RIDE 'EM COWBOY -- Bareback riding was one of the most popular events at the Floydada Rodeo held on Friday and Saturday nights at the Floydada Rodeo Arena. This rider displays his technique in the event as he tries to ride out the 8 second time requirement without being thrown by the bucking horse. Weather conditions did not cooperate to benefit the competitors as the area experienced heavy rainfall during the evening and the arena was muddy and slick during the rodeo.

Rodeo proceeds despite rainfall

Despite heavy rainfall Friday night, the 35th Annual Floydada Rodeo proceeded as scheduled.

The falls were a lot messier, but perhaps a bit softer, as cowboys splashed and fell in deep mud and water.

Arena conditions slowed down riders times, and Friday night's competition did not end until 2:00 a.m.

Enterprising people with four-wheel drive vehicles stayed busy and earned extra cash pulling pickups and trailers out of the mud after Friday's downpour.

Although the rain held off during Saturday's performance, the arena was far from dry and competition conditions were a long way from perfect. Saturday's show ended at 11:00 p.m., and the rodeo dance was moved inside Floyd County Seed's delinting barn.

Surprisingly the rain and mud did not deter spectators or cowboys. The rodeo was well attended during the two days of competition.

Results of each event were as follows: Bareback Bronc: 1. Justin Swires and Mark Quigley

Bull Riding: 1. Larry Williams, 2. Monte Watson, 3. Keith Adams, 4. Lewis Greigo, 5. Gary Dunda, 6. Michael Daniel and Steven Anderson

Webster Service and Supply closes doors

By Alice Gilroy

A Lockney tradition has closed its doors. Webster Service and Supply will no longer be a sure place to get free bubble gum for the kids or a good laugh from one of R.V.'s trunk full of practical jokes.

R.V. Webster and his wife Rita have decided to retire from the gas station that has been their life for so many years and spend some free time relaxing and visiting grandkids.

Webster's Gas Station had its beginnings in 1947 as part of the Jackson Tire Company, located at 101 S. Main. R.V.'s father, Kelly Webster, was partners with Dwight Jackson and Al Duntun. Originally this business sold gasoline and tires.

Raised in Lockney, R.V. worked alongside his dad and learned the gasoline business. After serving in the merchant marines for three years in the South Pacific, R.V. returned to Lockney and joined his dad at Jackson Tire.

Rita Webster is also no stranger to "gas station work." Rita moved to Lockney from Brownfield in March 1947, with her parents Wayne ("Moon") and Viola Mullins.

"My dad had also had a service station," said Rita. "I swore I would never marry a man with a gas station," laughed Rita, "and look what I did."

After a "whirlwind courtship" R.V. and Rita married in July, 1947.

"She chased me all over the place," said R.V. with a twinkle in his eye. "She lived in Sterley and when it would rain I couldn't get my car down the dirt roads to see her, so I would ride the rails from Lockney to Sterley to pick her up!"

In 1948, R.V. and his father bought the Sinclair Filling Station (located where Lockney Oil & Butane is now). They shared the location with Henry Hodel who operated a gas and oil distribution business. "We bought our oil and gas from him," said R.V. "Ham Gammage bought out Hodel at a later date, and continued that operation."

Approximately five years after the purchase of Sinclair, the Websters changed the name of the station to Webster's Service and Supply.

"That sure was a fun place," reminisced R.V. "We had a 'mongoose' in a box that we would talk up real big. We told everybody it was a deadly animal and you had to be very careful or it would bite you bad. People would come from all over to see it.

"We had the box rigged up so when someone would look into it we would

Full day of fun planned in Floydada for 4th of July

Floydada's Pay-n-Save crew will stay very busy Saturday, July 4, hosting their annual 4th of July celebration in the Pay-n-Save parking lot. Free food, games, prizes, country-western music and appearances by many cartoon characters will entertain and delight the crowd.

The celebration will kick off with the traditional free breakfast from 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. The public will be served eggs, sausage, bread, jelly, butter, coffee and orange juice. Lunch will begin at 11:00 a.m. with a bargain of 5 hot dogs for $1.00 and 25¢ cokes. The lunch special ends at 2:00 p.m.

Throughout the day the cartoon characters of Well's Blue Bunny, Ernie the Elf, Kool-Aid Man, Oreo Man and Chester Cheetah will roam the parking lot surrounded by children. The huge Coca-Cola air can will also hover over the crowd.

Kids will also compete for prizes during egg races from 10 a.m.- 11:00 a.m., and a balloon toss from 12:00 noon-1:00 p.m. Other prizes will be given away to children throughout the day.

Everyone can register for the cordless phone and bikes to be given away and a wide variety of super July 4th specials will be found throughout the store all day Saturday. Gail Veach returns with the Country Nites country-western band, performing from 11:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. Veach began her singing career with gospel music and earned a nomination in the Grammy Awards as "Best Performance by a Female Gospel Artist."

Pursuing country music, Gail now has her own label, "Choice Records." She has performed for civic groups, schools, churches, Texas Ginners Association and was a guest on World of Faith, International Television and Pickin' and Singin' in Dixie television show.

She has opened for the major recording acts of Asleep At The Wheel and Skip Ewing.

For those looking for a family fun filled 4th of July without traveling and fighting traffic, Pay-n-Save's celebration is sure to fit the bill.

and R.V. were blessed with the birth of their first child, Bobby, in 1948. Bobby is currently living in Wichita Falls and is a doctor of Reproductive Endocrinology. He has blessed his parents with three grandchildren.

In 1952 another child, Deborah, was born. She is currently living in Lubbock and works as a pharmacist at Stumbaugh Drugs.

Even though the idea of visiting grandkids, working in their beautiful yard and taking fishing vacations appeals to the Websters, giving up the service station has been a very difficult thing for them to do.

"It is hard to put into words," said R.V. with tears in his eyes. "This town has never been anything but good to us. We have made more friends than you could imagine. It has made us a living and educated our children. It's not easy to give it up. Everything we've got we owe to this community."

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

I've got an old joke for ya'll. I saw it again in the Kress Chronicle the other day and figured they wouldn't mind if I stole it from them. After all they stole it from somebody else.

Did you hear about the TV evangelist who promised to heal who would come forward and put their trust in his skills?

Well—a man hobbled up on crutches. He explained that his name was Fred, and that he had broken both ankles falling off a roof, and was unable to work. "I need to be healed quick," he said.

The evangelist told him he had come to the right place, and ordered him to stand behind the curtain and wait.

Meanwhile another man came forward. "My name is Robert," he said. "I wisp. I wouldn't mind except I want to be a wadio disk jockey and they won't even wisten to me." He was told to go stand behind the curtain with Fred.

Then the audience was told, as a demonstration of faith, to concentrate on Fred and Robert. The evangelist turned to the curtain and boomed in a loud voice, "Fred, you don't need those crutches! Robert, you can talk plainly! Do you believe?"

The TV preacher paused dramatically. Then he told Fred to let go of the right crutch and slide it under the curtain. The audience gasped as the crutch came into view. The evangelist ordered Fred to do the same thing with the other crutch, and the audience cheered as it slid into view.

"Robert," boomed the evangelist, "say something!"

There was utter silence. "Go ahead, Robert, say something!" the evangelist commanded. "Don't be afraid. Say anything!"

The audience was hushed, expectant. Robert cleared his throat, and said, "Fwed fell down."

Sometimes it seems when you try your hardest to impress something on a kid it backfires and they don't hear a thing. The harder you try the less they listen. It's a built in alarm that all kids have. When you sense mom and dad are trying to teach you something then you're supposed to let your mind wander.

I may not get through on some things but the Marketplace Bible School in Lockney seems to have had quite an effect on my son.

This Bible school is very unique. The kids put on tunics and play outside under tents all day. They live a life as if they were living in the days of Jesus.

When I came home from work on Monday, Brandon couldn't wait to tell me about his first day. He said he had made bread out of flour and water and he wanted to show me how.

He showed me the pretty things he had made and then started giving me my instructions for the next day. He told me that he wanted to wear shorts because he got too hot and that I should not pack him anything to drink because they had water there. (I was shocked that my kid would volunteer to drink water over a soft drink).

This morning I asked him, "Are you sure I shouldn't pack you any coke?" "Yes Mommy," he answered. "God's people drank water. They didn't have any coke!"

Tulia resident is July bank artist

The First National Bank of Floydada is happy to present another "new" artist to the community and surrounding area. Katherine Stephens of Tulia will have her works on display during July.

Katherine Stephens, a native of Claude, Texas, began her art career in 1965 by taking a correspondence course with the Washington School of Art. She has taken short workshops with several area artists, but the most of her training has been self-taught through the "trial and error" method.

Katherine has a studio in her home at Tulia, Texas where she teaches private art classes. She has also taught in some shops in Plainview. She is a member of the Nazareth Art Club, the Amateur Artist's Association of the Canyon area, and the Swisher County Art Association.

Katherine works with acrylic, watercolor, mixed media and oil. Oil is her favorite medium with which she paints still life, animals and landscape of this Panhandle area.

Viewers will appreciate and enjoy excellent examples of her favorite subject during regular banking hours throughout July.

Cisneros and Salinas say nuptial promises

A double-ring ceremony uniting Margie Cisneros and Jerry Salinas was held at 3 p.m. Saturday, June 20, 1992 in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, Lubbock. The couple recited their nuptial promises as they stood before an altar flanked with baskets of burgundy and dusty rose silk flowers. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cisneros Sr. of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Salinas of Lubbock.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a romantic gown of ivory satin and schiffli lace. The bodice, heavily beaded with sequins and pearls, featured a V'd neckline, Renaissance sleeves and a pleated elongated waistline. The full ball gown skirt adorned with lace motifs flowed into a semi-cathedral train. To complete her attire, the bride chose a pearl wrapped headband highlighted with sequined leaves on the side and accented with a silk illusion pouf and fingertip veil. Shimmering lilies highlighted the bride's cascading bouquet of tulle and pearls.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Lisa Enriquez of Lubbock. Bridesmaids were Norma Cisneros and Nora Cisneros of Floydada, sisters of the bride; Irene Salinas of Lubbock, sister of the groom; Connie Hernandez of Michigan, cousin of the bride; Esmeralda Vasquez of Lubbock and Rosemary Gonzales of Floydada.

Their two-piece dusty rose satin dresses featured tea-length slim skirts. The bodices had Queen Anne necklines and 3/4 length sleeves gathered for a full effect. Peplums at the waistline were accented with large bows at the back. Bridal attendants carried bouquets of miniature dusty rose, ivory and burgundy silk flowers centered with a large lily. Tabitha Barrientos of Floydada was flower girl and Sierra Santos assisted the bride as train carrier. They wore tea-length dresses of ivory satin overlaid with lace and adorned with miniature dusty rose bows. Acting as best man was the groom's father, Ben Salinas. Groomsmen were Joe Cisneros of Germany, Roel Cisneros and Rolando Cisneros of Floydada, brothers of the bride; Michael Salinas, Jason Salinas and Aaron Salinas, cousins of the groom. Gregory Vasquez of Floydada was ring bearer. Guests were seated by Billy Villarreal Jr. and Gabriel Garcia, both of Floydada, cousins of the bride.

Guests were registered by Mary Jane Cisneros, sister of the bride, of Floydada. Padrinos and madras of special gifts offered to the couple during the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Gonzales, Mr. and Mrs. David Salinas, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Lino DeLeon and Mr. and Mrs. James Amador.

Nora Cisneros, sister of the bride, offered a song for the couple during the ceremony. She vocalized "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do." Other selections were presented by the church's choir.

A reception and dance followed the ceremony in the Christian Renewal Center. The hall was decorated with red and white balloon arrangements.

A Mariachi band entertained as guests were served an array of finger foods and fruit, along with chocolate groom's cake. The tiered bridal cake was topped with a porcelain bride and groom, surrounded with a crystal background.

Following a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, the couple is making their home in Lubbock, where the bride is employed by Methodist Hospital and the groom by Shamrock Chevrolet.

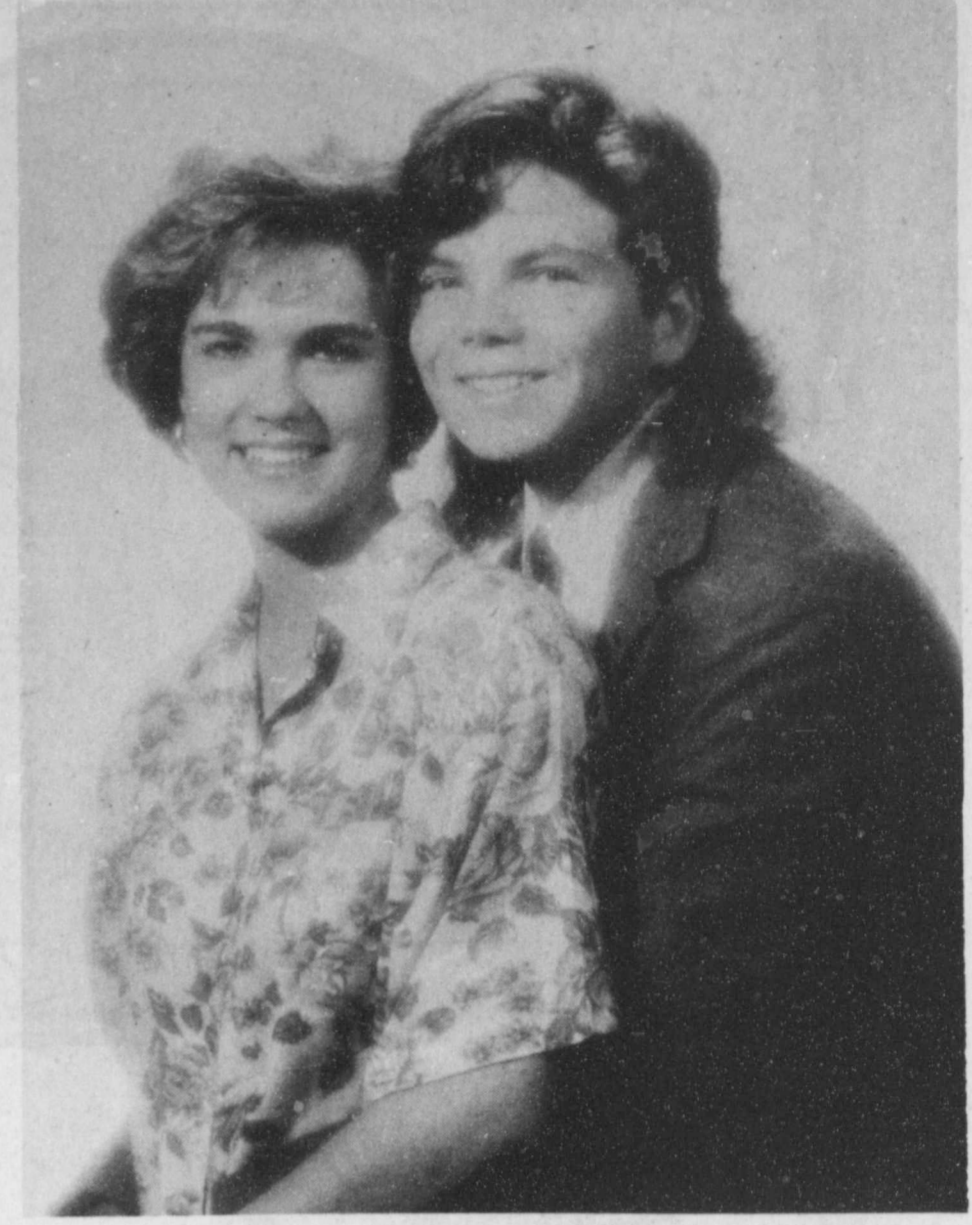

A graduate of Floydada High School, the bride earned a nursing degree at South Plains College. She is currently an LVN, and attending SPC working toward an RN license.

The groom is a graduate of Coronado High School in Lubbock. He also attended South Plains College and is a car salesman.

Residents celebrate June birthdays

By Lorilla Bradley

In June, the start of summer
Which brings us "breezy" days...
The sun and wind "harass" us
And make us change our ways!!

We greet our Mrs. Roberts
...She counts from '99...
A very lovely lady...
Always good and kind.

Another lovely lady
Is Mrs. Galloway...
May all her days be happy
In a most delightful way!

To Mrs. Faulkenberry
...Whose years are 85...
We have the best of wishes
As each day they arrive!

We honor Mr. Taylor
On this his special day...
May every one get better
In every sort of way!

To cheer these lovely people
Let's do the Birthday Song...
So join us in the singing
'And come out good and strong.

Thursday, June 25 was a party time at Rest Home with members of the City Park Church of Christ hosting. The Hesperian photographer came for the picture-taking. Following this everyone was ushered into the dining room with the honorees being seated at the "honor" table.

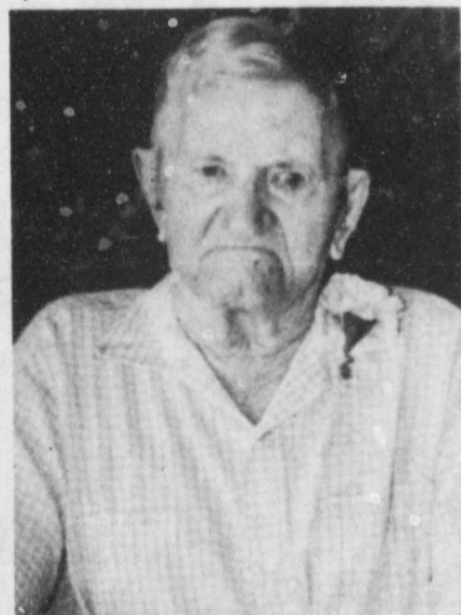

Their places were marked with special cards and each wore a fresh flower compliment if Williamlills Florist and Card Shop.

We are sorry Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Faulkenberry were unable to attend the party. A brief sketch of the life of the honorees was read by Jo Bryant after which the poem was read and all joined in singing the Happy Birthday Song.

Guest of the day included Leslie Wilbanks and Audie Poteet. The refreshment plate included iced birthday cake and angel food cake complimented by a tangy fruit punch. The "honor" table was centered with a lovely arrangement of silk flowers in shades of gold and yellow.

The next party will be Thursday, July 16, 2:45 p.m. You are invited to be with your friends and loved ones at this special time.

ATTEND SUMMER CAMP--Lockney Brownies and Girl Scouts recently attended the annual "Hooray For Summer" camp-in in the Lockney Elementary Cafeteria. There were 17 girls who attended all or part of this year's event. They ranged from second through sixth grade age. --Courtesy Photo

Lockney scouts hold campout in elementary school cafeteria

By Carol Huggins

Lockney Brownies and Girl Scouts recently held their annual "Hooray For Summer" camp in the elementary cafeteria. There were girls attending from 2nd through 6th grade. When the girls arrived they were divided into groups for a scavenger hunt. While the girls were gone, Jim Huggins got the fire ready to cook supper. Each girl brought her own "foil meal" to cook on the camp fire.

A special thanks goes out to Jim Huggins and Milton Schaeffer for cooking the foil meals and watching the camp fire. Just as everyone was getting ready to make 'Smores the rains came and came and came, so it was 'Smores in the microwave (not nearly as much fun).

Upholding the motto of always being prepared, the leaders had a back up plan in case of rain of some games to play and a video to watch before going to bed.

Everyone slept late the next morning and then enjoyed breakfast burritos and orange juice before packing up and going home.

There were 17 girls attending all or part of the camp-in. Leaders who coordinated the event were Carol Huggins and Vicky Schaeffer. Several mothers attended part of the time and Karen Hooten spent the night to help corral the girls. Girls attending were: Melissa Schaeffer, Melanie Huggins, Alana Gallaway, Lorena Bernal, Elizabeth Torrez, Trish Day, Cassandra Sanchez, Karlon Hooten, Brooke Hooten, Claudia Rosales, Jennie Ray, Leticia Guerrero, Rebecca Rendon, Susie Peralez, Mary Lou Zavala, Juanita Ray and Sara Davis.

1992 Property Tax Rates in High Plains Water

This notice concerns 1992 property tax rates for High Plains Water. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 18,144

1992 Property Tax Rates in City of Lockney

This notice concerns 1992 property tax rates for City of Lockney. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 91,779
Last year's debt taxes	$ 0
Last year's total taxes	$ 91,779

CARD OF THANKS

Words are inadequate to express our heartfelt thanks to all who came to our aid Friday night when our barn burned. Especially we thank the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department who responded so quickly and so efficiently. Our community is indeed fortunate to have such caring and capable young men who are willing to give of their time and energy to help others. May we never take them for granted and always use every opportunity to let them know that we are grateful for them. Also, our deepest thanks to all of our friends, neighbors and the passers-by who came to help. We appreciate all of you more than we can say!

Proposed rules for pesticide records

By Mike Mallett, CEA-Ag.

Following is information on the PROPOSED rules regarding pesticide record keeping requirements for private and commercial applicators. Comments on these rules will be accepted until August 10, 1992.

Here is your chance to provide input into the rulemaking process. Written comments should be sent to:

Dr. Alan Post, Docket Manager
USDA-AMS, Science Division
P.O. Box 96456, Room 3622-S
Washington, DC 20090-6456

Comments must refer to Docket Title and Number:

USDA-AMS 7CFR Part 110
(CS-91-077) RIN No. 0581-AA39, Recordkeeping Requirements for Certified Applicators of Federally
Restricted Use Pesticides

Major Recordkeeping Requirements

* A certified applicator is any individual who is certified to use or supervise the use of any restricted use pesticide covered by that individual's certification.

* A commercial applicator is a certified applicator, whether or not the individual is a private applicator with respect to some uses, who uses or supervises the use of any restricted use pesticide for any purpose on any property other than as provided by the definition of private applicator.

* A private applicator is a certified applicator who uses or supervises the use of any restricted use pesticide for purposes of producing any agricultural commodity on property owned or rented by the applicator or the employer of the applicator, or if applied without compensation, other than trading of personal services between producers of agricultural commodities on the property of another person.

* Certified applicators of restricted use pesticides shall keep records of the brand or product name, the formulation, and the EPA registration number of the pesticide. They must also record the total amount and rate of application, address or location of the application, the size of area treated, target pest, crop or commodity on which it was used, date used, and name, address, and certification number of the certified applicator who applied the pesticide or supervised its application.

* Certified applicators shall record the required information in a timely manner and retain those records for two years from date of application. They must maintain the records in such a manner as to be accessible by authorized representatives of the Secretary of Agriculture or the state lead agency.

* Certified applicators who are required by state laws to keep records comparable to those required for commercial applicators are not subject to the previous two paragraphs, but must continue to maintain records in compliance with the state laws.

* Commercial applicators shall provide copies of records with this information within 30 days of application to those for whom they applied restricted use pesticides. Those persons receiving the commercial application service must then retain these copies for two years after the application.

* Certified applicators must make available the records to authorized representatives of the Secretary of Agriculture or the state lead agency upon either oral request and presentation of credentials or written request. These representatives can only review and copy the records, with the originals to be retained by the certified applicators. In copying these records, the federal or state agencies cannot release any information which would directly or indirectly reveal the identity of the producers of commodities to which restricted use pesticides have been applied.

* Licensed health care professionals are authorized to review restricted use pesticide records if they determine it is necessary to provide treatment to an individual who may have been exposed to the restricted use pesticide for which the record is maintained. Once licensed health care professionals gain access to these records, they may not release any of the records or information to anyone else except as necessary to provide medical treatment.

* Violators of these record keeping requirements are liable for civil penalties of not more than $500 for the first offense, and not less than $1,000 for each subsequent offense unless the violator made a good faith effort to comply.

Implications

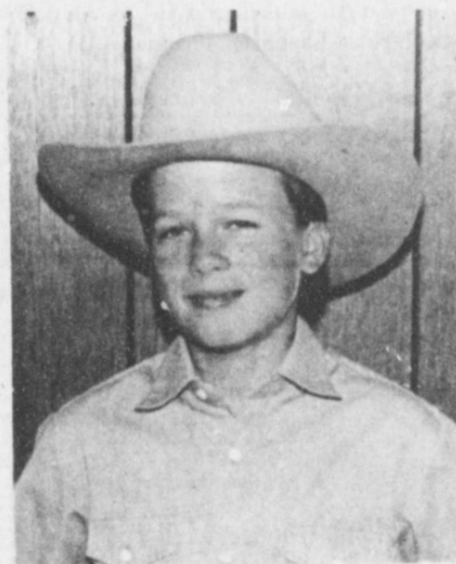

Texas agricultural producers most impacted by these proposed rules are those certified applicators who are not currently subject to the requirements of the "Right to Know" laws and those who use commercial applicator services to apply restricted use pesticides. They will now need to keep the kinds of information indicated above for all restricted use pesticides they use. Those who currently comply with the "Right to Know" provisions will find very little, if any, impact. For commercial applicators in Texas, the major impact of these rules is the requirement of providing copies of application records to their clientele within 30 days of application.

Those interested in the detail of these proposed rules are encouraged to obtain a copy of the Federal Register mentioned above either at their local libraries, from their Congressional representatives, or by contacting Dr. Craig A. Reed, Director, Science Division, AMS, Room 3064 South Building, Washington, DC 20090-6456, (202) 720-5231.

Exemption granted for use of Asana XL on grain sorghum

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has granted a Texas Department of Agriculture request that will allow farmers emergency use of the insecticide Asana XL on grain sorghum, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

"We appreciate EPA's quick response on this matter," Perry said. "Without this method of control, our sorghum farmers were projected to lose as much as $10 million this summer to the sorghum midge."

The sorghum midge is a type of fly that is primarily controlled by planting sorghum early and having it flower before midge populations can seriously threaten crops. This season's heavy rains caused sorghum crops to be planted late.

Along with midges, Asana XL also may be used to control headworms.

Fines up to $2,000 per violation

Oil disposal regulations given

Producers on the Texas High Plains who utilize internal combustion engines to power their irrigation pumps should note that it is now illegal to discard used motor oil from these engines onto the land surface.

According to the Texas Water Commission (TWC), it is estimated that about 18 million gallons of used motor oil is dumped on the ground or into storm sewers or discarded with household garbage within the state.

New regulations passed by the 72nd Texas Legislature took effect April 1, 1992, requiring that used motor oil must be taken to a waste oil collection center, such as a quick lube operation, service station or retailer, for disposal.

The Texas Legislature charged the Texas Water Commission with the responsibility of enforcing these regulations.

Anyone who continues to drain used oil upon the land surface can face fines of up to $2,000 per violation.

"If an irrigator has 12 wells on his property and continues to drain the oil from these internal combustion engines onto the land surface, the potential fines for this violation could easily reach $24,000. Most producers could not afford this expensive fine, so it is a good idea to carry the oil to a local reclamation center," said A. Wayne Wyatt, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District manager.

Many rural communities on the Texas High Plains do not have public waste oil collection centers. In this case, the Texas Water Commission recommends accumulating used oil until it is feasible to transport it to a recycling center.

"The used motor oil may be accumulated for a short period of time in plastic gallon jugs. If the farmer is going to be accumulating the waste oil for an extended period, then a more substantial container like a metal drum is recommended," said D.E. Balusek of the TWC's Recycling and Waste Minimization Section.

The Texas Water Commission now registers all collectors, transporters, marketers and recyclers of used motor oil. These collectors must report annually on the amount of oil they receive from the public. They also must use registered transporters to remove collected oil. The transporters must maintain careful records of the source and destination of each used oil shipment.

For more information about the used motor oil disposal regulations, contact the Texas Water Commission's Recycling and Waste Minimization Section at (512) 834-6682 or write the Commission at P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087

In the state qualifying show, Wade placed 5th in Western Pleasure and 7th in Western Horseman and the American Junior Quarter Horse Association.

Wade is the twelve year old son of Gerald and Debbie Wiles of Floydada, and Debbie Shatley of Lockney is his coach and 4-H Horse Project Leader.

Loans available for '91 loss

Low-interest emergency loans are available to eligible farmers and ranchers in 18 Texas counties that were declared federal disaster areas due to freeze or excessive rain between Sept. 1 and Dec. 31, 1991, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

In making the declaration, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan named Briscoe, Clay, Collingsworth, Floyd, Motley, and Young counties as primary disaster areas.

These declarations allow family-size farm operators in both the primary and contiguous areas to apply for emergency assistance from the Farmers Home Administration.

To be designated as a primary disaster area, the Farmers Home Administration determines if a sufficient number of farmers in each county suffered losses of 30 percent or more. The counties designated as contiguous disaster were declared so because they were adjacent to the primary disaster area, but did not have the same extent of losses.

Each loan application will be considered on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, repayment ability and other requirements.

For more information, producers should contact a local FmHA county office.
