Water tower grant awarded to Lockney

By Neta Marble
LOCKNEY—The City of Lockney has been informed that they have been awarded a grant in the amount of $217,750 for the construction of a new water tower. The grant was made available through the Texas Community Development Program.

"We are excited to receive this grant," stated Lockney Mayor Gary Marr. We knew that we would eventually have to build a new water tower and coming up with the money was going to be hard."

"We had not applied for a grant in ten years," stated City Secretary Charlotte Hooten. "They were not giving grants for paving and other projects we qualified for until this one came up."

The city received notice of available grants for water system improvements in the middle of March and the deadline for applying for the grant had been moved up from May 30 to April 8.

Lockney did not qualify for the grant under the census review. Fifty-one percent of the citizens had to fall in the low to moderate income bracket to fit in this category. Figures from the 1990 census showed only 50.8 percent of the citizens in the low to moderate income bracket. The alternative was to do a house to house survey to determine if the figure had changed in the four years since the census was taken.

In the eight days before the April 8 deadline, city employees, council members and volunteers took to the streets and canvassed each household in Lockney. After tallying the results, which showed that more than 51 percent of the citizens were low to moderate income, the application was written and forwarded to the SPAG office in Lubbock.

The application was approved by the SPAG Area Committee and sent on to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs for final approval.

A group of inspectors from the state committee met with the mayor and council members to make an inspection and ascertain if the project was really needed and not over-budgeted. After their visit the grant was approved.

A contract will be signed with SPAG for the administration of the project. Bids for an engineer to oversee the project will be let. Once an engineer has been hired bids for the job will be published and construction will begin thereafter.

When asked if the old water tower would be taken down Utilities Supervisor Dickie McCarty stated, "I don't think so. We will leave it for emergency use if the need arises."

An Open House will be held at the new Floydada High School Gymnasium, Sunday, September 8, from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m., to allow the public a chance to see the inside of the large modern building. After a public hearing in February, 1995, FUSD voted to build the gymnasium. Construction began on the new gym, June 1, 1995 at a cost of 1.7 million dollars. It will be open for use on September 9 and features: floatation floor, elevator, lobby glass, air conditioning, locker rooms, training rooms, industrial sound system, handicap access, underground gym floor, stadium seats at street level and an industrial speaker system.

Water well grant given to Floydada

FLOYDADA—The City of Floydada has been awarded a $250,000 grant from the Texas Department of Commerce to be used for water well development and transmission lines.

According to City Manager Gary Brown the city will use the money to drill one well on the city farm, located approximately 5 miles west of town, and install 5.5 miles of 12 inch transmission line. "The line will carry water from the city farm to the ground storage tanks on the south side of town," said Brown.

"It is hoped the well will provide adequate water supply for city residents in the event Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority cannot supply contracted water to the city, and/or difficulties are experienced with the small wells the city is currently using."

According to Brown the total estimated cost of the project is $550,000. The city will have to provide the difference either through additional grants, selling bonds or drawing on reserves.

"We will hopefully be in a position to begin drilling in the late winter," said Brown.

Floydada Council keeps tax rate

By Juanita Stepp
FLOYDADA — Meeting in an early morning session on Friday, August 30, the Floydada City Council adopted an operating budget for the 1996-97 fiscal year and held the tax rate at 36 cents, the same rate that has prevailed for more than a dozen years.

A motion by Councilman Clar Schacht called for adopting the budget as presented. This was seconded by Councilman Eric Cornelius and approved on a unanimous vote of the council.

The budget for the next fiscal year totals $4,545,612.00. Expenses are expected to be $1,757,806.00 for the General Fund, $1,027,493.00 for the Water Fund, $26,774.00 for the Farm Fund, $240,685.00 for the Sewer Fund, $1,129,282.00 for the Electric Fund, $9,600.00 for the Health Fund, and $353,972.00 for the Sanitation Fund. The City will be utilizing about $528,332.00 in reserve funds to meet all the obligations for the upcoming year.

The 36 cent ad valorem tax rate was approved on a motion by Councilman LeRoy Burns and seconded by Councilman Jon Nielson. All present voted in favor.

The council unanimously approved a recommendation from the Planning and Zoning Commission for a variance request from Fred Thaxton. Motion was made by Schacht and seconded by Cornelius. Thaxton will be allowed to place a carport closer to his property line at 315 W. Hallie than the required five feet.

City Manager Gary Brown was also given authorization to proceed with the necessary steps to determine which of the properties recently acquired from the railroad in the form of abandoned right-of-way will be advertised for sale. In all, about 57 acres was acquired, most of it in approximately 60 foot wide strips along the old railroad lines.

Taxes to increase 3 percent City of Lockney adopts budget and sets tax rate

By Neta Marble
LOCKNEY—Two meetings were held by the Lockney City Council on Thursday, August 29 at the City Hall.

A public hearing was held at 6:00 p.m. in order to give the public a chance to review and consider the Proposed City Operating Budget. No one attended this meeting.

The regular council meeting was held at 6:30 p.m. On the agenda were the proposed budget, setting of the tax rate and the pool hall permit.

After a brief discussion the council voted to set the tax rate at 1.37335 per $100 valuation.

The rate is a 3 percent increase over the rate set for 1995-96. The motion was made by Council Member Bill Anderson. The second was made by Council Member Rodger Stapp. All voted for.

According to Mayor Gary Marr, "We had several workshops on the budget and cut each department as much as we could and we still came up short. Last year we collected 96 percent of the tax money and this year we have only collected 86 percent."

"Since we will not receive as much money as we did last year we finally decided that the only thing we could do was raise the tax rate. We hated to do it but we cannot cut out necessary services."

After a short review Council Member J.D. Copeland made the motion to accept the proposed budget. The second was made by Council Member Anderson. All voted for.

Both the proposed budget and tax rate are for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1996 and ending September 30, 1997.

In other business before the board a motion was made by Council Member Anderson to grant a 30-day temporary permit to the JSJ Video and Pool Hall located 111 South Main. The second was made by Council Member Copeland and all voted for.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Gary Marr, Council Members J.D. Copeland, Rodger Stapp, and Bill Anderson; City Secretary Charlotte Hooten, Utilities Supervisor Dickie McCarty and Chief of Police Jerry Edwards.

Remember all the dating rules boys and girls used to have?

For instance: girls were not supposed to call boys on the phone--it's bad manners; and boys were supposed to come inside and sit with the girls parents for a few minutes before taking their daughter on a date.

My father told me when I was dating that I had better make boys understand that if they drove up and honked for me to come outside they would never see me walk out that door.

The boys understood. I was not allowed to let a boy go into my bedroom for any reason whatsoever and closed doors were also not allowed in any room in which we were in.

You get the picture. Our house was the same as most other girls my age at that time. Those were the days when boys shook in their shoes at the prospect of sitting with "her dad".

There used to be an understanding that fathers would have to be dealt with if their daughters were hurt. Some people still see it that way--some don't.

In Stillwater, Oklahoma, police Sgt. John Jerkins is in trouble for slapping a young man in the face. Sgt. Jerkins found the young man having sex with Jerkins' teen-age daughter, in the middle of the night, on Jerkin's own couch in Jerkin's house.

According to news reports, Jerkins "snapped" and slapped the young man. Because of that he has had his pay docked $750 and has been demoted to patrolman. He has also lost $350 in pension benefits every month.

The governor of the State of Oklahoma said he understood and would have slapped the boy a lot harder. The prosecutors said it was assault and battery. They knew they would never get a jury to convict Jerkins so they never pursued the charges. The boys parents also refuse to file charges--even though one specialist said the boy received a broken nose.

However the police department does not understand. Even though Jerkins is a 19 year veteran of the police department and has a "reputation for keeping his cool", the police department still feels Jerkins "completely lost it."

The police department is also upset because Jerkins refused to "acknowledge he made a mistake."

The city attorney said, "If this officer for some reason can no longer maintain the control which he is famous for, he's at risk on the street."

I can't help but think this officer proved just how much he is in control of himself. From what I read I think the City of Stillwater should be proud to have him.

They say he is "famous" for keeping his cool, yet they are willing to throw a 19 year veteran away because he slapped a boy having sex with his teenage daughter in his own home.

We had a great deal of discussion about this case in this office last week and we think a definition of "completely losing it" would have been something like this:

"Police Sgt. Jerkins has been placed under arrest after shooting a teenage boy with a double barreled shotgun after he found the youth having sex with Jerkin's teenage daughter on Jerkins couch."

Now that's a definition of losing control. I think the boy knows he is lucky to have gotten out with his nose out of joint. I hope the City of Stillwater comes around to seeing this father's point of view.

Due to minimum wage law the Board of Directors voted to ask for a donation of $2.50 per meal as of October 1996.

Seventy-five or so archaeologists and helpers were here over Labor Day weekend from Kansas, Colorado, and all over the area to continue searching for Coronado's trail through the Blanco Canyon. Jim Word spent some time at the sight. The Floyd County Historical Museum directors and families served the workers a pot-luck supper, Saturday, Aug. 31, at the museum.

Ten senior adults plus our van driver, Mike Holster, of the First Baptist Church, spent last Friday, Aug. 28, in Lubbock attending the Tech Museum, seeing the "Thundering Horses, Five Centuries of Horse Power of the American West" exhibition. We ate lunch at Furr's and spent a couple of hours shopping, and then attended the Omnimax Theatre to see "Destiny in Space." Weather was great and we all had a great time.

Mary Alice Eakin had surgery last week. She is at home now.

Lockney Senior Citizens

By Gladys Ragle
LOCKNEY—A wonderful group of 60 people gathered at the Senior Citizens Center on Thursday night and enjoyed a good meal of sandwiches and the trimmings followed by ice cream and desserts. I think it was enjoyed by all.

We had visitors from Olton, Plainview and Silverton.

After the meal four members of the "Country Sounds", Clifton and Joyce Stodgill and John Francis joined Lucy Dean Record in a good musical program of entertainment for us. We hope they will come back sometime.

On September 5 we will be privileged to have Betty McPherson to give us some entertainment.

The hostesses for September are Bernice Kent, Clementine Carthel, and Gladys Ragle - an if anyone else wants to help they will be welcome to do so.

Those of you who ate lunch at the center last week can thank the C.L.

Henderson family for the good watermelons they brought us to eat. We really enjoyed them.

Myrtle Taylor entered Mangold Memorial Hospital on Friday and they are not sure of her problem yet. We wish her a speedy recovery.

FHS opens season with new head coach in newly aligned district

By Bill Gray
Following two consecutive 3-7 seasons, Floydada is looking for changes in its grid fortunes. And, changes will be major for the 1996 Whirlwinds. For starters, the 'Winds will be led into a new district by a new head coach.

Tim Daughtrey, defensive coordinator at Class 5A Abilene High the past two years, takes over as head mentor at Floydada. The Whirlwinds are no strangers to Daughtrey, who was an assistant on the Canyon staff several years ago.

He brings 17 years of coaching experience with him, having coached at Saginaw, Boswell, Canyon, Andrews and Abilene.

A 1974 graduate of Saginaw Boswell High School, Coach Daughtrey received his undergraduate degree at Austin College in Sherman, Texas, in 1978, and a Master's Degree at the Sherman institution in 1979. He returned to his Alma Mater (Boswell) for his first eight years of coaching.

Daughtrey and his wife, Denise, are quickly adjusting to the small-town life of Floydada. The coach said, "AFter living in Canyon and Andrews, we were ready to get back to a smaller town. We enjoyed our time in Abilene, but the two school, 5A classification wasn't where we wanted to have a long-time commitment. It's nice here, with one school, and everyone in town supporting the same cause."

Commenting on the prospects for the coming season, Daughtrey said, "The way we've always implemented our programs wherever we've been has been to build our football team in the off-season. We were unable to do that this year as we had only a week at the end of school last year. Most of that week was spent just getting acquainted, so we really didn't get started. It will take us a full off-season to really get the program implemented."

The coach added, "We've got some good, quality kids, and it looks like we'll have some good senior leadership. We're going to be a young team, and it's going to take a little time for them to adapt to a new coach and a new system. But, from what I've already seen, these young men will be competitive and play hard. That is the most you can ask for."

The Whirlwinds open on the road at Post tomorrow night. The Ante-lopes suffered through a 2-7 season a year ago, and also have a new head coach. After two-a-days and scrimmages against Muleshoe and Idalou, the Winds are anxious to get down to the business at hand. Kickoff tomorrow night in Post is 8:00 P.M.

Bill's Notes

There are a lot of questions left unanswered going into the '96 football season. Some of those questions will more than likely be answered in Post tomorrow night. The 'Winds knocked off the Antelopes 24-21 at their home last year, so that will give Post a lot of incentive from the outset. One game does not a season make...but, a Whirlwind victory will surely give the new coach and the team some added confidence going into a very rugged season. With Lockney and Abernathy sitting in the wings (probably licking their chops), and the first district contest with Lubbock Cooper only three weeks away, a positive outcome at Post will be the first step toward Floydada's return to football respectability. And, the way I see it is Floydada 20, Post 13.

Give Someone a Smile!

Lockney Longhorns are impressive in second scrimmage performance

By Mikhael Durham
LOCKNEY - The Lockney Longhorns concluded scrimmage action Thursday night with action against the Kress Kangaroos. The Longhorns proved tough on both sides of the ball in a very physical battle.

The Horns started off on offense and after a sluggish beginning started to roll. Some nice runs by the Longhorn backs and timely passing by Adam Cummings enabled the local team to march down the field. The Longhorns managed 52 total yards on their first 10 plays.

The Longhorn defense then took the field and was very impressive, holding the potent Kangaroo offense to 14 yards on 10 plays. The highlights of the series were 2 behind the line of scrimmage tackles by Ryon Smith and Devon Phillips and a nice interception over the last play of the series by Phillips.

Nice running by Charles Van Zandt and J.R. Walker and a well executed pass play from Cummings to Chad Stapp highlighted the Longhorns ten play 51 yard drive on the second series. The offensive line performed very well during the second series.

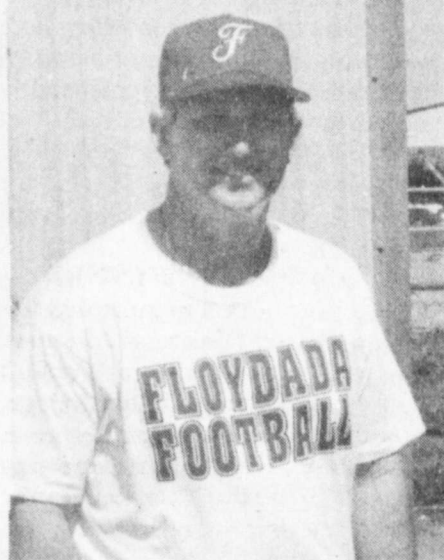

The Longhorn defense then stymied the Kangaroo attack again with fine defensive stops from Jeff Archer and Anthony Poole and a timely interception by Max Ramirez.

In a 15 minute controlled quarter, the Longhorns proved more than up to the task outgaining the Kangaroos 87 to 8. The Longhorn offense controlled the ball for all but 4 plays of the period. Fine running by Cummings, Walker, Poole, and Willie Luna enabled the Horns to get close enough to score on a 14 yard pass from Cummings to Van Zandt. His offensive success was the result of fine blocking by Josh Lambert, Tim Mitchell, Danny Vasquez, Tyson McDonald, and Bradly Veal.

The Horns defense was impressive during the quarter also with gang-tackling defense led by David Hernandez who forced a critical third down stop. During the series J.R. Walker forced a fumble with a hard hit on the Kress running back. The fumble was recovered by Phillips.

The Horns open the season at home Friday at 8:00 against the Dimmitt Bobcats.

Plains Cotton Growers vote to continue the Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program

By Plains Cotton Growers

Pledging an all-out effort to prevent the boll weevil from becoming further established on the Texas High Plains the Plains Cotton Growers Boll Weevil Steering Committee agreed unanimously Aug. 29th to move forward with plans for the 1996 Enhanced Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program.

"There will probably never be a better time to strike a fatal blow against the boll weevil as we have this year," notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "With today's decision the die is cast and we are ready to put forth utmost effort to carry out the best diapause program possible."

The PCG BWSC also agreed to operate the 1996 program based solely on funds already on hand and with 1996 collections. With no decision expected on pending litigation until well after the completion of the 1996 program the final decision on what the 1996 program can accomplish will rest in the hands and pocketbooks of the growers who voted to create the program and who want to see the program succeed.

"As cotton producers we are confident that responsibility for the High Plains diapause control program rests in the best possible hands - OUR OWN," says BWSC member Frank Jones of Lamesa. "One of the most important aspects of our program is the fact that final decisions on all program operations ultimately rest with growers, not someone sitting in an office looking at numbers on a sheet of paper."

Jones adds that the main reason the High Plains program works is because the responsibility rests with cotton growers and each member of the BWSC voluntarily agrees to represent not only their neighbors, but each and every person that farms cotton on the High Plains.

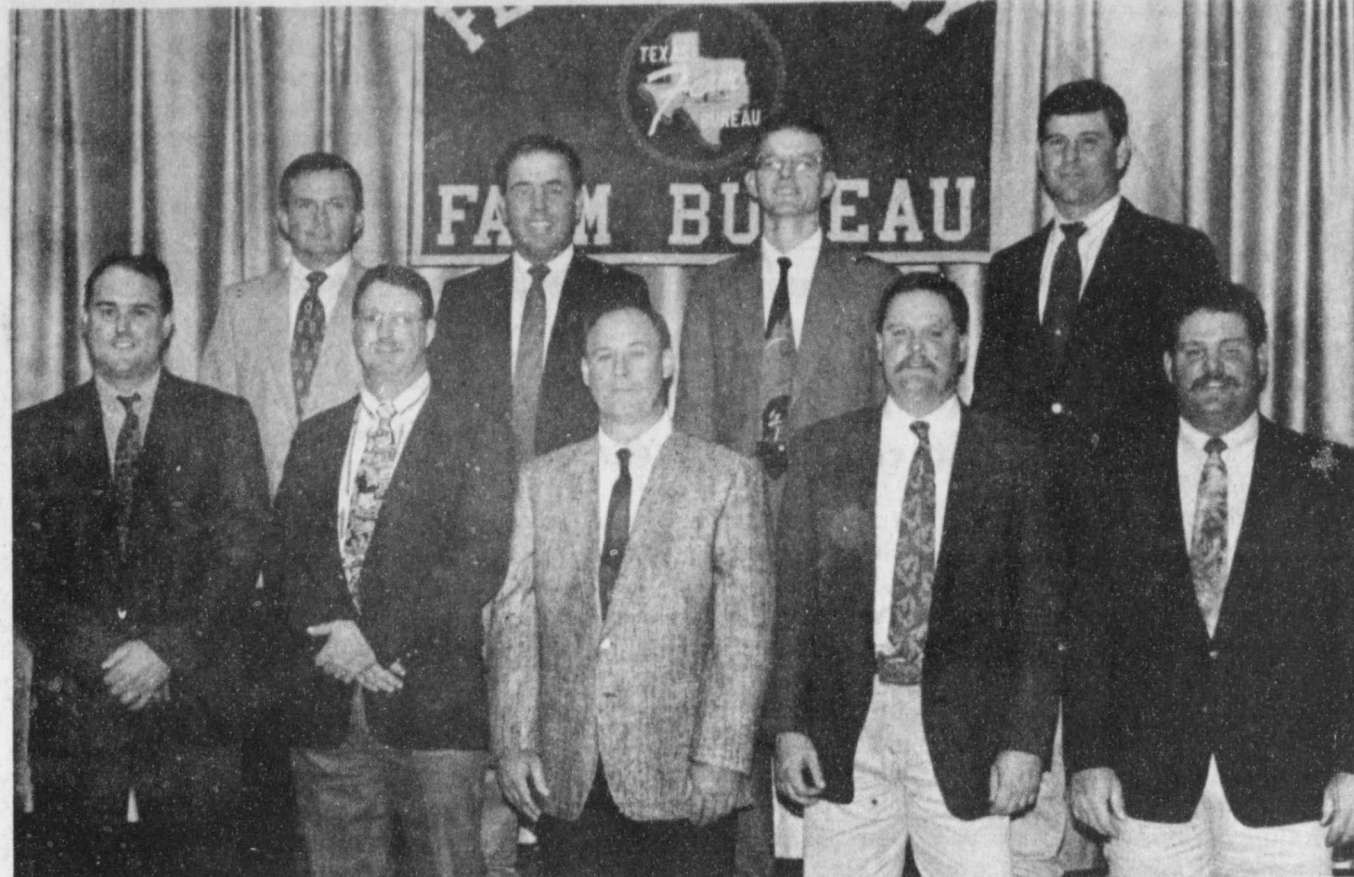

Current estimates for the 1996 program indicate a full and complete program will cost between $9 - $11 million. More than $3 million of this total has already been collected.

"As a producer it is important that we fully support more than just the concept of the program and its purpose," notes BWSC member Mark Williams of Farwell. "If we are truly united and want the program to finish the job of ridding this area of the boll weevil, each and every one of us will have to step up and put in our share."

Final preparations are being made at this time. Producers are encouraged to send in their 1996 Enhanced Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program assessments as quickly as possible in order to prevent any delays in program operations.

"The bottom line is that we will not be seeking any type of outside help to run the High Plains program. Cotton producers in this area have always been leaders in the cotton industry and willing to step forward to get the job done in any situation," concludes PCG BWSC member Dale Swinburn of Tulia. "The future of the cotton industry on the High Plains rests with the cotton producers who have created it."

Upcoming elections critical to agriculture

The upcoming congressional elections are critical to agriculture and the agenda of nation's largest farm and ranch organization for a number of reasons. Mark McCormick, president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau urges Farm Bureau members to be active politically and hold true to the traditionally high voter turnout among Texas farmers and ranchers.

"This year, numerous representatives and senators have decided to retire or seek other offices," Mark said. "In all, 13 Republicans and 26 Democrats have announced they are leaving the House."

Of those members, 12 are running for Senate seats. On the Democratic side, eight senators and five Republicans are preparing to leave Congress. Both the House and Senate Agriculture committees will lose members to retirement. As the list stands now, the biggest losses will be on the House side, including the panels chairman, Pat Roberts (R-Kan.), who is running for the Senate.

Joining Roberts in the exodus from the Agriculture Committee are former chairman and current ranking minority member Kika de la Garza (D-Texas), Reps. Charlie Rose (D-N.C.), Steve Gunderson (R-Wis.), Tim Johnson (D-S.D.) and Wayne Allard (R-Colo.). The Senate Agriculture Committee will bid farewell to Sens. David Pryor (D-Ark.) and Howell Heflin (D-Ala.).

According to McCormick, farmers and ranchers have a lot at stake in who fills the vacancies. New members will be seated on congressional committees that have a major impact on rural America, including farm policy, the environment, property rights, budget and taxes. It's likely that fewer of them will have direct involvement or background in agriculture. The widening gap between urban and rural America will continue to be reflected in Congress.

"That's why Farm Bureau believes it is critical for farmers and ranchers to help elect responsive and responsible members of Congress," McCormick said. "Sending leaders to Washington to look after the interests of America's farmers and ranchers is more important than ever."

The signing of line-item veto legislation in early April by President Clinton comes as good news to farmers and ranchers.

The signing of the historic measure into law is something Presidents of the United States have been fighting for since the 1870s. The line-item veto gives the president the authority to cut specific items in spending bills unless he is blocked by two-thirds of both houses of Congress. Until now, presidents were forced to pass or reject legislation in its entirety. McCormick said the line-item veto goes beyond the presidential power of striking wasteful spending.

"It will make Congress act more responsibly because lawmakers will know that if they try to pass wasteful or frivolous spending items the president will be able to cross them out and make them an issue," McCormick said. The new line-item veto law goes into effect Jan. 1, 1997.

Keeping LOCAL CONTROL of the effort to rid this area of the boll weevil has been a top priority for all High Plains cotton producers. The cotton producers who serve on the PCG Boll Weevil Steering Committee have direct control over the operation of the High Plains Enhanced Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program.

Community enrichment made easy

Floyd County could benefit from lottery sales revenues

With the help of the people of Floyd County, I want to make every man, woman, and child in the state of Texas a lottery winner. I'm working on a plan that, if enacted, will return five percent of all lottery ticket sales revenues to the city or county where the tickets were sold. This money could then be used to improve the quality of life for every community.

Millions of dollars of local wealth are leaving cities and counties all over Texas and being sent to the Lottery Commission in Austin every single day. Money that would normally be spent many times over within a community, creating local jobs and sustaining local businesses, instead end up in Austin. Although some money is later returned to cities and counties in the form of state spending, this continuous drain of local dollars that could be used again and again to improve the local standard of living needs to be slowed. My proposal, the Community Enrichment Act, will build a "funding pipeline" to return a modest portion of lottery revenues directly to the local government in the jurisdiction where the ticket was sold.

If this initiative were law in 1995, more than $45,500 dollars would have been returned to city and county governments in Floyd County. What are local governments required to do with these funds? Whatever they want! I believe the closer government is to the people the better it can serve the needs of the people. Houston might choose to build a new youth recreation center, Dallas may need the funds to improve elderly services, and Floyd County may want to pave streets or fix potholes. Each community knows best what it needs most.

The Community Enrichment Act will allow cities and counties to become real partners with our state government. They would not have to compete with other political jurisdictions for these funds, there would be no cumbersome grant forms, no deadlines or state imposed restrictions. Bureaucrats would not have to be hired to write and then oversee hundreds of pages of regulations. And luckily, the system may already be in place for this to happen. Ideally, we could utilize the existing mechanism of electronic fund transfer already used to move these funds from retailers to Austin.

This "funding pipeline" linking lottery revenues to communities would have kept more than $150 million dollars at home, for local use in communities across the State in 1995. Every year that goes by and every new lottery would see communities with more resources to deal with local projects. Given the growth of the Texas economy and the sustained popularity of the Texas lottery games, I am optimistic that additional monies will continue to flow to communities for the foreseeable future. In fact, a large number of city and county officials across the state have told me that the Community Enrichment Act could be a "godsend" in providing local matching funds for federal grants and to offset the need for higher local taxes.

Today, many of our cities and counties are in dire need of supplemental funds that will help provide needed community services. Often times taxes have to be raised in order to meet these needs. However, if the Community Enrichment Act is enacted, local governments might look to lottery funds first, before decided on a tax increase. For years, unfunded mandates, passed down from State and Federal government, have been burden on local governments. The Community Enrichment Act would help to relieve some of these financial pressures that local governments are facing and restore some local control to millions of dollars that are leaving our communities.

I have visited at length with State government and legislative leaders in Austin and I plan to move forward with my proposal. But I have little doubt that this fair and straightforward ideal will need the support of Floyd County citizens and community leaders if it is to become law. With your help, I have no doubt that my colleagues in the Texas House and Senate will do the right thing and enact the Community Enrichment Act. A simple, but vital plan for the betterment of our cities and counties.

Farmer idea exchange offers rewards

September 10 is the cutoff date for entries in the American Farm Bureau Federation's 1996 Farmer Idea Exchange, according to Monty Teeter, Floyd County Farm Bureau president.

"The purpose of the Farmer Idea Exchange is to surface inventions, equipment modifications, innovative crops and farming practices developed by farmers," Teeter said.

Up to 20 farmer ideas from around the country will be selected for display as posters at AFBF's 1998 annual convention in Nashville, Tenn., in January. The nation's largest general farm organization will provide up to $1,000 for each entrant whose idea is selected to help cover costs of attending the convention.

The overall winner of the Exchange will enjoy one year's free use of a New Holland 8670 GENESIS tractor. AFBF will also provide $250 cash awards to three ideas deemed most innovative, most widely used and most likely to improve a farmer's net income.

Teeter said ideas will be sought in 14 categories including soil quality, livestock, crops, management systems, input efficiency, equipment, energy, marketing, safety and handicapped helpers, farm shop ideas, water management, wildlife, farm buildings and rotational grazing.

Teeter said more details and entry forms are available at the Floyd County Farm Bureau Office.

CONGRESSIONAL REPORT

By
Congressman Mac Thornberry
U.S. Representative, 13th District

Now that Congress has passed and the President has signed a bill to make health insurance more secure for millions of Americans, it might be a good time to look at another area of health care policy that needs to be reformed — mainly, the way the Food and Drug Administration goes about approving new drugs and medical devices.

Since its inception in 1931, the FDA has set the world's standard for safety and consumer protection. But if one thing has been discovered over the years, it's that consumer protection means more than just keeping unsafe and ineffective products off the market. It also means ensuring that safe and effective products are made available to people who need them as quickly and efficiently as possible. Unfortunately, that's just not happening in America today. Consider the following:

*It now takes 12 years and $350 million to get the average new drug from the laboratory to the American patients who need it.

*Two-thirds of the new drugs currently being approved by the FDA were first approved in another country. In fact, of the 154 new drugs approved by the FDA between 1990 and 1995, 103 had already been approved outside the United States.

*In the past five years, the average time it takes for the FDA to grant pre-market approval for a medical device has increased from 415 days to 773 days. By statute, the FDA is supposed to take no longer than 180 days.

The economic costs of FDA restrictions are truly staggering. A 1995 study by the American Electronics Association, for example, found that 40 percent of medical device firms reduced their number of U.S. employees because of the FDA approval process, while 29 percent increased their investment in foreign operations and 22 percent moved jobs out of the country. A more recent report by Ernst and Young for the California Health Institute showed that since 1991, restrictive FDA policies cost that state up to 12,000 jobs and $500 million in economic losses. The study also revealed that 70 percent of California's biotechnology and device companies are today conducting initial drug or device development overseas.

But far more disturbing than the economic cost of FDA delay is the toll it takes on people's lives. More than once, I've had people tell me they're often forced to choose between buying food or buying medicine because of the high price of drugs. This is a false choice which no one should have to bear, and one directly linked to the costly FDA approval process. And for those people waiting for a drug or device to be approved, the toll can be even worse. People like the boy with juvenile diabetes whose parents must prick his finger every two hours to test his blood — all the while knowing that a medical device called the Non-

Invasive Glucose Monitor currently exists which would allow them to accomplish the same task using a laser. Or the woman with a history of breast cancer in her family who might be able to detect a tiny lump if she had unrestricted access to a simple device known as the Sensor Pad that can be used along with a self-examination.

In response to this call, more than 150 members of the House of Representatives have signed onto a bipartisan package of reforms to streamline the FDA approval process in a way that would allow safe and effective drugs and medical devices to reach the people who need them more quickly and efficiently.

The main objective of these reforms is to restore some common sense to what has become a convoluted process. The hope is not that a risky new drug or device will be approved. Rather, it's that the seriously and terminally ill who need these new drugs and devices will no longer be put at risk because of high prices and delay.

JANICE AND JERREL BRASHEAR

Brashears to sing at Grace Fellowship

Janice and Jerrel Brashear from Russellville, Arkansas will return to Grace Fellowship Church in Lockney, on Sunday, September 8th, at 11:00 a.m.

The Brashears are not strangers by any means to making personal appearances. Singing since 1972, they sing over 300 dates a year all across the United States and Canada.

Janice writes many of the songs they sing and have recorded. Some of Janice's songs have been recorded by such notables as "The Happy Goodman Family", "The Hoppers", Canada's "Chrystalaires", and others. Jerrel writes for nationally distributed magazine, "The Gospel Voice" from Nashville, Tennessee. He has a great heritage in the gospel music field, as part of his family were Stamps, from the original Stamps-Baxter Music Company.

Pastor Ted Samples extends to all of you a special invitation to the concert at 211 N. Main Street, Lockney, featuring Southern/Christian country gospel music.

Please ask all of your friends to come. There will be a fellowship meal for everyone after the service. Everyone is welcome!

A free will offering will be taken for the Brashears during the concert. Their tapes will also be on sale at the concert.

"FOCUS ON THE FAMILY" with Dr. James Dobson

QUESTION: What is the most common marital problem you hear about in your office?

Dr. Dobson: Let's suppose I have a counseling appointment at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon with a person whom I've never met. Who is that person, and what will be the complaint that brings her to me? First, the patient will probably be Mrs. Jones, not her husband.

A man is seldom the first to seek marriage counseling, and when he does, it is for a different motive than his wife seeks it. She comes because her marriage is driving her crazy. He comes because his wife is driving him crazy.

Mrs. Jones will be, perhaps, between 28 and 42 years of age, and her problem will be extremely familiar to me. Though the details will vary, the frustration she communicates on that afternoon will conform to a well-worn pattern. It will sound something like this:

"John and I were deeply in love when we got married. We struggled during the first two or three years, especially with financial problems, but I knew he loved me, and he knew I loved him. But then something began to change.

"I'm not sure how to describe it. He received a promotion about five years ago, and that required him to work longer hours. We needed the money, so we didn't mind the extra time he was putting in. But it never stopped.

"Now he comes home later every evening. He's so tired I can actually hear his feet dragging as he approaches the porch. I look forward to his coming home all day because I have so much to tell him, but he doesn't feel much like talking.

"So I fix his dinner, and he eats it alone. (I usually eat with the kids earlier in the evening). After dinner, John makes a few phone calls and works at his desk. I like for him to talk on the telephone just so I can hear his voice. Then he watches television for a couple of hours and goes to bed. Thursday night he plays basketball, and sometimes he has a meeting at the office. Every Saturday morning he plays golf with three of his friends. On Sunday we are in church most of the day.

"Believe me, there are times when we go for a month or two without having a real, in-depth conversation. You know what I mean? And I get so lonely in the house with three kids climbing all over me. There aren't even any women in the neighborhood I can talk to because most of them have gone back to work.

"But there are other irritations about John. He rarely takes me out to dinner, and he forgot our anniversary last month, and I honestly don't believe he's ever had a romantic thought. He wouldn't know a rose from a carnation, and his Christmas cards are signed, just 'John'.

"There's no closeness or warmth between us, yet he wants to have sex with me at the end of the day. There we are, lying in bed, having had no communication between us in weeks. He hasn't tried to be sweet or understanding or tender, yet he expects me to become passionate and responsive to him. I'll tell you, I can't do it.

"Sure I go along with my duties as a wife, but I sure don't get anything out of it. And after the two-minute trip is over and John is asleep, I lie there resenting him and feeling like a cheap prostitute. Can you believe that? I feel used for having sex with my own husband!

"Boy, does that depress me. In fact, I've been awfully depressed lately. My self-esteem is at rock-bottom right now. I feel like nobody loves me. I'm a lousy mother and a terrible wife.

"More recently, we've been arguing a lot. I mean really fighting. It's the only way I can get his attention, I guess. We had an incredible battle last week in front of the kids. It was awful. Tears, screaming, insults; everything. I spent two nights at my mother's house.

"Now all I can think about is getting a divorce so I can escape. John doesn't love me anyway, so what difference would it make? I guess that's why I came to see you. I want to know if I'll be doing the right thing to call it quits."

Mrs. Jones speaks as though she were the only woman in the world who has ever experienced this pattern of needs. But she is not alone.

It is my guess that 90 percent of the divorces that occur each year involve at least some of the elements she described--an extremely busy husband who is in love with his work and who tends to be somewhat insensitive, unromantic and noncommunicative, married to a lonely, vulnerable, romantic woman who has severe doubts about her worth as a human being.

Dr. James Dobson is a psychologist, author and president of Focus on the Family, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the preservation of the home. Correspondence to Dr. Dobson should be addressed to: Focus on the Family, P.O. Box 444, Colorado Springs, CO 80903.

Any subscriber or purchaser age 7 or older is eligible to enter this contest. Only one entry per week per person.

To play, circle on the official entry form, the numbers of the teams you believe will win this week's games. To indicate a tie, circle the numbers of both teams playing the game. Also write a guess of the combined total points to be scored by the two teams listed in each of the tie-breaker footballs. Circle the team you believe will win. Circle both teams if you think the game will end in a tie.

Only entries on official entry forms brought to a Hesperian-Beacon office in Floydada or Lockney no later than 5:00 p.m. on Friday. No photocopies will be accepted and no mail entries will be considered.

Three cash prizes are awarded each week. In the event of ties (the same number of correct games & equal scores on tie-breakers) prizes will be combined & shared by those tied. The tie-breaker scores will be used only in the event of a tie on the number of games correct.
