What a relief!

I for one am happy Barbie's shape is changing

My shape has been in a continuous state of change since I was born and I see no reason why the woman with the "perfect body" should not have to finally face the music!

The fact that she has looked this way for 38 years does bother me, but it makes me feel better knowing she is going to have to have plastic surgery to look "more contemporary".

All those women who couldn't take it anymore and got their plastic surgery so they could look like Barbie are probably a little depressed. What are they going to do now that Barbie has decided the looks those same women used to have is the look Barbie now wants.

Life is so fickle!! It's just not fair! I do find some consolation in knowing that none of her clothes are going to fit now. Why should they?

I have to continually change my him!!

clothes because of the hot dryer shrinking them--why shouldn't she have those kind of problems!

She has been able to wear the same size since her last plastic surgery in 1977. Now I ask you--is that fair? This shape change isn't going to bother her at all. Someone else will shop for all her clothes and pay for them too! She isn't going to have to shop in garage sales to afford the clothes that will keep up with her changing body.

I personally think they need several kinds of Barbies. They could start out with a teenager's body, then a young woman, then a pregnant woman, then a woman who has given birth to couple of kids and has no time or money for work-outs in gyms, and then ending with a grandma Barbie. Put them all in a row and then stand perfect Ken up in front of them. I wonder which one he'll run to? Duh!!!

FISD gets "Acceptable" rating

By Juanita Stepp

FLOYDADA -- Rozanne Bishop, art instructor at Floydada Junior High, was named Teacher of the Month at the regular monthly meeting of the FISD board meeting. She was presented to the board by FJHS Principal Monty Hysinger. Board President Mitch Probasco gave her a certificate of recognition on behalf of the board and presented her with a gift certificate as a reward for her dedication to her job.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as presented by board secretary Charlene Brown. Payment of monthly bills for October was authorized on a motion by board member Amado Morales with a second by Steve Lloyd. All voted in favor.

Administrative assistant Dick Van Hoose presented a tax report stating that current collections stand at $853,856.05, representing a 47 percent collection rate. This compares to a 50 percent collection rate at this time last year.

The 1997 AEIS (Academic Excellence Indicator System) report was reviewed by counselor Kathy Jahay. She reported that all schools in FISD were given an acceptable rating ac- to benefit the district if they are apcording to the report.

Figures on the report reflect the 1996-97 school year which required 35 percent of the students taking the TAAS test to master all sections of the exam. The required mastery rates increase to 40 percent this year, 45 percent next year and to 50 percent in the year 2000 in order to retain the acceptable rating.

The full AEIS report is available at the school offices for public review. The report will be presented at a public hearing scheduled at 6:30 p.m. December 11, prior to the December board meeting.

proved the report as presented on a ternative school. motion by Jack Robertson with a second by Billy Joe Villarreal.

The vote was unanimously in favor of adopting the text book committee for the current school year as pre-Collins. Motion was made by Bill Dean and seconded by Lloyd.

Board members voted to approve the sale of a taxing entity owned lot at 631 East Georgia (Lot 14, Block 121, Original Town) to Curtis Ray Nichols. He submitted a bid of $300.00 for the lot. The motion came from Lloyd with a second by Dean. All voted in favor. The sale will not be finalized until all taxing entities with an interest in the lots have approved the offer.

Board member Robertson made a motion to approve LEGAL Policies and LOCAL policies for update 57 as presented and recommended by the Texas Association of School Boards. The motion was seconded by Lloyd and all voted in favor.

Van Hoose presented an overview of technology related grants the district is qualified to apply for, those which have been applied for, and the ways in which such grants will be used proved.

He also discussed briefly the advances which are now being carried out under the terms of a grant recently approved. Among the items mentioned was the fact that the High School is now on-line for internet usage to offer additional education and research opportunities to local students.

FHS Principal Joe Christian presented a policy to the board for approval. The policy is a written form of the current eligibility restrictions concerning UIL participation by FHS students enrolled at the CCLC (Ca-Board members unanimously ap- prock Counties Learning Center) al- posed was Morales.

According to Christian, attendance at this alternate campus is voluntary, and students are told that they will forfeit their eligibility to participate in UIL activities for the remainder of sented by Superintendent Jimmie their high school time as a condition of attending CCLC.

> Approval of a written policy is necessary to enable the district to delete these students from the official count to determine UIL classifications for the district said Christian.

The official student count this year on October 24 which will be used to determine UIL classification was 309 students at FHS and 14 FHS students at the alternative school said Christian. The minimum number of students needed to remain a 3-A school at the last biannual redistricting was 305.

A small change downward when the current year is considered could lower Floydada to 2-A status if CCLC students are not counted said Christian. He reminded the board that the count was adjusted downward by 10 at the last biannual reassessment and could be adjusted again if UIL policy makers so desire.

Board Member Morales asked what the policy is for other schools involved in the alternative school. Van Hoose, the former principal at the campus, said that Lorenzo allowed their students to participate and that was the only district he knew about.

Morales asked that the other districts be contacted to determine their restrictions or lack of restrictions concerning CCLC students and UIL eligibility. This report will be presented at the December meeting.

A motion was made by Dean and seconded by Robertson approving the policy as presented. The motion passed on a 6-1 vote. Voting in favor were Dean, Robertson, Probasco, Lloyd, Brown, and Villarreal. Op-

LISD hears report of AEIS ratings

LOCKNEY-The Lockney Independent School Board met in regular session on November 13 to approve the AEIS Report, make localized policy updates and hear reports from administrators.

Members of the board reviewed the Academic Excellence Indicator System Report for 1996-97. The Lockney Independent School District and Lockney Elementary School received 'Recognized' ratings. The junior high and high school received 'Acceptable' ratings. According to Superintendent Raymond Lusk, "The schools will continue to work towards the 'Exemplary' rating."

Goals set forth by the school district for the coming year include, meeting the educational needs of all students; achieving a high attendance rate; securing and maintaining a highly qualified staff; providing and maintaining quality facilities which meet the educational needs of the students; providing students and staff with a school climate conducive to learning; and to actively involve parents in the education of their children.

The board voted to amend the budget to include two grants that have been received by the school system.

The Technology Inovation in Education Federal Grant was received by Lockney, Floydada, Plainview, Olton, Hale Center and Wayland. The revenue and expenditure for this grant was $79,098.27. The money was used for computers, printers, software, education and installation. The work has been completed at the Goals 2000 Federal Grant. This reading program grant was received by the Lockney and Plainview Elementary campuses. Lockney has used part of this grant for a one-on-one reading program and part for the accelerated reading program.

Principal Phil Cotham explained to the board members how the One-On-One Reading Program works. "We have four assistants who spend forty percent of their school day working with the one-on-one reading program. They are paid for that time bythe Goals 2000 grant.

"Students spend 30 minutes each day reading with an assistant. The assistant comes to the classroom for the child and on the way back to the reading building they discuss what they want to accomplish for that day. Continued On Page 8

against programs inducing tracers

The Federal Housing Commissioner of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development responds to individuals who may be lured into full or part-time jobs seeking refunds for persons who have money due them that is One-Time Mortgage Insurance Premium (OTMIP) from the Mutual Mortgage Insurance fund.

HUD advises caution regarding "various programs" created to induce people to become tracers. What it has reference to, in the Bureau's opinion, are offerings by some to "sell" instruction for setting up a full or part-time business attempting to locate people who may be eligible for refunds. These mortgagors at one time sold their homes financed by HUD guaranteed loans, and were due refunds from unused portions of the insurance remaining as a result of the sale.

The OTMIP program has been in effect since September 1983 and requires the collection of any up-front mortgage insurance payment at the time the mortgage is insured. Mortgagees must notify all mortgagors who have mortgage insurance under this program of their possible eligibility for a refund both at the time of loan origination and insurance termination. HUD says their agency attempts to contact those due refunds, but after a two-year location cycle, information on cases remaining unpaid is made available or released to the public.

With the enactment of what became known as the Taxpayers Bill of Rights II, the public was provided with greater access to the IRS Form 990, the financial information return that charities annually file with federal and state governments.

Among other things, Form 990 includes detailed information on a charity's income and expenses within the past year. Previously, charities were required to show a copy of the return only to those who requested it at the charity's offices.

Now, organizations are required to provide copies of the Form (for a reasonable fee to defray costs) in response to mailed requests. This measure helps to assure that donors and others have easier and quicker access to financial information directly from the charity. (Please note that churches and small charities with a gross income of less than $25,000 are not required to file the form with the IRS).

I hope I have not left anyones name off. Forgive me if I have. I received lots of cards and phone calls since the party from those who could not attend. You all have given me some wonderful memories. Thank you. The "This and That" Hobby Club food irradiation, long used to retard food spoilage and to preserve certain food products, could be an effective means of killing harmful bacteria, such as the E. coli linked to the recent recall of 25 million pounds of hamburger meat and the closing of Hudson Foods' Columbus, Nebraska plant.

According to a recent article appearing in Texas Agriculture, a bimonthly publication of the Texas Farm Bureau, research has shown that food irradiation, which destroys bacteria by exposure to gamma rays, is completely safe. In fact, irradiation is already being used in the U.S. pork and poultry industries to kill trichina and salmonella. However, the Food and Drug Administration has yet to approve the process for beef.

"Because there is approval by the FDA for poultry irradiation, it is almost certain that approval will be given to the petitions for irradiation in beef. What has taken so long... from Ten computers and many library books will be purchased using the Goals 2000 grant. The computers will be installed in the elementary classrooms and used for the accelerated reading program. Having the computers in the classrooms will better utilize the time spent on the reading program.

Junior High Principal Terry Ellison reported to the board on the work they are doing in the junior high computer lab. IBM computers are being installed as part of the technology grant. The old computers will be distributed between the other schools and the athletic offices in the gym.

Updates were made to the TASB Localized Policy Manual 57. Changes were made to standardize the language of the mandates. A copy of the policy is available in the superintendent's office.

"School is progressing fairly well," Ellison related to the board. "We have some problems with students not turning in their work. One mother even came and sat with her son for a week to ensure that his was turned in."

Principal James Poole said students not turning in their work is one of the problems they also have at high school. "We are always working on ways to motivate students who do not turn in home or class work or who have trouble finishing their work. We also stay in close contact with the parents of these students." Hunters warned of Lyme disease

By: Ron Graves Extension Agent-IPM Crosby/Floyd Counties

Now that Texas hunting season has begun, a succession of seasons including dove, duck and deer will send many hunters into the woods. And with the number of cases of Lyme disease increasing, hunters need to take extra precautions to avoid ticks this season.

While Lyme disease is a preventable disease, the number of cases in Texas have doubled in the last year. The primary transmitter of the disease is still the deer tick

Lyme disease patients respond to antibiotic treatments of tetracyclines and certain penicillin, especially when the disease is diagnosed early. However, left undiagnosed and untreated it can become extremely debilitating, affecting the joints, nervous system and heart. Preventive measures such problems such as numbness, tingling in the extremities, and loss of concentration and memory.

When in habitats likely to be infested with ticks, certain precautions can be taken to avoid tick bites. There is no reason for panic if you are bitten. Contracting Lyme disease from a tick bite depends on whether or not that tick was a carrier of the infectious agent and on how long the tick had been feeding on you.

Because the movement and bites of ticks are seldom felt, careful and frequent examination of the body and clothing is imperative. To obtain some degree of protection against ticks and make their detection easier, wear lightcolored clothing, a long sleeved shirt, trousers and trouser legs inside tops of socks. A ring of masking tape with the sticky side out placed around the tops of boots or shoes will often trap ticks that are ascending to look for an attachment site. Repellants and insecticides can also be effective in preventing tick bites if properly used in accordance with label directions. Remember don't think Lyme disease can be transmitted during deer processing, but hunters should practice certain safety procedures anyway. When hunters return to their homes or cabins, they should always check their clothing, their bodies, and their hunting dogs for ticks and remove them promptly. Live ticks can be submitted for examination to determine the presence of Lyme spirochetes. Contact the Texas Department of Health at (512) 458-7605 for information on collection and shipping.

Boll weevils swarm traps at experiment station

More than 5,000 cotton boll wee- vice. vils swarmed around a single pheromone trap at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station here recently when calm, warm weather made conditions good for the insects' response to the attractant.

The boll weevil swarm around the Experiment Station's trap was "indicative that there was indeed a large boll weevil population in parts of the High Plains this year," Rummel said.

The swarm occurred just three days after a four-county tour led by State Senator Robert Duncan (R-Lubbock) to assess damage the boll weevil caused the High Plains cotton crop. Scarcity of overwintering habitat

Although the majority of this season's cotton crop was planted late and suicidal boll weevil emergence in the spring was high, the population still surprised experts this year. Rummel said they had all been amazed at the rapid spread of the pest since 1993. It was much faster than they had anticipated, he said.

Lyme disease in humans is often called a "great imitator" because of its ability to mimic a wide variety of illnesses including influenza, arthritis, syphilis, multiple sclerosis, and Alzheimer's disease. People living in or visiting Lyme disease endemic areas, who are bitten by ticks, are advised to watch for symptoms of the disease. Early symptoms of the disease include a characteristic real bull's eye rash and/or flu like symptoms. It performs all monitoring of Case IH Early Riser® Cyclo Air® planters and Case IH Concord Air Seeders, according to Kurt Schenck, marketing manager for planting and seeding equipment.

"These are high-production systems designed to place the seed in the optimum environment for uniform germination and emergence. When you add to that the ability to vary input rates across the field, it sets a new standard for precision planting and seeding operations," he adds.

"Allowing farmers to develop prescription applications will help them use crop inputs more efficiently to optimize yield potential across the field," explains Doug Rehor, program manager for Case IH AFS Tractor and Implement Systems.

"Thanks to the success of the AFS yield monitoring and mapping technology used with Case IH Axial-Flow combines, we have thousands of customers with yield maps showing clear evidence of variability in their fields," says Rehor. "With an AFS planter or air seeder, they'll have the opportunity to respond to that variability."

Unlike conventional planters and air seeders that use ground-driven meters, the new AFS systems use a series of hydraulic drives that are controlled by an in-cab computer and electronic

New, "smart" seed sensors will provide industry-leading seed counting accuracy on AFS planters "If an operator sets his corn planting rate to 30,000 seeds per acre, the sensors will verify that the planter is planting at that rate," explains Rehor.

The AFS planters will be offered initially on 12, 16, 24-row and 12/23 front-fold sizes as well as the 5500 Soybean Special. TDA proposes smaller zone proposal to create a smaller Southern High Plains boll weevil eradication zone has been published in the November 14 Texas Register. A 30 day comment period will be open for feedback on the proposal.

By Shawn Wade

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG) the proposal comes in response to producer efforts to reorganize the Southern High Plains/Caprock eradication zone created by Senate Bill 1814, 75th Legislature, 1997.

If finalized, the new zone will be subject to the same rules governing the previous zone. Producers in the new Southern High Plains Zone must vote to establish the zone and to carry out eradication activities in that zone. PCG officials are working to obtain more details about the proposed A Texas Department of Agriculture change. If finalized the new Southern High Plains Zone would, it is assumed, have a representative appointed to the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation Board of Directors.

> All land not specifically included in the description of the new zone will remain in the previously set Southern High Plains/Caprock Zone.

As detailed in the Texas Register notice the new Southern High Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone will be composed of the following areas:

all of Andrews, Gaines and Yoakum counties; all of Terry County except FM 303 east to Highway 385 and all land north and east of a line with boundaries of County Road 320, Cemetery Road, and a line 5 miles north extends from the Terry County line east for 10 miles, then turns south to Highway 380, and runs east to the intersection of FM 212 before turning south to the Borden County Line.

received no later than 30 days from publication of the proposed rule. Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Incorporated (PCG) estimates that as much as 70 percent of the cotton in the Texas High Plains has now been harvested. A week of cold fronts with showers, drizzle, snow and other undesirable conditions has slowed harvest activity throughout the region.

Producers with cotton still in the field look forward to a return of more seasonal conditions so that the remainder of the crop can be harvested.

Many area gins report significant backlogs of cotton. The weather imfor all land north of a line 1.25 miles posed break in field operations should south of the Hockley County line from provide some gins an opportunity to reduce the amount of cotton sitting on gin yards.

Texas Farm Bureau sets annual 64th convention

A statewide candidate forum will be one of the many highlights of the 64th annual Texas Farm Bureau Convention in Arlington, November 29 through December 3. "Each candidate will be given the opportunity to express their views on specific agricultural issues and the role of government," said Floyd County Farm Bureau President Monty Teeter. "This very important part of the convention will give farmers and ranchers across the state a better understanding of the candidates' stance on issues critical to ag producers," Monty said. A wide variety of activities are planned during the 5-day session including a number of award presentations.

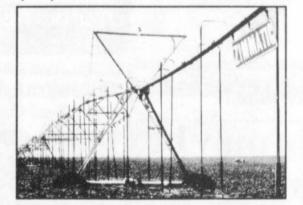

"Over the weekend Farm Bureau will feature the talents and abilities of its youth in several entertaining contests. An exhibitor showcase also opens and includes motor vehicles and agricultural exhibits to name a few," Monty said.

Highlights of the convention's general session December 1 are the president's message from TFB President Bob Stallman and an invitation to Governor George W. Bush as the meeting's featured speaker.

The TFB convention concludes with a business session which allows Farm Bureau delegates to debate, discuss and vote on state and national policy recommendations. Those state issues adopted will become state policy for the organization in 1998. Approved national recommendations will be forwarded to the American Farm Bureau Federation's annual convention in January in Charlotte.

High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 submitted an application for a Texas weather modification license on November 6, 1997.

The purpose of the weather modification operation is to increase rainfall. The period of the permit is for January 1 through December 31 in each of the years of 1998, 1999, 2000, and 2001.

The proposed weather modification operation is to be conducted for and on behalf of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, a political subdivision of the State, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405.

The proposed weather modification operation is to be carried out in both an "operational area" and a "target area" to cause the intended effects to occur only in the target area. The operational area is that area including Armstrong, Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Terry, and Yoakum Counties, which is the target area and those portions of the following counties within 30 mile of ~the outer boundary of the target area: Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Garza, Dickens, Motley, Moore, Briscoe, Swishier, Hartley, Carson, and Kent Counties and Quay, Roosevelt, Curry, and Lea Counties in New Mexico.

The area to be affected by the proposed weather modification operation is the target area. The target area is that area described as the southwestern part of Armstrong County and all of Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Terry, and Yoakum Counties.

The methods and material to be used in conducting this operation are summarized here: A licensed meteorologist will select cumuloform clouds or other appropriate clouds for cloud-seeding using a weather radar display, standard meteorological analyses, forecasting techniques, surface weather observations, and pilot reports to initiate the release of the seeding particles, such silver iodide crystals, from airplanes equipped with flare racks and/or generators.

Persons interested in knowing more about the technical aspect of the proposed operation should contact the applicant or George Bomar, MC 158, TNRCC, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087, (512) 239-0770.

Requests for hearing on this application must be submitted in writing during the 30 day-notice period to the chief clerk's office, MC 105, TNRCC, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087, (512) 239-3300. Requests for hearing must be received by the Commission within 30 days of the date of the first publication of this notice. If at least 25 eligible persons make written request, the Commission will hold a public hearing on the application prior to issuance of the permit. True or False? You drink. You Drive. You Walk

Research by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse shows that one out of four high school seniors has driven while intoxicated on at least one occasion during the past year, and 17 percent have driven while drunk several times during the past year.

That's why TCADA has developed a Zero Tolerance Quiz to help educate young Texans about the state's new zero tolerance alcohol law.

The new law, authored by Senator Royce West, D-Dallas, and Representative Allen Place, D-Gatesville, prohibits Texans under age 21 from having any amount of alcohol in their blood. Minors found violating Texas liquor laws run the risk of losing their drivers' licenses--whether the offense involves driving under the influence of alcohol, or consuming, possessing, purchasing or attempting to purchase alcohol.

State officials said that the greatest declines in alcohol-related traffic deaths and injuries in states adopting zero tolerance laws have occurred when the new law was accompanied by public education and publicity campaigns. The TCADA quiz was devised to help increase public awareness of the law.

ZERO TOLERANCE QUIZ

(Answers apply to people under age 21) 1. Your first alcohol purchase could cost you as much as: a) $5 b) $100

c) $250 d) $500

2. What is the legal amount of alcohol for you to have in your blood? a).10 b).07 c).02 d).00

3. How long can you lose your driver's license the first time you are caught drinking and driving? a) 30 days b) 60 days

c) 120 days d) 180 days 4. Which of the following are criminal violations?

a) Trying to buy alcohol b) Using a false ID c) Drinking alcohol

d) Possessing alcohol 5. If you are 17 or older, what penalties could you face for your third alcohol related conviction? a) Community service

b) License suspension d) Jail time

TRUE or FALSE

6. Your license can be suspended if you refuse a breath test. 7. An order of deferred adjudication is not considered a conviction when counting previous convictions.

8. An officer can ticket you for driving under the influence without giving you a breath test.

ANSWERS

1. $500: The first time you buy alcohol, you could receive a fine up to $500, in addition to 8-12 hours of community service, a 30-day suspension of your driver's license, and required attendance at an alcohol awareness course. This is true of all alcohol-related violations that do not involve driving.

2..00: As of September 1, 1997, you can be arrested if you have any detectable level of alcohol in your body, even if you aren't driving. This is known as "zero tolerance."

3. 60 days: In addition to losing your license for 60 days, you can face a fine of up to $500, 20-40 hours of community service, and mandatory attendance at an alcohol awareness course.

4. All of them: Until you turn 21, it is against the law to buy, drink, or possess alcohol. Trying to buy alcohol carries the same punishment as actually buying it. It is also against the law to use a false ID.

5. b,c and d: If you are 17 or older, your third alcohol-related conviction could result in suspension of your driver's license and jail time for six months. In addition, you could be fined $200-$2,000 and required to go to an alcohol awareness course.

6. True: Your license can be suspended for 120 days the first time you refuse a breath test, 240 days the second time, and a full year for additional refusals.

7. False: An order of deferred adjudication IS considered a conviction in these cases.

8. True: Officers can ticket you for Driving Under the Influence (DUI) if they smell any trace of alcohol on your breath. But if you are arrested for Driving While Intoxicated (DWI), the officer must ask for a breath test to establish that your Blood Alcohol ConFloyd County ChurchDirectory

"FOCUS ON THE FAMILY" with Dr. James Dobson

Question: Do you recommend premarital counseling for engaged couples? If so, why? My fiancee and I have spent hours getting to know each other over the past year, so why should we bother with the time and expense of counseling?

Dr. Dobson: Premarital counseling is a must and can literally be a marriage-saver. Furthermore, these sessions can help young men and women overcome the cultural tendency to marry virtual strangers. Let me explain.

The typical couple spends much time talking, as you and your fiancee have done. Still, they don't know each other as well as they think they do. That's because a dating relationship is designed to conceal information, not reveal it. Each partner puts his or her best foot forward, hiding embarrassing facts, habits, flaws and temperaments.

Consequently, the bride and groom often enter into marriage with an array of private assumptions about life after the wedding. Then major conflict occurs a few weeks later when they discover they have radically different views on non-negotiable issues. The stage is now set for arguments and hurt feelings that were never anticipated during the courtship period.

That's why I strongly believe in the value of solid, biblical premarital counseling. Each engaged couple, even those who seem perfectly suited for each other, should participate in at least six to 10 meetings with someone who is trained to help them prepare for marriage. The primary purpose of these encounters is to identify the assumptions each partner holds and to work through the areas of potential conflict.

The following questions are typical of the issues that a competent counselor will help the couple address together:

*Where will you live after getting married?

*Will the bride work? For how long?

*Are children planned? How many? How soon? How far apart? *Will the wife return to work after babies arrive? How quickly? *How will the kids be disciplined? Fed? Trained?

*What church will you attend? Are there theological differences to be reckoned with?

DR. DOBSON

*How will you respond to each set of in-laws? Where will you spend Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays?

*How will financial decisions be made? Who will write the checks? How do you feel about credit?

*Will a car be bought with borrowed money? How soon? What kind?

*How far do you expect to go sexually before marriage?

*If the bride's friends differ from the groom's buddies, how will you relate to them?

*What are your greatest apprehensions about your fiancee (e)? What expectations do you have for him/her?

This is only a partial list of questions to be discussed and considered. Then a battery of compatibility tests is administered to identify patterns of temperament and personality.

Sometimes the findings are quite shocking. Indeed, some couples decide to postpone or call off the wedding after discovering areas of conflict down the road. Others begin working through their differences and proceed toward marriage with increased confidence. In either case, men and women typically benefit from knowing each other better.

Someone has said that the key to healthy marriage is to keep your eyes wide open before you wed and half closed thereafter. I agree. Premarital counseling is designed to help engaged couples accomplish that.

RIGHTS SHREDDED

read a great quotation in Forbes magazine a few months ago. It's from James Bovard's book, Lost Rights.

He writes: "While courts have created new due process rights for welfare recipients, disruptive school children, and criminal defendants, the rights of farmers, homeowners, parents, and businesses have been shredded. The modern idea of due process appears to be to permit citizens to exhaust their life savings fighting court battles against heavy-handed government agencies."

It seems to me, as well, that people who raise their families, pay their taxes, obey the law, keep up with their mortgages and mind their own business are the only ones for whom our society has not carved out special rights. Quite often they are treated as if their lives, property and livelihoods are of little consequence.

The government's treatment of an 82-year-old California woman offers a textbook case of how this works. Back in the '70s, Mrs. Suitum and her late husband bought an undeveloped lot near Lake Tahoe on which they hoped some day to build a home for their retirement. The cost of caring for her husband when he became ill absorbed most of their income for years, so it wasn't until 1989, after her husband had died, the Mrs. Suitum was able to proceed with her plans.

But predatory land-use regulations, driven by narrow special interests, had a surprise in store for her. Although her lot was in a subdivided area, surrounded by existing houses and streets, she was told she could not build because her property was in a "stream environment zone." Run-off from her lot might (just might) pollute Lake Tahoe. Only after an expensive, protracted legal battle did the U.S. Supreme Court finally rule earlier this year that she had been unfairly and unconstitutionally denied the use of her property. Poor Mrs. Suitum. For the elderly especially, justice delayed is justice denied.

There are countless other examples of this.

Item: The Internal Revenue Service has announced plans to raise taxes on limited partnerships, a rule change that would impose tax increases on tens of thousands of small businesses, although Congress rejected this proposal less than four years ago.

Item: A night club in Bellevue, Washington was assessed a $4,500 fine under the Americans with Disabilities Act because it did not have a wheelchair lift attached to its stage for disabled dancers.

Item: The EPA requires local drinking water suppliers to test for 25 additional contaminants every three years, regardless of whether they occur locally or pose any actual health risk. This costs municipal utilities millions annually, which must be passed on to citizens in the form of higher utility bills.

These are but a few of many depressing examples of government run amok. But there are reasons to believe that fewer such instances will occur in the future. Congress has enacted laws requiring that the economic impact of proposed new regulations be determined. This is slight progress, but we need more. And what we really need most in federal regulations is simple: common sense

CAUTION URGED NEAR SCHOOL BUSES Drivers are reminded to use caution and be alert when near a school bus. When approaching a bus with alternately flashing red lights, drivers must stop and not pass until the red lights are no longer flashing and the bus has resumed motion or the bus driver signals you to proceed.

The only time a driver need not stop is when meeting or passing a school bus which is on a different roadway (divided highway), or when the bus is stopped in a loading zone and pedestrians are not permitted to cross the road-

You won't believe where I'm calling from.

And you won't believe the group I've run into. Let's just say Thanksgiving is not their idea of a holiday. My advice is to run for it but they won't budge. I even tried yelling, "stuffing!" I'll call you later with an update. It'll probably be at night or on the weekend when the call is free. I'm really thankful I've got my Cellular One phone, otherwise

I'd be talking to a bunch of turkeys. Bye for now.
