SURVIVOR — West St. Paul fireman Keith Johnson, 31, takes a quiet break from his fire-fighting duties today after he survived a propane gas explosion as he was 20 feet above the explosion in a snorkel basket. Three other firemen died in the blast which occurred at an apartment complex which then caught fire.

SEXTUPLETS

Good Chance Of Survival

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A 25-year-old woman gave birth to sextuplets today after a full nine months of pregnancy, and doctors gave the six babies and three girls a good chance of survival.

The weight of the babies born to Susan Rosenkowitz at Mowbray Maternity hospital ranged from 2½ pounds to 4½ pounds. They were delivered by caesarian section.

Mrs. Rosenkowitz's husband, Colin, is a local businessman, and they have two other children, a 6-year-old daughter and a 2-year-old son.

FERTILITY DRUG

The woman had taken one of the hormone fertility drugs which have made births of four or more babies a frequent occurrence in recent years. Sextuplets have been born to a number of women who have taken such drugs, but the largest number known to have survived to date are five of the six babies born in 1973 to Edna and Gene Stanek of Denver, Colo.

Oil Tank Hit By Lightning

PORT NECHES, Tex. (AP) — A searing, lightning-ignited fire ripped through two giant crude oil tanks at a Mobil Oil Corp. tank farm here today but was believed under control by mid-morning.

Mobil spokesman Roy Dickerson said a 70,000-gallon tank and a 20,000-gallon tank, each filled with crude oil, were still blazing with sporadic explosions but were believed to be contained at 9:30 a.m.

One of the tanks exploded and sent a tower of flame into the air at about 3:25 a.m. when struck by a bolt of lightning. The blaze then spread to the other tank.

Crash-Landed In Midland Fog

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A twin-engine business plane piloted by Hank Samsel, 49, of Lubbock crash-landed in thick fog shortly before 11 p.m. Thursday.

Samsel escaped injury as the Cessna 340 smacked into an open field 1.5 miles south of the Midland-Odessa air terminal.

Flight officials said he was flying from Waco to Lubbock and fog forced the Lubbock airport to close, sending the craft to an alternate landing site here. They said the fog also enveloped the Midland area moments before his arrival.

The plane, owned by Jack R. Hall of Lubbock, suffered minor damage to the right wing and landing gear.

No Action Is Taken On TIA's Request

The Civil Aeronautics Board has agreed to let three airlines drop their service in eight cities because of the energy crisis but has taken no action on Texas International's request to halt its flight into Big Spring.

Also pending before the CAB is a request by Frontier Airlines to terminate its flights to Stillwater and Bartlesville, Okla., along with a plea by Hughes Air West to drop its flight to Aberdeen, Wash.

Big Spring, Stillwater and Bartlesville have no other scheduled service but Aberdeen has service through a commuter airline.

Allegheny Airlines was the recipient of all but two of the suspended orders. The other two allowed to drop all service are Trans World Airlines and Eastern Air Lines. None affected the Southwest.

The board rejected the request of Delta Airlines to end service between Miami and San Francisco and by Braniff International to drop its flights into Houston and New Orleans. The suspensions approved so far became effective this past Monday.

Suspect Sought In Triple Murder Dies With Woman

DOVER, Del. (AP) — A shooting spree that left five persons dead and three wounded was triggered by an accused heroin dealer who was trying to systematically kill witnesses who could have testified against him in a drug case, a Delaware state official said today.

Authorities said the gunman killed two possible witnesses and a woman Thursday, then killed his girl friend. Three persons were wounded before the gunman apparently shot himself in the head, police said. The head wound was fatal. The shooting spree and a high speed chase ranged across the state.

KILLS WITNESSES

Police identified the dead suspect as Ronald W. Hoeffcker, 30, Dover.

Deputy Delaware Atty. Gen. Joseph A. Hurley called the murder spree a "systematic killing of witnesses."

Hoeffcker was arrested Dec.

19 on charges of selling heroin. He was to appear in court today for a probation violation hearing which could have ended in his being sent to prison for revocation of his probation for a 1971 drug conviction.

KNEW EVERYBODY

Hurley said two of the dead had been scheduled to be witnesses against Hoeffcker in an upcoming drug case, and that only hours before the killings Hoeffcker had purchased a box of handgun ammunition.

"He knew everybody he shot," said state police spokesman Angelo T. Citro.

The shootings began when Hoeffcker went to the Dover home of Glen Chemielewski, killing John Pappas, 29, of Wyoming, Del., and Shirley F. Haggerty, 34, of Dover.

Police said he drove to another Dover home where he took Mrs. Richard Katcher 25, as a hostage, and then drove south to Camden, Del., where he killed Mark Lovelace, 21.

Lovelace and Pappas had been scheduled to appear as witnesses against Hoeffcker, Hurley said.

OUT OF CONTROL

Hoeffcker's car was spotted by state police near Middletown, and he was pursued by police until his car skidded out of control and into a field.

Delaware state trooper Billy Reep was shot in the shoulder during the chase and was wounded slightly.

Police said Mrs. Katcher told them Hoeffcker had shot her and Barbara Johnson, 19. The Johnson woman, found in the car used by Hoeffcker, was identified by police as Hoeffcker's girl friend. But they said they did not know when she joined Hoeffcker in the incident.

Mrs. Katcher was listed in fair condition.

Bread Prices Rise Blamed On Middleman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says rising middleman costs, not record farm prices for wheat, have accounted for most bread price increases since huge grain sales were made to the Soviet Union 18 months ago.

An analysis of bread costs, compiled by Agriculture Department economists, shows that a one-pound loaf sold in supermarkets in July 1972 for an average of 24.5 cents. Last November, the same size loaf cost 31.5 cents, the department said.

The increase of seven cents included a boost of 2.7 cents in the cost of all farm ingredients used. Of that, wheat flour, 2.2 cents.

But other markups, including margins for flour millers and bakers, added about 4.3 cents per loaf to the retail cost during the 18-month span, according to a study by the department's Economic Research Service.

Targets Of U.S. Missiles Shifted From Soviet Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major strategy change, the targets of some of this country's long-range missiles have been shifted from Soviet cities to Russian missile bases, command centers and other military targets.

The move, made over the past few months, is intended to give President Nixon an option to respond with less than all-out nuclear war if the Russians should try limited "adventurism," as U.S. officials call it, in Europe or elsewhere.

STRATEGY

In effect, the revised strategy widens the range of choices available to the President beyond massive retaliation against Soviet cities, which long has been the cornerstone of U.S. policy for deterring any Russian nuclear attack.

Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, who has been indicating since last summer that a change was coming, disclosed Thursday that the new strategy had been put into effect.

"We have targeting options which are more selective and which do not necessarily involve major mass destruction on the other side," Schlesinger said after speaking at an Overseas Writers Association luncheon.

Moss Lake Opened To Public Again

Moss Creek Lake has been re-opened for picnickers and fishermen, according to E. W. McCain, park manager.

Presently there is bait available at the concessions stand and by next week, picnic supplies will also be stocked.

The park recently underwent a general clean-up and is now open daily from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The state biologists checked the lake in the fall and said it is well stocked with channel cat, crappie, yellow cat and bass.

"The purpose of this ... is to maintain the capability to deter any desire on the part of an opponent to inflict major damage on the United States or its allies."

Putting it more simply, another Pentagon official said "we have to be able to deter them on a tit-for-tat basis." Schlesinger told the luncheon the change in targeting does not require an increase in the number or size of U.S. missiles and their warheads.

He did not discuss details, but it was learned a portion of the force of 1,000 land-based Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles have been diverted from Soviet city targets and aimed at a limited number of key Russian military sites.

With the present accuracy of U.S. warheads, missile men reportedly will concentrate extra firepower on selected targets to make sure they would be knocked out, even though dug in below ground and shielded by reinforced concrete.

Experts said this diversion of part of the U.S. missile force to Soviet military targets would leave enough nuclear striking power, particularly in the 656 firing tubes of 41 Polaris and Poseidon submarines, to devastate Soviet cities.

Hoping To Grease Way For Truce

MADRID (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger headed for the Middle East today with high hopes that he can "grease the way" for an agreement between Egypt and Israel to pull back their armies intermingled around the Suez Canal.

A senior official said Kissinger may emerge with a formal proposal to put before the Geneva peace conference, but even if he does not he expects to bring the two sides close enough together to negotiate a disengagement.

Kissinger stopped off in Spain to meet Pedro Cortina, the new foreign minister in a government that was substantially revised following the assassination Dec. 20 of Premier Luis Carrero Blanco. Kissinger will fly to Aswan, Egypt, in mid-noon and may meet immediately with President Anwar Sadat upon arrival.

The Egyptians already have made several concrete proposals and Kissinger received "a pretty good idea" of Israel's position from Defense Minister Moshe Dayan last weekend in Washington. Now, the U.S. official said, he is ready to shuttle between Egypt and Israel over the next few days in order to overcome their mutual distrust.

Texan Receives Death Penalty In New Mexico

RATON, N.M. (AP) — A Texas man was sentenced today to die in New Mexico's gas chamber in the first imposition of the death penalty under the state's 1973 capital punishment law.

District Court Judge John B. Wright this morning set March 29 as the date of execution for Enos Larry Trivitt, 25, of Houston.

Trivitt was convicted of first-degree murder by a Colfax County District Court jury Thursday in the Sept. 5, 1972, stabbing death of Clayton service station operator James Graves, 64, during a robbery.

Defense attorney Gordon Robertson had said Thursday the verdict would be appealed. Under the law, appeals of death sentences go direct to the New Mexico Supreme Court, bypassing the state Court of Appeals.

Charge Teen In Slayings

DALLAS (AP) — Police arrested Cal Ray Biggins, 18, today and charged him with the slayings of Gustavo and Maria Cuello, Cuban immigrants who tried to make a fresh start in the United States.

Biggins was arrested about 3 a.m. in the South Oak Cliff area after a tip from an anonymous caller seeking reward money.

Biggins was charged with two counts of murder and one count of armed robbery and jailed pending $300,000 bond.

The Cuellos were shot to death Monday as they knelt in the cold-storage locker of their Northwest Dallas grocery store.

Widespread community reaction created rewards offering $5,000 for capture of the killer. One police officer said the reward money "played a key role in us getting the suspect."

Shot To Death In Parking Lot

HOUSTON (AP) — Police shot two Houston men were shot to death early today in an apartment parking lot.

They were identified as Sam Ellis Thomas and Raphael J. Hogrobrooks, both 23.

Police said the lot was strewn with empty .30-caliber rifle shells but no rifle was found. Both men had been hit at least twice with rifle slugs.

A pistol was found near Thomas with two empty shells nearby, police said.

Blame Crisis For Loss Of About 100,000 Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department today blamed the energy crisis for the loss of about 100,000 jobs last month. Some employers laid off workers in anticipation of fuel shortages.

In a supplement to its monthly employment report, the department said "employment reduction occurred in several specific industries which appear to be due to actual or anticipated shortages of gasoline."

Jobs in retail trade rose less than expected in December, the government said, with the seasonally adjusted decline of a 80,000 concentrated among automotive dealerships and service stations.

A strike by 30,000 grocery workers in California also accounted for the decline.

Employment in the service industry which usually rises in December also failed to materialize, primarily due to job layoffs in hotels, motels and entertainment — all hard-hit by the fuel shortage which has curtailed travel.

The department reported last week that unemployment in December rose from 4.7 to 4.9 percent of the work force, but because of problems in gathering complete statistics said it was unable to give a complete report or pinpoint specific reasons for the increase.

Today's report included a year-end review of the nation's employment situation, which showed a number of persons holding jobs increased by 2.7 million over the year while the over-all jobless rate dropped steadily from a first quarter 1972 high of 5.8 percent to 4.7 percent in the fourth quarter of 1973 before starting its upward climb in November.

VEGA VS. IMPALA Big Cars Just Aren't Moving

Editor's Note: Associated Press reporters surveyed the used car market this week for effects of the energy crisis. Among them was a Detroit newsman who tried to sell his 1972 Chevrolet Impala and 1972 Chevy Vega.

By HARRY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

UTICA, Mich. (AP) — Even in these days of the gasoline shortage, can a subcompact 1972 Chevrolet Vega really be worth as much or more than a powerful, option-laden '72 Impala?

I took my used Vega and Impala with me and went new car shopping in suburban Detroit this week. I saw my doubts about the question go right out the window.

PAID $4,049

I paid $4,049 for the Impala and $2,445 for the Vega in June 1972. I tried to trade both on '74 intermediate cars during visits to several dealers.

"All I can give is $1,350," Denton-Riopelle Olds salesman Bob Denton said after appraising the air conditioned Impala with its power steering, brakes and seats, automatic transmission, AM-FM radio, rear window defroster and luxury trim. "We have to sell it for a profit, and I know I can't get $2,000 for it."

"I'll give you the same money for the Vega," Denton said of the little car, equipped only with automatic transmission, AM radio and an extra suspension package. Both cars are in mint condition and have no dents and about 27,000 and 28,000 miles on them. But gasoline is at the top of people's minds these days and the Vega gets 21 miles per gallon to the Impala's 13.

BIG CARS

"I'd rather have the Vega than the Impala," Denton said. "The big cars just aren't moving. I've got 72 Oldsmobiles on the lot, big ones, with all the equipment, and I can't get $2,000 for them."

The situation was the same at two other dealers in this suburb. And an Associated Press survey of the nation's used car market shows Utica is no exception. The price of the large cars is down while the price of compacts and subcompacts is going up across the country. Because of the gasoline shortage, there are plenty of standard size cars for sale, but few buyers. Used car dealers say they can't get enough small cars to meet consumer demand.

The survey showed that at some used car auctions the wholesale price of a standard '72 Impala has dropped from $3,100 in January 1973 to about $1,550 now. But the value of subcompacts has increased, even though they are a year older, dealers said. Used cars normally depreciate several hundred dollars each year.

SHOCKER

I next took my Impala to Buff Whelan Chevrolet and salesman Fred Elias offered $1,700 for it, saying, "The big car market is terrible."

The shocker came at Jerome-Duncan Ford.

Salesman Paul Miller said he could give about $1,400 for the Impala, and didn't bother to have it appraised. Later salesman Jay Scherr offered $1,500 for the Vega, after an appraisal.

Charged With Killing Child

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Connie Lee Jones, 2, died in a hospital Thursday of injuries she suffered apparently in a beating. Her stepfather was charged with murder.

Sheriff's offices said the stepfather, David Jackson, 30, told them child was injured Sunday when she fell off a pickup truck.

They said the mother, however, told them that Jackson beat the child along with her 5-year-old sister.

The mother was quoted by officers as saying Jackson beat the children because she threatened to seek a divorce.

Wickett Refinery Back On Stream

Adobe Oil Gas Corp. and Tom Brown, Inc., Midland, have agreed in principle to participate in reactivation of the Wickett refinery, situated 70 miles west of Midland.

The refinery will be a joint venture operation with each company owning 25 per cent and the remaining interest owned by private investors. Operator will be Wickett Refinery Co., Wickett.

The refinery, which has not been in operation for 12 years, is expected to go on stream June 1, with an expected minimum throughput of 6,000 barrels per day.

Do the cards dictate the fate of a particular hand, or is the player master of his own fate? Sometimes an unfortunate lie of the cards will wreck a perfectly sound contract. Most times, however, man can dictate the final outcome.

Consider today's hand. A normal auction resulted in a good four heart contract. The South was considerably better than minimum, he took the conservative course in merely raising to four hearts because of his five losers in spades and diamonds—it was too much to ask of partner to cover most of them.

West led the queen of spades, covered by the king and won by the ace. A low spade was returned to West's ten, and a diamond was led thru dummy's suit. Declarer finessed the queen and East completed the defensive book by winning the king. He exited with a club to South's queen.

Declarer drew trumps and led a diamond to dummy's ten. Unfortunately, East produced the jack for down one. "What terrible luck," complained South, "three cards had to be wrong for me to go down!"

It was indeed hard luck, yet declarer could have done better. See what happens if declarer does not play dummy's king of spades at the first trick. If West continues the suit, East must win the second trick and dummy's diamonds are safe from attack. Since another round of spades will give declarer a ruff-and-sluff, East must shift. Declarer wins any return, draws trump and cashes his three clubs. Now he leads a diamond to the ten, and it is immaterial whether it wins or loses. If it loses to the jack, East must either give declarer a ruff-and-sluff, or lead a diamond into dummy's ace-queen.

What if, at trick two, West shifts to a diamond instead of leading a second spade? Declarer remains in command. He discards the diamond finesses, and goes up with dummy's ace. After drawing trumps, he takes his three high clubs, discarding dummy's king of spades. The defenders will be held to one spade trick and two diamonds.

Houston Man Wants Padres

HOUSTON (AP) — Reuben Askane, a Houston financier, has been reported heading a group that will seek to purchase the San Diego Padres baseball club in the National League.

The Houston Chronicle named Askane Thursday as leader of the group. The newspaper said the Padres would remain in San Diego under the Askane plan.

Askane was unavailable for comment Thursday night.

Club owners rejected Wednesday in Chicago a proposal to sell the San Diego club to a group that includes Marjorie Everett, a Los Angeles race track owner.

Askane arranged a $38 million loan last year to consolidate the debts of the giant Astrodome in Corp. complex, which includes the Houston Astros baseball club, the Astrodome lease, the Astroworld amusements park and a group of hotels near the Astrodome.

He left the Astrodome several months ago, saying he agreed to stay only a year to give Roy Hofheinz, head of the Astros and the entertainment complex, financial assistance. He was called in after Hofheinz suffered a stroke that has confined him to a wheelchair.

Big Spring, Permian Battle Here Tonight

The Big Spring Steers, dreaming big dreams in the Dist. 5-AAAA basketball race this season, try to set the stage for a Tuesday duel with Midland Lee tonight when they host the hot-and-cold Odessa Permian Panthers.

Permian, one of two winless teams in the early 5-AAAA going, looked its best for a half against Abilene High last Tuesday, leading the powerful Eagles 31-22 at the intermission. But everything fell apart in the final 16 minutes and the league-leading Eagles nailed down a 69-54 triumph.

The loss was Permian's ninth of the year, compared to eight victories, but it was a close enough call to give Big Spring Coach Ron Plumlee and his Steers some serious thoughts.

At the same time the Permian-Abilene battle was going on the Steers were blowing an early lead to Midland High. But the Big Springers, thanks to three clutch steals in the final minute by John Thomas Smith, held on for a 71-65 triumph to even the Longhorns' loop mark at 1-1 and give them a 13-5 reading on the year. Lee was upset by San Angelo Tuesday 77-68 and Steer victories tonight and Tuesday in Midland would give Plumlee's troops legitimate hopes for Big Spring's first title run in 15 years.

Their main task will be to stop the Panthers' 6-6 post man David Nelson, who ranks third among the league's scorers. He gets rebounding help from sturdy Daryl Hunt, a 6-4 junior. Andy Burk and Hargis are other top hands.

Smith will be the Steer's main man in tonight's fray which has an 8 p.m. tipoff. The 6-2 senior forward is leading the Steers in scoring with a 14.9 average and in two district games he's scored 45 points. Smith is also the team's top rebounder, averaging 10 a game, and he ranks second on the team in assists.

Tim Dunn, a 6-3 senior, is No. 2 in scoring (9.4) and rebounds (8.1), and he'll be in the starting lineup tonight along with 6-3 Randy Marshall and guards Larry Stanley and Albo Smith.

A strong supporting cast has been Big Spring's main weapon this season as the team has averaged 74 points a game, and the top reserves will be Jim Ray, Jeff Kuykendall, 6-4 Rick Traylor, Bobby Greene, Vicky Woodruff, Tom Sorley and James Zapp.

A 4:15 p.m. sophomore clash and a 6 p.m. junior varsity bout will precede tonight's main event. The Steers JVs are 6-6 on the year.

Lombardi Prize Goes To Ohio State's Hicks

HOUSTON (AP) — Ohio State's lethal All-American tackle John Hicks scored another first Thursday night when he received the fourth annual Vince Lombardi Award as the nation's outstanding lineman.

Hicks, a sure-shot pro prospect from Cleveland, was the first kid from his high school to earn a college scholarship.

On New Year's Day Hicks became the first player in the history of the Big 10 to play in three Rose Bowls, helping the Buckeyes to a 42-17 victory over Southern Cal.

By winning the Lombardi Award, which honors the late coach of Green Bay and Washington, Hicks made Ohio State the first school to turn out more than one Lombardi winner. Ohio State's Jim Stillwagon won the initial honor in 1971.

"This is bigger than me," the 6-foot-3, 258-pound Hicks said, thrusting the replica of the 49-pound granite trophy forward. "It is a whole lot of people that earned this."

Hicks beat out teammate linebacker Randy Gradishar, Oklahoma middle guard Lucious Selmon and Texas center Bill Wyman for the honor, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Houston, with proceeds going to the American Cancer Society.

"I've come a long way from the East side of Cleveland and those who know the east side know what I mean," Hicks said.

And as his name was announced, Hicks said it was those people back home that he was thinking of, not of the honor for himself.

Hicks said he hoped someday to return to his home and work with youngsters as athletes had helped him.

"Clifton McNeil (then a Cleveland Brown receiver) and I used to play basketball one-on-one when I was a kid," Hicks said. "That's something I will cherish as long as I live. I hope I can work with kids someday."

Manhattan Upset By Mercer College

By The Associated Press

Manhattan's shooting stars were blocked out by streaking southern comets Thursday night.

And Mercer College doesn't expect to come down to earth after an upset, 81-71 basketball victory.

"The word is getting around that we have a pretty good ball club," said Mercer Coach Joe Dan Gold after beating Manhattan's skyscrapers. "We don't worry about lack of recognition."

The unheralded team from Macon, Ga., outshone an Eastern power that has admirable credentials this year — including the championship of the Holiday Festival Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

"It has to be my biggest victory at Mercer," said Gold, whose little-known squad has won 10 of 12 games this season. "Manhattan obviously is a fine team, winning the Holiday Festival and beating Temple recently."

Memphis State, the nation's No. 19 team, and No. 20 Hawaii were also upset Thursday night. Drake ripped Memphis State 91-80 and Missouri turned back previously unbeaten Hawaii 86-74.

Long Beach State, No. 9, played more to form by beating the University of Pacific 73-53.

Mercer's dramatic victory was fashioned behind Leonard Hardin and Billy Smith. Hardin scored 25 points and combined with Smith for 27 of Mercer's 50 rebounds.

The winners held every Jasper in check except Bill Campion, a 6-foot-10 brute who went wild with 28 points and 15 rebounds. But even Campion was nullified in the late going, when Mercer moved away from a 42-42 tie.

The Jaspers, described by some basketball "experts" as the kings of New York City, lost their third game in 10 starts this season.

Larry Haralson scored 30 points in Drake's stunner over Memphis State. The Bulldogs used 17 of Haralson's points to build a 21-point lead in the first half and the Tigers never got closer than six thereafter.

Dexter Reed scored 22 points for the Tigers, who lost their fourth game in 15.

Rangers Name Francis Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers announced today that Emile Francis will take over as coach of the National Hockey League team immediately, replacing Larry Poppen.

The announcement came after the club absorbed a 7-2 thumping from Buffalo Thursday night in the first game of a six-game road trip. The loss left the stumbling Rangers in fourth place in the NHL's East Division, only one point ahead of Buffalo.

Bulls Whip Hawks, Eye Bucks' Crown

By The Associated Press

The problem is old hat for Chicago but if there's a vacancy in the leadership of the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division, the Bulls are ready to toss their hats into the ring.

"If Milwaukee stumbles and drops their hat, we'll be there to pick it up," said Chicago Coach Dick Motta, whose Bulls manhandled the Atlanta Hawks 116-104 Thursday night, but still trail the Bucks in the Midwest Division by three games.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Golden State Warriors pounded the Seattle SuperSonics 125-89.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets bounced the San Antonio Spurs 105-93; the Kentucky Colonels trimmed the Carolina Cougars 101-98; and the San Diego Conquistadors edged the Indiana Pacers 109-107.

Motta was happy with the way the Bulls played, especially center Cliff Ray, but the fiery coach would be happier if the city of Chicago was located somewhere else on the map.

The Bulls have some pretty nice numbers next to their name in the NBA standings. In fact, the Bulls' 31-15 record is third best in the NBA, next to Boston and their Midwest Division neighbors from Wisconsin.

"It's unfortunate we're playing in the wrong division," said Motta. "But this is the fourth year it's been this way and we don't feel sorry for ourselves."

Warriors 125, SuperSonics 89
Rick Barry fired in 21 points and Cazzie Russell added 20, leading a hot-shooting Golden State over Seattle.

Nets 105, Spurs 93
Billy Paultz' 19 points led a balanced attack which helped New York dispose of San Antonio.

Colonels 101, Cougars 98
With the score tied 96-96, Louie Dampier scored five straight points to give Kentucky the victory over Carolina.

Dampier and Dan Issel split 52 points while Jim Chones had a game-high 27.
Q's 109, Pacers 107
Eight San Diego players scored in double figures, paced by Caldwell Jones' 17 points.

New LDS Missionary Arrives; Berea Pastor Now Chaplain

By MARJ CARPENTER
This past week Elder George E. Nowland has been transferred in from Dallas to be with Elder Joseph T. Bearden here in the Big Spring area. These young men are just two of the many thousands of young men who spend two years as full time representatives of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day-Saints.

They are sharing with the Families of the Big Spring area many ideas and suggestions related to the importance and the need of stronger family unity. These ideas and the suggestions have been organized into a brief program called the Family Home Evening.

"The Family Home Evening is set up for family enjoyment, love, and unity. It is a time for the father to gather his family around him, and in an atmosphere of love and understanding, instruct his family on how they can be better members of the family, community, and the country. It also includes a time for family prayer, activities, and fun," LDS missionaries state.

For the next few months these two young men, in white shirts and ties, will be busy contacting the many fathers here in Big Spring about this program for family unity and fun.

GARY HIGGS pastor of Berea Baptist Church for the past 28 months has resigned to become a Chaplain in the United States Air Force. The Higgs' will be stationed at Dyess Air Force Base, Abilene, Tex.

Gary served on several committees of the Big Spring Baptist Association. In the 28 months at Berea there were 165 additions to the church.

Mrs. Higgs served as Personnel Supervisor at the Webb AFB Exchange. They have two sons, Lynn 5, and Stephen 2. They will reside at 2216 S. 35th in Abilene.

YOU CAN'T ALWAYS tell a Bible by its cover. People used to buy the Bible in record numbers just because they thought every home ought to have one. Today the best seller is still the Bible, but it's because more people than ever are reading and studying it — especially the young.

A lot of things have been done to improve circulation, from cloaking the Good Book in blue denim to selling it in a variety of flavors — strawberry, licorice, vanilla, etc.—all aimed at reaching the contemporary youth. But the biggest boost has been the by-product of making the Bible easier to understand and to read. In the long run this has attracted by far the largest number of young readers.

Of course, that's what William Tyndale had in mind when he brought out the first printed English New Testament — to make it available to the folks who weren't able to read it. So it's really no coincidence that the fastest selling Bible on the market today — "The Living Bible" — is published by a company called Tyndale House, which recently ran its 12-millionth copy of the press.

Thus, while the Thomas Nelson Co. has its slogan "Nelson Bibles are bound to be better," and finds blue denim its hottest cover, Tyndale House has its "Living Bible" listed in Publishers Weekly magazine as the best selling non-fiction book of 1972.

Young people continue to have a lot to do with the rise in Bible sales — up 20 per cent across the board this year. They're starting Bible study groups in ever-increasing numbers and providing the challenge to their elders to follow their lead.

The "Living Bible" is a paraphrased translation which has changed many of the conventional patterns of Bible distribution and reading. Tyndale House maintains, however, that it has taken its share of the Bible market from the mass of people who yearn to understand what the Book is saying to them.

Tyndale puts out a full paperback Bible called "The Way." Each book of this Bible is introduced with contemporary photographs of young people, coupled with relevant comments. For instance, Ecclesiastes is prefaced by a photograph of a young woman standing by a souped-up Volkswagen.

New Testament versions of "The Living Bible" include one for young people called "Reach Out," and one for blacks, called "Soul Food." Each utilizes the photographs and pertinent copy which makes it a book of practical use.

The next market "The Living Bible" will try for is women. Paul Mouw, advertising manager for Tyndale, pointed out that "women control most of the money and they're interested in passing on the faith to their children." This information was gathered by Clarence Duncan, program director of Southern Baptist radio and television commission.

Quakers Don't Quake In Expressing Their Opinion

NEW YORK (AP) — In the light of their particular religious links to President Richard Nixon, Quakers have been among the most outspoken of church groups in urging impeachment proceedings on his conduct, or his resignation.

Other religious bodies generally have avoided this sort of specific demand. But a growing number of Quaker meetings have issued such calls to him as a brother sharing their tradition.

Although many other church bodies have debated the issue, they mostly have refrained from demanding impeachment steps. Only sub-units of the United Methodist Church have done so among major denominations.

Most of them have stressed the need for national repentance and moral renewal. Some Quaker meetings also similarly have shunned advocating impeachment procedures.

Lexington College Survives On "Faith In Lord Alone"

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Ross L. Range heads one of the smallest and least expensive colleges in the nation and says it survives "on faith in the Lord."

In an era of spiraling costs of education, students at Lexington Baptist College pay only $100 a semester and far less if they carry less than a full-time load.

"Other support comes from free will offerings, gifts from those who are in agreement with our beliefs. We never know how much will be coming in, but we have faith in the Lord that he'll keep us going," Dr. Range said.

Last year, for example, tuition and fees accounted for only slightly more than $10,000 while the college received more than five times that amount in contributions.

Lexington Baptist College began 23 years ago as a Monday night bible class and blossomed within three years into a fully accredited college offering a bachelor of arts degree.

"We had 103 students this past school year," Dr. Range said. "We don't place any stress on the number of students because we feel quality is more important than quantity."

While most of the students intend to become preachers, some will enter the world of business, education and other fields, Dr. Range said.

"We teach all the related subjects for the A.B. degree, not just the Bible," he said. "But we major in the Bible."

With so small an enrollment, Dear Rosco Brong said some classes have as few as two or three students.

For its first 18 years, the college operated from the Ashland Avenue Baptist Church, where the late Rev. Clarence Walker founded it while he was pastor there.

"Our new building is five years old and it's a miracle of the Lord, too," Dr. Range said.

"We did have to go into debt a little bit, but it was built by Christian men who weren't looking for a profit and did the work on a cost basis. What we have is a $150,000 plant and we had to go into debt less than $50,000 for it," Dr. Range said.

Except for the dean and his secretary, all of the faculty work on a part-time basis. "Most of them are pastors who teach part time and their sacrifice has kept us going," said Dr. Range, himself only a part-time president, an office that goes with the pastorate of his church.

The students come from throughout the United States and abroad, mostly hearing of the school through a weekly newspaper published by the church that operates it.

"It is the largest circulation of any church newsletter," Dr. Range said. "Each week, we print 97,000 copies and circulate them all over the world."

The school has never had unrest problems among students that have plagued campuses across the nation in recent years, Dr. Range said.

"We have pretty strict discipline, including the way students dress and the way they look. There aren't any specific rules, but a Christian attitude," he said. Students are forbidden, however, from marrying during the course of a school year.

Otherwise, Lexington Baptist College is a miniature of any campus anywhere. It has a 15,000-volume library "mostly donated to the school" and the usual lunch room.

"It is one of the few Baptist schools that still believes in the whole Bible. It's a place where the Bible is believed and taught," Dr. Range said.

Lewis, chairman of the Rock and Mineral Show to be held March 2-3, named Col. J. H. Samuel to be publicity director of the show.

Plans for the show were discussed. In addition to regular dealers, added attractions will be a demonstration of opal cutting and polishing, gold and silver casting and sand painting.

A film on tornadoes was shown by Adron Welch, program director. The Prospectors Club will be open at 1628 E. Third St., Saturday from 1 to 6 p.m. for the purpose of selling rock jewelry and hand crafted articles.

TRAINS ROLL AGAIN

Work-By-The-Book Slowdown Called Off

LONDON (AP) — Locomotive engineers called off a work-by-the-book slowdown today, and rail service was reported up to 80 per cent normal on some lines and 50 per cent on others.

But they continued a ban on overtime and Sunday work and threatened a one-day strike next Tuesday unless the National Railways Board resumes wage negotiations.

There was also slender hope of progress toward ending the coal miners' slowdown that impelled Prime Minister Edward Heath to put 16 million of Britain's 25 million workers on a three-day work week Jan. 1. Reversing a previous rejection, Heath and his top economic ministers met with union leaders to discuss a proposal by the Trades Union Congress to get the mines back to full production.

BACK ON SCHEDULE

The railwaymen said they were suspending their slowdown to get the rail board back to the negotiating table. The board, which previously had said it would not negotiate under duress, said it would consider the union move today.

The rail board said most trains were back on schedule by 3 a.m. after weeks of curtailed service and a near-standstill in the London area Thursday when the Board took disciplinary action against some engineers and most others walked off the job.

The walkout halted all but 58 of the 532 commuter trains normally running in the London metropolitan area. But most commuters got to work one way or another. Traffic was jammed up for 50 miles out of the city.

The TUC's proposal to end the coal miners' ban on overtime and weekend work calls for the government to meet the miners' demand for wage increases above the ceilings set by Heath's anti-inflation program. In return, the TUC would guarantee that other unions would not use this as a lever in their own wage negotiations.

DOUBT

"Our proposal was received with interest," said Sir Sidney Greene of the TUC after the two-hour session with Heath and his aides. But political sources reported Heath was doubtful that the TUC could hold the other unions in line.

Several big unions including the shipbuilders' and the engineering workers have already said they would not feel bound by such a deal.

Speculation continued that

Narcotics Officer Wounded

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — A narcotics officer was seriously wounded and two traffic policemen suffered minor wounds Thursday when they were shot after an argument at a night club in this border city.

Police said two men were arrested and charged.

The narcotics officer, reported in critical condition after two hours of surgery, is Candelario Viera, 35, a chief liaison officer with federal and state narcotics officers in Texas and northern Mexico.

The two policemen, reported in satisfactory condition, are Adolfo Esquivel, 30, and Armando Elizondo, 28.

Two hours after the shooting, police arrested Dagoberto Carmona, 24, charged with assault with a deadly weapon on a police officer, and Eduardo Villarreal, 21, charged with criminal conspiracy.

Justice of the Peace A. A. Alvarado set bonds of $50,000 apiece. The two men were transferred to the Webb County jail.

Investigators said the three officers went to the night club shortly after midnight. They said Villarreal and another man became involved in an argument. A third man then came as the officers were leaving and the shooting followed.

Four Facing Bank Charges

DALLAS (AP) — Authorities jailed four Dallas men on charges of robbing a rural North Texas bank of $30,000 to $35,000. They accused the quartet, said to have come originally from the Paris area, of sticking up the First National Bank at Celeste, in Hunt County, Tuesday afternoon.

Two customers suffered slight wounds as a shotgun carried by one of the bandits discharged accidentally, officers said.

Complaints lodged in federal court here and in state court at Greenville identified the four men as John Henry Simmons, 28; John David Simmons, 19; Preston Porter Jr., 21; and Charles Edward Dillard, also 21.

FBI agents and Dallas police said the Simmons men were seized without incident before dawn Tuesday.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1974 SEC. B

May Give Few Tapes To Watergate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says the White House may be willing to release some of the 500 tapes and documents demanded by the Senate Watergate Committee.

—He has made no change in his announced intention not to be a 1976 presidential candidate but, when asked about the impact of continued high ratings in polls, said "We'll analyze the situation as we go along."

—He plans to follow President Nixon's example and take a commercial flight on a speaking trip to Columbus, Ohio, and Florida later this month.

—His role in supervising Nixon administration domestic activities may be defined more clearly after a meeting next week with outgoing White House aide Melvin R. Laird and top officials on the President's Domestic Council.

Ford's statement of White House willingness to negotiate with the Senate Watergate Committee on release of some of the tapes and documents it subpoenaed last month went beyond statements from presidential aides with Nixon in California.

After Ford suggested Sunday that a compromise was possible if there was "some refinement" of the committee's demand, White House aides first indicated the vice president was speaking for himself.

Later, however, deputy press Secretary Gerald L. Warren indicated that compromise was possible if the committee scaled down its demands, though some presidential aides have continued to take a hard line against any possibility of compromise.

Thursday night Warren was questioned about Ford's statement in the interview. He said, "We're in a position where we're not going to discuss hypothetical situations."

Warren explained that all the White House has before it now is the committee's subpoena.

In discussing the energy situation, Ford said he thinks it may be better for Congress to start over rather than try to rescue the energy bill that was stalemated when Congress adjourned last month.

NICE TO READ

He said he thinks "the availability of supply (of gasoline) is the only thing that's going to satisfy people" and expressed the hope an end to the Middle East oil embargo will result in a cutback of some of the recent price increases.

Ford said he doesn't think there is any single 1976 Republican frontrunner. He said that, as of now, former Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller and John Connally, and Gov. Ronald Reagan, are the frontrunners.

In repeating his earlier statements that he doesn't intend to run in 1976, Ford said "I think I can do a better job as vice president if I'm not a candidate. I'm not suspect. My views and efforts aren't aimed at getting delegates."

Though he said he would analyze the situation as time passes, he noted that "there's been no change in almost three months now. I still have no intention of being a candidate."

He conceded, however, that polls showing him a presidential frontrunner are "very nice to read."

COTTON BURRS FURNISH MULCH FOR FIELDS
Crops Can Be Planted Without Tillage

Minimum Tillage System Helped Howard Farmers

Farmers in the Howard Soil and Water Conservation District are able to reduce erosion on their farms with a minimum tillage farming system, according to Gerald Miller, SCS unit leader.

Because of its erosion control features, minimum tillage offers farmers an opportunity to conserve their soil while improving farm efficiency. It also contributes to environmental improvement by cutting air pollution from blowing dust and water pollution from sediment, he said. Researchers have found that switching to minimum tillage can cut soil erosion up to 95 per cent.

Since a minimum tillage farming system leaves the soil surface largely undisturbed, residues from the previous crop protect the soil surface. Raindrops falling on bare land dislodge soil particles. Runoff water can then cause extensive erosion. Crop residues left on the surface catch the raindrops and let them trickle gently onto the soil surface.

Surface residues are especially effective in preventing wind erosion. Some farmers depend on listing and sand fighting to help control wind erosion, but, he said, listing and sand fighting are often ineffective and are a temporary measure at best. Residues left on the surface from the previous years crop is often the only measure which will prevent wind erosion.

The Big Spring Field Office, Soil Conservation Service, is available to assist farmers in developing a minimum tillage farming system for your farm. A minimum tillage farming system offers many other economic and environmental advantages, he declared.

Talk Of Elevator Going Like Yo-Yo

COLORADO CITY — It's going to be Up and Down at the Mitchell County courthouse with the installation of an elevator.

It's not just an elevator. It was THE controversial subject for the year just ended.

When county commissioners first discussed putting in an elevator, part of the towns people became upset. A public survey in the paper was held asking for pro and con opinions. The survey vote was close.

The commissioners are using revenue sharing funds for the project. Other elevators in Colorado City are at a local hotel, a church and the jail.

"Now prisoners won't be the only ones around the courthouse to ride," one county employee quipped.

Stockholders File Suit Against Temple, Time

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of Temple Industries of Texas stockholders have filed suit against Temple and Time, Inc., the magazine and book publisher, claiming the corporations defrauded them of millions when they merged.

The suit, filed by the Independent Investor Protective League, claims misleading financial reports were issued before the merger.

The league says the reports valued 449,628 acres of Temple timberland at $13.9 million while the actual value was $248.1 million.

The league said the merger was not in the best interest of Temple stockholders.

"The merger was merely in the best interests of the management of Temple," it declared.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, asks $702.6 million in damages.

Named as defendants are Time, Temple and two accounting firms.

A Time spokesman said the company had not yet been served with copies of the suit.

"We know of nothing in the Time-Temple merger that would lend itself to litigation," he added.

The complaint charges that the companies failed to disclose the advantage to Time "of obtaining a guaranteed supply of newsprint by reason of the ownership of the timberlands."

"There is no specific disclosure of the present shortage of wood pulp and the curtailment of newspapers and other publications by reason thereof," it said.

One result of the merger, claimed the suit, was a Time, Inc., directorship for Arthur Temple, with a five-year contract totaling $750,000.

Temple is based in Diboll, Tex. The league is a voluntary non-profit group based in New York.

Insists Blue Cross Making $1 Million Too Much Profit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Blue Cross Thursday's agreement shaved $17.9 million off of Blue Cross' $36 million too much profit this proposal last month.

The board agreed to monthly welfare recipients even though premiums of $10.23 each for the recipients of Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled. Assistance, $15.60 each for 446,000 recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children, and $4.86 each for 71,775 recipients of Old Age Assistance, $15.60 each for 446,000 recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children, and $4.86 each for 71,775 recipients of Old Age Assistance.

The total premiums for Texas welfare recipients this year are estimated at $173 million. In 1973, the figure was $144 million. The federal-state split on these premiums is approximately 2 to 1.

The number of recipients is 862,138, compared with 700,526 last year, the board said Thursday. That's why the total cost is up even though the per-recipient premiums are down.

The board reached agreement with Blue Cross representatives in day-long negotiations Thursday.

IT'S TIME

For several years, Blue Cross has charged a fee of 1 per cent of the total premiums to cover the administrative cost of winding down the program if the board switches to another company.

Gene Aune of Blue Cross said the company was willing to reduce this to one-quarter of 1 per cent this year—$432,000.

But Morris, a Fort Worth insurance executive, said it should be cut to 1-20th of 1 per cent—$86,000.

"You've had no loss all these years," Morris said. "It's time for a substantial deduction."

"Seventy-five per cent is pretty substantial," said Joe Hawkins, an actuarial consultant for Blue Cross.

Morris said the state had paid $5 million to $6 million over the years to cover this risk, which he said wasn't much of a risk anyway because the state cannot cancel except at the end of each year.

Aune said, "Congress could federalize it very precipitously."

Hawkins said Blue Cross simply wanted to cover its "business risk."

David Young, counsel to the board, laughed and said, "We just don't want to take the risk out of the risk."

The board tentatively agreed to pay the one-quarter of 1 per cent, subject to later negotiation.

Enlightened Course

While it won't solve the situation within itself, the announcement by Lone Star Steel company is a step in the right direction toward breaking the drought on tubular goods for independent wildcaters.

Lone Star announced that it is setting aside enough casing for wildcaters to bring in "a well a day for the next year." Whether this means a test or a producer is not clear. If it is a wildcat hole, that means 365; if it is a well (based on the ration of at least seven holes to one producer, then that is around 3,000 holes.

If the latter is correct, Lone Star is making a really substantial contribution; and even if it is a hole a day, the contribution is significant because it is that much more, and because it represents an enlightened course for industry.

To whatever extent the energy crisis continues to exist, it will be in direct proportion to the increase in reserves. All the control measures in the world won't do any more than spread the available supply; only more oil wells can increase the amount available. Until now the plight of the wildcatter has been desperate. Perhaps the uncomplicated and sensible step of Lone Star will set a trend.

Near Point Of Collapse

Railway engineers walked off the job in England Thursday, cutting the commuter traffic by 90 per cent. As paralyzing as this is, it does not exceed the impact of the coal mine disruptions which, with other group pressures, have brought Britain to a state of crisis unequalled in a generation.

The government doubtless would have fallen, but there's no assurance that opposition could form a government, and if it did, that it could in anywise cope with the situation.

What a come down for such a proud nation, which within this century was regarded, together with its vast empire, as one of the mightiest countries in history. But policies which have virtually wiped out management and enterprise and have pitted unions and the government in an accelerating see-saw contest in which everyone loses. Labor can stop working to enforce demands, and government can yield and raise prices, but there comes a point when the market dries up and chaos sets in. England is perilously near that point now. How tragic.

Rancher Identified

Around The Rim

John Edwards

Periodically, you will notice a columnist who has "copped out" and let someone else do his work. WHILE I'M sure all my readers would rather see my own creation, I plan to let someone else get stuck "Around the Rim."

My idea bank is bankrupt at the moment, and a source at the courthouse has dared me to run this list of minimum requirements for "ranching?"

Author of the list is Dick Yaws, a big city farm and ranch reporter. This is it:

1. A WIDE-BRIMMED hat, one pair of tight pants and $20 boots from a discount house.
2. At least two head of livestock, preferably cattle — one male, one female.
3. A new air-conditioned pickup with automatic transmission, power steering and trailer hitch.
4. A gun rack for the rear window of the pickup, big enough to hold a walking stick and rope.
5. Two dogs to ride in the bed of the pickup truck.
6. A $40 horse and $300 saddle.
7. A gooseneck trailer, small enough to park in front of a cafe.
8. A little place to keep the cows, on land too poor to grow crops.

9. A SPOOL OF BARBED wire, cedar posts and a bale of prairie hay to haul around in the truck all day.

10. Credit at the bank.

11. Credit at the feed store.

12. Credit from your father-in-law.

13. A good neighbor to feed the dogs and cattle whenever the owner is out in Colorado fishing or hunting.

14. A pair of silver spurs to wear to barbecues.

15. A rubber cushion to sit on for four hours at the auction ring every Thursday.

16. A second-hand car for going out to feed the cows when your son-in-law borrows the pickup.

17. A good pocket knife, suitable for whittling to pass away the time at the auction ring.

18. A GOOD WIFE WHO won't get upset when you walk across the living room carpet with manure on your boots.

19. A good wife who will believe you when you come in at 11 p.m., saying "I've been fixing the fence."

20. A good wife with a good full-time job at the courthouse.

Tricky Tactics

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — Employing tactics reminiscent of Watergate dirty tricks, sponsors of a forthcoming national newspaper advertisement on behalf of beleaguered President Nixon are erroneously telling prestigious Democrats that Dean Rusk and Lady Bird Johnson have agreed to sign the ad.

THE AD ITSELF is the brain child of the White House and has been entrusted to longtime Nixon intimate Donald M. Kendall, Pepsi-Cola chief executive and beneficiary of multiple Nixon administration blessings the past five years. Kendall's role: to make the strongest possible defense of Mr. Nixon without scaring off high-level Democratic signers.

Thus, the first version of the ad appeals in fulsome terms to the patriotic necessity of "preserving this nation" as distinct from preserving President Nixon. That is the obvious come-on for Democrats who would never sign an outright appeal to support a man most of them loathe.

ONE FORMER Johnson cabinet member was specifically told on behalf of Kendall that President Johnson's widow and former Secretary of State Rusk both had agreed to sign. That claim had the desired result of putting the former Cabinet member under intense pressure to sign himself, but he nevertheless refused.

When we called Prof. Dean Rusk at the University of Georgia law school, he told us he had no intention of signing the ad. His version of the advertisement, he said, had arrived under conditions of extreme secrecy several weeks ago and not from Kendall himself. He said he never signs petitions, letters, ads, etc.

IN AUSTIN, Tex., Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's personal secretary told us through an intermediary she had heard nothing about the ad. Mrs. Johnson, she said, did not make a practice of signing public appeals or statements.

Another top-drawer Johnson aide received his copy of the proposed advertisement 10 days ago. Describing it as the bald "save Nixon" effort skillfully wrapped in "save America" camouflage, he told us he would never sign. The language of the ad, titled "a warning about weakening America," strongly supports that view:

"We can preserve this nation only if we realize immediately: — that democracy cannot survive where mob rule flourishes. We cannot surrender to government by outcry."

THERE ENSUES an emotional appeal to "follow the rules of the Constitution that for 200 years has served us supremely well. Let us observe the constitutional grounds for impeachment — treason, bribery and other high crimes and misdemeanors."

"Let us remember," the ad asserts, "that Congress cannot impeach a President because it is tired of him, nor impeach a judge because it does not like his opinions. Let us not surrender our birthright to mob hysteria."

THOSE WORDS expose the ad's underlying theme: convert Mr. Nixon's pervasive and personal crisis into a carbon copy of Mr. Johnson's narrow-based predicament at the height of the Vietnam war, when he was indeed besieged by anti-war demonstrators.

By such misdirection, the ad's clear purpose is to round up LBJ Democrats and exploit their animus against the political left, the former college demonstrators and what Mr. Johnson used to call the "haters" at the peak of antiwar agitation.

"I demand only the head of Israel the Jew!" replied Salome.

When The Light Go Out

Hal Boyle

By JACK WEBB (Substituting for Hal Boyle)

Top officials are worried that rolling blackouts and unemployment, caused by the energy crisis, could result in a jump in street crime.

As cities throughout the country take steps to conserve energy, these officials are voicing increasing though still muted alarm.

At the same time, however, others are cautioning citizens not to get "hysterical" about the prospects of increasing crime.

In Detroit, Mayor-elect Coleman Young has said that unemployment will be the biggest factor in increased crime.

"If they close down the automobile plants in Detroit," Young said, shortly before General Motors announced that it would lay off 137,000 of its workers, "there will be muggings in broad daylight."

In Los Angeles, where officials have studied the possibility of rolling, three-hour blackouts in various parts of the city, as well as a 50 per cent reduction in street lighting, one crime-prevention specialist said that "there's no doubt that a reduction in street lighting will cause crime to go up."

Mayor William Hart of East Orange, N. J., also said that reduced lighting will cause an increase in crime.

While these officials say the energy crisis will lead to a spiraling crime rate, however, others are not convinced.

"People are getting antsy and they shouldn't," said Graham Smith, a research specialist with the City of Los Angeles.

"It's vital for people to understand that there are ways we can cut back on lighting without inviting more crime. There's no need to get hysterical."

Graham, noting that Los Angeles has taken more steps than most other U.S. cities to conserve on energy, said that studies indicate "selective" darkening of streets will not increase crime.

Commander Peter Hagan of the Los Angeles Police Department agreed.

"One of the councilmen conducted a study here in Los Angeles," Hagan said. "As a result, the department has taken the position that it could not prove or disprove that crime would increase or decrease if we shut off every other streetlight."

"We can also get along without lit advertising and business signs," Hagan said. "But floodlighting of things like parking lots is something else. We would not be in favor of cutting those lights off. A lot of women have been the victims of muggings and rapings in parking lots. And unlighted buildings could be attacked by burglars."

Crisis In Education

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The impact of the financial crisis in higher education will hit the public hardest, said Martin Meyerson, when a sizable university goes bankrupt.

Meyerson, president of the University of Pennsylvania, believes it will have the same shock effect as the failure of the Penn Central, which was not just the nation's biggest railroad but one of its largest corporations.

MANY SMALL colleges already have closed and some of the nation's larger institutions aren't very far from the same unfortunate fate. And the reasons are the same as those in business: income doesn't match outgo.

The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education predicted last year that by 1980 colleges and universities will face a $51 billion gap between income and expenditures, and the prospects for raising the money aren't good.

Americans, while they have some of the most prestigious universities, contribute a lower percentage of Gross National Product to support higher education than in many other developed nations.

IF SOME universities go under, Meyerson believes, it could foretell problems for other voluntary institutions, including churches and church-related social programs, health care, museums, orchestras and other arts.

As with the energy and environmental problems, he said, the nation is failing to heed some of the overt signals emanating from the campuses, among them: — Competition from state universities, especially in the Northeast, where some of the largest independent institutions find themselves competing with suddenly enlarged state universities.

—While voluntary giving looks pretty good, in Meyerson's view, many of the gifts today came with restrictions or limitations on their use.

—The middle-income family has been caught in a terrible crush. It costs about $5,000 a year to send a student to a school of Penn's stature, and many middle-income families have two youngsters in college simultaneously.

—OPERATING expenditures are rising. Payrolls are the big expenditure for universities and it is difficult to cut them. Automation might aid a corporation, but it is less likely to be of great value to a university.

—The college population has ceased growing, studies show. That means the growth of tuition income will slow. And for colleges geared for big enrollments that can mean serious troubles.

SINCE THE BULK of university income is from tuitions, Meyerson believes that a substantial loan program for students, perhaps government insured in the manner of some home mortgage loans, would help immediately.

"If it was national policy that any able student could borrow for tuition, room and board you'd have a different situation," he said, in regard to the crush on parental and university budgets.

Visits Where There Is TB

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, age 10, associates with a child whose father has tuberculosis. Both the mother and father have told me this, the father stating that he refused to remain in the hospital so the doctor turned him over to the board of health. He is now being treated at home.

I am quite upset because they invite my daughter and other playmates into the home. The mother states that it is not contagious but I find this hard to accept as I recall in all health courses we were taught the contrary.

I would appreciate your comments since I seem to be the only mother not wanting my child to enter the home. Am

I right or wrong? N.Y.C.

First thing I'd do would be to have a tuberculin (skin) test for daughter. This will show whether she has been in contact with TB germs. If the test is negative, you can relax. If it is positive, your doctor can take it from there, with treatment to prevent an active case from developing.

You are correct, of course, that TB is contagious — but the important question is whether the patient is in an infectious stage.

With present medications for TB, isoniazid or other anti-TB drugs, the contagiousness in the patient is rather rapidly diminished, and since you say that the father is under treatment, I would assume that he has been getting such medication. I would also trust he is being tested periodically to make sure that he remains in a state which will not make it possible for him to transmit the disease.

Children in a house where the patient's TB is under control in that manner would be safe; they also would be safe by staying outside the range of germs spread by coughing and sneezing.

I doubt if the patient you mention would be allowed to leave the hospital, regardless of whether he wanted to or not, if he were not past the infectious stage. But I'd want to be sure.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I'm surprised lately at how easily I can rationalize wrongdoing. Things I was brought up to reject entirely, now almost seem appealing. And, oh yes, I am a Christian. What can I do to correct this drift?

AU. We live in an age which dulls the sense of right and wrong. For such a long time, we've been hearing the "gospel" of permissiveness, that our conscience has almost been persuaded of its merit.

The Bible, however, sets some standards. It says there are some things always right and some things always wrong. But it does more than that. It gives the method whereby we may do right — the wisdom to know what is pleasing to God, and the power to accomplish it. That is all through faith in Christ.

Would you be surprised to know that the great apostle Paul had a problem like yours? You can read of it in Romans 7. He had a tug within him to yield to sin at the same time he had holy inclinations to do right. The resolution of this dilemma was in a total yielding to Jesus Christ, whom, he said, always provided victory.

I would think renewed efforts at prayer and Bible reading would help immensely.

A Devotion For Today . . .

God's peace, which is far beyond human understanding, will keep your hearts and minds safe, in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 4:7) PRAYER: O God, in joy and with thanksgiving we come to Thee in prayer, for in Thee we find security and peace. Strengthen us as we face the unknown this day and every day. Amen.

He Fantasizes

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 10 years and have two children. My life is my husband, home and family, but I know that my husband isn't as turned on sexually with me as he should be. (I have to make all the advances.)

Lately, he shocked me by telling me that when we make love, he has fantasies about Sylvia — the girl he went with all through college. He says that's the only thing that turns him on. I feel hurt knowing he has to think of another girl to get something out of making love to me.

I've never had sex with anyone except my husband and I wouldn't want to have. I feel somehow that he is being "disloyal" to me, if not in actuality, in his thoughts. I also feel if Sylvia were to become available, he would have an affair with her.

Sometimes I wish he weren't so honest. I am so confused, I need someone to explain this whole thing to me. Please try.

NOT SYLVIA
DEAR NOT: Almost everyone has fantasies. They are an important part of lovemaking. But it's unkind and unwise to disclose fantasies which are hurtful. Your husband may rate an "A" in honesty, but he flunks "common sense."

DEAR ABBY: Several weeks ago our daughter was married. We invited 150 guests to her wedding. After checking all the wedding gifts, we found that we did not receive a gift from one of the couples who attended the wedding.

How does one go about finding out whether a gift was given or not? We don't want to embarrass anyone.

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: I can't imagine anything more tasteless than asking someone if he brought a gift or not. Just assume that you got a pretty good return on your investment, and let it go at that.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my husband is 36. We've been married for two years and have a 3-month-old boy. When the baby was only a month old I had trouble with my nerves, so Children's Service took him from us. They still have him, and I'm still being treated for my nerves.

I hate to say this, but I'm afraid if the baby comes back it is going to interfere with our life. Every time we want to go someplace we have to worry about getting a baby sitter, and baby sitters don't come cheap.

Besides, we just bought a new mobile home, and the expense of that plus caring for the baby just don't fit our budget.

Maybe I'm not ready to settle down yet. I feel terrible telling you all this, but you said, "If you have a problem, you'll feel better if you get it off your chest," so I did. Can you help me?

FEELS BETTER
DEAR FEELS: Don't make any decisions now. When you have finished with your treatment, you may feel entirely different. God bless you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DESPERATE IN LUBBOCK": Call the base and tell whoever answers the telephone WHY you must get in touch with him. If he is shipped out they will get the word to him that he must see a doctor immediately. You will be doing him a favor. DO NOT DELAY!

International Club Is Seeking Members

The International Woman's Club, with membership made up of foreign-born women, elected new officers during a meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Joanna Gilbert, 1101 Lamar. Mrs. Crystal Martinez, retiring president, conducted the election.

The new leaders are Mrs. Miriam Johnson, president; Mrs. Gudrun Burton, vice president; Mrs. Dori

Mitchell, treasurer; and Mrs. Gilbert, telephone chairman.

The next meeting will be held at 8 p.m., Feb. 13 in the home of Mrs. Margarita Palmer, 2305 Mishler. Mrs. Palmer won the attendance prize at Tuesday's meeting.

The club's membership is open, and any foreign-born woman who would like to join the group is asked to contact Mrs. Johnson, 263-8247.

Alpha Kappa Omicrons Named To Committees

Appointing committees was the major business transacted in the Tuesday evening meeting of Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in the home of Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, 600 W. 16th, with Mrs. Wayne Stroup presiding. Committee chairmen are Mrs. Steve Broom, ways and means; Mrs. LaRochelle, scrapbook and publicity; Mrs. Stroup, social; Mrs. Vic Keys, service; and Mrs. Gary Huckabay, telephone.

Club Discusses Future Projects

Future crafts projects were discussed by Newcomers Handicrafts Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Lynn Stovall, 801 Marcy Drive, Apt. 5. The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., Jan. 23 in the home of Mrs. Linda Colosimo, 2612 Larry.

Plans were made for a skating party for members and husbands Jan. 19 with a casserole dinner following in the home of Mrs. Huckabay.

Mrs. Albert Carille was introduced as a guest. The Jan. 22 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Huckabay at 9-A Albrook at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Fay Newman Is Chapter 'Sweetheart'

Mrs. Fay Newman was chosen "chapter sweetheart" when Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Johannie Windham 608 Rummels. She will be honored at the Feb. 5 meeting in the home of Mrs. J. H. Duke 1423 Hilltop Road.

Mrs. Callie Mason presided and a program on Christianity was given by Mrs. Lula Westbrook.

Mrs. Westbrook based her program on excerpts from the book "The World's Living Religions." She said Christianity is one of nine major religions all of which were started by historic leaders of great spiritual insight whose teachings had created a permanent following. She said the fact that Jesus Christ was the founder of Christianity is derived from four short chapters of the Bible which are called "The Gospels."

"The New Testament is a source book for the origin of Christianity as a distinctive faith" said Mrs. Westbrook. "It gives the story of Jesus' birth, His life, His death, the historic reality of His life, and events recorded concerning him and the story of Jesus, the man." She noted that more books have been published about Jesus Christ than any person who has ever lived.

Church Women Set Annual Meet

Women of First United Methodist Church will meet from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Jan. 22 in the church parlor for a "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial." Those attending are to bring a sack lunch.

The announcement was made when the United Circle met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. R. W. Thompson, 808 W. 17th. Mrs. Edward Cruz, leader, was in charge of the program, "Personal Mission." Pledge cards and yearbooks were distributed.

The devotional was by Mrs. Rupert Sparks, and others on the program were Mrs. Clyde Johnston, Mrs. Maurine Terrill, Mrs. C. Holcomb and Mrs. Elra Phillips.

Mrs. J. T. Baird, 1301 Dixie, will host the Feb. 12 meeting.

Committee Members Announced

Committees were appointed during the Tuesday business luncheon of Desk and Derrick Club at the Downtown Tea Room. Mrs. Ollene McShan, president, Chairmen are Mrs. J. E. Parker, program; Mrs. Joe Blessingame and Mrs. W. E. Barnett, co-chairman, bulletin; Miss Helen Hurt, social and house; Mrs. A. G. Perkins, membership; Mrs. Leon Kinney, ways and means; Mrs. W. H. Kay, goodwill and telephone; Mrs. Paul Sheedy, scrapbook and Mrs. Chester Matheny, field trips.

In a brief talk, Mrs. Parker urged each member to do her part in the conversation of energy. A few suggestions she offered were to walk when possible, form car pools and conserve in the home by using only the fixtures needed and not heating unused rooms.

A dinner meeting was slated Feb. 4.

A LOVELIER YOU Hoarding Perfumes? It Eventually Stales

By MARY SUE MILLER

All too many women hoard their fragrance gifts. Although unopened and stored in a dark place, scents eventually stale. Besides, using fragrance is a happy experience. A scent lifts your spirits and makes you feel special. The memory of you — memoir, as the French parfumeurs say — is enveloped in a fragrant aura.

Do you think you use your perfumes and colognes to fullest advantage? Let's see:

Where do you apply perfume: a. Behind your ears, or b. At pulse spots? Where are the pulse spots: a. Insides of wrists, or b. On throat, behind knees, at temples, as well as wrists? Is an application more effective when made: a. With the fingers, or b. With a spray?

When should scents be applied: a. After a bath, or b. Post bathing and several times thereafter during a day? Contemporary scents are: a. Light florals and spicy blends, or b. Distinctive blends of flora, green notes, and modern, often Oriental mystique? New forms of fragrance are: a. Elusive, or b. Concentrate?

In each instance, b. answers are winners.

Marijuana Bust Staged

HOUSTON (AP) — Three Corpus Christi men and a Houston resident were charged here with allegedly possessing 1,500 pounds of marijuana worth $135,000.

Agents with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration said they arrested the men after they drove two vehicles loaded with the weed to a warehouse here.

Charged were Gilbert Dominguez de los Santos Jr., 30, Francisco Cisneros Lopez Jr., 29, and Guadalupe Angel Montelongo, 32, all of Corpus Christi, and Carlos Elizondo Gonzalez, 24, of Houston.

The U.S. agents alleged in their complaint the suspects were trying to sell the drug to them for $90 a pound.

U.S. Magistrate H. Lingo Platter set bond of $50,000 for Gonzalez and bonds of $25,000 each for the other three men.

85,060 Enlist In U.S. Air Force

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Although there was no military draft in 1973, the U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service says 85,060 persons enlisted in the Air Force.

With that number, the Air Force met, and in some cases exceeded, its personnel procurement goals for the year, the recruiting service says in a statement released through its headquarters at Randolph Air Force Base.

Recruiters enlisted 79,536 persons with no prior service, of which 7,694 were women, the statement says.

Additionally, 536 registered nurses were commissioned as officers in the Air Force Nurse Corps and 2,785 prior service personnel re-entered.

"About 1,900 Air Force recruiters nationwide helped meet Air Force manpower procurement objectives for the first time without the aid of the draft," the statement says.

Wage-Price Controls Authority Odds Even

WASHINGTON (AP) — The day Nixon administration will decide within the next few weeks whether it will ask Congress for authority to continue wage and price controls beyond April, causing the Administration to reconsider its hope of ending controls when the current legislative authority expires April 30.

One tentative deadline already has passed. President Nixon had said when he announced the phase four controls program last summer that he hoped all controls could be lifted by the close of the 1973.

INFLATION While Dunlop agreed that the prospect of continuing high inflation may be a factor in the final decision of Congress and the administration on controls, he cautioned, "There is never any ideal time to get out of controls."

He also said there is a real question of "what we believe they can't do."

question whether public opinion and congressional sentiment will permit it.

Much will depend on "how Congress will follow up when they see the price increases we're in," he said.

Dunlop noted that while big business and big labor have publicly advocated a quick end to the current controls program neither has initiated a serious lobbying effort in Congress. But he said they may be waiting to start lobbying when Congress reconvenes.

WE BELIEVE While Dunlop agreed that the prospect of continuing high inflation may be a factor in the final decision of Congress and the administration on controls, he cautioned, "There is never any ideal time to get out of controls."

He also said there is a real question of "what we believe they can't do."

But that was before the energy crisis had fully developed and before it became clear that the high rate of inflation that started early in the year as not going to end in 1973.

Dunlop, a former Harvard economics professor, said it is still possible for the administration to end controls in April, but he acknowledged there is a

NICHOLAS PLATT

Kicked Out Of Peking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nicholas Platt, Chinese-speaking political officer assigned to the U.S. liaison office in Peking, is being withdrawn next week because of a motor accident that resulted in the death of a Chinese girl, the State Department acknowledged today.

Officials said that they are informed by Chinese authorities that whenever a death occurs involving foreign diplomats, the official is required to leave the country.

In the case of Platt, 37, U.S. authorities said he was en route to the Ming tombs with his visiting parents when a young girl riding a bicycle swerved in the path of his vehicle. He left his vehicle, stopped a passing truck and took the injured girl to a hospital, but could not save her life, according to information from the liaison office.

Platt's Hong Kong insurance company made a payment of more than $10,000 to the family of the victim.

U.S. officials said Platt is a highly respected foreign service officer who will be reassigned without damage to his career as the result of the incident.

According to these officials U.S.-China relations have not been affected.

A statement issued by David Bruce, head of the U.S. mission in China, said Platt "is preparing to leave Peking shortly on transfer to a new assignment."

Bruce's statement was read by a U.S. Marine Guard in an overseas phone call to Tokyo.

Artist Dies

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Kreigh Collins, 66, an artist who created the newspaper comic strips, "Kevin the Bold" and "Up Anchor," died Tuesday after a brief illness. He started "Kevin the Bold," a comic based on historical events, in 1951.

Audit Price, Profit Data Of Refiners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy Chief William E. Simon said Thursday investigators from his Federal Energy Office and the Internal Revenue Service are auditing the price, profit and supply records of every petroleum refiner in the nation.

A statement issued by Simon said the audit is aimed at making sure the price increases on petroleum products reflect only cost increases and not jacked-up profits.

It also will help "to verify the accuracy of refiner reports on crude oil and product supplies and is a major step toward establishing an independent reporting and information system on refinery inventories at FEO," Simon said.

The federal government traditionally has relied on information provided by the oil companies, mainly through their trade organization, the American Petroleum Institute, or indirectly through reporting to other organizations and state governments.

The federal government, now deep in the direct management of the nation's supply and distribution, has no complete system for collecting its own energy data.

Simon said a joint task force from the FEO and the IRS would include some 35 agents at first.

He said the agents would be divided into teams conducting audits in corporate offices.

The teams, including FEO cost analysts and IRS agents trained in petroleum regulations and refinery accounting, will visit individual firms as often as four times a year, he said.

Simon said the program will cover all 140 refiners in the United States with continual field reviews of major refiners who control some 90 per cent of the nation's refinery capacity.

Smaller refiners will be subject to "desk audits in Washington" which would be expanded into field reviews as needed.

The FEO recently took over petroleum price controls from the Cost of Living Council.
