A view from The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

We must caution our readers: If you're thinking about writing a book, think again.

If you've got your head screwed on right, you'll probably go fishing instead. Or go play with the grand kids. Or get involved in a game of dominoes. Or something.

It seems like an eternity since we've travelled around in the County. Actually it hasn't been all that long, but it seems so. When we last viewed our little portion of the South Plains land was being readied for cotton. Plentiful rains had come, anticipation ran high. Then we came back to Austin to resume work on the book. Then we read in the Hesperian that the rains just kept coming. Knowing that the Hesperian always prints the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, (along with some good jokes, a little gossip and some opinion) we had to believe it.

We read too that a new doctor is coming to town. That's good and we know he and his family will be made welcome. We hope he turns out to be a good doctor and a good citizen. We expect him to be both. Certainly, judging from what we read, all the credentials are there. Not only from the standpoint of medical training, but from personal commitment as well.

We've had a long and intimate relationship with any number of doctors over the years, of all stripes and persuasions. We spent five of the first ten years following World War II in hospitals, being thumped on and pored over by what seemed like everyone from interns to specialists. There has been a continuing relationship ever since. We have found that among doctors, as among most professions, it is a mixed bag. There are good ones and there are some who are not so good. Some are doctors because their daddy was a doctor and he leaned on them to become doctors. Some are doctors because it's a way to make good money. They mostly take up practice in big metropolitan centers for obvious reasons. Some are doctors because they truly want to be doctors and help people, and are willing to undergo the sacrifice needed to achieve that end. Judging from what we read, the new Dr. Hoang would fall in that category. We are happy he had made the choice to come to Floydada and take up practice at Cogdell Clinic.

What about this political thing? What strange year. It started out in confusion and appears ready to end in even more confusion. Perot got in with both feet, almost, and is not out of it, almost. Bush started out the year riding high in the polls. After a period of appearing reluctant to take on his opposition, a period of maintaining his image of a "nice guy", he trails in the polls. Bill Clinton, plagued by a record of evading military service in Vietnam, and a few other things, started low in the polls and is now leading. Bush keeps waiting, promising to take the fight to his opposition one of these days. Clinton, riding the waves of favorable publicity from an adoring national media, is striking while the iron is hot. Perot is on the sidelines, sort of, hoping to be an influence in ways not yet spelled out.

An awful lot of people were disappointed when Perot got out of the race, or got mostly out of the race. They were looking forward to voting against two people, rather than just one. In those states where his name will remain on the ballot, that will still be possible. But what was a raging fire in the Perot camp has been reduced to embers.

We suspect the overall state of the economy has something to do with the situation, but it is not the complete answer. The economy is certainly not booming, but neither is it in a state of complete doldrums. We must look elsewhere for at least part of the answer as to why the "fix" is on among the national Bank makes first donation to Lockney hospital project

By Neta Marble
LOCKNEY — The First National Bank in Lockney is the first business to make a donation to the "Decorate a Room" project at the Lockney General Hospital.

Ronnie Hardin, president of the bank, presented Claude Brown, chairman of the hospital board, and Jeff Reece, hospital administrator, with a check in the amount of $6700.00 to kick off the project.

According to Reece, "Several people had expressed an interest in donating funds to decorate the rooms that are currently under construction in the new wing of the hospital."

Reece continued, "The board voted to accept donations for finishing the rooms."

Furnishing a room will consist of the hospital bed, furniture, trays, light fixtures, floor coverings, draperies and all the medical equipment that is normally installed in hospital rooms.

There will be a total of twenty rooms. Thirteen of the rooms will be private rooms and the other seven will be semi-private.

The cost for furnishing a private room will amount to $6700.00. A semi-private room will cost $11,000 and the LDRF (birthing) rooms will cost $12,700.00.

"All donations will be appreciated," stated Claude Brown, "from the small to the large. Individuals, families and businesses are encouraged to join in the effort."

"No amount will be considered too small," said Reece. "Room costs can be split and each dollar that is contributed will be put to good use," he continued.

Anyone wishing to make donations can contact Reece at the hospital or

(Editor's Note: As of May 28, 1992 the railway which runs from Estelline to Lubbock and from Sterley to Plainview was officially abandoned by the Burlington Northern Railroad. The tracks are already being removed in the canyon between Quitaque and South Plains. In 1948, the F.W.&D. Railroad sponsored an essay contest to celebrate the 75th anniversary of its parent company, the Burlington System. There was one winner from each county the F.W.&D ran through. The winning essay from Floyd County was written by Nellie Brown, a longtime school teacher in Lockney. The essay was secured from the archives of the Fort Worth & Denver City - South Plains Railroad which are on file at the Southwest Collection at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Dan Smith of Lockney, submitted this essay for today's publication.)

The South Plains is a treeless, level country without hills, creeks, or rocks. More than 90 per cent of the land is tillable. It is part of the Llano Estacado and is one of the largest bodies of practically all farming land in the world. Floyd County is in the heart of this agricultural section. All of Floyd County lies on the high plains except along the eastern boundary line and the south-central part. These are broken by the caprock escarpment and Blanco Canyon.

The soil in the eastern part of the county is of a black texture, and a red loamy texture in the western part. It is from three to six feet deep and very productive.

The water tests 99.6 per cent pure. Since 1935, the irrigation system has put Floyd County on the map. At present there are 135,000 acre under irrigation and new irrigation wells are being put down continuously.

Floyd County is considered the best diversified farming country in West Texas. Almost any crop raised in the temperate zone can be grown in the county. Thus the farmers have a chance to raise some kind of a crop, for they have the soil, the climate, and the water. In 1947 the following farm products were shipped out of the county: 2,160,597 bushels of grain sorghum, 1,560,577 bushels of wheat; 9,845 bales of cotton, besides alfalfa, popcorn, small grains, sugar beets and Cody grain sorghum (used for making tapioca substitutes and starches).

The livestock raised in the county consist of beef and dairy cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs, and poultry. The poultry and dairy sales are heavy.

In 1947 the total tax value of Floyd County was $18,818,030, the income $8,083,000, the bank deposits $6,834,000, and the retail sales $4,793,000. The population of the county is 12,000. Floydada is the county seat with a population of 3,500. The town has grain elevators, machinery houses, cotton gins, a creamery, and is a wholesale oil and gas center.

Lockney boasts a population of 1,231. It has three cotton gins, three elevators, and an alfalfa dehydrating plant with a payroll of $150,000 annually. The other small towns in Floyd County are Sterley and South Plains. There are elevators and cotton gins scattered throughout the county. Both towns do retail shipping.

Floyd County has a variety of scenery. In the part that lies on the high plains, the mirage can be seen in the spring and fall when the atmosphere is still. While the scenic beauty of the Caprock is comparable to Southern Colorado. It is about twelve miles through the caprock on the Denver. The track follows the Quitaque river bed. The scenery consists of the stream winding through rocky hills dotted with cedar. The small waterfalls are within sight of the track, while the two tunnels give added interest along the way.

"Riding through the caprock a person gets a shock when reaching the plains due to the sudden contrast of the scenery, and it is just the reverse when leaving the plains as the train starts through the caprock."

The caprock in Floyd County is a Ranchman's Paradise. Good grazing is found in the hills and the very best of water in running streams, while the hills and canyons furnish ideal protection to cattle in cold weather.

The construction of the Fort Worth and Denver City South Plains Railway grew out of the marvelous agricultural development on the South Plains and also to meet the competition of the Santa Fe which was invading this rich agricultural section.

"The Denver came when it was most vitally needed at a time when the South Plains was on the eve of the greatest era of growth, colonization, and prosperity in its history."

Prior to the construction of the Denver, the only railroad service Floyd County had was a branch line of the Santa Fe extending from Plainview through Lockney and to Floydada. The farmers of Floyd County were unable to carry on extensive farming because the profits would be consumed in transporting their products to a railroad terminal. The freight was hauled over dirt roads with wagons and teams. Very few trucks were used at that time. These roads on the plains were impassable during rainy weather.

The movement to secure this Denver line began March 6, 1925, with the

I am really getting into shopping for school supplies. I have discovered there is a real art to this whole thing. My soon-to-be six year old is not near as worried about getting his school supplies absolutely perfect like his mother is.

I have my little list that I got at pre-registration. I've saved it stuck on my refrigerator for several months, ever media's opinion molders. The national media is basically liberal in its orientation. Anyone who doubts that, among the general population, just has not spent a lifetime either in or around that vineyard. In short, it is more favorably disposed to those who share its agenda, its ideas, its hopes, than it is to those who do not. While they may not see Bush as a committed conservative, neither do they see him sharing their own ideas, their own agenda. With Clinton they at least have hope. Clinton, given his past record, craves public approval and acceptance. The national media has the power to give or take away in that regard. We have already seen abundant evidence of that in this political year. We will see more.

Still, at the beginning of this year the race was Bush's to win or lose. It is still that way, in our opinion, despite the polls of the moment. The polls have changed. They can change again before November. A great deal will depend upon two factors: A movement for the better in the economy, and a movement for the better in the way the President handles his own campaign. We are not sure an improvement in the economy will have much bearing on where Perot supporters will go, but the positions Bush takes in his campaign most certainly will. After all, Perot's supporters wouldn't have been out there around that campfire in the first place if they had been completely happy with either Bush or Clinton.

Come to think of it, it's probably a good time to be writing a book. And watching.

donations can be made at the bank, where a special account has been set up. Anyone who would like to contribute anonymously can do so.

"A plaque with the donors names engraved will be placed on the doors of the rooms," stated Brown.

Brown and Reece thanked Hardin for the donation made by the bank and Hardin responded, "We are proud that we can be a part of this project. Being a part of the community is very important to us. Our success depends on the businesses in Lockney and the hospital is a large part of the business community."

Everyone is invited to get involved in this project either with a gift of your own or in memory of a loved one.

since pre-school clinic.

All you parents know that the child is not the only one that may suffer from first day nervousness. I wanted to be sure that Brandon wouldn't be embarrassed because his mommy couldn't figure out a simple school list.

It was hard enough for me to figure out who to put down (besides parents) to call in case of an emergency. I almost flunked pre-school clinic.

First of all, I had to find out what a kinder-mat was. Several friends described it to me, but until you've seen it for yourself you'd never find it. I looked all over Perry's and finally had to ask for help. I had already walked past it several times.

Then I read where he is supposed to bring a "small pillow". How small? I can't find the size I think he should have. This is really giving me an ulcer. I think the small square throw pillows are too hard—don't you? The soft ones are too big. At least I think they are too big.

I'm also supposed to get him a small blanket. How small? His small square blankets that he had when he was a baby don't come up to his chin anymore. I was worried over that until someone told me to send a beach towel. Then my husband told me not to send a beach towel that looks a lot like a beach towel. Great—here goes another ulcer.

The list said to get scissors—preferably "Fiskers". I didn't see the "Fiskers" part until I got back home and had already bought him another brand. Oh Great!! What's a "Fiskers?" Back to Perry's to exchange. I can't find them. I ask again. They are all sold out, but will reorder. Luckily I found them at Pay-n-Save. They jumped out at me. They were the only ones left and I bought them right away. When I got back to work I was told—you're not going to send your little boy to school with hot pink scissors are you?

Another ulcer. The Elmer's Glue instructions said—(2) Elmer's Glue, 8 oz.

What would you have done? I stood in the store staring at Elmer's Glue for 10 minutes trying to decide if I should buy 2 - 8 oz. Elmer's Glue, or 2 - 4 oz. Elmer's to make one 8 oz.

I decided on the 2-8 oz. I bought them. I was wrong. The next day we published a new list in the paper which specifically states, 2 - 4 oz. Elmer's Glue.

Oh yeah—one other thing. His name is supposed to be on all his supplies. I'm worried that his name won't stick on some of his stuff—and how many pencils from the pack am I supposed to put in his school box?

If you want all of the people to agree with you all of the time, then all you have to do is keep your mouth shut.

Hayes honored as top VFW commander

Editors Note: This article was taken from the Thursday, July 30, 1992 edition of The Farmersville (Texas) Times.

Joe Hayes of Farmersville, formerly of Lockney, has been named an All American District Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

This honor will be presented at the VFW's national convention in Indianapolis, Ind., by VFW Commander-in-Chief Robert E. Wallace.

Mr. Hayes owns Hayes Automotive in Farmersville.

Wallace said, "Commander Hayes is one of only 69 VFW District Commanders selected for all American status. This honor is based on his outstanding achievement in membership growth, Buddy Poppy sales and other VFW programs that benefit veterans and their communities. The title of All American Commander is one of the most prestigious honors given by our over two-million member organization." Mr. Hayes, Commander of District 1, Department of Texas, will be honored at a luncheon ceremony on Sunday, August 16, during the 93rd Annual VFW

National Convention, August 14 through 21.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars is a national organization of more than two million overseas wartime veterans. It was founded in 1899 and is today the oldest major veterans group in the nation.

Hayes attended Lockney schools. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Hayes of Lockney.

Plainview artist featured in August bank exhibit

A multi media exhibit of oil paintings, watercolors, acrylics and photography by native Plainview artist, Ethel Lee Ramsower, will be on display through the month of August at the First National Bank of Floydada.

Mrs. Ramsower graduated from Plainview High School and Baylor University with a minor in art. Art appreciation and participation in cultural activities in the Plainview area has been a way of life for her. She grew up in a home with a mother who was also an artist and author of several books of poetry.

Mrs. Ramsower is married to Rex Ramsower, co-owner with her of Ramsower's Furniture. Her husband, also does some sculpture in metal, clay and bronze. Their daughter, Kelly Alison, is a professional artist in the Houston area. A son, Dr. Reagan Ramsower is assistant Dean of the Hankamer School of Business at Baylor University.

Mrs. Ramsower has studied under Dr. Emilio Caballero, Ben Konis, William Henry Earle, Jan Herring, Ann Templeton, Lawanda Murfree, Fred Samuelson and Al Brouillette and others.

She likes to vary mediums according to her subject, mood, or the location in which she will be painting. Mrs. Ramsower classifies her style as impressionism, leaning at times more toward realism and at other times toward abstract. She enjoys the freedom and surprises that watercolor allows and prefers to do most of her flower fantasies in this medium.

She says, "You have to have the guts to let the water and color do exciting things while you watch and then take control at just the right time. I find oil a much more controlled way of working and the discipline is a good stabilizer. I can do watercolor and put it down anytime and leave it, but oil takes so much more time to get ready and to put up, so when I know I am going to have a lot of interruptions before finishing a painting, I'll always go with the watercolors."

Mrs. Ramsower likes to travel and has become interested in photography as a method of capturing various scenes to be rendered as paintings at a later time. Not surprisingly, she has found photography to be an art in itself.

A particular interest in the cultural arts has led Mrs. Ramsower to serve in various positions on the Plainview Cultural Council, Plains Art Association and the Plainview Civic Theatre. For three years she served as the director of the First Baptist Church's Easter production of "The Seven Last Words."

She received a degree in commercial art from Art Instruction, Inc. and an Interior Design degree from LaSalle Extension University of Chicago.

Before her retirement, Mrs. Ramsower worked as an interior designer in the family business. She was selected as Plainview's Woman of the Year in 1990. She enjoys four grandchildren and time spent at their lake house on Lake LBJ.

The First National Bank of Floydada is happy to bring this exceptional exhibit to the community, and everyone is urged to view it during regular banking hours.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

FLOYDADA — Hi! Here we are in the month of August, before we know it, school will be starting.

We are trying to keep cool and have been busy as usual. We appreciate all who come to visit our residents and all the volunteers and churches who come and share on Sundays.

Monday started the week as usual with Bro. Bill Wright giving the devotional and Irene Wexler playing the piano. In the afternoon, Myra Hall, Helene Holt and Ruth Smitherman painted ceramics.

Tuesday, Bro. Richardson came and shared with us and brought the residents some bananas. We always appreciate him. At 6:30 was our ice cream social. We had homemade ice cream and cake. Do believe that some of our family members are either in the fields or on vacation, so hopefully they can attend our next family social.

Wednesday was Bingo. Mary Alice Davis and Ruth Hammonds couldn't be with us, we missed them. Ruby Holcomb and Otis Johnson both had the first Bingo.

Thursday the residents had current events and popcorn. We had a chat and read the Hesperian, visited and talked about the good news of getting a doctor in town.

Friday, Lee Burton gave the devotional taken from Rev. 22. The New City and the River of Life. Molly Stringer played the piano for us. On to Plainview on the bus ride. McDonald's treated the residents to some ice cream.

Our love and sympathy go out to the family of James Taylor, Matador. We will miss him as he was with us eight years.

Thought: "New Beginnings"
To live a little better,
And to always be forgiving,
And to add a little "sunshine"
To the world we're living.

So never give up in despair,
And think that you are through,
For there is always tomorrow
And a chance to start anew.

Father Ricardo Salditos to pastor St. Mary Magdalen Church

Floydada's St. Mary Magdalen Church has welcomed a new priest into their church. Father Ricardo Salditos began his work with the church, July 1.

Keeping a busy schedule, Father Ricardo also ministers to Catholic churches in Matador and Paducah. "I travel to Paducah once a week and then to their Sunday morning service at 8:00 a.m.," said Father Ricardo. "I also go to Matador twice a week and to their Sunday service at 9:45 a.m. I also give Floydada's morning mass at 11:30 a.m. on Sundays.

"Including meetings in Lubbock and other errands, I put 1500 miles on my car in 18 days."

Born in the Philippines, in Oriental, Mindoro, Father Ricardo comes from a large family of four boys and two girls. His two younger brothers also became priests.

Father Ricardo was ordained November 5, 1980. He was asked to come to British Columbia, Canada, in July '88, because of a shortage of priests. He served as an associate for eight months and then for another eight months as a pastor.

"I did not like the winters in Canada," said Father Ricardo. "It was too cold. The weather here suits me much better, but I sure miss the saltwater fishing that I did all the time in the Philippines

From Canada, Father Ricardo moved to Lubbock and pastored the Christ The King Cathedral for two years, before his move to Floydada.

Ralph and Betty Thomas will be speaking at the First United Methodist Church in Lockney Sunday, August 9, at both the Sunday School hour at 9:00 a.m. and the Worship Service at 10:00 a.m. stitute. He was a guest lecturer at Public School 22, Ship building Institute and Teacher Training Institute.

He also preached at a Baptist Church in Nikolaev, with Betty led Bible studies, and led a team of those American students in establishing Christian student fellowship.

In addition to leading Bible studies, Betty spoke at local schools, mostly to teachers, and made their flat available for as many as eight small Bible study groups as week.

Ralph and Betty formerly resided in Montesano, Washington where Ralph practiced law for 21 years. They have four children and three grandchildren.

Betty is the former Betty Brotherton of Littlefield.

Whirlwinds open two-a-day drills on Monday, August 10

By Bill Gray

The Floydada Whirlwinds will commence two-a-day workouts on Monday, August 10, as they prepare for the 1992 football campaign. Expectations are running high around the Floydada camp this year, with the Whirlwinds picked at the top of District 2-3A in virtually all the pro-season polls. The Whirlwinds first scrimmage against outside competition is on August 21, at Post. On August 28, Floydada will host the Lubbock Cooper Pirates in a controlled scrimmage. The Floydada Booster Club will hold its annual "Meet the Whirlwinds" and watermelon feed on Saturday, August 15. The season opener is at Lockney on September 4, as the Whirlwinds and Longhorns continue one of the oldest grid rivalries in Texas school-boy football.

Watch for a team profile of the Whirlwinds in the August 13 issue of the Hesperian-Beacon, followed by Bill Gray's Pre-Season Predictions in the August 20 edition.

Floyd County Library hosts summer reading club

FLOYDADA — The final session of the 1992 Summer Reading Club was held on July 29 at the Floyd County Library. Sponsored by Dairy Queen and the Texas State Library, the club is an incentive program to encourage children to spend time reading during the summer months.

Children received a coupon for a free treat from the Dairy Queen for each 5 hours spent reading, and Reading Club certificates were awarded to those reading at least 10 hours. This year there were fifteen participants who received certificates, representing a total of 245 hours of reading.

The top five readers this year were Erika Miller, Laura Miller, Rachel Miller, Derrick Griggs, and Sherri Brown, who each received a Reading Club poster.

Programs were offered for both pre-school and elementary age children each Wednesday morning during the month of July. This year's presenters were Melissa Long and her energetic and creative group of 4-H members, Misty Bertrand, Casey Mathis, Stacey Lloyd, Mandy Hunter, Cassidy Mallett, Charla Yeary, Allen Martin, and Mark Terrell.

Various programs included storytelling, crafts, films, games and even cooking class at the last session. The final session also featured a playful special guest, "Ferret Fawcett", brought by owner Mark Terrell.

The Floyd County Library congratulates all those Reading Club members who earned their certificates, and sends special thanks to all those people (and critters) who helped make the 1992 Summer Reading Club so successful.

CHEERLEADER CAMP -- The FHS Cheerleaders held a summer camp for the little ladies of the community. They met each day for a week to learn and practice the skills of cheerleading. Besides the work, the girls had the opportunity to have a lot of fun and fellowship with their friends and classmates.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is asking the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to begin charging $3.00 per bill, for duplicate paper copies of a customer's bill up to 15 pages. If the customer's bill exceeds 15 pages, an additional five cents per page will apply. If the customer's bill is lost or mutilated for reasons other than negligence by the customer, no charge for a duplicate copy will apply if a customer notifies Southwestern Bell within 60 days of the billing date. The effective date of this application is December 4, 1992.

If approved by the PUC, this application will increase the Company's annual revenues by $835,000, which is an increase of approximately two one-hundredths of 1 percent (.02 percent) in the Company's adjusted revenue for the 12-month period ending December 31, 1991. THE WARMTH OF THE EARTH

The heat pump captures it to heat and cool your home naturally.

The Dual Fuel Heat Pump uses existing heat to keep your home comfortable...naturally. Because it doesn't have to create heat, it's very efficient. For each unit of energy it uses, the Dual Fuel Heat Pump creates two or three units of heat.

Dual Fuel Heat Pump owners say it costs them less to operate than other systems. And, because it's electric, the Dual Fuel Heat Pump is cleaner.

There is heat in the air on the coldest days. The heat pump captures it to warm your home.

In summer, it becomes a high efficiency air conditioner. During hot weather, the heat pump captures the heat inside the home and takes it outside.

Contact your heat pump dealer or Southwestern Public Service Company for more information.

Railroad history comes to a close granting of a charter to the Fort Worth and Denver City South Plains Railway Company. Application to place the proposed South Plains extension was made April 7 of that year. Cooperation came from many shippers and communities and much enthusiasm was shown.

"The Lockney Beacon" of March 12, 1925, ran a notice in the paper stating a railroad building of the Fort Worth and Denver, out Estelline to points in the South Plains, would begin within the next thirty days. They urged all citizens interested to meet at the High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. the following night. The writer stated that Lockney was in line for the railroad and expected the people who made the town of Lockney to show their colors. On April 16, 1925, the "Lockney Beacon" stated another mass meeting had been held with 600 people present. More than 150 landowners' names went on record as willing to give right-of-way through lands and terminal grounds in town, should the survey touch their property.

Other towns on the South Plains such as Plainview, Petersburg, and Lubbock were also holding similar mass meetings at the same time.

The "Lockney Beacon" published on April 16, 1925, stated that a profile of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway for a new line was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. A.B. Brown of Lockney, who was in Chicago at the time the profile was completed, returned home and spread the glad news. However, before returning he had wired the Lockney parties, "all was over but the shouting" to let the people know they had been successful in getting the new road.

A committee selected by Mr. Brown and composed of G.T. and Tab Meriwether, Z.T. Bailey, R.E. Patterson, W.M. McGehee, and H.B. Adams, went to Lubbock to solicit their cooperation in getting the line. The committee also held meetings with Petersburg citizens and secured their pledge to help. Mr. Brown was also sent to Fort Worth to talk with F.E. Clarity. He was Vice President and General Manager of the Railway Lines, and he promised to look over the Lockney and Lubbock proposition.

Judge McKay did much to help the Lockney citizens in getting the line. There is an addition in Lockney named for him. A.R. Meriwether, who still lives in Lockney, said, "We got the right-of-way through Floyd County without having a lawsuit." To show their appreciation to Mr. Meriwether, the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway Company gave him $100.00 for four continuous years as a Christmas gift. They also stated that he was the only person connected with getting the road who never asked for a pass.

The "Lockney Beacon" published on April 30, 1925, stated that F.E. Clarity spent most of the previous week in Lockney, Plainview, and Lubbock and signed the contracts for sites, terminals, and right-of-way.

"It was through the efforts of the Burlington System that construction of the Fort Worth and Denver City South Plains Railway was made possible. The Burlington system saw the possibilities of this territory untouched to a large extent by a railroad."

The 204-mile triple pronged line is connected with the main line of Fort Worth and Denver City Railway at Estelline, once the world's largest cattle shipping point. The new line extends southwest 69 miles through Parnell, Tampico, and Turkey in Hall County; through Quitaque in Briscoe County; through South Plains and Sterley in Floyd County. Both towns were founded when the road was built. Then the road went on through Lockney, Petersburg, and on to Lubbock, the hub of rail shipment of the South Plains and the most important wholesale distributing center of that area. From Sterley, another main line of the new road runs west through Plainview in Hale County and thence northwesterly to Dimmitt in Castro County. A branch line extends 20 miles northward from Sterley to Briscoe County. The repair shops are located at Sterley. The little town of Sterley was named for W.F. Sterley, the first General Freight and Passenger Agent of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway.

While completing the work in record time, the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway had to deal with difficulties heretofore not encountered in railroad construction in Texas. Two of the three tunnels in Texas were built by the new line. These tunnels are in the Caprock, one 790 feet in length and the other 390 feet. The road makes 14 six-degree curves in two miles through the Tule-Canyon Country. From an elevation of slightly more than 1,800 feet at the Estelline and the road climbs to an elevation of more than 3,600 feet at South Plains, Texas, on top of the "Caprock." The construction was completed in less than two years from the time it was started. The Fort Worth and Denver City Railway invested $7,250,000 in this South Plains line.

The line was open for business on November 20, 1928, and was put into regular operation on November 21, 1928, with six trains making up the celebrating entourage of a three-day trip over the new line. The trains were from Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Childress, Memphis, and the official special. F.E. Clarity led the offi-

The special trains spent two hours in Lockney partaking of lunch offered by the citizens of the community. A committee of A.B. Brown, Artie Baker, H.M. Mason, and others went to the junction and escorted the train into Lockney and distributed the special edition of the "Lockney Beacon" on the train. The businessmen of Lockney had a railroad with cross ties painted with whitewash in the middle of the street. The track started at the end of the pavement near the depot and stopped near Baker's store, where a platform for the speakers was built to resemble a depot.

Congressman Hatton W. Summer responded to the welcome address in behalf of Dallas, and Amon G. Carter, editor of Fort Worth Star-Telegram, responded in behalf of Fort Worth.

An organized delegation from Floydada attended at Lockney and Plainview with stickers on cars, saying, "We congratulate our neighbors". The Floydada band joined the other bands at Plainview. I.B. Wood acted as chairman of the arrangement committee for the Plainview and Lockney trip and about eighty cars went.

At Petersburg the time allotted for the stay of the trains was not so long but the

The Plainview celebration began at noon and continued into the night. The Plainview sportsmen served the visitors 1100 baked wild ducks.

The party ate breakfast at Dimmitt the following morning with the exception of the Wichita Falls Special which turned back during the night because of the sudden death of John Bradley, President of the Wichita Falls' Chamber of Commerce.

The Fort Worth and Denver City South Plains line was a busy and profit-operation. It has also aided city and county governments in the same way. The Fort Worth and Denver City Railway has made lasting friendships with trustees and teachers in the territories it serves. It has merited the friendship and loyalty of its patrons, and it is a major tax payer in each county it crosses.

Thus the Fort Worth and Denver City South Plains Railway has aided in growth and development of Floyd County as by reducing freight rates, providing quick transportation, increasing the price on farm products, increasing the value of land, and paying taxes. The Fort Worth and Denver City Rail-

At the platform, food that consisted of sandwiches, doughnuts, and coffee was served to the guests by the High School Pep Squad.

A short speaking program was given. A.B. Brown, Master of Ceremonies, made the welcome address. Major T.Z. Reed made a short talk in which he presented "the key to the city" to the visitors. Colonel Haines of Amarillo Representatives of the visitors responded and accepted the key. Uncle Frank Ford, a pioneer of Floyd County, made a short talk congratulating the Denver on completion of the new road.

enthusiasm and hospitality of the residents toward the excursionists was none the less marked.

The specials were scheduled to arrive in Lubbock at 3:20 p.m. Several hundred Lubbock automobiles were at the station awaiting the arrival of the trains. As each delegation alighted they were placed in these cars and taken for a tour over the city and Texas Technological College. At 6 p.m. they were served a buffet dinner at the Tech Gymnasium. Following the speaking and dinner, the delegates were taken back to their trains. A.B. Davis, secretary of the Lubbock able one from the beginning and has grown in value and service to the Floyd County businessmen and farmers. In the year 1947, the shipments of alfalfa, wheat, and sorghum grains billed from Lockney over the Denver line amounted to 267 cars. From Quitaque in 1947 there was shipped 678 car loads of sand and gravel from the gravel pit at "Gravel Spur" which is situated about two miles west of Edgin in Floyd County. This means that the Denver Railway collected around $21,696.00 in revenue from this one source. All types of farm implements and cars are imported over the Denver line into Floyd County. During the month of April 1948, about six thousand baby chicks were shipped to Lockney.

In the year 1947, the Fort Worth Denver City South Plains Railway paid $15,469.61 in state, county, and school taxes in Floyd County. Of this amount the school tax was $4,676.86. During the depression the Denver Railway paid school taxes in advance to keep the schools that were hard hit for funds in its success. The Floyd County citizens join with the rest of the people of Texas by saying "Happy Birthday" when the seventy-five candle birthday cake is cut on May 26, 1948.

The Boss

By Sam Walton

There is only one boss and whether a person shines shoes for a living or heads up the biggest corporation in the world, the boss remains the same. It's the customer.

The customer is the person who pays everyone's salary and who decides whether a business is going to succeed or fail. And he doesn't care if a business has been around 100 years. The minute it starts treating him badly, he'll start to put it out of business.

The boss-the customer-has bought and will buy everything you have or will have. He's bought all your clothes, your home, your car. He pays your bills and for your children's education, and he pays exact proportion to the way you treat him.

The man who works deep inside a big warehouse or in a retail store might think he is working for the company that writes his paycheck, but he's not. He's working for the person who buys the products offered in Wal-Mart's stores.

In fact, the customer can fire everybody in the company from the chairman on down, and he can do it simply by spending his money somewhere else.

Some of the largest companies that had flourishing businesses a few years ago are no longer in business. They couldn't or didn't satisfy the customer. They forgot who their real boss was.

The greatest measurement of our success is how well we please the customer, "our boss." Let's all support "aggressive hospitality" and have our customers leave 100 percent satisfied every day.

Get to know the boss

I highly recommend getting to know your boss. The more you know about the customers you serve, the better you will be able to serve them.

If you work for someone else, this lesson still applies. Your job is dependent on company profits. Long-term profits come from satisfied customers.

If you work for a non-profit organization, your job security is still dependent on serving your customers. With the possible exception of the federal government, funding for non-profits is reduced if fewer services are rendered.

Get close to your customers and clients. Learn about their needs and wants, but also go beyond that. Learn about their families, hobbies, backgrounds and traditions. When you get close enough to your customers to be their friend, you may have a relationship that will last for life.

The only reason your business exists is to serve your boss, the customer. When every effort expended is to satisfy your customers, your odds of success are very, very favorable.

We feel the same way! Let us make you

Georgia 4-H'ers are guests in Floyd County

Floyd county 4-H families served as hosts during the week of July 22-28 to 4-H'ers and leaders from Peach County Georgia. The week's activities included a tour of the Texas Tech Ranching and Heritage Center, Llano Estacado Winery, and ice cream supper in the home of Buster and Linda Terrell of Lockney and a trip to Palo Duro Canyon to see the musical drama, TEXAS. On Saturday, the Georgia group was introduced to Texas style barbecue with all the trimmings as well as the Texas two step at a dance sponsored for the entire area by the Lockney 4-H Club. As a special treat, the Exchange group was invited to an early morning "Cowboy Breakfast" at the Roaring Springs Ranch Camp cooked by local cowboys Donnie Bybee, Trav Jones, Norman Muncy and Judge Bill Hardin. After a day of swimming, volleyball, a picnic lunch and a hamburger cookout, the group headed home for the next day's departure.

Through the County 4-H Exchange program, 4-H'ers gained a better understanding of the differences as well as similarities in programs from state to state. Georgia 4-H'ers are enrolled in school programming, while Texas 4-H'ers are primarily involved on the local community level with much adult leadership. Projects areas vary from state to state, but the same premise of camps, record books and the ultimate trip to National 4-H Congress are the goals all State 4-H'ers work towards.

Floyd County 4-H'ers will travel to Peach County during the summer of 1993. Those participating in the Exchange program are: Misty Bertrand, Todd Cage, Robert Delgado, Jerod Glasson, Max Green, Cody Hayes, Rhanda Hickerson, Leslieanne Hickerson, Mandy Hunter, Stacey Lloyd, Cassidy Mallett, Allen Martin, Cynthia Martin, Kaci Mathis, Tim Mitchell, Lance Patridge, Chelsea Patridge, Gretchen Quebe, Mark Terrell, Carolyn Turner, David Turner, Lezlie Warren, and Charla Yeary.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Hormone-type herbicide use detailed

The 1992 cotton crop failure due to early-season adverse weather conditions resulted in many Floyd county acres being planted to grain sorghum. The redistribution of the preplant cotton herbicides has allowed for weed escapes in many fields, necessitating the use of hormone-like herbicides in some fields. Therefore, by reminded of the dangers associated with using herbicides such as 2,4-D and dicamba (Banvel) for broad-leaf weed control in areas where cotton or other sensitive crops are grown.

You are no doubt aware that the potential for off-target drift of hormone-like herbicides can be minimized by the use of AMINE formulations of 2,4-D. Use of low-volatile ester formulations are also an alternative, however, a summer daytime temperatures rise, so does the volatility of these products. What is often forgotten with the use of hormone herbicides is the "physical" drift of spray particles prior to hitting the target. This can be minimized by considering wind speed and direction at application, low-spraying pressure to create larger and heavier droplets and avoidance of application near sensitive crops. Also, consult the specific products label for additional precautions, recommended use rates, rotational restrictions, proper application carrier volumes, and the influence of temperature and inversion layers.

From a sorghum crop safety standpoint, be aware that applications of 2,4-D should be made at label-recommended growth stages, somewhere between 4-15 inches tall and prior to boot stage. Banvel should be applied after the three-leaf stage but prior to 15 inches tall. If sorghum is taller than 8 inches, use drop nozzles for better weed coverage and also to reduce the amount of spray getting into the whorl. Applications at growth stages other than these can result in foliar crop injury and blasting of the seeds heads. Consult the respective 2,4-D or Banvel labels for recommended application rates based upon target weed species and weed stage of growth. An alternative to these herbicides would be post-directed (deep off the crop) applications of Karmex at 0.25

- 0.5 lb/A, with a surfactant for control of small weeds and grasses.

INSECT UPDATE

Grain sorghum-midge has been reported and some treatment is underway.

Cotton Aphids-numbers continue to build. 15 aphids per leaf in some fields. 50 aphids per leaf usually considered the threshold.

Corn-Spider mites continue to build. A few more two-spotted spider mites (TSM) are showing up in fields. Field scouting should continue to monitor these pests. Capture is authorized for use in Floyd County.

Soybeans-Pod worms have been detected.

Bollworm Traps-Moth numbers running high. Grain sorghum, soybean, and cotton fields should be scouted closely.

PHEASANT NOTES

In most cases, hunting pressure, success and harvest are greatest during the early part of the season. For example, Iowa's greatest hunting pressure occurs in the first half of the 70+ day season, with 71% of the trips taking place during the first 30-34 days. It is common for 30-50% of the season's harvest to take place during opening weekend in many states.

The effect of hunting pressure on harvest may be dictated by season length or available cover. Short seasons may have heavy pressure throughout.

When cover is sparse, birds are concentrated, allowing the harvest of a larger portion of rooster. In contrast, an abundance of escape cover, such as provided by delays in crop harvest, can make pheasants nearly impossible to bag.

These conditions can cause variations in hunting pressure throughout the season.

Jennifer Eudy earns Powell Scholarship

FLOYDADA -- Tascosa's Jennifer Eudy was awarded the first Putt Powell scholarship award Friday, July 10, at the Children's Learning Center at the YWCO.

Jennifer Eudy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Eudy, Jr. and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eudy. She is the great-granddaughter of Mrs. George Eudy and the late George Eudy. Eudy is a former resident of Floydada.

The Powell scholarship was established in conjunction with the Blair Cherry Award, which is presented annually to the top collegiate football player from one of the four high schools in the Amarillo Independent School District.

The Powell goes to a student at the high school of the player who won the Blair Cherry Award. Tascosa's Oscar Shorten received the 23rd annual Blair Cherry Award in January.

Powell was instrumental in starting several awards and organizations in Texas, including the Texas Sports writers Association, the Texas High School Football Hall of Fame, the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame and the Blair Cherry Award.

Drive safely. Don't wreck your life.
