We suspect that Jay Harris, recently retired, long-time editor and columnist for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, must be feeling kinda put out these days. We would. The space usually reserved for Jay on the editorial pages of the A-J is now used for columns by Dave McNeely of the Austin American-Statesman.

Dave is political editor of the Austin paper, of which there are none more liberal in the state of Texas. And Dave is probably the most liberal of the liberals who make up the staff of that paper. It will be interesting to see how his column plays in the politically conservative South Plains. His agenda has always been to elect liberal Democrats and bash conservatives, whether Democrat or Republican. And one thing is certain. He won't change. He simply becomes more skilled in the tactics used to promote the liberal agenda.

For that matter we've never been able to fathom the relationship between the very rich, and very liberal, Cox media empire, based in Atlanta Georgia, (and which owns the Atlanta Constitution, the Austin American-Statesman, the Waco Herald-Tribune, plus numerous other papers and cable television outlets in this state), and the usually more conservative Morris media chain, (which publishes the Lubbock A-J) also based in Atlanta. One would think there would be a certain amount of competition between the two, but that doesn't seem to be the case. Instead there seems to be a symbiotic relationship in certain quarters that is somewhat puzzling to others in the trade. But that's another story.

At any rate we are happy to see Dave's column in the A-J. He's pretty well clued into what's going on among liberal circles in Austin, and generally writes from that vantage point. Those who read his columns should be on notice. If so, they may find his comments most worthwhile.

In fact, Austin's liberal community looks upon West Texans with mixed emotions. They love the taxes that West Texas oil, cotton, cattle, farms, ranches, and businesses pour into Austin - it helps keep the economy there humming - but they take a very dim view of West Texas voting habits. They are entirely too independent, as the recent elections proved once again. West Texans, from the liberal standpoint, are entirely too skeptical of big government, social planning, government regulations, things like that. If folks out here could ever get that little problem worked out, and start

The money is available. You just have to ask for it.

The message came across loud and clear to Floyd County citizens who met, Tuesday night, for a discussion on a possible multi-purpose arena in Floyd County.

Not only was there money available for the arena, they were told, but there will be money available to maintain it and money available to maintain a community foundation program to help in future community endeavors.

Dr. Udell addressed the large crowd at Lighthouse Electric and explained the various ways to apply for grants and encouraged those attending the meeting to work together for the good of the whole county.

Udell conducts grant writing workshops around the county and established the grant writing department at the University of Oklahoma. Udell also

Library construction project proposed

A joint meeting between the Floyd County Library Board and the Floyd County Pioneer Association was held on Tuesday, January 31 for the purpose of discussing a proposed Floyd County Pioneer Memorial Library. Members of both associations and the Floyd County Historical Museum Board voiced ideas and opinions concerning the project.

As proposed, the library would be relocated from the courthouse to a free-standing building on Wall Street between the Floydada Branch of the First National Bank in Lockney and the old City Trim Shop. According to Olin Watson, who presented the project, the building would serve as a memorial to the early day settlers of the county, much as the memorial buildings which have been built in other area counties. It would also be dedicated to the future growth and education of the youth of the county.

He suggested that financing for the estimated $400,000.00 facility be obtained through grants, memorials, and donations. Watson stressed that the project should strive to involve local clubs and organizations as well as families through out the county.

A ground breaking ceremony could be held as early as Pioneer Day 1996 or 1997 if the project moves along well said Watson. The ultimate plan would be to donate the completed facility to Floyd County with the county accepting responsibility for administering the building and it's upkeep.

Brenda Meyers of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce was present to inform the group that a wide variety of foundations and organizations exist which would provide funding for the project through grants. She told the group that they needed to settle on a plan

County discusses highway right-of-way, purchases maintainers

Financing the right-of-way acquisition for a proposed highway in northeast Floyd County was again on the agenda for the commissioners during a special called meeting on Monday, January 30.

Precinct 3 Commissioner George Taylor, in whose precinct the proposed highway would be located, asked that the court specify where necessary expenses would come from. He said that the resolution passed by the court two years ago did not specify how the expenses would be met and that he would like to see the court officially agree to support the 1963 court resolution by stating that acquiring right-of-ways for paved projects would be paid from Road and Bridge funds.

Precinct 4 Commissioner Jon Jones seconded the motion by Taylor. All commissioners voted in favor of the motion.

Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden said "I thought that's what we did when we passed the resolution to provide the right-of-way for the state paved road in January 1993."

Following a query by Precinct 2 Commissioner Lennie Gilroy, Judge Hardin read the 1993 resolution to the court confirming that no mention of where the necessary funds would come from had been made.

Among the concerns of those attending the Monday morning session was the question of what the project would ultimately cost the county and what would be done about areas which will need to be fenced but do not have fences at this time. Part of the discussion concerning fencing was related to the fact that in 1914, Floyd County voted to be a closed range, yet there are areas in the county which do not abide by this regulation today. Some suggested that closed range regulations could be better enforced than they are currently.

The items to be considered as right-of-way were listed by Commissioner Jones who said, "There are four items involved in right-of-way as I understand it. First the land, which we hope to acquire by easement; second the utilities, which the county will be responsible for relocating; third the irrigation, any wells or underground tile needing to be relocated; and fourth, fencing that has to be moved."

The final cost to the county for providing a right-of-way on the proposed road will be determined after the state completes the necessary environmental studies and presents final plans to the county. These would detail the route of the highway and allow the county to assess the total cost of securing the right of way. At that time, the county will have the option of proceeding with the project or not doing it if the expense on the county is too great.

Gilroy stated, "I would not be in favor of the county purchasing land for right-of-way, nor would I want the county to pay for fences."

C. L. Henderson, a taxpayer attending the meeting said, "I think that anyone wanting a road would be willing to donate the use of their land for that road. Most would also be willing to move their own fences in order to get a paved road."

Commissioner Jones affirmed that he also supports the paving project, as did Bearden. "I think we should all work together to get the road in Floyd County, but I would not favor raising taxes in order to furnish the right-of-way. We should draw the line at that."

Bids were opened on the purchase of two motor graders for Precinct 3. Two companies submitted bids, Yellowhouse Machinery and West Texas Equipment. After reviewing the bids, Commissioner Taylor stated, "I am going to go with Yellowhouse for the purchase of two machines for Precinct 3." The motion was seconded by Gilroy and passed by unanimous vote.

The Yellowhouse bid stated the selling price of the new John Deere 770BH

1995 crop sign-up underway

"We began taking applications for 1995 farm programs on January 30," said Trent Johnson, CED of the Floyd County Consolidated Farm Service Agency. "Sign-up will close on April 28, but farmers will have to take action before then to be eligible for benefits. They have to have at least minimal (catastrophic coverage) level of crop insurance."

"Producers must purchase at least the catastrophic level of crop insurance coverage to qualify for farm program benefits on a crop if insurance is offered for that crop in the producer's county," said Johnson. "Also, producers need to be aware that, in nearly all instances, deadline dates for purchasing crop insurance occur before the end of the commodity sign-up program."

"In Floyd County, the insurance deadline is March 15, 1995 for all crops.

Catastrophic (CAT) coverage can be purchased either from a private crop insurance agent or at a CFSA county office. Higher levels of coverage are available only from private crop insurance agents. Producers are urged to carefully examine the benefits of additional coverage offered through local crop insurance agents."

The 1995 acreage reductions announced for this year's crops are: 7.5 percent for corn; zero percent for wheat, sorghum, upland cotton, barley, and oats. Projected deficiency payment rates are: 70 cents per bushel for wheat; corn, 40 cents per bushel; grain sorghum, 39 cents; 40 cents per bushel for barley; oats, 10 cents per bushel; and upland, 3.7 cents per pound. A 50 percent advance deficiency payment will be offered according to Johnson.

I was reading a Focus on the Family newsletter the other day. Dr. Dobson was recapping the good and bad of 1994. I thought some of those stories might prove interesting to you.

I know people around are already aware of the hypocrisy that comes from people trying to silence the "radical-right Christians", but it never ceases to amaze me how far some will go.

As in many battles over the "forcing of Christianity" into schools and government—what it really boils down to is this—"We will be tolerant of any religion EXCEPT Christianity!"

Anyway—Dobson reminded his readers of the city officials in San Jose, California who spent $500,000 of public resources to construct a statue of the Aztec god Quetzalcoatl.

Mayor Blanco Alvarado said the Aztec religion contained "those elements that seek to elevate the human consciousness to a higher plane." So—the city honored the pagan god at taxpayer expense.

Dobson said, "History tells us that the priests of this ancient religion were unbelievably brutal. They ripped open the chests of countless victims with flint knives and pulled out their still-beating hearts."

Dobson pointed out that in early December, the San Jose City Parks Board demanded removal of a nativity scene from the park where the Aztec statue stands (I guess the nativity scene just didn't make it to the same high plane as ripping out hearts).

The City Parks Board had to reverse their decision about the nativity scene after an avalanche of protests. The nativity scene got to stay until after Christmas. The Aztec god gets to stay year round.

One other tidbit—
The new president of the American Bar Association, George Bushnell, said he favors the legalization of all drugs—from marijuana to crack cocaine—as a step to cutting crime.

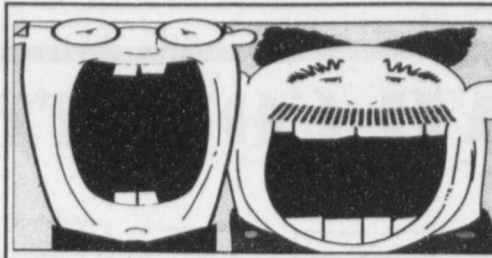

Thursday, February 2 is the last day to get your pictures in for our Valentine paper. Don't miss out having your chance to brag on your children and grandchildren. The cost of each picture is $10.00.

The other day my husband, son and I were driving around the country.

My husband and I got into a heavy discussion which led to point-counter point-type of conversation.

After some rapid fire conversation, my son shouted—"Stop Arguing!"
We started to laugh and my husband said, "We're not arguing. We are just having a discussion."

"Well," said my eight-year old, "You Sound Like Crossfire!"
He has definitely been watching too much TV.

voting right, Austin's liberal community would have no complaints.

Up in Washington, the battle over a balanced budget amendment, and a law curtailing the nefarious practice of "unfunded mandates" continues. The Democrats, who have paid lip service to a balanced budget amendment but have always found some hypocritical way to keep Congress from coming to grips with the problem, have now come upon a new tactic. They want the Republicans to spell out in advance exactly how the necessary spending reductions are to be achieved, before they lend their support.

And from our standpoint the Republicans in Congress have never satisfactorily answered that ploy. We don't know why they have not simply pointed to the Constitution itself. The first 10 amendments to the Constitution, the "Bill of Rights", without which the Constitution would probably never have been ratified, should be a good guide. The First Amendment, for example, simply says that Congress shall make no laws abridging freedom of the press, or the establishment of a religion. It does not spell out, nor does it seek to spell out, all the conceivable circumstance under which arguments concerning that subject ought to be resolved. The same could be said of the Second Amendment, guaranteeing citizens the right to keep and bear arms.

Or for that matter, the 10th Amendment, which, if memory serves, simply says that all rights not specifically granted to the federal government, "are reserved to the states, and the people."
A balanced budget amendment could, and should, be looked upon in the same light. The Congress would then be "bound by the chains of the constitution" to devise ways and means to achieve the constitutional mandate.

That, of course, is what irresponsible lawmakers do not wish. It is much easier to spend now and leave the paying to our grandkids. They will have no choice in the matter. All that will be left for them to do is pay the taxes.

From our standpoint, we would prefer to see the "three-fifths" rule included in the amendment. That would make it more difficult to balance the budget by simply raising taxes. It would require cuts in some of those great society spending programs designed over the years to keep liberals in office, and taxpayers in bondage. But we would gladly take a balanced budget amendment, with or without the three-fifths rule. That way if a current generation clamored for spending programs from the federal government, they could pay for it themselves, without passing the buck to our (or their) children and grandchildren.

Board votes to replace clinic roof

FLOYDADA — The board of directors of Caprock Hospital District voted unanimously to replace the existing roofing on the Cogdell Clinic building in Floydada during a special called meeting at 1:00 p.m. on January 27. Motion to replace the roof rather than repair it was made by Rob Heflin and seconded by Carmel Eastham following discussion of three bids submitted and discussion concerning insurance coverage.

According to Bob Ericson, clinic administrator, the insurance company that will be covering this claim will pay anything over $5,000.00 to have the roof repaired. The first $5,000.00 is to be paid by CHD as the deductible. Repair estimates were $5,400.00, said Ericson, so the insurance would pay $400.00. He pointed out that the company will not pay the extra money to have the roof replaced, so the district will be paying for the roof replacement except for $400.00.

Ericson told board members that the new company which currently insures the building will cover the roof once it is repaired or replaced. He showed the board a letter from the agent representing the company indicating that should the board opt to repair the roof at this time, coverage would be effective and further damage, either repairable or needing replacement, would be covered with the $1,000.00 deductible.

Although board member Joy Assiter spoke in favor of repairing the roof at a cost of $5,000.00 to the district then paying $1,000.00 for subsequent loss with the new company, she joined the board in voting to spend $12,443.00 to replace the roof with 3 ply fiberglass, asphalt and gravel. The board awarded the work to J.Q. Long Roofing of Plainview. Other bids came from Carr Roofing and Texas Roofing after a request made by board president Tom Farris.

Farris appointed a board of four to act as a physician search committee in checking out possible physicians for the district. Farris asked Joy Assiter to join himself, Ericson and Doctor Albert on that committee. He stated that no board action was needed to appoint a committee.

Board members heard a presentation by AMCARE Group, Inc. regarding the potential for a Lehland Medical Center in Floydada. The presentation displayed the proposed plans for an AMCARE facility which would incorporate physician offices, clinic settings, hospital rooms, lab, x-ray, and emergency room in one standard building. The three representatives of the company then explained that the streamlined facility would allow a smaller staff to provide better service at less cost to the patient while making more profit for the provider.

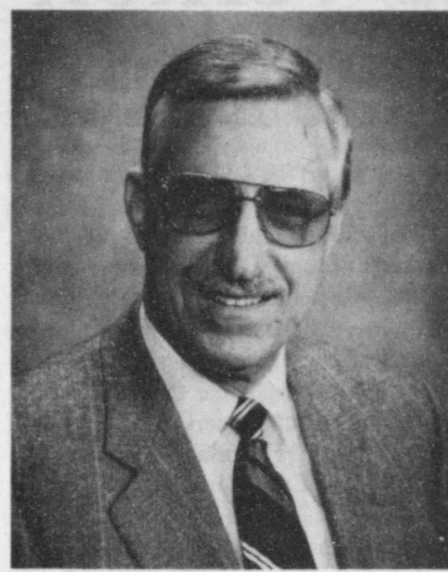

According to the plan, the AMCARE Group would solicit local financing and physician participation to build or lease a building, equip it, staff it and train the staff. This facility would then operate on their plan with AMCARE holding a 30 percent ownership interest in any profits and the local investors and physicians retaining a 70 percent interest in the profits. They stressed that ten percent of the profit would be returned to the community through support of local charities.

According to the representatives, the concept is new and so is the company. They currently have projects in various stages of completion in Odessa, Plano, the Mid-Cities Arlington area, and Detroit, Michigan. No facilities have been completed and are in operation at this time.

No board action was taken concerning the presentation, although Farris did ask that the presenters look around at Caprock Hospital and the clinic in order to see if there is a plan they could recommend to CHD for the existing facility.

Citizens to pursue project works for several foundations by awarding grants to different endeavors.

"I've noticed in my travels," said Udell, "a decaying in rural America. There is a Wal-Mart syndrome where people buy from larger companies out of town which leaves their own areas economically depressed. The result is fewer economic bases which makes it difficult to raise money for projects. The communities cease to be able to find money for basic needs.

"More and more money is moving out of the public sector into the private sector, such as philanthropic organizations.

"In the U.S. alone there are 43,558 foundations who award grants. In Texas there are 2,257 foundations."

Udell told the crowd that many foundations award grants to other foundations and then outlined steps in which a community could form its own foundation through which to receive money for community needs.

"To form your foundation you should decide the area you want to support, such as your county, and then define the causes you want to support, such as education, medical needs, recreation, etc.

"You form your bylaws and articles of incorporation and become recognized as a non-profit organization.

"The beginning of your foundation," explained Udell, "would start with local 'seed' money. For instance your study clubs and civic organizations would start giving to your foundation instead of different causes around town.

"You would then approach other organizations and foundations and ask for matching funds. For instance, if you begin with $5,000, you approach an organization and ask for a matching 1 for 1 grant. Then you have $10,000. You then go to another grant and ask for a 1-3 grant and then you have 30,000 in your foundation, etc. You invest your money and become financially independent. When a need arises in your county—your county foundation is already established to help that need."

Udell said that creating a county foundation which would be self-sustaining would take approximately 5-7 years. He encouraged the audience to work toward that goal.

Udell also said if there was an immediate need for a multi-purpose center there are also foundations that will address that immediate need. "Grants that also are available for the general operating support of the building," said Udell.

"I recommend that while you are using your grants for the upkeep of the building, you should also work on your own county foundation that could eventually take over in that area," said Udell.

"You need to have local organization, commitment and vision. Politics is what usually destroys this process—not the lack of money," said Udell.

Several questions were answered from the audience and a general mood of excitement and cooperation filled the room after Udell's speech.

Floydada Mayor Hulon Carthel brought applause from the audience when he said, "There are 8,500 people in this county. Sixty thousand dollars a month leaves the county for the lottery alone and there are only four places to buy tickets in this county. We have got to keep the money in this community and start thinking about the county instead of individual cities."

The meeting adjourned after the audience agreed to meet again and form a committee to pursue the establishment of a foundation.

which would incorporate everything they could envision for a library and then secure the funding by applying for grants. Another suggestion was that the group engage a professional grant writer to prepare the applications in the most effective manner.

Among the discussion items at the evening meeting were the possibility of a different name, how the proposed library would effect the museum's role in the county, and what benefit the project would be to the Pioneer Association. A general consensus of those attending was that a new library would be a great asset to the county, but that a lot of details remain to be worked out.

Both the Library Board and the Pioneer Association will be considering the project at future meetings. All interested persons are urged to discuss their views concerning the viability of the project with members of either group. Community involvement in the proposed project was deemed a must.

Daughter of Vernon Parkers is named CEO at El Paso hospital

FLOYDADA—Rio Vista Rehabilitation Hospital in El Paso recently appointed Patricia Anne Parker to Chief Executive Officer. Ms. Parker is responsible for the overall operation of the hospital. She is primary liaison between the governing body, medical staff, the community and the institution's employees. As CEO, she ensures that Rio Vista complies with all laws, rules, regulations and accreditation standards.
 Ms. Parker, a graduate of Floydada High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Parker of Floydada.

Prior to her appointment at Rio Vista, Ms. Parker was Associate Administrator of Patient Care Services at Sierra Meical Center. Her responsibilities included overseeing the departments of Nursing, Dietary, Environmental Services, Nurse Recruitment, Staff Development and Nursing Quality Assurance. She has received the corporate outstanding Nurse Executive award in 1991 and 1993. Ms. Parker received her M.S.N. from the Texas Women's University and her B.S.N. from West Texas State University.

In addition to her many operational responsibilities, Ms. Parker also serves on the Board for the El Paso Humane Society and Hospice of El Paso. She holds affiliations with the El Paso Council of Nurse Executives, the Advisory Committee for the University of Texas at El Paso School of Nursing and the Women's Health Foundation.
 Ms. Parker is the first woman CEO for Rio Vista Rehabilitation Hospital, a 100-bed facility which offers comprehensive physical rehabilitation services for residents of West Texas, New Mexico, Mexico and Arizona.

Parker's accomplishment is noteworthy not only because she's one of few women in a male-dominated profession, but also because of the strides she's made in her career, said Alice Gordon, vice president of patient services at Providence Memorial Hospital.

"Basically, I don't think being female holds you back. You have to make things happen in your career," Parker said.
 "By knowing your staff, you understand more of their concerns," she added.
 Another helpful factor is Parker's nursing background, which helps her understand the hospital's day-to-day operations as well as the administrative end of running a health care facility.

Chester McDonald, medical director at Rio Vista, said the board thought Parker was the logical person for the job because of her clinical and administrative experience.

"It had more to do with her track record. She's a strong leader, and she's very knowledgeable," McDonald said.
 And her overall goal is in line with the hospital's mission to help patients, he said.

 FLOYDADA—Well, Guess What? I made another mistake. Last week I reported that Winnie McNeill had broken her hip. Her name is really Winnie Neil. I'm so sorry Winnie that I had your name wrong. I do hope you will forgive me. Hopefully you are improving and can be home soon.

 Another guest was Cody Dillinger of Canyon, who ate lunch with Melton Harrison. Mr. Dillinger used to live here a few years ago.

Charles Tyer is home after having gall bladder surgery. He is feeling great. Glad you are recovering so quickly.

Margaret Holmes and her sister, Mary Burgett of Garland, were at the center, Monday, Jan. 30, for lunch. Mary plans to be here a couple of weeks.

The center would really appreciate you calling by 10 a.m. if you plan to eat lunch. The other day they had 10 people who did not call and it really puts them in a bind because they prepare for those who do call in. Thank you for your cooperation.

News is real short this week. "Seniors" if you have company or go somewhere, please call me. We have out-of-town ol' timers who look forward to reading this article so they will know what's going on in Floydada and are able to keep up with their friends.

Travis Parr is home after being in the hospital and nursing home. We pray he will continue to get stronger so that he and Thelma can start coming to the center each day.

John Key and Madge West's great-grandbaby is very ill. Please pray for them during these stressful days.

Please remember to go visit, send a card or call to check on your friends who are in the nursing home, retirement home, in the hospital, who are ill and at home, who are on chemo or radiation, undergoing treatment. We have so many who used to be regulars at the center who no longer can be there anymore. We do miss you. I started making a list and it was growing so large I was afraid to tell you who they all were for fear of leaving someone's name off the list. We do want you to know we do miss you.

Thought For This Week: I found this poem and thought it would be a good thought to start a new year.

AT YEARS END
 The old year ends, a new begins
 With pages clean and new;
 And what is written on each page
 Will now depend on you.

You can't relive the year that's past,
 Erasing every wrong;
 For once a year — or day — is spent,
 It is forever gone.

But don't give up in dark despair
 If you have failed some test;
 Seek God's forgiveness and resolve
 Henceforth to do your best.

Resolve each precious day to do
 Things good and kind and pure;
 Though days and years may pass away,
 Those things shall still endure.

You know not where your path may lead
 Nor what's beyond the hill;
 But know your God walks at your side,
 If you but do his will.

All things are possible with God,
 Though days be bright or dim;
 So do your best and know that you Can leave the rest to him tandem drive motor grader equipped as specified by the county at $121,000.00 per machine. Trade-ins were valued at $59,452.00 and $63,002.00, making the two new machines $61,548.00 and $7,988.00 each after trade-in or a discounted total of $114,213.00 to be paid at time of purchase if buying two machines. Guaranteed maintenance was placed at $1,500.00 per machine for 5000 hours or five years, whichever comes first. Guaranteed repurchase amounts were placed at $93,000.00 per machine after five years to form a total cost bid of $22,213.00 per machine. Buy back figures were also listed for each year from six to ten years with the ten year buy back figure being $61,000.00.

The West Texas Equipment bid stated the selling price of Caterpillar 140G motor graders as $125,032.00 per machine and allowing $6,000.00 and $38,000.00 for the two trade-ins, making the cost of the two new machines $89,032.00 and $87,032.00 ($176,064.00 for both) to be paid at time of purchase. Guaranteed maintenance was placed at $1,500.00 per machine for 5000 hours or five years, whichever comes first. Guaranteed repurchase amounts were placed at $97,500.00 per machine after five years to form a total cost bid of -$6,968.00 on one machine and -$8,968.00 on the other machine. Buy back figures were also listed for each year from six to ten years with the ten year buy back figure being $61,000.00.

Commissioners voted unanimously to deny an appeal for public assistance by Becky Hernandez. Motion was made by Gilroy and seconded by Bearden.

According to Judge Hardin, Hernandez applied for help this month in paying her electric and water bill of $42.00. She was denied assistance under the county guideline which says a family of four is not eligible for help if monthly income is over $600.00. Hernandez's application listed herself and three children with income of $706.00 from food stamps ($430.00), AFDC ($226.00), and child support ($50.00).

Hardin told the court that the family had been helped in 1992 and 1993, but was denied help in 1994 due to income guidelines. He added that public assistance applicants are routinely asked if they have gone to other sources of assistance such as Caprock Community Action or SOS for help because the small county program is a source of last resort.

Hernandez told the commissioners that she felt the county was wrong to deny her help because "Food stamps aren't money. I can't use them for anything but food and they should not count as income. You have the money and that is what it is for, to help people in need," said Hernandez. "I need $42.00 to pay my bill this month."

She also told the court that in addition to her own children, she had a nephew and 2 nieces living with her so there were really seven in the family. When asked by Commissioner Gilroy if the parents of the nephew and nieces were helping her, Hernandez replied that her brother was in jail.

Commissioner Jones suggested that she might have had a more valid appeal had she listed her entire household on the application if there were seven people living in her home. He added that she might be able to reapply in light of that information.

Other items on the agenda were:
 ... Virginia Taylor was appointed to the Floyd County Library Board on a motion by Commissioner Taylor, seconded by Commissioner Bearden and approved by unanimous vote.

... Mary Shurbet, the recently installed County Treasurer, was authorized to be the correspondent with the Texas County and District Retirement System. The duty had previously been that of retired treasurer Glenna Orman. Motion for the appointment was made by Gilroy and seconded by Jones. All voted in favor.

... An agenda item to appoint a local health authority was passed as Judge Hardin stated he had been unable to locate a person to appoint.

... Fourteen farm work contracts were approved by the court. Precinct 1 had four requests including: #1495 at a site 1/4 mile south of Sandhill to clean out waterway for soil conservation by Charles Holmes; #1508 for Louis Pyle to level a fence row for soil conservation 5 miles south and 12 miles west of Floydada; #1506 at a site 12 miles southwest of Floydada to build terraces for a pivot sprinkler system for Paul Willis; and #1504 for Steve Trowbridge at a site 3 miles east and 2 miles north of Petersburg to level a terrace for soil conservation.

Precinct 3 had one contract for Winnie Beedy by Eugene Beedy to fill waterway for sprinkler system at a site 2 miles north, 5 miles east and 1 mile south of Floydada. Precinct 4 had two contracts, the first, #1505 for Travis Jones, to remove a bench terrace to install sprinkler system at a site 10 miles east and two miles north of Floydada and #1507 for Pyle Grain by Louis Pyle to level a fence row for soil conservation at Lakeview Gin. Contract #1498 did not specify the precinct, but called for filling in low areas for soil erosion by Boyce Mosley at a location 7 1/2 miles north of Lockney on FM 378 (east side of road).

Precinct 2 had six contracts including: #1496 located 5 miles south of Lockney on FM 378 (south side of road) to fill in wash out with silt dirt to prevent erosion, by Eddie Teeter; D. K. Jackson requested pushing over trees to put land back into cultivation 1/2 mile north of FM 2286 on FM 2301 (on east side of 2301); #1493 for Olaga Miller Truett Trust by Warren Mathis to push over trees for sprinkler system 1/2 mile east of FM 2301 and 3/4 mile south of FM 2286; #1942 1/2 mile west of Barwise and 1/4 mile north to push over trees and dig sprinkler system for Kenneth Gregg; #1499 to dig pit and cut off well casing, cap casing and fill pit and clean off area for sprinkler system for Klausung & Long by Joe Cunyus at a site 1 1/2 miles west of FM 2301 and 1/2 mile south of FM 2286; and #1497 to dig a pit and push in old improvements to put land into cultivation for Charles Huffman at a site 2 1/2 miles west of FM 378 and 2 1/2 miles north of FM 2286.

Vegetables are topic of meeting

By Jonelle Fawver
FLOYDADA—Homebuilders FCE Club met January 24 in the home of Gladys Widener. Roll call was "What is your favorite vegetable" and reading recipes they liked by five members.

Recreation was a Hidden Vegetable Puzzle of 32 different vegetables to find. Secretary Gladys Widener, read the minutes from last meeting and they were approved as read. Gladys also gave the treasurer's report with reporting the state dues and Aubrey Russell Scholarship contribution were paid to council treasurer.

Murl Mayfield gave the council report from January 12th meeting. She also reported that Mildred Fuqua had moved to Abilene.

Lillian Smith gave the program on "Is it true what they say about vegetables?" Mrs. Smith said that the USDA Food Guide Pyramid recommends we eat 3 to 5 servings of vegetables daily. Vegetables contain fiber, complex carbohydrates and many essential vitamins and minerals. She discussed discovering and exploring different vegetables such as artichoke, the part to be eaten is from the immature flower bud. Bok choy resembles the American swiss chard. Chayote is a pear shape with texture between a cucumber and a zucchini. The Jicama is a tuberous root with crunchy white flesh and a touch of sweetness. There was also Kohlrabi, tomatillo, Belgian endive, celery, plantain and spaghetti squash.

Lillian gave hints on cooking (do not overcook), seasoning and flavoring our vegetables and making our own low-fat, low-sodium condiments, salsa and salad dressing.

Attending were Barbara Willis, Murl Mayfield, Jonelle Fawver, Lillian Smith and hostess, Gladys Widener.

Our next meeting will be a joint meeting with Harmony FCE on February 13 in the council room with agent, Melissa Long giving the program.

Whirlwind Basketball Report

By Bill Gray

FLOYDADA--Dimmitt's Derrick Thomas led a balanced scoring attack, along with a pressing defense, as the Bobcats opened the second half of District 2-3A action with a 74-51 victory over Floydada at Graves Gymnasium on January 27. The "Winds are yet to post a district win in the 1995 campaign as their season mark drops to 10-15. The Bobcats improve to 5-1 in district play and are 14-13 for the year. Dimmitt's only district loss was to district leaders and state-ranked Shallowater.

The Whirlwinds kept it close in the early stages, but after several Floydada turnovers, Dimmitt's transition game produced 8 straight points to propel the Bobcats to a 20-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. A 21-4 Dimmitt run in the second period gave the visitors a 41-16 halftime lead. Dimmitt's bench strength enabled the Bobcats to add to their commanding margin after intermission. The "Winds outscored the Bobcats 23-21 in the final period.

Floydada sophomore Vernon Cooper led all Whirlwind scoring with 18 points. District scoring leader Zack Abshier was held to 15 points (8 under his per-game average). Abshier also pulled down 12 of Floydada's 29 total rebounds and blocked a pair of shots. Other Whirlwind scorers were Pete Cooper 5, Sammy Rodriguez 5, Michael Palacios 4, Peter Luna 3 and Chad Hinkle 1.

Dimmitt's collapsing 2-3 zone completely throttled the Whirlwinds' inside game. When Abshier is shut down on the inside, Floydada's offensive attack is virtually stymied. Abshier attempted only 12 field goals (he hit seven 2-pointers), which is eight attempts under his per-game average. As a team, the Whirlwinds hit 50% of their 2-point attempts. However, they connected on only 3 of 13 from 3-point range. Their total average from the floor was 43%, compared to almost 60% by the Bobcats.

BILL'S NOTES

The Whirlwinds continue having trouble in trying to capture their first victory in district play. District 2-3A is one of the stronger basketball conferences in Region I. In all likelihood, Shallowater should win the district going away, but the Mustangs still have to play at Dimmitt, where the Bobcats have lost few league games in the past 15 or so years. It would be of no surprise for Shallowater and Dimmitt to battle it out at the Region I tournament for a berth in the Class 3A State Tournament. Of course, Graham and Seminole may also have a say as who makes the trip to Austin.

The Whirlwinds continue to play well...they are just outmanned. Floydada had good basketball talent, but just not enough (only 7 were suited up against Dimmitt). All the players are to be commended for the efforts they put forth. Individually, Zach is having a banner year, and is a sure bet for All-District honors. In fact, his stats in scoring and rebounding could very well draw some All-State recognition.

Coach Merket's system is a good, solid one. As younger players move into high school, the victories will come. The teamwork and cooperation is very evident. When some of the developing talent is added to those fundamentals, the Whirlwinds will be able to compete with the best that the district can offer.

Lady Horns sink Olton Fillies

By Lisa Mosley

LOCKNEY--Boosted by eight three-point shots, four of which came from the hands of sophomore guard Deborah Ballejo, the Lockney Lady Horns upped their second-round record to 3-1 after a 50-36 win over the Olton Fillies on Tuesday night.

Other Lockney players who added three pointers were Tamarah Burson (2), Randi Jo Henderson (1) and Nicole Emert (1).

Led by Dede McCarty (19 points) and Ballejo (18 points), the Lady Horns overpowered the Fillies from the opening buzzer with McCarty, who pulled in 13 rebounds, dominating the boards.

In other district action last week, the Lady Horns beat Morton 50-36 and suffered a 36-50 defeat at the hands of the Abernathy Lady Lopes.

McCarty, scoring 20 points in each game, also pulled down a total of 23 rebounds.

Senior, Lisa Vargas, coming back to play for the Lady Horns in the second round, added 9 points in the Morton victory.

Lady 'Winds Basketball Report

By Edd Henderson Jr.

FLOYDADA--Games played from January 24, through January 30.

VARSITY

FLOYDADA 61
LOVINGTON, N.M. 60
January 24

The Floydada Lady Winds took a night off from District 2-3A play to travel to Lovington to take on the Lady Cats from Lovington, New Mexico and defeated them by a score of 61 to 60. The Lady Winds scored in double digits in all four quarters but had to fight off a tremendous individual performance by Sheri Lenard of Lovington who scored 29 of her team's 60 points.

The Lady Winds had three players in double digits in scoring with Dana McCandless leading the way with 19 points followed by Christi Hale with 14 points and freshman Marty Herrera with 12 points.

Floydada jumped out to 9 point lead at the end of the first quarter behind the three-point shooting of Christi Hale and Jamie Crow and the 6 for free throw shooting of Lyndi Probasco and Marty Herrera.

Lovington never regained the lead after that point but fought back throughout the second and third quarters to trail by only 5 points at the end of three quarters. During that same time frame the Lady Winds inside combination of Dana McCandless and Lyndi Probasco got into foul trouble as both players carried 4 personal fouls to the final stanza.

The last quarter was very physical as Lovington continued to feed their 5-11 post player Sheri Lenard and she drew the final fifth foul on both Dana McCandless and Lyndi Probasco early in the fourth quarter.

Floydada's lead never got above 4 points in that final quarter as the Lovington Lady Cats tried everything they could to pull a come-from-behind victory. Lacy Golithly hit two pressure free throws to apparently put the game away with less than a minute to play but the Lovington Lady Cats were not through yet.

They picked up a quick basket after Golithly's successful free throws to cut the margin to one and they gambled on fouling the Lady Winds in hopes of getting the ball back one last time. The strategy almost worked as the last free throws by the Lady Winds were unsuccessful and the Lady Cats got the ball back with 8 seconds to play and trailing by only one point. But the work horse for Lovington all night, Sheri Lenard, could not convert her last eight-foot jump shot and the Lady Winds picked their first victory in over a month.

The victory improves the Lady Winds season record to 7-16 for the year and 0-5 in district play.

DIMMITT 78
FLOYDADA 37
January 27

The Lady Bobbies of Dimmitt showed why they are state ranked in Class 3-A girls basketball as they defeated the Lady Winds from Floydada by a score off 78 to 37. Dimmitt limited Floydada to only 9 first-half points while scoring 36 of their own and handed the Lady Winds their sixth district loss of the season.

Dana McCandless led the Floydada scoring with 16 points followed by Jamie Crow with 8 points.

The loss drops the Lady Winds season record to 7-17 and 0-6 in district play. The Lady Winds next action will be at home against the Friona Squaws on Friday, February 3.

Lockney Longhorns hit paydirt in overtime wins

By Lisa Mosley

LOCKNEY-- If the Lockney Longhorns could get paid for all the overtime spent on the court, they might be minorly rich young men.

But for the coaches and fans, a nice, relaxing lead that lasts the entire regulation time period would make watching the game much less nerve-wracking.

The Horns have been forced into overtimes in three of the last four district games they have played.

After beating the comeback Hale Center Owls on the 20th in OT, the Horns faced the Abernathy Antelopes on January 24th in a game that could play heavily in the Horns chance at going into the playoffs.

"Abernathy was really trying to keep Jared (Mosley) from getting the ball," said Coach Rodney Dowell. "Devon (Phillips) recognized that he was going to have to step up and shoot."

And that's just what he did. Phillips pushed the ball down the court, putting in 25 points and making 4 assists.

Abernathy trailed in the game until a final long inbound pass with four seconds left was complete to Justin Barton who hit a two-point shot to tie the score at 42-42.

But the Horns set the pace in overtime after scoring first on the opening tap from Mosley.

"Once we scored first in OT, I knew our kids would win," said Dowell. "Charles Van Zandt made a big rebound that he put back in that helped us in the overtime."

"I'm so proud of all of these kids... you just can't imagine. But we also have to keep ourselves focused on the big picture - the playoffs. I think they really want to go bad and I hope we reach those dreams."

Helping the Horns to a 50-46 victory were Mosley (15 pts., 18 rebounds, 5 steals, and 5 blocked shots), Van Zandt (6 pts., 5 rebounds), and Shannon Veal with 7 rebounds.

Trailing 33-30 at halftime against Morton, the Horns once again appeared to be fated for a tight contest.

But a 21-point scoring run by Mosley in the third quarter gave the Horns some breathing room, and a final 78-64 victory.

"We really started out slow and I was worried," said Dowell. "But I guess the guys are just testing me, because they came on strong when it really counted."

Mosley led the team with 44 pts., 14 rebounds, and 6 blocked shots.

As if the first three games of the second round weren't exciting enough, the Horns once again played nip and tuck against the Olton Mustangs in their fourth outing.

Leading at halftime by fourteen, Lockney appeared to be headed for an easy victory.

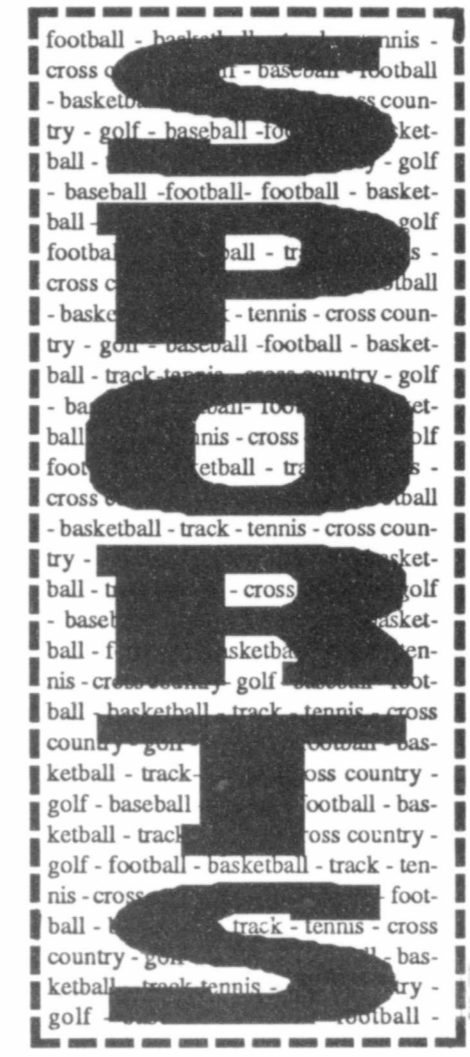

But the Mustangs had other plans and as the final minutes ticked off the clock, Olton sank enough points to tie the game and force the Horns into overtime for the third time in two weeks.

But the Horns once again proved dominant in overtime play, pumping in eight points to gain a 74-69 victory.

Four Horns scored in double figures: Mosley with 28 points, Phillips with 15, Veal with 14, and Van Zandt with 11.

As the Horns face their final four district opponents, they know that a victory in each game gets them one step closer to making their dream a reality.

And you have to admit, knowing that the Horns are 5-0 in overtime play this season shows just how far this team has come to be able to keep their wits about them and give it all they have when it really counts.

Lady Shorthorns end on winning note

By Lisa Mosley

LOCKNEY--In junior high girls action, the Lockney Lady Shorthorns proved to be too much for the Hale Center Owlettes to overcome in their final game of the season.

The seventh grade Lady Horns gave a great team effort as nine players helped score to gain a 32-24 victory.

"Our team played well, worked together, and kept their heads," said Coach Lisa Schumacher. "They are a great bunch of girls with great attitudes."

Scoring for Lockney were: Courtney Cummings 3, Meredith B. 2, Nicole Mosley 4, Christina 3, Brooke 4, Allyson 2, Tessa 7, Kristen 4, and Susie T. 2.

The 8th grade team finished their season with a 40-32 win over the Owlettes compiling a season record of 8-4.

Kassidy H. led the scoring with 13, followed by Dana M. 9, Ysenia 5, Michelle 4, and Veronica 1.

Austin Notebook

By Senator Tom Haywood

With murder trials on television, lawsuits a topic on "Oprah," and a rising enrollment at law schools across the country, Americans have become very familiar with the phrases, "I'll see you in court" and "So sue me!" It seems every time the news is on, we hear about outlandish settlements like the woman who was awarded $2.7 million after she spilled hot McDonald's coffee in her lap and sued the restaurant because the beverage was too hot and caused minor burns. These cases have become commonplace in our society and are, unfortunately, an everyday part of our lives.

These cases certainly make good stories, but behind those stories are some very real problems - problems that are hurting you and hurting the state of Texas in countless ways.

One way these frivolous lawsuits, like suing McDonalds over hot coffee, hurt you is by clogging the court schedule, preventing honest citizens with real injuries from reaching the courts and settling their cases.

Another way is by driving up the cost of liability insurance, both for business and for you. That $2.7 million wouldn't come from McDonald's profits, you know. It would come from their insurance company, and the insurance company would get the money from our premiums.

Further, these lawsuits often raise the cost of consumer products. Because businesses like restaurants and manufacturers and entertainment establishments have to spend more money protecting themselves, they are forced to raise the cost of a Big Mac or a pickup truck or a movie ticket. Again, this ends up costing you, the consumer, as well as hurting the businesses. All it takes is one frivolous lawsuit to force a small enterprise to close its doors.

Finally, these lawsuits cost Texans jobs. New businesses and industries are reluctant to move to Texas or expand their current operations. It is far less risky to set up in another state than to take a chance at rising costs of liability, high settlements and other damages. It is much more prudent for them to take those hundred or thousand or ten thousand new jobs elsewhere than to risk the uncertainty of the Texas courts.

These problems are a reason that changes in lawsuit procedures, or "tort reform," has become a major issue for the legislature this session. I have personally co-authored several bills in the hopes of curbing frivolous lawsuits and making the Texas court system more evenhanded and consistent.

One possible reform that I and other legislators have suggested is to limit the monetary amount of punitive damages, or money awarded for things other than expenses. For example, if your automatic garage door malfunctions and smashes the hood of your car, the court may ask the manufacturer to pay actual damages - the cost of repairing your car - plus punitive damages, an additional amount as "punishment" for their product's malfunction. By limiting punitive damage awards, there is far less chance of a multi-million dollar settlement and less incentive to bring a frivolous case to court in the hopes of "hitting the jackpot."

Do these reforms mean that ordinary, honest citizens will no longer be compensated if they are hurt? Absolutely not. No one is trying to take away your right or the right of any Texan to sue for damages (actual and punitive) if you are injured because of another's negligence or malice. You will still be entitled to payment for hospital bills, property damage, loss due to fraud, and so on. Additionally, you will still be able to collect punitive damages. Further, your access will actually improve as reform reduces the numbers of suits being heard and frees up the court's busy schedule.

The objective of tort reform is not to limit your rights or deny you protection as a consumer. The purpose of tort reform is to level the playing field and to make the system work for all of us by stopping the abuse of the system.

I hope you share my belief that we need to put the "just" back in Texas justice and that current tort reform legislation is the way to do it. Together with groups like North Texans Against Lawsuit Abuse, I have really worked to put this legislation on the fast track. That forward momentum was recently strengthened when Governor George Bush declared the issue an "emergency," giving the legislature clearance to consider and vote on legislation at a faster than normal pace.

I'm confident that some type of tort reform will pass and be enacted this year. Please let the legislature know how you feel about stopping frivolous lawsuits and lawsuit abuse. By working together on this and other important issues, I think we really can make a difference for Texas.

"A CALL TO PRAYER"

We are living in very difficult times. Problems abound on every hand. It seems that everyone is hurting. People are hurting physically, for sickness abounds on every hand. Families are being destroyed by the pressure they are under. Others are hurting emotionally and mentally. Discouragement has become a very great problem.

There is a moral decline that has affected our lives in a spiritual sense. It has even affected our churches. Somehow we must see deliverance and revival come to our lives and the churches of our community.

This deliverance and revival I am writing about are best brought about through prayer. "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sins and heal their land." (2 Chronicles 7:14).

The prophet Jeremiah said:

"Oh that my head were waters, and mine eyes a fountain of tears, that I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people!" (Jeremiah 9:1).

"Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew the great and mighty things which thou knowest not." (Jeremiah 33:3).

WE MUST RESPOND TO GOD'S INVITATION TO CALL UPON HIM!

In light of this, I have issued a "Call to Prayer" to the congregation of First Assembly of God in Floydada. For the month of February we will be setting aside designated times for prayer. We invite you to join us during these times. Through the combined prayers of individuals in our community, we will see a break-through.

If you have a prayer request that you want us to pray about with you, please call 983-6111 or send your request to: First Assembly of God, P.O. Box 268, Floydada, Texas, 79235.

May God bless each of you.

Love,
Pastor Mitchell

Tax Changes in 1994

People should be aware of some of the tax law changes for 1994 that could make a difference on the bottom line of their tax return.

The standard mileage rate for the cost of using one's car for business miles is up a penny to 29 cents per mile. And for business travel away from home, people can't deduct the travel expenses paid for someone accompanying them, such as a spouse, unless that person is an employee, has a specific business purpose for the travel, and would otherwise be allowed to deduct the travel expenses.

For those who work and have qualifying children, the earned income tax credit amount will increase. The amount a person can earn and still be eligible for the credit will increase, too. No longer available will be the health insurance credit and the extra credit for a child born during the year.

The earned income tax credit expands to include people who work but don't have any qualifying children. They can file for the credit using Form 1040EZ. However, people with qualifying children must use either Form 1040 or 1040A.

Also in 1994, Social Security and equivalent tier 1 railroad retirement benefits may be taxed at a higher rate. Some people may continue to include up to 50 percent of their benefits in taxable income, while others may have to include up to 85 percent. Whether the new 85-percent rate applies depends on a person's income.

Beginning in 1994, people who make a charitable contribution of $250 or more must get written documentation from the charity before they can deduct it. Also, any charity that gets a payment over $75 that is partly a contribution and partly for goods or services must give the donor a written statement, giving the value of the goods or services and stating that only the amount over that value is tax deductible.

Some work-related moving expenses are no longer deductible. They include meals while moving from the old to new home; travel expenses, meals and lodging for pre-move househunting trips; meals and lodging while staying in temporary quarters near the new job; and qualified home sale, purchase and lease expenses.

Also, to deduct allowable moving expenses, the new main job location must be at least 50 miles farther from the former home than the old main job location. This changed from 35 miles.

Moving expenses will no longer be an itemized deduction. People will be able to deduct these expenses in figuring their adjusted gross income. And they can only deduct the expenses that are not reimbursed by their employer. Employer reimbursements are not included in income.

Starting in 1994, people can deduct only 50 percent of the cost of business meals and entertainment expenses. And there is no longer a deduction for dues and fees for membership in clubs; although people can still deduct specific business expenses, such as meals, that are spent at a club if the expenses meet certain requirements.

Luxury taxes on aircraft, boats, furs and jewelry were repealed. However, for 1994, the luxury tax does apply to passenger vehicles with a sales price over $32,000. The tax does not apply to parts and accessories installed to help a person with a disability operate, enter or exit the vehicle.

Perry discusses future of agriculture, property rights

AUSTIN — Texas agribusiness must respond to changing times, whether that means developing new products, conquering overseas markets or lobbying to protect private property rights. Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said while speaking to the Texas Agricultural Irrigation Association Convention in San Angelo.

"This is an exciting time for agriculture, but also a crucial one," Perry said. "Agribusiness is vital to a strong Texas economy as we head into the next century. I'm also convinced that if Texas agribusiness does not grasp the opportunities presented by the evergrowing global economy, other states will—and we'll be shut out. During my next four years as agriculture commissioner, I intend to work hard to help Texas get its share of the global market."

Perry said agribusiness has been guilty of being reactive instead of proactive. He said farmers and ranchers have often taken for granted that consumers understand that irrigation and pesticides are essential to providing abundant, safe, affordable food and fiber.

"Consumers are not getting the message, and they are the ones who control the market through their buying choices. They are the ones who believe stories spread by environmental activists and lobby Congress for tougher laws and regulations that restrict agriculture. They are the ones who don't understand that farmers in Uvalde and Medina counties need water from the Edwards Aquifer as much as the people in San Antonio do.

"One of the common complaints in the battle over water rights is that 'farmers use too much water.' We know that water goes into raw products, which consumers buy as processed goods. But the message is not getting through to them. We've got to find a way to bridge the knowledge gap between producers and consumers."

Perry said farmers and ranchers must be willing to use the courts to fight for rights just as other groups use them to restrict private property rights. He said they must also lobby elected officials and talk directly to other parties involved in disputes to find a solution. He cited the recent plan for the California Sacramento Delta estuary which protects the estuary while providing a reliable source of water to farms and cities. This plan drew praise from state officials as well as representatives of business, agriculture and environmental groups.

"This is the only way we'll come up with real solutions — the people who have to live with the regulations sitting down to figure out how everybody can be taken care of. No politicians, no lawyers, no Sierra Club presidents. No rhetoric or political agendas, just honest talk and workable solutions."

Legislation will likely be introduced both in the Texas Legislature and in the U.S. Congress to provide more protection for private property rights, he said. A bipartisan effort in the Texas Senate, led by Lt. Governor Bob Bullock and Senators Teel Bivins, Ken Armbrister and Bill Sims, will produce a private property bill. In the House, there may be several versions of a bill.

"While there's a lot of talk about defining 'takings' and when to compensate, probably the easiest way to achieve equity in environmental regulations is to require cost-benefit analysis. Let's ask what are the full and complete public and private costs of each new law and regulation? What probable benefit will we get from these dollars? And then let's follow up and make sure that regulations are doing what they were supposed to do."

USDA releases details on sign-up dates and estimated deficiency payment

By Shawn Wade

More details about the 1995 cotton program were released by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) on January 25 according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers. PCG officials note that the two most important pieces of information announced were sign-up dates for the 1995 cotton program and the announcement of an estimated upland cotton deficiency payment for the 1995 crop.

USDA is still seeking comments on several other items, including the amount of the estimated deficiency payment to offer in advance to growers and which crops will be allowed to be planted on ACR and Conserving Use (CU) acres. Final announcement of these provisions will come at a later date.

Sign-up dates for the 1995 program will begin January 30 and run through April 28. Producers need to remember that purchase of crop insurance is required for 1995 program participation. Deadlines for purchasing crop insurance are earlier than those for program sign-up.

Crop insurance deadlines are March 15 in most U.S. growing regions, including the High Plains of Texas. Producers and landlords alike should be sure to purchase at least the minimum catastrophic cover level of insurance before March 15 if they want to participate in any 1995 commodity programs. Failure to purchase at least the basic coverage level will mean they are ineligible for all program benefits.

Catastrophic insurance is available to producers for a processing fee of $50 per crop up to a maximum of $200 per county. In cases where a farmer has limited resources the processing fee may be waived.

Crop insurance rules apply to both primary and alternative crops for which crop insurance is available. Producers and landlords should be sure and find out exactly what they are required to do in order to follow the loss of their primary crop with an alternative crop and remain in compliance with program regulations.

"The changes that have resulted from the passage of crop insurance reform measures last year make it imperative for producers to get themselves up to speed on how the new rules will affect them," explains PCG Executive Vice-President Donald Johnson.

Also announced on January 25 was a change in the 1995 price election for Upland and ELS cotton insurance policyholders. The Upland cotton price election was increased 9 cents per pound and the ELS cotton price election was increased 10 cents per pound. For High Plains cotton producers the new price election is 62 cents per pound, up from the earlier rate of 53 cents per pound set in October 1994.

Earlier announcements from USDA set the Acreage Reduction Program (ARP) at zero percent for 1995, meaning producers will be able to plant all of their cotton base acres to the fiber crop but receive deficiency payments on 85 percent of those acres.

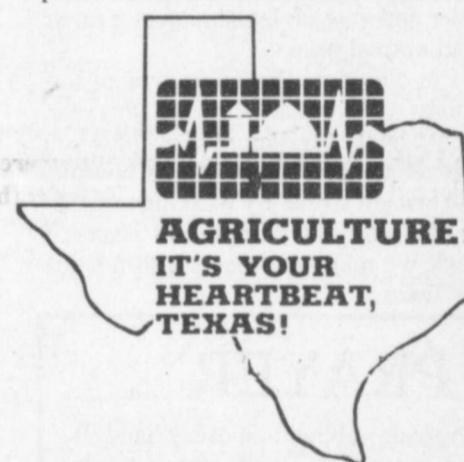

Also announced earlier were the 1995 Upland cotton Loan Rate of 51.92 cents per pound and the Target Price of 72.9 cents per pound.

Lockney band students are noteworthy

LOCKNEY—Eleven high school and middle school students earned the right to represent Lockney in the region and area honor bands.

Kaci Mathis, bass clarinet, and Leigha Wood, baritone saxophone, auditioned in December for the Association of Texas Small Schools Bands' Region 16 Band. Not only did they make Region but they qualified to go to Area. In January they traveled to Sundown where they competed against the top students from five regions for the privilege of advancing to the State ATSSB Band. Though placing very high, neither advanced. The Region Band concert was held in Brownfield on Saturday, January 21, and was directed by Keith Bearden of Texas Tech University.

On January 16, thirteen Lockney High School Band students auditioned for the Region 16 TMEA A-AA Region Band. Nine students made the band with one as an alternate. These were Tiffany Ellison, clarinet; Mandy Gallaway, alternate percussion; Janet Jones, clarinet; Allison Mangold, clarinet; Coby Marr, trombone; Eric Martinez, trombone; Kaci Mathis, bass clarinet; Gloria Torrez, clarinet; Marcy Vasquez, clarinet; and Leigha Wood, bari sax.

Tuesday, January 17 three middle school students tried out for the Middle School C-CC Region Band. Dominic Guerrero qualified for the band on trumpet. This past weekend all the region bands met and rehearsed at Coronado High School in Lubbock and each presented a concert on Sunday afternoon. Band Director Carroll Rhodes stated that these students are to be commended for obtaining this level of performance.

In addition he was very proud of all who competed, even though they did not place, for they learned valuable skills in the process.

THROUGH THE HALLS

Only the Strong Survive in '95

By Jennifer Harbin

ZACHA HARRIS
 FLOYDADA--One of our Senior Spotlights is Zacha Harris, daughter of Franklin and Dixie Harris, and sister of Tate Harris.

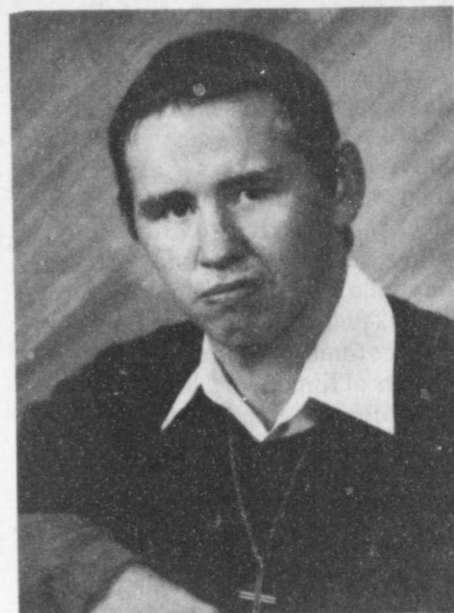

During high school, she has been involved in DECA, FFA, and Flag Corp. Her favorite class is Pre-Cal, because Mr. Lockwood teaches it. Trips taken with Ag, DECA, and Band are some of her best memories. Zacha's most embarrassing moment is the time her flag got caught on her skirt and she mooned the fans from the other town at a football game.

If she could change one thing she would have taken school more seriously and would have worried less about what other people thought. Teachers who truly care about the student and the closeness of a small school will be missed most.

If Zacha could go anywhere, she would go to Australia and take her closest friends.

She feels her mother is her dearest friend, because she is always there for her no matter what she has done. She also admires her Sunday School teacher, Jenni Sue Smith, because she has taught her to always stand up for what she believes and to never give up. These two people are very special people, who Zacha will always love and respect. Zacha's future plans are to attend South Plains College this summer and then transfer to Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos in the fall. She'd like to major in Dentistry and someday have a small family after college.

BRIAN NICHOLS
 Our second Senior Spotlight is Brian Nichols, son of Curtis Ray and Betty Sue Nichols. In high school, Brian is involved in DECA, FFA and Student Council. His favorite class is Algebra II with Mr. Lockwood, because he inspires everyone to follow their dreams.

If Brian could change one thing, he would have made more friends, but he will miss the ones he did make. One of his most embarrassing moments is Brian dancing solo at the prom last year. Some of his best memories of high school are of going to the arena with his "buds" and seeing their smiling faces.

Brian has many close friends, who he has been through a lot with, and admires them for keeping him laughing.

If he could take a trip, he would take the senior class on a year long vacation in Hawaii.

After graduation, he plans on attending South Plains College for two years and then transferring to Texas Tech University. Brian is interested in computer sciences and would like a job programming and repairing computers.

Someday he would like to have a family, if he finds the right girl. Brian's motto is, "If you're gonna live life, live it wild and crazy."

KELLY BAILEY
 Another senior spotlighted is Kelly Bailey, daughter of Glenn and Sandy Bailey. Kelly is active in NHS, DECA and tennis. Although Kelly's favorite period is lunch time, her favorite teacher is Mr. Lockwood, because he has taught her more than she ever thought she could learn.

Her lasting memories are her best friends, because she has had a lot of good times, in and out of school, with her fellow seniors. Kelly is going to miss her friends, who are going to college across state.

If allowed, Kelly would take a trip to a fun and exciting beach and take her closest friends.

Next fall, Kelly plans on attending South Plains College and becoming an executive with her own air conditioned office.

Some words from Kelly are, "The only regrets you have in life are the risks you never take."

Appliances beneficial in saving water

These days, water shortages in various parts of the United States are reminding everybody just how precious each drop of fresh water really is.

But what can the average consumer do to conserve water? The following simple steps can help you save water when washing dishes or doing laundry:

Dishwashers
•If you own a dishwasher, use it! Washing dishes by hand takes up to 43 percent more water than washing with a standard-size automatic dishwasher.

•Avoid pre-rinsing. Many dishwasher owners still rinse dishes before loading them, even though today's highly efficient dishwashers are designed to remove food particles from dishes, filter them out of the water and flush them away. So while pre-rinsing doesn't get dishes any cleaner, it does use up to 70 percent more water.

•Use a single-wash cycle whenever possible. Lightly soiled dishes don't require a cycle with two washes, which are usually reserved for heavily soiled items.

•Load dishes carefully. To get the best cleaning results (and prevent re-washing), be sure dishes aren't blocking the detergent dispenser or spray arms. Check to see that heavily soiled items are positioned face-down to get the full force of the water action.

•Wash only full loads.

Clothes Washers

•Use only enough water to allow clothes to move freely and get clean... no more.

•Consolidate loads, if possible. Washing two small loads uses an average of five gallons more water than combining them into a single large load.
