"It has been an awesome experience. I don't think there could be anything to top it as to meeting the people to watch, to ask questions and listen and the television and radio programs I have been on, Mosley stated.

"I am so proud of our team of officers. The meeting in San Diego had the largest number of delegates ever attending a national convention and one of the Cluster Meetings that was held in Washington was the third largest meeting of the organization ever. I think the more we get the word out about what our organization stands for the larger the meetings will become and the more participation we will have," he said.

"Coming from a small town where you know everyone makes it easy to be a part of organizations. But this was totally different.

I am thankful to the school and community of Lockney for their support. I received so many letters, cards and calls wishing me well. It helped me to know the people were behind me," he continued.

Mosley related that "We, as FHA members, need to show what we are all about. One of the new projectsstarted this year was a Community Service Program. Each state brought supplies to be donated to the various shelters and food kitchens in San Diego and the surrounding area.

Approximately 5,000 delegates from across the United States attended the meetings, including 270 delegates from Texas.

The youth developed meeting theme, "Destination: Excellence" was carried out as the members were challenged to arrive at excellence by looking beyond limits and exploring their potential.

Members were encouraged to strive for success in preparing for careers and to create an awareness and understanding of family and community needs so they take an active role in meeting these needs.

Sessions and activities included STAR Events, motivational speakers, updates on nation programs, election of 1997-98 national officers, officer training and a themed celebration at the conclusion of the meeting.

Title V clinics to have new management

Title V clinics on the South Plains will come under new management within the next few months, according to a joint announcement today from Texas Department of Health and Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center officials.

Under a contract with TDH, Texas Tech has provided services since October 1995 to Muleshoe, Floydada, Matador, Guthrie, Spur, Dickens, Ralls, Post and Tahoka. But Texas Tech and TDH officials anticipate a change in clinic management by the end of September.

"The Department of Health appreciates the effort and funds that Texas Tech has put into operating these clinics over the past two years," said Dr. James Morgan, regional director for TDH. "We will work closely with the Health Sciences Center to ensure a smooth transition of managing these clinics to another provider."

Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center spokesman John Walls said, "With recent changes that decrease reimbursement from Medicaid and other reductions in available state and federal funds, it is no longer financially feasible to continue managing these clinics. As a result, the Health Sciences Center has decided not to seek to renew the contract."

Voters to decide on property tax amendment

By Edith A. Chenault

From Texas A&MAg News

Texas voters will be able to vote on a school property tax amendment on August 9 that could have an impact on their homestead exemption and the tax freeze for people who 65 years of age and older.

Economist Dr. Judith Stallman of College Station said House Bill 4, passed at the end of the recent legislative session, increases the residential exemption from $5,000 to $15,000. Additionally, persons who are 65 years old or older will be able to transfer their tax freeze, with adjustments, from their current home to a subsequent home.

The homestead exemption applies only to homeowners-renters and landlords will not see benefits from it, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service economist said.

Increasing the homestead exemptions by $10,000 will lower property taxes by $140 for the average Texas homeowner. The actual amount will depend on the tax rate in each diswith a tax rate of 1.23, the increased exemption will result in a tax savings of $123. The people who would benefit the most from the increased homestead exemption would be those who live in the highest tax rate districts, she said.

"People are concerned about their property taxes," Stallman said, "particularly the school property tax because it has doubled in the last ten

If passed, the increase in the homestead exemption will decrease tax revenues for local school districts, affecting school districts with a low tax base more than other districts because it may exempt a larger percent of their taxable value, she said.

Lower school property tax revenues from this amendment would be offset by about $1 billion set aside by the state for this purpose over the next biennium. Beyond that, elected officials are not sure how the losses would be handled.

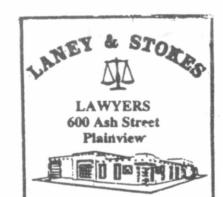

These lower revenues are "certainly a concern that school districts are going to have to address," she said. Citizens may want to contact their state representative to find out how this is going to be addressed in the future, she suggested.

The proposed amendment also intrict. For example, in a school district cludes a revision of the tax code for senior citizens. Currently homeowners over 65 years old receive a freeze on their home as long as they live in the house and do not make significant improvements. If a person buys and moves to another house, he or she has to requalify for the tax freeze. Approximately 10 percent of the state's population is over 65 years of age.

Under the proposed amendment, the tax freeze is "portable," Stallman said. If the person moves to another house, the original tax freeze, with some adjustments, applies to the new Voters should determine several things before voting on this amendment, Stallman suggested. First of all, they should estimate the impact on their current tax bill and on their tax bill when they turn 65. They also need to consider the impact on local tax revenues and schools in the future. Additionally, they should consider whether the constitutional amendment is preferable to exercising the local options that are available.

In 1989 they retired to Floydada, residing at 910 W Crockett. They have four grandchildren, Brittany K Gregory of Denton, Josh Gregory of Lamar University in Beaumont, Kendall Cummings II of Lubbock and Victoria Cummings of Brownfield.

After fifty years together, he's still handsome, she's still pretty and her eyes still laugh. Kendall and Dorthy celebrated their Golden Anniversary with their family in Red River, New Mexico.

They were honored with this time of remembrance and gratitude by David and K Cummings Pipes of Houston, Kelvin and Jolene Cummings of Brownfield and Jack and Zacha Gregory of Clifton.

Colston family descendants hold annual reunion

Descendants of B.A. and S.R. Colston met Saturday and Sunday, July 12 and 13, 1997 for their annual reunion. All four of B.A. and Ethel's children were present. They were Thelma Fawver, Raymond and J.B. Colston and Burnice Nance.

Ross and Iris' daughter, Irene Woods of Tulsa, Oklahoma, was unable to attend. A grandson and greatgrandson, Billy Don and Zane Colston, were present.

Saturday, the group met at Roaring Springs Ranch. At noon they had a sandwich lunch, and in the evening Mark Whittle and Edwin Cox grilled hamburgers.

Games of horse shoes, Bingo, swimming and a lot of visiting were enjoyed by all.

Sunday, the group met at Mark and Teresa Whittle's home. A delicious meal was served. A business meeting was held and it was voted to have the reunion again in 1998 at the same time and place. The same officers remained in office. After the meeting, a lot of pictures were taken. Those attending from out of town

Letha Mulder attended the funeral of a friend, Clayton Bond, in Flomot on July 15.

Greg, Mona, Bethany and Michael Bond visited Greg's mother, Margarette and Jim Word, last weekend. Mona and children also visited her family, Wayne and Marjorie Dean, and other relatives. They all attended a Dean family reunion in Morton on Saturday, July 19.

Recently, Guy Garrison spent several days in Amarillo visiting a nephew and other relatives he hadn't seen in quite a while.

W.B. Cates' daughter from Darrouzett ate lunch at the center Monday, July 21. She was here to visit her dad and mother who are in the care center in Lockney.

Sue and Alton Higginbotham of Jacksonville, Arkansas stopped by to visit Sue's mother, Nell McClung, on their way to Lubbock to attend a 40th year high school reunion. He graduated from Floydada in 1957, but the reunion took place in Lubbock. On their way home Sunday, their daughter, Lori Pattey and her children, went back with the Higginbothams to spend a week.

We are having a good response toward our community helping us with our paving project of our parking lot at the center. Last week Irene King, our director at the center, challenged all seniors to give $10 toward the project. Many have given more. Every little bit helps and we hope to soon be able to start with the project.

Shorter and Elliott wed

Salina Marie Shorter and Chad Dean Elliott were united in marriage on the 5th day of July at 7:30 in the evening. The outside double ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Scott Parrish of Sundown at the Caprock Winery in Lubbock.

The bride is the daughter of Lee and Connie Hurt of Floydada. She is the granddaughter of Roy and Dortha Grundy of Matador, Everett and Alma Shorter of Flomot and Thomas and Doramae Hurt of Matador. She is the great-granddaughter of Lena Cook of Matador. The groom is the son of Bill and Ginger Elliott of Sundown. He is the grandson of Richard and Sherry Weaver of Henderson, Mabel Walkup of Lovington, New Mexico, Kathleen Weaver of Tyler and Mary Humphry of Wright City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white floor length satin sheath wedding gown with a beaded vee neckline, long sleeves and beaded bodice with pearl Wednesday: BBQ beef, baked po- clusters and pearl scrolling. A large bead and sequin motif adorned the beautiful satin skirt. The vee back led to the cathedral train which was decopliques topped with a satin beaded bow. To complete her attire, she wore an elegant pearl scalloped double crown headpiece with a double layered waist length veil. She carried a bouquet of creamy white magnolias, roses, baby's breath and greenery. Something old was a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Dortha Grundy, which was attached to her bouquet. Something new was a diamond and pearl necklace and earring set given to her by her mother. The bride wore the traditional pennies in her shoes bearing the couple's birthdates.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Keri Sehon of Ropesville. Bridal attendants were Becca Allison of Levelland, Lyndi Probasco of Stephenville and Carrie Terrell of Lubbock. Whitley Beedy of Floydada attended as flower girl.

They wore black and white crepe floor length dresses fashioned with a raised waistline, elbow length sleeves and flared skirt accented with a matching satin bow across the back. Each carried a bouquet of lilies, white roses and greenery. The flower girl's attire was fashioned of white taffeta with a lace collar, puffed sleeves and a taffeta bow tied at the waistline. Her hair was accented by an arrangement of white roses and baby's breath. She carried a basket of small white rose

Best man was Eric Elliott of Levelland, the groom's brother. Groomsmen were Ross Elliott of Sundown, the groom's brother, Cody Young and Chad Frazier both of Levelland. Ring bearer was Payte Beedy. Ushers were Casey Carson of Slaton, cousin of the bride, and Troy Johnson of South Plains. Candlelighters were Corey Hurt of Floydada, brother of the bride, and Lacy Carson of Matador, cousin of the bride.

The groom wore a Christian Dior waist length coat with tails accented with a paisley bow tie and vest, white shirt, black jeans and black boots.

The traditional wedding march was performed by Leslie Warren of Floydada as the bride arrived in a horsedrawn carriage driven by Kurt Brock of Levelland, and was escorted down the aisle by her father. Vocalist Kristy Porter of Brownfield sang "Standing Next To Me" during the lighting of the unity candle.

A dinner and reception followed the ceremony inside the winery. The bride's table was covered with a white lace tablecloth. The seven tiered spiral cake decorated with fresh magnolias and white roses was topped with a porcelain western bride and groom. The groom's table was decorated in a tuxedo theme and was accented with a horseshoe cake and fresh chocolate dipped strawberries.

The guests showered the newlyweds with bubbles as they rode away in the horse-drawn carriage.

Following a short honeymoon trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico the couple will reside in Tyler.

Prenuptial courtesies included a bridal shower in the home of Denise Holcombe of Floydada, one in the home of Judy Whisenant of Levelland and a lingerie shower in the home of Regina Nelson of Floydada. Bill and Ginger Elliott, parents of the groom, hosted a rehearsal dinner at Cattle Baron Restaurant in Lubbock.

July, what a "bummer"

It really brings the heat,

But to get us somewhat cooler

A party can't be beat!

We greet our Irene Sherrill,

She used to curl our hair,

But now she likes it better

In her good old easy chair!

Our Mr. West we honor

On this his special day,

May years for him get better

In every sort of way!

Mr. Kerr we welcome,

His years are 82,

May all his future wishes

Somehow, someway come true!

Mrs. Vandiver we honor,

Her years are 84,

May every one in passing

Be better than before!

To serenade these people,

Let's do the Birthday Song,

To make them feel quite happy

And glad we came along!

McCoy Community reunion held at Mackenzie Park in Lubbock

By Flora McNeill

The annual McCoy Community Reunion was held Sunday, July 20, 1997. The reunion began when a group of families living in the McCoy Community met Thursday, August 28, 1952 at Mackenzie Park in Lubbock for a community family picnic with 100 present. The affair was so enjoyable that the group has continued to have the annual get-together for 45 continuous years.

The date and place has been changed to the third Sunday in July each year, but those attending experience the same enjoyment of getting together at Floydada in the Lighthouse Electric Community Room.

Out of town arrivals this year began at 10 a.m. for registration slated at that time with lunch served at 12:30 p.m. Guests at once spread collections of photos dating back in the 1920s when school was still held in the original white frame building. A number of those present were in their first days of education in those photos in 1920 to 1924 when the new red brick building was built to replace the old two room school.

After a break for a beautiful lunch with Doff Staples of Godley offering our prayer of thanks, a short meeting was held and the group voted to continue meeting each year at the same time and place. Flora McNeill will continue to be in charge of arrangements with the assistance of Carolyn Jackson of Lockney. Flora McNeill reported that all previous records were in order and had been laminated for preservation. Also the picture will be filed with dates and names as made possible. She also asked that anyone having photos would please donate them to the history of McCoy and send them to her with dates and identification of persons to their knowl-

A brief memorial was given by Flora McNeill who gave thoughts on promises before reading the scripture Psalms 23. She then read the names of those passing on since last July as follows: Floyd Wayne Jackson, Mary Morrison Virden, Harvey Brock, Mary Ruth Keniston, Colonel Erwin Loyce Turner, Ruth Snell Hale, Lois Cox Reynolds, Lucille Hulsey Eddleman, Pearl Jones Thorne, Lula Jennelda Fulton, Zora Bell Pittman Hudson, Ottis Earl Johnson, Nell Golden Vasek and Iva Payne.

Those who registered their attendance were: Carolyn Davis of Petersburg, Bob Harless of Corpus Christi, Doff and Winnie Staples of Godley, Juanita and Robert Smith of Garland Jim Wilson of Edmonson, Mava Peterson of Lovington, New Mexico, W.R. Threadgill of Granbury, Floyd and Rita Lyles of Centerton, Arkansas, Marvin Lyles of Bentonville, Arkansas, W.H. Eubanks of Dallas, Velma Curry of Olton, Georgia Pittman Starks, Faye Allen, E.T. Nasal influenza spray effective

A nasal influenza spray is safe and effective in preventing flu in children, say researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston and nine other U.S. sites.

The result is a breakthrough in the battle to immunize children against flu without the fear or pain of a shot.

Only one percent of the 1,070 children who received the nasal vaccine in the national trials developed culture-confirmed influenza during last year's flu season versus 18 percent of the 532 same-age children who received placebos.

"This spray could well have widespread public-health implications," said Dr. Pedro A. Piedra, a pediatrician in Baylor's Influenza Research Center and an attending physician at Texas Children's Hospital, also in

"We recognize that children are major carriers of flu," he said. "Every year influenza sweeps through schools, and the children take it home to their parents."

Because this new vaccine is more easily administered, it could help control flu in school-age populations and thus control it in the adult population, Piedra said.

The large field trial enrolled 1,602 children from 15 months of age to 6 years. The Baylor portion of the trial was conducted primarily at Houstonarea Kelsey-Seybold clinics.

The study targeted healthy young

Be Beary Healthy... Please Don't Smoke children because they experience the highest incidence of influenza and are an important source of its spread. Most children have had flu two or three times by the age of 5.

The new vaccine, made from weakened virus, cannot cause influenza. It is designed to stimulate antibodies in the upper airways that protect against naturally acquired infection.

Influenza affects as many as 50 million people a year in the U.S., mostly between late fall and early spring. More than 20,000 people, most of them elderly, die annually from flu and its complications, and an estimated $4.6 billion is spent each year on direct medical costs related

Tiger League play to begin in Floydada

FLOYDADA--Youngsters don't have to sit on the sidelines anymore and watch their older brothers play football in all the "cool" uniforms. Now 11-12 year olds will have their chance to compete in Tiger League Football in Floydada.

The new league is headed up by Jesse Morales and sign-up for 5th and 6th graders will begin on Aug. 20th.

The boys will play approximately 10 games. "Four or five games will be in Floydada and most of the others will be in Plainview," said Morales. The league will consist of teams from Floydada, Tulia and Plainview.

"We already have 56 sets of brand new shoulder pads and helmets," said Morales. "We will accept the first 56 kids from Floydada who sign up."

According to Morales this will be full contact football and the boys will play by basically the same rules as regular football.

"We will also play on a regular football field," said Morales, "and most of our games will be played on Saturday. Tryouts are possible."

According to Morales the League is currently soliciting donations from individuals. "We have to raise money now and we need volunteers to help us raise money. It cost $100.00 to suit up one kid.

Morales said Kevin Mosley, the Plainview Tiger League Coordinator, will be at the break room in City Hall at 6:30 p.m., July 29th, to answer any questions.

Morales said volunteers are also needed to run the concession stand. The cost to register a boy is $40.00.

Anyone with questions is asked to call Jesse Morales, Pam Bennett, Bert Vandiver, or Fernando Arvizu.

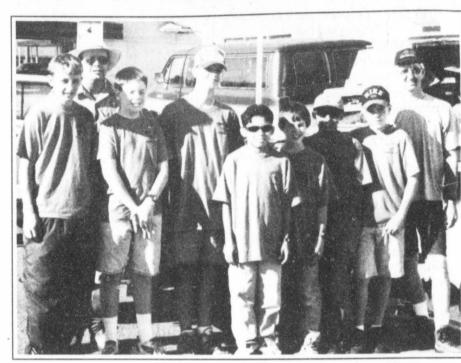

Ronald McCarty of Floydada has been named to the Dean's List at Lubbock Christian University for the spring semester of 1997.

In order to be considered a part of the Dean's List, a student must be taking a minimum of 12 semester hours and achieve a 3.5 grade point average or better for the entire semester.

TIGER LEAGUE UNIFORMS--(L-R) Jesse Morales and Pam Bennett show off the new shoulder pads and helmets which will be used in the new Floydada Tiger League games.

SUMMER CAMPERS-These Lockney Boy Scouts and leaders left Saturday, July 12, for summer camp at Tres Ritos, New Mexico. They also are sceduled for a white-water rafting adventure on the Rio Grande River and a visit to nearby Taos, New Mexico during their week-long trip. The proposed facility will emit the following air contaminants: particulate matter, sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, and unburned hydrocarbons. A person who may be affected by air contaminants emitted from the proposed facility may

If the applicant demonstrates the proposed facility will comply with all applicable air quality requirements, the applicant will qualify for issuance of a permit. The subject of a hearing would be limited to applicable air quality requirements, which do not include issues such as water quality, noise, traffic safety, or zoning. If a hearing is held, it will be a legal proceeding similar to civil trials in state district court.

To request a hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representative), mailing address, daytime phone number, and fax number, if any; (2) the applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "I/we request a public hearing;" (4) a brief, specific statement of how and why emissions from the proposed facility would adversely affect you in a way not common to members of the general public; and (5) the location of you property relative to the proposed facility.

Hearing requests or comments on the application must be received in writing at the Chief Clerk's Office, MG-105, TNRCC, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087, within 30 days after the second publication of this notice. This notice is to be published on 7-24-97 and 7-31-97.

The application and the TNRCC's preliminary analysis are available for review and reproduction at the TNRCC Office of Air Quality, 12124 Park 35 Circle, Building C, Austin, Texas 78753. Application documents, a compliance file if any exists, and further information may be obtained from the TNRCC Lubbock Regional Office, Air Program at 4630 50th Street, Suite 600, Lubbock, Texas 79414-3509, telephone (806)796-7092. For hearing members of the family, Beck suggests you:

* Express your feelings. Tell the hard-of-hearing family member how you feel about their hearing loss. Are you frightened, concerned about the family's future, or even angry at the hearing loss? Share it, don't keep it to yourself.

* Don't tiptoe around the hearing loss. Avoiding talking about the hearing loss can lead to more discomfort. It could also lead the hard-of-hearing family member to think that you don't

* If you are the hearing parent, do not serve as a "gatekeeper" between your hard-of-hearing spouse and your children. This promotes an artificial relationship that is damaging to the children and to the hard-of-hearing parent. Children must learn that nothing has changed when it comes to relating to their parents.

For the family member who has hearing loss, Beck says it's important not to use the hearing loss as an excuse to "tune out" but rather stay involved with your family, career and

Those Who Make America Great

(Taken from America's God and Country, by William J. Federer,) The first official act of the Continental Congress, on September 6, 1774, was a call for prayer.

The assemblymen had just received word that the British troops had attacked Boston. Many of their families were in Boston and the men did not know the fates of their wives and children.

The 35th Psalm was read by Rev. Mr. Duche, an Episcopalian minister. Collected reports of the various patriots are recorded at the Library of Congress: "Washington was kneeling there, and Henry, Randolph, Rutledge, Lee, and Jay, and by their side there stood, bowed in reverence, the Puritan Patriots of New England, who at the moment had reason to believe that an armed soldiery was wasting their humble households. It was believed that Boston had been bombarded and destroyed.

"They prayed fervently for America, for Congress, for the Province of Massachusetts Bay, and especially for the town of Boston," and who can realize the emotion with which they turned imploringly to Heaven for Divine interposition and -- 'It was enough,' says Mr. Adams, 'to melt a heart of stone. I saw tears gush into the eyes of the old, grave, Pacific Quakers of

In June 1775, the Second Continental Congress, sitting in Philadelphia, appointed George Washington as Commander-in-Chief of the "forces raised and to be raised in defense of American liberty."

Continental Congress, July 6, 1775, passed the Declaration of the Causes and Necessity of Taking Up Arms. July 2, 1776, approved the wording of the Declaration of Independence.

July 4, 1776, delegates voted to accept it. July 8, 1776, the Declaration was read publicly for the first time outside the Independence Hall in Philadelphia, accompanied by the ringing of the Liberty Bell. The 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence paid a tremendous price for our freedom: 5 were arrested by the British as traitors; 12 had their homes looted and burned by the enemy; 17 lost their fortunes; 2 lost their sons in the Continental Army; and 9 fought and died during the Revolutionary War.

May 14, 1787, the Continental Congress began the Constitutional Convention at the State House (Independence Hall) for the purpose of revising the Articles of Confederation and formulating the

"FOCUS ON THE FAMILY" with Dr. James Dobson

QUESTION: What are the longrange implications of raising a strong-willed child? What can we expect as the years go by?

Dr. Dobson: Well, I can give you a few encouraging conclusions from our study. The tendencies of strongwilled children (SWCs) are to return to parental values when they reach adulthood. Parents told us 85 percent of their grown SWCs (24 years of age and older) came back to what they had been taught - entirely or at least "somewhat." This is good news. Only 15 percent were so headstrong that they rejected their family's core values in their mid-twenties. In those exceptional cases, I'll wager that other problems and sources of pain were involved.

What this means, in effect, is that these tough-minded kids will argue and fight and complain throughout their years at home, but the majority will turn around when they reach young adulthood and do what their parents most desired. That should be reassuring. Furthermore, if we could have evaluated these individuals at 35 instead of 24 years of age, even fewer would still be in rebellion against parental values.

Second, raising a strong-willed child (or a house full of them) can be a lonely job for parents. You can begin to feel like yours is the only family that has gone through these struggles. Don't believe it. In another study of 3,000 parents, we found that 85 percent of families had at least one strong-willed child. This is parenthood. This is human nature.

Third, I urge you as parents of strong-willed children not to feel "cheated" or depressed be the assignment of raising such individuals. You are not an exception or the butt of some cruel cosmic joke. All human beings arrive with a generous assortment of flaws, including the very compliant child. Yes, it is more difficult to raise an independent little fellow or gal, but you can do it! You can, through prayer and supplication before the Lord, bring him or her to that period in early adulthood that makes the effort worthwhile. I also believe that you can increase the odds of transmitting your values to these individuals by following some timehonored principles found in scripture. So hang in there! Nothing of value in life comes easy anyway.

Hold tightly to Solomon's encouraging words, "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." (Prov. 22:6

Question: My husband is a good man, but he gets angry at the kids

Dr. Dobson: Psychologist and author Abraham Maslow once said, "It takes nine affirming comments to make up for each critical comment we give to our children." I believe he is right. All normal human beings respond negatively to criticism and rejection. Conversely, some of us crave affirmation so much that we'll do almost anything to get it.

Children are especially vulnerable to those who use affirmation to manipulate them. As someone said, Whoever gives your kids praise and attention has power over them." that could be a drug dealer, a gang member, or anyone else who could harm them. People with evil intentions know how to use praise to get what they want from lonely kids. This is, in fact, the technique routinely used by pedophiles to abuse their victims sexually. The average pedophile abuses 150 children in the course of a lifetime. Each sexual exploitation lasts for seven years, typically, before the truth comes to light. And how do they accomplish that? A highly skilled pedophile can enter a room full of children and instantly spot those who are vulnerable to affirmation. They can have those needy kids under their control in five minutes or less. All human beings have deep psychological neds for love, belonging and affection. If you don't meet these longings in your children, I can assure you someone else will

Burlesons hold 13th annual roping

The number 13 is not unlucky for some people. The 13th Annual Burleson Memorial Roping went off as planned Saturday and Sunday, July 19th and 20th at Burleson Arena in Flomot. The past 13 years, participants and spectators have contributed to provide 50 scholarships for students in the ranch and feedlot operations course at Clarendon Jr. College in Clarendon, as well as agriculture scholarships at Floydada High School.

Melissa Haggerton was the 1997 scholarship recipient at Clarendon. Melissa is the daughter of Thomas and Judy Haggerton. The youngest of four girls, she grew up on a farm in Tatum, New Mexico and spent her summers working on the Bonita Ranch in Corona, New Mexico before graduating high school and entering the RFO Program.

Youth below and above the Caprock participated in the Saturday morning play-day horse events. Top girl was Amanda Landis of Happy and top boy was Tanner Holt of Rotan. Those participating from Lockney were Brazos and Tylee Wil-

Lee Fortenberry, Tasha Powell, Tyler high money winner of the day. Phillips, Heather, Ashley and Taylor Brock, and Karah and J. Paul

Others participating were Kaitlan Kinsey and Jerry Whitaker of Matador; Erin and Drew Baker, Tracie and April Bateman, and Michael Chastain of Spur; Logan Wilfong, and Kari, Kyla, and Kacie Stewart of Stephenville; Kody and Karleigh Porterfield of Brownfield; Dixie Bell of Canyon; Kassi Martin, Kolt, Kwail, and Klay Brock, and Tye and Caycee Jones of Levelland.

South Plains Barrel Racing Association held their competition following the youth events. Winners were Bennette Holt of Rotan and Kay Ulmer of Lubbock.

Team ropers gathered under the hot sun to rope steers furnished by Carl and Johnnie Alford of Hereford, and roped into the moonlight hours. First time participant, Justin Johnson of Spur, went home with the Wayne liams, Clay and Cody Ware, Eddie Dollar hand made spurs and was the Sunday morning began with cowboy sorting and team penning. Twenty-four teams participated in these two events with Scotty Palmer. Kyle Mars, and Vic Read having the fastest times in the cowboy sorting. Scott Stone, Mickey Brasher, and Roy Thompson were the fastest team in the team penning.

At noon, all the ropers moved to the pasture and anxiously awaited their turn to catch a steer turned out to pasture. There were 68 teams entered. Floyd Hardin and Sam Fortenberry started the introduction of the teams for competition. This is an exciting event for the spectators who cheer on each team. Challenging competition resulted with Clinton Ware of Lockney and Roy Thompson of Happy going home with the prize of the day.

Thanks to those who came to help. watch, or enter the competition. Because of you all, the scholarships are made possible.

Clarendon College to offer classes for farmers and wives

Clarendon College will offer the "Bottom Line Farming" curriculum on financial management in agriculture in Silverton during August. The class will be taught at the Silverton High School. The class will start on Tuesday, August 5, 1997 at 6 p.m. and finish at 10:30 p.m. The balance of the class will be taught on the same schedule for every Tuesday and Thursday in August.

Registration for this class will be conducted the first class meeting. Spouses are encouraged to attend. This class meets the requirements for financial training of the FSA. If you have any questions please call Dr. Don Williams at 806-874-2313 or your local FSA office.

Farmers face possible loss of Furadan

&Floyd County Farm News

By Shawn Wade

High Plains cotton producers who face the possibility of increased pressure from aphids in 1997 will likely be denied the use of, arguably, the most effective aphid control tool available, Furadan.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG) the Texas Department of Agriculture has not received any written confirmation about the status of its Furadan Section 18 request. EPA officials have verbally notified TDA that the request has been denied.

Mississippi agriculture officials have already received written notification from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) denying a Section 18 request under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA) for Furadan, whose active ingredient is carbofuran.

The EPA letter denying the Section 18 request states that the reason for the denial as the inability to make a determination of a "reasonable certainty of no harm", primarily for infants and children under the age of twelve.

Cotton industry organizations throughout the Cotton Belt are pulling together through the National Cotton Council in an attempt to reverse this decision.

PCG has signed on to a letter being sent to Lynn Goldman, MD, EPA Assistant Administrator, laying out points of disagreement concerning EPA's decision.

The industry letter takes EPA to task for decisions made under the auspices of implementing the Food Quality Protection Act and the ever changing criteria EPA uses to make these decisions. The letter also asks for justification of the standard used to make the determination regarding carbofuran.

The loss of Furadan for aphid control means cotton producers who ex- tact with members of the Texas conperience severe infestations may be gressional delegation about these isleft to fend for themselves. Finding sues will provide an effective core of effective control strategies for cotton support to enact these necessary aphids is difficult because of the ex- changes. plosive nature of infestations and the aphids ability to rapidly reproduce.

Often, producers forced to use less effective products must apply higher rates of the aphicides currently available more often in an attempt to gain the level of control possible with use of Furadan.

PEST MANAGEMENT NEWSLETTER

By Ron Graves Extension Agent- PM Current Situation

In cotton, we are finding fleahopper adults and nymphs, lygus bugs, cotton square borers, bollworm eggs and larvae, cotton aphids, boll weevil punctured squares and egglay

In corn we are finding corn earworms, western corn rootworm adults, spider mites, and southwestern corn borer adults and larvae.

In sorghum we are finding greenbugs, sorghum midge, headworms, and sorghum leaf blight. If you recall, sorghum leaf blight is caused by the pathogen Exserohilum turcicum and caused moderate yield losses in late planted sorghum last year. Sorghum leaf blight lesions can be found in most early planted sorghum fields in Crosby and Floyd counties. The Texas Department of Agriculture has been notified of the situation and paperwork has begun to request a Section 18 Crisis exemption for Tilt to control Sorghum Leaf Blight.

Ergot has not been detected in area sorghum at this time. Dr. Harold Kaufman and I inspected several of sorghum Ergot.

Scout Safety: Safety of our field scouts (and our IPM Agent) is of great importance. If you are treating a program field with an insecticide, please contact the scouts or me so they will not be unnecessarily exposed to a pesticide. If you fail to do so, we will stop scouting your fields.

Fleahopper numbers continue to increase this week in several program fields. Populations are ranging from 0-71 fleahoppers per 100 plants. Heaviest populations have been found in fields adjacent to the Blanco Canyon, but are not limited to this area. Fleahoppers move rapidly about the plant and can easily avoid detection so inspect plants closely. The suggested threshold is 25 fleahoppers per 100 plants combined with less than 75% square set during the first 3 weeks of squaring.

Boll weevil feeding punctures and egg lay sites are remaining relatively low considering the large number of overwintered weevils that emerged commercial sorghum fields and seed this spring. Our late cotton did not economic threat. The larvae are genproduction fields that were flowering provide an adequate food source for erally a greenish color and are sluglast week and could detect no signs the large number of early emerging like in appearance. The larvae generweevils and appears to have helped suppress populations for now. Several fields continue to be treated where heavy populations exist. However, program fields had low numbers this week with damaged squares ranging from 0-3%.

Mid-season Boll Weevil Management: When square numbers are greater than the combined number of blooms and bolls, inspect fields at least weekly by examining 100 squares that are at least 1/4 inch in size. Sample the entire field since weevil infestations are often clumped. If 20% of the squares are damaged, treatment should be considered. After peak bloom, or when bloom and boll numbers exceed square counts, treatments should be initiated when 25 to 30 percent of the squares examined are weevil damaged.

Bollworm eggs and larvae can be found in most fields inspected. At this point there is no cause for alarm. Let's not get too trigger happy about treating until absolutely necessary. Keep in mind that cotton aphids are present in low numbers in all cotton fields, we do not need to lower our beneficial populations because this could result in flaring aphids.

Cotton square borers have been increasing in numbers over the past 7-10 days. I have seen a range from 0-2% square damage in program fields. The cotton square borer is an occasional pest, and rarely poses an ally are found feeding on matchhead to 1/3 grown squares, but will feed on small bolls. They are neat feeders and make a perfectly round feeding hole in the square or small boll.

Southwestern corn borer second generation moths are beginning to increase in number in our traps. The adult moths are buff colored and lay eggs in a shingle-like arrangement on the leaves and stalk of corn. Young larvae are creamy white and marked

Borer infested stalks are reduced in diameter and plant lodging often results. Borer damage also causes dead heart, kills the whorl of the plant, and increases susceptibility to stalk rotting diseases. Yield losses are experienced from lodging plants which can't be picked up by harvest equipment. Based on the trap numbers, I still expect a peak emergence around August 1.
