Landfill faces another snag

By Juanita Stepp

FLOYDADA — City manager Gary Brown told the Floydada City Council that the proposed landfill expansion has run into another snag at the rescheduled regular session of the council on Thursday, March 11. He reported receiving a copy of a letter from the Texas Historical Commission to the Texas Water Commission which asked that a permit not be granted until a survey is conducted by a professional archaeologist. The purpose of the survey, according to Brown, would be to determine if the proposed landfill would be located on a historical site and to make sure there are no antiquities in the area.

Brown also told the council that a survey of the city water will be undertaken at the direction of the Texas Water Commission. He indicated that one quart samples will need to be taken at 60 day intervals from at least 40 residences and businesses in the city. These samples will then be sent to a state lab to be tested for lead and copper contamination. The cost of the testing which the city will have to pay is $13.00 each. Each site will then be tested a second time in two months at an additional $13.00 each in cost to the city.

Failure to do the testing or failure of the test samples to meet acceptable levels would result in the city drinking water supply being declared unsafe. Contamination of a particular site's water because of faulty plumbing would have to be dealt with if the results determine contamination exists.

The final item on the city manager's report was in regard to the airport. Brown told the council that the last seal coating done on the runway has not bonded properly. The top layer is separating from the layers underneath. The contractor was Apian Corporation out of Hereford. Brown told the council that the city's engineering firm seems to think that the material used for the job was not up to standard. He also indicated that the city would be looking into what can be done to remedy the situation.

Wayne Tipton. The ordinance sets forth the minimum standards and rules and regulations governing those who wish to utilize the Floydada Municipal Airport. The vote on the matter was unanimous.

A motion by council member Leroy Burns approved the advertising for bids on the 1993 airport lease. The motion was seconded by council member Amado Morales and approved by unanimous vote.

The council approved the minutes from the previous meetings as presented and authorized the payment of monthly bills. The council also adopted a resolution setting May 1, 1993, as the date for the municipal election. The resolution also appointed Laveta Morren as election judge and Jimmie Lou Stewart as alternate. Motion for the action came from Morales with a second by Schacht. The vote was all in favor.

Edd Henderson Sr. was reappointed to the board of directors for Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority. He will serve an additional two year term beginning April 30, 1993. Approval was unanimous on a motion by Tipton with a second by Barrientoz.

Council members authorized the signing of an agreement between the cities of Lubbock, Brownfield, Tulia and Floydada. The agreement will facilitate the purchase of power by the group, also known as the West Texas Municipal Power Association. Each of the cities maintains the ability to generate and distribute electric power on their own. If in the future, it becomes economically advantageous to do so, Lubbock will act as the purchasing and distributing agent for the group in acquiring electric power at lower rates than those charged by SPS, the current supplier.

The agreement may be terminated at any time and will not be a factor unless more inexpensive power becomes available. Motion for approval to sign the agreement was made by Burns and seconded by Barrientoz. Vote on the matter was unanimously in favor.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Wayne Russell, council members Amado Morales, Ruben Barrientoz, Clar Schacht, Leroy Burns, Wayne Tipton and Eric Cornelius; Gary Brown, Sharn Quisenberry, Karen Houchin, Karen Lawson, Joe Stepp and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

"Up, Up and Away" will be the theme of this year's event, which will feature the latest in spring fashions from B.J.'s Boutique, Hale's Department Store and Kids Kiosk. Emcees for the evening will be Anne Carthel and Julianne Cornelius.

Schwerterner for Hale's Department Store, and Gregory Vasquez, Tasha Powell, Cheyann Powell, Kelsy Williams, Whitney Williams, Alice Gilroy and Rosemary Gonzales for Kids Kiosk.

Area ladies, who may be accustomed to making a salad for the event, will not have to worry about that this year. Organizers of the show will be serving desserts and beverages to those attending. Door prizes, to be awarded throughout the evening, will include hand-crafted items that were either donated or purchased by chamber members.

Caprock signs affiliation contract with St. Mary's

The Board of Directors of Caprock Hospital entered into a 2 year affiliation contract with St. Mary's Hospital during their regular board meeting, March 11.

According to Ronnie Ammons, hospital administrator, "St. Mary's Hospital has agreed to recruit a permanent physician for Caprock. This will include paying for all guarantees that the physician would need.

"St. Mary's will also supply an interim physician to work at Cogdell Clinic with Dr. Hoang until the permanent physician is found. The interim physician will help build a clientele for permanent physician to take over.

"This will also help with ancillary charges for the hospital, such as lab and X-ray services."

According to Ammons, St. Mary's already has a physician ready to send to Floydada and the target date for his arrival is April 12. "St. Mary's will be sending Dr. Albert," said Ammons. "Albert has just recently left his solo practice in Ballinger to work for St. Mary's. He is a family practitioner and St. Mary's will let us use him at no charge to us.

"St. Mary's has given us tremendous support. They are saving us a lot of money and a lot of time."

According to Ammons St. Mary's is concentrating on finding the community a family practitioner who is also an obstetrician.

Election slates shaping up

By Juanita Stepp

Sign-up period for placing your name on the ballots for the City of Lockney, the City of Floydada, LISD, FISD and Caprock Hospital District expired on Wednesday, March 17. Press deadlines prevent the Hesperian-Beacon from listing the final list of candidates to seek election on May 1. That information will be available in the next issue. The candidates at presstime this week are detailed below.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS

FISD board members up for election this year are Billy Joe Villarreal in Precinct 3 and Michael Hinsley, at-large. As of press time on Tuesday, March 16, only incumbent Villarreal had signed to run in Precinct 3. Mitch Probasco has placed his name in the running for the at-large position.

LISD school board positions held by Gary Mangold and Mike Mathis are on the ballot for election this spring in Lockney. To date, Mike Mathis has indicated that he will seek reelection. Dan Smith and Aaron Wilson, a newcomer to the school political arena, have also signed up for a place on the May 1 LISD ballot.

With both school districts being on spring break this week, it was difficult to determine if the slate of candidates announced at this time is accurate.

FLOYDADA CITY ELECTIONS

Ruben Barrientoz is the incumbent in District 2 and Leroy Burns is the incumbent in District 3. Both have entered their names as candidates for reelection in the City of Floydada May 1 balloting. Burns will be opposed by Roxanne Cummings and Barrientoz will face opponent Dale Lawson in District 2. Mayor Wayne Russell has indicated that he will not be a candidate for reelection. Hulon Carthel is being challenged by Jon Nielson in the race for the mayor's position being vacated by Wayne Russell.

LOCKNEY CITY ELECTIONS

On the ballot for the City of Lockney will be the mayor's post and two at-large council members. Current mayor Kenneth Wofford is not seeking reelection. Council positions on the ballot this year are the seats currently held by Sam Fortenberry and Bill Anderson. Fortenberry is not a candidate for reelection. Anderson has placed his name in the running as a candidate for the spring election. No other candidates have come forward at presstime this week.

HOSPITAL DISTRICT ELECTIONS

Incumbent Caprock Hospital District directors Jim Word, Joy Assiter and Jerry Thompson have announced they will seek reelection. Others seeking election to the board include Harvey Allen, T.M. (Whitey) Whiteley and Tom Farris. This will place six names on the ballot for three positions.

At presstime, no information concerning Lockney General Hospital District elections was available.

POTENTIAL VOTERS NEED TO REGISTER

All voters are reminded to make sure your voter registration is up to date. If you have moved since you last registered, you need to notify the voter registrar, Penny Golightly, before April 1. Failure to do so may result in your not being able to vote in one or all of the spring municipal elections. Anyone who is not currently registered to vote may do so prior to April 1 and still be eligible to vote in the May elections.

SUMMER WATER RATES SET

Council members once more agreed to special water rates for the summer months. City officials hope to encourage residents to water their lawns and make the city both greener and safer in regard to fire hazards. The regular rate for water is $2.00 per thousand gallons over the minimum. The summer rate instituted by a motion from council member Ruben Barrientoz will be $1.00 per thousand gallons over the minimum.

The motion was seconded by council member Eric Cornelius and passed by unanimous vote. The summer rates will take effect with the meter readings in April and will appear on the May billing. The discounted rates will expire with the September meter readings.

Williams shares experiences as bull rider

By Ann R. Moore
Texas Tech Journalism Student

Larry Williams rides bulls. He is a bull rider, but not just any bull rider. He is a championship bull rider.

Being a championship bull rider means he stays on the bull for the full eight seconds with his free hand not touching the bull or himself. That means he doesn't have to spur the bull, but some judges give more points if he does. That means he rides a lot of bulls. That means getting off the bull is sometimes a problem, he says.

His wife, Kelli, says, "Getting off the bull is THE problem."

In 1984 Williams won the Houston Rodeo High Flying Award for the worst wreck in rodeo. He rode the bull for the full time, then slid sideways across the bull's horns and nearly into the arms of the rodeo clown. Williams won the go round.

Born and raised in Denver City, Williams says, "Dad was always a roper, but I did the jackpot bull riding."

Larry Williams lives in Floyd County with his wife Kelli and daughter Kortney, and also farms and ranches with his father-in-law.

His bull riding career spans 19 years, starting when he was 12. A member of the American Junior Rodeo Association (AJRA) from 1978-1981, he was AJRA Reserve Champion in 1980 and AJRA World Champion in 1981.

From 1982 to 1991 Williams was a full-time rodeo bull rider, traveling 150,000 miles per year across the United States. He averaged three or four rodeos a week; the most in a week was nine. In 12 days, he rode in 18 rodeos.

That's a lot of miles, a lot of rodeos, a lot of bulls.

A bull named Mr. T still ranks high in Williams' memory. Mr. T held the Bucking Bull of the Year title in the mid-1980s. In the bull's last three years in competition he was unriden. Williams rode Mr. T twice and was bucked off twice. But the bull was retired before Williams had a third chance to ride him.

In 1982 Williams was the Texas PRCA Rookie of the Year. This award means the most to him. Between 1982 and 1993 came championship after championship.

1993 is his tenth year in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. He skipped 1992 in the organization. That year he was a member of the Texas Cowboys Rodeo Association (TCRA) and their year-end champion.

"I never, never fear riding bulls," he says. "But I'm glad when the ride is over."

The riding and the landing are not always smooth.

In 1989 at the National Western Livestock Show and Rodeo in Denver, Colo., a bull jerked him down. A horn hit below his left eye, and crushed the eye socket. An artificial eye socket is in place now.

That injury was the worst, but there are other injuries. Still he rides bulls.

Now Kelli and Kortney go with him and watch him ride. Kelli says she only has trouble watching him ride just after

BY THE WAY!

I have been hounded by a Floyd County Sheriff's Deputy—namely Greg Pierce, about a mistake we had in last week's paper. He is demanding a retraction.

I told him I wouldn't put in a retraction and he kept bringing it up everytime I saw him, so I've finally given in.

In last week's paper in the story about the Commissioner's Court meeting we had a list of those in attendance at the meeting. We put that Deputy Kyle Pierce attended.

Kyle's last name is Adams. Greg's last name is Pierce.

Both of them are equally insulted at being confused with each other. I'm not sure which one is the more insulted of the two—but it's safer for me to apologize to both of them!

I was given a Farmer's Almanac the other day. I found all kinds of neat little tidbits in it to pass along. Since nothing much is happening this week and I don't have a soap box to sit on, I thought I would share some with you!

This Changing World

When I was a little chap,
My father used a razor strap
To keep me on the straight and narrow.

The sight of it would freeze my marrow.

My son, however, fears me not.
Discipline has gone to pot.
He sees how helplessly I stand,
Electric shaver in my hand.

DID YOU KNOW

Through technology, man has been able to make a styrofoam coffee cup that will last forever, and a $20,000 automobile that will rust away in five years.

The longest earthworm in the world comes from South Africa and it can reach a length of 23 feet. It is so huge that it can be heard above ground while it travels through its underground tunnels.

THE MASTER PLAN

I'm glad the great Creator
Has arranged for there to be
A bit of work left over
For the likes of you and me.

I'm sure He could have finished things—

For instance—made the bread,
But no—He chose to give us little Grains of wheat, instead.

I'm sure He could have planted houses

With no strain nor fuss;
Instead, He planted trees and left
The building up to us.

I think He wanted us to share
That joy and sheer elation

That builders and creators know
Who see their own creation.

IF

In the Old Testament times, God's burning anger was turned away from His people and His mercy and compassion were shown to His people if they listened to the voice of the Lord their God, kept all His commandments and did what was right in the sight of the Lord their God. If not, God's anger was against them and many were destroyed.

When God's people went into the promised land. God promised them that they would eat and be satisfied and that He would provide them with early and late rains so they would have grain, new wine and oil and grass for the cattle. The Lord would drive out the natives before them and they would dispossess nations greater and mightier than they, if they loved the Lord God and walked in all His ways. When God's people disobeyed Him and went after strange god's they suffered the loss of all they had and many were taken into captivity in foreign lands.

In the New Testament the promise of blessings is based upon the condition IF we do as God has said in His Word. For example, when children honor their father and mother God says that it will be well with them, and that they may enjoy long life on the earth. Here we see both the promise and condition.

Here's another. IF we walk in the light as He Himself is in the light we'll have fellowship with each other and the Blood of Jesus, God's Son, cleanses us from all sin.

Also, IF you love Jesus you will keep His commandments and the Father and the Son will make their abode with you.

over 100 constables and deputy constables in attendance from all areas of the state.

Constables are licensed peace officers like any other police officer with all powers of arrest. By state law each justice precinct may elect a Justice of the Peace and a Constable.

The primary focus of the school was in the area of civil law. A constable's primary responsibilities deal with civil law and the serving of civil papers issued out of Justice of the Peace, County and Federal courts. They may also investigate any criminal activity, issue traffic citations, answer emergency calls, etc., like any other law enforcement agency.

In counties with large populations,

County youth invited to 4-H Electric Project March 27th

Floyd County youth between the ages of nine and nineteen are invited to a 4-H Electric Project to take place Saturday, March 27, at Lighthouse Electric.

The one day project from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. will be filled with a variety of activities such as learning the ABC's of electricity, to use electricity safely, the use of electricity inside and outside the home, and how electricity is made.

Students attending the county wide project will complete a 4-H project record, build an electrical lamp and will be in on drawings for door prizes. Those in attendance will also learn about 4-H Electric Camp in Cloudcroft, New Mexico, sponsored by Southwestern Public Service and will receive a certificate from Sparky for attending and completing a 4-H project.

Anyone wishing to attend the project should call the County Extension Office at 983-2806 by Tuesday, March 23, in order for supplies to be purchased.

Magazine crew selling without permit

It has come to the attention of the Better Business Bureau that representatives of a company called Superstars Sales out of San Antonio are selling magazine subscriptions door to door in Lubbock. According to the City of Lubbock, these representatives do not have a permit to sell within the city limits. It is possible that Superstars Sales may send crews to the Floyd County area.

Consumers should be aware that City Ordinances require itinerant peddlers to receive a permit to conduct their sales. The peddler should be able to show you a copy of his permit. This law is enforced by the Floydada and Lockney Police Departments.

Representatives have reportedly stated to consumers that the company is "approved by the Better Business Bureau". The unauthorized use of the federally registered name and/or logo of the Better Business Bureau constitutes trademark infringement and could be a violation of the trademark rights of the Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc. Superstars Sales has NOT been approved by the Better Business Bureau.

As general information, the BBB urges consumers to purchase magazines because they want them, not because they think they are helping the seller win a contest or scholarship to school; to wait at least 120 days before delivery; make checks out to the company and NOT the seller and remember, you have 3 days in which to cancel if your order is over $25.00, according to the Federal Trade Commission's Cooling Off Law.

constables and their deputies help relieve the sheriff of the burden of serving civil papers, and assisting answering emergency calls. An example is the constables in Harris County. Some of them have up to 300 deputy constables in their precincts to handle the work load, and they have different divisions such as traffic, patrol, investigations, narcotics, and civil process.

Most constables are located in south, central and east Texas because of population density, and local political tradition that has utilized the importance of the office in the area of law enforcement. The Floyd County Sheriff's Office has been serving all civil papers in the past, and at present is charged with this responsibility.

The cost for the project is $50.00 and 4-Hers should bring a sack lunch and their favorite canned soft drink. This project as well as all educational activities conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Dear Editor,
We would like to "Thank You" for the opportunity to voice our outrage on the trash and filth being piped into the American homes by T.V. and Radio. If some choose to watch this trash and filth let them do so in "their" own homes but "don't" force it on all of us," give us the same chance to choose, that they had.

It is saying very little for us as parents and grandparents when we sit idly by and allow the minds of our children and grandchildren to be filled with and destroyed by what the writers, directors and producers of what's called "Wholesome Entertainment."

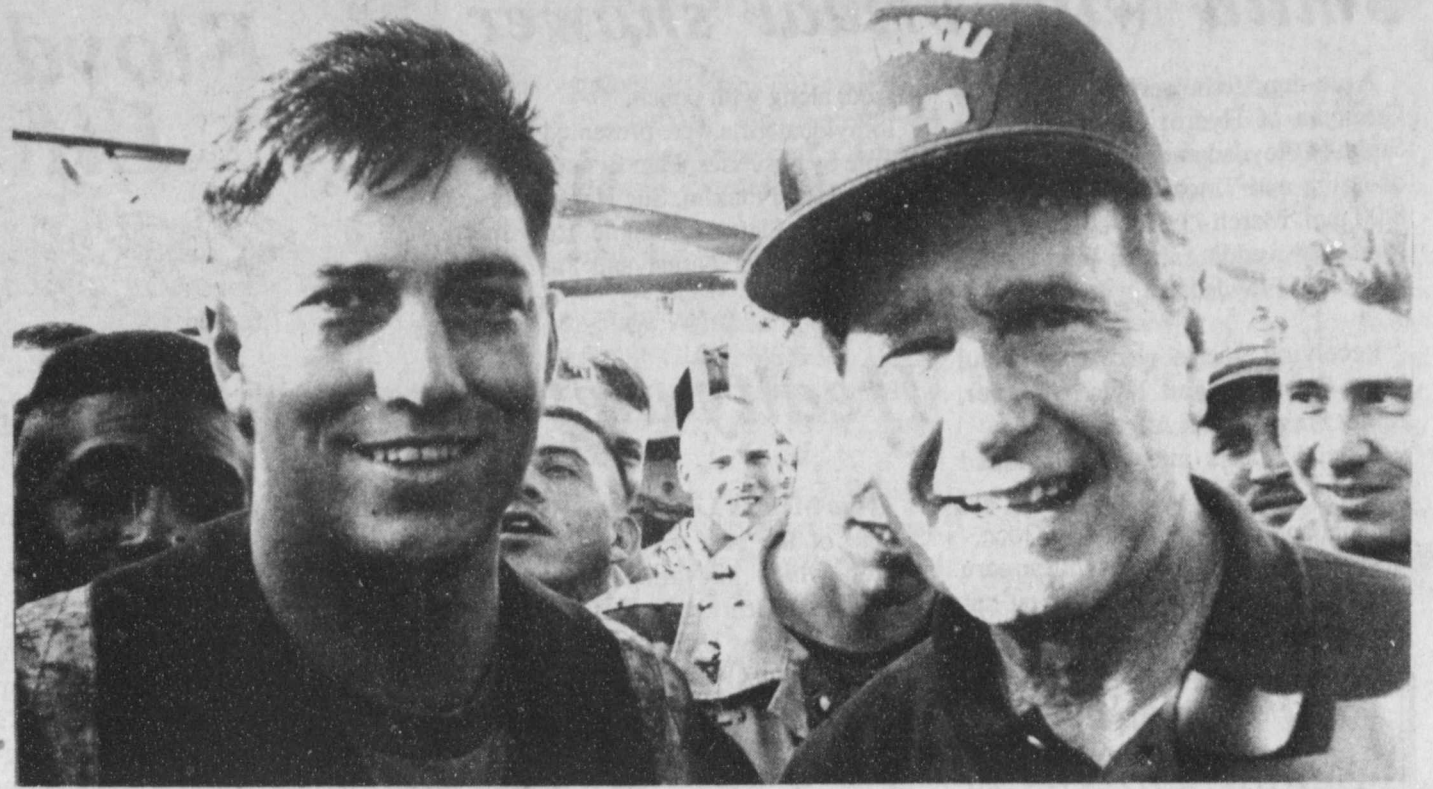

Many of the children's programs are no better and not good for young ones to watch, just to keep them quiet and entertained. The Simpsons for one should be taken off T.V. and banned. The Simpsons is the typical "Modern Day Trend," no respect, no consideration for others and foul language. The mother did all the "yelling and giving orders and the daddy is a "wimp", like always, and children having temper fits "to do their own thing" and they win. The Simpsons is not allowed on our T.V. for anyone to watch so the off button is used in this home.

It's a sad situation when a nation that calls ourselves a "Christian Nation," lives and feeds on this filth.

The young man, J.W. Poteet, is to be commended, that young man said it all in a "Nut Shell", when he said, the Bible says, "As a man thinks in his heart so is he," and "how low will we continue to believe the "Myth" that Education will solve our problems".

"We must realize ours is a "Spiritual Problem" and can only be solved by God," end of quote. "Thank God for this young man." Education has created most of our nation's decay because bit by bit God has been removed from our educational system and replaced with "Modern Day Trend" - "Me," "Myself" and "I" and "If It Feels Good Do It" and this thinking and actions will destroy us as a nation. Other nations, in past history, crumbled when they left God out and let the Devil's ways creep into man's way of thinking and acting and did their own thing with no consideration for others or the consequences of their selfish actions.

We will crumble and fall, too, unless POSING WITH THE PRESIDENT—President George Bush took time out on a visit to Somalia to pose with Marine Corporal Laron L. Cheek, son of Carolyn Cheek of Floydada. The president was on board the USS Tripoli on December 31, spending the night and a few hours on Jan. 1 with U.S. Marines and Sailors. The ship was docked at Mogadishu, Somalia. Cheek, who has been in the Marines for six years, expressed to his mother, that it was "A real honor to meet President Bush. He was very gracious and supportive of the troops." He added that he was "very friendly" and acted "just like one of the guys." Cheek has spent several months in Somalia, a month in the Persian Gulf and is now on his way back to the United States. After stops in Thailand, Okinawa and Hawaii, the USS Tripoli is scheduled to arrive in San Diego, Calif., on April 15. Cheek is stationed at Camp Pendleton.

Healty diet starts with breads and cereals

From Melissa Long, CEA-HE

One of the best ways to celebrate March which is National Nutrition Month® is by learning to eat healthfully by using the new USDA pyramid.

According to Webster, a pyramid is "an immaterial structure built on a broad supporting base and narrowing gradually to an apex." In the case of the food pyramid, it represents a general guide to selecting a healthful diet from a variety of food to obtain all the nutrients allotted and calories needed to stay healthy. Specifically you can see that the most graphic space is allowed to the Bread/Cereal/Rice/Pasta group to emphasize that 6 to 11 servings are needed daily depending on your age, size and activity level. You can obtain the recommended servings through wise selections such as:

- * Whole grain choices for increased fiber

- * Servings made with less sugar and fat (bagel, English muffin, etc.)

- * Less from baked goods made with flour (cakes, pies, etc.) and ordinarily higher in fat and sugar.

- * Reduce fat and sugar added as spreads.

- * Pastas with sauces with only half the butter or margarine and using skim milk to replace whole milk.

One serving would be as follows:

- Bread, 1 slice
- Hamburger, 1/2 bun
- English muffin, 1/2
- Small roll, biscuit or muffin, 1
- Cooked cereal, 1/2 cup
- Dry cereal, 1 ounce

- * B vitamins: thiamin, riboflavin, folic acid

- * Minerals: iron, magnesium, zinc

Remember that laying a strong foundation by eating 6 to 11 servings from the Bread/Cereal/Rice/Pasta group daily will help to supply your body's energy and nutritional needs. So celebrate National Nutrition Month® by wise selection from the USDA Pyramid daily.

Many people believe that eating bread and cereals make you fat. For most of us, that is not true. It's usually all the butter, cream cheese and sugars added to breads/cereals that adds extra calories. One serving from this group provides only about 80 calories.

Why are whole grain and enriched bread and cereal products an important part of a balanced diet? To provide the following nutrients:

- * complex carbohydrates (starches) to provide energy especially in lower fat diets recommended by various health organizations.

- * Fiber to provide bulk and to help body eliminate wastes.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi! Do hope this finds all well and happy. We are busy as bees around here it seems.

We appreciate the Rev. Clark Williams coming on Sunday for the devotion, also on Monday's. Irene Wexler played the piano, also Edna Patton, Deota Odam, Ivola Walters came and helped sing. At 2:30 p.m., the residents had arts and crafts. They made a shamrock for their door and room.

Tuesday the residents enjoyed peanut butter sandwich snacks as it was National Peanut Butter Day. We discussed the many uses of peanut butter. Some shared how they grew up eating it with jelly in their school lunches.

Wednesday the residents played games, had exercise in the morning. In the evening it was Bingo once again. Charles Breeding had the first Bingo. Mary Alice Davis came and assisted the residents.

Thursday was Penny Toss. Paul Roeder and Kermit Glover were the winners. At 2:30, Johnny Appleseed was discussed. They thought of all the uses of apple: apple butter, sauce, juice, jelly, cake, cider, dumplings, etc. They were served applesauce and apple butter sandwiches for a snack.

Friday, Kathy and Michael Holster, First Baptist Music Director, came and gave the devotional. He sang some specials and Kathy shared the word from Phil. on "Put On the Armor of God."

No bus ride Friday as it was too cold. "Name that tune" was played and the residents sang along or listened. Dominoes were also played.

We welcome a new resident, Robert Holt, husband of Helene, and father of Kenneth Holt.

Our love, sympathy go out to the family and friends of Dorothy Webb, Matador. Although she was here a short time, she touched our lives.

Ruby Holcomb, Fannie McConic, Loren Thompson are in the hospital at this time. We wish for them a speedy recovery.

"If I Could Know"

If I could know, when each day dies, If I had brought joy to some other eyes;

If I could know when falls each night I'd helped make another's life bright;

If I could know at set of sun, The fruit of some good deed I'd done, I'd count my life grander mold, Than if I'd simply gathered gold.

Your Health ★ Our Care

By Trina Wilson RN
Once upon a time, almost everyone who contracted hepatitis B was an adult. Most of the adults who developed this incurable and life-threatening bacterial infection were IV drug users or members of other high-risk groups whose likelihood of exposure to the virus was far greater than that of the general public. But, times have changed. Although the incidence of new cases of hepatitis B appears to have declined slightly in recent years, the disease continues to rage at epidemic levels throughout the U.S. Although 30-40% of all cases of hepatitis B now occur in people who have no known risk factors, the danger to children from infancy through childhood has been well documented.

Hepatitis B is highly contagious. It is 100 times more transmissible than the HIV virus, hepatitis B remains infectious even after it leaves the body, compounding the risk of exposure and infection.

Among the most vulnerable to hepatitis B are teens who are sexually active or who use street drugs and infants whose mothers are infected and who acquire the disease during their growth in the uterus. Nine out of every ten babies who are infected at birth will become chronic carriers of hepatitis B, as will half of all children who become infected before their fifth birthday. Although the characteristic flu-like illness and other symptoms of hepatitis B may be milder in children than in adults, the disease can exact its most stringent toll from its youngest victims.

Chronic hepatitis B can damage liver function, hindering normal body processes and development and impeding hormone regulation. When that happens, obesity, acne, and increase in body hair, and other hormone irregularities may occur. A child with hepatitis B may also have high blood pressure, arthritis, anemia, disorders of the colon, kidneys, or lungs.

Hepatitis B is incurable. And, for the first time in history, the existence of a safe, effective vaccine, available since 1982, has failed to noticeably lessen the incidence of hepatitis B. Because immunization is so effective in newborns who have been exposed to hepatitis B, the Immunization Practices Advisory Committee of the United States Publish Health Service has emphasized the need for universal hepatitis B screening of all pregnant women and treatment of all infants born to infected mothers. The Centers for Disease Control, the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists have suggested that all infants be vaccinated against hepatitis B.

It should be noted that casual contact between school-age children is not generally a source of infection, but anyone who lives or has sexual relations with a hepatitis B carrier should be tested for and immunized against hepatitis B. Hepatitis B immunization is also recommended for health care workers who are exposed to blood at least once a month, heterosexually active persons having more than one partner within a six-month period, recipients of certain blood products, hemodialysis patients, international travelers spending more than six months with high rates of hepatitis B, homosexually active men, clients and staff of institutions for the mentally retarded, inmates of long-term prisons, and immigrants and refugees from parts of the world with high rates of hepatitis B.

If you have questions about hepatitis B, contact your family physician.

The Best That We Can Be In '93

By Tian Younger

Seniors, 1993 is moving very rapidly, so quickly take a peek at the two special seniors this week.

Jonathan Simpson is the son of Daphna and Robert and an older brother to Timothy. This fellow accomplishes a great amount of tasks by being involved in football, track, FFA (officer), NHS (sec./treas.), FCA and yearbook for Floydada High School. His schooling has been committed here for 13 years.

Much of Jonathan's working hours are spent out on the farm, this interest of his carries over into school, because Ag is his favorite subject. I believe that his future can be determined as attending Texas Tech and obtaining a major in Agriculture.

Some of J.'s favorites include: Mexican food, Cheers, snow skiing, hunting, and the musical group The Eagles. Rush Limbaugh is greatly admired by J. and he'd jump at a chance to meet him. Why doesn't this surprise us? Perhaps because Jonathan's personality greatly parallels Rush's.

J.'s favorite thing about FHS is that everyone knows everyone else and there's no doubt that everyone knows you, Jonathan, you light up our halls with laughter.

Joyce and Julian are the parents of Spring Lipham. Spring has three sisters and three brothers and is an aunt 13 times. Wow! Spring's not hesitant in her activities and with her eight years of being in Floydada schools, she's added her own spice. Spring is presently Student Council reporter and involved in Varsity tennis. On her past records are Y.E.S., cheerleader her Jr. years, Who's Who and receiving third in tennis at District.

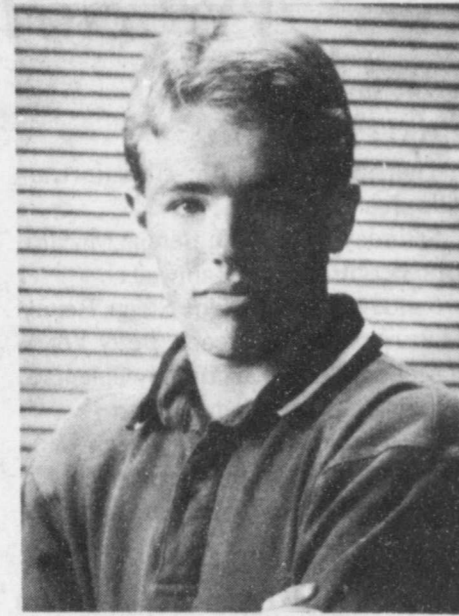

In Spring's spare time you're likely to find her teaching aerobics or singing to entertain. She loves to shop and there's no doubt that she makes quite a fashion statement!

Spring plans on attending South Plains after she wraps up her final days at FHS. She wants to start a career in public relations while she pursues her singing.

Spring is very outgoing and greatly enjoys meeting new people. I believe this former "Miss Floyd County" has the character that it takes to be the best that

'Winds compete in Plainview tourney

By Bill Gray

The Floydada Whirlwinds moved to a new level of baseball play by participating in the 3rd annual Plainview J.V. Invitational last weekend. It was the first tournament competition for Coach Jimmy Webster's second-year squad. Although the 'Winds won once and lost twice, the three outings at Plainview should better prepare the team for the District 2-3A schedule which starts in less than a month.

The Whirlwinds opened against the Borger Junior Varsity on Thursday and played well before the Bulldogs rallied with two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning for a 6-5 victory.

Coach Webster summed up the game by stating, "We played well! Gill (Michael Gilliland) kept us in the game with his pitching and hitting. Mike Ochoa also had a good game offensively. Gill must like that mound in Plainview - he has thrown great in both games he's pitched there."

Brandon Gilliland returned to the lineup and in his first at-bat this year, connected with a pinch-hit single to break a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning. According to Webster, "Borger played well and got some big hits when they needed them."

Friday's entire second round of the tournament was postponed due to snow and cold, and it was near zero degrees chill-factor for Saturday's 9 a.m. tilt between Floydada and Littlefield. It was the first baseball game in modern times between the District 2-3A rivals.

The teams were deadlocked at 7-all when the game was called due to time limit. The Whirlwinds were deemed the winner by virtue of a 11-10 tie breaker (runners reaching third base).

Floydada trailed 7-6 in the bottom of the fourth inning. With time expired, the Whirlwinds had to score one run to tie and advance a runner to third base to win the tie-breaker. Following Brandon Gilliland's ground-out, Rafael DeOchoa doubled down the left field line. Eric Luna came in to run for DeOchoa as a courtesy runner. Jesse Sanchez walked following a strikeout, and with two outs, Neal Nelson connected on his first base hit of the year, driving DeOchoa in from second base. On Nelson's single up the middle, Sanchez advanced to third - which gave the 'Winds the 11-10 advantage in the tie-breaker system.

Coach Webster commented, "It was a great game for us to win, especially after Borger had done the same thing to us in the first round. The youngsters showed a lot of character by coming back in the last inning when they knew the time limit was up."

The Whirlwinds were short of pitchers going into the tournament, and that lack of depth on the pitching staff was costly in the consolation semi-finals against Canyon Randall J.V. Gabriel DeLaFuenta made his first high school appearance as a starting pitcher. DeLaFuenta was a little shaky, as was Brandon Gilliland (in his first pitching assignment since returning from an injury).

The 'Winds allowed a couple of errors and walks get them down in the top half of the first inning, and ended up giving 6 walks, 2 hit batters, 5 errors, 7 wild pitches, 4 passed balls, and 3 stolen bases, and 13 Canyon runs. Mike Ochoa entered in the top of the second inning, retired the side with three pitches, and gave up only one run in the remaining three innings.

According to Coach Webster, "We are night and day, and we need to be a lot less night and more day! We are still young and haven't matured (baseball-wise) yet. We're gonna get there if we keep on plugging and doing things correctly. Mike Ochoa came in and did a heck of a job mopping up on the mound. We were proud of the way he came in and completed the game."

The Whirlwinds didn't give up - even being down by 13 runs in the first inning. They made a game attempt to come back and scored six runs to make the outcome of the game more respectable. Michael Gilliland and Mike Ochoa had four base hits in nine appearances (.444 average), two stolen bases, and pitched well in a losing cause in the Borger game. Ochoa was 4-8 batting (.500), scored 3 runs, 3 RBIs and one stolen base. He also pitched 7 1/3 innings, gave up only four walks and 5 earned runs, and was credited with one victory.

Floydada will take the Spring Break week off and then return to action when the Roosevelt Eagles come to Watson Field for a double-header on Saturday, March 20. The first game of the twin-bill will start at 2:00 p.m.

Selective Service rules explained

Young men who will turn 26 in 1993 will be reaching an important milestone according to the Selective Service System.

Beginning on January 1, 1993, men who were born in 1967 and were required to register with Selective Service in 1985, will be turning 26 and will no longer be eligible for induction should a draft be reinstated. Selective Service does not have the authority to accept late registrations after a man reaches his 26th birthday.

Selective Service officials warned that, with few exceptions, a man who fails to register before turning 26 will permanently forfeit his eligibility for certain programs such as federal student aid, job training and most federal employment, in addition to facing possible prosecution as a felon. Some states also require registration for state student aid, entrance to state-supported colleges and universities, state employment and permission to practice law.

Men ages 18 through 25 who have not yet registered can avoid the risk of prosecution and loss of eligibility by registering promptly at any local post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000, up to five years in prison or both.

A man is exempt from registering while he is on full-time active duty in the U.S. Armed Forces. Cadets and midshipmen at the service academies are included in the exemption. Members of the National Guard and Reserve Forces not on full-time active duty must register unless they have reached age 26 or are already registered.

Those who are unable to register due to circumstances beyond their control - for example, those who are hospitalized, institutionalized or incarcerated - do not have to register until they are released. After release, they have 30 days in which to register. Handicapped men who live at home must register if they are reasonably able to leave the home and go into a public place. A friend or relative may help a handicapped man to fill out the form if he is unable to do so by himself.

LISD board hears library report and information on school funding

By Alice Gilroy

Members of the school board for the Lockney Independent School District met for their regular meeting March 11.

Kay Williams gave a library report and discussed with the board the types of books available in schools and the need to be aware of the different types of literature that is available.

Superintendent W.H. Hallmark spoke of the upcoming election concerning school funding. He told the board members, "The best explanation for the taxpayer concerning the upcoming vote on May 1 is that the vote is in regard to how taxes are collected not on what the taxes will be. Voters need to understand that they will be voting on a process of collecting local taxes that has already been used for the past two years.

"They will be approving or rejecting the County Education Districts (CED) which was established by the legislature two years ago. A federal judge declared that it was unconstitutional because the people had not had a chance to vote on the process. The judge said if we are going to have CED's the people have to approve it, and that is what the vote is about."

Hallmark also brought the board up to date on who would be seeking positions on the LISD board in the May election. Hallmark said current board member, Dr. Gary Mangold, will not be seeking another term. Signing up for election were: Mike Mathis, Aaron Wilson and Dan Smith. Mathis is currently finishing his first term on the board.

The board approved the textbook adoptions. For a list of textbooks contact Mr. Poole, principal of Lockney High School.

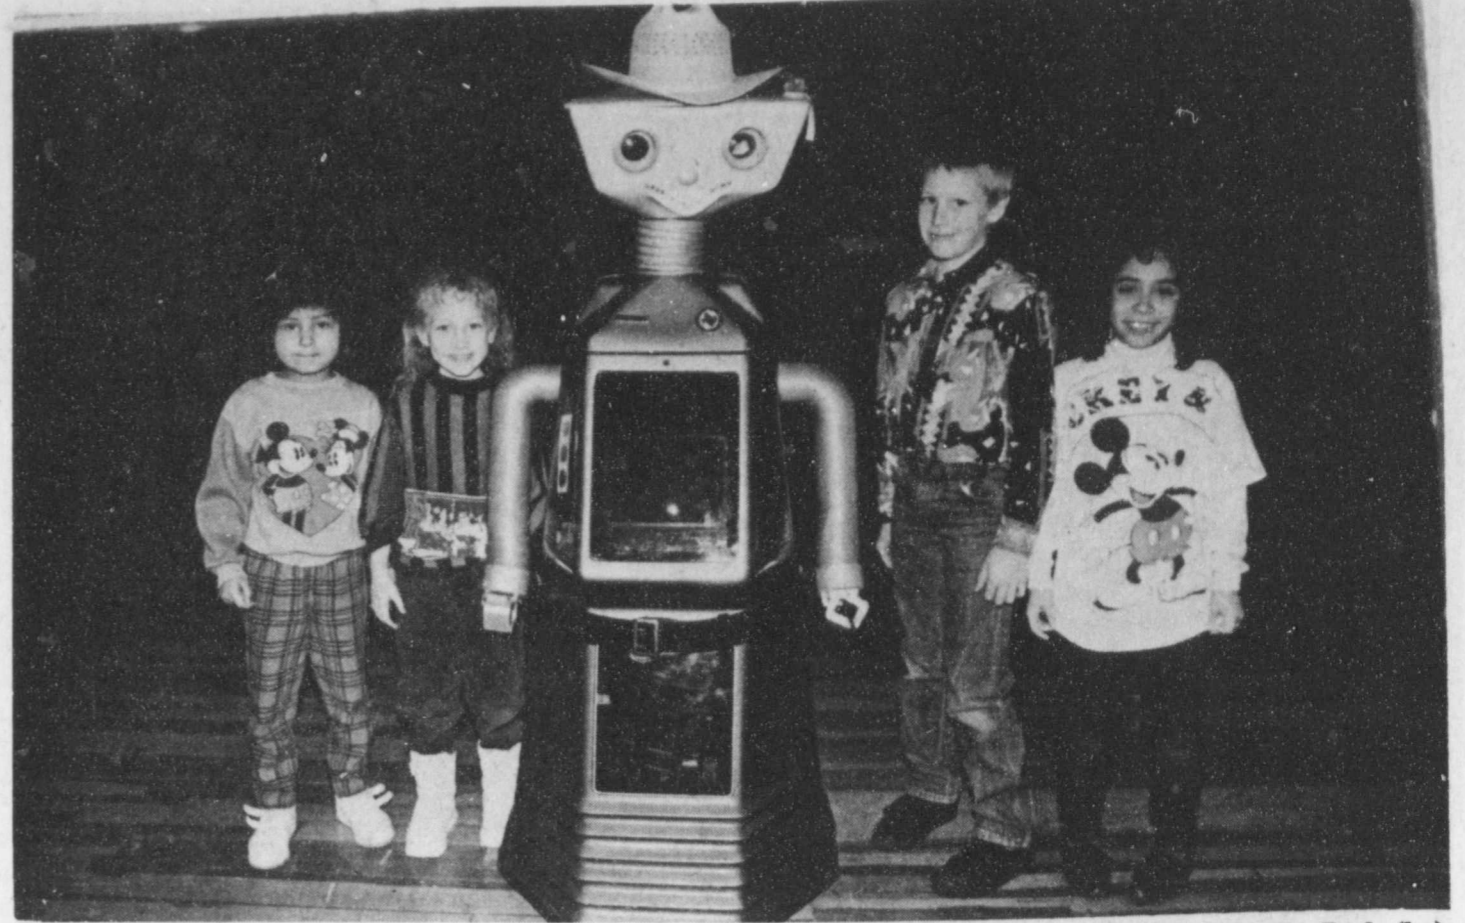

Board members approved the calling of bids on High School Band uniforms, chairs for the new gymnasium and the second phase of the gymnasium construction.

A special school board meeting will be held March 29 to accept bids.

Resignations were accepted from Peggy Hallmark and school nurse Mrs. Ulmer, both of whom are retiring. Resignations were also accepted from Coach Eddie Fortenberry and Coach Kim Kayler.

Contracts were extended on all professional personnel, bookkeepers, secretaries, bus supervisors and lunchroom supervisors.

The board heard and approved the minutes of the previous meeting, approved the payment of current bills and heard a report on investments and the tax report.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION MAY 1, 1993

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Section 1 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to redistribute among other school districts ad valorem taxes levied and collected by a school district. The amendment would also allow the legislature to create county education districts with the taxable property of existing school districts in one or more counties combined. County education districts may levy, collect, and distribute ad valorem taxes as authorized by general law. The legislature would be allowed to set the rate of the ad valorem tax to be imposed in a school district or county education district or it may authorize the board of trustees of each school district or county education district to set the rate, provided that the rate of county education district ad valorem taxes may not exceed $1.00 per $100 valuation of taxable property, unless a higher rate is approved by the voters of the district. The amendment also provides that the amount of ad valorem taxes redistributed among school districts by the legislature and effectively redistributed within a county through county education districts may not exceed 2.75 percent of the sum of the state revenue appropriated for public schools and the revenue from local ad valorem taxes levied and collected for public schools. The term "state revenue" does not include revenue from ad valorem taxes, revenue for the provision of free textbooks, or contributions to a retirement system. Finally, the amendment provides that it does not affect the distribution of the available school fund under article VII, section 5, of the Texas Constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment allowing limited redistribution of ad valorem taxes for schools, authorizing the legislature or local districts to set a minimum tax rate in county education districts, and placing a cap on the ad valorem tax levied by county education districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 2 of Senate Joint Resolution 7 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that, except for state educational mandates imposed in compliance with the Texas Constitution or federal law, or unless enacted by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the legislature, a school district may not be required to comply with an obligation requiring expenditure of school district funds unless the obligation is fully funded. The amendment also requires the legislature to provide by law a procedure for determining whether an obligation is fully funded. In the absence of such a procedure, and at the request of a school district's board of trustees, the comptroller of public accounts shall determine whether or not an obligation is fully funded. This amendment applies only to state educational mandates enacted after December 31, 1993.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment exempting a school district from the obligation to comply with unfunded state educational mandates."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes an amendment to article VII, section 5(b), of the constitution, which currently authorizes the legislature to provide for using the permanent school fund to guarantee bonds issued by school districts and certain education-related revenue bonds issued by the state. The amendment would repeal the provision authorizing the use of the permanent school fund to guarantee state revenue bonds, but would permit the legislature to provide by law for the issuance of general obligation bonds or revenue bonds of the state for the purpose of making loans to, or purchasing bonds of, school districts for the purpose of acquisition, construction, or improvement of instructional facilities, including all furnishings. The amendment also provides that the state, pursuant to general law, may forgive the payment of principal and interest on all or part of a loan made to a school district under the amendment to partially finance an instructional facility. The cap of $750 million on the amount of bonds that could be issued under article VII, section 5(b), as amended, would be retained. The amendment would repeal the current provision of the constitution permitting the legislature to authorize bonds in excess of $750 million by two-thirds record vote of both houses of the legislature. While any of the general obligation bonds issued under the amendment or any of the interest on those bonds is outstanding and unpaid, there would be appropriated out of the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year, not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, the amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds that matured or became due that fiscal year.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $750 million in state general obligation or revenue bonds to assist school districts in partially financing facilities, authorizing the state to forgive payments of loans made to a school district for partially financing facilities, and repealing the authorization for $750 million in state revenue bonds guaranteed by the permanent school fund."

"The purpose of this program is to help our youth find answers to these very important issues," said Rev. Rodriguez.

Williams shares experiences

he comes back from an injury.

Williams says, "Bull riding is 90 percent mental, 10 percent physical."

"I'll ride the bulls as long as I can ride in this level competition," says Williams. "If you ever get to listening for the whistle, then you're out. Ride for ten seconds, instead of eight seconds. That's what the bull riders say."

He says, "Physical injury and the flu will affect your performance."

Rodeo arenas can be hard to find. People living in the town may not even know where an arena is located. Sometimes the arena is located just a few blocks away. He says books are now available with the arenas' locations.

Professional rodeos are a multimillion dollar business. Computers match the cowboys with the day and the bull they ride. Rodeos are a business, a big business. Entry fees paid by the cowboys are determined by the total purse. Some rodeos have added money as an attraction for the cowboys. Added money is the money above the entry fees.

The long distances between rodeos don't seem to bother Williams, but because so much distance is involved, he tries to make a circle when he can. Williams gets as many rodeos lined up in his circle as possible.

Most of the big PRCA rodeos are invitational. Winnings are better also. A February rodeo in Guthrie, Okla., paid the winner $18,000. Williams' favorite rodeos are the big ones in Texas.

Qualification for the Texas PRCA circuit is harder than other circuits.

"It takes more money," he says. "About $4,500 to qualify. You can almost win in some circuits with that amount. Texas has more rodeos and tougher competition."

When Williams is ready to retire from bull riding, he wants to raise bulls to sell to stock producers, the ones who put on the rodeos. They have to buy PRCA membership also.

Now 31, Williams is not ready to retire yet.

Williams says, "I don't miss the miles, but I miss the places I've seen and the people I've met."
"It's what I do," says Williams. "I'm a bull rider. I ride bulls."

Approx. 100 persons attended the meeting. Congressman Larry Combest was the guest speaker. Leon Ferguson, Floyd County's director, stated the West-Tex RC&D was not funded this past year, but directors voted to continue to go forth with activities.

Brown receives highest award

The highest award given by the Texas Pest Management Association for integrated pest management (IPM) has been presented to C. Mark Brown, extension agent-pest management for Crosby and Floyd Counties.

Brown received the award at the TPMA annual meeting in Austin recently. TPMA is a non-profit grower organization which promotes safe and effective management of pests in cotton, grain sorghum, corn and other crops.

Brown joined the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in 1986, conducting an IPM program which serves the two counties. He supervises four crop scouts and a demonstration aide who each summer evaluate pest populations on some 7,000 acres of cotton, corn, sorghum and sunflower. The gross value of such crops exceeds $1 million annually.

A recently completed four-year intensive evaluation of the Crosby-Floyd Pest Management Program showed that 98 percent of the respondents to a producer survey said Brown's program had been of value to their operation.

Participants in his IPM program, compared to non-participants, had reduced insecticide costs by $1.69 an acre for cotton, $4.75 an acre for sorghum, and $17.77 an acre for corn. Yield increases for participants, compared to non-participants, was 14 pounds an acre for cotton, 274 pounds an acre for sorghum and 1,179 pounds an acre for corn.

In addition to managing this IPM program, he also assists growers in the two counties solve insect problems on 600,000 acres of crops. Brown also works with homeowners, aerial applicators, consulting entomologists and others on specific pest problems.

Ralls producer Steve Verett said

Brown's IPM program "has provided a very beneficial service to not only the participants in the program but for all producers who have attended numerous related turnrow meetings."

A native of Plainview, Brown holds an A.S. degree from Clarendon College; a B.S. in crops and entomology and an M.S. in entomology, both from Texas Tech University. While at Tech he received an award as the outstanding plant science student.

He has been named one of the Outstanding Young Men of America; holds the early-career award from Epsilon Sigma Phi, the professional society of the Extension Service, and has received district and state awards for result demonstration handbooks from the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

Among other activities, he is vice president of the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute; serves on the Crosby County Fair board, and is a member of the Texas A&M University Cotton Aphid Task Force Committee and the TCAAA professional improvement planning committee.

Case IH Axial Flow combine named "Landmark" product of past 25 years

FLOYDADA—In a survey recently released by Farm Industry News, a leading U.S. agricultural publication, farmers identified the Axial-Flow® combine among the products they felt had the most impact on their farming operations in the last 25 years.

According to Steve Brown of Brown's Implement, the Case International Axial-Flow combines feature a single large-diameter rotor that replaces the cylinder, grates and straw walkers used in conventional threshing systems. "The result is better quality grain and more of it," Brown said.

Gerry Salzman, Case product manager-combines, pointed out that Axial-Flow technology continues to offer superior advantages. "In its advertising, the competition implies gentle grain handling, but the same patented Axial-Flow technology that revolutionized combining when it was introduced in 1977 remains exclusive to Case International combines," he said.

"Of course, we've made many improvements to the combines through the years," Salzman noted. "Most recently, we introduced the higher horsepower 1644, 1666 and 1688. These feature an improved fan that provides better air quality to the cleaning system. The new Cross Flow™ fan is also patented technology offered only on Axial-Flow combines."

Brown said, "My customers take a lot of pride in what they do, and I take a lot of pride in what I do. I'm happy to be able to offer products like the Axial-Flow combines that farmers appreciate." Published monthly by the Webb Division of Intertec Publishing, Farm Industry News reaches 252,000 high-income farmers in the 12 Midwestern states. The intent of the publication is to cover new products, new technology and buying information of interest to readers.

Headquartered in Racine, Wis., Case is a worldwide manufacturer and marketer of Case International agricultural equipment and Case construction equipment. Case is a subsidiary of Houston-based Tenneco, Inc., a diversified industrial corporation with major interests in natural gas pipelines, agricultural and construction equipment, shipbuilding, automotive parts, packaging and chemicals.

Aphids detected in wheat

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Russian wheat aphids (RWA) were detected in some stressed wheat in the Crosby-Floyd area in early March. This is slightly earlier than the time they were detected last year. Late March and early April is the time when RWA numbers have historically increased rapidly.

The RWA is relatively small, approximately 1/16-inch long. It is lime-green in color with an elongated, spindle-shaped body. It is distinguished from other aphids by relatively short antennae, a projection above the cauda (tail) which gives it a "double tail" appearance, and the absence of prominent cornicles. This pest exhibits a potent toxin into the plant on which it feeds.

Injured plants exhibit white or purple longitudinal streaks. Flattened plants and tightly rolled leaves are additional symptoms of RWA feeding damage. Russian wheat aphids exist in higher numbers and cause more damage in small grains that are stressed. These aphids are typically found inside the whorl of the uppermost, tightly-rolled leaves.

To sample for RWA, one should walk across a field, randomly selecting 100 tillers. In order to prevent bias, select tillers without looking at them. Carefully examine each tiller and record the number of tillers infested. Consider any tiller with one or more Russian wheat aphids as infested.

Thresholds are based upon the cost of control and market value to the wheat. For every one percent of the tillers infested, there is a 0.5 percent yield loss. Determine the percent infested tillers and use the following table to decide if treatment is justified.

Russian Wheat Aphid Economic Threshold Using Percent Infested Wheat Tillers as the Sampling Unit*
