A view from The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

The deed is finally done. The book is finished, all 155,000 words of it, and is low in the hands of a publisher. The first publisher who looked at the draft liked it, and wants to proceed. but we were unprepared for the time element in publishing books. Over the space of a lifetime we have written thousands of news stories, and hundreds of columns, but the world of book publishing something else. The element of urgency, always present in newspaper publishing, is not there when it comes to books. One must get in line, as it were, and go through the process. It takes time, we are told. In the meantime we will go about our business, wait, and keep you ap-

So now we can get back to occasionally advising the government how it can make life better for those of us who must live under its laws, and exist more or less, under its taxation. That chore promises to be much easier, and much more fun, that writing a book.

And it's about time. We can all see what a mess Mr. Clinton gets himself in when he doesn't have the benefit of our occasional advice. He is now down to something like a record low of 36 percent in the national polls (and about 31 percent in Texas) with far more people saying he's doing a lousy job than say he's doing well.

These are many very good reasons for this. It's not merely a long string of broken promises and flip-flop in the relatively short space of five months. We have become accustomed to that. It's the whole business of inexperienced fumbling and fumbling in both domestic and foreign policy. It's the dumbness issue, the stupid tying up of a busy airport while he gets his hair cut by a Hollywood hair stylist. It's the character issue, the attempt to portray himself as something he is not, as a poor, good ole country boy from Arkansas, rather than someone schooled at the prestigious Georgetown University in Washington and at Yale and Oxford. It's the transparent hypocricy of insisting on having his picture taken at a memorial for those who had fallen in battle in Vietnam, in the company of men he would not be seen with at that time, and certainly would not have joined in their battle. Of insisting on going to West Point to address the future leaders of this nation's military, a military he once said he "loathed", but which million of our young people have been proud to be a part. So now, in an effort to salvage his faltering Presidency, Clinton has reached out to a nominal, self styled, used-to-be moderate Republican in one David Gergin, who, as a much younger person, worked in the bowels of Richard Nixon's White House speech writing team, helping polish words the President intended to utter. Gerald Ford inherited Gergin from Nixon, and, after the Carter years, Gergin served briefly, and uncomfortably, in the Reagan White House until they wised up and let him go. Finally Gergin ended up as the "editor-at-large" for U.S. News & World Report, a national magazine which had enjoyed a reputation, under David Lawrence, as a fairly conservative publication until it was bought by an exceedingly wealthy liberal named Zuckerman. In recent years Gergin, in addition to his ill-defined "at-large" duties at U.S. News, has appeared on Public Television's Friday Night Mac-Neil-Leher report, usually "analyzing" somewhat unfavorably the conservative stance in American politics. Now, at long last, he is home. The good thing about it is that he will now be off public television.

Our own concern is not for the political fate of Bill Clinton. It is for the fate of our country. And for that reason we would like to see him get his act together. The country will survive, no doubt about it. But it would be much better if it survived in at least good enough shape for the next president, and the next generation, to recognize. Part of our concern is that he has so squandered his political capital on stupid things like gays in the military he will not be in position to lead even if he comes up with

Airport lease in dispute

By Juanita Stepp

FLOYDADA — The Floydada City Council tabled bids concerning the Floydada Municipal Airport lease for operation after more than an hour of discussion at a special called meeting Tuesday, June 8. The discussion followed the opening of two bids received from potential airport operators.

A three month advertising period preceded the bid opening and submission of bids from local spray pilot Mitch Probasco and former lease holder Lillie Maye Milton and daughters Barbara Edwards and Darla Chappell. The city has been without a formal lease holder since the old lease expired several months ago. The Miltons have technically continued to be the leasing party on a month to month basis, but have not met the terms of the old lease concerning Lake's water level low service at the airport. The ladies are in the process of attempting to negotiate a sale of the personal property they own which is located on city owned airport land. The old lease specified that the operator had three options at the end of the lease. They are to sell their holdings, sublease the holdings or remove them. The only other alternative is for them is to abandon the property to the city.

The bid solicitation advertisements specified that bidders should be willing and able to comply with the recently passed city ordinance establishing minimum standards and regulations for the airport. The bidders were also informed that they must be able to execute the terms of the lease recommended by the Airport Advisory Board.

The bid from Probasco stated that he all aspects. The bid from the Milton family asked for several adjustments to the lease as well as the standards and

A private problem exists concerning the hangers and buildings at the airport which are owned by the Milton family. The family and the potential purchaser, Probasco, have not been able to arrive at an agreeable price. The council and the airport board suggested that the two parties sit down and try to come to an amicable settlement in this standoff. Mayor Hulon Carthel told the two bidding parties that the city cannot become involved in this private dispute, but that the city must move on and do Continued On Page 3

County commissioners approve election results

Meeting in a special called session, the Floyd County Commissioners canvassed the results of a Senate Runoff Election by voting precinct. The results were certified as being true and correct during the Monday, June 7, morning session. Floyd County voters cast 754 votes for Republican candidate Kay Bailey Hutchison and 230 votes for Democrat Robert (Bob) Krueger.

The court accepted a resignation from David Hart, Constable of Precincts 1 & 4. Hart resigned the post he had sought in the November General Election for "personal reasons." The resignation was effective May 31, 1993. Motion to accept the resignation was made by Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden and seconded by Precinct 2 Commissioner Floyd Jackson. The motion carried by unanimous vote.

Three farm work contracts were approved on a motion by Jackson with a second by Bearden. They are for: Ann Foster et al in Precinct 2, at a location 2 miles West and 2 miles south of Lockney, level railroad right-of-way to place land into cultivation; Fritzine Cowart in Precinct 2, at a site 1 mile east and 4 miles south of Providence to cover a slush pit and return land to cultivation; and for Bill Thompson, Precinct 2, 3 miles north and 1 mile west of Aiken to clean up old improvements to place land into cultivation. Contract #1329 for the Olga T. Miller Trust by Lindan Morris was declared void in the same motion.

Attending the brief session were Judge Bill Hardin, Commissioners Connie Bearden, Floyd Jackson and George Taylor, and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter. Precinct 4 Commissioner Howard Bishop was not present.

Hutchison Wins Senate Seat

By Juanita Stepp

Republican candidate Kay Bailey Hutchison carried Floyd County as well as the state of Texas as she defeated Democrat Robert (Bob) Krueger on her way to a seat in the United States Senate. She becomes the first woman to hold the post. This will also be the first time in more than 100 years that Texas has elected two republican senators, the other being Phil Gramm.

Floyd County voters cast a total of 754 votes for Hutchison and 230 for Krueger. Statewide, Hutchison was the winner of the unexpired senate term by a two to one margin.

Hutchison carried every voting precinct in Floyd County except Northeast Floydada, #24. That Precinct voted 8 for Hutchison and 21 for Krueger in the Saturday, June 5, Senate Runoff Election. Early voting totals from that Precinct were 9 for Hutchison and 2 for Krueger.

The results from the other Floyd County voting precincts were as follows:

Water district facing allotment regulations

By Jim Reynolds

Rigid state regulations on the Mackenzie Water District and a declining water level is forcing the district to carefully watch the amount of water allocated to member cities. With low intake into the lake and high allocation during summer months, some cities may be forced to use city wells.

"The water commission is really on our case right now," according to John Earl Simpson, general manager of the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority (MMWA)." The state agency has "really gotten strict about that this last year. We cannot exceed the plant capacity of would abide by the terms of the lease in three million gallons in any given day. That's what the water treatment plant was designed to handle."

one of the other two towns. "Cities never use 100 percent of their allocation over a 12 month period, but they frequently exceed their allotments during peak months, July and August normally," he pointed out.

Daily allocations for the MMWA member towns are: Floydada, 770,000 gallons; Lockney, 435,000 gallons;

Simpson placed the annual average use by the four towns at 600 million

He could remember only one time prior to this year when member towns had to rely on their wells. "Year before days," he said. "All four towns are 100

He added, "Every town has some reserve wells, but Silverton is pretty short. If any town requests more water than we can treat, we have to ask them to kick on a well now." This is particularly true with the state agency breathing

We are having a disagreement around

My husband felt like it was time to give our soon-to-be 7 year old son, an allowance.

He's a pretty good helper around the house and we figure if we don't start giving him an allowance we'll squander all the money ourselves and we'll never have anything to pass down to him. We're hoping he'll be the responsible one in the family and save his money. After all we are depending on him taking care of us after we spend all of our

Anyway-the argument started over how much of an allowance to give him each week. My husband told him he could have $1.00 every week.

I said—"Absolutley NOT!" He's only six years old. He can have one quarter a week."

Back and forth my husband and I went with my son right in the middle watching the argument like a tennis court referee watching the bouncing ball.

Finally I said—"Ok-Ok! 50¢." My little boy jumped in and said-

"Ok!!!!! 50¢" My husband looked at him and said, "Bad move Brandon—you should have held out for 75¢."

Next we had to think of some chores for him to do to earn that 50¢.

Dad came up with taking out the trash (particularly since Dad hates to take out the trash). So the trash was gathered and it became obvious real quick that this was too much of a chore.

But too bad-we're committed now. Brandon can't handle more than one small bag and he can't lift the dumpster lid all the way back to throw in the bag.

So Dad has to go with him and help. Serves him right. They both need to work for that 50¢.

Oh By The Way—this allowance thing brought up a question in our house. Are we supposed to take out Social Security and Withholding taxes? Can our son sue us for back pay in case we forget to pay one week? Do we have to have workman's comp in case he strains his back carrying the trash and trying to throw it in the

I thought about calling some kind of government hot line and asking, but I was afraid to. If they haven't thought of taxing allowances I didn't want to give them any ideas. If they had already thought about it-I didn't want to know.

The committee is looking for someone to take over organizing the community wide trick or treating in Floydada. The committee wants to have the trick or treating downtown again this year because Halloween falls on Punkin Day weekend again.

The committee will give $500.00 to whoever takes over this venture and we've got lots of good ideas because we learned from our past mistakes. The trick or treating is just too much for the Punkin Day committee after a full day of organizing all the other activities.

Give Anne Carthel or Roxanna Cummings a call if your club is interested. Also—more big money to give away. In an effort to decorate the city more on Punkin Days the committee has come up with a good idea. Several spots will be selected to decorate around town—especially areas that visitors passing through town will see (like the Y near the Dairy Queen for instance). These spots will be up for first come first serve to any interested club or organization. You would pick your spot and decorate it with a Pumpkin theme. The winner would take back at least $300.00—maybe more. This would be a great fund raiser for your organization and Floydada would end up looking great for out of town visitors and media!!!!

Trio of artists exhibit work at Floydada's First National Bank

FLOYDADA — The First National Bank of Floydada is proud to offer a shared exhibit of art work during the months of June and July. Three Lubbock artists, Carolyn Day, Jean Howle and Lela Spencer, all members of the West Texas Art Botanical Association, are displaying paintings in watercolor, oil, pencil, pastel and acrylic.

Subject matter includes a variety of landscapes, southwestern art, floral, still life, wild life and other subjects. The community is cordially invited to view this unusual display of talent in a wide range of subject matter and media during regular banking hours throughout the exhibition period.

Carolyn Day started painting in 1978 after raising three children. She has studied under Conny Martin, Pat Krahn, Lonnie Mason, Bettie Felder and Carol Collier. She has been the recipient of many awards in area shows. Her work is in many private collections in Dallas, Houston, Ft. Worth, Corpus Christi and Lubbock as well as being in a Denver Colorado collection.

After serving as president of the Lubbock Art Association for two years, Day is now the Public Relations Direc-

Lela Gilbert Spencer began painting full time in 1986. Prior to that, she had studied and taken classes in her spare time while raising two children. She attended Texas Tech and has studied under such fine artists as Christopher Schink, Leo Smith, Ben Konis, Pat Krahn, Clarence Kindaid, Betty Lynch

Spencer has entered works in many local regional, state and southwestern art exhibits. Her paintings are in the private collections of many individuals and she currently exhibits at the West Texas Arts & Botanical Gallery and Butler's Gallery.

A native of West Texas, Spencer loves the plains and the prairie country with the mountains close by. She says, "The wind is my friend. It brings me heat and cold, sleet and snow, sand and dirt, rain and cool breezes and grit in my teeth; but it is God's Country and I truly love it! It's my very soul."

Cancer survivors celebration set at Lubbock's Maxey Park a good idea. He has reached the point where even many of those who voted for him are now shaking their head and making jokes about the "Billary" administration.

Our advice? First, Mr. Clinton ought to quit worrying about his Hollywood friends, about creating his own Camelot. He ought to learn not to spout off in the field of foreign affairs until he has his ducks in a row. He ought to read, reread and take to heart Rudyard Kipling's "Tomlinson." Then he ought to go back and dig up his campaign promises. He has demonstrated a remarkable capacity for changing his position. It wouldn't hurt him to change again, back to where he was when he was making promises reform. He is now so low in public esteem he has no way to go but up. But even that is not guaranteed.

In fact, Mr. Clinton's inept handling of the Presidency is one of the principle reasons Kay Bailey Hutchison trounced incumbent Senator Robert Krueger so handily in Saturday's election. Krueger had the solid backing of this state's Democratic leadership, including the Governor who appointed him. Governor Richards had essentially forced other Democrats out of the race early on, providing a clear field for her choice. The result? About one-third of the vote. An incredible showing. Bozo the clown could have done about as well. There ought to be a message there, not only for Clinton and Richards, but for a bunch of Senators and Congressmen, and statehouse politicians as well.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

End of an Era?

Almost anyone that has used the airport at Floydada for any reason remembers the man that symbolizes the word and feelings of aviation in Floyd County, and at his own expense, liability and hard work maintained and improved the bare ground. We all enjoy the fruit of his labor, the hangers and serv-

Of course, the man was Grigsby "Doodle" Milton. He should have a plaque placed at his most beloved place, the Floydada City Airport. But only the spirit roams now, cancer has claimed this man after a long and great career. Now to the present.

The Milton heirs, his widow and daughters, have continued to provide at a lower cost than anywhere else in the tradition of their husband and father. But last Monday they were served notice that their lease has been cancelled.

Since that time much talk has been going on. The city attorney has taken the Mesquite Airports contract and rules and has submitted it to the Floydada Airport Board and the city council, and it was adopted as presented.

Now folks, these documents are 84 pages long and very complex. Now as it stands as of Tuesday, June 8, two proposals have been submitted to the City of Floydada.

One by Mitch Probasco, a member of the Airport Board, to lease only the land that the hangers and building occupy, for a sum of $600.00 per year. The hangers and building are owned by the Milton heirs.

The only other proposal was from the Milton heirs to continue the service and hangers and fuel much as it has been for Now after much talk. The Miltons are forced to the edge of a cliff. To quote the Milton family, "We are being forced into three choices.

"One—to sell it for less than half the price we've asked; two-to sub-lease or -three-to move the property."

Now folks that brings up a few questions I would like to ask.

How does the role of landlord by the city of Floydada look to future businesses that want to lease anything in Floydada?

Does this sound like a good way to reward the services and work of a very good family trying to maintain control of their property? I think not.

The Milton family needs your support and the city council and the Airport Board needs your comments. Because the gavel falls next Tuesday night. Is this the end of an era? I hope not. Lon M. Roberts A Ralls resident

Dear Editor,

Just a note to express our appreciation for the City RV Park that was provided a few years ago for the benefit of recreational vehicles and club groups.

My wife and I are from Plainview originally, but moved to Alabama in 1950. We have made annual trips from there to Plainview for the past 43 years.

Eight years ago, we bought our first RV and now make our trips in that. We so much enjoy being able to spend one to two nights at your park in order to rest and also to visit with our niece, Carla

We always fill up our gas tank in Floydada and usually go to Dairy Queen on 70 East or buy a few groceries while in your city. We feel that obligation since your nice park is available to us free of charge.

Thank you very much.

WATER LEVEL DECREASES

"We've had six inches at the most enter the lake this year," Simpson said. "It's been practically nil." To date in 1993, "we have pumped out more than came in. It's really been that way every since '85."

Water from the lake was first distributed to member towns in 1984.

One June 1, the lake's depth stood at 88.7 feet, measured at the intake tower adjacent to the dam. That is 6.2 feet less than the 94.9 feet measured on the same date last year.

Asked about the average depth on June 1, the water authority general manager responded, "That would sure be a guess. We started with nothing and reached our high in October, 1985: 114.9 feet. It has been decreasing since that time."

How does the present lake depth translate into acre feet of water? According to records from late March, Mackenzie Lake contained 12,540 acre feet. That was the latest monthly update available at the time of the interview.

"This is not scientifically correct," Simpson explained, "because we don't know how much sediment is in the lake."

The water authority official was asked, "At the present allocation rate, how long would the lake have enough water to serve the four towns?"

His response: "That would be a guess. If I knew how much sedimentation is in here, I could go to my formula and figure it out real easy. Just as a guess, I would say we would have three full years." This estimate is based on current lake reserve without considering intake.

Intake has been skimpy in recent

"We're on the fifth year in which all we've had have been slow rains, and we haven't had a lot of runoff" to enter the lake, Simpson said.

He pointed out, "In September and October 1985 we had a 36-foot rise," which was the Briscoe County lake's largest intake. "In 1977, we had a big rise out here, but it was not as large at

Carthel indicated that the only other course of action would be for the council to reject both bids and scrap the ordinance, starting again from scratch to formulate a new ordinance for airport

Junior Brandon Gilliland batted .288. with 18 RBIs and a home run, was second team at the first base position. Gilliland also pitched quite a lot, and saw some action behind the plate. A holdover basketball injury kept Brandon out of the lineup the first third of the season, but he came on strong to make a lot of contributions in district action. Mercado had an excellent rookie campaign, batting .292 with 8 RBIs, 8 stolen bases and 22 runs scored. With all the schools of the district now having baseball programs, this was the first year for All-District selections.

Congratulations are in order for those Whirlwinds making All-District. Good year, Gill...we're all going to miss your leadership cows to be milked in the Abilene area! Just be sure to handle them with (?) gloves. Jed will be back in '94 and will be a driving force and a team leader. The all-around excellent performances by Mercado are only a hint of what's to come in the next three years.

And, speaking of "what's to come," the Floydada Power and Light Jr. Babe Ruth Team, managed by Edd Henderson, Jr., is making waves in the Plainview Optomist Summer League. Edd's team is composed almost entirely of people who'll be entering their Freshmen year at FHS in the Fall. They have jumped out to a 2-0 record in that very competitive 15-team league. So far, they have has outstanding performances by Monty Anderson (pitching and catching), Angel Aleman (pitching and catching), Tomas Barrientos (shortstop) and Chad Hinkle (pitching and second base). They ate playing most of their schedule at the Plainview parks, although they draw one of the better Plainview teams for a rare home appearance at Watson Field on June 19 (those folks who thought the expenses incurred in up grading our baseball facility were unnecessary should start eating their words...Watson Field will be utilized more and more for games such as this, and will draw a lot of people to Floydada in to coming

Coach Jimmy Webster has announced a two-day "Texas Tech Baseball Camp in Floydada on Friday., June 18 and Saturday, June 19. SPECIAL NOTICE

All Sixth Grade and Seventh Grade band students who earned medals at the Floydada Band Festival need to come to the high school band hall on Monday afternoon, June 14, between 1:00 and 3:00 p.m. to pick up your medals. If you can not be there at that time, your medals will be held until you make arrangements to pick them up or until school starts in August.

Eight earn ratings in state competition

Eight Floydada High School band students received ratings in State Solo and Ensemble Competition held in San Marcos on May 31. Eleven students and sponsors attended the contest. Students participating earned the right to advance to state by receiving a Division I rating at the regional level earlier this year.

Emily Parks (trombone solo), Amanda Parks (clarinet solo), Joni Smith (twirling solo) and Viola Hernandez (twirling solo) each earned a Division II rating on their performances. This rating denotes the students as being in the top ten percent of the high school students in the state.

There is only one level above this, a Division I rating, denoting those at the top of the collegiate level. A Division III rating indicates those in the top twenty five percent of state students and a Division IV rating applies to those judged to be average students on a statewide basis. Micheal Gilliland (contra alto clarinet solo), Aaron Noland (clarinet solo), and Amber Poole (twirling solo) earned Division III ratings. The trombone quartet, comprised of Emily Parks, Tara Vickers, Scott Crader and Ian McIntosh, also rated a Division III. Jennifer Bramlett (clarinet solo) was awarded a Division IV.

According to band director John Odom, "All the students worked very hard and each represented Floydada High School very well during this trip."

Lockney Girl Scouts honored with awards

by Carol Huggins Five troops of Girl Scouts in Lockney received special recognition and awards during their recent Court of Awards Ceremony.

All the troops worked together to present an impressive Flag Ceremony to begin the program. Flags and banners that were presented were U.S. Flag, Texas Flag, Girl Scout World Association Flag, Caprock Council Flag, Brownie Banner, and Daisy Banner. The girls led the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, pledges to the flags, and the Girl Scout Promise.

Following the Flag Ceremony, each troop leader presented her troop with their awards and the patches her troop had earned during the year. Each girl also received her yearly mem bership star-from one year to seven years.

The highlight of the evening was the Bridging Ceremony. An impressive glittering rainbow and a rainbow-colored bridge were the backdrops for the ceremonies. Daisy Troop 43 (Kinder-

Riley announced as chairman

Announcement of the Chairman and members of the Texas State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Committee June 2 was welcome news for High Plains cotton producers. According to Lubbock based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) the selection of Ray Joe Riley, of Hart, as Chairman of the State ASCS Committee bodes well for the future.

Riley, who grows cotton and a number of other crops, farms in Castro, Deaf Smith and Lamb counties. His extensive experience includes farming, serving for many years as a member of the PCG Board of Directors and as President of PCG as well as being involved in a number of other agricultural and civic organizations.

"PCG believes Ray Joe Riley's selection as Chairman of the State ASCS Committee will serve the High Plains cotton producers well in the years to come," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "His prior experience as a member of the State ASCS Committee combined with his knowledge of federal farm programs makes him an excellent choice for this posi-

In addition to Riley, the four other members of the State ASCS Committee are Ed Lehman of Vernon, Raul Tijerina of Brownsville, Vera Harrington of Sulphur Springs, and Gerald Clark of Edna. In a previous announcement Harold Bob Bennett was named ASCS State Executive Director.

Looking for an adjective to describe the start of the 1993 crop isn't easy according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG).

Spotted, spotted was one description that came out of a bi-weekly meeting of High Plains crop watchers June 4. The meeting was held at PCG's Lubbock office and is designed to help provide a comprehensive report on the status of the area's cotton crop and

The general feeling after the meeting was that the biggest need at the moment is a general rain across the area to offset the dry conditions that exist around the area. This comes as no surprise to area producers that have planted as much as 85 percent of the 3.2 million acres expected to go into cotton in 1993.

PCG officials note that much of the nonirrigated acreage planted at this time has been put into dry seedbeds in hoped that rain will arrive to bring it up to a stand. Many producers seem to be remembering the 1992 crop when dry conditions that caused many to wait for moisture turned into a deluge eventually preventing them from planting cotton at

Producers with crop insurance also face reduced coverage levels if their acres are not planted by certain dates.

The Changing Face of Agriculture

By Rick Perry

Agriculture Commissioner

Agriculture has evolved from the mom and pop operations that scratched out their living across rural America into one of the largest, most sophisticated industries in the world.

We owe this evolution to new technologies that have enabled farmers and ranchers to produce the most abundant harvests in our country's history. At the same time, technology has provided the means to develop new and efficient methods of conserving water and soil.

Not that farmers and ranchers ever took conservation lightly. They are stewards of the land whose most valued resources are soil and water. More efficient methods of irrigating crops and preventing soil erosion, however, are allowing them to protect those resources with better results than were possible in

These figures will help illustrate what I mean. In 1976, Texas farmers irrigated about 8.7 million acres of farmland. By 1983 irrigated acreage had dropped to 8 million acres - an improvement to be sure but not big enough. More efficient irrigation was needed to conserve water and reduce runoff.

Texas responded by developing systems that reduce water loss and use less energy. Improved sprinkler systems, for example, apply water beneath the plant canopy instead of spraying it overhead. Because plants are watered as close to the ground as possible, wind and evaporation losses are decreased greatly.

These systems operate at lower water pressures, which lowers fuel consumption. When they are used in combination with dikes - small earthen basins that trap rainfall and irrigation water — their application efficiency jumps from 60 percent to 90 percent.

A ground-level pipeline irrigation system, which wasted water and energy, has been modified to conserve both by watering in cycles. This system takes advantage of the soil's natural surfacesealing properties. It also distributes moisture more evenly.

Other innovations are reducing soil erosion. These include new planting practices and farm implements used in no-till and minimum tillage farming

Many farmers have adopted residue management techniques to replenish soil and hold it in place. Crop rotation planting post-harvest cover crops such as wheat and hay grazer - protects land from wind and water erosion. What's more, these crops replenish organic matter, enriching soil with nutrients needed to grow next season's cash crops. It's the equivalent of raising your own fertilizer.

Crop rotation also interrupts the life cycles of harmful insects. Weeds can be controlled with herbicides applied selectively and at lower rates.

To support these soil conservation methods, farm equipment has been designed to plant through crop residues without exposing rich subsoil to the

It is estimated that a quarter of the 281 million acres of U.S. cropland is under some type of residue management. New farm legislation will place roughly half the land under a similar system within two years. Because farming of this type calls for fewer pesticide applications and lower maintenance, farmers can save 25 to 30 percent of crop production costs. More acreage can be farmed for less money while soil is replenished and conserved for future use.

Texas farmers and ranchers have a choice in what they do, and they are making good choices. With technology and new management techniques, they are striving to leave the land better than they found it. And they are ensuring the continued success and evolution of the time-honored Texas profession of farming and ranching.

No doubt about it. Mom and pop have come a long way.

members of the church to let them know of the plans and to learn how many might return for the events. Everyone is

Final plans underway for Centennial Celebration

Final plans are underway by First Baptist Church, in Matador, in anticipation of its centennial celebration, Saturday and Sunday, June 26-27, according to announcements by the centennial committee and Gaylon Cox, pastor.

Activities will begin on Saturday when an informal welcome reception will be held from 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. in the fellowship hall, followed by a sandwich supper from 5:30 p.m to 6:30 p.m. An evening program and worship service set for 7:00 p.m. will be in progress after the supper until 8:30 p.m.

A program and worship service Sunday morning will begin at 10:30 a.m. and continue until noon when a catered lunch will be served. Concluding the scheduled activities will be an afternoon program and worship period from 2:00-3:00 p.m. Customary Sunday School and evening services will be dispensed with for the occasion, it was further announced.

Thirty-two pastors have served the church since its organization on May 14, 1893 by six charter members and designated as "Matador Missionary Baptist Church" but later changed to First Baptist Church of Matador by common usage. Nine former pastors who served here during the past 20 years will appear on the programs and worship services scheduled.

Rev. Miller Robinson of Snyder will deliver the evening message Saturday, and other speakers will be Rev. Larry Heard of Pampa and Rev. Jerry Golden of Lorenzo. Sunday morning speakers will be Rev. Bruce Oliver of Austin, Rev. Gene Joplin of Midland, and Rev.

"Hello, Operator."

That's how thousands of Texans greet us every day.

We're the Southwestern Bell Telephone Operators ... and we're ready to help you with your local and long-distance calling needs. Every day, Around-the-clock.

Like Directory Assistance that provides you with phone numbers, addresses and ZIP codes. And our Call Completion Service that connects you with your requested number so you don't have to hang up and dial it yourself.

Southwestern Bell Operators also think it's important to teach children about telephone safety. As a reminder, please take time to review with your child how to reach help in an emergency.

Then, practice these emergency calling procedures until your child can dial "0" for Operator -- or call a specific emergency number if used in your area. Children should also memorize their home phone number, including the area code, as well as your neighbor's number and your work number.

We hope you never have to call with an emergency. If you do, however, we're here when you need us to handle the call.

Southwestern Bell Operators help make Southwestern Bell the one to call on in Texas.
