Mt. Zion Baptist Church receiving new building

The members of Mt. Zion Baptist Church already knew that bricks and mortar don't make a church, however that belief has been reinforced by the "church members" they have found spread throughout Floydada and the South Plains.

Mt. Zion Baptist Church was recently faced with the prospect of having to do a lot of remodeling in their old church building. The more the pastor, Rev. Ralph Jackson, looked around, the more work he could see needed doing.

"We were going to have to do a lot of electrical work, build a Baptistry and do various repairs and patchwork," said

In the meantime another church decision was being made at the Pansy Baptist Church in the Pansy community of Crosby County. Because of the dwindling membership at Pansy Baptist, the remaining 5 members decided to disband the church.

Not wanting to tear down a building which had meant so much to the community over the years, the Pansy members decided they would give it away. Mt. Zion Baptist Church will soon be

Fun and safe celebration planned after FHS prom

FLOYDADA—Plans are underway for an exciting prom night party for the juniors and seniors of Floydada High School. Project Prom Night is a celebration that is both fun and safe. Project Prom Night is a tradition at many high schools across the country and has been held for the past two years at Floydada High Sponsors would like to continue this tradition by once again having this party available after the Junior/Senior Prom on April 15 from 45 minutes after the Prom ends until 5:00 a.m. on the 16th.

Basically, Project Prom Night is an all night drug/alcohol free party that is organized by the parents of the juniors and seniors. The party will be well chaperoned. There will be a Disc Jockey provided for dancing, games such as ping-pong and table games. There will also be a drawing each half hour for various prizes ranging from small cash prizes to a grand prize of a color television. Students must be present at the time of drawing to win prizes.

"It is our hope that Project Prom Night will reduce the chance of any of our students being injured or killed in alcohol related car accidents," stated sponsors. Nationally more young people between the ages of 16 and 20 are killed between the hours of 10:00 p.m. and 4:00 a.m. in April and May than during any other time of the year. Almost 60% of the teenagers killed or injured were drinking preceding the crash, 43% were legally intoxicated according to the laws in most states. Prom parties should be fun not fatal and that is why Project Prom Night is being planned

If you would like to help in any way with donations please contact Duffy Hinkle at 983-3889 or Vikki Yeary at 983-3093 or 983-3323.

"We hope to avoid a possible tragedy within our community during this special exciting time for our children," sponsors added.

Didn't that thunder sound great this week? I had almost forgotten what it sounded like.

The rain smelled great too! It could have rained all month long and I would have been happy, but I'm not complaining about the little bit that we got.

A fellow in our church sang a song last week about praying for rain and having faith. I don't know the name of the song, but the story was about a church coming together for a prayer meeting to pray for rain.

All these folks showed up but only one little fellow brought an umbrella.

The point of the song was that the little boy was the only one who had faith his prayers would be answered.

Anyway when it started to rain Sunday night I called up a friend of ours who lives in the countryside to ask him if he was getting any rain.

He said No. I held our phone out the door so he could hear the thunder and the sound of the rain pouring out of the gutter. It was heavenly.

He was depressed.

He said it wasn't raining there and all he could see out his window was two raindrops on his sidewalk.

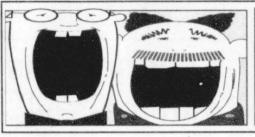

I told him he wasn't showing his faith (he heard the song too)-and he should go outside with his umbrella.

He said he didn't have an umbrella but if it would help he would put a bucket on his head and stand outside! I don't know if he did or not-but it did paint a funny picture in my mind.

Juanita and Joe Stepp's grandson had a little accident this week. Three-yearold Morgan got a big scrape right between his nose from a run in with a Teeter-Totter.

If you ask him what happened, he'll say, "A Tater Tot hit me!"

Cates says she loves to paint flowers and has "lots of paintings in my mind." She also frequently paints images of her collection of pitchers which now number about 30. "I would like to paint them all," says Cates.

Her long-time wish came true last year when she obtained a photo of a 1909 cotton harvest awaiting process-

Although she has not been a competitor in juried shows, Cates has sold many paintings and has works in collections in Tennessee, Oklahoma, and California as well as Texas.

"The whole community has moved together to make this possible. I have never seen anything like this before."

Before the Pansy Church could be moved all the bricks had to be removed from the building. "The First Baptist Church of Crosbyton took about 85% of the bricks off the building in one day," said Jackson.

A slab of concrete, consisting of 110 yards (or 300,000 lbs.) was laid at a new location in Floydada—on the corner of 12th and Lee Street. After the concrete sets for 30 days the Pansy Church will

"The slab layers were volunteer workers from the Methodist Church in Wiley," said Jackson. "At least 140 people from member churches have donated their time.

"One day when there was a big group of people working at the new site a in Long Beach, California. woman stopped by and gave us all some cookies she had made. No one knew who she was," said Jackson.

Mt. Zion Baptist Church will be celebrating 70 years of existence in September, and they will be celebrating it in their new building.

"Mt. Zion was probably built in the '40's," said Jackson. "Part of it is an old school building which was moved in. This part serves as the main sanctuary. It has had additions since then."

The new building, Pansy Baptist Church, was built in 1965 after the first church burned down. Mt. Zion's new church will be moved 32 miles and will have classrooms, cathedral ceilings, beautiful cushioned pews and will even come with an organ. "We get all the furniture in the building except for a piano," said Jackson. "But we already have a piano.

"It is going to be a much better facility and we are also moving to a location with paved roads instead of dirt," said an excited Rev. Jackson.

Jackson has been pastor of Mt. Zion since May 28, 1987 and a resident of Floydada since Oct. 1986. He moved to Floydada from Los Angeles where he was co-pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church

Jackson had lived in California since the age of 3, but while serving 20 years in the Navy he has managed to see a lot of the rest of the world

Besides his full time job of pastoring Mt. Zion, Jackson also works full time for Caprock Hospital District. He has been married to his wife, Shirley, for

"I try to tell my parents, in Richmond, California, about all the help we've gotten on our church and they can't believe it," said Jackson. "It is hard for people who live in big cities to imagine everyone working together like this. Small towns are wonderful"

Mt. Zion is one of two "Black" churches in Floydada and has a membership role of 91, averaging 30-35 people in church each Sunday. However, the small but faithful congregation knows their membership stretches a lot farther than among their own pews.

Our meeting on Thursday March 30 was attended by 49 people, with several guests in our midst.

The program Martha Kirk from Crosbyton brought us on life in Saudia Arabia was very interesting. She showed slides of people and places there and talked to us about their ways of living which are very different to our way of life here in the United States. Everyone I have talked with said they thoroughly enjoyed the program.

FLOYDADA--The Harmony Extension Club met Monday, March 27, in the club room at the Harmony Community Center. The president Karen Miller called the meeting to order and read the Thought for the Day: "Perfection may never be reached, but it's worth reaching for."

*Choose primroses for clusters of pink, orange or light blue blooms. Pansies are a very popular cool-season annual flower. *Flowering cabbage and kale may be the best annuals to bring varied color and texture to your winter and early spring landscape

*In late April or early May, plant summer annuals and enjoy vivid color throughout the season. The low-growing petunia is a favorite plant. *As temperatures begin to drop in the fall, use chrysanthemums and Shasta daisy plants to showcase rich shades of red, rust and gold in your yard. *By October, plant pansies, flowering cabbage, and ornamental kale again and you'll have continuous color in your yard through the winter months.

*Between October and December, plant bulbs that will burst forth with early spring color.

*Crocus, which grows to 4 to 5 inches in height, will be the first to display blue, purple, white and yellow blooms. Next tulips, daffodils, and hyacinths will provide a rainbow of color to your yard.

Following the program, recreation was presented by Maye Williams, who gave a quiz on flowers.

Karen Miller served refreshments to the members, Juanita Poole, Anna Maude Hopper, Lucille Miller, Vivian Curtis, Arvie Schulz, Ruth Scott, Maye Williams, Blanche Williams, Doris Snodgrass and Bennie Dutton.

Something extra to read on: With Roots Strong and Firm . . .

Working with Residents Trees are sometimes strong and healthy. Other trees have broken limbs and are bent out of shape from the storms they have weathered. Some have been attacked by insects and disease and are no longer limber and strong. Many trees are carefully planted and cultivated. Other trees survive in very difficult growing enditions, like an evergreen clinging to the face of a windy cliff; its roots push into the cracks and crevices of the rocks. Trees survive with roots that are strong and firm . . . and when the roots die, or the ground around them longer grow. It too withers and collapses. Mature trees are a symbol of older people because they have a majesty and a strength not found in young saplings. Even the bent and gnarled tree, misshapen because of age and damage, re-are now, once they were strong. Once they had families, hopes and dreams, jobs that made them feel worthwhile. During the first few weeks in the nursing home, new residents and their families face many changes that are very much like uprooting and transplanting a tree. Volunteers can be an important part of helping them adjust to their new situation, but residents need to learn how to relate to volunteers.

TAKE ACTION FROM TORNADOES

Tomadoes can strike at any time, any place, in Texas. Listen to National Weather Service bulletins for weather information. If a warning is issued or you see a tornado, immediately take shelter below ground or in an interior hallway or bathroom on the ground floor. Stay away from windows.

If you're outside, lie flat in a ditch or ravine and cover your head with your arms. Do not stay in or under your car or mobile home, since both are easily moved by tornadoes. Do not try to outrun a tomado or drive away from it in your car.

Idalou's massive Matthew Brown swept the shot put and discus with distances of 52'-3 3/4" and 169'-1", respectively. Floydada's Zach Abshier placed second in both events, with tosses of 49'-4 1/2" (shot put) and 148'-3" (discus). Abshier's best effort so far this year in discus has been 156'-1 1/2" at the San Angelo meet.

Teammate D.G.Hollums placed 3rd in discus with a measurement of 136'-6". Hollums also took fourth in shot put with time of 1.07, and ran 2:36.91 to capture a 42'-9 1/4" effort. Personal-best times were registered by Omar Eguia (4:55) and Arnulfo Cervera (5:21.9) as they placed second and fifth, respectively, in the mile run (1600 meters). Monte Quisenberry's 11.69 was the best time posted in the 100-meter preliminaries, but a pulled muscle caused him to be scratched for the finals. Cervera ran 12.3 in the event.

Rance Barnett gathered important team points for the 'Winds with a 5th place finish in 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 19.2. Joe Sanchez ran the 800 meters in 2:08.94 for 3rd place and 6 team points. Sammy Segura accounted for 2 team points by placing fifth in the event.

Omar Eguia put himself in position for district contention by placing third in the 3200-meters with a time of 11:24.0. Several of the high finishers at Idalou will be in the thick of the competition at the District 2-3A meet in Littlefield on April 14-15.

The Longhorn bats cranked up in the third and Lockney was able to score three runs on two hits while holding Crosbyton scoreless.

Floydada Baseball Report

By Bill Gray

FLOYDADA -- The Whirlwinds wrapped up the non-district portion of their baseball schedule with a pair of tough losses to Childress and Idalou last week. They enter District 2-3A play with a 7-7 record (their best non-district mark in the 5 years of the program).

The long trek to Childress on March 28 was cold and disappointing as the experienced and patient Bobcats used a 3-run fourth inning to hold off the Whirlwinds 11-8. Floydada's eight errors, which produced 6 unearned runs, were the difference in the outcome.

According to Coach David Kennedy, "We were able to keep it close until the bottom of the fourth. Then Childress had big innings in the fourth and sixth. We just had too many errors to overcome." The coach added, "I was pleased that we kept fighting - as evidenced by our six runs in the final two innings.'

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor.

I was about six years old when the first water tower was built in Floydada. The town was thinly settled and a person could see much that went on downtown from 2 1/2 miles where we lived on our 80 acre farm west of town. We could watch the construction of the tower from about 20 ft. high of the legs on up to the finish of the tank.

I can remember when the legs were finished, the bottom of the tank might remind one of a large bowl. They welded the rest of the sides and put a sloped roof on it. I sure enjoyed watching the building of the tower and tank but didn't get to go see it at town.

In those years a beautiful courthouse was built with a dome and four face clock. The front west steps had two large round pillars that were interesting to a boy. About 40 years ago the powers that were in charge of county affairs decided to take the dome and clock off and put a flat roof on. While this was going on someone left some oily rags that ignited and burned the insides out of the courthouse and we have the present courthouse was built in the east part of town. It had 2 1/2 stories above ground, four rooms in the basement and four nice columns on each side of the north entrance steps. There was also an auditorium on the top floor. Wonder who thought it was good to have an assembly room on the third floor without fire escapes. The building was demolished in I think the 1940s.

Some of us may think we might do better than the ones in authority. Who knows we may do worse.

An Important Message for WTU Customers

Recently you may have read or heard about a plan proposing "competition and choice in the generation of electricity" with the implication that everyone's electric bill would go down if that happens. If you think that sounds too good to be true, you're right.

A handful of unregulated power producers is promoting a scheme that would allow them to sell power at retail directly to consumers. They want you to believe that's competition and that it would lower everyone's electric bill. In reality, their goal is to sell power to large industrial customers at low rates which will be eventually subsidized by smaller consumers. They are not interested in assuming an obligation to serve anybody.

At West Texas Utilities Company, we achieve success with a tradition of low rates, reliability, community involvement and dedication to superior customer service. The electric industry is changing. Deregulation, expanding customer expectation, new technologies and other dynamic forces are having a profound effect on our business, but the strong commitment to our customers and communities remains.

Contrary to the self-serving efforts of a few special interest groups, the state's electric utilities have proposed legislation to increase competition in a way that will benefit all consumers. The proposal would open the wholesale generation market to all who want to participate, thus allowing every consumer to benefit from the least costly sources of power. Unlike the unregulated power producers' scheme, no consumers or group of consumers would face higher rates so a few could pay less.

WTU has been a provider of electrical service for some 80 years. Our involvement with and commitment to the communities we serve are stronger than ever. Our lowerthan-average rates in Texas have been stable for years. We take our obligation to provide the best possible service to each and everyone of our customers very seriously. Always have, always will! If you would like more information on this very important issue, please call or come by any WTU office.

J. K. West remembers a ride in Floydada's ambulance

I waited 83 years and 11 months before I took a ride in an ambulance just for me. I had ridden in an ambulance in Hillsboro when Madge, Roy and Vera Burks and myself had a wreck there in 1970 on our way to Mexico.

Taylor and Marble present gardening program to Homebuilders FCE Club

By Jonelle Fawver

FLOYDADA -- The Homebuilders FCE Club met in the home of Murl Mayfield March 28 with members and guests answering roll call of "Name your favorite flower or plant." Some answers were roses, lilacs, peonies, bluebonnets, strawberries and others.

Gladys Widener, secretary/treasurer, read minutes and gave the treasurer's report. She also read "Unlocking Your Memories" using your mind to go in a room you wish to recall of your childhood, youth or other happenings or persons in your past life and single out things you want to remember.

Our program "How does your garden grow?" was given by Virginia Taylor and Carolyn Marble. Those two had completed a course of Master Gardener at Texas Agricultural Extension Service near Lubbock last year.

Virginia gave us a garden checklist for early spring of: 1. preparing beds for planting by adding compost and fertilizer; 2. pruning of evergreens and summer flowering trees and shrubs; 3. select and order caladium tubes, geranium and coleus plants for April and May; 4. plant seed in flats of annuals; 5. start hanging baskets of petunias and annuals; 6. dig and divide summer and fall perennials just before spring growth begins and other hints.

Mrs. Taylor gave pamphlets on "Don't Mayfield

Bag It" lawn care plan that will save you time, energy and money. This stresses plans and time for watering, fertilizing and mowing your lawn.

Carolyn gave us a lesson on house plants, care and maintenance. She said most houses do not have enough light for house plants without planning for such. Plants need light, watering and pruning to do well. Too much watering can kill a plant -- her trick to check is do not stick your finger in soil or check top area of soil but get a sharpened pencil and stick into the root area and if soil comes out on pencil it still has enough moisture for awhile longer -- if pencil is free of any soil it needs watering. To group house plants into grouping of same or different plants make an attractive view. Mrs Marble showed us how to prune and transplant cuttings stressing using a good potting soil for all houseplants.

Their manual was a big volume with original studies and leaflets they added since the course and said they were surprised at the many things included in the course. We thoroughly enjoyed this program and could have spent more time hearing and learning about it. Thanks to Virginia and Carolyn.

Members attending were Gladys Widener, Lillian Smith, Barbara Willis, Jonelle Fawver and hostess, Murl

The cities of Lockney and Floydada have joined with the Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon to bring a series of water conservation tips to the citizens of Floyd County. Over the next few week's reprints from a Cargill Inc. sponsored program called "Water Matters" will appear in this paper.

These tips if used at home, at work, and in the community can help reduce some of the waste of an important and vital resource.

WATER-USE TALLY SHEET Like all other living things, human beings are made up largely of water. Every day, we must take in about half a gallon of water simply to stay alive and healthy. But, in fact, the average person in the United States uses about 100 gallons (379 liters) a day for drinking, bathing, cooking, washing, watering gardens, etc. Compare that with two-thirds of the people in the world who use less than 13 gallons (49 liters) of water a day. And the water each of us uses directly is only a start, because water is essential in producing the food we use, products we purchase, and in the transportation we ride.

To find out how much water you use in one day, complete the table below. Just keep a tally of the number of times you do each of the activities, and total the values at the end of the day. But remember, this is just the amount of water you are using directly.

Boll weevil traps available

By David Kostroun Extension Agent-Entomology (PM) Crosby/Floyd Counties

Boll weevil infestations intensified in several southern High Plains areas including Crosby and Floyd counties later in the 1994 growing season. The Texas High Plains Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program expanded its coverage to the west to address these weevil infes-

It is important for producers and for the success of this program to locate overwintered weevil infestations as early as possible. These populations will provide the nucleus for further weevil development during the 1995 season.

The use of pheromone traps can greatly facilitate the detection of these small, early weevil infestations permitting producers and consultants the opportunity to treat potentially damaging infestations and to spray lower level infestations that pose a threat to continued spread and development of weevil infestations in southern High Plains cot-

Pexas Beef Industry summarizes projects

The Texas beef industry continues to build beef demand in U.S. and foreign markets through an array of checkofffunded projects in the areas of foodservice, retail, consumer information and export market development, said Harlan Huffman, chairman of the Texas Beef Council (TBC).

TBC recently released summaries of projects in its annual report for the fiscal year 1993-1994. The projects, each designed to support or extend national beef checkoff program activities include:

* Offering retailers incentives to feature beef that resulted in movement of an additional 2.5 million pounds of beef during a time of high supply

* Sending Texas students 580,000 refrigerator magnets with information on food safety and 29,000 teachers Food Safety First education kits.

* Cooperating with the U.S. Meat Export Federation during May on a special promotion in Mexico that increased sales 31 percent.

* Sending foodservice distributor employees through beef training classes that resulted in 21 percent increase in beef sales in three months for one com-

* Providing quality and consistency information to more than 2,300 Texas producers through 12 meetings.

Also included on the annual report's cover is a replica of the poster on a balanced diet featuring Dallas Cowboy tight end Jay Novacek. The poster went to all physical education teachers and to 11,000 children in conjuntion with Tom Huffman pointed out that the report shows many positive results despite occurring in a year when prices dropped, supplies increased, and the peso in Mexico was devalued.

"They are positive because TBC's board of directors, officers and staff focused on improving our profit potential for beef within Texas throughout the checkoff program," Huffman said. "It is a small consolation for a producer who may see rocky times ahead. But I know the conditions would be much worse nout the checkoff."

The national perspective is capsuled in a pie-chart showing national beef checkoff program expenditures authorized by the Cattlemen's Beef Promotion and Research Board, the national group that is responsible for administering the beef checkoff program.

Cotton council places Texans on the board

From the National Cotton Council News

Fifteen Texans have been elected to leadership positions in the National Cotton Council. Wayne Martin, Plains Cooperative Oil Mill of Lubbock, was re-elected Council vice president.

William T. Lovelady, Tornillo, was re-elected chairman of the Council's Producer Steering Committee. Craig D. Shook, Corpus Christi, was re-elected regional director and Jackie Burris, Wellman, was re-elected state producer

Elected to the Council's 35-member board of directors were Myrl Mitchell, Lenorah; Gaylan Y. Beavers, Waco; F.A. Underwood, Lubbock; Paul Ruh, Richardson; Bill Quattlebaum, Lubbock; W. David Stanford, Lubbock; along with Lovelady and Shook.

Stanford was re-elected to Cotton Council International's (CCI) board of directors. CCI is the Council's export promotion division. Re-elected to CCI's board were David L. Hand, El Paso; Van A. May, Lubbock; and Ruh.

Mitchell was elected chairman of the Council's Texas unit. Robert R. Riggs, Quanah, is unit vice chairman and Chris Breedlove, Sebastian, is secretary.

Jerry Harris of Lamesa was elected first vice president of the National Cotton Ginners Association.

In an effort to assist producers and crop consultants in monitoring overwintering boll weevil populations, Plains Cotton Growers and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is offering boll weevil pheromone trap sets at a reduced cost. Trap sets (consisting of 4 traps, 4 poles, 20 pheromone, and 8 kill strips) can be purchased for $12 per set. It is recommended that at least 4 traps be placed per field.

Trapping efforts should be conducted in "suspected" overwintering areas starting around the time of planting. Trap data will need to be reported to the Extension Service as a condition of this trapping program.

Trap data for 1995 will help us to "take the temperature" of the weevil situation across the area which will in turn help the control program get a better grasp of the kind of control effort that will be necessary in the fall if the Boll Weevil Eradication Referendum passes.

Traps will also help producers determine if their fields will benefit from an overwintered weevil insecticide application. This management by producers would greatly enhance the overall success of the area suppression of boll wee-

Traps can only be ordered through the Extension office. Ordering deadline is April 10. For more information call 675-

Plains Cotton Growers annual meeting Friday

-- From Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. By Shawn Wade

Officials of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) announce their 38th annual membership meeting will be held Friday, April 7.

PCG's meeting will be held in Room 107 of the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center in conjunction with the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association (TCGA) convention and trade show April 6-7. PCG invites all producers, ginners and other interested parties to attend the organization's annual meeting.

Registration for the PCG meeting will begin at 8:30 a.m. outside of Room 107. The program is scheduled to begin at 9:00 a.m. The PCG meeting is timed to avoid conflicts with other TCGA activi-

PCG officials are pleased to have two outstanding speakers on the agenda for the meeting as well. Woody Anderson of Colorado City, Chairman of the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation Board of Directors, and John Maguire, of Washington, D.C., Vice President, Washington Operations for the National Cotton Council will speak at the PCG

The TCGA "gin show", co-sponsored for the first time by Little Publications, will begin at 9:00 a.m., April 6 at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center and conclude Friday, April 7. Each year 4,000-5,000 people attend the gin show, which is recognized as one of the largest gatherings of cotton industry people

The primary focus of PCG's annual meeting will be the culmination of educational activities currently under way election meetings across PCG's 25in preparation for the upcoming High

Plains Boll Weevil Eradication referendum which is scheduled to be held April

Of equal interest to producers will be John Maguire's report on the status of the 1995 Farm Bill which is being developed at this time.

"This year's program will provide High Pains producers an excellent opportunity to hear about two of the most important issues facing them at this time," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "The boll weevil's recent move onto the High Plains and formulation of the 1995 Farm Bill both have the potential to drastically alter the way we do business through the year

Also scheduled to speak at the PCG meeting are Johnson, PCG President Frank Jones, PCG Boll Weevil Steering Committee Chairman Wayne Huffaker, and PCG Plains Cotton Improvement Committee Chairman Myrl D. Mitchell.

Following the PCG annual meeting the PCG Board of Directors will meet for the election of 1995-96 officers. Current PCG officeholders are President Frank Jones of Lamesa, VIce President Jackie Burris of Wellman, and Secretary-Treasurer Don Langston of Lubbock. Each of these individuals is eligible for re-election to their current positions under PCG By-Law's.

One other highlight of PCG's morning activities will be the certification of newly elected Board members by the organization's producer membership. The PCG Board is currently in the process of electing new members at county county service area.

Texas and Tamaulipas governors support trade of beef and livestock

The governor of the states of Texas and Tamaulipas pledged their support for a stronger beef and livestock trade between the U.S. and Mexico by signing a "spirit of agreement of trade." The event took place during the 1995 International Livestock Congress.

Texas Gov. George W. Bush and Tamaulipas Gov. Manuel Cavazos Lerma, both strong proponents of international trade, signed the document that stated: "We recognize that robust international trade augments our national and state treasuries, increases job opportunities and standards of living for our fellow citizens, and provides additional income for our rural economies."

The document signing was before 300 beef and cattle producers attending ILC. The attendees included the presidents of all organizations in Texas dealing with beef cattle as well as representatives of the cattle industries of Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, Coahuila and Chihuahua.

Also attending were Bob Drake of Davis, Okla., president of the National Cattlemen's Association; Rick Perry, Texas commissioner of agriculture; Eduardo Garza Gonzalez, secretary of agriculture for Tamaulipas; Ricardo Maldonado Gonzalez, secretary of agriculture for Nuevo Leon; and Juan de Dios Barba Vargas, secretary of Confederacion Nacional Ganadera, the Mexican cattlemen's association.

The focus of the governors' remarks was on trade opportunities between Texas and Mexico. Bush said, "Free trade with Mexico and good relations with Mexico means jobs and opportunities for Texans." He pledged that the relationship between Texas and Mexico will continue to be good in his adminis-

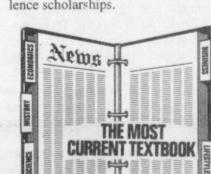

U.S. cattlemen at the event noted that despite concerns over Mexico's economic situation, the longterm forecast for trade between the U.S. and Mexico is good. The market has shown high growth potential for beef products produced by the U.S. and Mexico. In addition, Mexico cannot meet its own market demand and must import protein products like beef to feed its population. Likewise, the United States continues to supplement its domestic cattle supplies with calves from northern Mexico.

This year Mexico already has sent approximately 250,000 head of cattle to the U.S., 80 percent of them through Texas. Over a year's time, Mexican cattle will represent between 15 and 20 percent of Texas' fed cattle beef supplies. Texas is the No. 1 cattle feeding state in the U.S.

Last year, the U.S. enjoyed beef sales to Mexico in excess of 65,000 metric tons. After the peso devaluation, beef sales declined from 70 to 80 percent, according to U.S. Meat Export Federation (USMEF) figures. However, the gap between U.S. boxed beef and Mexican carcass prices has begun to narrow because of calf sales to the U.S. and liquidation of cow herds due to a severe drought in Mexico.

USMEF predicts that once the peso stabilizes and foreign buyers can plan purchases, U.S. sales should rebound.

Votes needed on referendum

By David Kostroun Extension Agent-Entomology Crosby/Floyd Counties

By now, area producers should have received a ballot from the Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA) to vote on Boll Weevil Eradication and Enhanced Diapause for the High Plains area. With the critical nature of the present weevil situation, producers will want to take this opportunity to vote for the future of cotton production in the High Plains.

While, the actual referendum is for ultimate eradication of the boll weevil from this area, that phase of the program would not kick in until the spring of 1998. The immediate concern and goal is to reduce weevil infestations in the affected area and prevent further spread of the weevil using an enhancement of the existing Plains Cotton Growers Suppression on Diapause Program during the 3 year period leading up to eradi-

The boll weevil has plagued the U.S. cotton producer for more than 100 years. While it first entered the U.S. near Brownsville, Texas bout 1892, it has only recently invaded the High Plains area as an economic pest. In fact much of the cotton production in the High Plains is the result of farmers moving westward in an effort to escape the ravages of the boll weevil in east and central Texas.

Today, this pest costs Texas producers $25-50 million annually in crop losses and chemical treatments. Since 1964, the High Plains Boll Weevil Suppression Program has successfully battled the boll weevil to a draw for the most part along the edge of the Caprock Escarpment which separates the Rolling Plains area to the east from the High Plains area to the westand has prevented the weevil from becoming an established economic pest in over 3 million acres of cotton, the largest cotton patch in the world.

competitive edge with other U.S. cotton weevil but other pests as well.

the southeast, Arizona and California have successfully eradicated the boll weevil from their area and now enjoying the rewards of their efforts-producing cotton without the boll weevil.

However, our area is being threatened by the boll weevil. Because of five consecutive mild winters coupled with the expansion of available overwintering habitat through the Conservation Reserve Program Grass coverage the last ten years has allowed weevils to greatly expand their numbers and territory, resulting in unprecedented high demands on limited program funds.

The program funding structure was never intended to provide the money necessary to address the kind of threat we are facing today. For the last three years, the program has attempted to prevent the spread and establishment of weevils invading our area by greatly expanding the original control zone area. It has done this at great expense. Funds are almost depleted with only enough available to conduct a 1995 fall program of similar proportions as last

Irrigation association chooses new leaders

Texas Agriculture Irrigation Association (TAIA) inducted Leon New, irrigation specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service of Amarillo, president during the groups annual membership meeting in San Angelo.

Other officers named to new posts were John Walker, Lubbock, vice president and Clois Cobb, Shallowater, secretary-treasurer.

Three new directors, Len Sheets, Dumas; Dick Laursen, Stephenville and Ralph Franse of Farwell also joined the board. Other board members are Bobby Pell, San Juan; Patricia Bruno, Lubbock; and Roger Shultz of Brenham.

The organization, formed four years ago, includes all sectors important to the industry - producers, equipment manufacturers, sales and service companies representatives and others make up the membership. Anyone with an interest in irrigation is welcome, says

TAIA bases its goals on principles of sound water use and conservation, environment stewardship, and improving irrigation technology and education.

With statesmanship membership increasing, TAIA now holds technology conferences and equipment exhibitions at several sites around the state to meet the needs of members using irrigation in their production system.

TAIA also names agriculture students as recipients of its academic excellence scholarships.

If the referenda do not pass, it would be at least another 120 days before another referendum could be held. This would mean that any coordinated area-wide boll weevil control effort would be delayed until 1996.

Mark and return your ballot before April 15 to participate in this area-wide effort. Your vote is important for the future of High Plains cotton.
