Prospective doctor to arrive Saturday

Floydada will again host the visit of a prospective physician on Saturday, July 13. Methodist Hospital will be bringing Dr. Steven Johnson and his wife Christina to our community for an enthusiastic Floydada style welcome. Johnson is the second prospective physician to visit under the recruitment efforts of Methodist Hospital.

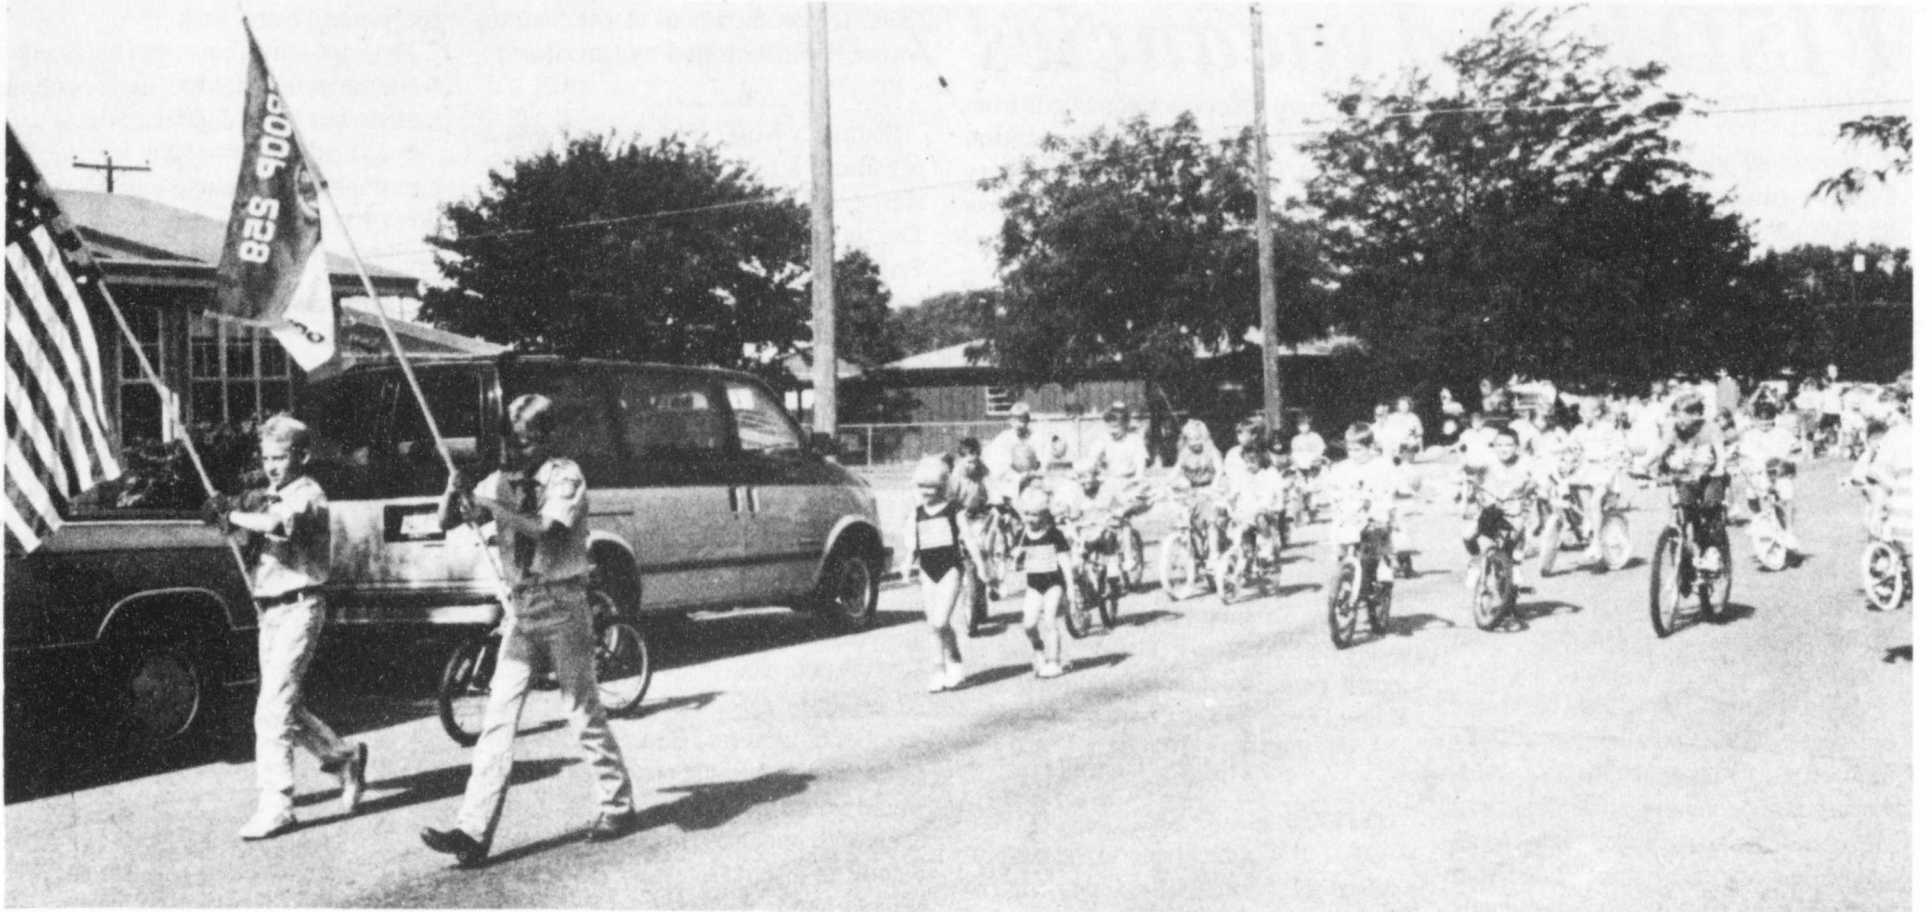

Among the activities planned for Johnson and his spouse is a public reception at Lighthouse Electric from 1:00 P.M. until 3:00 P.M. Saturday afternoon. Everyone in the community and the surrounding area is urged to take a few minutes out of their Sunday schedule and drop by to welcome the young physician and his wife to the Floydada area. A strong show of support for efforts to recruit physicians for the town is needed.

Johnson will have a full agenda on Saturday, beginning with his arrival in the morning and a tour of the hospital and clinic facilities. Luncheon with the Caprock Hospital District Board of Trustees will follow prior to the public reception.

A Saturday evening private dinner is also planned in honor of the Johnsons. Accommodations for the night have been secured at the historic Lamplighter Inn.

According to Ron Rives of Methodist Hospital, Johnson is a family practitioner living in West Bloomfield, Michigan at this time. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and received his medical training at the University of Health Science at Kansas City, Missouri.

Johnson and his wife have three children who will not be accompanying them on this visit. The children include Christopher, age 8 years, Alexander, age 21 months, and Veronica, three months old.

Lloyd and Simpson fill FISD board vacancies

By Juanita Stepp

Meeting in executive session on Monday, July 8, the Floydada Independent School District board of trustees filled two vacancies created by the recent resignations of board members Andy Hale and Cyndiann Williams. Following the open portion of the session, the board entered executive session where Steve Lloyd was selected for appointment to the board vacancy in Precinct 1. The vacancy in Precinct 2 will be filled by the appointment of Trina Simpson.

The pair will serve by appointment until the next scheduled election in the spring of 1992. At this time, they will stand for election to the remaining two years of their term on the board.

TAX RATES DISCUSSED

Much of the discussion at the Monday evening session centered on the funds FISD can expect to receive from the County Education District (CED), local taxes, state sources and the federal government. Administrative assistant Jimmie Collins told the board that all figures were at best tentative at this time.

"Our estimates are based on things as they stand now," said Collins. "As you all know, the legislature has been called back into special session in a couple of weeks and all of this may change at any time."

Collins explained that two different formulas are currently being used to determine tax rates and revenues.

The CED will be setting a tax rate based on values set by the State Property Tax Board (SPTB) for the two school districts in Floyd County. SPTB values certified for FISD at this time are $114,390,331.00 and $71,170,970.00 for Lockney ISD. The combined total for the CED is $185,561,301.00.

The CED will set a tax rate based on this amount multiplied by the state mandated 72 cent base rate. The total taxes the CED must raise will be $1,336,041.00. This amount must be raised by taxing the certified tax base in FISD and LISD as presented by the Floyd County Central Tax Appraisal District.

Appraisal district certified values for FISD are $143,097,257.00 and for LISD are $79,692,900.00, for a combined total of $222,790,157.00. No specific tax rate can be set until after the August 10 special election determines the exemptions from the tax roll. The tax rate to be set, depending upon the outcome of the election, will be 63.79 cents, 67.46 cents or 70.12 cents per $100 valuation. The more exemptions voter approve in the special election, the higher the CED tax rate will have to be in order to raise the mandated funds.

FISD will then set a tax rate for local enhancement and debt retirement. This rate has been estimated at approximately 15 cents per $100 valuation. Eight cents would be devoted to the local district's operation while the remainder would serve debt retirement.

Collins again reminded the board all these figures could change if the legislature amends or rescinds recently enacted legislation.

Based on these estimated figures, the FISD staff has put together a tentative budget for the coming school year. CED funding should total $823,610.00 with additional tax revenue from FISD taxes placed at 110,625.00. State revenue calculated on average daily attendance of 1150 multiplied by the state funding rate of $21.50 per student per cent of local operating tax would total $4,177,763.00. Federal funding sources would add $406,306.00 for Chapter 1 programs and $164,000.00 for migrant

Helping Hands of the Hospital

Friends of the Caprock organization is formed

A new community service minded organization has recently been founded in the Floydada area. Designated as "Friends of the Caprock", the group is dedicated to supporting the Caprock Hospital District and efforts to reopen the local health care facility and clinic.

Officers of the concerned citizens group include Laura Farris, president; Bud Crump, vice president; and Edd Henderson Jr., treasurer. Committee members are Nick Long, Clar Schacht, Dede Covington, Bill Harbin, Adolfo Garcia, Travis Jones, Judy Beedy, Susan Green, Sheree Cannon and Trina Simpson.

The nonprofit group holds as a first priority, the preparation of the clinical facilities to enable physicians to provide clinic services to the general population. Insurance coverage will provide funding for some of the repairs made necessary by recent storm damage to the roof and the resulting damages to the interior.

Among the items needing to be replaced are the building roof, wallpaper and carpeting. Additional remodeling and equipment is needed to bring the facility up to standard for use as a clinic.

The organization has set additional goals for purchasing and installing equipment needed in the hospital in order to attract physicians to permanently practice in Floydada. Realizing that doctors who display an interest will want to know what kind of tools and equipment they will have at their disposal to work with, the Friends of the Caprock want to assure first quality equipment in hopes of attracting top quality physicians.

The first priority for major equipment expenditures is an x-ray machine. Estimated cost of this item is placed at $100,000.00 or more. The second major item contemplated for Caprock Hospital is a sonogram machine estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.00.

Friends of the Caprock stresses the fact that all donations to the effort are tax deductible and no expenditures will be made until such time as the hospital reopens. Donations may be made by contacting Betty Marquis at the Chamber of Commerce Office. The address is 105 W. California and the phone number is 983-3434.

Anyone wishing to join the organization may do so by contacting the Chamber office or any officer of Friends of the

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,
I'd like to let the people, in the Caprock Hospital District, know what a fine job our Senator, Steve Carriker, did in getting House Bill 2855, the hospital tax bill, passed. There had been no opposition in the house, but there was a gentleman, from the Gray Mule community, in Austin to testify against the bill. Senator Carriker made a fine presentation to the committee, explaining, that we had a tax rollback election in Nov. that had failed by a large margin; to Senator Carriker, that was proof enough that the people in the Hospital District want medical facilities in Floydada. This bill was passed exclusively for Caprock Hospital District and had no effect on any other taxing entity in the State.

So to Senator Carriker and his capable staff, I'd like to say "Thank you," for the fine job you've done in Austin.

Sincerely,
Lynn Marler

(Editor's Note: House Bill 2855, the Caprock Hospital Bill, was authored by Representative Warren Chisum. He drafted the bill and passed it through the House of Representatives. It was then sent to the Senate, where it was handled by Carriker.)

(Editor's Note: The following is a personal letter submitted to The Hesperian-Beacon by Layne Kirk. The letter was written by his uncle, Trueman Kirk, who resides in Houston.)

Dear Layne,
I read with great interest your "Letter to the Editor" on what has happened to Floydada. This is an excellent letter and both Dorothy Lee and I congratulate you on its thought-provoking questions.

My memory will confirm the accuracy of your analysis of Floydada as it was in the 20s, 30s and early 40s. Believe that at one time Floyd County had over 20,000 people and probably over 20 separate farm communities. The memory of farms at 160 acres with livestock, chickens, pigs, etc. when Daddy would go to the farm to sell De Laval Cream Separators and to the small schools to install Coleman lights; these are all vivid in my boyhood memories. What is today's population and how large is the average farm? Times have changed!

Your letter suggests to me that you are ready to join (or perhaps lead) a group to fight back. Daddy, Grandpa and Uncle Stanford fought back during the depression. David and Daddy fought back after WW II. I fought back during the 'traveling auditing days' with Shell.

Houston fought back after being 'crushed' following the oil embargo when all of the bets were on petrochemicals. Today it is probably the strongest economy of any large city in the nation because of leadership into medical, shipping, education, space, etc., etc. We kept the Oilers against all odds and we will keep the Astros. This by fighting back.

How can you fight back? You have taken the first big step in your letter by stating conditions, asking questions and asking for comments. Here are other thoughts (some will work and others may not, but who knows until they are tested) which you can 'plow-in' with other letters and comments you will no doubt get.

* Organize your businessmen (emphasis on the young) and enlist other groups who have a community of interest (Rotary, Lions, churches, schools, women's groups, Chamber of Commerce, farmers, city and county employees, etc., etc.)

* From this group develop your leadership.

* Take inventory — are your businesses appealing to those in Floydada, the farmers — emphasize Floydada's advantages for those living east and north — Matador, Flomot, Turkey, etc., etc.

* Study and go-visit other small-town success stories, i.e., Canton, Texas, with its huge monthly flea market, etc., etc.

* Reopen the hospital — get some doctors.

* Be creative — America needs, and I feel, wants the rural communities to survive and come back.

Here are some things that I feel won't work and would let Floydada continue to drift into 'continued hard times':

* Do nothing — wait for the few customers to come and buy when they don't have time, or money, to drive to Lubbock or Plainview. Have been reading the medical ads from Plainview and Hale Center in the Hesperian. This makes me sad.

* Spend time and money going for the impossible — a new prison.

Layne I have written this in 45 minutes — it is just a starter We plan to come out in the fall, and I should like to sit with you and other 'leaders' and explore the answer Not to What Happened — we know this — but to What About Tomorrow?

Love,
Trueman Kirk

Combining all sources of funding, FISD estimates a total budget of $5,727,929.00 for the 1991-92 school year. Expenditures for the year have been estimated at the same figure including $100,000.00 to be devoted to capital improvements.

The computer lab at Floydada High School was the only capital expenditure approved at the July session. The board authorized Collins to take bids for opening at the August session. This will allow the lab to be renovated and the new computers to be installed and operational by the beginning of school on August 22.

Other capital improvements were discussed, although none were definitely decided upon at this time. Also discussed and remaining undecided was the request by band director John Odum for mandatory sixth grade band and more than $20,000 in new instruments for the program. Board member Michael Hinsley stated that he had heard some negative feedback on the subject from parents who opposed making band a mandatory class in sixth grade. The board decided to postpone a decision until next month so that board members could seek input from parents on the matter.

The issue of beginning a baseball program was decided by unanimous vote at the session. A motion by Billy Villarreal with a second by Don Hardy approved starting a baseball program with the first year concentrating on junior varsity play. A varsity will be implemented during the second year of the program.

The board accepted resignations from Margaret Jordan, special education teacher at R. C. Andrews Elementary School, and Lavell Vincent, fourth grade teacher at A. B. Duncan Elementary School.

Employment of the following individuals was approved by the board for the coming year: Jimmy Webster as baseball coach; Maria Kitten as special education teacher at R. C. Andrews Elementary; Maria Peralez as pre-kindergarten teacher at A. B. Duncan Elementary; Ben Hill as assistant band director; Kris Ross as fifth grade teacher at Andrews; Donnetta Keltz as fifth grade teacher at Andrews; Penny Taylor as fourth grade teacher at Andrews; and Penny Giesecke for Chapter I Reading at Andrews.

OTHER MATTERS

One bid was received on the supplying of milk to local schools for the coming year. Bell Dairies was awarded the bid and will continue to provide milk for meals and snacks at Floydada schools.

Two offers for tax title lots were approved for sale at the session. Three lots at E. Lee and 12th Street will be sold to CapTrans for a total of $500,000. Two lots at Lee and 11th Street will be sold to Tommy Collins for $500. Both sales will not be finalized until such time as all taxing entities involved have approved the offers.

Jimmie Collins presented the tax report saying that collections now total $1,072,318.19, leaving a balance to be collected of $39,449.00. He added that this is a collection rate of 96.49 percent compared to a collection rate of 96 percent a year ago.

Other items addressed by the board were the payment of monthly bills and the reading and approval of the minutes. The minutes were amended to reflect that Charlene Brown and Michael Hinsley were appointed to the County Education District, not the County Education Committee. Another correction added the fact that resigning board member Cyndiann Williams was presented with a gold watch just as Andy Halehad received at the June meeting.

Attending the session were school superintendent Jerry Cannon, administrative assistant Jimmie Collins, trustees Charlene Brown, Michael Hinsley, Don Hardy, John Campbell and Billy Villarreal, Joe Stepp and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Task of redistricting voting precincts begins

By Juanita Stepp
Floyd County will find redistricting of the commissioners precincts necessary this year. As a result of the 1990 Census, County Judge Bill Hardin has been informed that redistricting will be mandatory based on two items, population and minority voting strength.

Commissioner Floyd Jackson made a motion that the county employ Morton to assist the county in the process. The estimated cost would be between $1,500 and $3,000. Commissioner Connie Bearden seconded the motion and it was passed by unanimous vote.

According to information relayed by Morton, the county must redistrict to equalize the population in the four commissioners precincts due to changes in the number of residents in the county recorded by the 1990 Census.

Another change which became apparent in the Census results makes redistricting necessary on the basis of minority residents and the need to preserve their voting strength. Morton told the court that it would be necessary to reform at least one voting district's precinct lines so that the majority of residents in that district would be minority residents, allowing them the possibility of electing a minority representative to the commissioners court. This has become necessary because more than 25 percent of the population of Floyd County is now classed as minority residents (Hispanic, Black, Asian, Indian, etc.).

The court has begun preliminary work on the redistricting, but still needs to form a citizens committee for assistance and must hold two public hearings for public input and participation said Morton. The next step is submitting the completed plan to the United States Justice Department prior for approval. The redistricting needs to be complete by September 1, 1991 in order to allow the next regularly scheduled election of commissioners.

Along with the commissioner precinct redistricting, the court will also consider permanently reducing the number of voting boxes from 16 throughout the county to a possible total of nine for future elections. This step must also be approved by the Justice Department.

Election judges were approved for the current sixteen voting box locations in Floyd County. This list may change considerably in the next few months if the redistricting and voting location reduction is approved.

The court authorized the advertising for bids in the proposed sale of two used pickups belonging to Precinct 4. Sealed bids will be opened for the sale at the August 12 regular court session.

Seth Halbert, representing the Mental Health/Mental Retardation service utilized in this area, came before the court to present the annual sponsorship report concerning the number of local people assisted under the program and to renew the yearly request for county funds. The report was accepted as presented and no action was taken on the request for funds. That will be addressed when the budget for the coming fiscal year is planned.

County treasurer Glenna Orman presented her monthly and quarterly report of the status of the monetary funds of the county. Orman reported beginning the month of June with $135,724.05 in the county accounts. Receipts taken in totaled $436,099.76 and disbursements

Floydada Police Report

Two bicycle thefts have been reported in the past week according to Floydada Police Chief James Hale. The first report was made on July 2 by a resident in the 800 Block of West Ross Street. Upon returning home after filing the complaint, the woman discovered that the bike had been returned to her home.

The second bike theft was reported on July 8 in the 200 block of East Hallie Street. The owner stated that the bicycle disappeared during the previous night. The bicycle was found in an alley in the 200 block of East Ollie Street and returned to the owner.

Criminal mischief in the form of vandalism was reported to the department on July 3. A resident of the 200 block of West Virginia reported the right rear passenger side window on a vehicle had been broken by B-B shot between noon and 4:00 p.m. Value was placed at $100. The parent of two juvenile males involved was contacted and the complainant and the parent agreed to privately work out the replacement of the glass.

Misuse of Fourth of July fireworks resulted in a second criminal mischief by vandalism report just after midnight the morning of July 5. A trampoline net at a residence in the 200 block of West Virginia was set on fire by fireworks and suffered a two foot diameter burn hole. The fire was extinguished by the owner and investigation into the incident continues.

July 5 at 1:21 a.m., Abran Luna, 29, of Floydada was cited for DWI and resisting arrest in the 500 block of North 10th Street.

Joe Lopez, 18, of Floydada, was ticketed at 2:20 a.m. on July 6 for no drivers license, no insurance and driving with no headlight. According to Chief Hale, charges are pending against the individual for evading arrest.

Also on July 6, Norberto Adame Hernandez, 47, of Floydada, was cited for PI in the 200 block of South 2nd Street. The incident occurred at 7:44 p.m.

ACCIDENTS

Three accidents were reported during the past week. On July 3 at 7:30 p.m., a 1981 Buick LeSabre, north bound on South 4th Street and crossing California Street, was struck by a 1976 Oldsmobile 98 which was west bound in the right lane of California Street. The Oldsmobile hit the Buick in the right rear fender. Citations were issued to both drivers.

On July 5 at 6:54 p.m., a 1970 Brown Ford station wagon backed into a 1988 Jeep Cherokee Wagon parked at the drive-in lane of the Dairy Queen in the 700 block of Hwy 62 S. The Ford then left the scene in violation of the law. Investigation of the incident continues at this time.

A two vehicle accident on July 6 at 9:18 p.m. resulted in citations being issued to the driver of a 1965 Ford Fairlane which unlawfully fled the scene after being involved in an accident with a 1990 Ford Escort. The vehicle and driver were located in the 300 block of North 2nd Street a short time later.

Caprock as well as any committee member.

"We have several fund raising activities in the planning stages now," said Laura Farris, "so there will be plenty of things for everyone to work on."

"We want to make the clinic and the hospital an attractive and efficient place for a doctor to work," added Farris. "That is the first step in attracting a doctor to our town. We also want to assure prospective physicians that their needs will be met in the area of equipment should they decide to practice here."

made amounted to $316,701.36, leaving fund balances of $255,122.45 on June 30.

Orman also reported certificates of deposit totaling $184,000.00 which have earned $18,548.00 in interest this year. Installment indebtedness for the county currently totals $44,417.38.

Jeremy Pierce of Utility Trailer Southwest Sales met with the court briefly to offer the firms services to the county at any time in the future. No business is contemplated with the firm at this time as the county does not have any utility trailers and has no plans to purchase any in the near future.

Farm work contracts were approved for Steven Trowbridge, Phyllis Harris, Dorothy Teague, Kenneth Wofford, Virginia Taylor, Keith Phillips, Connie Bearden and two for Dorsey Baker. A previously approved contract for Barbara Coffman was voided.

The Floyd County Commissioners Court will meet again at 8:30 A.M. on Friday, July 12 to complete the payment of monthly bills.

Attending the regular monthly session of the court were Judge Bill Hardin, Commissioners Connie Bearden, Floyd Jackson, George Taylor and Howard Bishop, Glenna Orman, Harvey Morton, Margaret Herrera, Seth Halbert and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Barclay joins nursing home staff

Floydada Nursing Home welcomed in a new administrator, Wanda Barclay, of Plainview.

Barclay, who began who work at the local care center on June 26, has been involved in long term care since 1976.

Before coming to work in Floydada, Barclay was the administrator of Bryanwood Care Center in Amarillo for one year.

"I have been working in the Lubbock area since 1978," said Barclay.

Born in Sulphur Oklahoma, she moved to Texas in 1959. She has four grown children and five grandchildren.

When asked if she plans any changes at the nursing home, Barclay said, "This nursing home runs very well. I am very pleased with the department heads. It is probably the best I've ever worked at."

"I want to keep it a home for the patients and make it enjoyable for them to live here. I also want a lot of community involvement."

"I have heard a lot of good things about this nursing home and I think Unicare is a good company to work for. I am looking forward to being here for a long time."

Clubs and Organizations

Whirlwind Sams Club

By Betty Gilbreath
The Floydada Whirlwind Sams gathered at the Floydada RV Park for a 4th of July hamburger cookout. John Key West led the group in prayer for our food and thanks giving for all the opportunities of our great nation that we celebrate at this time of year, especially all our servicemen.

We all enjoyed charbroiled hamburgers, all the trimmings including homemade ice cream, cakes, cookies and brownies. All of this was prepared by the wagon master and his trail bosses and wives for this year, also Gary Brown helped the guys on the hamburgers. We had 99 percent of our chapter present, the most we have ever had. These included: the Adams', Assiter's, Benson's, Cates', Cockrell's, Gilbreath's, Harrison's, Hartsell's, Kendrick's, Lyles', Livingston's, McEllyea's, McPherson's, Miller's, Newberry's, Parker's, Patzer's, Pyle's, Reese's, Russell's, Thaxton's, Weathersbee's, West's, Willis' and Norrell's, if the Feuerbacher's had been here we would have had 100 percent. We had four guests, City Manager Gary Brown and wife, Charlene, and Bill and Dell Gray. The Gray's entertained us with a musical program which we all ways enjoy. After a short business meeting and discussion of some of our future campouts, the chapter was dismissed by J.W. leading us in "Happy Trails" accompanied by Bill and Dell, boy we sure sounded good.

Rebekah Lodge

By Artie Webb
Floydada Rebekah Lodge No. 77 was host to the District Deputy President, Lola Jones of the Abernathy Rebekah Lodge No. 170 on Tuesday, July 2. Accompanying her were her sister Rebekahs from the Abernathy lodge, Wanda Johnson, Minnie Hill and Marie Fowler. A fried chicken dinner with vegetables and salads and desserts was served at 7:00 p.m. Artie Webb gave the invocation. After the meal, lodge was opened with Barbara Gilliland, Noble Grand, and Ruth Gilliland, Vice Grand, presiding. Following a brief business session, the meeting was turned over to the District Deputy President after she was introduced and welcomed by the lodge. She was then seated by the Noble Grand, Barbara Gilliland.

She presented the program "Reach Out and Touch Someone", which is the program of the President of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, Ora Little, for the coming year.

Several points were brought out and discussed during her talk.

A very interesting evening was spent reminiscing other nights we had spent together.

Bridal shower given for Turner

A bridal shower was given in honor of Tana Turner and Corey Bates in the home of Nancy Mayo.

McCormick and Nancy Mayo. The serving table was decorated in colors of navy and mauve, with tea and breads being served.

Hostesses for the occasion were Sherrill Cannon, Elli Anderson, Duffy Hinkle, Laveta Morren, Shirley Morton, Emma Pate, Sandra Schwertner, Marilyn Holcomb, Sally Galloway, Gladys Jones, Darlene Stovall, Barbara Cananougher, Martha Anderson, Alyne Evans, Nell Abram, Geraldine Gentry, Mary Martinez, Janet Milam, Pauline

Hostess gift to the couple was a vacuum, cookware and a silk flower arrangement. Special out of town guests were Angie Covington, sister of the honoree; Anna Lee Bates, the prospective groom's grandmother, and his sister, Kelli Northcutt.

Not all farm work is covered by Social Security

Farmers and farm workers need to know when farm work is covered by Social Security.

Farmers must pay Social Security taxes for any worker who is paid at least $150 in cash during the year. If the farmer's total expense for agricultural labor is $2,500 or more, all workers are covered by Social Security, even if they earn less than $150. An exception is made for some piece-work laborers.

The exception applies to laborers who live at home and commute to work daily during harvest season to pick fruit or vegetables by hand. If the work is paid on a piece rate basis, it is only covered by Social Security if the worker is paid at least $150 in cash.

More information for farmers and farm workers is available from Social Security located at 201 West 4th Street, in Plainview or by calling 293-9599. Ask for Factsheet 6, Crew Leaders and Farmers or Factsheet 8, Agricultural Workers.

To hold early squares Careful management needed

From Mike Mallett, CEA-Ag.
Careful attention management is going to have to be given to this year's cotton to hold all the early squares. However, this may be a hard task for dryland farmers, where moisture limitations in late July can make or break a cotton plant loaded with three week's worth of squares. Try to set 90 percent of all squares during the first three weeks of squaring. The first position squares are most crucial. The key insect culprits to cause damage to these squares are fleahoppers and bollworms.

While we always talk about fleahoppers and accompanying square loss during the early squaring period, late June and July bollworm flurries can often be damaging. Sometimes there is difficulty in recognizing small bollworm feeding damage and believing it is fleahopper damage. Fleahoppers pierce very small pinhead size squares, causing them to dry up, turn brown and eventually fall off the plant. Very small bollworms (1/16 to 1/8 inch long) can cause similar damage but there are always one or more very small feeding holes associated with their attack. Larger squares can also be attacked by bollworms whereas these squares are relatively safe from fleahopper attack.

Because of our late cotton crop there is no available time for early fruit loss compensation. Recommendations for treatment level are being made at 2,000 to 3,000 worms per acre, or about a 5 percent infestation.

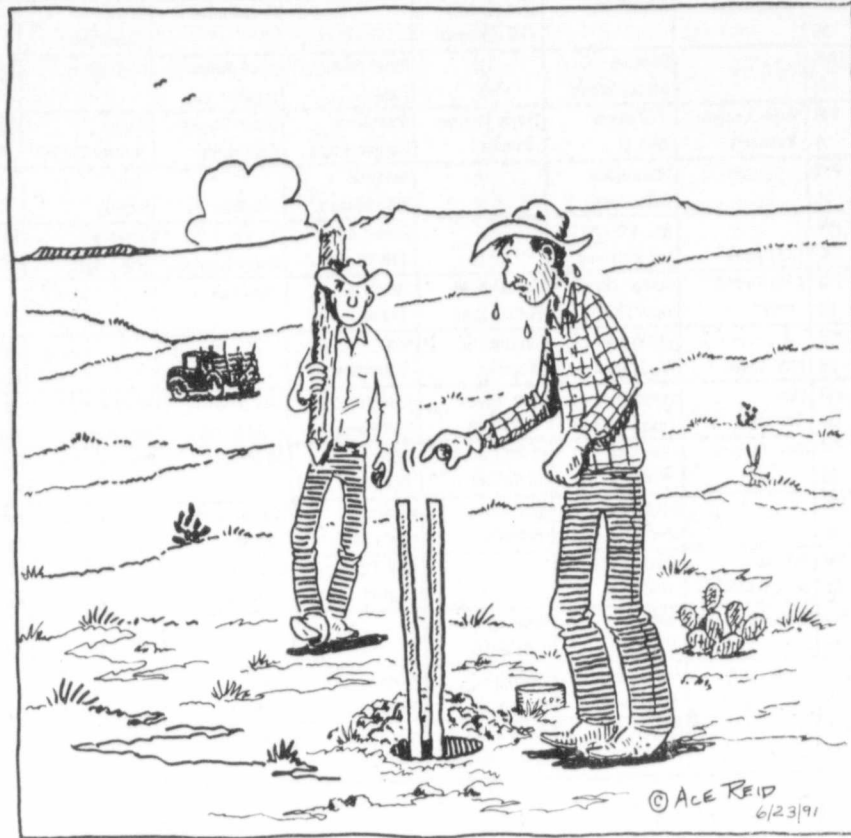

Over the next couple of weeks some tough management decisions can be expected. Do not use the pyrethroids for bollworm control in pre-blooming cotton. This is overkill and could lead to the development of unnecessary resistance problems. This could also aggravate a later aphid control problem. There are several organophosphate or carbamate insecticides such as Bolstar, Curacron or Larvin. Microbial insecticides such as Dipel, Bactospeine, Javelin, Condor, or Biobit will, also, provide control. These materials work well when plants are small and bollworms are feeding on squares. If eggs continue to be found, the addition of low rates of Larvin or Curacron would be helpful as an ovicide.

Turfgrass disease making appearance

From Mike Mallett, CEA-Ag.

The first turfgrass disease making an appearance this spring is Spring Dead Spot. This disease is considered the most damaging disease of bermudagrass and bermudagrass hybrids in North America. Spring Dead Spot is caused by the fungi, Letosphaeria horae and Letosphaeria narmari. It occurs mainly in the northern limits of the bermudagrass range, where it is cold enough for the turf to go dormant, and bermudagrass does go dormant on the High Plains.

Spring Dead Spot appears as roughly circular, bleached dead spots when spring regrowth occurs. These spots range in size from 2 inches to 3 feet in diameter. The spot may remain for a year or more but most often the turf grown over the spot by August. In some cases weeds invade this area without competition from the turf. Sometimes the spots develop into rings, which may reappear and enlarge each year.

Spring Dead Spot is most common in hybrid bermuda lawns although it does also occur in common bermuda. It is usually associated with compacted soil, close mowing, heavy nitrogen fertilization in the fall, heavy fall watering and potassium deficiency. High fertility and water in late fall delays dormancy and sets up the turf for severe damage with the first fall freeze. In addition to damage from the first freeze, it has been noted that very cold winters in general are associated with more severe Spring Dead Spot.

Controls include aerifying the soil to reduce compaction, maintaining balanced fertility, avoiding high nitrogen applications after late August, having well drained soil, using common bermudagrass and applying the fungicide,

Rubigan in the fall. Apply a single application of Rubigan at 4 oz. per 1000 square feet in September. If you wait until October or November make one application at the higher rate of 6 oz. per 1000 square feet. After applying the fungicide, thoroughly irrigate with 1/2 to 1 inch of water.

Remember, fungicide application is done in the fall. When you see the symptoms in the spring fungicide applications will not be effective and they will not last long enough to be effective the next fall.

Texas Loan Mediation Program is reorganized

The Texas Loan Mediation Program (TALM) has reorganized, making its negotiation component a separate unit in the program.

The reorganization is expected to enhance the impartiality of its mediation services to agricultural borrowers and lenders.

The negotiation arm, in which a borrower is provided with a financial analyst, is now known as the Texas Tech Agricultural Financial Analysis Project. It operates in an office separate from the mediation program.

The reorganization was designed to more clearly define the separation between personnel who provide mediation services and those who deliver financial analysis services, said program leader Gary D. Condra, Ph.D., a visiting associate professor of agricultural economics at Texas Tech University.

TALM was certified in 1988 by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to help borrowers and creditors in delinquent or distressed loan situations reach a mutually agreeable settlement short of bankruptcy or other litigation.

When TALM receives a request for mediation from a borrower or creditor, a mediator is assigned to the case. The mediator is an impartial third party who represents neither the borrower nor creditors. A financial analyst also is assigned to assist the borrower in the development of proposals and to negotiate on behalf of the borrower.

"These changes will enable Texas Tech to deliver mediation and financial analysis services more effectively to agricultural borrowers and lenders throughout the state," he said.

Condra will resume his previous duties as director of the loan mediation program. Judy Schreiber will continue as the mediation coordinator.

J. Carter Snodgrass, formerly the TALM director, will head the financial analysis project. Craig Blackwell, formerly coordinator of negotiation, will serve as coordinator. The project also will employ five financial analysts who previously served as negotiators for TALM.

For more information, call Snodgrass at the Agricultural Financial Analysis Project, (806) 742-1935, or Condra at TALM, (806) 742-1949. Both offices are in Texas Tech's Agricultural Sciences Building.

Concern about waste water sparks complaints

As the 1991 growing season gets underway, many High Plains producers are busy irrigating their young crops. Unfortunately, some producers are allowing this irrigation water to escape from their fields—a practice which is against both State Law and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 rules.

Tailwater is excess irrigation water which runs out of fields. Allowing this water to escape not only contributes to unnecessary depletion of the Ogallala Aquifer, but it can also erode topsoil, damage neighboring crops and create a safety hazard by filling roadside ditches and culverts with mud and water.

"Today, most of the complaints received at the Water District come from people who are concerned about the waste of water," says Ken Carver, High Plains Water District Assistant Manager. Many of the callers this year have reported tailwater cause they believe that groundwater is just too precious to waste. Carver notes that 31 tailwater incidents have been reported to the district thus far during the 1991 growing season.

Water District rules define tailwater as "groundwater pumped for irrigation that escapes...onto land other than that of the owner of the well unless permission has been granted by the occupant of the land receiving the discharge. This permission must be in the form of an agreement signed between the parties on a form acceptable to the Water District. Potential parties to such an agreement are warned that it may obligate the provider to provide a specified supply of water into perpetuity and/or the recipient to accept runoff in whatever quantities and at whatever time the provider chooses. Provisions of any agreement entered into must comply with Rule 1(h)(5)."

Rule 1(h)(5) defines water waste as "Willfully or negligently causing, suffering, or permitting underground water to escape into any river, creek, natural watercourse, depression, lake, reservoir, drain, sewer, street, highway, road or road ditch, or onto land other than the owner of the well."

When a tailwater complaint is received, Water District personnel investigate the waste and document it with written memorandums and photographs. In addition, they contact landowners and/or operators and ask these parties to halt the water waste. Follow-up investigations are made to make sure the waste is stopped. In most cases, the District is able to work with the landowners/operators to resolve the problem.

"We prefer to work with the farmer and address the problem adds Carver. "If that doesn't work, then we have no choice but to seek a court injunction."

A court injunction transfers the responsibility of fines and/or punishment to the District Court. Continued tailwater waste after receiving an injunction is considered Contempt of Court and carries a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and/or a six-month jail sentence per occurrence.

If the violations continue following an injunction, the District Court may also order the County Sheriff to padlock the water well to prevent further waste. Violators can also be held liable for damages resulting from their water release, such as accidents on flooded roadways, property damages, or crop damage.

"There are many physical methods available to help control or prevent tailwater waste, but the individual operator is the key to whether or not water is wasted. Careful management of irrigation water eliminates tailwater waste," says Carver.

Tailwater control methods include reducing row lengths, terracing, and borders. Farmers can also reduce tailwater waste by changing irrigation sets when the water reaches the end of the furrow and by reducing irrigation set times from one-fourth to one-third. Surge irrigation systems, which alternate water flow between two sets of furrow in timed cycles, can be set to automatically cut back irrigation set times when the water is expected to reach the end of the field. Use of these valves has proven to be an effective technique for tailwater management.

Tailwater return pits or modified playas can be used to collect runoff water. Water stored in the pits can be pumped to irrigate crops for about one-fifth of the cost of pumping groundwater to the land surface.

Use of a center pivot irrigation system is the best tailwater control of all. The movement speed of a center pivot system can be adjusted to match the water application rate to the soil water infiltration rate.

Producers who are experiencing tailwater problems on their farms within the Water District service area are encouraged to contact Ken Carver, High Plains Water District, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405, (806) 762-0181, for technical assistance.

SPS region cattle feeding capital of the world again

For the second year in a row, feedlots within the area served by Southwestern Public Service Company during 1990 fed a record number of cattle, according to SPS's annual Fed Cattle Survey.

Feedlots in the SPS service area fed 5,570,203 head of cattle, a 1.9% increase over the 1989 total of 5,468,350.

The survey also showed that the one-time total capacity of area feedlots in 1990 was 2,887,275, up from the one-time total capacity in 1988 of 2,758,662 head.

"The growth indicated in the survey is good news for this region," said Dave Krupnick, SPS manager of agricultural and wholesale marketing. "It shows that cattle feeding is still solid and a vital part of the area."

SPS annually prepares a Fed Cattle Survey covering feedlots in its service area, which covers 52,000 square miles. The region includes the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, the Texas South Plains, eastern and southeastern New Mexico and southwestern Kansas.

While most numbers in the survey were up, the number of cattle slaughtered last year in the area decreased slightly. The 13 beef-packing plants in the SPS service area slaughtered 4,661,163 cattle, down from 4,694,852 in 1989. At the same time, however, capacity at the plants increased in 1990 to 5,095,520.

"There are several packing plants located just outside our service area," Krupnick said. "That accounts for the difference between the number of cattle slaughtered and the number fed."

Krupnick said information from the Fed Cattle Survey is used across the country by ag-related industries. "It helps highlight this area's agriculture and food-processing industries," Krupnick said. "We have a good agriculture story to tell and this is just one chapter of it."

The Fed Cattle Survey is also showing growth in the total number of feedlots in the area, from 117 in 1989 to 20 in 1990.

The report also includes a chart on the ten-year history of fed cattle and the one-time capacity of surveyed feed lots, as well as information on the number of feedlots with 5,000 head capacity or more, and a county breakdown of lot capacity and numbers fed.

Copies of the report and survey are available at SPS offices across the company's service area or may be obtained by contacting the SPS Agricultural Marketing Department (806)378-2181 at the SPS headquarters building, Tyler at Sixth Street, Amarillo, Texas 79170.

To hold early squares Careful management needed

From Mike Mallett, CEA-Ag.
Careful attention management is going to have to be given to this year's cotton to hold all the early squares. However, this may be a hard task for dryland farmers, where moisture limitations in late July can make or break a cotton plant loaded with three week's worth of squares. Try to set 90 percent of all squares during the first three weeks of squaring. The first position squares are most crucial. The key insect culprits to cause damage to these squares are fleahoppers and bollworms.

While we always talk about fleahoppers and accompanying square loss during the early squaring period, late June and July bollworm flurries can often be damaging. Sometimes there is difficulty in recognizing small bollworm feeding damage and believing it is fleahopper damage. Fleahoppers pierce very small pinhead size squares, causing them to dry up, turn brown and eventually fall off the plant. Very small bollworms (1/16 to 1/8 inch long) can cause similar damage but there are always one or more very small feeding holes associated with their attack. Larger squares can also be attacked by bollworms whereas these squares are relatively safe from fleahopper attack.

Because of our late cotton crop there is no available time for early fruit loss compensation. Recommendations for treatment level are being made at 2,000 to 3,000 worms per acre, or about a 5 percent infestation.

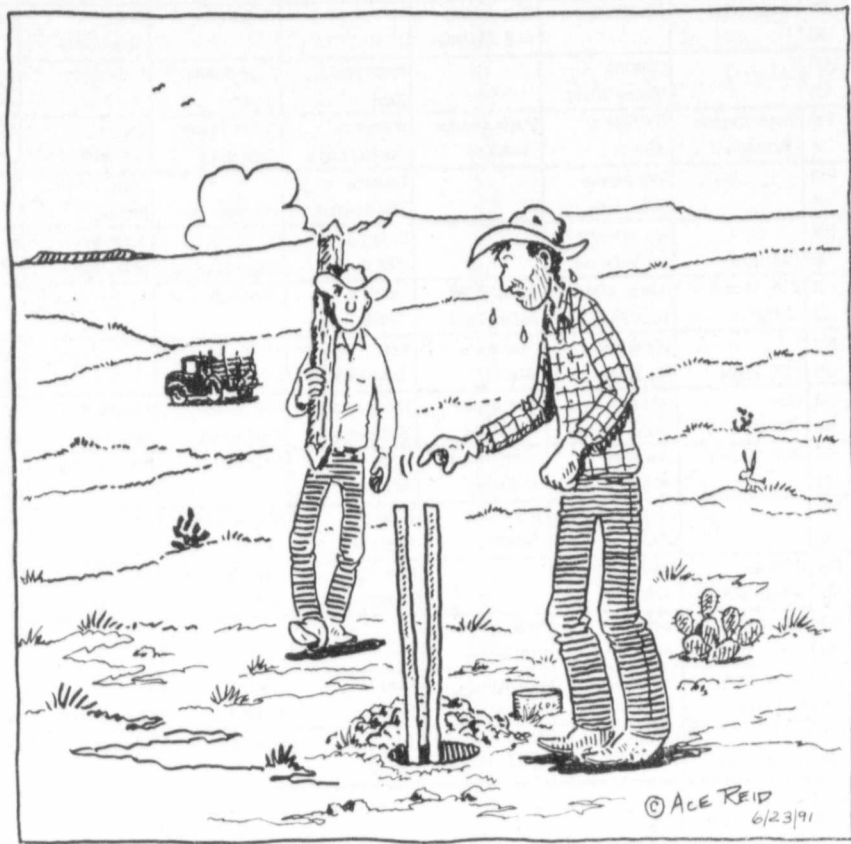

Over the next couple of weeks some tough management decisions can be expected. Do not use the pyrethroids for bollworm control in pre-blooming cotton. This is overkill and could lead to the development of unnecessary resistance problems. This could also aggravate a later aphid control problem. There are several organophosphate or carbamate insecticides such as Bolstar, Curacron or Larvin. Microbial insecticides such as Dipel, Bactospeine, Javelin, Condor, or Biobit will, also, provide control. These materials work well when plants are small and bollworms are feeding on squares. If eggs continue to be found, the addition of low rates of Larvin or Curacron would be helpful as an ovicide.

Concern about waste water sparks complaints

As the 1991 growing season gets underway, many High Plains producers are busy irrigating their young crops. Unfortunately, some producers are allowing this irrigation water to escape from their fields—a practice which is against both State Law and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 rules.

Tailwater is excess irrigation water which runs out of fields. Allowing this water to escape not only contributes to unnecessary depletion of the Ogallala Aquifer, but it can also erode topsoil, damage neighboring crops and create a safety hazard by filling roadside ditches and culverts with mud and water.

"Today, most of the complaints received at the Water District come from people who are concerned about the waste of water," says Ken Carver, High Plains Water District Assistant Manager. Many of the callers this year have reported tailwater cause they believe that groundwater is just too precious to waste. Carver notes that 31 tailwater incidents have been reported to the district thus far during the 1991 growing season.

Water District rules define tailwater as "groundwater pumped for irrigation that escapes...onto land other than that of the owner of the well unless permission has been granted by the occupant of the land receiving the discharge. This permission must be in the form of an agreement signed between the parties on a form acceptable to the Water District. Potential parties to such an agreement are warned that it may obligate the provider to provide a specified supply of water into perpetuity and/or the recipient to accept runoff in whatever quantities and at whatever time the provider chooses. Provisions of any agreement entered into must comply with Rule 1(h)(5)."

Rule 1(h)(5) defines water waste as "Willfully or negligently causing, suffering, or permitting underground water to escape into any river, creek, natural watercourse, depression, lake, reservoir, drain, sewer, street, highway, road or road ditch, or onto land other than the

When a tailwater complaint is received, Water District personnel investigate the waste and document it with written memorandums and photographs. In addition, they contact landowners and/or operators and ask these parties to halt the water waste. Follow-up investigations are made to make sure the waste is stopped. Turfgrass disease making appearance

From Mike Mallett, CEA-Ag.

The first turfgrass disease making an appearance this spring is Spring Dead Spot. This disease is considered the most damaging disease of bermudagrass and bermudagrass hybrids in North America. Spring Dead Spot is caused by the fungi, Letosphaeria horrae and Leptosphaeria narmari. It occurs mainly in the northern limits of the bermudagrass range, where it is cold enough for the turf to go dormant, and bermudagrass does go dormant on the High Plains.

Spring Dead Spot appears as roughly circular, bleached dead spots when spring regrowth occurs. These spots range in size from 2 inches to 3 feet in diameter. The spot may remain for a year or more but most often the turf grown over the spot by August. In some cases weeds invade this area without competition from the turf. Sometimes the spots develop into rings, which may reappear and enlarge each year.

Spring Dead Spot is most common in hybrid bermuda lawns although it does also occur in common bermuda. It is usually associated with compacted soil, close mowing, heavy nitrogen fertilization in the fall, heavy fall watering and potassium deficiency. High fertility and water in late fall delays dormancy and sets up the turf for severe damage with the first fall freeze. In addition to damage from the first freeze, it has been noted that very cold winters in general are associated with more severe Spring Dead Spot.

Controls include aerifying the soil to reduce compaction, maintaining balanced fertility, avoiding high nitrogen applications after late August, having well drained soil, using common bermudagrass and applying the fungicide,

Rubigan in the fall. Apply a single application of Rubigan at 4 oz. per 1000 square feet in September. If you wait until October or November make one application at the higher rate of 6 oz. per 1000 square feet. After applying the fungicide, thoroughly irrigate with 1/2 to 1 inch of water.

Remember, fungicide application is done in the fall. When you see the symptoms in the spring fungicide applications will not be effective and they will not last long enough to be effective the next fall.

Texas Loan Mediation Program is reorganized

The Texas Loan Mediation Program (TALM) has reorganized, making its negotiation component a separate unit in the program.

The reorganization is expected to enhance the impartiality of its mediation services to agricultural borrowers and lenders.

The negotiation arm, in which a borrower is provided with a financial analyst, is now known as the Texas Tech Agricultural Financial Analysis Project. It operates in an office separate from the mediation program.

The reorganization was designed to more clearly define the separation between personnel who provide mediation services and those who deliver financial analysis services, said program leader Gary D. Condra, Ph.D., a visiting associate professor of agricultural economics at Texas Tech University.

TALM was certified in 1988 by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to help borrowers and creditors in delinquent or distressed loan situations reach a mutually agreeable settlement short of bankruptcy or other litigation.

When TALM receives a request for mediation from a borrower or creditor, a mediator is assigned to the case. The mediator is an impartial third party who represents neither the borrower nor creditors. A financial analyst also is assigned to assist the borrower in the development of proposals and to negotiate on behalf of the borrower.

"These changes will enable Texas Tech to deliver mediation and financial analysis services more effectively to agricultural borrowers and lenders throughout the state," he said.

Condra will resume his previous duties as director of the loan mediation program. Judy Schreiber will continue as the mediation coordinator.

J. Carter Snodgrass, formerly the TALM director, will head the financial analysis project. Craig Blackwell, formerly coordinator of negotiation, will serve as coordinator. The project also will employ five financial analysts who previously served as negotiators for TALM.

For more information, call Snodgrass at the Agricultural Financial Analysis Project, (806) 742-1935, or Condra at TALM, (806) 742-1949. Both offices are in Texas Tech's Agricultural Sciences Building.

SPS region cattle feeding capital of the world again

For the second year in a row, feedlots within the area served by Southwestern Public Service Company during 1990 fed a record number of cattle, according to SPS's annual Fed Cattle Survey.

Feedlots in the SPS service area fed 5,570,203 head of cattle, a 1.9% increase over the 1989 total of 5,468,350.

The survey also showed that the one-time total capacity of area feedlots in 1990 was 2,887,275, up from the one-time total capacity in 1988 of 2,758,662 head.

"The growth indicated in the survey is good news for this region," said Dave Krupnick, SPS manager of agricultural and wholesale marketing. "It shows that cattle feeding is still solid and a vital part of the area."

SPS annually prepares a Fed Cattle Survey covering feedlots in its service area, which covers 52,000 square miles. The region includes the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, the Texas South Plains, eastern and southeastern New Mexico and southwestern Kansas.

While most numbers in the survey were up, the number of cattle slaughtered last year in the area decreased slightly. The 13 beef-packing plants in the SPS service area slaughtered 4,661,163 cattle, down from 4,694,852 in 1989. At the same time, however, capacity at the plants increased in 1990 to 5,095,520.

"There are several packing plants located just outside our service area," Krupnick said. "That accounts for the difference between the number of cattle slaughtered and the number fed."

Krupnick said information from the Fed Cattle Survey is used across the country by ag-related industries. "It helps highlight this area's agriculture and food-processing industries," Krupnick said. "We have a good agriculture story to tell and this is just one chapter of it."

The Fed Cattle Survey is also showing growth in the total number of feedlots in the area, from 117 in 1989 to 20 in 1990.

The report also includes a chart on the ten-year history of fed cattle and the one-time capacity of surveyed feed lots, as well as information on the number of feedlots with 5,000 head capacity or more, and a county breakdown of lot capacity and numbers fed.

Copies of the report and survey are available at SPS offices across the company's service area or may be obtained by contacting the SPS Agricultural Marketing Department (806)378-2181 at the SPS headquarters building, Tyler at Sixth Street, Amarillo, Texas 79170.

Floyd County Fair set for August 1, 2, and 3

By Carol Huggins

The Floyd County Fair Board held their regularly scheduled meeting Monday night at the Fair grounds. Previous plans were finalized with other plans being changed to better suit the needs of the Fair.

The catalogs have been received and were given to board members to be distributed throughout the area. The theme of the Fair, "Pride in our Country," is carried out in the red, white and blue catalog cover. On the front is a drawing by Justin Graham of Lockney, who was the winner in the "Design a Cover" contest held earlier this year. He will receive a $50 savings bond. Inside the catalog are the drawings of the 2nd and 3rd place winners, Armando Garcia and Michelle Smith, respectively. The board wishes to thank everyone who entered the contest. The out-of-town judges had a hard job. All the entries will be displayed in a special place at the Fair.

A big apology must be made to Johnny Arjona, because his name was omitted from the Board of Directors in the catalog.

The carnival tickets are now on sale at the banks in Lockney and Floydada. They are priced at 2 for $1.00 right now. When the Fair starts they will be $1.00 each.

Lots of donations are still needed for the auction. If you need someone to pick up your donated item, call Carol Huggins, 652-3115 or Lawson Rowell, 652-2798. If you would like to drop off your item, you can leave it at the Huggins home, 218 S.W. 4th St. in Lockney or at the Hesperian-Beacon offices in Lockney or Floydada. All items are welcome: arts and crafts, antiques, fresh produce, a special service of your business, etc.

The parade is planned to be a little different this year. The most noticeable difference is that it will start at the south end of Main Street and travel north. Parade officials would like to welcome any past or present military personnel to be a part of the parade. There will be a special section to walk in and also some vehicles designated to ride in. Anyone needing more information on the parade, please contact Roy Saucedo, 652-2139, Johnny Arjona, 652-2481 or Nellie Webb, 652-2524.

The 4th Annual 5K and Fun Run will be held again on Saturday morning before the parade. Registration forms may be picked up at Ray Lee Equipment, Floyd County Farm Bureau, Script Printing, First National Bank in Floydada, Lockney General Hospital, First National Bank in Lockney, Hesperian-Beacon offices in Lockney and Floydada.

Other traditional events at the Fair include Ladies Day; Little Miss, Jr. Miss, and Miss Floyd County Contests; Washer Pitching; Children's Barnyard; Tractor Driving Contest and Trap Shoot. There will be more in next week's paper about these events.

The Fair Board still needs help in getting ready for this year's Fair. Members will be working on the building and grounds each Saturday until time for the Fair. Any help will be greatly appreciated. Anyone willing to help with any of the events will also be greatly appreciated.

A small folded packet of $20 bills lay unnoticed for several hours beneath a telephone chair at Ellis Conoco Station at the Traffic T in Brownwood last week.

What Tom Ellis, owner of the station, and Michael Bertrand, an employee, did not know at the time was that the money belonged to Steve Shelton, a handicapped client from Central Texas Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center. He is working at McDonald's on a cooperative basis through the Jobs & Community Integration Employment Assistance Program of the Janie Clements Industries.

On Monday, May 27, Shelton received his paycheck, and cashed it before returning home. He had planned to pay bills after work the following day, and had put the wad of bills in his pocket.

As usual, after work the next afternoon, Shelton went to his three-wheel bike parked near the restaurant. Noticing that the bike had a flat tire, he pedaled over to Conoco's hoping to have it repaired. The tire was beyond repair and when told he would have to purchase a new tube, Shelton went to the phone in the service station office and called Danny Willingham, the employment program manager at JCI, to ask him to come and get him so he could get a new tube.

"When I neared the service station, I saw Steve riding his bike with a flat tire up and down the street. I asked him what was going on and he told me he had lost over $100."

Willingham said Shelton appeared frantic since he apparently had only a few dollars left from his paycheck. "I drove him back to his home on a chance that he had left the money there. We looked everywhere. I suggested that we take the tube and drop it off so that the flat could be fixed while we looked for his money at McDonald's."

"When we left there we kept our eyes on the streets hoping, but not believing, we would see the money laying on the street somewhere," Willingham said.

"We drove back to the service station to see about the tube. We had just about given up our search, but I mentioned to Tom that we would make one more run to find Steve's money," Willingham said.

"Tom seemed a bit surprised and asked how much money was missing and I told him about $100. He pulled out six $20 bills and Tom said that his station assistant Michael Bertrand had found the $120 under the table that the phone is on."

Apparently the money had fallen from Shelton's billfold when he made the telephone call.

Willingham said Shelton smiled as he stuffed the $20 bills back in his billfold saying that he was going to immediately pay his bills and never again carry that much cash in his billfold.

It was difficult to tell who had the biggest smile — Willingham, Ellis or Bertrand.

(Editor's Note: Michael Bertrand is a former Floydada resident. He is the grandson of Neida McKaskle and Neal and Helen Bertrand.)

Warming up to the facts about the global warming controversy

By George Roche,
President, Hillsdale College

It has become pretty much an article of faith that the so-called "greenhouse effect," by which the Earth's atmosphere traps the heat of the sun, is raising temperatures to levels that can cause harm to life on our planet's surface. A steady stream of stories on network news and in the leading national publications warn that increases in carbon dioxide caused by auto emissions and industrial pollution are creating a phenomenon known as "global warming."

This warming effect, the media tell us, threatens major changes in climate worldwide. We face a variety of dangers—from the flooding of coastal areas, as melting polar ice caps raise the level of the oceans, to widespread drought, as moisture is evaporated away from inland areas. The way the story is told (and repeated and repeated and repeated), we're on a downward environmental spiral which can only be checked by drastic changes in our way of life, industrial activity and pattern of fuel consumption. And we'd better get to it right away.

Well, it is true, isn't it? Not necessarily.

Hillsdale College, of which I am president, recently held a conference of environmental scientists and policy analysts who offered a very different assessment of the global warming phenomenon. The conference participants were by no means convinced that we are headed toward environmental disaster, but they did think that media reports have created an atmosphere of hysteria.

They pointed out that the "greenhouse effect" is entirely natural and quite necessary. Without the atmosphere's capacity for trapping solar radiation, the earth would be a giant ball of ice. Yet, the "greenhouse effect" is discussed in the media as if it were something dangerous—the result of human blundering at best, conspiracy at worst.

The Hillsdale conference made it clear that all scientists do not believe the earth is getting warmer. One speaker noted that, at the turn of the century, citrus fruit was grown across the Southeast from Grand Isle, Louisiana, to Charleston, South Carolina. Now, however, Florida is the only Southeast location where citrus is still viable, so the trend is clearly not toward higher temperatures.

Why, then, are we hearing this global warming song over and over?

Certainly, there is a herd instinct among the national media. Once a story has become established on the networks or in major publications, it takes on a life of its own. A theory propounded in News Magazine A is amplified on TV Network B, convincing National Newspaper C that it is a settled fact.

This plays into the hands of scientists and environmental activists who have a direct interest in seeing certain ideas reflected in law and government policy. Millions of dollars in research funds and control over vast land and resource holdings turn on environmental legislation, and the environmental lobby wants to dominate those decisions.

Since press people generally share certain ideological sympathies with the environmental folk anyway, the media's tendency to sensationalize unproven theories dovetails neatly with the environmental lobby's need to get their ideas promoted with minimum examination. This cozy relationship is what has created the hubbub about global warming. But ironically, it's distracting us from making as much progress as we could in addressing other environmental concerns which are less apocalyptic but have far more impact on the quality of life—issues like solid waste disposal and development of practical alternative fuels. We face serious environmental challenges on which our prosperity, our very way of life depend. To meet them, we must reign in all the hysteria about end-of-the-world fantasies like global warming, and instead, start warming up to the facts.

1991 Property Tax Rates in High Plains Water

This notice concerns 1991 property tax rates for High Plains Water. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 17,811

1991 Property Tax Rates in City of Lockney

This notice concerns 1991 property tax rates for City of Lockney. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 88,331
+ Last year's debt taxes	$ 0
= Last year's total taxes	$ 88,331
÷ Last year's tax base	$ 23,872,917
= Last year's total tax rate	$.3700 /$100

This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 88,330
÷ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 23,637,967
= This year's effective tax rate	$.3736 /$100

(In the first year a city or county collects the additional sales tax it must insert the following lines unless it made its first adjustment last year:)

— Sales tax adjustment rate	$ 0 /$100
= Effective tax rate	$ 0 /$100

× 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing	$.3848 /$100
---	-----------------

This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 88,330
÷ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 23,637,967
= This year's effective operating rate	$.3736 /$100
× 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$.4035 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ 0 /$100

(A school district must insert the following lines)
= This year's rollback rate before adjustment	$ 0 /$100
+ Rate to recoup lost state funds	$ 0 /$100
= A. Adjusted rollback rate	$ 0 /$100
B. Rate that would result in maximum state funds	$ 0 /$100
Rollback Rate (greater of A or B)	$ 0 /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$.4035 /$100

(A city or county that collects the additional sales tax (including one that collects the tax for the first time this year) must insert the following lines:)
— Sales tax adjustment rate	$ 0 /$100
= Rollback tax rate	$ 0 /$100
