Oh dear, Senator Moynihan, the new Democratic chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has gotten his tail in a small crack. Not serious, mind you. Just a small embarrassment.

Upon assuming his new position, which he inherited when Lloyd Bentsen gave it up, along with his Senate seat, to become Clinton's Secretary of Treasury, a letter was sent out to a variety of well-heeled folks who might have some interest in his future plans as chairman. The letter, if we are to believe press reports, noted his new position and suggested a contribution of $5,000 would be appreciated. The money, we presume, would be used wisely when the distinguished New York Senator next ran for election.

Access to Mr. Moynihan promises to be a good bit cheaper than was the case, temporarily at least, with Mr. Bentsen. You may remember, gentle reader, that when Bentsen became chairman of that powerful committee, he formed a sort of "breakfast club," wherein interested lobbyists could have breakfast with the Texas Senator for only $10,000 a throw. That little venture lasted only long enough for it to become public, whereupon the Senator publicly confessed his error and the operation folded. His conscience didn't bother him. The publicity did.

This whole matter poses some problems for us. We can't figure whether it means that Moynihan is twice as cheap as Bentsen, or Bentsen is twice as expensive as Moynihan, or what. After all, with Bentsen one at least got ham and eggs for breakfast. But I don't remember breakfast costing that much in Washington. True, coffee served by a documented worker costs only 60 or 70 cents a cup, but if one goes to those places that cater to Senator or Congressmen the price is likely to be higher. In fact the cost of keeping them in a style to which they have become accustomed seems to keep going up. That celebrated pay raise that caused all the ruckus a while back has now risen to a "salary" of more than $130,000 per year. (Cost of living adjustments and all that). And, quite naturally, the potential "retirement" benefits have risen accordingly.

In fact, we've gotten to the point where it could be argued that we would be better off keeping our elected officials in office until they die, no matter how bad they are. A spend-thrift Congressman driven from office by unhappy taxpayers simply gives up the perks of office for the lucrative perks of retirement. And quite often he merely moves over into the lobby, where he has as much influence as he had as an elected official. We then have to fund the new one, and we have to fund the guy we've gotten rid of. Perhaps that's what our officials were thinking when they set up the present retirement system. For them it's a win-win situation. For the taxpayers it's a lose-lose situation.

Oh well, upward and onward. The recent landslide for Kay Bailey Hutchison must have a lot of Statehouse politicians, as well as national politicians, looking at their hole card. For a brief period our Governor was the toast of national as well as state politics. In the glow of adoring publicity she was viewed as having the inside track to just about anything she wanted. That talk has largely faded.

First was the Lena Guerrero thing. At the height of her own popularity she named her exceedingly close friend Lena to the Railroad Commission, and championed her even after she admitted making fraudulent claims about her background. The people, when they had a chance to vote on the matter, turned down the Governor's choice. Then there was the school finance thing, where she came out four-square for a constitutional amendment that the voters turned down decisively. Then there was the Bob Krueger thing, where she forced other potential candidates out of the race so her choice could have a clear field. The results were even more disastrous. In politics all those things have meaning.

Still, Governor Richards is an astute politician when it comes to group politics. She may have displayed a notice-

City forced to take bids on trash hauling

By Juanita Stepp

FLOYDADA — City Manager Gary Brown told the Floydada City Council that existing landfill facilities will no longer be able to accept any waste material after 11:59 P.M. on October 8, 1993. This is the closing date set by the Texas Water Commission for the local landfill at the existing location. His announcement came at the regular meeting of the council on Tuesday, June 15.

Brown followed the closing notice with the fact that there can be no new pits dug at the recently permitted new landfill location due to a federal court ruling allowing for no exemptions from Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations. He passed out an information flyer urging all interested citizens to write to Ms. Carol Browner, Administrator of the U. S. EPA in an effort to change the situation. The address is 401 M Street, Washington D.C. 20460.

Brown said, "A strong protest from the county citizenry is our best means of protest at this time." Possible injunctions and lawsuits against the agency are being discussed by local and state officials, according to Brown, but citizen protest would be the fastest means of getting the message to Washington. The current situation has forced the City of Floydada to approve seeking bids for the hauling of local wastes to another landfill. Brown stated that the new system needs to be "in place and operating within sixty days."

According to Brown, there are no provisions for handling county trash and garbage when the city landfill facility closes. Lockney has already closed their landfill and no county facility exists.

A motion by Tipton with a second by Cornelius was passed unanimously authorizing the city manager to draft bid specifications and advertise for bids. The motion passed by unanimous vote.

The Floydada Municipal Airport lease was awarded to Mitch Probasco after a report from the Airport Board confirmed that he and the Milton family had reached an agreement concerning the purchase of their property at the facility. Motion to give the bid to Probasco was made by Cornelius and seconded by Burns. The vote was unanimous.

...Minutes from the previous meetings were reviewed and approved as presented.

...Payment of monthly bills was authorized.

...Motion by Councilman Wayne Tipton, seconded by Councilman Amado Morales, was unanimously approved adopting an ordinance to set dates for two public hearings concerning the annexation of property along the Ralls Highway. Dates set were for the regular meeting nights in July and August.

...Bill Brown was unanimously appointed to serve the remainder of resigning Airport Board member Mitch Probasco's term which ends October, 1993. Resignation of Probasco was accepted in the same motion by Councilman Leroy Burns with a second by Councilman Clar Schacht.

... During Public Forum time, Tommy Collins spoke, inviting city officials to attend the Saturday, June 19, festivities at Annie Taylor Memorial Park for the unveiling of the monument to the late Mrs. Annie Taylor.

...Marie Jones was directed to the Floyd County Historical Museum and the Floyd County Commissioners Court concerning her efforts to trace the history of the East Forest Lawn Cemetery a few miles southeast of town and her efforts to have the road to the cemetery repaired.

...Proposals were reviewed and Kay Howard of Howco was accepted as the consultant for grant projects due to begin in the near future. Her bid for the work was $17,500.00. The only other bid came from Gary Traylor and Associates and was $25,000.00. Motion to accept the Howco bid came from Councilman Eric Cornelius, was seconded by Morales and passed unanimously.

...Council members voted unanimously to reduce the cost of renting the RV Pavilion based on a recommendation from the Whirlwind Sam's Club. Rent in the past has been $50.00 per day. New fees will be $35.00 per day or $25.00 per half day. Clubs renting 10 spaces or more would receive the use of the pavilion at no charge. Motion was made by Tipton and seconded by Schacht.

...A brief discussion of the need to add additional personnel to the Floydada Police Department was initiated by Councilman Burns. No formal action was taken. Budget preparation for the next year will take the possibility into consideration and council members were asked to seriously consider the proposed hiring of another patrolman.

...Monthly council meeting day was changed to third Thursday evening of the month beginning with the July session.

...A possible cooperative effort with SPAG to file and develop forms for Cable TV regulation was tabled until a later date as the deadline for applying for local regulatory power has been postponed until October 1, 1993.

...Dr. Antoine Albert was appointed to serve as the City Health Official, replacing Dr. Andy Hale.

Parents question Floydada ISD school calendar

By Juanita Stepp

A small contingent of school parents met with the Floydada Independent School District on Monday, June 14, to express their concerns about the length of the upcoming 1993-94 school year and the manner in which the school calendar is formulated.

Julianne Cornelius, president of the A. B. Duncan PTA, asked the board to explain why it is necessary to begin school in the middle of August, taking away a week of the children's summer vacation. FISD Superintendent Jerry Cannon told the group that the additional five days had been mandated by the state legislature but left the scheduling to the discretion of the local district. He also said the local site based decision making committee had recommended semester exams be given prior to the Christmas break to avoid the disruption of being out of school for two weeks just before the tests.

Cannon pointed out that the August 16 first day of school is only three days earlier than the opening day of school last year and that until now, Floydada was the only school in the area that does not end the first semester before the Christmas break. He also explained that the legislature had set the school year at 180 school days and the FISD school calendar has scheduled 86 days for the first semester and 94 days for the second semester to achieve the required number of days.

Cannon told the group the only no school days slated for the first semester were Labor Day and three days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, at Thanksgiving. All staff development days were set up to occur during the second semester.

Cornelius told the board that the parents were concerned that the extension of the school year might be leading to year around school. She was assured that no such intention exists.

Asking if there was a PTA representative on the site based decision making committee, Cornelius was told there was. Grant Hambleight, who has been

RESIDENTS COMPLAIN OF TRASH--Lockney residents residing in neighborhoods close to the city's roll-off boxes are taking their complaints of unsightly trash to Lockney's council. Councilmen continue to wrestle with the problem of stopping individuals from taking advantage of the roll-off boxes and discarding large appliances etc., next to the box. The boxes were intended for grass clippings, limbs, furniture and lumber up to 6 feet long.

Lockney looking for alternatives to roll-off boxes

By Cindy Perez

Alderman Gary Marr opened the Lockney City Council meeting on Thursday, June 10, with the hope of finding an alternative plan to "clean up" the local roll-off boxes and the area surrounding them. Marr presented many comments to Mayor Kenneth Wofford about the problems that are arising concerning the drop boxes which are located south of the city at the city barn.

It seems that many people of Lockney have taken advantage of the roll-off boxes and have started leaving things that are not permitted. Also, other citizens have started leaving appliances and other such trash in the alleys around the trash dumpsters.

The council decided that the roll-off boxes did need to be cleaned up on a daily basis.

"We don't want the citizens of Lockney to lose the roll-off boxes, but nothing is being done to keep them clean," said Alderman Marr, "however we do not want to get rid of them at the moment."

Another alternative suggested was to build a fence around the boxes, to conceal what is left around them. Some estimates were considered, but no action was taken.

"This is an on-going problem," Mayor Wofford commented, "one that we will be looking at for many years to come."

The next item on the agenda to be discussed was the purchasing of railroad right-of-way. After discussion the council voted to purchase the railroad right-of-way on Highway 378 that connects with the Lockney Cemetery at a cost of $732.00. This action was taken in order to keep the Lockney Cemetery from flooding.

The councilmen also voted to purchase the railroad right-of-way that the city's sewer lift sits on. The sewer lift is located on West Locust. The cost of purchasing the site was $100.00. Motion was made by Alderman Bill Anderson and seconded by Alderman Roger Stapp.

Alderman Marr moved to grant a permit to Southwestern Company to sell door to door throughout the month of June, provided no complaints arise. The motion was made by Gary Marr and seconded by Alderman Bill Anderson.

The council discussed the opening of the swimming pool and they agreed on the changes in the hours that the swimming pool would be open. It was decided that the pool will be open Monday through Saturday from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Sunday from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. The council also discussed the possibility of anyone caught swimming in the pool after pool hours. Those who are caught swimming in the pool will be banned from the pool throughout the entire summer.

Other regular business of the council included the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, the paying of current bills and reviewing the financial statement.

Present at this month's city council meeting were Aldermen Gary Marr, J.D. Copeland, Roger Stapp and Bill Anderson, City Secretary Charlotte Hooten, Mayor Kenneth Wofford and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Ceremony will unveil Taylor monument

A dedication ceremony for the unveiling of the Annie Taylor monument will be held at the Annie Taylor Park, June 19. Taylor died May 28, 1992 at the age of 90. Her death came three weeks before the dedication of a stone monument in her honor at the Annie Taylor Park. The ceremony was postponed at that time and will now be held this Saturday.

The ceremony will start with a march from Mt. Zion Baptist Church to the park beginning at 12:00 noon. The unveiling of the marker will be at 2:00 p.m.

A revered member of the community, Annie Marie Franklin Taylor was the first black teacher in Floydada and taught in the North Ward School in northeast Floydada from its beginning January of 1926 through the conversion to Della Plains, until the school was closed in 1967. Taylor taught five more years at Floydada Junior High and retired in 1972 after a 45 year career.

Annie (Franklin) Taylor was born in Washington, Texas, September 26, 1901, to Scott Franklin and Mattie (Wells) Franklin. She left Washington County in 1926 to come and teach school in Floydada. She arrived by train from Brenham, Texas.

Annie boarded at the City Hotel for one month and met her future husband, Charlie Taylor, while staying at the hotel. They married Feb. 20, 1926 in the school building.

"Our first home was a three room building behind the City Hotel," wrote Taylor in the book, Floyd County History. "In 1928 we moved across the tracks to a four room house. We built a seven room modern home in 1952."

Charlie Taylor cooked at the City Hotel, the Floydada Hospital, and took care of Colonel Thomas Montgomery. He also worked at Piggly Wiggly and the Palace Theater.

The North Ward School opened its doors the first Monday in January, 1926 for black children with Annie Franklin as teacher. The school was a one-room building near the lake in northeast Floydada. In 1946-1947 the enrollment had increased to fifty students and the second teacher was hired. Other teachers were hired as the enrollment increased.

In 1959 a new site and school building was erected. This school was closed in 1967 because of integration and Annie then taught 5 years at Floydada High School.

FIRST BLACK STUDENT AT WAYLAND BAPTIST

In the summers, Annie attended college earning a Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degree from Prairie View A&M College. In the summer of 1951 she became the first black student enrolled at Wayland College. With the admittance of Taylor, the college became one of the first private schools in Texas and the first non-seminary school in the Southern Baptist Convention to admit blacks.

Wayland accepted 48 year old Taylor after she requested admittance to receive accreditation from the Texas Education Agency to receive a new contract to teach elementary students at Della Plains.

In a January 1982 interview with the Plainview Herald, Taylor said, "I had majored in education and needed some elementary education courses so I could continue teaching 5th and 6th grade reading, so I made an application at Plainview since it was close. Otherwise, I would have had to go back to Prairie View A&M near Houston."

The story made Time and Ebony magazines and to wide display around the state and country.

A Time article stated, "Wayland has received inquiries from Negroes before, but not until Miss Annie sent a transcript of her record did the college find one who was academically qualified. Like other Southern colleges, Wayland might well have waited until the courts ordered an end to racial restrictions. But one day before the Spring term ended, Wayland's president, Dr. J.W. "Bill" Marshall, called faculty and students away from final exams, asked them to vote on Miss Annie's application. No faculty members, and only nine out of 274 students, had any objection.

PROFESSIONAL AWARDS

West Texas State University awarded her The Texas Panhandle Award for Distinguished Service in 1977. She was selected Teacher of the Year in 1962 by the 1956 Study Club.

She was also a member of the Texas State Teacher's Association, the National Education Association, the Spirit of Sharing Organization in Floydada, and served on the Floyd County Day Care Board and the Floydada Senior Citizens Board.

She had been a member of Mount Zion Baptist Church, teaching Sunday School, singing in the choir and serving as financial secretary.

She also worked with the Salvation Army, the Red Cross and The American Cancer Society on fund drives.

Charlie and Annie Taylor had five children. The oldest child, Espernola, was born July 19, 1927. She was the fifth black child born in Floyd County. Espernola Taylor Fort now resides in Wichita, Kansas.

Other children are Iva Jewell Bonner, of Floydada, Charles, of Lubbock, and Joyce Marie Jelks, of Houston. A second son, Franklin preceded his mother in death.

Annie's husband, Charlie, died August 21, 1956.

The North Ward School opened its doors the first Monday in January, 1926 for black children with Annie Franklin as teacher. The school was a one-room building near the lake in northeast Floydada. In 1946-1947 the enrollment had increased to fifty students and the second teacher was hired. Other teachers were hired as the enrollment increased.

In 1959 a new site and school building was erected. This school was closed in 1967 because of integration and Annie then taught 5 years at Floydada High School.

FIRST BLACK STUDENT AT WAYLAND BAPTIST

In the summers, Annie attended college earning a Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degree from Prairie View A&M College. In the summer of 1951 she became the first black student enrolled at Wayland College. With the admittance of Taylor, the college became one of the first private schools in Texas and the first non-seminary school in the Southern Baptist Convention to admit blacks.

Wayland accepted 48 year old Taylor after she requested admittance to receive accreditation from the Texas Education Agency to receive a new contract to teach elementary students at Della Plains.

In a January 1982 interview with the Plainview Herald, Taylor said, "I had majored in education and needed some elementary education courses so I could continue teaching 5th and 6th grade reading, so I made an application at Plainview since it was close. Otherwise, I would have had to go back to Prairie View A&M near Houston."

The story made Time and Ebony magazines and to wide display around the state and country.

A Time article stated, "Wayland has received inquiries from Negroes before, but until Miss Annie sent a transcript of her record did the college find one who was academically qualified. Like other Southern colleges, Wayland might well have waited until the courts ordered an end to racial restrictions. But one day before the Spring term ended, Wayland's president, Dr. J.W. "Bill" Marshall, called faculty and students away from final exams, asked them to vote on Miss Annie's application. No faculty members, and only nine out of 274 students, had any objection.

PROFESSIONAL AWARDS

West Texas State University awarded her The Texas Panhandle Award for Distinguished Service in 1977. She was selected Teacher of the Year in 1962 by the 1956 Study Club.

She was also a member of the Texas State Teacher's Association, the National Education Association, the Spirit of Sharing Organization in Floydada, and served on the Floyd County Day Care Board and the Floydada Senior Citizens Board.

She had been a member of Mount Zion Baptist Church, teaching Sunday School, singing in the choir and serving as financial secretary.

She also worked with the Salvation Army, the Red Cross and The American Cancer Society on fund drives.

Charlie and Annie Taylor had five children. The oldest child, Espernola, was born July 19, 1927. She was the fifth black child born in Floyd County. Espernola Taylor Fort now resides in Wichita, Kansas.

Other children are Iva Jewell Bonner, of Floydada, Charles, of Lubbock, and Joyce Marie Jelks, of Houston. A second son, Franklin preceded his mother in death.

Annie's husband, Charlie, died August 21, 1956.

BY THE WAY!

BY ALICE GILROY

T-Ball is winding down and it has been lots of fun.

I'm not sure if they have the same type of rules in Floydada, but in Lockney the T-Ball teams don't keep score. We also don't have any innings.

Everybody gets a chance to bat and you keep swinging until you hit that sucker.

I think it's a great idea and I really thought the youngsters would think it was a good idea too. However, they are a little smarter than we give them credit for.

Us adults may not be keeping score but some of them little ones are! You can hear some really good discussions between opposing team members on who is winning until a coach steps in and explains for the 100th time that "We aren't keeping score."

I have to pass along one overheard conversation. I got a big kick out of it! It happened last week during a game where both teams were playing very well and showing a whole lot of improvement.

Brandon stopped a grounder and threw it to first. It was a great play on his part and on the part of the first baseman. In fact it was the best play Brandon had made.

Coach Steve McPherson got real excited and said, "Way to Go! That was great. Ya'll are really playing a ball game today!"

Brandon's eyes and the first baseman's eyes lit up and they both beamed. The excitement carried over and Brandon shouted back at Steve, "Are we winning?"

Once again Steve said, "We're not keeping score."

I guess he could tell that a couple of bubbles were fixing to burst because he quickly shouted back—"BUT IT SURE FEELS LIKE WE'RE WINNING!"

I've given that a lot of thought. That was a very profound statement.

I've decided that even if I'm not winning, if I just feel like I am then life will be a whole lot smoother.

I'd like to take my hats off to the ladies that own the Basket Case in Lockney. Pat Frizzell and Cheryl Teeter have really fixed their storefront up with their new porch and their new addition.

It really adds character to Main Street. I love it.

Lockney Police Report

Lockney police took a report of a stolen purse from the girls softball field on June 8. The purse was stolen from the bleachers during a softball game.

On June 9, it was reported that someone burglarized the Lockney High and Junior High Schools.

"Taken in the burglary was a V.C.R., other items appear to be missing but we do not have a list of them at this time," stated Lockney Police Chief Lennie Gilroy. "Several doors and other property were damaged in the burglary."

One juvenile has been questioned and turned over to the juvenile court and the V.C.R. has been recovered.

"It appears that other person(s) were also involved in the burglary and the investigation continues," said Gilroy. "It was also reported that a door in the new gym was damaged at the same time as the burglary. The school also reported that a window in the coaches office at the fieldhouse was busted."

On June 10 police took a report of a stolen bicycle from the 400 block of SW Second Street. Within a short time the bicycle was recovered and a juvenile was charged with the theft of the bicycle.

Also on June 10 at approximately 10 p.m., police caught two juvenile boys and 17-year-old Charlene Tellez inside the Lockney Swimming Pool. The two juveniles were turned over to the juvenile authorities. Tellez was arrested and charged with Criminal Trespass. Along with criminal charges anyone caught in the swimming pool after hours will be banned from the pool for the rest of the year.

On June 10 at approximately 9:30 p.m. Lockney Police responded to a fight call at the Allsup's store. The victim reported that Joe Alex Lopez, 20, of Lockney assaulted him and then fled. Joe Lopez was arrested the next day and charged with Class A assault.

Also on June 10, Lockney police took a criminal mischief report from a residence in the 300 block of East Spruce Street. Someone took some eggs and hit three cars parked at the residence.

Lockney police also took a report of a stolen bicycle on June 10. The bicycle was stolen from the 300 block of West Washington Street sometime between June 10 and June 12. The bicycle is reported to be a small black boys bicycle with yellow handle bar pads.

Commissioners hear '93-94 budget requests

By Juanita Stepp

Floyd County Commissioners took the first step in writing a budget for the 1993-94 fiscal year, beginning October 1, during the regular monthly session of the court on Monday, June 14. Each elected official had been asked to submit a form containing budget requests in anticipation of preparation of the budget and most were present at the session to answer questions concerning their requests.

County Clerk Margaret Collier asked for a salary increase in her department and requested an additional $500.00 for supplies. The remainder of her requests were the same as last year. District Clerk Barbara Edwards asked for a salary increase, a new file cabinet, and more space for her department. Her other budget items remained the same with the exception of extra labor. She requested $700.00 in this area.

Justice of the Peace for Precincts 1 & 4, Tim Burge, asked for a salary increase and additional funds to attend a computer update school. JP for Precincts 2 & 3 was not present. Juvenile probation asked for $2,030, up from the $1,320 budgeted last year. That department has already exceeded its budget for the year with an additional four months remaining in the current financial period.

The district attorney's office requested the same budget as the previous year with only one increase, a 5 percent salary increase for the secretary Penny Ogden. Treasurer Glenna Orman requested a salary increase plus additional funds in both travel and supplies.

Sheriff Charles Overstreet asked for salary funding of $249,000.00, up from the current year's budget of $221,000.00. He also asked for increased funding for supplies, including prisoner care. He explained that the average jail population has risen by four prisoners per day this year. Overstreet also pointed out that the cost of feeding the prisoners has decreased since he came into office the first of the year.

Ag department requests remained the same as the current year with the exception of the secretary's salary. Ag agent Kerry Siders told the court that it had come to his attention that Jana Muniz had not had an increase in her salary since going to work for the department. He asked for a 7 percent increase in her salary as "a good figure to play catch-up with."

Tax Assessor/Collector Penny Golightly asked for salary increases, more money for extra labor, more money for supplies and an allocation of $1,500.00 for new carpet in her offices. No one was present to represent the library at the session.

Judge Hardin suggested that the commissioners study their worksheets before the court begins serious work on the new budget during future sessions.

The court otherwise handled a routine agenda at the morning session. In addition to approving the payment of bills, the court approved budget amendments and transfers between departments prior to hearing the monthly financial reports from treasurer Glenna Orman.

Orman reported that the county began the month of May with $407,409.02 in funds, received $321,723.93 and transferred in $70,214.08 during the month. Disbursements totaled $365,953.51 and transfers out were $70,214.08, leaving a balance in county funds of $363,179.44. Orman also reported undivided tax in the amount of $100,000.00 and certificates of deposit totaling $115,000.00 which have earned $11,305.39 in interest to date. Installment indebtedness according to Orman now stands at $636.37.

Farm work contracts were approved for Jack Yeary and J. A. Welch in Precinct 3. Yeary asked for burial of old improvements at a location 4 miles west and 1 1/2 miles north of the Cedar Hill Elevator and Welch asked to have a tank cleaned out at a location 1 mile east and 2 3/4 miles north of Cedar Hill. Both cited conservation as the objective of the requests.

Contract #1310 for J. A. Welch, approved on March 22, and #1295 for H. T. Rowell, approved on February 3, were voided at the request of Precinct 3 Commissioner George Taylor.

Precinct 4 Commissioner Howard Bishop made a motion to waive the charges for work done on contract #1230 for Stanley Burleson. According to Bishop, the fees would amount to no more than $35 or $40 and Burleson had given the county road materials valued in excess of the fees. The waiver was unanimously approved following a second by Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden.

The court accepted the proposal of Davis, Kinard & Company for the audit of county financial records for the 1992-93 fiscal year ending September 30. The firm quoted a price of $4,800.00 for auditing county finances with an additional $500.00 for the separate audit procedure on the district attorney's records. Motion to approve the proposal was made by Taylor with a second by Bishop and a unanimous vote in favor followed.

Monthly reports from county officials who collect fines and fees were reviewed and accepted as presented. Those submitting reports included the district clerk, the county clerk, the tax assessor/collector and the justices of the peace.

Discussion of a proposed interlocal agreement between the county, the City of Floydada and the City of Lockney for mutual assistance between the various law enforcement groups in the county was tabled until Wednesday. Judge Hardin stated that this would allow him to consult with the district attorney concerning what such an agreement would bind the county to.

The annual report from Central Plains Mental Health and Mental Retardation was presented by Seth Halbert. Halbert reported that the organization, serving a nine county area, had been informed that the state match requirement for funding was being lowered from 20 percent to 10 percent. He termed this "good news," but called the change in categorizing several income items, formerly termed local, as a blow to the program.

He added that the $5,424.00 contributed to the program by Floyd County had generated $54,240.00 in state funding for the group. The request for funds in the coming year will remain the same, said Halbert.

Halbert reported that 173 clients from Floyd County had been served during the past year, an increase of 16 over the previous year. These clients represent 8.7 percent of the people served by CPMHMR for the period. Each was charged according to ability to pay for the services received.

Bob Alldredge, board member from Floyd County for 13 years, accompanied Halbert in meeting with the court. The pair stressed the "mission and vision" (what we are about and where we are going) of CPMHMR in dealing with the public. According to them the mission is "to promote wellness and community integration by providing help, hope and support for persons seeking to enhance their quality of life." The vision is to "courteously, professionally serve our community through innovative ideas and quality programs."

Attending the June 14 morning session were County Judge Bill Hardin, Commissioners Connie Bearden, Floyd Jackson, George Taylor and Howard Bishop, Glenna Orman, Kerry Siders, Sheriff Charles Overstreet, deputies Kyle Smith and Greg Pierce, Margaret Collier, Tim Burge, Barbara Edwards, James Williams, Jane MacAnally, Margaret Herrera, Bob Alldredge, Seth Halbert and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

The session recessed to reconvene on Wednesday, June 16, at 8:30 a.m. for the purpose of considering a petition to change an existing public road.

supervising the committee meetings, added that the meetings are open to the public and all parents are welcome to attend. He told Cornelius that the meetings are usually scheduled for the first Monday of each month. She expressed a desire to attend both on behalf of the PTA and as an interested parent.

Cornelius next questioned the two days marked as holidays during the spring semester, April 15 and April 22. Cannon stated that these were to balance out the year and end school so that graduation could be held on a Friday or Saturday evening. He said that the state has said final exams should be given the last two or three days of school. The two days make FISD end the year on Friday. The days coincide with district track meets for the Junior High and for High School when many students would be out of class anyway added Cannon.

Cornelius told the board the parents she represented and had visited with would like to see future calendars made up so that students would have the longer summer break giving them the extra week of vacation if possible. No board action was taken concerning the matter at the June regular session.

Bids for two projects were opened and action taken at the Monday meeting. The first was the bi-annual selection of a financial depository and the second was for the sale of a used school bus.

First National Bank of Floydada and the Floydada Branch of the First National Bank in Lockney each submitted proposals for being the bank depository for the district. A comparison of the bids resulted in a motion from Mitch Probasco that the district designate The First National Bank of Floydada as the official depository. Second was provided by Trena Simpson and the vote was unanimous in favor.

FNB Floydada's bid included: loans at 6.5% throughout the two year period; interest on certificates of deposit at the rate of 101% of the 13 week T-Bill rate for 30 to 150 day deposits and 101% of the 26 week T-Bill rate for deposits of 151 days or more; 2.75% interest on interest bearing checking accounts and 3% interest on money market funds.

Floydada Branch of FNB in Lockney's bid included: loans with the interest rate based on the prime rate minus 0.5% (the current rate would be 5.5%, but the rate would fluctuate over the two year period of the bid); CD interest rates of 98% of the 13 week T-Bill rate for 30 to 90 day deposits, 100% of the 13 week T-Bill rate for 91-180 day deposits and 100% of the 26 week T-Bill rate for 181 day and over deposits; 2.5% interest on Super Now checking accounts and 2.75% interest on money market funds.

The proposed sale of a used school bus brought in four bids. City Auto of Floydada bid $350.00, Elroy's Misc. Sales of Lufkin bid $809.00, Inventory Logistics Service Co. of Houston bid $1,100.00, and Bothwell Enterprises of Plainview bid $502.68. A motion by John Campbell, seconded by Probasco, passed by unanimous vote approved the sale to Inventory Logistics Service Co.

Two reports were presented and approved during the session. The first, a summary of Texas Assessment of Academic Skills test results on FISD fourth, eighth and tenth grade students, was presented by school counselors. An article concerning the results appears elsewhere in this issue. The second, a report concerning the state Academic Excellence Indicator System and its findings about FISD, was presented in written form and approved by the board.

The report contains detailed information about all aspects of the school administration and compares it with other schools in the district and the state. The report takes into account demographics, performance, staffing, financing and programs. Copies of the report are available to anyone interested in seeing it and may be obtained by contacting any administrator or board member.

Resignations were accepted from several employees. Retiring system employees submitting resignations included Frances Hambright (R. C. Andrews), Linda Waller (R. C. Andrews) and J. E. Waller (High School). Coach Mike Cocanougher submitted his resignation to take a coaching job in Goldthwaite. Caprock Education Coop Director Les Ross is resigning to move to Sherman and diagnostician Barbara Cocanougher submitted a resignation to move to Goldthwaite. Special education trainable teacher Tana Copley has resigned to move to Lubbock, Kris Ross (R. C. Andrews teacher) and Jason Bean (teacher assistant at R. C. Andrews) have also resigned.

Karol Rainwater and Sandra Robinson were hired as teachers for R. C. Andrews and Joy Whitaker was hired as the special education trainable instructor for R. C. Andrews. Billie Peden was hired for home economics at High School and Teri Garner was hired to teach Junior High Reading.

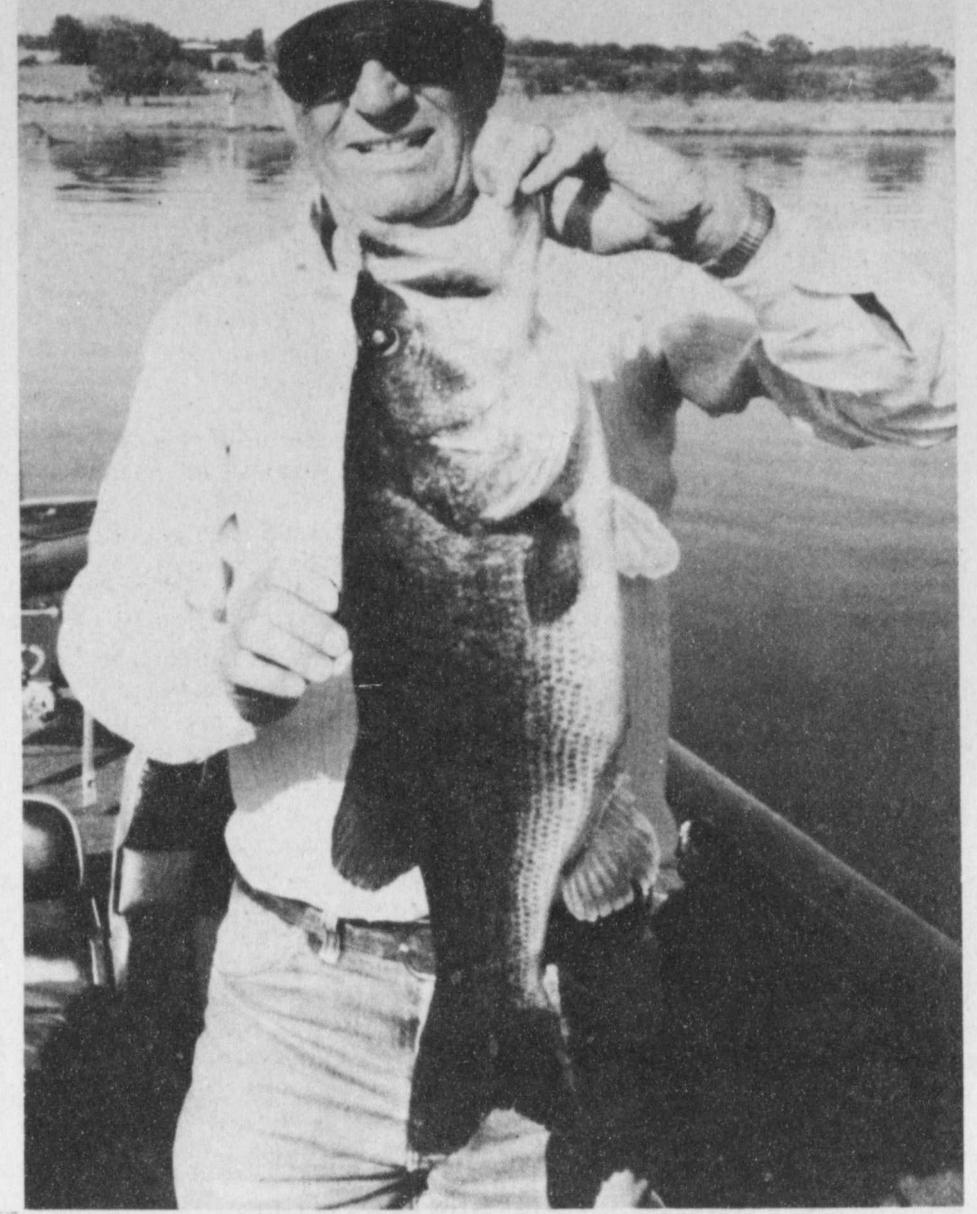

...Tax report was presented by administrative assistant Jimmie Collins. According to his figures, tax collections for FISD from the County Education District now total $904,923.34 and are 96.18% complete. FISD tax collections are $257,754.00 and are 95.71% complete. Combined, the total collected to date this year is approximately 96% of the taxes collected compared to 95.38% at this time last year said Collins.

...Board members approved the sale of tax title Lots 13-16, Block 7 to Oscar Garza for $100.00 each. The sale of the lots must be approved by all taxing entities involved before becoming final.

...Baccalaureate Services were briefly discussed by the board. Cannon suggested that the board think about the issue in light of recent court rulings concerning separation of church and state. He said FISD is the only school in the district still having the service and that attendance has been down in recent years. According to Cannon, no complaints have been received, but lawsuits were a possibility if someone chose to object to the services.

...Board members approved the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting with one addition and authorized the payment of monthly bills during the evening meeting.

...Principals funding requests for the 1993-94 school year were presented to the board at the session. Board members were asked to consider these and be prepared to discuss them at future meetings. Collins stated that additional information should be available later in the month giving the board a better idea of possible funding for the coming year.

Little Friends Learning Center opening June 21

Little Friends Learning Center, a state registered day home for children, will be opening in Floydada on June 21. The owner and operator, Cindy White, states that any age child will be accepted, including infants below the age of six-months, on a full or part time basis.

The day care facility is equipped to handle up to 12 children of varying ages and will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Other arrangements for child care may be made by contacting White at 804 W. Lee in Floydada or calling 983-5234.

White holds an associate degree from South Plains College in child development. She was employed at the Buckner Children's home in Lubbock for the past three years and worked in a Levelland day care facility prior to that.

A recent arrival in Floydada, White is married to Floyd County Deputy Jon White. The couple has one daughter, 13 month old Kyndra.

Evening ceremony joins Gant and Mitchell

The First United Methodist Church in Lockney was the site for the 7 p.m. double-ring ceremony joining Miss Tandi Ann Gant of Lockney and Matthew Wilson Mitchell of Austin on Saturday, June 12, 1993. Vows were recited before the Rev. Tommie Beck, pastor.

The formal sanctuary setting was created by a 15-branch candelabrum and two double heart candelabrum adorned with fuchsia and purple flowers and tropical foliage. This was flanked with tropical foliage and gypsophila accented with votive candles and ribbons. Windows were accented with votive candles, tropical foliage and gypsophila. Parents pews were marked with candles encircled with hearts.

Parents of the couple are Ray and Lynda Gant of Lockney and Warren and Charlotte Mitchell of Lockney. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.N. Gant of Aiken. Grandparents of the groom are Mrs. Chester Mitchell of Lockney and Mrs. George Stewart of Snyder.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an elegant white satin gown featuring an open off the shoulder neckline that was complimented with modified full-length Juliette sleeves. The bodice of the gown was richly adorned with motifs of Schiffler lace embellished with pearls and sequins. The pouf of the sleeve carried the same rich beadwork and was accented with a double demi candy box bow. The lower portion of the sleeve was illusion adorned with motifs of the Schiffler lace and beadwork. A fitted basque waistline flowed into a straight skirt. The front of the skirt was decorated with appliques of the lace and pearls and accented with sequins. A detachable train cascaded from the satin candy box bow at the hipline.

Completing her attire were matching earrings and necklace of pearls and Austrian crystals. For her hair, she selected a headband of pearls and white sequins. A double layer of white illusion cascaded from the back of the headband.

She carried, atop a Bible, a cascade bouquet of bridal white roses, fuchsia miniature carnations and purple statice surrounding a cymbidium orchid, accented with ribbons and tied to her late maternal grandparent's wedding bands.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Cari Bennett of Thornton, Colorado. Bridesmaids were Aimee Green of Lubbock, Kristen Karrh of Plainview, Tracee Garland of Shallowater and Chrissa Wall of Plainview. They were attired in matching gowns in a rich luscious shade of purple moire taffeta. The tea-length gowns were created with a sweetheart open neckline and pouf shirred sleeves. Their fitted basque waistlines were accented with French pleats of the moire forming a vee in both front and back. A soft gathered skirt floated gracefully to the hemline. They carried crescent shaped bouquets of fuchsia and purple flowers accented with heather and eucalyptus.

Grady Koehl of Dallas acted as best man. Groomsmen were Joel Mitchell of Lockney, brother of the groom; Jay Gruhlkey of Plainview, Brandon McClaren of Arlington and Tim Mitchell of Lockney, brother of the groom. Seating guests were Trent Gant of Aiken, brother of the bride; Derek Schoppa of Houston and Dean Mitchell of Waco, cousin of the groom.

Lighting candles were Erin Adrian of Lockney, Keri Lusk of Wellman and Dawn Huse of San Diego, Calif. They wore dresses in a vibrant floral print that accented the bride's chosen colors in the same design as the bridal attendants. Guests were registered by Cobi Collins of Escondido, Calif.

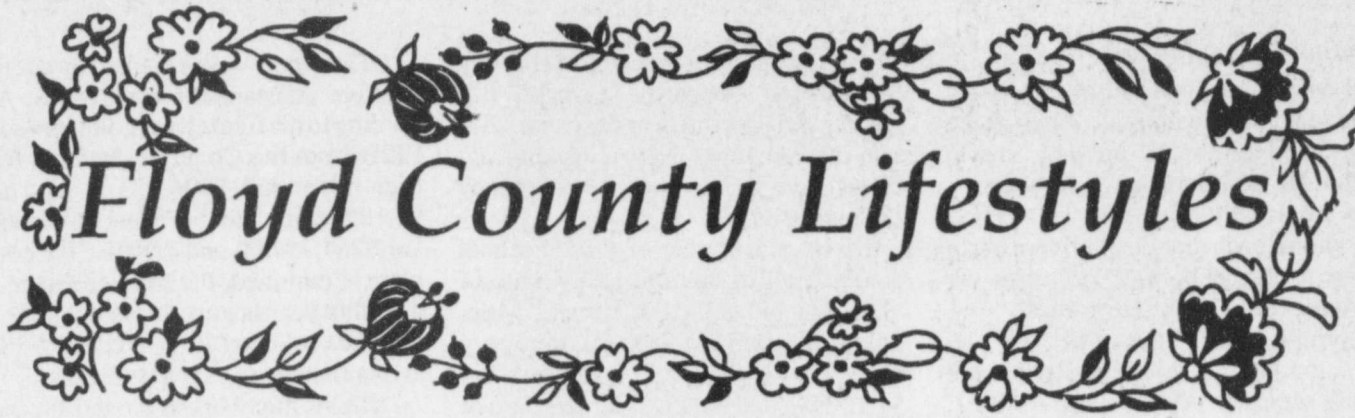

Musical selections during the ceremony were presented by organist, Gerald Frazier of Waco, great-great-uncle of the bride, and vocalists, Travis and Amy Thorton, Phil Cotham, Lisa Mosley and Zeldia Ellison, who are members of the group, Harmony. Selections included "Once Upon A Lifetime", which was sung while grandparents were seated; "I Can't Help Falling In Love", played while parents were seated; "Cross My Heart" and "Love Will Be Our Home."

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Presiding at the serving tables were Robin Bowden of Lockney, Chelsie Dayton of Springlake, Lori Gonzales of Lockney and Tiffany Ellison of Lockney.

The bride attended Baylor University in 1991-92 and 1992-93, where she was feature twirler and a member of Gamma Beta Phi honor sorority. She plans to finish her degree in elementary education at the University of Texas in Austin.

The groom attended Texas A&M University, where he received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering and was a member of Chi Epsilon honor fraternity. He is presently a civil engineer for Professional Design Group in Austin.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will be residing in Austin.

Turner and Martin recite vows

Karen Ann Turner and Dr. David Z. Martin were united in marriage at 7:00 p.m. Friday, June 11, in the courtyard at the home of the bride's parents in Floydada. The private, double-ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Judy Bradshaw of Asbury Methodist Church, Lubbock.

The bride, escorted by her parents, wore a tea-length dress of ivory silk shantung with short puffed sleeves, a V-back, dropped waist and soft, wide pleats in the back of the skirt. The sleeves, bodice and hemline were embellished with wide borders of ivory lace. She carried a bouquet of a dozen white roses, baby's breath and lemon leaves and wore sprigs of baby's breath in her hair.

She wore a diamond bracelet given to her by her maternal grandmother as "something old." "Something new" was her wedding attire. As "something borrowed", she carried a lace handkerchief borrowed from the groom's mother, which originally belonged to his great-grandmother. "Something blue" was a sprig of Texas bluebonnet which she wore pinned inside her bodice.

Guitar music was provided by Kelly Turner, brother of the bride. He played a Vivaldi selection, Beethoven's "Ode to Joy", and an original composition titled "Alison's Theme."

After a light supper was served to the family members attending the wedding, the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to St. Kitt's, Virgin Islands. Upon their return, they will reside in Levelland, where she is employed as a counselor at South Plains College and he will open a chiropractic clinic.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. (Shorty) Turner of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Z. Martin of Flomot. Surviving grandparents are Mr. E.P. Pritchett and Mrs. Valree Turner.

Lovell presents slide show to Sams

by Marjorie McElyea

The Whirlwind Sams met June 7, 1993, at the Lighthouse Electric and John Crochrell introduced Sue Lovell who gave a very interesting account and showed slides of her trip to Israel.

Delicious refreshments were served by the Livingstons, Patzers, and Feuerbachers.

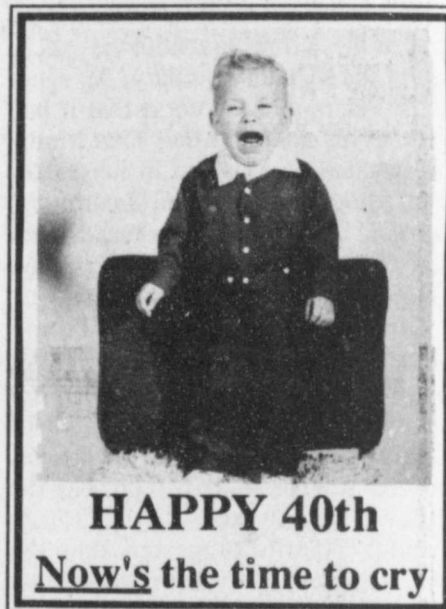

A business meeting was called by president J. W. Gilbreath and reports of future trips to Pagosa Springs and a July Cookout was explained. Wagon Master Kenneth Willis called on Bill Feuerbacher to tell about the Colorado trip and trail crosses will host the cookout.

Minutes were read by Betty Gilbreath and approved. There were 20 rigs represented including the Adams', Cates', Cochrells, Feuerbachers, Gilbreaths, Hartells, Kendricks, Livingstons and Alan, Lusks, Lyles, McElyea, Norrells, Parkers, Pyles, Russells, Thaxtons, Weatherbees, Willis and Wests. After the meetings Boone Adams led us in Happy Trails.

Archer and Bigham say marriage promises

Melissa Kay Archer and Clint Alan Bigham voiced marriage promises during a 7:30 p.m. wedding ceremony Friday, June 11, 1993, in the Main Street Church of Christ in Lockney. Jim Brewer, pastor of 9th and Columbia Church of Christ in Plainview, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Wilmer and Debbie Archer and the granddaughter of Bill and Lavern Thompson and Red and Jane Archer, all of Lockney. She is the great-granddaughter of Jewell Thompson, Lockney. Parents of the groom are Bill and Anita Bigham of Lockney. He is the grandson of W.T. and Lavern Cooper and Mary Bigham, all of Lockney.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white satin beaded dress with a princess-style neckline and puffed sleeves, accented with bows and covered buttons. A rosebud bow at the back connected to the chapel length train, which cascaded down with cut-outs of venise lace and pearls. Her attire was completed with a pearl and lace choker. The bride's headpiece was a white beaded band caught up with tulle and beaded tendrils and flowers. She carried a cascading bouquet of silk rose and white rosebuds, blue and white morning glories and ivy.

Michelle Griffith of Lockney attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Turner of Lockney and Stacy Bigham, sister of the groom, of Lockney. They wore princess-style dresses of ecru, rose and blue floral polished cotton, featuring puff sleeves and sashes at the waist. They carried long stem roses.

Flower girls were Laura West of Dickens and Meagan Thompson of Plainview, both cousins of the bride. Lighting candles were Stacy Bigham and Jeffrey Archer, both of Lockney.

Acting as best man to his brother was Troy Bigham of Lockney. Gary Bigham, brother of the groom, of Amherst and Jeffrey Archer, brother of the bride, of Lockney were groomsmen. Ushers were Troy Bigham of Lockney and Gary Bigham of Amherst, brothers of the groom, and Jeffrey Archer of Lockney, brother of the bride.

Kaci Mathis of Lockney presided at the guest register. Music was provided by Lisa Mosley of Lockney.

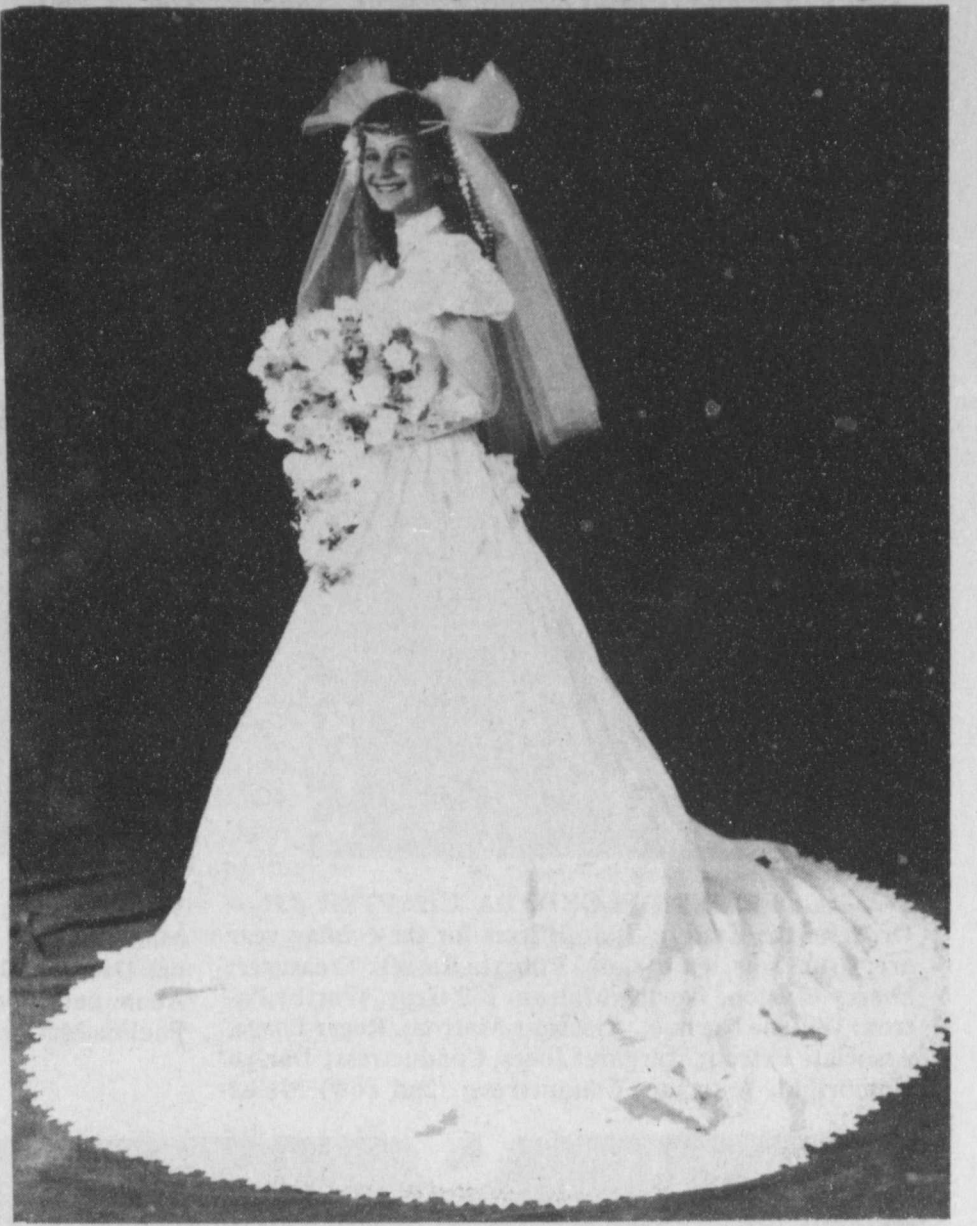

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church. Members of the houseparty were Mmes. Tim McCain, Bil Anderson, Randy Ware and Ms. Twyla Lemons.

Following a wedding trip to Red River, New Mexico, the couple will make their home in Lockney.

The bride is a 1993 graduate of Lockney High School. The groom, a 1991 graduate of Lockney High School, is engaged in farming.

COURTESIES

Pre-nuptial courtesies extended to the couple included a rehearsal dinner at J.B. Brisky's in Lockney; a bridesmaids luncheon at the Cotton Patch in Plainview and a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Ronnie Aston.

Duvalls gather for 30th reunion

Descendants of Robert and Sarah Duvall gathered for their 30th annual Duvall Family Reunion on June 11-13 at the San Bar Lodge, Possum Kingdom Lake.

Robert Rufe Duvall and Sarah Francis Witherspoon were married on Dec. 2, 1895. They had six children, Earl, Dossie, Raymond, Cecil, Robert and Loyd. The Duvalls placed much emphasis on family and before their death they requested that the children make a commitment to keep the family together.

In promising to grant the request the family has gathered for the reunion each year since June 14, 1964, and it is their hope that the grandchildren will continue the annual meetings to keep everyone in touch and close to one another.

This year's three-day event provided the family with fellowship, food and fun.

Among those attending were: Loyd and Verna Duvall, Rick, Renee, Janee, Karah Jo and Paul Hrbacek, and Bill, Donna, Dahlen and Daryn McCarter, all of Lockney; Jimmy and Mary Kay Cummings and Chris, Jane, Brad and Michelle Cummings, all of Hale Center; Cecil and Lois Duvall of Grapevine and their family of 18 and Don and Jan Duvall of Davis, Okla., and their family of 10.

Each year there are about 50 persons who attend the reunion. They venture from San Angelo, Midlothian, Cedar Hill, Coleman, and Okinawa, Japan.

Il Penseroso holds year-end party

By Cris Taylor
Il Penseroso Jr. Study Club held its annual end-of-the-year party in the home of Michealle Stennett. Co-hostesses were Tracy Long and Terri Fortenberry. Members brought a wide variety of covered dishes and desserts and were served homemade biscuits, along with tea.

Out-going president, Rise Ford held a brief meeting and then Shawnda Foster had members break up into groups to play a game. Members were asked to hold a piece of paper over a candle to reveal the qualities of our Club Women of the Year. Shawnda then announced Rise Ford as the recipient of this award and presented her with an engraved pewter tray. New officers for the '93-94 club year were then brought up front and told of their duties.

Members enjoyed a name drawing game to see who would win the club quilt. Julie Dorman was the winner this year. Congratulations! Secret Pals were revealed and chosen for next year.

Next club meeting will be in August. Members present were: Cindy Cotham, Julie Dorman, Julie Ellison, Rise Ford, Terri Fortenberry, Shawnda Foster, Pam Fulton, Tracy Long, Diane Lowe, Dena Reecer and Chloe, Karla Stapp, Michealle Stennett, Heather Stowe, Cris Taylor, Kim Teeter, Melody Wiley, Tami Wofford, Dana Wright, Kathy Young, Victory Stewart, Amy Brice, Pat Schwab and Sammie Seiliff.

Rainer to play for Howard Payne Cagers

Dirk Rainer, a Fredericksburg High School 1993 graduate, has agreed to play basketball next fall for Howard Payne University at Brownwood. At 6-6, Rainer was an all-district honoree following the 1992-93 varsity basketball season in which he led the Billies in free throw shooting and was second in both individual scoring and rebounding. The son of Vickie Rainer of Fredericksburg and Don Rainer of Floydada, the FHS senior post was a three year letter player at Fredericksburg High School. He has started all three years for the Billies.

Homebuilders review safety precautions

Homebuilders Extension Club met with Gladys Widener on June 8 with Barbara Willis, president, calling the meeting to order. Four members and a guest answered roll call, "What emergency travel items do you carry in your trunk?" Recreation was by Gladys. Reading of minutes and treasurer's report was by Jonelle Fawver. Reminders were given of our county-wide meeting, date and duties by the president. The program of "On The Road Again" was given by Barbara. The main topic was "Women Traveling Alone" by Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Women drive to get to places, mostly alone, such as a friend's house, doctor, grocery store, work or to run quick errands. Your vehicle is your first concern when traveling alone, making more comfort if it fits you. Tips offered included: have good vision and best control of steering, acceleration, brake, etc. Power equipment such as power door locks and windows are good security features and add to your comfort. Your seat should be a type that makes getting in and out easy. Keep your car in good running condition, check fuel level when getting in car and know what to do if you have a break down. An emergency kit for your car consists of a white cloth (for signal help), flasher lights, flares, sun visor that asks to call police, tire sealant, portable air compressor and paper and pencil. Barbara discussed portable C.B. mobile phones, car alarm/locator for the car rest stops, lodging, dressing conservative, leaving travel plans with family members and/or friends and what to do if you happen on to an accident or are involved in an accident. "But first we are to buckle-up (State law Sept. 1, 1985) on the start of our trip, long or short," Barbara said. Refreshments were served to Muri Mayfield, Barbara Willis, Jonelle Fawver guest Crawford Sandefur and hostess, Gladys Widener.

Parks graduates from LCU

FLOYDADA—Phyllis Parks of Floydada was among 117 students participating in Lubbock Christian University's 1993 Spring graduation exercises. She graduated with a degree in Social Work.

and two master's degrees. Enrollment for the fall term this year was 1,154. In recent years LCU has enjoyed national recognition. The sports program has produced four national team championships, more than a dozen individual champions, and 52 All-America performances. In addition to athletics, the Students in Free Enterprise team has won the International Championship four times, winning the last three years in a row.

Lubbock Christian University (LCU) is a liberal arts institution of higher learning dedicated to providing a quality education in a Christian environment. LCU, was among only six Texas schools to be named in the John Templeton Foundation Honor Roll of Character Building Universities in 1992. LCU offers 35 bachelor's degree programs

While at LCU, Phyllis has been a member of Social Work Outreach Association. She has also been named to the Dean's List.

Sims named to SPC President's List

FLOYDADA—Randell Sims has been named to the President's Honor List for the spring 1993 semester at South Plains College. He is the son of Carroll and Elizabeth Sims of Floydada. A total of 591 students from SPC's Levelland and Lubbock campuses and extension program at Reese Air Force Base have been named to the combined President and Dean's honor lists. In order to be named to the President's Honor List, students must maintain a 4.0 or straight A grade point average while carrying a minimum fulltime load of 12 semester hours. A total of 240 students made the President's List. Students named to the Dean's Honor List must maintain a minimum 3.25 grade point average while also carrying at least 12 semester hours. A total of 351 students made the Dean's List. "South Plains College wishes to recognize these students for the academic excellence they have achieved," said Dr. Gary McDaniel, vice president for academic affairs. "We commend these students for the consistency of their studies."

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant
Hi! Do hope this finds you all well and enjoying the summer days, it's so nice to be outdoors.

Monday started the week as usual with the Rev. Williams, First United Methodist, giving the devotional and Irene Wexler playing the piano. At 2:30 the residents made paper roses as June is the National Month of Roses. Roses are among the list for the most flower to be sold.

Tuesday the residents viewed a film on our new viewing machine on current events.

Wednesday, Mary Alice Davis came and assisted the residents with Bingo. Otis Johnson had the first Bingo. Our staff has been playing safety bingo. The winners are Nancy Robison, Maria Johnston, Louisa Gomez, Faye Self, Alex Reyes, Bennie Perez, Elvira Rodriguez and Bessie Vargas. Next will be the blackout Bingo for cash.

Must say that our hamburger and hot dog cookout was well attended. Philip Wilbanks and Allen Hoogstra cooked the meat, with all the trimmings, and dessert. It was good. We want to thank the family members who attended, assisted and brought food.

Thursday the residents had Rhythm band and enjoyed popcorn and music in the afternoon.

Friday morning, Glenna Livingston gave the devotion on "God will supply all our needs" and how God has taken care of her. Joyce Lipham played the piano for us. Jean Williams also came and assisted.

On to Plainview for the bus ride. McDonald's treated the residents to some ice cream.

Dolores Cannon came this past week for beauty shop and barber day. She cut the men's hair and fixed the ladies hair. Thanks Dolores!

To Fathers - Happy Father's Day! (Book of Sirach 3:12-15): Son, take care of your Father when he grows old, grieve and worry him not as long as he lives.

Be sympathetic even if his mind fails him, don't look down because you are strong and healthy.

The Lord will not forget the kindness you show to your Father.

It will help you make up for your sins. If you honor, obey your parents, You will live a long life.

Grace Fellowship Church receives new steeple from Clarkston family

Sunday morning services at Lockney's Grace Fellowship Church, June 13, were devoted to a dedication service for the church's new steeple. The steeple has been donated to the church, by the Clarkston family, in memory of Mickey Clarkston. Mickey's mother, Rosa Clarkston, accepted a certificate from Rev. Ted Samples thanking the family for their contribution. Mickey Clarkston was a member of Grace Fellowship Church. He died October 8, 1992. "Mickey loved this church and he would have loved this steeple," said Rosa Clarkston. "Whenever he would see a steeple on top of another church he would say— "Wouldn't it be nice if our church had a steeple."

Special music for the service was performed by Judy Macha singing "The Lighthouse." She was accompanied by Linda Edwards on the piano. A taped message by church member Hurl McCoy was also played for the congregation. On the tape, McCoy performed an original song which he wrote about Mickey Clarkston.

The church followed their morning dedication service with a pot luck fellowship meal which the church ladies served to members and guests.

Church youth to attend camp

Iglesia del Rey Jesus, Lockney, will be taking their youth to a youth camp in Junction. The group will be leaving on Monday, June 21.

Pastor Lupe Banda and youth leader Soyla Reyna will be sponsors for the trip. "We would like to thank everyone helping with the Nintendo raffle," stated sponsors.

Floydada ISD spring TAAS scores demonstrate increased mastery

The Floydada school trustees reviewed recent TAAS scores for grades 4, 8 and 10 at their regular June meeting presented by the elementary and secondary counselors Kathy Jahay and Sheree Cannon. These tests were given in May to grades 4, 8, and 10 for the first time this year. Board members and administrators were pleased with the increased percentages of mastery by the students. As mastery of these tests is necessary for graduation, all Floydada seniors with the exception of one student passed all three tests. This is a much larger percentage of passing than at the state level as approximately 10 percent of the seniors in Texas who were to have graduated in May have not mastered all TAAS tests.

At this time, there are only 13 grade eleven students who have not mastered all of the TAAS tests. Students who failed any part of these tests in grades 10, 11 or 12 will have an opportunity to retake them July 13, 14 and 15 of this summer. Writing scores at all levels were the highest as students in grade 4 scored 66 percent mastery, an improvement of 25 percent; grade 8 students were at the 78 percent mastery level, an increase of 40 points from the previous year; and 89 percent of the grade 10 students mastered the writing test, an increase of 50 points.

Reading scores improved 45 points (73 percent mastery) in grade 8 and 16 points (70 percent mastery) in grade 10. Grade 4 students mastered the test at 42 percent mastery.

Math scores showed marked improvement in grades 8 and 10 as 46 percent of the students in grade 8 mastered the math test which is above the state level of 43 percent, and 62 percent of the tenth graders mastered the math, 7 percent above state mastery level. Only 28 percent of the fourth grade mastered the math section of the TAAS.

Summer school is in progress at this time for many of the students who failed and teachers and administrators are working toward curriculum changes to improve scores on the TAAS as these scores are a part of the Academic Excellence Indicator System, the report card for schools in the state of Texas.

MOSLEY IN AAU TOURNEY—Jared Mosley played with the West Texas Stars in the 16 and under age bracket at the West Texas A.A.U. Basketball Tournament held in Amarillo recently. The team advanced through the championship bracket before being defeated in the championship game by a team from Lubbock. Mosley was named to the All-Tournament Team along with teammates, Todd Jones of Levelland and James Moore of Lorenzo. The Stars will travel to Phoenix, Ariz., at the end of June to compete in the National B.C.I. Tournament. —Courtesy Photo

Dede McCarty is on AAU basketball team

Dede McCarty of Lockney is a member of the West Texas Lady Bulls A.A.U. basketball team which earned a berth in the Amateur Athlete's Union National Girls Basketball Tournament. The team played June 3, 4, 5, 6 in the West Texas AAU Tournament held in Amarillo. There were 79 teams entered in seven age divisions. The Bulls played in the 15 years old and under division along with 11 other teams.

On Thursday, June 3, the ladies played the Right Stuff team and defeated them 72-39. Friday, June 4, they played PAA/TOPS and defeated them 73-44. On Saturday, June 5, the Bulls played the West Texas Hot Shots and defeated them 73-61.

This win brought the Lady Bulls to the championship game on Sunday. They met the W.T. Hot Shots once again for the championship defeat 72-66. Both the Lady Bulls and the W.T. Hot Shots will advance to the National Tournament held in Ogden, Utah, July 23-31.

To prepare for the regional tournament in Amarillo the ladies have played in four tournaments placing first in the 15 and under age division and placing 2nd in two 18 and under division tournaments.

The Lady Bulls played teams comprised of girls 18 years old and under on May 21, 22, and 23 in the South Plains Classic and May 29, 30, 31 in the Memorial Day Classic. In both tournaments they earned 2nd place berths. Most of the girls playing in these tournaments have graduated this spring and have signed letters of intent with colleges to play this fall.

This past weekend the Lady Bulls played in the Texas Shoot-Out Tournament in the 18 and under age division. They played two teams from Dallas and one from the West Texas area and placed fourth in the tournament.

Coach for the Lady Bulls is Stan Newman from Lubbock and Lance White, trainer for the Texas Tech Lady Raiders.

McHam named All-American Scholar by U.S. Achievement Academy

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Lance McHam was named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the Academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only Scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Lance McHam who attended R.C. Andrews was nominated for this National Award by Margaret Jones.

Lance McHam will appear in the All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in American history. Certainly, winners of the All-American Scholars Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. Once awarded, the students may be recognized by the USAA for other honors.

Lance is the son of Dennis and Patty McHam. The grandparents are Emmet and Lucille Willis of Matador.

Former Floydada athletes are double trouble at state

For the second year in a row, former Floydada athletes have competed at the Texas State UIL tennis tournament in Austin. Clifton High School standouts, Brittany and Josh Gregory, lead their respective doubles team into the AA championship tournament. The brother/sister duo have excelled in many various activities for CHS during the past several years. Both are members of the National Honor Society, District and regional tennis champions, and members of the CHS band which won its 6th consecutive sweepstakes honor this year.

Brittany, a senior, went to state for the first time this year and returned home with 3rd place honors in the girls AA doubles. She and her partner eventually lost to the number one team in the state, Mason, in the semifinals of the tournament. This was only the second time during the 1992-1993 year the Gregory's team was defeated by another AA school. With a final record of 23-12, Brittany wrapped up her high school career in excellent form.

Josh, a sophomore standout for the cubs, qualified for state in his second consecutive try. Having competed in the singles division as a freshman, Gregory teamed up with a senior teammate and qualified in boys doubles this year. His quarterfinal match was the result of a "tough draw", pitting the Clifton team against state AA powerhouse, Mason. The experience of the Mason team (at state for their 2nd time in doubles) proved to be too much and the CHS team suffered only their second loss to a AA team this year Josh ended his sophomore year with a tremendous doubles record of 24-4-1.

Brittany and Josh are grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Cummings and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gregory, all of Floydada. Their parents are Jack and Zacha Gregory, teachers in the Clifton ISD. Jack also doubles as the varsity tennis coach for CHS.

National Safe Boating Council gives tips for protecting little skippers

According to the U.S. Coast Guard, over 80% of boating fatalities involve people not wearing personal flotation devices (PFDs), better known as life jackets. Many of these fatalities were children.

The American Pediatrics Society lists drowning as the number one cause of child death. In addition, the Society says children under seven cannot don a PFD by themselves, and those between seven and 12 cannot arrange tasks without formal training. So, to save kids lives while boating, put them in a properly fitted and adjusted PFD before they go! Here are some tips:

*PFDs come in child weight ranges:

under 30 lbs., 30-50 lbs., and over 90 lbs. Choose the right weight range for your child.

*Chest size might be specified, so measure your child under the arms.

*Fasten the PFD snugly and lift at the shoulders. If it gives more than 3", it's TOO big.

*Crotch straps keep the PFD in place. Use them.

*Consider collared PFDs for kids who fear water.

*Let your child test the PFD in shallow water. It's important he gets used to wearing it.

*Choose high-visibility colors.

*PFDs are not babysitters. NEVER leave your child alone.

Angelo State awards degrees

Tommie Diene Pearson was among 571 students who received degrees during the spring commencement exercises at Angelo State University.

Pearson received a Bachelor of Science degree, with a major in early childhood. She was also listed on the 3.50 to 4.00 honor roll for the spring semester at the university.

ASU releases Honors Lists

Three Lockney area students attending Angelo State University in San Angelo, are listed on the honor roll for the Spring semester at the University.

Those listed on the 3.50 to 4.00 honor roll include Tara M. Mallett, an Animal Science major and Orlando Mondragon, a Computer Science major.

Anna Hope Cortez, an Art major from Lockney was named to the 3.00 to 3.49 honor roll list.

Texas Animal Health Commission turns 100

This spring marks the 100th birthday of the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC), the state agency charged with protecting livestock health. During the past century, the TAHC has teamed up with producers to fight a variety of diseases and pests. But, in April 1893, when the 23rd Legislature created it as the Livestock Sanitary Commission, war was being waged against the cattle fever tick that threatened Texas' cattle industry.

Producers rallied against the pest after three U.S. Department of Agriculture veterinarians in 1888-89 discovered the common cattle tick, boophilus bovis, could spread the microscopic protozoa that caused the tick fever. Until then, nearly 90 percent of infected cattle suffered an agonizing death from the disease, also called Spanish Fever, Bovine Malaria, Yellow Murain, and Texas Fever. Affected animals ran fever, lost their appetite, became depressed, and sometimes were unable to stand. Cattle soon developed diarrhea, a rapid pulse, and bloody urine before they died three to seven days later. The few surviving animals became anemic and emaciated, causing a dramatic drop in value.

Realizing the link between pest and disease came none too soon. Texas' cattle reputation had been seriously damaged in the mid-1800s, as cattlemen from the North made the connection between Texas cattle drives and resulting outbreaks of the disease in their region. When Texas cattle were trailed northward, native cattle along the route died 30 to 60 days after grazing behind the travelers. In 1844, for instance, 50 to 90 percent of the fever tick deaths occurred on the trails to Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska. In Cherry County, Nebraska, 2,000 infected cattle died that year. By the late 1870s, many states refused Texas cattle between February and November, when the disease was at its peak.

About the same time, Mr. Robert J. Kleberg of the King Ranch in South Texas and Dr. Mark Frances of Texas A&M College developed a lime-sulphur dip to eliminate scabies, a mite that causes itching and mange. Kleberg, credited with building the first dipping vat in the U.S., saw that many ticks died after the dipping. He informed U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Rusk, "Mr. Secretary, if the tick carries the disease, as your investigation seems to show, I will get rid of the tick."

On February 26, 1892, fever tick outbreaks were rampant, and the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture quarantined seven states, and parts of Texas and five other states. Cattle destined for any purpose other than slaughter could be shipped northward from restricted regions only between November 15 and February 15.

Cattlemen recognized the crippling financial effects of the quarantines and turned to the Texas legislature, urging the creation of an agency like the U.S. Bureau of Animal Industry, which had been set up in 1884. The 23rd Texas Legislature passed S.H.B. No. 112, establishing the Livestock Sanitary Commission.

New law provided for protecting domestic livestock from dangerous or contagious diseases; establishing quarantine lines, rules and regulations; and setting penalties for violations. Governor James Stephen Hogg appointed three commissioners to head the new agency. Taking on two-year terms were Robert J. Kleberg of Corpus Christi, T.J. Martin of Midland, and W.J. Moore of Galveston. A $20,000 appropriation damaged the agency's first biennium, from which commissioners received $5 a day for official duties. They also were authorized to hire a veterinarian, provided they spent no more than $10 a day or $900 a year.

Initially headquartered in Quanah, the agency soon was moved to Fort Worth, where the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association provided space rent-free. Across the South, the race was on; chemical preparations were sprayed, rubbed, dabbed and brushed on cattle, in an attempt to kill ticks but not the animal. Sadly, ticks often fared better than cattle.

Kleberg provided facilities for trying experimental dips, and during a five-year span, 25,000 ticky cattle were passed through the vat to test the killing power of various concoctions. In 1897, the Fort Worth Stockyards built a large dipping vat for additional chemical trials.

That same year, livestock commissioners from several states and representatives of the U.S. Bureau of Animal Industry set uniform methods for tick inspection and quarantining stock. They formed the "Interstate Association of Livestock Sanitary Boards," which evolved into the U.S. Animal Health Association. This group continues to influence the development federal livestock regulations.

By 1903, a dipping solution of arsenic, sal soda and pine tar was recommended. This demonstrated little success in slowing U.S. cattle losses, which in 1906 were reported at $40 million per year, plus another $33 million in reduced cattle values in the South. Strong-minded cattlemen convinced Congress to appropriate $82,500 to support tick eradication in Southern states.

When the national program kicked off in 1906, quarantines had been slapped on 198 Texas counties, along with 729 counties in other southern states. In 1911 an arsenical dip, based on an Australian formula used in Cuba, was selected as the "official dip." Within five years, 127 counties and portions of 20 others had been released from quarantine, due to the successful efforts by livestock producers and regulatory personnel.

Today, fever ticks are eradicated from the U.S. However, portions of eight South Texas counties remain under permanent surveillance by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service in order to apprehend and treat any fever tick-infested animals that may cross the Rio Grande.

Use of Asana XL approved

Last December, the Texas Grain Sorghum Producer's Association asked the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) to submit a request to the Environmental Protection Agency for an exemption on the use of Asana XL on the 1993 grain sorghum crop. TDA relayed the request to EPA on March 1. The EPA acted on that request by granting a specific exemption for the use of pesticide to control sorghum midge. The exemption, which applies only to certain Texas counties, was granted under Section 18 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act.

"We made the request very early in anticipation of an expected problem with midge in this year's grain sorghum crop," said Jack Eberspacher, the association's executive director. "Asana XL, a synthetic pyrethroid manufactured by DuPont, is not labeled for use on grain sorghum, so we had to request an exemption to be able to use it to control midge."

Eberspacher noted that the EPA ordered that a five-mile buffer zone from the coast must be observed under the exemption. In the past EPA has required a 25-mile buffer zone from the coast.

"EPA spent a long time trying to decide how much of a buffer zone was needed, and that delayed the whole process," Eberspacher said. "The Texas Grain Sorghum Producer's Association and the Texas Department of Agriculture were asking that the buffer zones be the same as for other crops. Though five miles is not exactly the same as for other crops, it is much better than the 25 mile limit."

"We are pleased that EPA granted the exemption," Eberspacher said. "We have to apply for an exemption each year, but it is our hope that synthetic pyrethroids will be labeled for use on grain sorghum."

The exemption allows for a maximum of 489,000 sorghum acres to be treated with Asana XL. A maximum of 5 ground or aerial applications at a maximum rate of 0.05 lb. a.i. may be made. A maximum of 0.1 lb. a.i. per acre may be applied in the 1993 growing season.

A thirty day pre-harvest interval must be observed. The exemption goes into effect at different dates depending on the area, and it expires on September 30. Other restrictions also apply.

Further improvements can be made in crop insurance

According to the American Association of Crop Insurers crop insurance has become a the best risk management tool for both farmers and lenders.

No program is without its faults, but clear opportunities exist for improvements and refinements in the MPCI program to:

- * Improve actuarial soundness;
- * Increase participation;
- * Develop supplemental/alternative coverages;
- * Reduce costs;
- * Enhance efficiency.

Recent efforts such as the Nonstandard Classification System (NCS) and the Soybean Group Risk Plan address aspects of the program which were resulting in large losses. Further efforts in this area were planned.

Improvements in policy provisions and coverage levels can help the program be better tailored to individual farmers' needs, thereby increasing participation.

Proposed changes in APH procedures could substantially increase participation in the crop insurance program.

Private companies have made significant progress in formulating alternative and supplemental policies offering farmers even more protection options. FCIC must be more aggressive and flexible in approving such initiatives.

The administrative complexity of the program can be reduced and the program can be simplified while the administrative bureaucracy is downsized. This would cut FCIC's administrative budget while allowing private companies to deliver the program more efficiently.

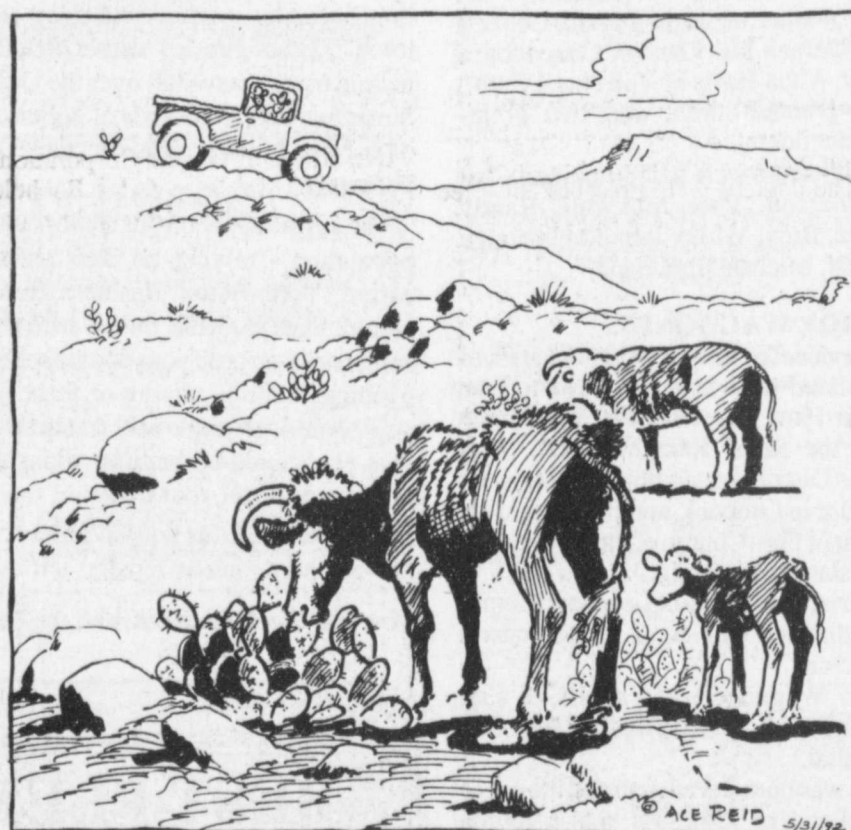

More innovative linkages between crop insurance and marketing tools such as forward contracts, futures contracts and options are being experimented with to help farmers secure higher farm incomes in an age of decreasing government price supports.

THE CHALLENGE AHEAD

As with many other programs, the Federal Crop Insurance Program is subject to continued budget pressures. Because crop insurance is vital to agri-

USDA to help provide housing

Rural residents who are homeless or inadequately-housed families may not have a chance to become homeowners under a plan being adopted by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Becky Rainer, FmHA County Supervisor, said.

Under the plan, special emphasis will be given to homes that have been in FmHA's inventory at least 18 months. Inventory homes will be offered to public bodies, including housing authorities and nonprofit community-based organizations, for rent to the homeless, or in some cases, FmHA will rent directly to the individuals, Mr. Rainer said. In addition, homes which were recently acquired by FmHA into inventory but have not yet been repaired will also be offered for lease to the homeless.

The families who obtain the housing from the public bodies or nonprofit organizations may apply to buy the house at any time during the lease. Those who rent directly from FmHA will pay rent based on their income and will be given the opportunity to buy the house they rent. Mrs. Rainer said that many homeless people work and have incomes, and have the potential to become homeowners.

"By helping people find a decent place to live, we also help eliminate the cost to taxpayers of maintaining vacant houses," Mrs. Rainer said. FmHA officials in Texas are seeking organizations which are interested in providing housing to the homeless and to inadequately-housed families.

Information concerning housing for the homeless may be obtained from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located at 104 E. California Street, FmHA County Supervisor said. The FmHA office in Floydada is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

BBB warns of gypsy scams

Now that spring is here, the home improvement gypsies will blow into town. These gypsies drive beautiful pickup trucks, travel all over the United States and take thousands of dollars out of our community right into their own pockets.

The gypsies prey on our senior citizen population - relying on their trusting nature. Your Better Business Bureau would like to offer this warning: If someone knocks on your door to sell you a siding, roofing, paving or fence job, you should be extremely cautious, in fact, you should be cautious about anyone knocking on your door.

If they tell you that you have a bad roof or your home needs repairs, tell them you will check them out with the BBB.

Always be cautious if they want up front monies. If you are not sure of who the peddler is, keep your door locked and call the police to report them in your neighborhood.

If you have filed for bankruptcy, you may be the target of a new credit repair scam, often called "file segregation". In this scheme, you are promised a chance to hide unfavorable credit information by establishing a new credit identity.

This sounds great, but file segregation is illegal. If you use it, the FTC says you could face fines or even prison.

"Entertainment in the Early Days"

By Will Martin

Residents were involved in various activities for entertainment in the early days.

One thing that took place was the croquet court down near the city water tower. Older men that didn't have anything to do spent many happy hours playing croquet.

Many men of all ages would find an empty building and then spent all day playing dominoes. You would be surprised at how some people could sit at one place so long.

On cool days when the wind was from the north, men and boys would lean up against the south side of the bank and shoot the bull. Some evil minded people would accuse them of thinking evil thoughts about the women. I never had any thoughts like that when I saw the men leaning against the side of the bank. You could see a pretty good crowd of people on Saturday, which was called butter and egg day. They came in mostly from the rural school houses to sell eggs, cream, etc., to buy groceries and other things. Many people would stay late to go to the picture show.

I felt sorry for the storekeepers and their help for having to stay so late on Saturday night. People would sometimes buy their groceries late in the afternoon and not pick them up until late at night after the show was over. The movies were pretty long and had a pretty long comedy at the last. If there were enough people who came in late the theater would run the show over for the late comers.

The name of the first theater was Olympic, located just about where the bank's drive-in window is today or maybe a little to the north.

In about 1917 or through 1929 we had three theatres. My understanding was that Jack Deakins bought the Olympic and changed the name to Ritz. Then the Palace was built. Then the building that later became Arwine Drug had been bought by Jack and his partner who leased the building and converted it to a picture show called the Royal.

Things were booming on the tail end of the roaring 1920s. But in 1929 the First State Bank went under about the time the stock market fell. That was the start of the Great Depression.

Everything just wound down slowly in about two years. Farmers lost their homes and merchants had to lay off hands.

But we that stayed made the best of things. We hoed in summer and pulled cotton in the fall, then worked two or three weeks in summer in wheat harvest.

We that were on the broke side hunted for work most of the time. Papa's little 80 acre farm, along with dry weather and low prices, made our living pretty lean, but with me working on the side, we made it after not having to go on welfare. You have heard that the windmill saved lots of people from almost starving. Our windmill sure did furnish water to raise those good old green beans, peas and carrots. I must try to forget those depression days and bad sandstorm days, after 60 or more years I haven't been able to forget them so far.

It wasn't all doom and gloom for us young people. We might have to bum a ride with someone that was lucky enough to own an old car that a bunch of us would go to a neighbor's house and play games and turn into a ring play or square dance. Baseball was a great game for people of nearly all ages. Sandhill was the best team in this part of the county. Some of the best players were Arthur Womack, Edd and Leonard Holmes. There were more but these three were the ones I knew well. Leonard was known as Lefty. He later went to Amarillo and played professional baseball.

Some people may not believe this but I think we had much colder winters from about 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919 up through the 1920s of these some were colder than others. I remember in about 1919 after about three weeks of near zero weather the lakes were not pumped dry for irrigation, but were pretty full of water. Of course in three weeks of zero weather at night they would freeze about a foot deep of solid ice.

On days that were not too cold, I would walk to school and back along beside Massie lake that was frozen over. Look out on the lake and there would be maybe two Model T Ford cars with kids in them yelling and screaming. The drivers would go around in circles and throw on the brakes and let the car slide till it almost turned over. I think Kenneth Henry and Bill Daily were the main drivers.

Not only did people ride in cars in cold weather but often tied a homemade sled behind a car and four or five would get on the sled and have a high heel time. Another sport was a jackrabbit drive. A bunch of men and boys would take their hound dogs some had 22 guns and all would scatter out across the country and scare up the rabbits.

I think it was at the sheriff's office where they could get 5 cents for each pair of rabbit ears. I could think up more but I will close.

LEAVING FOR SUMMER CAMP--Lockney Boy Scout Troop 259 left city life on Sunday June 13 for their first summer camp at Camp Post. Thirteen Lockney Scouts will join other troops from the South Plains Council Boy

Local sales tax rebates show increase

By Juanita Stepp

June 1993 sales tax rebates made to Floyd County cities from the state comptroller's office have been received and year to date totals displayed an increase from last year for both Floydada and Lockney. Figures for both towns indicate increases in monthly rebates when compared to June 1992 rebates.

Total rebates received in Floyd County this month were $15,803.20, an increase of 39.67 percent when compared to the $11,314.29 received at this time in 1992.

Floydada's June check from the state comptroller's office was in the amount of $10,995.56 and showed an increase of 41.11 percent over the $7,791.94 payment received in June of 1992.

Lockney displayed an increase of 36.49 percent from the same period in 1992 in overall receipts. The city's June check was in the amount of $4,807.64 compared to $3,522.35 received in June 1992.

Area cities, their June 1993 rebates and percentage of change are listed below.

- Quitaque; $929.23, -11.18%
 - Silverton; $1,894.08, +80.85%
 - Crosbyton; $5,368.50, +45.03%
 - Lorenzo; $1,679.39, +5.90%
 - Ralls; $4,946.34, +4.16%
 - Abernathy; $6,128.34, -16.29%
 - Hale Center; $2,863.96, +5.79%
 - Petersburg; $1,486.03, -2.02%
 - Plainview; $151,923.19, +0.90%
 - Idalou; $3,680.49, +18.74%
 - Lubbock; $1,171,519.50, +4.53%
 - Matador; $1,148.90, -18.98%
 - Roaring Springs; $2,131.10, +38.18%
 - Tulia; $16,083.31, -7.00%
- Payments totaling $109.4 million in local sales tax rebates went back to 917 Texas cities and 108 counties this month, according to the state comptroller's office. This month's sales tax payments include taxes collected on April sales reported to the Comptroller in May by businesses filing monthly tax returns.
- Sales taxes are collected by merchants and forwarded to the state which retains a 6.25 percent share and returns the city sales tax portion to each city, county, hospital district or transit system. Neither Floyd County nor Lockney General Hospital District and Caprock Hospital district levies a sales tax at this time. No qualifying transit system, which could also levy a sales tax, operates within the county.

All local sales taxes have been approved by local voters and may be used for any legal city expense.

Penny postcards cost public millions

The U.S. Postal Inspection Service has announced that it was taking the fight against fraudulent postcards to the streets with an unusual twist to an old scam.

In an extraordinary effort to educate potential victims about this perennial scourge, inspectors mailed more than 200,000 postcards to individuals all over the country, offering recipients a "guaranteed prize".

This familiar ruse promises that you have definitely won one of several seemingly big-ticket prizes, such as a luxury automobile, vacation cruise, diamond necklace or cash. To claim your free prize, you simply call an 800 or 900 number furnished on the postcard. At this point, you're connected to a high-pressure "yak" (sales agent) who spells out the real deal.

Guess what? Before any prize is awarded, you'll have to pay the promoter a fee of some kind, be it a registration fee or shipping charge. This is the tip-off to the rip-off. The scheme is aimed at separating the prize winner from enough money to cover the worthless vacation certificate or cheap costume jewelry which may or may not be sent in return, plus a nice profit for the operator.

Those who respond to the inspectors' postcard and call 1-800-448-5656 will get some helpful advice instead:

—Don't pay anything for a "free prize" if you don't know what you're getting. (Remember, calling a 900 telephone number costs money.)

—Don't deal with firms or individuals that make high-pressure demands for an answer RIGHT NOW! (Take time to check them out.)

—Don't give out your credit card number to anyone you don't know. (Callers that want a credit card number or expiration date to verify anything about you aren't to be trusted.)

Postal inspectors are intent on preserving public confidence in the U.S. Mail as a means of accessing the marketplace, and point out that the vast majority of mail order vendors are legitimate. "We want to drive the rotten apples out of the telemarketing barrel, with vigorous law enforcement and a strong dose of public education," says Inspector John Brugger, Headquarters spokesperson for the Postal Inspection Service.
