Cotton future uncertain in Floyd County

(Editor's Note: Much of the following article was written by Texas Tech Journalism student Jason Schniederjan. Research was made possible by a grant from the Reader's Digest Foundation.)

"It's been what I call a Dow Joneser this year, up and down, kind of like a roller coaster," Floyd County Extension Agent Jim Bob Reynolds said, about this year's cotton crop.

Floyd County normally grows approximately 190,000 acres of cotton an this year 110,000 acres of it had to be replanted because of hail and heavy rains during planting season. "There's been some farmers that were hailed out three times," he said. "We have a lot of cotton that was planted late, but the price was looking so good at planting time that you can't blame the farmers for wanting to

Due to severe drought during the fall and winter months in Floyd County over 40,000 acres of wheat were failed. In looking at rising cotton prices during planting time, estimates for the Floyd County 1995 cotton crop were pegged at upwards of 225,000 to 230,000 acres, due in a large part to make up for the loss of harvestable wheat. The severe drought was broken by heavy rains, tornadoes, and hail shortly after much of the cotton was planted, and before the total cotton crop was in the ground. Many farmers had to plant two to three times to get their initial crop of cotton in the ground, and did not have a planting window of opportunity to plant any excess acreage to cotton, due to the lateness of the crop. In the early part of July the cotton started looking good thanks to scattered rains, then in early August the high heats and drought set the cotton back once again according to Rey-

"As if the cotton had not already had enough, the heavy rainfall and unseasonably low temperatures during the last couple of weeks has stalled the maturation of this year's crop," he said.

Weather problems aside, this year's crop has had to battle beet army worms earlier in the year than normal, and the boll weevil is having to be sprayed for in ever increasing num-

Pumpkin harvest goes from about the last week in September all the way through Halloween. Planting is staggered so they can reach different

House Speaker and area's Representative Pete Laney speaks to Lockney Rotary Club

By Neta Marble

LOCKNEY--Pete Laney, Speaker of the Texas House of Representative and Hale Center native, was the guest speaker at the Lockney/Rotary Club on Friday.

After his introduction by Jerry Paul Cooper, Laney gave an overview of what the members of the House had accomplished during their last ses-

"The House meets for 140 days every two years, roughly about ten months," said Laney. "I am proud that we have gotten our work done in the allotted time and I have not had to call the members back for special ses-

"The biggest key to the legislatures success is that the Democrats and Republicans are working together, said Laney. "The Texas Legislature is a part-time citizen legislature as our founding fathers intended it to be. The last two sessions have been hard working sessions and we have for the most part focused on the issues," Laney stated. He reported that the legislature has increased funding for education and created an atmosphere for building new classrooms. "We rewrote school legislative laws in order to put more power in the hands of local schoolboards," he said.

We made some needed changes in criminal laws. Juveniles will face tougher penalties and we hope it will curtail their criminal activities," he continued.

Laney said changes have also been made in the welfare law. "We have to set a time limit as to the number of years a person can stay on the welworking or participating in job trainfully the changes that were made will cutting, some will pay more and some bring this about."

He reported that a package of tort reform bills were passed to make sure businesses are not hurt by the amount of paperwork required of them.

Laney related, "Legislation was passed to allow our citizens to carry handguns and the pilot program on food stamp cards is working well. Grocery sales have increased 15 percent in the stores that are using the Lone Star card."

"We hope what we did was what the citizens wanted. We try to have an agenda drafted by citizens and enacted by people who live and work in those same communities," he said.

"Right now property taxes is what everyone is talking about and we will address this in the next session. When we start restructuring taxes it will be the hardest job we have undertaken fare rolls. We need to get everyone in a long time. When you hear that government wants to cut taxes everying so they can get a better job. Hope- one is for it. However when we go to will pay less. Then there will be those who are not happy about the way it is being done," stated Laney. "Tax restructuring will be needed to help the states move into the future. The gov-"With the deregulation of utilities ernor is looking at several different tax options. A state tax will not be one of them. He has taken it totally off the table," he continued.

> At the end of Laney's talk he made the comment, "I am proud of what the legislature has accomplished and look forward to what we can accomplish for our citizens. I am also proud to be from the best part of our state. When I travel to other parts of state I am grateful I live where I do."

Extended calling votes needed

FLOYDADA — Telephone customers on the Floydada exchange have been mailed ballots for the proposed extended local calling option for service. This ballot allows current telephone customers to vote for or against the extended local calling service between Floydada and three other exchanges, Lockney, Plainview, and Lubbock.

If seventy percent of those returning their ballots vote in favor, local phone customers on the 983 exchange will be able to call Lockney. Plainview, and Lubbock with no charge per call. This toll-free service would include all numbers on the 652 exchange for Lockney and five prefixes in Plainview, 221, 774, 296, 293, and 292, as well as 31 prefixes on the Lubbock exchange.

The Floyd County Commissioners approved the proposed purchase of a new vehicle for the Sheriff's Department in a special meeting held Wednesday, September 27. The commissioners voted unanimously to authorize advertising for bids on the purchase. Bids will be taken and opened balance for the purpose of repairing a roof leak and building a wall to increase security of record storage. The funds were part of the budget assessment for the past fiscal year under which the taxing entity funded office operated. The unused funds are normally returned to the entities on a pro rata basis.

The court also approved allowing the Floyd County Central Appraisal District to retain a $5800.00 fund

Bonds were approved for recently appointed Sheriff, Royce Gilmore, and for chief appraiser Shelia Faulkenberry. Each must have a security bond based on the amounts of money handled by their office at any one time during the year.

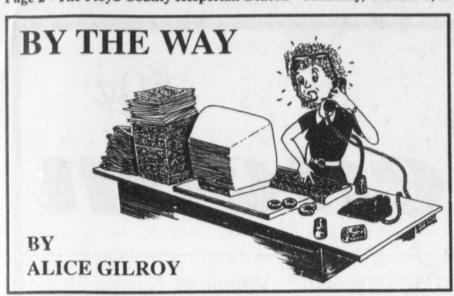

Fred A. Cardinal, retired sheriff, was approved for deputation as a reserve officer for the Floyd County Sheriff's Department. As such, he will be available to assist the department as a volunteer during special events or an emergency situation.

Attending the session were Judge Bill Hardin, Commissioners Connie Bearden, Lennie Gilroy, George Taylor, and Jon Jones, Sheriff Royce Gilmore, and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

I saw an AP story in last week's Avalanche Journal that made me laugh. It probably wasn't supposed to make me laugh-but it did.

The story said there were rumors of Madalyn O'Hair's death, but her followers weren't confirming it.

It seems she has been sick with diabetes for some time and she hasn't been seen for some time. A board member, Arnold Via, said he was worried because he had sent her a manuscript about picketing the Pope in October and he hasn't heard from

The press said she is usually easily accessible and she hasn't returned phone calls. The Austin headquarters is shut down and the building is up for

Her son and daughter, who work with Q'Hair, have also left home.

According to one member of her organization, the family had decided years ago that when O'Hair died, the children would take the money from her estate and the organization and go to New Zealand to make sure another brother (who is a Christian evangelist) would not make any claims to it.

Now to the part that made me

The story said "her followers are keeping it quiet so Christians don't pray over her."

I have a question—If O'Hair was an atheist and did not believe in a life after death-why would she care if Christians prayed over her or not?

I'm sure her no good, Black Sheep, Christian son has been praying about her for many years.

Another associate claims he had just talked to her and she was alive but not available for questioning.

Who knows? Who cares? If any of you Christians out there want to be really low down and mean-pray for her.

We see by the papers where Mr. Sarpalius, a former Congressman from his district, may be thinking about trying to get his old job back. He says, quite naturally, that this thinking was triggered by numerous calls from former constituents urging him to get in the race. For an over eager politician, one or two telephone calls may well constitute a groundswell.

Voters in this district will remember, of course, that they voted Mr. Sarpalius out of office during the last election. He went on to blame his defeat on fellow Democrats, who deserted him at the polls, and claimed that under those circumstances he could have been beaten by Donald Duck. Mr. Sarpalius was probably very accurate, and very candid, in his assessment of the vote.

We suspect that Mr. Sarpalius is now thinking about a run for his old seat because he doesn't think his present job will last past the next Presidential election. He now works for the Clinton administration, in something called the Agriculture Department's Consolidated Farm Service Agency. He says, and we presume he is right, he is now director of the service's southwest area, based in Washington. That includes 10 sates, one of which is Texas. We don't know exactly what the job entails, and we suspect very few people in the Agriculture Department know either, but evidently it affords ample opportunity for field directors to roam around, make political speeches and worry about their future. Obviously it is not a full-time job, otherwise Mr. Sarpalius wouldn't have time for all those political speeches, but it sounds like a nice, high-paying job. It also sounds like a reward for carrying Mr. Clinton's baggage during that election, and for having lost because of

When he was voted out of office by the folks in this District, he passed word that he was interested in a job with one of the many "trade organizations" that infest Washington. He did not indicate, as far as we know, that he wanted to come back to this district, or even Texas, to look for a

He did say he didn't want to be a Washington "lobbyist", although we've never been able to tell the difference between a lobbyist and a spokesman for a "trade organization", since they both have the same function and are paid by the same people. But that's quibbling, and at any rate it didn't work out. So Mr. Clinton gave him a job in the federal bureaucracy. (Actually, according to the news report, Mr. Sarpalius said he turned down Cabinet offers from Mr. Clinton, because he didn't want "to be a bureaucrat." Neither he or Mr. Clinton have ever publicly identified, so far as we know, which Cabinet positions were offered Mr. Sarpalius, if one was.) This isn't the first time Mr. Sarpalius has tested the waters, although the Wichita Falls paper, in which the latest report surfaced, treated it like it was. Actually, he's been getting the word out through various sources for some time. I figure it's an effort to scare other Democrats out of the race, and lock up some potential donors at the same time. It probably won't work, but it's worth a

Actually, we understand why Mr. Sarpalius would be interested in getting his old seat back, if the people of this District would only agree. He is as close to a "career politician" as one can find. He has, in fact, been in politics practically all his adult life. He served in the Texas Legislature long enough to qualify for a rather lucrative state pension, and in the Congress long enough to qualify for an even more lucrative federal pension. The more years he accumulates on the federal payroll, the higher his pension. He would be foolish not to take advantage of all the little perks put in place while he was in position to help put those perks in place. The time he is now spending on the federal payroll merely adds to that cumulative about helping Mr. Clinton again, he and the President ought to adopt a little more consistent and coherent line. He says, for instance, that one reason he is thinking about running again is that the district "has lost an awful lot of jobs." But we also note that he says his own job is supposed to be finding ways the Agriculture Department can get by with fewer people. And we note that Mr. Clinton, the President, is currently going around the country telling voters how great things are, about how many jobs have been added to the American workforce since he took over. We realize, of course, that "flexibility" can sometimes be a virtue among politicians, but it can be carried too far, as Mr. Clinton found out when he promised a tax cut during his campaign and then instituted a tax increase when he became President, and as Mr.

Not that it matters all that much. but we would be interested which Cabinet positions Mr. Sarpalius was offered, and declined. That's very unusual. We don't know of many people, in fact we know of none, who have turned down a President's request that he serve in the President's Cabinet. Usually, a cabinet position is looked upon as a place where one can get things done. And certainly Mr. Sarpalius would not feel out of place in Mr. Clinton's Cabinet. For these reasons, if for no other, we would be interested in knowing which Cabinet post was offered, and declined. Now that would be news.

Sarpalius found out when he voted for

Mr. Clinton's tax increase. We doubt that people have forgotten that vote

Chambers returns as FNB Artist of the Month

FLOYDADA — The First National Bank of Floydada is proud to present returning artist Siva Chambers as the artist for the Month of October. The bank had the honor of sponsoring her first exhibit and has been delighted to have her on exhibition several times since.

This talented artist shines in the lovely floral and natural subjects she depicts. The detail of her work is intense while leaving the simplicity of the painting intact.

A viewer at a previous exhibit said, "It is like walking through a spring garden," while viewing the delicate watercolors of the Lubbock artist.

Originally from Bangkok, Thailand, Chambers portrays a love of nature and all creation in her works. Her respect for color, form, and purpose enhances the wonders of nature she paints. Her paintings display an endless and intriguing awe and wonder with the phenomena of nature.

A lovely study of violets is on display behind the loan payment counter in the bank. It depicts three different Colorado, a white violet she received artist will be on hand and refreshas a gift in Floydada, and a delicate ments will be served.

lavender violet grown in the eastern United States. Her favorite, a wonderous splash of colorful sunflowers, and assorted daisies is hanging near the lobby entrance to the bookkeeping department.

Chambers, who began studying in Tainan under Professor T.C. Pai, calls her work, "Small moments captured." She says her work is more idealistic than realistic.

Married to Lubbock physician Dr. Clint Chambers, she has been active in civic affairs since coming to the area in 1981. She is a member of the West Texas Museum Association and works as a volunteer.

Interested in archaeology, she worked with the Lubbock Landmark project in 1983-84. "There I met and befriended Jim Word, my first Floydada contact," said the artist.

Art lovers are invited to come by the bank during regular business hours throughout the month to see the works of this unique artist.

In honor of the annual Punkin' Days Celebration, the bank will open it's lobby from 10:00 a.m. until noon flowers from three different areas of on October 28 so visitors may see and the country, a wild yellow violet from enjoy this special art exhibit. The

"We are working hard, looking to get out of District", said Coach Schumacher. "We came close last year and our kids know how that feels and I don't think they will let that happen again. Our athletes have a lot of heart and have shown steady improvement since the season began." Coach Schumacher said she thinks by the District Meet on Oct. 28 in Lubbock, that her team will be right where they need to be.

Lockney Coach's Comments

By Coach Malcom Moerbe

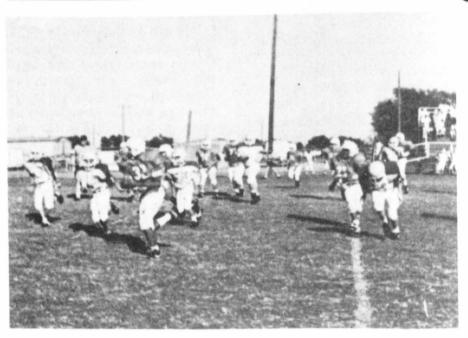

That was a disappointing loss to Springlake-Earth on Friday. We need to get ready for Olton this week. We are in the same position as last year. I feel our kids will rebound with a good effort this week.

Olton is the most explosive team we will face this year. Their tailback is a very dangerous runner. We must contain him. But they also throw the ball well, and use the fullback well. It will take a team effort to stop them. Defensively they are very quick and run to the ball well.

We need to play up to our capabilities and we will be fine. We need a

Childress converts Whirlwind mistakes into a 37-6 victory

Floydada turnovers into 23 unanswered first-half points to coast by the Whirlwinds 37-6 in non-district football action on September 29. The Bobcats improved to 2-2 on the season, and travel this week to Hamlin, a perennial 2A playoff contender. Floydada (1-3) returns to Wester Field for the first time in three weeks to host Lubbock Roosevelt, a 37-21 victor over Muleshoe last Friday.

Floydada's fumble on the opening kickoff delighted the Fair Park Homecoming crowd, and paved the way for the Bobcats' first score. Travis King connected with Mark Evans for a 6yard TD pass on the Bobcats' sixth snap - barely three minutes into the game. Matthew Vitela added the conversion kick, and the 'Cats were on their way to their third consecutive victory over the Whirlwinds.

The 'Winds mounted a 12-play, 58yard drive following an exchange of punts which was halted at the Bobcats' 16-yard line. Childress took over on downs, but the Floydada defense stiffened and forced another Bobcat punt at midfield. The Whirlwinds fumbled on first down, and Childress found the end zone two plays later. Tairrance Sims carried the final three yards, followed by King's pass to Justin Keys for a 2-point conversion.

The Whirlwinds were flagged for an illegal hand-off on the ensuing kick to find themselves buried at their own 5-yard line. The officials' call was the first of several questioned by the Floydada coaching staff. Even though the breaks appeared to be going against them, the 'Winds battled back from deep in their own territory with some key runs from Vernon Cooper and Zack Abshier.

~I was very proud of our intensity, and the way we kept coming back, but we have got to eliminate those costly mistakes at critical times," stated Coach Bryan Davis."There were a couple of questionable calls, but we've got to be able to do our best to overcome things like that. We are

Another exchange of punts was followed by the second Floydada turnover as Abshier was sacked and lost control of the ball. Four plays later another controversial ruling helped carry the Bobcats into scoring position. A 15-yard personal foul was marched off against the 'Winds for what appeared to be a good defensive play by Cooper on a Bobcat receiver. The critical 3rd-down decision gave Childress new life at the Whirlwind 15-yard line. Moments later, Matthew Green scored from three yards out, and King converted the 2-pointer to give the Bobcats a commanding 23-0 halftime edge.

termission. Floydada suffered its The Childress Bobcats turned three fourth turnover, but Childress failed to capitalize on the opportunity. Both teams had difficulties trying to mount sustained drives in the scoreless 3rd period. Even though the Bobcats were up 23-0, the teams' total yardage was about even at this point.

Early in the fourth period, Floydada sophomore Kyle Pierce broke through to spoil Travis King's hand-off to Matthew Green. The disruption caused the Bobcats' only turnover. Omar Eguia recovered for the 'Winds to open the door for Floydada's lone Ramon McCann hauled in Abshier's 1st-down pass at the Childress 15-yard line, broke several tackles, and crossed the Bobcat double stripe. It was the second time in three weeks a McCann touchdown prevented Floydada from being blanked.

Childress returned the ensuing kickoff close to midfield, and quickly responded to Floydada's touchdown with Tairrance Sims' 56-yard TD scamper on first down. Vitela added the extra point to extend the Childress lead to 30-6.

The Whirlwinds were pushed back to their own 13-yard line on quarterback sacks of 12 and 10 yards in their next series. Abshier was blind-sided by Justin Keys, and had to momentarily leave the field. Julian Hernandez was pressed into punting duty, but his kick was blocked. K.C. Murray scooped up the loose ball and carried it into the end zone. Vitela kicked the conversion for the Bobcats' final margin of victory.

Any attempts by Floydada to put any more points on the board were thwarted by Childress' stopped unit, and the Bobcats took possession on downs. Following a 19-yard pass from back-up QB Justin Keys to Murray for a 1st down at Floydada's 12-yard line, Childress allowed the remaining time to expire on the next play.

The Whirlwinds hope to get back on the winning track this week when Lubbock Roosevelt comes to Wester still making too many mistakes, but Field for the final non-district game they are mistakes that can be cor- on the schedule. Floydada hosts the Dimmitt Bobcats in the District 2-3A opener next week.

BILL'S NOTES

Another one like last week, and I may add some new categories to my list of superlatives (top play of the game, offensive player of the game, etc.). One might even be called "Most offensive call by a game official" or something like that! It wouldn't serve a purpose to dwell on the officiating the other night. Those who saw the game know to what I'm referring. I wouldn't want to take anything away from the Bobcats. They did what they had to do when the opportunities were presented. One thing for certain... you don't turn over the opening kickoff at Fair Park and expect to survive. I'll make only one comment about the way the game was handled. Two of the three worst-officiated games I have witnessed since 1979 have been at Fair Park. One of them was the 7-0 playoff loss there three years ago. The other...you figure it out!

Offensive play of the game? They were all offensive, and were wearing blue and white. Offensive player of the game: Tairrance Sims solidified that consideration with his 56-yard TD romp that pretty well iced the game for the 'Cats. Defensive play of the game: Keys' blind-sider on Zack which set up the blocked punt, which scored a TD, which... etc. Defensive player(s) of the game: No one player really stands out, but a good case could be made for Floydada's pass defense. King had a lot of pressure from our rush, and the 'Wind secondary held him to a mere 3-of-13. The longest Childress completion was tossed by King's back-

The Whirlwinds need to shake off the Childress loss (me, too) and concentrate on Roosevelt. The Eagles have found new life by pounding Muleshoe. The 'Winds aren't the Mules, and Roosevelt will have to wait another week to get back in the win column. Floydada by 9! Bill's other pics: Lockney will rebound from the "Earth-quake." It will take everything the 'Horns have to stop Michael Wilborn & Co., but they've drawn the Mustangs into their corral, and will put the "LL" brand on them, 20-16.

I was blitzed on all my high school pics last week, after hitting 100% the week before, so I'll pass on any other pics, except for one. The Gypsy Lady promised me that she would take a sabbatical on a Samoan archipelago if the Red Raiders would shock the Aggies 27-24 (the last time I picked the Raiders by this score they hit it on the head). Maybe lightning will strike twice ... sorry about that, Tyler!

Coach's Comments

By Coach Bryan Davis

I couldn't be any prouder of our kids for the way they played against Childress. The only things I'm not pleased with are the mistakes we made at critical times. There were a couple of calls I didn't agree with, and one of them resulted in a touchdown. That happens sometimes, but I was pleased with our intensity.

If they don't block the punt in the second half, it's an even ball game. We gave up the big run and had to replace our punter there at the end. We played good defense at times, but when you give up the ball that close it's hard to keep them out. When we executed we played well offensively, but the lack of execution at critical times hurt us. At this stage of the season, we should be over that.

Our main goal is still to get better every week. We got better as far as intensity, but we did not get better with our execution. That's something we'll continue to work on and try to improve.

We catch Roosevelt at home this week, and then we open District at home next week against Dimmitt. We're going to try to get some momentum going into district play.

7th grade Shorthorns win against Springlake-Earth

By Coach Rodney Dowell The 7th grade Shorthorns played Springlake-Earth at Mitchell-Zimmerman Field Thursday night. The Lockney team struck early with a blocked punt for a safety, placing the Shorthorns up by 2 points. Then on the ensuing kick-off, Lockney's Tauren McDonald raced in for a 50yard touchdown, ending the half with the score 8-0, as the Shorthorns took the momentum from the Wolverines. The second half brought the game to a tie as Springlake-Earth's quarterback scored on a boot leg keeper and then converted on the two point conversion. "I had told the team at half time that this game was far from over. All they needed was one big play to even things up, and we gave it to them", said Coach Dowell.

Once the ice had been broken, the held the Wolverine pack to not a single fourth quarter first down. This change allowed for Chase Grave's touchdowns, the first, a one yard quarterback sneak that placed the Shorthorns up by a score of 14 to 8. The second graves scamper was a 20 yard run right up the gut of the Springlake defense. This was the last straw for the young wolf pack who decided to tuck tail and run as the score ended 20 to 8. "I really admired these young man for overcoming a lot of adversity, as we have lost a few kids to grades and others rally had to step it up big time. Luckily with the new rule change these young men who flunked won't be gone but for two games and they've all promised their teammates they will return. So I really feel like in the long run we'll be a better team because of all of these obstacles", said Coach Dowell.

Our outstanding offensive players were our offensive line consisting of Tyler Bybee, Christopher Ascencio, Marcus Munez, Jeremey Butler, Heath Stoerner, and Rigo Ascencio. Our standouts in the backfield were Chase Graves, Anthony Garza, Kelsey Schumacher, A.J. Thornton, and Julian Guerrero. Our defensive standouts consisted of a total team effort and I'm very proud of all these young men. Our next game is going to be played in Olton on Thursday, starting at 5 p.m. We hope to see you strong plays from Primo Salazar, Jesse Ledesma, Rolf Sherman and Kevin Aufill. The Wolverines would not score again until late in the 4th

Grade Football

The offense kept the game exciting when Brandon Prather took the ball on a reverse, late in the third quarter; and dashed for a 54-yard touchdown run. This tied the score 6-6.

The fourth quarter was a hardfought quarter and the Shorthorns had several opportunities to make some big plays and get in the endzone, but could not get it done.

Lopez, Brandon Prather, A.J. Martinez and the offensive line played well. Our next game is Thursday against the Olton Mustangs with the 7th grade starting at 5:00 in Olton

4-H Week celebrated in Texas are taking advantage of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service 4-H and Youth Development Pro-

Figures from 1994 put enrollment at 433,855, an increase from 402,400 in 1990, said Dr. Nelson Jacob, 4-H youth development specialist. This latest number represents 10.8 percent of all Texas youth between the ages of 5 and 19.

The success of the program can be credited to a variety of learning opportunities provided through 4-H projects based on current research and designed to target youth in specific age groups, said Dr. Lynne Thibodeaux, assistant director of the 4-H and youth development program. These projects allow children to develop life skills to help them become more productive individuals.

"Various programs are presented throughout the state by county Extension faculty and well-trained youth and adult voiunteers who lend tremendous support and leadership to 4-H," she said. "Also, donors have provided grants and other support which make it possible to initiate new programs that address critical youth problems such as literacy."

New 4-H initiatives in Texas schools that provide educational curricula for classes in life sciences have also helped boost membership. School courses in food science, health, the environment, teamwork and conflict resolution science and technology, agriculture, horticulture, home economics and other areas have been enhanced by 4-H program ma-

Young people enroll in 4-H by joining a community or school 4-H Club, by participating in a short-term, special-interest group or by enrolling in a 4-H school curriculum enrichment project.

Members are assisted by more than 50,225 volunteers and can choose from over 40 science and technology and life skills projects.

Latest figures show that 4-H continues to appeal to a wide range of youth - preschool through 12th grade, rural and urban and all ethnic groups. More than 34 percent of 4-H members live in central cities; 18 percent in cities and suburbs; 13 percent in towns and cities; 1/ percent in towns with populations under 10,000; and 18 percent live on farms and in rural areas.

Children eight and younger make up 31 percent of the membership; 48 percent are between the ages of nine and 11; 11 percent are 12 or 13; and 10 percent are 14 and older.

YESTERDAY 4-H in Texas...a brief history

The beginning of 4-H was not the idea of any one individual. The groundwork that led to 4-H work as we know it today was led by pioneer educators and rural leaders who realized the value of educational group activities for young people.

A New Idea

Progressive educators at the turn of the century were convinced that worthwhile leisure-time activities gave added meaning to school work. The extremely formal atmosphere of the school in those early days was not conducive to relating learning to the everyday needs of rural young people.

More than 430,000 young people increasing number of boys leaving the farm to go to city jobs. Farm people demanded that the schools introduce subjects that would develop in boys and girls an appreciation of rural life and its opportunities. Others found adult farmers slow to accept improved methods of growing crops but discovered that young people, working in groups, would more readily try these improved methods.

The present 4-H Club movement in Texas is an outgrowth of boys "corn clubs" and girls "tomato clubs" dating back 65 years, or 6 years before the present Texas Agricultural Extension Service was organized as such.

The first boys' "corn club" was organized in 1908 in Jack County by the late T. M. Marks, then holding a position corresponding to the county agricultural agent of today. The club was started as a result of the failure of an adult corn show held the previous year. The remark "You can't teach an old dog new tricks" prompted Marks to say, "Then I'll start with the pups", and that is what he did. He enrolled 25 boys and by demonstrations, taught them the latest practices known in corn production. The corn show held in a caboose of a train in Jacksboro in the fall of 1908 proved Mark's point that farm youth could put into practice the better known methods of production.

Girls were enrolled in tomato clubs in 1912 in Milam County with Mrs. Edna Trigg as the first home demonstration agent. Growing tomatoes and canning were the main demonstra-

4-H in Texas expanded rapidly following the creation in 1914 by the U. S. Congress of the State Agricultural Extension Services. The 4-H motto, "To Make the Best Better", was adopted in 1920.

The National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club work (now known as the National 4-H Service Committee) and the National 4-H Club Congress were organized about 1920. One of the highest awards is a trip to 4-H Congress in Chicago each fall. Each delegate to the Congress is selected on the basis of the 4-H work as shown in a 4-H record, which summarizes the club member's 4-H projects and activities. The record should reflect self-improvement and service to others. The First National 4-H Club Camp. now known as the National 4-H Conference, was held in Washington, D. C. in 1927. Texas has been represented each year by two girls and two boys. The Conference is held at the 4-H Center where 4-H members visit the two houses of Congress where they are honored by their Senators and Congressmen, tour the White House, and visit shrines of American democracy and other points of interest in the Nation's Capitol. They take part in workshops and other means of training in citizenship and 4-H programs.

The first 4-H Club emblem, adopted nationally about 1911, had only three "H's", one each for the head, hands, and heart. Some years later another "H" for health was added to make the four-leaf clover emblem we know today. The late L. B. Martin, afterward director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, 1927-35, is credited with suggesting the fourth "H". Mr. Martin was the first 4-H Club Leader of the U.S. Department of Agricul-Farm leaders were disturbed by the ture.

Time to place name on sorghum ballot

Texas producers who grow grain sorghum have until Oct. 11 to place their name on the ballot to run for a seat on the Texas Grain Sorghum Board. Anyone who produces grain sorghum in Texas or who owns a farm in Texas on which sorghum is produced is eligible to vote in the election or to serve as a director on the board.

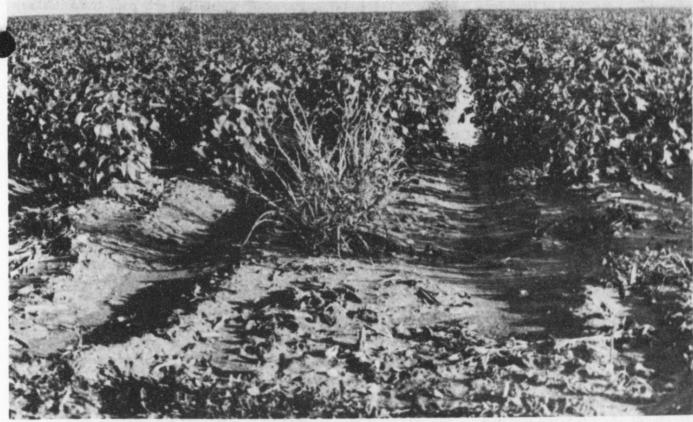

The fifteen-member board administers the checkoff funds which are collected on grain sorghum grown in the state. An assessment of 20 cents per ton is collected and used to fund programs for research, insect and disease control, education and promotion of Texas grain sorghum.

Members of the Texas Grain Sorghum Board represent every grain sorghum producing region in Texas. Under the assessment program, the state is divided into five districts, with each district having three representatives to the board. Directors are elected for terms of up to six years.

In this year's election, five directors will be elected to the board: one each from the West Texas district, the Central Texas district, the Panhandle district, the Coastal district and the Valley district.

To be listed on the ballot, a prospective director must submit a nomination form certifying that he or she resides in the district to be represented and will be willing to serve if elected. The nomination form must be signed by the nominee and ten other eligible voters who also reside in the district the person is seeking to represent. The forms may be obtained from the Texas Grain Sorghum Board office by calling (806) 298-4501. Deadline for returning the completed forms is Octo-

Ballots will be mailed to eligible voters. Ballots can also be obtained from Texas Agricultural Extension Service county offices from local grain elevators. To be counted in the election, ballots must be mailed to the TGSB office, postmarked no later than midnight November 17.

Debate over the 1995 Farm Bill and the future of agriculture programs in general is still "on the drawing board" according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG).

PCG officials note that it is important to maintain as much of the current program as possible or else run the risk of giving up the significant gains made by the cotton industry in the capture of new foreign and domestic markets.

They add that during the past week the direction of debate has become somewhat confused. The only good news so far is that efforts in the Senate have remained fairly cohesive, allowing the Senate Agriculture Committee to approve legislation offered by Senators Cochran (R-MS) and Pryor (D-AR).

The Bill, titled the "Agricultural Competitiveness Act of 1995", passed the Senate Ag Committee on Thursday, September 28, by a vote of 9-8.

Debate on the House side is much ore confused. During the last week three separate proposals were defeated in the House Ag Committee. A

The Combest-Emerson Bill, titled the "Agricultural Competitiveness Act of 1995" contained much of the language included in the bill just passed by the Senate.

Other bills defeated in the House Ag Committee included the "Freedom To Farm Act of 1995" put forth by Committee Chairman Pat Roberts (R-Kansas). The Roberts Bill, favored by many within the House leadership, was defeated when Representatives Combest, Emerson, Baker (R-LA), and Chambliss (R-GA) voted with Ag committee democrats to defeat the legislation. Also defeated was a democratic proposal offered by Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-TX).

are asked to nominate candidates of their choice between October 5 and October 30 for the Floyd County Farm Service Agency Committee election ballot," stated Trent Johnson, County Executive Director. The FSA Committee was previously known as the Floyd County ASC Committee.

The Farm Service Agency (FSA), an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, administers farm commodity, crop insurance, and conservation programs for farmers and makes farm ownership and operating loans. The petitioning and election of committee members is very important to all area farmers.

Farmers are reminded that to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, and must be signed by at least three eligible voters in the local administrative area. Also, petitions must be received in the FSA County Office by close of business October 30, 1995.

Eligible voters may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they choose. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the Floyd County FSA Committee Election may contact the county office for details, including eligibility require-

A list of the names of known eligible persons to receive ballots in the upcoming annual Floyd County Farm Service Agency, formerly ASC, committee election is available in the may begin nominating candidates on October 5, 1995.

Anyone who meets the following requirements is eligible to vote in the Floyd County FSA Committee Election: Any individual of legal voting age with and interest in a farm as owner, operator, tenant or sharecropper or who is eligible to participate in any FSA program. The spouse of an eligible voter is also eligible to vote. A person under legal age can vote, if he or she runs a farm and a legal guardian who runs a farm for a child can vote for the child. No person can be denied the right to vote because of race, sex, age, color, religion, handicap or national origin.

A person may cast a ballot in any county in which he or she is an eligible voter, but a voter may not vote in more than one local administrative area in a county or area. If an eligible voter has separate farm interests in more than one local administrative area in the same county, special care will be taken to see that only one ballot is issued to that voter.

Boundaries of local administrative areas set for Floyd county FSA Committee elections

On September 21, 1995, the Floyd County Farm Service Agency Committee reviewed and determined local administrative area, LAA boundaries, for the FSA County Committee elections to be held between November 24 and December 4. "This is one of the first steps in administering the election," said Eddie Smith, chair-

FSA, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture administers farm commodity, crop insurance, and conservation programs for farmers and makes farm ownership and operating loans.

Floyd County is divided into three LAA's this year. All three LAA's will have an election in 1995. Boundaries of LAA's, a boundary map, and the number of farms within each LAA are available to the public at Floyd County FSA Office.

Other election events will be announced as they occur. Participation is open to all eligible farmers regardless of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, marital status or dis-

PCCA posts record $1 billion in sales

Plains Cotton Cooperative Association (PCCA) announced today record Sales of more than $1 billion during the cooperative's 42nd Annual Stockholders Meeting in Lubbock. PCCA reported total net margins of $24.9 million and total cash distribution of $28.6 million for fiscal-year end June 30, 1995. Also members were informed that PCCA had been singled out by President Clinton and U.S. Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman in a recent news release as an example of a true value-added cooperative. The USDA news release stated in part, "'President Clinton and I continue to advocate cooperatives and the benefits they can provide to their producermembers both in domestic and foreign markets,' Glickman said. 'During the National Rural Conference last spring, we heard numerous examples of this, including the case of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, in Lubbock, Texas. This is a true value-added success story in which cotton growers built and now operate their own denim mill and have be-

Strauss."

Commenting on the news release, PCCA President Van May stated, "Adding value is what we are all about. Our total cash payouts this year were in excess of $28 million and mailing of those checks for cash dividends, stock retirements and revolvement of per-unit capital retains will be completed very soon." The cash distribution to PCCA members consists of $11.3 million in cash dividends, $11.5 million in stock retirement and revolvement of 1990-crop mill option capital retains totaling $5.8 million. The stock retirements include all 1988 and 1989-crop denim mill equities. "Combining these payouts with last year's, PCCA has paid out more than $60 million in the last two years," May stated.

An expansion to increase production 20 percent at PCCA's denim mill at Littlefield should provide increased profit potential for the operation. The $15.6 million project is more than half complete and should be finished by January 1, 1996. "Assuming all goes come a major supplier of Levi as planned, it has a three-year payback and we'll take all the deals like that we can get," May noted. For only the second time in its history, the denim mill sold more than 30 million > linear yards of denim in fiscal year, 1994-95.

May also reviewed the cooperative's efforts to expand TELCOT marketing services to the Southeastern United States. "The Southeastern U.S. is one of the fastest growing cotton producing areas in the world," he explained, "and we currently have TELCOT at 10 locations there for this season."

PCCA members also re-elected the following directors to three year terms on the cooperative board: Riley True, District 2 and L.C. Unfred, District 7. Members also elected Charles Abernathy to represent District 1, replacing the retiring Coy Grimes.

Private Pesticide Applicators certificates up for renewal

Private pesticide applicators who were certified before Jan. 10, 1989 have until Dec. 31 of this year to renew their certification or apply for a private license. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency requires that certification be renewed every five years for private pesticide applicators, such as farmers who use restricted or state-limited use pesticides on their crops.

Two options for renewal are available. Applicators may obtain 15 continuing education units including two credits in laws and regulations and one credit in integrated pest management by Dec. 31, and repeat this process every five years. Or applicators who cannot meet the Dec. 31 deadline have the option of applying for a license. To become a private licensed applicator you must take the Texas Agricultural Extension Service's private applicator training course; pass the Texas Department of Agriculture's private applicator test; and apply for a private applicator license which includes a $50 fee.

Continuing education units may be obtained by completing TDA accredited courses or by applying for credit through appropriate college credit courses or training held by out-of-government. For information about TDA's accredited courses contact the department's regional offices at: San Antonio (210) 820-0288; Houston (713) 666-8491; Dallas (214) 631-0265; Tyler (903) 597-6571; Lubbock (806) 799-8555; Amarillo (806) 358-7285.

public access after hours. Paul Sharp, a day care parent, expressed a desire to see proper signage concerning the direction of traffic flow, the speed, and authorized loading and unloading areas for school buses and vans as well as single vehicles.

buses blocking the road by stopping in the middle of the parking lot to drop off kids. He added that he had counted no more than 18 vehicles during the two hours he watched traffic into and out of day care. He did not specify the time at which he observed traffic.

Sharp stated, "Our primary concern here ought to be the safety of the children. You are just asking for an accident with two-way traffic at that (southwest) corner of the hospital. One-way traffic with better signage and slower speed would make it safer."

Jackson told the group that water accumulates in the low areas on the road at the southwest corner and ice forms in the winter. He said two-way traffic would be dangerous and there was a better chance of no accidents due to ice if traffic were one-way.

Poage said, "I sense that the board is very reluctant to put a loop around the hospital even if it is at no cost to the district. Is there some reason we are not hearing?"

Another day care supporter asked, "Would you rather risk an accident than put in a gravel road?"

Payne asked Bearden if the county was saying it would pay for the material cost in the proposal. Bearden replied, "I think it will cost more than the $500.00 in the plan, but less than $1,000.00 and I am willing to work

Turner stated that he had voted to allow the day care to move into the hospital in order to see the building used. "We budgeted $27,000.00 for utilities and the clinic only uses two or J.R. Turner, CHD board member, three rooms over here for health care purposes. The rest goes for other things and now we seem to have lost control of the grounds."

Farris stated, "Personally, I think that we need to stop traffic from going down Marivena." He indicated that the choice to be made at this time was routing traffic back out the way it Turner also said he had observed comes in or creating the loop on around to Crockett Street.

"I would ask for a motion proposing that the city and the county close Marivena back up and put in the loop with complete signage, after hours gates and whatever it takes to make this traffic pattern work and provide safety for the day care kids."

The motion was made by Payne and seconded by Heflin who indicated the board could reconsider, due to the hospital's liability, if the loop is not used properly in the future.

Voting in favor of the motion were Payne, Heflin and Farris. Turner did not vote. Board member Carmel Eastham was not present for the meeting.

Prior to adjourning, Payne asked who is responsible for maintaining the helicopter pad on the west side of the hospital. She was told that it is the responsibility of the district, as all of the grounds are. She indicated that the weeds are growing up around the lights and only one of the lights was burning when she saw the pad the evening before. Farris assured her this would be looked into and cor-

PRELIMINARY NOTICE The Rural economic and Community Development (RECD) has received an application for financial assistance from the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority to develop three wells and construct transmission lines from the three new well to the present distribution system.

The specific elements of the proposed action are to construct three deep wells, one each in the Floydada area, Tulia, and the Silverton area. The Tulia site is in a cultivated field within the city limits, next to the existing Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority pump station. The Silverton site is within the Right of Way of Farm Road 207 and is adjacent to pasture land except at the crossing of Rock Creek. The Floydada site is located at the city of Floydada's farm, with transmission main running through pasture land to the City's water well field. Approximately 54,000 feet of water line will be required to connect the wells to the present system. Other improvements include the electrical, pumps, motors and controls.

If implemented, the project has a potential to impact two important land resources: Prime farmlands and floodplains. The proposed improvements may result in conversion of prime and unique farmland within the service area and has potential to impact floodplains.

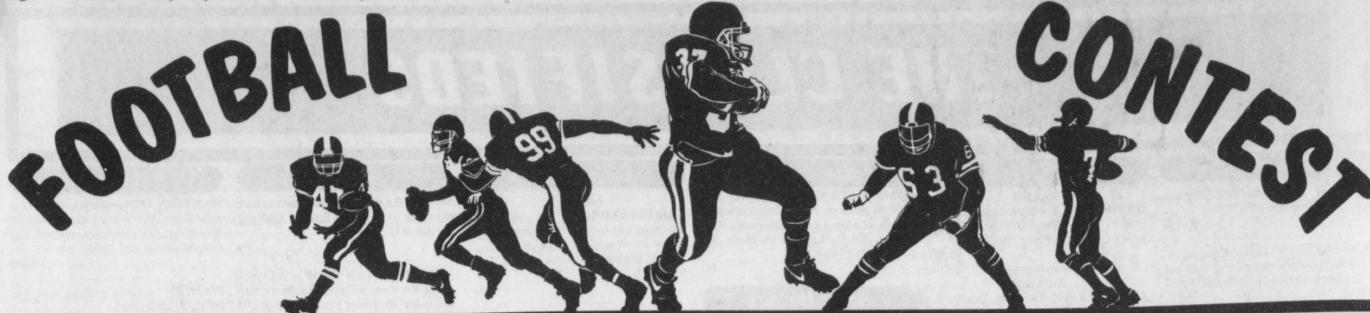

RECD has determined there is no practicable alternative to the location of the wells and the transmission lines. The Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority proposes to mitigate potential adverse compacts to the resources by installing minimum size lines, and restricting water services to future customers in floodplain areas.

No other federal agencies are participating in the project.
