The deed is finally done, again. More taxes are on the way.

As we watched the Congressional debate on C-SPAN, the hours of talking and the relatively few minutes of voting, we were reminded of an episode in the Texas Legislature many years ago. The Speaker of the House of Representatives (my memory is that it was Reuben Senterfit) was lolling behind the podium, chatting with a couple of his floor lieutenants, while members debated (after a fashion) some innocuous piece of legislation. Members roamed the floor, paying scant attention to what was transpiring. Something this side of pandemonium prevailed, which was not uncommon for the Legislature in those days. One member, probably a young newcomer, approached the Speaker and complained that he couldn't follow what was going on, because of the general lack of order.

"Mr. Speaker, you've got to get a handle on this. Nobody's paying attention. We need to bring this thing to a vote."

The Speaker gazed at the member for a moment and replied, "Leave 'em alone. As long as they're talking, they ain't voting, and when they ain't voting, they ain't hurting nobody."

While the U.S. Senate and House of Representative were busy talking the country was safe. It was when they voted that we got hurt.

Over in the House the Democrats prevailed by a slim two vote margin. (Had our own Rep. Sarpalius voted against the measure, as he should have, it would have failed on a tie-vote, unless, of course, some other vote could have been changed. And that is entirely probable.) The Senate vote did indeed result in a tie, with the Vice-President casting the tie-breaking vote. A bi-partisan vote of Republicans and conservative Democrats in both chambers came very close to sending the tax measure down to defeat.

So now the people will have less to spend and the government will have more.

Both the people and the government have long since become accustomed to that situation. It has become so much a part of our recent heritage that it is doubtful that either of us, the people on the one hand or the government on the other, would know how to react if the situation were reversed, if the people came out of any gathering of lawmakers with more latitude in terms of their own hard earned resources than when the lawmakers met.

"We were amused, and impressed in a political sense, by the skill and adroitness of Democratic rhetoric in the debate. They repeated, time after time, the argument that this tax increase would amount to only a few dollars each week from average Americans. And, in a traditional bit of class warfare, they argued that the bulk of the tax bite would come from those among the 'top one percent' of American income earners.

They repeatedly made the point that the income tax 'rate increase' would begin with those earning more than $140,000 per year.

(Which won't hurt us, personally, one little bit. We've never seen a year, indeed we've never seen three years combined when we earned that much. And all during that time we have been paying taxes to pay the salaries of people making much more than we.)

But what they did not remind us of is that their own salary is now in the range of $135,000 per year. The income tax rate increase was obviously carefully crafted to kick in just above their own salary, a salary that places the Congressmen in the top two percent of all Americans in terms of income.

If one cares to be charitable one could say this was merely an oversight on the part of Mr. Clinton. Surely, surely, if the matter had been brought to his attention, he would have insisted that the Congressmen be included, that they share in the 'sacrifice' demanded of other very wealthy Americans. And the Congressmen would have been happy, surely, to oblige. It must have been, in this instance, merely an oversight on the part of the President and the Congress.

County to increase taxes 7.92% for 1993

By Juanita Stepp
Commissioners for Floyd County went on record in support of raising county ad valorem property taxes for 1993 by 7.92 percent during their regular session for August. The proposed tax increase would be a 3.65 cent increase over the 1992 rate of 36.65 cents per $100 valuation, bringing the new rate to 40.30 cents per $100 valuation. This will result in taxpayers paying an extra $37.80 per $100,000.00 of assessed property over the amount they paid last year said Hardin.

The increase was necessary, according to Judge Hardin, because of the loss of about $4 million in assessed value on the tax rolls this year. The increase will allow the county to raise an amount equal to the taxes collected for 1992 and increase tax revenues enough to fund the 5 percent salary increase calculated into the proposed budget slated to begin with the 1993-94 fiscal year on October 1, 1993.

Motion to support the tax increase was made by Floyd County Judge Bill Hardin and seconded by Precinct 2 Commissioner Floyd Jackson. Also voting in favor of the motion were Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden, Precinct 3 Commissioner George Taylor and Precinct 4 Commissioner Howard Bishop.

The commissioners scheduled a public hearing on the proposed budget based on the tax increase for Monday, August 16, at 8:30 a.m. in the county courtroom of the Floyd County Courthouse in Floydada. The session is open to the public. (Editors Note: A more detailed overview of the proposed 1993-94 budget appears in a separate article elsewhere in this issue of the Hesperian-Beacon.)

County treasurer Glenna Orman made her report of the monthly financial records of the county. She told the commissioners that the county began the month of July with $315,376.75 in county funds and took in receipts totaling $280,283.76. Transfers in from other accounts totaled $76,554.41. Disbursements were $236,896.03 for the month and transfers out to other accounts totaled $76,554.41 stated Orman. This left the county with a balance of $358,764.48 on July 31.

Orman also reported a certificate of deposit in the amount of $115,000.00 made up of Precinct 3 funds. Certificates of deposit from county funds have earned $14,111.50 in interest this year said Orman. The county has no installment indebtedness at this time according to the treasurer's July reports.

Farm work contracts were approved for two requests on a motion by Jackson with a second by Taylor. The work to be done includes: soil conservation work to prevent water washing out a field at a location 1 mile north and 1/4 mile west of South Plains for Marble Brothers by Don Marble and leveling the abandoned railroad right-of-way to return the land to cultivation at a location 2 miles southwest of Lockney for Floyd Jackson by Russell Wilson.

Other action during the Monday morning session included:

... Authorizing the payment of property presented and approved monthly bills.

... Approving budget amendments to allow the transfer of funds from accounts with surplus money into accounts which are running low or are entirely depleted so that monthly obligations could be met.

... Transferring $10,000.00 into each precinct's funds from the Road & Bridge account.

... Monthly reports of fines and fees collected by elected officials in Floyd County were reviewed and accepted as presented. The reports include documents from the county tax assessor collector, the district clerk and two justices of the peace. The county clerk is on vacation and her report has not yet been submitted.

... The state paving project in the northeast part of the county was briefly discussed, but no action taken. The court put the issue off until such time as the state lays out the proposed route of the road and the county knows just what needs to be done to secure the right of way for the paving.

Commissioners also met with Sheriff Charles Overstreet to discuss budget options for controlling the rising cost of operating the sheriff's department. The areas of relief work, supplies and prisoner care were targeted for streamlining.

Overstreet also reported to the court that the jail has corrected all the items on the Jail Standards Commission's deficiency report with the exception of undergoing a health inspection. Several calls to the Lubbock office of the State Health Department have been unproductive according to the sheriff.

"It is difficult to get them to send out an inspector," said Overstreet. "The Jail Standards Commission suggested that the county appoint a health officer of its own to do the inspections." The court agreed to look into the matter and see what would be required.

Cargill Hybrid plans field festival

AIKEN—Cargill Hybrid Seeds personnel are preparing for over 1000 people to attend their second annual Field Festival and Ag Expo on Thursday, Aug. 19.

Richard Larsen, western production manager, says the public is invited to the event which will be held on the company site at Aiken, 10 miles east of Plainview on U.S. Hwy 70. "The whole town, population 31, will open up just to entertain and educate you," declares Larsen.

Farmers can earn pesticide applicator continuing education credits by participating in certain events of the field festival. Cards should be brought in order for proper credit to be given.

In addition to crop tours on shaded wagons, there will be agricultural chemical treatment plots, tillage and harvest equipment demonstrations.

Agricultural equipment will be parked on the grounds, and other exhibitors will be showing displays from under awning-covered booths. Cargill Hybrid Seeds' Texas-flag tent will be used for registration, and a huge tent will be used for meals.

Educational demonstrations from 3 to 5 p.m. are aimed at children as Farm Safety 4 Just Kids workers briefly show safety awareness in these areas: chemical handling, grain entrapment, PTO and auger safety, pinch points and animal handling.

An official Texas tractor pedal pull will begin at 5:00 for children ages 4 to 12.

From 5 to 7 o'clock, the singing group "Harmony" will entertain. The group is composed of Travis and Amy Thornton of Plainview, Zelda Ellison, Lisa Mosley and Phil Cotham, all of Lockney.

The day will conclude with a barbecue meal to be served from 5:30 to 7:00.

Exhibitors and sponsors include the following: Acra Plant of Garden City, KS, Christianson System of Bloomquist, MN, Crop Quest of Dimmitt, Floydada Ford-Mercury-Chrysler-Dodge and Brown's Implement of Floydada, Gipson RV of Wolfthor, U.S. Custom Harvesters of Tulsa, Wylie Manufacturing of Petersburg, DTN and Omega Electronics of Amarillo, Ciba-Geigy, Gustafson, Loveland and American Cyanamid.

Ellison and Hunter participate in National Leadership Conference

Tiffany Ellison and Mandy Hunter, along with advisors, Treena Aston and Julie Ellison, attended the National FHA/HERO Leadership meeting in Anaheim, California, July 11-15. The two Lockney High School juniors were among 250 Texas delegates and approximately 4,000 members nationwide in attendance at the conference.

Ellison and Hunter served as Region I President and Vice President of Achievement, respectively, for the Future Homemakers of America. They were elected as officers at the Region I conference on Odessa in March, 1993.

Miss Hunter served as an usher for the opening general session of the conference. The youth developed meeting theme, "Make It Happen" was carried out as the meeting focused on important and timely issues facing today's youth, families, and the organization.

Delegates were charged to take action today to make a better tomorrow and future for our world. Issues addressed at the meeting were teen violence, environment, AIDS, date rape, teen pregnancy, family communication and teen stress.

The Texas delegates developed a plan of action for the state and will implement it when returning to school in the fall. Students also participated in competitive events during the week, as well as share success stories from Texas chapters.

Miss Ellison presented a CHAMPI-ONS chapter workshop to the state of West Virginia, Wyoming, Connecticut, Illinois, Maine and Massachusetts encouraging these chapters to STOP THE DROP (increase chapter enrollment). Skits were performed at the workshop by Miss Ellison, Miss Hunter and other Region I officers.

While not attending official meetings, Texas delegates visited Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Newport Beach, Universal Studios, Hollywood, and Beverly Hills.

Officer leadership training and the regional Executive Council meetings were held June 14-18 in Austin. Miss Ellison served as ex-officio of all committees and serves as chairman of the 50th anniversary committee. She assisted in the planning process of all committees working on the 1994 regional meetings. The anniversary committee will plan the 50th celebration of Future Homemakers of America in 1995.

Miss Hunter served as chairman of the achievement committee. She worked with the other four regional vice-presidents of achievement across the state. This committee planned ways of recognizing increased membership in a chapter and students completed Power of One levels of self improvement.

The State Executive Council Meeting was held July 20-22 in Austin. Miss Ellison served on the constitution committee planning revisions for the constitution and the House of Delegates at the State Meeting to be held in Dallas in April, 1994. The theme selected for the State Conference was "FHA/HERO: A World of Possibilities".

Miss Ellison and Miss Hunter will be conducting numerous leadership workshops for other schools in Region I during the fall semester. They will be attending a regional executive council meeting to be held in Lubbock in October to finalize plans for the regional meeting to be conducted March 11-12 in Lubbock. These young ladies will also have several speaking responsibilities at the state meeting.

Future Homemakers of America is a vocational student organization for home economics education students in junior and senior high schools. This youth centered organization is the only vocational organization that has the family as its central focus and is an integral part of the home economics curriculum.

BY THE WAY!

BY

I'm back to work (sort-of) after a great two weeks in Austin.

The weather was hot and humid there and dry dry dry. The normally green rolling hills were really suffering from lack of rain.

We made a quick trip to the Capitol while we were there so we could show the beautiful rotunda to our son. The Capitol was closed because of remodeling and tourists were walking all around trying to find a way in.

One woman came up to me and asked, "How do they get any business done in there if the Capitol is all closed up?"

That's a good question.

We decided the legislature did better work when they weren't working. Maybe they ought to close Washington D.C.'s Capitol for remodeling. They could start from the inside and work their way out. A high pressure hose might work well on the House and Senate floor.

We didn't spend a lot of entertainment money while we were in Austin. We spent most of our evenings in front of the TV enjoying the Nickelodeon cable channel.

Lockney's Mission Cable does not carry Nickelodeon—we are blessed with MTV instead. Mission Cable feels more people want MTV than the family entertainment of Nickelodeon.

Floydada's Plainview Cable made the courageous decision to cancel MTV and replace it with Nickelodeon—so Floydada folks have been enjoying the old shows for a long time. Lockney folks are missing out.

My son had never gotten to see shows such as Dennis The Menace, Flipper, Addams Family, Get Smart, Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore. He thoroughly enjoyed them and so did I.

I noticed something during my late night marathons of old shows.

Those 30 minute sitcoms managed to get through a whole half hour without one cuss word. There was no one running around in sexy nightgowns (designed for the privacy of one's bedroom or a streetwalker's corner). The bedroom scenes did not consist of any heavy "making-out". There was only nighttime conversation, a good night kiss and the lights were turned off.

Oh—and I know it's hard to believe that it is possible to make a comedy show without cross dressing and homosexual characters, but I didn't see or hear one single reference to gay lifestyle.

No one was blown up, shot or stabbed and my son was still entertained.

It was very refreshing.

I just know ya'll have missed the Live and Learn quotes—and I'm here to please.

SW Bell customers to receive credit

Customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone will soon begin seeing additional benefits from an incentive regulation plan begun in 1990. The Company announced that customers will receive nearly $15 million in credits from the success of the first year of the four-year plan.

Beginning with bills mailed this week, residential customers will receive nearly a $1 credit on their bills.

Depending upon the type of service and rate structure, business customers will receive credits ranging from 83 cents per access line to $12.21 per access line, with the average being $3.00 per access line. Single-line business customers will receive $2.56 per access line.

"These credits prove that incentive regulation works in Texas," says Irasema Velasquez, manager of external affairs.

"Not only will customers receive credits, but they've also had rates frozen the past two and one-half years while all of the old switches in the state are being replaced with modern digital switches," she said.

The telephone infrastructure is often cited as key in attracting jobs and providing new services, and the company is well ahead of its goal to modernize the network by 1994. In fact, as of the end of July, the company had replaced 163 switches, which is one year ahead of schedule.

In Floydada, the switch will be replaced September 18, 1993; in Lockney, it will be replaced August 28, 1993. Velasquez says that although the modernization plan is a step in the right direction, it still won't provide Texas with the telecommunications infrastructure necessary to provide such services as distance learning and tele-medicine.

"Replacing the switches in the state is just the beginning of what needs to be done to bring Texas into the information age," she said.

New services such as distance learning and tele-medicine are enhanced with fiber-optics technology in addition to a modern switch. These services have proved to be especially beneficial to rural residents, who often don't have access to certain medical facilities or specific education courses.

The credits are the result of prudent expense controls combined with an incentive regulation plan, which the Public Utility Commission approved in November 1990. The plan, which is a modified version of the Company's "Texas First" proposal, is the result of a stipulated agreement among the PUC staff and several other parties. Under the plan, Southwestern Bell agreed to freeze rates for certain services and modernize the telephone network by replacing nearly 200 switches in the state with modern digital switches. In addition, the Company reduced the rates for many services and also gave customers an $87.5 million credit when the plan was approved in 1990.

In addition to the network modernization plan, the Company also upgraded nearly 80 percent of the two- and four-party customers in the state to one-party service — with no increase in monthly rates. All two- and four-party customers in Floydada and Lockney were upgraded to one-party service as of the end of June 1993.

The company was also provided an incentive for greater efficiency by allowing it to earn up to 12.06 percent return on investment. Half of the earnings between 12.06 and 14.5 percent ROI are to be returned to customers through credits. When the company's earnings exceed 14.5 percent ROI, all earnings above this point are to be credited to customers. In the first year of the plan, the company earned a return on investment of 12.47 percent, resulting in sharing with customers of $14.8 million. The network modernization/incentive regulation plan, which expires in 1994, is worth $1.2 billion in customer benefits and rate reductions.

As for the rest of us, we'll pay in other ways. The price of gasoline will go up, as will the price of everything that is transported, which includes food, fibre, and just about everything else. And that, gentle reader, will happen whether you have an income of $7,000 per year or $70,000 per year.

Will we survive? Yes. The people will have less. The federal government will have more. We will adjust to the new reality.

The taxes are now. They are real. In some instances they will even be "retroactive."

The promises of real savings are just that, promises. What's new about that?

Mr. Clinton, Mr. Foley and Mr. Mitchell promise that come September, or maybe October, or sometime soon, they will come back and really tackle the problem of government spending. They may even address "welfare as we know it."

Mr. Dole, the Senator of Kansas, advises us not to hold our breath.

In leaving this scene for the moment, however, we do wish to pay tribute to those who stood fast, against great pressure, and voted "no." They should be remembered. Among them are Democratic Congressman Stenholm, from an adjoining Congressional District, and Republican Congressman Larry Combest, also from an adjoining Congressional District, and Democratic Senator Boren of Oklahoma, and even Democratic Senator Sam Nunn of Georgia, as well as, thank goodness, our own Phil Gramm and Kay Hutchinson. May their tribe increase.

Moore-Rose-White Funeral Home owners, Don and Billie White Everett, have announced the addition of staff members, Andre and Jonelle Lynn, to the Lockney and Floydada firms.

The Lynn's are former residents of El Paso and will reside at the Lockney location. They have two children, Jennifer, 14, and Christian, 12, who will be attending Lockney schools.

Andre Lynn, a funeral director/embalmer with 18 years experience, attended West Texas State University and is a 1975 graduate of the Dallas Institute of Funeral Service. His wife, Jonelle, a secretary, attended West Texas State University.

The Moore-Rose-White Funeral Homes were previously owned by Edell Moore and Alton Rose.

"Andre is very knowledgeable about the funeral industry and both he and Jonelle will be a real asset to the business and the community," said Billie Everett.

"Edell Moore, Quaid and Jan Richburg, Dowell Brewer, Gary White, and Don and I are very happy to have the Lynn's work with us at Lockney and Floydada," Mrs. Everett said. "These qualified staffs can provide every need for a family that loses a loved one because they can arrange for any type of service to burial or cremation."

Benny and Tammy Miller, who have been located at the Lockney firm for two years, have transferred to the White Funeral Home location at Tahoka.

The Lynn's are very happy to come to the Floyd County area and they invite you to come by their Lockney location and get acquainted with them," added Mrs. Everett.

tal Association and the South Plains District Dental Society.

Small town problems

"Shop TULIA While It's Still Here!" That was the message an individual requested to be placed as a paid advertisement in The Herald recently. This is a message to be heeded, it likely will not be taken to heart by a number of individuals.

Why?
Because of the "me syndrome," to quote a personal friend who is city manager of a South Plains town. My terminology for this malady which troubles our society is the "Big I" rationale.

The friend, who has an abundant supply of "horse sense," came by our office for a visit last week and got on his soap box. He emphasized the same message as the above-mentioned advertisement. In fact, it's a message he constantly espouses.

A teacher in his town, which has two restaurants specializing in pizza, drove to Plainview to buy pizza for a school function. The following week, students who participated in this function paid a visit to both local pizza restaurants... seeking donations! The city manager asked to be placed on the agenda at the next school trustee meeting to make his point on the subject. That board adopted an informal policy that school-related groups are not compelled to trade in their home town, but they shall not seek contributions from firms they do not patronize!

While examining the policy, that school board learned that the Junior Class was sending someone to Lubbock twice weekly to purchase items from a large discount store for the class-operated concession stand. In the meantime, they were soliciting donations from the town's food store!

A local non-profit organization in the same town was catering a meal for a major town activity. They went to Lubbock for the food, then asked the local food store for major discounts on last minute odds and ends to complete and serve the meal.

That old dog has almost hunted too many times, so to speak.
Many people will drive 60 miles to save a dollar, but that practice is "killing the goose that lays the golden egg." Termed differently, who will fund all types of local endeavors - everything from school yearbook sponsorship, to providing gifts for senior citizens' events, to offering livestock show premiums, to youth baseball team sponsorship, to bowling team sponsorship, to picnic celebration financing and numerous others? The vast majority of funding comes from local businesses.

Sheer and simple, small-town merchants can't stay in business and support worthwhile local activities if potential customers spend all their dollars in Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock.

Congressman Bill Sarpalius commented to the fact that WalMart is destroying small towns. He recanted when the heat was applied, but his original statement was obviously true.

Obviously, in this day and time families must seek out bargains to make their dollars stretch as far as possible. In a mobile society, that means many people think nothing of driving 50 miles or more to shop. This is a prime reason why Olton and virtually every other town in West Texas lose stores each year. How many have shut their doors here in the past six months?

As the above-mentioned friend said, without business local firms cannot exist. "One day we could get to the point where nobody can buy a quart of milk - or secure a donation - in their home town."

Thought should be given to the possibility every time anyone makes an out-of-town purchase... or seeks a local donation!

(Editor's Note: Now just substitute the name of YOUR hometown each place where "Tulia" is used. This is a problem that affects all small towns. This editorial was taken from an area newspaper.)

THANK YOU!

The members of St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church in Floydada wish to extend an enormous "thank you" to the Floydada merchants and residents, who were so generous in donating to our Jamaica on Aug. 1.

The event would not have been possible without the support of everyone who contributed. The courtesy of Cargill Hybrid Seeds in loaning their tents was so greatly appreciated.

It took the uniting of all of us to make our Jamaica the great success that it turned out to be. Because of your generosity, time and money, our church's new building fund benefited with $6,477.84, that was raised throughout the day.

Once again "Thank You" so much and may God Bless Each and Every One of You!

Gowens and Jones exchange wedding vows

A double ring ceremony joining Ricci D'Ann Gowens and Jacob (Jake) Lee Jones was held at the First Baptist Church, Floydada, on Saturday, Aug. 7, 1993, at 3:00 p.m. The Rev. Arvin Gowens, associate pastor of First Southern Baptist Church in Fountain Valley, Calif., officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Sally and the late Rick Gowens. She is the granddaughter of Donnell and Wilma Gowens of Floydada and Harold and Joyce Steen of Amarillo. The great-granddaughter of Bonnie Shumaker of Ralls. The groom is the son of Cecil and Donna Jones of Lockney. The grandson of Pete and Betty Jones of Henrietta and Leroy George of Frith.

The church was decorated with peach and whit floral arrangements. Three small and one large heart-shaped candelabras formed the decor at the altar.

The bride was escorted by her brother, Jody Gowens of San Angelo down the aisle decorated with large peach colored bows and attached greenery.

The bodice of the bride's gown had a sweetheart neckline and was heavily appliqued with venise lace adorned with oar pearls, seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The fitted basque waistline allowed the bouffant skirt to flow gracefully to the floor. Multi-layers of ruffles extended from the waist to the hemline with a cathedral length train. The puffed sleeves had two tiers of ruffles embellished with lace motifs.

For her hair, the bride chose a tiara of pearls with illusion veiling cascading to a fingertip length.

She carried a flowing cascade of peach roses, miniature white mums and eggshell stephanotis adorned with English ivy and asparagus fern.

Following tradition, as something new was the bride's wedding dress, something blue was a lace trimmed blue garter made by her grandmother, Joyce Steen. Something old was a gold wedding band worn by her late great-grandmother, Lora Gowens of Crosbyton. Borrowed was a gold necklace accented with a single diamond, given to her mother by the late Rick Gowens.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Sonya Campbell of Floydada. Janet Jones, Becky Porter and Gayla Copley also served as attendants.

Bridal attendants wore peach colored cotton dresses with dropped waists, accented with a forest green sash. They carried a single peach colored rose enveloped in baby's breath.

Acting as best man was Brandon Teal of Lubbock. Joey Adams, Orlando Garza and Ryan Ford served as groomsmen.

Seating guests were J.W. Foster, Layne Sanders, Mike Miller and Blair Gowens.

The groom and male attendants wore traditional black tuxedos with white shirts, forest green cummerbunds and forest green bow ties.

Registering guests was Destry Layne of Jayton, cousin of the bride.

Candlelighters were Angie Gowens of Lubbock and Krystal Gowens of Huntington Beach, Calif., both cousins of the bride.

Erica and Angie Gowens of Lubbock and Krystal Gowens of Huntington Beach served as flower girls. Each carried bouquets of peach flowers with entwined peach and green ribbons and cascading pearls.

Musical selections were rendered by soloist Bill Smith of Midland, accompanied by pianist Gayla Griffin of Floydada.

A reception in the Wall Street Parlor was held following the ceremony. A three-tiered cake with peach roses adorned the bride's table along with a sculptured watermelon elevated with cascading fruit. In addition to cake, the guests were offered refreshments of punch, nuts and bell-shaped mints.

German chocolate cake was served at the groom's table, along with coffee and an assortment of appetizers. Assisting at the reception were April Gowens, Gwen Orozco, Loretta Leatherman, Kathy Ross, Edris Edwards, Deneice Wright, Zahn Turner, Pauline McCormick, Willie Mae Ferguson, Janet Jones and Becky Porter.

The newlyweds will return Aug. 13 after spending time together in San Antonio. Upon returning, the couple will be residing in Lubbock with plans of continuing their education.

MRS. JACOB (JAKE) LEE JONES
(nee Ricci D'Ann Gowens)

Your Health * Our Care

By Trina Wilson RN

On October 27, 1992, CDC's name was changed to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (with "CDC" still to be used as the acronym). This change was enacted by Congress, as part of the Preventive Health Amendments of 1992, to recognize CDC's leadership role in the prevention of disease, injury and disability.

In enacting this change, Congress also specified that the agency continue to use the acronym "CDC" because of its recognition within the public health community and among the public.

CDC's new name reflects the evolution of its mission since 1946 as an agency that provides science-based assistance to state and local health departments in the control and prevention of disease, injury, and disability.

In 1946, the Communicable Disease Center was created from the Office of the Malaria Control in War Areas, an agency that had been established in 1942 to limit the impact of malaria and other mosquito-borne diseases on U.S. military personnel training in the southeastern United States. The change in name in 1946 reflected an assignment of responsibility for assisting states with the control of a broader range of communicable diseases.

In 1970, CDC, located in Atlanta, Georgia, was renamed the Center for Disease Control to reflect responsibilities for noncommunicable disease problems. The scope of mission expanded rapidly to include programs in areas such as occupational and environmental health, family planning and reproductive health, and chronic diseases.

A major reorganization of CDC in 1980, and its renaming the Centers for Disease Control, emphasized the importance of health promotion and education in the agency's mission. During the 1980's, CDC redoubled efforts to reduce the impact of smoking-related diseases, injuries, and other problems, while facing the new challenge of the human immunodeficiency virus/acquired immunodeficiency syndrome epidemic.

Recent milestones in CDC's evolution include the creation of centers for chronic disease prevention and health promotion and for injury prevention and control. The National Center for Health Statistics has also recently joined CDC. These changes underscore CDC's commitment to the prevention of disease, injury, and disability.

By law, CDC must be notified of a specific range of communicable diseases and/or injuries which, if left unchecked, could affect the health of the nation as a whole. Historically, CDC personnel have been invaluable to local and state authorities in discovering the cause of particular problems. A classic example of this is the recent outbreak of E-coli in individuals who ate at an eating establishment in the northwestern United States.

Taken From MMWR, Nov. 6, 1992, edition.

Before school, it's easier to control a child's diet. Once they're away from home for most of the day, it's anyone's guess how much and what kind of food they're eating.

They will serve the residents watermelon on Monday, Aug. 23, at 2:30 p.m. These ladies were Sue Walker, Shirley Varner, Dolores Cannon, Leona Neff, a visitor, Ola Smith and Leora Younger.

Wednesday, the residents had a sing-a-long in the morning. Bingo was played at 2:30 p.m. Mona Dunn won the first Bingo. Mary Alice Davis assisted the residents with Bingo. Bananas, candy and cheese crackers were the treats.

At 2:30 p.m. Thursday, the residents council met in the dining room for their monthly meeting. Kermit Glover called the meeting to order. The residents get a chance to discuss their needs or express their compliments. They were served popcorn.

Tips on preventing and caring for a bee sting

Bees and Wasps
Now that warmer weather is here, many people are enjoying more outdoor activities where they may encounter bees and wasps.

"Many people are afraid of these buzzing insects, but knowing how to prevent stings and what to do if you are stung can ease such fears," said Robert J. Mamlok, M.D., allergist. It is important to understand why bees and wasps sting. Insects sting to protect themselves and their homes. They also may be more prone to sting during unstable weather because they become irritable. Wasps also sting when they hunt and are more aggressive than bees.

Preventing a sting
It is important to know how to prevent a sting from a bee or a wasp. Follow these precautions to avoid an attack:

- * Avoid bright-colored clothing and "nubby knit" fabrics.
- * Do not use perfumes, especially floral scents.
- * Do not walk barefoot outside, and always watch where you are walking.
- * Move slowly if you encounter a nest.
- * Wait until you are ready to eat to unpack your picnic and repack quickly.

What to do if stung
If you are stung by a bee or a wasp, it is important to remove the stinger quickly. Do not pinch it with fingers or tweezers because this could inject more venom into the body. Instead, flick the stinger out with your finger or gently scrape it off with a knife blade. You should then apply ice to the stung area to absorb the venom and to reduce itching and swelling, and you need to wash the area with soap and water. If you experience an unusual amount of itching and swelling, you should see a physician promptly. If other symptoms, such as hives, nausea, cramps, diarrhea, breathing problems or low blood pressure occur, you should seek emergency medical care as soon as possible.

"The best defense against a sting is avoidance," said Mamlok. If people are allergic to stinging insects, an allergy kit containing prescribed medication, sterilized swabs, antihistamine tablets, a tourniquet and clear, simple instructions on how to use the kit should be carried at all times. It is also important to be aware that some medications increase your health risks if you are stung. Check with your physician about any such hazards.

According to Mamlok, venom-allergic patients who have potentially life-threatening reactions to stings may require allergy shots to avoid future problems.

Boy Scout Flag drive going into second phase

by Bob Gilliland
Boy Scout Troop #357 would like to thank everyone for making the first part of our drive successful.

Individuals who helped were Randy Duke, Terry Turner, Larry Jones, Curtis Emert, Jacki Duke, Jimmy Willson and many of our scouts.

The first phase of our program is complete and the second is getting underway. Our goal is 300 flags by Labor Day.

Those that signed up earlier and did not get their flag will have them on Labor Day. We currently have 210 total signed up and are needing ninety more. The cost is $25.00 per year and each flag will be put up 6 times per year.

The Boy Scouts of Floydada thank the community of Floydada for their support.

Due to a time factor flags will be leased to people in the city of Floydada and not in the county.

To reserve your flag call Bob Gilliland at 983-2223 after 6 p.m.

Everyone enjoyed a delicious meal and plenty of it, thanks to everyone who brought extras.

Gene and Arvie Newton's guests were Gary King and Linda Lemons of Plainview.

Maxine Hills' great-granddaughter was her guest. Theta Brotherton's guest was her granddaughter from Plainview.

The host this month is everyone so when you walk in, if you see something to do, please feel free to do it. This is your organization and we are growing so let's keep up the good work.

The addition on the building will soon begin. With the prayers and everyone helping it won't be long.

Boaters urged to play it safe and always wear life jackets

Over 80% of boating fatalities involve people not wearing personal flotation devices (PFDs), better known as life jackets; but, tragically, 85% of them had PFDs aboard. While PFDs can increase one's survival, they work only if worn and used properly.

The grim fact remains: very few people wear a PFD, especially when fishing or hunting from a boat. Excuses vary, but they are all poor ("I can't cast or paddle with it on," "it's too restrictive," or "it's too hot"). In light of the special tailoring now available, PFDs can give the wearer comfort and protection. Many modern PFDs look like a well-made outdoor jacket, hunting or fishing vest, or trendy foul weather gear.

The main reason for wearing a PFD is clear. It's an insurance investment. You are protecting your life. But correct fit and proper adjustment to the person wearing it are imperative if the safety margin it offers is to be obtained.

Know how to correctly wear a PFD. Try putting one on while in the water and practice swimming while wearing it. It is essential to do this to become familiar with its characteristics. Also, remember: a PFD is no substitute for good swimming ability; it's merely an aid to buoyancy - a tool. Boat Smart! Wear that PFD... and wear it properly.

The National Safe Boating Council is a forum of boating safety professionals and volunteers representing various organizations and governmental agencies dedicated to promoting safe and responsible use of the nation's waterways. For more information, contact Virgil Chambers at (717) 657-4540 or Larry Innis at (301) 858-8301.

FISD discusses budget, tax rate

the same tax money collected last year would mean possibly a more than 400 percent increase as it would appear on the effective tax rate form to be published in the newspaper after August 23. "Unless the state alters the form to reflect the loss of the 80.67 cent rate from the CED," said Collins, "the effective tax rate is going to look pretty bad on our part."

Collins pointed out that there is no way to know exactly what the 1993 tax rate will have to be until after the state commissioner of education has made final pairings of rich and poor school districts for taxation purposes under Senate Bill 7. This process is to begin September 1 and the deadline for completion has been set on October 15. If FISD is one of the poor districts matched up with a richer district, the process of setting a tax rate would have to be re-started at that point in order to place all the pertinent information in front of the public added Collins.

FISD board members opted to proceed now with the process of setting a local tax rate based on the proposed budget formulated for the 1993-94 school year. The process could be stopped at any time should the need arise and the cost would be minimal. If all aspects of the taxation process work out with no snags, the district would have a tax rate in place and ready to bill along with the other taxing entities in Floyd County during September. If complications arise, a separate billing at a later date would be necessary and would mean added expense to the district and taxpayers said Collins.

A date of August 30 at 1:00 p.m. has been set for a meeting to discuss the proposed tax rate and taking a vote of record for publication. At this point, Collins is estimating a tax rate of $1.08 per $100.00 valuation in order to yield the same local property tax levy as last year.

A meeting has also been scheduled for August 20 at 1:00 p.m. to adopt the proposed 1993-94 budget for the school. Collins passed out revised and hopefully, final drafts of the proposed plan for school operations during the August 9 meeting. The document estimates total revenues for the school district at $5,957,122.00. Funds were broken-down as follows:

local tax revenue, $1,422,171.00;
state revenue, $3,880,175.00;
federal revenue,
Chapter 1 Regular, $406,556.00;
Chapter 1 Migrant, $221,340.00;
other local sources such as fees, rents and miscellaneous, $26,880.00.

Spending totals have been estimated at $6,011,418.00. The high school portion of this is $1,104,864.00 and junior high has earmarked $496,228.00. The Duncan Elementary budget for the coming year has been placed at $734,921.00 and Andrews is $555,837.00. $261,449.00 will be shared by all of the schools and $424,509.00 will go to administration. Transportation is estimated at $216,394.00, utilities and maintenance will be $568,414.00 and capital improvements is $107,000.00.

Additional expenditures of $406,556.00 for Chapter 1 Regular and $221,340.00 for Chapter 1 Migrant are in the budget. Special education is tabbed to receive an estimated $464,291.00 and compensatory education was placed at $449,615.00. Salaries for the year are estimated at $3,046,057.00 of the total proposed budget.

Copies of the proposed budget under consideration are on file at the administrative offices and are available to the public upon request.

Resignations were accepted from two teachers, John Doerschuk, computer instructor, to accept a position as math teacher at Paint Creek and Lou Burleson who has accepted a position at Lockney as junior high school history teacher. She leaves the post of high school speech and theater arts teacher.

Approved for employment was Phil Lemons as elementary school counselor to replace Kathy Jahay who is moving up to high school counselor. Silvia Suarez, Esther Caballero and Terry Garza were hired as aides and Holly Lee will be the new computer instructor. Connie Bertrand was hired to replace Burleson in Speech and Theatre Arts. Motion for the acceptance of resignations and the approval of new employees and transfers was made by Mitch Probasco with a second by John Campbell. The vote was all in favor.

Regular monthly board meetings were changed from the second Monday of each month to the Second Tuesday of each month for the duration of fall football season. Motion for the action came from Billy Joe Villarreal and was seconded by Probasco. The vote was unanimously in favor. The change will be effective with the September meeting and will allow board members and school officials to attend band and athletic booster club activities on Monday evenings.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by board secretary Trena Simpson and approved as presented. Monthly bills were paid on a motion by Simpson with a second by Villarreal.

If you do not list a food stamp or AFDC case number for the child you are applying for, then the application must have the child's name, the names of all household members, the amount of income each person got last month and where it came from, the signature of an adult household member and that adult's social security number or the word "none" if the adult does not have a social security number.

Verification: Your eligibility may be checked at anytime during the school year. School officials may ask you to send papers showing that your children should get free or reduced price meals.

Fair Hearing: You may talk to school officials if you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the results of verification. You may also ask for a fair hearing. You may do this by calling or writing. You may do this by calling or writing:

If your children get meals because you get food stamps or AFDC, you must tell the school when you are not getting AFDC or food stamps for them. You may then fill out another application giving income information.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The Commissioners' Court of Floyd County, Texas will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1993 by 7.92 percent your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on Friday, August 20, 1993, at 10:00 a.m. in the County Courtroom.

FOR the proposal: William D. Hardin, Connie Bearden, Floyd Jackson, George Taylor and Howard Bishop

AGAINST the proposal:

PRESENT and not voting:

ABSENT:

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on July 29, 1993. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	16,790	18,348
General Exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	-0-	-0-
Average taxable value	16,790	18,348
Tax rate	.36650	.40300
Tax	$ 61.53	$ 73.94

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 12.41 or 20 percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $ 6.13 per $100 of taxable value or 9.96 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Criminal Justice Mandate (for counties):

The Floyd County Judge certifies that Floyd County has spent $6,200.00 in the previous 12 months beginning June, 1992, for the maintenance and operations cost of keeping inmates sentenced to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. Floyd County Sheriff has provided information on these costs, minus the state revenues received for reimbursement of such costs.

There is an easier way to roam free on the range

Back in the early days, you probably decided to buy a cellular phone to make it a little easier to roam free on the range. Little did you know that there was a whole new set of boundaries to stumble across. Your cellular company wouldn't let you cut across another coverage area and receive calls without an extra roaming fee. And you had to remember every roamer access code for every coverage area you crossed. Soon, people were looking for you, and you couldn't be found. Your face was plastered on a wanted poster in your office because you gave the wrong code to your secretary. People actually said they wanted to 'ring your neck'.

Today, things are different. Digital Cellular has introduced a way for you to 'roam free' on the South Plains of Texas. As a Digital Cellular customer, you can roam in our Extended Coverage Area and receive your calls without additional roaming charges, daytime tolls or access numbers. Regular air time rates do apply.

So now, whether you're roaming across the range from Friona to Sterling City, or Haskell to Odessa or even in downtown Lubbock, Digital Cellular is putting you on the line for less. Less hassle. Less cost.

Commissioners outline proposed '93-'94 budget

Floyd County Commissioners will be reviewing a proposed budget during a called session on August 16 at 8:30 a.m. was prepared by Judge Hardin and contains a proposed 5 percent salary increase for all regular full time county employees and elected officials. According to Hardin, the county lost about $4 million dollars from the assessed value of the tax roll, making the assessed valuation this year in Floyd County $246,960,835.00 as compared to $250,851,053.00 for 1992.

Tax collections for budgeting purposes have been estimated at 94 percent and will bring in an estimated $935,537.00. Adding approximately $35,000.00 for delinquent tax collections, $400,000.00 in license and permit fees, $33,944.83 from state funding sources and $269,529.57 in fines, fees, and various reimbursements, the county estimates a total revenue for the coming fiscal year at $1,955,347.40.

Budget allocations will change slightly by percentage with 93.13 percent going into the general fund, 3.23 percent going into road & bridge and 3.64 percent going to the library. Tax funds from the 40.30 cent tax rate will be allocated as follows: general fund receiving 37.53 cents, road & bridge getting 1.30 cents and the library receiving 1.47 cents.

Expenditures estimated in the proposed budget total $1,868,529.48 and would leave an estimated fund balance of $86,817.92 at the end of the 1993-94 fiscal year. Combining all areas of the as yet unapproved budget, salaries and wages take up the lion's share, topping out at $879,696.76 according to Appendix A of the document on file with the county clerk. This figure includes $21,000.00 in monthly travel allowances for the county judge and each of four commissioners, paid at the rate of $350.00 to each every month.

In addition to these base salaries, the county pays the standard ratio of Social Security on each employee, estimated to be about $59,780.71 for the next year and contributes $51,459.05 toward matching retirement funds on county workers. Adding in payments for workers comp insurance ($48,000.00) and coverage for unemployment claims ($4,550.00), the grand total to fund 13 elected officials, four appointed officials, six deputies, a finance clerk, three secretaries, 22 staff employees and assorted part time and temporary employees is $1,043,486.52 or roughly 55 percent of the total proposed budget.

Supplies, extra travel, audit fees, advertisements, books, postage, copier expense, telephone, utilities, official bonds, computer expense, and miscellaneous expenditures account for the remainder of the expenditures. Each precinct will have a total budget allocation of $115,000.00 to fund operations in the upkeep of roads in Floyd County. This figure will have to pay the salaries and benefits of precinct workers, travel allowances, fuel & oil, materials, supplies, parts and repairs. Equipment purchases would also come from these funds.

The Floyd County Library will have estimated revenues of $40,962.39 with expenditures estimated at $39,540.40.

A copy of the proposed budget is available for public review by contacting the office of the county clerk in the Floyd County Courthouse in Floydada.

Omnibus Recycling Bill will trash out some Texas landfill operations

In less than six months, Texas law will require cities and counties to produce 40 percent less trash a day than they do now.

Today, every Texan—every man, woman and child Texan—produces on the average nearly 6 pounds of trash a day. Figuring the state's population at 17 million, the 6 pounds adds up to about 19 million tons of landfill material annually.

Leaves, grass clippings and other landscape waste in landfills, Raine said.

How are cities and counties to reduce their waste flow by 40 percent? Backyard composting of landscape trimmings is the easiest and most environmental friendly way, said Marty Baker, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Overton. "Easy. Don't bag it. Compost it," Baker said.

Baker agreed with Raine that when it comes to encouraging local composting and recycling programs, communities will be better off doing it now than later. Other than composting, the only quick way to decrease landfill volume would be to increase tipping fees or taxes or implement other, more-expensive recycling efforts.

The Omnibus Recycling Act is only one of several laws recently coming to bear on Texas landfills.

The Omnibus Recycling Bill, enacted by the 72nd Legislature, requires municipalities across the state to reduce their solid waste flow by 40 percent by Jan. 1, 1994. Which means that every Texan will have to cut their daily trash output of 6 pounds to about four pounds.

The Texas legislator's intention was to jump-start recycling efforts at the municipal level. Critics of the bill say it lacks one crucial feature.

Leaves, grass clippings and other landscape trimmings make up about 28 percent of Texas annual landfill, deposit, or about five million tons. Nearly all of the five million tons could be turned back into garden soil and mulching with home composting. It's a simple low-cost answer to the Omnibus Recycling Act, Baker said.

"The irony of this situation is that with the exception of woody brush, residents can recycle all their organic materials right in their own back yards through composting, mulching and grass cycling," he said.

The Federal Resource Conservation Act (RCRA), the same act responsible for superfund cleanups, requires operators closing landfills after Oct. 8 to monitor leakage at the site for 30 years. Cost of monitoring a landfill will depend upon its size and soil conditions. RCRA requires operators to drill and maintain at least three wells on a small landfill. Larger landfills might require 20 or more monitor wells to satisfy the federal regulations.

Despite the bill lacking any provision for fines or penalties, Raine said, it would be in the interest of many cities to start recycling efforts as soon as possible. If by the end of 1994, most municipalities haven't made the 40 percent reduction, they recycling bill stipulates forming a task force to make recommendations to the Texas Legislature. The task force would likely recommend putting a mandatory ban on disposal of Baker said the Extension Service has launched a "Don't Bag It" program that shows residents how to grow good lawns by using the clippings as fertilizer instead of bagging them up for the garbage truck. The popular program now in its fifth year, has been adopted by hundreds of communities, including Dallas and Fort Worth, in Texas and around the country.

If a landfill is closed before Oct. 8, then the 30-year monitoring law won't apply. Closing early saves the operator tens or hundreds of thousands of dollars in monitoring costs.

The act has effectively reduced the number Texas landfills from more than 1,100 in 1989 to 430 as of June. TWC officials expect more closing this year. In anticipation of these regulations, operators have closed many smaller landfills, consolidating their collections at regional sites.

TDA approves pesticide class

10th Annual Floydada Agro Rescue School, is scheduled for Saturday, August 21, 1993. This annual school is designed to teach emergency personnel and others how to make needed rescues involving farm accidents.

pesticide emergencies. This years pesticide class has been approved by the Texas Department of Agriculture for continuing education credits.

Baker said the concern is not about there being enough landfill sites in the future. The question is, will cities and counties be able to afford to operate a landfill. There are plenty of suitable sites available, but operating a landfill is likely to become much more expensive as state and federal regulations come to bear. That expense will be passed on by landfill operators to Texas citizens one way or the other.

The school is usually attended by about 325 individuals from across the state, with an occasional out-of-stater, also in attendance.

Anyone interested in taking one of the classes should register with the Floydada Fire Department at their earliest convenience.

"Bagging these materials for curbside garbage collection is costly. It requires communities to spend taxes and service fees needlessly. If you don't compost, you'll be fining yourself," Baker said.

Classes are taught in rappelling, grain rescue, rescue from farm equipment and

Pest Management Report

GENERAL SITUATION
Both Crosby and Floyd Counties have had cool, damp weather early this week. Some areas had 1 to 2 inches total rain whereas other got only .2 inches of rain. Overall, cotton had suffered from earlier hot, dry conditions and is now in the cut out stage. Some corn growing areas also were stressed thus presenting ideal conditions for mites. Grain sorghum appears to have suffered the least as most fields are well into bloom with moderate greenbug infestations.

COTTON
Hot, dry conditions last week really took its toll on area cotton. As a result, heavy shedding of small bolls and squares was seen throughout the week. Many fields scouted in the pest management program had 0 to 4 Nodes Above White Flower (NAWF). Cotton is considered cutting out at 4 NAWF. Only a few irrigated fields have 6 or more NAWF. Those areas that did get a good shower may benefit as some smaller bolls may be retained while larger bolls may have a better chance of filling out. It appears that most fields will be finishing up in the next couple weeks.

Insect pressure has remained about the same. Bollworm infestations are averaging 2000 to 3000 eggs/acre with 750 to 1500 larvae/acre. These levels are well below the economic level. Most eggs are being seen in the terminal area and on the bracts of young squares. As cotton starts to cut out, plants may become a little less attractive for egg laying activity. The bollworm pheromone trap south of Ralls indicated a slight decline in bollworm numbers. A tobacco budworm pheromone trap located in the same area caught 140 adult males over the past week. This is a slight increase from past weeks.

I have noticed a slight increase in beneficial numbers. We are seeing damsel bugs, assassin bugs, lacewing larvae, ladybeetles, big-eyed bugs, and a few minute pirate bugs. This beneficial population will come in handy if aphid populations explode. Currently, aphid infestations have been extremely light with minor to no damage seen.

CORN
Many corn fields have reached the soft to hard dough stage. Like cotton, some fields became slightly moisture stressed. As a result, mite populations seen this week had increased in number and moved up the plant in those fields that got extremely dry on the lower portion of the plant. Damage has increased, but is not alarming yet in those fields that I have checked.

Southwestern corn borer pheromone traps in Barwise caught a weekly total of 1175 adults while the trap in Providence caught 1403 adults. So far, eggs and larvae have been hard to come by. However, do continue to monitor fields for this pest and its damage.

SORGHUM
Sorghum is doing well in both Crosby and Floyd Counties. Most area fields have finished blooming and are now in the milk stage. Greenbugs appear to be the only major pest seen this week. For the most part, infestation levels are moderate with moderate spotting seen as damage. To my knowledge, only a few fields have reached the economic level.

Although very few sorghum midge have been seen, do keep these pests in mind when scouting your field. Remember, the best time to scout for midge is during mid-morning to noon.

Perry alerts Texas farmers of South Carolina Hay need

Answering a call from drought-stricken farmers in South Carolina, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry today asked Texas farmers with extra hay to consider selling to those in South Carolina. That state has lost nearly $2 million worth of crops to the drought, and the South Carolina Department of Agriculture has established a hay and feed hotline to connect farmers with hay to sell with those that need it. That number is 1-800-896-3694.

"Weather has certainly challenged farmers this year," Perry said. "In Texas, we've had areas damaged by too much rain early in the year, and now we have areas that need rain. Of course, we're all aware of the devastation in the Midwest. While they've been getting so much rain, the farmers in South Carolina have not been getting any.

"We realize some farmers in Texas are having problems, but no one understands how weather can wreck a crop and threaten a livelihood like another farmer. We wanted to let Texas farmers know about South Carolina's need so those who have hay can sell to farmers in trouble."

Perry noted that some areas of Texas are not allowed to ship hay out of state because of a fire ant quarantine. He said farmers should call their local Agricultural Extension Office to find out if their county is included in the quarantine. To talk to someone at TDA, contact Katie Dickie, special assistant to the commissioner for producer relations, 512-463-7593.

Cotton turnrow meetings set

A series of cotton turnrow meetings are set for Tuesday, August 17. The meetings will offer one hour of IPM CEU's for private pesticide applicators. Information to be covered will be bollworm scouting, easy calculations of infestations and beneficial insects, thresholds, and control suggestions. Floyd County Extension Agent, Kerry Siders, and David Kostroun, Floyd/Crosby Entomologist, will be on hand to conduct the meetings at the following locations: Lockney Coop, 8:00 a.m.; South Plains Gin, 9:00 a.m.; Floydada Coop Gin, 10:00 a.m.; Barwise Gin, 11:00 a.m.; Dougherty Gin, 1:00 p.m.

New cotton classing handbook printed

By Shawn Wade
Tremendous changes in the way cotton is grown, graded and processed have occurred during the past ten years. According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) the job of figuring out what some of these changes mean just got a little easier.

To help keep producers abreast of these changes the United States Department of Agriculture Agricultural Marketing Service (USDA AMS) has printed an updated version of its handbook titled "The Classification of Cotton." The new handbook details the authority of the USDA AMS Cotton Division, and explains the methods used to classify cotton and get that information back to the producers.

The subject of how cotton is classified also receives a thorough explanation. Sections are included detailing the quality factors determined by instrument evaluation and those which are determined by qualified classers. There is also an overview of the quality control procedures used to insure accuracy in the classification system.

"Producers should find the new handbook very helpful," says Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President. "Many producers are looking for a better understanding of how the classing system works and this handbook will provide many of the answers they want."

The "new" handbook updates a previous edition printed over ten years ago. Copies of the handbook are available on request. For more information about how to obtain a copy of the handbook contact the USDA Classing Office in your area.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY SET FOR SEPTEMBER 14
Preparations for the Lubbock/Halfway Texas Agricultural Research and Extension Center's (TAES) 84th Annual Field Day are now well underway according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG).

PCG officials recently learned that September 14, 1993, has been set aside for the annual event at the Texas Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Halfway. The Halfway Field Day attracts producers and individuals from across the Texas High Plains. Field Day activities will begin at 1:00 p.m. and conclude at approximately 4:00 p.m.

In addition to PCG, several agencies are cooperating with TAES and will be represented at the event. Some of those participating are: TAES, Texas Agricul-

TeleHope providing help for flood victims

Southwestern Bell Telephone is planning to provide a little help for those who have had more than their share of rainy weather—it's called TeleHope.

"TeleHope is a way for Southwestern Bell employees and customers to direct the outpouring of support, caring, and giving through the next stage of Flood

'93, the crucial recovery phase," said Irasema Velasquez, External Affairs Manager for Southwestern Bell.

"We are inviting our customers in the five-state region to join us in a program that promises to touch every facet of the communities we serve by way of a customer checkoff donation to the flood victims," she said.

The TeleHope Fund checkoff donation program encourages Southwestern Bell's nearly 10 million customers to donate $1—or any amount—easily and conveniently through their September and October telephone bill statements. The amounts specified by the customer, and added to their bill payment, will be forwarded to flood relief efforts administered by the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

In addition to the TeleHope Fund, Southwestern Bell Foundation has provided a $100,000 grant to the Salvation Army. Telephone Pioneer chapters across Canada and the United States have collected more than $85,000 in donations for flood relief programs and have donated more than 15,000 hours to help flood victims.

Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems donated more than 75 cellular phones and service in St. Louis for the Salvation Army, the American Red Cross, the Missouri Water Patrol, Monsanto, KSDK-TV and many other groups since the flood began. Southwestern Bell Telephone presented a $50,000 contribution to the American Red Cross. Numerous other aid and assistance programs are taking place in the flood-ravaged area.

"These efforts and other employee and company initiatives will complement the TeleHope Fund checkoff donation program," said Velasquez.

Southwestern Bell Telephone customers in San Antonio should begin looking for their TeleHope Fund donation checkoff in their telephone bills beginning late August. The TeleHope Fund, checkoff donation program is tax deductible.

Annual Boys Ranch rodeo slated Labor Day weekend

About this time every year, thousands of people around the country begin plans to attend one of the Labor Day weekend's most exciting events, the nationally known Cal Farley's Boys Ranch Rodeo.

An anticipated 10,000 people will attend this 49th annual rodeo, Sunday, Sept. 5, and Monday, Sept. 6, at Boys Ranch, 36 miles northwest of Amarillo. Boys of all ages will ride broncs, bulls, calves and steers, while girls will compete in barrel racing and pole bending events. Even the youngest buckaroos get in on the fun riding stick horses. Along with appreciative applause, the Ranch's youths compete for buckles, trophies and All-Around Cowboy honors. Riding clubs from the Tri-State area participate in grand entries both days.

The Boys Ranch Rodeo provides rewards and recognition for young people from all three of the organization's campuses including Boys Ranch, Girlstown, U.S.A. at Whiteface, and Cal Farley's Family Program at Borger. Ranch youths who do not compete as contestants will sell barbecue plates, soft drinks and popcorn, play in the band, or work at the many jobs required for a successful rodeo.

Among the spectators will be many of the Ranch's former youths who return with their families for an annual reunion. Since 1939, more than 4,000 young folks have called the Ranch "home," and some travel long distances to attend the rodeo and meeting of the Boys Ranch Alumni Association.

Rodeo action begins at 2:30 each afternoon. Barbecue plates, prepared at noon each day, are available after $3.50. Further ticket information and reservations are available by calling (806) 372-2341, or by writing P.O. Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas 79174-0001.
