New Miss Floydada to be crowned Saturday

New crowns will be handed out to the 1995 court of Miss Floydada and her princesses, during the annual Miss Floydada Pageant, February 11, at the

Floydada High School auditorium. Five young ladies will vie for the title of Miss Floydada

Eight girls, ages 10-13, will compete for the Junior Miss title. Five girls, ages 7-9, hope for the Little Miss crown and seven 3-6 year olds will compete for the Tiny Miss crown.

Miss Floydada contestants include: Lacy Golightly, Misti Delle Cochran, Amy Garcia, Tiffany Hinkle and Jamie McGuire.

Misti Cochran is the 15 year old daughter of Sudy Cochran. Misti says her hobbies are "having my friends over, listening to music and talking about boys." She also collects music boxes and wants to be an anesthesiologist someday.

Misti also said she thinks the advantage of living in a small town is that there is not as much violence and gang activity as there is in a bigger town.

Lacy Golightly is the 16 year old daughter of Dayne and Penny Golightly. She is involved in cheerleading, basketball, cross country, FFA and Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Lacy would like one day to be a law-

Amy Garcia is the 17 year old daughter of Vincent and Vickie Garcia. Amy likes to play basketball, baseball, volleyball and enjoys working with others.

Amy would like to be a professional model and feels a small town advantage is knowing everyone and getting help when you need it.

Tiffany Hinkle is the 16 year old daughter of Joe and Tanya Hinkle. She enjoys showing pigs, leadership activities, judging contests and being with her

She would like to be a veterinarian one day. Small town advantages for Tiffany are knowing everyone and not having to worry about air pollution.

Jamie McGuire is the 15 year old daughter of Jerry and Jodie McGuire. She is involved in UIL, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and athletics.

She would like to be a physical therapist or a nurse. She feels the advantages of living in a small town are growing up feeling safe and secure and knowing "if you ever get in trouble you wouldn't have to look far for help.'

Junior Miss Contestants are: Trisha Coursey, 11 year old daughter of Roger and Sara Coursey; and Jenifer Dudley, 10 year old daughter of Cindy Jefferies and Darrell Dudley;

Jessica Gilly, 10 year old daughter of Mark and Lori Gilly; Crystal Riojas, 12 year old daughter of Balentine and Sara Rioias; and Sommer Stevens, 11 year old daughter of Beth Stevens;

Heather Ware, 11 year old daughter of Dale and Vicki Derryberry and David and Eunice Ware; Lindsey Whitten, 10 year old daughter of Randy Whitten and Kelli Wright; and Ruth Ann Vasquez, 12 year old daughter of Ricky and Ilda Vasquez.

Little Miss contestants are: Kia Baker, 8 year old daughter of Dorcus Williams; Katy Gooch, 7 year old daughter of Dennis and Tonya Gooch; Meghan Graham, 7 year old daughter of Scott and Debra Graham; Marla Reeves, 7 year old daughter of Mike and Stacy

WE LOVE YOU, MOMMY! Katrina Gooch of Floydada is given early Valentine cards and kisses by her three daughters, Cassidy (left) and Camaray (right), five-year-old twins, and LaShay, age 4. Valentine's Day will be officially celebrated on Tuesday, February 14.

FISD Board sets public forum for comment on proposed gymnasium

FLOYDADA -- Residents of Floydada Independent School District will be offered the opportunity to voice their opinions concerning the proposed building of a new gymnasium in Floydada. The subject is on the agenda of the regular February session of the board on Thursday, February 9, at 7:00 p.m.

The board will be holding the meeting in the cafeteria of A. B. Duncan Elementary School in order to provide adequate seating space for those wishing to attend. All interested parties are urged to attend and voice their feelings on the subject. All who want to speak will be asked to place their name on a speakers list.

School board extends principal contracts

FLOYDADA — Following nearly four hours in executive session, the Board of Trustees of Floydada Independent School District approved extensions and salary increases for most of the current administrators. Motion for the action came from board member Mitch Probasco and was seconded by Don Hardy. Voting in favor were Probasco, Hardy, Charlene Brown, Steve Lloyd, John Campbell, and Trena Simpson. Billy Joe Villarreal was not present at the meeting, therefore did not

Contracts for Athletic Director Bryan Davis, Administrative Assistant Jimmie Collins, FHS Principal Joe Christian, R. C. Andrews Elementary Principal Ellen Enriquez, and A. B. Duncan Principal Bobbie Weir were extended for a two salary increase.

The contract of Alternative School Principal Dick VanHoose was also extended for two years. He was given a $3,000.00 salary increase on the recommendation of the governing board of the Alternative School. Representatives from each school district participating in the school serve on that board.

Special Education Director Sheree Cannon received a two year extension on her contract, but had requested that she be given no salary increase at this time. The board honored her request.

The board accepted the resignation of Eddie Sneed, principal at Floydada Junior High. He will leave the district at the end of the current school year.

The FISD Board will meet in regular session on Thursday, February 9, at 7:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend. Among the items to be discussed is the proposed construction of a new gymna-

Time for each speaker will be determined by the number of persons who want to comment on the proposed project.

FISD trustee election announced

FLOYDADA - The first day to apply for a place on the ballot for the Floydada Independent School District Board of Trustee Election this spring is Monday, February 20, 1995. The deadline for applying for a place on the ballot is Wednesday, March 22, 1995. Application may be made at the FISD Brown At-Large.

Four DECA students win 1st at District

By Regina Ware DECA Reporter

FLOYDADA--Six Floydada High School DECA members competed in the District Career Development Conference at Monterey High School in Lubbock Jan. 30 and 31.

Four placed first in their categories. These were Michael Molinar in Food Marketing, Danika Dudley in Quiz Bowl, Zacha Harris in Hospitality and Tourism Marketing, and Kelly Bailey in General Marketing.

Ray Tinney's witching stick making believers of water seekers

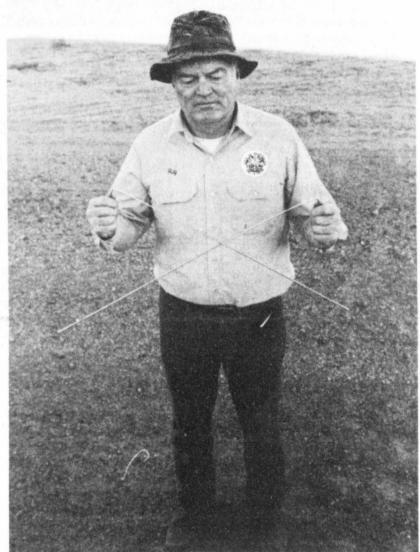

By Alice Gilroy

The name "Water Witching" conjures up images of an individual empowered with supernatural abilities finding water with the help of a magic stick. A local "water witcher", Ray Tinney, says, "There is no trick to it. Ninety percent of the people can find water with a 'witching stick!" Tinney should know—he has been finding water since he was 10 years old.

"I learned the trade from my grandfather, Malcom Ward," said Tinney. "I don't know who he learned it from.'

According to Tinney there is nothing mystical or magical about the art of witching. "Some people have made it look mystical and some stories have reported it that way-but all it amounts to is static electricity," said Tinney.

"Your body acts like a battery—it contains electricity. You see the effect of the electricity in your body when you comb your hair and it stands straight up or when certain things cling to you. Some clothes, such as nylon or rayon, attracts static electricity. When you are carrying the witching rod the water is the negative field which causes the rod to turn down.

"I don't know why it works like it does-I just know that it works." said

Tinney also doesn't know why a peach tree limb (which is what his grandfather used) or a willow limb will turn down to the water. "The peach limb will work well for you until the sap dries up," said Tinney. "If it is old or dead the limb won't bend."

Tinney has quit using the peach tree or willow limbs for his witching sticks because, "You can get in trouble cutting off people's peach tree limbs. Besides—peach trees are hard to come by.'

A Floyd County native, Tinney started getting serious with his water witching in 1959 after he came home from the Marine Corps. "I was working on a farm and my boss needed water," said Tinney. "So I found him a good irrigation well. Then I found his neighbor a good 6" well. Then I found another neighbor a 4" well.

"The 4 incher got mad at me," laughed Tinney. "He figured I should know what kind of water was down there. I asked him how he thought I would be able to tell something like that. He told me to compare the wells I had found and learn how it felt.

"So that is what I started doing. Every time I would find water I would run back and forth from one well to another and compare the 'feeling' I was getting through my brass rods. After several years I got that down."

According to Tinney the trick is in the brass rods. "I started using brass rods because I can tell from the pressure on the levers what kind of water is there. I can tell you if it is a 2, 4, 6 or 8 inch well, but I can't tell you how deep

To find water, Tinney holds the brass rods in each hand parallel to the ground, with the curved 'handles' clasped between his thumbs and first finger. He rubs his thumbs across the 'handle' to create friction and then starts walking. When the stream is found the rods will cross very easily.

"I hold them pretty tightly," said Tinney, "to keep to rods from crossing too easily and also so I can feel the pressure." "The pressure" is the key ingredient for Tinney's success. It is this knowledge of what he is feeling in the rods which has kept him very busy on the South Plains during this drought.

His fame has spread by word of mouth through satisfied customers. The Lake Mackenzie Water Authority recently requested Tinney's help in finding well water at Lake Mackenzie. "I walked the whole side," said Tinney, "and I couldn't find anything except windmill water (2" or less).

"Just to test me they took me to an area where water had been found while someone was looking for oil with a seismograph. They turned me loose to see if I could find the water the equipment had found-and I did. It was a very deep body of water but the problem is that it is a salty mineral type of water. It would have to be treated, so it was no good for Lake Mackenzie well water.

"After that test and they saw I wasn't a fake, the City of Silverton requested I try and find some wells for them. "I couldn't find any water where they asked me to look so they started taking me to wells they already knew about. "They were testing me out," laughed Tinney. "That's OK-I enjoy being

"After I started telling them what the wells were they started believing me. Continued On Page 2

One of the fun things about this job is the interesting people you get to meet. This week my cup overflowed when I got to know Ray Tinney, of Floydada, a little better.

I had no idea he was so interesting, or so sincere, or so much fun!

The feature story I wrote on water witching was a lot of fun.

Now you folks can go ahead and laugh about this stuff. I did before I met

My husband was already a believer. He had told me about a man in Lockney who he had seen water witching and I told him he was nuts. The biggest reason I had my doubts was because of everything I had seen on TV concerning the "magic" behind it. Or else some guy had to pray to some Voodoo or Indian god before he took off with his stick to find

That all made me very skeptical—and those people deserved to be treated with skepticism. Ray Tinney is another matter-you will never meet a more honest or sincere man.

He let me take the witching stick after he had found the water and guess what—the rods crossed for me too!!! I didn't even have to chant or do an Indian rain dance. I just held on to them. Anyway—reserve your skepticism until you meet and talk to the man. He isn't driving through on a covered wagon ready to soak a dry desperate town of all it's money and then leave in the middle of the night!

Remember Proposition 187 in California? Remember that those who were opposed to it said that Proposition 187 supporters were motivated by racism.

The Mexican government is seeking a commitment from Pres. Clinton to fight Prop. 187. But you know what-the Mexican government needs to turn their attention to a country whose immigration laws are tougher than ours. That country:

*Deported 60,000 illegal immigrants from its southern border in 1994 alone. *Subjects deported immigrants who return illegally to a ten-year prison sen-

*Levies heavy fines on tourists who overstay their visas.

*Requires public hospitals to ask patients if they are legal residents; if the answer is no, the hospital is obligated to report offenders to immigration offi-

*Requires school age children to provide a birth certificate before being allowed to register for classes.

*Does not allow foreign spouses of legal citizens to work.

You want to know who that country is? It's Mexico!

Then they took me to other areas and I did find them two 5" wells. The engineers are very happy with them."

Tinney understands there are plenty of skeptics about water witching. He enjoys showing people how it works and letting them hold the rods and watching them cross over the streams.

"I really enjoy finding house wells for people," said Tinney. "Very often the place people sink their wells will be close to the deepest part of the stream but not right over it. Their house wells may run dry and they will think they are out of water on their land-but they aren't. Sometimes the direction of the stream has changed which also causes the well to run dry.

"I can find the streams again and I can find the deepest body of water on their property. There is no mystery to it (water witching)—it is a very natural part of nature. It is something God has given all of us.

Ray was born and raised in Floyd County. He has been married to his wife, Kay, since 1960. They have one son, Danny, who currently lives in Prague,

At one time, Tinney was a crop duster. A bad plane crash in 1969 ended his spraying career. "I was spraying with malathion when the plane crashed and exploded. I was engulfed in a ball of flames and received 2nd and 3rd degree burns over 50% of my body before I could get out of the plane.

"They didn't know how to treat such bad burn victims in Lubbock at that time. No one expected me to live but I knew God had other plans for me or he wouldn't have gotten me out of that plane.

"My wife told me after I recovered that either me or the plane was going to have to go-so the plane went."

Tinney has now made water his livelihood. Not only does he help find water in his spare time he also works full time as a water technician with the City of Floydada. In fact it was the Floydada City Manager, Gary Brown, who recommended Tinney to the Mackenzie Water Authority.

"I don't understand it," said Brown, "but I know it's not a hoax. "I know he has found country water for various farmers, and when they dug where he told them to dig-they found water in the amount he estimated "I've also seen him find water lines in city alleys and streets when we were looking for leaks and the lines weren't on the city maps. Tinney says he knows there are dishonest water witchers out there but he hasn't met any and he doesn't really know how to warn people how to spot the con men. "My grandfather told me if I couldn't say anything nice about someone, don't say anything at all."

Ray knows there will always be people who don't believe in his trade and sometimes it hurts a little bit. "I understand people who are skeptical and I know it's just because they don't understand it and because of the way "water witching" has been portrayed in stories as being magical. I will not ever hold it against anyone who doesn't believe me because I don't criticize people for

"There are lots of things in this world that I don't understand, but just because I can't see them or touch them doesn't make it any less real."

Floydada Police Report

Police Chief James Hale contributes the recent success of finding a Floydada runaway to the help of a local citizen.

According to Hale, on January 25 a fourteen year old girl was taken to school by her aunt. The juvenile never attended classes and did not come home.

Police received several report of where she was staying but were unable to find her there. "On February 2," said Hale, "a local citizen saw the girl and called the police. He held her until police could get there. We really appreciate his efforts."

According to Hale, charges are pending against a 17 year old male for Harboring a Runaway.

January 27, at 11:13 p.m., police arrested Jill Suzanne Gfeller, 18, for outstanding traffic warrants out of Amar-

February 6, at 7:00 p.m., police served a search warrant on a house after receiving a tip that beer was being unloaded at a residence in the 400 block of W Grover. "The raid netted 8 cases of beer," såid Hale.

Police also arrested Alicia Jasso Coss. 44, for Possession of Alcohol for Re-

Courtroom Activities

In county court, February 2, 1995: A January 25, 1995 theft charge against Vella Acy was dismissed. A October 18, 1994 Theft charge against Craig DuBois was dismissed.

Sergio Luis Guerrero, 20, of Floydada, pled guilty to a September 9, 1994 DWI charge. He was fined $200.00 and sentenced to 45 days in jail. He must also pay court costs.

Hall Daryl Mason pled guilty to a January 27, 1995 charge of Possession of Marijuana. He was fined $300.00 and sentenced to 3 months in jail which was probated for 9 months. He must also pay court costs.

A January 16, 1995 Theft charge against Tim McWilliams was dismissed.

BALLOON LIFTS OFF FROM SOUTH PLAINS--The red and black hot air balloon "Raider Ryder" that took Mamie Wood for a ride on her 80th birthday is owned and piloted by Keith Anderson and his support crew, Mary Anderson and Daryl Anderson of Lubbock. The balloon is the only one in the area with a triangular basket. It holds 88,000 cubic feet of air and it takes 37 million BTU's of heat to lift it off. The crew has won many awards in competition and they have flown internationally in Mexico as guests of the president of the state of Chihuahua. Anderson stated that they are regulated by the FFA and must conform to their rules. Money raised by renting the balloon is donated to the Boy Scouts and other organizations.

AND AWAY WE GO--Mamie Wood of South Plains awaits the lift-off of the hot air balloon she took a ride in on her 80th birthday. Arrangements for the ride were made by her children Glen Wood and Juanell Teague as a part of her birthday celebration. Balloon owner and pilot, Keith Anderson, along with Glen Wood, soared several miles north of South Plains before landing. Mrs. Wood stated that she was so excited, "I have wanted to ride in one of these all of my life and it was just perfect."

The chapel of Trinity Church in Lubbock was the setting for the wedding of Amanda Jo Plank of Lubbock and Jerry Miller of Floydada. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Pastor Paul

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.E. (Pete) Plank of Hillsboro. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Miller of Floydada. Grandparents of the bride are Faye Plank and the late Earl Plank of Dalhart and Gladys Masters and the late Charlie Masters of Hollis, Okla. Grandparents of the groom are Charlie Alkire of Amarillo and the late Ethel Alkire.

A large floral arrangement in a silver wine cooler was featured on the piano. Two tall brass, seven branch candelabras holding ivory tapers framed this arrangement. These were flanked by two tall spiral brass candelabras each holding 16 ivory tapers. Tailing grapevine and a drape of ivory net was fastened to each candelabra with a large burgundy velvet bow. A kneeling bench centered the arrangement.

Pews were marked with burgundy velvet bows to which were attached an arrangement of forest green eucalyptus with sprigs of milo, wheat and a cotton

Candles were lit by Eddie Miller of Amarillo and Randy Whitten of Floydada. Linda Savage of Lubbock played a selection of wedding music. Darrell Bateman and Michelle Kennimen, both of Lubbock, sang "Sunrise, Sunset."

The bride wore a formal ivory peau de soie wedding gown that was worn by her mother. It featured a basque waist; elbow length sleeves and a scooped neckline which was outlined with seed pearls. Embossed lace appliques re-embroidered with pearls and sequins covered the bodice and sleeves. The straight formal length skirt and chapel train featured a scattering of pearl beaded lace appliques. Embellishments were all hand sewn by the bride.

A four-tiered shoulder length veil of ivory bridal illusion featured a pouf and a head band of ivory silk flower, pearls and sequins. The veil and pew bows were made by the bride.

The bride carried a cascade bridal bouquet of ivory roses and Queen Anne's lace with satin and lace ribbon. Handkerchiefs from her maternal and paternal grandmothers, the groom's mother and the bride's mother were fastened to the back of the bridal bouquet.

Coins minted in the birth years of the bride and groom were worn in the bride's shoe. Something old was her bridal gown, something new was her bridal veil. For something borrowed she wore the blue garter her mother had worn at her wedding.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. Following the wedding ceremony the couple took communion at the kneeling bench as the vocalists sang "How Beautiful."

Pamela Plank of McAllen served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Julie Plank of Hillsboro, also sister of the bride. The attendants wore knee length burgundy velveteen gowns. They were cut on a princess line and featured a square neckline and elbow length sleeves. The bouquets they carried were of stargazer lilies, burgundy roses and ming fern, tied with gold ribbon.

The groom, his attendants and the father of the bride, wore black tuxedos, white pleated shirts, black ties and cummerbunds.

Rob Everett, Floydada, served as best man. Groomsman was Kelly Warren of Claytonville. Ushers were Eddie Miller, Amarillo, and Randy Whitten, Floydada.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table had a three-tiered ivory Italia cream cake. It was topped with two golden wedding bells. The groom's German chocolate cake featured cotton boll icing. Both tables carried out the bride's colors of emerald green and burgundy. Coffee, punch, nuts and assortments of finger foods were served by Kate Magri, Sarah Case, Donna Sims, Sherri Warren, La Shay Everett, Kelly Clark and Tami Fanning. Gerallyn Osborn presided at the guest register.

Following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the couple is residing in Floydada.

Saturday, Feb. 11, is our monthly Senior Citizen luncheon. Please bring a dish and be at the center by 11 a.m. If it is really bad weather we will not meet. My phone number is 983-3194 if you have a question.

Dorothy Reeves has just returned from a month-long trip to Tennessee to visit her grandson, Ray Evans and family. Ray is the son of Alyne and Ronald Evans. Dorothy had a wonderful trip. They did a lot of sightseeing.

Jim and Margarette Word went to Hereford Thursday, Feb. 2, to visit with Margarette's sister, Ella and Cecil Oglesby of Hereford and a sister, Lizzie Mae Reynolds of Amarillo. We ate lunch at the senior citizen building at Hereford and I saw Ruth Fortenberry there. She was so glad to see someone from Floydada because she used to live in the Cedar Hill Community (she still has a son, Durrell living there) but now lives in Hereford. She told me that she faithfully reads my article each week. Through this weekly article she is able to read about what her friends are doing and she asked me to please continue writing as she looks forward to reading it each week - so seniors - please let me know your news because so many outof-town subscribers can keep up with you. It helps them to feel a part of our community. Visiting Ruth Harrison Thursday evening were her son, Jerry Bob and his wife, Jerrie of Lubbock. Other family members joined them at the El Rancho Restaurant for a family get-together.

FLOYDADA -- Residents of Floydada Independent School District will beable to voice their opinions concerning the proposed building of a new gymnasium in Floydada. The subject is on the agenda of the regular February session of the board on Thursday, February 9, at 7:00 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the cafeteria of A. B. Duncan Elementary School to provide seating for those wishing to attend. All interested parties are urged to attend and voice their feelings on the subject.

Anyone who wants to speak should sign in. Time alloted for each speaker will be determined by the number of persons who want to comment on the proposed project.

GST PROCESS DEMONSTRATED -- Rita Mann has been practicing an FHA project, It's O.K. To Be Different," at Lockney Elementary. Her project focuses on how different people see, feel and act.

Mann practices teaching project at elementary LOCKNEY - For a week Rita Mann means to go up to someone you don't so that you can see what you have in

has been practicing her FHA Star Events program at Lockney Elementary School. She is working on her project, "Focus On Children", in preparation for the Star Events competition. The competition will be held March 3-4 during the FHA Region I Leadership Conference in Amarillo.

The topic of Mann's project is "It's Okay To Be Different" and focuses on how different people, see, act and feel. She used a unique lesson each day with each lesson telling something different. One very important detail was that she tried each day to remind the children of the G.S.T. process. Each letter represents a different part in meeting new and different people. "G" stands for "go" and

REGINA WARE

FLOYDADA--Our first senior spotlight this week is Regina Ware, daughter of Dale and Vicki Derryberry and David and Eunice Ware of Lorenzo. Regina has been involved in FHA, band for three years, flag corp for three years, NHS, 4-H president, UMY, and one-act play, since she's been in high school. Regina enjoys spending time with friends, rodeos, dances, and country music. Her favorite classes in high school are Pre-Cal with Mr. Lockwood and Biology II with Coach Holcombe. One of Regina's memories of high school will always be freshman initiation. She thinks she'll miss all her friends and teachers when she is gone, but mostly she'll miss walking down the hall and seeing friendly faces she knows. If allowed the chance to change anything from the past four years, she would have taken her freshmen, sophomore, and junior years more seriously.

If Regina could take a trip anywhere, she would go to Paris, France, and take her boyfriend. She would also take a friend, who has helped her through many tough times. Someone who has been an influence on Regina is her Papa, Neal Smith. She realizes what a wonderful person he was and all the people he made a difference to.

After graduation, Regina hopes to attend West Texas A&M University in Canyon and major in pre-physical therapy. Then after college she would like to pursue a job in physical therapy, specializing in pediatrics. She'd like to help children recover and teach them to respect themselves no matter what ails them.

A word of advice from Regina, "An hour lost today can never be gained tomorrow. Live life to the fullest, don't wish your life away. This may be the only shot you have.'

JAMIE CROW

Our next senior in the spotlight this week is Jamie Crow, daughter of Sue Crow. In school, Jamie is involved in DECA, basketball, and golf with her favorite teacher being Mrs. Crabtree.

She enjoyes having fun with her friends, playing basketball and playing golf. Jamie admires her mother, because she is understanding about things, even if they are not good.

If she could go anywhere, she would take her boyfriend somewhere relaxing and have a good time.

Next fall, Jamie plans on attending South Plains College and gaining an Associates Degree in Legal Assistance. She would later like to work for a law firm as a paralegal. In the future she would like to have a wonderful marriage and a family.

JONI SMITH

Joni Smith is our third senior in the spotlight. She is the daughter of Victor and Stacey Smith. Joni has been active in band as twirler and drum major, oneact play, UIL accounting, basketball, FCA, Junior Board of Directors for First National Bank of Lockney, and Sr. Class

Some of her best memories of high school are of decorating for the Jr.-Sr. Prom till four in the morning and snow skiing with her friends her freshman year. Joni's favorite class was British Literature last year, because her class was so small. Her favorite teachers are Coach Merket and Mrs. Kennedy.

One of her most embarrassing moments is stepping over the chairs at a basketball game and falling in front of everyone. She will miss going out on the weekends to My-T-Burger and making the drag with her friends.

If she could take a trip anywhere, she would go alone to the Cayman Islands. People that Joni admires are her parents, because they are good people and they both work hard. They always manage to put up with her and be patient at the same time. After graduation Joni plans on attending Texas Tech University and majoring in accounting. She wants to work for a corporation and become a corporate accountant and someday get married, but doesn't see any children in her Joni's motto is, "If you want something done right, you gotta do it your-

PROUD OF OUR CHURCH

Recently my friend Rick Van Giesen, a pastor from Carmi, Illinois, listed reasons why United Methodists should be proud. Our church is:

1. A church in which a warm-hearted, personal experience with Jesus Christ is central in preaching, teaching, and outreach.

2. A world-wide church upon which the sun never sets.

3. The only church in the United States that has a local church in every community with population of 10,000 or more.

4. A church that is open to all people. It has more Native American and Asian American members than any other. It is second in number of Hispanic members. It has more African American members than several other denominations combined

5. A church that owns and operates more colleges, children's homes, homes for the elderly, and hospitals than any other.

6. A church that owns and operates the oldest and largest church-owned publishing

7. A church that cares about people who are hurting. It feeds a million children every day. Within hours of a natural disaster anywhere in the world, it is there through the United Methodist Committee on Relief to provide aid and love. It provided $10.3 million for flood relief in the Midwest last year and $9.3 for other UMCOR emergency relief efforts.

8. A church that gives more beyond the local church to benevolences per member

9. A church that seeks to work with other Christians. It holds membership in more ecumenical associations than any other and has continuously initiated efforts in church union for the last 100 years.

I'm proud to be your pastor,

Clark

FOR TEENAGERS! (And Their Parents)

The video series by James Dobson 'LIFE ON THE EDGE" will be shown during February - March - April

These tapes are very direct and deal with ANSWERS to problems teenagers face today.

The tapes will be shown in an informal setting in the fellowship hall. Refreshments will be served afterwards.

We recommend the videos for kids in grades 7-12. The videos are directed to teens, but parents will benefit from them. Parents of 6th graders should review the videos before sending their children. Younger children should wait a year or two.

SCHEDULE FOR VIDEO TAPES. . . . . . 6:30 p.m.

February 12 "Finding God's Will For Your Life"
February 26"The Myth of Safe Sex"
March 19 "Love Must Be Tough"
March 26
April 9 "Emotions: Can You Trust Them"
April 23 "When God Doesn't Make Sense"
April 30 "Pornography: Addictive, Progressive and Deadly"

You Are Invited and Encouraged to Attend!

Cotton offtake projected trend, the U.S. cotton industry should enjoy its highest offtake of cotton ever — 20.4 million bales — in the 1994-95 (August-July) marketing year.

Offtake is the combination of domestic textile mill use and exports of raw

That forecast and an equally encouraging projection of a 19.8 million bale U.S. cotton offtake during the 1995-96 marketing year were included in an economic outlook provided in Washington, D.C., recently to delegates at the National Cotton Council of America's annual meeting. The report was presented by Council economists Dr. Mark Lange, Jess Barr and Kevin Brinkley.

The projections are for 11 million bales of domestic mill use and 9.4 million bales of exports in the current marketing year and 11.3 million bales of mill use and 8.5 million bales of exports in

"The growth in cotton spinning productivity and demand for cotton-rich products will spur U.S. cotton mill use to another post World War II record next year of 11.3 million bales," Brinkley

Brinkley said that over the past 12 years cotton's share of the U.S. fiber market has increased from 31 percent to 40 percent and total bales of cotton consumed at retail has increased from 6.7 million bales in 1982 to 16 million bales in 1994.

"Only a few products in the U.S. can boast of such a growth rate," Brinkley said. "This places cotton in the league of computers and home electronics."

A major factor in that growth is that U.S. mills used 7 million bales in 100 percent cotton products in 1993, up dramatically from just 2 million bales in 100 percent applications in 1982.

Brinkley noted that the changing production misfortunes of China, India and Pakistan have made them significant net importers of raw cotton. Coupled with a draw down of foreign cotton stocks further solidifies the U.S. position as the world's preeminent cotton supplier.

"If supplies from the U.S. are available, the foreign world could be expected to attempt a further rebuilding of (cotton) stocks in 1995, supporting even larger U.S. exports," Brinkley said.

Brinkley said the importance of world trade today is illustrated by the fact that in 1994-95 the U.S. will export more of its cotton, both raw and processed, than will be consumed domestically. One rea-

In contrast to a 26-year downward son for that is the U.S. will export more than 2 million bales in value-added cotton products, such as yarn and denim fabric.

> In his report, Barr noted the total supply of U.S. cotton has been more stable and at a higher level since the 1986 implementation of the marketing loan program for cotton, which was part of the 1985 farm law. He said the trend in U.S. cotton production is upward as production has remained above 15.5 million bales for the last five years, a record, and culminating in a record crop of 19.7 million bales in 1994.

> The Council's 13th annual planting intentions survey, which Barr conducted, revealed that total 1995 upland cotton acreage will be 15.4 million acres, 13.8 percent above 1994's area. Extra long staple acreage will decline 2.3 percent to 165,000 acres.

> Using the 30-year trend/line of yield per harvested acre, Barr said a reasonable U.S. production estimate for 1995 would be 20.1 million bales. Combined with a beginning stock projection of three million bales provides a total supply of 23.1 million bales.

> 'In spite of this record production outlook, lower beginning stocks are expected to mitigate any increase in cotton supplies and result in a 1995 total supply slightly below 1994's level," Barr said.

Barr said this year's cottonseed supply, however, is estimated at 8.55 million tons, roughly 500,000 tons above 1994's estimated supply and a modernday record.

In a macroeconomic outlook, Council Economic Services Director Lange told delegates that the U.S. experienced the greatest increase in employment and highest growth rate in gross domestic product since 1984, but long-term growth prospects are dimmed by continuing annual federal deficit pressures.

"Proposed paths for deficit reduction pose serious difficulties for legislators," Lange said. "While supporters of various approaches towards reduced federal deficits wish to avoid spending cuts for particular programs, exempting any budget item from sharing responsibility places a tremendous burden on the remaining programs.

"Budget implications will play a major role in shaping the upcoming farm bill debates in the months ahead and all of agriculture will be called on to ensure that agriculture is treated fairly in the deliberations regarding spending and deficit reduction targets."

Commissioner of Agriculture As the world becomes more competitive and the marketplace more global, agriculture, just like every other business, must adapt to rapidly changing technology and changing consumer de-

To help Texas meet the challenges of the 21st century, I've created the Industry Development Division at the Texas Department of Agriculture to identify these changes and determine ways the Texas agricultural industry can take advantage of and profit from the new opportunities the vast world market pre-

Agriculture provided the foundation that built Texas into the state it is today. Though fewer people may be actually working the land, agriculture is no less vital to our economy today. Agriculture doesn't just include farmers and ranchers, it encompasses everyone each step of the way from the farm to the retail

Agriculture plays a significant role in the health of our state's economy. It is our second largest industry, providing a job for one in every five Texans and generating more than $40 billion annu-

But beyond the economic consideration is something we can never forget - agriculture produces the essentials of life. As long as people need food, housing and clothes, they will need and depend on agribusiness.

As the world population rises so will the demand for agro-consumer products. The fastest growing economies in the world are in countries and regions with either large or fast growing populations. As incomes in these countries rise, people will want improved quantity and quality in their diets, wardrobes and housing, which will have a huge impact on the demand for agricultural products. It's been estimated that the world population will triple the demand on farm resources in the next 50 years.

We'll see more specialization as countries produce commodities which they have the comparative advantage to produce. The United States has the climate, cropland already in production and infrastructure to help meet the increased demand for food and fiber.

Texas, in particular, has everything it takes to provide a large share of both raw and processed goods. However, we must increase value-added processing to bring more jobs and revenue into the state. We process too few of our raw products, and in this competitive world we can no longer afford to send those jobs elsewhere, especially when we have everything a processing business needs.

Our diverse climate and soils allow us to produce a variety of crops. We offer low energy costs and a young, growing population that will be the work force of the future.

But bodies are not enough. We must commit to training this work force for the jobs industry will have. A recent study indicates that one-half of college graduates will move into positions that are international in scope and activity. We must listen to what businesses need in a work force and teach accordingly.

In addition to natural resources and a growing work force, Texas has a geographic advantage - in the middle of the booming Sunbelt market and the gateway between the industrialized United States and our developing neighbors to the south.

But our great global potential will not be met if we don't market ourselves. Our competition, whether they be other states or countries, is aggressively promoting themselves and their products around the world. These changes are reality - even if we're not comfortable with them. Texas must grasp the opportunities when they present themselves. We must make Texas the most competitive place in the world to do business.

Texas agriculture must be more responsive to consumer demands and more adaptable to market and technological changes. Agriculture must be progressive in developing new products and practices and receptive to new ideas - but steadfast in its commitment to private property rights and responsible stewardship of our land and water.

Agribusiness touches every Texan, through its economic impact and the consumer goods they buy. It is the foundation for economic development across Texas, from our urban centers to our rural communities. Texas agriculture creates jobs and generates growth which pump dollars and economic opportunity back into our heartland.

Texas agriculture is a diverse industry with unlimited economic possibilities and opportunities. Keeping agriculture thriving and on the cutting edge is vital to every Texan.

The promise the land held to our ancestors is still very much alive in Texas and agriculture. Agriculture provided the foundation of our state and remains so as we head into the new frontier of the 21st century.

Senate Week In Review

The Texas Senate convened at 11:00 am., Monday, January 30, 1995. Senate Bill 114, sponsored by Senator Peggy Rosson of El Paso, passed unanimously relating to tuition exemption for veterans and their children. Currently, veterans and children of veterans must show proof of financial need to qualify for tuition exemptions. Senate Bill 114 provides that veterans and their children are not required to demonstrate financial need in order to be exempt from the fees of public colleges and universities.

Also on Monday, Senate Concurrent Resolution 15 was passed by Senator Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth, petitioning the Secretary of Health and Human Services to award the National Domestic Violence Hotline grant to the Texas Council on Family Violence. Currently there is no existing hotline for victims of domestic violence.

On Tuesday, the Senate met and concurred on House amendments to Senate Bill 19 sponsored by Senator John Whitmire of Houston. Senate Bill 19 provides for a 90-day delay of the vehicle emissions inspection and maintenance program. The program was planned to bring Texas into compliance with the Clean Air Act. House amendments added language providing $8.8 million in loans to companies holding emission testing contracts with the state. These loans would come from the Clean Air Fund. Losses would have to be documented by the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission before money is loaned. All loans must be repaid by August 31, 1997.

Other events from Tuesday include a series of personal privilege speeches relating to judicial selection reform in Texas. In a show of support to minorities, 6 members of the Senate voted to delay passage of a local bill relating to courts in Denton County. Senate Bill 240 sponsored by Jane Nelson of Flower Mound relating to creating statutory county and probate courts was the vehicle used for the discussion. SB 240 passed on Thursday.

On Wednesday, the Senate passed the first of the tort reform legislation pending in the Legislature. Committee Substitute Senate Bill 31 sponsored by Eddie Lucio of Brownsville relates to the assessment of attorneys' fees, costs, and damages for certain frivolous lawsuits and defenses. This legislation would allow courts to award additional damages for inconvenience, harassment, and any out-of-pocket expenses incurred. In addition, former House member Elton Bomer was confirmed by the Senate as the Commissioner of Insurance. Bomer was appointed by Governor George Bush for a term to expire February 1, 1997.

Also on Wednesday the Senate convened as the Committee of the Whole Senate with Senator Gonzalo Barrientos of Austin as chair. The meeting was used for a briefing by the Attorney General's office on the status of the court challenge to Congressional districts and the recently filed lawsuit challenging state House and Senate districts.

On Thursday morning, the Senate Economic Development Committee, chaired by Senator David Sibley of Waco, convened to begin two days of public hearings in the Senate Chamber to hear testimony relating to the pending tort reform package. Governor George Bush was the first to address the committee. Hearings reconvened at 1:00 p.m. Thursday and will continue through

The Senate passed two bills relating to domestic violence during Thursday's session. Senate Bill 285 expands the time an abuser can be held for a domestic violence offense after bond has been posted from 4 hours to 24 hours, and Senate Bill 286 clarifies the definition of a spouse in the sexual assault statute and removes antiquated language. Both bills are sponsored by Senator Buster Brown of Lake Jackson.

BBB warns of repair scams

With the warm weather comes all sorts of scams to do repairs and fix-its at your home. Watch out for the salesperson that comes to your door claiming that they were just in the neighborhood and noticed that you need some siding, storm windows, roof or some other improvement.

Watch out for the salesperson that comes to your door saying they had just done some work for your neighbor and has some extra materials that would be just enough to repave your driveway or reshingle your roof.

Watch out for the ad that appears in the newspapers saying "you can get cash fast if you are a homeowner..." What they want you to do is sign papers transferring title to your home and to get it back you must pay a very high and very illegal interest rate.

Just remember these warning signs and be a wise consumer by asking lots of questions and always checking the company out with your BBB first - call

Four to eight inches of moisture needed to bring county soils to field capacity

Floyd County producers within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 service area need four to eight inches of water from precipitation and/or irrigation to bring the five foot root zone soil profile to field capacity before the 1995 spring planting, according to pre-plant soil moisture survey data released by the Water District and the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS).

"We found that six percent of the Water District service area will need from O to 4 inches of moisture to bring the soils to field capacity. About 45 percent of the area will need 4 to 6 inches of moisture, and 48 percent will need 6 to 8 inches of moisture. One percent of the area needs 8 to 10 inches of moisture to refill the soil profile," says Gerald Crenwelge, USDA-NRCS Soil Scienwithin the 1 5-county Water District service area. Each site is chosen based upon the soil type, the variations in the saturated thickness of the Ogallala Aquifer which indicates potential well yields, and typical farming operations in the Plant available soil moisture varies according to the previous crop produced at the site. For example, soil moisture at cotton sites averaged about 0.4 inches at the one foot soil level, 0.3 inches at the two foot level, 0.3 inches at the three foot level, 0.4 inches at the four foot level, and 0.5 inches at the five foot level.

Sites in corn producing areas had about 0.6 inches at the one foot level, 0.6 at the two foot level, 0.6 inches at the three foot level, one inch at the four foot level, and one inch at the five foot

Available soil moisture for grain sorghum and wheat sites was found to be between that of corn and cotton. Grain sorghum sites averaged 0.5 inches at the one foot level, 0.3 inches at the two foot level, 0.2 inches at the three foot level, 0.3 inches at the four foot level, and 0.4 inches at the five foot level.

Wheat producing sites averaged about 0.7 inches at the one foot level, 0.5 inches at the two foot level, 0.4 inches at the three foot level, 0.6 inches at the four foot level, and 0.7 inches at the five foot level.

Generally, each foot of soil has a capacity to hold about two inches of soil moisture, or a total of about 10 inches in the five foot root zone soil profile.

Historical data shows that above-average crop yields are more likely when the five foot root zone soil profile is at or near field capacity at planting.

"We hope the area will receive significant precipitation that will help reduce these soil moisture deficits prior to planting," says Crenwelge. Rain gauge readings taken by Water District staff at the soil moisture sites in Floyd County show 14.26 inches of precipitation during 1994.

Use of furrow dikes will help keep any moisture that falls between now and spring planting on the field so that it can soak into the soil.

The annual pre-plant soil moisture survey data informs producers about general plant available soil moisture conditions across the Water District. "Irrigators can use this information to estimate the amount of water needed to bring their soil closer to field capacity without wasting water by over-irrigating. This information reflects general soil moisture trends and should not be used in place of individual soil moisture testing on farms," says Crenwelge.

Refunds due from advance payments

Higher prices for upland cotton, up 14 cents-per pound from a year ago, means increased income for producers and savings for the taxpayer, according to Grant Buntrock, Acting Executive Vice President of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corpo-

"Strong worldwide cotton demand, combined with poor crops in competing foreign countries, have caused upland cotton prices to rise in a relatively short period of time," Buntrock said. "This results in increased profits for producers that will translate into less cost for taxpayers in deficiency payments."

Deficiency payments are required when the national average price received by producers during the calendar year which includes the first five months of payment at a rate of 1.85 cents per pound the marketing year is below the established target price of 72.9 cents per pound. The payment rate is equal to the difference between the target price and the higher of the calendar year national average market price or the price support loan rate. The 1994 calendar year average price is 68.3 cents per pound, which is higher than the price support loan rate of 50.0 cents per pound. Therefore, the deficiency payment rate is 4.6 cents per pound, which is the difference between the target price and the calendar year price.

Higher prices bring increased income

Advance payments of 6.45 cents per pound were made earlier to eligible producers requesting advance payments. Since the advance payment exceeds the calculated final payment, producers who received advances must refund the over-to the Commodity Credit Corporation. Producers who received advance deficiency payments under the 50/85 and 50/ 92 provisions of the 1994 program do not have to make refunds with respect to acreage subject to these provisions. Producers who did not receive advance payments will receive their final full payment in February.

Refunds of 1994-crop deficiency overpayments are not due until the marketing year ends on July 31, 1995. Producers have the option of offsetting the refund against other program payments due prior to the end of the marketing year. Producers who were overpaid will receive a letter regarding the refund from their local Consolidated Farm Service Agency office in February.

IRS Tips Fuel for farmers

Normally, diesel fuel removed from a refinery or terminal has a federal excise tax imposed on it. But diesel fuel used on a farm for farming purposes is exempt from federal excise tax.

To identify tax exempt diesel fuel, the fuel is dyed either blue or red. Blue dye indicates high sulfur fuel that may be used by farmers only for off-road farming purposes. Red dyed low sulfur fuel may be used by farmers for home heating and in off-road vehicles.

Undyed diesel fuel can be purchased tax free from a registered ultimate vendor. The buyer must give the vendor a signed certificate verifying that the fuel will be used only on a farm for farming purposes. This does not include undyed fuel purchased for use as heating oil or other

Any person or business using dyed fuel in a highway vehicle, selling or using dyed fuel for a taxable use, or willfully altering or attempting to alter the strength or composition of a dyed fuel is subject to penalties. The penalty is $10 for every gallon or $1,000, whichever is greater. After the first violation, the $1,000 portion of the penalty increases depending on the number of violations.

The IRS believes that until persons have become familiar with these new rules, farmers and over the road truckers are in the most vulnerable position for violating them.

Photographer's work on display

A wedding portrait by Floydada photographer Jack Robertson has been chosen to hang on display at a national photographers convention.

The portrait was picked by a "jury" who judged portraits from photographers all over the United States. Robertson had submitted a wedding portrait of Rodney and April Doyle, of Lubbock.

Robertson has been involved in photography for 20 years and has had his own studio in Floydada for 12 years.

The 71st annual Convention of Photo Marketing Association will be held in Las Vegas, Feb. 7-12.

Students named to Tech Honors list

More than 2,900 Texas Tech University students qualified for the academic honors lists at the end of the 1994 fall semester.

Students from Floydada making the President's List include the following: Dina Marie Livingston, a senior majoring in Early Childhood and Christina Lee Potts, a sophomore majoring in Psychology. Students on the President's List must maintain a perfect 4.0 grade point average while enrolled in 12 or more semester hours of classwork.

Floydada students making the Dean's List include: Christy Paulette Benjamin, a Junior Advertising major; Elizabeth Dalene Burns, a Senior majoring in Multidisciplinary Science; Graciela Margarita Cervera, a Senior majoring in Multidisciplinary Studies; and Van Jason Moore, a Senior majoring in Electrical Electronics Tech. Students finishing 12 or more hours with a grade point average of 3.5 to 3.9 qualified for the Dean's List.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to thank everyone for the love and kindness shown during the loss of my sister Joyce Marie Taylor Jelks. Thank you for your prayers, visits, phone calls, flowers, and cards. God Bless each of you.

Iva Jewell Bonner and Family Charles W. Taylor and Family Espernola Fort and Family 2-9p

To all the friends and neighbors, fellow Christians and relatives who have been so kind and thoughtful during our days of sorrow, we appreciate you from the bottom of our hearts. We are thankful for the minister who brought the message, the ones who rendered the music, and to the funeral director for being so kind and helpful. May God bless you.

The Family of Edith Johnston

We want to thank Dr. Stennett and all those who worked in Emergency and helped take care of me before being sent to the Lubbock hospital. Many thanks for the care and kindness that were given me.

Dorothy and A.C. Carthel

Thanks to all my friends and neighbors for their prayers, cards, visits, and the food that was brought in.

It is nice to live in a community where you have friends and neighbors that are so thoughtful. Thanks again

Dorothy and A.C. Carthel 2-9p

After our recent kitchen fire, we were reminded once again of how nice it is to live in a small community. It is truly a blessing to live in a town where there is real compassion and concern for one another. We would like to thank the Postman, Gary Wilson, who discovered the smoke at our home that day. Gary made sure we were contacted and helped us with the fire until the fire department arrived. Special thanks also to our Volunteer Fire Department for all their efforts.

We appreciate all those who stopped by or called to see what was needed. Thanks also to those who brought food to us or helped in

We hope that we will be able to return the kindness to others that was shown to us during the past few days. God bless each one

FHS opens season with baseball drills

FLOYDADA--There will be a number of new faces around the Floydada baseball diamond this year as the Whirlwinds prepare to open the 1995 season later this month. The most obvious newcomers are head coach David Kennedy and his assistant, Craig Cooke.

Kennedy replaces Jimmy Webster, who moved on to the baseball program at Class 3A Devine last fall. Webster was the first coach of Floydada's reorganized program in 1992. The Whirlwinds have had some success during their first three years, but had problems competing against some of the district members who had organized earlier. Shallowater replaced Tulia in District 2-3A, and will field its first baseball squad this year.

When asked to compare his coaching techniques with those of Webster, Kennedy said, "Fundamentally, the kids do things the way I want them done. Some of the drills I'll implement are the same as Jimmy's, which will make the transition easier."

The coach added, "There may be some philosophical differences as far as the style of baseball we're going to play, but I am real pleased with what I've seen so far. I think we can build on that."

Kennedy's father taught for 23 years, and coached for 17 years in various Texas schools (including stints at Adrain, Bovina, Happy, Matador, and Lubbock High School). The elder Kennedy finished his coaching career at Abernathy, where David graduated in

David said, "I guess I always knew I wanted to coach and teach. I was in the working world for six years before going back to college." He graduated from Texas Tech in 1981 and has coached at Hawley and Hale Center prior to replacing Webster this year.

Kennedy didn't play collegiate baseball, mainly because Abernathy didn't have a program during his school days. He recalls, "We were in the same boat as most of the other smaller schools. We had a summer league team and were able to play up until we were 16. When I was in schools (in Abernathy), we had the Big Three - football, basketball, and

Discussing the addition of baseball at area Class 2A and 3A schools, Kennedy said, "Baseball gives the kids an alternative in the Spring. When you look at it program-wide, it gives you more kids involved in athletes. It is important to have youngsters participating in anything in order to build a competitive

The coach pointed out that some athletes will play baseball rather than run track, and some prefer track over baseball or the other Spring sports. Then, there are those who will compete in both

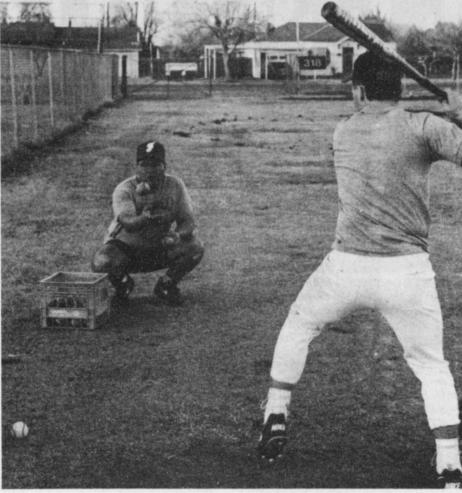

Kennedy stated, "Size or grade classification makes little difference in baseball... what matters are the playing skills. You don't have to be 270 (lbs.) and have the ability to bench 350 (lbs.) in order to play baseball. That gives some youngsters additional opportunities when they are physically unable to play football or basketball - simply because of size."

The coach stressed that baseball is a team sport and should be approached from that standpoint. "However, when the batter is in the batters' box, he is by himself and there are a lot of things he must do as an individual in order to perform for the team," said Kennedy. "That brings out those (competitive) qualities. Likewise, any time a ball is hit to an infielder, it is pretty well-known who needs to make the play. He has to do it as an individual. I think the pressure situations a player gets into in baseball helps him individually in many other areas."

Discussing Floydada's talent pool for baseball, Kennedy said, "We have eleven players returning from a year ago. It's difficult to make a judgement or projection at this point, but the newcomers (freshmen) will have the same opportunities to play as any upperclassmen. Nobody has a position or playing time assured - everything is wide open. The best kid is going to play at the spot I think he ought to be in. There will be chances for those not in the starting lineup to move up to a starting position.'

Kennedy stressed, "You win with pitching and defense. That's where we are going to try to focus." Unlike Webster, in his three years as the Whirlwind mentor, Kennedy should have good depth in the pitching rotation. Angel Alemon, Sammy Rodriquez, and Monty Anderson all have had pitching experience. Newcomer Julian Hernandez should help out in the overall depth of the team. Returning veterans Michael Mercado, Ken Cummings, and Neal Nelson will also be counted on to help form the nucleus of Kennedy's first Whirlwind club.

Improvements continue at Preston Watson Field, including the recentlyinstalled underground sprinkler system. Commenting on the Whirlwinds' superb baseball facilities, Kennedy said, "We had a nice facility at Hawley in my first coaching assignment. However, coming to Floydada I was amazed. The mutual cooperation between the City of Floydada and the school district is almost unprecedented, and the training aids, lighting system, etc., give us one of the best parks for high school baseball in West Texas."

Kennedy said, "The kids take pride in facilities such as these. They feel good to be playing in such a ball park...and, pride is what we need to be successful. I am going to work very hard to carry on the dedication that Jimmy (Webster) gave in getting the facility and the program off the ground."

The Whirlwinds will hold a three-day tournament for a number of area teams in March. Kennedy adds, "And, I hope the first playoff game in the park this year will be hosted by the 'Winds...that's what we're shooting for! we work hard with what we have, we've got more than just an outside shot."

Kennedy's wife, Rita, is a computer teacher at Floydada High School. They have a 3-year-old son and are expecting their second child in May. David said he has already informed Rita, "If there is a baseball game scheduled, and the Whirlwinds are in the playoffs...she would just have to wait." (That's dedi-

LOCKNEY--Lockney scored 48 second-half points to pull away from Hart and win 75-45 Friday night at Lockney

With the win, Lockney improved to 16-11 overall and 5-0 in the second half of district play.

Hart, who had seven players in uniform, fell to 10-14 on the season. Freshman Devon Phillips scored 30 points and Jared Mosley added 26 points and 10 rebounds for the winners. J.R. Lee scored 13 and Dusty Ortiz added 10 for Hart.

Mosley scored virtually at will in the first quarter against Hart's zone defense. Lockney led after one 17-7.

Hart was able to make some outside shots and close the gap to 27-22 at half-

Mosley says he was called for a technical and third personal foul with: 45 left in the second quarter because of talking to the official after being undercut near the Lockney basket.

Mosley was called for his fourth personal foul and was taken out of the game with 5:28 left in the third quarter. Phillips took charge and scored 16 thirdperiod points to boost Lockney's lead to 15 at 53-38.

"It's exciting to have someone else step it up," Mosley said.

Lockney outscored Hart 22-7 in the fourth quarter to seal the victory.

Head coach Rodney Dowell said it is the best feeling he has ever had to have those two playing well.

"I'm on cloud nine," he said. "I'm glad this (season) has happened to Jared -he deserves it."

LOCKNEY--The Hart Lady Longhorns pulled away from Lockney in the fourth quarter to beat Lockney 46-34 Friday night at Lockney gymnasium.

Hart was led by senior post Shea Bennett who had a game-high 16 points. DeDe McCarty had 13 points and seven rebounds for the lady Horns. Lockney coach Ken Housden saw something positive in the defeat. "The kids played hard and that's what we expect," Lockney's short jump shots combined with Hart's trouble with scoring inside gave the Lady Horns a 11-8 lead at the end of the first quarter. During the second period, Hart switched to a 2-3 zone defense. It worked to their advantage as they led 23-20 at halftime. Hart's full-court pressure forced numerous Lockney turnovers in the fourth

"We got a little nervous at the end," Housden said.

Hart also stayed cool down the stretch, not missing a free throw in eight attempts to help them outscore the Lady

The Lady Horns are now 12-13 and 3-2 in the second half of play in district 3-2A.

Muleshoe 75, Floydada 67 FLOYDADA--Muleshoe overcame a 14-point Floydada lead and managed to hold on for a 75-67 victory over the Whirlwinds in District 2-3A action at Muleshoe on January 31. The Mules' won their eighth game of the year against 16 losses and improved to 2-5 in district play. Floydada remains winless in District 2-3A and fell to 10-16 for the season.

Edward Rodriguez (18 points) led the Mules' scoring barrage as three other Mules hit in double figures - Daniel Garbarino 16, Josh Slayden 15, and Jimmy Gauna 11. Floydada's Zach Abshier, District 2-3A's leading point producer, led all scorers on the floor with 21 (15 in the second half). Abshier also pulled down 8 rebounds. Vernon Cooper had a hot hand in the first half as the Floydada sophomore hit for 16. Vernon was held to a single 3-pointer after intermission to finish with 19. Peter Luna also was in double figures with 13

The Whirlwinds jumped to a 24-16 lead at the end of the opening period, and extended the margin to 14 before the Mules rallied midway through the second stanza. An 17-2 run enabled the Mules to knot the score at 37-all at halftime. Although Floydada stayed close in the third quarter, the momentum shifted to the Mules. Muleshoe's transition game, following Whirlwind turnovers late in the fourth period, spelled the difference in the outcome. In the game wrap-up, Coach Hayden Merket expressed his disappointment in the loss. "There were times we played well, but there were other times I can't even explain what was happening," said Merket. "We had a 33-18 lead at one point (in the 2nd quarter). We committed a foul and they made the shot. We didn't block out on the free throw, they controlled the rebound and ended up with a 4-point play. We then missed some easy shots, they hit a couple of 3's, and went on a 17-2 run to tie it up at the

The coach added, "We made some bad passes at the end of some fast breaks late in the game. They converted our turnovers into points, and that turned out to be the difference. After they got the momentum and got their crowd going, they started hitting 3-pointers. We committed some mental errors we haven't been guilty of since early in the season."

Friona,72, Floydada 62 Floydada fell to 0-8 in district play as the Friona Chieftains defeated the Whirlwinds 72-62 at Graves Gymnasium on February 3. Floydada's season record now stands at 10-17. The Chieftains, 2-6 in district action, improve to 9-14 for the year.

The game was virtually a carbon copy of last Tuesday's Floydada loss to Muleshoe as the Whirlwinds had a double digit lead in the second quarter, only to see it vanish by halftime. Floydada came out firing again to take a 21-14 lead after the first eight minutes, but Friona rallied for 21 points in the second quarter and held a 35-32 lead at halftime. The 'Winds outscored the Chieftains 16-15 after intermission to trail by only two points going into the deciding final stanza.

Although he fouled out in the early moments of the 4th quarter, Zach Abshier was again high-point man for Floydada with 19. The Cooper brothers, Vernon and Pete, were also in double digits with 18 and 16 points, respectively. Peter Luna scored 5, Sammy Rodriguez 3 and Chad Hinkle 1, to account for Floydada's points.

Friona's Cory Hamilton led all scorers with 23, but teammate Kit Preston was close behind with 22 points. Freshman Quin Ellis added 11 points - all in the first half.

The Whirlwinds were again at a height disadvantage. Losing Abshier to fouls in the 4th period compounded that problem. According to Whirlwind coach Hayden Merket, "Our free throw shooting down the stretch really hurt us. We missed some critical l-and-l opportunities as well as both ends of some 2-shot situations. It was very uncharacteristic, particularly for the ones who were doing the shooting...those misses really came back to haunt us." The coach added, "Friona turned the ball over about as much as you could hope for, but we were unable to take advantage of the situation and convert their turnovers to points. Then, there was the time when we were down 54-50. We missed several easy shots, they controlled the boards and converted the rebounds into points, and extended their lead by 6 or 8. It was difficult from then on for us...and our 28 turnovers really hurt. I don't know what has happened to us the last couple of games, but earlier in the year we were turning it over maybe 16, 17 times against teams like Dimmitt and Shallowater. We just made too many mistakes and they out-hustled us down the stretch." BILL'S NOTES

It may not be appropriate, especially since I was not there, to comment on the officiating at Muleshoe on January 31. However, I'll take what liberty this column affords me and do it anyhow.

While listening to the play-by-play account of the game by Larry Noland and Edd Henderson Jr., it didn't take very long to determine that the 'Winds didn't get the benefit of the doubt on a number of occasions by the game officials. So what's new? I've been following Floydada sports since 1979, and have never known a Floydada team to get a fair shake over there, be it football, bas-

And, speaking of Larry and Edd...they do a super job on the game broadcasts. The loyal Whirlwind sports fans are very fortunate to have such excellent coverage of the games. Larry and Edd are well-informed, colorful and, in most cases ... objective. It is difficult to be a Whirlwind parent or fan and remain unbiased, but they do it, and do it well. Congratulations to both of them for a job...well done!
