A view from
The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Another session of the Legislature has come and gone. This time we got by without another of those horrendous tax increases for which the Legislature has become somewhat famous. The reason we got by is very simple. The Legislature, under the influence of the Governor and Lt. Governor, decided to put the tough decision on money matters off until a Special Session is convened later in the year. That will provide a little more time to appear to be searching for ways to trim the fat from government, and incidentally build the case for a state income tax.

And, in passing, they passed a bill that was theoretically designed to improve what is called "ethics" in state government. Basically, in our view, the legislation was a fraud upon the people. It was one of the earliest pieces of legislation introduced, and one of the last to be voted on. In the final analysis it was the product of a conference committee made up of members from both the House and the Senate, including our own Mr. Carriker. It was rammed through both bodies without the members even knowing, or understanding, the details of what they were voting on. But they couldn't afford to vote "no", lest they be accused of being "against" ethics in government. The result is that we may now have an "ethics" bill in many ways worse than what we had before. It does not adequately address some of the most glaring examples of what most people think should be corrected — among them the practice of some Senators and Representatives in using "campaign" funds or "office holders accounts" for purposes other than those originally intended.

Governor Ann, who made a big thing of ethics in the early days of her administration, said it was a good piece of legislation, but she hasn't signed it as of this writing, and even members of the conference committee that wrote the legislation are already saying it ought to be changed as soon as possible. We'll see.

Bits and pieces from here and there: You probably noticed it in the daily press, but just in case you didn't — The 51 nation African "summit" has come up with a proposal that those countries that "enslaved" Africans should now begin paying "reparations" for their acts, the money going, of course, to the governments of the African nations. We've wondered how long it would take them to get around to that, but why not. We've been paying reparations, by whatever name we might call it, to various and sundry governments around the world for lo these many years, with no end in sight. African nations have certainly gotten their share and will continue to get it. If they want to dress up "foreign aid" and call it "reparations", that's fine with us. That might make them happy, and it would certainly make America's congressional liberals exceedingly happy. American taxpayers probably wouldn't be able to tell the difference. Unless, of course, they tack "reparations" on top of foreign aid.

Speaking of reparations, Israel is back in the news. Kind of funny the way these things happen. Secretary of State Jim Baker was testifying before Congress last week. He is usually very, very careful about what he says. But he evidently made a slip. He told the committee that the biggest impediment to peace in the middle east has been Israel's intransigence concerning developments in the occupied territories. That shocked Washington and a few other places. The very next day a group of Senators, both Republican and Democrat, hastily called a press conference where they denounced their own Secretary of State and defended, at great length, the ac-

Ambulance operating fund raises $1506.31

Volunteers concerned about the future of the Caprock Emergency Services, namely the operation of the ambulance, during the temporary closing of Caprock Hospital, manned the ambulance on the southeast corner of the square May 25 to raise funds.

The effort resulted in donations totaling $1,506.31 during the day. Many people concerned that there are no longer any practicing physicians in Floydada and no hospital for emergency care dug into their pockets to help keep the ambulance running in the next few months.

EMS director Rhonda Guthrie stated,

Phone lines cut

Long distance telephone service was disrupted in Floydada Tuesday morning, June 4 after a phone line was cut four miles south of Cone Elevator between Hale Center and Abernathy. The phone line was damaged by a farmer digging a post hole.

Service was restored to the area, Tuesday afternoon.

"We are grateful for the donations and would like to thank everyone who contributed to the effort in any way."

According to information from Caprock Hospital District, under whose auspices the service operates, monthly operation takes from $2,000 to $3,000 due the rising cost of providing the service. The city of Floydada contributes $500 per month to the service as does Floyd County. Only slightly more than half of the ambulance runs made each month are ever paid for by private individuals or by their insurance companies. Medicaid and Medicare reimburse the service at a greatly reduced rate.

The remainder of the costs have been coming from hospital district funds. These funds will not be available since the closing of the hospital last month. Community donations are being sought to make up the difference and keep the ambulance working in the community.

Anyone wishing to make a donation, memorial contribution or gift to the ambulance service operating fund may do so by depositing it in the Caprock EMS Fund account at the First National Bank of Floydada.

Pheasants Forever forms in Floyd County

Pheasants Forever has come to Floyd County, and with it comes opportunities for landowners to improve pheasant habitat and possibly turn a profit through hunting leases.

Pheasants Forever is a nonprofit conservation organization formed in 1982 in response to the continuing decline of ringnecked pheasants. Nationwide, the organization has 60,000 members.

Dallas recently became the first chapter in Texas to join the national organization and Floyd County soon followed suit. The purpose of all chapters is to improve the habitat and develop the pheasant population.

The lifeblood of Pheasants Forever is the local chapters, which retains most of the money raised at annual banquets and other fund raising functions. The funds are then used for local habitat work, including, but not limited to, the establishment of woody cover, nesting cover, food plots adjacent to key wintering areas and sorghum wintering areas.

MONEY AVAILABLE TO LANDOWNERS

The Dallas chapter which started only one year ago, now has 130 members to its credit. Because of the success of their recent fund raising banquet this chapter

EMS COMMUNITY FUND ESTABLISHED -- Floydada's Emergency Medical Services ambulance unit was on hand throughout the Old Settler's Day celebration Saturday, May 25. Besides being available of an emergency arose, ambulance volunteers were accepting donations for a special account to be used to fund ambulance operations during the temporary closure of Caprock Hospital and while there are no practicing physicians in Floydada. Those attending Old Settler's contributed $1,506.31 to the fund. has just offered $2,000 to be divided up among local Floyd County land owners to develop habitat. The money will be distributed according to the amount of acreage set aside for habitat.

"There are no strings attached," said Hulon Carthel, a member of Pheasants Forever. "This money is only for habitat. You don't have to let people hunt on your land."

"We have perfect habitat in the county with the CRP land. It makes good cover, but they also need food source. Pheasants Forever will help develop food source."

"It won't interfere with government payments on CRP," said Gary Carthel, another local member of Pheasants Forever. It doesn't cost a penny because Pheasants Forever will pay to plant the food plots. Farmers can then make some money by leasing their land for pheasant hunters—but they aren't obligated to do that."

"We will do a modification of the CRP contract," said Mark Lewis of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. "If anyone is interested in planting food plots for wildlife on their CRP, they need to come talk to me. It is a pretty simple process."

"It is best to plant corn, milo, sunflower, millet—some kind of forage sorghum in strips on your CRP field. Planting should be done April 1-July 15 to get a good stand for wildlife food."

"The landowner should leave the residue of the food crop standing in the plots until the next growing season. There is no set width for the strips, but it is better to plant in small strips. They can be moved around, but if you move it you must replace it with permanent grass. You can also leave the food plots in the same spots throughout the length of the contract."

"It is the farmers responsibility to control the weeds. You have to plant in a clean soil bed and the food plots have to be on the least erosive soils to prevent excessive erosion."

"Anyone who is interested in the program needs to come see us. We will be glad to talk to everyone," said Lewis.

"It is a good idea to leave food source close to playa lakes," said Hulon Carthel. The food shouldn't be in plowed fields because the pheasant then expose themselves to the elements and predators when they go in search for food."

The Carthel brothers are two landowners who plan to not only replenish the pheasant population through the Pheasant Forever program, but also plan on getting a return on their investment during hunting season.

Lockney man shot during altercation

Lockney police are investigating an incident that occurred Sunday night, June 2, which resulted in the shooting of a 19-year-old Lockney man, Joe Castro Jr.

At approximately 10:15 p.m. Sunday, police were called to Lockney General Hospital in reference to a gunshot victim.

The shooting, at the women's softball field in Lockney (near S.E. 3rd and Shurbet Street), allegedly occurred after an altercation between Castro and another man.

Castro told police that he was shot by a man who fired three times into the windshield of Castro's vehicle. Castro was seated behind the steering wheel at the time. Another bullet was fired into the trunk on the driver's side of the vehicle. The caliber of weapon used is unknown at this time.

The bullets shattered on impact and fragments of the bullets entered Castro's back.

The suspect in the shooting then fled in a 1985 Chevrolet pickup. The pickup was later recovered, but the suspect could not be found.

Wednesday morning a warrant was issued for the arrest of Carlos Cavazos for the attempted murder of Joe Castro Jr.

Castro was released from Lockney General, Tuesday morning, June 4.

Fortenberry named first runner-up in competition

Jennifer Fortenberry was named first runner-up in the West Texas National Teen-Ager Scholarship Pageant. She also was the first place winner in the senior division of the talent contest. The scholarship pageant was held this past weekend at the Herral Memorial Auditorium at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

Miss Fortenberry, the daughter of Sam and Kelly Fortenberry, was among 106 teens competing for the West Texas title.

To win the senior talent division Miss Fortenberry did a tap routine to the music, "Swing the Mood."

As 1st runner-up she received a $3000 college scholarship and her senior talent win added a $5000 scholarship. Part of the scholarships are to be used at Wayland and the rest to a school of her choice.

Plainview's Leah Kay Lyle, Miss Texas 1989, was the mistress of ceremonies for the pageant that began at 7:30 p.m.

Pageant participants and their families were guests at a reception on Friday night and the participants were interviewed by a panel of judges throughout the day Saturday. The talent portion of the pageant took place on Saturday night.

Miss Fortenberry will be a senior at Lockney High School next fall. She is a member of the National Honor Society, basketball team and a varsity cheerleader.

OK ya'll have finished resting from Old Settlers. Time to gear up for the 4th of July celebration at Pay-N-Save, Old Fashioned Saturday in Lockney (not sure when), the Floyd County Fair and of course Punkin Days.

Of course plans are already being made for all of them, but Floydada parents should be on the alert that their kids were supplied with pumpkin seeds the last week of school. They were supposed to bring them home and plant them in June sometime (it's on the package).

Help you kids nurse their pumpkin plant and they could have a chance to win a dirt bike (courtesy of Pay-N-Save and Coca-Cola) in October during Punkin Days.

I'm glad my friend had the courage to let these men know she was proud of where she lived. I hope they left wondering if they were quite as smart as they thought they were.

Do you know what Ms. Muffet and Saddam Hussein have in common?

They both have Kurds in their way (why)?

Floydada Police Report

Police investigated a report of a shooting at a residence in the 500 block of E. Kentucky, Monday, May 27, at 3:00 a.m.

According to police it appeared there had been a party at the residence, but there was no damage or injuries at the scene. "There were a lot of shotgun shells laying around," said Sgt. Snell of the Floydada Police Department.

Tuesday, May 28, a report was taken of criminal mischief against a residence in the 600 block of W. Jackson. Two windows were shot with BB's and screens were cut at the residence.

Wednesday, May 29, at 5:30 p.m. police were called to a juvenile disturbance at the city swimming pool. Rocks were thrown at cars but there was no damage. The juveniles were located and counseled.

Thursday, May 30, police received a report of a burglary at the First United Methodist Church. Stolen from the office of the church was a beige COMDIAL telephone, four line system,

May 31 through June 14, the First National Bank of Floydada is hosting an art exhibit featuring the work of Audell Thomas and some of her oil painting students. Paintings are being shown by Carolyn Warrick, Lisa Kerbo, Opal Zeleny, Marjorie Myrick and Clorene McDonald of Plainview and Gaylia Davis of Hart.

Each artist displays her own particular style and expertise and offers through the exhibit a wide variety of subject matter. The viewer will see landscapes, florals - still life, animal life, westerns and seascapes.

Audell Thomas of Kress has been painting in oils for over 20 years. Although she began painting as a hobby, it took on another dimension eleven years ago when she began teaching the art form to others. She maintains a studio west of Kress and has classes there and at Crafts, Etc., in Plainview. Students are encouraged to paint their preferences and at their own level and pace with specific instruction from Audell.

Thomas feels she has been privileged to study with many fine artists. Included are Jean Green, Katherine Stephens, David Rindlisbacher, Margaret Kessler, Carroll Collier and Lawanda Calton. She is a member of Plains Art Association and West Texas State University Tri-State Amateur Artists' Association.

Audell believes that we are made more aware of our world's beauty, color and design when we learn to "see" through the eyes of an artist. Both children and adults have been known to remark about how much more they notice about things around them once they begin to paint.

"Painting seems to open new doors all the time for both young and old," Thomas stated.

The First National Bank of Floydada invites you to take advantage of this unusual instructor-student art exhibit during regular banking hours.

Sign-up continues at county library for Camp Wanna-Read

It's still not too late to sign up for the summer reading club at the Floyd County Library. This year's club is called "Camp Wanna-Read" and is sponsored in cooperation with the Texas State Library and our local Dairy Queen. The reading club is for all children ages 4 to 12, and takes place Wednesday mornings at 10 o'clock.

Activities include a story time for preschoolers and films for all ages. Participants are encouraged to read at home during the club, and earn Dairy Queen coupons by keeping track of hours spent reading. So be a happy camper... join "Camp Wanna-Read" today! Call 983-3578 for more information.

valued at $250.00.

Monday, June 3, police arrested Mary Soto, 49, of Floydada, after she was caught at Perry's with a purse containing many small items. She was taken before the city judge and charged with theft. She paid $27.50 in fines and released.

During the night of June 3, a motor vehicle was entered in the 600 block of E. Tennessee. The head liner was torn inside the vehicle and cigarette butts were found on the liner. Nothing was taken from inside the car.

Also on Monday evening a criminal mischief at the Post Office was reported. Five ceiling tiles were damaged inside the post office.

ACCIDENTS
Tuesday, May 28, at 6:05 p.m. in a parking lot in the 800 block of N. 2nd, a '84 Chevrolet Suburban backed into a '88 Dodge pickup. There was minor damage to the pickup and none to the Suburban.

Also on May 28, at 8:40 p.m. in the Pay-N-Save parking lot, a '75 gray Ford pickup struck a parked '84 Oldsmobile and then left the scene.

Because of the description provided to police by the witnesses at the grocery store, Reginaldo Mata, 22, was located and charged with leaving the scene of an accident and no liability insurance.

May 30, at 1:35 p.m. police were called to an accident in the intersection of S. Wall and E. Marivena in which a 14 year old boy riding a motorcycle was injured.

James Lee Vick was driving a '81 Suzuki motorcycle north bound on wall when the front tire went flat. The bike went down on the left side and slid 124 feet.

Vick, who was wearing a helmet, was transported to Lockney General Hospital, by private vehicle, with lacerations to his hand and foot.

Friday, May 31, at 11:40 a.m. in the 300 block of W. Missouri, a '76 Pontiac struck a '79 Pontiac on the right back quarter as the '76 Pontiac turned into a private drive from the left lane. Both vehicles were traveling west.

Friday at 6:50 p.m. in the 200 block of W. Mississippi (east of 3rd Street) a '77 Dodge pickup backed from a private drive across the street and hit a parked '78 Chevrolet. There was minor damage to both vehicles.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for Directory Assistance Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for Directory Assistance Service.

To help recover its costs, the Company is proposing to increase the rates for Directory Assistance calls from $.30 to $.40 per call (after the three-call allowance). Southwestern Bell is proposing that there be no change in the number of free Directory Assistance calls allowed each month (currently three) and that customers who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps continue to be exempt from these charges. The company also proposes to begin charging $.25 per call for Directory Assistance from pay telephones.

If approved by the Commission, this proposed rate change for Directory Assistance will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.4 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. This proposed rate change would affect approximately 900,000 residence customers, approximately 155,000 business customers, approximately 500 private pay telephone owners and all customers who make Directory Assistance calls from public pay telephones.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Pheasants Forever organization formed in Floyd County

the kind that just come on to mess up your land and shoot your cows."

"Although 90% of the members are hunters, this is not a hunting club," said Floyd County Chapter President Jon Nielson. "These are not people who raise pheasants just to shoot them. The money the chapters raise go into providing habitat. Right now the Dallas chapter is helping us out with some money to get us going."

Each Pheasants Forever chapter maintains local control of its habitat funds. Chapter leaders, with help from resource professionals, establish habitat restoration programs, customized to fit the needs of upland wildlife in their area. In eight years, Pheasants Forever has spent more than 7 million on habitat projects, public awareness and education programs, and land management policy changes.

Since 1982, the organization has grown to include 60,000 members. They are already firmly established in California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

THE NEED FOR FOOD/COVER PLOTS

Pheasants may be seen in this area abundantly in the spring and summer, but in the winter they may leave their habitat in search for food.

Winter habitat can roughly be divided into foraging cover and roosting cover. Foraging cover is necessary to help keep the bird concealed from predators while they are feeding. Roosting cover is where the birds can seek shelter from harsh temperatures and blowing snow.

In places where the winters are not harsh, there may be little or no difference between these two cover types. The closer these cover types are positioned, the more pheasants will benefit from them.

During the fall, following harvest, waste grain can be found abundantly scattered throughout a typical grain field. Unless these fields are immediately tilled this waste grain will be available for foraging pheasants.

Pheasants are generally hesitant to feed beyond one-half mile from its cover, even if abundant food exists beyond this range. As birds become concentrated into the relatively few remaining "islands" of roosting cover, the amount of food that can be safely obtained is effectively reduced. It is at this point when pheasants begin experiencing their highest mortality rates during the winter months.

With good quality winter habitat, pheasants are able to survive the winter snows and harsh temperatures for many months. The problem, however, does not end with just staying alive. Hen pheasants must actually gain weight through much of the winter in order to replenish the weight lost during the previous nesting season.

Birds that undergo a great deal of stress during the winter months may actually have their highest mortality rate during the following spring. For hens, there will be a strong correlation between spring body weight and chick production. As such, it is important for these birds to have dependable sources of food that will enable them to enter the spring in good condition.

The principle objective of winter food patches, then, is to establish safe foraging patterns that restrict unnecessary movements and provide a dependable source of food to help carry female birds through the winter in good condition.

FACTS ABOUT THE RINGNECK

The ringneck is an exceptionally healthy bird, resistant to common parasites and diseases. It has proved to be well adapted to the harsh, cold winters of the northern plains as well as the warmer summers of the southern plains.

The ring-neck seems to prefer living in close relation to farmsteads, both occupied and abandoned. It is not the least bit apprehensive to come and "eat with the chickens" at a farmstead.

The breeding season in Texas begins in April and the peak hatching season is generally in mid-June. The clutch size varies between 12 to 15 eggs and the incubation time is approximately 23 days. A hen will produce a brood per year. The ring-neck does not form a pair bond, but the male establishes a territory that he will defend against intruding males during the breeding season.

Research has shown that a ratio of one cock per 15 hens is adequate for reproduction. In a given year, 65 to 75 percent of the fall population will not live until the hunting season the following year.

Mortality factors such as starvation, predation, accidents and winter kill account for the annual turnover. Research has shown that hunting makes no significant difference in the annual turnover or survival rate.

The ring-neck needs several cover types; loafing cover, travel lanes, roosting cover, nesting cover and winter cover. Of these, nesting cover and winter cover are the most critical. Wintering pheasants prefer to roost in dense, low cover.

Nesting cover needs to be tall enough to conceal the eggs and the hen when she is incubating. Texas pheasants have shown a preference for wheat stubble, alfalfa haylands, grassed waterways and roadside barrow ditches for nesting cover.

"West Texas Praise Team to perform at Lockney FBC

A gospel music concert will be presented by the "West Texas Praise Team" at First Baptist Church, Lockney, on Friday, June 7, at 7:00 p.m. Admission to the concert is free and the public is invited to attend.

The "West Texas Praise Team" is a group of Christian musicians who seek to witness and to lift up and honor the Lord Jesus through song and testimony. Director of the group, John Webster (lead vocal and piano) is supervisor in Community Services with Lubbock Regional MHMR.

Other members of the group are: Brenda McClesky (lead vocal and tenor vocal), bookkeeper and homemaker; Joy Laws (alto), Lynn County District Clerk; Nelda Murray (piano, low tenor and low alto), homemaker; and James Aten (bass guitar), farmer, all of Grassland.

The "West Texas Praise Team" may be heard Sundays at 10:30 a.m. on Lubbock FM Radio, KJAK 92.7. The group is available for concerts, revivals, banquets, seminars and retreats and may be scheduled by calling John Webster (806) 747-6046 in Lubbock.

Donald Webster, pastor of Lee Street Baptist Church in Dimmitt and former minister of music and youth at the local church, will also be participating in the concert.

A sandwich, chip and dip fellowship will be held at the church following the concert. Everyone is invited to bring their favorite snack foods and enjoy the evening.

tions of Israel. Then the Secretary of Defense dropped by Tel Aviv and gave them a dozen or so "used" fighter planes, and an additional few hundred million dollars, plus a battery of Patriot missiles, etc. Quiet prevails this week.

In closing: Elsewhere in today's paper there may be a news story concerning the rejection by the Texas Senate of our nomination to the Texas Judicial Council. We are not going to prolong the story. As far as we are concerned the matter is over and done. We would have thought better about it if Mr. Carriker had had the backbone to appear before the nominating committee to make his points there, in public. But he did not. He exercised that privilege elsewhere, in closed session, and then made his comments in public. Some politicians are like that. The important thing in all of this is not what we think of Mr. Carriker, or what Mr. Carriker thinks of us. The only thing that is important to us, relative to him, is how he represents this District. When, and if, he does something that merits praise, he will get it from us. The reverse is also true. We are certainly not going to change the way we look at things, or the way we say things, in order to please a statehouse politician.

This Week

DIABETES CLASSES

The diabetes classes and support group will start up again the 4th Thursday of each month. Lockney General Hospital will be sponsoring this group. They will be held in the annex building of Lockney General Hospital (across the street from the hospital). The next class will be June 27 at 7:00 p.m. by Helen Teeple BS, RN. Classes are free.

Senior Citizens News

By Thelma Jones

We are sorry to report that Ruth Trapp has had a stroke.

Mrs. Cora Hartline returned Sunday from a ten day trip to Arizona to visit her son and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Keald of Mena, Arkansas; Wanda Armstrong and James Freeman and family of Lubbock spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Grady Freeman.

Everyone is enjoying the good rain and no storms or hail.

Alma Smith, Velma Curry of Olton spent several days down state with relatives.

Sympathy to the families of Weldon Hammonds and Bill Colston and Bro. Hal Farnsworth on the loss of his brother. To the Clarence Guffee on the loss of his cousin, Glen Hartsell.

Virginia and Stanley Warts of Hale Center visited her mother, Mrs. J.C. Odom Monday.

Mrs. Valree Turner visited her granddaughter in Knox City over the weekend. She accompanied Travis and Margorie Young.

James Earl Teague of Richardson spent Saturday night and Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Lula Teague.

Carl Tardy of Roaring Springs spent Monday with Marie and Lanell Tardy. The regular monthly luncheon will be Saturday, June 8.

Mamie Wood of South Plains had supper with Lula Teague Friday night.

Ila Hammonds and Lula Teague went shopping in Plainview Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Corley's grandchildren are visiting her this week.

The Senior Citizens regular covered dish luncheon will be Saturday, June 8. All come and enjoyed the day with us.

Give Five.
What you get back is immeasurable.

CLUBS

Whirlwind Sams Club

By Betty Gilbreath

The Whirlwind Sams of Floydada met at Lighthouse Electric on June 3, for their chapter meeting with President Claude Weathersbee in charge.

Alan Benson led opening prayers giving thanks for the rain and special blessings for those that have had deaths and illness of family members. These include Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Hartsell on the loss of his brother; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pyle on the loss of Virginia's brother, also remembering Louis as he is having tests made at Lubbock and Carol Reese as she had tests in Plainview.

Refreshments served by the Keith Patzer's, chairperson, and the W.B. Cates and George Miller's assisting, food always good and beautiful flower table arrangement.

The president called on Wagon Master Robert McPherson for reports on our next three campouts and our July cookout.

The Harold Norrell's got the door prize.

Marge McElyea gave a report on the Santa Fe campout, sounds like they had a fun time.

Alan Benson was in charge of our program, he had Dr. Charles Craig. He gave a slide presentation on his trip to Hong Kong which was enjoyed by all.

We had 19 rigs represented with 40 members present and four guest there included Dr. Craig and the Robert McPherson daughter, Leila Holdway and children, Jamie and Courtney of Amarillo.

The meeting closed by singing our chapter song, "Happy Trails."

Alpha Sigma Upsilon

By Darolyn Snell

Alpha Sigma Upsilon, Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, met for their last regular meeting of the year, at the home of Robbie Odom at 7:00 p.m. May 23, 1991.

Ritual of the Jewel was held for Beth Riddle and Tammy Dorris, after which office installations took place for the new officers for 1991-1992.

A meal consisting of barbequed steaks, potato salad, tossed salad, fruit salad, bread and tea was served.

The meeting was then called to order with all members present standing for opening rituals. All members were present for this meeting. Minutes from the previous meeting were read and approved. Discussion was then held concerning pricing and workshifts for the ice cream booth Saturday at Old Settlers. That matter being settled, we then discussed and assigned the new committee assignments for the coming year. Some discussion was then held about meeting for summer socials, nothing definite was planned.

All members then stood for closing rituals and mitzpah. To end the evening, a surprise baby shower was held for Anna Rivera, everyone then said goodbye and departed.

Harmony Extension Club

The Harmony Extension Club went to Lubbock for the May 27 meeting.

Mrs. Lois Swendle had invited the club to be her guests for the day. They arrived there at 11:30 and were privileged to get to see her lovely home, that had been recently re-decorated. They then went to Leal's Restaurant for a Mexican lunch, back to her home for dessert of ice cream cake, ice cream pie, cookies and lemonade.

Mrs. Swendle showed crafts she was doing — original crocheted shawls and belts and blouses she had decorated. She showed different ways to wear the shawls to perk up a dark dress, or accent colors in other dresses. Throughout her house were decorative things she had made.

Then all went to Willoughbys Gift Shop that was in the process of being enlarged. Gifts galore, both new and antique were viewed. Then on to Insights to see what was new in decorations. After seeing so many things there - goodbyes were said to Mrs. Swendle and all headed home with new ideas that some hoped to copy.

Those going from Harmony Club were Karen Miller, Juanita Pool, Vivian Curtis, Arvie Schulz, Anna Hopper, Maye Williams, Ruth Scott, Lucille Miller and Imelda Murry.

Il Penseroso Study Club

The Il Penseroso Study Club met in the home of Jo Beth Dietrich on Tuesday, May 21. Co-hostesses for the evening were Robin Stoerner and Gay Terrell.

Those attending were Kim Lambert, Kay Brock, Julie Dorman, Rise' Ford, DarLee Foster, Renee Ilrback, Jamie Moerbe, Leslee Sherman, Robin Stoerner, Traci Tannahill, Traci Long, Cindy Cotham, Marva Rasco, Kim Teeter, Jo Beth Dietrich, Gay Terrell, Julie Ellison, Terri Fortenberry, Shawnda Foster, Donna McCarter, Lisa Roberts, Karla Stapp, Kay Tannahill, Cris Taylor, Tami Wofford, Holly Norwood and Robin Sherman.

Club resignations were accepted from Gay Terrell, Traci Tannahill and Kay Tannahill. Officers were installed for the upcoming year and Secret Pals were revealed. The highlight of the evening was when the club Christmas quilt was won by Robin Stoerner.

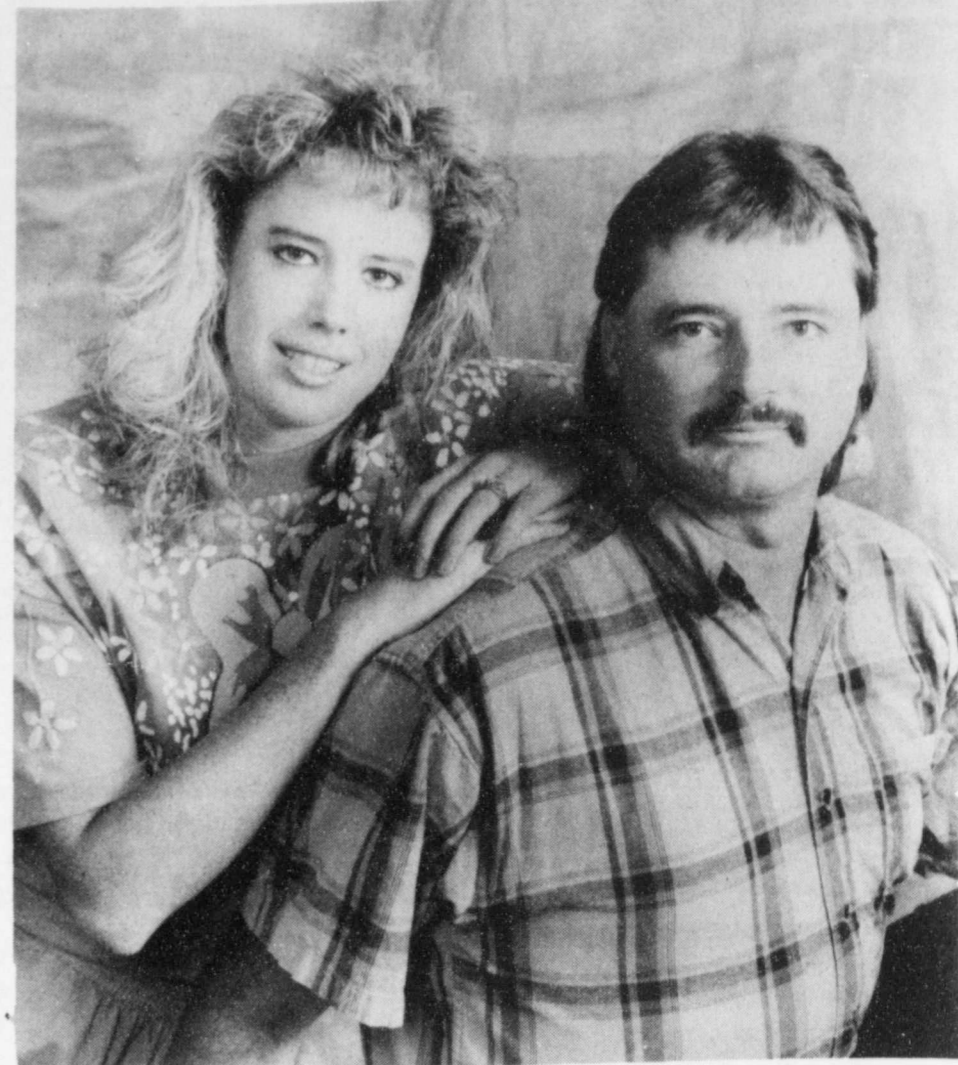

Tickets for the Il Penseroso Club quilt may be purchased from any club member and will be given away at the Floyd County Fair. The tickets are $1.00 each or six for $5.00.

Social Security News

By Mary Jane Shanes

A new law to combat mail scams will take effect in May. Called the Deceptive Mailings Prevention Act, it gives the United States Postal System (USPS) specific power to stop delivery of certain mail solicitations.

Under this new authority, mailings promoting the purchase of goods or services, or asking for donations, will not be delivered by the USPS if the public might reasonably be misled into believing that the mailing comes from the Government or is somehow approved by the Government.

The law says that any envelope (or the face of any postcard) that includes a name, seal, insignia, term, or symbol that could reasonably be mistaken for a Government-issued mailing will not be delivered unless it also has a prominent "disclaimer." The disclaimer must appear on the envelope (or face of the postcard) and must clearly state that the mailing is not from or endorsed by the Government.

Many companies use "Social Security" or "Medicare" as a "come-on" to get people to read their advertisements. Even worse, some of these ads appear to try to deliberately mislead Social Security or Medicare benefits. The Social Security Administration supports the new law because it should help stop mailings designed to take advantage of people who are concerned about their Social Security or Medicare benefits.

What should you do if you get mail that seems to be from the Government, but actually isn't? You can either take it to your local postmaster or postal inspector or send a complaint to: Chief Postal Inspector, United States Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20260-2100.

If you want to lodge a complaint, it's important that you forward everything you received, including any envelope or wrapper. Also, be sure to include your name and address, the nature of your concern about the mailing, and the date you got it in the mail. All of that information will help the Postal Inspector take action.

Small Business Angle

Leave mandates out of parental leave

By John Sloan

Once again, Congress is arguing the merits of a proposal that would force employers to grant 12 weeks of leave to employees for care of a newborn or an ill family member.

And once again, proponents are accusing business of being anti-family.

The National Federation of Independent Business decided to check in with its members to find out if they really were against parental leave.

The results of the NFIB-commissioned Gallup Poll hold some good news. It seems the current voluntary system of parental leave is working very well. Small-business owners are more than willing to work out a leave arrangement with their employees on a case-by-case basis.

According to the Gallup survey, virtually all (94 percent) small-business owners said yes when approached by their workers for some time off to take care of family members. About two-thirds of these requests were for serious family illness and the rest for childbirth. What's more, employers continued to pay all or part of the absent worker's premium for 91 percent of those who were covered by health insurance.

Remarkably, business owners granted family leave even though they suffered financial losses and had to ask other employees, and in some cases family members, to take on extra work.

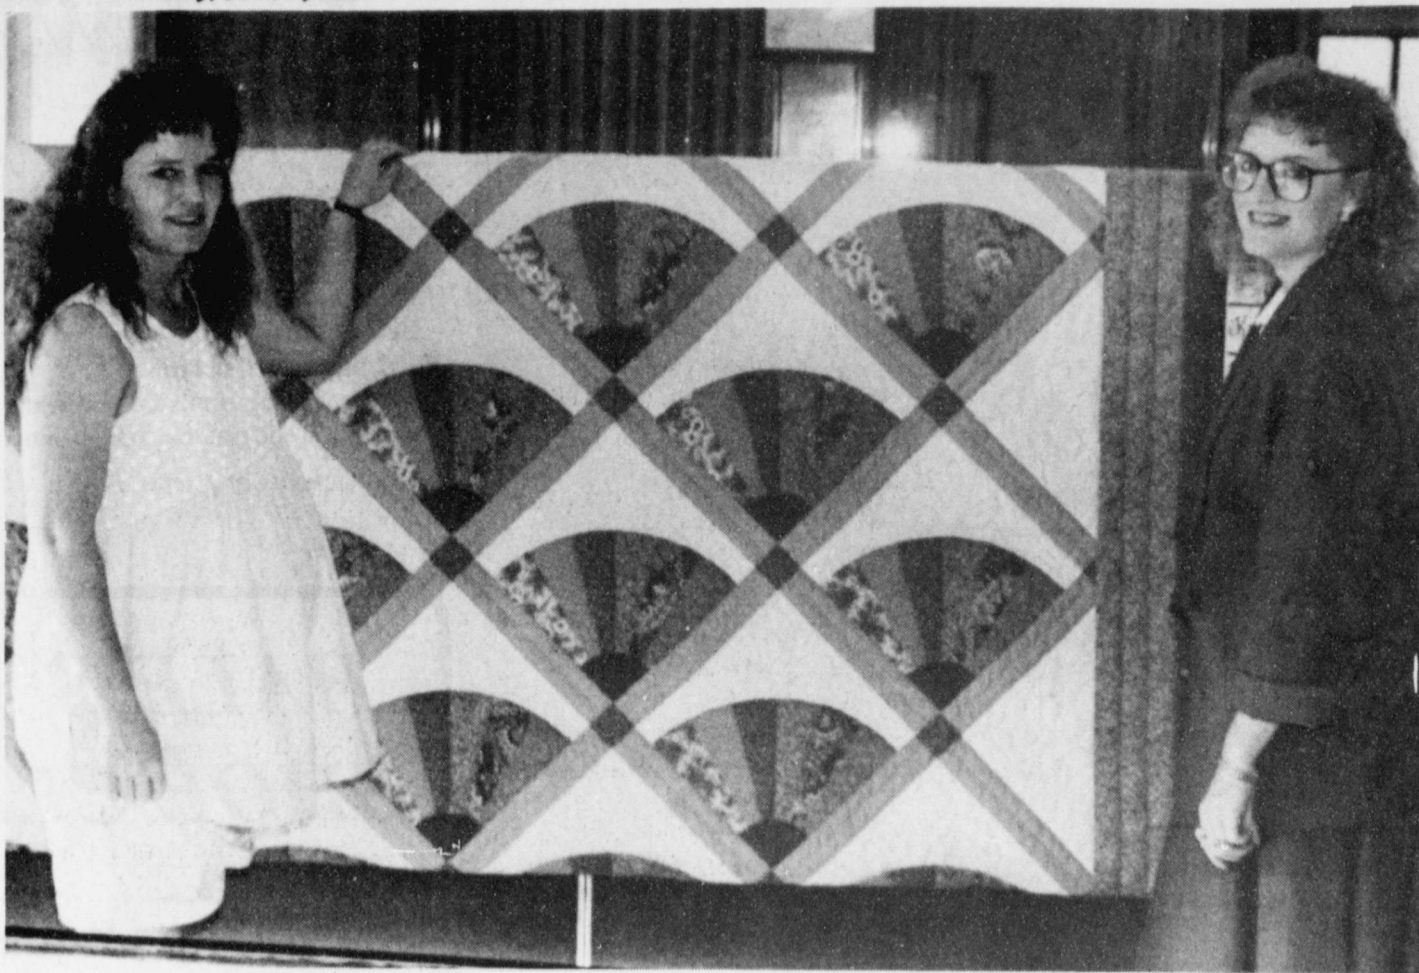

Almost 30 percent of the employers surveyed had to cut back on customer services, while 20 percent trimmed the amount of business they accepted, to accommodate an absent employee.

It's a tribute to the flexibility of small business and owners' loyalty to employees, that despite these hardships, employers granted extended leaves to their workers.

Unfortunately, employers also reported substantial abuse of the family leave benefit. A quarter of those respondents whose employees took family leave believed some of the absentees stayed out longer than the family situation required.

Almost certainly, instances of abuse would increase under a mandatory policy, which would force employers to grant leaves against their better judgement.

The Gallup survey also showed that the proposed law would hurt most those it is intended to help—women and

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi, once again from the Floydada Nursing Home residents and staff. Did you enjoy the cooler weather, and showers which we received? Just can't believe that it is June once again.

Monday, was Memorial Day, so some of the residents visited with their family, or went out for a drive or a visit with their loved ones. I rested some and spent the day with my daughter, Nila and family in Plainview.

Tuesday, Rev. Clark from Silverton, of the First Assembly of God Church came and shared the word with us, the good news, that God forgives us and loves us, with Him all things are possible. We sang some songs, and had prayer time. JoAnn Clark, LaNeille Hill, and Mrs. Harry Booth assisted with the singing. They visited Mary Miller. In the evening the residents had music, and a sing-a-long.

Wednesday, the residents had their usual Bingo day, and full house. Mary Alice couldn't be with us, so Sue Walker came and assisted the residents, thanks. The treats were bananas, candy, and cheese crackers. Brooks Callaway had the first Bingo.

Thursday, Charles Bradford, Calvery Baptist Church came and gave the devotion from 1 Cor. on God's grace and love for us. We sang some songs. Otis Johnson lead the singing. At 2 p.m. the residents had popcorn and current events.

Friday, Nell McClung came and shared with us, the Prayer, answered and unanswered, thanks, it blessed us. At 1:30 the residents went to Crosbyton on the bus ride, Ola Enriquez took us, as Wilma Payne is under the weather. We hope that she gets to feeling better soon. Our Place treated us to some ice cream, thanks.

Our love, prayers, sympathy go out to the family and friends of Weldon Hammonds.

The nursing home will have a cookout next Tuesday, June 11, at 6 p.m. The home will furnish the dessert, dip and chips. Check with Jo Bryant as what you would like to bring please, 983-3704.

We are looking forward to the cookout and so are the residents. They always enjoy it very much, we will try to have more meat, chairs and tables to sit down as last year, we had a large crowd.

We'll take care and come to see us, and be careful.

Thompson Pharmacy sponsoring breast cancer detection unit visit

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of every 10 women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime during her lifetime. Every year over 37,000 women die as a result of breast cancer.

According to a spokesman from the Regional Breast Care Center and Women's and Children's Hospital in Odessa, "The death rate from breast cancer could be drastically reduced if women would have mammograms done before a problem exists."

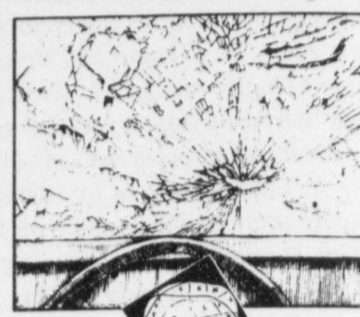

By using modern state of the art x-ray equipment breast cancers can be found when they are about the size of a grain of rice and well before the cancer can be felt. A woman who is diagnosed with breast cancer at this early stage has a 90-97% survival rate. However, a woman who is not diagnosed until a lump can be felt has approximately a 50% survival rate in five years.

In an effort to find cancers at the earliest possible stage and prevent unnecessary deaths, a mobile breast cancer detection unit will be made available to local women on Wednesday, June 12.

The mobile unit will be parked at Thompson Pharmacy, 200 South Main in Floydada. Appointments may be made by calling 983-5111.

For more information you may call the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's and Children's Hospital at (915) 334-8888/561-9999.

What Must I Do To Be Saved?

God's plan to save man is not tailor-made to each person's individualistic taste or preference. Neither does one's birth or heritage determine what he must do to be saved.

Everyone comes to salvation by means of exactly the same plan, under precisely the exact same terms as everyone else.

In the words of Simon Peter, "He made no distinction between us and them, cleansing their hearts by faith... we believe that we are saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, in the same way as they also are" (Acts 15:9,11).

This being true, if we find just one example of conversion then we learn from it what everyone must do to be saved; and by following that pattern can be saved ourselves.

There are many examples of conversion in the New Testament, but the conversion of Saul of Tarsus serves as one of the best examples of conversion for us to study because it is comprehensive and since Saul later becomes known as Paul the apostle, we have the added benefit learning from the Scriptures how the beloved apostle was converted. It is impossible for his teaching on conversion to violate the reality of his own experience neither can he teach others to be saved in a manner different from his own (see Acts 15:9,11 again) therefore, we can be confident that by studying his conversion we will know his doctrine on the plan of salvation.

1). Faith and Confession (Acts 9:4-7): After the Christ identifies Himself as "Jesus whom thou persecutest," then Saul says, "What would you have me to do, Lord?"

Does his faith and confession now make a saved man out of him?

Jesus did not indicate it when He said, "Go... and it shall be told thee what thou must do" (Acts 9:6).

Saul did not indicate it upon his arrival in Damascus. Instead of rejoicing as other converts (see Acts 8:39; 16:34), he fasted and prayed (Acts 9:9,11), and fasting is never associated with joy or happiness in the Scriptures.

Annianus did not indicate it when he told Saul to "wash away your sins" (see Acts 22:16).

2). Repentance: The word repent comes from a Greek word meaning to "change your mind." In reference to salvation "godly sorrow worketh repentance (a change of mind) leading to salvation" (2 Corinthians 7:9-10).

Although Saul went to Damascus to persecute the saints (Acts 9:1-2), when he got there he "changed his mind" (repented) and awaited the arrival of Annianus to tell him what he "must do."

And yet even though his faith, confession, and repentance are evident, his sins remain (Acts 22:16) and his fasting and praying continue (Acts 9:9,11). He is not yet a saved man.

"What," Saul had asked, "would you have me to do, Lord?"

"Go," Jesus replied, "into the city and it shall be told thee what thou must do." "Must" is an imperative indicating obligation without option, if Saul is sincere about his desire to do the Lord's bidding he "must do" what he is told in Damascus.

And after three days Annianus arrives and in his possession are the precious words from Jesus concerning what Saul, the penitent believer who has already confessed Christ, "must do."

Remember that what transpires next is from the beloved apostle's own words; it is taken from his own account of his own conversion:

3). Baptism: "And now why tarriest thou? Arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord" (Acts 22:16).

Saul has believed, repented, and confessed Christ as Lord but is still in his sins. In light of this fact salvation by faith alone cannot be supported by the Scriptures.

Furthermore, (returning to Acts 9), "... he arose and was baptized; and he took food and was strengthened... and immediately he began to proclaim Jesus..." - vs. 18-20).

Only after his faith, repentance, confession, and baptism did he resume eating and embark upon his new life's work: the proclamation of Jesus Christ.

We also, by following his example of faith, repentance, confession and baptism, can receive forgiveness of sins and become Christians.

FHS Band students vie in Austin state contest

Five members of the Floydada High School Spirit of the Winds Band competed at the Texas State Solo and Ensemble Contest this past weekend in Austin. The following F.H.S. students were among 13,000 other entrants from across the state: Brandi Coleman, piano solo; Micheal Gilliland, contra-alto clarinet solo; and, Emily Parks, Scott Crader, and Michael Aleman, trombone trio.

Brandi Coleman was awarded a Division II medal for her piano solo performance. She is the student of Mrs. Carolyn Cheek. Some of the judges comments regarding Miss Coleman's solo included: "... good interpretation... very musical... well-prepared..." According to Mr. Odom, F.H.S. Band Director, Brandi's performance was one of the best solo representatives for the Band in several years at the state level.

While in Austin, the band students toured the State Capitol. Later they were treated to a trip to San Antonio where they attended a performance of the San Antonio Symphony with guest artist, Victor Borge. They also visited the Alamo and the San Antonio Zoo. Accompanying the group were Mrs. Virginia Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. John Odom, and Grant Hambright. "The students and sponsors were very appreciative of the competitive, educational, and cultural opportunities that this trip offered," stated Odom.

Jason Brown named outstanding student

Jason C. Brown of Floydada was presented with the Outstanding Student Award by the Sons of Confederate Veterans during the recent Texas Tech University Spring 1991 Joint R.O.T.C. Awards ceremony.

The award is presented in recognition of distinguished attainment in the R.O.T.C. program.

Selection of the recipient is from all R.O.T.C. participants, Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Brown is in the Air Force R.O.T.C. program at Texas Tech. He is the son of Gary and Charlene Brown.

Brownie Troop 154 receives awards

Brownie Troop 154 recently held their end of school awards program. These girls have just completed first grade and this was the first year that they could earn "Try-it" patches.

They had to try several different activities to earn each patch. The patches they earned this year were: Play, Girl Scout Ways, Numbers and Shapes and Earth and Sky, which they earned by attending the Brownie Come-Along at Camp Rio Blanco.

The girls also earned a special "Girl Scout Week" patch by participating in different activities each day during Girl Scout Week.

During the program, the girls were given their Brownie star pin for completing a year in Brownies. They will receive a star for each year they are in Scouts. Their leader, Carol Huggins, also presented each girl with a mini scrapbook of their activities for the year.

Members of Troop 154 for the year 1990-91 were: Mary Alice Ortiz, Claudia Rosales, Ashleigh Jones, Mary Lou Zavala, Jenna Ford, Leticia Guerrero, Linsi Jones, Rebecca Rendon and Melanie Huggins.

Shanna Jackson makes WTSU President's List

Shanna D. Jackson of Lockney has received recognition as a President's List recipient. She is a junior nursing major.

One hundred twenty-nine West Texas State University undergraduates were named to the President's List and 599 earned mention on the Dean's List for the 1991 spring semester.

Students earning President's List recognition achieved a semester grade point average (GPA) of 3.850 (of a possible 4.000) or better with a minimum class load of 12 undergraduate hours.

Students on the Dean's List achieved GPAs of at least 3.250.

Jackson awarded Doctorate of Jurisprudence degree in Austin

D. Wade Jackson, son of Keith and Gayle Jackson of Lockney, has been awarded the Doctorate of Jurisprudence from the University of Texas at Austin, School of Law.

His special guests at the sunflower ceremony, held May 19, in the Frank C. Erwin Jr. Special Events Center in Austin, were his wife, Terry; his parents, a brother, Boyd Jackson; his mother-in-law, Rhoda Garrison; and his sister-in-law, Karen and Mark Korenek.

Some women are at risk for Osteoporosis

Female athletes and dancers as well as women with eating disorders have something in common: They may be at risk for osteoporosis later in life.

Many of these women are very body conscious and desire to be thin, says Dr. Albert C. Hergenroeder, an assistant professor of pediatrics and chief of adolescent medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Because they may exercise without consuming many calories, they are at high risk for reduced bone density. In the short term, that can cause stress fractures; in the long term, it can put the women at risk for osteoporosis, Hergenroeder said.

More than $500,000 to be awarded to Texas youth at 4-H Roundup in June

By Sandra Avant
More than half a million dollars in scholarships will be awarded to outstanding young people at the 1991 Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 4-5.

The biggest 4-H event of the year, Roundup brings together more than 2,500 young people who learn by demonstrating skills and leadership in competitions.

Gayle W. Laine, 4-H youth development specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, said that $592,000 in scholarships sponsored by the Texas 4-H Foundation will be awarded during Roundup.

Texas has the nation's largest 4-H scholarship program, an effort that continues to grow with tremendous support from the private donations, said Dr. Lance Bullard, Extension 4-H youth development specialist and executive director of the Texas 4-H Foundation.

"We have over 200 applicants this year and 91 scholarships to award," Bullard said. "Selection is a difficult process that takes a seven-person committee four days to complete."

The young people are judged on their 4-H experiences, leadership skills, projects, community service, personal needs and other qualifications pertaining to high school academic performance and college entrance exam scores, Bullard said. Scholarships are granted in agriculture, life sciences and unrestricted categories.

Another part of Roundup is the 4-H Food Show, according to Laine. Contestants enter their favorite recipes in one of four categories — nutritious snacks and desserts, fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals and main dish. Each first-place winner received a $750 scholarship from the Morrison Milling Company.

In 40 other contests ranging from entomology to safety and accident prevention, young people will be judged on method demonstrations and illustrated talks.

"Four-H Roundup is a time for recognition of outstanding young people as well as adult leaders, alumni and sponsors," Laine said. "It's an excellent educational and learning opportunity for thousands of youth in our state."

Memories of the QA&P Railroad in early Floydada

By Will Martin

The QA&P Railroad had been running from Quanah to Roaring Springs since the early 1900s. They had a spur line from Matador connecting on the Q line a few miles east of Roaring Springs so that both towns would have rail service.

I think it was a Mr. Summerlan in 1927 and finished 1928, in company with other people extended the QA&P from Roaring Springs to Floydada. Of course, most of you know Dougherty was born on that line. As I understand Mr. Frank Dougherty gave the land and probably built a lumber yard with the hopes of having a good sized town there some time. He might have financed the water works. People put in grocery stores and other businesses very quickly.

But poor "Darty" stared the depression right in the face just like the rest of us.

Around Darty is lots of rich land and good neighbors. So you can see why Darty did so well under the circumstances as they did. I think the government has helped to kill all smaller towns as much as any other reason.

The Q railroad had as nice a depot at Floydada as you will find at any small town. And if I remember correctly they carried on passenger service until near about the late 1940's. They hauled cotton and grain and other freight for several years also.

Bea and I bought the used goods store from Ben Vancleve in 1962. It was an old tin building just across the railroad tracks east from Wylie Travel Center, part time known as Red X. He had a filling station and dealt in the oil business at other places around the country. There was also a cafe that was leased to several different managers during our 20 year stay in the used goods business.

On the east of our place was an office building that was first the well drilling and pump setting office of Bill Tye. When Bill moved out Boone Adams had his well service there for a while. Then Wayne Russell acquired the whole block and sold the little house just east of our place. There is more to this than I care to discuss at this time.

We bought and sold used clothing, both for men and women. That was in the east room where my wife dealt also in such things as lamps and other miscellaneous items that women are mostly interested in.

I had a repair shop in the southwest corner of the building. I owned a wood turning lathe and made chair rounds and other things of that nature for the public. My best customer in that line was A.J. Jester, who operated the cafe for Wylie at that time. He had wood chairs that were too weak to hold up some of the more rough customers. A.J. would give me the job of repairing them for a few dollars. I liked A.J. for more reasons than that he gave me work. He was just an all around good old boy. And to me a very honest square shooting person.

I owned both a table saw and a drill press that made it possible for me to do other types of repair work for the public. Bea would also work in the shop, such as work on covering seats for the picture show for Evelyn Deakings. Bea worked too hard at that for her own good.

We also stripped the paint off of old furniture, which is very much of a job if you have ever tried it yourself, you know what it is like.

We bought and sold all the used furniture we could find, also stoves, both heaters and cookstoves. We had tools and odds and ends.

You who are in business or have been in business know that with the public some times you must just have to grin and bear it. There were a few people who were hard to get along with, but most people were those that a person would like to have for your closest neighbor.

We would joke with them and vice versa. Some of them would say or do things that were real amusing. Bea and I tried to make everyone feel real welcome. We tried to do unto them as we would that they do unto us.

I must get back to things that deal with the trains as I first spoke of.

The United Transport Automobile hauled by train in the early 1960s, made a contract with someone to make a terminal at Floydada where they joined the Santa Fe. Part of the train loads went maybe to Amarillo and some of it went on farther. Also they built a truck repair shop on 12th and Missouri Street, on the Lakeview road. A loading dock was built to unload autos off the train and load them on the truck that hauled them to neighboring towns. The drivers of these trucks made their home in Floydada or nearby. Also the ones who operated the repair shop made Floydada their home. The company hired local labor to help unload the autos from the train cars and load them on the trucks that carried them to dealers around the country. So this car haul made quite a payroll for Floydada.

These piggy back trains as they were called came from quite a distance to here. My wife's cousin told of them coming by their place in Altus, Oklahoma. I don't know where they came from to Altus. The Frisco locomotives pulled the piggy back loaded cars from Quanah to here if I remember correctly. They would meet the Santa Fe engines here that always were waiting for them usually on the tracks, just beside our used store. They usually started from Slaton way ahead to meet the two coming around by Plainview. The trainmen said they didn't know why the company made them start early and wait so long.

Bea and I had an old model pickup that we used to haul goods for the store in and out. We also used it to go to work and back, having six grandchildren from small to teenagers that sure did enjoy riding in the back of the pickup to work and back home. These kids at least a part of the time would stay sometimes two or three weeks at a time with grandpa and grandma. They would stay during school vacation and sure did enjoy having them and they thought the stays couldn't be beat.

The grandchildren are all grown now, part of them are married and all have jobs and we don't see them so often. Of course, we miss them very much. But so goes life. I shall try to tell some of the things that happened at the store with the grandkids.

We bought our lunch at Elie Neff's store, just across the highway from our place. It was always a hassle to decide what to get and how many were going with me and always one would talk me into getting something extra. We usually ended up getting crackers and cheese, sardines or bologna and always a fried pie for each of us. Be it noticed that none of us would get angry and get rough. To me we had very nice grandchildren. Everyone tried to do as they would be done by.

After Eli passed away we began to get our lunch at Russell Reeves' grocery store that was located between Jim Hall's filling station and a garage repair shop. The garage was first started by Alva Sparks and others afterwards. The grandchildren had a great time with Russell certainly with the August Pie girl who made it just at dinner time. My, my those were good old days.

I have already spoke of the Santa Fe engines parking near our place. The men would often come to the store and try to talk us down on some article they wanted. Some of them would find for instance a $4.00 article. They would fumble in their pockets and say I have just got $3.00. Some of the general public would try the same scheme. We expected this and tried to keep a smile.

The trainmen would take a liking to the children, joke with them and then a ride in the engine up as far as the compress and back. When they saw the piggy back coming, they would meet them about the compress and take off toward Plainview.

I don't know just how long the piggy back stayed in operation. But the big wheels from Amarillo had it discontinued from Floydada to Amarillo a few years before our landlady sold our lot and building to Russell and we had to quit business. I forgot to put it down as Wayne Russell machinery dealer for farmers and other needs.

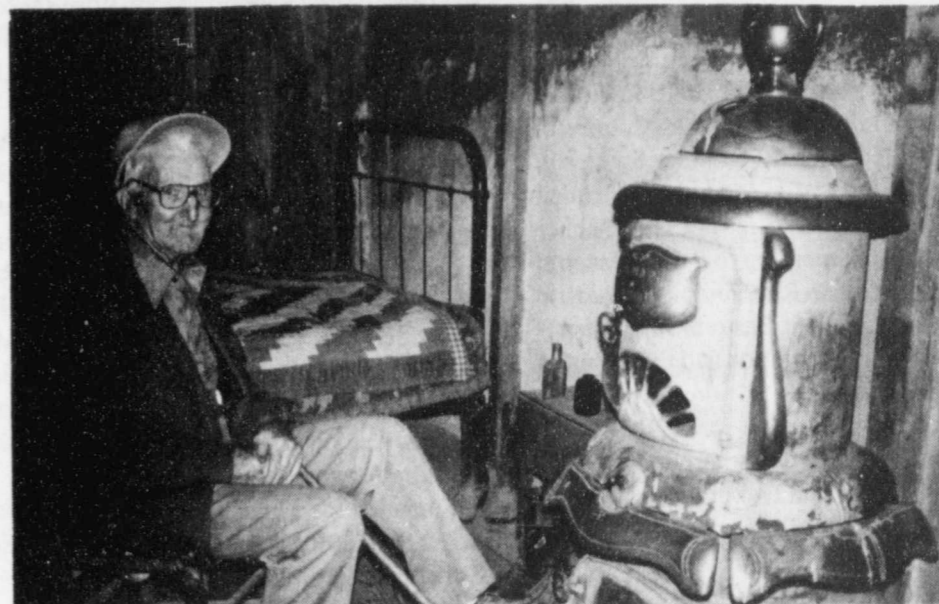

I was two years old when the Santa Fe railroad came to Floydada and I was 20 years old when the Quanah and Pacific came to Floydada. The Fort Worth and Denver crossed the county from Petersburg by way of Lockney. Then through Sterley where they had a railroad machine shop for a few years. Then the railroad went off the cap and through a tunnel and on to Estelline.

The Quanah and Pacific took up its road from Floydada to Paducah as far as I know. The Santa Fe sold their road to a northern company that is struggling along with small engine trying to revive a business. The Fort Worth and Denver seems to have a fairly good business.

Lockney Post Office acquires overnight service

The Lockney Post Office has announced the addition of Express Mail Overnight Service to Lockney. While this money-back guaranteed overnight delivery service has been available at the Post Office since 1970, Lockney has just put new transportation in place to accommodate local overnight shipping needs.

To use the service, ask the window clerk for an Express Mail label, which are free, and ask for assistance in filling it out. Put the letter, business paper or whatever you are shipping inside the Express Mail envelope or box, which are also free.

The cost for the service is $9.95 for up to 1/2 pound (up to 70 pound shipments available - rates are based on weight). Postage can be paid by stamps, meter or Corporate Express Account. Your mailings should be given to the Lockney window clerk by 3:00 p.m.

Your package will be received the next day by 10:00 a.m. for "A" label service, or by 3:00 p.m. for "B" label. Your carrier can deliver, or it can be delivered to a Post Office box at destination the next day.

Residents may also ask about Waiver of Signature if you are mailing on Friday - it allows delivery on Saturday, Sunday, or a holiday without the receiver needing to sign for it. Deliveries can be made 365 days a year at no additional charge.

Sutton receives Fellowship from business honor society

Charlotte Sutton, an assistant professor of management at Auburn University, has been chosen for the prestigious Richard D. Irwin Fellowship by Beta Gamma Sigma national business honor society. She is the daughter of Mrs.

Edell Moore and Lane Decker, both of Floydada.

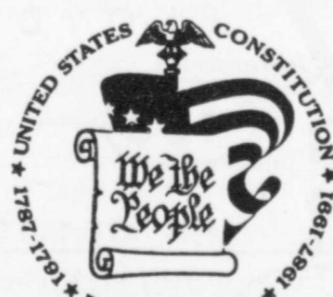

From 70 applicants nationwide, Sutton was chosen as one of five outstanding faculty to receive the $4,000 fellowship.

As an Irwin Fellow, Sutton will conduct a seminar at the Richard D. Irwin/Beta Gamma Sigma national seminar on Oct. 16-20 in Seattle. She plans to conduct a three-hour seminar on technology in organizations for 35 selected students.

In addition, Sutton will also attend a luncheon honoring the chosen faculty in Washington, D.C. in 1992.

Sutton, who joined AU in 1986, serves as a faculty associate for the Thomas Walter Center for Technology Management.

She received her doctoral degree in management from Texas A&M University. Her master's and bachelor's degrees were awarded by Baylor University. She is a member of Sigma Iota Epsilon management fraternity and is a founding sponsor of AU's Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for residence Custom Calling Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for certain residence Custom Calling Services.

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three Way Calling, Speed Calling 8 and Speed Calling 30.

The Company's proposal would increase the monthly rate for the individual Call Waiting feature from $2.10 to $3.10 for residence customers. Also, the rates for certain combinations of Custom Calling Features (Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8) would increase or decrease depending upon the combination of features. In addition, the company proposes to obsolete the optional Custom Calling Service feature Speed Calling 30 for residence customers except for existing customers at their existing locations. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

One Feature Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting	$2.10	$3.10
Call Forwarding	2.10	2.10
Three-Way Calling	2.10	2.10
Speed Calling-8	2.10	2.10
Two Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding	3.75	4.50
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling	3.70	4.50
Call Waiting, Speed Calling-8	3.70	4.50
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling	3.70	3.50*
Call Forwarding, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50*
3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50*
Three Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and 3-Way Calling	5.30	5.90
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.90
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.90
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	4.90*
Four Features Per Line	Current	Proposed
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding 3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	6.90	7.30
Speed Calling 30	3.20	3.20

*denotes rate decrease
Southwestern Bell's application proposes to obsolete residence Speed Calling 30 except for existing customers at their existing locations.

Most of the Company's residence customers in Texas who subscribe to one or more of the Custom Calling Service features will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring. It is expected that the proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.9 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. The restructuring will result in an increase in the Custom Calling Services rates for approximately 2.5 million residence customers and rate decreases for approximately 15,000 residence customers. Also, the obsolescence of the optional feature Speed Calling 30 will affect approximately 156,000 residence customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Tye speaks to farm equipment manufacturers

More than 275 registered manufacturers, suppliers, spouses and guests representing 150 member companies met at the Perdido Beach Hilton in Orange Beach, Alabama, to develop manufacturer/supplier partnerships during the Farm Equipment Manufacturers Association's 33rd Annual Spring Management Clinic.

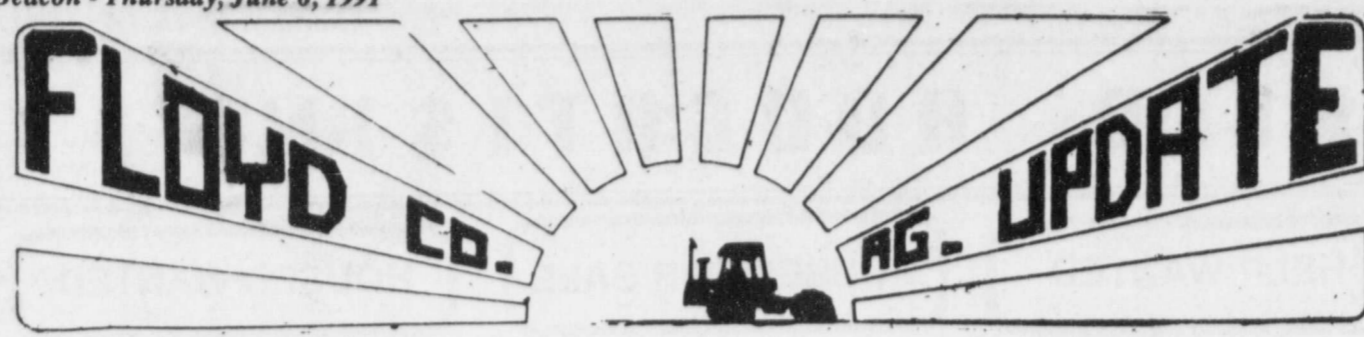

Participants heard the remarks of three leading industry representatives at the Sunday morning Dealer Survey Session. FEMA Director Joseph Lund, President of Farmhand, moderated the discussion that featured John Tye, president of the Tye Company, Lockney, and Richard Edwards of Texas A&M University.

During the five day event officers were elected and special interest sessions were held. The table-top display allowed attending shortline manufacturing managers and their purchasing agents the opportunity to preview the most up-to-date information on the 59 exhibiting companies component products and services.

The Farm Equipment Manufacturers Association is an international, not-for-profit trade organization representing over 337 specialized farm equipment manufacturers and 316 supplier members. FEMA is headquartered in St. Louis, Missouri.

Rules and regulations changed

The Cotton Research & Promotion Order's Rules and Regulations regarding penalties for failure to remit assessments to the Cotton Board promptly, and in full, will be amended by USDA, effective May 13, 1991. Dan Haley, Administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the amendments will: allow notification of growers that their particular first buyers of cotton (collecting handlers) failed to

Futures and options workshop set

Uncertain conditions in the cotton market have created substantial price risk for producers. With target prices frozen and the new planting flexibility in the 1990 Farm Bill, the cotton farmer's income and financial survival are highly market-dependent.

To help farmers become better marketers and more able to deal with the new market-oriented farm program, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will hold a two-day, in-depth futures and options workshop in Seminole June 19-20. It will be in the Extension Meeting Room in the Gaines County Courthouse.

The 12-hour course will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. The registration fee is $30 and covers all workshop materials. A husband and wife can both attend for one $30 fee.

Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension Service economist and cotton marketing specialist from College Station, and Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist and marketing specialist from Lubbock, will teach the workshop. It is sponsored by the Gaines County Extension Service, but is open to interested producers from area counties.

Many grain producers are trying to decide if they should plant part of their grain bases to cotton, as permitted under the new farm bill, Smith said. "Shifting acreage among crops will likely lead to greater price variation than in the past," he said.

Under the federal farm bill, cotton planted on grain flex acres is eligible only for loan and doesn't have target price protection, Smith noted. No deficiency payments will be made on any of the acres flexed to another crop.

"Anyone planting cotton without deficiency payments will make that decision based on expected market prices," Smith said.

A year-round marketing plan has suddenly become essential to reach top incomes, the Extension Service economist noted. "The economic incentive to price ahead, using forward contracts, future and cotton options, is strong. The uncertain market environment strongly suggests a flexible plan to take advantage of favorable prices, yet cover downside market risks."

Producers face difficult choices

High Plains producers are being faced with some very difficult choices in 1991 according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG).

Several factors will figure into the equation for what to do, or not to do, in 1991. One of the biggest will be whether or not a deficiency payment for 1991 will be available.

Through 1991's first three months prospects for a substantial deficiency payment are starting to look relatively weak. Through March the weighted average price received for U.S. cotton was 65.4 cents per pound. Compared to the 1990 average price received of 61.2 cents over the same three month period it is easy to see why the eventual size of a 1991 deficiency payment is still uncertain.

For 1991 deficiency payments will be determined by taking the higher of the 50.77-cent loan rate or the calendar year average price received and subtracting it from the 72.9-cent target price.

Buoying the price of cotton is the extremely low 1991 carryover estimate of 2.3 million bales combined with the generally poor start being experienced across the belt.

Producers on the High Plains are no exception to poor weather and planting delays. Overall, dry conditions are still causing many of the estimated 2.2 million acres earmarked for dryland cotton this year to sit idle waiting for planting moisture. Many producers are beginning to "dry" plant cotton on these acres hoping adequate rainfall will occur to get the crop established. It is the feeling of most producers that cotton is what they want to grow this year. It seems likely that most will do whatever they can to accomplish that goal.

For those who decide not to plant cotton there are a couple of options available. One is the newly implemented 0/92 provision included in the 1990 farm bill. Under 0/92 a producer can apply for a prevented planting (PP) designation from their county ASCS office. If accepted the acreage designated as PP is guaranteed a 10-cent per pound deficiency payment on up to 92 percent of their maximum payment acres. The 10-cent per pound rate will be reduced by the 4-cent advance payment if the producer has already received it. Drawbacks to this option are that the payment is based on the established yield for the farm, which is generally low on most dryland acres, and the land must be placed into a conserving use. No cash-crops can be grown on this land. The PP request can be rescinded by the producer should he receive what he feels is enough rainfall to get crop started.

Another option is open to producers who have federal crop insurance. In order to qualify for the insurance bene-

Bagworm control explained

Bagworms are one of the major pests of junipers and other trees and shrubs in Texas. Spring hatch began in early May on the South Plains this year. Hatching is usually completed in about three weeks. Insecticide control is most effective in early June when the bagworms are small, says County Extension Agent, Mike Mallett.

In spring, bagworm larvae emerge from hatching eggs inside last year's bags and begin feeding on leaves. They soon begin to construct their own protective bag of silk, twigs and leaves, making them camouflaged and hard to see. As the larvae and their bags continue to grow, control becomes more difficult.

Bagworms feed throughout the summer months, building their bags until the bags are about 1/12 inches long, Mallett adds. In the fall, the bagworms become adults, mate and the females lay eggs inside their bags. They then overwinter as eggs in these bags in trees and shrubs. Each overwintering female bag on a tree contains from 500 to 1500 eggs. "Since the bagworm only completes one generation a year and spreads very slowly from plant to plant, picking the bags off infested plants in the winter will help a lot toward controlling this pest," says Mallett. "But if bagworms were present on the plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good that an insecticide will be needed this spring."

Insecticides which can be used to control bagworms include sevin, dursban, diazinon, malathion and orthene. The biological insecticide Bacillus thuringiensis can also be used.

To obtain effective control, thorough coverage of the foliage is important. The addition of a small amount of liquid soap or surfactant to the spray solution will improve control because it helps adhere the insecticide to the treated trees and shrubs. Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides.

Computer course offered

Fixed disks, floppy disks, files, directories, RAM, Rom, CPU, and on and on. Does the computer jargon confuse you? Are you comfortable using your word processor and spreadsheet, but get all tangled up when you get out of those programs? Do error messages throw you for a loop?

For many first time computer users, and those more experienced, the way their computer operates is a mystery. If you would like to begin to unravel this mystery, you are a perfect candidate for an introductory course on the disk operating system, more commonly called DOS.

This course on DOS will be offered June 10 by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Texas A&M University System Computer Training and Education Center, 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Hwy. 70. The cost is $50, which includes materials and a catered lunch. Registration is limited to 14 to allow hands-on experience.

The disk operating system is the link between you and the computer, explained Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension Service economist and management specialist. "When you type in a command, DOS interprets the command and makes the computer respond appropriately," he said.

"Formatting disks, creating directories and copying files are examples of uses of DOS. The more you understand computer lingo and DOS functions, the more comfortable and effective you will be using your computer," he said.

Included in the course are description of the parts of a computer and the role of the operating system. Floppy and fixed disks will be described, and storage capacity, formatting and care explained.

Directories, files and the commands used for these will be covered. Using batch files to increase the efficiency of your computer, installing new software and common error messages will be included.

Prior experience with computers isn't required.

Additional information is available from local county extension agents or by telephoning Smith at Lubbock, (806) 746-6101.
