Variety of booths offered

Mangold hospital sponsors Fair

LOCKNEY—W.J. Mangold Memorial Hospital is proud to present their third annual Holiday Health Fair on Saturday, December 2 from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. at the Lockney Elementary school located at 310 S.W. 10th in Lockney.

A "Heart Walk" will be held in the gym that morning. If you would like to participate in this event you may obtain more information by calling Victory Stewart in Lockney.

Again this year a very special feature will be the KidCare Photo ID event. Parents can obtain a current head and shoulders photograph of their child in a special vinyl pocket, plus you will be able to also include the vital statistics of your child and their fingerprints. One in seven missing children are found because of a photograph distributed by the NCMEC, so authority recommend that parents obtain standardized safety documents such as the KidCare Photo ID for their children. If your child attended last year, bring their ID packet to be updated. If this is your first year to attend you will be issued a new packet.

St. Mary's Mobile Mammography will be at the fair. To Make an appointment for a mammogram call 1-800-388-6266. The Aero Care helicopter will be available for general viewing and the Texas Department of Health will be at the fair to administer childhood immunizations, flu shots, pneumonia shots and tetanus shots, all for a minimal fee. Please bring your child's immunization record if you plan to participate in this program. While attending the Health Fair you will be able to have a glaucoma check, your blood sugar tested, have your cholesterol checked, your body fat analyzed, and something new this year is a colon cancer screening. All of these tests are free of charge.

In addition to the thirty booths in the cafeteria, aerobics demonstrations and low fat menu items will be demonstrated in the gym throughout the day. And a special guest to please all the children will be Ready Teddy.

For more information about the Holiday Health Fair, you may contact Marsha Allen at 806-652-3373. Your admission to Holiday Health Fair is a donation of canned food, or a new toy to be given to the Christmas Cheer Program.

Volunteers continue to cook Christmas meals for less fortunate

By Jason Schniederjan
(Editor's Note: Research for the following article, by Texas Tech journalism student Jason Schniederjan, was made possible by a grant from the Reader's Digest Foundation.)

Being lonely and away from relatives Christmas Day can be a sad experience for the elderly and less fortunate. Thanks to the Christmas dinner Sudie Cochran and her two daughters started five years ago, Christmas Day is a lot better for the less fortunate in Floyd County and at the Ronald McDonald House in Amarillo and in Lubbock.

Five years ago during Thanksgiving, Sudie sent out meals to some of her elderly neighbors. "I was sending out 10 plates, and I knew there were other people out there," Sudie said. "So I thought I'd try something for Christmas. "The first year I did it, everybody thought I was crazy," Sudie said. Cochran served approximately 50 people in the Floydada area through her first Christmas meal. Sudie started out cooking the dinner in the Massie Activity Center and it is now cooked in the Methodist Church in Floydada.

"The money for the meal is donated from Floydada and Lockney residents and businesses," Sudie said. "We deliver meals to Floydada, Lockney, Ralls, Quitaque, Matador and both Ronald McDonald Houses, so we're going to be busy."

Last year they delivered meals to more than 250 people, with expectations of serving about 350 people this year.

"We have our set up at the church, but we deliver most of the meals," Sudie said.

"I don't let the deliverers take a truck load of meals", said Sudie, "the reason we are doing this is to spend time with the elderly. I tell them not to take the food in, throw it down, and say Merry Christmas. They don't, they stay and visit; it's wonderful."

Sudie gives credit for the success of the meal to the people in Floydada. "I have a lot of help," Sudie said. "I feel funny doing this interview because I certainly don't do this by myself."

Fred Thayer helps Sudie plan, organize and get the meal ready. There are approximately 25-30 cooks and 30-40 delivery drivers who help Sudie out.

"Sometimes it is better to give than receive," Sudie said. "I feel the people of Floydada get a lot out of it."

Donations for Sudie's Christmas dinner can be sent to the Lockney Bank. Volunteers and donations are always welcome.

Lockney Scouts begin annual food drive Saturday

LOCKNEY—The Lockney Boy Scouts will conduct their annual food drive beginning Saturday, December 2.

The Scouts are asking for Lockney citizens to share as many cans of food or non-perishable food items with the less fortunate in the city by dropping their contribution into plastic bags which the scouts will leave on your door this Saturday.

The Scouts will leave the bag with you for a week and then return the next Saturday, December 9, to pick up the bag from your front porch.

All food collected will be given to the local Salvation Army to be distributed to those in need throughout the year.

Christmas tree shopping easier at home

By Alice Gilroy

There aren't too many items for a family to shop for that children consider more important than their Christmas tree.

A great deal of thought goes into shapes, sizes, smells and how that special ornament will look hanging from each tree. Families rearrange their furniture and adjust their living conditions to accommodate the all important Christmas tree.

Grown-ups pretend it doesn't matter which tree is bought and then spend a great deal of time convincing the child which one he should pick.

Very often the biggest problem encountered by the tree connoisseur is how to get it home. The longer the drive the more problems you encounter.

In Floyd County you won't have to drive far to pick out your perfect Christmas tree.

In Lockney, Lambert's Feed and Seed will once again sell trees. This year Danny Durham will show you plantation grown Noble Firs from Oregon. Lambert's will offer three sizes, from 5 to 8 feet.

Allsup's Convenience Store in Lockney and Floydada will offer Scotch Pines.

In Floydada, Joe's offers plantation grown Scotch Pines (4-8 feet), Douglas Fir (5-7 feet) and Noble Fir (6-7 feet).

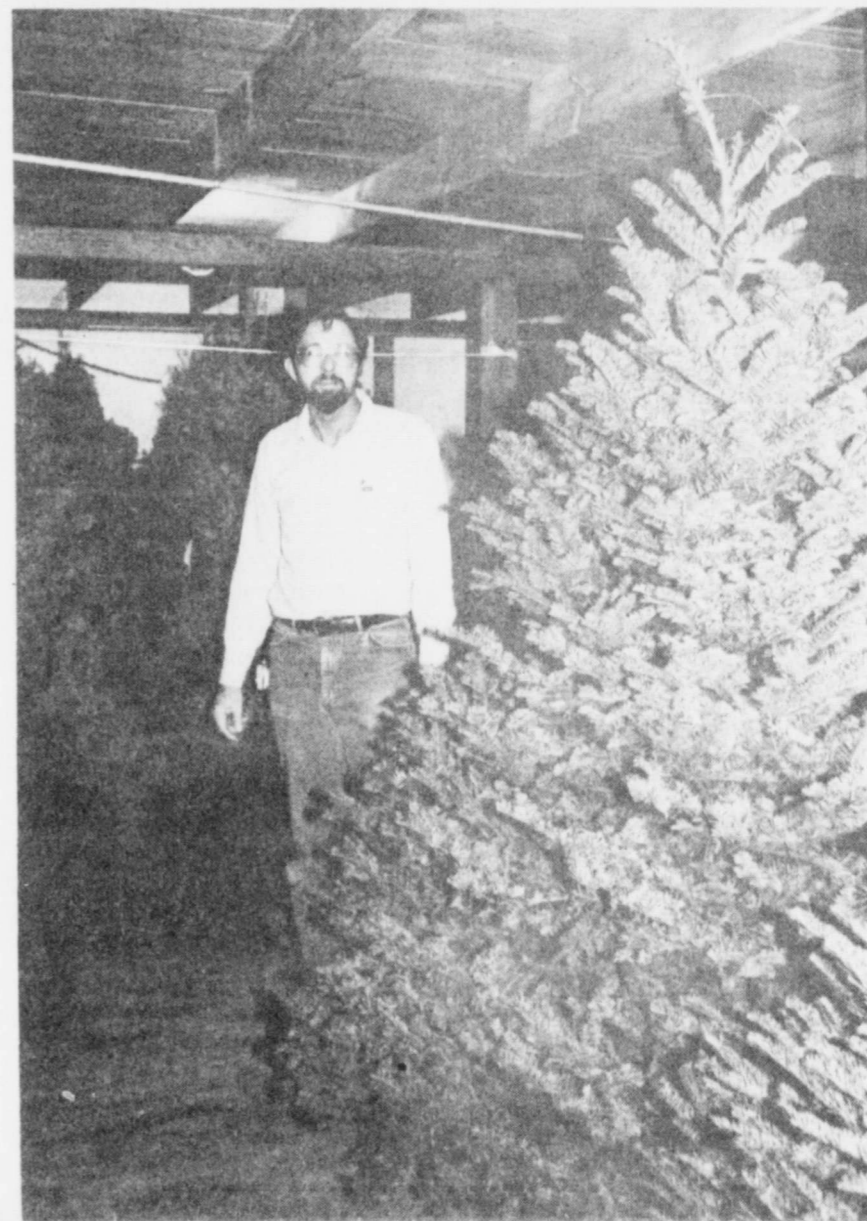

Joe's trees are shipped to Floydada from Oregon and Washington.

Those who feel they should wait until closer to Christmas to buy their tree should know that all the plantation trees are cut at the same time. Buying your tree closer to December 25th will not guarantee a fresher tree.

Both Joe Stepp, of Joe's, and Danny

Durham, at Lambert Seed, recommend cutting off 1/4 of an inch of the trunk and keeping the tree in water to keep it fresh for the holidays.

Joe Stepp of Joe's in Floydada displays a Noble Fir Tree.

Danny Durham of Lambert Feed and Seed in Lockney stands among the Noble Firs he is selling.

GERM FREE—After all winners of the Kiss The Pig contest at Duncan Elementary were quizzed about any possible sicknesses they were allowed to kiss the adorable pot bellied pig belonging to Mike and Stacey Reeves. Students voted on their favorite teacher by bringing pennies to school. The teacher with the most pennies was declared the winner, by the PTA, and allowed to kiss the pig. Each grade had one winner and in the administrative office, Principal Bobbie Weir and Sue Chesshir (shown here kissing the pig) tied for the honors. Staff Photo

Floydada Chamber hosts Santa visit and tree lighting

FLOYDADA—Floydada's Chamber of Commerce will host their annual Christmas Tree lighting and Santa visit on December 1st.

Santa will arrive on a fire truck between 4:15 and 4:30 p.m. His lap and kindly ear will be available to children inside the lobby of the First National Bank of Floydada. Visitors in the bank will also be treated to a display of the artwork of Dr. Kenneth Wyatt.

Downtown shoppers can also be entertained by the 1st grade music class of Duncan Elementary who will be singing Christmas Carols on the courthouse square, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

At dusk Miss Floydada Lucy Golightly will light the Courthouse Christmas tree.

Several downtown businesses are planning to stay open late, if needed, for Christmas shoppers.

Deadline brings three choices for Pesticide Applicator Certification

By Jim Bob Reynolds

As the deadline of December 31, 1995 approaches, certified private applicators (old certificates) have basically 3 choices: 1) complete 15 hours of CEU's to renew your certificate, 2) choose to earn your private applicator license, or 3) do nothing and lose your license. If you choose option 1 you have had since 1990 to earn your 15 CEU's (12 general, 2 laws/reg. I IPM). If you don't have your 15 CEU's you still have until December 31, 1995 to earn them. In the month of December there will be 10 CEU's offered in Floyd county (call the office for more information 983-4912).

If you choose to maintain your certificate, after January 1, 1996 you can still purchase restricted-use and state-limited-use pesticides. However keep in mind you will have no supervisory authority over your employees when using these chemicals.

To determine how many CEU's you have call the TDA at 1-800-TELL TDA. If you choose option 2 you will be required to retrain and retest (pay a license fee) to obtain a private applicator license. By obtaining your private applicator license you will be able to supervise the use of restricted-use or state-limited-use pesticides for the purpose of producing agriculture products. There will be a Private Applicator Training/Testing on December 15 at the extension office.

My suggestion is not to choose option 3.

For dates, times and places for recertification courses or if you have any questions please me at the extension office (983-4912) and I'll be glad to help you out.

Museum holds annual Open House Friday

The Floyd County Historical Museum will hold their annual Open House, Friday, December 1, from 1-6 p.m. The public is invited to come in to view a special showing of Christmas Quilts, and register for the Floyd County Commemorative coins. Gold, silver, and bronze numbered coins valued at over $100.00 will be presented after the late afternoon drawing.

A Christmas Story Telling Time will take place at 4 p.m.

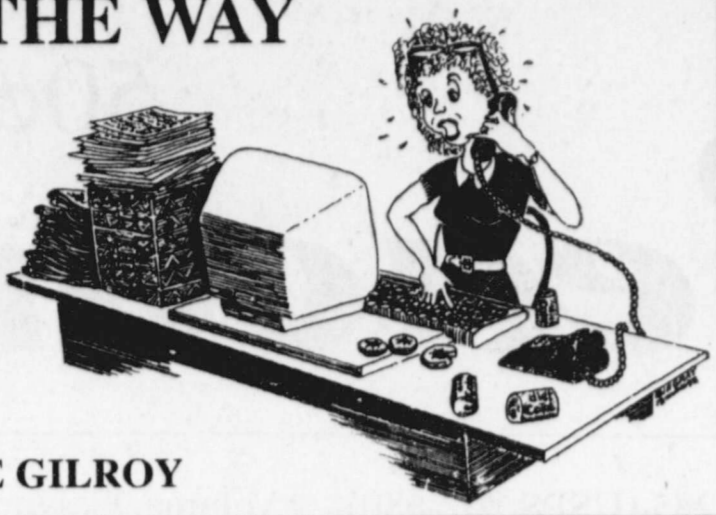

Refreshments will be served from 3 to 6 p.m.

ATTENTION TEACHERS!

The deadline for submitting your students Santa letters to the Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon is Wednesday, December 6.

We have several early deadlines given to us by the printers and in order to paste up special Christmas sections we must have these letters to the typesetters by this date.

BY THE WAY

BY ALICE GILROY

You always hear the cliché about what a small world it is, but you don't appreciate it until you start to travel.

My son and I took off for a mini-vacation together, over the Thanksgiving holidays.

We went to Carlsbad to visit a couple of aunts and some cousins that my son didn't know he had. We also traveled to Ruidoso and crawled up Sierra Blanca Mountain.

I made the Ruidoso trip to visit some close friends and to show my son some mountains.

I thought for sure the highlight of the trip for him was going to be the mountains, but a big treat for him was picking out all the Texas license plates as we traveled.

It amazed him that other folks were there from Texas.

Since he does not remember ever being out of the State of Texas he wasn't sure what to expect. He wanted to know if they spoke English in New Mexico and he was startled to see a U.S. flag flying over a bank in Carlsbad. When he pointed out the flag to me he said, "Look Mom, their flag is just like ours in Texas!"

I know I have become much too accustomed to the plains because the trip up the mountain was terrifying. Of course I didn't act terrified because Brandon was so fascinated looking off the mountain as we drove up.

He kept saying, "Look at that Mom!", and I kept saying, "I would if I could (which I wouldn't have), but I have to drive and can't take my eyes off the road (if you could call it a road)."

When we got to the top of the mountain I was surprised to see there was actually snow left over from the previous year. The ski slopes had plenty of snow for kids to slide down, and there were plenty of kids taking advantage of it.

Some of the kids had brought their own saucers to slide in and others were using cardboard. Brandon was fortunate to find some discarded cardboard and he had a ball playing on that ski slope.

I had no energy or air left to try and climb the slope with him, so I sat near the bottom and visited with a woman who had also run out of steam.

She asked me where I was from. I told her "the Lubbock area", since I knew she would have never heard of Lockney!

She smiled and didn't say anything. After a little while we started talking again and I said, "I'm really from Lockney, but I figured you wouldn't have known where that was."

She said, "Yes I do. My mother-in-law's, daughter-in-law is married to Dr. Kevin Stennett. We went to Lockney three years ago to Trick or Treat. It sure is a nice town!"

After Brandon and I left Sierra Blanca we found a riding stable and rented some horses for a trail ride around the mountain.

After the ride, Brandon was having a good time pointing out all the cars in the lot which had Texas license plates. He was pointing at one car and said, "Look Mom, they are from Texas too."

There was a nice woman in the front seat who then spoke to my son and asked him where he was from. He said, "Lockney."

Suddenly a head popped up from the back seat and a pretty young woman said, "I'm from Floydada. My grandfather was Everett Perry and my dad is John Perry."

After that it was hard to convince my son that he wasn't going to know everyone that had a Texas license plate.

Here is a little Listening Test. I'll ask the question and the answers will be put at the bottom—to keep you from cheating.

1. Is there a federal law against a man marrying his widow's sister?
2. Do they have a 4th of July in England?
3. If you had only one match and entered a cold room that had a kerosene lamp, an oil heater, and a wood stove, which would you light first for maximum heat?
4. What was the President's name in 1960?

- *****
ANSWERS
1. No. Not necessary as the man is dead.
 2. Yes. It is not celebrated as a holiday.
 3. The match. If you don't light it first, nothing gets lit.
 4. Bill Clinton

Letter to the Editor

Dear Alice,
Can anybody please tell me how many varsity teams play basketball in Floydada? The last time I counted there were two. Boys and girls. If this is so then why may I ask are there only write-ups about the boys?

Being away at college, the only way I am able to know how the Lady Winds do is via a telephone call every Tuesday and Friday night. Everyone should know that for a college person this gets expensive. If you could please put a small write-up or even a score in the Hesperian it would be much appreciated. It shouldn't take but a couple of minutes more to write down a few extra numbers, or even take one more picture in a game that happens before the boys game. If this is a paying job then let's do both of the games!

Children receive Christmas toys through Lone Star Santa program

FLOYDADA - It's hard to be a child and wonder if you'll be forgotten once again this holiday season. Thanks to Lone Star Santas, many deserving children in Floydada will remember this holiday season as an exciting, happy time.

Lone Star Santas is a non-profit organization whose goal is to collect and distribute new toys through established community organizations to children throughout Texas. Bank of America Texas is the primary sponsor of Lone Star Santas.

During the past 12 years, Lone Star Santas has given new toys to more than 244,000 children throughout Texas through more than 300 charitable organizations. The toys are given to community organizations serving children in need such as child abuse shelters, orphanages, hospitals, battered women's shelters and children's homes.

I commend Ed Henderson who is not required to but puts an article in every now and then because he wants to when his time allows. Thanks Ed, I appreciate it!

Sincerely,
Aaron Noland
McMurry University

Dear Aaron,
We are working on it. Since he is so appreciated, Edd has agreed to continue to try and write some stories for the girls basketball games.

With the coaches help, our sports writers will hopefully be able to keep track of all the basketball games.

Thanks for following Floydada news while you're away in college.
Sincerely,
The Editor

The branches of Bank of America Texas serve as collection points for the toys. Each branch of Bank of America Texas chooses a charity or charities serving children within their own communities to receive the toys. New, unwrapped toys may be dropped off at the Floydada Bank of America branch. Toys will be collected through Christmas Eve.

"This is our 12th year for helping these kids' dreams come true and letting them know that someone out there cares about them," said Bank of America President and Chief Operating Officer David Berry. "Even though Lone Star Santas has been extremely successful, it's never enough. There are always more children who may receive nothing unless everyone pitches in. Giving to these kids teaches you the true meaning of Christmas."

A view from The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

So now we will have 20,000 American troops in the Balkans.

Our Commander-in-Chief has decreed it, with or without the approval of Congress or the American people. As the all-time master of double talk, Mr. Clinton says that when the choice is between peace and war, America must always choose peace. So we must dispatch 20,000 highly trained combat troops from our nation's defense forces into an area that has been at war for many years, in order that "peace" may be enforced.

The questions arise. If the warring sides now have agreed to quit fighting and live in some semblance of peace, why do they need a rather massive occupation force from outside their borders to enforce that peace?

And, if the hostility between the sides runs so deep that the centuries have been unable to eradicate it, what will happen once the billions have been spent and the occupation troops leave? Indeed, what will happen while they are there?

In our opinion there is a rather strange symbiotic relationship developing here. On the one hand, there is the split personality of a President who, when the prospect of putting on a uniform drove him to run off to Oxford and write of his "loathing" of our military (during the Vietnam war), and the President who now loves to lead the military parades and accept the military's salute (as Commander-in-Chief).

On the other hand is this nation's Pentagon brass, who see in this exercise a way to again be front and center, without too many casualties, they think, among the ranks below them.

Among the latter there are those who honestly see this as a way to draw attention to the military's legitimate needs. Feeling the military has been cut too much, neglected too much, since the end of the Cold War, they welcome any opportunity to again prove their value in the scheme of things.

Also, unfortunately, there are, among the latter, those who see this as a way to help the career ladder. More Colonels will be made, more stars given out, more medals for more brass.

Make no mistake about it. We have always been, and remain, a champion of this nation's military force. We have always been, and remain, a champion of a strong military defense capability. But in our view this nation's military was created, and nurtured, as an instrument of national defense, of defending this nation and its legitimate defense interests. It was not created, and it ought not be used, as an instrument for pulling waffling politician's chestnuts out of the fire.

Americans, or perhaps we should say most Americans, have always had a strong attachment, and commitment, to their armed forces. America's emotions go with their armed forces, no matter where they are sent, or by whom they are sent. This is as it should be. Mr. Clinton, for good and sufficient reasons, understands this. He is also, in our opinion, not above capitalizing on it.

But the die has been cast. The decision has been made. The troops will go, no matter what the American people think about the situation. And once they are there, the American people will support them. About all that will be left to do is figure out the cost in terms of human life (which we do not think will be terribly high) and in the billions of dollars (which we think will be very high).

There will be the billions, not only for the operation itself, but for the "rebuilding" after it is all over. Once we accept the responsibility for separating and pacifying the warring sides, we will be expected to accept the "nation building" responsibility as well. One or more of the new states will go on the American dole, much as Israel has been on the dole for decades.

As we see it, there's not much Congress can do about this, except decide on the cost (in money.) They have the constitutional responsibility for collecting and spending the money. Mr. Clinton, as Commander-in-Chief, has the responsibility for the direction and safety of our troops. We'll see who does the best job of exercising their responsibility.

Caprock Hospital District changes services

Thayer to take over bookkeeping

By Juanita Stepp
 FLOYDADA — Trustees of Caprock Hospital District made new arrangements for bookkeeping services during the regular board meeting on Tuesday, November 21. Action taken at the early morning session turned the financial record keeping for the district over to Fred Thayer, a local certified public accountant and former CHD board member.

Thayer will take over duties previously performed by Bob Ericson. Ericson is now on staff for the clinic under the supervision of UMC and does not have adequate free time to do CHD bookkeeping in addition to his regular duties for UMC according to board president Tom Farris.

Thayer was approved for the work on a motion by J. R. Turner. Denise Payne seconded the motion and all present voted in favor. He will be compensated in the amount of $35.00 per hour up to $175.00 per month. The arrangement will also relieve the district of having to make a $3,000.00 computer purchase for preparation of financial records and reports.

Thayer will do the bookkeeping and report preparation as well as prepare checks. All checks for CHD will be signed by two board members. Board members who may sign are Tom Farris, Carmel Eastham J. R.

Turner, and Denise Payne.

Thayer presented a financial report for the month ending October 31, 1995. The report showed revenues at $55,467.79 and expenses of $81,008.83 for CHD. Thayer stressed that in view of the fact that audits were two years behind for the district and that he had limited information available to prepare financial statements from, the current report was a cash basis report of the monthly activity.

Included in those expenses was a transfer of $50,481.07 in fees collected during the first months of UMC operation of the clinic. These funds were deposited in CHD accounts until UMC established banking accounts. CHD no longer holds any funds belonging to UMC.

Annual payment of fees for appraisal, assessment and collection of ad valorem taxes was also made in October to the Floyd County Central Appraisal District. This amounted to a total of $16,202.79. $3,093.20 in attorney fees was also paid during October.

Other expenses included $18.35 for office supplies, $5,000.00 in ambulance subsidy, $450.00 for computer expense, $471.92 in plant maintenance supplies, $264.80 for lab/x-ray supplies, $1,875.00 for equipment maintenance, $50.00 for fees, $ 2,976.70 for utilities, and $125.00 for accounting. CHD accounts as of October 31 contained $187,991.23.

Board members approved the report and the minutes of the October 17 meeting as presented.

Property bids on tax title lots were approved for Michael Alaniz and for J. R. Turner. A bid from A. C. Carthel for a tax title property was rejected in favor of a bid on the same property by Darlene Williams. She bid $1,300.00 and his bid was $251.00. These bids will have to be approved by all taxing entities involved in the sheriff sale properties before the sales will be finalized.

Approval was also given for the demolition of a dilapidated structure on a tax title lot at 402 E. Grover. This must also be approved by all taxing entities prior to demolition.

An update on UMC clinic operation was presented by Al Bendeck. Bendeck stated that UMC was actively searching for a family practitioner to replace Dr. Antoine Albert when he leaves in May.

Attending the session were board members Tom Farris, J. R. Turner, and Denise Payne. Rob Heflin and Carmel Eastham were not present. Others in attendance included Bob Ericson, Al Bendeck, Fred Thayer, Ralph Jackson, Joe Stepp, and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Kenneth Wyatt's work on display at FNB Floydada for two days

The First National Bank of Floydada is honored to announce Dr. Kenneth Wyatt's art will be on display in the lobby of the bank, Thursday, Nov. 30, and Friday, Dec. 1.

Truly one of America's foremost artists, Dr. Wyatt is best known for his Western and Christian art; however, his landscape, still life and character study work is among the best anywhere. Wyatt is internationally recognized for his Christian paintings, is the author of several books on art, is known for his numerous books as author, poet and illustrator, and he is one of the most sought after speakers for after dinner affairs.

Kenneth Wyatt works in oil, watercolor, pencil, pastel, charcoal and sculpture. His work is produced for the public in original form, framed or matted prints, note cards, Christmas cards, jewelry, and in limited edition bronze and pewter sculpture.

In recent years, the Tulia artist gained national recognition when he painted OFFER THEM CHRIST, commemorating 200 years of Methodism in the United States. This lithograph now hangs in over 91 countries. Following this, Wyatt painted portraits of the Twelve Apostles, Paul and Jesus.

Kenneth Wyatt's two galleries, the main gallery and studio in Tulia, and the Red River Gallery of Fine Arts in Red River, New Mexico, have fine selections of quality paintings, bronze sculptures, fine art prints, collectable pewters, jewelry designed by Kenneth Wyatt, numerous books by Kenneth Wyatt, notecards, Christian art and unique treasures from the Wyatt's travels.

Visitors can view Wyatt's work during normal business hours, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Thursday and Friday, in the lobby of the First National Bank of Floydada.

The lobby will also be open after 4 p.m. Friday, for the arrival of Santa Claus, and Floydada's Christmas tree lighting.

Tips On Buying Firewood

Firewood is often sold by the cord, which measures eight feet long, four feet wide and four feet high or 128 cubic feet.

If you are not familiar with the seller, it may be a good idea to pay to have the wood stacked.

In Lubbock, peddlers selling firewood must be licensed by the City to sell, so check for a permit.

A face cord is one third cord. Look for dry, seasoned wood. It will have cracks and splits and should have been cut at least six months earlier, preferably a year earlier.

Remember, fresh-cut green wood will not burn efficiently. Consider how you are going to use your firewood-for heating purposes, you may want to consider hard woods such as oak, ash, most fruit trees, maple or birch. Softwoods such as pines, generally leave more ash. Lastly, make sure your stovepipes or flu is in good condition.

Bill Ferguson gives book review to 1934 Study Club

By Margarette Word
FLOYDADA - The 1934 Study Club met, Tuesday, November 14, in the home of Eva Parker, with Lorene Newberry as co-hostess.

Frieda Simpson, president, called the meeting to order. She called on the recording secretary, Bill Ferguson, to call the roll. Members answered the roll call by giving a current event. Also Mrs. Ferguson read the minutes of our last meeting which were approved as read.

Eva Parker led the members in saying the Club Collect.

A short business meeting took place. Members voted to not send money to organizations or needy causes outside our local community. This way we can keep our money at home, helping where needed.

Members were encouraged to attend the "Festival of Foods" which the Southwestern Public Service sponsors, on November 28, at 6:30 p.m. at Lighthouse Electric.

Members were also encouraged to consider eating at the Senior Citizen Center on Thursday, November 23, Thanksgiving Day.

On Dec. 12, in the morning, members will be taking cookies and will visit with those who are in the Floydada Nursing Home.

A committee made up of Mamie Bunch, Eva Parker and Frances Weathersbee were chosen to nominate a new group of officers for the 1996-98 club years.

Program chairman, Nell McClung introduced Bill Ferguson who gave a book review. The book was entitled "First We Have Coffee" by Margaret Jensen. It was a wonderful story relating treasures of romance, mystery, tragedy, comedy and the families which had great faith in God to provide their every need. These were true stories of a Norwegian family as told by the eldest daughter, as she saw it while growing up in a ministers home. She told of the great faith her mother had while trying to provide the family needs and how God took care of them. Mrs. Ferguson did such a wonderful job making us all wanting to read the book.

Delicious refreshments were served by Lorene Newberry to the following members: Jean Appling, Mamie Bunch, Jo Davis, Betsy Dempsey, Bill Ferguson, Effie Foster, Nell McClung, Flora McNeill, Eva Parker, Frieda Simpson, Marie Warren, Frances Weathersbee, and Margarette Word.

Our next meeting will be our Christmas party, on Tuesday, December 12, at 7 p.m. in the home of Marie Warren. Frances Weathersbee will be telling the "Christmas Story". No gifts will be exchanged, as our money for a gift will be spent in buying a toy for a needy child.

WAIT UNTIL THE CANCER BRUNCH - (l-r) Anne Carthel warns Beth Faulkenberry and Linda Matsler not to open the Cancer Brunch door prize until Dec. 9. The door prize was donated by Anne Carthel, of Sagebrush Mills, and contains a variety of specialty items for some great gourmet cooking. American Cancer Society Brunch planned for Dec. 9

FLOYDADA - It's that time again! The season of festivity, party-planning, and joy...and the American Cancer Society, Floyd County Unit, is in step with the time!

One of the gatherings most looked forward to during the holiday season is the annual Christmas Brunch sponsored by the board members of the local unit of the ACS. This year, the party will be held in the home of Carol Brooks, 1.4 miles west of the intersection of West Missouri St. and Highway 70 on the Sandhill Road, Saturday, Dec. 9, from 9:30 - 11:30 a.m. Guests will be treated to a lavish buffet of casseroles, fruits and cheese, breads and muffins, sausage balls, as well as candies, holiday snack mixes, mulled cider and coffee.

Traditionally, the local board has a door prize to offer; and, this year the prize of a charming basket of mixes and goodies has been donated by Anne Carthel. Your ticket, signed on the back, is your chance for this prize. The winning ticket will be drawn at the close of the brunch. A Poinsettia plant is always given to the hostess; and, the plant for Carol Brooks has been donated by Jennifer Donaghe of Park Florist.

Board members are selling tickets to this festive occasion for $7.50; or you may purchase a ticket at the First National Bank of Floydada, or Fred Thayer's office. Mark your calendar to attend the brunch on Saturday, Dec. 9th, from 9:30 until 11:00 a.m.

FLOYDADA SENIOR CITIZEN NEWS

By Margarette Word
FLOYDADA - The center is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. If you plan to eat lunch, please call 983-2032 before 10 a.m.

I did receive news that Dub and Margaret Daniel took their trailer and drove to Potsboro to spend the Thanksgiving Holidays with their daughter and son-in-law, Ilene and Byron Kendrick and family. Before Thursday, Dub had a stroke. He is in the Dennison Hospital at Dennison, Texas. He will be there around 6 weeks or more. At this time he is slowly improving. His phone number at the hospital is 903-465-2313 on the 4th floor. He may be moved to the rehab section. He may not be able to talk with you, but someone in the family should be in his room.

Ila Marie and Thomas Warren had 37 relatives for lunch on Thanksgiving Day. Thelma Jones, Marie's sister, from the nursing home was able to be there as well as another sister, Clara Martin, from Hale Center. Both these ladies had a stroke about the same time a few months ago. They felt they had a lot to be thankful for by being able to be at Marie's home for the family get-together. Other relatives were from Paris, Arlington, and Lubbock. There were 15 children under 14 years of age a Marie's house. Kyle and Deana Glover spent the holidays with Pam and her husband Raymond Rimer, and other relatives at Arlington.

Maxine Fry McCullough of Midland has been here a few days visiting Rebecca Smith and Maxine's uncle, Britt Britton.

Sue and James Lovell have just returned from a 38 day trip going through 12 states plus District of Columbia. They also attended the reunion of the 50th anniversary of the Commissioned of the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. D.D. 850 (destroyer) where James served while in the service.

Sue is very interested in geneology, so they visited court houses, the State Library of Pt. Harrisburg, Pa., the Essex Institute at Salem, Mass., the New England Geneological Society, at Boston, Mass., and the DAR Library at Washington, D.C.

They also visited friends in Newport, R.I. and relatives in Arlington, Va.

Congratulations to Rachel Payne of Lubbock for being awarded a $1000 scholarship from the Girl Scout Association. Rachel is the granddaughter of John and Geneva Cockrell.

Opal Kratzer went to Dallas for the Thanksgiving Holidays with her daughter and son-in-law, Laura and Tracy Turner. They visited with another daughter and son-in-law, Nancy and Dwayne Myrick and their two daughters, Dwayla Myrick and Angela Arias and her husband, Juan.

Jim and I spent the holidays with my sons, Gordon Bond and his family at Canton, and Greg Bond and his family from Waco, were also with us.

I understand there were around 100 people attending the Thanksgiving dinner served at the center on Thursday. We appreciate your support in all our projects.

Our building fund is still growing. Those contributing recently was Oleta Wilson in memory of Winnie Beedy. We appreciate all donations and memorials. These contributions help keep the center serving our seniors in this community.

Lockney Senior Citizens

By Gladys Ragle
LOCKNEY—Now that Thanksgiving is over, I hope everyone had a good time and took time to realize how much we have to be thankful for. There are so many things we are blessed with that we just take them for granted. Take a minute to think on this and see if there are things that you take for granted, they will be there at your convenience.

When Thanksgiving is over then Christmas is not far behind. Christmas holidays for the center will be December 23 through January 1.

The Senior Citizens will have a Christmas Bake Sale on December 21. If anyone wants something special for Christmas, please come by the center and let us know and we will get it ready for you.

The hostesses for December will be Leona Watson, Kathryn Cooper, Neva Smith, Hazel Johnson, and others if they want to help will be welcome.

S.J. Williams was scheduled for surgery on Wednesday, November 29

Our sympathy goes out to the family of Laura Manning on her passing from this life. She was well known and well liked in this community and we will miss her.

Lady 'Winds Basketball Report

By Ed Henderson Jr.
Games played from November 14, 1995 through November 27, 1995

Varsity

FLOYDADA 43 RALLS 38

The Floydada Lady Winds opened their 1995-1996 season with a 43 to 38 victory over the Lady Jackrabbits from Ralls. Leading scorers for the Lady Winds were junior Christy Hale with 16 points and senior Dana McCandless with 15 points. The Lady Winds dominated the game from the outset but allowed Ralls to take the lead back in the third quarter for a short time before taking control of the game late in third quarter and claiming their first win of the year. Floydada controlled the boards throughout the game and held the Lady Jackrabbits to a shooting percentage of 22% with a combination of a tough man-to-man and matchup zone defenses. Floydada also won the battle of the boards by outrebounding Ralls 23 to 1.

FLOYDADA 57 LOCKNEY 40

The Lady Winds defeated their cross county rival Lockney Lady Longhorns by a score of 57 to 40 to run their season record to 2-0. Dana McCandless led the Lady Winds in scoring with 20 points followed by Christy Hale with 19 points. Freshman Victoria Cummings also scored in double figures with 12 points while directing the offense of the Lady Winds for most of the night with only 5 turnovers. Floydada's defense was once again a major factor in the game as it held the Lady Longhorns to a mere 30% field goal shooting percentage for the entire game. Floydada also won the battle of the boards by outrebounding Lockney 28 to 20. The victory over Lockney runs the Lady Winds season record to 2-0.

FLOYDADA 37 ROOSEVELT 32

The Floydada Lady Winds continued their winning ways by defeating the Lubbock Roosevelt Lady Eagles by a score of 37 to 32. The scoring tandem of junior Christy Hale and senior Dana McCandless continued to lead the Lady Winds with 14 and 11 points respectively. The game was a hard-fought physical matchup throughout as two of the Lady Eagles fouled out before regulation time expired. Floydada's defense continued it's stingy ways in limiting the much taller Lady Eagles to only 32 points. The Lady Winds held the lead through the entire first half but could not find the range on offense in the third quarter as the Lady Eagles came to take the lead midway in third quarter. But Floydada shut down Roosevelt for the remainder of the third quarter and reclaimed a four point lead going into the final stanza. The fourth quarter became a free throw shooting contest as each team converted only two field goals each but Floydada converted on 8 of 13 free throw attempts to finally put the game away. The win puts Floydada's season record at 3-0.

FRENSHIP TURKEY CLASSIC FRENSHIP 55 FLOYDADA 33

The Floydada Lady Winds ran into one of the top 4-A teams in the state the Frenship Lady Tigers in their first game of the Thanksgiving tournament known as the Frenship Turkey Classic. The Lady Tigers have four starters that are 5'10" or taller including two six foot post players and are considered one of the top ten 4-A squads in the state. The Lady Winds played even with the much taller Lady Tigers for the first 10 minutes of the game until the height advantage just proved too much to overcome. Senior Dana McCandless, the tallest Floydada starter at 5'8", went down with a knee injury midway through the second quarter and did not return to the game as the Lady Winds could not compensate for the loss of points and rebounds from their leading scorer and rebounder. Christy Hale led the Lady Winds in scoring with 13 points followed by Victoria Cummings with 8 points. The loss drops Floydada's record to 3-1 for the year.

LUBBOCK HIGH 42 FLOYDADA 36

The Floydada Lady Winds took on a much improved 5-A squad from Lubbock High in game two of the Frenship Turkey Classic and endured their second loss of the year by a score of 42 to 36. The Lady Winds were led in scoring by junior Christy Hale with 24 points and senior Lacy Golightly with 8 points. The Lady Winds definitely felt the loss of Dana McCandless for the second consecutive game but put up a tough fight against a much taller Lubbock High team. Playing with only seven players on the squad against a full-court pressure defense by Lubbock High for most of the game, the Lady Winds simply ran out of gas in the fourth quarter. The loss drops Floydada's season record to 3-2.

SHALLOWATER 40 FLOYDADA 37

Floydada took on district 2-3A rival Shallowater in game three of the Frenship Turkey Classic but could not overcome a shaky third quarter as they lost their third consecutive game by a score of 40 to 37. Leading the Lady Winds in scoring was junior Christy Hale with 21 points followed by freshman Victoria Cummings with 11 points. The game was close from start to finish with neither team being able to claim more than a 6 point lead at any one time. Shallowater scored on some very difficult long range buckets in the fourth quarter to defeat the Lady Winds and claim 9th place in the tournament. The loss drops the Lady Winds record to 3-3 for the year. The next action for the Floydada Lady Winds will be Tuesday December 5, at home against the Lorenzo Lady Hornets.

COVERAGE OF SUB-VARSITY TEAMS

Due to the large number of tournament games played by all teams during this two week period, there will be no game summaries for all sub- varsity teams for this week only. In the coming weeks we will try and cover all games played by junior high through varsity and provide summaries of those games in this column.

Whirlwind Basketball Report

By Bill Gray

Vernon Cooper's game-high 27 points vaulted Floydada over the Lubbock Roosevelt Eagles 85-64 in non-district basketball action at Acuff on November 21. The Whirlwinds, off to their best start in several years at 3-0, will host the Hale Center Owls of District 3-2A on November 28 before appearing in the Frenship Tournament (November 30-December 2). Floydada has drawn Class 5A San Angelo Central in the opening game of that highly-competitive tournament. Others entered include Slaton, Borger, Lubbock Cooper, Seminole, Frenship, Monahans, Odessa, Big Spring, Littlefield and Hale Center. The Whirlwinds got off to a quick start on the Eagles' home court with 22 first-period points. Roosevelt outscored the 'Winds 20-17 in the second quarter, and the teams were deadlocked 39-all at intermissions. "We didn't play as well as we did in our first two games," said Floydada coach Jim Knight. "But, we still played hard and aggressive."

Coach Knight added, "We had some players missing from our lineup (from the first two games) and had to make some adjustments. We were forced to use some inexperienced people but they responded well to the adversity."

In leading all scorers on the floor, Cooper hit 8 field goals, two 3-pointers, and was 8 of 14 at the free-throw line. Vernon is averaging 21 points-per-outing, and is leading the Whirlwinds through three games with 63 points. Cooper also pulled down 15 rebounds (8 on the defensive boards) in one of the best nights of his Whirlwind varsity career.

Zack Abschier had his third consecutive "double-double," with 21 points and 11 rebounds (8 on the defensive boards). Michael Palacios, the third Whirlwind starter in double figures, hit 7 of 12 field-goal attempts, 2 of 3 from three-point range, and two from the charity stripe for a total point output of 22.

Floydada out-hustled the Eagles to forge ahead by 8 in the third stanza, and the 'Winds pulled away with a 25-12 run in the final, and deciding, period. Floydada's defense was the key following intermission. The Eagles kept it close for a while on the strength of 70% free-throw shooting (14 of 20 from the line), but Floydada's rapid-paced transition game spelled the difference.

The Whirlwinds committed 20 team fouls, compared to the host's 31 for the game. However, Floydada was unable to capitalize on the advantage as the 'Winds hit only 14 of 36 from the line (a poor 38.9%). Coach Knight said, "We've got to improve on our free-throw shooting...if there was any disappointment in our effort against Roosevelt, it had to be at the line. That is one area of our game that we've really got to work on."

Rance Barnett turned in another solid performance with 8 points and 4 rebounds. Although limited primarily to defensive duties and scoring only one field goal, Chad Hinkle cleared 8 rebounds and dished out 5 assists. Omar Eguia also was credited with 5 assists, as the Whirlwinds continued to improve in Coach Knight's new team-effort concept.

Bill's Notes

The 'Winds are showing more promise and improvement with each outing...that's all any coach wants - improvement on a day-to-day basis. They are playing with a lot of enthusiasm and intensity. Some younger folks are being called in to perform and they're doing a good job...which will pay off later on down the line. The three good tournaments before district play are going to help them tremendously. Dimmitt, Shallowater, and Littlefield will be strong again this year, with Friona and Muleshoe not far behind. But, the way this team is starting to "gel" is going to open some eyes. Coach Knight definitely has the Whirlwind program on the upswing.

Food variety leads to good eating habits

By Melissa Long, CEA-FCS
Parents can help children set healthy eating habits by offering a variety of foods and creating balance in their own eating patterns.

As children grow, they learn from what they know and by taking hints from parents, siblings, teachers and friends about making the right food choices. Also, research has show that healthful eating patterns and active lifestyles that begin in childhood and continue through adult years may help prevent or postpone the onset of chronic diseases such as diabetes, heart disease and some cancers. When planning a meal, parents should use the pyramid idea of building a healthful diet. At the base of the pyramid, start building a strong foundation to a healthful diet by selecting six or more servings of the breads, pastas, cereals and rice group and at the middle select at least "5 A Day" of both groups—vegetables (three to five servings) and fruits (two to four servings). On the next level above the middle pyramid balance with the recommended servings of two 3-ounce servings of the meat, poultry, fish, dry beans, eggs and nuts group and two to three servings of milk, yogurt and cheese group. At the pinnacle of the pyramid are the fat, oils and sweets group, which is recommended only in small servings and only if you can afford the extra calories.

Nutritional contributions at each level are significant. Breads, fruits and vegetables all contribute complex carbohydrates and sugars—valuable energy sources—as well as many vitamins and minerals available for a child's growth and development. Breads, cereals, pastas and rice are rich sources of the B vitamins, iron and fiber. Fruits and vegetables also supply vitamins A and C, and folic acid to keep eyes, skin and blood healthy. Meats, poultry, fish, dry beans and eggs provide high quality protein and heme iron—a readily absorbable form of iron—for muscle formation.

Accelerated Reading Club begins at Lockney Elementary School

LOCKNEY—Joyce Marks, librarian at Lockney Elementary School, has reported that she is thrilled with the enthusiasm the children have shown towards the Accelerated Reading Club Program that has been initiated at Lockney Elementary School.

The new program which was started in September is drawing young readers into the library in ever increasing numbers. In September the students checked out 2,114 books that are a part of the program and in October the number of books checks out jumped to 4,485.

Approximately 400 books were ordered along with the computer program of which the tests are a part. "We spent nearly $3,000.00 to get this program started," stated Marks, "and I can't say enough good things about it. The students are enjoying the challenge and they are beginning to read better."

"I hope to see our reading scores increase and I know that they will," she continued.

When a book belonging to the Accelerated Program is checked out and read the student comes back into the library and sits down at the computer to take a test relating to the book. The questions on the test shows if the student has comprehended what he has read.

The scores on the test add up into points and a star is fastened to the wall when the students make their first points. On two other walls are the stars for those students who have reached the ten point designation and the twenty-five point designation.

The books are divided by grade level and degree of difficulty. The books start at .05 points and the book "Little Women" is 36 points.

The students have to have all of their regular work completed before they can come to the library and check out one of the books or take the test. This is seen as a reward for completing their work. Almost all of the students are reading more. For the students in the smaller grades who cannot read or do not read well the books can be read to them, can be read with them or can be read alone. If a student cannot read and the book is read to them or with them the questions are asked by Marks and she then checks the students answer on the computer.

"I hope that the younger students will become better readers and want to read more as they grow older," Marks commented.

Marks stated that she plans to add more books to the program as funding allows her to.

Rural high school students eligible for Cargill scholarship program

The Cargill Foundation will sponsor $1,000 scholarships for 250 high school seniors from U.S. farm families next spring. The Cargill Scholarship for Rural America is open to all high school seniors who will graduate in the spring. The seniors must come from families that derive at least half of their income from farming. Scholarship candidates must enroll full-time next fall at an accredited two or four year college, university or vocational-technical school.

"The program has helped to honor academic achievement among rural students," said Bill Pearce, president of the Cargill Foundation. "It's an endeavor that has received an enthusiastic reception in rural communities. We are committed to this scholarship program."

The Cargill Foundation established the program in 1986 to recognize and encourage academic achievement, accomplishment and talent among rural youth. The Cargill Foundation has presented 2,253 awards for a total of $2.25 million during the 11 year program.

The national FFA selects the scholarship winners, although applicants do not have to be members of FFA. The organization bases its selections on academic record, leadership, extra-curricular accomplishments and financial need.

"The FFA has a long history of administering scholarship programs for agriculturally-based companies," said Gladys Tripp, a professional in Cargill's Community Relations department. "Because it is a national organization that is part of the curriculum in many rural high schools, it is ideally suited to manage the program."

Information and application forms can be obtained at any Cargill office or high school FFA department. Students also may request forms from the Cargill scholarship coordinator, National FFA, P.O. Box 45205, Madison, Wis., 53744-5205. The application deadline is Feb. 15, 1996.

Cargill is an international marketer and processor of agricultural, financial and industrial commodities that employs more than 73,000 people at offices and facilities in more than 850 locations within 66 countries.

Duncan students study and perform 'Pocahontas'

By Alice Gilroy

Duncan Elementary performed the play "Pocahontas" to an overflowing audience, Monday, Nov. 13, in the Duncan Elementary cafeteria.

Approximately 250 students, kindergarten through 3rd grade, took part in the production, either in building the set, dancing, singing or acting in the skit.

Students played the musical instruments and also, with the help of parents, made their own costumes.

The production was written and choreographed and directed by music teacher Kathleen Wood. Virginia Smith was responsible for the magnificent set design and artwork.

Meghan Graham opened the program and Kristan Lackey narrated.

The cast included the characters of T.J. Collins, as Chief Powhatan; Zachary Knight, as Captain John Smith; Justin Duran, as Kokoum; Marla Reeves, as Pocahontas; Marissa Davis, as Grandmother Willow; and Carlos Trevino, Jason Nutt, Rene Rubio, Michael Ortega, Nicholas Espinosa, Rusty Hopper and Shannon Garcia as Indians.

Stacey Reeves and Ludusta Warren presented a song, "Colors of the Wind", in sign language, and the 1st grade music class provided some dancing entertainment.

Students also told the audience of the different ways the Indians had contributed to the American culture. Giving some facts about the native Americans were: Daniel Houchin, Brian Odom, Cody Ware, Felisha Luna, Jackie Rendon, Spencer Schacht, Mandie Wood, Tate Greer and Lauren Powell.

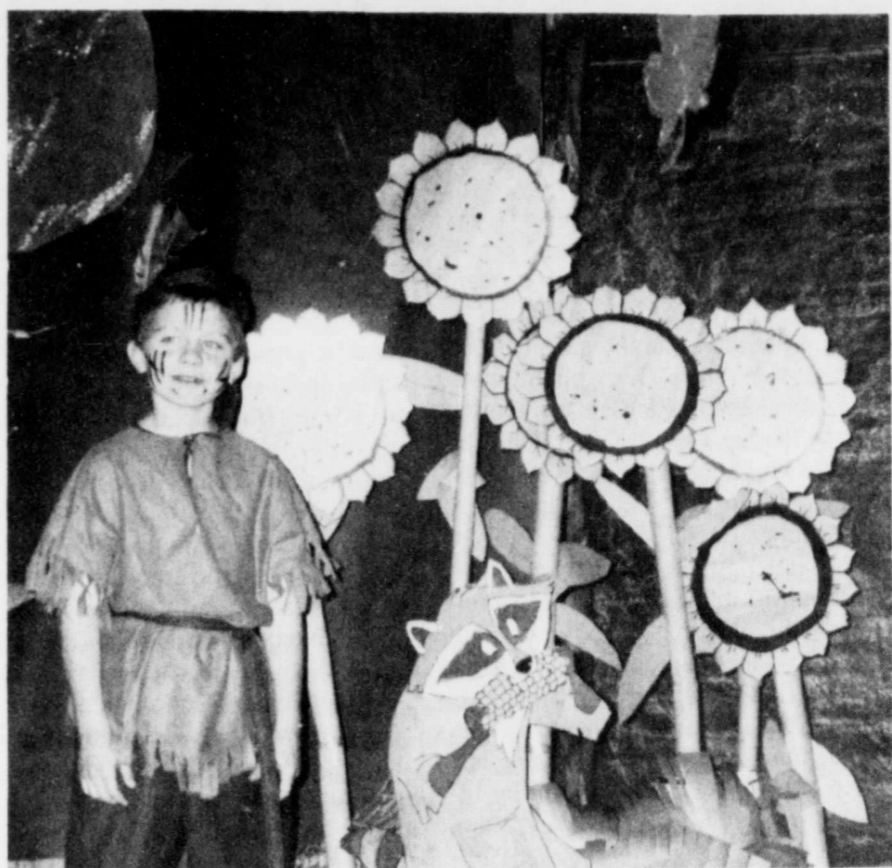

The cast of Pocahontas also had an honored guest in their midst, as one of the 2nd graders, and Indians, Jason Alan Nutt, is a descendent of Pocahontas.

Although Ms. Wood used the Disney movie, Pocahontas, as a guide for her play, Wood was sure to deal with the facts of Pocahontas' life.

Pocahontas was an 11 or 12 year old girl when she met Captain John Smith. Later at the age of 18 she met and married a white man by the name of John Rolfe, an Englishman and a Virginia colonist, in April 1614.

After their marriage the Rolfe's traveled to England where the Indian Princess was received by royalty. In 1615, Pocahontas gave birth to a son, Thomas, and two years later she died in England of tuberculosis.

According to Ms. Wood the cast of Pocahontas has now been invited to enter the Lubbock Arts Festival.

POCAHONTAS DESCENDENT—Jason Nutt was one of the Indians in the Pocahontas production at Duncan Elementary. Jason and his sisters, Lindsey and Kaylie, can trace their ancestry back to Pocahontas. According to the genealogy:

John Rolfe married Pocahontas (Matoaka) and their son: Thomas Rolfe married Jane Poythress and their daughter: Jane Rolfe married Robert Bolling and their son: John Bolling married Mary Kennon and their daughter: Martha Bolling married Thomas Eldridge Jr. and their son: Thomas Eldridge III married Winifred Jones Miller and their son: Thomas Eldridge IV married Elizabeth Hall and their son: John Bolling Eldridge wed Susannah E. Eddins and their daughter: Margaret Tibitha Diemer Eldridge wed William Joseph Hill and their son: Walter Vance Hill married Nellie Ethel Hall and their son: Williams Henry Hill married Eunice Lydia Barton and their daughter: Barbara Hill married Edwin Nutt and their son: Daniel Lee Nutt married Laura Lee Pittman; and their children are: Lindsey Lee Nutt, Jason Alan Nutt and Kaylie LeShay Nutt.

TCA Cable named Operator of the Year

TCA Cable TV's Floydada General Manager Pete Strom recently announced that TCA Cable TV, Inc. has been named Operator of the Year for 1995 by Cablevision Magazine. The prestigious award was established in 1988 to recognize one cable company in the nation, based on the company's quality of management, commitment to customer relations and community service, and its financial and operational acumen. The winner is selected each year by the magazine's editors. "This is one of the top awards given in the cable television industry," said Strom, "and we are pleased to have earned it during a time of change and consolidation in telecommunications."

In the article outlining TCA's formula for success, Cablevision highlights the cable company's strong price/value relationship. "Last year, for example, TCA's $29.35 in average revenues (per) subscriber ranked at the bottom in an industry analysis published by Morgan Stanley & Co.," according to the article, which was published October 9, 1995.

"We believe in keeping our rates as low as possible so the majority of households in our community can afford the benefits of cable television," said Strom. In addition, the company is touted for one of the lowest debt-to-cash flow ratios in the industry, its fiber optic capital improvement programs, quality customer service, its recent growth from acquisitions, and plans for growth in ancillary businesses such as long distance reselling. "TCA Cable TV is proud of this award, and of the employees in the Floydada area who helped achieve it," said Strom. "This is a direct reflection of each employee's commitment to excellence for our customers and the community."

By Calvin Richardson, Wildlife Biologist, TPWD

Pheasant hunters in West Texas may be in for a disappointing year if Texas Parks & Wildlife Department survey figures are an indication of actual pheasant numbers. The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department annually surveys the pheasant population in the Panhandle and South Plains by conducting roadside counts along 44 routes during late October and early November. Each route, measuring 20 miles in length, is driven from east to west at 20 mph and begun 15 minutes after sunrise.

Across the Panhandle District as a whole, the number of pheasants sighted along the 44 survey routes decreased by 32% compared to last year. The 1994 pheasant survey resulted in 14.4 birds per survey route, while 9.8 birds per route were observed in 1995. Pheasant numbers in 1995 are down by 37% compared to the average over the past 5 years (15.9 birds/route).

Some of the highest numbers were recorded in the northern portion of the Panhandle. In the counties of Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, and Ochiltree, 8 pheasant surveys produced an average of 36 birds per route, with one route in Hansford County showing a count of 65 pheasants. Other counties showing respectable pheasant numbers were Hutchinson and Deaf Smith, which averaged about 18 birds/route on 4 survey lines. The other 8 Panhandle counties that were surveyed showed an average of only 1.1 pheasants per route.

In the South Plains region (from Parmer county, south to Cochran, east to Crosby, and north to Briscoe county), it has been another good year for pheasants. Generally, the more acres that are in cotton, the less acres that are in grain crops which are beneficial to pheasants as food and cover. Based on 24 survey routes conducted in 12 South Plains counties, the 1995 census resulted in 2.8 birds/route. This represents an 11% decline compared to the 1994 figure (3.2 birds/route). The 1995 count was 67% less than the 5-year average (8.7 birds/route) for the South Plains region.

The highest concentrations of pheasants in the northern Panhandle this year are probably associated with a combination of dense cover (i.e., playa lakes) and irrigated grain crops. Not only does this situation provide a good mix of food and cover, but it provides adequate ground-level humidity that is critical for nesting success under relatively hot, dry conditions.

The pheasant season begins Saturday, December 9th, and continues for 16 days, concluding December 24th. The bag limit is 3 cocks per day with a possession limit of 6 birds. Hunters are required to leave one foot or all feathers attached to their harvested birds until they reach their final destination.

For further information on pheasants, other wildlife, or to request free technical assistance on your property, contact Calvin Richardson, Wildlife Biologist in Lubbock (806/746-6101), or Danny Swepston (District Leader) and Gene Miller (Technical Guidance Biologist) in Canyon (806/655-3782).

Technology under way for urban waste water treatment facilities

Disposing agricultural and urban waste is the driving force behind waste remediation research. Public and private researchers are developing technologies to identify reusable, recyclable and reclaimable materials which pose an environmental disposal problem and convert these materials into beneficial by-products.

Technology is already under way for urban waste water treatment facilities to convert waste sludge into sterile, organic material which can be used as topsoil to replenish farm land.

This same technology uses sludge and animal manures to manufacture liquid fertilizers, which is a great boost to the livestock industry.

Research is also under way that would dispose of sugarcane waste, cotton gin trash, rice hulls, cattle feedlot waste and wood waste by converting these biomass by-products into fuel.

In the near future, cotton gin trash can help to co-generate power for a textile mill, and rice hulls can co-generate power for a rice mill.

Passage of Proposition 3 helpful to Texas Agriculture

By Mark McCormick

The passage of Proposition 3 in the Nov. 7 election translates into the strengthening of the Texas Agricultural Finance Authority's Loan Guaranty Program, said Floyd County Farm Bureau President Mark McCormick.

"This is a win-win-win situation for agriculture, the state's manufacturing base and the overall Texas economy," McCormick said.

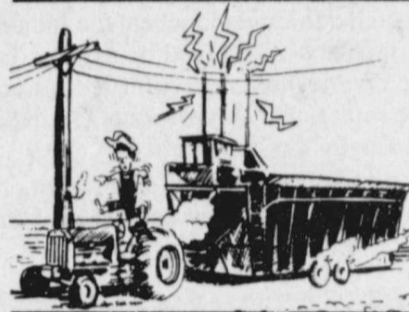

Statewide, 56 percent of votes favored the amendment.

Proposition 3, which was one of 14 proposed constitutional amendments before the voting public, allows $200 million of the $500 million in bonds authorized for RAFA to be shifted to the Texas agriculture fund in the state treasury. The funds can be utilized for low interest financing to promote agriculture enterprises, agricultural products and other rural economic development programs.

"Along with being one of the nation's leading producers of raw ag products, Texas agriculture involves the innovative manufacture and production of a variety of products," McCormick said. "TAFAs encourages private investment and job development in Texas for the purpose of producing value-added agricultural products," he added.

Proposition 3 does not increase state debt or taxes because the bonding authority already exists. "But what TAFAs has accomplished since 1991 is produce 4,700 jobs and add more than $400 million to the state's economy," the Floyd County farmer said.

Production of cottonseed oil to increase cotton market

Besides producing spinnable fibers, cotton plants also produce seeds that can be used for various purposes.

As a leading cotton producing state, Texas is also a top producer of cottonseed. One of the by-products of cottonseed is cottonseed oil, which for many years has been used by food manufacturers to meet the diversified needs of America's families for edible oils.

The cottonseed industry is helping develop a "healthy oil for the consumer" which in turn will translate into added-value for all the food products that contain this product.

Researchers at the University of North Texas have designed a research strategy to modify the fatty acid profile of cottonseed so that the relative proportion of acid is increased. At the same time, both saturated and polyunsaturated fats would be reduced. This strategy will directly increase the seed value of cotton, thereby increasing the market value of cottonseed as a whole.

This new variety of cottonseed oil with a high acid content should help increase market shares for cotton in the cooking and salad dressing oil industries that are now dominated by soybean oil.

Better Business Bureau Report

By Nan Campbell, President
Credit fraud artists have been known to get your social security and credit card numbers by tapping into electronic credit reports and other computer files. With your name, address and credit card number, anyone can run up charges in your name. With your bank account number, it is possible for someone to tap into your checking or savings accounts. Your brokerage number and social security number is sometimes all that is needed to order unauthorized trades. These valuable numbers are stored in countless electronic files and they are not all kept under digital lock and key. Check out your Internet provider and find out how they protect their data. Don't send your account numbers, social security number, password or any other sensitive data via e-mail, unless it is encrypted. Avoid easy-to-guess passwords such as your name, initials or birth date. Check your bank and credit card statements monthly.

Students from R.C. Andrews write about acts of kindness

FLOYDADA --In the spirit of "Random Acts of Kindness" week, Margaret Jones' Language and Writing classes at R.C. Andrews Elementary were challenged to do things for others without expecting a reward. Here are some of their stories.

"Including Others"

By Chris Herrera

One day while me and my big brother were playing catch, we saw a boy walking along the sidewalk. To us, he didn't look very happy, so we asked if he wanted to play because we had some more gloves. He said sure with a grin and I knew that he was happy. Now, that made me and my brother happy, also.

"Cleaning My House"

By Samantha Ibarra

A Random Act of Kindness I've done is for my mom and dad. I cleaned the house, I gave my sisters a bath, and I cooked supper for my family. I love being the oldest daughter in my family because I help out a lot. I love my family very much (with all my heart). I feel happy for doing a lot of things for my family. And my parents feel happy because they say I am a good cook.

"Helping Grandparents"

By Erin Houchin

One hot Saturday last summer my dad, Daniel, and I went to my grandma's house to mow and edge her yard. Grandma wasn't home and neither was grandpa. It took a while, but it was worth it. Later grandma found out and has tried to repay us by letting us spend the night. It made me feel warm inside. I think she figured it out when two Dr. Peppers and a Coke-a-Cola were missing.

"My Dirty Room"

By Brad Yeary

A random act of kindness I've done was clean my room. My parents tell me to clean my room, but I never do. One day I went in my room and started cleaning and my mom walked in and asked me what I was doing. I said I was cleaning. She said, "I'm shocked that you were doing something I told you to do!" I felt good about my clean room and I was glad I did something special.

"Stacking Chairs"

By Justin Reeves

"A Random Act of Kindness" I do often is stack other people's chairs at the end of the day, when Mrs. Giesecke tells us to stack chairs. I don't know why I do this, probably because it makes me feel good, or maybe after a busy day of learning and everyone wants to talk to each other and instead of interrupting and telling them to stack their chairs, I do it for them. This makes me feel good because I'm helping. Some of the kids react with a "thanks".

"Going the Extra Mile"

By Heather Ware

Have you done a "Random act of Kindness"? I bet everyone has. Well, listen to my paragraph. See if it gives you at least one idea:
Last week my mom started to work at the Co-op gin in Floydada. I thought since it was her first day she would be tired and exhausted, so I fixed dinner. This dinner contained hamburger meat and pepper roll, potatoes, corn on the cob and for dessert, brownies.

When my mother saw what I did she asked what I wanted and I said nothing, I thought you might be tired and not want to fix dinner so I did. She said thanks and it was good. I felt good and thought that I did something good.

"Cleaning the House"

By Chad Rodgers

One day I cleaned the house top to bottom because my dad is a truck driver, so he is hardly every home. My mom had to work late that night. When she got home, she was exhausted, so I cleaned the house while she slept. When she got up she was shocked. Then she felt my head to see if I was sick. She said "Chad, are you sick?" and I said, "No, mom I'm not sick. It's because you were so tired I wanted to do you a favor." Then she gave me five extra dollars to my allowance. This made me proud.

"One Little Angel"

By Amado Morales

One day after school I got home. I saw that my dad was tired, but watching the news. I got tired of watching the news, so I ran to go get a pillow and gave it to my dad. My dad fell asleep with the pillow. Then I quietly slipped the remote control out of his hands and changed the channel. I felt like a little angel.

"Calling Dad"

By Jurahee Jones

Well you see I help my family a lot, but one thing I usually do is call my dad because he is stripping cotton. I try to call him every day. Also I sometimes or always wash dishes. It's sometimes fun because we listen to the radio and fast songs come on and I stay with the beat! Well, these are two of some things that are "Random Acts of Kindness." When I did or do these things it makes me feel good and my parents feel good too.

1990 Study Club enjoys visiting Sagebrush Mills

By Anna Leta Bradshaw
FLOYDADA - The November meeting of the 1990 Study Club was held in the home of Sandra Schwertner. Members answered roll call by telling what they are thankful for. Members present for the November meeting were Anna Leta Bradshaw, Alissa Carter, Cesali Ericson, Tonya Gooch, Jeanine Helms, Denise Holcombe, Connie Hurt, Melody Hysinger, Delinda Lucke, Gayla Marble, Tammy McDonough, Robin Nixon, MaryAnn Potts, Theodra Reynolds, Sandra Schwertner, Misty Seymour, Shana Seymour, Becky Sharp, Shelly Smith, and Ludusia Warren.

After roll call members gathered and road over to Sagebrush Mills. Anne Carthel presented an excellent program to the members on her operation at the mill. Anne explained all about her mill and the products that she has created and is marketing. She gave us several good hints for Christmas presents.

After the program at Sagebrush Mills the members returned to Sandra's home where Sandra and the other hostesses for the evening, Gayla Marble and Connie Hurt had prepared a meal of Santa Fe soup, stew and a sample of the types of cornbread from Sagebrush Mills. Members also enjoyed sampling Anne's new butter mixes.

After the delicious meal, President Jeanine Helms lead the business meeting. Becky Sharp gave a report on the Punkin Days Carnival. Gayla Marble gave the treasurer's report. The Service Committee discussed the upcoming service project for the Day Care Center. Christmas on the Square Committee announced that it will be December 1st. We will once again be hosting Santa Clause. They passed around a sign up sheet for members to work that evening.

There was also discussion on trying to find an indoor location, in case of bad weather. The Social Committee reminded everyone that our Christmas Social will be held December 9 at the County Line. Jeanine said she had been contacted by Kay Tinney from Bank of America, asking if we would be interested in helping with the Lone Star Santa program. Members voted to participate. Under new business there was some discussion of holding a Winter Bingo Night. There will be more information at a later date.

After business was discussed, President Jeanine Helms closed the meeting.

BBB warns of computer forgery

By Nan Campbell
 Computers have become an integral part of most business operations. Using the technology of desktop publishing, which allows businesses to prepare professional-looking documents on inexpensive personal computers, desktop forgers are able to duplicate many kinds of documents. The BBB suggests the following tips for businesses to help stop desktop forgers: Use difficult to replicate emblems or other devices on company documents; use color on important documents; order non-standard paper for your printing needs; consider using protective devices on your computer such as security software that uses passwords to control access to information contained in a hard disk or antivirus devices designed to combat computer viruses. A company's most effective protection against computer crimes should begin with a willingness to investigate any and all questionable activities. If your investigation turns up appearance of possible criminal activity, your attorney, local police and district attorney should be notified immediately.

 The police in our community put their lives on the line to protect us, our families and our community. When you get a call or a letter asking you to give to a specific police group, your first reaction is probably a generous one. But wait. There are some fraudulent merchants who are happy to take your money without giving you all the facts needed to make an informed giving decision. One of the most common problems with police organization "look-a-likes" is the way they spend the money they solicit from the public. Some of these groups incur high fundraising costs while spending very little on program services. Other problems include an unwillingness to disclose information, misleading the public as to the nature of the organization or use of funds, and promising special "favors" from officers in exchange for donations. Before you give, check them out by calling the BBB at 763-0459 or (800)687-7890.

Dr. Dobson Answers Your Questions

QUESTION: I am 13 years old, and I feel miserable about myself. Is there anything I can do?
DR. DOBSON: First, you need to understand that you are not alone. When you go to school tomorrow, quietly watch the students who are coming and going. I assure you, many of them have the same concerns that trouble you. They reveal these doubts by being very shy and quiet, by being extremely angry and mean, by being silly, by being afraid to participate in a game or contest, by blushing frequently or by acting proud or "stuck-up."

You'll soon learn to recognize the signs of inferiority, and then you'll know it's a very common disorder. It will give you more confidence to know that everyone is afraid of embarrassment and ridicule—that we're all sitting in the same leaky boat, trying to plug the watery holes.
 Second, I advise you to look squarely at the worries that keep gnawing at you from the back of your mind or from deep within your heart, causing a black cloud to hang over your head day and night. Then list all the things which you most dislike about yourself. Nobody is going to see this paper except the people you choose to show it to, so you can be completely honest. Write down everything that's bothering you.
 Identify your most serious problems as best as possible. Whatever concerns you, write it down the best you can. Then when you're finished, go back through the list and put a mark by those items that worry you the most—the problems you spend the most time thinking and fretting about.
 Third, think about each item on the list. Give your greatest creative thought to what might be done to change the things you don't like. If you wish, you might share the paper with someone in whom you have confidence. That person can then help you map out a plan for improvement. You'll feel better for having faced your problems.
 The key to mental health is being able to accept what you cannot change. After you've done what you can to deal with your problems, I feel you should take the paper on which the most painful items are written, and burn them in a private ceremony.

QUESTION: How should I respond if my child says, "I hate you!" when he is angry?
DR. DOBSON: If my child screamed his hatred at me for the first time in a moment of red-faced anger, I would probably wait until his passion had cooled down and then convey this message in a loving and sincere manner:
 "Charlie, I know you were very upset earlier today when we had our disagreement, and I think we should talk about what you are feeling. All children get angry at their parents now and then, especially when they feel unfairly treated. I understand your frustration. But that does not excuse you for saying, 'I hate you.' You'll learn that no matter how upset I become over something you've done, I'll never tell you that I hate you. And I can't permit you to talk to me that way."
 "It hurt me for you to say that you hated me, just as you would be hurt if I said something like that to you. You can, however, tell me what angers you, and I will listen carefully."
 "You are free to say anything you wish to me, but you will never be permitted to scream, call names and throw temper tantrums. If you behave in those childish ways, I will have to punish you."

1990 Study Club enjoys visiting Sagebrush Mills

By Anna Leta Bradshaw
FLOYDADA - The November meeting of the 1990 Study Club was held in the home of Sandra Schwertner. Members answered roll call by telling what they are thankful for. Members present for the November meeting were Anna Leta Bradshaw, Alissa Carter, Cesali Ericson, Tonya Gooch, Jeanine Helms, Denise Holcombe, Connie Hurt, Melody Hysinger, Delinda Lucke, Gayla Marble, Tammy McDonough, Robin Nixon, MaryAnn Potts, Thedra Reynolds, Sandra Schwertner, Misty Seymour, Shana Seymour, Becky Sharp, Shelly Smith, and Ludustria Warren.

After roll call members gathered and read over to Sagebrush Mills. Anne Carthel presented an excellent program to the members on her operation at the mill. Anne explained all about her mill and the products that she has created and is marketing. She gave us several good hints for Christmas presents.

After the program at Sagebrush Mills the members returned to Sandra's home where Sandra and the other hostesses for the evening, Gayla Marble and Connie Hurt had prepared a meal of Santa Fe soup, stew and a sample of the types of cornbread from Sagebrush Mills. Members also enjoyed sampling Anne's new butter mixes.

After the delicious meal, President Jeanine Helms lead the business meeting. Becky Sharp gave a report on the Punkin Days Carnival. Gayla Marble gave the treasurer's report. The Service Committee discussed the upcoming service project for the Day Care Center. Christmas on the Square Committee announced that it will be December 1st. We will once again be hosting Santa Clause. They passed around a sign up sheet for members to work that evening.

There was also discussion on trying to find an indoor location, in case of bad weather. The Social Committee reminded everyone that our Christmas Social will be held December 9 at the County Line. Jeanine said she had been contacted by Kay Tinney from Bank of America, asking if we would be interested in helping with the Lone Star Santa program. Members voted to participate. Under new business there was some discussion of holding a Winter Bingo Night. There will be more information at a later date.

After business was discussed, President Jeanine Helms closed the meeting.

BBB warns of computer forgery

By Nan Campbell
 Computers have become an integral part of most business operations. Using the technology of desktop publishing, which allows businesses to prepare professional-looking documents on inexpensive personal computers, desktop forgers are able to duplicate many kinds of documents. The BBB suggests the following tips for businesses to help stop desktop forgers: Use difficult to replicate emblems or other devices on company documents; use color on important documents; order non-standard paper for your printing needs; consider using protective devices on your computer such as security software that uses passwords to control access to information contained in a hard disk or antivirus devices designed to combat computer viruses. A company's most effective protection against computer crimes should begin with a willingness to investigate any and all questionable activities. If your investigation turns up appearance of possible criminal activity, your attorney, local police and district attorney should be notified immediately.

The police in our community put their lives on the line to protect us, our families and our community. When you get a call or a letter asking you to give to a specific police group, your first reaction is probably a generous one. But wait. There are some fraudulent merchants who are happy to take your money without giving you all the facts needed to make an informed giving decision. One of the most common problems with police organization "look-a-likes" is the way they spend the money they solicit from the public. Some of these groups incur high fundraising costs while spending very little on program services. Other problems include an unwillingness to disclose information, misleading the public as to the nature of the organization or use of funds, and promising special "favours" from officers in exchange for donations. Before you give, check them out by calling the BBB at 763-0459 or (800)687-7890.

Dr. Dobson Answers Your Questions

QUESTION: I am 13 years old, and I feel miserable about myself. Is there anything I can do?

DR. DOBSON: First, you need to understand that you are not alone. When you go to school tomorrow, quietly watch the students who are coming and going. I assure you, many of them have the same concerns that trouble you. They reveal these doubts by being very shy and quiet, by being extremely angry and mean, by being silly, by being afraid to participate in a game or contest, by blushing frequently or by acting proud or "stuck-up."

You'll soon learn to recognize the signs of inferiority, and then you'll know it's a very common disorder. It will give you more confidence to know that everyone is afraid of embarrassment and ridicule—that we're all sitting in the same leaky boat, trying to plug the watery holes. Second, I advise you to look squarely at the worries that keep gnawing at you from the back of your mind or from deep within your heart, causing a black cloud to hang over your head day and night. Then list all the things which you most dislike about yourself. Nobody is going to see this paper except the people you choose to show it to, so you can be completely honest. Write down everything that's bothering you.

Identify your most serious problems as best as possible. Whatever concerns you, write it down the best you can. Then when you're finished, go back through the list and put a mark by those items that worry you the most—the problems you spend the most time thinking and fretting about.

Third, think about each item on the list. Give your greatest creative thought to what might be done to change the things you don't like. If you wish, you might share the paper with someone in whom you have confidence. That person can then help you map out a plan for improvement. You'll feel better for having faced your problems.

The key to mental health is being able to accept what you cannot change. After you've done what you can to deal with your problems, I feel you should take the paper on which the most painful items are written, and burn them in a private ceremony.

QUESTION: How should I respond if my child says, "I hate you!" when he is angry?

DR. DOBSON: If my child screamed his hatred at me for the first time in a moment of red-faced anger, I would probably wait until his passion had cooled down and then convey this message in a loving and sincere manner:

"Charlie, I know you were very upset earlier today when we had our disagreement, and I think we should talk about what you are feeling. All children get angry at their parents now and then, especially when they feel unfairly treated. I understand your frustration. But that does not excuse you for saying, 'I hate you.' You'll learn that no matter how upset I become over something you've done, I'll never tell you that I hate you. And I can't permit you to talk to me that way."

"It hurt me for you to say that you hated me, just as you would be hurt if I said something like that to you. You can, however, tell me what angers you, and I will listen carefully."

"You are free to say anything you wish to me, but you will never be permitted to scream, call names and throw temper tantrums. If you behave in those childish ways, I will have to punish you."

New programs offered at Lockney High School

By Patsy Ulmer
LOCKNEY—All students at Lockney High and Junior High Schools are encouraged to visit the new library and use the new counseling programs that are now available for college and career information. The DISCOVER program is a new multimedia program that is produced by the ACT testing corporation.

This comprehensive system enables the students to develop post-graduation plans that fit their personal needs. It has three discs that are used in a CD-I which is similar to a CD player. It is connected to a television monitor which will show pictures and give information.

The first disc will help the student to look at their interests and abilities, the second shows over 500 occupations, and the third shows many U.S. colleges. The CD-I player is also connected to a printer and information may be printed for students to refer to later.

For high school seniors and juniors there is a new computer program called TFS (Tuition Funding Sources). This was manufactured by the Pepsi Company and Falcon Management Group, Inc. This program is designed to help students locate scholarships and other financial aid for college tuition.

With a database that is the most comprehensive of its kind, TFS provides information on over 300,000 academic and athletic scholarships from approximately 3,500 colleges and universities, 4,000 vocational schools and various private sources.

The TFS database covers: tuition costs, living expenses, special programs, academic scholarships, athletic scholarships, grants-in-aid, cooperative education programs, military aid, federal and state financial aid programs, students loans, both government and private sources, and other funding alternatives.

The CD-ROM version includes actual college admissions and scholarship applications that can be completed by the student on the computer.

Seniors are encouraged to check the SCHOLARSHIP LIST that is posted weekly. They may sign out for these for the applications at Mrs. Ulmer's office.

Juniors and Seniors need to seriously consider taking the ACT and/or the SAT college entrance exams that are required by all colleges. The list of dates are posted and applications and preparation packets are available in the counselor's office. Another aid that is available is the ACT studyware which is a review for the ACT which may help to raise an ACT score.

The TASP test applications are also available in the counselor's office. The TASP is a test seniors are encouraged to take before entering any Texas College. However, students can be exempt IF (1) TAAS scores are 1780 in writing and a TLI of 89 on reading and 86 on math. (2) ACT scores are a 26 composite with a minimum of 22 on both the English and the math test. (3a) SAT scores are a combined score of 1180 with a minimum of 550 on both the verbal and math for tests taken April 1995 and later. (3b) SAT scores are a combined score of 190 with minimums of 470 on the verbal and 530 on the math tests.

"Compendiums of Texas Colleges and Financial Aid Calendar" are available in the counselor's office to check out. These books are very good for answering questions about Texas colleges.

There are many college catalogs available in the library and the counselor's office.

Seniors are encouraged to sign-up for LEARN. LEARN is a free service that is available for the students to apply for financial aid. A representative will be here each month and sometimes twice a month. The FAFSA form is required by some colleges for entry and the representative will assist these students in filling out these papers.

Students are encouraged to use these excellent programs. They can use these programs independently or they may ask for assistance from Mrs. Ulmer.

Emergency farm loans for loss being accepted at Floyd County FSA office

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by flooding, hail, excessive rain, lightning, high winds, tornadoes, and below normal temperatures, which occurred from May 20, 1995, through June 7, 1995, are being accepted at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office located in Floydada, Becky Rainer said today.

Floyd County is one of eight in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the natural disaster.

Mrs. Rainer said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 3.75 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FSA emergency loan," Mrs. Rainer said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Sep Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until June 10, 1996 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," Mrs. Rainer said.

FSA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farms who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporation or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FSA office in Floydada is open from 8:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and is located in the USDA Building, Highway 70 East, Floydada, Texas.

Irrigating center pivot corners may prove unprofitable according to TTU research

Reported from The Cross Section - November Edition

In the past, as the water table dropped, another well was drilled to make up for reduced well yields. Due to heavy pumpage caused by the present drought, well yields are declining again. However, with lower profit margins and higher drilling costs than in the past, adding another well is rapidly becoming an unacceptable alternative to offset reduced well yields.

Many farmers are evaluating their operation to see if they can get more yield out of the water being pumped. Evidence of this is all the new pivots that dot the landscape. The increased water use efficiency of pivots makes it possible to maintain yields with less water pumpage.

However after pivots are installed, many farmers feel compelled to irrigate the field corners. They apply more water per acre to a corner than to the rest of the field under the pivot. Irrigating corners is very labor intensive: every row is a different length, requiring a different volume of water to wet the soil uniformly without running irrigation tailwater. It is also very hard to maintain proper timing to water the corners. Consequently, the yield is usually not as great on the corners as on the rest of the field. In a nutshell, corners are difficult to irrigate and produce less return per acre per acre-inch of water applied and per unit of labor expended.

A LEPA pivot is 95 percent efficient. A furrow-irrigated field is 60 percent efficient. Because of all the problems, irrigating corners is probably less than 60 percent efficient. It certainly would be less than 60 percent if the corner were being watered from an open, unlined ditch or if tailwater were being lost.

If the corners were not watered but placed in a permanent grass cover and the water saved then applied through the pivot, would the total yield of the farm be more? The following example sheds some light on this question. If 8.8 inches per acre were being applied through a LEPA pivot covering 125 acres, a total of 1,100 acre-inches or 91.67 acre-feet of water would be pumped. Furrow irrigation of the corners at 60 percent efficiency would require 14 acre-inches per acre to produce the same yield. If it were possible to apply a uniform application of water which would wet the soil to the same level that can be accomplished with a LEPA, it would require pumping at least 490 acre-inches of water on the corners. If that 490 acre-inches of water were applied to the 125 acres under the pivot instead, an addition 3.9 inches of water per acre could be applied throughout the pivot.

Research at Texas Tech University has shown that in cotton production, one additional inch of water produces between 50 and 70 pounds of additional lint. At 50 pounds of lint per acre times 4 inches of water times 125 acres being watered by the pivot, 25,000 pounds of additional lint would be produced. To equal this production, the 35 acres in the corners would have to produce 714 pounds of lint per acre.

Especially in limited-water areas, not watering corners and applying the extra water through the pivot should be given serious consideration. It could improve your bottom-line of profit!

Farm legislation maintains several needed cotton industry provisions

By Shawn Wade

Work on compromise farm legislation between the House and Senate is mostly complete according to information received by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG).

While the final Bill will not contain all of the trappings of previous legislation it does maintain several important provisions sought by the cotton industry.

"This legislation is still a long way from being 'signed into law,'" says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "This compromise is part of the Budget Reconciliation Act that the President has said he will veto. We expect that when the budget differences between the President and congressional leaders are resolved that the agriculture portion of the Bill will be included essentially unchanged from the current proposal."

Johnson adds that several of the provisions agreed to were key to the success of the cotton programs enacted in 1985 and 1990. These provisions are maintained, although modified, in the current proposal.

Under the conference agreement major commodity programs will be replaced by an "Agricultural Market Transition Program". Producers of wheat, feed grains, upland cotton and rice will be eligible for this program. Producers who participated in the wheat, feed grains, upland cotton and rice programs in any one of the past five years can enter into a seven-year "production flexibility contract" effective between 1996 and 2002.

The deadline for entering into one of these contracts is April 15, 1996 and payments will be made on September 30 of each year beginning in 1996. An option is included that will allow a producer to receive up to one-half of their payment by December 15 on the previous year (except in 1996 when the advance will be paid within 60 days of the date the production flexibility contract is signed).

Payments will be made on 85 percent of a farm's contract acreage. Producers may plant any program crop, oilseed, industrial or experimental crop, mung beans, lentils or dry peas on this paid acreage. Planting of fruits and vegetable will be prohibited on paid acreage, as will haying and grazing during the five principal growing months.

The remaining 15 percent, unpaid acreage, will be unrestricted and producers may plant any crop. There will also be no restrictions on haying and grazing on the unpaid acreage.

The following is a run-down of some of the currently agreed to provisions.

Nonrecourse Marketing Loan

The marketing loan program was retained with a cap on the Upland cotton loan rate at 51.92 cents per pound. A minimum loan rate was set at 50 cents per pound. The current agreement eliminates the 8-month cotton loan extension. The cotton marketing loan will continue to provide for redemption at lower of loan plus accrued storage and interest or the adjusted world price. The 3-step competitiveness provisions are unchanged except for a cap on expenditures during the 7-year period of $701 million.

CCC Interest Rates

Rates for Commodity Credit Corporation loans are increased by 100 basis points.

Payment Limitations

The conference agreement reduces the current payment limitation from $50,000 to $40,000 and limits marketing loan gains and loan deficiency payments to $75,000 per person. Current provisions defining "persons" and the 3-entity rule are maintained. Contract payments will be calculated as follows: contract acreage X .85 X program payment yield X payment rate.

Crop Insurance

The conference agreement eliminates the mandatory purchase of catastrophic coverage and phases out dual delivery of insurance.

Conservation Reserve Program (CRP)

The CRP is capped at the current level of 36.4 million acres. An "early-out" provision will allow contract holders to terminate their CRP contracts by providing 60-days notification in writing to the Secretary.

Beef improvement information available via satellite

From the Texas Beef Council

Any beef producer with access to a satellite dish can join the quality and consistency revolution without leaving home by tuning in a special interactive distance learning project on beef quality excellence from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Dec. 12. The program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Beef Council.

"Beef quality excellence in Texas is a reachable goal," says Terry Stokes, TBC interim executive vice president. "Texas can lead the nation's move toward a higher quality, more consistent beef product. Producers just need access to the information that allows them to make necessary changes. Technology presently available allows producers to receive that information via satellite so they never have to leave their home or place of business to attend a symposium."

Producers who own or lease a satellite dish can view the program on C-band by tuning in Telstar 303, Channel 10 (T3, 10). Others can view the program at their county Farm Bureau office on the Ku-band (Telstar 401, Transponder 11) or at their district TAEX office. Producers should call their local county Farm Bureau office to inquire about seating availability. In addition, Superior Livestock Auction, Inc., will broadcast the program throughout the U. S., Canada and Mexico on the C-band.

Speakers will discuss the findings of the National Beef Quality Audit, a nation-wide industry analysis that interviewed producers, packers, retailers and restaurant operators. It found the industry was losing $280 per head because of misdirected production practices and selection of poor genetics that lead to overly fat fed animals.

The distance learning program will show producers how to amend those production practices, how to hit the target with quality and yield grades through genetic selection, and how to add value to calves destined for the auction or feedlot.

"This program has been repeated in various sites around Texas 25 times in the last two years," says Richard Wortham, TBC vice president of industry relations and a coordinator of the distance learning project. "We've reached more than 8,000 producers with this information. Yet this satellite transmission allows us to vastly expand those numbers."

The program will allow for interaction between cattlemen and feeders and industry experts. A toll-free 800 number will be flashed periodically across the television screen. Producers who have questions as they watch the program will be able to call the number and get answers from TAEX livestock specialists.

"The program will directly address inconsistencies, non-conformities and the need to capture some of the $280 per head reported lost in the audit," Wortham says. "For this to happen, changes have to be made on a wide scale in Texas and the nation. But the decision to initiate change has to be made by each individual. Satellite technology allows the industry to get this information to more beef producers in a more rapid period of time. Each individual who hears that information can then make up his or her mind about what changes must be made on an individual herd basis."

For more information on the project, contact Richard Wortham at (512) 335-2333 or Dr. Dan Hale, TAEX meats specialist, (409) 845-0435.

Job opportunities emerge in agriculture

Agriculture today is much more than farming. It's an advanced, highly technical and highly specialized field. It involves everything from computers and combines to research and education. A career in agriculture could mean work in livestock production or soil conservation, from equipment repair to radio or from nursery management and genetic engineering to landscaping and law.

With the world's ever-increasing population, there is a growing need for new and better ways to feed and clothe people. Agricultural research and health sciences can point the way.

Today, research is already at work creating stronger seed hybrids, new plants with built-in resistance to disease and pests and growth hormones for more efficient production from farm animals.

As new technologies and new job opportunities emerge, there is a growing need for well-trained, highly skilled and educated people. The 30 Texas colleges and universities with agriculture programs offer career courses in agricultural research and health science to meet the new needs of the agricultural industry.
