A view from

Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

We never cease to be amazed by the hypocrisy that all too often shows up in the financial dealings of our big city media cousins.

They are capable of writing thundering editorials on behalf of "the little people," against the financial "special interests," against the giants of industry, on and on ad nauseam. But, not unlike the world of politics, what you see, gentle reader, is not necessarily what you get.

The result is that the "little people," including little newspapers, quite often get it in the neck.

A case in point: During the most recent session of the Texas Legislature, a fight erupted between the Southwestern Bell telephone company and this state's newspaper industry over an issue long anticipated by both sides. It was an issue that didn't really involve the smaller, community newspapers, but was of vital importance (we were told) to the state's major papers. Leading the fight for the major papers was the very liberal, and very wealthy, Austin American-Statesman, part of the massive Cox media empire. The Atlanta-based Cox corporation includes newspapers, television and radio stations, plus cable television companies (Lubbock among others).

Many of the state's smaller papers were conned into joining the battle, on grounds that they too had a vital interest at stake. Similar battles have been going on around the country.

Without going too much into the intricate details of the battle we can say it revolved around Southwestern Bell's efforts to move into areas that have nothing to do with the reasons they are given monopoly status in those communities they serve. They wanted, in short, to use their government-granted monopoly phone lines to move into the transmission of classified advertising and other "information services" previously denied them by law. Obviously it would have been, and would be, an unfair situation. There is no possible way smaller, independent media outlets could compete with outfits having monopoly powers in the field of communications.

The Legislature bought the newspaper argument, particularly the argument that such a development would be harmful to the phone company's rate-paying consumers, which it would. The telephone company's argument that they needed the additional source of revenue fell flat on its face in light of the fact that it is one of the most lucrative, money-making businesses around. In fact, Southwestern Bell has made so much money it has now invested heavily in Mexico, and in at least one professional sports team. So the Legislature dragged its feet on Bell's proposal, and, at the behest of Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, the whole matter was put off for a couple of years after an uneasy standoff was agreed to.

So then what happened?

Press reports recently noted that Cox Enterprises is now "close to agreeing" with BellSouth Corporation, one of the Bell sister companies, on a joint venture to deliver Yellow Pages information and classified advertising by telephone and computer. In the real world that means BellSouth will be doing what Southwestern Bell wanted to do, and also that Cox will be getting a piece of the action, a piece of the pie.

The report also noted that "Cox has been a leading opponent of telephone companies providing information services."

Neither Cox nor Bell would comment officially, but the chairman of Cox said "I think you'll see a lot of strategic partnerships develop."

If some of our brethren among the state's smaller newspapers get the idea they have been had, it's because they have.

The Cox operation was founded many years ago by a former Democratic governor of Ohio. He must have been a very shrewd businessman. His descendants are now counted among the wealthiest people in the United States. They were among former President Jimmy

Series of accidents plagues Floyd County

Texas DPS Trooper Ron Parks investigated three accidents during the past week in Floyd County. Each had the potential of being far more serious than they were said the officer.

Parks was called out at 3:36 a.m. on Wednesday, July 28, to the scene of a one vehicle rollover 16 miles east of Floydada 3/10 of a mile from the Floyd/Motley County line. According to the DPS Patrolman, Margarita Hernandez of Quannah was traveling east on U. S. 62 at a high rate of speed when she ran off the roadway on the left side of the road, over corrected and went off the road on the right, rolling over several times.

Both Hernandez and her passenger in the 1989 Chevrolet Corsica 4-door, Paula Garcia, were wearing seat belts and suffered only minor injuries in the traffic mishap.

Parks investigated a second accident at the intersection of U. S. Highway 70 and FM 378 at 10:40 a.m. on the same day. The two vehicle crash occurred when Deborah Pyle, 17, of Lockney, driving a 1976 yellow Chevrolet El Camino, traveling north on FM 378, struck a 1986 brown Chevrolet Silverado pickup traveling west on U. S. 70.

The pickup, driven by Doyle Rose, 59, of Matador, was knocked up onto two wheels and came to rest a sizable distance from the intersection. Rose and his wife, a passenger in the vehicle, were wearing seat belts and had only minor injuries. The driver and passenger of the other vehicle were not wearing seat belts according to Parks. Pyle sustained contusions and her passenger had an apparently mild concussion as a result of the accident.

Saturday, July 31, Parks reported on a one vehicle accident at the intersection of County Road 290 and U. S. 62. The driver of a 1966 Ford station wagon, Cecilia Garcia, was traveling west on the county dirt road and was unable to negotiate a right turn onto U. S. 62. Her vehicle left the roadway and struck a large gas meter hidden by tall weeds, damaging the meter and allowing a release of gas from the line. Damage estimates were not available, but Parks stated that the cost of repairing the meter would be sizable.

Trooper Marty Lucke investigated a one vehicle accident 14.8 miles southeast of Floydada on Sunday, August 1. Reported at approximately 4:15 p.m., the incident involved a 1991 Toyota pickup driven by Fernando G. Calderon of Crosbyton. Both he and a passenger, Roberto Romero, also of Crosbyton, received minor injuries when he lost control of the vehicle, over corrected and rolled it over onto its top. The vehicle was north bound on County Road 221 at the time of the accident. Both men were wearing seat belts.

Marsh displays paintings at FNB

The First National Bank of Floydada is proud to announce the artist of the month for August. Priscilla Marsh of Crosbyton will be showing her paintings at the facility throughout the month during regular banking hours.

The clear rich colors of the southwest inspire Marsh as she transforms memories and photographs into award winning works at her home studio in Crosbyton, Texas. Deerhunting trips to New Mexico and Colorado with her husband Clayburn provide her with subject matter and ideas for painting the mountain country and living on the cotton and wheat producing land of the rolling plains, adds dimension to her landscapes and wildlife paintings.

Marsh uses hues and values to create in each work a focal point while leaving the viewer free to experience every inch of the eye's journey to the paintings center of interest. Her works draw the viewer in, exuding tranquility and sensitivity as well as individuality.

Commercial art studies in the 1960's have been followed by work with Daniel Greene, Ramon Froman, Jan DeRuth, Ben Konis, Rosie Alford, Paul Milosevich, William Schultz, Ann Templeton, Jay Hester and the late John Crump. Marsh is a frequent winner at regional juried shows and won the Best of Show at the Crosby County Fine Arts Festival in both 1984 and 1987. She earned the same honor at Seminole in 1980 and Brownfield in 1988.

Lubbock Art Association shows have recognized her with awards several times in recent years. She was a Citation Winner in 1981, a First Place Winner in 1982 and 1987, and participated in a three-person show at the Lubbock Arts and Garden Center in 1983. She was one of 95 artists selected to show in the gallery at Lubbock's Art Festival in 1987 and 1988. In August of 1992, she was the association's Merit Award Winner at the Lubbock Invitational Show.

Examples of Marsh's works hang in corporate and private collections throughout the southwest. She maintains memberships in the Crosbyton and Lubbock Art Associations.

Everyone is invited to stop in during August and see the lovely paintings displayed by this talented area artist. FNB Floydada is open weekdays from 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

West's recovery from surgery continues well

According to a report received from Evelyn Pollan, Jimmie Jo West's aunt, on Tuesday, August 3, her recovery from lung transplant surgery is going better than expected.

Pollan said that West has progressed much more rapidly than anticipated and could leave the hospital as early as late this week. Originally scheduled for a 7 to 10 day stay in the ICU, West moved to a regular room within five days after the surgery and has been improving very rapidly since.

After being on oxygen for more than two years, West has been able to breathe normally without oxygen enhancement for the past three days.

Pollan said that Irene King, West's mother, reported that she was very pleased with the recovery and looking forward to taking Jimmie back to her apartment in San Antonio within the next few days. They anticipate returning home to Floydada within a few months if everything continues to progress as quickly and as well as it is now.

Lockney Police Report

On July 16 Lockney police were dispatched to a residence on SW 6th to talk to a citizen about suspicious activity in his yard. He reported that two white men appeared to be surveying. When he asked what they were doing they told him that they were surveying the streets running north and south to see if they ran straight. The citizen checked with City Hall and found that they were not doing any work for the City. The two were reported to be driving a dark blue late model 1970 pickup. Lockney police ask that anyone seeing anything suspicious should call the Police office.

On July 19 Lockney police took a report of a burglary in the 300 block of East Popular. Sometime between 11:00 a.m. on July 16 and 11:40 a.m. on July 19 items valued at $1478 were taken from the residence. This burglary is still under investigation. Anyone who saw anything suspicious is asked to contact the police department.

Carter's principal backers, both financially and editorially. They have played the same role for Bill Clinton. They never pass up an opportunity to shed great editorial tears for "the little man." But they never pass up an opportunity to get bigger and bigger, and richer and richer, even at the expense of those whom they call on for help.

Truly, little fish ought to be extremely careful when they swim with sharks. Little fish may think they are being protected. The sharks do not necessarily see it that way. They may just be waiting for a meal.

Julian and Elkner exchange marriage vows

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY EDWARD ELKNER
(nee Kristi Michelle Julian)

Kristi Michelle Julian and Timothy Edward Elkner were married during a garden ceremony at the home of the bride in Lubbock. Dixie Robertson, an associate pastor of First United Methodist Church in Lubbock, officiated.

Parents of the bride are Kendis and Janis Julian of Floydada. The groom is the son of John and Patricia Elkner of Mays Landing, New Jersey.

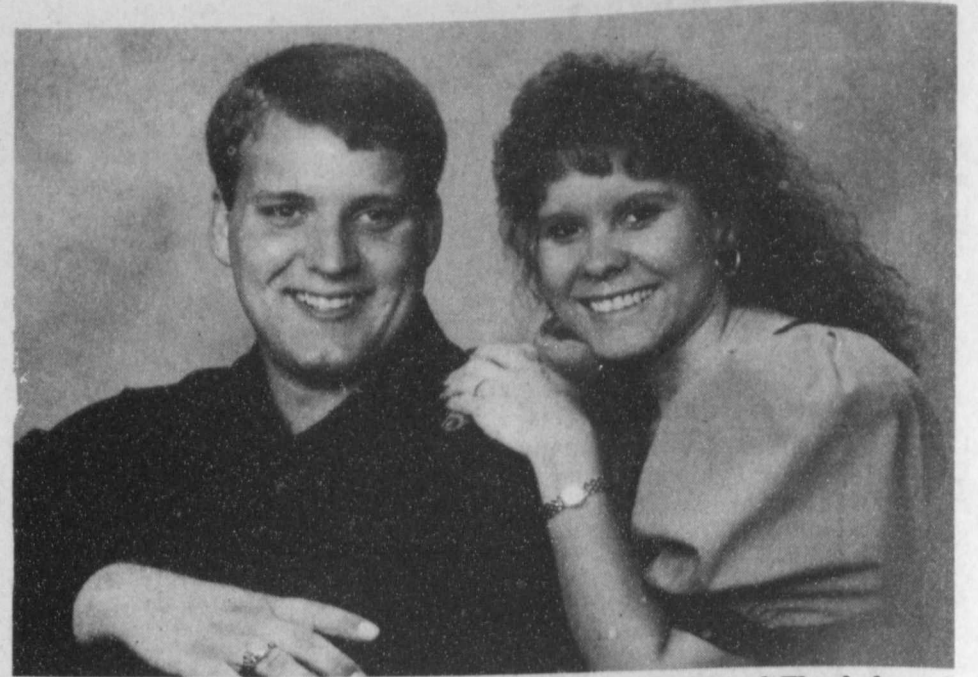

Mitzi Julian of Atlanta, Georgia, attended her sister as maid of honor and the best man was Paul Mangum of Midland.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a two-piece suit. The top was made of ivory re-embroidered French lace hand-stitched on organdy and featured a lace peplum worn over a white faille knee length skirt. Her honor attendant wore a street length fitted dress of blue handkerchief linen.

The bride's bouquet was a loose European style cluster of white tulips, roses, gerbera daisies, tuberose, Queen Anne's lace, English ivy and asparagus fern. Her maid of honor carried a cluster of white gerbera daisies and asparagus fern.

As something old, the bride wore the gold wedding band worn by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Aubrey Stewart. Something blue was the linen handkerchief belonging to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Bonnie Julian. The bride's wedding attire was something new, and she borrowed an antique diamond wedding ring from Mrs. Travis Jones.

A reception luncheon was served to the families and close friends of the couple following the ceremony. An evening reception was hosted by the newlyweds at the Caprock Winery.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Gary and Sue Fuller of Floydada and Bobby and Kathy Norvell of Lubbock announce the engagement of their daughter, Amy Dawn Fuller to Marcus Malloy, son of Rick and Penny Malloy of Longview. Miss Fuller is the granddaughter of Betty Fuller, and the late Wayne Fuller of Floydada, and Morris and Doris Graham of Brownwood, former Floydada residents. The bride-elect is a graduate of Monterey High School and attends Texas Tech University. She is employed by Gardski's Restaurant. The future bridegroom is a graduate of Longview High and a 1993 graduate of Texas Tech. After their marriage the couple will be residing in Longview, where Miss Fuller will continue her studies at U.T. of Tyler and Mr. Malloy will be employed by the Longview Independent School District. They will marry on September 4th at Lake Ranson Canyon Chapel.

Your Health * Our Care

In May, 1993, an outbreak of acute illness with flu-like symptoms followed by acute respiratory failure occurred in the four-corners area of New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Utah. Many, but not all of the cases were Native Americans, and most of the patients died. This outbreak appears to have been caused by a newly recognized hantavirus associated with the deer mouse. In June, 1993, a fatal case of adult respiratory distress syndrome occurred in an individual in East Texas. Hantavirus was also identified as the cause even though this individual had not traveled outside the East Texas region.

Texas Department of Health staff have been receiving numerous calls from across the state regarding this mystery illness. The following list provides the most commonly asked questions and the appropriate answers:

What are the symptoms of a hantavirus infection? The symptoms are fever, body aches, dry cough, and within 3-4 days a rapid onset of severe respiratory failure.

How do people catch hantavirus infections? Rodents are the natural hosts for all known hantaviruses. Humans are thought to be infected from exposure to rodent droppings, urine, or saliva, either through aerosols or direct inoculation. Rodents may be chronically infected with hantavirus and excrete the virus for months.

If I find dead rodents, rodent nests, rodent droppings or urine, what should I do? Never touch the rodent, its droppings, or its urine with bare hands. Try not to disturb the rodents or their wastes in a manner that creates aerosols (small particles of matter suspended in air). BEFORE cleanup, spray a contact insecticide that states on the label that it kills fleas on the surrounding area. Follow label directions. Use rubber or disposable gloves and saturate the area with Liquid Lysol (not aerosol Lysol) or bleach. Pour the liquid disinfectant on the rodent, rodent droppings, rodent bedding, etc. Use the disinfectant according to label directions. The proper dilution for laundry bleach is 1/2 cup bleach to 5 cups of water. Place the rodent or other material mentioned above in a plastic bag along with the items used in the clean up procedure (gloves, paper towels, paper plates, etc) and tie or "zip lock" it and then place that bag inside another bag. Secure the second bag. The rodent material can then be disposed on in the outdoor garbage can or it can be buried. Use disinfectant again, with a new pair of gloves, on the surface where the rodent was discovered.

Can this disease be spread from person to person? No, there is no evidence of person to person transmission for any of the known hantaviruses. There are no documented cases of hantavirus being transmitted from infected patients to health care workers or other family members who have had no contact with the rodent population in the immediate area.

If you have any additional questions call Key Vaughn or Bobby Davis of the TDH General Sanitation Division, 512-834-6635.

Hi! On this cool, rainy, refreshing morning.

Monday, Irene Wexler played the piano for us and we shared the word on the Reign of God is like a buried treasure. (Matt. 13:44-52) What did we treasure? At 2 p.m. the residents painted ceramics.

Tuesday the residents made peanut butter cookies, they were good.

Wednesday morning the residents reminisced about summer. What kind of activities they did in August. Some were canning peaches, plums, making jelly, reunions, vacations, getting children ready for school.

At 2:30 residents played Bingo. Edward Jameson had the first Bingo.

Thursday was current event time once again. Residents also folded the newsletter and calendars to mail. At 6 p.m. was the ice cream and cake social with the family and residents. We had a good turnout, thanks to all who came and brought ice cream, cake, cookies and toppings. Philip Wilbanks played the piano for us.

Friday Lee Burton from First Baptist Church gave the devotion, Psalm 9. Gayla Griffin played the piano for us. On to Plainview on the bus ride. McDonald's treated the residents to ice cream.

Thanks Alma Smith for the Mature Living magazine.

Shape is on for new fall fashions in 1994

A renewed emphasis on shape is on the horizon for fall 1994 and it will call for updated fabrics that will work with form development. That's the word from Lydia Caffery, director of fashion marketing for Cotton Incorporated.

"Consumers will be looking for items that don't look like any they already own, such as lightweight tapestry cotton used for jeans or a woven stripe that can give a soft knit feeling to a variety of looks," says Caffery. She added that cotton velvet, denim, brocade, crepe, corduroy and jersey are fabrics that are adaptable to the new looks. New color directions range from white and three versions of tan and pale pinks to bold vegetable colors such as autumn red, rhubarb, plum and gold.

Pest Management Newslewtter

By David Kostroun
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties
GENERAL SITUATION

Hot, dry conditions in both Crosby and Floyd Counties are having a detrimental effect on the crop situation. Dryland areas are getting the short end of the stick as both crop and weather conditions deplete moisture. Although most irrigated fields are still doing well, some producers did get a late start on watering and as a result are also experiencing problems. There were some areas in both counties that have received some scattered showers, but the moisture is not lasting long.

COTTON

Since last week, cotton has made leaps and bounds. Many fields are approaching 4 nodes above white flower (NAWF) which is considered cutout. Only a couple fields checked in the pest management program had less than 4 NAWF. In these fields, squares and small bolls are readily being shed. Most irrigated fields are still in the range of 6 to 7 NAWF while dryland fields are averaging closer to 5 NAWF.

Crosby County Extension Agent Rick Smathers randomly sampled both irrigated and dryland cotton fields throughout the county for a plant mapping study being conducted over the entire South Plains. His data indicate that in Crosby County, plants are averaging 13.21 total nodes over the entire plant while the first position white flower is at node 7.88 (node 8).

He also observed 5.08 first position squares being retained above the white flower while 1.43 first position bolls were being retained below the white flower. What this all boils down to is that Crosby County is averaging 95% square retention and 76% boll retention.

In Floyd County, County Agent Kerry Siders also conducted the same study. He found that plants were averaging 15.1 total nodes with the first position white flower located at node 7.81 (node 8). Also observed was 2.2 first position bolls retained below the white bloom. This indicates a 78% boll retention for Floyd County fields. For county wide averages, this is pretty good considering the conditions we're dealing with at this time.

The insect situation has not been one to get very excited about. Bollworm pressure still remains light despite high pheromone trap catches. Survival of small larvae probably has been limited due to the hot, dry conditions. Aphids continue to stay at the same low levels that we have seen over past weeks. Small colonies of 4 to 6 individuals can occasionally be seen. Looking on the positive side, a few small colonies right now may serve as an attractive food source for the low number of beneficials we are seeing at this time.

One pest of cotton that is not commonly a threat in this area is the Lygus bug. Lygus bugs are 1/4 inch long and greenish to brown in color as an adult. The nymphs are dark green and resemble a giant fleahopper nymph.

Lygus bug can damage all sizes of squares by feeding on developing pollen within. They also feed on small bolls causing spotting of the boll and staining of the lint. In the past, this pest has not presented much of a problem and is still not a threat. I am, however, finding a few Lygus throughout both counties doing very light damage. Keep this pest in mind when scouting your field.

CORN

Many corn fields are in the soft to hard dough stage. Those fields in the pest management program are still doing well with minor insect problems. Mites continue to be small in size and are doing minor damage. In almost every ear, one large corn earworm can still be seen feeding at the tip. With such dry conditions, keep an eye on the mite situation as they tend to increase in number under dry conditions.

Southwestern corn borer pheromone traps continue to collect greater numbers as we approach the peak of the second generation. The trap at Barwise collected a weekly total of 1200 adults while the Providence trap collected 1630 adults. Both trap collections have tripled since last week. Keep a close watch on the situation especially in corn growing regions as we are near peak emergence.

SORGHUM

Grain sorghum is well into the heading and bloom stage. Greenbug numbers continue to increase in all fields I have checked. A seed production field in the Sandhill area has reached the economic threshold. Greenbug samples have been collected from this field and sent to Kansas for determination of biotype and resistance levels. I will inform you of the data as soon as results are available.

Sorghum midge are another pest to keep a watch for. The best time to scout for midge is early in the morning or late in the evening.

Local cotton looks promising

By Kerry Siders, CEA-Ag.
The cotton in Floyd County has looked extremely promising. Yet it does run the gamut from bumblebee cotton to almost perfect.

According to the Applied Cotton Monitoring Survey that I conducted on July 27 throughout the county, average cotton growth parameters are: height 22 inches (range 16-28); white bloom position node 9 (range 8-11); total nodes per plant 15 (range 11-17); and number of 1st position bolls retained 2 (range 1-4). You may ask, so what does this mean?

Well, it tells us that on average we have 6 nodes above white bloom and that when it reaches 4 nodes above white bloom it begins to cut-out. This also tells

To discuss Texas Water Bank

Water board schedules meeting

The newly-created Texas Water Bank and its potential effects on the High Plains area will be discussed at a public meeting scheduled for August 11 at 10:30 a.m. at the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District office, 2930 Avenue Q, in Lubbock.

"This meeting provides mayors of area towns, representatives from other underground water conservation districts, regional water providers, and landowners interested in selling water reserves and putting them into the Water Bank an opportunity to determine if the Bank will be of benefit to people in the High Plains area," said A. Wayne Wyatt, High Plains Water District manager.

In June, Governor Ann Richards signed Senate bill 1030 (SB 1030) into law, thereby creating the Texas Water Bank to be administered by the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) in Austin.

Under the provisions of SB 1030, the Texas Water Bank will be established to encourage marketing of water to provide adequate water supplies. The Bank will allow individuals to transfer as much as 50 percent of their water rights into the Bank. While on deposit in the Bank, surface water rights are protected from cancellation for an initial 10-year period and for an ensuing 10 years following the Texas Water Commission's approval of a water rights transfer.

Deposits in the Water Bank may include water rights or the right to use water under an authorized water right. These deposits may consist of surface water, ground water, or water from any other source, such as treated wastewater effluent or irrigation tailwater.

Representative David Counts (D-Knox City), a co-sponsor of SB 1030, TWDB Executive Administrator Craig Pedersen, and Deputy Executive Administrator for Planning Dr. Tommy Knowles are expected to attend the August 11 meeting.

"The TWDB representatives want to gather comments from area officials and residents as to what will make the Texas

Managers chosen for commission

Managers have been chosen for the fifteen regional offices of the soon-to-be-created Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission. The 14 district offices of the Texas Water Commission and the 12 regional offices of the Texas Air Control Board are being combined, with some realignment of counties, into the new 15-region network of the TNRCC.

The new appointments are effective Sept. 1, the consolidation date of the two agencies. Current TWC district managers and TACB regional directors who have not been selected to head TNRCC regional offices, have been offered other positions in the new agency.

In addition to the selection of 15 regional managers, John Young, currently the TWC District Manager in Austin, has been named Program Director for Waste in the TNRCC Field Operations Division. Young has been TWC District 14 manager for 12 years. He will join Debra Barber, Program Director for Air and Lemarcus Johnson, Program Director for Water. Young, Barber and Johnson report to Ann McGinley, Director of Field Operations.

KARATE® insecticide controls more insects more effectively than any other cotton insecticide. ■ First things first. For starters, KARATE provides excellent control of the primary pests that destroy your cotton, including budworms, bollworms and boll weevils. ■ Second things first. While KARATE is doing such an excellent job on primary pests, it's also taking care of secondary pests like aphids and mites. ■ Third things first. As if all that weren't enough, KARATE also provides ovicidal activity on heliothis. For broad-spectrum control, make KARATE your first choice. For more information, see your ZENECA representative or call 1-800-759-2500. Always read and follow label directions carefully.

Ellison attends FHA State Executive Council sessions

Tiffany Ellison, Region I President, attended the State Executive Council meeting for the Future Homemakers of America on July 21-23 in Austin. "Hats off the FHA/HERO" was the theme of this planning meeting.

During the three day conference, the officers planned the State Leadership meeting to be held in April 1994 in Dallas. They also planned activities to be carried out during the year. The theme chosen for the State Meeting was "FHA/HERO: A World of Possibilities."

Miss Ellison was a member of the constitution committee. Her duties included making bylaw changes and develop plans for the nominating committee and house of delegates. The group was under the direction of Mrs. Sharon Pierce of the T.E.A. Staff. She served as State Advisor to the youth organization. The Future Homemakers of America is the only vocational organization that has the family as its central focus and is an integral part of the home economics curriculum.

Treana Aston, advisor to Miss Ellison also attended the planning conference.

Calypso Steak named beef winner

Marinate a lean, economical cut of beef like sirloin in a mixture of lime juice, honey and soy sauce. Add pungent spices like ginger, allspice, paprika and thyme. After at least 20 minutes, broil the steak to desired doneness. And what do you get?

For most of us, it would be Calypso Steak, a delicious, unique presentation of steak that dresses up sirloin with style and flavor. But for Robin Bonifay Hill of Arlington, winner of the 1993 Texas Beef Recipe Contest, Calypso Steak also means a trip to the 1993 National Beef Cook-Off.

Hill will compete as one of 15 cooks in this year's national cook-off contest. The 15 finalists were selected from approximately 5,000 recipes entered nationwide in this competition. Hill's recipe was selected as a finalist based on its unique, spicy flavor that brings the accent of the tropics to beef.

Eighty Texas Cattle Women named the recipe as the best out of five finalists that were judged at this year's contest. Hill took home $3,000 in cash for winning the Texas contest.

In Cheyenne, the winning recipe will receive $20,000 in cash prizes for this contest which also marks the 20th anniversary of the National Beef Cook-Off competition. The cook-off is sponsored by the American National Cattle-Women, Inc., in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council and the Cattlemen's Beef Board.

CALYPSO STEAK
Total preparation and cooking time: 35 minutes
Marinating Time: 20 minutes to 2 hours.
1 1/2 - pounds boneless beef top sirloin or top round steak, cut 1-inch thick.
Edible flowers (optional)
Marinate:
1/2 medium onion, cut into quarters
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup fresh lime juice
1/4 cup soy sauce

10 to 20 quarter-size slices peeled, fresh ginger (cut from 1" wide x 1-1/2 to 3" long piece)

1 to 2 jalapeno peppers, stems removed, cut in half

3 cloves garlic, peeled
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 teaspoon ground paprika
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves

1. Place marinade ingredients in blender or food processor, fitted with steel blade; process until blended. Place beef steak and marinade in plastic bag, turning to coat. Close bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 20 minutes to 2 hours, turning once.

2. Remove steak from marinade; reserve marinade. Place steak on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil top sirloin 16 to 21 minutes (top round 15 to 18 minutes) for rare to medium doneness, turning once.

3. Meanwhile in small saucepan, bring reserved marinade to rolling boil over high heat. Boil 2 minutes; strain and set aside for sauce.

Lockney Cub Scouts receive the Arrow of Light Award

Four Cub Scouts from Pack 259 in Lockney recently received the Arrow of Light Award. Each boy received his Arrow of Light badge from Scoutmaster Bill Hunter during a special presentation ceremony. Awards were presented to David Martinez, Kevin Auffer, Danny Huggins and Adam Jones.

The Arrow of Light Award is Cub Scouting's highest award and is the only Cub Scout badge that can be worn on the Boy Scout uniform. To earn the Arrow of Light Award, each boy must complete eight activity badges, know the requirements of becoming a Boy Scout, participate in activities with a Boy Scout Troop, participate in a Webelos overnight campout or day hike and earn the Webelos badge. These boys, along with their den leader, Chuck Auffer, worked hard to receive this high award. They and the other boys in their den have now crossed the bridge into Boy Scouts where they will work to earn still more awards.

Floyd County Library Reading Club ends summer activities

The final session of the 1993 Summer Reading Club was held on July 28 at the Floyd County Library. Sponsored by Dairy Queen and the Texas State Library, the club is an incentive program to encourage children to spend time reading during the summer months.

Children received a coupon for a free treat from the Dairy Queen for each five hours spent reading, and Reading Club certificates were awarded to those who read at least 10 hours. This year there were fourteen participants who received certificates, representing a total of 232 hours of reading.

The top five readers this year were Derrick Griggs, Analisa Enriquez, Amanda Green, Erick Arellano and Christy Castillo, who each received a reading club poster.

Programs were offered for both preschool and elementary age children each Wednesday morning during the month of July. Club members were treated to a variety of fun activities, including crafts, games, and face-to-face meetings with a horse and a sheep. Floyd County 4-H members responsible for leading this year's programs were Stacey Lloyd, Kaci Mathis, Lindsey Mathis, Wade Wiles, Tyler Phillips, Bonnie Dunlap, Allen Martin, Cynthia Martin, and Tim Mitchell. Special thanks to these young people for making the 1993 Summer Reading Club so successful, and congratulations to those Reading Club members who earned their certificates.

Adjust routine for summer exercising

When the weather becomes hot and humid, it is important to adjust your exercise routine to avoid health risks.

According to Ray Irvin, director of the Methodist Lifestyle Centre, "The best time to exercise is in the early morning or late evening when it is cooler." Wearing loose clothing while exercising also will help by allowing body heat to escape.

The most important thing to remember while exercising in hot weather is to drink plenty of fluids. Drinking the right kinds of fluids is also essential. Water is the best fluid to drink while exercising. Soft drinks and fruit juices contain 10 to 12 percent sugar and can cause cramps, stomach upset and diarrhea if not diluted first. "Fluid replacement drinks," such as Gatorade, are good for hot weather exercising. You can make your own by diluting fruit juice to half strength with water and adding one teaspoon of salt per gallon.

Following are some guidelines for drinking fluids during hot weather exercising:

*Drink fluids before, during and after exercising.

*Drink 2.5 cups of water up to one hour before exercising.

*Drink 1.5 cups of water 15 minutes before exercising.

*Drink .5 cups of water every 15 minutes while exercising.

*Drink 2 cups of water for every pound lost to sweat after exercising.

*Drink cooler fluids that are 40 to 50 degrees.

*Do not drink fluids that contain more than 10 percent sugar.

*You can drink "fluid replacement drinks" while exercising.

"Remember that thirst is not a good indicator of how much fluid your body needs," said Irvin. "It is important to drink while exercising in hot weather even if you are not thirsty

Elderly persons should use caution during exposure to summer heat

For millions of retired Americans, summer's dangerously high temperatures can take the good out of the "good ol' summertime."

"Heat illness can be devastating for the elderly, particularly in areas with extremely high humidity," said Dr. Janice Zimmerman, an assistant professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "By taking the proper precautions, heat illnesses, such as heat exhaustion and heat stroke, can be prevented."

Heat exhaustion, a form of fatigue, is caused by overexposure to heat. If left untreated, it can turn into the more severe heat stroke.

Heat stroke occurs when the body becomes "overloaded" with heat. Like a broken automobile radiator, the body's heat-regulating mechanism fails due to fluid loss. As a result, the body's temperature rises and sweat production stops.

"Sweating is one of the body's important functions because it helps to cool the body through evaporation," Zimmerman said. "If the body is not cooled immediately, heat stroke can be fatal in older adults who are less active or in poor health."

Zimmerman advises watching for the early signs of heat exhaustion, such as weakness, fatigue, dizziness or dehydration.

People taking antihistamines, antidepressants, laxatives or medication for heart problems should consult their physician since many drugs cause dehydration, and prevent blood from reaching the skin's surface to cool the body.

To keep cool this summer, Zimmerman recommends the following:

— Drink water frequently, even when you are not thirsty.

— Wear loose, light-weight clothing.

— When indoors, use air conditioning or open a window and use an electric fan.

— When outdoors, enjoy the cooler hours of early morning or late evening when the humidity level is lower.

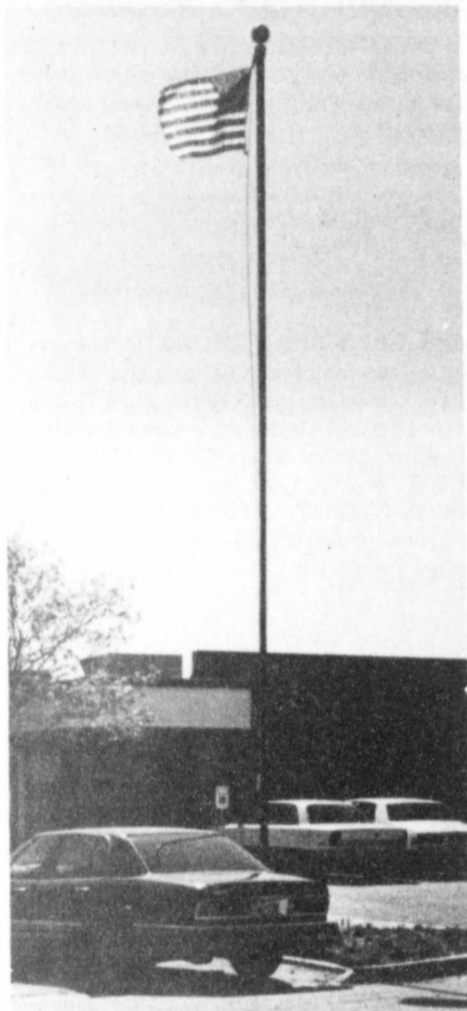

— Take frequent breaks from outdoor activity, such as gardening or walking, especially if you are sick, feel tired, or have a heart condition or other medical problem.

— Ask your family members, neighbors or others to check on you during the hot months.

"Summertime doesn't mean recreational activity has to stop," Zimmerman said. "Enjoy the same things you have been doing by making allowances to protect yourself from the heat."

Safety tips given for lightning

According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, lightning kills more people than tornadoes and hurricanes combined. In the United States, more than 200 people die each year from lightning or from fires caused by lightning. Thousands more are injured. Interestingly, Texas ranks third in the U.S. for having the most lightning fatalities.

To help you prevent coming in contact with lightning, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration offers the following safety steps:

*When a thunderstorm threatens, take shelter in a home or large building, or inside an all-metal (not convertible) vehicle.

*Inside a home, do not use a telephone, except for emergencies.

*If outside, with no time to reach a safe building or an automobile, follow these rules:

—Do not stand under a natural lightning rod, such as a tall, isolated tree in an open area.

—Make sure you are not the tallest object on the landscape, such as in an open field, on the beach, fishing on a lake or standing on a hilltop.

—Do not stay in or near open water.

—Get away from tractors and other types of heavy equipment.

—Also get away from other metal objects, such as bicycles, scooters, motorcycles and golf clubs. Golfers should also remember that golf shoes with metal spikes on the bottom can make them a prime target for a lightning strike.

—Get away from metallic pathways, such as fences, clotheslines, pipes and rails, which could carry electricity from some distance away to you.

—Avoid standing in small isolated sheds or other small structures in open areas.

*If you feel your hair stand on end, lightning could strike within moments. Drop to the ground, bend forward and curl up in a ball with your hands on your knees. You want to make yourself as small a target as possible. Do not lie flat on the ground because you are more likely to be struck by lightning in this position.
