Bits and pieces from hither and yon: Ah, there's trouble in Camelot. Teddy is back in the news.

Down in Florida, at the family's Palm Beach mansion where Teddy and other members of the clan gather occasionally to contemplate the plight of the poor and homeless, and lift an occasional glass to the good life, police are having to sort out yet another puzzle. Who, really, was it who offered a poor, homeless girl a night's lodging in the mansion etc., and did someone ask, maybe demand, something in return? The Senior Senator from Massachusetts isn't saying, nor are others of the clan.

We can understand Teddy's plight. After all, being the moral voice of America's liberals is a full-time job, leaving few moments, let alone hours or weeks, for the time needed to explain things, should he ever choose to do so. A thought just struck us. Perhaps that is why he is always in such great demand as a speaker, and why so many hang on his every word. Maybe they are expecting him to come clean somewhere along the line. Fat chance.

Given the New Order in the New Texas, we would have expected Teddy to be invited to address the new Texas Senate by now. But such is not the case. Perhaps one reason is that the Governor doesn't wish to draw attention to one old, white, male in a position of influence, especially in her own party. Consider what she told syndicated columnist Linda Ellerbee, and published wherever Ms. Ellerbee's column is printed:

"Never again will this state be run by just one segment of its people, one small group of old, white, men. There's no going back now. Ever."

Her comment begs for clarification. Is she saying the disqualification comes from being "old", or "white", or both? Or is it "men," whether old or white? At what age does one become "old"? And is she really talking about "men", as opposed to being merely a male of the species? Given her New Texas, there is a difference, you know.

We may as well gird our loins, gentle reader, and prepare for a state income tax. The fix is obviously on. There will be much maneuvering, and many machinations, between now and then, but all signs point in that direction. Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, after saying nothing about the subject during the election, is now leading the charge and he's in position to do something about it.

Gov. Ann Richards won't say yes or no. She merely says she doesn't think we need one "at this time." Translated, that means when the time is right she will endorse the idea. Either that or she will double cross former Lt. Governor Bill Hobby, another income tax champion, who campaigned for her in her race against Clayton Williams.

It is doubtful whether Republicans have enough strength in the Senate to stop the tax, even with help from sympathetic conservative Democrats. The House, at this time, seems reasonably safe. But by the time the state's major media outlets get on board, even that may not be a sure thing.

Monday morning's state papers report the Israeli government has reneged on promises it gave Secretary of State Jim Baker a few days ago. Then, after much dragging of the feet, they agreed to at least sit down and talk about peace with their neighbors. They did have the decency to wait until he got back home before reversing course.

In the meantime they built some more settlements in the occupied territories. Our government was speechless, at least until press time Monday.

For those readers who wish some clarification on this subject, we refer them to last week's column.

Hospital board fights closing

By Alice Gilroy

Caprock Hospital board members met Thursday, in a tense and emotional meeting, to discuss the burdensome debt of the hospital and the possible temporary closure of the facility.

Over four hours of agonizing discussion among the directors resulted in a motion to try and keep the hospital open for another month with several cuts, including employees and employee benefits and a fund drive to raise money.

At the end of May, the directors hope to have the legal means by which to borrow more money, and are also hoping grant money will be approved soon.

The decision is contingent on several factors, the most important being whether or not the hospital will find a bank that will loan them the money necessary to keep their doors open.

"The banks cannot loan us money now," Terry Keltz, hospital administrator, told the board members. "I talked with attorneys at Johnson and Gibbs in Houston, and they reported that according to the enabling legislation for Caprock Hospital District, it is unlawful for the governing body to borrow money to meet operating deficits.

"The lawyers explained to me that the reason it is that way is because a hospital district is a public entity and creating debt for the hospital is a decision that must be made by the taxpayer.

"This transfers the burden of creating debt to the public; therefore if a hospital district's financial condition has deteriorated to a level that borrowing becomes necessary for survival the decision will be that of the districts constituents, and not limited to the governing board.

"The board is supposed to adopt a budget in September that will properly address operating deficits and current liabilities

Keltz further explained that the current legislation is going to be amended by the end of May, which will allow Caprock Hospital to borrow money.

"The office of State Representative Warren Chisum has been contacted in reference to amending our enabling legislation to include an emergency provision allowing the governing body to obtain funds through borrowing. I was notified on Tuesday, April 23, that this action has been introduced to the floor as HB 2855.

"Chisum told me the bill is out of committee and has moved to Local and Consent Committee. It is due to go to the Senate next week. He is asking for a record vote in the house and senate which will allow immediate action.

"The banks we have approached have been afraid of loaning us money because of legal constraints and our monthly operating losses.

"The loan request to First National Bank of Floydada was denied," said Keltz, "because they could not obtain a legal loan due to it not being legal for the hospital district to borrow money.

"The First National Bank of Lockney, Floydada Branch, had originally said they would consider a loan if Methodist Hospital guaranteed the loan. Methodist informed me this week that their governing by-laws do not allow them to do this."

Younger sets region mark in 300 hurdles

By Bill Gray

Lady Wind Tian Younger broke the region record by four-tenths of a second in the 300 hurdles to post a victory in the event and earn a ticket to the State 3A track meet in Austin on May 10-11. The talented sophomore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jakey Younger of Floydada. The regional meet was held April 26-27 at Odessa's Ratliff Stadium.

Tian's winning time of 46.20 at region was an improvement from her mark of 47.49, which established a District 2-3A record on April 13 at Tullia. Younger edged Clyde's Angie Ricci (46.56) and Dripping Springs' Melanie McMullin (47.04) in the closely-contested finals. Floydada came close in some of the other events, but Younger will be the lone FHS representative at the state meet.

Whirlwind senior Brad Emert made the finals of the 100-meter dash, and finished fourth with a 10.92 clocking. Only .05 of a second separated second through fifth places in the event, won by Brent McClellan of Abilene Wylie. Wylie placed first in team standings in the boys' division, while 2-3A member Tullia paced the regional girls' team championship.

Junior Aaron Harbin tied a Floydada school record of 13'6" in pole vault to place sixth. Jaime Suarez was off his

Delgado facing first state meet

Lockney's Michelle Delgado is on her way to Austin for her first outing at the state track meet. She placed first and second consecutively in the two races that she ran at the 1-2A Regional Track Meet held at Abilene Christian University on Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27th.

After two events on Friday the Lockney Lady Horns Track Team was tied for first place, in the team totals, with Albany. Each team had 10 points. At the end of the meet on Saturday Lockney and Bangs were tied for eighth place. Each had a total of 21 points.

Friday afternoon Miss Delgado placed first in the 3200 meter run (2 miles). She turned in a time of 12:27.48 and was 11 seconds ahead of the second place runner.

On Saturday she placed second in the 1600 meter run (1 mile) with a time of 5:41.6. She was six seconds behind the first place runner.

During the regular season Miss

Delgado placed first in both the 3200 and the 1600 meter runs at the Whirlwind Relays, Roosevelt Track Meet, Post Track Meet, Motley County Track Meet, Olton Track Meet, and Shallowater Track Meet. At Abilene she placed 3rd in the 3200 and 2nd in the 1600. She placed 1st in both events at the District 3-2A Track Meet held in Shallowater. Her time in the 3200 was 13:06.26 and in the 1600 her time was 6:02.99.

She is a junior at Lockney High School and the daughter of Robert and Libby Delgado.

County proceeds with 911 planning

Mike Cline of South Plains Area Governments met with the Floyd County Commissioners Court on Monday, April 29, to present the county with maps detailing all roads in the county. These roads have now been assigned a number in preparation for the implementation of the 9-1-1 emergency system this fall in Floyd County.

According to Cline, the county must now designate every dwelling and business structure from which an emergency call could originate. Each must be as-

He is now in the Cardiac Care Unit, room 303, undergoing stress tests and an angiogram.

"He did not have a heart attack," said Chief Deputy Overstreet, "but he was close to one."

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

This parenting stuff is such a learning experience!

I miss out on so much with Brandon since I work and I was determined to make his pre-school clinic and registration experience at Lockney Elementary a family outing that I could treasure in my heart forever.

My husband, Lennie, and I have talked of little else the past few months, except what it will be like when Brandon starts school in August. How proud we would be—how hard it would be to see him go—all the school activities we would be involved in—HOW GREAT IT WOULD BE TO SAVE MONEY ON BABYSITTING!

We even had Brandon past the fear of going to school. He would actually nod in the affirmative when asked if he was going to start school in August, instead of shouting NO and running away.

So anyway—back to the memorable family outing to pre-registration.

First of all—Daddy was in court testifying in a burglary case, so he was going to miss out.

Next—I lied. I didn't tell Brandon that he was going to get a shot at his pre-school clinic. I was going to save that piece of news until we were standing in front of the nurse.

When proud (but very confused) Mommy arrives at school with Brandon she is shown to a table with a few papers to sign. Simple papers mind you. Everyone else was done within minutes.

I agonized over the question, "Who do we call in case of an emergency?" I sat there forever, writing in names - scratching them out and starting on a new card. All I could think of was that I hoped Brandon did better in Kindergarten than I was doing filling out registration cards.

When I finally finished and my cards were graded I was taken aside and told—"Did you know that Brandon does not have to start school this year. His birthday is August 7 and he will be younger than most of the kids."

"What do you mean he doesn't have to start school. I thought I'd go to jail if he didn't start school!"

The counselor, Charlotte Mitchell, told me that statistics have shown that children (especially boys) with late summer birthdays usually do better in school if they are held back and start Kindergarten when they turn 6.

"We have found," said Ms. Mitchell, "that even if the boy is big for his age (which Brandon is) that they are not mentally as mature as the older children. They have a hard time sitting still and paying attention for the whole day."

While she was talking, Brandon was climbing over chairs and running in the lobby.

Anyway I was dumbfounded. I didn't know what to do. I was ready to start Kindergarten. What would I tell my friends? What would I tell Brandon when he was old enough to care?

I decided to go ahead with all the clinic stuff because if I couldn't decide who to call in an emergency- they couldn't expect me to decide whether to send him to school or not.

All the clinic stuff was fun and I had still failed to mention the shot, until a woman came up to Brandon and me while we were waiting in a line and asked, "Has he gotten his shot yet—there is no line over there."

"WHAT MOMMY!?"

Oh great!

"Don't worry about it Brandon. It won't hurt—we have to go see the nurse in a little while."

Well folks—I thought his hysterics, when I tried to leave him for his first day at Vacation Bible School, was bad. This was 100 times worse.

He was terrified! He can't even remember his last shot but it didn't matter. He was not going to go. He screamed bloody murder at the top of his lungs.

He pleaded with me—he kicked at me trying to get away—he clung to me with fingernails imbedded in my arms. He fought me so hard, Mrs. Evans (the principal) had a janitor following me around to make sure Brandon didn't get away and run to China.

I was so embarrassed. We were disrupting the whole school. Brandon cried so loud and was so hysterical, the nurse put him and me in a storage closet (a large one) to calm down.

He did calm down while we were in the closet, but when it came time to try for the nurse again, the screaming started again. The pleading coming from him and the tears pouring out of those scared little eyes made me feel like Attila The Hun.

Finally, (since the nurses wanted to be home before Christmas), I dragged Brandon into the office, pinned his arms down, and while one nurse held out his legs the other shot him in the hip.

It was over in seconds. The crying stopped immediately. Brandon got a balloon from a friendly clown. Even though I know the nurses thought I had done something to scare this child I swear I have never seen him do that over a shot and I have never told him anything bad about them.

I was a good parent. I have always lied about the whole thing.

I was leaving the school embarrassed, exhausted and badly bruised when a teacher came up to Brandon and said, "Are you OK now. Did you survive?"

Well HE survived just fine THANK-YOU —AND HE'S NOT COMING BACK UNTIL HE IS SIX YEARS OLD!

Photography featured in exhibit

The First National Bank of Floydada is happy to present an exhibit of photographic art for the month of May. The portraits, florals, landscapes, still life, and animals are the work of Chuck and Joyce Wilson of Lockney, and offer the viewer a colorful and delightful "walk through the lobby" of the bank.

"Because we all own and carry cameras nearly everywhere we go, we tend to take photography less seriously as an art medium . . . we all 'take pictures' every day! For this reason, we endeavor to offer exhibits of photography during the year along with other visual art media," said Martha Farris. "This emphasizes the truth that photography is an art medium to be studied and pursued as seriously as oils, watercolors, etc."

Chuck and Joyce Wilson have been actively engaged in professional photography in Lockney since 1960. Their "Studio in the Country" is located one mile west and four miles north of Lockney. When asked what his favorite subject is to photograph, Chuck replied, "Women!" Joyce enjoys subjects other than people . . . flowers, animals, nature.

Chuck was awarded the Master of Photography degree by the Professional Photographers of America in 1977, and in 1982 he earned the Photographic Craftsman degree from the same organization. He is an active convention speaker for state and local professional photographic associations and is also an International Affiliated Photographic Adjudicator in the portrait, wedding and unclassified categories.

Joyce graduated from Texas Tech in 1953 with a Bachelor of Music in Education with a Piano Specialization. She has won many state and national photographic awards for her Pictorial Photography and Oil Colored Portraits. Joyce has also studied oil painting with internationally recognized photographic artists Mary Nell DeVries, Aida Price and Kay Isaacson, and is a graduate of Winona Lake School of Photography.

Chuck graduated from Texas Tech in 1954 with a Bachelor of Music in Education with a Trombone Specialization. From November of 1954 until July, 1960, Chuck was in the United States Air Force and his last duty assignment was as a Missile Operations and Launch Officer stationed in Germany.

Chuck and Joyce have three daughters; Lesa (Mrs. John Bledsoe, Dallas), Melinda (Mrs. Jeff Thompson, Plainview), and Ruth Elaine, a senior at Texas Tech with an anticipated graduate date in August of 1991.

The First National Bank of Floydada invites you to take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy this excellent exhibit by Chuck and Joyce Wilson during the month of May.

Dinner Creek hosts Round-Up Days

By Bill Gray

The rays of the morning dawn danced across the terra-cotta-hued Spanish skirts of the majestic Palo Duro. The pungent aroma of cow-camp coffee, biscuits, bacon, sausage and jalapeno-laced scrambled eggs mixed with odors of mesquite and recently-bloomed canyon wild flowers. Easily it could have been 1876 instead of April 27, 1991.

The chugging of a gasoline-powered electric generator, coupled with the presence of shiny Suburbans and crewcab pickups, should have brought the working cowboys and invited guests out of their time warp. A soaring helicopter, driving cows and calves down from their steep canyon hide-aways, finally beckoned the modern cowpokes back to the realities of the twentieth century.

The site was the Dinner Creek Ranch on D.M. Cogdell property — twelve miles northeast of Silverton. The occasion was the ninth annual "Round-Up Days," hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Lon Davis of Floydada. Davis maintains approximately 600 head of cattle on the fifty sections of Cogdell's Briscoe County land that has been used continuously for cattle ranching for over a century.

Only months following the removal of Comanches and Kiowas back to Oklahoma reservations in 1876, legendary cattle baron Charles Goodnight drove a herd of 1600 cows from his Colorado grazing territory into the mighty Palo Duro Canyon of the Texas Panhandle. With financial backing from wealthy Irishman John Adair, Goodnight soon built his Palo Duro domain into a million-acre operation.

With Adair's investment, and using his benefactors initials "JA" as his brand, Goodnight expanded the herds until they numbered 100,000 by 1882. By this time Adair had made a clear profit of $512,000 and Goodnight had quickly become one of the premier ranchers of the American West.

D.M. Cogdell, Sr., acquired one hundred sections of the southern portion of the ranch from the Adair family in the 1950s. "Dinner Creek" was once part of the JA range, and some of the original buildings and fences still remain.

Lon Davis' yearly round-up attracts working cowboys, artists, photographers and ranching enthusiasts from throughout the Southwest. Leather artisan-turned-western artist Bob Moline of Fort Worth was one of several noted artists who brought along cameras as well as their spurs. A true cowboy at heart, Moline was in the midst of the action all day — when he wasn't taking pictures to be used later as reference material in his authentic depictions of ranch life.

Ladies and younger guests were treated to wagon rides through the courtesy of Doug Forbes of Silverton. Doug's team of shaggy mules were an instant attraction, and a number of folks enjoyed the trail rides. There were activities for everyone as more than one familiar Floydada face was seen helping out in the branding corral.

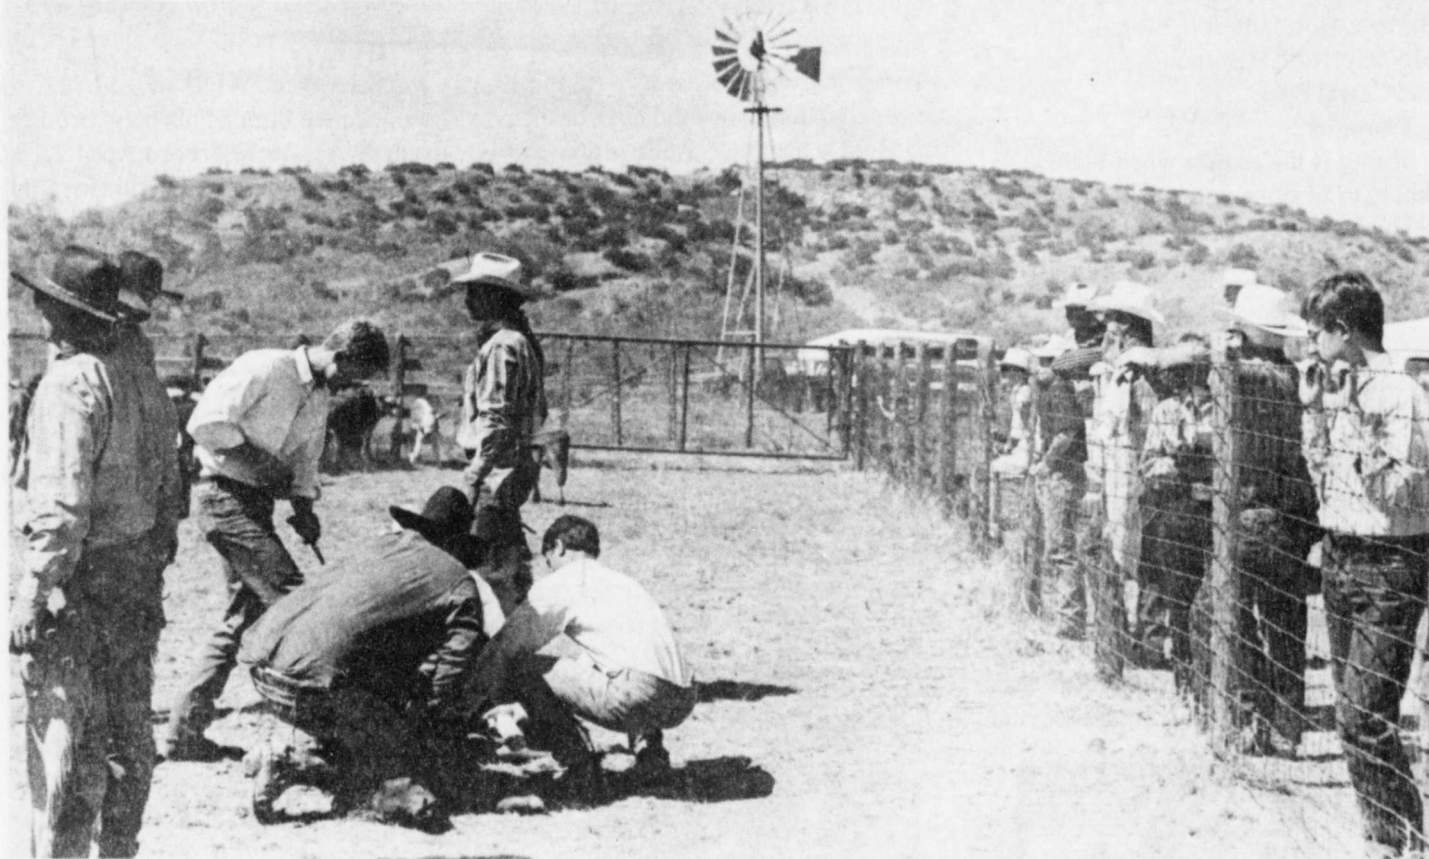

This year's round-up had an international flavor. Fourteen year old Renaud Harlay from Faremoutiers, France, was the special guest of Adam Kohler of Lubbock (grandson of Bill and Dell Gray and great-grandson of Wayne and Roberta Russell of Floydada). Harlay is one of seventeen French teenagers who are spending an eighteen day cultural exchange in Lubbock, hosted by French class students at J.T. Hutchinson Junior High (one of eleven schools in the U.S. receiving students from France under a special exchange program this year).

During their West Texas visit, the French students and their hosts have toured Carlsbad Caverns, Lubbock Arts Festival, Llano Estacado Winery, Texas Tech University, the Science Spectrum and Lubbock Lake Landmark. When asked how he enjoyed Davis' Dinner Creek round-up, Renaud quipped in broken English, "...The other day we go to museum...see pictures. Today...this is real ranch and real cowboys!"

Hearty appetites seem to be universal among teenagers. When questioned about breakfast at Dinner Creek (complete with Dutch oven sourdough biscuits, scrambled eggs, etc.), the friendly French youngster replied, "...Nothing like this in Paris!" Spur's "Tex" Fenney, who cooked and catered the meals with delicious perfection from two vintage chuck wagons, commented after lunch, "That French boy ate a whole pile of ribs!" Renaud and his classmates return to France on May 2.

Over eighty people registered for the Davis gathering at Dinner Creek. Old acquaintances were renewed and new friendships were formed. Pictures by the hundreds were taken, calves were branded and some would-be cowboys fulfilled lifelong ambitions. However, none of their dreams will compare to the memories taken home by a 14-year-old French youth. How was Renaud to know that a whole lot hasn't changed in 115 years?

Ball Memorial Fishing Tourney raises $1700 for scholarships

After the fourth annual Charles Ball Memorial Fishing Tournament was over Eddie Teeter stated, "We had a normal fishing day for the tournament - cold and windy, but we did weigh in more fish than we usually do."

The tournament raised $1700 which will be used for scholarships for graduating seniors at Lockney High School.

First place winner was Billy Karl Race. He caught 3 black bass and 1 sand bass which weighed in at 7 lbs. and 2 ozs. Race took home the first place traveling trophy.

Only 1 ounce separated the first and second place winner. Dub Hallmark caught three black bass and their total weight was 7 lbs. 1 oz. He received the second place plaque.

Ronnie Thornton received the third place plaque for two black bass. Their total weight was 5 lbs and 10 oz.

Ronnie Race caught the largest fish of the day. It was a black bass and weighed 5 lbs and 9 oz.

There were fifty one who registered for the event and forty fishermen took to the lake at Mackenzie. Each person who registered received a cap.

One hundred percent of the money raised will be used for scholarships for Lockney High School seniors who plan to enter a vocational or nursing school.

The scholarship committee consists of Pat Frizzell, Claude Brown, Billy Joe Turner, Billy Karl Race, and Eddie Teeter. According to Teeter, "Applications for the scholarships are available in the office of James Poole, high school principal." "If there are no applicants for vocational or nursing schools we will

After the first year of the tournament the group decided to present a scholarship, in the name of Charles Ball, to a graduating senior who would be enrolled in a vocational or nursing school. In 1989 one scholarship was given and in 1990 three scholarships were presented to Lockney seniors.

Next years tournament is set for the third weekend in April in 1992.

Child welfare board explained

Many people in Floyd County are not aware of a local organization that is available to help children which are placed in foster homes. The Floyd County Child Welfare Board, working with the Texas Department of Human Services, is made up of a group of concerned citizens of the county, who disperse money to foster parents to help with the needs of children placed in their care.

"We have had 17 children in foster homes for almost two years," said Board President Gladys Jones.

Children are placed in foster homes after being removed from their homes by a caseworker with the Department of Human Services. The children are usually removed because of abuse or neglect from their parents.

"The board members of the County's Child Welfare Board do not investigate the charges of neglect," said Martin. "We are there to use the money allocated to us to help those children."

"The state pays for the majority of the cost, but there is a lot that comes out of the pockets of the foster parent. We give the foster home money for clothing allowances, birthday presents, school supplies, Christmas gifts and some medical care."

An emergency fund has also been created for caseworkers of DHS. "Two or three years ago," said Martin, "a caseworker was called out in the middle of the night concerning three infant children that had to be picked up immediately. She had no money and had to get bottles, formula, diapers, etc. The emergency fund can be used for cases like that. We are then reimbursed by the State for most of it."

"The money given to us by the county each year is not enough to help as many kids as we get, so we also have to rely on donations from the community. We get a lot of help from different clubs and churches and a lot of clothing is donated. We couldn't get along without them."

"For instance," the women from the Methodist Church in Floydada, made up Easter Baskets for the children at Easter this year. Celebrating these special occasions can mean a lot for these kids," said Martin.

"We truly appreciate the contributions from people in the county," said Jones. "We have gotten a lot of support from both banks, study clubs, churches and individuals. Last year we sent out envelopes in bank statements, asking for contributions."

"We got a lot of response. Some people only sent a dollar because that was all they could afford, but they wanted to be a part of it. It meant a lot to us."

The Child Welfare Board consists of 10 members, five from Floydada and five from Lockney. At the present time the members from Floydada are: Gladys Jones, president; Connie Johnson, Karen Lawson, Deborah Lloyd and Carol Rainwater; members from Lockney are: Lesca Durham, Charlanne Burson, Linda Griffith and Kay Martin.

The members serve three year terms and are allowed to serve 2 consecutive terms. The board meets 6 times a year (every other month). If anyone is interested in serving on the board, or in making a donation of money or clothing, they should contact any of the board members listed above.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi, once again from the residents and staff from the Floydada Nursing Home. Do hope that this finds you well and happy.

Monday, started the week as usual with morning coffee, juice and cookies. Bro. Bill Wright and Irene Wexler couldn't be with us, so we listened to some music. At 2 p.m. the residents had exercise and a sing-a-long.

Tuesday, Sue Walker and Selma Ortiz came and assisted the residents with their arts and crafts. They put a flower in a baby jar, decorated it up and it was very pretty. Thanks girls for coming to share.

Wednesday, was the Bingo day once again. Thelma Hoffman had the first Bingo. Mary Alice came and assisted the residents, we had a full house.

Thursday, the residents planted some flower seeds.

Friday, the residents had current events and popcorn. We didn't have the bus ride as I went to my hometown of Crowell, to the 100th year celebration, and to my high school reunion. It was a good turn out, well attended and it was fun.

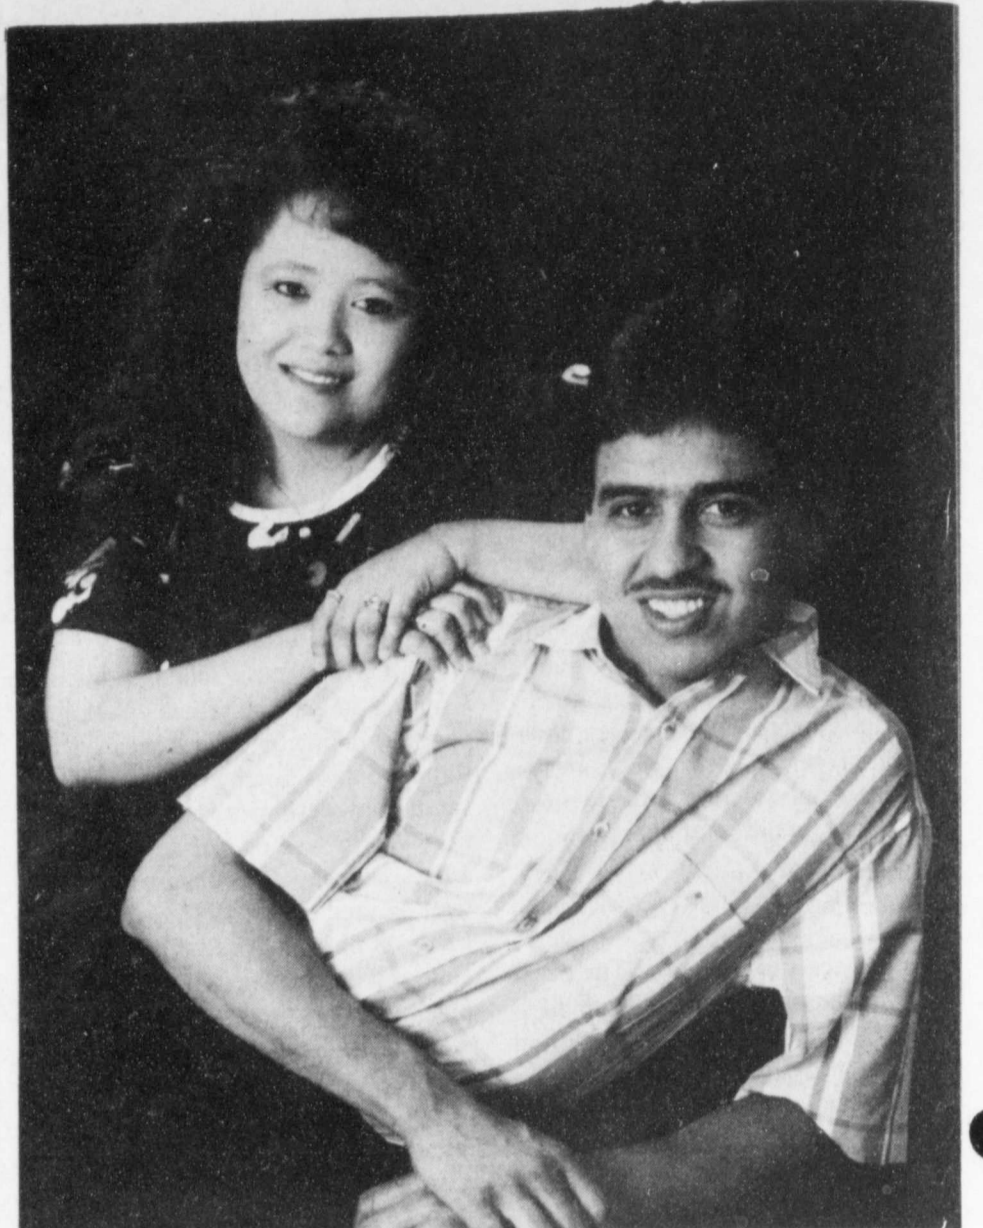

In May, it is National Photo Week, we would like for the families to bring photos of their loved ones, mother, dad, brother, sister, niece, etc. when they were young. We will put them up on a poster, and will be fun guessing who is who. Bring the photo to the Activity Director, Jo Bryant.

Visitors were: Myra Dade, James Edd Russell, Jack and Ruth Griffith, Abilene; Dovie Holmes, Lucille Custer, Pauline Hand, Roaring Springs; Ruth McIntosh, Dolores Cannon, Frances Barnett, Bob Jameson, Matador; Lloyd McCray, Ruth Hammonds and Virginia and Lewis Pyle.

Thought Spring is the season when there is so much, to be done outside.

That you can stop feeling guilty about what has to be done inside.

Texas Arts and Crafts Fair slated

In the old world, few arts attained legendary status as early as tapestry and glassblowing. They glow again at the fair in extensive, detailed teaching demonstrations.

The children's area brims with excitement, from old-fashioned games to crafts instruction, free down to the materials. A magic show completes the scene and the theme for the younger set.

Spread over 16 tree-shaded acres, the fairgrounds boast 14 large and colorful tents. In many, over two hundred carefully selected artists and craftspeople present their works for discerning visitors. The artist is required to be present in person.

Legendary music abounds with a Jerome Kern review and The Code of the West for country-western fun. The stage tent has shaded seating and also includes jazz and bluegrass sounds.

Dates are May 24-25-26, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, of the Memorial Day weekend. Hours are 5:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. on Friday, 9:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m. on Saturday, and 10:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. on Sunday.

News from Caprock Hospital

By Molly Stringer

Next week we will be observing National Nurses Week. We will focus on May 6. Nurses live a different life from most folks. They must be geared to be very calm and reassuring, yet able to react and respond in a fraction of a second to life and death emergencies. They do a job that is continuing for 24 hours a day. They miss ball games, school and community activities and church because the job they do cannot be turned off at 5 p.m. each day. Someone must keep care going through the evening and night hours. When others head out of town on holidays and weekends there is a staff of nurses on duty to provide care to our patients and are available for emergencies which might occur in our community.

My respect has deepened over the years for the nurses who choose to work in rural hospitals. The glamour of working in a major medical center is sometimes blinding to the general public as well as nurses. Ideas in our minds tell us that if you work in a large hospital you just be a better equipped and skilled nurse, and only country bumpkins that couldn't make it in the city staff our rural hospitals. It has been my experience that those who work in major hospitals are trained in their specific area until they become a specialist in that particular field be it cardiology, emergency room, obstetrics or rehab. These folks are trained and supplied with many monitors and equipment, this enables them to see what is happening with the patient. The nurse who works in a rural hospital must be equipped in skills and perception to handle any one or all of the areas of specialty in a major hospital. The rural nurse is not equipped with all of the fine equipment, monitors, central lines and the like to help her deal perhaps a cardiac monitor. She becomes the monitor, her perception tells her how serious they develop. She may deal with a gun shot wound, stabbing, multiple injuries of an auto accident, a heart attack, a arm or leg caught in a gin accident, a farmer injured by equipment and various other emergencies which may happen in a small town. While taking care of these emergencies there are the patients in the hospital who must be cared for also.

Many times the first minutes after a heart attack or injury are the most crucial. The care given in the small hospital may mean if a patient lives or dies. We delivered a premature infant in the front seat of a car in front of our hospital, after our initial care this infant was choppered out and survived.

The rural health nurse must be proficient in starting IV lines, there is no specialized team to call.

It has become y belief that the best all around nurse is one who works in a rural hospital. They handle everything with almost nothing to work with. The old saying "We have worked so long with so little that we have learned to do almost anything with nothing" really applies to small town health care.

A salute to our nurses who work in rural hospitals! They are the best in the world.

We at Caprock Hospital have many good nurses. They take excellent care of their patients and respond to their needs in a timely manner. We salute our nurses at Caprock Hospital and say thanks for your dedication and loyalty to your profession. We love you and appreciate your team spirit.

"New Accessories for Spring," our program, was given by Lillian Smith. Lillian said that hats are big for the first time since the "beehive" hairdo of 60's with breezy pastels and 6 to 7 inch brims, adorned with lots of flowers. Bags are prints, sequin trim, quilted, metallic of bronze and silver - black is always good style. New colors are in cloth of lush fuschia, lilac, lollipop green, citrus yellow and others. Flowers in jackets, scarfs on belt and hairbows - but don't overdo your "flower power." Bangle bracelets, scarfs, bright and pastel shoes and three strand pearls - made popular by Barbara Bush are good news. These are some of Lillian's new accessories.

All members, but Lela Mae Burns, were present. Refreshments were served to Murl Mayfield, Sue Lovell, Gladys Widener, Ruth Trapp, Barbara Willis and Lillian Smith by the hostess.

Sunbelt Savings

Continued From Page 1 control. In June 1990, Sunbelt Saving acquired the deposits of Bexar Savings Association and Gill Savings Association, both of San Antonio, Texas. Acquisition of these deposits, which was approved by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, lowered Sunbelt Savings' operating costs and improved its retail deposit base. Sales responsibility for Sunbelt Savings was recently assigned to the RTC as part of its mandate from Congress to pursue cost savings opportunities available to the government under the 1988 Southwest Plan agreements. "Placement of this government-controlled thrift into the RTC conservatorship program is the first step toward getting the institution back into private-sector hands," said William Roelle, Deputy Executive Director of the RTC.

As of December 31, 1990, Sunbelt Savings had approximately $8.35 billion in assets and approximately $8.40 billion in liabilities, including $4.34 billion in 348,353 deposit accounts. Deposits continue to be federally insured.

At RTC conservatorships, managing agents are responsible for minimizing operating losses, limiting growth, and ensuring that operations are conducted in a safe and sound manner. They work to conserve assets and preserve banking services to deposit and loan customers at the thrifts.

Seminar recognizes Hernandez as an outstanding sophomore

The fourth annual Texas Panhandle Hugh O'Brian Leadership Seminar will be held April 26-28 at the Bishops Quarterman Conference Center in Amarillo. The seminar recognizes the outstanding sophomore students in over 100 area high school. The outstanding sophomore student from Floydada High School is Joe Hernandez.

The 1950 Study Club is a Floydada sponsor.

In 1958, Hugh O'Brian was inspired by Dr. Albert Schweitzer to establish the Youth Foundation believing that America's most valuable resource is its youth and the most important thing in education is to make young people think for themselves. Today there are over 84 seminars in 11 countries to recognize the outstanding sophomore students and to ring them together with community and business leaders to discuss present and future issues, using an informal question and answer format. Media, agriculture, medicine, entrepreneurship, volunteerism and politics are examples of the areas in which students will face a panel of professionals in their respective fields and have the chance to share one-on-one critical and current issues, insights to their professions, and ideas often not learned from a book.

In addition to interacting with panelists, the seminars goals are to provide the opportunity to explore America's incentive system and our democratic process and to recognize leadership potential in high school sophomores.

HOBY PARTICIPANT -- Joe Michael Hernandez, an FHS sophomore, attended the annual Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar for the Texas Panhandle in Amarillo on April 26, 27 and 28. Hernandez received a certificate of recognition for his achievements at the seminar. He is the son of Barbara and Harvey Hernandez of Floydada.

Greenhouse selling plants at high school

A new vocational program in Floydada schools will not only help the children who are involved in the program, but will also provide a service to the community.

In conjunction with the new vocational department (now located at Floydada High School, Caprock Education Coop has moved their greenhouse from Della Plains School to a new location south of the vocational building.

The greenhouse, built last year is managed by Linda Miller, who is transition coordinator in charge of special education at the high school. The shop is staffed by children in the special education program.

"The kids come here and learn skills that will be useful to them after graduation," said Miller. "They make flowering hanging baskets, bedding plants and vegetable plants."

The children learn how to work with the public in sales and service, landscaping and also improve their math. In return, the public is offered a greenhouse that will cater to your needs.

"We will put together anything you want," said Miller.

The hours for the greenhouse are Monday through Friday, 4:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m.; Saturday, May 3, 10 a.m.-3:00 p.m.; and Saturday, May 11, 10 a.m.-3:00 p.m.

COACH'S COMMENTS

By Coach Kyle Clark
 We had outstanding performances from all athletes. Almost all Floydada runners had their season best performance at the District meet.

After a disappointing performance in the field events, the Floydada runners came on strong, especially in the distance races where Floydada scored 44 of 97 points.

We also had many runners competing in three running events which is asking a lot, but these young men really came through with gutsy performances. The high point scorers for Floydada were Demencio Lopez with 20-1/2 points and Arnulfo Cervera with 29 points.

Congratulations to all the Breezer tracksters for an outstanding performance at District and a good season.

Younger headed for state competition ...

 recent times in the metric two mile, and finished 13th. Elisa Suarez placed 8th in the girls' 3200. Michael Henderson triple jumped 41'7-1/2", but failed to make the final. Tulia Hornet Mike Smith won the triple with a leap of 45'11-1/4".

The Whirlwinds' 400 relay team of Brian Teeple, Brad Emert, Freddie Portee and Michael Henderson had their season's best time of 42.85 in a preliminary, but had trouble in an exchange and finished seventh in the finals. Vernon, whose 400 team consisted of members of last fall's 3A state football champions, won the event in 42.35.

Floydada fielded young teams in both boys and girls track this year. There were no seniors on the Lady 'Winds. They will continue to improve, and should be very competitive in several events next year. Teeple, Emert and Portee are the only Whirlwind seniors. The several underclassmen, who qualified for region this year, gained valuable experience. They will be top contenders in their events for the next several years.

Garnett wins at Drag A Steer roping...

and Kyle Forgeron of Lubbock were the area boys that placed 6th.

In the #5 team roping on Friday night, Kam Forbes of Silverton and Ross Graham of Roaring Springs, were the first place winners. Mike Macina of Canyon and Junior Crump of Headley, placed second. Phil Reep and Clinton Ware of Floydada placed 4th.

Through all kinds of weather, it is said a roper will prevail, how true that proved to be on Sunday, in the dust, wind and competition. Senior Isra members started the day at 9 a.m. Super senior winners were Dr. T.K. Hardy of Denton, won the buckle. Jeff Smith of Aspermont, won the buckle.

These men did a super job bucking the wind and their fellow steer ropers. Curt Robinson of Pendleton, Oregon, introduced the open steer ropers, he was assisted by Benny Regan of Quitaque. Bunday Campbell and Tutt Garnett of Matador, presented the U.S. and Texas Flags.

There were twenty-eight ropers competing in the "open" steer roping on Sunday afternoon.

Saturday's weather was beautiful for the steer ropers to show their skill. The day started with a "C" or "Novice" steer roping. A young man, Kenyon Burns of Lovington, New Mexico, took home the belt buckle and it was well deserved with a total time of 72.12 on three steers. He will be a professional roper before too many years.

A newcomer to our area, Ryan Miller of Uvalde, was the buckle winner in the IRSA "B" competition with a time of 52.52, another young man with natural talent, Bobby Thompson of Paducah, Jim Boyles of Canyon and Charles Plemmons, were the runner ups in this roping.

The Saturday finished with the "A" ISRA Ropers, the man who went home the big money winner and the buckle too, was Bill Pearson of Happy. Wayne Dendy of Hereford, Mark Spencer of Pawhuska, Oklahoma and Steve Harmon of Beaver, Oklahoma were the runner ups.

Before the final round of competition on Sunday, the drawing for bits made by Wade Brannon of Silverton, found a winner on the third try, that was Brett Marble of South Plains.

Robin Marks attends state FHA leadership meeting

Robin Marks of Lockney recently participated in the STAR Events recognition program at the State Leadership Meeting of Future Homemakers of America in San Antonio, on April 12-13, 1991. Three hundred and ninety young men and women were chosen to participate in this State-level program in eight major categories: all-star chapter, all-star project, Design a Business, child development community service project, family communications, food service, illustrated talk, and job interview.

Robin, who is a senior at Lockney High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Marks, competed in the regional leadership meeting, she placed 6th.

Robin competed in the Illustrated Talk Event in which she spoke on the topic of date rape. Presentations were evaluated by such criteria as content, organizations, delivery, effectiveness of visual aids and completeness of the accompanying information packet.

The STAR (Students Taking Action for Recognition) Events program of Future Homemakers of America is based on the belief that all people can be winners. Competition, evaluation, and recognition all stress cooperation as the basis success. Both youth and adults work together as managers of the events and as evaluators of the participants.

"My talk was about date rape. I chose this topic because it was something I felt I needed to know about. I learned how to help myself and my friends if the situation should occur. My speaking skills have greatly increased since I first started my speech," commented Robin.

Robin's chapter advisor is Julie Ellison.

Future Homemakers of America is a national vocational student organization and has involved over eight million youth since its founding in 1945. It is the only in-school student organization with the family as its central focus and is unique among youth organizations because its programs are planned and run by members.

Longhorns lose to Ralls Jackrabbits

By Susy Smith

After scoring only 3 runs the Longhorn baseball team was defeated by the Ralls Jackrabbits by a score of 14-3 Tuesday night in Lockney.

"I was pretty pleased with the way we played. Ralls is probably the best team in the district. We kinda got in a little trouble in the fifth inning as they (Ralls) began to get their bats going. They came up with eight points in the final inning. "stated Coach David Norwood.

Gilbert Ruiz is credited with one RBI on a sacrifice and Matt Workman had a base hit for an RBI.

Juan Vargas, who normally plays shortstop was the pitcher for the Longhorns. Kip Holt was moved from second base to shortstop and Matt Workman took over second base. "Matt did really well at second base. I was really pleased," stated Norwood.

The Longhorns will travel to Abernathy on April 30 and will be at home on May 3, to face Morton.

Abernathy will be the first district game for the Horns. Abernathy was defeated by Ralls 15-0.

Energas Company plans 6 percent rate increase

Energas Company notified the 66 incorporated communities on its West Texas Distribution System that the company intends to implement an increase of approximately 6 percent in its overall revenues effective May 24, 1991. The company has also proposed to increase its service charges.

The annual increase to an average residential customer using 96 Mcf of natural gas per year would be approximately $27.72, or 7 percent.

About 211,000 customers are affected in an area extending from Pampa, Hereford and Lubbock to Midland and Odessa. Such customers include all sales customers who are not on irrigation or special industrial contracts with the company. This rate request will not affect customers in the communities of Amarillo, Dalhart, Channing, Fritch, Sanford or Ozona. A list of communities affected by this filing is attached.

By law, Energas is entitled to recover its cost of service through its rates and charges to customers. Those costs include cost of gas purchased for distribution, operation and maintenance expenses, depreciation expenses, taxes and a reasonable rate of return on rate base.

The overall rate of return being requested by Energas in the current filing is 12.13 percent.

The last rate adjustment filed by Energas for the West Texas Distribution System was in 1984 and the subsequent increase of approximately 17 cents per Mcf was effective November 1, 1984.

While Energas has been able to hold cost increases to a level well below general inflation rates since the last rate request, the increased investment in plant additions made since 1984 and operating cost increases have created the need for additional revenue Eugene A. Ehler, president of Energas Company, noted that the company has been successful in its efforts at cost containment.

"The company has worked diligently to contain its operating and maintenance expenses to a level that is well below the rate of inflation for the period. These efforts are largely responsible for the company's ability to operate nearly seven years without requesting a rate increase."

Governing bodies of the 66 communities in the West Texas System will be provided with additional information from Energas as support for the company's rate increase request.

In its application to the cities to increase its rates, Energas has proposed an effective date of May 24, 1991. However, the cities have the authority to suspend the operation of the rates filed for a period not to exceed 90 days beyond this date in order to provide more time to study the filing.

"We feel the rate request is necessary and that the company has demonstrated a commitment to hold costs down," said Ehler. "Energas is prepared to meet with representatives of the 66 communities at the earliest convenient time to discuss the filing."

"Through the years, Energas company has worked very closely with the cities and towns it has served and with their representatives. The cities and the company have been able to resolve any differences in rate matters. We are proud of the Energas record of reliable gas supply, dependable and prompt service, and our record as a utility business that has been able to maintain customer rates among the lowest in the state," he said.

Energas Company, a division of Atmos Energy Corporation of Dallas, provides natural gas service to over 310,000 customers in West Texas.

Caprock Hospital District candidates profiled

Hospital board. She is seeking a third term. Originally from Oklahoma, Assiter graduated from Lockney High School. She is employed as the branch manager of Sunbelt Savings and Loan in Floydada.

Active in the community, Assiter is a member of the Eastern Star and the Women's Division of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce. She and her husband, Tommy, are members of the Methodist Church. The couple has three grown children, two sons and a daughter.

Asked why she is seeking reelection, Assiter stated, "I feel that with William Bertrand leaving the board, we need the continuity of serving board members while the new members become accustomed to the board and their duties as members. I also feel very deeply about my responsibility to the community and the hospital and want to be able to work towards a beneficial solution to the current problems the hospital faces."

SHEREE CANNON is seeking election to the hospital board for the first time. She has been a resident of Floydada for the past 14 years and is employed by the Floydada Independent School District as a counselor at Floydada Junior High and Floydada High School.

Cannon is a graduate of Amarillo High School and received her bachelor's degree at West Texas State University. She obtained a master's in counseling at Southwestern Oklahoma University and has done post-graduate work at Texas Tech University and the University of Texas at Austin.

Cannon and her husband Jerry have two daughters and attend the First Baptist Church. Both are active in community affairs.

Asked to verbalize her reason for running for Caprock Hospital Board, Cannon said, "I have been fortunate to live in this community and would like to take an active part in trying to keep the hospital open. I think it is a vital part of our town, economically as well as for health care and emergencies. We all need to care about it and work to keep it open."

CARMEL EASTHAM, a resident of the Dougherty community, is seeking a first term on the board. Eastham has been in the area since 1959. He and his wife have two daughters, a son and five grandchildren.

Eastham farms in the Dougherty area and is a member of the Producer's Co-operative board of directors. He is the financial chairman of the First Methodist Church.

"I would like to help the community in any way I can and feel that I might be of some help in the current situation," Said Eastham.

PATTI MILLER, a homemaker and former hospital employee, is another first time entry into the political arena. Miller worked at Caprock Hospital as an insurance clerk and continued to work on a parttime basis filling in for the bookkeeper after she left her position.

She now works at the sale barn on Wednesdays and cares for her two sons.

Miller came to Floydada from Plainview seven years ago when she married her husband Mark, a farmer in the Sandhill area. She is active in the 1956 Study Club and is a member of the Church of Christ in Plainview.

Miller says she is running for a post on the board "Because I have worked there and know of things that could be changed to make it operate more efficiently. Having worked there, I know what is going on and what changes could be made." She added that she felt like someone who has worked at the hospital would be an asset to the board by being able to let them see the employee's side of things.

KENNETH PITTS, the second incumbent on the ballot, is also seeking reelection to the board. Pitts is a Floydada area farmer who has lived in Floydada since 1970. He is a graduate of Matador High School and holds a bachelor's degree in entomology from Texas Tech.

Pitts and his wife Vickie are the parents of two daughters and attend the First Methodist Church.

BOB ROSS, who came to this area in 1941, grew up in the Dougherty community and attended school at Dougherty, Floydada and McAdoo. He continues to farm in the Dougherty area. He and his wife Glenna are the parents of two sons and have one grandson.

The family belongs to the First Baptist Church and Ross is on the FHA Board of Directors. He is a former member of the Wake Gin board and the Dougherty school board.

Ross says he is running for the hospital board because he feels everyone should be concerned about what is happening at the hospital and "I would like to be able to do something for this community and the area that has been good to me."

JERRY THOMPSON, a resident of Floydada for twenty-one years and a local pharmacist is among those seeking a post on the hospital board. Originally from Memphis, Texas, Thompson was raised in Wellington. He received a bachelor's degree in pharmacy from South West Oklahoma State University.

Thompson is the owner and operator of Thompson Pharmacy. He is a member of the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce and is a deacon in the First Baptist Church. He and his wife Jan have two sons.

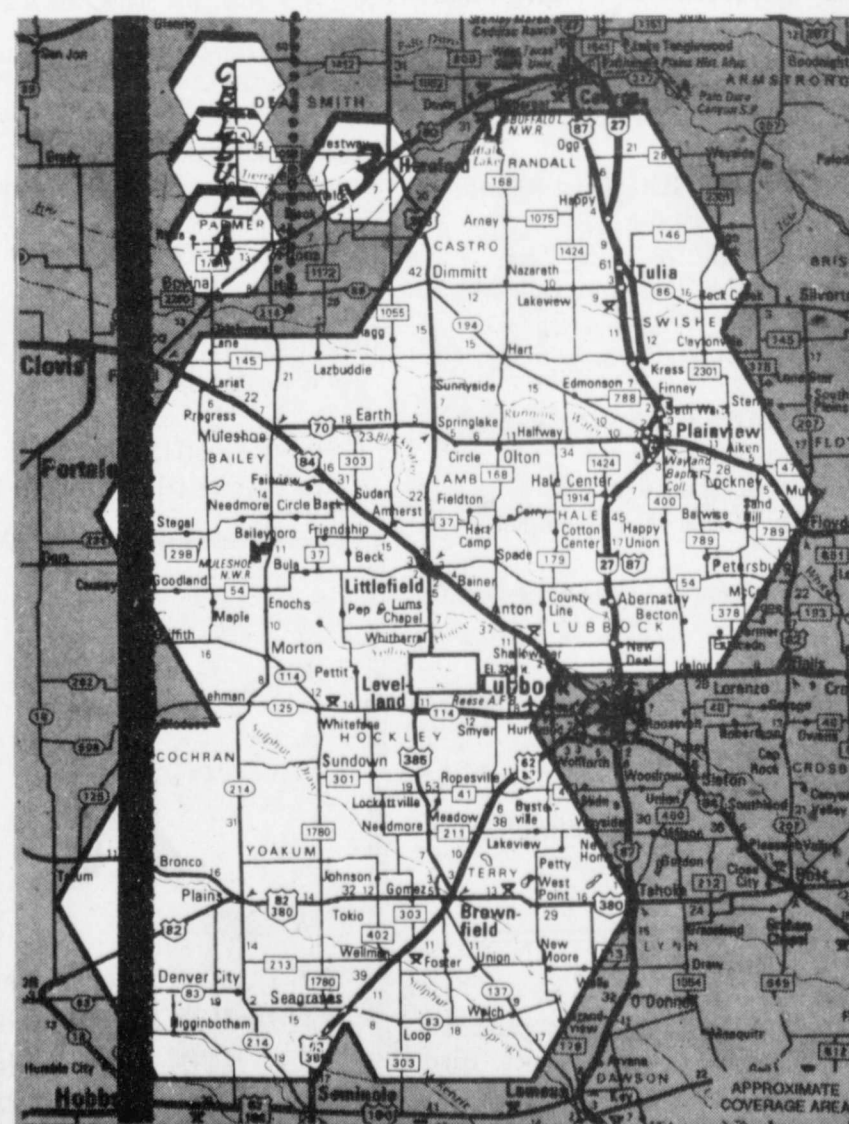

Thompson says he is running for election because, "As a businessman and a resident of Floydada, I think it is very important that we work to keep our hospital open. As a board member, I would do everything possible to work to keep it open. I feel it would be devastating to the community to have it close."

JIM WORD, former Marine and retired insurance agent, is seeking election to the Caprock Hospital Board. Word came to Floydada in 1946 and maintained an insurance business until he semi-retired on December 31, 1980. He is very active in the Floydada community as a member of the Floyd County Historical Commission, treasurer of the Floydada Chapter of the American Heart Association, member of the Floyd County Board of Equalization and chairman of the Floydada Senior Citizen's organization.

Word is also involved in archaeology, has been a part of Boy Scouting for more than 30 years. He has been a member of the Lion's Club in Floydada since it was reorganized in 1946. His first wife, Dorothy Cousins Word, died in 1981 and Word married Margarite Word in 1985. He has three grown children and seven grandchildren.

In response to the query, why are you running for hospital board, Word stated, "I want to help in any way I can. Floydada and Floyd County have been good to me in both my business and personal life and I am willing to try to give something back if I can."

Hospital board fights closing

"We can't borrow our way out of debt," said Kenneth Pitts. "We are looking at possibly a temporary closing or raising taxes to service our debt."

"Your tax rate would have been adequate," said Keltz, "if you had not been carrying old debt, 42¢ would have worked if we had maintained three doctors and completely paid off all debts at the beginning of the year."

"Approximately 98% of the expenses are being covered by operating revenue and tax revenue. The new taxes generated approximately $650,000. This year that money went to pay off notes to the bank (approx. $327,000) and to fund a year to date operating cash deficit of $236,000."

"In September you could adopt a budget that adequately services our needs, but we have to make it until September."

When asked by the directors what Keltz and the Methodist Hospital Services had recommended, Keltz said, "They think you should try and keep the doors open as long as possible. They suggest the termination of 12 employees, dropping worker's comp and terminating employee health insurance benefits. That would be an annual savings of $217,576. They also said if closure is imminent they will assist in any manner necessary."

"If we closed it temporarily," said Melba Vickers, "we would want you (Keltz) to stay on along with a bookkeeper."

"There have been hospitals that have closed temporarily and then reopened at a later time, after the debts are paid off," said Keltz. "The problem of course will be in trying to get our staff back. These people have to eat and they will find other jobs. The doctors will leave and it will probably be about 2 years before we could recruit new physicians out of school."

Bookkeeper Renee Woodard, informed the board that she needs about $12,000 to pay bills. "People are calling again. I haven't been paying some bills because I have been holding it for payroll. After May 1 all the money is gone. We can make the next two payrolls."

The directors were told by Woodard and Keltz that there is $44,156.00 left to address approximately $120,000 in operating expenses for the month.

March deposits were $100,574.36; disbursements were $167,020.23, resulting in a cash deficit of $66,445.87. Census days since January have also declined by 45%.

"Altogether," said Keltz, "we owe $278,000 due and past due. This includes $21,000 in attorneys fees (from Amarillo), which are paid to collect delinquent taxes."

"We are at a point that reducing expenses alone is inadequate to address our net margin problems. Revenue must be increased, either by more patients or more tax dollars. Two more physicians including a surgeon is a must to generate additional patient admissions."

Keltz presented a cash flow projection to the board members. The study was prepared by Brandon Durbin of Durbin, Durbin and Company.

"This shows," said Keltz, "considering the current trend of decreasing census days at a projected 30% decrease in revenue, the net income (in a year) could be as low as minus $425,715.00, considering payment of notes and past due payables in this fiscal year."

"A 40% decrease in revenue shows a net income of minus $475,703.00. A 50% decrease shows a net income of minus $525,690.00."

"We have to be realistic," said Vickers, "and consider a 50% decrease."

"Our accounts receivable are very good. They are currently $282,179.43. This represents 66 days of receivables and the statewide average for all hospitals is 79 days. Our business office personnel have done an excellent job. They average filing 321 out patient claims and 34 in patient claims per month."

Before making their decision the board also considered the possible acceptance of Caprock Hospital into two different grant programs.

Keltz has already applied for The Rural Health Care Transition Grant, for $150,000. This money is given over a three year period to be used for financial assistance in recruiting two physicians and for providing educational opportunities for licensed vocational nurses who wish to complete requirements for licensure as registered nurses. It also provides for educational opportunities for ten emergency medical services personnel who wish to upgrade certifications to more advanced levels.

Another grant was completed for participation into the Rural Primary Care Hospital program. If Caprock received the grant, they would be awarded $200,000 in federal grant funds to help make the transition into this program.

This program, would allow hospitals to scale down to six acute care beds in size and in return receive cost reimbursements. Money would be used to prepare the hospital for conversion in areas such as capital improvements (roof repair and limited remodeling), x-ray equipment, additional ambulance and enhanced communications (cardiac telemetry and teleradiology equipment).

Caprock Hospital will not know if they have been accepted into the program until September.

"I guess we are looking at trying to survive for 30-45 days or closing the hospital," said Fred Thayer.

After discussion, Thayer made the following motion, contingent on whether a bank approves a loan based on the upcoming legislation:

- (1) Employee cuts resulting in a reduction in payroll by $10,000 per month.
- (2) Suspend Workers Compensation, for a savings of $2,000 per month (annual premium of $35,000)
- (3) Ask doctors to hold emergency room payments at a savings of $5,000 per month (the hospital currently pays the physicians $35.00 per emergency room visit in order to ensure emergency room coverage).
- (4) Ask the county to donate $2,000.
- (5) Ask the city to donate $2,000.
- (6) Ask the city to allow the hospital to delay paying utility bill, at a cost of approximately $2,000.

(7) Sell option on the house owned by the hospital for $25,000.

(8) Since this would still be short by $8,000, Thayer also proposed a fund raising drive to make up the difference.

The motion passed unanimously.

During the meeting Keltz also updated the board members on his attempts at recruiting a physician. "On Wednesday, March 27, I traveled to John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth in an attempt to explore recruiting opportunities for third year family medicine residents," said Keltz. "I met with Karen Kinne, Family Practice Department Coordinator, who informed me that she was certain all third year physicians are committed to various locations."

"My objective was to attend the Thursday morning breakfast in which administrators, recruiters, and various representatives are allowed to attend in order to talk to the residents in person."

"Due to the large number of pharmaceutical and other medical representatives desiring to attend the meetings, restrictions have been placed upon these open meetings. You now must book one month in advance and pay $200.00 for the privilege of talking to prospective physicians at that breakfast gathering."

"After several requests, Ms. Kinne furnished me with a complete list of first and second year residents. Also, I did contact Dr. David Randell (the physician I planned to visit with at length) who informed me he had reached a final decision and will begin his practice in Arlington."

Keltz informed the board that the physician recruiter that Methodist Hospital has on retainer for its affiliated rural hospitals has placed ads in several publications with national circulation in an attempt to solicit interest.

The directors were also told that Dolan Hanna's first day as lab director was Monday, April 15. Supervision of the X-ray department has been returned to Susan Green. Trent Wauson had resigned as lab director and began his duties as lab director at a hospital in El Paso on April 15.

During the Thursday meeting, the directors also moved to set May 7, 12:00 noon, as the day to canvass the votes from the May 4 election.

Attending the board meeting were Directors Fred Thayer, Kenneth Pitts, Joy Assiter, William Bertrand, Melba Vickers; Director of Nursing Services Molly Stringer, Administrator Terry Keltz, and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

THE DOCTRINE OF SALVATION (Part 1)

"For by grace have you been saved through faith . . . not of works lest any man should boast" (Ephesians 2:8-9).
 "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling" (Philippians 2:12)

At first we might read these verses and assume that they contradict, choose whichever one agrees with your own doctrine of salvation, and ignore or reject the other. But a correct interpretation of the Scriptures requires that we harmonize all passages with one another rather than ignore or reject any.

In general there are basically three ideas being advanced in the religious world concerning the Plan of Salvation.

- salvation by grace alone
- salvation by faith alone
- salvation by works alone

And in reality not any one of these represents a harmonious comprehension of all that the Bible teaches regarding God's Scheme of Redemption.

For the next three weeks we will study each of these ideas individually, and in week number 4 will publish a comprehensive article that harmonizes all that the Bible has to say on the theme of salvation from sin.

Social Security News

By Mary Jane Shanes

Often Social Security disability claimants are surprised and upset when their claims are denied. Many people appeal these decisions, and their claims are later approved.

There are several reasons a claim is approved on appeal rather than the time of initial application. The medical condition may worsen, new medical evidence may be available, or a condition that was expected to improve just did not. Any of these changes could cause an earlier decision to be reversed.

The following information about the approval rate at the various decision levels may be interesting.

* Of every 100 initial claims, 37 are approved. Of the 63 that are denied, 30 are asked to be reconsidered.

* Five of the 30 reconsidered claims are approved. Of the 25 that are denied, 18 are asked to be heard before an administrative law judge. Of these 18 hearings, 11 are approved.

* Four of the 7 cases denied at the hearing level are asked to be reviewed by the Appeals Council. Less than one-third of these cases are approved. The Appeals Council is Social Security's highest level of review. Beyond that, a person must file suit in Federal court.

Overall, about 50 percent of all disability claims, including those that are appealed through all levels, are finally approved. The appeals process protects claimants' rights to benefits by assuring that, upon request, the Social Security Administration will review its decisions to be sure they are correct.

SPS pledges close ties to communities

The new Manager of Economic Development for Southwestern Public Service Company plans to continue a close relationship with area communities.

Cheryl Pink, who was promoted to manager earlier this week, said economic development takes teamwork. "Every business and every citizen in every community needs to help in the effort to attract new business," she said.

For the past three years, Pink has been an economic development specialist for SPS. In her new position, Pink will oversee the economic development efforts of SPS in its service area. Those efforts include "prospecting" for new business, working with communities in their efforts to attract new business, and helping existing businesses grow.

Pink has been named a Certified Economic Developer, a professional certification she earned from the American Economic Development Council. Before she joined SPS in 1988, Pink worked for the Texas Department of Commerce in Austin.

In her work as coordinator of the "High Ground of Texas" campaign, Pink has worked closely with local communities, training and preparing them to attract new business. She said strong community leadership will continue to be important in the development of new industry.

"We have a lot to offer business in this part of the country," she said. "Good people is just one of them."

Pink said her new position will be challenging and at the same time exciting. "I have to be a good manager of the resources we have to offer the area," she said. "My task is to organize our efforts to match the resources we have here."

Born in Hot Springs, Arkansas, Pink received her bachelor's degree from Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls. Subsequently, she obtained a master's degree in Education Administration from Southwest Texas State University, where she taught marketing for the school of business.

Pink's economic development experience includes eight years with the Wichita Falls Board of Commerce and Industry, and four years with the State of Texas.

News and Views from Cedar Hill

Carl Lemons'

WEATHER

IT THUNDERED AT CEDAR last Wednesday; long and loud! Your writer has seen local lakes change from dry to overflowing on less thunder than we heard that afternoon! But our weather man has been off on vacation; got a mite rusty, still not fully back to his best game potential; so Cedar Hill got gobs of thunder while Floydada got the rain. For a few fleeting moments our sidewalks were black then bright sunlight returned and the walks quickly became grey again.

Lowest temperature for the week at the Listening Post was 38 on Monday morning following Sunday's raging wind. On Monday most garden plants, especially recent transplants, showed severe damage, possibly some will not survive. Still there has been no jump into the 90 degree temperatures needed to raise soil temperatures to ideal for cotton planting.

At the height of Sunday afternoon's raging southwest winds the Listening Post's walks began to darken and it looked like they would soon be wet. Later, while talking to Neil Langley, the mystery was solved. Five and one half miles up wind from the Listening Post, Neil had turned on his lawn sprinklers, then, after seeing no results for a time, he shut down his watering system. You are in a unique area when a distant neighbor can dampen your area more with his lawn sprinkler than can an afternoon shower replete with booming thunder; in fact you are in West Texas!

CROP COMMENTS

WHEAT continues unchanged from it's appearance of a week ago; the headed portion is struggling mightily to develop and mature it's random seeds and therefore it could be classed as having made a slight gain. On the other hand the development of heads still contained within the boot has come to a halt, few heads are likely to emerge from this point forward.

It appears that quite a few widely scattered fields will produce sufficient grain to justify a harvest, but there is a catch; a large percentage of the matured grain will be on stalks too short to be salvaged by modern equipment. It will be there at harvest time but it cannot be saved, for that reason extra plowings, additional expense, will be required to dispose of the excessive crop of volunteer.

This year of '91 has been the year of the "lake bottom." Every acre of wheat seeded in lake bottom soil last fall has furnished many times more pasture than any acre seeded on average, more elevated farm land. The best patch of dryland wheat this writer has seen, apparently for harvest and with a 20 bushel potential, is growing west of Walton Wilson's section on the west side of the cottonwood lined dump in lake bottom soil 2-1/4 miles north of the old Fairview school location.

COTTON seeding has slowly eased into gear; widely scattered patches were planted during the time frame April 15/20. The most advanced of these plantings were up enough to be rowed on Wednesday, May 1. By far the greater bulk of the planting were held back with the most popular kick-off date to begin planting being the 1st day of May. The most conservative farmers say they will start planting around May 10; however all are attempting to factor in a second planting before June 1st should disaster overtake the first planting.

Now we approach the crucial question, "What is to be done about the 'dryland' cotton farmer?" Now Max Yeary has come up with a brand of Liberty laced logic so profound that your writer chooses to mount Max's wagon and ride along with him. Max aims to have rain! Hear that! Rain! A full-blown "goose-drowning" rain! It will end about May 18/19. Max's vision sees dryland planters able to start mudding through their fields on May 23, with all the elements of perfection, time, moisture, the best of all good things, converging on May 25 - the day of the Old Settler's Celebration. Any dryland farmer, any red-blooded citizen, worth his salt, will be honor-bound and financially obligated to be both places, unreversibly, 100% of his time on that date! Obviously all the elements conducive to a coronary arrest would be present! Thus shall it be! The Devil would have it so!

Take heed, you cotton farmers of Floyd County, to these words of wisdom spoken by Tom Fortenberry, a Cedar Hill sage long gone on to his reward, "If Floyd County's best cotton is grown each year by farmers who stay home on Old Settler's Day and keep their cotton planters going!"

Note the uniqueness of this year's Old Settler's Day! According to association-by-laws, "The last Saturday in May," this year's celebration falls on the earliest possible date. Still another bonus for keeping that cotton planter going.

ONIONS at Cedar are developing tremendous root systems that will be needed when the length-of-day-triggering-device will signal the onions to start growing their huge bulbs. Weekly waterings continue but days like Sunday make more frequent waterings considered.

THE GARDEN SPOT

Many have plunged their seeds into the ground and a variety of plants are up and growing. Martha Taylor has okra with long sprouts, almost ready to emerge. Okra's habits are so similar to those of cotton that Martha's success there should give a clear signal to cotton people. It is time!

Dara Ware is thankful that Clint didn't include melons and cantaloupes along with the patch of coon-bait corn he has planted near the canyons. Actually Clint just a well go ahead and plant the curcubits. It would take very little extra electrical fence to protect the melons than he will have to build anyway to keep the critters out of the corn. Melons might draw in coyotes and porcupines that would not come for the corn alone.

At the Listening Post things look really ragged. We make a few passes through the weeds and debris left over from '90, then put some seeds in the little strip we have tilled. Lord willing we will get back to till out the middles after we get Max Yeary's big rain. We have peas and potatoes up but rodents are diving for the peanuts. The rascals never miss; they zero in on those hidden seeds with unbelievable precision. Never to the right, never to the left. They dig only where there is a seed and in the exact spot.

When this column has been finished we plan to go out and erect a few owl perches in our food patch. We had two pair of great horned owls raise about four to five offspring per pair near here last summer. With a little luck we will have nocturnal predators out there to deal with the night diggers which afflict us

THE LEANING CEDARS

Apr. 25: News of the the passing of T.L. (Pete) Calloway in the early morning hours of Tuesday, April 23 and his burial at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, Apr. 24, came as a complete shock and surprise to the people of Cedar Hill. There is no "Great Wall of China" between Cedar Hill and Floydada to inhibit the exchange of information, still mourners were already gathering at the church for T.L.'s memorial service, when the first news of his passing reached Cedar Hill. Our first knowledge of Pete's passing was gleaned from daily newspapers delivered to rural mailboxes only thirty minutes before the last rites began.

Pete first came to Cedar Hill in 1933 when his step-father, H.L. Rafferty, was named principal of the Cedar Hill School. After his marriage to Geraldine Brown, Pete continued to live at Cedar Hill and their oldest daughter, Kay, was born here. For a time Pete worked for Precinct 3, later becoming a fulltime employee of Floyd County working at the County Barn in Floydada to keep county road working equipment in peak condition. At that time Pete and Geraldine built a new home, their present residence, in the county seat.

Later Pete moved to a regional job with West Texas Equipment Company of Lubbock and they lived there for a number of years, moving back to Floydada after he retired.

The people of Cedar Hill offer Geraldine and her family their condolences, and they apologize for the news glitch which prevented their being prompt at hand in their hour of need.

Apr. 29: Mrs. Jewell Busby stated Monday morning that things were going fairly smooth at their house. J.D. continues to grow weaker, however his troubles are fairly painless, and he is resting well each night. They have no regular appointment schedule with J.D.'s doctors, but they must stay prepared for instant departure should the need arise.

Apr. 29: Steve Lloyd rents the old Belden section of land between Liberty and Center and keeps in contact with the section's owner, Miriam Belden Meeks. He says that Miriam still resides in a rest home at Lewisville, Texas, near where her daughter, Martha, lives. Still alert and an avid reader, she goes through numerous daily newspapers each day, and especially looks forward to news from home, the weekly Hesperian-Beacon.

THE WIND TOUSLED CEDARS

Apr. 24: Needing to check on some medicine, Lindsey Lackey was in the Floydada hospital Tuesday morning. While there Dink Bishop told Lindsey of T.L. Calloway's passing. Lindsey and Billie Ruth, alone of all Cedar Hill people, attended Pete's funeral services.

Apr. 25: It was their wedding anniversary, the 38th, so the Welches, J.A. and Norma, headed for the bright lights, drove to Plainview, and had supper out Wednesday evening.

A busy week at Edna Gilly's place was built around her mother, Ruthie Belle Clark's, return to her home in Austin. Luncheon in Plainview Tuesday with a number of relatives, then three of Ruthie Belle's sisters stayed overnight at Edna's Wednesday and accompanied them to catch R.B.'s Austin-bound plane in Lubbock Thursday.

Friday afternoon Edna and her three youngest grand-daughters, Amy, Tara, and Jessica, all Gillys, drove to Lake Mackenzie for an overnight outing. They returned home Saturday where Edna has been undergoing continuous recuperation.

Apr. 27: Two upcoming graduates from Floydada Junior High, Cedar Hill's Charla Yeary and Cole DuBois, joined in the UIL competition in Tulia last Saturday. Their chosen field was in oral reading and they brought home 5th and 3rd place ribbons, respectively. Charla's reading was "First Dance" while Cole's subject was somewhat less romantic in nature.

Apr. 27: The ship on which Todd Hodges, Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry's sailor grandson, serves, sailed out of the Persian Gulf recently, and is now en route to Hawaii. His ship is expected to dock in San Diego before the end of May.

Apr. 27: Andover, Kansas, scene of last week's storm carnage, is the distance from Lockney to Floydada south-east of Wichita. Kelly Mixon, Lindsey and Billie Ruth Lackey's son-in-law, who works for General Dynamics in Wichita was in seeing and hearing distance as the storm roared past but he was never in personal danger.

Apr. 27: Girls taking Vo-Ag in school! That one used to raise eyebrows! Not anymore! Traca Lemons returned Saturday from a trip to College Station where her Valley School poultry judging team participated in state-wide competition. How did they do? Hmmmmmm, seems there was a lapse of memory.

During an interview with Amy Gilly Saturday, she quickly named Vo-Ag as probably her favorite subject. The portion she liked best was working with metals; oxy-acetylene cutting along with arc-welding. Will wonders never cease? But stop now, and think a moment! Why not?

Apr. 28: Bud, Penny, and Erin Taylor returned home Sunday from a trip to "The Triple I Show" in Garden City, Kansas. They rode along with Penny's parents, Rex and Wanda Davey. Kansas features a rotating show somewhere in the state each year, always one of the nation's finest, and the Daveys hardly ever miss. The trip is a mite political since Rex has a list of customers in Western Kansas that he custom-harvests wheat for every year. He checks out the wheat, assures the customers he'll be back. He makes the trip pay!

THE POOREST MAN IS HE WHO HAS NOTHING BUT MONEY.

Proclamation

Whereas our well-being depends on the production of ample food, fiber and other products of the soil; and

Whereas the quality and quantity of these products depends on the conservation, wise use and proper management of soil and water resources; and

Whereas protection of our water from pollution depends on sound conservation practices; and

Whereas conservation districts provide a practical and democratic organization through which landowners take the initiative to conserve and make proper use of these resources; and

Whereas the conservation movement is carrying forward a program of soil and water conservation in cooperation with numerous agencies and countless individuals;

Therefore I, in full appreciation of the value of our soil and water to the public welfare, and desiring to honor those who protect those resources, do hereby proclaim April 28 through May 5, 1991

Soil and Water Stewardship Week

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of office to be affixed.

William D. Hardin
April 29, 1991

Soil and Water Stewardship Week

Submitted by Jon LaBaume
For centuries, men and women have offered humble thanks to God for the priceless gifts of soil, water, air and sunshine which make all living things possible. This gratitude by religious people has been expressed in many ways over the years but in all its forms there has been a continuing thread of emphasis on the wondrous powers of the Almighty to create and to heal. There has been stress, too, on the universal dependence on His grace for salvation and for all good things. The world as we know it could not exist without a fruitful agriculture. A regular harvest is a critical matter. But nature, like man, is erratic. There are times when the very elements seem to conspire against a yield. When the rains cease and the earth cracks, when storms and pestilence wreak their havoc, fields become barren and livestock grow gaunt in search of grass. It is then, and particularly in times of prolonged hardship, that the call goes out for divine intervention to ease the suffering and restore the bounty of the soil.

In our own country, the decision to set aside a week each year to acknowledge before God our gratitude for His gifts of soil and all the bountiful resources associated with it has met an evident need of a great many people.

The week — now known as Soil and Water Stewardship Week — has become a special time to remind all people that these gifts of the Creator warrant their best in creative conservation and considerate management.

The Soil and Water Stewardship Week observance, by its very nature, is one to be joined in by everyone who shares a sense of personal responsibility under God for the care of soil, water and the other vital elements making up our environment. The prime concern of conservation districts, along with thousands of involved clergymen and laymen, is to encourage an ever-growing participation by Americans in this annual recognition of the continuing importance of thoughtful stewardship.

Two changes are to be announced

These two changes were announced on April 15. PCG has learned that additional changes are going to be released in the April 19 Federal Register. It is hoped that several more of PCG's recommendations will be incorporated into the current revisions.

One other program announcement made several weeks ago involved Texas being declared an arid area and therefore exempt from the 50 percent cover requirement on ACR. Without this designation Texas producers would have been required to plant cover on 50 percent of their ACR before the deadline set by the state ASCS committee. Previously the deadline was fixed on June 1.

"We submitted comments and recommendations to the Secretary of Agriculture on each of the points included in this first round of program adjustments. Obviously we hope that any subsequent announcements will include more of the concerns expressed by High Plains producers," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "Although many of the changes that have been announced are in line with our recommendations, we had hoped that some of them would have been more than a one time postponement of the regulations."

In other changes received late Thursday PCG has learned that the rule requiring all farm operating plans with more than five payment eligible persons be sent to the state ASCS committee for initial determinations of persons and actively engaged in farming has been modified. Under the revised rule the state committee must only make initial determinations on farm plans that involve a farm that has more than five persons earning program benefits and if the expected total payments come to more than $50,000.

PCG cautions that final determinations have not been published at this time. Any producer who thinks that changes announced so far could affect his operation is urged to contact the local ASCS office for a final determination on what the changes will mean for them.

The announcement of changes in regulations pertaining to the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990 comes as a mixed blessing for many High Plains producers. Concerned about this year's crop many are happy to see the changes were made to last the entire life of the program. Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has been monitoring the development of the new regulations and submitted comments concerning several aspects of the bill.

PCG's comments dealt with some of the drastic changes in the way the new farm program was going to be run in 1991. Of primary importance to many area producers was the preliminary announcement that blank rows in 2 and 1 cotton would not be eligible for designation as conserving use for pay (CU for Pay). In an announcement made earlier in the week it was learned that for the 1991-crop blank rows will be eligible for CU for Pay.

The change in this rule was also accompanied by the announcement that it was only applicable for the 1991-crop. As it now stands, starting in 1992 producers will have to incorporate skips that are at least four rows wide in order for the area skipped to be eligible as CU for Pay. However, the effort to secure a permanent change continues, PCG notes.

Also announced was a change in size requirements for strips placed in fields for erosion control purposes. The initial regulations increased the minimum size requirement to 66 feet wide or five acres. Under the revised regulation the strips will be eligible for acreage conservation reserve (ACR) or CU for Pay status if they are at least 33 feet wide and meet one of the following requirements: 1) they are part of a conservation plan, or 2) that the strip is planted to a perennial cover crop. For 1991 only the same exceptions for size and width applicable in 1990 will be in effect.

PCG understands that this rule change will take into account terrace systems that many producers use in their conser-

Civilization begins and ends with the plow - when the plow turns at the end of the furrow with a profit, that preserves commerce and civilization; when the plow is junked at the end of the furrow, it destroys both. Any civilization can live on the plow alone. No civilization can live without the plow."

- Oklahoma Governor William H. ("Alfalfa Bill") Murry

Trade is mixed bag for grain

By Kathleen Davis

Fewer trade barriers would send more U.S. grain to Mexico, but the increase probably wouldn't greatly improve prices for American producers, researchers at Texas A&M University said. "Given the relative sizes of the grain industries in the two countries and the current excess capacity existing in U.S. agriculture, it is unlikely that the increase in U.S. exports to Mexico would substantially change prices in the United States," according to research results released this week.

Mexico produced almost 19 million metric tons of wheat, corn and sorghum in 1989, the most current available data, compared to almost 275 million metric tons harvested in the United States. A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds.

The assessment of U.S. agriculture under a free trade agreement with Mexico is by Texas A&M's Agricultural Market Research Center economists. The study, including the major commodity and non-commodity issues, is contained in 10 reports issued by the center.

U.S. trade talks with Mexico could begin by June if Congress grants "fast-track" negotiating authority, set to expire at the end of May, according to Dr. Gary Williams, the center's coordinator.

Since negotiations have not begun, no clear terms have been set forth. The Texas A&M study pinpoints issues that should be considered to best serve both nations.

Mexico traditionally has been a "major but fairly erratic" importer of U.S. grain, according to the study. The Texas A&M researchers believe Mexico will stay in the U.S. feedgrains market regardless of results in a free trade agreement.

But if an agreement is reached, the study showed, the most benefit would be felt by U.S. grain producers — especially for Texas producers of sorghum, wheat and corn and for corn farmers in the Midwest. Losers would be U.S. users of the grains (such as livestock feeders and millers) and Mexican producers. Consumers also could face higher prices for wheat products if the trade agreement requires an elimination of subsidies in both countries.

The researchers said most gains and losses from grain trade, however, will be small. The biggest impact could be short-term displacement of farm workers in Mexico.

"This could be a major problem for rural development efforts in Mexico since 32 percent of the Mexican labor force is still employed in the farm sector," the study noted. Pending growth in Mexican manufacturing sectors from relaxed trade regulations, the labor force might shift to different jobs, however.

Major issues to consider in grain talks, therefore, include the time frame over which the trade barriers will be reduced, domestic policies in both countries, possible easy and unfair access to U.S. markets through Mexico from another country, the inadequate transportation system and infrastructure in Mexico, internal trade liberalization in Mexico, nontariff trade restrictions and labor concerns.
