Friday the 13th, the second time around!

By Juanita Stepp

Having endured one Friday the 13th already this year (in January), the world again passes through another 24 hour period steeped in superstition when this week ends with Friday, October 13.

Superstitions abound on this purportedly unluckiest of unlucky days. Bear in mind that humans tend to be a superstitious lot anyway, tossing slat over their shoulders and wishing on the first star seen at night. Ground hogs predict the weather and flower petals plucked to the chant "He loves me, he loves me not" chronicle love. Coins are flipped, wishbones pulled, pennies picked up, fingers crossed, and wood knocked upon to insure good fortune (or at least minimal bad luck).

Friday in itself merits a poor reputation as the day Christ was crucified according to the Christian religion. The day has also been credited by some as being the day Adam was created. Add to this the rumor that he was expelled from the Garden of Eden on a Friday and the day could seem almost ominous.

Where does this gloom and doom connotation for Friday the 13th come from? Combining a long ago tale of witches with the misfortune of Friday just might begin to explain it!

As the tale goes, there lived thirteen witches who possessed thirteen spells. These witches always worked with odd numbers, lighting an uneven number of candles to cast shadows as they worked one of their thirteen spells.

The residents of a nearby village knew of the baker's dozen witches and their thirteen spells. The people were very afraid because they knew the tremendous power the witches possessed.

When the 13th of the month came around, the villagers would all be safely locked away indoors to keep from being a victim of the witchy spells. They all believed that the 13th was a day when witches were stirring and spells were brewing.

Taken with a grain of salt, some people today still prefer to remain abed or at least at home on Friday the 13th in order to avoid misfortune. Many continue to carry talismans such as a rabbit's foot or four-leaf clover to ward off evil spells or promote good luck.

Those leaning toward the rabbit's foot should consider this fact:

It wasn't very lucky for the rabbit, was it?

New curriculum added at schools

LISD stressing "character"

LOCKNEY—The Lockney School District is asking for the support of its community in kicking off new curriculum which will be taught in all Lockney schools beginning November 6.

The new curriculum does not have a formal name as of yet, but it is patterned after a Character Education Program created by Dr. Jay Mulkey, president of the Character Education Institute.

According to LISD Superintendent Raymond Lusk, "The program will focus on citizenship, and will cover areas such as respect and courtesy for others and themselves."

"The curriculum will be geared toward every age level and will be taught in every Lockney school."

Mulkey will be in Lockney October 24 to speak to teachers and parents about the new program. He will cover the successes he has seen with the program and give suggestions for the teachers. After a three hour staff development time with teachers, Mulkey will meet with parents at 7:00 p.m. at the High School Library.

The teaching curriculum will begin Nov. 6 so teachers will have time to organize the new course after their meeting with Mulkey.

Areas covered in the curriculum will include responsibility, fairness, caring, courtesy, honesty, loyalty, integrity and accountability, to name a few.

At the high school and junior high school, teams of three teachers will alternate teaching to students who have been divided into 8 groups. The students will stay in the same group throughout the year, but the team of teachers will address a different group each Monday, for a full class period.

At the elementary school the curriculum will be taught in a variety of methods, depending on the age group.

"We want the students to see that this program is important to all the teachers," said Lusk.

"Each month every school will focus on a campus wide theme," said Lusk. "We will want to promote that theme at school and throughout the community and for that we will need everyone's help. We are hoping for the support from everyone in focusing on the theme of the month."

"We feel that even though this has nothing directly to do with academics, it does have a direct influence on all aspects of the student's lives and on how easily, freely and effectively we can deliver academic instruction to our kids," said Lusk.

"We also feel we should attempt to do our part in helping to make these kids good citizens. We are aware that teaching these values is a high priority with most parents. By no means do we wish to replace the parents in this role. We only wish to reinforce what we know all parents consider important."

"We ask for the support of parents and request that we all work together to emphasize the importance of these qualities. We want this to be a priority in the home, the churches, the school, the community, and most of all, with the kids themselves."

MAKE A DIFFERENCE DAY

To kick off the character building program, LISD students will be taking part in a "Community Wide Make A Difference Day", on October 26. The community wide event will be undertaken as part of the "National Make A Difference Day", October 28.

Each campus will have age appropriate activities for the students to do with a goal of improving their community and "making a difference".

The Junior High Student Council is preparing a video to be shown to the junior high students before Make A Difference Day.

The video, starring the cast of the student council, will focus on different way students can make a difference in their community, school, home and personal lives.

It will introduce the students to "Make A Difference Day" and offer suggestions in ways the students can make a difference in their community.

The high school and junior high will begin "Make A Difference Day" with a motivational speaker. The students will then organize into groups of 8 or more students with one teacher. They will have a community project they will have already decided on and will then leave the campus to accomplish that goal.

Older students will probably be seen hoeing weeds, painting signs and washing windows. Younger students might be seen picking up trash and visiting the Nursing Home.

According to Lisa Mosley, "One of the projects being considered for the day will be painting the 911 numbers on the curbs of houses. Anyone who does not want their 911 number (which could possibly be different from their address) painted on their curb should call Lockney's City Hall. The project will be undertaken if there is enough interest."

After a time of "good citizenship" the junior high and high school students will be treated to a hot dog meal and sent back to class.

If there are suggestions for community improvement by the students, citizens are asked to call the campus principals with your ideas.

"The Make A Difference Day" is a small part of the whole character education program we are implementing," said Lusk. "We want to teach them to be a whole child, not just to read. We feel it is important to teach them to be a functioning part of society."

A more detailed outline of the students planned community activities will appear in next week's paper.

Hilda Valles joins district's juvenile probation office

(Editor's note: Research for the following article, by Texas Tech journalism student Jason Schniederjan, was made possible by a grant from the Reader's Digest Foundation.)

By Jason Schniederjan

Hilda Valles a Wayland Baptist graduate, is now in training to become the new juvenile probation officer for the 110th Judicial District, covering Floyd, Briscoe, Dickens, and Motley counties. She will be working alongside Chief Juvenile Probation Officer Bruce Ballou.

According to Ballou, some of Valles' duties are to supervise juveniles who are on probation, to help rehabilitate juvenile offenders, and to work closely with the schools and other law enforcement agencies in her district.

"Part of the reason that we hired her was because of her experience working with families," Ballou said. "The job is not just about juveniles, but the entire family."

"I consider myself a good listener", Valles said, "instead of going in there and taking control of the family and telling them what they're doing wrong, I listen and see what they have to say."

Valles graduated from Wayland Baptist with a bachelor's degree in social sciences. According to Valles she is now commuting from Plainview, but is in the process of moving to Floydada.

Valles plans on starting preventive programs in the schools to help combat gang participation in her district. "The kids join gangs because of a lack of self-esteem," Valles said. "Maybe with the programs we are planning on starting we can work on their self-esteem, where they don't feel that they have to be in a gang to feel like someone."

MONTY J. HYSINGER JUNIOR HIGH PRINCIPAL

Floydada Junior High working with new principal

FLOYDADA—A new principal, Monty J. Hysinger, has joined the staff and students at Floydada Junior High School.

Hysinger comes to Floydada from Canyon where he was a Physical Science teacher and head coach for the girls track team for seven years. He was also an assistant football coach.

Born in Plainview, Hysinger grew up in Muleshoe and graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1982.

He majored in Biology and Physical Education at West Texas State University, graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1987.

While working in Canyon, Hysinger continued his education and received a Master's degree in Education Administration from West Texas State University in 1991.

Floydada Junior High School is Hysinger's first job as a principal but he has already set many goals he hopes to accomplish and he has been very busy implementing new ideas.

"I want to solicit more parent community involvement," said Hysinger. "I would like to see some type of parent teacher organization at the junior high."

Hysinger says he also wants to create a "more caring environment through academic teaming."

"The junior high has already started a reading program and I want to improve on it and keep it going," said Hysinger. "In the 7th grade we have added Reading Arts class to the curriculum. The course is for a full year."

"The course is not required by the state, but I think it is very important."

Hysinger has also started a principal's council.

Lockney City Council reports city finances in good condition

By Neta Marble

LOCKNEY—The Lockney City Council met Thursday, October 5 and covered a short agenda in the regular session. After reviewing the financial statement Mayor Gary Marr reported that the city had ended the fiscal year in the black. "We have $8100.00 left from the money budgeted for last year," reported Charlotte Hooten, city secretary. All agreed that it was a good feeling to have money left over at the end of the year.

Items listed on the agenda included considering the bid for a new sewer cleanout machine, a drive-up window at city hall, and raising reconnect fees for city services along with several minor considerations.

The purchase of a sewer cleanout machine had been under study for some time and has been included in the budget. After hearing recommendations from Dickie McCarty, Lockney Utilities Supervisor, a motion was made by J.D. Copeland and a second by Bil Anderson for accepting the bid of $26,959 from Underground Inc. of Pearland, Texas for a high water pressure sewer cleanout machine. The machine will replace the rod driven machine that the city has been using for thirty years.

One of our subscribers, Joe Montgomery, of Anchorage, Alaska, was in Floydada with his daughter, Julie Ginter, Thursday. They were in town visiting his niece Betty Chowning and his sister Alice Eakin.

Joe is a retired school superintendent and Julie is a principal in Anchorage.

I sure enjoyed the visit, especially after he told us how much he enjoyed reading the newspaper.

He did tell me something that I thought many of you would like to know. All of you out-of-county subscribers in the Austin area, who get their Thursday mailed papers the following Wednesday and Thursday, will be delighted to know that Montgomery gets his paper in Anchorage on the Monday after it is mailed.

Go figure!

Many of you will be surprised to know that I'm not near as outspoken as I would like to be.

Granted I may get a little carried away in this column but I show remarkable restraint when writing the news.

There are plenty of things that reporters would like to say but they don't—at least they aren't supposed to.

I don't know when the rules were changed that said you aren't supposed to write certain things in your news reporting, but somewhere down the line things have sure changed.

For instance, crime stories are written differently. Just because a person is caught red handed doing something, we can't write the story as if he is guilty.

Obituaries are also written differently. There have been plenty of times where I have wished the obituary would put what the person died from. Old obituaries were very detailed. For some reason that is now a no-no.

We also can't put in the paper if we think a person is stupid or a dirty rotten so-and-so.

Sometimes I wish I could report they way they did 100 years ago.

Sammy Hale brought me a Park Record newspaper. There was a page full of old stories. The ones written 100 years ago were right up my alley. Here are a few excerpts for your entertainment:

"Lafavor, the man recently arrested for marrying two women and trying to swindle the second one, has been discharged from custody on the grounds of insufficient proof. The prosecuting witness failed to appear against him."

"Frank P. McDonald, the Salt Lake policeman who recently took a shot at Emil Sackerson, has been fired from the force, and it is expected will be fired into the penitentiary when the Third District Court gets a chance at his case."

(Did you notice the word allegedly does not appear in that story, and the policeman is already being sent to the penitentiary before trial?)

"Joseph Brown, another of Zion's incorrigible boys, was sent to the reform school at Ogden this week."

"Charles Bauer, of Logan, was found guilty this week of the crime of fornication and got four months in the pen. His companion in crime, 16-year-old Bertha Hoth, got off with a severe reprimand."

"Charles Meyer, a drummer who should have known better, was drugged and robbed of some $60 Tuesday of this week by one of the Salt Lake damsels. Stranger, still, Meyer reported his loss to the police. He can't have been on the road very long."

"A Hoytsville correspondent of the Calville Times says the timber fires that have recently been burning in Alexander Canyon were started by a sheep herder, who started them to burn out the underbrush that his flock might get through. He should be prosecuted."

"E.J. Watkins of Ogden was suddenly prostrated last week with a severe attack of paralysis, his left side being affected. The doctors think he will die."
(I certainly hope Watkins couldn't read the paper!)

"The aim and final end of all music should be none other than the glory of God and the refreshment of the soul. If heed is not paid to this, it is not true music but a diabolical bawling and twanging."

Johann Sebastian Bach
(1685-1750)

A view from The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Well, now, that didn't take long, did it. The jury killed time for about three hours and then pronounced O.J. Simpson not guilty of killing his former wife and Ronald Goldman. Not in the first degree. Not in the second degree. All across America, people reacted in surprise, astonishment, and, in part of the community, outright glee.

Not us. Possibly a hung jury, but not guilty verdict, we said (and wrote) many months ago.

They would have returned the same verdict, in our opinion, had the vote been immediately upon being seated, many, many, months and many millions of dollars ago. It was our opinion then, and remained our opinion throughout the trial, that no jury in Los Angeles, composed in the manner of the Simpson jury, would vote to convict, no matter what the evidence said. That's the way it turned out.

The millions of dollars Simpson poured into the trial proved to be money well spent. In a way, it was a good investment on Simpson's part. Not only in preventing a guilty verdict, but in laying the groundwork for many millions more in royalties, flowing from everything associated with the trial. We suspect, indeed we predict, the lives of many on the jury will be made much more comfortable in the years ahead.

There may well be, as so many pundits are now saying, that there are many lessons to be "learned" from the "trial of the century." If the lessons are there to be learned, they won't be learned, unfortunately. Or, put another way, the lessons that are learned, if any are, won't change the criminal justice system one iota. As long as it is possible for jury verdicts to be returned on the basis of racial passion, rather than cold, hard, evidence, we will have occasional results that comport with the results in this case. It is not going to get better. It is only going to get worse.

If anyone has any doubts on that score, they ought to go back and remember the screams of ecstasy, the hugging, the jumping for joy, in those places where black people gathered ( with television cameras standing by) to await the outcome. Simpson's lawyers had played the racial card and it had worked. Simpson's blood was at the scene of the crime. He had no alibi for his whereabouts during the time of the murder. He had a history of beating his wife. She knew what was ultimately going to happen. She had told friends "he's going to kill me." She had left a trail, including a will, and photos of her battered countenance. He, in turn, had left a trail of blood at the scene. All that was of no consequence to the jury. He had enough money to hire the most skillful lawyers. And, in the final analysis, he had the jury. In our opinion Simpson would have gone free, no matter what the lawyers from either side said, no matter what the evidence said. The jury was looking for an excuse, any excuse, to return a "not guilty" verdict. They found it.

It is all very sad. True, there were no eye witnesses. But there seldom are at murder scenes. Now Mr. Simpson is free, judged innocent of the crimes charged against him. Even jurors who say they thought him guilty, say they voted him "not guilty." They did what Simpson's lawyers asked them to do. They "sent a message." What that message was, and who that message was for, we are free to judge. To us, it is a troubling message, even a terrifying message.

We must all accept the judgement of the jury. But we are not required to agree with its verdict. And we are not required to say that "justice was done." All we are required to do is acknowledge that results were obtained.

Lockney Police Report

LOCKNEY—The Lockney Police Department received a report on September 21 of jewelry taken during the burglary of a house. After investigation the case was dropped.

Also on September 21 the police received a report of a tire stolen from a pickup.

The door to a house on SE 6th Street was broken on September 26 to gain entry. Nothing was reported taken. A minor accident with no injuries was reported on September 28.

Three juveniles were referred to juvenile authorities. Several items were broken in the alley behind Noel House on October 3.

On October 7 Lockney Police investigated a domestic violence report.

Do You Want Your Curb Painted?

Lockney High School students are considering a project of painting 911 address numbers on the curbs of houses in Lockney.

At some homes the addresses that appear on the 911 computer printout for ambulances and fire emergencies is different than the address the homeowner has on his door. This can be very confusing for emergency personnel trying to locate your home. The students are planning on getting a master list of 911 addresses from City Hall for the project. If you do not want your 911 address on the curb contact City Hall and tell them. The project will only be undertaken if enough people show an interest in having it done.

FLOYDADA—Floyd County's State Representative and Texas Speaker of the House, Pete Laney, was the guest speaker at the Floydada Rotary Club's noon luncheon, Wednesday, October 4. Laney told the Rotarians that he felt the Texas legislature had accomplished a lot in the past year and had "done it without raising taxes." Among those accomplishments listed by Laney were: passing a two year state budget without raising taxes and giving budget increases for state education; rewriting the public education laws to put more decisions back to local control and making tougher penalties for juvenile offenders. Laney said the state had overhauled the welfare program and pointed with pride to the new ID card being used to cut fraud out of the food stamp program. Other reforms cited by Laney were the tort reform laws and judicial campaign laws. "The agenda was drafted by the people and enacted by a citizen's legislature," said Laney. "We are already setting the agenda for the next session and property tax reform is at the top of the agenda. "We are looking at revamping the tax structure in the State of Texas," said Laney. "This is the hardest issue we have ever tackled. Reducing school property taxes will require other taxes to offset that. When we rearrange the tax structure—for everyone who pays less someone else will pay more. "We will only be able to accomplish tax reform with strong support from the taxpayers," said Laney.

Officials support Proposition 5

By Juanita Stepp
Members of the Floyd County Commissioners Court approved a resolution supporting Proposition 5 on the November 7 Constitutional Amendment Election Ballot. Voting on a motion by Precinct 1 Commissioner Connie Bearden which was seconded by Precinct 4 Commissioner Jon Jones, the court unanimously came out in favor of passage of the proposed constitutional amendment during the October 9 regular session of the court. Voting for the motion were Bearden, Jones, Precinct 2 Commissioner Lennie Gilroy and Precinct 3 Commissioner George Taylor.

A representative of Pitney Bowes, David Hughes, met with the court to present a proposal for the purchase of a new mailing machine. After hearing the proposal, the court instructed Hughes to make a comparison of the cost of the projected maintenance contract on the current county-owned mailer with the projected cost of renting or leasing a new machine from Pitney Bowes. The comparison is to be presented at the commissioners court meeting on October 16. Minutes of the meeting were read and approved with one correction. Accounts were reviewed and payment of monthly bills was authorized by the commissioners. One budget amendment was passed transferring $1,000.00 from the general fund into the law library fund. Motion for this was made by Jones and seconded by Taylor. All voted in favor. Four farm work contracts were approved by the court. Motion to approve was made by Jones and seconded by Gilroy. All voted for the motion. Contracts included: #1556 for Byron Ford in Precinct 2 to fill in some low areas at a site 2 miles east of FM 2301 on FM 2286 then 3/4 mile north on west side of road; #1579 for B.H. Campbell in Precinct 4 to fill a ditch to prevent soil erosion at a site 2 miles east of Dougherty; #1570 for J.P. County Treasurer Mary Shurbet presented monthly and quarterly reports to the court. Her report told the court that the county began the month of September with $491,220.91 in funds. Receipts for the month totaled $61,686.67 and transfers in were $132,869.66. Transfers out were in the amount of $134,569.50 and disbursements totaled $155,879.44, leaving a total of $395,328.30 in county accounts as of September 30. Shurbet also reported certificates of deposit in the amount of $40,000.00 for Precinct 1, $55,000.00 for Precinct 2, $76,000.00 for Precinct 3, and $65,000.00 for Precinct 4. To date this fiscal year, certificates of deposit have earned $37,780.71 in interest for the county according to Shurbet. The annual resolution authorizing the use of the general fund for payment of salaries rather than setting up a specific payroll account was approved on a motion by Taylor, seconded by Gilroy and passed by unanimous vote.

Floydada airport kept busy with weevil spraying program

The City of Floydada and the Floydada Airport is reaping the benefits of the decision by the Plains Cotton Growers to locate a spraying base for the Enhanced Diapause Boll Weevil Program at the Floydada Airport. Five airplanes fly daily out of the municipal airport, spraying areas in Kent, Motley, Crosby and Floyd County and parts of Briscoe and Hale Counties. According to Airport Manager Mitch Probasco, "At least six people associated with the program are staying in local motels. Up to 10 or 12 people (including pilots, ground help and PCG employees) also eat regularly in Floydada." The City of Floydada also collects a $300 user fee from PCG. Probasco sells the sprayers gasoline and then pays a 5¢ per gallon fuel flowage tax to the city. The Lubbock based PCG's Enhanced Program is expected to treat up to five million aggregate acres for Diapausing boll weevils in 1995. The Floydada group will be based at the local airport until the first freeze.

Robert Webb honored

Robert Webb, manager of the Southwestern Public Service Company office in Lockney, will be honored for his service to the company and to electric customers in the area. At banquets throughout the SPS service area this month, almost 400 employees will receive service awards for their dedication to SPS. About 100 will be given five-year awards, while two employees will receive awards for working at the company for 40 years. Webb will receive his 30-year award. SPS serves 103 communities and provides wholesale power to 17 rural electric cooperatives in the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

1950 Study Club enjoys program on the Holy Land

By Addie Assiter
FLOYDADA - Our new year got off to a great start. The evening of September 12 was enjoyed at the Wild Plum Tree in Olton. After a superb meal, members and guests made a tour of the upstairs rooms. Those attending were Jane McCulley, Doris McLain, Shirley Morton, Martha Lotspeich, Nettie Ruth Whittle, Lovene Moore, Edris Edwards, Amy Hollums, Ellie Anderson, Nell Abram, Nancy Bishop, Margie Fowler, Geneile Evans, and guests, Joy Smitherman and Joy Assiter.

The program committee distributed the 1995-96 yearbooks. We are looking forward to another great year.

Thought for September was - "Whatever you do, do it so well that people looking on will feel that the task was reserved especially for you by God himself".

On October 3, we met at Sue Moore's home. Jane McCulley, club president, opened with the Club Collect.

Program hostess, Nettie Ruth Whittle, introduced Beth Pratt, who gave an unusual and interesting program on archeology in the Holy Land.

Slides were shown of her and Billie Crawford's three week trip through Israel.

From their open jeep tour, starting and ending in Jerusalem, we saw the barren countryside, burial grounds in Mt. Olive, ancient tile work in old churches, Nomad burial grounds, Galilee, northern provinces of Palestine, King Solomon's gate and pool, and many more wonderful sights.

Beth said April and May were the best months for this country. Sandstorms blow as in Texas. Part of the tour was done on camels -- goodness! Thanks to Beth we all felt as if we were along.

Marjorie McElyea and Sue served very satisfying refreshments to members Nell Abram, Ellie Anderson, Addie Assiter, Nancy Bishop, Margie Fowler, Amy Hollums, Martha Lotspeich, Jane McCulley, Doris McLain, Shirley Morton, Nettie Ruth Whittle, and guests, Joy Smitherman, Peggy Dyess, Roberta Hardin, Billie Jordan, Frances Weathersbee, and Isabell Von Theumer.

Our thought for this time was - "Great opportunities to help others seldom come, but small ones surround us every day".

ELUDING DEFENDERS -- Floydada's Frankie Maldonado escapes the clutches of Roosevelt defenders in game action at Wester Field last week. The

Coach's Comments

By Coach Bryan Davis

Our key going into the Roosevelt game was controlling the ball and keeping it away from their offense. That was our basic game plan in making some of the changes on both sides of the line of scrimmage, and I couldn't be more pleased with our efforts and our execution.

Our time of possession and our total yardage show that we accomplished what we set out to do. We dominated offensively, which was the key to winning. We had a little let-down only that one time on defense, but they "bowed up" and played well for the majority of the game.

We controlled momentum after going up 15-0, then let them back in the game for their only score. We took control again to score before halftime, and maintained the momentum after intermission. We came out the second half determined to play like we did in the first half. It was an overall team effort from start to finish. We've played well at times this year, but this was the first time to play well all four quarters.

If we can continue to play with that intensity and execute as well as we did against Roosevelt, we're going to have a good football team. We made some changes that were necessary to better utilize some of the kids' abilities, and those changes worked out well for the team.

We're awfully proud of how the players adjusted to some new positions and assignments, especially after only three days of practice. We cut our mistakes and mental errors to almost zero with good execution. We couldn't ask for any more than their preparation in practices this week and then going out and performing as well as they did.

We open district this week against Dimmitt at home. If we can pull that one off, there's not much telling what we can do. Dimmitt is a good football team and played well against Slaton. They (Dimmitt) move the ball well, but have a tough time scoring. They have a good defense, and we'll have to have another good effort to get by them. We again want to thank our fans and hope the excellent support continues.

I also want to thank our coaching staff for the hard work and effort they put into game preparation this past week. We are totally committed to our young men. They are responding well, and I just can't say enough good things about them.

LJHS 8th Grade Football Report

By Coach Sutterfield

The 8th grade Shorthorns played Olton Thursday, but were unable to come away with a win. The kids played hard, but it was one of those games where nothing would go right for the kids. The lone score came on a 28-yard interception by Josh Carter.

I would like to compliment the kids on not giving up when it could have been easy to do. I am proud of their efforts and I think they learned something about themselves.

One thing you can expect from these kids is that they will come out this week, work hard, and get better. Their next game will be here against the Morton Indians starting with the 7th grade at 5:00 p.m. Come out and show your support for these kids.

Hey all you Whirlwind Fans,
Get fired up!

Come help kick off the district season, starting Thursday night at the bonfire. The bonfire will start at 9:00 p.m. at the "piggy Back" 1/2 mile south of Lighthouse Electric on FM Road #1958. Then come to the pep rally at high school at 3:30 p.m. on Friday.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Lockney JV defeats Olton

By Coach Rodney Dowell

The Lockney J.V. defeated the Olton Mustangs 14-6 to improve their district record to 1-1. Olton got on the scoreboard first with a 49-yard run by Jesus Jimenez with 2:32 to play in the first quarter. After giving up the first quarter touchdown, the Lockney defense stiffened and shut out Olton the rest of the night.

Coach David Sutterfield's newly invented "Split-Six Double Solid" defense rose to the occasion and shut down Olton's explosive offensive attack.

Late in the second period, the Lockney offense began to click. Hard running by Abel Rosales and an impressive aerial attack lead by quarterback Ryan Graves moved the Longhorns into scoring position late in the second period.

Impressive blocking up front by offensive linemen Ryon Smith, Jeff Archer, Casey Lambert, Bradley Veal, and Hank Henderson allowed fullback Brandon Covington to barrel over from the 3-yard line with 1:01 remaining in the second period.

In the second half of play, the Longhorn defense was able to control the line of scrimmage and prevent any offensive threat presented by the Mustangs.

Outstanding defensive performance by Bryan Bybee, Thad Lusk, Jeff Archer and Casey Lambert allowed the Longhorns the second half shutout.

The Longhorn offense once again got their motor running in the second half. The Longhorns controlled the ball for most of the third period, but just could not get the ball in the end zone. With 2:23 remaining in the fourth period, the Longhorn defense forced an Olton punt.

The Longhorn offense took over and drove 72 yards in 9 plays to score the game's winning touchdown. The drive began with good coverage by fullback Brandon Covington and tailback Max Ramirez. Max Ramirez scored the game's winning touchdown on a 22-yard scamper with less than one minute to play.

A pass by Ryan Graves to Thad Lusk on the two-point conversion gave the Longhorns the 14-6 victory.

'Winds run over Eagles

By Bill Gray

Floydada experimented with a revamped offensive scheme last Friday against the Eagles of Lubbock Roosevelt, and the "new look" paid off in big dividends. Senior Ramon McCann was moved from his fullback spot to running back, and about the only view the Wester Field visitors had of the Sweetwater transfer was the back of his helmet. McCann carried 15 times for 180 yards and two touchdowns as the Whirlwinds stormed to a convincing 34-7 victory over the Eagles in the final non-district tilt of the season.

The Whirlwinds scored early and often to improve to 2-3 on the year in a game that was a total turn-around from last year's wild finish at Roosevelt's Homecoming. It took the final play of that one for Floydada to hang on for a 36-34 victory at Acuff.

Floydada opens District 2-3A play tomorrow night against the Dimmitt Bobcats, a 20-6 loser to Slaton last week. Roosevelt hosts Brownfield for its District 5-3A opener this week.

McCann's 180 rushing yards led Floydada's powerful ground game which helped produce almost 400 yards of total yards against the Eagles. According to Whirlwind offensive coordinator Lee Hurt, "Ramon really caught fire tonight. We made a change to utilize his outside speed, moving him from fullback to halfback to get something that might click. We took advantage of what their defense offered and did well on our execution."

Coach Hurt added, "We moved Omar Eguia to fullback, and with his quickness he was able to hit the inside seams. Our line blocked well, and we were able to make those cutbacks off the sweep. The game plan worked well and we're all pleased with the efforts of the kids."

The Whirlwinds wasted little time setting on the scoreboard as McCann set up the opening- touchdown with a 64-yard sprint on the game's second play. QB Zack Abshier (45 yards rushing and 2 TDs on 12 attempts) carried the final yard. Vernon Cooper added a 2-pointer and the 'Winds were up 8-0 barely a minute and a half into the contest.

After holding Roosevelt to "three and out" in its first possession, Floydada marched 64 yards in only five plays as McCann carried the final 21-yards to the Eagle end zone. Abshier added the point-after to extend the lead to 15-0. At this halfway mark of the first quarter, McCann had already carried for 108 yards in only four rushing attempts.

The Eagles countered with their only sustained scoring drive of the evening. Tailback Kevin Davis picked up his own fumble and raced across the Whirlwind end zone from five yards out. Clayton Runyan added the conversion, but Roosevelt penetrated Floydada's "red zone" (inside the 'Wind 20-yard line) only one other time. Davis, subbing for injured Eagle starter Justin Talley, only managed 47 yards and the lone touchdown on 17 rushing attempts against the Whirlwinds' swarming defensive attack.

The third time Floydada had the ball, the 'Winds capped a 3-play, 49-yard drive with McCann's second long run of the first half. Ramon carried in from Roosevelt's 3-yard line after a 36-yard romp. Floydada added a 2-point pass for the point-after, but the play was disallowed due to an illegible receiver call. The Whirlwinds held a comfortable 21-7 halftime lead.

The Whirlwinds controlled the ball for over 8 minutes in the third stanza while mounting a 14-play, 67-yard scoring drive. Abshier scored from two yards out and kicked the extra point in the final two minutes of the period.

The final three times Roosevelt had possession in the second half resulted in turnovers. Floydada capitalized on one of the Eagle fumbles by driving 47 yards in 10 plays in the fourth quarter. Abshier connected on a 16-yard scoring pass to Omar Eguia for the final margin of victory.

Floydada's mistake-free, ball-control offense was the primary difference in the outcome, but the Whirlwinds' aggressive defense seldom gave the Eagles an opportunity to get back into the game. Fumble recoveries were turned in by Michael Mercado, Vernon Cooper, Monty Anderson and Abshier in an outstanding defensive showing.

Bill's Notes

Congratulations to the 'Winds for their most complete outing of the year. The revamped offense was awesome, with excellent line blocking, and good cut-back running by Ramon and Vernon...and Omar hitting that middle in a hurry. They may have found the key if they can just keep executing that well.

The offensive play of the game was Ramon's 64-yarder on the second snap. That play pretty well set the stage for the entire 48 minutes, as the Whirlwinds dominated in every statistical category (except punting, which they didn't even attempt). No question, with his 180 yards on 15 totes and a couple of TDs, McCann is my choice for offensive player of the game. A lot of credit should also go to the 'Wind offensive front...they made a lot of those cutbacks possible.

The Whirlwind defense played such a good, overall game, it is hard to single out one individual. The linebacking trio of Kyle Pierce, Lupe Sanchez and Monty Anderson kept Roosevelt's runners pretty well contained. Adding Zack over on the corner was another PLUS for Coach Parker's defensive tactics. Michael Mercado had one of his better defensive outings, as did Neal Nelson and Richard Powell.

The 'Winds should feel pretty confident when Dimmitt comes in for the district opener. Floydada lost up there last year, but the 1-4 Bobcats don't have quite the punch they had a year ago. I like the 'Winds by about 12!

Lockney Coach's Comments

By Malcolm Moerbe
We have a slogan around here that goes "48 minutes to play - A lifetime to remember." Since we seem to waste two quarters each game, I think we will change that to 72 minutes. Then maybe we will get 4 solid quarters.

I know our games are exciting and fans get their money's worth, but I sure wish we could all yawn our way through a 35-0 victory. But until the head coach starts preparing the team better from the start, that won't happen.

Give a lot of credit to those players. They refuse to give up. As long as they keep that quality, they will have a good chance in every game they play. But we do need to start playing well for a full game. Sooner or later getting behind will catch up with us.

Olton had a great plan for us. Our kids had trouble with what Olton was doing especially on offense, and I take the blame for that. But at halftime we got settled down and really played well the 3rd and 4th quarters.

It does not get any easier this week. Of all the teams in the district, Morton may be as explosive as anybody. I think our speed and quickness has been a major factor in our success this year, but Morton matches up well with us in those departments.

In Kyle Smart, they may have the most versatile athlete in the district. He will play QB, fullback, or tailback depending on their needs at the time. And last year he launched some rocket punts that kept us in poor field position.

I thought our offense played extremely well Friday. Devon, Joe, and Charles had good running games, but they will be the first to tell you the offensive line was playing really well.

Jarrod Clark, Mike Hernandez, David Hernandez, Carlos Perales, Rowdy Boggs, Tim Mitchell, Danny Vasquez, and Josh Lambert opened some big holes. Shannon Veal directed the offense well and his running, pitching, and reading the defense on the options were very good.

Defensively our leaders for the game are: Joe Marks - 36, Romualdo Chavira - 35, and Willie Luna - 35.

Defensively our leaders for the season are: Devon Phillips - 172, Willie Luna - 166 and Carlos Perales - 150.

Cardiac Kids do it again

By Coach Hallmark

You can say one thing for the Longhorns, they do make it exciting. Twenty points were scored in the first 1:30 of the first quarter. Olton drove the opening drive down the field to get on the board first, but missed the extra point.

On the first play for the Longhorns, Charles Van Zandt sprinted 54 yards. Two plays later, Van Zandt once again got the ball and jetted into the end zone from 24 yards out. Joe Marks nailed the extra point to put the Longhorns up 7-6.

7th Grade Shorthorn winning streak ends

By Coach Dowell

The youngest Horns traveled to Mustang country to take on Olton Thursday night. The Mustangs scored in the first quarter and converted the 2-point play to go up 8 to 0. The Shorthorn defense played hard to end the first half eight points down.

Olton struck twice in the second half, but did not capitalize on any two-point conversions. The Mustangs lead was now 20 to 0 and the Shorthorns' pride kicked in.

"We moved the ball extremely well once we decided we could play with these guys. Our kids have got to believe they are capable of anything as long as they play hard - (the Varsity team is a good example of this.) We just got started too late and they jumped on us quickly and our kids didn't know how to handle the situation. I was very proud of how hard these kids played. It would have been easy for them to lay down, but they fought the entire game." said Coach Dowell.

Our standouts on offense this week were: Chase Graves, Kelsey Schumacher, Anthony Garza, and Julian Guerrero. Defensive standouts were: Michael Vega, Christopher Ascencio, Marcus Munoz, and Rigo Ascencio.

Our next game is this Thursday here versus the Morton Indians starting at 5:00 p.m.

The second half a different Longhorn defense came out, holding Olton to 63 total yards. Lockney found the end zone once again when Phillips went 19 yards around the end to make the score 21-20 after Marks extra point.

The Longhorns would never give up the lead after that. Lockney kicked off after the touchdown and J.P. Walker recovered the fumble. Lockney squandered a scoring opportunity and Olton took over.

Joe Marks then stepped in front of an Olton pass and ran 20 yards to the 4-yard line. Devon then had an apparent touchdown but the official said he fumbled.

Olton could never get a drive going due to great plays by the defense. The Longhorns received the ball with 6:42 left in the game and clinging to a one-point game. The offensive line then took charge. They dominated the line of scrimmage and moved the ball down the field chewing up time. With 0:50 left in the game, Phillips once again found the end zone from 25 yards out.

Olton gave the fans one more scare on the ensuing kickoff. Victor Onos broke threw the Horns defense, but Chris Mathis tripped him up from behind. The defense held and the clock ran out with the score 28-20.

Hey all you Longhorn Fans!

Our Longhorn team is unstoppable! Come see just how UN-stoppable we are Friday night when the Lockney Longhorns take on the Morton Indians in Morton at 7:30 p.m.

The Pep Rally will be held at 2:00 p.m. in the parking lot north of the old gym. (yes 2:00 because the team will leave at 2:30)

The Junior High and JV games will be held here on Thursday starting at 5:00 p.m.

Come and watch your Lockney Longhorns stomp out another victory!

Breezer Football Report

By Bill Gray
Floydada's Leon Childers opened a third quarter charge as the 7th Grade Breezers blanked Roosevelt 18-0 in junior high grid action last Thursday. Childers' 15-yard scoring run broke a scoreless tie in what had been a tough defensive game for the first two periods.

Joe Cuba added a 25-yard TD run and Bradley Minnix scored from two yards out to complete the Breezers' 3rd period barrage. Floydada was unsuccessful on all three of its conversion attempts. However, with their strong defensive showing, the three touchdowns were all the Breezers needed in winning their fourth game of the season.

Eric Gomez and Max Garza (line), along with Childers and Cuba (backfield), were named offensive players of the game by the coaches. Outstanding defensive performances were turned in by Ismeal Arebalo (fumble recovery), Ray Perez (interception), and Minnix (fumble recovery and pass interception). The 7th Breezers host Dimmitt at 5:00 P.M. on October 12.

The 8th Grade Breezers battled for a hard-fought 28-24 victory over Roosevelt on October 5. David Lightfoot opened Floydada's scoring with TD runs of 2 and 4 yards in the opening period. Roosevelt countered with a 55-yard TD and conversion to cut the Breezers' margin to 14-8 at intermission.

Darryl Henderson's 6-yard TD in the 3rd quarter was offset by another 55-yard score by the visitors to set the stage for the deciding final quarter. Henderson added another long-range TD from 45 yards in the 4th stanza. Roosevelt matched that score on a 45-yard TD pass, but Floydada's defense held for the final margin of victory.

Coach Jimmy Burns said, "Our kids were prepared mentally more than any other game this year. They played almost mistake-free football, and it won them a game." The coach added, "If they continue on this track, they'll win a lot of games." The coaches named David Rainwater (line) and David Lightfoot and Darryl

Roosevelt bests 'Wind JV & freshman squads

By Bill Gray

Lubbock Roosevelt defeated the combined Floydada JV-Freshmen Whirlwinds 36-12 at Acuff on October 5. According to Floydada's coaches, "We made a lot of mistakes and didn't play very well. We didn't have time to practice together as one group, and hope to have two teams next week."

The Eagles jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first period, but Keith Collins' 14-yard TD run cut the margin. Roosevelt tossed a 32-yard scoring strike on a screen pass in the 2nd quarter to be in command 22-6 at the half.

Jason Campbell accounted for Floydada's other score with a 3-yard TD run in the fourth quarter. Floydada travels to Dimmitt this week for the first District 2-3A JV and Freshmen action.

Anderson wins grid contest this week

Mike Anderson and Brent Sanders, both of Floydada, each missed 4 games on the 5th week of the annual Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon football contest. Both also selected Lockney as the winner in the tie-breaker game. Anderson earns the first place $25.00 check for his tie-breaker score of 42, 6 points short of the actual combined Lockney/Olton total of 48.

Sanders fell to second with a combined score guess of 38, 10 points below the actual combined score. Both prize checks will be available at the Floydada Office of the Hesperian-Beacon on Friday, October 13.

3rd place and a check for $10.00 goes to Pam Fulton of Lockney, one of five entrants who missed 5 games this week. Four chose Lockney to win and the fifth, Franklin Harris of Floydada, failed to select a winner.

Fulton selected a combined score of 42 (6 points under the actual combined total) as did Phillip Glasson, also of Lockney. Both chose Floydada to win in the second tie-breaker with Fulton guessing 38 (3 points under the actual total of 41) as a total combined score and Glasson choosing 21 (20 points under). Her check will be in the Hesperian-Beacon Lockney Office on Friday.

Others missing 5 included Javier Bernal of Lockney (tie-breaker: Lockney, 35-13 under) and Amber Arney of Floydada (Lockney, 34-14 under). Honorable Mention goes to those missing six games this week, Monty Anderson, Larry Kirk, Cody Bayley, Sheree Cannon, Paige Younger, and Jean Hale, all of Floydada, as well as Jim Ed Davis, Jr. Lee, and Mark Ford, all of Lockney.

There were 88 entries this week. 59 were in the Floydada box and 29 from the Lockney box.

The greatly anticipated handmade quilt/queen size quilt is finished and now on display at the church. The quilt is in the Bargello pattern and raffle tickets will soon be on sale. The drawing for the tickets will be held immediately following the morning bazaar and traditional turkey dinner.

Revival Services will be held in First Baptist Church, Floydada, beginning Sunday, October 15, through Wednesday, October 18, 1995. Sunday services will be at 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. The weekday services will be at 12:00 noon and 7:00 p.m. A lunch will follow the week day services each day.

Sunday is High Attendance Day in our Church. The Sunday night services will feature the "Praising Hands Choir" from Paramount Baptist Church in Amarillo. The Mini-Concert and the evening message will be interpreted in sign language. Monday night is Family Night and a church-wide reception will be held in the Parlor for all members and families to meet the Evangelist and Music Leader. Tuesday Night is Youth Night with a Pizza Supper immediately following the evening service. Wednesday will be Children's Night with a Hot Dog Supper at 6:00 p.m. before the revival service.

C. V. Blake, Minister of Youth, at First Baptist Church, Bryan, will be the Evangelist for the services. Leading the music will be Gary Bledsoe, Minister of Music at Paramount Baptist Church in Amarillo.

C. V. Blake has served as Minister of Students and Music in several churches in Texas. He served in Lubbock, Shallowater, Slaton, and O'Donnell before serving as Minister of Youth at Bryan. Bro. Blake received his B. S. in Human Development and Family Studies from Texas Tech University. Blake worked with the Baptist Sunday School Board in the development work group and in writing three lessons.

Bro. Blake is the son of Bro. Fred Blake and the late Genet Blake and the brother of Mrs. Sheldon Sue of Floydada. Bro. Fred Blake served as pastor of South Plains Baptist Church from 1976 to 1980. C. V. Blake and his wife, Shelly, have two children, Bryan and Lauren.

Gary Bledsoe will be leading the music. He is Minister of Music at Paramount Baptist Church in Amarillo. Bro. Bledsoe served as Minister of Music in North Fort Worth Baptist Church, Fort Worth, Southland Baptist Church in San Angelo, and Interim Minister of Music at Park Heights Baptist Church in San Angelo.

EPA delays effective date of regulations for small landfills

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has granted a two-year extension for small municipal solid waste landfills to comply with expensive design and groundwater monitoring requirements. Requests for such an extension have been before EPA Administrator Carol Browner for some time.

"The EPA's decision is good news for several landfill owners and operators in the panhandle and plains areas who have been wondering whether there would be any relief from these bureaucratic regulations. Even with the delay, the EPA could still decide to make small landfills comply with the same expensive "one size fits all" standards that apply to larger municipal landfills.

EPA's action means that small municipal solid waste landfills (MSWLFs) in arid areas such as the Texas High Plains will have until Oct. 9, 1997, to comply with regulations on ground-water monitoring and design. The EPA also is formally studying the feasibility of allowing MSWLFs to adopt site-specific alternatives to the groundwater monitoring and design regulations.

The agency is accepting public comment on site-specific alternatives until Nov. 7, 1995 and expects to decide by sometime in October, 1996.

Cotton council program helps cotton growers keep pace with consumers

From: National Cotton Council

It's with you day and night — from your sheets, towels, underwear and jeans, to wall coverings, book bindings and medical supplies.

Americans are taking comfort in cotton like never before, and a federal farm program is helping meet their demand for the natural fiber. Farm programs give farmers an incentive to maximize their production and compete with highly subsidized foreign growers.

Such programs are a consumer bargain, too. The cotton program, for example, costs the average American household only $12.50 a year in tax dollars, according to the National Cotton Council of America. However, the program has the net effect of buying down the world price of raw cotton thereby lowering retail prices and saving the average American household $130 per year in purchases of cotton products.

Waste Not, Want Not

Did you know that every part of the cotton plant is useful?

The most important part — the fiber or lint — is used in making cotton cloth. Linters, or the short fuzz on the seed, provide cellulose for making plastics, cosmetics and other products. Linters are also incorporated into high-quality paper products and processed into batting for padding mattresses, furniture and automobile cushions.

The cottonseed is crushed to separate its three products — oil, meal and hulls. The oil is used primarily for shortening, cooking oil and salad dressing. The meal and hulls are used either separately or in combination as livestock, poultry and fish feed, and as fertilizer. The stalks and leaves of the plant are plowed under to enrich the soil.

Cotton Means Business

U.S. textile mills are spinning more than 11 million bales of cotton annually — the most since World War II — to keep pace with consumer demand. Farmers harvested the largest crop in U.S. history last year — 19.7 million bales. That's 9.5 billion pounds or enough cotton to make 13.6 billion bath towels or 4.9 billion pairs of women's jeans.

The Council says business revenue stimulated by cotton exceeds $50 billion, making it America's No. 1 value-added crop. Production and processing of cotton and its by-products involves $25 billion in supplies and services for nearly 350,000 workers. The industry, its suppliers and customers account for one of every 13 U.S. jobs.

WILL MARTIN

Martin remembers Floyd County history

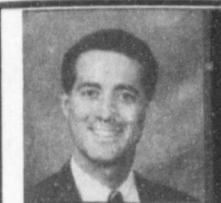

By Will Martin
I wonder how many of the good people remember some or all of the following things or happenings?
Do you remember how we made a baseball by unravelling men's old knitted socks? We would roll the string into a ball that was sewed to keep the new ball from unraveling. Babe Ruth was the baseball idol back then. Knute Rockne was the hero in football.
When some of us were in grammar school, Mr. T.C. Wester organized a football team. Some of the players were: Loraine Britton, Leroy McDonald, Clemmit McDonald and the Burk brothers. Although I can't remember everyone's name they were also important.

Mr. Wester and his team were well known in the early 1920's. They played both Amarillo and Lubbock teams and were winners in both cases. In those days there were no lights and games were played in daylight.
When the team played out of town, Garner Surginer would usually take them in his large family car. I think it was a Pierce Arrow.
Do you remember November 11, 1912? It was the signing of the end of World War I.
The influenza was a very bad thing that year. The courthouse was used as a hospital.
Doctors didn't know how to cope with the sickness and many died. T.N. Farris, Mrs. Bob Henry were two that I remember. Farris was Kinder Farris' brother and Mrs. Henry was Melvin and George Lee Henry's mother. Many others also died.
In the 1920's while I was in grammar school, we subscribed to a paper called "Current Events". One thing I remember was the "Tea Pot Dome" oil scandal. Some of the senators and others were involved in it. It was a national happening sort of like "Water Gate" and "White Water".

You know how kids are—we just remember enough to pass and none of the details.
I remember Texas Tech was supposed to be offered to Plainview, Floydada, Littlefield and maybe some other towns on the South Plains.
The Chamber of Commerce, Mr. W.M. Massie and others promised to buy a block of land west of town and give it to Tech so they would locate here.
Of course, Lubbock got Tech.
I enjoyed most of life in those days and I enjoy most of life with my friends in Floydada now.
May God Bless all of us.

CONGRESSIONAL REPORT

By
Congressman Mac Thornberry
U.S. Representative, 13th District

U.S. Rep. Mac Thornberry (TX-13) says he is planning to sponsor a congressional reform package that will, among other things, limit congressional pensions and ban the personal use of frequent flyer miles accrued at taxpayer expense.
"We were elected to shake things up on Capitol Hill," Thornberry stated. "We made great strides when we passed the Congressional Accountability Act earlier this year. Most significantly, we applied to Congress the same laws which apply to everyone else in the country. But more needs to be done, and I think this legislation is a step in the right direction."
"The goal of this reform package is not only to provide greater accountability for members of Congress, but also to provide members with a greater disincentive to make Congress a career."
The Thornberry reform package contains four legislative proposals designed to achieve this goal. The cornerstone of the package is a proposal he will introduce that will not only prohibit the use of frequent flyer miles for personal travel, but also provide for their conversion to a charitable organization if not used for official purposes. This proposal would apply to both members of Congress and their staff.
"Since taking office in January, I've traveled a total of 81,900 miles back and forth between the 13th District and Washington, DC. There's no reason I should be able to use this mileage for two free tickets to Hawaii. It belongs to the American taxpayer, and it should be used accordingly. And, if it's not used for official purposes, it makes more sense to have it used by a 10 year-old boy who needs a new heart than a 50 year-old congressman who wants a vacation."

In addition to the proposal to ban the personal use of frequent flyer miles, the Thornberry reform package also includes legislation to limit congressional pensions and prohibit the participation by members of Congress in the federal thrift savings plan. Members are currently able to participate in both plans for as long as they are in office. According to Thornberry, limiting participation in the one plan and prohibiting participation in the other would give members less financial incentive to make Congress a career.
"We didn't pass term limits for members of Congress this year, but we will continue to try," he said. "But in the meantime, if we can't limit the terms of their employment, then at least we can limit the terms of their retirement."
The third provision in the Thornberry reform package is original legislation which would eliminate the cost of living adjustment (COLA) pay raise which members of Congress automatically receive each year. The COLA increase is the same that other federal employees receive. While members of Congress have voted down this increase in the five years it has been in effect, Thornberry said such an automatic increase is not only wrong, it also runs counter to the spirit of the 27th Amendment.
"The 27th Amendment to the Constitution states that no pay raise can go into effect unless an election has first occurred. Yet the way the law is interpreted, members of Congress receive an automatic pay increase unless they vote to reject it. While members have rejected this raise every time it has come up for a vote, they shouldn't have that option to begin with, and my legislation would take it away."

The final proposal in the Thornberry reform package is a bill sponsored by Rep. Pat Roberts (KS-1) which would abolish the franking privilege for members of Congress and provide for the use of approved forms of postage and postage meters for official mail. Roberts' legislation, formally called the Franking Reform Act of 1995, will be introduced next week. Thornberry is one of the first cosponsors of the bill. "Businesses across America use postage meters to keep track of the mail going out their door," he said. "If one of the goals of this reform package is to increase accountability, then it only makes sense that Congress do the same."
By sponsoring the congressional reform package, Thornberry noted that he is keeping a promise he made last year to support reforms of both the campaign finance system and Congress. (Thornberry is also a cosponsor of H.R. 2148, a bill introduced in August which would require congressional candidates to raise at least 50 percent of their money from in-state residents, and would limit contributions from Political Action Committees to $2,000 per election cycle.)

Under Construction: Chernobyl Times Two

By Edwin Feulner

If you think the closest the United States ever came to nuclear disaster was at Three Mile Island, you probably aren't aware of communist dictator Fidel Castro's latest little construction project.
Just 250 miles from Miami, the United States is facing what could be its greatest nuclear threat, in the form of a couple of Russian-designed nuclear reactors under construction in Juragua, near Cienfuegos. The Cubans are building not one, but two, nuclear accidents waiting to happen.
What is so dangerous about these reactors? Here are just a few—by no means all—of the problems:
* The reactors are of the same defective design as the nuclear reactor at Chernobyl that literally melted down, spreading radioactive fallout over thousands of square miles of Russia and Eastern Europe.
* Sixty percent of the Soviet-supplied materials used in these reactors are defective, according to Cubans who have left the project.
* The containment dome of the first reactor is designed to withstand pressures of only seven pounds-per-square-inch (PSI), when U.S. reactors are only considered safe—indeed are only allowed to be built—if their domes can withstand 50 PSI.
Castro had mothballed the project in the early 1990s because of U.S. objections. But work has resumed. Roger W. Robinson Jr., who worked at the National Security Council under President Reagan, recently told a House committee Castro may be resuming construction hoping to "shake down the U.S. and international communities for some kind of substantial compensatory alternative," as the North Koreans were able to do with their reactor project at Yongbyon. U.S. acquiescence in the recent Russian-Iranian nuclear deal also encourages Castro to pursue his goals.

So the tale of two Chernobyls continues.
With the completion of Castro's nuclear reactors, Cuba will gain a "menacing and even devastating new policy lever" in its relations with the United States, according to Robinson. He says a Cuban nuclear accident would have a similar effect as "the detonation of a nuclear weapon near the United States." Depending on the winds and other weather conditions, nuclear fallout could spread west as far as Texas and race up the eastern seaboard to Washington, D.C., within possibly four days.
Oddly, the environmental community, usually foaming at the mouth over this type of scenario, is silent. Apparently, if the nuclear violator is one of their political heroes, Greenpeace, Worldwatch and other like-minded organizations are not nearly as anxious to chain themselves to construction equipment and halt progress on a nuclear project.
So what can be done?
The fact is that short of a military strike—which no one is seriously contemplating—there's not much America can do. The Cienfuegos reactor project is just one more reminder of how vital it is that the United States do everything in its power—continuing the economic embargo, intensifying it by bringing in other nations, keeping funding for Radio and TV Marti—to oust Castro and his cronies from power in Cuba once and for all.

In the meantime, Congress also should call on Russian President Boris Yeltsin to remove all technical and financial assistance from the project. If Russia refuses, it should face a cutoff of U.S. economic aid.
Of course, whether the Clinton administration is willing to take these steps depends on how worried it is. I think we should be more than a little concerned about two Chernobyl-style reactors being built—not all the way across the Pacific Ocean like the North Korean reactors—but only 250 miles from U.S. shores.
But that's just my opinion.
Note: Edwin Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.

Reye's Syndrome can be deadly

Reye's Syndrome is a very serious disease that you should know about. Some people develop Reye's Syndrome as they are getting over a viral illness, such as the flu or chicken pox. Reye's Syndrome usually affects people from infancy through young adulthood; however, no age group is immune. Although Reye's generally occurs when someone is recovering from a viral illness, it can develop 3 to 5 days after the onset of the illness. Its main targets are the liver and brain, it is non-contagious, and too often it is mis-diagnosed as encephalitis, meningitis, diabetes, poisoning, drug overdose or sudden infant death.
Early diagnosis is crucial. An individual should be watched during the next two to three weeks following a viral illness for these symptoms, usually occurring in this order:
—Relentless or continuous vomiting
—Listlessness (loss of pep and energy with little interest in their environment)
—Drowsiness (excessive sleepiness)
—Personality change (such as irritability, slurred speech, sensitivity to touch)
—Disorientation or confusion (unable to identify whereabouts, family members or answer questions) —Combativeness (striking out at those trying to help)

—Delirium, convulsions or loss of consciousness
Reye's Syndrome should be suspected in anyone who vomits repeatedly. Phone your doctor immediately if these symptoms develop. Voice your concern about Reye's Syndrome. If your physician is unavailable, take the person to an Emergency Room promptly. Two liver function tests (SGOT, SGPT) can be done to determine the possibility of Reye's Syndrome. There is a 90% chance of recovery when the syndrome is treated in its earliest stages by physicians and nurses experienced in the treatment of Reye's.
Studies have shown that using aspirin or aspirin-containing medications to treat the symptoms of viral illnesses increases the chance of developing Reye's Syndrome. If you or a member of your family have a viral illness, do not use aspirin or aspirin-containing medications. In fact, you should consult your physician before you take any drugs to treat the flu or chicken pox, particularly aspirin or anti-nausea medicines. Anti-nausea medicines may mask the symptoms of Reye's Syndrome.
The National Reye's Syndrome Foundation (NRSF), the U.S. Surgeon General, The Food and Drug Administration, and the Centers for Disease Control recommend that aspirin and combination products containing aspirin not be taken by anyone under 19 years of age during fever-causing illnesses.

Aspirin is a part of the salicylate family of medicines. Another name for aspirin is acetylsalicylate; some drug labels may use the words acetylsalicylate, acetylsalicylic acid, salicylic acid or salicylate instead of the word aspirin. Currently, there is no conclusive data as to whether other forms of salicylates are associated with the development of Reye's Syndrome. Until further research has answered this question, the NRSF recommends that products containing any of these substances should not be taken during episodes of viral infections.
The NRSF is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization with affiliates located in 44 states. The NRSF has pioneered the movement to disseminate knowledge about the disease in an effort to aid in early diagnosis and also provides funds for research into the causes, cure, care, treatment and prevention of Reye's Syndrome.

Marijuana dangerous to minds of users

By John Duff

There is growing concern about the resurgence in the popularity of marijuana. There seems to be a consensus of agreement about the dangers of cocaine, heroin and even cigarettes and alcohol, but not marijuana. What are the real dangers with it and how do you handle responses such as: "marijuana is an herb," "it is harmless," "it is used as a medicine," or "it's organic."
Ambition: Here lies the greatest danger to our youth. The loss of ambition. The ambition and personality of the chronic smoker of marijuana becomes altered as with all drugs. It can halt and/or alter emotional and educational development. Marijuana can interrupt a child's drive and development in sports, music, reading and school subjects, hobbies, etc. This result is seen over and over in drug treatment centers such as Narconon.
Memory: Marijuana use causes "short-term memory loss." Using marijuana affects concentration, mental recording and the recalling of previously recorded mental images. Where the breakdown comes into play is in the area of his or her "attention." Drugs internalize or "interiorize" one's attention as one is feeling and enjoying the drugs' effect on the body. It makes recalling what you did record mentally more difficult.
Education: Individuals, especially teenagers, consuming marijuana with any regularity are going to have problems educating themselves either inside or outside of the classroom. The mind is your computer and it depends on attention, concentration, recording, recalling and memory. Grades and performance drop. Again, we see the deadening of ambition.
Personality: Marijuana changes one's personality. It can make the shy feel outgoing, the weak feel strong, the inhibited feel uninhibited—especially concerning sex. Any way a drug makes you feel you can feel without drugs. Instead we become dependent on the drug to make us feel these feelings. And that is always disastrous.
The mental problems caused by marijuana are a far greater danger than the physical dangers that occur. This does not mean there is no physical dangers, as there are, but marijuana is not as toxic as some of the other recreationally used drugs. It can be just as addictive and dangerous.

If you find that your child is using marijuana or other drugs, this is not the end of the world. New breakthroughs in the field of drug rehabilitation that were made by L. Ron Hubbard have resulted in the Narconon drug treatment program which works to get even hard core heroin and cocaine addicts off drugs for good. In the past it was sometimes believed that once a drug addict, always a drug addict. But today this is no longer the case. (Anyone wanting information on the Narconon drug rehabilitation program can contact Narconon at 800-468-6933.)

Gospel Music to be featured at First Christian Church

By Bill Gray

FLOYDADA — Expectations are high as the membership of Floydada's First Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) prepares for a Sunday of gospel music and fellowship on October 15.

Bob and Melody Burns of Las Cruces, New Mexico, and Emily Hataway of Fluvanna will present inspirational musical selections at the 11:00 a.m. services. Dinner will be served in the Fellowship Hall followed by a gospel concert at 2:00 p.m. There is no admission charge for the concert, but a love offering will be taken on behalf of the out-of-town participants.

The special day will afford members of the community the opportunity to get acquainted with Reverend Ione Sedinger, the church's new pastor. Reverend Sedinger and her husband, Vic, have recently moved here from Oklahoma and are enthusiastic about their ministry in Floydada. The church is located at 301 W. Missouri.

The afternoon concert will feature vocal and instrumental numbers by Bob and Melody Burns, "Hoot & Annie" (Bob Burns and Nellie Nobsch), Emily Hataway, Dell Gray on keyboards and Bill Gray on drums.

The Burns' have a mission with their musical message to help bring peace to the world through music and musical meditation. They perform not only Bob's original "New Thought Spirituals," but also present what they term "Folk Hymns," the old standards whose melodies still beckon folks to sing-a-long and recall cherished memories evoked by traditional favorites.

Nellie Nobsch teams with Bob Burns to form "Hoot & Annie." She plays guitar as well as singing lead and harmony vocals. The pair have appeared throughout the southwest, including the prestigious Border Festival in El Paso, Texas.

A professional musician and entertainer for almost 40 years, Burns plays trumpet, guitar, 5-string banjo, and sings lead and harmony vocals. Melody Burns, noted for her diversity and wide voice range, sings lead and harmony vocals. The Burns' recently completed a concert tour of England and Ireland.

Emily Hataway is no stranger to Floydada theatre-goers, as she is a regular at Post's Garza Theatre where she has performed leading roles in numerous productions. Her most recent appearance at the Garza was the principal role of "Golde" in "Fiddler on the Roof."

MELODY & BOB BURNS will appear at 11:00 a.m. worship services and the 2:00 p.m. gospel concert at the First Christian Church in Floydada on Sunday, October 15. — Courtesy Photo

USDA requests comments on 1996 upland cotton program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation is issuing a proposed regulation requesting comments on the 1996 upland cotton Acreage Reduction Program, according to Grant Buntrock, Acting Executive Vice President of the CCC. Buntrock said that the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 extended the authority for the current upland cotton program through 1997.

Comments are requested on the level of the upland cotton ARP percentage for 1996. CCC is considering an ARP of 5.0, 12.5 or 20.0 percent. These options were based on Department of Agriculture projections of upland cotton supply and demand estimates as of August 1995. Other ARP levels could be considered before the preliminary ARP announcement and/or final ARP decision if warranted by changes in the supply-demand outlook. The ARP level selected will be based on a desired carryover that will result in an ending stocks-to-use ratio of 29.5 percent. The preliminary ARP percentage for upland cotton must be announced by November 1 and the final ARP percentage by January 1, 1996.

Comments must be submitted by October 20 to: Wayne Bjorlie, Director, Fibers Analysis Division, USDA/FSA, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013-2415. All comments will be available for public inspection in Room 3756 of USDA's South Building during regular business hours, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A regulatory impact analysis of the 1996 upland cotton program may be obtained from the Fibers Analysis Division USDA/FSA, Room 3754-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013-2415. Further details will appear in the Federal Register in the near future.

Reduction not to be required

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman announced that he intends not to require feed grain producers participating in the 1996 feed grain program to idle land.

Official announcement of the provisions of the 1996 feed grain program cannot be made until new farm legislation is passed by Congress and signed into law by President Clinton", Glickman said. "However, after the harvest period, feed grain farmers will begin preparing fields for spring planting and they need to know as much as possible about next year's program."

USDA expects a continued tight supply/demand situation. Under the existing program authorities, zero percent acreage reduction requirements would be appropriate for the 1996 feed grain program for corn, grain sorghum, oats, and barley. However, this may change, depending upon the outcome of the 1995 Farm Bill and any major shifts in market conditions. The Administration has proposed use of acreage reduction only as market situations warrant.

Because the authority to implement a feed grain program similar to the present program expires with the 1995 crops, today's announcement is made to provide producers with an indication of what the 1996 feed grain acreage reduction program requirements might be, assuming the reauthorization of current authority.

"I know the difficulties and uncertainties producers will face this fall if they have to make planting decisions without specific knowledge of program requirements," Glickman said. "USDA will continue to work with the Congress for enactment of new farm legislation that will put an end to this uncertainty."

The following table gives the supply and demand data on which the announcement is based.

Virus receives attention

What is it and why is it here? That remains a burning question among Texas A&M research and extension personnel working to figure out a puzzling virus that can harm corn and wheat production.

With funding supplied by the Texas Corn Producers Board, Texas Wheat Producers Board, other organizations and Texas A&M, Dr. Charlie Rush, plant pathologist at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Bushland, and Dr. Jerry Michels, TAES research entomologist at Bushland, are heading an extensive program to help identify more about the puzzling virus.

"We're hopeful that their efforts will help us develop a program to control and hopefully alleviate this virus," says TCPB executive director Carl King.

The virus was discovered in 1993 when it caused severe damage to Panhandle sweet corn production. It has also caused problems with wheat production.

Dr. Brent Bean, extension agronomist in Amarillo, says that other than a few incidents of the virus attacking sweet corn, there have been no significant reports of it in corn fields this summer. However, the virus did invade some Panhandle-South Plains area wheat fields.

"It was worse where there was a double infection with the new virus and wheat streak mosaic," says Bean.

Researchers believe the only way to find answers to this new disease is to intensively study the disease agent, vector or carrier, their various relationships and the possibilities of using host plant resistance as a means to combat the problem.

Ongoing studies begin with wheat plot research last winter, says Rush, adding that corn test plots were planted in the spring to develop host plant resistance screening capabilities, planting research and irrigation frequency. The corn plots are being evaluated this summer, along with laboratory tests to view growth stage susceptibility to the virus.

Wheat plots are also being examined, since wheat is possibly a host plant for potential carriers of the disease. Wheat plots are being planted and will be analyzed to see if there is a relationship between the new disease and wheat streak mosaic, says Rush.

"Extensive research like this takes time and money to complete," says King. "We're grateful that corn farmers across Texas are in support of a strong checkoff program that makes these studies possible."

Agency to absorb loan program

USDA continues reorganizing and downsizing

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's reorganization efforts under the Clinton Administration will continue this week when the farm lending programs of the former Texas Farmers Homes Administration will be transferred to the Texas Farm Service Agency on October 1.

The announcement of the transfer of the farm lending programs was made by Harold Bob Bennett, State Executive Director of the Farm Service Agency (formerly the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service) and George Ellis, State Director of the Rural Economic and Community Development (formerly the Farmers Home Administration). Nationwide, USDA is in the process of closing or consolidating nearly one-third of its 3,700 field locations and establishing 2,535 USDA service centers where USDA customers will receive one-stop service. The largest reorganization in USDA's history began last year when the number of USDA agencies were reduced from 43 to 29, and began cutting staff by 13,000. These reorganization initiatives will save U.S. taxpayers over $4 billion.

The transfer of the farm lending programs reflect President Clinton's efforts to streamline government and make it work better. For more than 50 years, farmers who could not obtain credit from commercial lenders used the former Farmers Home

Administration's farmer program loans to purchase and operate farms, while the former Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service administered the farm programs. As a result of the transfer of the farm lending programs, all farm programs will now be administered by one agency, the Farm Service Agency.

The Rural Economic and Community Development agency will continue to administer all rural business development programs, rural telecommunication, electricity, water and wastewater disposal programs, and rural housing programs.

These reorganization efforts have been made to streamline the way USDA does business, to cut out needless paperwork, to improve services to Texas producers, and to save taxpayers money," said Bennett. "Ultimately, when a Texas farmer steps into our USDA service centers, all of their needs will be taken care of quickly, and they will be able to get back to what they enjoy doing the most, and that is farming."

"Rural Texas communities, organizations and families will benefit from the consolidation of our services as well," said Bennett. "As a result of this reorganization, rural development efforts statewide will be better coordinated, and we will be able to provide the best possible service with the greatest efficiency to rural Texans that need our assistance."

Cotton fashions to be modeled at state fair

Those attending the Texas State Fair here this week will have an opportunity to see some unique cotton fashions.

Members of the National Cotton Women's Committee (NCWC) will conduct "Cotton Classics," three half hour fashion shows Friday, October 20 at the Agri-Top Stage in the Fair's Food & Fiber Pavilion. The shows, at 10 a.m., 11 a.m. and noon, will feature American-made cotton clothing ranging from denim blouses to cocktail dresses.

The NCWC, comprised primarily of cotton farmers' wives from across the 17-state Cotton Belt, is dedicated to helping the Memphis-based National Cotton Council of America strengthen the U.S. cotton industry. Most of the women's activities are aimed at helping the Council carry out its consumer information campaigns: "Grown and Made in the U.S.A. - It Matters" and "Cotton Means Business to America."

For 10 years now, the cotton women have been raising consumers' awareness of textile imports' negative effect on the U.S. economy and encouraging consumers to exercise their "label rights" by purchasing American-made cotton clothing.

"We are finding that more and more consumers are factoring in where a clothing item is made in their purchase decisions," said Margie Mayfield, wife of a Harlingen, TX, cotton producer and the NCWC's Texas State chairman. "We'll keep reminding consumers, both urban and rural, that buying American-made cotton clothing not only will send a message to apparel manufacturers to offer a wider selection of those products, but will strengthen agriculture and the national economy."

Colton for example, undergirds a U.S. textile manufacturing sector that employs 700,000 people, more people than any other U.S. industry. And it provides jobs in all 50 states.

"Textile and other manufacturing jobs are essential to our nation's prosperity because studies have found that every manufacturing job creates three times as many secondary jobs as a service position and four and a half times more jobs than a retail position," Mayfield said. "It's clear that buying American-made cotton clothing helps us all, from the farm to the consuming household."

The NCWC is striving to get a wider selection of American-made cotton products for consumers by meeting directly with domestic apparel manufacturers to increase their cotton clothing lines and urging retailers to stock more of those products.

Mrs. Mayfield and other NCWC volunteers from Missouri, Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma also will canvas the Dallas Apparel Mart, October 17-18. They will meet with clothing manufacturers and retailers with the ultimate aim of getting more American-made cotton clothing on store shelves around the country.

"Representatives at apparel marts in Atlanta, Chicago, and Dallas have been very responsive to our visits in

Lockney City Council

The company brought a machine for demonstration and McCarty stated that he felt the high pressure machine would do a better job of cleaning out the lines than the rod machine. At the present time after a line has been un-stopped the fire truck was being used to flush the lines clear. The high pressure water cleaner will clear stoppages and then flush the build-up in the lines.

The council discussed the raising of the reconnect fee for utilities. Hooten told the council that the utility bills were sent out at the first of the month and due by the 15th. If not paid by the 15th then a 10 percent charge was added to the bill when it was paid. If the bill was not paid before the last of the month then services were disconnected and a $10.00 fee was charged to be reconnected.

She reported that there were too many people who were paying the bill the next day after being disconnected and that maybe if they had to pay a higher fee they would come in earlier and pay the bill. "It is taking too much time for Dickie to disconnect the services and then go right back and reconnect them," she stated.

A motion was made by Bil Anderson to change the reconnect fee to $25.00. The second was made by J.D. Copeland and the vote was unanimous.

Again the council discussed adding a drive-up window to city hall. The council had talked to the City of Floydada about purchasing the unused window they had. Floydada City Manager Gary Brown estimated that it would cost approximately $2500 to repair the wall and put in a matching window.

The Floydada City Council voted to sell the window assembly for $500 plus the expense of removing it, repairing the wall and replacing the window with one that matched the others. The Lockney City Council received an estimates from Plainview Plate Glass of approximately $3,000 and from Mosler of Lubbock for approximately $6,000 for installing the window.

Those present agreed that the window would be an asset to those paying bills. They tabled the issue until a study is made as to the cost of removing the curb and other construction work that will have to be done to the driveway.

Joe Luis Guerrero, who lives in the northwest section of Lockney had written requesting that he be allowed to keep animals on his property. Several of his neighbors had signed the letter stating that they had no objections.

Council members stated that Lockney has an ordinance which does not allow animals to be kept inside the city limits. "If we make an exception here then we will have to make others and because of the ordinance we can make no exceptions," stated Copeland.

A letter from Tripe C Waste Disposal was read. It stated that the fees to use the landfill at Floydada had increased and that the charges to Lockney would have to be increased.

At the present time the city is receiving a rebate of $350 per month from Triple C and that this money will cover the increases without having to go up on the rate charged to customers.

Copeland reported that customers are still putting grass clippings, building materials and other items in the dumpsters that are not allowed. "Instead of putting grass clippings in the dumpsters it would help if everyone would put them on the ruts in the alleys," he stated.

Patsy Ulmer, counselor at Lockney

High School, has told the council that she has a group of students at school who would like to do work around town to make Lockney look better and increase their civic pride. "This is a project that could benefit all involved," she had commented.

Several suggestions were made for improvements around town.

Regular business before the council included the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting and paying of current bills. Bil Anderson made the motion to pay the bills and the second was made by J.D. Copeland.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Gary Marr; Aldermen Rodger Stapp, J.D. Copeland, Bil Anderson; Alderwoman Tina Graves; City Attorney Paul Lyle; City Secretary Charlotte Hooten; Utilities Supervisor Dickie McCarty; Utilities Assistants Kenny Hooten, Arcenio Martinez and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.
