A view from The Lamplighter By Ken Towery

Mr. Dole has finally made his move, so we can now seriously begin thinking about the presidential elections in '96.

The way we see it, there's good news and bad news in the picture. The good news is that Jack Kemp dropped out of e race early. Kemp has tried, over the years, to posture himself as a fiscal conservative and social liberal. That, to us, is akin to what used to be called a "mugwump," a politician with his mug on one side of the fence and his wump on the other. Social liberalism is very expensive, and it demands, in the current political climate, a great deal of government money. That is hardly compatible with fiscal conservatism.

But back to Dole. He is generally regarded as the front runner among potential Republican candidates. He's the candidate all the others, including Gramm, has to beat. Still, there's been a good bit of uneasiness about Dole among the party's hard core, the ones who go to conventions and decide who will be the nominee.

He's never been regarded as one of the true-blue believers among the conservative "movement" people. Basically a conservative with moderate tendencies would perhaps be a way to describe his history in the Senate. Something of a compromiser. An effective leader, but not the kind of political leader who inflames political passions.

Now he has bellied up to the bar. He has taken on Hollywood, and the cultural elite in this country is reacting with cries of outrage.

because he couldn't see to drive. It was raining so hard, it was pitch black. He was hit by a solid wall of mud and when it was all over Ken's pickup was 150 yards west of where he had stopped." Campbell was not injured.

"Ken said he couldn't tell if he was shoved that far or picked up and dropped," said Polly. "He said he didn't have any kind of sensation one way or the other.'

According to Floyd County Sheriff Charlie Overstreet, "We started tracking the cloud in Floyd County in the South Plains community. A tornado was first spotted three miles west of South Plains. It went back up into the clouds and touched down again 1 mile north of the Matador Highway, 8 miles east of Floydada. It stayed on the ground, or just off the ground, all the way into Dicken's County, which is about 10-12 miles."

Overstreet estimated the tornado was traveling approximately 15 miles per hour.

"One of our spotters, Lance Poole, saw four tornadoes west of Hwy. 70," said Overstreet. "He saw them merge into one which made the path of destruction about 3/4 mile wide," said Overstreet.

Thanks to citizens monitoring the police scanners and the warnings of the storm watchers and concerned neighbors there were no injuries reported from the storm.

Seventeen year old Neal Nelson and his thirteen year old brother, Lonnie, were at home 7 1/2 miles east of Floydada on the Matador Highway, when the tornado cut a path next to their home. The boys were watching the weather after being warned by a friend of the approaching clouds.

Their mother, Teri Nelson, said the boys saw the tornado come around their barn and head down their fence line, between 3:30 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. "One side of the tornado was on the side of the house and the other side was at the end of our pasture, about 1/4 mile away," said Teri. "When they saw the tornado,

Neal snatched up Lonnie and they ran to Dole's speech denouncing the greed of Time Warner and other purveyors of "gansta rap" was probably the single most politically effective move he has made in the current campaign. And the fact that he made it in Los Angeles, the home of the entertainment industry, and where Bill Clinton recently held a hugely successful $50,000 per plate fund raiser, is also significant. Dole is now hooked. He has raised the flag and can't lay it down, except in defeat. If he now waffles, it will be terribly obvious.

True, others have raised the flag before him. But what worries the industry is that Dole, or some other Republican, may well be the next President. Having a President who gives voice to the frustrations of many Americans on this issue is not a pleasant prospect for the industry.

Dole may as well gird up his loins and prepare for battle. He is already being denounced, in the pages of the New York Times, as being "anti-Semetic." The implication, of course, being that if one objects to Hollywood fare in general, or "gansta rap" in particular, one is automatically "anti-Semetic." Nothing silences political debate in America like the fear of being labeled "anti-Semetic."

(In a way there is a touch of irony in this. It was Dole, along with Gramm, who pandered to the American Jewish community by endorsing the relocation of the Israeli capitol from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem, a move endorsed by many wealthy American Jews but opposed, at this moment, by both the Israeli and American governments, as well as the Palestinians.)

How all this will effect the outcome of the race is still unclear. Whether it will change any personal loyalties, whether Gramm's or Alexander's supporters will now switch to Dole, remains to be seen. But one thing is certain. It has thrust Dole into the media spotlight, which he will probably dominate as a result. Liberal commentators and columnists have treated Dole somewhat kindly in the past, fearing to do otherwise would improve the chances of Gramm or Alexander, or Buchanan. That kindly treatment will now be a thing of the past. Now the "dark side" of Dole will resurface in the media. We will be reminded that in the past he has been regarded as a "hatchet man." He will be condemned as "unprincipled." But, if he stays the course, he will benefit.

And what about the rest? There are a number of good men in the race, plus a few clunkers. Dorman is going nowhere. Lugar is an intelligent man, going nowhere in the Presidential race. Gramm is a strong leader, intelligent and courageous, but in the current situation we see him coming in second or third. We say the same about our old friend Pat Continued On Page 2 have 50 linemen in town today (Tuesday), helping fix the lines," said Duke. Warning sirens were sounded in the FLOYDADA — Change is in store for the Floydada skyline. The old water following the Monday afternoon tower behind City Hall will be torn down. Council members unanimously voted to remove the nearly 80 year old unused structure at a cost of $13,357.00 rather than have the tank renovated at a cost of nearly $170,000.00 in order to retain it as a landmark in the area.

A motion by Councilman Clar Schacht approved awarding the project to Pittsburgh Tank and Tower of Henderson, Kentucky. The motion was seconded by Councilman Eric Cornelius. Voting in favor were Schacht, Cornelius, Albert Hill, Wayne Tipton, and Leroy Burns. Councilman Dale Lawson was not present due to duties elsewhere storms.

An open letter to Floydada citizens from City Manager Gary Brown is being printed in this issue explaining the options the council had to chose from and the costs of each.

Council members also considered a proposal from Southwestern Public Service to purchase the facilities of Floydada Power and Light. SPS offered a multifaceted proposal payable over 30 years. According to SPS the city would receive $180,398.00 per year for that Continued On Page 3

Cost placed at nearly $1.8 million New FISD gymnasium approved by board

By Juanita Stepp

FLOYDADA — Meeting in a special called session on Thursday, June 1, the Floydada Independent School District Board of Trustees approved awarding bids totaling $1,543,996.00 toward construction of a new gymnasium at Floydada High School: Approval came on a split vote with two members of the panel voting against the motion.

Amado Morales made the motion to approve the bids as presented by architect James Robison of Plainview with adjustments and deletions as specified by the board. The motion, seconded by Charlene Brown accepted the lowest responsible bids on each of eight bid packages. Voting in favor were Morales, Brown, Jack Robertson, Billy Joe Villarreal, and Trena Simpson. Voting against were Steve Lloyd and Mitch Probasco.

Lloyd indicated that he had voted against the motion because the people he had heard from concerning the proposed gym were not in favor of the project. Probasco said that he was in favor of constructing a new gym, but felt that the bids had come in too high and that it would cost more than the district could afford to build at this time.

The bid for the mechanical portion of construction was excluded from the motion and no action was taken on it at this time. This part of the bid will be awarded at the regular session of the board on Thursday, June 8. The mechanical work portion of the project will cost an additional amount of between $229,950.00 and $240,950.00 depending on the bidder who receives board approval. This will bring the total cost of the proposed gymnasium to just short of $1.8 million before completion if no further adjustments or additions are made.

Itemized bids as presented included: site work, $83,400.00, TEC Construction, Amarillo; concrete work, $275,000.00, TEC Construction of Amarillo; building structures & metal Amarillo; masonry work, $239,520.00, D&L Masonry; general work, $456,400.00, TEC Construction, Amarillo; drywall & acoustical work, $74,490.00, Henley Interiors, Lubbock; and electrical work, $135,625.00, City Electric Co. of Plainview.

Deletions were made in the site work, reducing it by $12,300. The concrete work stood as presented and $105,600.00 was deleted from the building structural and roof package. $10,250.00 was deleted from the masonry package. Another $29,391.00 was subtracted from the general work package. With deletions totaling $199,039.00, the base cost of the project is being placed at $1,773.946.00 and could rise to as much as $1,784,946.00 after the bid is awarded for the mechanical work package.

This amount is more than $500,000.00 more than initial funds the district dedicated to the project following a public meeting in February. At that time, the district had approximately $1.2 million which could go toward the project and expected to be able to add another $160,000.00 by using the $100,000.00 usually dedicated to capital improvements in the annual budget and the $60,000.00 payment for the air conditioning at school which paid off this year.

The nearly $1.8 million in bids approved means that the district will have to borrow money to finance the gym. Superintendent Jerry Cannon indicated that the district will need to borrow about $700,000.00. The loan will come from the First National Bank of Floydada at 6 percent interest as contracted in the bank's depository fund bid for handling district funds.

Administrative assistant Jimmie Collins told those present that the amount is different than the previously published intent to borrow which was $500,000.00. He said, "Our attorney has told us that we have met the requirements of the law by publishing the no-roof, $453,400.00, Hallmark Builders, tice with the best possible estimate we could make at the time of publication."

> District officials and board members stressed the fact that no new tax money will be used to pay for the gym and that no tax increase is anticipated or under discussion.

According to architect James Robison, "We were expecting bids to come in at a lot less. In fact, we had suggested a few additional things that might have been included if the bids had come in as projected to make the structure more special including an additional parking area on the east, terrazzo floors and carpetbags. Instead, we made cuts."

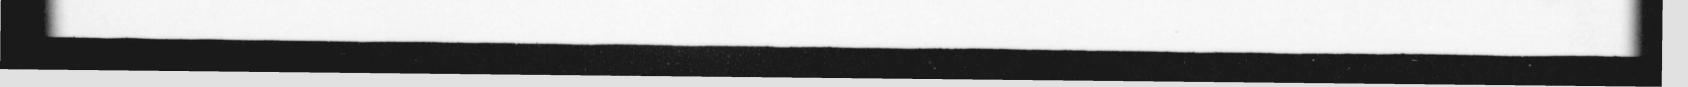

The only other item on the agenda for board action was a proposal to purchase weighted daily average attendance (WAD) figures by Jayton-Gerard ISD. The neighboring district asked to buy WAD as part of the state sanctioned plan to equalize the financial positions of districts.

J-GISD has excess tax base and the excess revenue from that tax base must either be transfered to a neighboring poor district by the purchase of WAD or send the excess funds to the state for redistribution. The proposal presented specifies that FISD will use the funds earned from the sale for improving student instruction and academic achievement

Motion to approve the sale was made by Lloyd and seconded by Robertson. All voted in favor. mano of

I know people look at things in different ways. There are some who read the Bible and say there is a reasonable explanation for all those coincidences. Those same kind of people would probably drive through Floyd County and say we were just lucky no one was killed when the tornado came through on Monday.

They would say, "It sure was a coincidence that the people who lost their home weren't there at the time the storm

Or, "It sure was lucky that the tornado just brushed up against the Nelson's house." Or, "Wasn't it lucky that the path of that tornado was through an unpopulated area." Or, "I wonder how Ken Campbell came away with no injuries when his truck was moved by the tornado?

For when the Farmer came to investigate the commotion, he said, "You must not be greedy, Little Red Hen. Look at the oppressed Cow. Look at the disadvantaged Duck. Look at the underprivileged Pig. Look at the less fortunate Goose. You are guilty of making second-class citizens of them!"

"But-but-but I carned the bread," said the Little Red Hen.

"Exactly," the wise Farmer said. "That is the wonderful free enterprises system; anybody can earn as much as he wants. You should be happy to have this freedom. In other barnyards, you would have to give all five loaves to the

to be seen. Perhaps the campaign will enlighten us on that. In the meantime, we appreciate what

Bob Dole did. So the O.J. Simpson case has lost two more jurors. They were replaced by two alternates, leaving only two alternates to last until who knows when. Many court watchers and commentators are voicing alarm, claiming the case might end up in a mistrial.

So what? In our view it won't change a thing. It has long been apparent that Simpson is going to walk. In the beginning we felt that no jury constituted the way the Simpson jury was constituted would ever convict O.J. Simpson in Los Angeles. We hoped we were wrong, for we believed him guilty as sin. In the end we now believe the jury will either find him innocent, or a hung jury will result. Los Angeles taxpayers will be out over $5 million, Simpson's lawyers will be richer by more than that, and people will still be arguing about his guilt or innocence. Still, we see no other course for the L.A. District Attorney's office. Despite the obvious political implications in pushing the case, they were bound by their oath of office to pursue the matter. After all, an oath is an oath. If they thought he was guilty, they had no choice, given their oath, other than to prosecute the case vigorously. In our view the Los Angeles DA's office will not suffer as a consequence.

On the other hand, what would have happened had the DA just said "well, we'll never get a conviction, so let's forget it."

home I wonder why our house is still here," said Teri.

Again-no one was hurt. The house sustained some roof damage and pipes were thrown across a field. A home close to the Nelson's lost a large portion of their roof, and several pivot sprinklers in the path of the storm were lost. Softball size hail was reported along the tornadoes route. "It sounded like a truck running into your house," said Gladys Jones, who lives approximately 11 miles east of Floydada on the Matador Highway. "When the hail would hit the ground it would explode and send pieces of hail five and six feet into the air.'

The community of Dougherty was spared serious damage and suffered mostly broken windows, knocked down fences, broken trees and damaged roofs. Their electricity was restored at approximately 3:30 or 4:00 a.m. Tuesday morning.

FRIDAY STRAIGHT WINDS

High winds which blew into Floydada on Friday, June 2, at approximately 12:00 midnight, destroyed one Floydada business and caused extensive operty damage in several areas.

Although open for debate among some, the official report is that straight winds did all the damage Friday night.

There were several who could not believe that the Friday night damage was caused straight winds.

Aurora and Ruben DeLeon lost their business, Ruben's Drive-In, to the winds. The roof was blown off and scattered in a field behind Ruben's Drive-In and then the walls collapsed. The business is located in the 600 block of E. Houston

"We had no insurance on the building," said Aurora DeLeon, "and we lost it all. We have been paying on the building for over 20 years.'

Mitch Probasco, at the Floydada Airport, clocked peak gusts of winds at 71 m.p.h Friday. In some areas of town it is believed the wind was stronger.

Across the street from Ruben's Drive-In, in the 800 block of E. Houston, an elevator leg at Pyle Grain was twisted off. "It would cost about $35,000 to replace that leg," said owner Louis Pyle, " but I probably won't replace it now. We weren't using the building for commercial purposes anymore. I was using it to store grain.

"I can't figure out how a straight wind did this," said Pyle. "The leg was anmately 8 miles east of Floydada. According to Officer Darrell Gooch, who was patrolling at the time the winds hit, "The truck was traveling west in a caravan with three other trucks when it was hit by the wind. It was empty and the wind just laid it over. The man driving the truck received deep lacerations in his left arm and was taken to W.J. Mangold Hospital in Lockney and then transferred to Lubbock.

"The accident blocked Highway 70 until a Lubbock wrecker could come and get it off the highway."

Randall Weems, the owner of Weems Service Station, also in the 600 block of E. Houston, doesn't know what kind of wind it was. He just knows he didn't like being out in it.

"My mother and I live in a trailer behind the station," said Randall. "When the wind hit we knew we should get out of the trailer.'

The Weems ran to a closed commercial laundry building, which the Weems own. The laundry is very close to Ruben's Drive-In.

"The laundry is brick," said Randall "and we got into the back room. We could hear the windows breaking out front and it was not a good feeling."

When asked if he saw a tornado, Randall said, "Between ducking all the things flying around I couldn't see anything. The wind sandblasted my glasses, my car and my pick-up. Both back windshields of our vehicles were blown out. A dumpster near by was sandblasted so bad there is not a speck of paint left on it."

High winds also blew out a large front plate glass window at City Auto, located at the intersection of Missouri and Wall Street, and knocked over large trees and toppled fences.

tions and estimated the cost of each. The first possible option was the removal of the tank. This was estimated to cost $15,000.00.

The second possible option was painting the outside of the tower with very little preparation. This would give it a new paint job, but would not have a very long life expectancy because of the limited preparation. This action was estimated to cost $92,500.00.

The third possible option is to have the tower properly prepared, primed and painted. This action is estimated to cost $170,000.00.

With the above estimates in mind, the council had to make sure they spent taxpayer's money wisely. Using citizens' tax money wisely is a priority of the council. At a time when city funds never seem to be enough, the differences in the above options had to be looked at very closely.

The City Council voted unanimously at the council meeting Monday night to have the tower removed. The council voted to accept the proposal of Pittsburg Tanks Tower Co., Inc. in the amount of $13.357.00.

It was the opinion of the council that this action would be the most responsible manner of handling their obligations and city taxpayers' money.

be sold with the city acting as a creditor in the sale. This would be the case if the power facility was sold to SPS on a 30 year payout. He said that the only offer which could be considered would by an outright buyout. For purposes of an > million. Brown indicated that since the power facility provides employment for several city people and contributes amounts varying from $100,000.00 to more than $200,000.00 each year to the city general fund, this would be a bad move for the city.

He also told the council that if SPS owned the power company, the city would have to pay electric bills on all the city street lights, ball parks, recreation areas and city buildings. The monthly tab for all of these items would be very expensive to the city, eating up any profit made on the sale very rapidly. The charges would then continue to have to be paid on a monthly basis forever.

Also discussed in the more than an hour long executive session were personnel and salaries for the coming 1995-96 budget year which begins October 1. Council members approved a five tier

Russell Family gathers for first reunion

History was made on June 2-3 when five generations of the Russell family, from nine states, gathered at Floydada's Massie Activity Center. The states represented were Oklahoma, Colorado, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Nevada, California, Illinois and Texas.

The family members were descendants of Edward Everett and Suzanne Elizabeth Russell, who moved to Floyd County in 1911. They and their nine children began farming south of Floydada, and later moved east of Lockney near the Ramsey community.

In 1921 Edward Russell moved his family to Floydada, where he established a business known as "Russell's Blacksmith." A son, Carl, assumed the role of owner of the business in 1941, and changed the name to "Russell's Blacksmith and Machine Shop." Carl's son, Wayne, bought the shop from his father in 1958, and moved it from the original location on East California Street to its present location on East Houston.

Wayne renamed the business "Russell's Equipment and Supply, Inc." He is still actively operating the business with the assistance of his son-inlaw, Bill Gray, who is married to Wayne's daughter, Dell (thus representing four generations of the Russell family).

The highlight of the reunion was to honor Mae Pair of Lubbock, the only living child of Edward and Suzanne. She was born in Pottsboro, Grayson County, Texas, on March 25, 1906. She moved to Floyd County in a covered wagon in 1911. Suzanne died when Mae was 9 years old, and she was raised by her brother and sister, Carl and Ada.

Mae attended West Texas State Teachers' College in Canyon, and graduated in 1928. She completed high school and college in one building in five years, and taught school in Seminole and Morton. In 1931 she married Dick Pair and the union produced two sons and a daughter. After farming in the area, the family moved to Springer, New Mexico, and undertook a large ranching operation. Following the loss of her husband, Mae moved to Lubbock, and is currently residing at the Carillon Retirement Center. At 89, she is active in church and social activities.

On June 3, the family named Mae 'Queen for the Day," and presented the honoree with a dozen roses and a large cake, which was decorated with a crown, (a replica of the one she wore). Mem-

Thursday, Aubry Stewart joined the domino players. To my knowledge he hasn't played with them before, so I hope he enjoyed it and plans to do it again. T.L. and Dorothy Holland's son, David of Weston, Colorado, spent a week with his parents recently.

Frances and Peck Badgett's daughter, Anna and Charlie Busick of Cloud Croft, New Mexico were here to celebrate her mother's birthday. Frances said they celebrated for three days and had a great time.

Rebecca Smith and Britt Britton have not been able to come to the center for lunch for several months now, but Thursday they were there and had relatives with them. Maxine Fry McCullough, who is a niece of Britt from Midland, and her sister, Marilyn Fry Slough and her husband Ken C. Slough from Austin were visiting. These sisters grew up in this area and their parents were Ruby and Ernest Fry, now deceased.

Bill and Norma Feuerbacher spent several days at Lake Medina near San Antonio. Two sons and their families (six grandchildren) met them at the lake. They all enjoyed being together and the grandchildren had plenty to entertain them

Lena Mae sounded so good. She told me that she is in therapy three times a week. Olin is to have back surgery June 19. They miss their friends here in Floydada. I know they would appreciate your prayers.

Our sympathy to the family of Joyce Lloyd. Her funeral was Monday, June 5. She was a faithful member of my Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church. We will miss her.

WILLIS' TO BE HONORED ON 50th ANNIVERSARY

Drawing of Floyd County Court House presented to museum

By Flora McNeill

Residents and visitors of Floyd County will be privileged to enjoy a beautiful picture of the Floyd County Court House given by Larry Bridges of Lubbock to the Floyd County Museum. Bridges, a pen and ink artist did the Floyd County Court House especially for the Old Settlers Meeting on May 27, 1995. He has a special interest in beautiful old court houses and churches all over Texas as well as old gas stations, stores, cars, railroads and trains, tractors or places of history.

He, also, enjoys bringing to life with his talent the beautiful old mansions in East Texas around Marshall, Jefferson and Longview. Bridges not only draws old buildings but he is especially good with animals, both wild and tame.

Interesting facts about the second permanent building is borrowed from the History of Floyd County Courthouses compiled by Dess (Mrs. S. W.) Ross in 1971 with credit given for the authenticity of the history to the late Homer Steen, longtime owner and editor of The Floyd County Hesperian.

On July 11, 1911, the Commissioners voted to build a new court house and that day let a contract for a $73,690.00 buildling. After the first court house was sold for $327.50, the contract for this second permanent court house was awarded to

Bobby Willis and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Willis

L. L. Wright of Dallas and the work was paid as completed.

After work was started and $18,000.00 spent on it, many people throughout the county wanted the court house to be located nearer the center of the county, at old Della Plains-as Floyd City was some five (5) miles from the center of the county.

On March 2, 1912, an election was set for June 8, 1912, for the purpose of deciding if this court house should be removed to the L. B. Maxey land near old Della Plains. This election was held and the votes canvassed on June 18, 1912-no record of the exact count was kept, but the returns favored Floydada, as the town was now known.

The building was occupied the latter part of 1912 and it was constructed of pressed brick, reinforced concrete floors and concrete stairways with marble treads.

This was the tallest building ever built in Floydada to that date. It was 86 feet from the ground to the top of its beautiful metal dome, which held a large fourfaced clock.

The dome was a source of worry and expense because it leaked; so after thirty-seven (37) years in 1949, the commissioners voed to replace it with a canopy-type cover and, at the same time, to re-roof the entire court house.

From an unknown cause, while the contractors were working, the building caught fire and burned beyond repair. This is only a thumbnail sketch of the details of the domed court house which can be found in the Museum.

Also, the colored pen and ink picture of the Court House is an exhibit, courtesy of the artist, Larry Bridges. Prints, black and white and colored, are still available at this time.

Mules dominate District 2-3A All-District baseball selections

by Bill Gray

District 2-3A champion Muleshoe placed six players on the All-District baseball team, including the league's Most Valuable Player, senior pitcher Andy Perez. Floydada junior outfielder Neal Nelson was the lone Whirlwind on the 13-man first team, as selected by the district's coaches.

Floydada senior Sammy Rodriquez (designated hitter) and sophomore Monty Anderson (utility player) were selected to the second team. Whirlwinds chosen as honorable mention were juniors Michael Mercado and Joe Sanchez, sophomores Tomas Barrientos, Chris Enriquez, Chad Hinkle and Angel Aleman and freshman Jason Henderson. Nelson, noted for his strong arm from his left field position, carried a .370 batting average during the 10-game district campaign. He rapped for a .292 average over the 25-game season.

Anderson, the starting catcher for practically the entire season, led the team in home runs (4), triples (4), fielding percentage (.953), and carried a .393 batting average during district play.

Rodriquez led the team in RBIs with 25, carried a .243 batting average, and had a pitching record of 2-2 for the year. The top five Whirlwinds in each of the statistical categories are as follows:

Longhorns make impressive showing at Greenbelt Lowl Game

LOCKNEY—The 46th annual Greenbelt Bowl held in Childress last weekend, had a Lockney flavor as recent graduates Matthew Raissez and Tanner Johnson found themselves on opposite teams in the game won by the South All-Stars. The South won by a score of 16-14 over the North All-Stars.

The South's Raissez had an outstanding game on the offensive line for the victorious South.

The North's Johnson was a standout for tion on both offense and defense. According to Lockney Coach Malcom Moerbe, "Both young men performed extremely well. All of Lockney on kick returns and also saw much ac-formed extremely well. All of Lockney can be very proud of their performances. It was fun to watch them one more time."

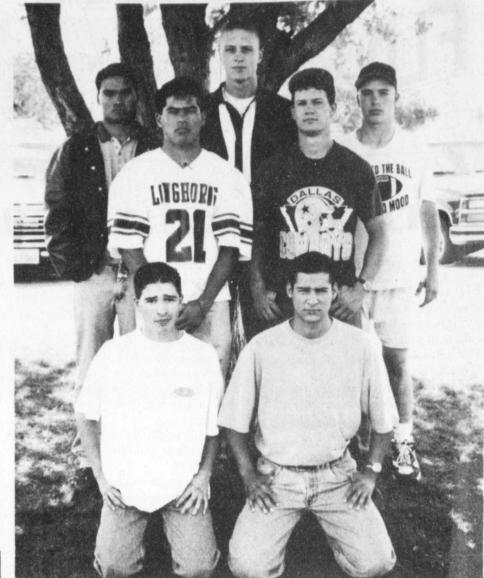

Coach David Sutterfield added, "Seeing Matthew and Tanner play so well brought back memories of the terrrific 1994 football season. I'm ready for the 1995 season to start right now."

PROUD OF OUR SPONSORS AND COMMUNITY BASEBALL--The Floydada Baseball Association chose a different way to thank their summer baseball sponsors this year. Instead of displaying the sponsors names on the back of the youngsters T-Shirts, the names of all the sponsors are being displayed on a sign on the top of the concession stand at Wester Field.

Farmer Idea Exchange offered

American Farm Bureau Federation once again is offering its Farmer Idea Exchange for producers to submit their inventions, equipment modifications and other creative genius to help agriculture in some way, according to Mark McCormick, president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau.

"Farmers and ranchers are true innovaters - they have to be in order to stay in business with today's thin margin of error," McCormick says.

AFBF initiated its Farmer Idea Exchange in 1988. The program has surfaced hundreds of useful ways to improve agriculture's efficiency and boost income, the Floyd County FB president points out.

A maximum of 20 farmer ideas nationwide will be selected to display a poster at the 1996 AFBF annual meeting in Reno, Nev. Literally hundreds of entries nationwide will be evaluated by AFBF.

AFBF will pay $800 toward the cost of each Farmer Idea Exchange winner to attend the annual meeting.

ent categories to choose from in submitting their particular entry," Mark McCormick stated.

These include:

- equipment; livestock; crops; management systems.

- input-efficiency; rotational grazing; marketing; safety and handicap helpers;

-soil quality; farm shop ideas; water management; wildlife; farm buildings, and energy.

To obtain an application or for more information contact Dale Parr, state coordinator for the program for Texas Farm Bureau, at (817) 751-2262.

DISPARAGEMENT BILL

An agricultural products disparagement bill has become state law and will take effect September 1, 1995.

"Farmers and ranchers should not be subject to false claims about the quality and safety of food products that they raise when those food products are perishable and when those false claims can

"Farmers and ranchers have 14 differ- cost the producers many millions of dollars in damages," said Mark McCormick, president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau, who raises cotton in Floydada. "We as agricultural producers are very pleased with this legislation," he said.

> The law will create grounds for a lawsuit if someone deliberately distributes false information about a food product. The person suing will have to prove the statement is false.

"We think it will make people think before they start a campaign based on false information and a philosophy as opposed to the facts," said McCormick. "The clearest example is the Alar scare in the Northwest a few years ago when apple growers were damaged and some put out of business by false statements made in the national news media."

The bill (H.B. 722) was sponsored in the House by St. Rep. Bob Turner (D) Voss. He said the legislation provides a deterrence in people making statements without scientific knowledge that there is actually a health factor involved.

PUMPKINS

Since Floyd County is the Pumpkin Capital of the U.S.A. with producers raising about 2 million pounds of pumpkins on about 1,500 acres of crop land, producers are always concerned with powdery mildew and fungicide resistance.

Systemic fungicides are an essential will continue to be valuable as long as most of the powdery mildew fungus population continues to be sensitive to these fungicides at the start of powdery mildew development. Implementing a resistance management program will minimize the risk of control failure.

Use systemic fungicides wisely. Scout tool for successfully managing powdery for symptoms to ensure applications are mildew on susceptible varieties. They made at the critical time, which is the start of disease development. Systemic fungicides applied before powdery mildew is present are a waste of resources, while those applied after powdery mildew has become well established will not be sufficiently effective.

Apply systemic fungicides with protectant fungicides. Protectant fungicides are effective against powdery mildew strains that are resistant to systemic fungicides. Protectant fungicides are not prone to development of resistance. The pathogen population can rapidly become resistant when systemic fungicides are used more than twice during the growing season. If more applications are considered necessary for adequate control then protectant fungicides should be used for the duration of the season.

The benefit of protectant fungicides can be maximized by improving coverage of lower leaf surfaces by using an electrostatic sprayer or an air assist sprayer, or by operating a conventional sprayer at high pressure and high gallonage. Early plantings treated with fungicide can be a source of resistant powdery mildew pathotypes for later plantings. Successive plantings should be physically separated and a fungicide spray program should be developed for your entire farm. Resistant varieties should be selected when possible to complement this chemical control strategy.

OL:

In the final two weeks of the 74th Legislative Regular Session, the appropriations and education conference committees continue to meet, often until the wee hours of the morning.

On Monday, the Texas Senate passed House Bill (HB) 949, sponsored in the Senate by Jim Turner of Crockett which provides that a governmental body is not required to comply with a request for information of certain incarcerated individuals. In addition it provides that personal information about an employee of the Texas Dept. of Criminal Justice (TDCJ) or a family member of an employee is privileged from civil discovery by an inmate. Currently, Texas inmates have been able to receive infor- existing laws that regulate the use of mation through the Open Records Act and have used information obtained under this act to harass TDCJ employees. Complaints include false income tax filings, harassment at residences and unusual mail at their homes.

Also on Monday, the Senate passed Committee Substitute House Bill (CSHB) 2587, sponsored in the Senate by Buster Brown of Lake Jackson, which amends certifying, licensing, and regulation of underground petroleum storage tanks, operators, and installers; amends regulation of certain above ground storage tanks; and provides penalties for violations. The bill updates underground and above ground storage tanks, in order to protect groundwater and aboveground surface water resources from substances that could pollute them. Other business included HB 2349, sponsored in the Senate by Ken Armbrister of Victoria, which prohibits the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission from imposing any standard or regulation pertaining to landfills that is more stringent than the federal government's.

On Tuesday, the Senate passed HB 94, sponsored in the Senate by Ken Armbrister of Victoria , which amends the law concerning the use of deadly force in a person's home against an intruder. Current Texas law permits the use of deadly force in his or her defense if a reasonable person in the same situation would not have retreated. This has placed the burden of proof upon those who have been forced to use deadly force within their own home to protect themselves or family members from an intruder who clearly meant to harm them. As proposed, HB 94 provides that a person is justified in using deadly force against a person who unlawfully enters their habitation, regardless of whether a reasonable person would have retreated, and provides an affirmative defense to civil suit for such an actor.

On Wednesday, the Senate met and passed CSHB 668, sponsored in the Senate by Teel Bivins, of Amarillo, part of the tort reform package which reforms the procedure and conditions for awarding damages for deceptive trade practices. The Deceptive Trade Practice and Consumer Protection Act (DTPA) was originally adopted to dissuade big business from taking advantage of consumers by offering the consumer triple damages. Currently, the DTPA has become an avenue for numerous lawsuits, making the application of the DTPA inconsistent with the original intent. The bill limits action under the DTPA to transactions of less that $500,000. It also authorizes the consumer to recover the following types of damages: economic damages up to an additional two times economic damages if the defendant acted knowingly, damages for mental anguish if the defendant acted intentionally, and a maximum recovery of three times economic damages plus three times damages for mental anguish. The portion of the bill dealing with the practice of 'redlining' by insurance companies was amended by Senator Rodney Ellis of Houston. The amendment gives a cause of action to individuals who suffer unfair discrimination from insurance companies for rates and coverages based on race or other factors.

Also on Wednesday, the Senate passed

HB 1479, sponsored in the Senate by Gonzalo Barrientos of Austin which would grant a $1,000 scholarship to high school students who graduate in three years or less. It is estimated that the bill will produce substantial savings to the state and local school districts, since the average cost of educating one student for one year at a Texas public school is close to $5,000. The bill retains provisions which provide a one-year tuition and fee exemption at public colleges and universities to students who qualify for public assistance under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program. This part of the bill is funded by directing a portion of the savings from the early high school graduation program towards the payment of tuition and fee exemptions for students on AFDC.

Thunderstorms and spring showers contribute annually to the growth of beautiful Texas wildflowers. While appreciating the benefits of such storms, be aware of possible severe weather resulting from thunderstorm activity.

Thunderstorms create lightning, as well as the potential for tornadoes, flooding, and flash flooding.

The safest place during a thunderstorm is in a substantial building. Avoid using electrical appliances or the telephone. Lightning can strike near a building and travel through power lines into the building.

During a thunderstorm, remember, keep alert to changing weather conditions and listen to National Weather Service Bulletins for weather information.

BY SHEILIA FAULKENBERRY FLOYDADA -- Property owners in the Floyd County Appraisal District will have an opportunity "later" to protest proposed appraisals of their property for local taxes. The district's appraisal review board (ARB) will begin hearing taxpayer protests on July 6, 1995.

After the ARB concludes its hearings and approves final property appraisals, local governments will use these appraisals to assess property taxes for 1995 The ARB is a group of citizens who live in the appraisal district and who are appointed by the districts's directors. Their responsibilities are outlined by the Texas Constitution, which requires that property be appraised equally and uniformly and that exemptions and productivity appraisal be properly granted.

Property owners may appeal before the ARB to protest any of the following appraisal office actions: * the appraised or agricultural value

* unequal appraisal of the taxpayers's property compared to other property in about your property, please call the appraisal district at 806-983-5256. The general deadline for protesting to the ARB is June 21 for this year.'

Here's what to look closely at on a NOTICE OF APPRAISED VALUE: - Check current owner name and mailing address. - Review the property's legal description for any error. - Agree or disagree with the proposed value on the land, building(s). - Check if correct exemptions granted; if not, apply with appraisal district.

VERNON PARKER

FLOYDADA - Services for Vernon Parker, 82, of Floydada, were Friday, June 2, at 2:00 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Floydada, with the Reverend Clark Williams of First United Methodist Church of Floydada, and the Reverend Floyd Bradley, a retired Baptist minister officiating. Burial was in Floyd County Memorial Park under the direction of Moore-Rose-White Funeral Home

He died Tuesday, May 30, at 11:30 p.m., in Lubbock Methodist Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Vernon Andrew Parker was born March 16, 1913 in Paducah, Texas. He married Eva Mae Teasley, January 5, 1946 in Dallas. He was owner and operator of Parker's Photography for 20 years when he retired in 1983. He served in the Air Force during World War II, where he was a Lieutenant Colonel for 22 years.

He moved to Floydada in 1963 from Rantoul, Illinois. He was a member of the Whirlwind Sams Travel Trailer Club, past member of the Rotary Club, and past president of the Chamber of Commerce

While in the Air Force, Parker served for a time as the pilot of the famous World War II bomber, The Memphis Belle.

Prior to commanding the Belle, in 1940 at the age of 25, Parker enlisted as a volunteer fighter pilot for Great Britain's Royal Air Force. He served there until the U.S. entered the war in Nov. 1942.

He was transferred from the RAF into the U.S. Air Force, and served as a combat tactic instructor.

As an instructor stationed at Dyersburg Air Force Base, Tennessee, Parker acted as a mentor, flying with first time crews and handing out instructions.

He was known for his development of a WWII flight maneuver which fellow U.S. bombers called the "Parker Two-Step". Credited for its impressive success in air combat he went on to train 50 to 60 crews in the maneuver.

Parker piloted the Belle during the making of the original movie, The Memphis Belle, in 1943. The first movie was filmed in actual combat with photographers accompanying the crews on the missions. Clips were amassed and made into one film.

The original film was intended to be used for training purposes, but was later released for public viewing. Profits went toward war bond funding. The film was recently remade and focused on the last bomb run made by the Memphis Belle, called "the Milk Run."

In a Dec. 5, 1991 interview with The Floyd County Hesperian, Parker said, Honarary pallbearers were the R.A. Boys of Bledsoe Baptist Church.

owner Shelia Faulkenberry, chief appraiser for the district, outlined the steps by which a property owner files a protest. First, the property owner must file a written notice of protest with the ARB. This must be filed by June 21 or within 30 days after the taxpayer is mailed a notice of appraised value by the chief appraiser, whichever is later.

However, if the ARB sends a property owner a notice of any other kind of change in the appraisal records, or if the chief appraiser issues a notice for a property omitted in the prior year, the property owner has 30 days from the mailing date to file a protest.

Any property owner is encouraged to contact the appraisal district to discuss any questions.

They were Cargill employees, City of Floydada Employees, Precinct 1 and 4 employees, James Williams and Trustees, and the Boy Scouts. Without your help, this years Old Settlers would not have been a success. Also a special thanks to Laura Turner and Connie Johnson for their help checking in crafters. Thank you seems inadequate to say for all the things you, our friends and neighbors, have helped us with. Most of all, thanks to everyone for the prayers. Also for the flowers, visits, calls, cards, and letters which have been appreciated more than you will know. The 53 days we spent in the veterans hospital in Amarillo were long and for each kindness shown, we thank you. We also thank you for all the things you have helped us with since we have been in the Lockney Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. Stinnett and to the nurses.
