McPherson harvests cashmeres

Cashmere goats are proving to be good business for Steve McPherson, of Lockney. It is also growing into a big business for Terry Sim, the manager of the Cashmere America Cooperative in Sonora, Texas.

Sim, a native of Victoria, Australia, travels all over the United States promoting cashmere and finding markets for the members of the cooperative.

Sim also stays very busy harvesting (or shearing) the cashmeres. He was recently kept busy at the McPherson farm, in Providence, harvesting approximately 400 Spanish goats in the McPherson herd.

"Cashmere can only be harvested one time per year, from December through the end of February," said Sim.

Because of the short harvest time, Sim stays very busy traveling the United States collecting the cashmere. His travels take him to California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska. "On the east coast I harvest goats from Maine to North Carolina and New York to Indiana," said Sim.

"Texas is the largest producer of cashmere in the U.S.," said Sim. "Forty to 50% of the American cashmere comes out of Texas. About 4,000-5,000 lbs. of raw fiber is produced in the U.S. annu-

McPherson started his herd of Spanish goats 5 years ago. He began with only 30 and built his herd up to 1000 goats. "Over a period of time I culled out the goats that did not have a good quality of fiber," said McPherson. "Since the Spanish goats are also good meat goats, the goats that are culled can be sold for meat production."

McPherson now has approximately 400 goats.

According to McPherson all goats have some cashmere fiber in their coats. The process of culling out the less desirable ones will eventually produce a herd with a good quality.

"The grading of the cashmere depends on the size of the fiber and the character (how much kink or buoyancy)," said McPherson. "The more kink and finer the fiber the higher the quality of the cashmere. "One goat will produce 1/3 to 1/2 pound of cashmere per head. I want to eventually breed goats that will produce 1-2 pounds per head."

Because the cashmere hair grows from June to December the goats must be selected in the fall or winter when the cashmere has grown out long enough to see. "The hair will start shedding off after winter," said McPherson. Because of this short harvest period Sim wastes no time in gathering the

After he has harvested the cashmere Sim then takes the cashmere to the Coop and markets the product.

"The long range goals of our cooperative is to raise production and maintain quality," said Sim. "We work to add value to the fiber on behalf of the grower. We want to return the profits back to the grower."

Currently the cooperative is working on increasing their market in the U.S. "We have made our first line of cashmere socks," said Sim, and we are also working on cashmere and cotton blends."

According to Sim cashmere prices are at their peak. "Right now, de-haired and processed white cashmere will bring $70.00 a lb," said Sim. "This is the highest it has been for 10 years."

"The price is high", said McPherson, "because the cashmere goats do not produce the quantity of other goats. Mohair produces 16-20 pounds per year and they can be harvested twice.'

"There is a shortage of cashmere. Besides the Co-op, there are only three other buyers of U.S. cashmere. The cooperative handles at least 1/2 of the U.S. clip and I expect it to increase. We have been getting 2,000 pounds a year and I expect it to jump up to 3,000 pounds."

CAT, disaster, will be topic of Lockney meeting

Trent Johnson, County Executive Director, Floyd County Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA), formerly ASCS, will conduct a meeting for farm owners and operators in Floyd County.

The purpose of this meeting will be to discuss the Catastrophic Crop (CAT) Insurance Program, 1994 Disaster, and the new 1995 Signup Program.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 28, at 7:00 p.m. at the Lockney Community Center in Lockney.

Johnson asks that everyone make plans to attend this important meeting.

Weather right for gypsy scams

The approach of Spring also brings traveling groups, known as "gypsies" or "travelers" into communities. These groups make their living in home repair

"Area citizens should be on the look out for these gypsies," said Floydada Police Chief James Hale. "They have already been spotted in communities close to us and with the warmer weather it will get worse."

According to a Crime Bulletin published by the Texas Department of Safety, police officers who investigate home repair swindles typically encounter two groups of people, known as "travelers or gypsies."

Although these two groups don't speak the same language, don't physically resemble each other, and as a rule do not intermarry, they have been labeled together as "Gypsies" primarily because they travel in groups across the nation and the crimes they commit have certain similarities. Gypsies are generally shorter than the Anglo population with dark hair and eyes. Travelers usually blend in with the general Anglo population in that they have the same physical characteristics such as red hair, blue eyes, etc. Many of the crimes committed by Travelers are similar to "American Gypsies". The crimes include:

(1) Asphalt driveway sealing/paving—Most of the victims are approached through door to door contacts. Suspects offer to fix the driveway but the final price will not be what was agreed on. The asphalt mixture will crumble in two weeks. The sealant will make the driveway look white but will wash off after the first hard rain. Contracts are difficult to read, have fictitious names as businesses, and are often unsigned. Travelers have been known to use answering machines and place ads in newspapers.

(2) Roof Repair—Victims are again approached through door-to-door contacts. Travelers do have regular customers who have their roof sprayed every two years and never realize they have been swindled. The substance sprayed on the roof may be form oil, motor oil or gasoline mixed with silver paint or plain latex paint.

Travelers are very neat and their equipment is well maintained. Gypsies are known to be very messy.

Any roof repair, despite some hammering, will be non-existent.

(3) Home Invasion/Burglary—While engaged in a home repair scam, the victims attention is distracted and an accomplice will burglarize your home. Other scams will include: barn/house painting, sell of lightning rods at enormous prices, tool sales, travel trailer sales, termite inspection scams, tree pruning, auto repair scams, and linoleum installation scams. Travelers will obtain occupational licenses in areas where they are required. Citizens are warned to be wary of door-to-door repairmen and are urged to call the police if suspicious. An honest repairman will not be bothered by the

Two proposals presented for CHD facilities future use

FLOYDADA - The Board of Directors for Caprock Hospital District heard proposals from two different sources for utilizing the facilities of the district in the future during a regular session for the month of February. Board members first listened to a plan from Denise Doucette, a member of the board of scrutiny and a con-man will want no recognition.

directors for Floyd County Day Care. Doucette asked that the hospital board consider allowing Floyd County Day Care to move into the unused hospital building. She pointed out that the day care currently has 46 children to care for and is licensed for a total of 78. Her proposal called for the northeast and southeast wings of the building to be day care rooms with the east lot serving as a playground area. They would also utilize the kitchen area for food preparation.

Her proposal asked that the board work out some type of lease arrangement. Doucette told CHD board members that the child care facility currently pays $300.00 per month including utilities for their use of limited rooms at the Della Plains School site they share with the Caprock Education Co-op's Alternative School.

Board President Tom Farris told Doucette and those accompanying her that the board was not in a position to act on the matter at this time. He added that a decision could be expected in a month or two after the matter could be taken under consideration by the board.

The second proposal presented at the meeting on Tuesday, February 21, came from representatives of St. Mary of The Plains Hospital. St. Mary's vice president Richard Pope and Dr. Jim Burrell, owner of St. Mary's Medical Group and an affiliate of Medical Arts Center in Lubbock, asked that the board consider entering into a long-term agreement (5 to 10 years) for management and operation of the Floydada clinic facility.

Each told the board of their familiarity with Floydada, it's health care needs and it's health care problems due to past association with the district as an affiliate. Burrell stated that he knew how long and hard the board and past hospital administrators, including Terry Keltz who is now the business manager for Medical Arts Center, had worked to bring good, reliable, affordable health care to Floydada.

They stressed that the plan in front of board members was a beginning point for negotiations toward a potential agreement to replace the affiliation agreement between CHD and St. Mary's which expires this month.

The plan as presented states that St. Mary's would lease the current clinic site, purchase the internal equipment and supplies involved, and employ all current personnel with their present benefits and salary with one exception. Burrell asked for a subsidy from CHD to pay the difference between the $125.00 an hour CHD has contracted to pay Dr. Antoine Albert and the salary that St. Mary's would pay. Burrell stated that Albert's rate is in excess of those paid to other physicians associated with the St. Mary Medical Group.

Burrell stated that St. Mary's would assume responsibility for all other aspects of the operation and expense of the clinic including the lab and x-ray facilities housed in the hospital building. Indigent care would still remain the responsibility of Caprock Hospital Dis-

According to Burrell, family care clinics traditionally are not a money making situation, a fact the CHD board has found to be the case in the present clinic operation in Floydada according to Farris. The nature of the patient load and the care needed virtually assures that there will be patients who will not or cannot pay said Burrell.

The reduced payments made by Medicare and Medicaid for services rendered to their clients also create a loss situation said Burrell. St. Mary's would realize a profit from the clinic referrals to their hospital facility for patient admissions and services not provided in clinic settings. A long-term agreement is needed in order to make the initial investment in a rural family care site profitable for St. Mary's.

The St. Mary's representives also stated intentions to recruit an additional physician if needed or to reimburse CHD expenses for recruiting a physician should a doctor meeting their requirements be hired by the district prior to coming to terms on an agreement. Burrell stated that his group had re-

Extended calling area sought by Floydada Council

FLOYDADA — Calling Lubbock without paying long distance charges may be possible for Floydada residents in the future. Council members voted to adopt a resolution authorizing the preparation and submission of paperwork requesting extended local calling for the Floydada telephone exchange during the regular monthly session on Thursday, February 16.

Making the motion was made by Councilman Wayne Tipton and seconded by Councilman Albert Hill. Joining the pair in voting for the action were Councilmen Dale Lawson, Eric Cornelius and Clar Schacht. Councilman Leroy Burns was not present for the

The requested change would enable Floydada telephone exchange customers to call cities within a 22 to possibly 50 mile range without paying a long distance rate. Each phone customer would pay a flat fee each month on their phone bill. Residential customers would pay $3.50 per month per line and business customers would pay $7.00 per month per line for the service. All customers would see the additional charge on their phone bills, whether they call outside the local area or not.

Approval would be needed from the Public Utilities Commission as well as from telephone customers in the Floydada exchange area before the exput into service. Additional information · concerning the service will be available in the near future according to City Manager Brown.

The City of Floydada will no longer be offering reduced water rates during the summer months. In years past, the council lowered water rates each summer to encourage Floydada residents to water yards and make the city a more pleasant place to be and to see.

Due to the drought conditions and the decreasing water supply from Mackenzie Water Authority, this will not be part of the summer plan for 1995. City manager Gary Brown told the council that the approximate water level at the lake is now around 70 feet. Lake Mackenzie has made known it's intention to cease pumping water to member cities when the lake reaches 50 feet. This is estimated to occur approximately May 1 of this year unless heavy rainfall in the lake area occurs before that date.

Brown told the council that the city is currently pumping wells from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. and taking lake water only during the off hours. Summer usage will be quite heavy and could require 24 hour a day well use unless the situation improves at Mackenzie.

He estimated the cost of providing the city with water from May through September at more than $41,000.00 if city tended calling area program could be wells operate 50% of the time. Deducting the amount the city will not be paying Mackenzie due to reduced incoming water supplies, the city will still need to make up a nearly $14,000.00 expense to serve it's water users.

Brown asked that the council reserve the option of raising the water rate until it becomes apparent that the current rate would not support the system. "We should be able to make do with the current water rate if nothing major happens to our system and if people will use their water wisely," said Brown. "Higher rates and/or rationing are still a distinct possibility if the situation wors-

"If water consumption in Floydada exceeds the city's ability to provide, we may have to do something on our own," added Brown. He told the council that Mackenzie has drilled a well at Tulia and one near Silverton, but they have not followed through on the plan to drill a well at Floydada. If the city needs more water in the summer months, Floydada may have to drill a well and be reimbursed by Mackenzie through decreased payments or some alternate arrangement said Brown.

The five city wells are capable of pumping around 1250 gallons per minute at this time according to Brown, but as irrigation wells come on line that amount may decrease. Brown stated that he hoped the decrease would be no more than 30 percent as the season progresses. "We may be in serious trouble if our ability to pump drops below that level," stated the city manager.

An order was approved calling for the annual municipal election of city officials. Motion was made by Tipton with a second by Lawson. All voted in favor. The election will be scheduled for May 6, 1995. Positions on the ballot this year are: Mayor, currently serving is Hulon Carthel; Council Member District 2, currently serving is Leroy Burns; and Council Member District 3, currently serving is Dale Lawson. The first day to sign up for a place on the election ballot was February 20. The final day is March 22, 1995. Anyone who would like to run for one of the city offices can obtain the necessary information by contacting Sharon Quisenberry at City Hall. ... Minutes of the previous meeting

BY THE WAY! BY ALICE GILROY

The old saying about the grass being greener on the other side of the fence

Every time I go to someone else's house I get green with envy over something. I wish I had their carpet, or their fireplace, or their furniture—you get the picture.

I also get green with envy when I'm around a woman who can do stuff. You know—stuff like wallpapering her own rooms or rebuilding her own antique

I've got a very good friend that can do stuff. There isn't any kind of stuff that she can't do. She took an old house and is turning it into a story book cottage.

She tells me I could do stuff too, if I JUST TRIED. She is always very understanding and sympathetic. She actually believes if I had my own house I would be able to do

It's very hard when you rent a house. As much as I love the house we live in it's not ours. So I have a good excuse. You can't remodel of course-or do other stuff.

I've always fallen back on this excuse and it has worked very well. I figure I would do stuff if I just had a new house.

For instance. My son and I have allergies. The home we live in is a beautiful house but the carpet is older and the drapes are very long and heavy (you can't put them in the washing machine). What I'm trying to say is the dust stays in the carpet and drapes. I called a curtain business in Lubbock to see how much it would cost to come out and clean the drapes and vacuum out our air ducts.

It would cost a lot. So when I get my new house I'm not going to have carpet or drapes and I'm going to vacuum out air ducts before I move in.

Good question. I guess you'll be able to tell it's not new anymore when the dust is making mountains on your furniture, the air ducts are blowing out more dust than air conditioning, your car is dirty and your meals are once again Swanson frozen

Bradley, Shaw leading WBU campaign

Lockney agribusinessman Kelton Shaw, a member of Wayland Baptist University's Board of Trustees and longtime supporter of the institution, and former Caprock-Plains Baptist Area director of missions Floyd Bradley have agreed to lead the university's upcoming Spanning the Centuries campaign in the Lockney-Floydada region.

The Spanning the Centuries Campaign is designed not only to raise funds to complete the university's learning resources center, but also to more closely connect Wayland with it's many supporters throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. This regional appeal involves Baptist churches and friends in Floydada, Lockney, Aiken, Matador, Paducah, Roaring Springs, Petersburg, Abernathy and Hale Center. A campaign steering committee involving pastors and volunteers from the region is currently being organized. Through a series of fundraising efforts involving Wayland faculty, staff, board members, alumni, foundations, and, most recently, the highly successful Plainview Campaign, Spanning the Centuries has already raised more than $2.3 million of the $2.5 million needed to complete the learning resources center.

Once that project is completed, the campaign will continue through Wayland's 100th anniversary in 2008 in an attempt to raise funds for a number of other needed projects. These include the renovation of the third floor of historic Gates Hall, the renovation and conversion of the Van Howeling facility to house the Division of Education, campus landscaping, and scholarship sup-

People of Floydada,

First, I would like to say that my family wishes to express our deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson on the loss of their four-legged child. We live right behind the Wilsons and have two golden retrievers. Like the Wilsons, our dogs are a very big part of our lives and we love them very much.

Our female dog seems to get out no matter what we do; she just wants to play with the kids. She sits at the front door looking out, just wanting to go play.

I know everyone in our neighborhood knows "Lady." She has been known to get newspapers, chase a few cats and she even chewed on someone's fence one day. We are trying very hard to keep her at home. I apologize if she has harmed anything of yours.

I beg of you, don't put out any more poison. Our children's heart, and ours, would be broken if Lady were killed. I cannot imagine anyone being so cold hearted that they would kill a child's pet. Complaining to the city is one thing, and is understandable, but murder is another. Jill Bennett cruited more than 50 doctors to this region in the past 18 months.

St. Mary's currently has family care sites operating in Abernathy, Amherst, Levelland, Littlefield, Lubbock, Plainview, Seminole, Snyder, Spur, Hobbs and Clovis. Board members were encouraged to contact any of the sites or physicians and solicit their input concerning how the St. Mary's operation is functioning at their location.

Burrell said that Texas law bars anyone but a governmental entity or a private firm to employ a physician. Hospitals cannot contract with physicians so the physicians at these locations are working under the auspices of St. Mary Medical Group.

According to information provided to the board, St. Mary's plans to have 23 clinics and 80-100 doctors working under their supervision by the end of 1995. The overall plan is to provide better regional access to care and offer a link to health maintenance organizations now being formed in the area.

"HMO's are shifting the burden of daily care back to ambulatory care clinics, shortening hospital stays," said Burrell. "A clinic in Floydada would allow us to offer employers here the opportunity to participate in an HMO to hold down their employee insurance costs. This is an advantage since HMO's stress preventative care in addition to providing for acute care."

Farris asked if St. Mary's would have any use for the hospital building in addition to the clinic. Burrell replied that nothing came to mind although it is possible portions of the building could be used for community outreach programs including wellness classes to assist in preventative care and patient education. The St. Mary's representatives indicated that they have no interest in operating the Floydada EMS and would prefer to leave the operation of the ambulance service to Floydada EMS and Caprock Hospital District. No board action was taken following the presentation.

Other items handled at the early morning sessinon included:

... The reading and approval of the minutes from the January 17th and January 27 sessions. Motion made by Joy Assiter, seconded by Rob Heflin, and passed by unanimous vote.

... Board approval was given to sell three tax title lots located at 609 East Virginia in Floydada to T. J. Coleman for $300.00. The sale will not be finalized until all taxing entities involved have approved the offer. Motion made by Assiter with a second by J.R. Turner. All voted in favor.

... A motion by Carmel Eastham, seconded by Assiter, was unanimously approved to authorize payment of monthly bills and acceptance of financial reports as presented. According to Farris, the district had $365,000.00 on deposit as of January 31, 1995. There is $235,00.00 in accounts receivable due, most of which is current according to clinic administrator Bob Ericson.

Part of the past due portion is the result of accounts that were billed five or six months late due to installation of the new computer system. In response to questioning from board member Turner, Ericson estimated that approximately $42,000.00 will not be collected at all. According to Ericson, approximately 10 percent of the accounts receivable will always be uncollectable in any medical operation. He also told the board that Medicare and Medicaid payments are now beginning to come in and collections are up now that billing is being made on a timely basis.

Farris told the board that attorney bills have stopped and the district is now negotiating with the liability insurance carriers for reimbursement of previous legal expenses encurred due to lawsuits. Ericson also reported that work on the new roof is progressing although what was to be a one week job has now taken three weeks. He added that the only thing remaining on the roofing project is to put on the gravel and that should be completed today, hopefully.

He ended his report by saying that two physicians have visited Floydada in the past month. The committee appointed last month by board president Farris expects to make a recommendation to the full board concerning the employment of one of the doctors in the near future stated Ericson.

Sim stays busy with the cashmere cooperative. When he is not harvesting or marketing the product, he is grading it or teaching others how to grade it. "Nobody wants to learn how to clip the goats, they just want to learn how to grade and market it," laughed Sim.

In appears that goats are in Sim's blood. Born in Victoria, Australia, Sim grew up on his father's sheep farm. "In 1983 he started catching wild goats "outback, in the bush" with dogs and keeping them on 6,600 acres of fenced

Sim would shear the wild goats, sell the hair and keep the animals for breed-

In 1987 he began working as a grader with the Australian Cashmere Growers Association. "The prices started going down in Australia and I received an offer from the co-op to come work in the U.S.," said Sim. He has been in the U.S. on a work permit for three years.

Sim will spend two days at the McPherson farm shearing goats one after another. It will take him 1-2 minutes to shear one goat (approximately 30 goats in one hour).

"These goats are very hardy and easy keepers," said McPherson. "In the winter I run them on wheat, milo, corn, sunflowers or soybean

"In the summer I put them on grass pastures. They eat the weeds and leave the grass alone.'

For that reason, according to McPherson, the goats can run with sheep and cattle because they do not compete for the same food.

"You can use the cashmere goat for three purposes," said McPherson. "They are good for brush control, meat production and fiber production. With restrictions on herbicide the goats work out well for ranchers in brush control."

McPherson is hoping the cashmere trend will catch on. If and when it does McPherson should also be able to use his cashmere goats for another purpose. Because of the years he has spent building up a quality herd, McPherson's Billy Goats would be in demand for breeding

The hardy little animal has proved to be a good venture for McPherson and could turn out to be a common sight on the South Plains.

LOCKNEY-Members of the El Progreso Study Club enjoyed the program brought by Vera Jo Bybee on Wednesday, February 8. The group met in the home of Doris Thacker.

Bybee started her review by going back to 1870 when buffalo and Indians roamed these plains. She told that in a few short years the buffalo were all destroyed and the Indians were forced to move away as the buffalo had been the source of their food and clothing.

Floyd County came into being in 1876. The first post office in the county was located several miles east of Lockney at Della Plains. In 1890 a church was formed and also that same year Floydada and Lockney voted on the site of the county seat. Floydada was granted the county seat on May 28,

In 1894 Lockney was the site of a small college. Sixteen students attended classes. The first newspaper was called the Lockney Ledger. Vera Jo gathered some of her information from a book enfitled "Della Plains" written by Alma Holmes. It is available at our local li-

Celebration honors Herrera's 15th birthday

FLOYDADA--Marty Ann Herrera of Floydada was honored with a special Mass Celebration in honor of her Quinceanera, 15th birthday, on Saturday, Feb. 11, 1995, at St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church in Floydada. Father Ricardo Salditos, pastor, presided over the celebration.

Miss Herrera is the daughter of Mar-

Commentator for the Mass was Adam Gonzales. Musical selections were presented by Ricky Vasquez, Emma Sanchez and Olga Enriquez. Two special selections, "Unexpected Friends," and "Hero" were vocalized as duets by Candice Herrera, cousin of the honoree, and Jennifer Noland.

The custom of Quinceanera's dates back to the Jewish custom of presenting the young lady in the temple. The ceremony symbolized the responsibility of the young lady at this time of her life to the human group of which she is a member.

The way this custom is popularly understood today is the presentation of the young lady to society. In order to bring out the religious and spiritual dimensions, Catholics celebrate this custom with special exmphasis on the awareness and sensitivity of the young lady in dealing with the values, concerns, and challenges of the Christian community.

Four special gifts given to the Quinceanera include: a Crown, symbolizing the victory that she has won in trying to live a Christian life in the midst of all the problems and challenges of her environment; a Medal, symbolizing the religious expression of faith. She is placed under the protection of the person represented by the image on the medal, which is sometimes a small cross or crucifix; a Ring, symbolizes the tie and the responsibility the young lady has to the community and to her God; and Flowers, symbolize the newness of her commitment and responsibility to the community. Flowers symbolize new life at any event.

Damas and Chamberlains (fourteen of her friends and their escorts) accompanying the honoree were Jeannie Ochoa and Joe Sanchez, Candice Herrera and Danny Herrera, Laura Herrera and Emilio Ramos, Jennifer Noland and Richard Casillas, Lydia Mendoza and Aaron Johnston, Monica Galvan and Jesse Sanchez, Cassandra Herrera and Lupe Sanchez, Tara McCandless and Michael Palacios, Dana McCandless and Victor Mendoza, Christy Hale and Mario Nunez, Angie De La Fuente and Sammy Rodriguez, Tammy Cisneros

FLOYDADA--The center is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Monday-Friday. Please call by 10 a.m. the day you plan to eat lunch, 983-2032.

Bob Ed Dempsey, retired Major General of the U.S. Air Force, who now lives in Wilmeet, Ill., was here last week visiting his mother, Betsy Dempsey and his sister, Jan Willson. Bob Ed went home on Thursday and Jim Dempsey and his wife and three daughters of Keller, Texas, came in Friday spending the weekend with his mother, Betsy Dempsey and sister, Jan Willson.

Margarette Word went to Amarillo to be with her sister, Lizzie Mae Reynolds who celebrated her 80th birthday Thursday, Feb. 16th. Their sister, Ella Oglesby and her husband, Cecil of Hereford were also there. We took Liz to Steak and Ale for lunch. They brought out a birthday cake and we all had a great time. I must tell you about my experience as I came

I was alone and was just about 10 miles out of Amarillo. I was behind an 18 wheeler, one was behind me and cars passing, all going 65 mph or faster. I had my cruise on and as I was getting closer to the truck in front of me, I heard a loud noise and all of a sudden rubber started flying everywhere. One of his tires was shedding rubber. I immediately put my brake on and headed for the emergency lane. Everyone began to slow down. The rubber parts hit my car. They were small enough that they didn't do any damage. He didn't even slow down.

I did get back in the lane of traffic and finally passed him. What was left of the tire was really making a lot of racket. As I looked in my rearview mirror I did notice he took one of the exits to a truck stop just out of Canyon.

Many a time I've seen rubber along the road and wondered what I'd do if I happened to be close to a truck when a tire fell apart. Now I know. It was really scary. I arrived home about 6:10 p.m., changed clothes, went to the Annual Lions Club Sweetheart Banquet, ate another wonderful meal, had a few laughs, received a large box of Valentine candy, enjoyed the speaker, the Rev. Clark Williams' funny stories and enjoyed the evening.

David and Vickie Cates of Lubbock came over to visit his parents, W.B. and Eula Mae Cates.

Belle Bingham, sister-in-law to Buelah Baker and Agnes Baker, was here last week visiting. Belle had a friend, Greg Clifton with her. They ate lunch at the center.

Randy Hollums and his sister, Harryette of Cisco, drove their mother Edwina Hollums to Hereford to help her cousin, Mary Alice McCarver, celebrate her 80th birthday. They met at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center. The director gave them a tour of H.S.C. Center. The Hollums were very impressed with all the things going on at that center. Recently, Letha Mulder went to Littlefield to her sister, Inez Minyard's 85th birthday. All of Inez's nine children

There are so many who are in the hospital, lost loved ones and in need of our prayers, cards and concern. Please remember these and do what you can to

He ate lunch at the center on Monday and was asked to entertain the lunch group with his talent of playing the piano. They all enjoyed it

Faye and William Bertrand have been gone about a month to Port Isabel fishing and visiting R.V. friends. On their way home they stopped at San Antonio and took the river walk, enjoyed the large mall and Imax theatre. They got home Saturday evening.

FLOYDADA--For years it was said that there were two sports in Texas football and spring football. In some areas that may still be the case. However, in Floydada, the coming of Spring means more than just topsy-turvy weather and sand storms. The first week of March signals the start of the track and field season. Traditionally, Floydada hosts the first major meet of the year for the smaller schools of the Panhandle-South Plains - the Whirlwind Relays. new basketball facility. A new gym for the

According to Carr, "Again, we'll be small in numbers, but big in effort. We've got some experienced people in some events, but we're still pretty young. As usual, though, we will be very competitive."

The twenty-one Whirlwind hopefuls on the track squad have braved high wind, fog, and sleet to polish their skills. The meet is but a week away, and Coach David Carr's thinclads have been preparing for the opener.

scored 575 total points for a 19.8 pergame average. In District 2-3A play, Zach averaged over 21 points an outing and pulled down over 9 rebounds per game. The Whirlwind post man hit 59.5% of his field goal attempts for the year and was 64% at the free throw line. The talented junior also blocked an average of 2-plus shots per game. Zach's steady performances during conference play should put him in line for all-district honors. Vernon Cooper was Floydada's second leading scorer with 346 total points (117 in district action). The sophomore also had 58 total steals and led the squad in 3-pointers with 27. Vernon also averaged over four assists per outing for the Pete Cooper closed out his Whirlwind career with 346 points. He hit 11 of 53 from 3-point range, dished out 72 assists, and was credited with 66 steals. Cooper converted 37 of 76 free throws.

Peter Luna hit 72 of 147 from the field for a fine 49% and had 202 total points. Luna was #2 on the boards with over six rebounds per game and had 19 steals on defense.

The Whirlwinds' assist leader was Sammy Rodriquez with 137. Floydada's floor leader also had 67 steals for the year. Although averaging about four points per game, Sammy's offensive play-making and defensive tactics made him an important ingredient of the Whirlwind attack.

Freshman Michael Palacios was moved into the varsity lineup during district play. Although used sparingly, he had 12 points, 12 assists, and 4 steals in his first year of varsity competition. Sophomore Chad Hinkle also made the big jump into varsity play in the last few district contests. Hinkle hit one 3pointer, scored 7 points, had 5 assists and 3 steals in his brief varsity debut.

Michael Molinar had 29 points, 39 assists and 17 steals before a seasonending shoulder injury cut short his varsity season.

As expected, the Shallowater Mustangs won the district title in their first year in the 3A ranks. Perennial playoff contender Dimmitt grabbed the number two playoff seed. The Mustangs and Bobcats begin bi-district play this week.

KIERSTI TVINNEREIM

FLOYDADA--This week's first Senior Spotlight is our AFS student, Kjersti Tvinnereim, from Bergen, Norway. Kjersti is the daughter of Ragnar and Helene Tvinnereim and her host parents are Bobby and Noma Lou Rainer.

Since the beginning of this year she has become active in Band, U.I.L., One-Act play, Student Council, Yearbook, Junior City Council and the United Methodist Youth. In Norway, she participates in many choirs and is in a hiking group.

Her favorite class is Government with Coach Merket. She also enjoys Band, Theater, and Yearbook, because they are different from classes in Norway.

After she returns home, she will miss the football games, her new friends and special American things, such as Halloween, hat day, and Santa grams. So far, her best memory of high school is of the football games when she went with the band.

If she could take a trip anywhere, she would go to Kamchatka, Russia, with a friend to see the fascinating nature, acid lakes, and the wild animals.

Kjersti admires her grandparents very much for risking their lives to help the Jews escape from Norway to Sweden during World War II.

When Kjersti returns home, she must finish one more year of school and then she will attend a University in either her hometown, Bergen, or in Oslo, the capitol of Norway.

She would like to study something involving languages or medicine and pursue a job involving physics or do medical research.

A thought from Kjersti, "Use your opportunities, explore the world.

Algebra II with Mr. Lockwood are her favorite classes. Her favorite teacher was her English II teacher, Ms. Ritchey.

Some of her best memories of high school are of band and tennis trips. When she graduates, she will miss the to always do what is right. If Jennifer could take a trip anywhere in the world, she would go to Italy and float down the streets of Venice and visit art museums with paintings from Michealangelo.

This fall Jennifer will be attending school in Belgium as an AFS student. Then she will return and enroll at either South West Texas State University in San Marcos or Texas Tech. Her major is undecided, but she is interested in a career in Marine Biology or Genetic Enginering.

Jennifer wants her friends to remember this famous quote, "Once in the heart, forever in the mind; the friendships we've built shall endure in time."

Steering committee set to control weevils

During the past 31 years the Plains Cotton Growers Boll Weevil Suppression Program has successfully kept the boll weevil from infesting High Plains based Plains Cotton Growers and overseen by a steering committee made up entirely of cotton producers from across the High Plains.

PCG Boll Weevil Steering Committee Chairman Wayne Huffaker, of Tahoka, notes that throughout the program's 31 year life it has been able to keep the boll weevil from moving onto the High Plains using a "control zone" which delineates the program's operational boundaries.

Huffaker explains that the control zone roughly follows the contours of the Caprock on the eastern edge of the High Plains creating a buffer zone between infested areas of the Rollings Plains and the High Plains. He notes that inside the program's area of operation boll weevils have been kept at levels below which they could successfully advance onto the High Plains.

The PCG Program uses a strategy of Fall diapause within its operational boundaries that, with the help of cold winter temperatures, reduce the number of boll weevils able to successfully survive until a new cotton crop is planted the following spring.

Huffaker warns that in 1995 the boll weevil has a new chance to move into even more High Plains cotton as the area experiences what is shaping up to be the mildest winter yet. Mild winter temperatures the past four years have allowed record numbers of boll weevils to survive and infest High Plains cotton fields outside the Program's normal control zone.

"The boll weevil has essentially executed a flanking manuver and moved into previously uninfested areas at a tremendous pace," says Huffaker. "In just four years boll weevils have taken advantage of two things in mounting this attack: mild winter temperatures and grassland in the Conservation Reserve Program."

In the past CRP grasses were not considered protective enough to allow significant boll weevil survival during "normal" winter conditions on the High Plains. Recent winter temperatures, however, are proving that CRP grass is an excellent habitat for the boll weevil in these mild winters.

PCG is ready to step up its efforts to stop the boll weevil. Under the authority of the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation, PCG is in the process of putting the future of High Plains cotton in the hands of the very people who have the most to lose from the boll weevil: cotton producers.

Huffaker explains that PCG is in the process of putting together an Enhanced Suppression Program that will increase the current Program';s operational area and pave the way for full eradication of the boll weevil in 1998 and 1999. Getting the job done will require the unified efforts of the cotton growers themselves says Huffaker.

The key to emplementation of the Enhanced Suppression Program will be a positive vote in a referendum tentatively scheduled for the first two weeks of April. Producers will be able to get more information in the weeks leading up to the April referendum at a number of educational meetings across the area.

Smith elected PCG director

Dan B. Smith of Lockney was reelected to the position of Floyd County Producer Director of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at a meeting held in Floydada on January 31.

Announcement of the election came from Smith and Steve Lloyd who is currently serving as Floyd County Business Director for PCG.

Anticipation of the challenges of the twenty-first century strengthens our belief that the quality of America's future is dependent upon the intellectual moral and ethical integrity of her educational system. Wayland must address many needs if it is to remain true to its mission of carefully nurturing and preparing Christian leaders of tomorrow. We invite you to join hand with us as Wayland spans the centuries, linking its proud Christian and academic heritage with a bold vision of continuing educational leadership."
