Highlights of the annual Old Settlers celebration were the awards presented to J.R. and Maye Belt, as Pioneer Couple of the Year; Olga Applewhite as Pioneer Woman and Aaron Carthel as Pioneer Man.

Despite some gloomy predictions beautiful weather prevailed. The morning crowds were smaller than usual but by lunch the numbers had swelled. The arts and crafts booths stayed busy throughout the day and the Pioneer Association registered 620 visitors to the square.

Many more did not stand in line to register but still enjoyed all the activities throughout the day, including hundreds who were fed the Old Settlers' barbecue lunch.

The Floyd County Museum had a large crowd for their Open House, registering approximately 770 people.

Flora McNeill read the Memorial List at the morning business meeting and Keith Jackson, president of the Pioneer Association, presented the Pioneer Awards.

PIONEER COUPLE

J.R. and Maye Belt were presented with the honors of 1995 Pioneer Couple of the Year.

J.R. Belt was born June 5, 1916, three miles north of Lockney. His parents were John and Rose Carthel Belt. He is the oldest of four children.

Maye Golden was born December 24, 1916 in the Providence Community to Taylor and Maude Callaway Golden. She had a twin, Faye, and was the twelfth of thirteen children.

"They met each other at the Prairie Chapel Church of Christ at a very early age," said Jackson. "They are both devout Christians and have been members of both the Prairie Chapel Church of Christ and the Lockney Church of Christ."

They have lived in Floyd County all their lives, and attended public schools in Lockney. J.R. would go with Faye for a while, and then with Maye. Finally he said, "If I can't get you, your sis will do," so he chose Maye. They were married on July 8, 1934 in Lockney. They will celebrate their 61st anniversary in July.

When they were first married, J.R. worked for Floyd Huff in the grocery store and Maye worked on Saturday's for Robert Ayers at the variety store.

As a young man, J.R.'s ambition was to farm. He rented a farm at Sterley, and then another, and a few years later George Tierce offered to sell them the homestead where they now live. "And, as many of you know," said Jackson, "he is still farming today at 78 years of age."

Maye would cook for the combine crews or would drive a truck to the elevator hauling grain, run errands, or anything else that was needed.

The family has always enjoyed projects they could all participate in. Through the years they have raised Shetland ponies, registered Hampshire hogs, and registered Angus cattle.

J.R. still maintains a herd of cattle and checks on them daily. He did quit checking them on his motorcycle when it fell in a ditch and he went over the front.

"Maye and J.R. have always tried to help young people or any others that might be in need," said Jackson. "Much of their helping has been done quietly and with few people knowing."

Always conservative, and especially with water, he was among the first board members to serve on the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District. He also served on the Lockney Independent School Board and was one of the original board members of the Lockney Co-op.

He now serves on the board of the First National Bank of Lockney. Both Maye and J.R. have belonged to a number of civic and community organizations. Most of these were related in one way or another with their children.

They have three children, Ann Belt Foster and son-in-law, Eddie Foster of Lockney, Carolyn Belt Duvall of Dallas, and Dr. Steve Belt of New York City. They have six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren: David, DarLee, Addie and Will Foster of Lockney; Jody, Shawnda, Senee, Segayle, and SyAnn Foster of Lockney; Melanie Foster of Lubbock; Roland and Karyn Foster Murray of San Antonio; Joe and Lauri Duvall Griffin and Leisha of Lake Forest, California; and Dodd Duvall of Dallas.

"They were born in Floyd County, raised in Floyd County and have lived in Floyd County all their lives. They truly deserve to be selected as the Floyd County Pioneer Couple of 1995," said Jackson.

PIONEER WOMAN

Olga Honea Applewhite received the honors of "Pioneer Woman of the Year." She also received the award as the Oldest Woman registered at the Reunion.

She was born November 12, 1903 on a farm 7 miles east of Lockney. Her parents were Lester and Meda Honea. Her father came to Floyd County from Cleburne, Texas in 1903 to attend Lockney Christian College. He met Olga's mother, who was also attending college. They were married in March, 1903.

Olga attended Lockney School District and graduated in 1918. The school conferred a degree to Olga at that time.

She then went to Abilene Christian College, and returned to Lockney to teach the first grade. During the summer she attended West Texas State Teachers College in Canyon, Texas. One of her professors classified Olga as being one of the best teachers he had the privilege of teaching.

Olga married Clyde Applewhite in 1932.

She was a charter member of the El Progresso Study Club of Lockney which was chartered in 1927.

She has been a member of American Bridge Club and enjoyed playing bridge with her friends.

She is a life member of the Church of Christ of Lockney and lives by her motto, "She lives to help others".

"This motto she has attained through her teaching and being a kind and generous person to all she meets," said Jackson.

PIONEER MAN OF THE YEAR

The "Pioneer Man of the Year", Aaron Carthel, is a man who has made family commitment and community involvement a way of life for the past 81 years.

His dedicated efforts to this county stand in the bricks and mortar of buildings like the Floydada Nursing Home, the airport, the high school and the junior high gymnasium," said Jackson.

"His greatest contribution has been the example of time, energy, and longevity devoted to making Floyd County a better place for all of us to live."

His parents, W.A. (Babe) and Lillie Carthel, made their way to Floyd County on April 15, 1905 in a covered wagon. Born December 2, 1913, Aaron Carthel was the fifth of thirteen children, ten of whom survived and were reared on a farm near Prairie Chapel, about four miles north of Lockney. He graduated from Lockney High School in 1934 after a successful sports career including basketball, tennis, and track.

On September 21, 1935, in Lockney First Baptist Church parsonage, he married Estelle Byars. Their first home was known as the weining house in Prairie Chapel.

After farming for five years, they bought the Phillips 66 Agency and moved to Floydada. For the next 35 years, Aaron worked hard to develop a successful career and yet he allowed time to serve on the school board, the airport board, the hospital Board, and the country club board. He and a group of investors built the Floydada Nursing Home.

Aaron received his pilot's license and was a member of the Civil Air Patrol. He also served as a county commissioner for eight years. "Of course, Aaron's tremendous service to his community in all these areas could never have been achieved without the loving support, encouragement, and help of his wife, Estelle," said Jackson.

"During the same busy years, Aaron and Estelle had three children, Gary, Fleeta, and Hulon, and brought their children up in a supportive and nurturing Christian home."

After 60 years of marriage, there are now ten grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. These young offspring and a love of sports have kept Aaron and Estelle avid sports fans of both Lockney and Floydada for many years.

In 1971, Aaron sold the business and Property values subject to increase

Appraiser informs of change in 1995 valuation

By Shelia Faulkenberry

FLOYDADA--Texas property owners have the right to be informed of changes in their property's value by local appraisal districts. On May 30, 1995 Floyd County Appraisal District mailed property owners their notices showing the 1995 proposed value.

Shelia Faulkenberry, chief appraiser of the district, reminds property owners that the notice of appraised value is not a tax bill. Please do not pay from this notice, Faulkenberry said.

Faulkenberry emphasized the importance of the notice and the key information that it contains for a property owner. "A property owner has the right to appeal to the Floyd County Appraisal Review Board on any disagreement with the property's value, exemptions, ownership and other areas," she said.

The appraisal review board, more commonly called "ARB", is an independent panel of citizens responsible for reviewing the appraisal district's values. The ARB also hears and settles protests from property owners who disagree with some action by the appraisal district.

What should a property owner look for on the notice? "Take special note of the proposed value for 1995," Faulkenberry said. "The notice shows the land's value and any improvement value for the property for the current year." An improvement is a building, structure, fence or any other type of fix-ture to the land.

The appraisal notice also includes current year information on exemptions granted to the property. It provides last year's value, too.

Notices to property owners whose values went up or increased more than 1000 will also include "estimated taxes." These "estimated" taxes are based on the new value and estimated tax rates if the taxing unit set tax rates for the same amount of operating dollars as last year. Generally, taxing units set final 1995 tax rates in August and

New Worker Protection Standards will affect most agricultural producers

Floyd County Extension Office

Instead of the traditional blue jeans and baseball cap, the well-dressed farmer or farmhand might be wearing something that resembles a space suit this spring--especially when handling pesticides.

The new Worker Protection Standards for agricultural producers and their employees went into effect on Jan. 1, and in some cases they require the wearing of Tyvek coveralls, gloves, and goggles to the fields by people applying pesticides.

These regulations affect anyone who grows a plant for sale, said Douglass

Stevenson, who conducts educational programs on pesticide rules and regulations for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The rules apply not only to farmers and some ranchers, but also the nursery, greenhouse, and forestry industries.

September. Faulkenberry asks that a property owner look carefully at the legal description and mailing address to be sure that there are no errors. "If the notice contains an old address, please let the appraisal district know. Mail is only forwarded to a new address for a short time, and tax bills do not go out until October," Faulkenberry added.

A property owner can be liable for additional penalties and interest on a tax

There are certain exemptions for family members who work family farms, but even self-employed producers have some legal obligations under the law, according to Steve Bertin, assistant commissioner for pesticide programs for the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Out of town contestants were also rounded up while working at their arts and crafts booths on the square. OLD SETTLER'S LUNCH—No one has an accurate count of how many people were fed the traditional Old Settler's lunch on Saturday, but with six lines being served (and each stretching out one city block long), the estimate of the amount of people served was, "a whole bunch". Staff Photo

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these appeal procedures if you have a concern about:

- the value placed on the property
- any exemptions that may apply to you
- the cancellation of an agricultural appraisal
- the taxable status of your property
- the local governments which should be taxing your property
- any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affected you.

Informal Review
Floyd County Appraisal District
806-983-5256
P. O. Box 249
104 E. California
Floydada, Texas 79235

Review by the Appraisal Review Board
If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notice of the time, date and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the appraisal district office at:
P. O. Box 249
Floydada, Texas 79235

Note: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

Review by the District Court
After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by a filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More information
You can get more information by contacting your appraisal district at 104 E. California, P. O. Box 249, Floydada, Texas, 79235, 806-983-5256. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at P. O. Box 13528, Austin, Texas 78711-3528.

Deadline for Filing Protests with the ARB*

Usual Deadline
On or before May 31 (or 30 days after a notice of appraised value was mailed to you, whichever is later).

Late protests are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have good cause.

Late protests are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more information.

Special Deadlines
For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of a change that increases your tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (usually February 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

*The deadline is postponed to the next business day if it falls on a weekend or holiday.

Melissa Long presents "Sunflower Power" program to Homebuilders FCE Club

By Jonelle Fawver
 FLOYDADA--The May 23rd meeting of the Homebuilders FCE Club met in the home of Jonelle Fawver. The meeting was called to order by Jonelle, President, and roll call was answered with "a way to use sunflower seed" by members, guest and agent.
 Recreation was a "word find" of words pertaining to sunflowers. Reading of minutes was by Gladys Widener, Sec./Treas., who also gave the Treasurer's report. Cards were read from memorials in honor of Blanche Williams of Plainview, a former active member of our club for years.
 Council report was given by Muriel Mayfield with June 17 being set for the "Canner Testing Clinic" from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. (canners should be tested every year).
 "Sunflower Power" was given by Melissa Long, CEA. The National Sunflower Association is based in Bismark, N.D. and states that 2 to 3 million acres of oilseed sunflowers are planted annually. Oil and kernels are the best known use of sunflowers. The oil is high in beneficial polyunsaturated fats and is rated healthiest, of premium quality (clean taste, clear appearance and high smoke point - 450 degrees), good source of vitamin E and excellent source of linolonic acid.

 A native to the Great Plains, American Indians are believed to have cultivated and enjoyed the nutty kernels for a quick energy boost. Spanish explorers liked the kernels and sent them back to their continent. The sunflower kernel is loved the world over for its rich, nutty flavor. These kernels are rich in protein, high in fiber, iron and vitamin E. Sunflower kernels are the right choice for a variety of salads, desserts, entrees, snacks and baked goods.

Melissa had a supply of good-tasting sunflower cookies for us to sample and passed out recipe sheets.
 Our guests were Pauline Nash, Agent Melissa Long and members Muriel Mayfield, Gladys Widener, Barbara Willis and hostess, Jonelle Fawver.

A program on Healthy Food and Nutrition was presented by Melissa Long. She distributed to each member useful handouts and information on preventive health care for heart disease.

After the program, President Shelly Smith called the business meeting to order. First on the agenda was finalizing plans for Cow Patty Bingo and the dance for Old Settlers. The money raised this year will be donated to A.B. Duncan PTA and Players in Progress (PIP).

The second item of business was deciding to establish a scholarship fund. The motion carried, and the first recipient was Salina Shorter, daughter of Lee and Connie Hurt.

The election of officers was next. Jeanine Helms will replace Shelly Smith as president. Becky Sharp will be the new vice-president, vacated by Jeanine Helms. Anna Leta Bradshaw will serve as secretary. Gayla Marble will be the treasurer replacing Kelly McCormick. Becky Ross will take over secret sister duties from Sandra Schwertner. We would like to congratulate each of our new officers, and wish a sincere "thank you" for their leadership to our outgoing officers.

Members of the 1990 Study Club then opened the floor for names of people who might be interested in joining next year. It was decided that we will have an informal "get to know you!" meeting in August. Anyone interested in attending should contact one of the new officers.

Secret sisters were revealed after the members opened their end-of-the-year gifts. Kelly McCormick passed a box of candy announcing her pregnancy.

Becky, Kim, and Tammy served a wonderful meal of baked potatoes with all the fixings, salad, and strawberry shortcake.

Members present were: Jan Beedy, Anna Leta Bradshaw, Kim Breed, Libby Campbell, Sherese Covington, Cesali Ericson, Betty Ann Fortenberry, Jeanine Helms, Denise Holcombe, Connie Hurt, Kayla Johnson, Holly Lee, Angie Lipham, Delinda Lucke, Gayla Marble, Kelly McCormick, Tammy McDonough, Lori Merket, Becky Ross, Sandra Schwertner, Becky Sharp, Mandy Shurbet, Regenia Smith, Shelly Smith, and Dara Ware.

FCE Harmony Club holds meeting

By Doris Snodgrass

FLOYDADA—The F.C.E. Harmony Club met May 22 in the club room at 2 p.m. The president Karen Miller called the meeting to order.

Imelda Ramsey read the club creed. Roll call was answered by helpful hints for preparing a 4-H demonstration.

Juanita Poole read the minutes of the last meeting. Club officers were elected for the following year.

Maye Williams read a card from Bess Carr, a former club member, who is making her home in Arkansas.

The local club is invited to a meeting with Homebuilders Club June 14 in the home of Jonelle Fawver.

Juanita Poole gave the treasurer's report. They will have a garage sale on June 9 at the Petersburg Community Center from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Every club member is to bring something and others are asked to bring and sell anything they desire.

Vivian Curtis gave a health report. Karen Miller gave the 4-H Club Report on the District meeting and 19 students will go to state from Floyd County.

Blanche Williams gave the council report of the last council meeting.

The agent Melissa Long gave the program on Sunflower Power.

She stated that Russia is the largest country grower of sunflowers.

The best place to buy sunflowers is a health store. They are a health food, high in iron and fiber. They are good for heart patients.

Worldwide sunflowers rate third. They are also high in Vitamin E.

Promise brand makes sunflower oil and other companies like Frito Lay use the oil in the preparation of their products.

Sunflower oil is called the healthy oil. But it is not to be used all the time, but is rated as the healthiest oil made.

Sunflower oil has a clean taste, clear appearance and has a high smoke point. It is a good source of Vitamin E and an excellent source of linoleic acid.

It is a substantial crop in the U.S., where two to three million acres of oil seed are planted annually. It also costs less than most to produce and is cheaper than the others to raise. It is a premium oil without the premium price. It is a big help to prevent heart disease.

The sunflower product is important in ingredients in bread cookies, baked goods, snack foods, cereals, salads and yogurt appetizers. The nuts do not have to be chopped to be used. Sunflower kernels are loved the world over for their rich flavor and crunchy texture. If your recipe calls for nuts, sunflower kernels can be used instead.

Melissa Long had made cookies for the club members to try. She also had other recipes that she handed out to club members.

Blanche Williams served refreshments to the following club members: Ruth Scott, Vivian Curtis, Juanita Poole, Karen Miller, Imelda Ramsey, Arvie Schulz, Maye Williams, Bennie Dutton, and Doris Snodgrass.

Juanita Poole announced that the club will be having a garage sale in the community center on Thursday, June 9.

JOURNEY IN TIME--Ten year old Kayla Stovall donated these three cardboard Floyd County Courthouses to the Floyd County Historical Museum. Kayla built them for a Gifted and Talented project. She researched the courthouse history and then built the courthouses which have stood on Floyd County's square. A written report was also turned in with the project. The first courthouse, on the left, stood from 1892-1912 and cost $8,071.60 to build. The second was built in 1912 at a contracted price of $73,690.00. It burned in 1949 and the present courthouse was built in 1951. Stovall has also used her project in a 4-H Method Demonstration Project for which she won 2nd in District.

Classroom textbook review is possible

All Texans have a stake in the public education system, but too few are taking advantage of opportunities to review the textbooks that are being used in classrooms, according to Mark McCormick, president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau.

"Citizens can and should be involved in the ongoing textbook adoption process to ensure that the books are free from objectionable materials and bias on the part of the publishers and writers, as well as to make sure they are factually accurate," McCormick says.

Texas Farm Bureau, the state's largest farm organization, has been actively involved in reviewing textbooks and was responsible, in part, for the recent rejection of an environmental science textbook with a negative bias against agriculture and the free enterprise system, the county president points out.

Written comments from TFB members and testimony in public hearings helped block the book's selection and reopened the process for choosing a more appropriate book. Still, more public participation is needed in screening the books from which Texas schoolchildren are taught, McCormick insists.

Textbooks are currently available for public review at all Regional Education Service Centers around Texas and, in some cases, can be checked out.

To locate a Center near you, call Tad Duncan, Texas Farm Bureau education coordinator, Waco, at 817-751-2608; or write: Texas Education Agency, 1701 N. Congress Avenue, Austin, TX 78701.

Memorial service honors those who walked before

By Flora McNeill

As a traditional part of the Old Settler's Business Meeting Flora McNeill paid tribute to Floyd County citizens who have died since the last Old Settler's celebration in May of 1994.

"Let this not be an occasion for sadness," said McNeill, "but one of fond recollections. Let it not be a time for sorrowing, for our Heavenly Father has said 'Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in men.'"

"In thinking about what to bring this morning, my thoughts turned to Yesterday-Today and Tomorrow. Yesterday and everything connected with it is gone. Those who first came to Floyd County are all gone and it is to this group that we offer a special dedication. This is depicted in the wagon wheel and bare grass arrangement before you.

"They endured hardships, adventure and the romance of a new land and new home.

"But that was yesterday. Men come and go, flowers fade and lose their fragrance, and warm hearts cease to beat! But the highest tribute of humankind shall never cease to be, for God has made us in His own image, and we have His promise that sooner or later He will gather all the faithful to Himself.

"Today is here! This is all that we are promised. Nothing stands still, it either advances or falls back and so it is with our lives. Many of us in my generation are saddened by the many relatives and close friends whose names are included today.

"A door swings briefly open and a loved one slips away, slips smiling from life's shadows into the bright eternal day where earthy grief is forgotten, where pain shall be no more.

"To Peace, past understanding, God has opened wide the door."

"This is Today- but not for long, for tomorrow is drawing near.

"Tomorrow is the hope of the world. Tomorrow is our youth with all their dreams and ambitions—their desires for homes and families.

"But Tomorrow is soon Today-then it is quickly Yesterday. Too, death has no respect for age and every year the Father calleth some loved ones to endless rest, and our hearts, though filled with sadness, can only say 'He knoweth best.'"

"Just this week I saw in print the following:

"'God's Promises—'God gives grace for each trial and courage for each sorrow and faith to face in confidence a blessed bright tomorrow.'"

Following are the names of 169 people who have passed away since last May, if I any name has been omitted, it was not intended.

CONGRESSIONAL REPORT
By Congressman Mac Thornberry
U.S. Representative - 13th District

Medicare crisis should be solved through non-partisan approach

WASHINGTON, D.C.—We have a crisis in Medicare. While President Clinton has chosen to ignore it, the rest of us cannot afford to sit back and allow Medicare to go under. We must act, and we must act now.

On April 3, 1995, the Medicare Board of Trustees issued a report which found that if nothing is done, the Medicare Trust Fund will be bankrupt by 2002. The Trust Fund is financed from payroll taxes we all pay during our working years. It goes to pay for hospital, home health care, nursing services and hospice care for those who are eligible for Medicare. If the Trust Fund is allowed to go bankrupt, hospital bills will not be paid, and many people will be without health care.

It is important to emphasize that the Medicare Board of Trustees includes three members of President Clinton's cabinet, Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin, Labor Secretary Robert Reich, and HHS Secretary Donna Shalala, as well as Social Security Commissioner Shirley Chater and two public trustees, one Republican and one Democrat. The report was signed by all of the Trustees.

Thirty-two million senior citizens and four million disabled Americans rely on Medicare for their health care. This program is too important for anyone to use for political games. We cannot allow ourselves to be blackmailed into adopting a national, government-run health care system in order to solve the Medicare crisis.

We must find a way to preserve, protect and improve Medicare, regardless of what happens with the overall federal budget and regardless of whether other health care reforms are adopted. Indeed, if the federal budget were balanced today, we would still have to deal with this Medicare crisis now.

And we can do it, by allowing spending on Medicare to increase, but at a somewhat slower rate. Based on the Trustees report, we can allow Medicare spending to increase from $4,700 per beneficiary today to $6,300 per beneficiary in 2002. That translates into an annual spending increase of about 7 percent, compared with the 10-percent increases we have seen in Medicare over the last decade. If we can just do that much, Medicare can be saved and will be able to help meet America's health care needs.

Congress this session will consider a number of changes in Medicare. Proposals may include giving beneficiaries a number of choices of health plans. If someone likes the current Medicare system, they can stick with it. If someone is willing to move into a health maintenance organization network, perhaps additional benefits can be provided. Employer-provided plans and Medical Savings Accounts will also be considered.

I want to emphasize that any changes in Medicare will be made exclusively to protect, preserve and improve Medicare. Savings from these changes will be put back into the Medicare trust fund, not to pay for tax cuts or other government spending programs.

The stark truth is that the choice before us is simple: Act now to protect Medicare, or do nothing and let it fall apart. The Medicare trustees reported to Congress that "prompt, effective, and decisive action is necessary." I agree, but I also know that all of the answers to Medicare problems do not reside in Washington, D.C.

Congress needs to hear from providers, beneficiaries, and taxpayers with all of the ideas and suggestions they have on how we can save Medicare. We will all have to participate to effectively meet this crisis.

Scholarships to be awarded at annual Texas 4-H Roundup

More than $920,000 in scholarships will be awarded to outstanding young people at the 1995 Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 5-8.

Roundup is the state's biggest annual 4-H event. About 2,000 young people will gather this year to practice leadership and demonstrate skills and knowledge gained through work in 4-H projects, said Gayle W. Laine, 4-H youth development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The 4-H scholarship selection sponsored by the Texas 4-H Foundation is one of the main events during Roundup," Laine said. "Texas 4-H awards more scholarships than any other 4-H program in the nation and continues to grow with enormous support from the private sector."

Scholarships are contributed by individuals, businesses and organizations interested in helping young people receive a college education, Laine said. Recipients are selected on the basis of scholastic ability, need, 4-H participation, leadership and personal character.

"We anticipate that about 125 outstanding 4-H members will receive scholarships ranging from $500 to $15,000 this year," Laine said. "There are more than 400 4-H scholars attending 34 Texas colleges and universities."

A featured part of Roundup is the Texas 4-H Fashion Show. More than 100 contestants will demonstrate their abilities in clothing purchasing, construction and modeling. Contestants will compete for plaques, Savings Bonds and scholarships. Sponsors for the contest include Justin Boot Company, Mary Kay Foundation, McCall Pattern Company, Make Benet Formals, Mohair Council of America, Texas Laundry and Drycleaning Association, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and Wrangler.

May Payments totaling $176.76 million in local sales tax rebates went back to 1,076 Texas cities according to the state comptroller's office. This month's sales tax rebate payments include taxes collected on March sales and reported to the comptroller by businesses filing monthly returns in April. Also included were sales made in January, February, and March which were reported by quarterly filers.

Sales taxes are collected by merchants and forwarded to the state which retains a 6.25 percent share and returns the city sales tax portion to each city, county, hospital district or transit system. Neither Floyd County nor Lockney General Hospital District and Caprock Hospital District levies a sales tax at this time. No qualifying transit system, which could also levy a sales tax, operates within the county.

SPS files settlement agreement on acquisition proposal with PUC

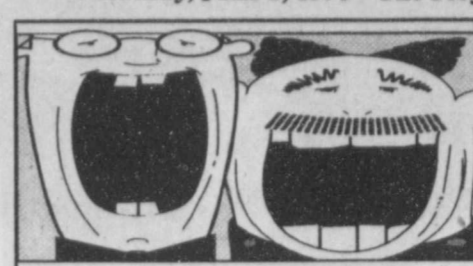

Southwestern Public Service Company has filed a settlement agreement with the Public Utility Commission of Texas that supports SPS's acquisition of properties in the Texas Panhandle currently owned by Texas-New Mexico Power Company.

SPS is seeking PUCT approval of the acquisition. In the settlement, the intervening parties agree to either support approval or agree to not oppose approval. Intervenor include the staff of the PUCT, the affected cities, the City of Amarillo, the State of Texas, TNP, and El Paso Electric Company.

SPS and TNP announced late last year an agreement to sell the Panhandle properties to SPS for $29.2 million. The communities involved are Spearman, Perryton, Booker, Follet, Higgins and Darroutzet.

The communities involved requested the sale because of the disparity of rates between TNP and other area suppliers of electricity. As part of SPS's purchase, rates to the affected communities will immediately be reduced by 10%. Other rate decreases would follow over a ten-year period until the new customers are at the same rates as SPS's other customers in its Texas service area.

SPS Vice President of Rates and Regulation Gerald Diller said he is Better Business Bureau Report

By Nan Campbell
President

Every year, millions of dollars' worth of high-quality, fairly priced office supplies are sold over the telephone by honest, reputable suppliers. Unfortunately, millions of dollars are also conned out of businesses each year by office supply schemers and "paper pirates" or "toner-phoners". Even when the victim is aware of the swindle, in many cases there is no legal recourse.

While their schemes might be highly unethical, the perpetrators usually devise them in a manner that is totally legal. Don't be victimized. Never buy from a new supplier by telephone or mail until you have checked them out; don't accept COD shipments; insist on sending written purchase orders; designate one person in the company for ordering, receiving and paying; alert all your co-workers to the office supply racket; and watch out for cold calls verifying names or kind of equipment.

If you receive such a card or mailing, give your Better Business Bureau a call at 763-0459 or long distance at 80/687-7890 and investigate before you invest!

Have a very safe and happy summer!

SAFARI MIKE & MRS. SHARON STOUT

Trinity Church in Floydada to host children's crusade

FLOYDADA--Pastor Glenn Wachob and the congregation of Trinity Church welcomes the community to attend a family and children's crusade to be held June 4-7. Safari Mike and Mrs. Sharon Stout from Leander, Texas have a successful ministry to children of all ages. They have been traveling from coast to coast for over ten years teaching children and inspiring adults to make right choices for their life. Together they have pastored and pioneered churches and established children's ministries in five gulf states. Sonkist Safari Ministries provide a fun, energetic program with a safari theme to encourage spiritual growth. Their theme "TTS A JUNGLE OUT THERE" reflects the cry of their hearts to strengthen moral values in a society where Godly, righteous kids are an endangered species. The children's crusade will consist of Bible stories, games with prizes, puppets, drama skits and songs. The entire family is encouraged to attend. The crusade begins this Sunday June 4 with services at 10:45 AM and 6:00 PM and continues Monday through Wednesday evenings at 7:00 PM. Trinity Church is located at 500 W. Houston St. For more information call 983-5499 or 983-6118.

COUNTY CORNER . . . By Jim Bob Reynolds, CEA-AG

As we all know pesticide recordkeeping became a federal requirement effective on May 10, 1993. This law requires that all certified pesticide applicators must keep records of their use of Federal restricted use pesticides. All records must be maintained for 2 years following the pesticide application. Originally, pesticide applicators were allowed 30 days to record the required pesticide information. Effective May 11, 1995, the record information must have been recorded no later than 14 days following the pesticide application, instead of the previously allowed 30 days.

The records must contain: 1) The brand or product name of the federally restricted use pesticide and the EPA registration number. 2) The amount of product applied - use the label for reference and keep one for your records. 3) The size of the treated area. 4) The crop, commodity, stored product, or site to which the pesticide was applied. 5) The location of the application. 6) The month, day and year of the application. 7) The certified applicator's name and certification number.

How to Record Spot Treatments: If you apply restricted use pesticides on the same day in a total area of less than 1/10 of an acre, you are required to record the following: 1) brand or product name, EPA registration number. 2) total amount applied 3) location of treatment designated as "spot application," followed by a description. 4) month, day and year of the application. If you have any questions concerning Pesticide Recordkeeping or need forms, please feel free to call the Floyd County Extension office.

25 Facts about Water

Each of us has a role in keeping water safe to drink. Just as "green thumb" people know how to care for plants, people with "blue thumbs" know how to take care of water. We invite you to show your "blue thumb" and take action to conserve and protect our water resources every day. To help you learn more about water, here are 25 basic facts:

1. Water is the most common substance found on earth.
2. In 1989, Americans dumped 365 million gallons of motor oil or the equivalent of 27 Exxon Valdez spills.
3. Of all the earth's water, 97% is salt water located in oceans and seas.
4. Only 1% of the earth's water is available for drinking water.
5. About two thirds of the human body is water. Some parts of the body contain more water than others. For example, 70% of your skin is water.
6. There are more than 200,000 individual water systems providing water to the public in the United States.
7. Public water suppliers process 34 billion gallons of water per day for domestic and public use.
8. Approximately 1 million miles of pipelines and aqueducts carry water in the United States and Canada. That's enough to circle the earth 40 times.
9. About 800,000 water wells are drilled each year in the United States for domestic, farming, commercial, and water testing purposes.
10. Sixty-one percent of Americans rely on lakes, rivers, and streams as their source of drinking water. The other 39% rely on groundwater - water located underground in aquifers and wells.
11. In 1974, Congress passed the Safe Drinking Water Act to ensure that drinking water is safe for consumption. The Act requires public water systems to monitor and treat drinking water safety.
12. More than 13 million households drink from their own private wells and are responsible for treating and pumping the water themselves.
13. Industries released 197 million pounds of toxic chemicals into waterways in 1990 alone.
14. The average daily requirement for fresh water in the United States is about 338 billion gallons a day, with about 300 billion gallons used as untreated water and for agriculture and other commercial purposes.
15. You can survive about a month without food, but only 5 to 7 days without water.
16. Each person uses about 100 gallons of water a day at home.
17. The average five-minute shower takes between 25-50 gallons of water.
18. You can refill an 8 oz. glass of water approximately 15,000 times for the same cost as a six-pack of pop.
19. The average automatic dishwasher uses 9-12 gallons of water while hand washing dishes can take up to 20 gallons.
20. If every household in America had a faucet that dripped once each second, we would waste 928 million gallons of water a day.
21. The 5 Great Lakes bordering the United States and Canada contain about 20% of the world's available fresh water.
22. More than 39,000 gallons of water are used to manufacture a new car, including tires.
23. Water is a main ingredient in other beverages and it takes water to process them. For example, it takes 1,500 gallons of water to make 1 barrel of beer.
24. Seventy-five percent of a tree is water.
25. One gallon of gasoline can contaminate approximately 750,000 gallons of water.

CRP changes made

Farmers with land enrolled in the government's Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) should benefit from changes in the program announced recently by Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman.

Floyd County Farm Bureau President Mark McCormick said the changes will give growers more flexibility. Glickman announced three significant program changes: USDA will offer producers with CRP contracts for one year; for producers who do not choose to extend their contracts and wish to plant on their CRP acreage in the Fall, USDA will modify program requirements covering CRP land preparation for fall seeding; CRP participants will have a one-time opportunity to remove all or part of their acreage from the program.

"It's important to remember that not all CRP acreage will be eligible for the early-out option," said McCormick. "Acreage with such cover filter strips, waterways, strips along riparian areas, windbreaks, shelter belts, shallow-water wildlife areas, certain timber establishments, or wetlands and acreage subject to easements acquired under the CRP will not be eligible."

Across the U.S., the CRP has more than 36 million acres of environmentally-sensitive cropland enrolled in about 375,000 contracts. About 2 million acres are enrolled in contracts scheduled to expire this year.

"The CRP has been tremendously beneficial for producers and for the general public in terms of soil conservation, improved wildlife habitat, and the enhancement of wetlands," said McCormick.

New Worker Protection Standards will affect agricultural producers

About 150,000 pesticide applicators are licensed by the TA, and they and others fall under this law.

"Whether they apply pesticides themselves, or have it done commercially, they still fall under the law," he said. These regulations also go a step further than the Texas Right-to-Know Act, initiated several years ago. That law basically does just what its name implies - informs employees about pesticides and possible exposure.

"Because OSHA exempted so much of agriculture from these standards, the Environmental Protection Agency felt it needed to put these (new) regulations into place," Stevenson said.

The Worker Protection Standards are unique in that there are obligations for both the employer and employee. For example, when employees are furnished personal protective equipment, which may include goggles, gloves and possibly even coveralls, they must wear it, Bertin said.

Additionally, producers will have to inform their employees about possible exposure to pesticides and take steps to protect them. Employers must provide decontamination sites for all workers and handlers, provide emergency assistance, and exchange information about the pesticides.

Employees wearing protective Tyvek coveralls can get overheated, and employers must take steps to prevent heat exhaustion.

Handlers are distinguished as those employees who actually apply and handle the pesticides; workers may or may not come into contact with a pesticide, Stevenson said.

The Worker Protection Standards do come with a cost--they will add labor and an extra expense to both agricultural producers and the TA.

The Texas Department of Agriculture will be responsible for conducting regular inspections. Randy Rivera, the TA coordinator for the Worker Protection Standards, said inspections will be carried out along with routine pesticide inspections, as well as Right-to-Know inspections. Producers could be liable for civil or criminal penalties, depending on the violation.

Additionally, agricultural producers have to provide decontamination sites for all workers and handlers. This includes water, liquid soap, disposable towels, and eye-flushing solution for all employees, as well as a pair of clean coveralls for handlers. The cost can range from $50 to $300 per employee to set up these stations, depending on whether the producer builds the kits himself or buys them commercially, Stevenson said. Required training videos may be purchased, or they may be borrowed from most county Extension offices.

Floydada students win achievement honors

The United States Achievement Academy has announced Scot Holster as a winner of a United States National Award in mathematics and science and Brad Cruz has been named a National Award winner in mathematics.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Scot, who attends Floydada Junior High, was nominated for this national award by Mrs. Wyrick for math, and Mrs. Jenschke for science.

Brad Cruz, who attends R.C. Andrews Elementary, was nominated for this national award by Sandra Robinson, a teacher at the school.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director. Scot is the son of Mike and Kathy Holster. The grandparents are Juanita Holster of Borger, and Don and Joan Smith of Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Brad Cruz is the son of Rene and Dora Cruz. The grandparents are Teodoro and Maria Moreno of Flomot, Texas, and Santiago and Beatrice Cruz of Corpus Christi, Texas.

Appraiser informs taxpayers of 1995 county property valuations bill not paid timely. A property owner is responsible for keeping the appraisal district informed of the correct mailing address.

Official forms for a notice of protest are available at the appraisal district office. "A letter from the taxpayer is also acceptable," Faulkenberry said, "as long as it identifies the property owner and the property that is the subject of the protest and indicates dissatisfaction with some decision or action of the appraisal office."

Each protesting property owner may offer evidence or argument, either in person or by filing an affidavit with the ARB. Property owners should be aware that the ARB has no authority over tax rates or spending and will not hear protests on those matters.

The ARB will schedule hearings as property owners file protests and will inform them of the time, date and place of their individual hearings at least 15 days before the scheduled hearing date. The property owner will also receive a copy of the State Comptroller's pamphlet entitled Texas Property Taxes: Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies & Responsibilities and a copy of the ARB's procedures.

Faulkenberry said that protest hearings will be held for one day and that the ARB expects to approve the final appraisal roll on July 6, 1995. State law requires the ARB to review and approve the appraisal records by July 20, or when not more than 5 percent of the total property value in the district remains under protest.

Property owners protesting their valuation should not attempt to contact ARB members outside the hearing, the chief appraiser stressed. Each ARB member must sign an affidavit stating that no such contact has occurred with a property owner or the appraisal office staff before the scheduled hearing.

Texas Property Taxes: A Taxpayers' Guide to Rights, Remedies & Responsibilities is available at the Floyd County Appraisal District office. For a copy, contact the appraisal district staff at 104 E. California, Floydada, Tx. 79235. 806-983-5256

Students present Spring recital

Amy Thornton presented her piano students in their spring recital on Sunday, May 21, at 3:30 p.m. in the Lockney Cafeteria. Performing in the recital were: Avery Aston, Lauren Mangold, Todd Cotham, Jalee Dietrich, Garrett Mathis, Amy Thornton, (teacher), Allison Mangold, Laci Schumacher, Jenna Ford, Jeffrey Hunter, and Velvet Johnson.

Thornton has taught music at Lockney Elementary for 20 years, and presents each grade level in a musical program every year.

In addition, she has taught private piano lessons for the past ten years with a total of thirty students. Over the years, she has worked up many programs for special celebrations and performs with the group Harmony to entertain for banquets and special events.

After the recital, the following poem, written by Lauren Mangold, was read to Mrs. Thornton, thanking her for all she does with music for children in Lockney.

THE MUSIC GIVER To Amy Thornton By Lauren Mangold

Some say that music is the greatest gift of all.

It's a universal language, shared by people great and small.

Music brings a gift of love right into the heart,

And fill the soul and mind with joy from the very start.

With every note sung, and every chord played.

Endless possibilities spring into view.

For this we owe so much joy and happiness to you.

You are a music giver: the most noble kind there is.

For you teach the children music and show them how to make it live.

A rare and special gift which few are able to give.

And so to you, the music giver, we take the time to say.

We love you and appreciate all you do.

From the bottom of our hearts -
THANK YOU!
