Sheriff steps down after 16 years

By Alice Gilroy
January 1 was a brand new beginning for 1993, Fred Cardinal and the Floyd County Sheriff's Office. With the swearing in of Charlie Overstreet as Floyd County Sheriff the record breaking terms of Fred Cardinal were brought to a close.

After 16 years as sheriff of Floyd County, Fred Cardinal chose not to seek reelection and graciously turned the reins over to his Chief Deputy and newly elected sheriff, Charlie Overstreet.

Cardinal and his wife, Polly, were both born and raised in Floyd County, and except for a brief period, have lived in this county all of their lives. After their marriage on Oct. 12, 1941 the couple lived in Slaton while Fred worked for the Santa Fe Railroad.

In 1942 Cardinal joined the Marine Corps and was sent to San Diego for boot camp. Polly also moved to San Diego to work for Consolidated Aircraft. After boot camp, Cardinal was sent to New Zealand and then Guadalcanal. From there Cardinal served in Bogainville (a South Pacific Island), Guam, the Marshall Islands and finally back to San Diego in 1945. He was discharged and returned to Slaton and the railroad in 1947.

"In 1947 we moved to Dougherty and started to go broke in farming," laughed Cardinal. "In 1960 I went to work as a Reserve Deputy for Sheriff Walter Hollums. I continued to farm for a little while and eventually went to work as a full time deputy."

Cardinal worked for Hollums until 1972 when he quit and decided to draw his retirement. "I decided I had had enough of being a deputy and I was never going to do it again—then look what happened."

With the resignation of Sheriff Bud Rainey, Floyd County Commissioners appointed Cardinal as Sheriff in December of 1976 to fill out Rainey's unexpired term. Cardinal has been sheriff ever since having been elected to the office four times, the longest time anyone has ever served as sheriff in Floyd County.

To say that things have changed over the years in the county jail is an understatement.

"When I first went to work for Hollums," said Cardinal, "Mr. and Mrs. Hollums were living in the jail. Their bedroom was where my office has always been and two other bedrooms were located where the drunk tank and deputies office is now. Their living room was the hallway and the kitchen was located in the current dispatcher's office. Our office at that time was in the room that is now used for the tax assessor office."

Cardinal remembers only three deputies when he served with Sheriff Hollums. "There was only one secretary who dispatched during the day and since we didn't have anybody on duty at night the police department had their own dispatcher at night."

"Now there are four deputies, four dispatchers, two relief dispatchers, four jailers and one relief jailer. We have also seen a rise in the average of prisoners we keep in the jail."

"We used to average three prisoners a month in the jail, now we average 16. In December we averaged 18 prisoners--and they are stayers. They won't be bonding out."

In Cardinal's opinion the attitude of the prisoners has also changed over the years. "The second floor of the jail was almost all we ever used," said Cardinal. "We would keep 10 or 12 on the second floor until Texas Jail Standards Commission entered the picture and made a motel out of the jail. Now we can only keep six on the floor and the prisoners act like they are in a motel. They demand everything. We even have to wash their clothes and the family used to take care of that."

"I also used to be able to have monthly reports ready in a few hours of slow typing using only two fingers. Now Linda types all the time. She is very fast and thorough and it takes her up to three days to get the paperwork done."

"We used to arrest a person and fill out one piece of paper. Now it takes seven pages to arrest a person. Taking care of this jail is the biggest headache of the job."

Even though there have been lots of headaches and heartaches over Cardinal's 16 year term, he leaves with very fond memories of the lives that have touched his and of those that he has touched.

"When I first started," said Cardinal, "Olin Pottee, David Hart and Jim Gallihar were my deputies. Over the years I have seen a lot of them come and go. I have been very fortunate in being able to have good young personnel to work with that have done a very good job."

"Many have started their career under me and as far as I know they've turned out real well. I've still got good relations with deputies that have worked for me and I also have always had a good working relation with DPS and the Texas Rangers."

The fondest memories Cardinal has of his sixteen years are those of the prisoners he has managed to help while they were incarcerated. "There was one person in particular of whom I am very proud," said Cardinal.

"A 21 year old boy, Pete Juarez, was sentenced to four years in TDC. He chose to stay and serve his time in the jail instead. He stayed here for two years and if he had gone to TDC he would have been out in 14 months."

"Polly and I tried to help him in any way that we could and he is now doing very well in his job, his church and with his family. I am very proud of that. I have always tried to treat everybody alike. Just because they were put in jail I didn't look down on them."

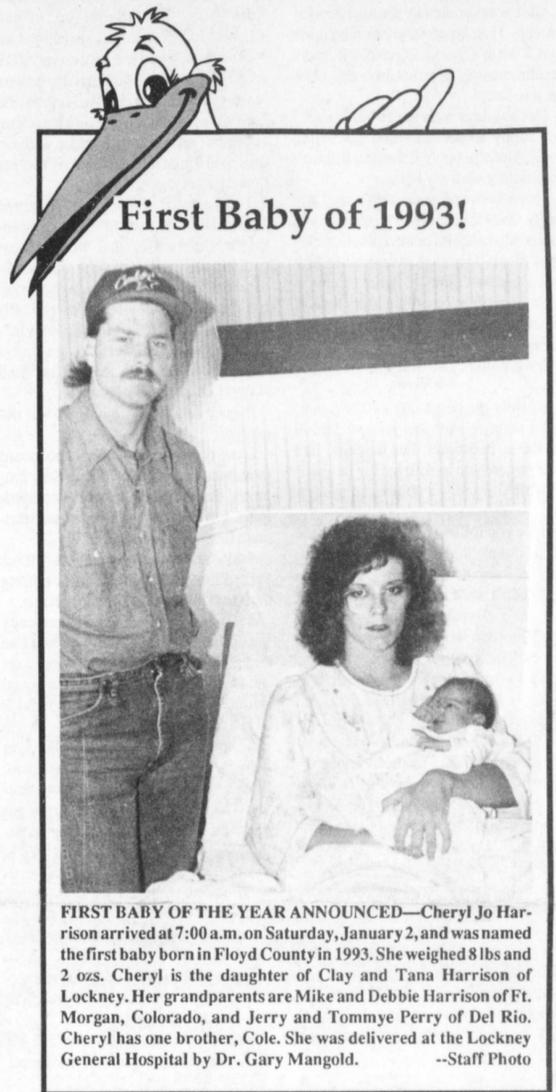

Even though Cardinal looks back at his success stories with pride, occasionally the helping hand he would extend would be slapped. "There is one particular person who I tried to help and after he got out of jail he blew it. All I can do is try. It was up to him and it didn't work. "I have enjoyed all of it, but I thought it was time for a change. If I had run again I would have been 78 years old when I got out."

It will be hard for Cardinal to let go of 16 years of service and it will undoubtedly be hard for the community to let go of Sheriff Cardinal. During a Thursday reception held in his honor at the courthouse, Cardinal was presented with a plaque and a beautiful sterling silver Sheriff's badge. Another reception held on Sunday at the First United Methodist Church attracted approximately 250 well wishers from throughout the county.

Sixteen years as sheriff was not easy to put in a box when Cardinal cleaned out his office. "It took me a long time to get my office cleaned out. I would work a little bit every day until I couldn't take it anymore and then I would go home."

"The hardest part was cleaning out my car. The patrol car has been with me 24 hours a day every day, and cleaning it out really got to me. It feels strange now, not having a radio in my car."

"I used to sleep all night with my radio on. The city boys could talk all night and it didn't bother me, but as soon as I heard one of my men on the radio I would wake up immediately. They didn't even have to wake me with a phone call. It's going to be hard to let go of all that. I'm going to miss it."

Bailey jailed following assault on DPS trooper

James Richard Bailey, 48, of Dougherty, was formally charged Monday, Jan. 4, with Aggravated Assault on a Police Officer, Criminal Mischief and DWI. He is currently in the Floyd County Jail on $4,000 bond for the Aggravated Assault and $2,500 for DWI.

The charges stem from an incident which occurred Saturday night at approximately 9:00 p.m. after Bailey was stopped by Trooper Ron Parks for suspicion of DWI.

According to District Attorney Becky McPherson, Parks stopped the pickup which Bailey was driving, on the Matorador highway, after he observed the pickup weaving.

According to McPherson, "Parks performed field sobriety tests on Bailey outside the car and then put Bailey in his patrol car and continued to perform more sobriety tests. When it became evident to Bailey that he was going to be arrested for DWI he punched out the video camera in the DPS vehicle and then started swinging at Parks."

The struggle continued in the vehicle and then outside the car. "The altercation lasted for approximately five minutes before Parks was able to subdue Bailey," said McPherson.

Both Parks and Bailey were treated at the Lockney General Hospital emergency room and released.

Floyd County man arrested for threat on family members

A Floyd County man, Lee Sinor, 39, was arrested at his residence Saturday afternoon after threatening to kill his wife and other members of his family.

According to Sheriff Charlie Overstreet the dispatcher received a call, at approximately 2:30 p.m., of a "man making threats to kill his family and himself." Overstreet, Deputy Greg Pierce, Reserve Deputy Ricky Bennett, and Officer Earnest Back responded to the call at the Sinor home, located on FM 602 south of the Baker Community.

"Sinor's wife had already left the home and Sinor was alone in the house," said Overstreet. "He was armed with a 12 gauge shotgun and we did not enter the house. We communicated with him by phone through the dispatcher and after approximately 15 minutes talked him into coming out of the house."

Sinor, who is currently on probation and parole for felony DWI, was arrested and charged with Terroristic Threat (a Class B Misdemeanor). He was released on $1,500 bond Sunday.

BY THE WAY!

BY
GILROY

What is your New Year's resolution? Mine were broken by the afternoon of January 1, so I made another resolution that I wasn't going to have any more resolutions. So far that one has been easy to keep!

The holidays were great—although I am happy to see the food dwindling away. Unfortunately it dwindled almost completely with my help.

I have been suffering with a sore jaw lately that makes it hard to chew some foods. My husband pointed out to me on New Year's Day that it seemed to him that I had not gone 15 whole minutes without putting something in my mouth. He commented that the sore jaw didn't seem to be sore enough.

Some pain is just worth it.

It's only the beginning of 1993 and I don't want to start the year off with a bunch of bad news, but it seems like everywhere you look in the big newspapers all you see is a deteriorating society.

Have you followed the story about the jet set couple that took a nine day vacation to Acapulco. No big deal except they didn't want to be bothered so they left their 4-year-old and 9-year-old daughters at home to take care of themselves. The kids had no idea where the parents were. I hope the kids never have to worry where those parents are again.

Then there were the parents in Chicago who volunteered to help hand out Christmas presents to the needy children in their school. Several hundred presents had been donated for the school to give away. The parents told the principal they would sort the presents according to classes.

After they sat down to sort presents someone opened one to check it out and before you know it there was a free-for-all and all the presents were ripped open so the parents could take the ones they wanted. Presents were sold on the street corners and thrown around the school yard. Two hundred children never got a gift.

Courtroom Activities

In District Court January 5, Martha Reyes, 25, of Lockney, pled guilty to Tampering With Governmental Records. She was sentenced to eight years probation and ordered to pay restitution of $2,474 and court costs.

Also in District Court, David McDonald, 27, of Lockney, pled guilty to Burglary of a Habitation. He was sentenced to 10 years probation, a $1,000 fine and court costs.

Kevin Stringer, 19, of Floydada, pled guilty to forgery. He was sentenced to five years probation and a $500.00 fine. He was also ordered to pay restitution and court costs.

In county court, December 31, Lyndell Hastey, 18, of Plainview, pled guilty to DWI. He was sentenced to six months in jail which was probated for two years and fined $250.00 plus court costs.

Also on December 31, Alejos Longoria DeHoyes Jr., 24, of Petersburg, was charged with DWI. There was no disposition on this case.

January 4 in county court, James Richard Bailey, 48, of Dougherty, was charged with DWI and criminal mischief. There was no disposition on this case.

In county court, January 5, Ruben Ascencio pled guilty to his August 26, 1992 charge of assault. He was fined was reported at Allsup's. According to the store manager two juveniles came into the store and put something in the microwave that caused a fire inside the microwave. Several books were burned in the fireplace and furniture was moved around the room. It was discovered that a recently reported runaway along with other juveniles were involved in this break-in. The investigation is continuing.

December 26, a criminal mischief

Also on January 1 an employee of Pay-n-Save reported that he had been assaulted inside the store. The investigation continues.

January 1, at 2:55 a.m. in the 800 block of E. Price, Belmares A. Martin, 25, of Floydada, was arrested for public intoxication.

January 2, at approximately 1:00 p.m. police were called to the scene of another accident where the driver fled. According to reports a vehicle skid going east and slid into a red Chevrolet parked in the west car lot of Oden Chevrolet. The driver then left the scene. The damage is estimated at $200-$300.00.

January 5, two video machines were reported burglarized in a business in the 100 block of S. Wall. The incident reportedly occurred on January 4 and approximately $100.00 was lost due to theft and damage to machines.

Floydada Police Chief James Hale stated that the rash of vandalism cases in Floydada have been cleared with the identification of six juveniles. The juveniles are responsible for the cars that were vandalized at the Methodist Church, for broken windows and lights and spray painting around town. They have been turned over to juvenile authorities.

An unauthorized use of a motor vehicle case, which occurred the first week in November has also been cleared up, with a confession from two adults and one juvenile. One of the adults has left the state.

Police are also very close to finishing their investigation into the Dec. 23 burglary of a home in the 500 block of W.

Kentucky, in which all the Christmas presents and much of the families other belongings were stolen.

According to police someone entered the home Dec. 23 and stole all of the children's and adult Christmas presents. Many other toys of the children were also stolen as well as a child's piggy bank. Also taken was the VCR recorder, a 13" color TV, a 410 shotgun, a 30-30 rifle, children's cassette recorder, an extensive amount of men's and women's jewelry and an AM-FM stereo jam box. The value of the stolen items is estimated at $8,000.

Police have recovered the jam box at the home of a Floydada resident who is being questioned. Police have also identified a person who brought a child's piggy bank into the First National Bank on December 24 to change the coins into folding money. The investigation is continuing.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express something that you and your readers already know — you have WONDERFUL people in Floydada!

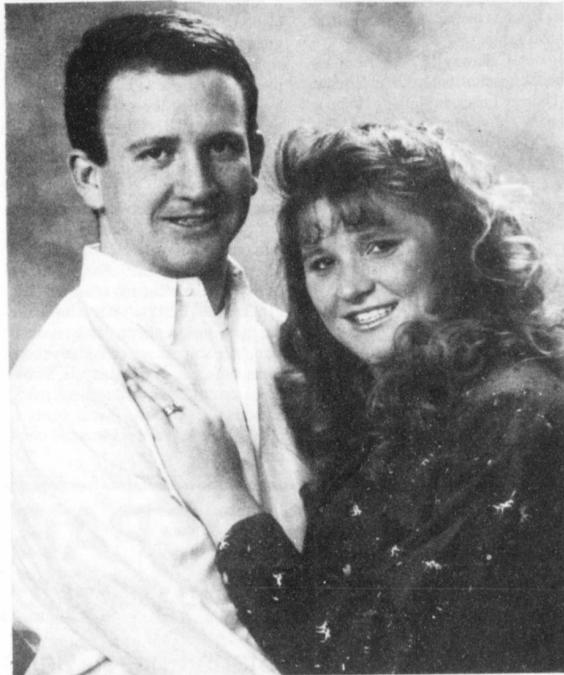

On Christmas day, a Christmas dinner for thirty people with turkey and all the trimmings was delivered to Lubbock to the Ronald McDonald House. The food was purchased, prepared, and delivered by people in Floydada who were thinking of ways to help others at Christmas time.

The family staying at the Ronald McDonald House whose teenage daughter had a medical set-back in the early morning hours knew that they could come back to the Ronald House and eat a delicious meal. The mother whose baby was in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit had family members come to be with her for Christmas and they enjoyed the meal. The parents of a two month old baby recovering from surgery had a holiday meal like they would have had at home. These are a few of the families who benefitted from the generosity of your compassionate Floydada people.

When Sudy Cochran called and asked if she and her helpers could provide Christmas dinner for all the families at the Ronald McDonald House, I was delighted. The Ronald McDonald House is a home-away-from-home for families of ill children who are hospitalized in a Lubbock hospital or who are receiving outpatient treatment. We try to provide a home-like atmosphere for them while they are dealing with their child's illness. If they were at home at Christmas time, they would have a meal of turkey and the trimmings and have family around them. The meal from Floydada helped to make their holiday here more enjoyable.

I thank Sudy and her helpers for all they did for children and their families at "The House That Love Built." Floydada folks are terrific! Sudy has already called and asked to be put on the calendar to bring the meal for Christmas Day, 1993!

Sincerely,
Jean Curtsinger

Master gardener program open to residents

From Melissa Long, CEA-HE
Floyd County residents with the proverbial "green thumb" can sharpen their gardening skills and help others in their community by taking part in a new program being offered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"We're joining other South Plains counties to conduct an intensive Texas Master Gardener program," said Melissa Long, County Extension Agent-HE. "This is 50 hours of outstanding instruction in all aspects of ornamental horticulture and gardening and can lead to designation as a Certified Texas Master Gardener," she said.

Persons wishing to enter the program should already have knowledge and skills in basic ornamental horticulture, gardening and general related areas, the county agent said.

Participants selected for the program will receive 50 hours of instruction during eight day-long sessions. Instructors will include faculty of the Extension Service, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Forest Service, which are agencies of the Texas A&M University System; Texas Tech University; and members of the West Texas Arts and Botanical Association, and the Lubbock Rose Society.

All training will be at the Texas A&M

University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Lubbock. It is on FM 1294 just east of Interstate 27 at the Shallowater exit. There is a course fee of $50 which includes a detailed Master Gardener Handbook, other training materials, a certificate and wallet identification card.

At the end of the training, participants must pass a written examination and complete 50 hours of volunteer horticultural service in their county, under supervision of their County Extension Service faculty. Upon satisfactory completion of these requirements, a graduate will become a Certified Texas Master Gardener. To retain certification, a Master Gardener must update his training every two years.

Deota Odam celebrates 80th

A party in celebration of her 80th birthday was held for Mrs. J.C. (Deeota) Odam on Saturday, Dec. 26, 1992, at the Calvary Baptist Church fellowship hall. Mrs. Odam was honored by her two children, Virginia Waits and Shelly Viramonte and their families.

Refreshments served included punch, nuts, cheese, and a sheet cake enlabeled with "Happy Birthday, Mother. Four Score and Still Adorable."

Special music was provided on tape

by grandson, Gary Hill and his wife, Jackie.

Mrs. Odam was presented with a handmade memory book, a collection of her friends' and family members fondest memories of the birthday girl. The family extends their appreciation to all the friends and family who helped honor Mrs. Odam with their calls, cards, attendance at the party or special memories added to her book.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant
FLOYDADA—Hi! Greetings for the New Year. I can't seem to get used to writing 1993 yet. We are all looking with hope for the New Year for many good things to come. Do hope you had a good holiday and safe with your family and friends. The ice storm was pretty but very dangerous. I was in Plainview and there were lots of broken limbs fallen from the trees.

Monday started the week as usual with Rev. Clark Williams giving the devotion. Irene Wexler wasn't with us as she was visiting her loved ones, so we sang along with some records. At 2 p.m. the residents painted ceramics.

Tuesday, Fr. Richardo came and gave the devotion, and he played the guitar, sang some songs. In the afternoon games were played. Roberta Hardin came at 6:30 p.m. to play the piano, and sang some songs.

Wednesday, the residents did work games, unscramble the puzzle. At 2:30 they played Bingo. Otis Johnson had the first Bingo and Mary Alice Davis assisted the residents in playing.

Thursday was morning coffee, juice and cookies. We took down all the Christmas tree decorations, listened to some music and played a magic mitten game.

Friday was New Year's Day, some of the residents went visiting, and some had their family to come visit them. They watched the parades on TV and the football game.

Brooks Callaway is back from the Lubbock hospital, but has transferred to the Unicare Lakeside Nursing Home in Lubbock. Mrs. Bernice Robison, Foy James Moore have returned to our home from the hospital, glad to get you back. Mrs. Grace Greene is in the hospital at this time.

Family, we are still asking for you to come decorate your loved ones room with pictures, plaques and what-nots to make it look homey.

Floydada resident Eddie Smith takes hands on approach to cotton industry

Floydada resident Edward Smith III has always taken a "hands on" approach to the cotton industry.

Because of his leadership aptitude and policy making interest, and because he sought to gain the knowledge to further strengthen the U.S. cotton industry, Smith is one of 100 people in the last decade chosen to participate in a program that's now about to celebrate the 10th anniversary of its first graduating class — the Cotton Leadership Program.

As a member of the Cotton Leadership Class of 1989-90, he gained the insight and skills he needed to help solve industry problems.

Today Smith is a partner in Floyd County Farms in Floydada. A third generation producer, he has served as director of the Plains Cotton Cooperative Association and on the USDA Grower Advisory Committee, Lubbock Class Office.

The leadership program is sponsored by the Cotton Foundation through a grant from DuPont Agricultural Products. A decade of DuPont commitment to strengthening the U.S. cotton industry has given 100 men and women in the classes of 1983-84 to 1992-93 the opportunity to understand more about each of the industry segments and to expand their roles as effective representatives of American cotton.

Many graduates have gone on to positions of prominence in the cotton industry and are bringing fresh energy and ideas to local, state and national cotton organizations.

During intense week-long sessions, the leadership program brings representatives of producer, ginner, warehouse, merchant, crusher, cooperative and manufacturing segments together to encourage better communication and problem-solving.

Classes visit farms, government offices in Washington, D.C., aerial application services, textile mills, and other industry sites to broaden their understanding of cotton's path from field to consumer. Trips to the New York Cotton Exchange and the offices of Cotton Incorporated, the research and promotion arm of the industry, are on each class' agenda.

At each stop, professionals provide participants with information on cotton research, market trends, political developments and product merchandising.

"I've had the privilege to see many of these program participants learn together, work together and then step into leadership positions within the industry during the past decade, proof that U.S. cotton is reaping the rewards from this creative venture," says Phil Burnett, executive vice president of the National Cotton Council, Memphis.

Developing tomorrow's cotton industry leaders is a source of pride for DuPont Agricultural Products, which has invested over $1 million in the program to date. Smith is one of the 100 who have benefitted from this unique program and who continue to contribute to the well-being and advancement of the industry.

Weaning time good time to cull poor producing cows

By Mike Mallett, CEA-Ag.
Weaning time is an excellent opportunity to identify and cull cows that are poor producers.

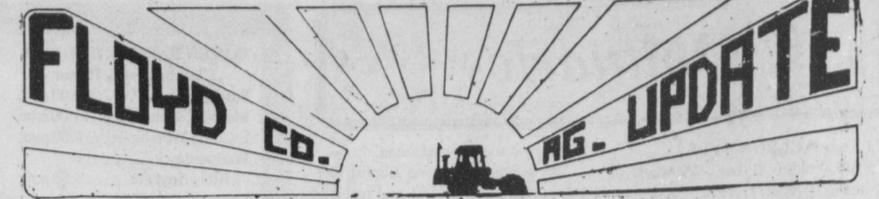

With the good cattle prices of the past six years, today is an excellent time to cull older, less productive cows to make your cow herd more efficient. Producers should plan for years when prices will certainly come down.

Inferior calves have inferior parents. Mothers of non-profitable calves are inferior because they calve late in the season or fail to give adequate milk for the calf's growth. In either case, it is highly probable that she will repeat her inferior production next year. In a 90 day breeding period, the value of the first calf born vs. the last calf born can be $200 greater.

Generally, the bottom 5 to 20 percent of the cows in a herd produce calves that are significantly below the herd average. Producers determine their culling level by the availability of replacements or the desire for profit.

A simple procedure for culling cows is to separate the cows and calves at weaning time. Sort the smaller, inferior calves from the others. The following morning, put the inferior calves with the cows. Cows claiming these inferior calves can be identified and culled.

After weaning calves, many producers prefer to keep cull cows until frost or until the beginning of 1993. This allows the cow to regain body condition and weight. With current cow prices, now is an excellent time to shape up a cow herd and put it in a more profitable mode.

Propane promoted as clean air alternative

In a special appearance, all three Texas Railroad Commissioners, Jim Nugent, Bob Krueger and Jim Wallace, along with Commissioner-elect Barry Williamson, expressed their unified support for propane as a "clean air" fuel choice important to Texas' future.

Gathered at the State Capitol, the Commissioners launched a major statewide public awareness campaign to promote propane for cars, trucks, buses and a variety of home uses. The campaign will stress the economic and environmental benefits of propane, designated a clean-burning alternative fuel by State and Federal clean air legislation.

About half of all air pollution in Texas is caused by vehicle exhaust, according to the Commissioners, and trucks and buses are among the worst polluters. Many are expected to be converted from gasoline to propane by the fall of 1994, when Texas law requires 30 percent of most large private, State government, and school bus fleets to be converted to run on alternative fuels. More than 30,000 vehicles in Texas now run on propane.

In addition to propane's environmental benefits, the Commissioners cited the fuel's low cost and wide availability as advantages to consumers. With 1,100 refueling stations in Texas alone, propane has the largest distribution network of any alternative fuel. Commissioners also stressed the economic and employment benefits to Texas as propane use increases. One third of all propane used in the U.S. comes from Texas, and, of the 50 states, Texas is the leading user of propane.

The Commissioners also cited one of the most common uses of propane - in gas grills - as an "everyday" way that Texas consumers can improve air quality. Propane is considered the environmental choice for portable outdoor grilling, compared to charcoal and lighter fluid, which emit damaging chemicals and particles into the air.

Another use targeted by the Commission is residential heating, cooking and hot water heating, where propane can be economically and safely substituted for electricity in communities not served by natural gas lines.

The Commissioners together unveiled the theme of the public awareness campaign: "Propane - A Cleaner Fuel. A Cleaner Texas." The campaign will be seen and heard through billboards, bumper stickers and radio advertising during the first quarter of 1993. Activities are funded by a special fee paid by propane dealers that was authorized by the Texas Legislature in 1991.

The Commissioners announced a new toll free information line, 1-800-64-CLEAR, to respond to consumers' questions about propane.

New roll goods fiber created by Cotton Inc.

Increasingly, more roll goods manufacturers are recognizing cotton as nature's workaholic fiber, says Glenn Morton, director of product and process research for Cotton Incorporated. Cotton is absorbent, biodegradable, non-allergenic, durable and can be sterilized, which makes it ideal for use in non-woven roll goods such as wipes, diapers and feminine hygiene products.

According to Morton, roll goods manufacturers have been reluctant to use cotton because of concerns about quality and limitations of finishing processes. To address these concerns, Cotton Incorporated spearheaded advancements along the cotton production pipeline which have helped create a new generation of fiber specifically for roll goods production.

"The greatest challenge in expanding cotton's use in this area was finding a way to provide an adequate supply of bleached cotton that processed as easily as synthetic fibers," says Morton. "We were able to meet this challenge by developing a continuous staple bleaching line which facilitated a shorter process time, decreased water usage and resulted in less waste."

Upstairs Theatre slates auditions for production

Tryouts for the Upstairs Theater production of "Little Women" will be held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 10, at 3:00 p.m. This is an adaption of Louise May Alcotts famous novel, and was first produced on the Broadway Stage in 1912. The production will be directed by Bobby Rainer. Several actors and actresses are needed for this production, and it is hoped that the community will go out and take part in this production.

Parts include Mr. March, the father; Mrs. March, the mother; the girls, Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy; Aunt March, the old maid aunt; Mr. Laurence, the next-door neighbor; Laurie, Mr. Laurence's grandson; John Brooke, Laurie's tutor; Professor Bhaer, Jo's German friend; and Hannah Mullett, the maid. Mr. and Mrs. March are in their mid forties to early fifties.

The girls range in age from 15 to 18, and must age about five to six years during the time period covered in the play. Mr. Laurence and Aunt March are both elderly people. Laurie is about 18, and John Brooke is in his early twenties. Hannah and Professor Bhaer are in their forties.

Whirlwind News

"We need the support of the community if the Upstairs Theater is to survive," says Grant Hambricht, coordinator. "It would be wonderful to see people from Lockney and other surrounding communities come and take part in this production."

Sixth graders to receive gift book

Sixth grade students at Lockney Junior High School and R.C. Andrews Elementary will be receiving a gift book titled "The Way To Go."

Presented to them by civic-minded leaders like Lockney Insurance Agency - Jerry Cooper, Agent, Clark Pharmacy and The Tye Company in Lockney and Floydada Cooperative Gins Inc., Thompson Pharmacy, Floyd County Farm Bureau - Clar Schacht, Agent, Light-house Electric Cooperative Inc., and Don Hardy Race Cars Inc. in Floydada, "The Way To Go" is the centerpiece of the Youth Development Program. Many communities throughout the nation are participating in this program. "The Way To Go", handsomely bound and illustrated in full-color, is a collection of eight short stories. Written to appeal to young people in today's world, the stories reinforce traditional moral values. For instance, one of the stories emphasizes the importance of being a responsible person; another shows how highly honesty should be valued; another focuses on the danger of drugs and alcohol.

The program is described as being a response to a growing concern felt by parents and others throughout the nation. Too often, it is maintained, young people are the innocent victims of harmful influences that undermine the sound values parents are trying to teach their children in the home. National statistics on drug and alcohol related accidents involving teenagers, on missing children, teenage pregnancies, teenage suicides, are cause for alarm. The great majority of parents do not have these problems. Nonetheless, they worry about them: peer pressure is a strong influence on young people.

The response of the local sponsors of this program, when asked why they are participating in it, can be summed up as follows: "This community means a lot to me. Our young people are our most precious resource. They are our future. This program is good for our young people, their parents, and our community."
