A view from

The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

We had a very long, and very interesting, telephone discussion the other day with a member of the Plainview City Council. He was very unhappy. He had before him a copy of our paper. It was, he said, attractive, well laid out, full of interesting stories and ads. But our recent column that dealt with the relation of smaller towns in the area to the larger towns in the area caused him great difficulty. We invited him to lay out his views in a letter which we offered to publish, in order that there be no misunderstanding of his position.

He declined, saying that would only serve to "sell papers" for us, and he suggested, wrongly, that was probably the reason we wrote the column in the first place. So in the absence of a letter from him, we will try to summarize and relay some of his concerns.

He felt we were unfair to his Council on the Wal-Mart matter, saying that while they "aggressively" sought the wholesale warehouse operation, they had nothing to do with the decision of Wal-Mart to locate their retail outlet in Plainview. That may be entirely true, and we will accept the Councilman's word. We will also accept, and acknowledge, the contention that we should have made the clear distinction, in our column, between that company's wholesale and retail operations and the circumstances surrounding the location of each. But from the standpoint of Wal-Mart's governing board, they would have had to be somewhat dense not to see the advantages of having a retail outlet in the immediate proximity of the distribution warehouse. He acknowledged that the retail outlet had been a tremendous boon to City government in Plainview, providing them with additional tax revenue which made it possible to hold their tax rates stable. He also acknowledged that a good portion of that revenue came from surrounding towns, which was our point in the first place.

He made no apologies for being "aggressive" in the search for new industries, and we told him we did not think any apologies were needed or due, that they were to be commended for aggressively seeking new industries. Our concern was that those industries be truly job-creating endeavors, not merely business enterprises that would drain revenue from existing businesses in Plainview or surrounding towns. He said that was what his Council was trying to do and we will accept his statement.

At one point in the discussion the Councilman implied, or I thought he implied, that the desire for more tax revenue from surrounding towns was not of primary importance to them, that the principal effort was job creation. Very well. Would he then support a proposal to return the tax revenue to those towns that provided the additional taxes? Certainly not, he said, that would be "socialism." We've been called many things, but it was the first time we've ever been accused of promoting socialism.

The Councilman said he thought our column was "vicious," that it implied that members of the Council were stupid, and a few other things. We did not share his opinion on those issues. Governing boards, whether public or private, are constantly called upon to make decisions. They must make those decisions based on the facts before them at the time. Seldom do those decisions affect all people the same. Usually some people are helped, and some are hurt. That does not make the decisions stupid, nor does it mean the people who made those decisions are stupid. If some members of the Plainview City Council felt we were implying that, we offer them our apologies. We said we thought he was being overly sensitive to criticism, that if he intended to stay in politics he had to learn to live with that

Church to host Valentine coffee

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church in Floydada will host the traditional Valentine Coffee Friday morning, Feb. 14, from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m.

The church began this project for the community in February of 1978 "to foster good will and love in the community in the light of the Christian tradition." The church has sponsored the coffee each year since then.

"We invite and encourage merchants, shoppers, friends to take a short break between 9:30 and 11:00 a.m. on Valentine's Day. Come by for coffee or hot punch and enjoy lots of goodies," said Jo Wester, C.W.F. co-chairman. The women of the church bake and provide the refreshments and decorate the fellowship hall where the annual event is held.

Family loses everything in fire

A defective hot water heater erupted in flames Tuesday morning, in the home of Buddy and Debbie Wiley, of Lockney, resulting in extensive smoke and heat damage and the loss of all the Wiley's possessions.

Lockney firefighters were called to the home, located at FM 378 and Highway 70, at approximately 8:52 a.m. Approximately 12 firemen responded and with the assistance of several employees from Lockney Meat Company (located across the road), extinguished the blaze and cleared the home of smoke.

"I was on my way to the shower when the fire broke out," said Debbie Wiley. "I tried, but I couldn't stop it."

Debbie was alone in the home when the fire started. She was able to escape the blaze unharmed. The Wiley's children were in school and her husband Buddy was at work at Jackson Tire Company.

The fire started in a hot water heater which the Wiley's stated had caused them some recent trouble. "We were getting a new one and we just turned it on to heat the water for everyone to take a bath and wash dishes. The flames shot out and I couldn't stop it."

"Most of the structural damage was contained in the closet where the heater was located," said Fire Marshall Lonnie Hooten. "There is also structural damage where we had to cut into the roof to fight the fire in the attic. Most of loss suffered by the Wiley's will be from smoke, heat and water damage. The heat melted appliances and destroyed furniture, pictures, etc."

A love fund has been started at the First National Bank in Lockney for the Wiley family. The family is also in need of linens, appliances, dishes, furniture, etc. Debbie believes that much of the families clothes can be salvaged when washed.

Floydada School Board schedules May election

By Juanita Stepp

The spring trustee election has been set for May 2, 1992, by the board of trustees of the Floydada Independent School District. During the regular session for February, a motion by Michael Hinsley with a second by Don Hardy was unanimously approved to specify the date and election procedures.

February 17, 1992 will be the first date a potential candidate may apply for a place on the ballot. The final deadline for filing as a candidate will be March 18.

Early voting (formerly called absentee voting) will begin on April 13 and end on April 28. Ballots may be cast in person at the Administrative Offices. Darlyn Hambright will serve as election official for the early voting.

The May 2 election will be held at the Massie Activity Center in conjunction with the spring elections for the City of Floydada and Caprock Hospital District.

The positions up for election this year on the Fisd board are: District 1, Steve Lloyd, 2 year term; District 2, Trena Simpson, 2 year term; District 4, John

Plans continue for annual Lockney Chamber of Commerce banquet

The date for the annual Lockney Chamber of Commerce banquet has been set for Saturday, March 7. The event will be held at the Lockney Elementary School Cafetorium at 7:00 p.m.

The theme for the evening will be "Lockney, Our Hometown" and the cafetorium will be decorated with a home town atmosphere.

The program will also include home grown talent. The various civic clubs have been asked to participate with skits, songs, or entertainment of their choosing. The chamber will sponsor the musical group "Harmony".

Tickets are $8.00 for adults and $5.00 for children under 12. They are available from any chamber member and they will be available at the door the night of the banquet. The roast beef supper will be prepared by the ladies who work in the school cafeteria and will be served by members of the Lockney High School National Honor Society.

Highlight of the night will be the drawing for the 1992 Chevrolet pickup that is being given away by the chamber.

At present the ticket sales are slow and the chamber directors want to encourage everyone to get their tickets bought. Two thousand tickets are to be sold and if enough tickets have not been sold the drawing will be extended until a later date.

The 1992 Citizen of the Year will be recognized by last years recipient, W.H. Hallmark. Also recognized will be three quality employees from three businesses in town and the Fireman of the Year. Checks will be presented to the farmers who brought in the first load of corn, milo and wheat and the first bale of cotton.

Booths will be set up in the lobby of the school for those wishing to purchase pickup tickets and for those who would like to pay their chamber dues.

Members of the chamber of commerce have been mailed proposed changes to the by-laws and a vote will be taken for their approval during the evening.

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

We published a funny Letter to the Editor last week from Glea Adams. She was poking some good natured fun at a "typo" we had in a classified "Piano Tuning" ad.

I ran the letter to laugh at our typos. The problem was, I called Glea a "he" instead of a "she". Sorry!

Glea is an unusual name and to tell the truth I read her name as if it was Glen.

She stopped in and brought me a business card last week. I'm sorry I wasn't here to meet her. I like her sense of humor.

All you business owners will be getting hit up by Lions Club members this week, for your advertisement on Radio Days, February 29.

Remember, the money goes toward very good causes for the community! And the Lions have lots of fun with your ads on Radio Days.

Remember to buy your tickets to the local chamber of commerce banquets! Floydada's banquet is February 29 and Lockney's banquet is March 7.

I got a letter this week from a concerned reader asking me to reprint a Letter to the Editor from another publication. I can't do that, but I can comment on the subject matter in the letter.

It concerned AIDS and the subject of "safe sex".

I don't know how many young people read this column but I have something to say. You may not agree with it, but I hope you will listen and give it some thought.

It seems like there has always been a new way to have "safe sex". Years ago, the problem was not which disease you might get, but whether or not you would get pregnant.

Then the birth control pill revolutionized "safe sex". Supposedly you didn't have to worry about getting pregnant anymore. (However I did have a doctor tell me one time when I was contemplating children, "The only way the 'pill' is 100% effective is to hold it between your knees".)

Of course the point being—"Don't have sex if you absolutely positively don't want to get pregnant."

After the pill, things got easier for freer "safe sex". Of course you still had to worry about VD—but it wasn't too much of a worry. After all penicillin had been around for a long time. That could cure VD.

Well then, along comes something that should have gotten people's attention. It should have slowed people down. It should have made them think. The sexually transmitted disease, Herpes, makes the scene and spreads like wildfire among the "swinging" scene.

There is no cure for Herpes, but it doesn't kill you. Just wear a condom and you can keep right on going with your same "safe sex" lifestyle. That's a relief.

Now something else has come along that should get your attention. The "pill" won't help and neither will a condom (no matter what anybody tells you). This time it will kill you. Its AIDS.

The buzz word is still "safe sex". All you have to do is wear a condom.

Well there are enough people out there who contacted Herpes after having sex with someone wearing a condom, and there are enough people out there who are alive today because their mom and dad tried birth control with a condom-to tell you that condoms do not work.

Why is it a doctor will tell you not to depend on a condom alone to keep you from getting pregnant, but you hear that a condom will keep you from getting AIDS?

The only thing that will keep you alive is ABSTINENCE and a monogamous heterosexual relationship. It's not old fashioned—its not corny—It's TRUTH.

I'd like you young people to imagine yourself in a situation where you are "making out" with your partner. Things get a little "hot" and passion takes over. Right before you decide to "go all the way" your partner says, "Oh by the way, I have AIDS. Here is a condom. It's 50% effective. You have a pretty good chance you won't catch it and die. Just put it on and lets get on with it."

Are you going to go through with it? Is your life only worth a 50-50 chance.

Of course you won't go through with it. But every time you have sex with someone outside of a monogamous relationship, you ARE TAKING THAT CHANCE.

Marrying a virgin may be out of date, but young men and women better decide what is more important to them. Their lives or their "image".

Society has always tried to have an answer and a solution to keep people sexually active, without having to change their lifestyle.

The only real answer is to stop promiscuous sex.

Hold that condom between your knees. That's safe sex!

Sgt. First Class Bishop awarded Bronze Star Medal

Sgt. First Class Kenneth Bishop, of Floydada, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for "exceptionally meritorious achievement while assigned as the Senior Non-Commissioned Officer, VII Corps Artillery Operations Section deployed to Saudia Arabia in support of Operation Desert Shield/Storm."

The medal was authorized by the President of the United States and issued to Bishop July 29, 1991.

The award also says, "Sergeant First Class Bishop's tireless efforts and demanding work schedule resulted in the successful conduct of the Corps Artillery's campaign. His expert knowledge of artillery survey contributed to the Corps Artillery's battlefield preparation for combat. His ability to continually gather and disseminate information assisted the Corps Artillery's ability to assess and position friendly artillery. Sergeant First Class Bishop's contributions brought great credit upon himself, VII Corps and the United States Army."

Sgt. Bishop is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bishop of Floydada.

Youngster's artwork published in Sports Illustrated

The artwork of Lockney's Justin Graham has been discovered by the nationally acclaimed magazine, Sports Illustrated, and published in the December 1991 issue of that magazine.

Graham had originally entered his artwork in a May 1991 drawing contest of Sports Illustrated. The spring contest asked kids to illustrate a sports related figure of speech literally. Participants were asked to choose a figure of speech found in a Sports Illustrated for Kids, or any figure of speech that has to do with sports. They were to illustrate the phrase and write the figure of speech it illustrates as a caption.

Contests were judged by SI for KIDS on creativity, humor, and how well the picture expressed the phrase. Graham's drawing was one of three winners from Lockney High School, but Graham's artwork then received extra recognition by being one of only 14 drawings which were hung in the Sports Illustrated For Kids art gallery and also published in the December issue of Sports Illustrated.

The drawing which is now has a place of honor in the gallery is titled, "Raghib Ismail". It depicts a forward running motion of Raghib which eventually turns into a rocket. The slogan in the picture says, "Raghib Ismail is Fast As A Rocket."

The published drawings came from the work of 13 boys and one girl from 12 states: Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Georgia, Texas, Washington, California and Hawaii.

Graham's drawings are also featured weekly in the Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon during the Longhorn football season.

Justin is the 15 year old son of H.G. Graham, of Lockney, and Judy Graham, of Uvalde, and the grandson of Joe and Lozell Keeter of Lockney.

revisions included adjustments to the hourly rate of pay for certain employees and the inclusion of the drug policy as well as clarification of the vacation and sick leave policy. The revisions also addressed the recently enacted legislation concerning handicapped individuals.

The policy was approved on a motion by Precinct 4 Commissioner Howard Bishop and seconded by Precinct 2 Commissioner Floyd Jackson. Each regular full time county employee will be required to sign a statement stating that they have received and read the policy as will future employees at the time of hiring.

The sale of a tax property belonging to the taxing entities was approved for a second time after being acted on last month when the matter was not on the posted agenda. Judge Hardin stated, "We approved the sale of the Ted Carthel Property to the Lockney Independent School District last month, but it was not on the agenda and I feel that we need to approve the matter in the proscribed fashion to ensure that it is legal and proper."

Motion was made by Jackson and seconded by Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden. The vote on the matter was unanimously in favor of the sale.

Westar Transmission Company was granted permission to bury an electric cable on a county right of way north of Aiken in the southwest one quarter of Section 1, Block D-5. The cable will parallel a gas transmission pipeline and serves to prevent the line from rusting. Motion was made by Jackson and seconded by Precinct 3 Commissioner George Taylor with a unanimous approval by the remaining commissioners.

Budget amendments included the transfer of $60.00 from the county miscellaneous fund to the county dues fund, $200.00 from the garbage pit equipment repair fund to the miscellaneous road and bridge fund, $600.00 from the equipment reserve fund to the equipment fund and $1,000.00 from the general surplus fund to the law library fund. This action was approved and taken on a motion by Bearden with a second by Bishop.

A transfer from road and bridge funds to the individual precincts was approved totaling $40,000.00. Each precinct will receive $10,000.00 on the motion made by Jackson and seconded by Bishop.

The court examined reports from elected county officials that collect fees in their offices. Precinct 2 & 3 Justice of the Peace Dottie Stansell submitted a report stating that her office had collected $2,068.50 since her report last month. District Clerk Barbara Edwards reported the collection of $1,594.68 in fees the past month and County Clerk Margaret Collier had collections totaling $6,426.37.

Precinct 1 & 4 Justice of the Peace Lowell Bilbrey did not submit a report for the court's consideration at the Monday morning session.

County Treasurer Glenna Orman presented her financial reports for the previous month, stating that the county began the month with $115,682.74 in county accounts and received $397,170.19 during the month. Transfers in were $209,928.25 and transfers out equaled that figure. Disbursements were $139,218.52, leaving the county fund balances with a total of $373,634.41 at the end of January.

Of this amount, $325,000.00 is being held in reserve to fund future months of county operational cost and these funds have earned $5,948.73 in interest to date. Orman also reported that the installment indebtedness of the county now totals $35,784.05.

Farm work contracts were approved for three individuals. These included contract #1145 in Precinct 2 for L. B. Brandes-clear out tail water ditch; #1135 in Precinct 3 for J. C. Anderson-work feed road; and #1137 in Precinct 3 for Alfredo Arredondo-work feed road. One contract, #1037 in Precinct 2 for Bloom Dairy-cover wash, was voided. Motion for the action came from Jackson with a second from Bishop.

Other matters handled by the court included the inspection and approval of monthly bills for payment.

Present for the meeting were Judge Bill Hardin; Commissioners Connie Bearden, Floyd Jackson, George Taylor and Howard Bishop; treasurer Glenna Orman; and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Funds awarded to develop Floydada's Napoleon Park

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm announced in a news release, February 2, that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has been awarded $42,688 in federal matching funds to develop Napoleon Park in Floydada.

The funds are provided by National Park Service, an agency within the U.S. Department of Interior. The city of Floydada applied for the grant, in January 1991. The application for the grant was developed by Floydada City Secretary Sharon Quisenberry and Floydada City Manager Gary Brown.

"We plan on using the grant money to remove old picnic tables, build four new covered picnic tables on slabs, renovate the tennis courts, put in an underground sprinkler system, put all the overhead electricity underground, and develop a playground area with new equipment," said Brown. "We will also plant approximately 50, 6-8 ft. trees.

"We will match the funds with equipment and labor. We hope to be in place by late Fall of '92, providing we get the go ahead to start. The funds have to be given to us first and the spec's for the park have to be approved by Parks and Wildlife."

The Lockney Chamber of Commerce is selling tickets on a 1992 Chevrolet Silverado pickup as a fund raising project. The Chamber would like to answer some questions that have come up...

What will the Chamber do with all that money? (If all the 2000 tickets are sold the Chamber will have raised $40,000.00)

1. Purchase Pickup - $18,000.00 (it is necessary for the Chamber to sell 900 tickets just to break even)

2. Depending on the ticket sales the Chamber plans to donate to local projects such as - baseball field lights, Christmas lights for downtown, landscape the planned downtown park, improve the Lockney downtown appearance, and money to match government grants for civic projects.

We plan to draw the winning ticket at the Chamber banquet in March, 1992. However we will not draw until a minimum of 900 tickets have been sold (this is to be able to pay for the pickup).

Tickets are $20.00 each and can be purchased in Lockney at Consumer's Fuel, Lockney Co-op Gin, S.P.S. Office, Lockney First National Bank, Caprock Industries Feedyard, J.D. Copeland's office, D & J Gin and from any Chamber Director. You must be a licensed driver to purchase tickets.

Quisenberry and Hooten graduate from Texas Municipal Clerks Program

On January 30, 1992, Sharon Quisenberry, Deputy City Secretary, City of Floydada and Charlotte Hooten, Assistant City Secretary, City of Lockney, were among eighteen people who graduated from the Texas Municipal Clerks Certification Program conducted at the University of North Texas.

Each graduate spends approximately 200 hours of individual home study on a four-course curriculum and must, in addition, attend eight two-day seminars, accounting for 130 more hours of classroom study. The curriculum, which includes carefully selected texts on a variety of subjects and a number of special readings, offers instruction on such topics as public administration, election law, budgeting and finance, municipal law, and personnel management.

Floydada is hometown to Sharon. She was born and raised in Floyd County. She graduated first in her class from Floydada High School in 1969. She also attended South Plains College. She is married to George Quisenberry, also a FHS graduate. They have two sons, Chad, a junior at Texas Tech and Monte, a freshman at FHS. Her parents are Wayne and Betty Fuller of Floydada.

Before coming to work for the City of Floydada, in 1988, she had worked 14 years in local financial institutions. In 1992, she assumed the duties of City Secretary after the retirement of Jimmie Lou Stewart.

Charlotte Hooten was born in Lockney and raised in Plainview. She graduated from Plainview High School in 1975. Charlotte moved back to Lockney in 1984 and started work in the city office in July 1985, training under City Secretary Erma Lee Duckworth. She is married to Berry Hooten, a Lockney native. They have two sons, Jason, 16, and David, 4.

Charlotte assumed the duties of City Secretary, January 1, 1992.

The Certification Program offered at the University of North Texas, the only university-level professional education program for city clerks and secretaries in Texas, is the third oldest of thirty-three such programs in the country. The program was also selected in 1984 by the College Board as one of sixty-four exemplary professional development programs in the United States.

The 69th Texas Legislature adopted H.B. 2092 which gives State sanction to the Program and provides that a certificate shall be issued to each person "Who successfully completes the program."

The response of city governments to the training offered by the Certification Program is positive; the cities continue to commit a great deal of released time and travel expense, which attests strongly to the timeliness and quality of the program. Further, the achievements of city secretaries who have graduated from the program are recognized by the city council, the citizens of the communities, and by those who evaluate municipalities for industry location, bond rating agencies, etc.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Gilly of Floydada recently celebrated their fiftieth anniversary with a dinner at the Depot Restaurant, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hill of Santa Fe, N.M. Those present, besides the honorees, were David Christian, Miss Amy Morehouse and Rob Hill, all of Lubbock. Gilly and the former Lois Beard were married February 1, 1942 in Flagstaff, Arizona. They have two daughters, Barbara and Bob Hill of Santa Fe, N.M. and Cathy and Dr. Steve Steger of Kenedy, Texas. They also have four grandchildren, David Christian and Rob Hill, both students of Texas Tech University, and Heidi and Josh Steger of Kenedy, Texas.

Clubs & Organizations

Harmony Extension Club

The Harmony Extension Club met January 26, at 2 p.m. in the Harmony Community Center with Maye Williams as hostess.

President Vivian Curtis called the meeting to order. The roll call was answered by a fact about China or a helpful hint.

Maye Williams gave the program on China, discussing the dense population of the country, even though it was so large. The climate is very hot in summer, very cold in winter. The soil is very good for growing crops, farming is difficult due to not enough rain fall.

Under the soil is great mineral riches. One of nature's gifts to the Chinese people is the bamboo plant. They eat the sprouts, use the reed to make furniture, build houses and boats, weave sandles and hats and make pulp which is rolled into writing paper.

Conservation is very important to the Chinese for two reasons, as a means of living and it is also a deep feeling of the people that one particular spot of land is home to a man and his family.

China has the largest population of any country. The chief products they raise are rice, wheat, tea, mulberry leaves, cotton, tobacco, soy beans, millet, maize, sweet potatoes and peanuts. Their minerals are coal, iron, tungsten, kolin, tin, lead, zinc, gold and magnesium. They chiefly manufacture silk, laquer, porcelain, cotton cloth and iron.

The Chinese people are like Americans in many ways. They are happy people. Home life is important and families are closely bound together. The average are very poor. Their homes are small and their farms are very small and they own very little land. They eat the food they grow. Their eating habits are not healthful and the average length of life is about one half that of most Americans.

Their homes are built of mud, often in winter they are cold. Some spend a lifetime living on boats because space is so limited.

In the 1930's to 40's area colleges were built, some 20,000 received college degrees and many came to Great Britain and the U.S. to school. Some are artists, writers, architects, make jewelry and china painting.

There are two kinds of government, communist and nationalist.

Tea is the most important product, most of it is sold to the United States and Canada. Cereals grow well and most of the worlds camphor comes from the country too. This story of China was enjoyed by all.

There was a training meeting in Lubbock, January 27, for the THDA chairman and vice chairman.

Blanche Williams directed recreation and Chinese refreshments were served by the hostess, Mae Williams.

Those present were Vivian Curtis, Anna Maude Hopper, Juanita Poole, Bess Carr, Blanche Williams, Doris Snodgrass and the hostess Mae Williams.

Homebuilders Extension Club

Homebuilders Extension Club met at Murl Mayfields home January 30, for their second meeting of the new year. Barbara Willis called the meeting to order and roll call was answered by six members, including one new member, Sally Guzman. Gladys Widener lead us in recreation "An Animal Quiz."

Minutes were read by Jonelle Fawver of the last meeting and approved. She also gave treasurers report. The program committee stated they had finished the yearbook and given it to the agent secretary to print. Program for the next meeting will be given by Gladys at Jonelle's home February 11.

Delegate for the district meeting, April 1, at Snyder was elected. Barbara is the delegate and Jonelle is alternate. The registration, insurance and meal total is $8.50 per person.

The program of International Understanding, learning about China, was given by Jonelle. China's civilization is almost 4000 years old. The size of China is 3,750,000 square miles, almost the size of the United States and Mexico together. We heard of their agriculture, education, arts and crafts, family life, religion and government (including Taiwan) an article of their feast for the new year, Tuesday, February 4, which is the year of the monkey. They have a zodiac, 12 year cycle with each year being named after a different animal.

Refreshments were served to six members an a guest, Christina Trevino.

possibility, just as we learn to live with it in this business. We tried again to make the central point to him, as we thought we had tried to make in the column, that since the lives of the bigger towns are so closely tied to the fate of the smaller, surrounding, towns, that fact ought to be recognized when policies are undertaken, or endeavors are pursued, that might have an impact upon those communities.

One further point. The Councilman said, during that part of the discussion in which he rejected so forcefully the idea of returning sales taxes to those who pay them, rather than those who collect them, that if smaller towns did not also become aggressive, if they merely wanted to "sit on their... rest on their laurels" they were going to suffer. But he quickly added that he thought the folks in Floyd County need have no fears in this regard, that he regarded this as a stable, progressive community that was going to make it. With that, we agreed, in spades. And, like his own council, we will be "aggressive" in trying to see that this happens.

At any rate we appreciate the Councilman's call. (In fact we have since visited by phone with other members of the Council as well.) We will try to take note of his and their concerns, and we hope they will likewise take note of our own concerns, which we will try to spell out in one simple sentence, or one simple paragraph.

We are of the firm belief that this state, this nation, this society, would be far better off with a multitude of small, thriving communities, rather than a few big cities, where populations are piled atop each other with all the attendant problems, and where the countryside is dotted with dying, decaying, villages that were once thriving in their own right. And we believe governmental policies ought to encourage the survival and well being of those small communities, for the good of the nation if for no other reason.

We know, as well as anyone, that times have changed during the nearly 70 years we have been on this earth. We know the economy of the nation has changed, the nature of our society has changed. But we also know that if government has any validity other than the defense of the nation and the personal security of our citizens, it is to "promote the general welfare." That, to us, involves the adoption of policies that effect that ideal.

That general belief is what led to our suggestion, some time ago, that this state's political leadership explore the possibility of changing the procedure of remitting sales tax rebates to the various communities. We believe that would be just one governmental policy that could help revitalize the infrastructure of many smaller communities, thereby promoting the general welfare without harming in any way the larger cities. We do not see that as "socialism" and we do not believe those who support the concept are socialists.

Another change in tax policy that would help all Texans, in small towns, large towns, and in the countryside, would be to begin taxing the billions of dollars that flow, tax free, into the coffers of out-of-state mail order houses who have no "real property" presence in this state. Sears must collect the tax. Montgomery Ward must collect the tax. Local businesses must collect the tax. Why should a multitude of others, who do not pay property taxes here, who do not employ local citizens, have a tax-free advantage? But that particular problem will have to be addressed in Congress, not the Texas Legislature. A few years ago, then State Comptroller Bob Bullock launched a crusade, of sorts, to address this concern. A bill was even introduced in the Congress, where it languished and died. And given who runs the Congress, and given who owns the out-of-state mail order houses, and how much they pay to help keep Congress running the way it is, that is not likely to change.

So in summary we would say we are not, and were not, trying to pick a fight with a neighboring town. Nor were we trying to "sell papers." We now have approximately 76 percent of all households in Floyd County as paid subscribers or newsstand sales, and quite a few in other counties as well. We could hardly hope for more, although we welcome any reader, anywhere. Nor were we trying to curtail business traffic between the towns. None of us live in sealed communities, and it would be a sad world if we did. We were merely trying to make a point by stating an opinion relative to the association of communities to each other. We had no idea we were striking such a sensitive nerve.

Election of councilmen set for May

At the council's regular meeting held on Thursday, February 6, Lockney City Council members discussed the upcoming election and set the date for the beginning of sign-ups on Monday, February 17. The election for Lockney City Council aldermen will be held on Saturday, May 2.

Terms will be up for J.D. Copeland, Gary Marr, and Jim Doucette. Also the seat held by Ronnie Aston will have to be filled. Aston is moving to the farm. He has served one year of a two year term. Jim Doucette announced that he will also be moving out of the city limits and will not be a candidate.

Qualified candidates wishing to run for any of the positions can come by City Hall during regular business hours and sign-up.

The council voted to ask those who have served as election judges in the past to do so for the May election.

W.H. Hallmark, Superintendent of the Lockney Independent School District met with the council to discuss the purchase of lots 5, 6, and S 1/2 of 4, Block 8, Walling Addition. The lots are owned by the taxing entities in the district. The lots adjoin school property and according to Hallmark would be used for a parking lot or as a possible construction site at some time in the future. He stated that the school board would offer $12,000.00 to the other taxing entities for the property.

According to Hallmark the $12,000 would be divided equally between the City of Lockney, Lockney Hospital District, Floyd County and the Mackenzie Water Authority. Each entity will have to agree to let the school board have the property at the proposed price.

The motion to accept the offer was made by Gary Marr and all the aldermen voted for.

Jamie Johnson, engineer with Ober J. Engineering, asked the council to purchase a computer generated map of Lockney to use in the re-numbering of streets and showing the location of water and sewer lines. J.D. Copeland made the motion to purchase the map and it was seconded by Gary Marr. All voted for.

The council heard a request for a street light at the corner of N.E. 1st and Washington. The aldermen voted to install the light as there are no lights on that street.

It was reported that the property belonging to Mrs. Morales, located on Locust Street, has been cleaned up and that she will pay for the work that was done.

The council voted to amend the budget to reflect the cost of the annual inspection of the Mackenzie Water system. It was noted that the cost of the inspection has increased each year.

Mayor Kenneth Wofford told those present that the city had received a letter from Linda White, Texas Department of Health, and she stated that the Lockney landfill had been inspected and that there were a few spots that were holding water and that she expected this to be corrected when the weather permitted.

Wofford called Ms. White and assured her that the work would be done as soon as it dried up to where they could get in to the site.

In regular business of the council, the minutes of the January meeting were read and approved, the bills were discussed and the council voted that they be paid. The financial statement was also reviewed.

Courtroom Activities

In county court, February 6, Matthew Albert Aday, pled guilty to his February 4 charge of driving while his license was suspended. He was fined $200.00 and sentenced to eight days in jail plus court costs.

February 7, Wade James Esty, 19, of Lubbock, was charged with DWI. There was no disposition on this case.

Also on February 7, Franklin Leon Williams was charged with terroristic threat.

February 7, Dennis Gordon Farren filed a speeding appeal and an appeal for not securing a safety belt.

February 11, two cases were dismissed: the theft by check case against Billy Don Hughes was dismissed after he paid restitution of $163.59 and court costs; the January 25 assault case against Gary Gonzales was dismissed after the victim stated she did not want to prosecute.

Campbell, 3 year term; District 5, Don Hardy, 3 year term; and At-Large, Charlene Brown, 3 year term.

Applications to be placed on the ballot may be obtained by contacting the FISD administrative offices.

CHANNEL 1 TV

FISD board members agreed Monday evening to allow the installation of Whittle Communications Channel 1 TV in the Floydada High School and if possible, the Junior High. No vote was taken on the matter after it was deemed unnecessary.

According to Joe Christian and Bruce Bramlet, who investigated the service, The installation and equipment (including a satellite dish and at least 15 monitors, along with VCR equipment and wiring) will be provided to the school for free and will be maintained at no expense to the school. The three year agreement cites only that schools utilize the programming for 12 minutes per day at least 90 percent of the time and may be cancelled by either party at any time.

Programming is a 12 minute world news broadcast geared toward young people. Included in the broadcast are national brand name sponsor commercials. Building principals may monitor the broadcast each day prior to airing it at school. The option may be exercised to not air the program if something deemed inappropriate will be included. The school can also prepare and air their own programs as well as utilize the additional educational programming available through the system.

Fall installation is expected. Floydada will join more than 1,000 Texas schools that participate in the Channel 1 TV networking.

CONTRACTS EXTENDED

Contracts were extended for one year on administrative assistant Jimmie Collins and for principals Joe Christian, Bruce Bramlet, and Bobbie Weir. Bramlet was also granted a salary increase to bring his salary up from the beginning level he was placed at as a new administrator in the system last year. No other salary increases were authorized by the board.

Contracts were also extended one year for Special Education Director Les Ross and Athletic Director Dean Bates. This makes those administrative contracts effective for a two year term, taking them through the 1993-94 school year. No action was taken on the contract for Andrews principal Ellen Enriquez. Her contract remains in effect and is valid through the 1992-93 school year.

This action followed an executive session which ended near midnight.

TAX REPORT

Jimmie Collins presented the tax report detailing property tax collections for the CED and for FISD. The County Education District has collected $1,268,860.00 in taxes, 89.49 percent of the total tax roll. FISD has received a 61 percent share of this, $782,201.00.

FISD collections now stand at $243,469.00. This represents 88.74 percent of the tax roll. Added to the collections from the CED, the total is $1,025,671.00 in taxes collected. Col-

Effective parenting program offered in area

Improving parent-child relationships will be the focus of a series of discussion sessions beginning February 20, 1992, at 7:00 p.m. at First United Methodist Church Lockney. The discussions will be based on Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (STEP), the most widely used parenting education program in the country.

More than two million people throughout the United States, Canada, and other countries have participated in STEP discussion groups and used the accompanying Parent's Handbook since American Guidance Service (AGS) introduced the program in 1976.

STEP encourages mutual respect between parent and child, increased cooperation, more effective communication, and a more responsible, self-reliant attitude among children.

The trend in parenting education is a result of many social changes in the United States.

The parents who participated in STEP groups said they found the program beneficial for many reasons. High on the list was the opportunity it provided for them to share experiences and learn from others. Others said that STEP enabled parents to "learn new ways to handle persistent problems" and to overcome a sense of guilt and develop a sense of confidence and self-esteem. STEP was also credited for improving participants' relationships with other people, including husbands and wives, employers and employees. Benefits cited for children included the opportunity for children to take more responsibility for their own behavior, a calmer, more relaxed environment in which to develop emotionally, and less spanking and parent "snooper-vision."

For more information about the STEP discussion groups, contact First United Methodist Church office at 652-2193 or Charlotte Mitchell at 652-3613. A nursery will be provided for all sessions.

Rules are designed to protect game officials

Protection and Courtesy to game officials. All schools, when they join the League are assigned to a district and the school accepts the athletic plans. The code states in part "To accept decisions of officials without protest; to see that officials are extended protection and courtesy, by players, school personnel and laymen; to treat your opponents as your guests and to put clean play and real sportsmanship above victories."

The State Executive Committee has accessed more penalties to coaches, players and fans for abuse of game officials than for any other one rule violation. There can be no athletic activities without officials. Unless they are protected, the educational achievements in athletics could be denied to high school pupils. Officials must be mutually agreed upon in advance. If no prior agreement is reached, beginning the game constitutes agreement.

It is recommended for all UIL athletic contests that a designated administrator be appointed to act as security and hospitality aide for officials. Official's chapters should be notified prior to the season or game, as to procedures for items such as parking, dressing rooms, security and method of payment.

If an attack should occur on a game official, the school administration and the school board should take immediate steps to see that the person or persons making the attack on the official or officials is arrested and prosecuted. The school must see that the guilty person or persons are brought to justice. Token punishments by school officials will not satisfy the State Executive committee. Schools must take proper precautions to see that all game officials are protected and extended courtesy. In case of any misconduct by a fan, player or a coach the school should prosecute this person to the legal limits. Proper preparation can prevent most misconduct relative to officials.

Note:
If continuous or extreme verbal abuse is directed toward an official or if an official is struck, pushed, bumped, or handled in any way, there shall be a penalty assessed by the State Executive committee. This penalty will be either: 1) public reprimand; 2) disqualification.

Lockney graduate participates in a leadership retreat

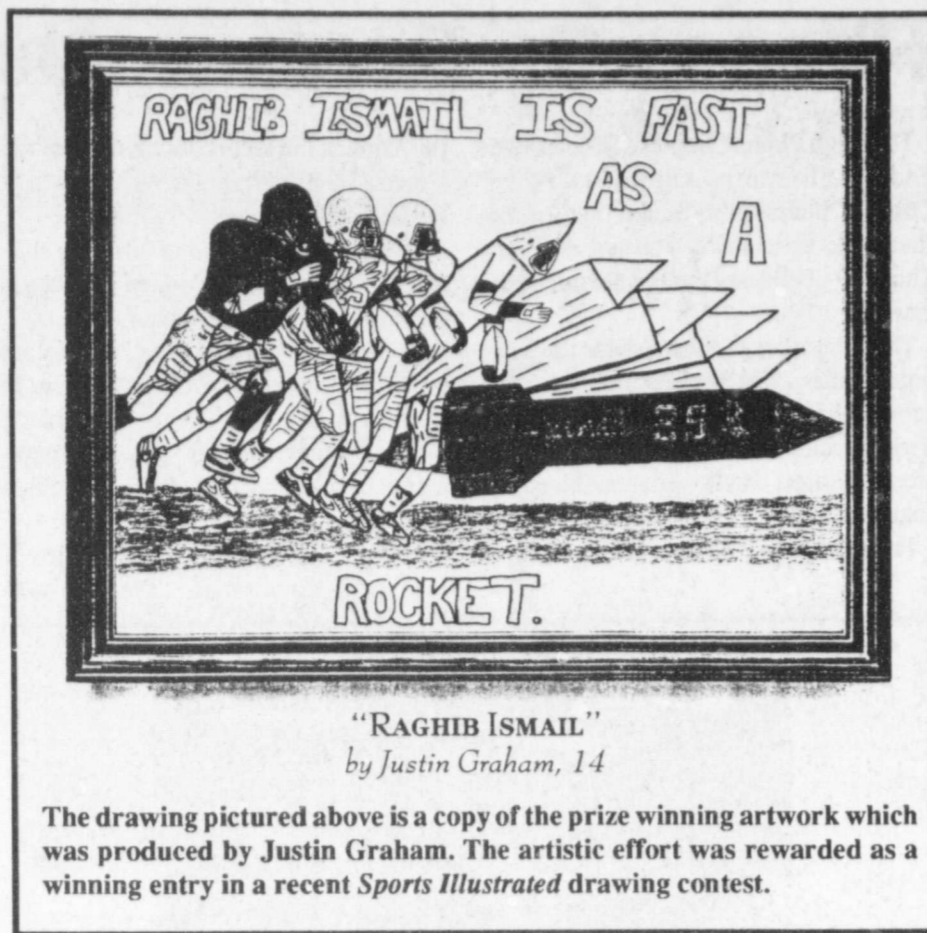

Gwen Lane of Lockney was one of nine Tarleton State University Alumni Ambassadors who participated recently in a three-day leadership retreat. The 1992 Chachalaca Leadership Retreat was sponsored by the Rio Grande Valley Educational Consortium and hosted by TSU and West Texas State University.

Student leaders from Tarleton and West Texas State conducted workshops in group dynamics, teamwork, parliamentary procedure, leadership styles, motivational skills, presentational skills and more.

In addition to the university students, high school student leaders from sixteen Rio Grande area high schools were invited to participate. The students were selected based on past leadership experiences and potential as future leaders.

Named after a native Rio Grande Valley bird that is characterized as being very vocal and group oriented, the Chachalaca Leadership Retreat was planned and presented by the university students. Each session was conducted by two TSU students and one WTSU student. Evaluations from the high school students indicated that the program was a success and plans are being made to make it an annual event.

The TSU Ambassadors were created last year by the Tarleton Alumni Association and include student leaders who devote time and energies to promoting the University among former students, current students and potential students. They are under the supervision of TAA Executive Director Janis Petronis.

Alaniz wins Create a Team Name and Logo Contest

Steven Alaniz was recently named the winner of the Sports Illustrated For Kids Create a Team Name and Logo Contest.

Fifty-three students in the 8th grade Language Arts Class, taught by Linda Terrell, entered the contest. They competed against students from all across the United States.

It was from thousands of entries that the drawing of Steven Alaniz, 14 year old son of Melva Alaniz, was chosen. His team name and logo winning entry was a spoof on SMU Mustangs. His Mustang were named, The Stupidville Mustangs. He said they got their "wonderful name a long, long, time ago. Their beloved football field was first the grasslands for Wild Mustangs." The logo was accompanied by a cartoon drawing of a mustang wearing a football helmet.

The Sports Illustrated October contest, asked kids to create a name and a logo for a team that plays in their favorite sport. Participants were to make up a name for their favorite team and design a logo for that team. Students were to consider the following questions in their designs: where is the team from and what's special about the place?, should the name and logo suggest strength, skill or speed, and do you want to use humor to carry your message.

Entries were judged on creativity and how well the name and logo expressed their idea.

"Quality Care in a Caring Environment"

For Agriculture water conservation equipment

Water district accepting applications

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 is now accepting applications from producers wishing to obtain agricultural water conservation equipment loan funds to upgrade their current irrigation systems to more-efficient Low Energy Precision Application (LEPA) systems.

The Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) approved the Water District's application for a $1 million loan to fund the program on January 15th.

The funds available for use in the District's Agricultural Water Conservation Equipment Loan Program are from repayments to the state on previous loans made during the pilot ag loan program.

Because funds are limited, priority will be given to producers who have not yet obtained an agricultural water conservation equipment loan from the District. Also, new loans are limited to 75% of the purchase price of the above-ground equipment of LEPA center pivot sprinkler systems. LEPA systems are the only equipment that will be funded under this new ag loan program.

To apply for a loan, producers must complete an application, a financial statement, have an irrigation dealer contract, and pay a non-refundable $250 application fee. Applications are available from the Water District's County Secretary in your area or by contacting the District headquarters in Lubbock.

Loans will be secured by a first lien on the equipment. In addition, the landowner will either sign a Deed of Trust giving the District a lien on the land, arrange for a letter of credit, or assign assets as additional security for the loan.

During the pilot ag loan program that operated from 1986 to 1990, 11 of the 15 counties within the High Plains Water District had borrowers participating in the program. Approximately 165 borrowers received 284 loans totalling $5,409,664.21 for purchases totaling $7,696,848.18.

A total of 208 quarter-section center pivots and six full section pivots were purchased. Of the quarter-section pivots, 47 or 22.6 percent were true LEPA systems.

With an average purchase price of $36,000 per center pivot system, the 208 quarter-mile pivots added about $7.5 million to the area economy. Using a total of $500,000 for the rest of the equipment purchased, the total economic infusion into the area is about $8 million. With a multiplier of three, the pilot ag loan program pumped about $24 million into the High Plains economy during its 46 months of operation.

Most important is the water savings resulting from use of the upgraded irrigation application and distribution equipment.

Converting to center pivot sprinkler systems helped eliminate 21.5 miles of open, unlined ditch which saved an estimated 1,491 acre-feet of water per year. The purchase of surge valves and other equipment during the pilot ag loan program eliminated tailwater waste and saved approximately 1,967 acre-feet of water per year. Water savings due to improvement in system efficiencies saved about 14,713 acre-feet of water per year.

Cumulative water savings from the beginning of the pilot program through September 1990 amount to about 43,880 acre-feet—enough water to supply a city of 200,000 for one year!

Additional information regarding the Agricultural Water Conservation Equipment Loan Program is available by contacting Becca Williams, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405, (806) 762-0181.

Financial alternatives to be topic for seminars held for farm families

Many farmers are having trouble obtaining financing for their 1992 crop. "Factors beyond their control, such as last year's weather and the depressed cotton market, are impacting opportunities to acquire financing," says Dr. Jackie Smith, agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

If you find your family caught in this situation, plan to attend one of a series of meetings offered by the Extension Service, Smith suggested. "Financial Alternatives for Farm Families" sessions will be held in Lubbock, Abilene and Amarillo. There will be no charge for these programs, which are co-sponsored by the Extension Service and the Agricultural Economics Department at Texas Tech University. The Extension Service is an agency of the Texas A&M University System.

Topics to be discussed will include loan restructuring and cash flow analysis by Dr. Danny Klinefelter, Extension Service agricultural economist and management specialist at College Station. The mediation process in resolving distressed loan situations will be explained by Dr. Gary Condra, director of the Ag Loan Mediation program at Tech. Also included will be a description of the various bankruptcy alternatives by Walter O'Cheskey, Chapter 12 Trustee from Lubbock, and the tax implications of loan restructuring.

The Lubbock program will be held Feb. 13 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center. The center is on FM 1294, just east of the Shallowater exit on I-27.

Farmers must act to control spread of poppy

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Texas farmers must act now to control the spread of red-horned poppy in their wheat crops, according to Barron Rector, range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rector said that the red-horned poppy is a recently discovered prolific weed that can spread long distances through contaminated harvesting equipment or wheat seed.

The weed clogs combining equipment, competes with winter wheat and may be mildly toxic to grazing animals, he said.

Researchers have found the poppy in Kansas, 12 Oklahoma counties and six counties in the Texas Panhandle and Edwards Plateau region.

"It seems to be well adapted to wheat fields in this part of the country," Rector said.

Additionally, he noted, Oklahoma State University researchers have found that each plant can produce up to 70,000 seeds that are capable of germinating in both fall and spring seasons.

For these reasons, experts recommend treatment of any red-horned poppy outbreaks with a herbicide labeled for use in wheat.

Brent Bean, Extension Service agronomist for the Texas Panhandle, said that Buctril has been the most effective herbicide in controlling the red-horned poppy.

Best control is achieved when Buctril is applied in the spring when the plant is in the rosette stage of development, he said. Banvel, 2,4-D amine and to a lesser extent, 2,4-D ester also may be used, Bean said, but they have not been as effective.

Bean said that although use of Buctril is expensive, farmers would otherwise have difficulty in harvesting and may find wheat yields reduced. The problem is not yet widespread, but the weed is continuing to infest more acres every year.

Rector said the key to controlling this aggressive weed is to prevent the development of a large population through early identification and early herbicidal treatment.

The plant is best controlled during the winter months when it has rosettes that measure up to 14 inches in diameter Rector said. These rosettes lie flat on the ground and have a waxy cuticle that sticks up on the surface.

Dean Cornett, Extension Service agent in Hemphill County, said that farmers with small infestations can eliminate them by "hand grubbing" the

Pheasants Forever chapter meets

The High Plains Chapter of Pheasant's Forever, formerly known as Floyd County Pheasants' Forever, met for the first time as a newly formed chapter, Thursday, February 6, at Nielson's Restaurant.

The first order of business for the new organization was the election of officers. Members present elected Layne Kirk, president; Hulon Carthel, secretary/treasurer; Kyle Adams, banquet chairman.

The members also decided to change the name of the local chapter from Floyd County to the High Plains Chapter of Pheasant's Forever.

"We decided instead of limiting ourselves to just Floyd County we should encompass the High Plains of Texas," said President Layne Kirk. "There are only two chapters in the state, one in Dallas and this one. The money that the Dallas chapter sends us for habitat management could be used all over the High Plains."

The members also discussed habitat of pheasants and how the feed plots are helping with their conservation. During this discussion a letter was read from the Dallas chapter which emphasized how well the habitat management program was working in the county. The letter showed a comparative summary of field results from the Dallas chapter's recent Floyd County pheasant hunt.

In 1990, 15 hunters traveled here from the Dallas Pheasant's Forever chapter; in 1991, 31 hunters came.

In 1990, 17 roosters were sighted; in 1991, 150 plus roosters were sighted.

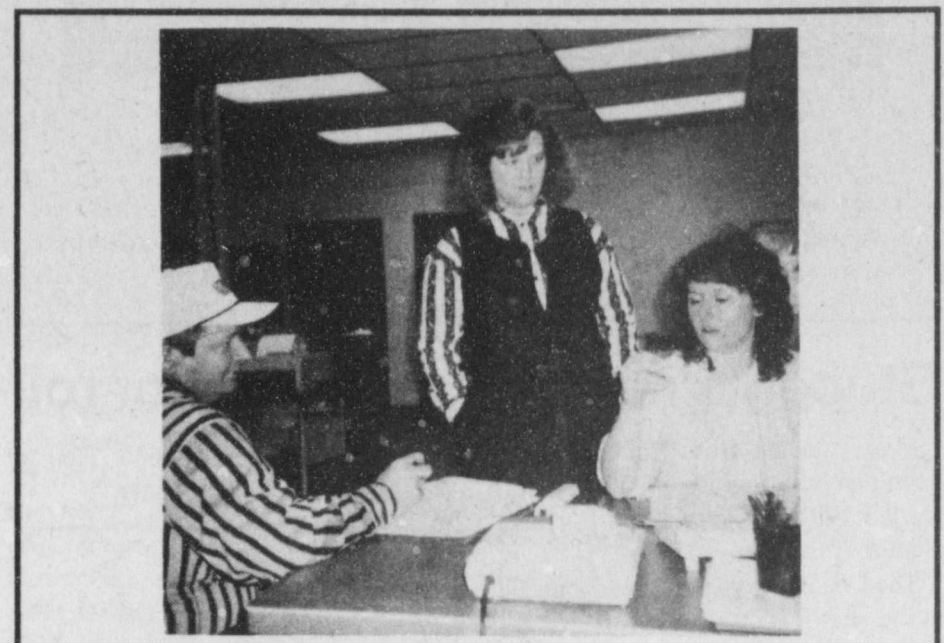

In 1990, 15 roosters were harvested; in 1991, 65 roosters were harvested.

In 1990, 60 plus hens were sighted; in 1991, 500 plus hens were sighted.

In 1990, 1,280 acres were hunted; in 1991, 1,920 acres were hunted.

Members in attendance were: Layne Kirk, Hulon Carthel, Kyle Adams, Jon Nielson, Ronnie Smith, Mickey Dot Hammonds, David Frizzell and Mark Lewis.

Anyone interested in joining should contact any officer of the chapter. "This organization is for anyone who wants to better the pheasant population in this area," said Kirk. "All hunters and landowners can benefit from this chapter. The local money raised and also money given to us by the Dallas chapter will be used to help the landowner develop habitat."
