NEW INDICTMENTS DUE IN WATERGATE SCANDAL

Problems Continue To Dog Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Watergate problems promise to continue to dog him in the election year of 1974. Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski said Monday that grand juries are expected to vote on indictments in January and February "in a substantial number of major involvements."

IMPEACHMENT

Jaworski did not say who or what the indictments would involve, but it is known that several one-time top presidential aides and intimates have been the target of grand jury investigations.

Meanwhile, Nixon faces a subpoena by the Senate Watergate committee seeking around 500 White House documents and tapes. Aides have indicated the White House will attempt to block any effort by the committee to gain wide access to presidential files, perhaps triggering fresh court battles.

The committee is due to wind up its findings by Feb. 28, but the deadline may have to be extended.

In addition, the House Judiciary Committee is studying whether there is evidence warranting impeachment action against Nixon. Chairman Peter W. Rodino says his committee hopes to submit its recommendation on impeachment to the House by April 1.

FALL ELECTIONS

Congressional Republicans are known to wish that the impeachment would be settled well before the fall elections of House and Senate members. Jaworski's year-end report said investigations are continuing "in various areas within the special prosecutor's jurisdiction... including the review of White House files."

The original grand jury, impaneled June 5, 1972—12 days before the second Watergate break-in—has been hearing evidence about the incident and cover-up.

Another grand jury—soon to be joined by a third—has been investigating the White House plumbers, including the Ellsberg psychiatrist break-in; finanacial aspects of the Nixon reelection campaign, including the ITT and milk fund cases, and campaign espionage and dirty tricks.

NIXON'S PALS

Indictments in the Watergate case were first reported imminent after the resignation last April of top White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

But they were delayed by a series of developments, including the appointment and later firing of special prosecutor Archibald Cox, the White House efforts to withhold key tape recordings sought as evidence, and the appointment of Jaworski to replace Cox.

The Watergate special prosecution force so far has obtained guilty pleas from 12 persons. This does not include the seven convicted in the break-in itself.

Several former top Nixon aides are awaiting trial as a result of indictments brought elsewhere.

PERJURY

Former Atty. Gen. John N.

Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, both former Nixon reelection officials, are scheduled to go on trial this month in New York. Both are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and perjury in a case also involving fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco.

Ehrlichman, former Nixon aide David R. Young and Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy have been indicted in Los Angeles on state charges in the Ellsberg break-in.

ACADEMY NOMINEE — High School senior Karen Dwyer, 18, had trouble settling down to studying piano music Monday after being told she has been nominated to the U.S. Air Force Academy by Rep. Bill Hungate, D-Mo. Miss Dwyer plays piano for a St. Charles Mo., Sunday school.

Briscoe Aide Will Speak At Banquet

COLORADO CITY — Reagan V. Brown, special assistant to Gov. Dolph Briscoe, will be the speaker for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here Jan. 10.

Texas Leads In Fatalities

By The Associated Press
Although limited gasoline supplies were credited for holding down the toll, Texas went into the final day of the New Year's holiday period with the worst record for traffic deaths of any state in the nation. The toll of accidents on streets and highways rose to 29 Tuesday, while the number of fatalities from all causes reached 50.

Get Ready To Pay 10 Cents Gallon More For Fuel Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has given the nation's petroleum wholesalers and retailers the go-ahead for a price boost that could cost consumers 1.5 cents more per gallon for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel.

The Federal Energy Office announced Monday it was permitting retailers to raise their prices by a penny per gallon and wholesalers by a half-cent in January to "offset increased nonproduct overhead."

CRUDE OIL

A week ago, the office approved similar increases totaling 2.3 cents a gallon, phased over several weeks, to compensate for higher crude oil costs.

The office coupled its price boost with a vow by President Nixon that the administration would work vigorously to "find out if price gouging, improper allocations or hoarding is taking place and see that the penalties are strongly enforced."

During a telephone conference with energy chief William E. Simon, Nixon also said he was pleased "at the responsible way the American people are complying with conservation requests," a spokesman said.

In a statement read to reporters by an associate, Simon said Monday's actions were aimed at easing some of the financial hurt suffered by retailers.

"Price controls have required them to absorb rising operating costs, and allocation rules have reduced the quantity of products available for sale," the statement added.

Later, Charles Owens, deputy assistant director of the energy office, said in informal remarks that by March the increases authorized Monday and other factors could add a total of 8 cents a gallon to the cost of gasoline and 10 cents a gallon to fuel oil. The latest price increases are in addition to once-a-month boosts also permitted oil companies as compensation for increased product costs, if justified in advance.

As part of that program, three oil companies said Monday they intend to raise their prices for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel.

Shell Oil Co. said heating oil and diesel fuel would go up 4.5 cents a gallon and gasoline a penny a gallon. Standard Oil of California said it was boosting prices by two cents a gallon for gasoline, 3.5 cents for diesel fuel and three cents for heating oil. Union Oil of California disclosed a four-cent-a-gallon gasoline increase.

BLEAK PROSPECTS

As of a week ago, the retail price of regular gasoline averaged 43.3 cents a gallon, Simon's office said.

Whatever the price, many motorists had problems finding gasoline Monday, as service stations across the nation pumped the last of their monthly allotments of fuel into long lines of automobiles. Surveys in several metropolitan areas indicated that drivers faced even more bleak prospects at finding an open filling station today because of the New Year's Day holiday.

COED UNHARMED

'Our Prayers Have Been Answered'

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "Our prayers have been answered. She's home and she's safe," said Ernest Morris when his abducted daughter was returned unharmed.

Morris and his daughter, 20-year-old Kathy L. Morris, arrived home just hours before 1974 began. She had been abducted early Sunday while attending a birthday party at a friend's home.

On Monday, a motorist in Ocala, 80 miles from here, heard Miss Morris cry for help from inside the trunk of an abandoned car.

TAKE HER HOME

He forced the trunk open and freed her.

The Morris family traveled to Ocala and, after Kathy underwent medical observation at a local hospital, brought her home.

"The deputies didn't ask her anything about the man who stole her away," said Morris, an insurance agent, during a telephone interview. "They just told us to go and take her home and praise God that she wasn't hurt."

Police gave this account of the events that preceded the reunion of parents and daughter: Miss Morris, who attends Daytona Beach Community College, and two other girls were celebrating the birthday of Katie Malarney at the Daytona Beach home of Miss Malarney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Malarney.

SOUTHERN CRACKER

About 2 a.m. EST, a man in his early 20s and armed with a pistol burst through the front door.

The man started to leave the house after slapping the four girls around and stealing their money and a stereo set. But he decided to take Miss Morris with him, saying she sounded "like a Southern cracker" and he did not like rural Southerners.

The man forced Miss Morris to accompany him when he fled in a car that belonged to one of the girls.

Marion County deputies would not comment late Monday night about efforts to capture the man.

Airliner Crashes

TURIN, Italy (AP) — A Fokker 28 airliner of Italy's Itavia airlines crashed while trying to land at the Turin airport today. First reports said all 41 persons aboard were killed, the Italian news agency Ansa reported.

The plane was flying from Bologna to Turin on a regular flight that began in Catania and was scheduled to continue to Geneva, Switzerland, after its stop in Turin, officials said.

Kidnaping Charged

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A kidnaped college student was freed after his father paid a ransom and a Longview man has been jailed on a charge of abducting him, authorities disclosed Monday.

A PRISONER OF WAR COMES HOME — Lt. Col. Robert L. Sturm's family is shown rushing toward him as the POW from North Vietnam received a greeting at Travis Air Force Base in California. In the lead was daughter, Lori, 15, followed by son Robert, 14, daughter Cynthia, 11, Sturm's wife, Boretta, and son Roger, 12. The Sturms live in Foster City, Calif.

WAR IN MIDDLE EAST CAPTURES FIFTH PLACE

Watergate, Agnew Top Stories Of 1973

By The Associated Press
Watergate—the scandal, its investigation and effects—was voted the top news story of 1973 by the editors and news directors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and TV stations.

The other top 10 stories in order of balloting were: (2) Spiro T. Agnew; (3) the end of the war in Vietnam and release of the prisoners of war; (4) the economy; (5) war in the Middle East; (6) the energy crisis; (7) the slaying of 27 boys in Texas; (8) the death of Lyndon B. Johnson; (9) Skylab space missions; and (10) the revolution in Chile.

ARAB CUTOFF

The poll was taken before the Arab oil cutoff generated a more severe energy crisis.

Here is a recap of the top 10: 1. The scandals began as a Republican break-in to spy on headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in a Washington office-apartment complex called the Watergate. Ultimately, they reached the White House where President Richard M. Nixon's two top aides resigned and his counsel was fired.

As congressional committees, particularly the Watergate Committee, began investigating, the key question became: What did Nixon know about the break-in and did he try to cover it up?

Fired White House counsel John W. Dean III said the President was involved and Nixon denied it. The scandals cost the administration two attorneys general, the acting director of the FBI, a deputy attorney general, a special Watergate prosecutor and a full measure of lesser figures.

SPIRO WHO?

2. Spiro who? Spiro the vice president, who seemed untarnished as Watergate touched member after member of the President's official family. And then, Agnew resigned his posi-

He pleaded no contest to a federal felony charge that he evaded $13,551 in 1967 income taxes. He was fined $10,000 and placed on three years' probation.

Federal prosecutors portrayed him as a politician who had cooperated with and encouraged a tradition of illegal shakedown and bribes from Maryland contractors.

3. Jan. 27, 1973. The signing of the peace accords in the Vietnam war—a war that had lasted 25 years, a war in which the United States was a participant for 12 years, a war that claimed 45,000 American lives and cost the United States $150 billion.

And then, in plane after plane, they came home, 562 American prisoners of war. There was much emotion as these men returned and began to tell how they had lived in prison camps. But with the release of the POWs, despair came to the loved ones of the other 1,300 simply listed as missing in action.

MEAT BOYCOTTS

4. Meat boycotts and recipes using horsemeat burst upon the United States in 1973. Phases 3 and 4, price freezes, rises in the cost of living, a troubled dollar abroad and inflation captured headlines throughout the year. A poll near the year's end showed Americans more concerned. FAMILY TAKES NATURALLY TO IT Father Departs Military Service, Son Joins It

Raymond E. Bedford called it a career in the U.S. military forces Friday, the same day his eldest son, Raymond G. Bedford, enlisted in the Army.

Like his father, Raymond G., now 18 years of age, plans to make a career of the service. Another son, 17-year-old Donald Bedford, hopes to exchange muffs for military trappings in the not too distant future.

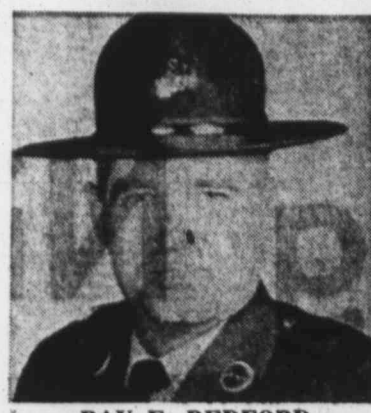

Two other sons, James, 14, and Billy, 11, are already making plans to pursue military careers when they come of age. The youngest three boys in the family are now in Coahoma schools.

For the Bedford sons, gravitating toward military careers wasn't too surprising. Their mother, the former Helen Bernard of Peoria, Ill., was herself in the Army, stationed at Fort McPherson, Ga., when she met and married Raymond E. Bedford and the couple's first two children were born at Fort McPherson.

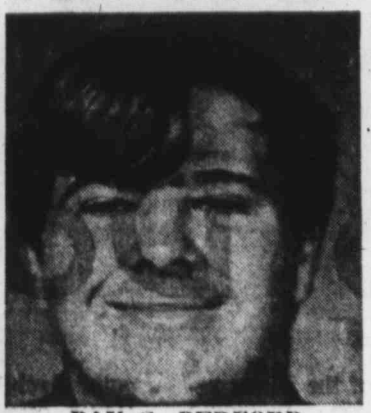

Raymond E. Bedford has been assigned to the Howard County Sheriff's department in transition work the last three months and has applied for employment with the Big Spring Police Department.

The father is a native of Howard County, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bedford of Big Spring. Ray is a long-time employe of the local post office.

Raymond E. Bedford has been stationed at bases throughout the world. He served two hitchhikes in Germany. On his last tour there, his family remained at home in the Mountain View Trailer Park east of Big Spring. The retired soldier, who departed with a rating of Sgt. 1. Cl., has served tours of duty in Alaska, Vietnam, Fort Lewis, Wash., Dugway Proving Grounds in Utah, Fort Bragg, N.C., and Fort Benning, Ga., in addition to Germany and Fort McPherson.

Much of the time, he was assigned as a drill instructor with the Artillery. He formally

Two Incumbents Announce Plans

LAMESA — Attention is starting to focus on 1974 local elections, with two incumbents already having announced for two county offices.

The two incumbents, Precinct Four's commissioner Dalton Myers and County Judge Leslie Pratt, announced their intentions to seek another term.

Other offices subject to election include those of the county clerk, district clerk, precinct commissioner, county treasurer, justice of the peace, and county judge.

Those offices are currently held respectively, by Louie White, Robert E. L. Smith, A. B. Furlow, Clyde Bostick, A. L. Standerfer and George Hansard.

Most have indicated they will stand for re-election, but have not announced officially.

In school elections, the terms of Lamesa trustees Bill Reid and Mrs. Venna Nix will be expiring this year. That election will be April 6, with the filing deadline 30 days prior to that.

City Councilman John Palmore will be the only individual whose term of office expires in that governmental body.

Three miles southeast of Big Spring Fowler No. 1 Flanagan was at 9,560 in lime. Operator had casing stuck in the hole previously.

Dorchester Exploration No. 4 Foster Conger will be a gas wildcat 12 miles southwest of Sterling City. It will be half a mile southwest of No. 3 Foster Conger, and seven-eighths east of No. 2 Foster Conger and a mile west northwest of Fusselman pay in the WAM-Southfield. Location is 760 from the north and 660 from east lines of section 7-21, H&TC.

Several Spraberry edges were staked in southwestern Glasscock County, Knox Industries No. 1 Fred Chaney, a mile and a half east-northeast of pay, will be 1,320 from the south and west line section 32-35-45, T&P; Knox No. 1-A Edith Cook, 1,320 from the north and east line section 20-35-45, T&P, (three miles east of production); and Knox No. 1 Sam Ratliff, 1,320 from the south and west line section 46-36-35, T&P, all scheduled to 8,300.

Ram of Midland No. 3-B Brunson will be 1,320 from the south and east lines section 2-36-45, T&P, and No. 4-B Brunson will be 1,320 from the south and west line section 2-36-45, T&P.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER — That's what Mary Ann Coffey likely is thinking as she accepts 100 silver dollars from Frank Smith, which is associated with Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac. This was the final pre-Christmas drawing staged by downtown merchants but the coupons came in a little slow. For that reason, the drawing was delayed. Mrs. Coffey resides at 711 E. 18th Street and is employed by Webb AFB. She signed for the contest at Jimmy's Men's Wear.

DEATHS
Services were scheduled at 10 a.m., today at Trinity Memorial Park for Shawn Ray White, two days old, who died Monday in a local hospital. Arrangements were in charge of Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home.

Officiating was Bob Kiser, Minister of the Anderson Street Church of Christ.
Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie White; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hambrick, all of Big Spring.

R. H. Adams
Robert H. Adams, 85, of Brownwood died at 5:30 a.m., Monday in a Brownwood hospital. Funeral will be at 10 a.m., Wednesday in the Davis-Morris Chapel there. Burial will be in Eastlawn Memorial Park. Among survivors is a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Weatherford, Big Spring.

Baker Enters Race Again

Raymond W. Baker, an authority on West Texas lands and a resident of Big Spring for more than half a century, will seek re-election to the post of county surveyor.

This is a constitutional office, but it carries with it no salary.

While his work first as a road engineer and later as a surveyor has taken him all over West Texas, including the rugged far-west mountain counties, he has concentrated most of his activity in the Big Spring area. He and his wife, the former Reba Orenbaum, live at 710 Lancaster.

In a sense, he has had a big hand in oil development, for probably a majority of the oil well locations in this area have been located by Ralph Baker and his crew. Block and section lines have become about as familiar to him as street names for most people.

Long after many men would have taken to the rocking chair, Baker still manages to take to the reception center at Fort the field nearly every day. He Polk, La., and, upon completion is filing with Lee Porter, county of basic training, will report to Democratic chairman, for a Fort Hood, Tex., for 16 months. place on the May 4, primary.

Astros First To Span Two Different Years In Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab 3's astronauts soared into 1974 today, becoming the first men to span two different years in space.

Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson also went on daylight saving time, getting a five-day jump on other Americans.

DAYLIGHT SAVING
Mission Control wished them "Happy New Year" repeatedly as the space station shuttled back and forth 16 times between 1973 and 1974, crossing the International Date Line and each of the world time zones every 93 minutes.

This is the third holiday in space for the men of Skylab 3. They were aloft for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The spacemen today were in the 47th day of the planned 84-day flight. Because the astronauts had to get up an hour earlier two days this week for earth resources photo passes, Mission Control told the astronauts to start daylight saving time today to ease the problem.

"The country starts on Daylight Saving Time Jan. 6, and we plan to put you on it too," capsule communicator Karl Henize told the astronauts Monday. "But since we're going to have early earth resources passes this week, we will start you on daylight saving time tomorrow."

GET UP
"That means, you'll get up an hour earlier each day, at 5 a.m., and go to bed an hour earlier, at 9 p.m."

"That's all right with us," said commander Carr. "I don't see where it makes any difference."

The astronauts planned a full schedule of solar astronomy and medical experiments today and an earth resources run from South America to North Africa.

Among the photo targets were the Falkland Current off South America and African drought areas.

They also continue observation of the comet Kohoutek on its journey back to deep space, following its sweep around the sun last Friday. Gibson reported on Monday that the comet's tail had become longer and brighter as it sped away from the sun.

Carr, Gibson and Pogue plan to take a day off Wednesday, setting aside 25 minutes for a news conference to be televised to Mission Control.

Lindsay Denies Plans To Run

An average hourly wage increase of 6.7 per cent was hit by rising prices and Social Security taxes, making the real spendable earnings of an average married worker with three dependents decline by 3.3 per cent.

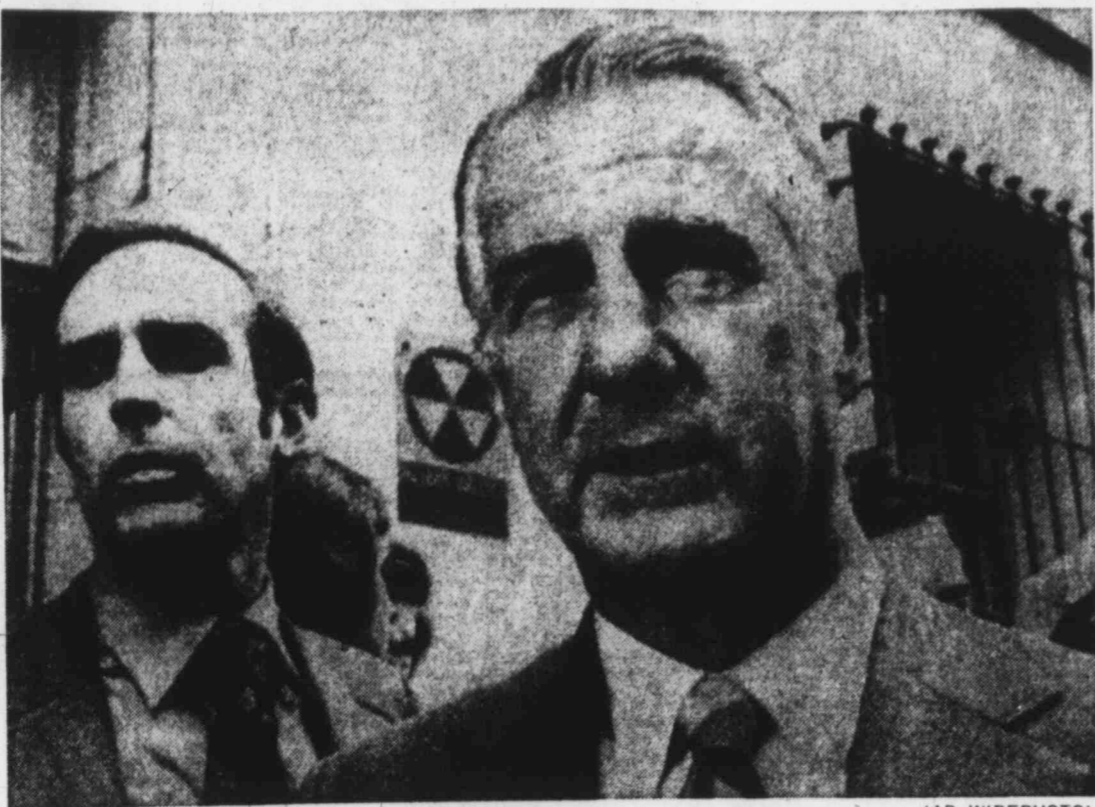

5. It was called the Yom Kippur war because that was when it began. Arabs attacked, United Nations observers said, on two fronts: across the Suez Canal and on the Golan Heights, seeking to restore territory Israel had grabbed during six days of fighting in 1967.

This time the Israelis seemed caught off guard. But, at a sacrifice of 1,854 men in battle and $5.5 billion worth of tanks, planes, guns, fuel and ammunition, they made an end run across the canal and eventually trapped the Egyptian 3rd Army. They also pushed the Syrians back past the Golan ridgeline and well down the road to Damascus before a U.N. cease-fire on Oct. 22.

OIL BARONS

The war had a long-range effect on the rest of the world. The Arab oil barons cut back production, delivering a painful blow to almost all advanced economies in the non-Communist world.

6. For years the phrase "energy crisis" had been kicked around. In 1973, it became a reality as gas stations were ordered closed on Sundays; airline flights cut; speed limits reduced across the nation; big neon advertising signs turned off; cutbacks instituted for home, industry and business, and outdoor Christmas lighting banned. The Federal Energy Administration was created. It became a global problem and some European countries banned Sunday auto driving.

7. Boys run away from home. That is an axiom. In Houston, the police counted 5,200 youngsters missing in 1972. Some boys, some girls, but most boys. Most would contact their parents and many would come home. But not 27, all boys.

Their bodies were found scattered in three gravesites in the Houston area. They ranged in age from 13 to 20 and their fate came to be known through the shooting death of Dean Corll.

8. Lyndon Baines Johnson, 36th president of the United States, died of a heart attack Jan. 22, 1973. He became president when John F. Kennedy was assassinated and won a full term of his own by a landslide. Responsible for more civil rights legislation than any president since Abraham Lincoln, Johnson retired to his Texas ranch in 1968. The day after he died, the Vietnam cease-fire agreement was announced.

9. Nine men rocketed into space this year in three separate Skylab missions. They were the last manned space flights the United States has planned until a joint U.S. Russian flight in 1975. The Skylab 1 astronauts, Charles Conrad Jr., Joseph P. Kerwin, and Paul J. Weitz stayed in space 28 days and traveled 11 million miles. The Skylab 2 astronauts, Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma stayed in space for 59 days, 11 hours and 9 minutes. The Skylab 3 astronauts, Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson, headed into space for an 84-day span that would last into 1974.

10. Chile's search for "the road to socialism" ended almost three years to the day after it had begun. The end came in a coup that left 1,000 persons dead—including Salvador Allende, the first freely elected Marxist president in the Western Hemisphere.

CHILE HAD BEEN paralyzed by general strikes, a faltering economy and unrest when an anti-Communist military junta attacked the presidential palace. After Allende's body was removed from the palace on Sept. 12, where officials said he had committed suicide, a state of siege went into effect. More than 7,000 prisoners were held in Santiago's National Soccer Stadium.

Big Brother Is Watching

DALLAS (AP) — Next time you are burning something or contributing to the pollution of the atmosphere in Dallas, you better look up. Someone may be watching you.

The Health Department's Air Pollution Control Department has started a new program to spot polluters from the air by using police helicopters on regular patrols.

"We have found that it is very easy to spot illegal pollution once you can get up above it all," said V.K. Armento, air pollution control engineer.

Armento said staff members from the pollution Control Department have been flying in police helicopters on a regular basis to find out where the trouble spots are.

Originally, the plan was designed to patrol light industry sections of Dallas normally missed in the city's effort to curb polluters.

Armento said that trailing smoke from a business, an incinerator or an illegal trash pile are cited and reported when the helicopter is back on the ground.

The Department then alerts the owner of the property and the area is later checked to see if the warning has been obeyed.

Armento said the water control department also is using the aerial patrol to determine if companies are dumping pollutants into streams and lakes in the area.

He said one helicopter spotted a strange substance floating in the Trinity River and traced it back to a business that was spilling it out into the water.

"It was like following a marked trail," Armento said.

More Men

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The University of New Mexico main branch in Albuquerque had 11,228 male students and 8,895 females registered for the 1973 fall semester. About three of every 11 students are non-residents.

This Christmas Tree Hatched

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Old Christmas trees fade, drop needles on the carpet and get thrown out. Not Bobby Snodgrass's tree. It hatched.

"I'd like to get in touch with somebody who collects praying mantises," Mrs. Snodgrass said. "We don't want to kill them but we have to get them out of here."

She estimated about 1,000 praying mantises were hatched Friday in a nest her husband found hidden in their tree. By Saturday, the home was swarming with them.

"We've always had an artificial tree, but this year I wanted one that would smell nice," Mrs. Snodgrass said. "But I've had a sinus infection most of this month and haven't been able to smell a thing."

Now this happens. Next year, we'll go back to our artificial tree."

Couple United Hints From Heloise In Marriage

Miss Fada Earline Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Keller, Dalhart, Thursday became the bride of Lt. David Earl Cooper, son of Mrs. Margaret Cooper, 608 Douglas.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. Earl Price in the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Cooper is a graduate of the Dalhart schools and attended college in Joplin Mo. Currently, she is stationed with the Army at Fitzsimmons Army Medical Center in Denver, Colo.

Lt. Cooper, recently graduated from Pediatric Clinicians school at Fitzsimmons AMC, will report Jan. 17 to Fort Hood, where the couple will reside. He is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Texas Christian University.

For the wedding, the bride wore a brown knit suit and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her parents attended the ceremony.

MRS. DAVID COOPER

Dear Heloise:

Working girls should plan their wardrobe a season at a time. I should know — I'm one. And I'd like to share my system:

Make a list of all your clothes — for the various seasons. If you have something you know you're not going to wear — get rid of it!

Buy whatever you think you need to round out your wardrobe — whether it's two or 20 outfits. Arrange your clothes in the closet in the order in which you plan to wear them. I decide by basing it on the shoes I'll wear with each.

If I'll be wearing black shoes three days that week, I wear them on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday to give myself and the people I work with some variety.

Take some time each weekend to get ready for the week. Take the last five outfits at the back of the closet, check them for needed repairs, press them, put them at the front of the closet and wear them — don't skip anything. If you skip, it means you don't like the outfit — in that case — out it goes.

Do this every week and you'll wear all your clothes. You'll have more variety and they'll last longer. Wear the thing you like least on Monday — you and everybody else will be too busy to notice!

Keep your clothes lists in a notebook so that when you're planning ahead, you have that list to check and won't forget something you have put away during the off-season. . . . A Reader our vocabulary and solved the problem. The word is collage.

Each child has a small portion of wall space in their room. (My kitchen is too small.)

Starting about one foot from the ceiling, we staple or paste all their prize-art work, etc. together. Two tacks at the top hold the whole thing. By the time we run out of space, a good many weeks have passed and it is easier to part with them.

The children are so proud of their display. It's very decorative and it sure beats a taped-up one here and a latched-up one there, don't you agree? . . . Geraldine Conklin

Dear Heloise:

I came on a letter written years ago addressed to my 6-year-old son. It was from an elderly cousin of mine. She had unexpectedly dropped in for dinner and my son was so interested in her, he forgot to eat and kept leaning his head on his hand — elbow on table of course — and I kept saying, "Take your elbow off the table, dear." So my cousin sent him this cute poem:

"It's the best place for dishes, for bread and for meat; for silver and glass and good things to eat; but the dining room table, as every one knows, was never intended for little elbows."

Mrs. Willard Hendrick, president of the Altrusa Club, presided at their noon meeting Thursday at Coker's Restaurant.

Holiday greetings from the president of District 9, and from the International president were read along with letters of appreciation from Jack D. Powell, Veterans Administration Hospital Director, and Mrs. Virginia M. Moore, volunteer coordinator at Big Spring State Hospital for Christmas donations made by the club.

John Hogans Return Home

Dr. and Mrs. John Hogan, 509 Westover, returned Saturday from an eight-day tour to Hawaii sponsored by the Texas Medical Association. The group included approximately 250 doctors and their wives who went to Honolulu, making side trips to two other islands. While in Honolulu, the Hogans visited friends, Dr. and Mrs. George Ewing.

False Fanny

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What was the most surprising response you received to a single letter published in your column during 1973?

DEAR CURIOUS: A reader asked where she could buy a "false fanny," and I replied, "If you send me your name and address and a stamped envelope I think I can help you." I heard from more than 10,000 women seeking the same information. (Now they're sitting pretty!)

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful 4-month-old baby girl, and here's the problem: Previously (I hope) to conceiving this baby, I had an affair outside my marriage. It was of short duration and left me with a guilty conscience and a greater appreciation of my own husband.

My baby looks very much like my husband except for her eyes, which seem to be turning brown. I have blue eyes and so has my husband. Is there any chance that two blue eyed people can have a brown eyed child? Or does it mean the child was conceived through my affair with the other man? (His eyes are brown.)

I must know, Abby. I've considered everything from suicide to taking my child and running away. I love my husband, but I never could ask him to raise a child that wasn't his.

DESPERATE DEAR DESPERATE: Two blue eyed parents have been known to produce a brown eyed child. Furthermore, the color of a child's eyes changes considerably the first year, so relax, and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: After being divorced for 29 years, I still think of my ex-mother in law fairly often. She had a birthday last month, so I sent her a gift. We haven't had any contact with each other since my divorce, but I do cherish some fond memories of her.

I have heard that she is well, but it's been a month since I sent that gift, and I don't even know whether she got it or not.

Was it wrong of me to have sent her something?

MEMORIES DEAR MEMORIES: Your ex-mother in law could have gone into shock from having heard from you after a 29 year silence. You were sweet to have sent her a birthday gift. She should send you a thank-you note, and I hope she does.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. C.A.M. IN HOUSTON: Even though you live on "Rip Van Winkle Street," there is nothing "sleepy" about you. You are absolutely on target in the matter of whether it is proper to include "No gifts, please" on invitations. Originally I said it was not. Now I say it is!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Dear Heloise: I know I am one of thousands of mothers who hate to part with their first graders or fourth graders proud school work.

SIXTEEN TONS, AND WHAT DO YOU GET?
Vicki Randolph at Rajah 30 Mine

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Another Day Older -- And Deeper In Debt?

NATURITA, Colo. (AP) — When 19-year-old Vicki Randolph eloped last May to marry a uranium miner, it never occurred to her that four months later she'd be working 3,600 feet underground beside her husband, Gary, operating a shusher and trammer.

"Women in a mine are bad luck," old time miners said.

But Earl Kelley, who operates the Rajah 30 Union Carbide uranium-vanadium mine, said, "She's doing all right. As a matter of fact, I just might hire a woman crew."

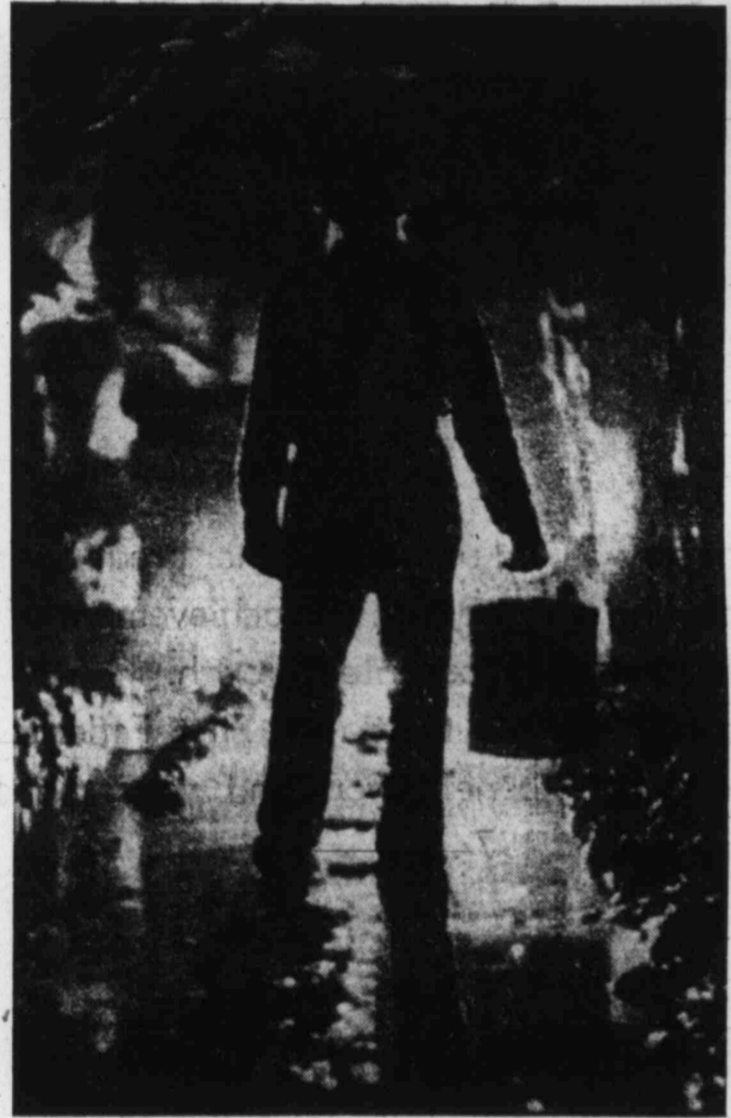

Kelley is also Vicki's father. "I just can't find a miner to hire," Kelley said one night at the family dinner table. Since the mill in Uravan curtailed operations, the skilled miners moved out. Most of the old timers around are too ill to work, he said.

So Vicki bought a lunchbox and went to work. She was the only miner to wear makeup.

"Hey," Gary said, "you're not going to a beauty contest. It's dark down there. No one will know what you look like."

"I'll know," Vicki said. After her first day at work, Vicki said, "I ache all over."

"I scarcely recognized Vicki," her mother said. "Her long hair was sticky and stringy with diesel oil and her face was grimy. And she's always so clean!"

(AP WIREPHOTO)

WHAT'S A GIRL LIKE YOU doing in a place like this? The question is often asked of Vicki Randolph, shown silhouetted against the lights of a piece of mining equipment as she walks down one of the shafts of the Rajah 30 mine in Colorado.

'Quotable Women'

By The Associated Press

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I know now what I want. I intend to do things my own way. My first manager wanted me to move to Los Angeles; he comes from the old school of show business. I'm sure I'd be more of a success than I am, because I'd be in the thick of things. But I'm not very much of a show business person. I'm not part of the Hollywood scene. I refused to move and I'm still in Toronto. I will always refuse, I think." Anne Murray, Canadian pop singer.

"I feel that if a woman can do a job, there's no reason why she can't have a job." Linda Eitvydas, who competed along with 118 men for the six new police patrol spots in Windsor, Conn., and won.

"I wanted to do a movie screenplay because I had seen so many bad movies. I said to myself that naturally I could do better. So I wanted to try it. I just couldn't go on being a critic. Your head goes soft after a while." Gail Rock, freelance writer who has created two television specials based on her childhood in Valley, Neb.

"We hope, as the Prince of Peace comes, He will also bring us the peace we are seeking. We're praying for a Christmas miracle." Marietta Jaeger, mother of a missing daughter, Susan, 7, who disappeared on June 25 of this year.

"The holiday season can be a time of unusual stress. It is a time of year that is associated with family unity — a difficult time for those without families, or for those surrounded with conflicts in their homes. For them it is simply a time of depression." Principal Esther Rothman of Ps 8 in New York.

BRIDE — Miss Julie Seay and Robert Campbell were married Friday in Lubbock where both attended Texas Tech University. They will transfer to Sam Houston State University, residing in Huntsville. The bride is the daughter of Edward Seay, Big Spring, and Mrs. Patricia Patton, Eagle Pass. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Craig Campbell, 2511 Fisher.

Party Honors Bridegroom

Andrew Swartz, a future bridegroom, was the honoree at a stag dinner and "survival shower" Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish and their son, Kent Fish, 907 Mountain Park Drive.

Cohosting the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Robb and son, Ike Robb, and Dr. and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper and son, Bennett Cowper.

Swartz will be married to Miss Libby Hattenbach Feb. 8 in Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hattenbach of Big Spring.

Centerpieces for the dinner tables were arrangements of small "survival" items needed in the home, such as can openers, flash lights, oil cans, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Swartz, parents of the prospective bridegroom, appeared briefly at the party, and an out-of-town guest was Lonnie Hattenbach of Las Cruces, N.M., brother of the future bride.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Ashley, San Angelo, announce the birth of a son, Jeremy Lee, at 2:12 p.m., Dec. 27 in Clinic Hospital, San Angelo. The infant weighed 7 pounds, 3 ounces. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lyndell Ashley, Midway. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ashley, Midway, and the maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

50-50 Chance Of Winning Voter Acceptance

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — A look to the east or the west should persuade Texas' constitution writers that their chance of failure is too high for comfort. It also should teach them some needed lessons.

NIXED IN N.M.

New constitutions, submitted as single proposals, were defeated by New Mexico voters in 1969 and by Arkansas in 1970. Of the 12 constitutions, submitted in other states in the 1964-72 period, six were rejected.

Texas' effort begins Jan. 8.

when the 181 state legislators gathered in the House Chamber as the state's first constitutional convention in 99 years. No one can call the convention a success until the voters have approved the new state charter the convention submits.

Considerable analysis has been made of the reasons for the failure of constitutions at the polls in other states.

"Very often it has been one issue that killed it," said Jim Ray, director of the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission (CRC).

In Arkansas, fear of higher taxes combined with poor timing of the election apparently defeated a new constitution.

"The opposition's effort to scare the voters on the tax issue was enormously effective, and it was the only element on either side that generated real interest among voters."

The leaders of the opposition were primarily concerned about changes in the judiciary, but they knew taxation would be a more potent weapon for generating votes against the constitution," says a National Municipal League study of the Arkansas election.

A report prepared for the Texas Urban Development Commission blames the narrow defeat of proposed New Mexico constitution on "the failure to mount an active affirmative campaign for adoption."

Legislators' salaries and a so-called "right to work" provision are "the only two you can probably put your finger on as likely to be separated out," Daniel said in an interview.

A "right to work" provision in the proposed Arkansas constitution caused the state AFL-CIO to remain neutral in the election and contributed to the document's defeat, the National Municipal League said.

14,000 WORDS

One supporter of the CRC's 14,000-word proposed Texas Constitution says there has been "an ominous silence" from county officials, whose opposition could damage the chances for adoption of a new basic charter. He says they fear that a provision empowering the governor to appoint appellate judges might be a foot in the door for making certain county officers appointive.

Daniel said if appointment of judges—called "merit selection"—is approved by the convention, it, too, might be submitted separately.

To Daniel, all these are statutory matters that have no place in a short and simple constitution.

Oil Companies Hit In East Texas Suit

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Claiming violations of price regulations, a group of gasoline wholesalers have filed suit in federal court here against three oil companies.

The suit, filed here, contends that the three defendants "exceeded maximum price allowed by the Cost of Living Council's Phase 4 price regulations" and acted in concert, conjunction and conspiracy to restrain trade and competition of the plaintiffs.

CRUDE OIL

The complaint was filed in U.S. District Court here against Atlantic Richfield Co., Crystal Oil Co. and Longview Refining Co.

Enrollment Zips Over 20,000

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — For the first time in its 81-year history, student enrollment at the University of New Mexico has topped 20,000.

Dean of Admissions Robert Weaver said enrollment for the 1973 fall semester was 20,123. This figure includes students at the main campus in Albuquerque, the Los Alamos Graduate Center, the Gallup branch and the Northern New Mexico branch at Espanola.

Main campus enrollment was 18,881, a 1.8 per cent increase over 1972 fall semester figures.

The plaintiffs asked that the oil companies be restrained from allocating supplies without reasonable notice and that the firms be prevented from passing on crude oil increases to the plaintiffs until their previous and lower priced supplies are exhausted.

The petition said further that the companies "grant and knowingly receive 11 discriminatory prices and terms in violation of the Robinson-Pattman Amendment to the Clayton Anti-Trust Act."

PLAINTIFFS

The plaintiffs, who operate in East Texas and western Louisiana, include: T.C. Rosser, Tyler; W.R. "Bill" Shore, Kilgore; J.C. Duke Oil Co.; J.S. Hacklar, Pittsburg, Tex.; Martin and Son, Inc., and Mitchell Oil Co., both of Gilmer; Pete Roberts, DeKalb; J.C. Bell, Harrison County; Stanley Matthews, Shreveport, La.; Bob M. Hodge; M.I. Dickey Jr. and B.M. Oil Co., Mount Enterprise.

It also was alleged that the defendants in the sale and distribution of gasoline "regularly involve and affect interstate commerce."

The companies also were asked to be restrained from invoking what was termed "unwarranted and opprobrious credit terms."

Net effect of the defendants' actions, the petition contended, if allowed to continue would

"either force the plaintiffs out of business or substantially curtail their operations."

What was so great about 1973?

For us, it was the privilege of serving Howard County by providing high-interest savings plans and low-cost, housing-related loans. It was seeing that our efforts to help Howard County had rewarded us with another great business year with the achievement of unprecedented growth. We trust that First Federal can benefit you and your plans in 1974.

ENERGY QUESTIONS, ANSWERS Sufficiency By 1980?

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

The energy crisis has demonstrated America's dependence on foreign oil supplies, but President Nixon sees a way out of this situation: self-sufficiency by 1980.

To bring it about, the President recommended "Project Independence," a program to produce more energy and use less. He compared it in scope to the development of the atomic bomb and the landing of men on the moon.

Can it be done? Most experts don't think so, including one of Nixon's own top energy officials: Day Lee Ray, head of the Atomic Energy Commission. She says self-sufficiency, if possible at all, can't come before 1985.

These are the major resources and the problems involved in developing them into energy self-sufficiency in the seven years left in this decade.

COAL
The nation has the world's largest coal reserves, about 3.2 trillion tons, of which 150 billion tons are recoverable with mines now operating, according to the National Petroleum Council, an industry group. Less expensive and cleaner oil has made coal the stepchild of the energy industry.

At the current rate of consumption, coal recoverable by existing technology will last another 250 years. When the energy crisis hit in November, the administration hoped to save 450,000 barrels of oil daily by having oil-burning power plants switch quickly to coal. The coal industry says that can be done in 1974. Beyond that, there's no reason to increase coal production in a hurry because there's no place to burn it on a large scale, unfactories switch to coal for heat less thousands of homes and power.

A major goal is conversion of coal to gas and oil, to augment natural gas and petroleum, which now combine for two-thirds of the nation's energy.

The federal government plans to spend millions on research to develop an inexpensive method of mass producing gas and oil from coal. Industry leaders and government officials say that between research and plant construction, it will be 1985 before the mass production is achieved.

OIL
No other country in the world produces more petroleum than America's 10 million to 11 million barrels daily. But this is only two-thirds of the country's average daily consumption of 17 million barrels. The remaining 7 million is imported, principally from the Middle East. Most experts agree that the United States will have to continue to rely on oil imports well into the 1980s if America's energy consumption continues to rise 5 per cent annually, as it has been doing in recent years.

The oil experts say if drilling equipment and enough refineries are available—and they aren't today—one million barrels could be added to domestic production by 1976. This would be a third of the oil embargoed from the Arab countries.

Alaska's North Slope fields are to add another one million or two million barrels daily, when the pipeline crossing the state from north to south is completed late in the decade.

During the 1980s, self-sufficiency is theoretically possible in oil, now 45 per cent of the nation's total energy consumption. But many hundreds of wells must be sunk to tap America's underground and offshore reserves. The National Petroleum Council estimates that 43 billion barrels of proven petroleum reserves throughout the country represent half of the discoverable oil. The Interior Department disagrees. It says the 43 billion barrels are only 10 per cent of what could be found with enough time and money. Most oilmen say that a lead time of eight years is needed for exploration and the start of large-scale production from these untapped reserves. The country's 483 billion barrels of proven oil reserves and untapped reserves listed by the Interior Department will last 120 years at the present consumption rate.

NATURAL GAS

It provides 30 per cent of America's energy needs, but supplies are dwindling because in four of the past five years, the nation has used more natural gas than it has discovered. The reserves are there for the finding: 2,000 trillion cubic feet onshore and offshore, the Interior Department says. But industry spokesmen say exploration won't begin until price controls are removed. As with oil, a lead time of eight years is needed to find this gas and start production, partly because they are deeper in the ground than proven reserves. Proven reserves are only 235 trillion cubic feet. Production was 22.51 trillion cubic feet in 1972, down slightly from 1971.

Ambassador Draws Barbs

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Liberal and leftist circles have begun criticizing the new United States ambassador to Mexico, John Joseph Jova.

Editorialists have accused the 57-year-old diplomat of having a hand in the overthrow of Chilean President Salvador Allende, although he left the U.S. embassy at Santiago in 1965, five years before Allende was elected.

"The man has been carefully chosen to come to Mexico where he can repeat with easy dexterity his Chilean feat," said an editorial in the moderately conservative paper Novedades. "The extremist right is happy for this shattering and easy victory, and the Mexican government will closely watch this innocuous visitor."

Local newspapers also have accused Jova of being a former agent of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The Mexican Foreign Ministry has denied knowledge of anything to support the charges and expressed satisfaction with Jova's appointment to succeed Ambassador Robert H. McBride.

A member of the U.S. Foreign Service since 1947, Jova was deputy chief of mission in Chile from 1961 to 1965, ambassador to Honduras from 1965 to 1969 and U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States since then.

PREDICTION

Economy Will Grow In '74

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's top economic adviser predicts the economy will continue to grow in 1974. But he says the administration will propose measures to support the economy if the energy shortage or other factors imperil growth.

Chairman Herbert Stein of the President's Council of Economic Advisers predicted real economic growth of between 1 and 2 per cent during 1974.

However, he said the administration "would be prepared with measures to support the economy if either the oil shortage or the other factors seriously threatened to depress it below an orderly path to stability and growth."

Stein said the administration was "looking at what might be a more stimulative fiscal policy," a hint of a deliberate budget deficit.

He also said the administration was considering some measures to spur specific sectors of the economy, such as housing. He added that government policy will be directed at keeping unemployment low.

Some private economists have predicted a recession in 1974.

Stein said that inflation will continue at a high rate in the first half of the new year but should level off to about 4.5 per cent in the second part of the year.

my. Declarer drew trumps and cashed his high clubs, discarding a diamond from dummy—a spade—discard would have made no difference to the end result.

With nothing left but spades and trumps, declarer had to break the spade suit—and whatever he did would prove futile. He tried a low spade to the queen. East won the ace and returned a spade, and declarer had to concede two more spade tricks for down one.

Declarer could have put his queen of diamonds to better use than the 50 per cent chance of the finesse at trick one. Consider what would happen if declarer goes up with dummy's ace.

Trumps are drawn in three rounds, and the three high clubs are cleared, declarer discarding one of dummy's diamonds. Now a diamond is led to the queen, and declarer doesn't much care which defender wins the trick.

At this point, both declarer and dummy are down to cards in the major suits only. Whichever defender wins the king of diamonds is faced with a Hobson's choice—he can either lead a minor suit card and allow declarer to ruff in dummy and discard a spade from his hand, or break the spade suit, in which case all the defenders can collect in their ace and king. In either case, declarer will lose only two spades and a diamond.

Sirica Named Man Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge John J. Sirica of U.S. District Court has been named Time magazine's Man of the Year for 1973, said the publication.

“One judge, insisting that not all the property of the president be seized, Nixon to withhold material evidence from the Watergate prosecutors, brought the ‘White House’ tapes and documents out of hiding. For these deeds, and as a symbol of the American insistence on the rule of law throughout the sordid Watergate saga of 1973, Sirica, 68, was appointed a federal judge in 1957 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and became chief judge for the District of Columbia through the judiciary’s insistence on the priority of law throughout the sordid Watergate saga of 1973.

Uncle Sam To Be His Own Landlord In Six Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is about to become his own landlord.

Starting next July, most federal departments and agencies will begin paying rent to another government agency. The change will affect all departments and agencies housed in government-owned buildings maintained by the General Service Administration housekeeping agency.

Under a little-noticed law approved by Congress 17 months ago, government agencies will have to include rental and maintenance costs in their fiscal year 1975 budget proposals.

“Each agency will have to justify the rent at budget time just as they now justify staff, programs, travel and other expenses,” said a GSA spokesman.

“How much rent each agency will be charged will be unveiled next month in President Nixon’s fiscal year 1975 budget proposal.”

GSA will be able to negotiate purchase contracts for new buildings on its own and save by using the fund after Congress authorizes a new building. Now, GSA must get separate planning and construction funds for both.

“There is one catch in the new law, however. It does not contain a provision for eviction for nonpayment of rent.”

(This past June, 1973, on Radio Station CFRB Toronto, Mr. Gordon Sinclair expressed a Canadian's view of Americans. It gave us a special tingle as we read the following portion of his broadcast in print a couple of months ago. New Year's Day seems an especially appropriate time to share this message with those of you who might have missed it.)

This Canadian thinks it is time to speak up for the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth

Germany, Japan and, to a lesser extent, Britain and Italy were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debts. None of these countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up, and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

I was there. I saw it.

When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help. This spring, 59 American communities (were) flattened by tornadoes. Nobody helped.

The Marshall Plan and the Truman Policy pumped billions upon billions of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent, war-mongering Americans.

I'd like to see just one of those countries that is gloating over the erosion of the United States dollar build its own airplanes.

Come on, let's hear it!

Does any other country in the world have a plane to equal the Boeing Jumbo Jet, the Lockheed Tristar or the Douglas 10?

If so, why don't they fly them? Why do all the international lines except Russia fly American planes?

Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

You talk about Japanese technocracy, and you get radios. You talk about German technocracy, and you get automobiles. You talk about American technocracy, and you find men on the moon—not once but several times—and safely home again.

You talk about scandals, and the Americans put theirs right in the store window for everybody to look at.

Even their draft-dodgers are not pursued and hounded. They are here on our streets, and most of them—unless they are breaking Canadian laws—are getting American dollars from Ma and Pa at home to spend here . . .

When the railways of France, Germany and India were breaking down through age, it was the Americans who rebuilt them. When the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke, nobody loaned them an old caboose. Both are still broke.

I can name you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble. Can you name me even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble?

I don't think there was outside help even during the San Francisco earthquake.

Our neighbors have faced it alone, and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around.

They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their nose at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

I hope Canada is not one of these.

We think it's time

Needy Texans To Get Food Stamps

AUSTIN (AP) — If not happy, the new year at least will be a little less grim for 100,000 needy Texans who are aged, blind or disabled. They will get food stamps after all.

The State Welfare Department said Monday that Congress has delayed implementation of federal regulations that would have denied them food stamp eligibility.

Department employees began the four-day job of mailing food stamp authorization cards to the 300,000 Texas households that are eligible.

In December it had appeared that as many as 100,000 aged, blind and disabled persons would lose their food stamp eligibility in January under regulations issued by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. But Congress delayed the regulations, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture authorized issuance of stamps under the old standards.

The federal government takes over monthly assistance payments to those three groups after decades of state administration.

Temporary Post Turned Into Career For Man

When William Franklin Bordofski ended with one bale of cotton to show for having farmed 150 acres near Quanah, he was ripe for a suggestion of his brother-in-law.

"Why don't you come up here (Pampa) and get a job with Cabot?"

He went, and sure enough he got a job, fully intending to stay only a year and the return to farming. Within a few hours he was ready to make it a day, for he had been put to work "tinning" the metal hoses which housed the channel irons that trapped carbon black in the old Shaffer channel-type plant. However, his job was changed to warehouse and repair and he became a confirmed Cabot man and soon was promoted to shift foreman, a post held from 1945-52 when he came to Big Spring as a repairman on the new Dixon furnace-type plant.

One of his hobbies had been studying electricity, and in 1953 he became an electrician for the plant and continued in this role until his last day Monday.

He and his wife, Margaret, intend to do some traveling and plenty of fishing, including some on the Gulf; also a little 42 playing. He will keep busy with his hobby of general electrical repair and refinishing antique lamps.

Bordofski was born Jan. 14,

WILLIAM F. BORDOFOSKE
 1909 to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bordofski, who lived at Coleman. He was reared in Quanah, and was married Oct. 29, 1932 to Margaret Rowland in Altus, Okla. They farmed near Quanah most of the time until just before he went to work for Cabot.

Mr. and Mrs. Bordofski are members of Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, make their home at 705 W. 15th. They have two sons, Fran Bordofski, 3307 Auburn, and Calvin Bordofski, 705 W. 15 and two grandsons, David William and Terry Wade.

The Real Crisis

Yet the reflections of an assemblage of political scientists brought together at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara, Calif., are worth noting.

They were summoned by the Senate Watergate committee to explore cures for the nation's ills and make recommendations for its final report.

The scholars agreed that nothing short of a change in the "hearts and minds" of Americans will prevent future Watergate scandals.

The AP said the conferees stressed that changes in government must be preceded by trust in government. To inspire such trust, the scholars said, the Nixon administration and its successors must abandon secrecy.

Historian Christopher Lasch said: "The people, because they have been lied to so often, have grown suspicious of men in power. They are convinced that only untrustworthy people are likely to rise to power in political institutions. Indeed, they are losing confidence in all of our institutions and are sinking into earthy cynicism." This is the real tragedy, the devastating consequence, of Watergate.

A large proportion of the people have come to question whom can they trust. There is a loss of faith in institutions, the system, and both specifically and generally in those individuals entrusted to positions of high responsibility.

'Mistake' Needs Discipline

William Dobrovir is not the only one suffering the loss of face and creditability as a result of his having played a subpoenaed presidential tape at a cocktail party. Dobrovir is one of Ralph Nader's attorneys, but Nader so far brushed off the "gross impropriety" as vice President Gerald Ford called it, as an "unfortunate excess."

Dobrovir, chastened and pleading for his own skin and career before a federal court judge in Washington, called it "a very foolish mistake."

It's worse than impropriety or a mistake and deserves sternest reprimand if not discipline. Meanwhile Nader runs the risk of tarnishing a single-standard aura unless he divests himself of such an unreliable lawyer.

What are they now? Gone. All gone except the Jeep and Spam. That ought to tell you something. And weren't we the best equipped, best informed, best fed Army on Earth? And didn't we whip up on them all and save the world for Democracy? And what did we eat? Spam.

"I found plenty of the good ole original Spam in the stores. Same fat pink words printed on the can, same gucky sheep smeel when I opened it, with that razor sharp bramble of sheet metal curling round my fingers.

"I'M SUPPOSED to eat plenty of proteins. I believe they're in there

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

Gordon Baxter, Beaumont's bad boy of journalism, is one of my favorite guys. Tough, gentle, natural — and funny as hell. He started my year off right with his observations on "Spam":

"I HAVEN'T KNOWN what to believe in since 'Life' stripped the weenie and revealed that the hog dog, our All-American Hero, is just water and fat. Sort of thing that's been happening to all our heroes lately.

"I've applied for a steak loan, and chicken apt' nothin but a bird, and after three days of fish, what's left for a man to eat? And then I remembered Spam!

"Good ole Spam — tenderloin of the troops in WWII. Think of all the great inventions of World War II; the battleship, Democrats, Woody Herman, the Pledge of Allegiance — Where are they now? Gone. All gone except the Jeep and Spam. That ought to tell you something. And weren't we the best equipped, best informed, best fed Army on Earth? And didn't we whip up on them all and save the world for Democracy? And what did we eat? Spam.

"I found plenty of the good ole original Spam in the stores. Same fat pink words printed on the can, same gucky sheep smeel when I opened it, with that razor sharp bramble of sheet metal curling round my fingers.

"I'M SUPPOSED to eat plenty of proteins. I believe they're in there but I ain't about to read what's in that can. I just don't want to know about it. Sow's snouts, ox tails, navels, feet, calf noses, eyeballs, ears. Man don't tell me about it. The Army wouldn't have fed it to us if it wasn't good for us.

"I'm just getting into the swing of things to fix with Spam. Cut bold slices, scorch it in a buttered skillet, then skid the bread around in what came out of the crankcase. Now that's a sandwich! Sometimes, when I'm putting up particle board paneling at the camp, and I've been sawing non-board non-meat meat, my mind plays tricks on me. I think I'm eating Spam and particle board. But I think that's caused by what I've been putting in my coffee.

"OTHER MORNING, I was out of bacon so I cut up thin slices of Spam with the pinkin' shears. Fried up just like bacon. I'm getting better at cooking, too. It's been a month now since I've had an egg explode in the skillet, and I've almost gotten over the time I thought I had found a really perfect head of lettuce, but it wouldn't tear up right and the salad tasted like hell. Found out later it was cabbage. They ought to label stuff like that.

"But Spam is the answer for meat. It's just right.

"If it was any better, you couldn't afford it. If it was any worse, you couldn't eat it."

WASHINGTON — Behind torrid infighting last week over energy boss William E. Simon's decision to tap Pentagon aviation fuel for commercial overseas carriers was Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger's resentment at the ouster of retired Vice Adm. Eli T. Reich as fuel allocations chief.

SIMON AND Reich reached their parting of the ways early this month when Reich, feeling downgraded in Simon's fast-building bureaucracy, rebelled. His departure from Simon's Energy Administration immediately followed.

Reich had worked for Schlesinger in the Pentagon before he moved into the oil allocations business in the Interior Department a few months ago. Unbeknownst to Schlesinger, Pentagon sources say, Simon took pains to call Deputy Defense Secretary William Clements before Reich could return to the Pentagon. That was a humane gesture Schlesinger did not know about.

THUS, WHEN Simon's fast-moving men got the permission of Pentagon underlings for a dip into the Pentagon's reserve fuel hoard, without first clearing it with Schlesinger, the secretary did a fast bolt which quickly made itself felt throughout the Pentagon and was reflected in official statements.

Actually, President Nixon himself talked to Schlesinger before the final decision to tap the reserve fuel, and Schlesinger was considerably mollified. Then, when he learned that Simon had specifically spoken to Clements to make sure that Reich would be taken care of, he cooled off.

REFORMIST DECISIONS at the runaway national Democratic convention in Miami Beach in 1972 are costing the financially hard-pressed party at least $1.5 million, with the probability of the price tag rising still higher.

The Delegate Selection Commission and the Charter Commission, each created by the 1972 convention, cost $300,000 apiece in 1973, with another $180,000 budgeted for the Charter Commission in 1974. The convention also required the 1974 party charter conference to be held at Kansas City in December 1974 — in effect, a midterm national convention. Its price tag: at least $750,000.

THAT ADDS UP TO $1,530,000. Considering the disaster wrought by the reforms drafted by the old McGovern commission, everybody agrees that money spent by the Delegate Selection Commission to write new rules is money well spent. But the need for a party charter or a charter convention, adopted by the 1972 convention, is widely doubted in the party.

THE 1972 convention requires that 8 per cent of all party funds raised nationally be set aside to finance indigent delegates attending the 1976 convention. Chairman Robert Strauss says frankly he simply has been unable to do this.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I'm a new Christian, and eager to move ahead in my life of Faith. There's so much to learn, however, and so little time. I don't know how to begin. It's frustrating. Have you any suggestions?

Discouragement is one of Satan's most effective weapons. Don't let the vast vistas of Christian growth intimidate you by their size or complexity. The Christian life is essentially a gradual growing experience. It's all in an environment of love, where God is an understanding Father, and Christ is an Elder Brother.

Remember also the importance of the beginning steps, no matter how small they may be. Job once said, "Though the beginning was small, yet thy latter end should greatly increase." (8:7)

My suggestions are as follows: Get active in a church where the Bible is honored and the Gospel preached; resolve to read a part of the Bible and to pray each day; cultivate the attitude of dependence upon God and love for your fellowmen; share your faith whenever possible; celebrate in your own life daily the joy of being a child of God.

Today is a good day to set some goals for yourself. Remember too, that God wants you to move ahead even more than you do, and will provide every aid necessary.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hope Lange has just finished a TV movie in which she plays a housewife who leaves her husband and children.

It's the second time she's gone through that role. She also walked out as housewife and mother on "The New Dick Van Dyke Show."

It was her remark on leaving the CBS series, "All I ever do on 'The Dick Van Dyke Show' is pour coffee," inspired Deanne Barkley to cast her in the movie role. Miss Barkley is the vice president in charge of the ABC Movie of the Week.

The movie, "I Love You, Goodbye," will air on ABC, probably in February.

"She just gets fed up," Miss Lange said, referring to the movie housewife. "She's a woman who got married very early and got so involved in playing wife and mother that she never had time to find out who she was or what she wanted.

"I think a lot of women who may not actually walk out do consider it at one time. To shake things up and say I have needs, too. I can understand that from the standpoint of being a woman."

Miss Lange served notice several months ago that she would not agree to a fourth season with the Van-Dyke series.

Besides the limitation of her role to a sympathetic housewife, she said she is miffed over CBS' refusal to air a segment of the series.

The segment in question has the couple's daughter enter her parents' bedroom and find them making love. Carl Reiner, the producer, defended the segment as being tastefully handled and said he would not produce the show again unless the show is aired. CBS has said it would not show it because it is not in the "image" of Dick Van Dyke.

"They won't even air the best show we did all season," Miss Lange said. "To hell with it. That's not the reason I'm leaving, but it irks me very much."

She said, "I'm not obligated to them. I only signed for three seasons. But if they won't let us grow up why do the same things over again?"

"If a happily married couple can't make love — they have three children — was that by immaculate conception? Is it distasteful that a couple is still in love after 18 years? Some of the commercials are more provocative."

Visions Of 1974

William F. Buckley Jr.

As I have done before, I pass along the New Year's Predictions of Mr. William F. Rickenbacker . . .

THE VISION of William, who he saw concerning the year of Our Lord 1974, and the wonders thereof.

For the 57th consecutive year since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917, freakish weather will be reported in the Soviet Union, leading to general crop failures and the need to import basic foodstuffs from the decadent capitalist cultures.

Oswald Mayer will appeal the lower court's finding that he acted with malice.

WHAT'S IN NAME, the Secretary General of the United Nations, will hold three conferences with Akmed and the Camel Driver and the joint communiqué to be made public at the conclusion of their deliberations will contain a compromise recipe for turkey pot pie.

The upper court will sustain the judgment of the lower court that Oswald Mayer acted with malice when he slew Byron Harding's cow.

THE U.S. CONGRESS will pass 16,000 new laws relating to the energy shortage. Lamps will be dimmed all over the world as energy is shunted to Washington to handle the printing and distribution of the new statutes and the construction and equipping of the new edifices required to house the agencies created to handle the problems arising from the astonishing new energy crisis, which was analyzed and solved two years ago in the pages of "National Review" at the newsstand price of 50 cents.

CLOSER COOPERATION among the nations of the Atlantic Community will be the subject of a two-week conference in Brussels. This is the same conference that met in 1961, 1972, 1960, 1965, 1971, 1970, once again in 1970 (Geneva — the weather was glorious that fall, 1967, 1966, and of course 1963. No harm will be done).

Electric workers will oppose the establishment of national "daylight saving time" on the grounds that the sun represents cheap foreign competition and will create unemployment in the electrical industry. The Congress will pass an Emergency Relief Act that will provide compensatory subsidies to workers disadvantaged by "daylight saving time." All such subsidies will eventually exceed the amounts spent by petroleum companies on refineries and exploration.

THE FOLLOWING currencies will be as good as gold: any chemical element having an atomic weight of 196.967.

Henry Kissinger will hold conferences in every city in the world, every town, and some small villages, doing the work that might have been done by the 45,000 paid employees of the State Department if they hadn't suffered an unaccountable energy shortage.

It will, in fact, be a completely normal year. That's the way the Lord designs them.

Dahlias Are Going Metric

LONDON (AP) — Britain's slow progress toward conversion to the metric system took one more step with the announcement that dahlias are "going metric."

Following the decision of the National Dahlia Society that flowers exhibited at its shows must now conform to metric measurements, special sizing rings are being issued for use by judges.

New limits for blooms are: large 260 millimeters, medium 220 mm, small 170 mm, Miniature 115 mm and pompons 50 mm.

Friendly To Few At A Time

LONDON (AP) — The King's Head, at Orford in Suffolk, an inn with only four bedrooms — but seven centuries of history — has won one of the first awards given by the British Tourist Authority.

It is among 98 British pubs commended by the authority for their food, accommodations, service and friendliness.

In the 18th century the King's Head was a receiving depot for smugglers with mine host acting as the middleman.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Kidney Infection

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write about a kidney infection called "Ecoli." Why does one get this infection so often, and what causes it and how can one control it? — V.B.

E. coli is a bacterium — short for Escherichia coli.

This is a good and useful form of bacteria as long as it stays where it belongs. But it can cause a good deal of mischief if it gets in the wrong place.

E. coli is a normal inhabitant of the bowel and causes no trouble there. In fact, you need it. But when it gets into the urinary tract, it causes trouble. (Or, of course, if the germ gets into a cut or other place it doesn't belong, it can establish an infection.)

E. coli in the urinary tract primarily affects women because of their anatomy — the way they are put together. An important precaution is to use toilet tissue properly. "Properly" means moving the tissue from front to back. In the opposite direction, there is more chance of carrying E. coli to the genital area and urinary outlet.

However, more than just that can be involved. Any obstruction in the urinary tract can be a significant factor in recurrent infections. Therefore it is important to investigate conditions with cystoscope and X-ray (for the kidneys).

Several medications are used to suppress E. coli, so if one does not work, another can be tried.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The paper says you have a booklet on "Gout, The Modern Way to Stop It." I am not sure it is good that I have. My feet are cold when I go to bed. When they finally get warm, they swell and get fiery red and it takes an hour or so to get them cooled down so I can get to sleep. I may have frosted my feet in 1918 when I drove a livery-barn team, and again maybe in 1936. — L.R.S.

You may well have damaged the circulation when your feet were frostitten; the symptoms don't sound at all like gout. Have your doctor check you.

For those who DO have gout, the booklet is available in return for 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am taking cortisone for arthritis. I've been told by several people that cortisone has an after-effect such as hair falling out, swelling of the limbs, and sores which have to have skin grafts to heal, etc. Is there anything in these tales? — L.L.

It's not "after-effects." It's "side effects." While your "several people" are not very accurate in the side effects they cite, it is true that cortisone has to be used with good judgment.

If side effects begin to develop then it's time to stop or reduce the cortisone. That's your doctor's responsibility, and I suggest that you trust his judgment. The "side effects" usually disappear with reduced dosage or discontinuance of the medication.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had surgery two months ago for cancer of the cervix, and my husband keeps remarking that I'm losing my mind because of it and that I'm ruined sexually. I can't tell any difference in myself on either item, although I have heard that women after a hysterectomy do lose their mind. Which I don't believe. — L.L.

And you shouldn't believe it. Your husband ought to know better than to believe the things he's telling you, because they aren't true.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Thosteson's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25-cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Changing The Guard

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Grizzled old 1973 was putting the last things into his suitcase as young, bright-eyed 1974 stood nervously in the bedroom.

"WELL," said old '73, as he stuffed a few more White House tapes into his bag, "that seems to be about it. The place is all yours. Here are the keys to the house. Oh, by the way, keep the thermostat down to 68 or you may run out of oil by March. You may run out of it anyway. I don't know what happened. When I moved in in January everything was going great, then suddenly in October the bottom fell out, and damned if we didn't have a worldwide energy crisis. Old, 1972 didn't say a word to me about it."

"YESSIR," said 1974.

"Now," said old '73, "here are the keys to the car. You can drive only 55 miles an hour and you're supposed to put only 10 gallons of gas in your tank a week."

"I'll do the best I can with what I've got," 74 said.

Old '73 looked at '74 quizzically. "I'm sure you will. Care for a drink?"

"THANK YOU, sir," said '74, "but I don't drink."

Old '73 poured a double shot and drank it down neat. "You will before the month is out," he said. "If you don't drink you'll really go off your axis. I'm going to level with you. You got lots of problems."

"I'M CERTAIN I can handle them," 74 said. "After all, I graduated from Harvard."

Old '73 poured himself another double shot. "Yeh. Well anyhow you can expect a lot of shortages. There'll be worldwide unemployment and an unreal inflation. And to top it off, they might impeach the President."

"IF THINGS were perfect there would be no challenge, would there?" 74 replied.

"Well, suppose I told you I'm leaving you a little ole war in the Middle East to solve, and if you don't it could mean high noon for the Russkies and the Americanskies."

"Okay, Sir Just hold on to my arm."

AS THEY WALKED outside they saw a cheering crowd, and a band began playing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed by "Auld Lang Syne." Tears welled in old '73's eyes. "I'd be damned," he said, all choked up, "I didn't think anyone cared."

Celtics Notch 7th Straight Cage Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Tommy Heinsohn has one basic demand of his Boston Celtics, whether they're playing the best team or the worst in the National Basketball Association.

"You've got to go to them," Heinsohn keeps telling his Celtics, rolling along with a 29-6 record, tops in the league.

For a while, the Celtics disregarded the standing instructions, despite Heinsohn's ear-shattering shouts from the bench, against Philadelphia Monday before a crowd of 9,365 at the Garden.

However, the Celtics got the message at halftime, trailing 56-51, and went on to their seventh consecutive victory in a 106-97 decision over the 76ers, who lost their sixth game in a row.

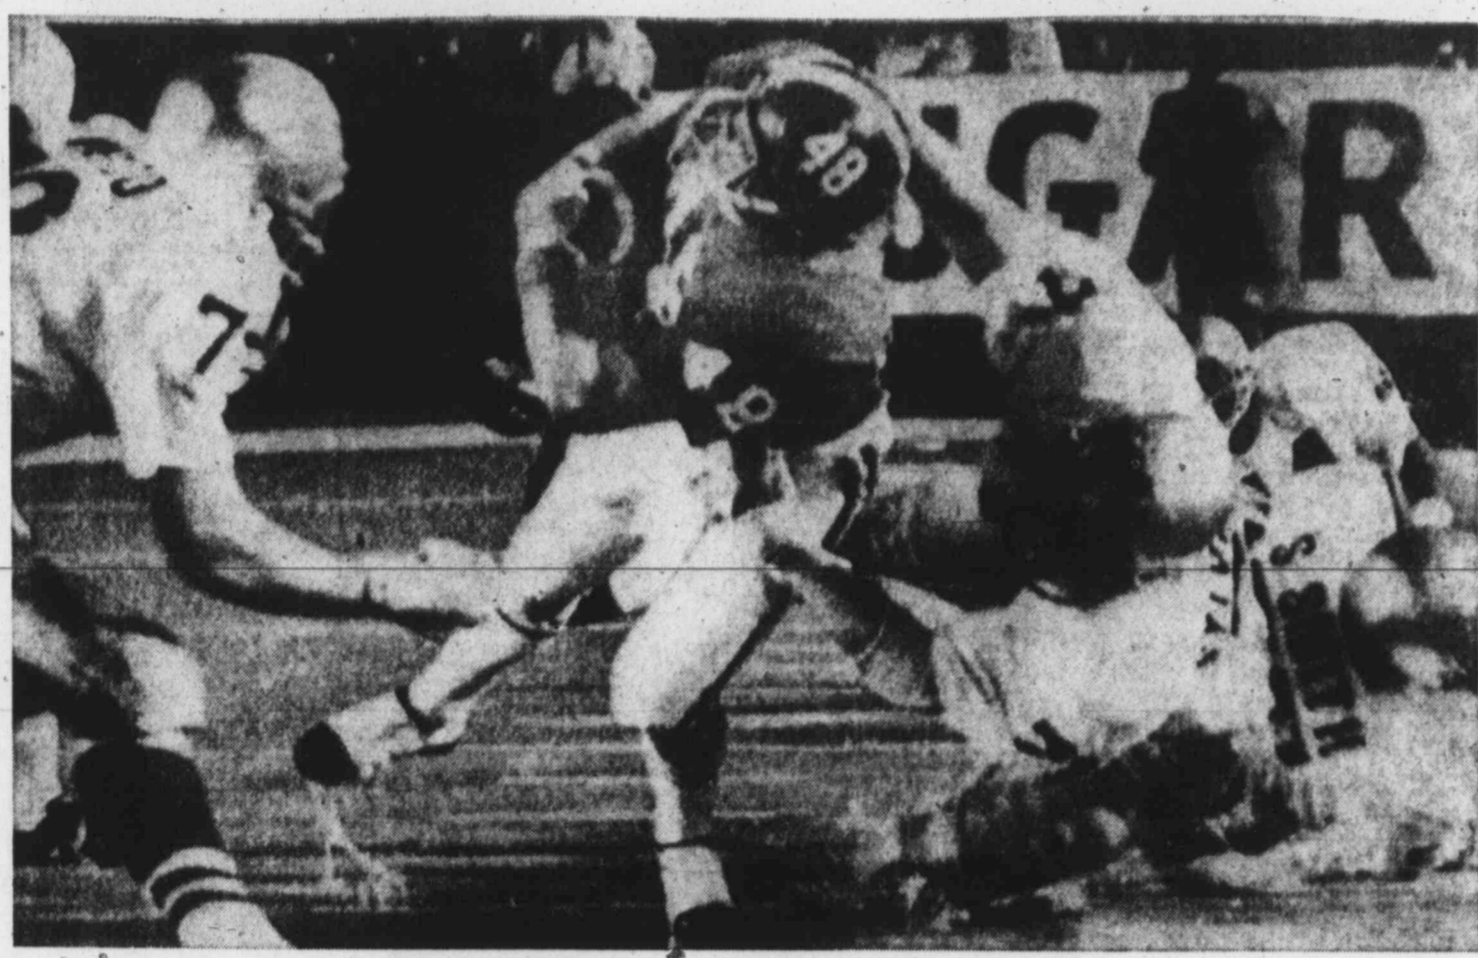

"We weren't going at them until the second half," Heinsohn said. "We'd get two points, they'd get two, we'd get two, and then we'd start throwing the ball away."

"We were sitting back and letting them run their patterns like a B squad at a small college. We got through the third period. Then, in the last quarter, we played tough defense and made them make mistakes."

The game was the only one scheduled Monday in the NBA and the American Basketball Association.

Dave Cowens scored 23 points and grabbed 24 rebounds in leading the Celtics to victory after Philadelphia managed to pull in front 58-51 in the opening minutes of the second half.

Tom Van Arsdale led Philadelphia with 27 points and Fred Carter contributed 17.

Notre Dame Wins Sugar By A Kick

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Has Notre Dame returned to the top of the college football world by the margin of a missed extra point?

"Certainly!" said Coach Ara Parseghian. "What was the final score?"

It was 24-23, Notre Dame over Alabama in a super Sugar Bowl Monday night, and it put the storied South Bend, Ind., gridiron citadel in the driver's seat to capture its first national college football championship since 1966.

"We missed an extra point, too," Parseghian noted, "but we went for two points the next time we scored and we won the game. In my opinion, we've won the national championship and we won it without starting out with the national recognition that some other teams had."

The national champion will be announced Thursday when The Associated Press releases its final poll. The margin of victory was decided when Bill Davis, for three years an outstanding placekicker and successful on 51 of 53 extra points during the regular season, booted the conversion attempt to the right of the goal posts following a razzle-dazzle touchdown that put Alabama on top 23-21 with 9:39 left.

The trick play, which Notre Dame pulled itself against Southern California several years ago, featured a handoff from quarterback Richard Todd to halfback Mike Stock and a return pass to Todd.

But the third-ranked Fighting Irish, a one-touchdown underdog, stormed back and marched from their own 19-yard line to the Alabama two, Bob Thomas, who missed the extra point after Notre Dame's first touchdown in the opening period, kicked a 19-yard field goal with 4:26 remaining for the deciding points.

They also won it on freshman Al Hunter's record 93-yard kickoff return just 13 seconds after Alabama had taken a 7-6 lead in the second period; on

Eric Penick's 12-yard scoring gallop on the first play after an Alabama fumble in the third quarter; on a supreme effort by a fired-up defense that held the Crimson Tide's awesome rushing attack to 190 yards—176 under its per-game average—and on two daring long passes in the closing minutes.

The first was a 30-yard lob from Tom Clements to tight end Dave Casper, who out-fought two defenders at the Alabama 15, setting up Thomas' winning field goal. The second was a 35-yarder on third down from Clements to tight end Robin Weber which took the Irish from the ominous shadow of their goal line to the 38 with a half-minute left and enabled them to run out the clock.

graying Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant talked in deliberate tones while seated on a huge trunk with his feet dangling over the front.

"Notre Dame is a great team, but I wouldn't mind playing them again tomorrow," said Bryant. "In fact, I'd like to play them."

It was the first game between the two coaches, both of whom are acknowledged masters of the sport.

And when the historic battle was over, both coaches agreed that it had come down to a final gambling pass, with seconds to play. Notre Dame quarterback Tom Clements hit tight end Robin Weber with a third down pass from his end zone, giving the Irish a first down and enabling them to run out the clock.

"It was a little late to call that a turning point," said Bryant, "but the play that won the game was that last catch."

"If they don't complete it, they punt from their end zone and we win the game, at least with a field goal," said Bryant. Parseghian called the gamble a "make or break play. I was worried, but we had confidence in it."

Parseghian told reporters crowded against him in the packed room. "We beat the leading scoring team in the nation and the team that was leading in offensive yardage. We beat a great football team, and they lost to a great football team."

It was a predictably different scene a few steps away in the quiet Alabama quarters where

BEFORE SUPER PREPARATIONS Dolphins Take Final Rest

MIAMI (AP) — The Miami Dolphins deserve a rest—and they're getting it today before buckling down to the job of preparing for Super Bowl VIII Jan. 13 in Houston against the Minnesota Vikings.

"Right now our schedule is that the squad'll be in Wednesday to look at Sunday's film (of the Dolphins' 27-10 American Conference championship victory over Oakland), then we'll have a light workout on the field to try to determine what their condition is and to get the stiffness and the soreness out," Coach Don Shula said Monday.

"Then we'll come in on Thursday and have an offensive practice Friday will be a defensive practice and on Saturday we'll have a combination practice and we'll get a chance to do some things you don't have a lot of time to do during the season—two-minute drills and the like."

"So we'll use this week to try and get some of those things done here. Then we'll leave on Sunday. It'll be picture day, I understand, on Monday, and then we'll get into a regular week's practice out there. We'll be practicing at the Houston Oilers' facility."

Shula said the Dolphins came out of the Oakland game relatively healthy. "Charlie Leigh separated his shoulder and he's out of the Super Bowl," he said. Leigh, a reserve running back, sustained the injury in the third quarter after he returned a kickoff 52 yards to set up a Garo Yepremian field goal.

"The other injuries are bumps and bruises," Shula added. "Bill Stanfill got a cracked rib but he came back in and played the rest of the ball game."

"Nick Buoniconti's got a chip in his elbow. He was supposed to go in and have an operation but it was decided Sunday night that he wouldn't. They're afraid if they go in there to get that chip out that it might evolve into something complicated. So he'll play with the chip in there."

To replace Leigh on kickoff returns, Shula said, "we have (running back) Tom Smith, who plays that position. We have (cornerback) Henry Stuckey, who's done a great job for us on special teams. Those are two possibilities."

The Dolphins, who already have set a National Football League record by making it into their third straight Super Bowl, are out to tie another record—the one Green Bay set in 1967 and 1968 when they won two Super Bowls in a row.

"This year we came to camp with the idea of trying to go back-to-back in Super Bowls," Shula said. "Everything we've done has been pointed in that direction. Our first objective was to get into the playoffs. Then, in the playoffs, you have to win or you quit playing. We've just been able to meet our goals. The big one is up ahead."

Woody Hayes, nearly a dictator when it came to preparing his previous Rose Bowl teams, chose a more casual, relaxed approach this time.

"It's a very different routine this year, I'm sure," he admitted before sending Ohio State against Southern California in the 60th renewal of the New Year's Day classic.

Hayes, a loser in his last two Rose Bowls, even abandoned his custom of taking the players to a mountain monastery to stay the night before the game.

Instead, the Buckeyes remained at their Pasadena hotel.

"Kids are gregarious," Hayes explained. "They get jittery up in the mountains. There isn't any television and there's no player to a room. This way they won't sit around and grind their wheels too early."

Abandoning the monastery is only one change for the 60-year-old Hayes, beaten by Stanford 27-17 and Southern Cal 42-17 in two of the last three Rose Bowls.

There have been no two-day practices, no early curfews or reveille and no lengthy, frequent squad meetings.

Wives of the players and coaches came on the team plane this time, too.

"If that's to imply the players and I have changed, yes, I'd say so. People do change but football doesn't," said Hayes, who has a 3-2 record in the Rose Bowl.

Pressure On Ohio State For Today's Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The 60th renewal of the grandfather of football bowl games—the Rose Bowl—shaped up as the "Vote-of-Confidence Bowl" for the Ohio State Buckeyes today.

The pressure on Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes to snap a four-game Big Ten losing streak in the Rose Bowl was enormous.

The Buckeyes were underdogs to the Southern California Trojans a year ago, and lost 42-17. They were favored this time—by two points. Hence more pressure.

The game started at 4 p.m. CST.

Only victory by Ohio State would silence catcalls from Michigan, whose Wolverines tied the Buckeyes 10-10 and shared the Big Ten title. A 6-4 vote of Big Ten athletic directors favored Ohio State when Hayes, a loser in his last two Rose Bowls, even abandoned his custom of taking the players to a mountain monastery to stay the night before the game.

Instead, the Buckeyes remained at their Pasadena hotel.

"Kids are gregarious," Hayes explained. "They get jittery up in the mountains. There isn't any television and there's no player to a room. This way they won't sit around and grind their wheels too early."

Abandoning the monastery is only one change for the 60-year-old Hayes, beaten by Stanford 27-17 and Southern Cal 42-17 in two of the last three Rose Bowls.

There have been no two-day practices, no early curfews or reveille and no lengthy, frequent squad meetings.

HORSE RACING INVADERS ROSES

Derby Notes 100th Birthday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lynn Stone, the president of Churchill Downs, starts the 100th anniversary year of the Kentucky Derby visiting the Rose Bowl parade with a purpose.

He wants the nation to know this is:

1. The 200th birthday of the commonwealth and of Kentucky.

2. The centennial of the Kentucky Derby.

Stone brought along Secretariat but not in person—in replica. The winningest 3-year-old ever was aboard the Louisville float in the Rose Bowl parade.

The 100th anniversary might be outranked by the 99th when Secretariat won his first jewel of the Triple Crown on a day when 134,000 watched and the pari-mutuel handle reached a U.S. record $7 million.

Irish Proclaim They're No. 1

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Notre Dame Fighting Irish went on the field with their fingers held high in the traditional sports symbol for "We're No. 1."

Three hours later, their confidence proved well placed after they had defeated top-ranked Alabama 24-23.

When the delirious Notre Dame players filed into their dressing room after the game, they were chanting with gleeful sarcasm, "Roll, Tide, Roll."

But it remained for Coach Ara Parseghian to officially set off the celebration.

The sombre-looking coach moved silently through the thickly packed fans, but let out a screeching warwhoop when he opened the door to the dressing room—and the party was on.

"I definitely feel we're the national champion," Parseghian told reporters crowded against him in the packed room.

"We beat the leading scoring team in the nation and the team that was leading in offensive yardage. We beat a great football team, and they lost to a great football team."

It was a predictably different scene a few steps away in the quiet Alabama quarters where

Penn State Tries To Offer Proof Against LSU Tigers

MIAMI (AP) — Sixth-ranked Penn State, seeking to prove it is more than a strong eastern team with a weak schedule, meets tough Louisiana State of the Southeast Conference tonight in the 40th annual Orange Bowl football game.

The Nittany Lions from central Pennsylvania are unbeaten in 11 games but ranked only sixth in the nation behind No. 1 Alabama, Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Ohio State and Michigan.

Coach Charley McClendon's LSU team ripped through its first nine games without a loss before they stumbled 21-7 against Alabama in a game much closer than the scores indicate, and were stunned by a traditional rival Tulane 14-0 in the regular season finale. The Tigers finished 9-2 and ranked 14th among major college teams.

"I hope we're as good as we think we are," says Paterno, the winningest college football coach in the country with an eight-year record of 74-13-1 for an .846 percentage. This is his sixth bowl team, including victories in the 1969 and 1970 Orange Bowl games.

McClendon is counting on his squad's desire to erase the bitter taste of those two season-ending defeats. "I hope we're disappointed losing those games," McClendon said. "The day we're not disappointed we shouldn't line up. I'm counting upon our boys to bounce back. If they don't we're in trouble."

Penn State's offense features running back John Cappelletti, winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player of 1973.

McClendon is counting on his squad's desire to erase the bitter taste of those two season-ending defeats. "I hope we're disappointed losing those games," McClendon said. "The day we're not disappointed we shouldn't line up. I'm counting upon our boys to bounce back. If they don't we're in trouble."

Astros' Cedeno Free On Bond

SANTO DOMINGO, D.R. (AP) — Houston Astros baseball star Cesar Cedeno is free on $10,000 bond, but will be unable to return to the United States until he stands trial in a lower court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

He was arrested in Santo Domingo, D.R., after a fight with a woman in a bar.

Cedeno was charged with involuntary manslaughter after the woman was found dead in a pool of blood.

WEATHER FORECAST — Colder weather is forecast today for most of the nation. Snow is expected in Arizona and showers in southern California. Warmer weather is forecast for Texas. Cloudy weather is forecast for most coastal areas but inland regions are expected to be mainly clear and sunny.

No Holiday Taken By Thieves Here

Burglars and thieves were working while others were partying New Year's Eve, reports at the police department show.

Approximately $1,000 worth of stereo equipment was stolen during the burglary of the Nathan Dawson home at 1214 1/2 Mesquite St. New Year's Eve, police reported.

SHOPLIFTING

An 18-year-old man and his juvenile wife were arrested for theft of a pair of slacks and woman's coat from the C. R. Anthony Co. Department Store. A saleslady related seeing the two run east on Third Street Monday afternoon.

A bystander told police the two went inside the Howard House. Here, police arrested the two. The wife had been released but the man was in jail this morning.

A camera, camera case, slide viewer and slides have been stolen from the apartment of Jane Berland, police said.

Miss Berland, Barcelona Apartments, 538 Westover Road, was out of town for a week, coming back Sunday, police reported. The stolen goods belong to Nancy Manuel, San Angelo, who left them with Miss Berland while vacationing in Mexico.

'JUICE' LIFTED

The burglar or burglars who

Five Arrested On Dope Count

Fifteen minutes before the clocks tolled at midnight Monday, three men and two women from Snyder were arrested for possession of marijuana.

The five ranging in ages from 17 to 26 were in city jail this morning. Police recovered approximately three-quarters of an ounce of substance identified as marijuana.

Police Patrolman John M. Burson said he saw a car traveling on East Fourth Street at a "high rate" of speed. He reported stopping the vehicle on Birdwell Lane near the Razorback Club.

"As the vehicle was pulling over to the side of the road, I observed a subject throw something out the passenger side window," Burson said.

While booking the suspect, police discovered one man carried a knife, which was considered a prohibited weapon.

No Local Births Reported Today

The stork was a little late in showing up here as the New Year began.

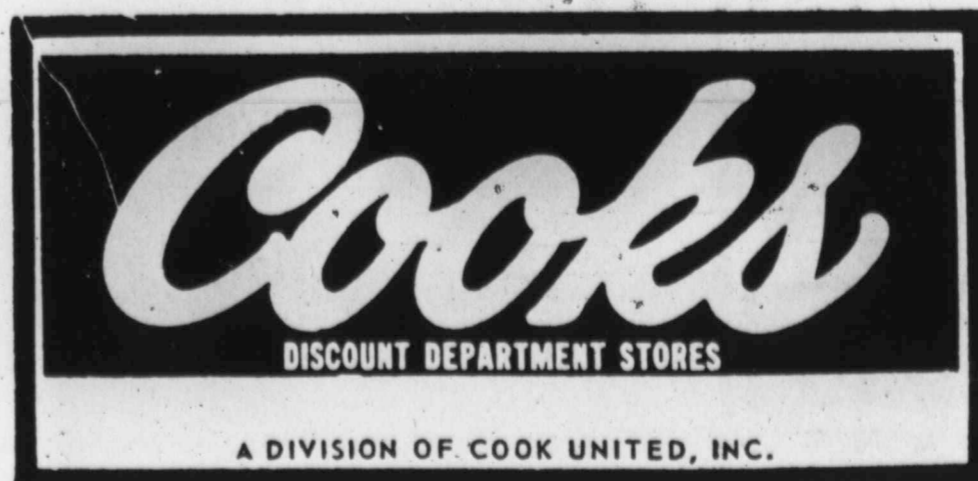

No births had been reported in the city by 10:30 a.m., today. The first baby who does put in an appearance becomes eligible for gifts offered by local merchants.

Welsh Working Despite Disease

DETROIT (AP) — It's not unusual that William Burr Welsh drives his wife to work and travels 30 miles round trip to his suburban job each day. What is unusual is that he does it all without the use of his arms. "With power options and an elastic grip on the steering wheel, I can drive by using my shoulder muscles and knees," Welsh said. "Of course I don't corner very fast, but I do get to work."

Welsh lost the use of both arms 11 years ago to an undiagnosed muscular disease. But that didn't stop him from being as active and useful as anyone else. "Social Security disability pay wouldn't be enough to live on," he said. "I developed the bad habit of eating, so I work." The 58-year-old engineer has 30 years of experience in hydraulic power systems and has been with his current employer, the Morrell Co., for 13 years. Owner Don Morrell said Welsh is one of the few knowledgeable people in the industry and would be hard to replace. "He cultivated his memory to the point where he knows most of the catalog numbers without looking them up," Morrell said. Welsh applied for state aid shortly after the paralysis began in 1962 but rejected a futuristic, electric-powered system with a heavy back pack that would help arm movement but confine him to a wheel chair.

FRUSTRATION
"I didn't want to be a guinea pig," he said. "I couldn't keep this job in a wheel chair anyway because I have to visit customers' plants and go back and forth to the warehouse." Welsh has adjusted well to his condition but admits to some frustration when he is unable to pick up a pencil and jot down something or take notes. "In general though, I would have to say that something like this has to happen for you to appreciate how good most people are in assisting you," he said.

Leaks Double Water Bill
PITTSBURGH (AP) — A pinhole leak in a water line, or a badly leaking faucet can cause your water bill to double every bill, according to Rockwell International Corp., a large water meter producer in the U.S. A pinhole leak can mean a loss of 18,000 gallons of water per quarter, equalling normal demand from the average home. Where water bills are combined with sewage bills, this could mean quadrupling of the bill each quarter.

Stores Issue BYOB Plea

SEATTLE (AP) — Safeway grocery stores here are asking customers to BYOB — Bring Your Own Bags — when shopping. Dale Lynch, Safeway manager for Western Washington and Alaska, said customers were asked to bring bags back to the store "because we foresee a tough time in getting an adequate supply beginning in about March." Lynch said, "Re-using grocery bags is a prudent measure at this time and it's good ecology. Many of our customers even suggested this measure."

Cancer Research Pioneer Dies

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Joseph C. Aub, 83, former chairman of the Harvard Medical School Department of Medicine and a pioneer in cancer research, died Sunday. Dr. Aub was one of the first to study metabolism that laid the foundation for later cancer research.

Kissinger Most Admired

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has displaced President Nixon as "most admired man" in the Gallup Poll's annual survey.

The President, who led the list the past four years, was in third place this year. The Rev. Billy Graham was second. The polling organization said that this was the sixth time since the annual survey was initiated in 1946 that the top spot was not held by a chief executive. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was fourth this year.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford placed fifth. Placing sixth through 10th were: Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, consumer advocate Ralph Nader, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Pope Paul VI and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.
