Kid Care ID's available at Health Fair

Hospital presents Holiday Health Fair

LOCKNEY—Parents can obtain free photographs of their children at the KidCare ID event at the W.J. Mangold Memorial Hospital "Holiday Health Fair" on Saturday, December 3 from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. in the Lockney Elementary School Cafeteria. One in seven missing children are found because of a photograph distributed by the NCMEC, so authorities recommend that parents obtain standardized safety documents such as KidCare Photo ID for their children.

Everyone has pictures of their children, but most parents do not have a suitable photograph if their child becomes lost or missing. It is very important to have a recent, unobstructed head and shoulders photograph of the child. The photograph should be stored in a safe place with the vital statistics of the child at the time the photograph is taken. Mangold Memorial is offering the free KidCare ID's as a public service to families in the area. "We are pleased we can play such a vital role in helping to keep children safe in our own community. We certainly hope that no one will ever need to use these documents, but parents can at least have peace of mind to know they have the information in a safe place at home should the need arise."

Parents can obtain free KidCare ID's for all of their children on Saturday, December 3rd from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. Nurses will also be available at the health fair to help weigh and measure your child. And the Lockney Police Department will be doing finger prints.

The Acro Care helicopter will be available for general viewing and "Shots Across Texas" will be at the health fair from 10:00 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. to give immunizations; they do ask that you bring your child's immunization record. There will be no charge for this service. They will also be giving flu shots for anyone who has not yet received their shot.

Mangold Memorial Hospital invites everyone to attend the "Holiday Health Fair". You will be able to have a glaucoma check, your blood sugar tested, have a cholesterol check and something new, have your fat content checked. Plus, there will be numerous information booths and door prizes will be given away hourly. Also, a healthy lunch will be available.

A Heart Walk will be held in conjunction with the health fair, persons or teams interested may obtain an information packet at Mangold Memorial Hospital.

School teachers have signed up to walk and will be sponsored by students and their parents. The teachers will represent all grade levels. The winning grade level will receive a pizza party and Principal Phil Cotham has agreed to sing one song for each 10 miles walked at a school assembly.

The walk will begin at 9:00 a.m. at the track behind elementary school. In case of bad weather the walk will be moved to the elementary gym.

For more information about the Holiday Health Fair you may contact Marsha Allen at 806-652-3373. Your admission to the Health Fair is a donation of canned goods or a new toy to be given to the Christmas Cheer Program.

CHRISTMAS DREAMS--This young girl was enchanted by the miniature ice skaters moving around the mirror lake in the snow village at Feather Your Nest in Lockney. Shoppers of all ages enjoyed Tuesday night's Holiday Affair in Lockney and took advantage of retailers staying open until 9:00 p.m.

Lone Star Santas collecting toys for kids

FLOYDADA—It's hard to be a child and wonder if you'll be forgotten once again this holiday season. Thanks to Lone Star Santas, many deserving children in Floydada will remember this holiday season as an exciting, happy time.

Lone Star Santas is a non-profit organization whose goal is to collect and distribute new toys through established community organizations to children throughout Texas. Bank of America Texas is the primary sponsor of Lone Star Santas.

During the past 11 years, Lone Star Santas has given new toys to more than 240,000 children throughout Texas through more than 300 charitable organizations. The toys are given to community organizations serving children in need such as child abuse shelters, orphanages, hospitals, battered women's shelters and children's homes.

The branches of Bank of America Texas serve as collection points for the toys. Each branch of Bank of America Texas chooses a charity or charities serving children within their own communities to receive the toys. In Floydada, new, unwrapped toys may be dropped off at the Bank of America branch located at 217 W. California, between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. on Friday. Toys will be collected through Christmas Eve.

"This is our 12th year for helping these kids' dreams come true and letting them know that someone out there cares about them," said Bank of America Branch Manager Wayne Parkman. "Even though Lone Star Santas has been extremely successful, it's never enough. There are always more children who may receive nothing unless everyone pitches in. Giving to these kids teaches you the true meaning of Christmas."

Lone Star Santas is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization, run entirely by volunteers and private donations. All contributions are tax-deductible.

Dear Floyd County,

My friends at The Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon in Lockney and in Floydada will be working really hard this month trying to get all your letters to me.

I really appreciate their help, but they also need your help. In order for them to publish letters to Santa, along with all your Christmas poems, stories, recipes, etc., you have to have them to The Hesperian-Beacon offices by next Thursday, December 8. You have until 12:00 noon to turn in your Christmas items.

So teachers and parents of all little ones don't forget to bring in your kids' wish lists. Remember the best way I can read all your letters is for you to submit them through the newspaper.

I'll be waiting.

Love,
 Santa

BY THE WAY!

BY
GILROY

My holiday meals are getting easier and easier. It's not that I'm learning to cook any better, I'm just learning more short cuts.

Every Thanksgiving and Christmas I worry over my gravy. Most of the time everything else turns out great and my gravy ends up thick and goopy.

This year I solved the whole problem. I made ham. It was wonderful—thanks to some great cooking advice from Evelyn Branch at The Lamplighter Inn. I didn't have to make gravy to go with the ham and Evelyn gave me directions that any nervous cook could understand.

Evelyn is a cook like my mom. When you ask her how much of a certain ingredient she puts into a meal, she just says, "I don't know honey (my mom calls me that too), a little pinch of this and a little scoop of that."

That is so frustrating. Sometimes I wish I could just stand by my mom or some other great cook, and when they start pinching this and scooping that I could stick a measuring spoon under them real quick and catch what was going to fall into the mix. Then I could write it down.

I don't know what I'd do about being told, "Just stir it until it looks right", or "stir it until it thickens". What are you supposed to compare it too?

I like recipes to be very specific. I want them to say, stir 2 minutes—or beat on highest speed for 2 minutes. I set my timer and when it dings—it's done.

I like the specific recipes on the back of boxes because the specific recipes from your mom tend to change over the years.

For instance:

I have a great recipe from Norene Elam for broccoli and rice. In her recipe she told me to buy one package of frozen chopped broccoli. No problem—I've made the recipe before and I never had a problem finding the broccoli. Now they don't package it like that anymore. In fact I couldn't even find chopped broccoli in a big package.

I was panicked at Thanksgiving. I don't know how to improvise in the kitchen. Johnny Summers, the manager at Lowe's Pay-N-Save, finally helped me find things I could work with and broke it all down for me. I didn't even know that a regular package of frozen chopped broccoli was 10 ozs. I never looked. I didn't have too—because my recipe didn't say, 10 ozs., it just said one package.

I was standing there griping at him about no chopped broccoli anymore and Janet Lloyd came up and joined in the gripe session.

We hit upon several problems in old recipes.

There are no 5 lb. bags of sugar anymore. All those folks who can their own food and have used a recipe for years that called for 5 lbs. of sugar are just out of luck.

Janet told me that she had just talked to a woman who had an old recipe in her hand. The recipe called for a 75¢ bag of Fritos. She wanted to know what size a 75¢ bag of Fritos used to be. Nobody knew.

And which apples are you supposed to use when you make apple pies—the crispy red ones or the soft red ones? Or the green ones? (That doesn't have anything to do with anything—it just bugs me).

Janet also wondered what you are supposed to do with this new vegetable that is a cross between broccoli and cauliflower? Yech.

It seems they would be better off bringing back my chopped broccoli instead of replacing it with cauliflower.

Janet said, "At least the hot dogs fit the bun size now!" (Even if you do always end up with more hot dogs than buns).

I've got my recipes worked out now, but Christmas is going to be a problem. I know when I talked to my mom about making the turkey gravy, she is going to say—"Just add a little of this and a little of that and stir it until it looks right."

I'm running out of people to practice on.

FLOYDADA CABLE TV OFFERS CNN HEADLINE NEWS TO CUSTOMERS

Pete Strom, manager of Floydada Cable TV, announced a change to the cable company's channel line-up. The company learned several weeks ago that independent channel KTVT (cable channel 10) would change to a CBS affiliate, and that United Video, through which Floydada Cable TV received the channel, would no longer carry KTVT as of December 30, 1994, according to Strom.

In place of KTVT, Plainview Cable TV announced the launch of CNN Headline News. For over a decade, Headline News has delivered television's most fast-paced, visual newscasts every half hour including major international and national news, weather reports, financial news updates, and sports scores.

"We're very excited about offering our cable customers new programming and adding even more enjoyment and value to our customers' cable service," Strom said.

Customers who have questions about CNN Headline News or any other cable issue should contact Pete Strom at the Floydada Cable TV business office at 119 E. Kentucky, or by phone at 983-2911.

Calvary observes Heritage Days

FLOYDADA—"This could be one of the most exciting things this church has ever done!" So stated Bonnie Cage, a member of Calvary Baptist Church, and mother of Ella Mae Gentry. Her reference was to efforts recognizing persons in fulltime Christian service who have direct ties to Calvary Baptist Church.

Heritage Recognition Days will be observed the first three weekends of December, beginning Friday, December 2, at 7:00 p.m. The Gentry family will be the featured special guests this weekend.

Jerry Gentry and Ella Mae Gentry were married at Calvary Baptist Church in 1962. Jerry, a native of Posey, Texas, graduated from high school at Slaton in 1958. He attended Wayland Baptist University, graduated with a BSED degree from Texas Tech where he also did graduate study. In 1989, Jerry graduated from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary with a MARE degree. He, currently, is Pastor of Woodrow Baptist Church near Lubbock.

Mrs. Gentry (Ella Mae) is a graduate of Floydada High School and a former member of Calvary Baptist Church. She attended Western Texas College (Extension) Crosbyton, Texas, and is employed by the Texas Department of Public Safety as a Driver's License Examiner.

The Gentrys are parents of two daughters, Elisa and Pamela. Elisa graduated from Crosbyton High School in 1983. She attended Wayland Baptist University where she earned the BME degree in 1988. Elisa now teaches music in the public schools at Lorenzo.

Pamela graduated from high school at Crosbyton in 1985. She completed the BBM degree at Wayland in 1989. Upon graduation from Wayland, Pamela attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary where she graduated with the MARE degree in 1992. She has served a two-year assignment as a Journeyman Missionary to South Africa, and has now been assigned by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board as a career missionary to Taiwan.

The second weekend in December the church will recognize Kelly Warren who is Pastor at Claytonville Baptist Church, and Hollis and Jo Payne, a former Pastor of Calvary Baptist, now retired.

Weekend number three will feature Willy Zinn who now pastors a church in Central Texas, and Sherman and Tammy Aten, fulltime music evangelists.

According to Calvary Baptist Pastor, Claude Porter, "The idea of recognizing those who have come out of our church and continued on in fulltime religious work has been very well received both inside and outside our congregation. We invite the general public, especially old friends and acquaintances, to come renew old friendships as our very own return to lead us in these special days of worship."

Services are scheduled each weekend; Friday and Saturday, 7:00 p.m.; Sunday morning, 11:00 a.m.; and Sunday evening, 6:00 p.m.

Tim Mitchell is delegate to 4-H Congress

—From Melissa Long, CEA-FCS

Tim Mitchell, of Lockney, will be among 1,400 youth gathering in Orlando, Florida, for the 73rd National 4-H Congress, December 3 through 7. Delegates from all 50 states and Puerto Rico will be joined by state advisors, National 4-H staff, trustees, donors, and volunteers for the 4-H Congress. While building on its history of educating American youth to solve "issues critical to their lives, their families, and society," the 1994 Congress is leading the way into the future with its bold, new Workforce Preparedness Initiative.

Through the new program, which is being launched at this year's Congress, delegates will receive information and skills to help them in career applications. Visits to businesses will be the source of further exposure to various work sites and career opportunities. Industry leaders, trustees, donors, and state advisors will address and interact with delegates in a variety of other sessions. Delegates will also learn more about living in a culturally diverse society including an international assignment to learn about the people, culture, history and economics of the 11 countries featured at EPCOT Center.

More than 5.4 million youth, ages 5-19, participate in 4-H. Members, of which more than 30 percent live in metropolitan areas and more than 25 percent are members of ethnic or racial minorities, are involved in diverse programs. From mechanical science to small engines and aerospace, marine science, environmental stewardship, workforce preparedness, home and personal management to citizenship and international and domestic exchanges, today's 4-H agenda focuses on the concerns and interests of contemporary young Americans.

Supporting these activities are nearly 700,000 volunteers, 4,300 professional staff members and 1,200 paraprofessionals throughout the country.

Rhanda Hickerson and Tim Mitchell were among thirty-two outstanding members of 4-H Clubs across the South Plains honored in Lubbock Monday, Nov. 21, at the 37th annual district Gold Star Banquet.

Hickerson and Mitchell are members of the Lockney 4-H Club and were named Floyd County Gold Star Winners at the county banquet.

In addition to receiving the Gold Star Award, highest honor presented at the county level by the youth organization the youths heard Dr. Paul Vaughn, professor and head of the Department of Agricultural Education and Communications at Texas Tech University, caution them about their use of three particular "four-letter" words.

Four-H is the youth development program of the Extension Service, an educational arm of the Texas A&M University System.

Joining the youths at the event at the Koko Palace were parents, government officials, Extension Service faculty, fellow 4-H'ers, educators and other community leaders. The event has been sponsored each year by 11 area electric cooperatives: Bailey County, Caprock, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Lamb County, Lea County, Lighthouse, Lyntegar, Midwest, South Plains and Swisher.

In those 37 annual banquets, 1,447 winners have been honored with the Gold Star Award in the presence of more than 13,200 guests.

This year's audience was welcomed by Bill Harbin of Floydada, general manager of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative. Kurt Hess of Borden County, South Plains District 4-H Council member, responded. Cade Shepard of Hale County, district council president, was master of ceremonies. Jody LeBlanc, Hockley County 4-H'er, gave the invocation. Dinner music was by pianist Nicki Riggs, Mitchell County 4-H'er. Sarah Hamm of Terry County, council secretary, introduced special guests.

The awards were presented by Dr. Kathy Volanty and Dr. Bob Robinson, Extension Service district directors. Recipients were introduced by 4-H'ers Karmen Pohmeier of Castro County, council first vice president, and Julie Hancock of Yoakum County, council second vice president.

Other 4-H'ers on the program were Shayla Wallace and Seth Pennell, Garza County; Jason Marshall, Lynn; and John Busby, Scurry.

Vaughn told the Gold Star winners that the way they use three particular "four-letter" words can determine their success or failure in life. "All three happen to begin with the letter F," he told them.

"The first two are 'fair' and 'free,'" he said. He urged the youths to think about what they mean and how they can be used.

"The U.S. Constitution guarantees freedom to all," Vaughn said. That's what has allowed this nation to rise to the greatness it has achieved," he said.

"But the Constitution doesn't say anything about the word 'fair,'" he noted. He said that too many people today say they aren't being treated fairly, that their Constitutional rights are being violated by that. He cited the experiences of a list of people who weren't treated fairly by their peers or society, but rose above that to succeed in life: merchant F. W. Woolworth, author Zane Grey, composer and pianist George Gershwin, scientists Albert Einstein and Thomas A. Edison, industrialist Charles Goodyear.

"All were treated unfairly, but they took the opportunities guaranteed by their freedom to become successful,"

Vaughn said. "The third (four-letter) word is 'fail,'" Vaughn told the youths and guests. "The victors in life aren't those who go undefeated. The victors are those who won't quit."

"You have the attributes you need to succeed. The opportunities (to succeed) are free. Don't sit back and complain that things aren't fair, because that's the surest way to fail,"

Floyd County 4-H'ers gather for meeting

By Cynthia Martin

The Pledge of Allegiance, 4-H Motto, and inspiration were led by Katrina Bartlett, Mark Todd Terrell, and Brittany Aston, respectively.

Roll call was taken by answering what each individual was most thankful for, followed by the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Kacie Mathis. Chelsea Patridge gave the treasurer's report. Mandy Hunter recognized the Food Show participants and Tim Mitchell presented a demonstration on gun safety before the business portion of the meeting began.

Old business included the Halloween Carnival and the Health Test. It was announced that approximately $100.00 was realized as profit from the two booths at the Halloween Carnival. Those who passed out information for the American Heart Association during the Health Test were thanked for their efforts.

COTTON MARKET

The cotton market rally in October and November is unusual. Reasons for the rally are unclear. It may in part be uncertainty of general economic conditions and the possibility of larger than expected export sales. Also, large speculators have been on the buying side for several weeks.

The United States cotton crop continues to look large and has a good potential to be well above 19 million bales. At this time, the supply/demand reports have not indicated a surge in 1994/95 U.S. exports.

The cloudy market conditions suggests that growers need to pay careful attention to cotton pricing. With the 1994/95 cotton supplies increasing and the likelihood of a further increase in 1995/96 supplies worldwide, there is a danger of a substantial price drop down the road. In time, the adjustments in market forces could come in lower prices or possibly lower supplies that would support the higher prices.

The opportunity to start pricing the 1995/96 cotton crop is available. Prices can already be "locked-in" that are within 5 cents of prices for the 1994/95 crop.

You control how and when you price your cotton. The key is to use the appropriate pricing tools to reduce your risk exposure. The pricing strategy you select determines if you can benefit from a possible price increase later on. A forward contract locks in a price. Contracts may specify "gin direct" or through a local warehouse. It is important to understand details of the contract and what your net price received will be after quality adjustments, delivery dates, and delivery charges.

For the 1995/96 cotton crop, be sure you have beneficial interest. The adjusted world price may go below the 51.92 cent loan and trigger marketing loan deficiency payments next season.

On another cotton note - make sure you get registered to attend the Caprock Cotton Conference, January 17 - 18, at the Plains Baptist Assembly south of Floydada. Speakers will include Nicholas Hahn, Bill Lyle, Kater Hake, biotechnology panel, and much more. Call the County Extension Office for more information.

Lifeline to Health

Trina Wilson, RN

MAMMOGRAPHY

Mammography is a method of examining the breasts by using low-dose x-rays. This simple, painless procedure can detect tumors and cysts, often when they are too small to be felt by a manual examination. It can help differentiate between harmless or benign tumors and cancer, although a definitive diagnosis requires a biopsy to study cells from the actual breast lump.

Mammography is performed in an outpatient setting, such as a doctor's office or radiology clinic. It is performed by a technician, and a radiologist (preferably one who specializes in mammography) interprets the x-rays.

It is important for individuals to remember they should never apply powder, creams, or deodorant on the day of the mammography, on or around the area of the breast. The products may contain substances that interfere with the accuracy of the x-rays.

The actual mammography procedure may cause some temporary discomfort when the breasts are compressed between the two plastic plates. It is important to realize that this discomfort is only momentary. To minimize the discomfort, the test should be scheduled for the week following a woman's menstrual cycle, when the breast are their smallest and least tender. Any discomfort disappears as soon as the breast is removed from the plates. Some people are intimidated by the x-ray machines, or are fearful of being alone in the x-ray room during the actual filming. Talking with your doctor or the technician may help alleviate some of these fears.

Mrs. Estelle Gilbreath invites you to attend Heritage Recognition Days Friday - Saturday - Sunday Calvary Baptist Church

The entire mammography examination can be completed in 10 to 15 minutes. Large, difficult to examine breasts may require x-rays from additional angles.

Some radiology laboratories or clinics provide the results of tests within minutes. Others may take a few days to examine the x-rays and report the results either to you or to your physician.

There are no immediate complications from mammography. Since mammography uses radiation, there is a theoretical long-term hazard from the exposure. However, the amount of radiation used in modern mammography machines is so small that this is not considered an important health hazard. Even though the risk is small, a woman should not undergo mammography if she is pregnant because even a low dose of radiation can be harmful to a fetus. If mammography must be performed during pregnancy (or if there is a chance that the woman may be pregnant), she should make sure that her abdomen is covered with a protective lead shield.

The American Cancer Society recommends that all women should have mammography at the following times: Initially between the ages of 35 and 39, to serve as a benchmark for detecting later changes.

Every one or two years between the ages of 40 and 50.

Annually after age 50.

Women who have had breast cancer before, have a sister or mother who have had breast cancer, or show warning signs of breast cancer may need mammography more frequently or beginning at a younger age.

Mammography is generally not recommended for women under 30. Their breast tissue is more dense than that of older women; thus, mammography is not always a useful diagnostic tool for women in this age group.

For more information contact your family physician.

Humble.

It's hard to be humble when propane propels a winning dragster down the quarter mile at 160 mph. But we try. And so we humbly ask you to consider propane to fuel your private, government or school district fleet vehicles. Propane is a low-cost, high-octane alternative fuel. It will keep your fleet running economically and help you meet state and federal clean-air mandates. Propane. The clean choice. The clear choice. There's no way you can lose.

Lockney participating in annual Plainview Classic

LOCKNEY—The Lockney Longhorns will be making their second appearance in this year's Plainview Lions-Pioneer Basketball Classic that begins this Thursday, Dec. 1, at Hutcherson Gym on Wayland University campus.

The Horns, coached by Rodney Dowell, open play Thursday afternoon at 5 p.m. against the powerful Pampa Harvesters, who won this tournament last year.

Lockney, a pre-season pick to finish 2nd in District 3-2A, behind Springlake Earth, returns an impressive array of talent this season including Jared Moseley, who was All South Plains Player of the Year last season. He is supported by 5-8 Senior Guard Alfred Martinez, and Junior lettermen Shannon Veal, Carlos Perales, Brady Marr and Cody Hayes. Newcomer Devon Phillips is also expected to have an outstanding season.

Other high school teams in this year's Classic include Dimmitt, Canyon, Andrews, Abernathy, Lubbock Estacado and Plainview.

There are four teams in the Classics college division including LeTourneau, Concordia Lutheran, Howard Payne, and Wayland Baptist.

Lady 'Winds Basketball Report

By Edd Henderson Jr.
FLOYDADA—This report covers games played from Monday, November 21, through Monday, November 28, 1994.

Varsity FLOYDADA 50, LUBBOCK ROOSEVELT 41 November 22

Floydada jumped out to a 14-point lead in the first quarter and held off a determined Roosevelt rally in the second half to defeat the Lady Eagles by a score of 50 to 41.

Leading the scoring for the Lady Winds was Dana McCandless and Leslie Warren with 14 points each. Lacy Golightly chipped in 7 points and Jamie Crow contributed 6 points as the Lady Winds utilized a tough full court pressure defense to force numerous Roosevelt turnovers into easy points.

Coach Mike McCann was pleased with the showing of the Lady Winds in this non-district contest and commented, "Leslie Warren had another really good game on both ends of the floor with 14 points, 10 steals and 7 rebounds. Dana McCandless had her best game scoring 14 points and getting 5 rebounds. Marty had six rebounds. The first quarter was the best quarter we have played since I have been here."

The Floydada victory runs their season record to 2-1 for the year.

FRESHMAN TURKEY CLASSIC TOURNAMENT November 24-26

The Floydada Lady Winds participated in the Freshman Turkey Classic over the Thanksgiving holidays and played some of the best competition on the South Plains in the process. Floydada drew the dubious distinction of having to open tournament play against the defending Class 1A State champion Sudan Hornettes.

Sudan has all five starters back from its 1994 state championship team and appeared quite capable of defending that crown as they defeated the Lady Winds by a score of 82 to 34. Leslie Warren led the Floydada scoring with 8 points and Jamie Crow added 7 points.

In game 2 Floydada jumped was defeated by Class 5A opponent Lubbock High by a score of 50 to 32. The leading scorers for the Lady Winds were Leslie Warren with 6 points and Jamie Crow with 5 points.

In game 3 of the 3-day tournament Floydada was defeated by Idalou by a score of 58 to 36. Jamie Crow led the Lady Winds in scoring with 11 points with Leslie Warren contributing 6 points and Missy Pernel adding 5 points.

The tournament results were definitely disappointing for Floydada but there were a few bright spots. The last half of the game with Idalou was a definite improvement over the previous two games and will help this young team continue to get better.

Coach Mike McCann commented on his team's showing in the tournament by saying, "We played one of the best basketball teams in the state in Sudan. They brought out a lot of things we need to do a better job on. That was the purpose of playing someone like this. We played well the last half of the Idalou game and had good intensity and effort the last half. This was a tough three days but we are young and we need to learn from our mistakes and this tournament will help us do that. We just need to build on the last two quarters."

Floydada's season record now stands at 2-4 for the year. The next action for the Lady Winds will be in the Ralls Invitational Tournament starting Thursday, December 1.

JUNIOR VARSITY Lubbock Roosevelt 51, Floydada 41 November 22

The Lady Eagles broke open a tight one point game after three quarters by scoring 18 points in the final stanza to defeat the Lady Winds junior varsity by a score of 51 to 41.

Leading scorers for Floydada were Jennifer Noland with 8 points and Jamie McGuire with 7 points. The loss drops the Lady Winds junior varsity record to 2-3 for the year.

The next action for the Lady Winds junior varsity will be against the Lorenzo junior varsity Tuesday, December 6 at Lorenzo.

FRESHMAN Littlefield 41, Floydada 31 November 21

The freshman Lady Winds fought back from a 16-point deficit at halftime and outscored Littlefield in the second half but could never regain the lead as they were defeated by Littlefield by a score of 41 to 31.

Leading scorers for Floydada were Crystal Meyers with 8 points and Ashleigh Williams with 7 points.

The loss drops the freshman Lady Winds record to 0-3 for the year. The next action for the freshman Lady Winds will be Monday, December 5, at home against Tulia.

FmHA is now accepting emergency loan applications

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by extensive rain and hail are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Floydada, FmHA County Supervisor Becky Rainer said this week.

Floyd County is one of six in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the extensive rain and hail.

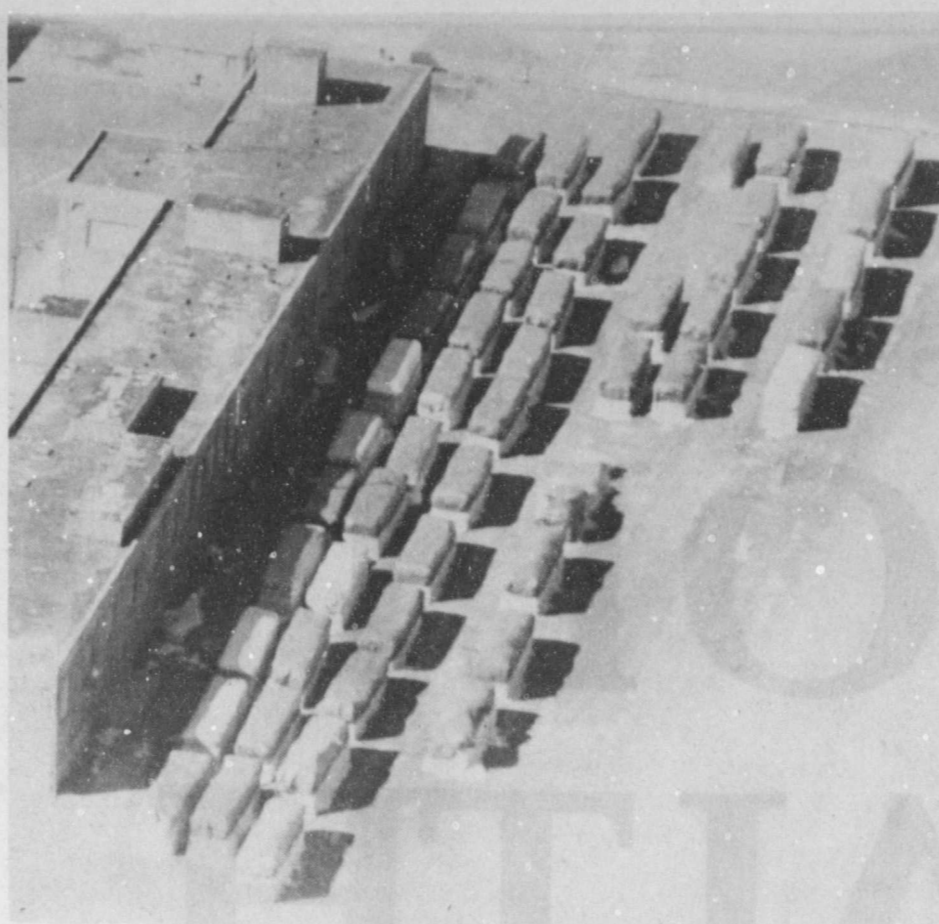

Mrs. Rainer said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Mrs. Rainer said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until June 26, 1995 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," Mrs. Rainer said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Floydada is open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Class for pesticide recertification is set for December 7

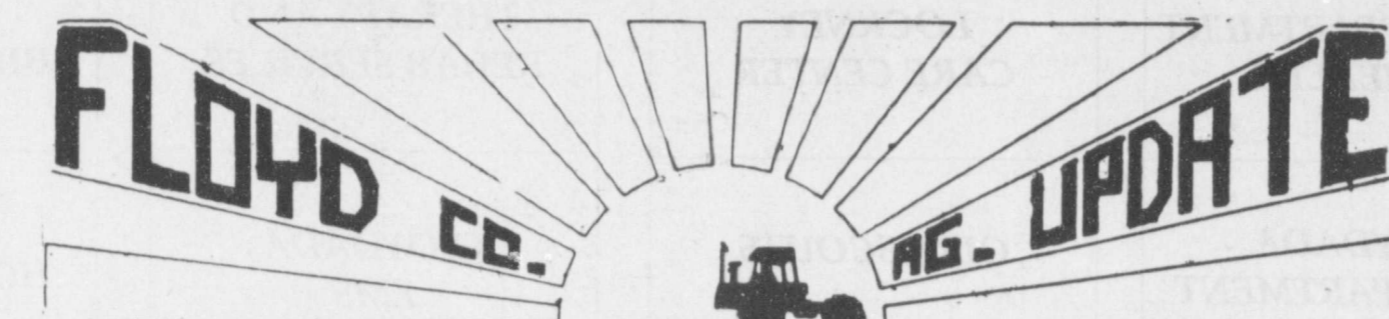

By David Kostroun

Extension Agent-Entomology (PM) Crosby-Floyd Counties

As the harvest season and this year is soon coming to an end, it is time for pesticide applicators to check on the number of Continuing Education Units (CEU's) they have accumulated thus far. To renew a license or certificate, most applicators must obtain 15 CEU's by the end of 1995.

On December 7, a Texas Pesticide Application Recertification Course will be offered to all licensees and "grandfather" certified private applicators. The course is a satellite broadcast that will provide 5 CEU's, including 1 in integrated pest management (IPM) and 2 in laws and regulations. The broadcast will be held from 8:00 am to 2:00 pm at County Farm Bureau offices. A one hour break will be provided for lunch-on-your-own.

Participants are encouraged to call the Farm Bureau office to make seating reservations as seating will be on a "first come, first serve" basis. A registration fee will be collected at the door. This program is sponsored by Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Department of Agriculture, The Texas A&M University System, and Texas Agricultural Extension Service. For more information, contact the Extension office or your County Farm Bureau.

Use of furrow dikes increases yields

—From High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1

The use of furrow dikes and plant residue to hold precipitation may increase crop yields dramatically, even in dry years, for Floyd County producers.

The National Weather Service reports that the Floydada Station recorded 11.79 inches of precipitation in 1993, and 15.39 inches through September 1994. These totals are about 8.66 inches below average for 1993, and about 1.53 inches below average for the nine-month period in 1994. The 48-year average annual precipitation for the Floydada weather reporting station is 20.5 inches.

The 1993 pre-plant soil moisture survey conducted by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 and the USDA-Soil Conservation Service revealed only two to four inches of soil moisture in storage in the top five feet of the soil in Floyd County. Based upon the 1993 survey results, six to eight inches of water was needed to bring the soil to field capacity prior to planting.

The 1994 soil moisture survey will be conducted before the first of the year, and soil moisture conditions are expected to be similar to the 1993 survey.

One inch of precipitation lost to runoff could result in substantial yield increases—if it is stored in the soil for crop production. As an example, for each additional inch of water received above the basic water need for plant development, cotton will yield from 30 to 1140 pounds of lint per acre; grain sorghum will yield 300 to 400 pounds per acre; wheat will yield two to three bushels per acre; and corn will yield three to five bushels per acre.

Some of the precipitation received during the growing season occurs in small events of less than 0.5 inch, which evaporates before it can be utilized by crops on those farms with little or no residue on the soil surface.

Other precipitation events are of high intensity and short duration, which causes the resulting rainfall to exceed the soil infiltration rate. Most of this precipitation runs off the fields since furrow dikes are not installed to hold the moisture in place until it could soak into the soil. On those rain-fed farms in the Lubbock area which maximized the utilization of precipitation through the use of crop residue and furrow dikes, cotton yields are averaging about 250 to 300 pounds of lint per acre, as compared to yields of 150 to 175 pounds of lint per acre on farms which did not utilize these practices (or experienced other problems that reduced yields).

The High Plains Water District reminds producers that residue management and furrow dikes may return as much as $60 per acre in additional product in one of our driest years of record. Maximizing precipitation use will pay even greater dividends if the area receives average or above-average precipitation.

Additional information about use of furrow dikes and/or crop residues to maximize precipitation benefits is available by contacting the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405-1499, or by calling (806) 762-0181.

Lockney First Baptist Church to dedicate new Worship Center

LOCKNEY—On Sunday, December 4 at 2:00 p.m. the First Baptist Church of Lockney will be having a Dedication Service for their newly remodeled Worship Center.

Those in attendance will gather around the front steps (weather permitting) and will enter the Worship Center in a procession. If the weather is bad, the procession will come from the Garden Room.

The community is invited to join the members of the First Baptist Church, Lockney for this time of praise and celebration.

Alzheimer's Disease is major cause of death for elderly

As many as 200,000 Texans who are 65 or older now have Alzheimer's disease, according to health officials. That number is expected to swell dramatically as the state's population continues to age. As more Texans develop the devastating illness, which has no cure, proportionately more families will face the hardships associated with the fourth leading cause of death among the elderly.

The first statewide conference on Alzheimer's disease, Nov. 4-5 in Austin, coincidentally was held within days of former President Ronald Reagan's public statement that he also has Alzheimer's disease. Sponsored by the Texas Department of Health (TDH), the conference of more than 300 family members, medical professionals, researchers and government officials discussed the task of caring for increased numbers of Alzheimer's disease patients by the end of the decade.

Veronda Durden, director of TDH's Alzheimer's Program, said, "The challenge faced by medical specialists, researchers and health care providers is enormous. While we search for a cure for Alzheimer's, as well as the means to prevent the disease, we also must improve treatments of Alzheimer's many symptoms. Care providers, health professionals and the public alike must be better educated about management of patients and their illness. It also is crucial that our society provide real support for families struggling with this tragedy."

Durden said the TDH Alzheimer's Program assists families and medical personnel throughout Texas with information and referral about available resources to combat the Alzheimer's epidemic in Texas. The program operates a toll-free information line, 1-800-242-3399, from the program's office in Austin.

As many as 100,000 Alzheimer's patients die each year in the U.S., according to Durden. She said the degenerative brain disorder's cause is unknown, although researchers are studying links to possible genetic, physiological, environmental and viral factors. The disorder was named after a German neurologist who first described Alzheimer's disease in 1906. Its early symptoms include memory loss about recent events, confusion, severe disorientation, anxiety and loss of speech. As the fatal disease progresses, usually over a period of years, the patient's physical condition and dementia worsen to require round-the-clock care.

"While there yet is no single diagnostic test for Alzheimer's disease," Durden said, "it is extremely important that anyone with Alzheimer's symptoms undergoes a complete physical and neurological examination." She explained that many "Alzheimer-like" symptoms can be the result of other causes, such as depression, drug reactions, thyroid disease, poor nutrition, brain tumor and head injuries.

"Some of these similar causes of dementia-like symptoms can be treated or cured, if detected early enough," Durden said. "And other disorders, such as Huntington's disease and Parkinson's disease sometimes are mistaken for Alzheimer's. Usually, it is only after eliminating all other possible causes of Alzheimer's symptoms, that physicians narrow their diagnosis to Alzheimer's. Even then, the diagnosis is only about 90 percent accurate."

Floydada Cable TV to carry CNN Headline News

Pete Strom, manager of Floydada Cable TV, announced a change to the cable company's channel line-up. The company learned several weeks ago that independent channel KTVT (cable channel 10) would change to a CBS affiliate, and that United Video, through which Floydada Cable TV received the channel, would no longer carry KTVT as of December 30, 1994, according to Strom.

In place of KTVT, Plainview Cable TV announced the launch of CNN Headline News. For over a decade, Headline News has delivered television's most fast-paced, visual newscasts every half hour including major international and national news, weather reports, financial news updates, and sports scores.

"We're very excited about offering our cable customers new programming and adding even more enjoyment and value to our customers' cable service," Strom said.
