Larry and Sunny (Lawson) Hammit of Tiawan, Reed and Maudie Lawson, Lockney, and Gertrude Hammit of Plainview.

Apr. 16: Ronald and Doris (Cypert) McPeak visited in the J.A. Welch home Tuesday. Doris was looking over the old home place and other points of memory at the community where she grew up.

Some of the visitors in the Cephus Fortenberry home since his return from the hospital were the following: Troy and Jean Smith, Dumas, Friday, Apr. 19; Newell Parker and Emogene Stansell, Floydada, Saturday, Apr. 20; Robin and Ruth Fortenberry, Hereford, Saturday, Apr. 20; and Robert, Gwen, and Robin Conner, and Joshua Harden, Amarillo, Sunday, Apr. 21.

Apr. 21: Neil and Charlene Langley were fortunate to have all their descendants visiting in their home Sunday. Andy, Brenda, Dusty, and Whitney were down from Pampa. Kathy was up from Lubbock, bringing her fiance, Stuart Vick.

Apr. 21: Norma and J.A. Welch paid their daughter, Connie and Steve Pritchett, a visit on her birthday (almost) in Amarillo, Sunday. J.A.'s father also lives in Amarillo.

Apr. 22: Dara Ware took leave of her practice teaching class in Tulia to attend the West Texas State Teacher's University job-fair in Canyon Monday afternoon. The fair offers a wonderful opportunity each spring for those seeking positions as teachers and also school officials who need to find teachers to meet and consider each other's credentials. The fair is tri-state in scope and attracts experienced teachers as well as first-job seekers.

Apr. 26/27/28: Remember: Friday evening, Saturday, and Sunday are the dates for the annual "Drag-A-Ranch Steer Roping" located SE of Flomot in Motley County, Texas. This enjoyable exhibition of cowboys-in-competition is sponsored and managed in late April of each year by the Teen Burleson family of Cedar Hill. This roping is one portion of a multi-faceted effort by the Burleson family to establish a permanent scholarship fund at Clarendon College in memory of their deceased son and brother, Dusty Burleson, who was a student at Clarendon at the time of his death.

Pack 259 takes top honors at Plainview Scout Show

Lockney's Cub Scout Pack won two blue ribbons at the Scout Show in Plainview, April 13. Pack 259's double booth had a box hockey game, a rough-and-tumble pillow fight and a display of Cub Scout thingamajigs.

Lockney Cub leaders reported it was one of the most popular booths at the show. Several local boys and leaders were there.

The Lockney Cubs were scheduled to combine with the Lockney Baseball Association, Tuesday night, for a Dads and Kids baked goods auction.

This weekend, the Cub Scouts and their families head to Roaring Springs for the Pack 259 family campout. The following weekend, several Lockney families plan to go to Camp Post for the Haynes District family campout.

TIME FOR PILLOW FIGHTS—Lockney Cub Scouts' Booth was a popular place at the Scout Show April 13 in

Commercial vehicle drivers will need new license by April 1992

(Editor's Note: The following story was compiled from information provided by an interview with DPS Sgt. Triplett and stories written by Grady Simmons of The Lubbock Avalanche Journal and Richard Orr of the Plain-view Daily Herald)

In less than one year, all drivers who operate commercial motor vehicles will be required to get a new commercial driver's license.

After April 1, 1992, all commercial drivers must comply with the commercial driver's license law that was established by the Texas legislature in 1989.

Sgt. G. Douglass Triplett of the Department of Public Safety's Region No. 5 said there will be few exceptions to the new licensing requirements.

"After the April 1, 1992, deadline, we can't extend an old license, and there will be no grace period," Triplett said.

EXCEPTIONS
Exceptions will be limited to the following:

1. Vehicles operated by a farmer within 150 miles of his farm to transport farm products, machinery or supplies to or from a farm but not used in the operations of a common or contract carrier.

2. Firefighting or emergency vehicles.

3. Military vehicles operated for military purposes by military personnel.

4. Recreational vehicles driven for personal use.

The 1989 law was enacted to bring Texas into compliance with the federal commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986. These laws were passed to reduce traffic accidents involving commercial motor vehicles.

"We urge people to study for the test," Triplett said. "The driver's handbook and test are available in both English and Spanish. The language in both versions is at the sixth grade-level, but drivers cannot pass the tests without studying the book first."

Triplett said oral tests are available for those who need them, but since those tests need two to 3 1/2 hours to complete, applicants should schedule oral testing in advance. The Department of Public Safety has found that 6 to 7 percent of Texas drivers require oral testing, Triplett said.

NEW LAW
Under the new laws, drivers need a commercial driver's license to operate the following:

1. Vehicles with a gross vehicle weight rating of more than 26,000 pounds.

2. Trailers with a gross vehicle weight rating of more than 10,000 pounds if the gross combination weight rating is more than 26,000 pounds.

3. Vehicles designed to transport more than 15 people, including the driver.

4. Any size vehicle which requires hazardous material placards.

"We started out with about 19,000 drivers to test by April 1, 1992, and as of the end of January we've tested about 1,900 of them," Triplett said.

"We will come to Floyd County and test there if there is a group of 15 or more drivers who need the test."

"There is easily that many in Floydada and Lockney who will have to take the test."

According to a report of drivers sent to the newspaper by Sgt. Triplett, there are 145 listed truck drivers in the area that will need the test.

"For off-site testing," said Sgt. Triplett, "we arrange a date and time and take our data cards, vision testing screens and other equipment to the company."

"It might be more feasible for the companies that have truckers who will require the testing to get together and arrange a test date. We could come to town and test a lot of drivers at the same time."

EXEMPTIONS TO ROAD TEST

The test entails both a written test and a road test, but Triplett said a driver may be exempt from the road test if he meets the following requirements:

1. He is currently licensed.

2. During the two-year period prior to application, he has had no more than one license, no revocations and no convictions for a disqualifying offense for any type of motor vehicle.

3. He is currently employed as a commercial motor vehicle operator, has previously passed a road test in a state with a classified testing system in the type of vehicle he will operate and has operated for two years prior to application the type of vehicle he expects to operate.

REASONS FOR THE LAW
"Although the CDL is federally mandated," said Triplett, "each state operates its own program. It's not a federal drivers license, but drivers are allowed only one CDL issued by their home state."

"If they move to another state, they'll turn in their old CDL and get a new one from that state - generally without further testing."

"To keep people from having more than one CDL, they'll run through a computer that will tell whether or not they already have one from another state."

The program - which has the backing of the Teamsters Union, The Independent Drivers Association of American, the Amalgamated Transit Union and other major driver organizations - is designed to make the roads safer by eliminating the practice of drivers having multiple license that allow them to duck warrants or drive with suspended licenses.

"I've heard of cases where a person has had drivers licenses from more than 40 states," said Triplett. "With one license, it's a whole lot easier to trace someone's background."

In addition the program affords uniform driving standards nationwide. In also imposes harsh penalties on drivers who drink, use drugs or who are prone to accidents and traffic violations.

For one thing, there's no provision for an emergency occupational license if a CDL is suspended. "The safety net is gone," said Triplett.

Secondly, a blood-alcohol reading of .04 percent or above presumes the driver is drunk; the level for regular licenses is .10 percent.

"You're held to a higher standard if you're behind the wheel of a commercial vehicle," Triplett noted, adding that 286 truck and bus drivers (excluding school buses) were arrested for DWI in Texas last year.

One conviction for driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol automatically disqualifies a person from operating a commercial vehicle for one year.

A second conviction results in a lifetime disqualification from commercial operation.

"The only appeal of a hearing examiner's decision is through the courts," said Triplett, "and the disqualification remains in effect until overturned by a court - unlike the current system, whereby suspensions are abated until a court decision is reached."

This CDL is a federal law explained Triplett. "Not having a license will result in federal charges and prosecutions. It will not longer be a misdemeanor to not carry a license."

Triplett said anyone wanting more information or a free study booklet should contact their local DPS office during business hours. The Floyd County office number is 983-2217.
