Mangold Fitness Center now open

W.J. Mangold Memorial Hospital in Lockney has opened a rehabilitation and fitness center across the street south of the hospital. Working at the center are Dana White, Physical Therapist and Consultant; Amy Long, Center Coordinator and Physical Therapist Assistant; and Kristal Wilson, Office Manager and Physical Therapist Assistant.

An open house at the new facility was held Thursday, October 28. Approximately one hundred interested persons toured the facility.

According to White, "We would like for anyone interested in the center to come by for a visit, ask questions and try out the equipment. The center has something to offer everyone. Our goal is to provide the community with a pleasant environment in which to exercise. We will give instructions on the proper way to use the equipment in order to get the best benefit from their workouts."

"The therapy services, we are presently offering with a doctors prescription, will continue in the new building and cardiac rehabilitation can be done here. Anyone with cardiovascular problems will be required to get an okay from their doctor before starting an exercise program. Anyone else can exercise without a doctors prescription," she stated.

Equipment available at the center for building endurance and for cardiovascular training include stationary bicycles, treadmills, and a stair stepper.

A free weight area is available for muscle building and strengthening. Leg and arm weight machines are available for toning.

"We have enough machines to exercise every part of the body and we are hoping to be able to offer aerobics classes and education classes on diabetes and arthritis in the near future," White said.

Membership prices are $50.00 for the first months fee which includes a consultation and instructions on an individualized exercise program. An appointment is recommended for the first consultation.

Fees after the first month are $30.00 for a family and $20.00 for an individual for unlimited use of the facility. Exercises will be on a first come first serve basis. Children using the facility need to be over 15 years old. Anyone younger than 15 must be accompanied by a parent.

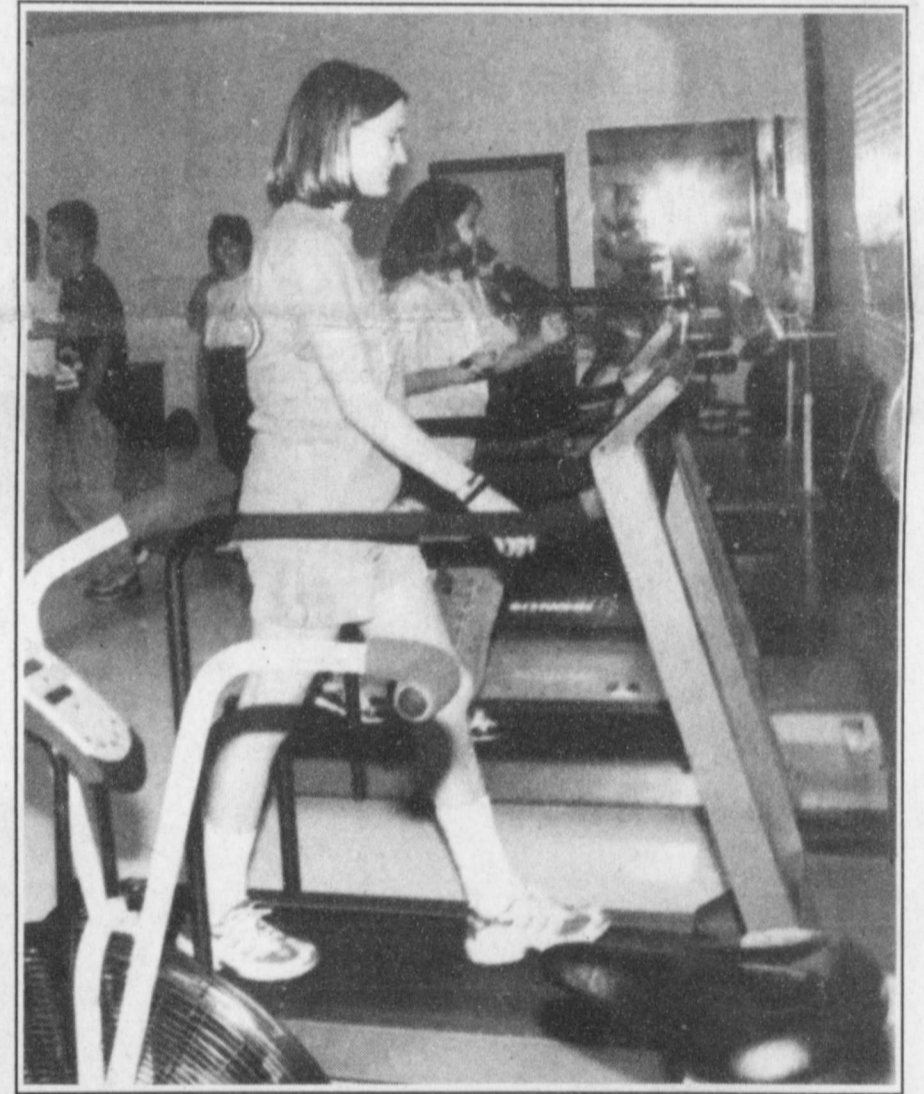

Childcare will be provided from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday for those who want to exercise and don't have anyone to keep their kids. The cost will be $1.00 per child.

The center is open from 6:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 6:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Friday and 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 on Saturdays.

See you at the County Championship game Friday night in Lockney!

Boll Weevil zone representatives named

By Roger Haldenby

Cotton growers from the six counties comprising the Northern High Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone met in Tulia, October 28, to discuss the next steps in turning back the rising tide of boll weevils.

Although no growers from Armstrong or Randall Counties were actually present, 66 were there to represent their gins and fellow farmers. The meeting organizers had asked each of the 32 gins in the zone to send at least one representative, two if possible.

Matt Brockman, the Commissioner of Agriculture's Special Assistant for Producer Relations, clarified to the group the State's rules and regulations surrounding development and conduct of a referendum in the zone. Representatives from each county chose by caucus eleven producers for recommendation to the Commissioner for appointment to the zone's grower advisory steering committee.

Floyd County Representatives chosen were: Jim Finley, David Patterson, and Dan Smith.

Briscoe County Representatives are: James Alan Patton and Max Weaver.

Hale County Representatives will be: Weldon Melton, Steve Olsen, Mike Price, and John Starnes.

Swisher County Representatives chosen were: Barry Evans and Johnnie Reed.

The Commissioner will be asked to confirm the appointment of these eleven to the committee along with one grower from Armstrong county and one from Randall.

The group was given a unanimous vote of confidence from those present at the conclusion of the meeting. The next step for the committee will be to work with the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation to draft a plan for eradicating the weevil from the zone and an associated budget. From the budget an assessment proposal will then need to be developed.

The process will culminate in conduct of a referendum of cotton growers in the zone voting on confirming establishment of a program, approval of an assessment to fund the proposed program, and election of a member to the Foundation's board of directors.

One of the many issues now troubling our lawmakers is what to do, if anything, about sales taxes on the internet.

Given the amount of money now available to the political process from those involved in the so-called "information highway", we suspect that not much will be done. Anyone having any doubts on this score may contact our President, whose fund raising success in California's Silicon Valley, and in our own Austin Texas, has quickly become legendary. Most of them would prefer that things be left pretty much as they are.

But would that be a good idea? We think not.

At the moment sales made across state lines are largely tax free. Various court rulings have taken a dim view of states placing taxes on items in interstate commerce. There are exceptions, of course, such as when you might order things from the catalogue of a company that maintains a "presence" in our state (or any state), but states generally are prohibited from requiring taxes from out-of-state concerns that have no "presence" in the state and rely exclusively on mail orders.

For instance, Chicago-based Sears, Roebuck and Co., sells, or used to sell, many items through their catalogue. But they also have a "presence" in Texas, through their many stores in this state. So you paid a sales tax on stuff ordered or bought through Sears, whether you bought it from either source.

Along comes the internet, and the business of "direct sales" becomes a multi-billion dollar operation almost overnight. The question of what to do about revenue lost to state treasuries becomes more than a small academic discussion.

There are valid arguments on both sides of the issue. The argument was made, when the internet was getting started, that the government ought to do nothing that might inhibit the growth of an industry holding so much promise. That was a valid argument. But the internet is no longer a new, struggling business. Aside from the fact that most internet operations are losing money hand over fist, they are still attracting billions of investment dollars, and the internet itself is involved in billions of dollars in interstate commerce.

Given the facts as they have developed, we think sales over the internet should be treated in the same manner as sales over the counter...that is, subject to the same taxes. Any other approach leaves the small town merchant (along with local citizens of any category) who must pay taxes to the local school district, the local hospital district, the local water district, the local city and county governments, at a distinct disadvantage. Any advantage passed on to out-of-state concerns must be compensated for, out of necessity, by local taxpayers.

Another of the arguments used, when the internet was beginning, was that it would foster competition, and competition, from the consumer's standpoint, was always good. Therefore, goods sold on the internet should be tax free, lest those taxes inhibit the growth of sales on the internet, thereby limiting competition. True, it did, and does, foster competition. But it is unfair competition, in our opinion. It is competition on an unlevel playing field, much as the competition our farmers and ranchers must face when they try to compete in a global market against the power of foreign governments. It is the same sort of unfair competition that exists when our own governments, at various levels, institute "affirmative action" programs that give people of one race an advantage over people of another race. It is the same sort of unfair advantage that is created when our tax-supported colleges and universities create "set asides" in entrance exams for people of one race over others.

For years we have ranted and sometimes raved over what we regard as the inequities of our tax structure, as long-suffering readers of this column know all too well. Internet transactions point up the need to finally come to grips with the entire issue.

Rainbow Room helps CPS children with their essentials

Community partners of the Central Plains invites the public to the grand opening of the Rainbow Room in Plainview, Friday November 12.

The primary goal of Community Partners of the Central Plains is to help abused and neglected children of the area by working with Child Protective Services to meet the needs of children while in their care.

Laurie Hall, of Lockney, currently serves on the board of directors for the Community Partners.

The grand opening, according to Hall, is Friday, November 12, from 11:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m., 113 East Sixth Street in Plainview.

OCTOBER BIRTHDAYS--Those celebrating birthdays at the Floydada Rehab and Care center during October were: (l-r) G.W. Anderson, Trina Villanueva, Glen Cooper, Maggie Perry and Ruth Trapp.

Birthdays celebrated at care center

By Lorilla Bradley

October always brings us
The skies of deepest blue...
With nature dressed in beauty
With her lovely colors, too!

We greet our Maggie Perry...
My! How she loves her bride...
And something else she always did
Was keep a well-stocked "fridge!"

Salutes to Mr. Anderson...
Whose friend is "Little Red"...
They greet us when we visit
With a smile and "nod of head!"

Mrs. Trapp we honor...
Her parents name her Ruth...
She is a gracious lady and
For sure that's the truth!

We honor Mrs. Villanueva
...Better known as "Trinnie"...
And if you want to see her smile
Just bring a "Fluffy Beanie."

We greet our Mr. Cooper
...He's counting 80 years...
May every one from now on
Be filled with joy and cheers!

Lets do the birthday "ditty"
To cheer these people on...
So join in as we sing it...
That same old Birthday Song!

Thursday, October 21st was birthday celebration at the Care Center with members of the City Park Church of Christ hosting.

The honorees were seated in the lobby and the Hesperian photographer came for the picture taking.

The poem was read and all joined in singing the Happy Birthday Song.

Each one received a festive Halloween basket containing assorted gifts including miniature pumpkins. Things to be used in their room and a tasty "treat."

Questions and answers on nutrients in food

Q: My 13-year-old daughter hates milk. Is it all right for her to drink calcium-fortified orange juice instead?

A: Vitamin C- and folate-rich, calcium-fortified orange juices can help milk-adverse adolescents get the calcium they need to build strong bones, says Dr. Steven Abrams of the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine. Adolescence is a peak period for bone development, but the average teenager only consumes half of the recommended 1300, milligrams per day, which is the equivalent of four glasses of milk. Ounce for ounce, calcium-fortified orange juices provide about the same amount of calcium as milk, and in a form that's well absorbed by the body.

Although your daughter doesn't like milk, it's still a good idea for her to include some dairy products in her diet, such as low-fat yogurts and cheeses.

An annual silent auction, a craft room, a turkey dinner and a quilt action will be held by members and it is open to the public. All proceeds this year will go toward refurbishing the church sanctuary.

Donna Webb said, "After being asked to consider making the quilt and several hours of prayer, the Lord guided mother and I in the quilt making process, which was passed down to us both from our mothers and grandmothers.

"This quilt was God's will. Between busy lives, working, and our family, when it came to the quilt, there was no lack of time, patience, and help from our family, and with no objections.

"The quilt went together in a flash.
Mother did most of the sewing, while
I cut out pieces and did the matching.
Randy did much of the ironing, but it was as if there were a dozen extra hands helping everything fit just right," Webb added.

Webb explained, "The quilting went fast over about a three week time, which included several late night visits and many days of joy. Mother, Grandmother Armstrong, and Ruth Scott did most of the quilting, but no greater joy could be seen than the first Saturday of quilting when we had four generations quilting together.

"I had the pleasure of teaching Randy and Robert to quilt just as I was taught by my mom and watching them enjoy the act of creating an heirloom.
Also, quilting with us was long time family friend Trina Wilson.

"That day following God's will was like being in the company of angels.
He works miracles in all of our lives
if we just ask Him in."

The quilt is a beautiful king/queen size, Star Log Cabin made of Cranberry and Winter Greens with the center in the shape of a cross and Jesus at the center of everything.

All materials were purchased at The Old Blue Quilt Box in Lockney and a percentage of the materials were donated by the owner Mrs. Jane Archer.

Quilt tickets of $5.00 each are available through any church member or at the church office.

Host families needed for exchange students

International Student Exchange Programs (ASSE) is seeking local host families for boys and girls from Europe. Students are 15 to 18 years of age and will be living in the greater Lubbock area for the school year. The students are sponsored by ASSE, a nonprofit student exchange program organization. These personable and academically select exchange students are well screened and qualified by ASSE. Students speak English and are anxious to learn about this country through living as part of a family, attending high school, and sharing their own culture and language with their newly adopted host family.

ASSE students are fully insured, have their own spending money, and expect to bear their share of household responsibilities. Students are included in the normal family life-style and activities.

If you are interested in obtaining more information about becoming a host family, please contact: Linda Ward at 806-793-4643 or call: 1-800-473-0696. You can also visit us on the web at www.asse.com.

Lockney Senior Citizens News

No doubt about it, this is a very busy time of the year. I listen to the gins running and the module trucks going back and forth. Also being harvested are grain sorghum and soy beans.

Thanksgiving will soon be here and we are getting ready to celebrate it. The fall of the year is my favorite season, but I am lucky that I don't have allergies like some or I guess it wouldn't be.

Bill Thomas is at home and seems to be getting better each day. Maybe it won't be long till he can come back to the Center for his noon meals. We miss him.

Loyd Duvall remains in the extended care of Covenant Hospital Methodist in Room 563 South. He is in very grave condition and we need to all be praying for him and his family.

Leland Bilbrey is still undergoing treatment on his infected foot, but is not doing very well at this time.

By Coach Chad Terry

Last Friday the Lockney Longhorns traveled to Idalou for a showdown with the wildcats. It was a big game because both teams were tied for first place in district 7 AA.

The wind played a big factor the entire game. Only one touchdown was scored going into the wind.

Idalou fumbled on the second play of the game and Ulysis Martinez recovered.

We were unable to score and Idalou took over after we missed a field goal.

Idalou ran six plays and fumbled again it was recovered by Jamie Cerda. We took over on the 45 yard line for a touchdown, the extra point was good. Lockney then led 7-0.

Each team exchanged the ball two times, on one of these exchanges Jessie Ledesma recovered a fumble for our third takeaway of the night.

After a Lockney punt Idalou drove and scored to tie the game with 1:15 left in the half. We ran three plays and on the third play Josh Quebe went 59 yard for our next touchdown. The extra point was not good and we lead 13-2 with 12 seconds in. Mo Collins picked off a pass on the last play of the first half.

We started the second half with a great drive from our own 30 yard line to the Idalou 7 yard line, into the wind and ran 8 minutes off the clock, before we turned the ball over on a fumble.

Idalou took over and our defense forced a punt with 15 seconds left in the quarter we took a safety instead of punting out of our end zone into a stiff wind. After the kickoff, Idalou scored on the last play of the third quarter and took the lead 16-13.

The first play of the fourth quarter, Jordan Lambert went 67 yard for a touchdown and extra point was not good. Lockney lead 19-16 with 11:36 left in the game. The two teams exchanged the ball and then Idalou fumbled on their own 26 yard line. Six plays later Jordan Lambert went 5 yard for the touchdown. The extra point was not good. The Longhorns still lead 25-16.

Jordan Lambert intercepted a pass to kill a late drive by Idalou.

The win gave the Longhorns a 3-1 record in district and 6-3 overall. It also put us in the play-offs.

Our coaching staff is very proud of our team and the way they have improved each week. We have come along way and it gets better each week.

Our next game will be at Lockney on November 5th against Floydada at 7:30 p.m.

7th grade Shorthorns win

The 7th grade Shorthorns did an outstanding job against the Ralls Jack-rabbits. They won with the ending score standing at 30-12.

Brandon McDonald scored 2 touchdowns from the left side making 30 and 40 yards. He stripped the ball from Ralls return man and ran it in from the 33 yard line.

Mark Ford scored 1 touchdown from the right side coming in from the Ralls 38 yard line. Besides running the ball well he also caught a 30 yard pass from quarterback Cagan Cummings.

Hagan Johnson scored three 2 point conversions and once again gained several tough yards.

Up the middle Reid Carthel also did well running the ball against the Jack-rabbits.

Zane Montandon played well offensively and almost caught a 15 yard scoring pass. Unfortunately a Ralls defender jarred the ball loose as he was attempting to secure his position in the front corner of the endzone.

Other notable performances were put in by the offensive line made up of Danny Cervantes, Frankie Mendez, Marcos Ascencio, Jeremy Pyle, Cullen McQuhae, Davis Hooten and Victor Martinez.

Jaime Ledesma did an excellent job covering Ralls receivers by breaking up 5 passes.

Coach Emery said, "I was real proud of how the boys played. It is a lot of fun coaching these guys and watching them get better every week."

The 7th grade Shorthorns are now 3-3 winning their third game in a row and are 3-0 in district.
