A view from
The Lamplighter
By Ken Towery

We are about to give up hope that what is now called "the media" is ever going to be capable of reforming itself, that it will ever be able to learn from past mistakes, that it will ever be able (or willing) to separate fact from opinion, or that we will ever again see a genuine diversity of opinion in the presentation of controversial views to our citizens.

The tragedy of the Oklahoma bombing is merely the latest example. Reaction to that event simply mirrored the daily media's reaction, many years ago, to events surrounding the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Those old enough to have lived through that unhappy period will remember the sequence. Crowds lined the streets to welcome the President to Dallas. Other than the well known bitterness (and yes, even "hatred") between some of the high ranking Democratic politicians riding in the parade cars, it was something of a festive occasion.

A lone gunman, later identified as a Marxist or Communist sympathizer who had given up his American citizenship, lived in Moscow for a period of time, and was an open admirer of Fidel Castro, shot and killed the President.

Within minutes an emotional Walter Cronkite was on the air for CBS, noting that Kennedy had been killed in Dallas, a hotbed of right-wing Republicans who were opposed to all the President stood for. Ergo, the implication was, Kennedy was killed by a "right-winger", therefore he must have been killed by a conservative Republican whipped to a frenzy by the political climate in Dallas. That line was picked up and trumpeted world-wide. If you were opposed to Kennedy's politics, you must have had a hand in the assassination.

Even after the assassin's past, and his politics, was revealed for all to see, the dominate media line changed little. There was never an editorial or column (that we saw) that said "perhaps we were a little hasty in our judgement." Or "we are sorry that we misled our readers, or our viewers." The emphasis merely changed slightly, to "well yes, Oswald might have been a left-winger, a communist, but it was the climate of hatred brought on by Kennedy's "right-wing" detractors that actually caused the killing."

Now. A massive bomb blast wrecks a building in Oklahoma, killing scores of people. Within hours the television informs us in no uncertain terms that the bombing must have been the work of mid-east "terrorists" (read Arabs) who were no doubt reacting to the prosecution of those charged with bombing the World Trade Center in New York. Every network, including Ted Turner's CNN, hurried to bring aboard their own "terrorism expert" to explain to the American people how the mid-east "terrorists" worked, how they operated world-wide, and why it was necessary for the FBI to infiltrate their organizations and snuff them out, lock, stock, and barrel.

Given the ownership, and the political persuasion, of America's dominate media, it is perhaps understandable why the finger would have been pointed so quickly, and so irresponsibly, at "mid-east terrorists."

But then a suspected culprit is arrested. He is immediately labeled a "right-wing terrorist," or a "right-wing extremist." Nothing is really known, at this time, about his politics, one way or the other. We do not know, for instance, whether he was an active participant in Democratic politics, or Republican politics, or, for that matter, whether he has ever voted in his life. All we know, from the daily press, is that he is a "right-winger," whatever that is. And since the left dominates the media, it will mean whatever they choose it to mean.

What we do know, or what we have been told, is that at one time he had some association with one or more of those heretofore obscure "militia" groups. We know, or we have been told, that he has made statements indicating a dislike for certain activities of the federal government. We know, or we have been told, that he expressed sympathy for those who died in the Waco fiasco, and hostility toward those government agents he

Longhorns face Idalou at Bi-District

Undefeated 'Horns are district champs

By Lisa Mosley

It wasn't the only first this year, but it was the most important one for the Longhorn Varsity Baseball team as they claimed their first ever district championship after defeating Hale Center 16-6 on Friday, May 12.

The Longhorns posted a perfect 8-0 district record and have a 13 game winning streak going into the playoffs Thursday, May 18, at O'Banion field in Lubbock.

The Horns will face Idalou in what may prove to be a battle of the pitchers and the big bats. Idalou boasts the arm of pitching ace Ryan Dela Garza (8-3) and the power hitting of Shawn Bigham who boasts nine home runs for the season.

But Coach David Norwood has plenty of confidence in his pitching staff and batters.

"Alfred (Martinez) has really come on strong for us this year in pitching and our backup staff (Tanner Johnson, Carlos Perales, Nino Garcia, and Jared Mosley) have all recorded wins and saves this year," said Norwood.

"Bigham is a power hitter that we'll have to be ready for, but Jared leads the South Plains with 10 home runs and boasts a .433 average with 41 RBIs. Tanner, Alfred, and Carlos have all knocked the ball out of the park and Lalo is making some clutch hits for us. We just need to keep the momentum."

And momentum is what carried the Horns through their last two district games.

Coming off of a come-from-behind victory over New Deal (5-3), the Horns were forced to play on two consecutive nights.

In a game delayed six days because of rain, Lockney faced Abernathy on Antelope turf Thursday afternoon and came away with a 22-0 win in five innings.

Winning pitcher Martinez faced only 17 batters in five innings, registering through strikeouts and benefiting from excellent defense by Nino Garcia, Lalo Chavira, Mosley and the rest of the team.

The Longhorns boasted 15 hits including three home runs (Mosley, Johnson, and Martinez), doubles (L. Chavira, Johnson, Martinez, Perales, Lambert), and 7 singles (Martinez (2), Garcia, Mosley, T. Johnson, Josh Lambert, and Romualdo Chavira).

In their final regular season game against Hale Center on Friday, Lockney got off to a slow start as they allowed the Owls to gain the lead 4-2 in the second inning.

But the momentum turned the Horns way as they scored three runs in the third to take the lead 5-4, and then brought in 8 runs in the fourth inning.

Hale Center scored two in the fifth before a single by Carson Johnson, followed by back to back home runs by Martinez and Mosley ended the game 16-6.

"We've had a lot of firsts this year," said Norwood. "Our first district championship, a 13-game win streak, undefeated in district, two home runs in a single game by a player (Mosley vs. Hale Center), two home runs in a single game by two players (Johnson and Mosley vs. Morton) and home runs by different players in a single game (Johnson, Mosley, and Martinez vs. Abernathy).

Norwood finds it hard to complain about very much. With the strong leadership of nine seniors and following a quarterfinalist berth last year, the Horns look to take experience onto the field when they face Idalou in the playoffs.

If the Horns haven't peaked yet, maybe that end-of-season momentum will carry them all the way to the state tournament.

Lockney parents plan graduation party

LOCKNEY—An after graduation party is being planned for the Lockney High School Class of 1995 by parents of the graduates. The party will be held in Amarillo at the Radisson Hotel.

The students will be driven to Amarillo and back home again by adult volunteers. Vehicles will depart for Amarillo at approximately 11:30 p.m. May 26 from the Lockney Gymnasium.

The evening of fun will be paid for through donations by businesses and individuals.

Two guests may be brought by each graduate but they must pay for the evening themselves at a cost of $20.00.

According to organizer, Debbie Wylie, "This is not a school sponsored event. It is a non-alcoholic alternative party sponsored by the parents. We hope every senior will come. This will be their last party as a class and something to remember always."

She continued, "I have been thrilled with the reception we have received from the businesses and individuals. They have readily donated money and gifts."

Door prizes donated by the businesses will be given, including $150.00 from the Lockney P.T.A. Anyone who would like to help, donate money or door prizes is asked to contact Debbie Wylie at 652-3630 or Lisa Mosley at 652-2569.

Lockney Dairy Queen celebrates 20 years with contest and specials

Lockney Dairy Queen will be celebrating 20 years of business with a DQ Olympic contest beginning Thursday, May 18.

The Lockney landmark first opened its doors April 20, 1975 and has been faithful to its customers since that day. There have been times that the Dairy Queen was the only restaurant in Lockney serving meals.

It has been a mainstay in the community and many "regulars" who meet every day to discuss the weather, politics and their community over a cup of coffee depend on this establishment.

The 1975 Grand Opening ads for the Dairy Queen boasted 39¢ Hungerbusters (regularly 69¢) and DQ "Dude"

Steak Sandwiches for 69¢ (regularly 89¢).

Lockney's Dairy Queen will mark 20 years with another special on Hungerbusters. This Friday only, May 19, Hungerbusters will be sold for $1.29 (regularly $2.10) and Sundae desserts can be bought for 99¢ (nuts included at no extra cost).

The first manager of Dairy Queen was Georgia Gallaway. She now resides in Lubbock. The current manager is Corina Gonzales, who has worked at Dairy Queen, off and on for 10-12 years.

Thursday's Olympic competition will be fun to witness, as DQ employees will

County enjoys rain

Although "cloud spotters" were kept very busy Monday night, May 15, Floyd County was spared heavy damage from winds. Most of the county was blessed with much needed rain although it fell in varying amounts throughout Floyd County.

Larry Golden, of the Aiken Community, recorded 2 inches. However, approximately 2 miles north of Golden's on FM 2301, at Dart Carthel's, the recorded amount was 4 inches.

The Providence Community averaged 1 inch. Bill Sherman, in the Lone Star Community (off of FM 378) said, "My rain gauge had 1 inch and a funny looking bug in it."

Jim Roberts, in Sterley, reported 1 inch. Carl Lemons, of Cedar Hill, reported .78 inches. "I think I got more than what my gauge showed," said Lemons. "The wind was blowing so hard that the rain was being driven down in horizontal sheets. I don't think my rain gauge could measure it accurately. I'm more inclined to think I got 1 inch. Most everybody else in Cedar Hill is saying 1/2 - 3/4 inches," said Lemons.

Sandhill reported 3/4 inches and areas of Barwise reported 2 inches.

James Hale, in Allmon Community, reported 1 1/4 inches.

Dan Fry in McCoy reported 1.5" and Juanita Stepp in Dougherty reported 1/2 inch.

Herman Graham in Muncy reported .7 inches, Lockney reported .9" and Floydada reported .73 inches. South Plains reported 1.2 inches.

Scattered showers also fell throughout the county early Wednesday morning, registering .1 inches in Floydada, .3 inches in Lockney and .6 inches in Providence.

Activities during the day will include a beard contest, barbecue lunch, washer pitching contest, raffles, cow patty bingo and lots of shopping at the numerous arts and crafts booths.

The auction that is held every year to raise money for the Floyd County Pioneer Association will be held at 1:00 p.m. under the pavilion. The bidding process will be handled differently this year. According to the Association this will be a minimum bid auction. The people who donate items to the auction will be asked to put a price on what they believe the item to be worth. If the item does not bring at least the asking price during the bidding it will be returned to the owner.

The parade will begin at 2:30 p.m. Registration for the parade will be at the old BJ's department store (next to Hale's Department Store), on California Street. All participants are asked to assemble on the parking lot at the First Baptist Church. Anyone who has questions concerning the parade should

BY THE WAY!

BY ALICE GILROY

Duffy Hinkle has been working at the paper now for four weeks. She is learning real fast and her typing ability is putting us all to shame.

She worried a lot when she first started—most people do.

She wanted to be sure she did everything perfect—and there were no role models around here for her to copy.

She told us after her first Tuesday of typing all day that she had gone home and dreamed all night that she was typing. She didn't even get any rest after she closed her eyes.

She said she had a bad dream that first Tuesday night. She dreamed that when the paper came out she opened it up and saw a full page with nothing but corrections on it.

Well—in last week's paper we did our best to make all of Duffy's dreams come true! This week we almost have a full page of corrections.

We have said before that the reason we make mistakes in the paper is to give people something to look for. Well last week we had something for everyone!

The first thing I noticed on Wednesday night was that I forgot to put in the picture of the Lockney Boy Scouts and Little League Cake Auction. It wasn't a great picture but I still wanted to call everyone's attention to the fact that they made $7,250.00 from that auction. It was wonderful!

Then I came to work on Thursday and started getting phone calls.

First—we messed up on a sports headline. We had the Whirlwinds winning their baseball game instead of losing it.

Then it was politely pointed out to us that we rearranged the names on the Class Favorites picture.

Also a cutline about Floydada students Karen Wilson was wrong. She is a Lockney student. The good news is this one wasn't all our fault—Wayland University sent us the information that way (hey—I'm not going to pass up an opportunity to pass on some of this blame).

Then we got a call that we had made an error on a correction! We ran a Light-house Electric picture two weeks ago. We messed up the names. Then last week we re-ran the picture and corrected the names—except we messed up the awards they got.

Have you every had one of those days??

Anyway—we are going to make Duffy's dream come true and print a bunch of corrections this week. The only problem is—none of those mistakes were Duffy's fault!!!

Quitaque is having their National Trails Day Celebration June 3.

I've heard wonderful things about their celebration. We got a list of events here at the paper that Quitaque wants us to promote.

If we get a chance to print any of it you might make note of their Guinea Drop event.

When I first read about it I laughed so hard I cried.

I couldn't help but think about an episode of WKRP in Cincinnati many years ago. Did you ever watch that show? Do you remember Les, the nerdy farm editor on the radio show.

Les knew nothing about farming—but he tried real hard.

The radio show was involved with promoting the opening of a new shopping center. Les wanted to do his part during the live radio broadcast.

Since the shopping center was opening close to Thanksgiving, Les thought it would be a good idea to give away live turkeys. The only problem was, Les decided it would be a real good gimmick to drop live turkeys from an airplane circling the shopping center.

Les didn't know that domesticated turkeys couldn't fly.

The live radio broadcast turned into a comical horror show as shoppers were running all over the parking lot dodging turkeys dropping and splatting on the pavement.

This all came back to me when I read about the 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. Guinea Drop in Quitaque.

According to their news release, "At various intervals during the day a live guinea with a $100 bill attached to its leg will be dropped from an airplane to be captured by some lucky winner."

Don't panic—the news release also said, "Guineas are domesticated birds, but are graceful in flight, and demonstrations have shown they are NOT HARMED as they soar through space."

All that graceful soaring and people waiting to catch those baited birds will make some great pictures!

regarded as responsible for the attack. Does that mean that all those who also think the federal government has gotten too big, too powerful, too intrusive, can be indicted along with the alleged culprit in Oklahoma?

Does that mean that all those who worry that the Second Amendment to the Constitution might be rendered meaningless by Congressional action or judicial fiat can somehow be tied to the bombing, simply by labeling them, like the bomber, as fellow "right-wing extremists."

We think not. But that is the message we are fed daily.

If the person already in custody did the deed, he should be charged, tried, convicted and sentenced, along with everyone else who had a hand in that tragedy. But if the politicians and their friends in the media wish to indict, as co-conspirators, all who held some of the views publicly expressed, or reported to have been publicly expressed by the alleged bomber, they will have a very long list, going all the way back to the framers of the Constitution.

After all, it was Washington who warned against becoming "entangled" with foreign alliances. And it was Jefferson who warned against the dangers of concentrated government, and who said "That government is best which governs least." So it is hardly a crime, in America, to criticize the actions of government, at any level. Indeed, the First Amendment to the Constitution carries with it that very thought, that very guarantee.

It is a crime, on the other hand, to blow up buildings. And it is a crime to kill people, unless that killing is sanctioned by government.

It would be well, in our view, for the media to stick to the facts that are known, until all the facts are known. Then will be plenty of time to start pointing fingers.

That is, if they really are interested in pointing fingers in the right direction, if they really are interested in the truth.

Courtroom Activities

In county court May 11 the following cases were filed:

Julie Flores Jr., pled guilty to Criminal Trespass and was fined $200.00. He was also sentenced to 6 months in jail which was probated for 6 months. He was also ordered to pay court costs.

Luis Talmentez Lopez pled guilty to Criminal Mischief and was fined $100.00. He was also sentenced to 6 months in jail which was probated for one year. He must pay restitution of $1,481.42 and court costs.

Quentin Van Lowrance, 31, of Petersburg, was charged with DWI. There was no disposition on this case.

Robert Scott White was charged with Terroristic Threat. There was no disposition on this case.

New Lockney City Councilmen sworn in Basement sewage creates problems for city

New councilmen were sworn into office, Friday, May 12, during the Lockney City Council meeting.

Taking the oath of office were: a new mayor, Gary Marr; council members Roger Stapp, Bil Anderson and Tina Graves.

Graves was appointed by the other council members to fill the one year unexpired term of Councilman Marr after he took the oath of office as mayor. Councilman Dee Copeland was appointed Mayor Pro-tem.

Ed Self, an attorney for 4 DG's, which owns the house, approximately 1/2 mile south of Hwy. 70, appeared before the council to discuss a sewage problem in the basement of the home.

According to Self, this problem was addressed once before in 1990 after the owners of the home sued the City of Lockney because of sewage backup through their basement bathroom.

The case was taken to court and the first ruling said the city was not liable for the damage. The case was appealed and the city's liability insurance company settled out of court for $20,000 with the owners of the home.

According to Self the problem has reoccurred and he stated the 4 DG's were trying to sell the home but no one would buy the house because of this problem. Self told the council he felt the city should fix the problem or buy the property.

Sewage drains from the house connect to a sewer main located in the dirt road immediately south of the house. The house is located a few hundred feet west of the lift station and is the first house upstream of the lift station. This lift station is the final collection point in the City of Lockney's sewage collection system.

According to a letter submitted by City Engineer Jaime Johnson, who surveyed the outside of the premises, "There is no way to absolutely prevent sewage from entering the basement of the house. Measures can be taken to reduce the likelihood that a backup will occur but none are completely fool-proof."

Johnson outline possible actions to take, ranging in prices up to $1,500.

According to Johnson, "the best solution to a problem of this sort is to eliminate basement sewer connections. It is a fact of life, when there are sewer drains lower than the manholes to which they are connected, sooner or later a stoppage will occur that will cause a backup at those drains."

Faced with the possibility of another lawsuit, Marr said, "Every few years we're in here talking about a lawsuit. We don't even have the responsibility to supply sewage out there to begin with. Since it is a continuous problem maybe the city should cut off the sewage until they take out the basement bathroom or they can install their own sump pump."

After a great deal of discussion between council members, City Attorney Paul Lyle and Self a decision was made to appoint a committee to examine the inside of the house and make further recommendations. The committee will consist of Dickie McCarty, Jaime Johnson, Bil Anderson and Gary Marr.

Janet Pyle also appeared before the council to discuss possible changes at the pool. After discussion the council approved raising the cost of the family pass. The new family pass will cost $50.00 and will cover the immediate family with three children. The cost of each additional child in the family will be $15.00. Individual passes will be $25.00.

Pyle also requested, and the council agreed, to erect stalls in the bathrooms and also a shaded area by the pool for adults watching their children.

Nick Long, president of the Floyd County Progressive Foundation appeared before the city council and explained the work being done by the Foundation and the current Multi-purpose center project.

"We are not trying to duplicate any facilities we already have in the county," said Long. "We also want everyone to realize that there will be no tax dollars used for this project."

Long said several members of the foundation had toured other facilities to get ideas for a Floyd County facility.

"It will probably be a glorified barn that will seat 1,000 people. It will have a concrete floor with moderate heating and cooling and contain kitchen and concession facilities.

"The foundation members like the Muleshoe facility the best," said Long "We will probably use that as our blueprint. It will probably cost $500,00 to construct the building and that does not include a parking lot and furnishings.

"We would like input from every organization to see what they could use the building for. If we do obtain the grants to build the building we have to also look at how we are going to operate it. Fees generated at other buildings we visited brought in anywhere between $10,000 - $20,000."

In other business, council members denied a request from Leonard Cox to put in a sewer line from W. 8th Street to W. 11th Street. Aldermen also stated if Cox decides to put the sewer line himself he must go by the city engineers recommendations.

Alderman Anderson made a motion to accept Braulio Garcia's bid of $2,800 for lot 38, Block 2, Tuttle Addition. Alderman Copeland seconded the motion and all were in favor.

A check signing committee was appointed consisting of Dee Copeland, Gary Marr and Roger Stapp.

Department heads were assigned. Dee Copeland will continue as head of the Cemetery and Landfill department; Stapp will continue as head of the police; Anderson will head up streets, Richard Zavala will head up the city farm and Grave will be in charge of the fire department.

Mosley makes journalism and art budget requests to LISD

The Lockney Independent School District Board of Directors held their regular meeting on Thursday, May 11 and installed the newly elected trustees at that time.

Notes from the May 6 election were canvassed and the results certified.

Installed as new board members by Superintendent Raymond Lusk were Carlton Johnson and Louie Bybee. They joined current members Jim Bob Martin, Mike Mathis, Jessie Garza, Dan Smith, and Bernie Ford.

Accepting the appreciation of the board and staff were outgoing trustees Dickie Lambert and Paul Glasson. Both had served for nine years on the board.

The first order of business was the reorganization of the board. Jim Bob Martin was elected president, Mike Mathis vice-president, Dan Smith, secretary and Bernie Ford assistant-secretary.

Lisa Mosley met with the school board and presented her proposals for the Art and Journalism departments budgets. She asked for another computer, software and a color scanner for the department.

Mosley told the board that she had 75 students in the five art classes she teaches and 14 students in journalism. The journalism students are responsible for the yearbook and also print the school newspaper "The Informer". "Every computer is used every day and still we have students waiting to use them," she stated.

"We save $1800.00 to $2,000.00 on the cost of the yearbooks by being able to do a lot of the work the publishing company would have to do if we didn't have the computers," she continued. "We have received a Merit of Distinction with our yearbooks from Taylor Publishing for the last two years, and it is because we can do such a professional job. Plus, our students are preparing for the work place. Technology is the route everything is going and I want the kids to be prepared."

After the presentation the board opted to consider the request at the meeting in June when they will be working on the budget.

Superintendent Lusk was appointed as the representative to the Region 17 ESC Regional Advisory Committee. He explained to the new board members that Region 17 is a state funded group located in Lubbock that provides services to the school. "They have given extremely good service to us," he stated.

Louie Bybee was selected as the delegate and Jessie Garza as the alternate to the 1995 TASB Delegate Assembly.

The board was asked to consider a change in the high school cheerleader policy. Lusk explained that the policies for junior high and high school needed to be the same. The board voted that students trying out should have a cumulative grade average of 75 in the basic classes and not be failing in any subjects. The high school squad will consist of six girls and a mascot and junior high will have four girls. In case of a tie at tryouts both girls will be accepted.

Principals Poole, Ellison and Cotham reviewed the list of out-of-district transfers and made their recommendations. A total of 39 requested transfers were accepted.

Probasco elected president of board New FISC trustees take office

By Juanita Stepp
FLOYDADA — Two new Floydada school trustees were sworn into office on Thursday, May 11 along with one re-elected official. The three assumed their duties for two year terms during the regular board meeting for May following canvassing of the votes from the May 6 election.

Votes were canvassed by Jimmie Collins, Billy Joe Villarreal, and Mitch Probasco. The results were accepted on a motion by Trena Simpson, seconded by Villarreal and approved by unanimous vote by Simpson, Villarreal, Probasco, and Brown.

Charlene Brown was returned to her post as At-Large trustee while Amado Morales was seated as the Precinct 4 representative replacing John Campbell and Jack Robertson was placed in the Precinct 5 chair replacing Don Hardy. All were sworn into office by Floyd County Judge Bill Hardin at the evening meeting.

Board members then held elections of officers for the coming year. Mitch Probasco was elected president of the board, Steve Lloyd will serve as vice president, and Trena Simpson will be the secretary.

School attorney Paul Lyle attended the meeting to present an overview of the duties and responsibilities of a school trustee to the board members. He is the author of a book on the subject and left a packet of written information with each board member after his informative talk.

Lyle stressed the fact that boards must act as a whole, not individually and that they must be aware of the Texas Open Meetings and Open Records Act as it affects them through their actions as a board member. He also impressed upon those listening that a board members authority ends outside the meeting room.

Anyone approaching them in public concerning a school matter should be referred to the proper channels for their comments under current board policy. This procedure will allow board members to avoid compromising their ability to act on any issue which might come before the board for resolution.

Nick Long met with the board to present a short rundown on the County Foundation plans for pursuing a multi-purpose center in Floyd County. He told the board that no tax money will be sought in funding the project. The foundation is seeking grant money to provide Lusk reported a revision in the 1995-96 school calendar. The dates of Spring Break were changed to March 18-22 and a Teachers In-service day to January 29.

The board voted to employ an additional custodian for the secondary campus and the new library. They also voted to void Jimmie Dee Whitlock's letter of resignation and rehire her as school lunch administrator.

The principals reported that they were happy with the reception the students had given the TAAS tests. They felt that the students had done quite well and feel at the test scores show the same.

In regular business before the board the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, the current bills were approved for payment, and the financial report was reviewed. No one was present for the public forum.

Present at the meeting were Superintendent Raymond Lusk; Principals James Poole, Terry Ellison and Phil Cotham; Art and Journalism teacher Lisa Mosley, Athletic Director Malcolm Moerbe; all aspects of the project funds from planning to construction to maintenance. Long also asked for input from the board and anyone else concerning the possible uses of such a center and ideas for making it serve the county residents more effectively.

Minutes of the previous two meetings were read and approved as presented.

Payment of monthly bills was authorized by the board.

Administrative assistant Collins presented the tax collection report as of April 30. He told board members that $1,537,151.00 has been collected on the current tax roll for 1994 and that another $6,025.00 had come in on delinquent taxes related to the old County Education Districts. This represents a collection rate of 95.91 percent as compared to 95.75 percent collected at this time last year.

Action concerning the mid-term graduation policy and student academic honor status was postponed until a later meeting to allow the two new board members to review the existing policy prior to discussing any possible changes. This will also allow absent board member Lloyd to be present at the time of a vote on the issue.

The long range district improvement plan formulated by the site based campus improvement committees was approved by the board on a motion by Robertson with a second by Brown.

The board accepted resignations from Nancy Besly, education diagnostician at the special education coop, assistant band director Ben Hill, and Bob Alldredge who has been working part-time since retiring as the DECA instructor. Employment was approved for Pyeper Wilkins who will be the business

CHD board takes oath of office

By Juanita Stepp

FLOYDADA — Three Caprock Hospital District board members elected in the May 6 election were sworn into office early Tuesday morning by Floyd County Judge Bill Hardin. The oaths were administered during the regular board session on May 16. Re-elected directors Tom Farris and Carmel Eastham were returned to their board seats along with newly elected director Denise Payne.

Officers for the coming year were elected, with Tom Farris being returned to his post as board president by acclamation. J. R. Turner was elected vice president and Carmel Eastham was once more tapped for the post of board secretary.

Minutes from the April 18 regular board meeting were approved as presented.

The board approved a resolution designating the authorized signatures for checks drawn on CHD accounts. The acceptable signatures will be those of the board president, vice president and secretary. Two of the three must sign each check drawn on a CHD account. Motion for approval of the resolution was made by Payne and seconded by Rob Heflin. All voted in favor.

Two proposals were received from local certified public accountants were reviewed by the board. Edd Henderson and Company offered a proposal to perform the audit of the 1994 fiscal year which ended September 30, 1994, for a fee of approximately $3,700.00.

Diane Washington who works with Fred Thayer, CPA, submitted a proposal to perform the work for a fee of approximately $3,000.00. CHD Board President Farris indicated that there is no conflict of interest concerning Thayer's former service as a board member since he was not on the board during the 1994 fiscal year.

A motion from Heflin, seconded by Payne, called for acceptance of the proposal from Washington. The motion was approved by unanimous vote.

Several related items on the agenda of the 7:00 a.m. meeting were tabled. Finding a new liability insurance company was tabled until more information is available. Specific quotes as to coverage and cost are not yet available. This necessitated tabling action on approval of the Floyd County Day Care Center relocating to the hospital. A decision on the move cannot be made until the district is assured that proper liability coverage is in force.

Also tabled was any discussion and decision concerning the contracts for the proposed agreement between UMC/TTHSC and CHD. According to Farris, the attorneys for both sides are still in the process of reviewing the contracts. He indicated that a special meeting would be held to review and approve the completed contracts. Farris expressed the hope that this would take place prior to June 1.

Proposals for future bookkeeping procedures for CHD were also tabled. When the agreement with UMC/teacher at the alternative school and for Esmeralda Arismendez who will teach high school Spanish. Motion for the action came from Morales and was seconded by Villarreal. All voted in favor.

Superintendent Jerry Cannon presented copies of TAAS scores from some handbook area schools to the board for comparison with the recently released scores of the FHS sophomores. Floydada's students emerged ahead of those compared to as well as ahead of the state norms according to the information.

Robertson asked if there was a way the board could commend the students for their outstanding performance and the teachers who worked so hard to make it happen. He said, "We're always patting them on the back if they win a football game or a baseball game. I would like to see us do something to recognize academic performance as well."

Cannon will have a letter prepared to convey board recognition to the students and teachers.

Opening of bids for the proposed gymnasium are scheduled for Thursday, May 25, at 3:00 p.m. in the board meeting room according to Cannon. The bids will then be checked for credibility and accuracy and presented to the board for a decision at a special meeting at 7:00 p.m., Thursday, June 1, said Cannon.

Attending the meeting were board members Charlene Brown, Trena Simpson, Billy Joe Villarreal, Mitch Probasco, Amado Morales and Jack Robertson, Superintendent Jerry Cannon, Administrative Assistant Jimmie Collins, Lynn Marler, Darlynn Hambricht, Laveta Morren, County Judge Bill Hardin, Nick Long, attorney Paul Lyle, and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

TTHSC is finalized, CHD employees will be working for UMC, leaving CHD without any one to do the routine bookkeeping and bill paying for the district. Farris had asked local CPA firms to submit proposals. The only proposal received was from Fred Thayer's office. He proposed performing the required services for an average monthly fee of $175.00 to be billed at $35.00 per hour.

Heflin asked if the current clinic administrator could continue to perform these functions in his off hours after he begins working for UMC. Farris stated that he saw no objection to this if Ericson would agree to do so. Ericson was asked to formulate a proposal to be considered along with Thayer's proposal at a later meeting.

Financial reports for the month of April were reviewed and accepted as presented. According to Farris, the district has $270,000.00 in district accounts at the bank. The reports also indicate accounts receivable of $216,000.00 said Farris.

J. R. Turner made a motion to pay the bills following review of the financial reports. The motion was seconded by Eastham and passed by unanimous vote.

Clinic Administrator Bob Ericson told the board that the attorney, Thomas Rhiney, has sent a letter to the insurance company handling the officials liability insurance detailing the breakdown of expenses involved in the litigation affecting the district. Ericson indicated that settlement of claims was being held up until the insurance carriers determined "who will pay for what."

CORRECTION

The April 20 issue of the Hesperian-Beacon carried a candidate profile of John Campbell who ran for FISC School Board. It was incorrectly stated that his daughter Althea graduated from Texas Tech. In actuality, she graduated from West Texas State University.

The Hesperian-Beacon apologizes for the error and any confusion or inconvenience it may have caused.

Haywood reviews Senate bills and resolutions

From Sen. Tom Haywood

An Issue of Respect

The House/Senate Conference Committee on the Education Bill agreed this week to allow schools to teach "basic U.S. values" such as respect for authority. Additionally, Texas public schools would not be allowed to distribute condoms, and any sex education that is taught must stress abstinence. The Education Conference Committee is made up of five members from the House and five from the Senate.

Hummmmm...

As of late last week, 5,126 bills and joint resolutions had been introduced by Senators and Representatives this legislative session. However, only 84 of those have been approved and sent to the governor, and only 34 of those have been signed into law! That comes out to less than seven-tenths of one percent of the bills that could be laws. Now, is that good news or bad news?

Parental Notification Progresses

The bill requiring doctors to notify parents before performing abortions on minors has passed the first hurdle. The Senate Health and Human Services Committee passed the parental notification bill onto the full Senate, where it is listed as pending business. Its sponsor, Senator Florence Shapiro (R-Plano) has stated that she believes that the measure would easily pass the House if approved by the Senate. The bill is backed by Governor George W. Bush, Lt. Governor Bob Bullock, and Senator Tom Haywood.

Art teacher presents 1950 Study Club program

By Addie Assiter
FLOYDADA—Rozanne Bishop, teacher of art in the Floydada school system, presented a wonderful program to the 1950 Study Club May 8 at the junior high school art building.

Mrs. Bishop had beautifully displayed her students' work including an area for pottery making and a kiln. Among samples of work were: water-colors, ink and pencil sketching, pottery, glass design, color and shading, personal expression through art verbal text.

Slides were shown of students' work and some of the art produced by former students, some of which are now art majors at college. Among those are Micheal Gilliland, Amy Gilly, Tyson Edwards and Linda Dagley.

Mrs. Bishop spoke of the importance of self-esteem particularly for the young people who sometimes do not have sufficient encouragement from friends and family. Art is an expression of oneself.

Everything you see, touch, wear and purchase, that is not man-made has been designed by an artist. Career opportunities are abundant. Art program learnings involve the intellectual and initiative, the mind and the heart. It's both content-centered and student-centered. If a student can accept something good and worthwhile, that student is on the path of accepting himself as good.

Four of her students won silver keys in the New York Scholastic competition. During the 1994-95 school year the secondary art students were recognized by having their work on exhibit at Texas Tech. During the Fourth Annual Science and Art Exhibit open house, over 900 pieces of artwork were displayed. Youth art in Floydada is basic. Scholarships have been won by students.

Mrs. Bishop keeps her class open after school for those students wishing to work more at their talents.

March is the National Art Month. It would be nice if all businesses of Floydada would display a piece of students work in their windows.

We, as a community, must provide a well-rounded education; one that covers all the bases. We must understand it takes a varied curriculum to provide the kind of education our young people will need to survive in a challenging and sometimes different world.

After a short business meeting, hostesses Geneile Evans and Nell Abram served homemade ice cream and cookies to members: Jane McCulley, Wanda Hickerson, Margie Fowler, Carol Reese, Doris McLain, Marjorie McElyea, Edris Edwards, Martha Lotspeich, and Roberta Russell.

Thought of the Day: "As a work of art, I knew few things more pleasing to the eye, or more capable of according scope and gratification to a taste for the beautiful, than a well-situated, well cultivated farm."

This meeting brought to a close of our club year — a very good and satisfying one.

Floydada Senior Citizens

by Margarette Word

The center is open 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. If you plan to eat lunch, Monday through Friday, please call by 10 a.m. the phone number is 983-2032.

This is it!! I've written in previous articles about our fund raising project luncheon which will take place this Sunday, May 21, starting at 11 a.m. Irene King and crew will serve turkey, dressing and all the trimmings. The charge will be $6.00 for adults and $2.00 for children under 10 years of age. The whole community is invited.

Last Saturday we had our monthly Senior Citizen Luncheon. Chief of Police James Hale spoke to us about being safe in our car, at home, at shopping and etc. Simple things can be done such as keeping car doors locked anytime we are in the car. Mark your keys so you can instantly unlock your car or house. At your home use door stops, good locks, peep hole in your front door, and don't open doors to strangers.

While shopping be aware of who is around you, have a clerk to help you carry your packages to your car. Always know who is around you. We appreciate the chief of police taking time out of his busy schedule to give us information on safety. Lunch was served to 20 people. Evelene Goodnight's name was drawn for the free meal. J.W. Cannon was the only person at the meeting who had a May birthday.

Our sympathy to John Belaska upon the death of his wife, Willie.

Our sympathy to Molly Burleson on the loss of her sister.

Our sympathy to Pauline McCormick on the loss of her brother.

I'm sure many of our seniors are having grandchildren and great-grandchildren graduate from high school and college. This is an exciting time so enjoy it.

Ruth Gilliland's granddaughter graduated from Texas Tech.

Buelah Baker attended her granddaughter's husband's graduation from college.

Edwina Hollum's grandson D.G. Hollums is graduating from high school.

Frances and Peck Badgett's granddaughter-in-law graduated from A&M.

Faye and William Bertrand have just returned from another fishing trip. They came home to attend their granddaughters baccalaureate and commencement this past week.

After a long illness, Crawford Sandefur is able to be at the center for lunch. Be in prayer for her to continue to get stronger and feel better.

Alma Smith went to Lubbock and had Mother's Day lunch with her nephew, Kyle Curry and family.

Alvie Jackson took Kacky and Joy Smitherman (his daughter) to Plainview for Mother's Day lunch.

Delzie Bradford fell last Thursday and again on Saturday. She broke her hip and had surgery in Plainview on Monday, May 15. We pray she will have a speedy recovery.

Virginia Waits of Hale Center came over Sunday to take her mother, Deeota Odom to church and out for a Mother's Day lunch.

Evelene and Bob Goodnight recently visited a cousin and attended a Pioneer Day Celebration at Guymon Okla.

Rebecca Smith and Britt Britton ate at Evelene and Bob Goodnight's Sunday noon celebrating Mother's Day. This is the first time Rebecca has left her apartment since the first of the year due to illness. So this outing was a real treat for her.

Guy Garrison recently went to Amarillo to visit a cousin.

Last week a group of Senior Citizen's with their R.V.'s went on a weeks trip to Kerrville and Vanda. On their way home Claude and Frances Weathersbee had a blow-out on their Suburban near Justisburg rolling the trailer and their suburban, demolishing them both. They ended up upside down with their seat belts still on. Claude and Frances were not hurt, just plenty scared. Those traveling in the caravan were the John Lyles, Bill Feuerbacher's, George Millers of Plainview, Keith Patzer's, Bob Kendrick's, Blanton Hartsell's, Fed Thaxton's, and Boone Adams.

Blanche Williams spent Mother's Day with her son, Leon and wife Carolyn.

Geraldine Calloway spent Mother's Day with her daughters and families in Lubbock.

Nancy Bishop had Mother's Day lunch with her son Mike Bishop and family.

Last Friday Edith Muncy, Geraldine Calloway and Nancy Bishop went to Canyon to visit with Nancy's late husband Howard Gene's sister. They also went to Kenneth Wyatt's Studio in Tulsa.

Geneva and John Cockrell recently have been in Brownwood attending a cousin's reunion and from their they drove to San Antonio to visit Geneva's sister and niece. They saw lots of wildflowers and especially enjoyed the bluebonnets.

John Cockrell and J.W. Gilbreath drove a school bus loaded with 3rd graders from Duncan school to Plainview to skate and picnic last Monday, May 15.

When you come to the center this Sunday, May 21, to eat lunch look the building over and notice the improvements made with the money you gave in the form of memorials and donations.

We repaired broken siding on the outside of the building, painted inside and outside of the center, new linoleum in the tea serving area, new curtains, new flowers and vases, and nearly have enough money in the bank for linoleum in the kitchen and pantry area of a new roof. We are so proud of our building and the good it is doing for our seniors citizens.

This center is for all seniors 60 years and older. Sunday's noon meal is for the community. $6.00 for adults and $2.00 for children under 10 years of age.

Thought for the week-Have you noticed that when you give advice that people always want to repay you.

Remember to pray for one another.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

by Jane Martinez

Just letting you know what's been happening here at the home lately.

This past week we celebrated National Nurses week.

One morning we had donuts for our staff. Wednesday we had a luncheon for the nurses. Our CNA's received a pin for their appreciation and our LVN's received a coffee cup with an inscription of "One terrific nurse" on them.

We want our nursing staff to know that they are appreciated.

On Friday we had a Mother's Day party. We had punch, cake and ice cream. Our mother's enjoyed their party. We also had corsages made for our ladies. The Champions N Caring ladies came out and I helped them make the corsages. They were made of red and white tissue paper with ribbon on them and Sunday morning I came and put their corsages on them for Mother's Day.

Also during our Mother's Day party on Friday we gave gifts to Mrs. Bernice Robinson for the mother of Most Children, and to Mrs. Opal Bachtell for the Youngest Mother. We would also like to thank our guest who were here for the party.

We also want to let you know that this week we will be celebrating National Nursing Home Week. We have entertainment. So come out and join us. Monday we had a balloon lift-off with the Floydada High School band playing and we also had a pet show. Tuesday we had Mike Holster with Proclaim from First Baptist Church and Grammy and Pop from Silverton.

Wednesday we have Bingo at 2:00 p.m. and Jessica at 3:30 p.m. to play piano. Thursday we have viewing of a doll collection and residents birthday party and at 6:30 p.m. Mount Zion Baptist ladies to sing. Friday To Be For Him Ladies from the Baptist Church. At 12:00 noon we'll have a cook-out which will have a fish fry and at 6:30 p.m. we'll have Elvis.

On our last day, Saturday we will have Lolly Luna sing gospel music at 2 p.m. so we encourage you to come and visit with our residents and staff.

And this is all I have for you this week. Until next time. Everyone take care. Our Volunteer's Party has been scheduled for June 1, 1995, at 2:00 p.m. at Floydada Nursing Home.

Whirlwind Sams visit the Cowboy Capital in Bandera, Texas

By Norma Feuerbacher

Have you ever visited a guest ranch in the beautiful Texas Hill Country; or been surrounded by dozens of Longhorn cattle, close enough and tame enough so that you could reach out and touch their horns? A highlight of the Whirlwind Sams trip to Bandera was a morning spent on the LH-7 Guest Ranch. Eighty-year old Maudine Marks, owner and manager of the ranch, has spend most of her life raising Longhorn cattle, carrying on a family legacy. She took us on a lively and fun-filled guided tour. We all rode on a wagon filled with bales of hay, through pastures abundant with beautiful wildflowers, stopping for leisurely "visits" with the Longhorns. It was a unique and enjoyable experience.

Another ranch we visited was the Twin Elms, where we were treated to a Cowboy barbecue supper and an hour or so of relaxation to enjoy the beauty of the place. Our hostess, Mary Anderwold, who owns and operates the ranch with her son, Chris, gave us a brief history of the ranch and related stories of ranching around Bandera. Five of our most "agile" ladies had an enjoyable walk down a steep and rocky path to the Medina River. It was worth the effort.

An outing that really appealed to the "botanists" and nature-lovers in our group was a visit to the Gunsight Mountain Ranch near Tarpley. This ranch is owned and operated by the Mattiza family and is dedicated to the preservation of native plants, wild flowers and wildlife. We had a beautiful tour and enjoyed nature at its best. A particular favorite was the American Smoketree in full bloom. There were also wild orchids and a rare flower called the "Leather" plant.

We stayed at the Skyline Ranch RV Park near Bandera, and enjoyed the hospitality there--did lots of relaxing under the big oak trees, visiting and "Joker" playing. We "browsed" in the shops of Bandera, did some sight-seeing, and some went to horse races at Bandera Downs.

After a brief Mother's Day service on Sunday morning and "Happy Trails" we ended the trip and started for home or other places.

The "Trailbosses" for the trip were the Feuerbachers. Members were the Adams, Hartsells, Kendricks, Lyles, Millers, Patzers, Thaxtons and Weathersbees. Visitors during our stay were Bart and Kellye Patzer of Austin; Brad and Belinda Feuerbacher and their children, Kalie, Cory and Drew, of Wylie, Texas.

Floyd County Extension Council reviews club meetings

By Mrs. O.G. Mayfield

FLOYDADA—Floyd County FCE Council met May 11 with Almeda Mae Williams calling the meeting to order. She also read a letter as the opening exercise.

Roll call was answered by six members, along with County Extension Agent Melissa Long. The recreation was conducted by Ruth Scott, who divided the group into pairs and then asked each one to hold a piece of paper over their heads and tear out what their partner looked like.

Blanche Williams read the minutes, which stood approved as read. She also presented the treasurer's report.

The Harmony Club report was given by Karen Miller. They had met March 28 at the Community Center.

On April 11, Harmony met with Almeda Mae Williams. Doris Snodgrass presented the program entitled, "A Is For Arthritis."

1934 Study Club views video

By Margarette Word

FLOYDADA -- Tuesday, May 9, the 1934 Study Club met in the home of Mrs. W.O. Newberry with Mrs. W.L. Davis as co-hostess. This was the last meeting of this year as we do not meet during the summer months.

All members brought a salad and had a wonderful meal together. Mrs. Leon Ferguson said the prayer before we ate.

After the meal, Mrs. L.D. Simpson, president, called the meeting to order. Recording secretary, Mrs. Leon Ferguson read the minutes of our last meeting which were approved as read. She also called the roll and members answered with "a program I'd like our club to have." The program chairman, Mrs. W.H. McClung received some very good ideas for programs starting next fall.

The treasurer, Mrs. Garland Foster, gave a financial report telling we have ended the year with a balance of $70.54. Organizations we gave to this past year were Hospice, Floydada Fire Dept., Senior Citizens Building Fund, the foreign exchange student and the hospital at Wichita Falls and Vernon.

Members voted to go to the Floydada Nursing Home, May 23, and take cookies and punch and have a program for the residents.

Since this was our last meeting for the year our program was viewing the video the Chamber of Commerce and City Hall put together to promote Floydada to new businesses and tourists. It was titled "A Traditional Path to the Future." If you have not seen it, you should. The video tape is very good and would encourage someone who is looking for a great small community to consider moving here. It would also encourage a business to consider moving here.

You might even see yourself in the video because they took pictures of local people in different activities around town. City Hall or the Chamber of Commerce offices have these tapes for sale. Our members really enjoyed it.

The meeting was then adjourned, but visitation lasted for a long time since it was the last meeting for a few months.

Those attending were Mmes. W.L. Davis, Dennis Dempsey, Leon Ferguson, Garland Foster, Floyd Lawson, K.H. McClung, M.J. McNeill, Orval Newberry, Vernon Parker, L.D. Simpson, Thomas Warren and Jim Word.

Be Aware

The National Weather Service defines winds from a thunderstorm as severe when they are 50 knots (58 miles an hour) or greater. Usually winds of this intensity cause structural damage.

People sometimes swear they were hit by a tornado... "wind couldn't have done this kind of damage"...but some severe thunderstorms have had winds measured at over 100 mph. When winds get that strong it doesn't matter if the wind is in a vortex of a tornado or blasting out of an area of heavy rain...it is going to cause damage. There is no threshold from where the strongest "straight" winds end and tornadic winds begin...there is an overlap of possible wind speeds up into the significant tornado (F2) category. Straight winds of this magnitude can cause significant damage and threaten life just as a tornado would.

Outflow winds from thunderstorms spread out in all directions. A fast-moving thunderstorm can have extreme wind speeds in the direction it is moving since the speed of the wind coming out of the storm also has the speed of the storm added to it. In other words—a 40 mph wind coming from a storm moving 60 mph could be felt as a 100 mph wind at the ground. These kinds of winds can do damage more typically found in tornado damage.

If a severe thunderstorm threatens your area follow these tips abandon mobile homes for a safer structure, stay away from windows and move to an interior room on the lowest floor until the storm passes. Also remember that in addition to damaging winds severe thunderstorms can produce large hail, flooding rains and tornadoes.

COUNTRY CORNER

by . . Jim Bob Reynolds, CEA-AG.

There have been some recent changes in the Worker Protection Rules which will affect crop consultants, irrigation activities, limited contact activities, worker training procedures and revised re-entry intervals (REI) for 114 low-risk pesticides. Key changes are:

Training Requirements: All employees are required to provide pesticide safety information to untrained workers, and workers are to be fully trained within 5 days after they begin work.

Re-entry Interval: A reduced REI on 114 active ingredients listed by the EPA will go from 12 hours to 4 hours.

Irrigation Activities: Irrigation workers meeting exception criteria are allowed up to 8 hours in a 24 hour period as long as contact is limited to feet, lower legs, hands, forearms, and Personal Protection Equipment (PPE) clothing is worn.

Exemption for Crop Advisors: Certified or licensed crop advisors and persons under their direct supervision are exempt from REI while performing crop advisory task. All crop advisors have until May 1, 1996, to obtain certification or licensing.

Limited Contact Activities: This allows workers to enter during REI as long as contact with treated surfaces is limited. Personal protection equipment is required to minimize exposure. Time in treated area cannot exceed 8 hours in a 24 hour period.

If you have any questions regarding Worker Protection Standard rules give our office a call and we'll help you find an answer.

Tips given on pesticides safety

By David Kostroun
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

During the spring and summer months, pesticides are used more frequently by agricultural producers and homeowners alike. Pesticides include chemicals such as insecticides, herbicides, and fungicides. Although cultural control, use of resistant varieties, and other methods are used to help control pests, chemical control is still our best line of defense in the event of a pest outbreak. Misuse of pesticides causes problems not only for the applicator, but for others as well. The elements of pesticide safety include purchase of the proper chemical, proper handling, use, storage, disposal, and recognition of environmental situations.

The primary source of information for use of a pesticide is the product label. The label is the end product of research development, and the federal and state registration process. The label provides such information as directions for use, specific uses, the specific pests controlled by the product, environmental hazards, hazards to humans and domestic animals, precautionary statements, and storage and disposal instructions. Pesticide users should always read the label carefully and completely before using a product. One should not rely on memory when using a familiar product. The extra five minutes or so required to read the label may save the applicator money, prevent unnecessary chemical applications, and protect against environmental or health hazards.

For safety recommendations cover all situations, but the following information provides some general information concerning pesticide safety.

Pesticides may enter the body through the skin, lungs, or mouth. Dermal exposure (through the skin) is the most likely route of exposure. Skin exposure is minimized by use of protective equipment. Minimum requirements include wearing a long sleeved shirt and full length trousers, or a cover-all type garment. A wide-brimmed hat offers some protection of the face and neck. Always wear trouser legs over boot tops to reduce the possibility of spilling liquid or dust formulations down into the boots. Unless the label states differently, unlined, natural rubber gloves will protect applicators from a good deal of dermal exposure, since pesticides are often spilled onto the hands and then transferred to the face or neck by wiping one's face or neck with his hand. If a spray tank is elevated, do not allow others in the immediate vicinity at ground level during mixing or loading.

Avoid pesticide inhalation by insuring adequate ventilation and working upwind of the pesticide. If the label calls for a respirator, a good-fitting one with the correct filter type should be used. A mechanical filter, such as a dust mask, will not take the place of a cartridge type respirator. Change filters twice a day and whenever breathing becomes difficult. Change cartridges after 8 hours of actual use or whenever any pesticide odor is detected.

Pesticides may enter the mouth through wiping one's face on an exposed sleeve, cuff, or hand, or by accidental splashing, or trying to clear clogged nozzle tips by blowing on them. Risk from splashing can be reduced by wearing a face shield to protect the eyes, nose, and mouth. Also, one should be mindful not to use tobacco products until he has thoroughly washed any pesticide residues from the hands and face.

Do not mix chemicals unless specified by label directions. Always store pesticides in the original container with a legible label. Store pesticides in an area meeting the storage requirements on the label, and dispose of empty containers according to label directions.

Remember, practice good judgement, use common sense, and read the label when using pesticides.

Grain sorghum producers file petition with court

On May 1, the National Grain Sorghum Producers filed a petition with the U.S. Court of Appeals over the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's cancellation of granular carbofuran. The petition asks for a review by the court of the record on which the EPA based its decision to cancel use of the pesticide. NGSP disagrees with the EPA's decision and initiated the petition to gain a more balanced review of the data.

Gary Bright, NGSP president, said that the NGSP board of directors decided to challenge the EPA on its decision by asking the U.S. Court of Appeals to look at the way EPA officials made their decision.

"The decision to take this issue to court is not one that we relish, but we felt we had no other choice," Bright said.

"We as producers have decided we aren't going to sit quietly and let others dictate our future. It's time to be heard."

"We don't think the EPA officials gave serious consideration to the scientific data that we presented to them," he said. "they seemed to be more concerned about being sued by the environmental groups than they were about the scientific data. The court should give a fairer review of the facts."

"In the rationale for their decision to cancel use of the product, the EPA gave little credence to the scientific information which we submitted," he said. "Their main concern seems to be the product's toxicity to one bird or even a few birds, but they show no concern for the farmer and his needs."

"We're frustrated about this because the environmentalists continue to refer-

Tailwater waste violates state law

Many High Plains producers are busy applying last-minute pre-plant irrigations to wet the soil profile for 1995 planting. Unfortunately, some of this ground water is escaping from fields as tailwater, and that is against both State Law and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 rules.

Water District rules define tailwater as "ground water pumped for irrigation that escapes...onto land other than that of the owner of the well unless permission has been granted by the occupant of the land receiving the discharge. This permission must be in the form of an agreement signed between the parties on a form acceptable to the Water District. Potential parties to such an agreement are warned that it may obligate the provider to provide a specified supply of water into perpetuity and/or the recipient to accept runoff in whatever quantities at whatever time the provider chooses. Provisions of any agreement entered into must comply with Rule 1 (h)(5)."

Rule 1 (h)(5) defines water waste as "Wilfully or negligently causing, suffering, or permitting underground water to escape into any river, creek, natural watercourse, depression, lake, reservoir, drain, sewer, highway, road or road ditch, or onto land other than the owner of the well."

Allowing this water to escape not only contributes to unnecessary depletion of the ground water stored in the Ogallala Aquifer, but it erodes topsoil and causes safety hazards.

When a tailwater report is received, Water District personnel investigate the water waste and document it with written memorandums and photographs. In addition, they contact the landowners and/or operators and ask these parties to stop the water waste. Follow-up investigations are conducted to make sure the water waste has been halted.

"We prefer to work with the farmer and address the problem; and in most cases, that works," says Ken Carver, High Plains Water District Assistant Manager. "If the waste doesn't stop, then we have no choice but to seek an injunction from the courts."

Under an injunction, continued tailwater waste is considered Contempt of Court and carries a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and/or a six-month jail sentence per occurrence. If violations continue under the injunction, the District Court may also order the County Sheriff to padlock the water well to prevent further waste. Violators can also be held liable for damages resulting from their water waste, such as accidents on flooded roadways, property damages, or crop damage.

"There are many physical methods available to help control or prevent tailwater waste, but the individual operator is the key to whether or not water is wasted. Careful management of irrigation water eliminates tailwater waste," says Carver.

Tailwater control methods include reducing row lengths, terracing, and installing borders at the end of the field.

Surge irrigation systems, which alternate water flow between two sets of furrows in timed cycles, can be set to automatically cut back irrigation set times at the time the water is expected to reach the end of the field. Use of these valves has proven to be very effective in tailwater management.

Use of a LEPA center pivot sprinkler system is a good tailwater management practice, because the movement speed of the center pivot can be adjusted to match the water application rate to the soil infiltration rate. Use of furrow dikes under the pivot to collect the water and hold it in place can also increase application efficiency.

Additional information about tailwater abatement is available by contacting Ken Carver or Arnold Husky, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, TX 79405-1499, or call (806) 762-0181.

Proper use of pesticide reduces risk

Most producers appreciate wildlife. They enjoy seeing wildlife on their farms and some benefit economically by leasing hunting and fishing rights to sportsmen. Fields provide food and cover for several species of wildlife. Quail and other birds, for example, nest along fence rows or in rangeland/CRP surrounding fields and enter the fields to feed or pick up grit. Pesticides applied to these areas can potentially harm wildlife.

In recent years the public has become more concerned about pesticides and their effects on the environment. From 1987 to 1989, Texas farmers and ranchers treated an average of 15 million acres with insecticides and 20 million acres with herbicides. As stewards of the land and natural resources, farmers and ranchers should strive to use pesticides properly in order to minimize environmental risks.

The proper use of pesticides helps ensure that Americans have a safe, abundant and inexpensive supply of food and fiber. Pesticides improve crops yields and quality, and help to make farming practices profitable. However, improper use of pesticides can threaten wildlife and wildlife habitat.

Wildlife are directly exposed to pesticides when they eat plants or seeds with chemical residues or when they swallow the pesticide granules themselves. They are exposed indirectly when they eat insects or other animals killed by chemicals. Wildlife that are in fields when pesticides are applied, or that enter fields shortly afterward, may inhale vapors or gel pesticides on their skin or in their eyes. Pesticides on an animal's skin or feathers may be swallowed when the animal grooms itself. Pesticides washed by heavy rains into streams, ponds or other wetlands can harm aquatic animals.

Reducing pesticide use is one of the best ways to protect wildlife. However, pesticide reduction must be coupled with good pest management practices so that crop yields and profits do not suffer. Integrated pest management (IPM) is the most effective method of accomplishing this objective. IPM is a system that monitors pest populations and uses biological, cultural and chemical controls to keep insect pests below economically damaging levels. In an IPM program, pesticides are used only after other tactics have failed to keep pest numbers or damage below levels with cause economic crop loss.

Crop rotation is another important cultural control which can be used to suppress certain disease and insect pest.

In an effort to protect fish and wildlife, keep the following in mind when using pesticides.

- Use IPM practices in your production practices.
- Choose the pesticide least toxic to fish and wildlife.

- Protect field borders and other noncrop habitats from pesticide.
 - Completely cover pesticide granules with soil, especially spilled granules at the ends of rows.
 - Minimize chemical spray drift by using low-pressure sprays and nozzles that produce large droplets, and properly calibrating and maintaining spray equipment.
 - Don't spray over ponds and drainage ditches.
 - Never wash equipment or containers where rinse water could enter ponds or streams.
 - Properly dispose of chemical containers.
 - Read and follow pesticide label directions.
- Every pesticide user has a legal duty to use the chemical according to label directions. Using pesticides contrary to label directions jeopardizes wildlife and exposes the user to criminal prosecution. It may ultimately result in further restrictions on pesticides. Please do your part to see that pesticides are used in a responsible fashion according to label directions.

Quitaque hosting National Trails Day

The Third Annual National Trails Day Celebration will be held in Quitaque this year on June 3. In 1994 over 3,000 people gathered in Quitaque for the National Trails Day Celebration, which was voted one of the top ten in the nation. This year's event should be even better.

Caprock Canyons Trailway is the longest rails-to-trails conversion in Texas. It is the second longest single trail in Texas and the fourth longest in the nation. The twenty-two mile portion of the Trailway that is open to the public extends up the rugged Caprock from Quitaque to South Plains. It travels through some of the most beautiful country in Texas, along the route visitors will cross twenty bridges, pass through a 700 foot historic railroad tunnel, and those who have keen eyes may spot mule deer, golden eagles, coyotes, bobcats and quail.

A full day of activities is planned on June 3, and motorized tours will again be available along the Trailway during the day. There will also be hot air balloon demonstrations, mountain bike tours, a Grand Prix motorcycle race, Trails Day Parade, the world's largest windsock and kite display, a noon barbecue, arts and crafts exhibits, chili cook-off, music on the streets and a host of other events and activities.

An exciting new event has been added for this year's Trails Day celebration in Quitaque. At various intervals during the day a live guinea with a $100 bill attached to its leg will be dropped from an airplane to be captured by some lucky winner. Guineas are domesticated birds, but are graceful in flight, and demonstrations have shown they are not harmed when they soar through space.

Drive safely. Don't wreck your life.

Billy Nichols returns from deployment

FLOYDADA -- Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Billy M. Nichols, a 1974 graduate of Floydada High School of Floydada, Texas, recently returned from a six-month overseas deployment aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Essex which involved enforcing international sanctions against Iraq in the Persian Gulf and withdrawing United Nations peacekeepers from Somalia.

Nichols was one of 4,200 Sailors and Marines who served aboard the three ships of the USS Essex Amphibious Ready Group (ARG), including USS Essex, the amphibious transport ship USS Ogden and the dock landing ship USS Fort Fisher. Departing San Diego, in late October, Nichols traveled approximately 26,000 miles during the six-month voyage to the Western Pacific and Indian oceans and Persian Gulf. During the trip, Nichols' ship won the Battle Efficiency award for maintaining outstanding levels of excellence in command and control, war fighting, logistics management and its ability to survive damage.

Nichols spent 51 consecutive days at sea while helping with the withdrawal of U.N. forces from Somalia. Using helicopters, landing craft and high-speed air cushioned assault craft, the USS Essex ARG, with its embarked Marines from the 13th Marine Expeditionary Unit, withdrew more than 2,500 U.N. troops and equipment from the war-torn country. Nichols is one of 7,000 U.S. service men and women who participated in the operation and involved naval forces from six nations.

Nichols was at sea in the Persian Gulf on Christmas day as USS Essex helped intercept a merchant ship suspected of violating the embargo against Iraq. Battling 50-knot winds and eight-foot-high seas, USS Essex launched several helicopters carrying Marines and Sailors to stop the ship. Hovering above the merchant vessel, the boarding teams embarked the ship and took charge of the vessel so it could be inspected.

Equipped with Harrier jump jets, Cobra attack helicopters and heavy lift helicopters, Nichols' ship is one of the most versatile ships in the Navy. Not only can it transport combat-ready Marines ashore by helicopter, but it also can launch landing craft from its flooded well-deck.

While in the Northern Persian Gulf, Nichols and fellow crew members worked with Kuwait's military in a combined amphibious landing exercise.

While spending 142 days at sea during the deployment, Nichols also had an opportunity to visit Australia, Hong Kong, Kenya, Singapore and the United Arab Emirates. Nichols and fellow shipmates took advantage of their limited free time taking tours and sight-seeing. Some Sailors and Marines also participated in sporting events with local teams, while others volunteered to help with goodwill projects such as school and hospital visits and renovations.

Nichols' involvement in the deployment is an example of how the Navy and Marine Corps team is operating overseas and responding quickly when needed. Whether delivering humanitarian assistance, cargo, or troops from the sea, these highly-trained naval forces provide a unique forward presence and crisis-response option, which can be withdrawn quickly when no longer needed.

Nichols joined the Navy in November 1977.

Plainview Pioneer Round-up celebrating 67th annual event

The Pioneer Round-Up, scheduled for Saturday, May 20, will be the Sixty-Seventh consecutive year the Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club has sponsored this event. The theme chosen is "Those Were The Days." The first celebration took place March 14, 1929, in the City Auditorium in Plainview. Jodie Hinch, the current president of the Plainview BPW Club stated all activities will be in the Ollie Liner Center.

The reception beginning at 10:00 a.m. is a big feature and is a time when the real "old timers" get together to reminiscence and exchange stories of the past.

One of the few remaining parades in Plainview will be staged at 2:30 p.m. originating at the Santa Fe Depot on North Broadway. Those participating are asked to be on hand by 1:30 p.m.

The Kountry Kitchen will be open at 10:00 a.m.

The evening activities will also be held in the Ollie Liner Center from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. the chuck wagon supper, barbecue and all the trimmings will be served.

A musical program will be the featured entertainment for the Saturday night program.

And the highlight of the Saturday evenings activities will be the naming of the pioneer Woman of the Plains.

Prizes will be awarded to the couple who have been married the longest, the oldest pioneer present and to the pioneer (over 60) traveling the farthest distance to attend the Round-Up.

Tickets are $5.00 and $2.50 for children, which includes the supper, program and square dance or $2.00 after 8:00 p.m. without meal.

Edwards and Holcomb take part in county and district clerks school

About 500 county and district clerks and deputy clerks took part in the 23rd Annual County and District Clerks' Continuing Education Seminar in College Station March 27-29.

Participating in the seminar from Floyd County were Barbara Edwards, District Clerk, and Marilyn Holcomb, Deputy County Clerk.

"It is designed to update participants on duties and responsibilities of their offices, helping them become more capable and effective in serving the public."

"You Are An Elected Public County Official" was the theme for the 1995 educational program. Participants took part in general sessions and workshops on topics that included Working with a Jury, Working Effectively with the Legislature, Processing Juveniles, Budgeting and Purchasing, and Optical Disk Programming. Updates were given on Informal Probate, State Jail Felonies/ Penal Code and Proposed and Pending Legislation.

"Talking with others who hold the same office from different counties helps one learn how to handle similar situations and problems if and when they arise."

The seminar was sponsored by the V.G. Young Institute of County Government of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the County and District Clerks' Association of Texas in cooperation with the Texas Association of Counties. Clerks who attended all of the sessions will receive 14 hours of credit and new clerks will receive 15 hours from Texas A&M University's Office of Continuing Education. State law requires county and district clerks to complete a minimum of 20 hours of continuing education relating to their duties of office every 24 months.

Shurbet attends seminar

About 200 County Treasurers and Deputy Treasurers attended the 23rd Annual County Treasurers' Continuing Education Seminar at Texas A&M University April 17-20.

Taking part in the conference from Floyd County was County Treasurer Mary Shurbet from Floydada.

"County Treasurers - Elected To Serve" was the theme of the seminar sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service's V. G. Young Institute of County Government and the County Treasurers' Association in cooperation with the Texas Association of Counties and the Office of Continuing Education at Texas A&M University. The Honorable Martha Whitehead, State Treasurer, spoke to the County Treasurers at the Opening General Session addressing "The Future of the State Treasury and TexPool". Concurrent sessions included such topics as "Security in the County Treasurer's Office," "Investments Overview - Safety, Liquidity and Yield," "Working with the House County Affairs Committee and Your State Legislators," "Personnel Issues - To Include ADA and Sexual Harassment," "Federal Reserve - Steps and Procedures to Opening Accounts and How to Buy T-Bills," and "Payroll-FLSA, Computing Overtime and Law Enforcement."

"During the seminar officials also had the opportunity to participate in Round Table Discussions with other Treasurers from counties with a similar population count," said John Gilmartin, Extension coordinator of the V.G. Young Institute of County Government. "Representatives from the State Comptroller's Office Local Assistance Division presented a special program on Governmental Accounting and served as resource persons during these concurrent sessions along with representatives from the Attorney General's Office."

County treasurers who attended all of the sessions of the conference received 2.0 continuing education units from Texas A&M University's Office of Continuing Education. County Treasurers are required by state law to complete 20 hours of continuing education relating to their official duties of office once every 24-month period.
