CRP sign-up begins October 14

The Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up will be held during a 5-week period from October 14-November 14.

"This will be another opportunity for landowners to sign up for a voluntary program to get financial and technical assistance for improving their land, water, and wildlife resources," Trent Johnson stated.

"If you haven't tried to get into the program, if your CRP contract offers were not accepted in Sign-up 15 last spring, or if you have contracts expiring this fall, this is the time to make new contract offers."

The CRP is designed to improve America's natural resource base. Landowners enter into contracts with the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to enroll erodible and other environmentally sensitive land in contracts for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, they receive annual rental payments and a payment for up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing approved practices.

The CCC will continue to evaluate and rank all eligible CRP offers using an Environmental Benefits Index (EBI), which is based on the potential environmental benefits from enrolling the land in the CRP. The EBI is composed of six environmental factors (wildlife habitat cover benefits, water quality benefits, on-farm benefits of reduced erosion, benefits enduring beyond the contract period, the air quality benefits, and conservation priority areas) plus a cost factor.

The EBI's wildlife habitat cover benefits factor is revised since the last sign-up to recognize the improved wildlife benefits attributable to certain covers. The air quality factor is also modified, and an additional subfactor is added to the cost factor

Lockney community discusses ways to fight drugs and alcohol use among its youth

LOCKNEY--A large crowd of Lockney adults met in the high school gym Tuesday night to voice their concerns about drug problems among Lockney youth, and to listen to suggestions on what the community can do to fight the problem.

Approximately 250-300 parents and concerned citizens packed the bleachers. After opening remarks from Kay Brotherton and Catherine Boring, guests were asked to write down questions for a panel consisting of law enforcement, elected officials, and substance abuse counselors.

Brotherton, a Chemical Dependency Counselor with the Floyd County Juvenile Probation Department, opened the meeting by encouraging the community to support an attitude of "No tolerance."

"Some parents have the attitude that I will just teach my kids to be responsible and not drink and drive--or I'll give them a place to drink so they won't get hurt."

Brotherton said parents should say "no" to drinking at all. "It is still illegal for a minor to have alcohol and of course it is illegal for anyone to have an illicit drug."

"Studies show that understanding the dangers of drug use is the biggest deterrent to drug use. The most common reason used for not drinking or using drugs is they didn't want to disapprove an important adult in their life.

"We should teach children there is a difference in adults choosing to drink socially and underage drinking. Parents should not tolerate any drinking regardless of the amount."

Brotherton said 45% of the children she counsels are allowed to drink at home.

The most common reasons given for using drugs, according to Brotherton, are: a feeling of being grown up, to fit in, to relax and feel good, to take risks and rebel, and out of curiosity.

"As a community you need to teach the youth that they may get away with it but they have everything to lose. Educate them on choices and consequences. If you have communication problems with your child lead them to another adult they feel comfortable with."

Brotherton emphasized to the crowd that "the parents job is not to make our kids happy. It is to raise them to be well adjusted and responsible adult. Zero tolerance is part of that."

Catherine Boring, a gang specialist with the Lubbock Juvenile Probation Department, addressed the audience concerning gang behavior and how to recognize a gang member in your community.

"A gang is a loosely organized group of 3 or more individuals who wear identifiable clothing and have identifiable signs."

"Gang members migrate," said Boring. "Little Johnny starts having trouble in Lubbock so the family will send him to live with someone else in another town. In Lubbock that gang member was a little fish in a big pond. He moves to someplace like Lockney and he is a big fish in a little pond."

Boring said parents should look for gang signs in the clothing worn by their children. There will be a predominant color. "Instead of rags the big thing to wear now is belts with belt buckles displaying the gang insignia," said Boring.

"The child will have a 23 inch waist and wear a 36 inch belt which hangs way below his long shirt tail. The gang member will raise the shirt and flash his buckle."

Boring advised parents to check their children's notebooks and schoolbooks for graffiti. "You might also see a list of nicknames. That is a roll call of the people in the gang."

BY THE WAY

By Alice Gilroy

I took another tour of W.J. Mangold Hospital on Sunday during the Open House.

I never get tired of looking around that hospital. It has such a clean and fresh appearance and it is decorated beautifully.

I can't help but think as I look at all the modern equipment, the new ER, the new patient rooms, the maternity wing and the physical therapy rooms--that Methodist or St. Mary's Hospitals have nothing over W.J. Mangold.

They may be bigger--but they aren't any better.

I appreciate the doctors at W.J. Mangold. If they can't take care of the problem in this hospital they are caring enough to send you to someone who can.

I have a friend who recently had the misfortune of having to put her 9 year old son in the hospital for several days.

Without going into the nature of his illness I will just say that the family chose to treat it locally.

The Lockney doctors kept a close watch on him and communicated with specialists over the phone and through computers--sharing information and diagnosis.

Family, friends and even the boys teachers were able to visit daily. The nurses treated the youngster as if he was their own son--worrying over treatments and his reactions to them.

It is nice to know you are not only getting good medical care but you are also getting a lot of love mixed in with it.

The next time you need a hospital-give W.J. Mangold a try. They will work hard to get you well because they seem to really care about people and this community.

Parents hear drug program

Boring said children join gangs to get noticed, for love and protection and for a sense of unity and belonging.

"Many children come home and are never asked what is going on in their life. The gang always asks."

Boring reminded parents they have the right to tell their children what kind of clothes they can wear. "You can also take the phone off the wall and take it to bed with you at night if you need to."

Boring said, "Be attentive and responsive. Be aware of their music and tapes. Get out of the denial stage. Invite their friends over to your house and decide if those friends are a good influence on your child."

During the question and answer period, Bruce Ballou, the Chief Juvenile Probation Officer told the crowd, "About 90% of the kids who come thru our doors are chemically active."

Floyd County District Attorney encouraged the crowd to take a stand. "If you witness someone exchanging money for drugs then you have to be willing to make that phone call to police and then you have to be willing to be a witness in court."

LISD Superintendent Raymond Lusk briefed the audience on the current activities surrounding the implementation of a random drug testing policy in LISD.

He asked for a show of hands among parents who supported random drug testing and a large majority of those present raised their hands.

Lusk said, "Our main motive to having drug testing is not to catch kids who use drugs--it is to give them an excuse to say no. If someone offers them a drug they can say, 'I can't I might get tested at school.'"

Lusk said if the LISD makes the decision to have random drug testing they will have a public hearing before the new rule would be implemented.

In response to a question asking if anyone knew the percentage of kids using drugs in Lockney, Lusk said, "In a student survey at school, 9% said they were regular users of drugs or alcohol and 21% said they had tried it once."

When asked what drugs were the most prevalent in Lockney, Edwards said alcohol, marijuana and inhalants were the most commonly used.

In response to complaints of kids hanging out at the Methodist Church parking lot on Main Street late at night, Police Chief Jerry Edwards said, "That parking lot has been closed and now has No Trespassing signs posted on it. Many of the kids seen after hours are 17 years old and they are not subject to curfew laws."

Edwards encouraged parents to get more involved in where their children are late at night. Edwards said the children may not be breaking curfew laws but they should be breaking rules set at home.

The meeting began at 7:30 p.m. and ended at approximately 10:45 p.m. Panel members answered approximately 60 questions from the audience.

Panel members were: Lockney Mayor Gary Marr, District Judge Randy Hollums, County Judge Bill Hardin, District Attorney Becky McPherson, Juvenile Probation Officer Bruce Ballou, LHS Principal James Poole, Kay Brotherton, Catherine Boring, and Chief Jerry Edwards. Bil Anderson moderated the discussion.

The panel praised the community for their support and concern and thanked Chief Edwards for organizing the event.

Babe's Steak House opens

FLOYDADA--Visitors to Floydada's brand new restaurant, "Babe's Steak Barn", will at first be startled at the size of the rooms.

Located in the 400 block of E. Missouri, directly across from Babe's Service Center, the restaurant takes in 10,500 square feet.

The next impression will be delight at the wide open West Texas atmosphere.

The walls are decorated with western decor of old saddles, bridles, ropes, "block and tackle", old hardware and farm equipment, and even a Longhorn skull.

"I decorated it myself," said owner Babe Jones. "I built the inside to look like the outside of a barn."

"I don't own 20 pieces of anything on these walls. They were all given to me by people who saw what I was doing with the decorating."

The building houses an office, a main dining hall, a center dining hall, a band room, a beverage room, kitchen and storage.

Babe has created a bit of a stir in the community with the promise of serving alcoholic beverages in his "private beverage room".

The City of Floydada has no ordinances that prevent a private club from serving alcohol within the city limits.

Although the city has not had a business that served alcohol since the March 7, 1896 Prohibition vote, Babe's Steak Barn can legally serve liquor as a private club with proper state licensing.

"We are not going to open the beverage room for at least 6 weeks," said Babe. "I want people to come in and see that we aren't a bar. I'm not going to put up with any trouble here."

"I want people to come in and see the place, enjoy the atmosphere and taste our exceptional food."

The public has already responded to this call. Opening day was Friday, September 26th. On Saturday night, September 27, 204 people were served. The Sunday lunch crowd was 113.

Approximately 20-25 people are employed at Babe's Steak Barn. One head cook is assisted by 7 kitchen workers. "We can seat 240 people after our private room is completed," said Babe. "I don't see any reason why we won't be able to feed 600 people."

"I've been wanting to open a restaurant all of my life. My mother ran a boarding house in Trescott, Texas. I grew up around that and it got in my blood."

Babe moved to Floydada and started a trucking business, July 2, 1958. The business has been very successful and Babe has gradually bought up more property around his original business site.

In 1970 he built the building the restaurant is now housed in. Originally it served as an area for automotive and truck work.

In 1973 he expanded the building to open a Good Year Tire Store.

Two years ago Babe retired from the trucking business and built a gas station, tire store and truck service center across from the restaurant.

"That was the same time I started pursuing the dream of opening a restaurant. I had this building and I knew exactly what I wanted to do with it."

It has taken only 14 months to complete the remodeling project.

The kitchen is stocked with equipment designed to feed large groups of people very efficiently and quickly.

One cooker will cook up to 35 bris-kets. A "green cooker" will cook up to 35 quarts of beans or large quantities of stew or fried fish.

A semi trailer has been parked next to the building and remodeled to serve as the dry goods storage. "I've logged a million miles with that semi," said Babe.

Babe points with pride to the efforts that have been made to have spotless floors, rest-rooms, and kitchen. "We not only have all stainless steel appliances in the kitchen but our kitchen walls are aluminum and easy to keep clean."

Babe is hoping the public will use his band room for private parties, after-ball game parties, reunions, or even dinner theatres. "I'm open to any kinds of ideas."

Menu prices range from $14.95 for a 14-15 oz., 1 inch thick rib eye, to a 6 oz. portion of chicken fried steak for $5.95.

Fish, shrimp, chili, and beans and cornbread on also on the menu. Burgers, sandwiches, soups, salads, and desserts are other choices. Daily lunch specials include the main meat dish, potatoes, vegetable, salad, roll, tea and dessert for $5.50.

A full breakfast menu is also offered.

Babe's Steak Barn opens every day at 6:00 a.m. Monday-Thursday the restaurant will close at 9:00 p.m.

The closing hours for Friday and Saturday night are unknown at this time. On Sunday Babe's will close at 2:30 p.m.

Babe has been married to his wife, Nell, since 1965. They have three children: Larry Wayne Jones, of Paducah; Sharri Layne White and Kerri Dayne Arneel, of Floydada.

Business Of The Week

FLOYDADA--Floydada Livestock Sales Company has been a vital part of the surrounding agriculture community since 1958.

Originally built by Virgil Brashear, of Lockney, the Sale Barn was used to sell horses, cattle and hogs.

Clyde Sawl bought the business from Brashear expanding the business but limiting the sales to cattle.

John T. McCandless bought the business in October 1973 and with the help of his wife, Ouida, expanded the business some more.

His sons, Don and Darrell, bought into the business in 1973 and took over the management with their mother after their father was killed in a plane crash, Jan. 12, 1979.

In 1983 Don bought Darrell out and is now operating the business with Ouida. The full time office manager, Ailene Hambricht, as been with the business for 25 years.

Other full time employees are Clarence Pope and Johnny Nichols. Approximately 20 people are employed part time at the Sale Barn.

Wednesdays are the busy days at the Sale Barn. Averaging 800 head a week, Don says on big sale days in the fall, 1500-1800 head of cattle will be auctioned off.

The Wednesday sales are usually attended by 100-200 buyers and sellers.

"We start at about 11:00 am. and stop when we are through," said Don. Don says sellers travel from approximately a 70 mile radius and buyers come from as far away as 150-200 miles.

Although the business looks quiet most of the other days, each day is geared toward preparation for the sale day.

Cattle are brought in early and have to be fed and watered.

On sale day, cowboys sort and tag the cattle according to weight, size and sex. Rig employees drive the cattle into the ring and load them into trucks.

Don is the auctioneer and his wife, Lanell, makes up the sale tickets. Ouida weighs the cattle and pens them for the buyer.

Floydada Livestock Sales has served ranchers in the community not only for the sell and purchase of cattle, but it is also a favorite spot to socialize and exchange information about neighbors crops and livestock.

Those who have been in the cattle business for a long time and those who are just getting started always benefit by a trip to Floydada Livestock Sales.

Flu shots recommended for high risk groups

From Baylor College of Medicine
Even though influenza usually does not strike in force until November or December, now is a good time to start thinking about flu shots.

The reason: People at risk for possibly fatal flu complications should not be caught unvaccinated just in case flu starts early.

The largest group at risk are the elderly, but people younger than 65 with chronic underlying health problems, particularly those involving the lungs or the heart, have a high risk of hospitalization during the annual influenza epidemic.

"As soon as the annual vaccine becomes available, usually in September, people in high-risk groups should get inoculated," said Dr. W. Paul Glezen, epidemiologist at the Influenza Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston and an attending physician at Houston's Ben Taub General Hospital.

For most parts of North America, flu season begins in earnest after Thanksgiving, but, as happened in 1991, it can come earlier.

"If it hits early, the elderly and others need to be protected," said Glezen, who expects influenza B and a form of influenza A called A/Bayern to be the dominant strains in a moderate 1997-98 season.

Every year thousands of people, most of them elderly, die from pneumonia resulting from influenza, Glezen said, and many, perhaps most, of these deaths could have been prevented by vaccination.

Other people at high risk for possibly deadly flu complications: people

Reacting fast saves lives in fires

Fire prevention week is October 5-11, 1997. This year's theme is "Know When to Go: React Fast to Fire".

The National Fire Prevention Association (NFPA) estimates that approximately 80% of all fire deaths in the United States and Canada occur in the home. Only about one-fourth of all fire victims die from burns or heat; the rest die from inhaling smoke and poisonous gases or from lack of oxygen.

It is essential for family housing that a step-by-step escape plan be developed and practiced at least twice a year. Don't forget the installation and maintenance of smoke detectors can be a key to early warning.

In some occupancies, such as high rise buildings, the safest action when a fire alarm sounds may be to stay inside a dwelling unit and protect yourself from smoke until the fire department arrives.

In recent years, the three most frequent causes of fire in United States and Canadian homes have been: (1) cooking equipment, (2) heating equipment, and (3) arson or suspected arson.

By Coach Moerbe
LOCKNEY--The Lockney Longhorns struck early and often Friday night at Mitchell-Zimmerman Field in rolling to a 46-15 victory over the visiting Abernathy Antelopes.
 The Antelopes first offensive series came to a halt with a pass interception by the Horn's Adam Cummings. Two plays later the home team had a 7-0 lead as Cummings threw a 47 yard touchdown strike to a wide open Thad Lusk. Carson Johnson converted the PAT.

On the first play following an Abernathy punt, J.R. Walker added to the scoring on a 80 yard run around the right end. Johnson's point after touchdown was again true for a 14-0 lead.

The Longhorn air attack helped set up the third touchdown of the quarter. Following a 39 yard pass from Cummings to junior split-end Calvin Collins, Anthony Poole found the endzone on a two yard run to make the score 20-0. The extra points by Lusk upped the tally to 21-0.

Abernathy countered with an impressive drive. The Lopes got on the scoreboard on a 15 yard pass play from Marcus Gardner to Sammy Camacho.

But Lockney answered with a touchdown as Walker scored his second touchdown of the night to give the home town a 27-7 lead.

As the second quarter came to a close, the Lockney defense forced another Antelope punt and the offense capitalized with another score. Cummings ran 5 yards around right end and the half time score stood at 33-7.

In the third quarter both team's defenses took charge as the score remained 33-7, until another impressive drive by the Longhorns resulted in another touchdown. Another long pass play from Cummings to Collins set up Walker for another score, this time a 2 yard run up the middle as Lockney led 39-7 after 3 quarters.

A fumble recovery by Jeff Archer, which was caused by Cummings, and a interception by Jordan Lambert, kept the Abernathy offense at bay until late in the fourth quarter. Blake Oswald scored for Abernathy on a 2 yard run. Gardner passed to Angel Garcia to trim the Lockney lead to 39-15.

But the Longhorns answered with the final score of the night. Senior full-back provided the bulk of the yardage before Poole capped the scoring on a 13 yard run around the right end. Lusk's PAT closed out the score at 46-15 which raised the Longhorn's record to 3-1.

Lockney closes out non-district play with a 8:00 p.m. tilt this Friday at Buffalo Stadium in Petersburg.

Floydada Breezer Football Report

By: Sean Holster

FLOYDADA--The Floydada Breezers traveled to Lubbock Cooper on Thursday, September 25. The seventh grade team dominated the Pirates, closing with a final score of 20-0.

In the seventh grade game, Tyler Helms scored on a 1 yard plunge in the second quarter. In the fourth quarter, Dustin Covington scored on a 5 yard run. The PAT was scored by Andrew Arvizu on a 3 yard pass from Tyler Helms. Andrew scored again later on a 30 yard run.

Rudy Castaneda, Chase Tipton, Chris Dechant, Stephen Cuevas, and Jason Aleman were outstanding offensive players. Players who stood out on defense were Dustin Covington, who intercepted a pass, Bryce Bowley, Chase Mitchell, Chris Wiley and Brady Rainwater.

The eighth grade team had an excellent game also, but just fell short in a heart-breaking 20-14 loss.

In the eighth grade game, Edward Porter scored in the first quarter. Another touchdown was made by Edward again in the second quarter. Sean Holster completed the two point conversion on a 3 yard pass from quarterback Scott Nixon.

The Breezers went into halftime tied 14-14. In the second half, the defense held Cooper to only 6 more points, but the offense was unable to get the ball into the end zone. The Breezers were threatening to tie the game late in the fourth, but ran out of time.

T.J. Fuller, Michael Rea, Frank Hernandez, Chad Hinkle, and Edward

Porter shone on offense. The coaches also thought that Jose Ramos, Tye Wood, Matt Kirk, Sean Holster and Juan Gonzales made their presence known as defense.

Coach Jackie McNew is quoted as saying, "There was an outstanding team performance by both groups. The Breezers are getting better each week and good things are starting to happen". We encourage you to support your 1997-98 Floydada Breezers as they host the Littlefield Wildcats on October 2.

Seventh grade Horns continue to show improvement against Abernathy

By Coach Dowell
LOCKNEY--The seventh grade Shorthorns played the Abernathy Antelopes at Mitchell Zimmerman Field last Thursday night. After coming off a disappointing season opener against Post, the Horns bounced back with a better effort against Abernathy, even though a 30-0 score doesn't show the whole story.

The Horns showed much improvement on both sides of the football, but could not quite enter the endzone when they needed to score. Late in the game the Lockney team mounted a good drive led by quarterback Cody Bailey. Bailey connected on two passes to Matt McPherson and hit Jordan Martinez for another to start a 40 yard drive that ended with a Lockney fumble. Our offense moved the ball some, but kept shooting themselves in the foot at critical times. That combined with the fact that we are not hitting as hard as we need to is keeping us from being as good as we can be. Our kids worked much harder last week. With that kind of work ethic, I think it's only a matter of time before they start playing up to potential. I would like to thank our fans for being very supportive. That's exactly what this group needed to achieve some positive things.

We play Petersburg Thursday, October 2 at home, with the game starting at 5:00 p.m. Hope to see you there.

Lady 'Winds compete in Abernathy Invitational Meet

By: Coach Martinez
 The Lady Wind Cross Country team competed in the Abernathy Invitational last Saturday against 24 other schools. Tara McCandless placed 6th in the Varsity division with a time of 12:53. Lana McCandless finished 31st with a time of 13:43. Nichole Hartline ran a time of 15:00 while Kelsy Pierce finished with a time of 18:00.

In the JV division, Jackie Lucio placed 67th with a time of 17:00 while Amanda Williams ran a time of 18:09.

"The girls are getting stronger every week. This is a difficult race to run because you have to be mentally tough not only to race but to also be mentally prepared to practice. The cross country teams will run at the Lubbock IDS Invitational this Saturday and the field will contain approximately 50 teams and 300 runners. The meet will be held at Mae Simmons Park.

"About her hip replacement, doctor, I don't like the way she wiggles when she walks now."

FHS Senior Class meets

By Monica Galvan
FLOYDADA--On September 24, 1997, the senior class met in the FHS library. President Mario Nunez called the meeting to order and Mrs. Rita Kennedy was given the opportunity to talk to all the students.

The first topic discussed was that all seniors must have $13.00 in by December 12th in order to have color senior pictures in the 1997-98 yearbook. All seniors were told they must have their senior pictures at R-Photography scheduled by October 31st and that pictures must be taken by December 19th.

The seniors then discussed the rapid rise of the school spirit of FHS. The senior class was voted the "Most Spirited Class" for the pep rally September 19th and they were dismissed five minutes early for lunch on September 25th.

The cheerleaders explained that the theme for the pep rally September 26th will be "Beach Bash 97". The pep rally will have one guy from each class grade dressed as a girl (in a bikini top). They will model for the student body at FHS. The seniors elected a representative from three self-nominated guys. Senior Bobby Green was chosen to model for the pep rally.

On the morning of September 26th the seniors met in the library to make more posters to promote the letter "D". These were posted in the halls of FHS. Seniors were also told that on September 30th, Ronny Harris from Lubbock will be at Open House. They will have the opportunity to order senior necessities, such as caps, gowns, invitations, class rings, memory books and etc.

There was a question/answer session and the meeting was adjourned.

Matter of Fact

Rick Perry
Texas Agriculture Commissioner

In every rural community, kids are encouraged to help, pitch in and play a key role in the day-to-day operation around the family farm. But farms can also be a dangerous place where accidents - and unfortunately even fatalities - can happen to children who don't watch what they do.

A recent study in Wisconsin and Indiana revealed that 460 children under the age of 18 died in farm-related accidents between 1970 and 1990. The number of children injured during that time frame was not included in the study. Even had it been, chances are the number would have been artificially low since many farm-related accidents are never reported.

According to the study, accidents involving tractors were the main cause of farm fatalities. Runovers and rollovers accounted for most of the fatal injuries. It's not uncommon to see 7-year-olds helping out on the farm driving a tractor. However, most children that age just don't know what to do if something goes wrong.

I know parents want to instill a good work ethic in their kids. I certainly pulled my weight around the place when I was growing up back in Haskell. I'm not suggesting that anyone's children do otherwise, but parents should work to help minimize risk by giving kids tasks that are appropriate to their age and ability.

Remember: our children remain our most important farming legacy.

"FOCUS ON THE FAMILY" with Dr. James Dobson

Question: Are there times when good, loving parents don't like their own kids very much?

Dr. Dobson: Yes, just as there are times in a good marriage when husbands and wives don't like each other for a while. What you should do in both situations is hang tough. Look for ways to make the relationship better, but never give up your commitment to one another. That is especially true during the teen years. Wait patiently for him or her to grow up. You'll be glad you did.

DR. DOBSON

Question: I majored in education at a state university and was taught that children will provide their own motivation to learn if we give them an opportunity to do so. My professors favored a "student-led" classroom instead of one that depends on strong leadership from the teacher. The children will then want to learn rather than being forced to learn. Do you see it that way?

Dr. Dobson: I certainly agree that we should try to motivate kids to work and study and learn. They'll enjoy the process more and retain the information longer if their motivation comes from within. So I think your professors are right in saying that we should capitalize on students' natural interests whenever we can.

But it is naive to believe that any educational program can generate that kind of interest in every subject and sustain it for a majority of students day in and day out. That is not going to happen. Kids need to learn some things that may be boring to them, such as math or grammar, whether they choose to or not.

Max Rafferty, a former superintendent of public instruction in the state of California, reacted to the notion that children have a natural interest in everything adults think they should know. He said: "To say that children have an innate love of learning is as muddle-headed as to say that children have an innate love of baseball. Some do, some don't. Left to themselves, a large percentage of the small fry will go fishing, pick a fight, tease the girls or watch Superman on the boob tube. Even as you and I."

This educator is right. Many students will not invest one more ounce of effort in their studies than is required, and that fact has frustrated teachers for hundreds of years. Our schools, therefore, must have enough structure and discipline to require certain behavior from children whether or not they have a natural interest in the subject being taught.

Question: In one of your early books you talked about something you gave to your daughter that symbolized the importance of moral purity. Please describe it again.

Dr. Dobson: Yes, many years ago Shirley and I gave our daughter a small gold key. It was attached to a chain worn around her neck and represented the key to her heart. She made a vow to give that key to one man only—the one who would share her love through the remainder of her life.

You might consider a similar gift for your daughter or a special ring for your son. These go with them throughout adolescence and provide a tangible reminder of the lasting, precious gift of abstinence until marriage and then fidelity to the mate for life. I still recommend this approach enthusiastically.

Karnal Bunt disease discovered in San Saba hard red winter wheat

By Ron Graves

Karnal bunt made a big splash in many of the headlines when it was first discovered in the U.S. in March of 1996. This discovery was made in Arizona. By the time the disease was traced down, it was found that infected seed had been planted throughout Arizona, and on a more limited scale in California, New Mexico and Texas. Along with this discovery came panic, speculation, and general uncertainty about the market situation for U.S. wheat. Prior to, and indeed after this discovery, the U.S. has had a quarantine on karnal bunt infested wheat and other wheat from countries known to be karnal bunt infested. Prior to last week, this disease was only known to have infested durum, a spring wheat which is a specialty crop used for pasta production. Production of durum is primarily limited to Arizona, California, New Mexico and a few states in the Northern Great Plains. No discovery of infection had been detected in any of the major market classes of bread or pastry wheats: hard red winter, hard red spring, white wheat or soft red winter. After a brief hiatus in sales, many of our wheat buying partners continued to routinely purchase our wheat so long as it was declared as having been produced in a karnal bunt free zone.

This changed somewhat on Tuesday, September 9. Karnal bunt was discovered on samples from San Saba county, a hard red winter wheat producing county about 70 miles west of Killeen. At the time of this writing, numerous samples from surrounding counties have been evaluated, and none have been found outside the county. Samples from 11 farms have proven positive for infection with this disease. USDA-APHIS, Texas Department of Agriculture, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station have all reacted quickly to try to ascertain the extent of the problem, develop plans to isolate and if possible, eliminate the disease, to educate farmers and the public about the disease and to present alternatives to farmers who will be unable to plant wheat this year due to quarantine provisions.

It is appropriate that we take another look at this disease and its agronomic and economic importance. Karnal bunt is a seed and soil borne fungus which is similar in many aspects to the smuts and bunts which are common in U.S. wheat. It is not toxic to humans or livestock. At very high concentrations (infestations of 2 to 3%) this fungus gives a "fishy" flavor to flour and products produced with flour. It is not a major yield limiting disease. Its reproductive form is very weak, and levels of infestation seldom reach more than 3%. The conditions which favor infection of wheat are cool, humid weather with a wet soil surface at the time wheat is blooming. While this was the weather pattern that existed in San Saba county and much of the state in the Spring of 1997, it is not exactly typical weather for hard red winter wheat producing areas of Texas. Low humidities and a dry soil surface at bloom greatly inhibit the spread of this disease. On a negative note, once soils are infected, spores of this organism can persist for long periods of time in the soil. Under optimum conditions, this can be as long as 4 years. We are uncertain how long it will persist in wheat fields under environmental conditions typical to Texas. While fungicides can be effective on this disease, we have not identified any seed treatment or foliar fungicide which when used can be declared as 100% effective. No major source of genetic resistance has been identified for wheat breeders to use in preventing infection with traditional plant breeding techniques. We know that the disease can infest wheat and triticale, which is a wheat-rye cross, but it cannot infest other winter cereal crops such as barley, oats or cereal rye.

The major problems with this disease to Texas wheat farmers are harvesting concerns and marketing. Wheat marketing is fiercely competitive and global in nature. This infestation will likely be used as a marketing chip by our competitors and/or our buyers in an attempt to reduce prices or to tip sales in favor of countries offering wheat for sale which can advertise production in a country "free" from karnal bunt. It must be recognized that the U.S. had and has a quarantine on this disease, yet we are infested. Plant diseases such as this do not respect geographic borders, but will eventually find those climatic settings in which they can prosper, often in spite of man's attempts to prevent this from happening. Wheat produced in infested areas will be closely monitored, tested for presence of bunt spores and declared as either bunt positive or bunt negative. Buyers can be assured that if wheat is bunt negative, it will not pose a problem for end users. Bunt positive wheat will be heat treated and converted to feed before leaving the restricted area. We in the U.S. and our global wheat customers do not need to fear for wheat quality, despite the presence of this most unwelcome disease.

Harvesting concerns may be a real and localized problem due to regulations aimed at containing the disease in the infested area, as surveillance zones are created around infested fields. While the known infested fields will not be planted to wheat, each load of wheat cut in fields in surrounding surveillance zones will be monitored for the disease, creating a potential delay in turn around on trucks. Harvest equipment will also be steam cleaned upon leaving surveillance zones, creating some inconvenience for combiners.

The USDA-APHIS has an excellent web site on the internet with an abundance of information on karnal bunt, its life cycle and a running documentary of the efforts used to manage the disease in the durum wheat infestation in the southwestern U.S. This site may be visited at <http://www.aphis.gov/oa/bunt/kbhome.html>.

to further encourage the CRP's cost competitiveness.

Maximum CRP payments will be determined based on county average dryland cash or cash rent equivalent rental rates adjusted for site-specific, soil-based productivity factors. CRP payments can include an additional amount, not to exceed $5 per acre per year, as an incentive to perform certain maintenance obligations. Cost-share assistance will be provided to establish approved cover on land enrolled in the CRP.

Mom and daughter value family time on the stock show circuit

By Nancy Koger

During the last election, politicians focused attention on "soccer moms", and dedicated as they might be, those ladies can't hold a candle to "stock show moms".

Their season is all year, and they literally get "down and dirty" with their kids and animals. The best ones don't do the work for the youngsters, but enable them to tend and show for themselves. One such mom at the Howard County Fair is Betty Ann Fortenberry of Floydada, accompanying her 10 year old daughter Mandi Wood and three steers.

"I remarried and stock showing started out to be a thing to help the kids and the new dad gel. Now it's become a thing we all like to do together; it's been good for them and us too." Mrs. Fortenberry emphasizes "If the whole family doesn't want to do it, it cannot be done." She and Mandi brought the steers in for entry to the Big Spring Fair on a Thursday, while the older two boys stayed for school on Friday. They and their dad come in in time for the grooming Friday evening and the show on Saturday. Meanwhile, mother and daughter weigh in the steers, feed, water, and wash them.

Mandi said she didn't know how many hours a day she and her brothers spend with their animals. Her mother elaborated, "They feed the steers morning and evening, exercise them, and 'stick them' (use a show stick to teach them how to move their feet) every day. We have one white steer who has to be washed every day to keep him from staining."

The Fortenberrys formerly just went to their local and county shows, but recently, they've started "hauling to the shows all over". They get a new set of steers in March to get them ready for Oklahoma City in April, show them in the summer, then hit the big shows--San Antonio, Ft. Worth, and Houston. "We quit with a set of steers in Houston in February, get a new set of calves, and get them ready to start all over again," recounts the busy mom.

Why would a mother subject herself and her family to such stress?

Mrs. Fortenberry says they all learn something new every day and every show. She appreciates the idea that the children have a big responsibility, they learn showmanship (teaching them poise), and judging (teaching them logic). Mandi indicated that she's learned the most in judging other animals because "our county agent makes us give our reasons for our decisions".

This activity necessitates the kids' missing a certain amount of school. This mom defends her decision to do this, stressing, "Any teacher who thinks stock showing is just an excuse to miss school has my invitation to follow one of these kids for one show. Get in the wash rack at 4:30 a.m., go through the show, feed and groom, go ice skating all evening, get in at 1 or 2 o'clock, then get up and wash and blow dry the steer."

Over the sound of bawling cattle, Betty Fortenberry says, "Sure, it's fun, but it's work and learning, too." That's why stock show moms do what they do.

PCCA has second best year in member's total cash payouts

Total net margins of $27.4 million, its fourth best financial performance ever, were announced today by Plains Cotton Cooperative Association (PCCA) during its 44th Annual Stockholders Meeting in Lubbock. PCCA also announced a total cash distribution of $34 million, the cooperative's second best payout to its members. The distribution consists of $13.4 million in cash dividends, $17.1 million in stock retirements and $3.5 million in retirement of per-unit capital retains.

"For the second year in a row we have been fortunate to surpass all five cash payment and equity targets under our '20/20 Vision Equity Plan,'" PCCA President and CEO Van May said. "Members who market their cotton through PCCA have seen this financial plan help us maximize our year-end cash distributions to them now for four year." PCCA's textile division posted net margins of $17.7 million, which ranks in its top five finishes ever and its fourth best since PCCA acquired the denim mill at Littlefield.

"After 10 years of PCCA ownership, patronage margins from the mill have totaled $141 million, giving an average of $13.35 per participating bale," May added. "Cash paid to members, including this year has been $103 million in cash dividends and stock retirements and $27 million in retirement of per-unit capital retains for a total of $130 million."

PCCA's marketing division also achieved an outstanding performance as year-end margins ranked in the top five of its 44-year history, and PCCA also was honored to receive the Distinguished Supplier Award from the Milliken Company for the fifth consecutive year. PCCA is the only cotton supplier to ever achieve such distinction. In addition, both the West Texas/Oklahoma and South Texas Pools had banner years due to a variety of factors creating record member sign-ins to both programs.

PCCA members at the annual meeting re-elected the following directors to three-year terms on the cooperative's board: Larry Lockwood, District 3; Eddie Smith, District 4; Charles Macha, District 5; and Jackie Mull, District 6.

Local Angus breeders recognized in Sire Report

LOCKNEY—Jerry Williams and the Pine Tar Association of Lockney, own three bulls listed in the 1997 Fall Sire Evaluation Report published by the American Angus Association, which is headquartered in St. Joseph, Missouri. Issued in both the spring and fall, the new report features the latest performance information available on more than 5,200 sires.

"The American Angus Association has the most complete and comprehensive beef cattle database in the world," says John Crouch, American Angus Association director of performance programs. "Of the sires listed in the main report, 51 percent have expected progeny differences (EPDs) for carcass traits, which should assist cattlemen in choosing genetics that will produce a more consistent, higher quality beef product." EPDs are generated from performance data submitted by breeders through the Angus Herd Improvement Records (AHIR) program.

Traits in which EPDs are available include birth weight, weaning weight, milk, yearling weight and height, mature daughter weight and height, and scrotal circumference, as well as carcass traits including carcass weight, marbling, rib eye area, external fat thickness and percent retail product. The analysis for the sire evaluation report is done in cooperation with Iowa State University.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has amended the Section 18 specific exemption to use Tilt fungicide (propiconazole) to control the ergot on grain sorghum. Growers will be able to continue using Tilt fungicide until November 30, 1997. The original deadline was October 31, 1997.

The amendment also allows sorghum stover to be fed to livestock as long as the 21-day post-harvest interval is observed. Also, the 105-day rotational crop restriction, specified in the original Section 18, does not apply to sorghum as long as there is an active Section 18 and accompanying tolerances for use.

Applicators must have a copy of the Section 18 label and a copy of the amendment before they may apply Tilt Fungicide.

Better Business Bureau Report

Perhaps you have dreamed of starting your own business, but you are not quite sure where to start. Getting a new business up and running requires certain management skills and personality traits. If you are considering starting your own business, ask yourself: Do I have leadership qualities, personal drive and organizing abilities? Do I have expertise in the business I want to start? Do I know how to find my particular niche in the market and how to identify my customers? Can I obtain the capital I will need to start and keep the business running without getting into cash flow problems? If you answered YES to the majority of these questions, you may have what it takes to be successful in starting your own business. One of the most important beginning points is to develop a plan. Be realistic, factual and objective - present your goals in measurable and attainable terms. Consult with qualified professionals and ask other business owners for referrals. Contact the Small Business Administration and give the BBB a call at 763-0459 or (800)687-7890 for information on the type of company you are thinking about starting as well as reliability report on a company you are thinking about investing in as a franchise or broker agent, etc.

Have a good week!

TEXAS NATURAL RESOURCE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PERMIT-BY-RULE TO OPERATE A CONCENTRATED ANIMAL FEEDING OPERATION IN ACCORDANCE WITH TEXAS NATURAL RESOURCE

Caprock Industries, Inc., Route 1, Box 27, Lockney, Texas 79241, has filed an application with the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) to amend a(n) Air and Water Quality Permit-By-Rule under 30 Texas Administrative Code, Chapter 321, Subchapter K rules (Permit-By-Rule No. 01558). If this application is approved, Caprock Industries, Inc. will be authorized to expand a(n) existing beef cattle feedlot, from 38,500 to a maximum of 62,000 cattle in confinement. The location of the beef cattle feedlot is approximately 1.5 miles west of Farm-to-Market Road 378 from a point approximately three miles north of the intersection of Farm-to-Market Road 378 and Farm-to-Market Road 97 in the town of Lockney in Floyd County, Texas. The facility will generate and collect animal waste and wastewater on-site. Wastewater will be beneficially used on 203 acres of agricultural land located on-site. Waste will be beneficially used on agricultural land located off-site by a contract manure hauler. The facility is in the drainage area of White River Lake in Segment No. 1240 of the Brazos River Basin.

This application was received by the TNRCC on September 5, 1997 and was declared administratively and technically complete on September 23, 1997. A copy of the facility's application is available for public review during normal business hours in the feedlot's office at the location described above.

Legal Authority: Section 26.040 of the Texas Water Code and 30 TAC Subchapter K, Section 321.181-321.198 of the Rules of the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission.

Written comments concerning this application for permit-by-rule may be submitted. Comments should be submitted to the office of the Chief Clerk MC-105, TNRCC, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711. Comments must be received no later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice. In order for comments to qualify for consideration by the Executive Director, they must: (1) be sworn and in writing; (2) described in detail how the application, if approved, would affect a person, property, or other legally justiciable interest of the commenter; (3) describe in detail how the application lacks technical merit, i.e., fails to meet the a applicable requirements set forth in the rules of Subchapter K and therefore issuance of the permit-by-rule may result in detrimental impacts to ground water quality underlying the related concentrated animal feeding operation and/or detrimental impacts to surface water quality within one mile of the facility or present evidence demonstrating that the history of compliance by the applicant has resulted in detrimental impacts to such ground or surface water quality within these geographic limits; and (4) describe the specific action the commenter wishes the TNRCC to take in response to the application.

Individual members of the public who wish to inquire about the information contained in this notice, or to inquire about other agency permit applications or permitting processes, should call the TNRCC Office of Public Assistance, Toll Free, at 1-800-687-4040.
