'YOU MEAN I HAFTA GIVE THE CANDY' — Shucks, says five-year-old Joe Sweigert, of Perkaskie, Pa., when he learns the tradition on Valentine's Day is to give the candy to pretty girls like Missy Gleason, also 5. He thought he could wind up eating most of the candy himself.

Horse Racing Signatures

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Citizens for Pari-Mutuel Horse Racing claim it has enough voter signatures to get on the Republican primary ballot May 4 and now it is working on the Democrats.

"We think it's time to take another look at pari-mutuel betting in Texas," said Larry Mathis, state director of the organization. "A referendum is not binding but we think it will guide lawmakers in the next session of the legislature."

Mathis said Texas citizens had gathered about 40,000 signatures so far, more than enough needed for the 5,750 minimum to get on the GOP ballot. However, about 110,000 signatures will be required to get on the Democratic ballot.

A horse race betting referendum in 1968 failed in both the Democratic and Republican primaries.

Guzman-Lopez Pre-Trial Hearing

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — Adolfo Guzman and Ramos Lopez arrived here today from the Dallas County jail, their arms handcuffed and their ankles in leg irons for a pre-trial hearing on their murder case.

They are accused of taking three North Central Texas deputy sheriffs to a remote bank of the Trinity River and assassinating them.

The two were assessed death in the electric chair in an earlier trial moved to Belton on a change of venue. The case was reversed and a new trial ordered. The main trial is to begin Monday.

Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones said there were no incidents on the trip to Belton with the men.

Office Of Animal Warden Switched

The animal warden's office and the dog catcher's are now out of the police department and under the newly formed Code Enforcement office.

Leo Hull will be top code enforcement officer with offices to be in the public works building. They will still be reached through the city switchboard.

Also under code enforcement will be David Zellers with abandoned cars, lot cleaning and other items of this nature under his jurisdiction.

Food Prices Due To Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supermarket food prices are expected to climb 12 per cent in 1974 but could soar as much as 16 per cent and match last year's rise which was the sharpest in a quarter century, the Agriculture Department said today.

The department's Outlook and Situation Board said the sharpest increases are occurring this winter. Those prices will probably average five per cent above the fourth quarter of 1973.

Compared with January-March last year, prices at supermarkets are expected to average 20.7 per cent higher. Two months ago USDA predicted the first-quarter climb would be 15 per cent from a year earlier.

"Prices for practically all major categories of food will be increased, reflecting tightening supplies, higher farm prices and rising costs of processing, transportation and distributing food products," the board said in a report.

May Lift Lid On Welfare Spending

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — For the second day in a row the Finance Committee has dealt with what many consider a make-or-break constitutional issue.

The 25-member committee tentatively voted, 12-11, Wednesday to abolish all limitations on public welfare spending. The current ceiling is $80 million a year.

Tuesday the committee voted 13-8 to retain in the constitution a special highway fund derived primarily from the state gasoline tax. But several who voted for it said such a fund had no place in a constitution.

The welfare ceiling "is one of those things—like the highway fund and the Permanent University Fund—where constitutional purists know it shouldn't be in there, but if it's not we run an awful high risk of getting the constitution defeated at the polls," said Rep. Terry Doyle, D-Port Arthur.

"It's a practical political decision we have to make," added Doyle, and he voted to retain a welfare limitation.

KIDNAP FOOD REACTION

Hunger Outweighs Any Misgivings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Many of California's needy say they would not accept food from a multimillion dollar giveaway demanded by the kidnapers of Patricia Hearst. Others say their hunger outweighs any misgivings.

Miss Hearst's kidnapers, the Symbionese Liberation Army, have demanded as a condition to negotiations for her freedom that her parents distribute $70 of free food to each of California's poor and needy.

State officials have estimated that the cost could be as much as $400 million.

POOR ARE PROUD

"It's a mistake to believe that people who are poor are not proud and that poor people would take something under these circumstances," said Ed Roberts of Berkeley, a quadriplegic who is chairman of the Coalition for Social Rights.

Helen Little, head of the Northern California Welfare Rights Organization, said the majority of persons she spoke with had rejected the food offer.

Others indicated they would accept the food.

William Dirstime, 64, of Los Angeles, said, "I think it would be beneficial. I think like they (the SLA) are doing good. In a sense you've got to look up to them, providing the girl isn't hurt."

TAKE IT

"Of course I would accept the food," said 21-year-old Jackie Walker of Inglewood. "I was in a terrible accident in 1971 and I've been totally disabled since then."

But Jim Wyman, director of a halfway house for former prisoners in San Mateo, said residents of the house "would like to stuff the $70 down their (kidnapers') throats if they could find them."

And a 52-year-old disabled woman who withheld her name said, "If I took one piece of bread from those bastards I hope I choke to death."

"Well, I need the food almost as much as anyone, but I don't like the way they're going about getting it," said Mike Dawson, 18, a Berkeley street musician. He said he would take the food.

'ATROCIOUS' PRICE-GOUGING IN PROPANE GAS SALES

Fuel For Truck Stops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Office said today it is directing oil companies to provide more fuel to truck stops immediately and that it has found "atrocious" price-gouging in sales of propane gas.

JET FUEL

Deputy FEO Administrator John C. Sawhill told a news conference, however, the FEO is not ready to starting shifting gasoline supplies to alleviate shortages and inequities among the states.

Sawhill said the FEO is sending teams to 19 states immediately to attempt to verify gasoline supply data and to start working with governors to alleviate problems.

In other announcements, Sawhill said:

—The FEO directed refiners to increase jet fuel production six per cent and to draw from stocks to provide airlines with their fuel allotment this month.

—The FEO, in direct checks of customs reports, found petroleum imports for last week to be far higher than reported by the American Petroleum Institute on Wednesday. They were running just about at predicted levels of the full impact of the Arab oil embargo, and not some 500,000 barrels per day short as the API indicated.

—The FEO said not enough states and local governments have acted to solve the problems of long lines at gasoline stations. It urged them to take steps including sales limitations and perhaps staggered hours to make sure some service stations are open throughout the day.

—The FEO planned to propose, perhaps Friday, an energy information bill to require mandatory reporting of industry information on all forms of energy.

CRUDE OIL

—The FEO also planned to propose next week changes in the Mandatory Petroleum Allocation Act governing the distribution of crude oil.

Sawhill said the act, which now requires roughly equal sharing of crude oil supplies among all refiners, large and small, should be changed to ensure supplies to the independent refiners but not to force major companies to transfer supplies among themselves.

The most anxiously awaited announcement from the FEO — the allocation or perhaps reallocation of gasoline supplies among the state — did not come today. And Sawhill said the reason was that the FEO is faced with uncertain data and could not act until it is sure which states are already due to get how much gasoline.

Hearst Says Can't Meet Food Giveaway Demand

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said in Washington today that he doesn't think the family of newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst should comply with the demands of her kidnapers. He also said authorities should attempt to rescue girl if they find where she is being hidden.

CAN IDENTIFY?

Saxbe's comments came less than a day after a coalition of activist groups here offered to negotiate for the release of the 19-year-old daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst.

Saxbe said he believes federal authorities can identify most of the kidnapers, who say they are members of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

"I certainly wouldn't recommend any compliance with such vague and unrealistic (demands) — what they are asking is even beyond the ability of government to perform," Saxbe told reporters.

FREE FOOD

The SLA has demanded that her father arrange to provide $70 worth of free food to each poor person in California. Hearst said he is preparing a counteroffer but believes it impossible to comply fully with a program estimated to cost as much as $400 million.

The activist coalition is comprised of six groups named by the kidnapers to act as observers in the food giveaway program, a precondition to negotiating for Miss Hearst's release.

The coalition's offer to negotiate followed a day-long meeting Wednesday, the Rev. Cecil Williams told a news conference at his Glide Memorial Methodist church in San Francisco.

The Glide church is among the six groups named by the trying to say is that I believe the important thing for them to know is that I'm going to do everything I can to comply with their demand, and if that's not enough, I can't help it. I've done everything I can do."

BRING HER BACK

In an emotional news conference, the father told the 19-year-old girl, "Hang in there, honey... The family will do everything we can to get you out."

Weeping softly at the side of her husband, Mrs. Hearst said in words also directed to Miss Hearst, "I know God will bring you back."

Mrs. Hearst told newsmen she has received more than $1 million from well-wishers for her daughter's release.

The demand for $70 worth of food for each needy California was made in a letter received

Tuesday from the Symbionese Liberation Army, whose members dragged the girl away from her apartment near the University of California on Feb. 4.

The FBI called it the first political kidnaping in U.S. history.

In a mailed letter the family received Tuesday through a radio station, the SLA said the food would be atonement from Hearst and his wife, Catherine, for the "suffering they have aided and profited from."

Hearst is president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner and chairman of the Hearst Corp. His wife is a member of the University of California Board of Regents.

The letter said the food demand was a prerequisite to negotiations for release of the University of California art history sophomore.

Ammonia Puts Six Persons In Hospital

SOUTH PLAINS, Tex. (AP) — Clouds of dangerous ammonia spewed across this West Texas farm community late Wednesday, sending six persons to hospitals.

The ammonia came from a fertilizer tank at Parks Fertilizer Co. The break occurred when most of the persons in the community were sleeping.

Firemen wearing masks controlled the leak.

Benito Alvarez and three of his children were taken to a Floydada hospital. Mrs. Alvarez and their son, Antonio, 3, and Lupe Martinez, 18, were taken to a Lubbock hospital.

All had light skin burns and suffered from inhaling the gas. They were expected to be released today.

Several families were evacuated from the town east of Plainview but returned to their homes today.

Jaworski Says Nixonites Turn Down Evidence Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski said today the White House has refused to provide him with additional evidence for his investigations.

The announcement was the first public acknowledgment by Jaworski that the White House had flatly refused to continue providing material he has sought.

A spokesman for Jaworski said the prosecutor has informed the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the refusal.

"The production of the additional evidence for the Watergate break-in and cover-up case in which a grand jury is expected to return indictments by the end of the month.

New litigation in an attempt to get additional material would delay those indictments, already held up for 1 month by the long battle over White House tapes started by Jaworski's predecessor, Archibald Cox.

However, it was considered likely Jaworski would subpoena material sought in other cases such as the investigation of contributions from the dairy industry to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

President Nixon signaled his intention to cut off Jaworski from further access to White House files in his State of the Union address Jan. 31, when he said: "I believe that I have provided all the material that he Jaworski needs to conclude his investigation and to proceed to prosecute the guilty and to clear the innocent."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Women's liberation hasn't ended women's enthusiasm for Valentine's Day affection, says a professor who teaches a course on the women's movement.

"I find that by and large they still enjoy the chivalrous aspect of the day," said Dr. John Tipler, professor of history at California State University, Los Angeles.

"Most of the women's liberationists take the approach that many people's rights, including their own, have been denied, but there's not that hard-bitten emphasis you'd expect."

A staff member at a school for women agreed with Tipler that women's liberation hasn't changed women's feelings about the holiday very much.

"I think the great majority of women still believe in Valentine's Day, the caring and the tenderness. I mean the women who are happy being wives and mothers," said Thelma Solomon, 50, public relations director for Every Woman's Village in Van Nuys.

The World At-A-Glance

LONDON, Ky. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford predicts the nation will be "over the hump" by late summer or early fall in dealing with economic problems, including the energy crisis and spiraling food prices. Speaking before a Lincoln Day dinner crowd of 2,000 here Wednesday night, Ford said peace and prosperity will be key issues in next fall's general elections. He said he did not believe Watergate would harm Republican candidates.

meeting with the oil producing states. In addition, the United States, Western Europe and Japan agreed to develop "a comprehensive action program" including shared conservation and research efforts as well as allocations during emergencies.

ALGIERS (AP) — Algerian President Houari Boumediene apparently is urging King Faisal of Saudi Arabia to continue the oil embargo against the United States, according to hints coming out of their meeting with the presidents of Egypt and Syria. As the four Arab chiefs of state met here Wednesday, the official Algerian newspaper El Moudjahid said ending the embargo would look like a surrender to American threats.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Fifty-seven Vietnamese were killed in fighting along the main highway from Saigon through the Mekong Delta Wednesday, the Saigon military command said today. South Vietnamese officials said the Communists initiated the attacks and are trying to disrupt Saigon's already frail economy by keeping rice from the city's markets.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department analyst says sale of U.S. grain to the Mideast, mostly to Arab countries, may more than double this fiscal year. John B. Parker of the department's Economic Research Service said exports may total a record $800 million this year. Parker said tensions from the Mideast war last October and the Arab oil embargo have had no visible effect on shipments.

Hostage Screams: 'He's Shot Himself'

HOUSTON (AP) — Sheriff's deputies said a man killed himself early today after shooting and critically injuring his wife and holding another woman hostage for hours.

Ronnie Hosch, 22, shot himself with a pistol while holding hostage Mrs. Marilyn Mitchell, 29, of Humble in an apartment rented by the dead man's mother, officers said.

SHOT FIVE TIMES
His wife Jean was listed in critical condition at a hospital. She was shot five times in a lounge Wednesday.

A note lay with valentines for Hosch's mother and wife when officers broke into the apartment. It read, "I'm sorry for what I did Mother. You know how much I loved Jean."

Hosch's mother was not at home when he shot himself, officers said.

Authorities said after shooting his wife, Hosch went to Mrs. Mitchell's home and forced her to accompany him at gunpoint. Mrs. Mitchell said she did not know her captor.

Detective Bobby Turner said Hosch telephoned him several times from the apartment saying he would kill himself or his hostage if his wife died or if officers attempted to come inside.

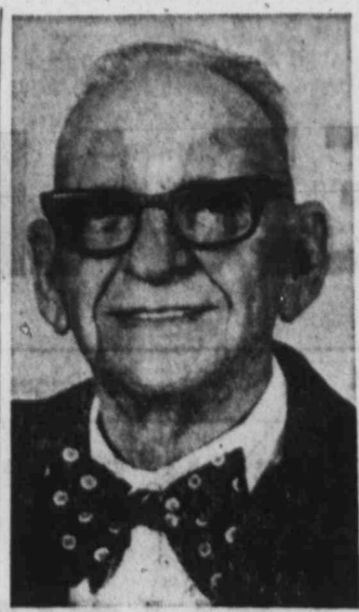

WHO IS IT?
Sheriff's Capt. Larry Frazier removed his coat and gun and took cigarettes to Hosch. Frazier said Hosch held a pistol to the woman's head when he entered.

Hosch then telephoned Turner, who had arrested him before. Turner said Hosch promised to surrender if Turner went to the apartment unarmed.

Turner rushed to the apartment and knocked on the door. "Who is it?" Hosch called. "It's Bobby," the detective answered.

A shot rang out and the woman, a hostage screamed. "He's shot himself," as she ran out of the apartment.

Turner said Hosch was on probation for a burglary conviction.

GLENN STALLINGS

Stallings Is Candidate

A second man has announced he will be a candidate for election to the office of Howard County judge on the Republican ticket, subject to action in the May 4 primary.

He is Glenn Stallings of 1010 Gregg Street. His wife is in the cosmetics business.

At one time, Stallings was a supervisor in heavy construction.

In announcing his plans to seek public office, Stallings said he felt he could make a contribution to good government and can call upon his experience as a road builder if elected to the position.

On the subject of highways, Stallings said he did not think it was a good idea to tear up a recently completed highway in order to replace it with what was regarded as a better one.

As for his philosophy in politics, Stallings said he always voted for the man rather than his political stripe.

His hobbies are studies of ancient history and the languages. He is affiliated with the Church of Christ.

He and Mrs. Stallings have been Big Spring residents the past 13 years.

First Republican to file for the county judge's position was Jerry Worthy. Two Democratic candidates are also in the race.

College Scene Of Conclave

A meeting of Lubbock representatives of the Small Business Administration (SBA) Feb. 21, 7-10 p.m., in Howard College's Science Building is open free to any interested persons.

The Chamber of Commerce and Howard College are jointly sponsoring the session, said Chamber manager Ron Mercer.

"It's a wide-open public meeting to explain various SBA funding programs. Any and all are invited to attend. Big Spring has not really participated like surrounding communities in making use of that funding. There are no strings attached or Federal tyranny involved in SBA loans. Big Spring should definitely take advantage of the," Mercer said.

Mercer also reported anyone wishing to attend should call the Chamber of Commerce for reservations to facilitate seating.

"Anyone attending will also receive a packet at the end of the program explaining all of the various SBA programs. They couldn't possibly cover them all in one evening. They'll hit the highlights during the evening and field questions," Mercer added.

The SBA representatives will cover at least section 7a loans, management assistance, lease guarantees and section 502 loans and surety bond guarantees in their discussion.

WHO? ME? — First grader Annie Castello exhibited this expression when she and other youngsters at Yonkers' Public School 10 were asked about some serious questions for Valentine's Day. The questions ranged from "How would you like to kiss someone?" to "Do you have a boyfriend or girlfriend?"

Aguilar May Be Examined Here By Psychiatrist

An attorney for a man indicted for assault with intent to murder a peace officer and for a man indicted for robbery by firearm has filed motions raising the possibility of insanity.

Robert Miller, a local attorney, filed a motion asking District Judge R. W. Cason to try Albert Aguilar on sanity alone.

And Cason ordered that a qualified psychiatrist at Big Spring State Hospital examine the defendant "as to his competency to stand trial and as to his sanity at the time of the alleged offense." Fisher, 19, Lakeswood, Ohio, is charged with assault with intent to murder Claude Morris on Nov. 14.

Aguilar is accused of robbing Jesse L. Bedwell on Nov. 15.

Hall Welcomed To RPC Board

Harold Hall was welcomed to the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council as one of three new board members when the group met at Terminal for its monthly meeting Wednesday.

Judge A. G. Mitchell, serving his second year on the board of directors, also attended the session. The board passed a resolution seeking additional fuel allotments for the two tire trucks in the region.

Both the Firststone testing track near Fort Stockton and the B. F. Goodrich track near Pecos have had their fuel allotments cut 40 per cent. The board was told by the county judges from Reeves and Pecos Counties that the tracks may be forced to lay off close to 200 employees.

In other action, the board approved the new manpower committee by-laws, approved an application that the council be prime sponsor under the Comprehensive Training Act, approved $48,355 in funding for the coming year under the Housing and Urban Development Act and also approved $11,250 in funding for the Midland County jail for a closed circuit surveillance system.

The kids prepared the bills themselves with advice of attorneys, judges and the state attorney general's office," said Curtis Mullins, local YMCA director.

Mullins also said Governor Dolph Briscoe spoke Feb. 9 to the session and point out the values of Texas heritage, of getting involved in government and called American government "by far, the best system man has made to govern himself."

The session also opposed many bills like sales of cigarettes to minors, ID cards for 13 year olds and the providing of emergency shelters for runaways. Altogether, the students discussed more than 100 bills.

From Big Spring, Terri Adams served as Reading Clerk, Karen Jenkins as a page and Teresa Wickline as a reporter. Sharon Jenkins was a candidate for Chief Justice and a member of the Supreme Court. District Court Plaintiff Attorneys were Laurie Proctor and Ronnie Hiese. Diana Owens and Ann Worthy were Senators. Representatives were Doug Robison, Cynthia Fierro, Linda Lester, Annie Mathews, Cindy Cheatehan, Libby Rhymes, Kathy Perry, Paige Little and Greg Morton.

Jurors were Kathy Meek, Angela Hodnett, Denise Johnson and Bruce Abbe.

The Big Spring delegation's co-sponsors included Mrs. Paul Meek, Mrs. Jack Little, Grady Harris and Mrs. Hannah Coleman.

Local Pupils Attend State

The YMCA Texas State Youth and Government Session was held in the State Capitol at Austin Feb. 7-10 with 21 Big Spring YMCA members attending. Over 1,000 high school age youngsters from across the state were present.

Forming a mock state legislature, the students discussed and acted upon a number of bills they run through their own hearing committees.

Mock bills passed included laws allowing prohibition removal of emission control devices from new autos, the use of defendants' freely given oral and written statements in court, the construction of a center for drug addict rehabilitation, private adoption of children made irrevocable and a law demanding cosmetic manufacturers to disclose the ingredients of their products.

"The kids prepared the bills themselves with advice of attorneys, judges and the state attorney general's office," said Curtis Mullins, local YMCA director.

Burglars Enlist Help Of Pickup

A pickup stolen Tuesday night during a burglary of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Yard was located this morning by the owner, abandoned in the 1800 block of State Street.

Burglars used the pickup, which belonged to Bill Coleman, to crash through the gate at the lumber yard following the burglary.

One dozen knives valued at $72 and possibly other items were missing at the lumber yard. The pickup was also used to ram the back door to gain entrance, according to the police report.

He and Mrs. Stallings have been Big Spring residents the past 13 years.

First Republican to file for the county judge's position was Jerry Worthy. Two Democratic candidates are also in the race.

Car Abandoned; Motor Running

A car stolen in front of Reeder Ins. Co. at 4:18 p.m. Wednesday was found at 4:43 p.m. driven off into a vacant lot at N. 3rd and Main and abandoned with the motor still running.

The car belonged to Bill Estes. The police had just obtained a report of the stolen vehicle when a passing motorist called in a wreck report at N. 3rd and Main.

There was no wreck at the location, simply the abandoned car.

Tools Recovered, Two Charged

Two Coahoma men were in county jail this morning in lieu of posting $10,000 bonds in connection with receiving and concealing stolen property.

Domingo M. Cantu, 27, and Jauquin Cantu, 28, were arrested Wednesday afternoon. Peace Justice Walter Grice set bonds.

The defendants are charged with possession of stolen tools belonging to Robert Beal.

A barn by Snyder Highway and belonging to Robert Beal, Ackerly, was burglarized two weeks ago, according to the sheriff's office.

Recovered tools include a battery charger, hydraulic jack and vice.

Juco Instructors Await Meeting

A joint meeting for the Texas Junior College Association and Texas Junior College Teachers to be held in San Antonio Feb. 22-23 will attract many Howard College teachers.

"We usually have a majority of the faculty attend, and we're going to turn out school Friday, Feb. 22, to allow teachers to go," Dal Herring, a journalism instructor, said Thursday.

"There'll be general sessions with speakers and such, and there'll be specialized (English, History, etc. meetings to allow us to compare our common challenges, problems and learn about new teaching techniques. Almost every junior college in the state will be sending representatives," Herring added.

Grady School Pacts Renewed

The first session of the convention will begin at 9 a.m. in San Antonio, Feb. 22.

LENORAH — Contracts of Supt. Bill Baker and Principal Gary Harrell were extended by trustees of the Grady Consolidated Independent School District at a Monday meeting.

Baker's pacts run to July 1, 1976, and Harrell's to June 1, 1975.

The board also extended the contract of Tax-Assessor Collector Jimmy Stallings to March 1, 1975.

Incumbent Myrl Mitchell and Charles McKasidie filed for reelection after the annual trustee election saw set for April 6, but Jimmy Sawyer, veteran board member, said he would not run again.

Mrs. E. E. Jackson was named election judge and will select two clerks. Board candidates must file at the superintendent's office by March 6. Grover Springer is alternate judge.

It was announced that Monday will be observed as a holiday since teachers will be working on a self-evaluation project. The revised school philosophy, a part of the study, was considered and adopted by the board at the Monday session.

Also approved was the eight-man football schedule for 1974-75 (all games being played away from home), and a field trip by eighth grade science class to Big Bend.

Names as the board of equalization were W. D. Chandler, Jack Kuhlman, Bruce Key, with Coy Welch as alternate.

Also approved was the guideline to the National Lunchroom Program which adopted a sliding scale for reduced or free lunches for children in families with $4,460 annual income and one child up to $10,880 and 10 children.

A woman's ring was found today at 701 W. 17th. It has been turned over to the police. Officials were unable to determine whether it was an engagement ring or simple costume jewelry.

It may have simply been lost. Or possibly it was cast aside by an irate woman on Valentine's Day.

Romance Is Just A Laughing Matter

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP) — Cupid didn't have a chance. With giggles and grimaces, youngsters at P. S. 10 pondered some serious Valentine's Day questions recently.

Do you have a boyfriend or girlfriend. How would you like to kiss someone. How would you like someone to kiss you.

Their answers ranged from no to NO! For most of the kids, romance was just a laughing matter.

Five-year-old Curtis, whose front teeth have vanished, said he doesn't have a girlfriend and what's more he wouldn't want one because "I don't like 'em."

"I'd be mad" if a boy kissed me, said Cancey, 6. "I don't like boys."

For Chris, avoiding girls was more a matter of self protection. "I don't like them because they throw bananas at me."

James, who barked back "No!" to sweetheart questions, was more interested in talking about Halloween. Too bad he can't wear his Mickey Mouse costume on Valentine's Day.

MURPHY — The director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission today recommended approval of a request by Rio Airways to operate passenger flights between Tyler-Longview and Dallas.

Charles Murphy's examiner's report and recommended order probably will be taken up by the full commission in March.

Texas International Airlines opposed the commuter airline's request to compete with it at lower fares.

Rio proposes to fly Beachcraft 99 or 99A aircraft on a schedule of four round trips per day, with stops at Gregg County Airport in Longview, Pounds Field in Tyler and Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, with Dallas Love Field as an optional point.

Fares would be $19.44 from Dallas to Tyler, $22.22 Dallas-Longview and $14.81 Tyler-Longview, plus tax.

Metroflight Airlines also had sought approval to fly the route, but Murphy said Rio offered the advantages of an established identity in the Dallas-Fort Worth market, terminal

TIA Loses Bout To Rio Airways

AUSTIN (AP) — The director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission today recommended approval of a request by Rio Airways to operate passenger flights between Tyler-Longview and Dallas.

Charles Murphy's examiner's report and recommended order probably will be taken up by the full commission in March.

Texas International Airlines opposed the commuter airline's request to compete with it at lower fares.

Rio proposes to fly Beachcraft 99 or 99A aircraft on a schedule of four round trips per day, with stops at Gregg County Airport in Longview, Pounds Field in Tyler and Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, with Dallas Love Field as an optional point.

Fares would be $19.44 from Dallas to Tyler, $22.22 Dallas-Longview and $14.81 Tyler-Longview, plus tax.

Metroflight Airlines also had sought approval to fly the route, but Murphy said Rio offered the advantages of an established identity in the Dallas-Fort Worth market, terminal

Whittington Is D&D Speaker

Wallace Whittington, manager of refining for Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, addressed the Desk and Derrick Club in San Angelo Tuesday, spotlighting Cosden's extensive petrochemical operations.

He told how Cosden had developed new processes for making ethylbenzene in its styrene monomer operations, and how this also led to a polystyrene (plastic) plant. He also listed a number of other petrochemicals which the company produces, and Cosden processes which now are licensed to 39 other companies in 15 countries. Mrs. Whittington assisted him by projecting slides to illustrate the talk.

Rejected Rushee

BUCKHANNON, W.Va. (AP) — Matt Foreman was a rush casualty at West Virginia Wesleyan College. The women didn't want him.

The 19-year-old chemistry student from Burgetstown, Pa., survived the first two hurdles in the sorority rush process this week — the informal tea and the round-robin parties.

But he failed to get an invitation from any of the school's four sororities for the next step, the informal party.

"It was a real letdown," Foreman said Wednesday. "I was sort of expecting to go to the informal parties."

He said he signed up for rush at the 1,500-student Methodist college with the intention of breaking the sorority sex barrier.

'THIS IS STRIFE'? — Yes. Big Spring High School teachers are starring in the parody, "This Is Strife," at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the high school auditorium. The Future Teachers of America are presenting a teachers' talent night. Clustered here (l. to r.) are David Reynolds as a member of a ballet troupe, Mike Scarbrough as Professor Short-Ski, Christi Price as Christi Long-Ski and William Martin as Dr. Whi-Ski.

The sandy-haired sophomore said he took his share of abuse from Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Zeta Tau Alpha and Alpha Xi Delta.

At the informal tea: "Most of the girls were pretty nice but one asked me how I was going to fit into their skirts."

At the round-robin parties: "I didn't feel too comfortable at any of them. I think they all thought I was pretty weird."

Foreman discounted any move to bring discrimination charges against the sororities.

"They could always say they didn't want me because of my personality or my figure," he said.

Finals In Pageant Slated March 23

Dates and rules for the Tiny Miss, Little Miss and Junior Miss Big Spring have been announced by the sponsoring Choir Boosters.

Finals will be held 7 p.m. March 23 at the Big Spring High School auditorium.

Deadline for entries, if names are included in the program, is March 7, but late entries without listing will be taken until March 23.

An added event this year is Miss Photogenic, a separate, optional contest.

Entry forms are available at the Kid Shop, Hemphill-Wells Co., Swartz Junior Shop, Kut and Kurl, Tot and Teen, and Miss Royale shops.

Age classifications are Tiny Miss (3-6 years), Little Miss (7-12 years), and Junior Miss (13-17 years). Tiny Miss contestants will compete in party dress and sportswear; Little Miss and Junior Miss in party dress (long permitted but not formal), sportswear (no bathingsuits allowed), and in talent. Ten finalists will be chosen from each division, awards will be presented to winners and first alternates in all division. Girls in Howard, Borden and Glasscock Counties are eligible.

Any girl who has won first place previously cannot again be entered in that particular division. The entry fee is $10 and girls may have individual or business sponsors.

There is a separate $5 fee for entering Miss Photogenic, and each entry must submit a 5x7 photograph (which will be returned). These pictures will be printed in the program. Contestants in the basic contests will be listed by name only.

Staging of the production will be on Saturday, March 23, at 9 a.m. for the preliminaries, followed by the finals that evening. Rehearsal is set for 6:30 p.m., March 22. Masters of ceremonies will be Andy Harvey and Ken Noe of KBST. Information may be had from Mrs. R. V. Colclazer, 1700 State or Mrs. Leon Pettitt, 2312 Roemer.

MAN SHOTS SEVEN Always Enjoyed People Until About Year Ago

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The mother of a man who wounded seven persons during a shooting spree in downtown Clarksville says he always enjoyed people until about a year ago.

Howard Gentry, 42, was fatally shot by police after he opened fire Wednesday.

"He always enjoyed people," said his mother, Mrs. Bertha Theus. "But about a year ago he got to the place where he wanted to be off by himself."

Other relatives said Gentry, who was divorced, had tried without success to find work since 1971 and was despondent because of it.

Mrs. Theus said she did not know what triggered her son's actions, but she said he had become highly nervous lately.

Police said they found $700 cash, $500 to $600 worth of marijuana and a knife in two leather bags Gentry was carrying.

The shooting began when a police cruiser pulled alongside Gentry, who was on foot, to investigate a report he was carrying a shotgun. Gentry began firing indiscriminately, they said. He was fatally wounded by officers about an hour later.

Site Is Picked For Post Office

A site has been acquired for a new post office at Garden City, Robert L. McCoy, manager of the San Antonio postal district, announced here today.

McCoy said the site is located on the south side of State Highway 158, about one-fourth mile east of the present Garden City post office.

He said the site, containing 19,500 sq. ft. or less than one-half acre, was purchased from Felix Cox and Mrs. Elizabeth Cox of 303 Kessler St., Midland, for $1,500.

Permanent Vault Protection Offered

There has been a steady increase in requests for the concrete burial vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park as more and more people have realized the superior protection given by concrete vaults.

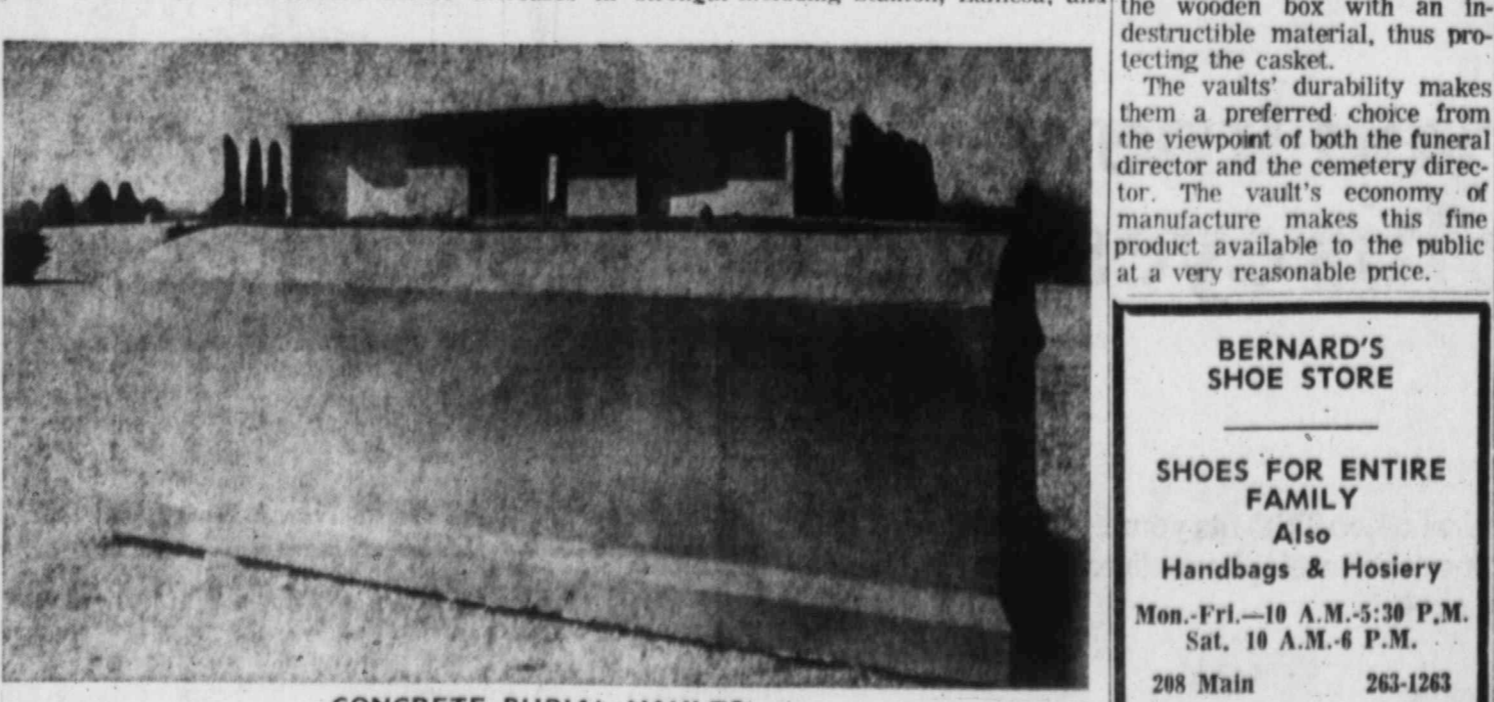

Their strength and durability is provided by steel-reinforced concrete, and impermeability comes from a waterproofing agent mixed with the concrete before it is formed. A special feature of vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park is the "Air Seal." Any dampness from any other possible source can't escape so the interior will be kept in a dry condition.

Constructed of dense concrete to withstand pressure of more than 4,000 pounds per square inch, tests have shown that this concrete increases in strength as the years go by. A concrete vault prevents sunken graves, and rust and corrosion are not possible. Trinity Memorial Park believes that a more lasting vault cannot be built at any price.

For 14 years Trinity Memorial Park has been making the vaults that are available through the various area funeral homes, including Stanton, Lamesa, and Snyder. Rigid standards insure the quality of the concrete and the workmanship of each vault.

Often, because people do not realize the importance of a burial vault, the necessity of a concrete vault for permanent protection is disregarded. Unless specific arrangements are made with the funeral director, the outside container will be a wooden box. A vault replaces the wooden box with an indestructible material, thus protecting the casket.

The vault's durability makes them a preferred choice from the viewpoint of both the funeral director and the cemetery director. The vault's economy of manufacture makes this fine product available to the public at a very reasonable price.

HOUSTON (AP) — George Foreman, the heavyweight champion of the world, presented the almost classic cliché Wednesday of the boxer who finds himself lost in the business world, as he testified at his divorce hearing.

Domestic Relations Court Judge Wells Stewart recessed court until 9 a.m. Saturday to allow Foreman to produce records of his financial dealings over the past three years, chiefly contracts and bank statements.

'Dustbowl' Fears Mount

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scant rainfall and a push toward all-out farm production this year have increased chances for another dustbowl in the southern plains, according to a government survey.

The U.S. Soil Conservation Service said Tuesday that as of January 1 more than 6.6 million acres in a 10-state area from Texas to Montana were "in a condition to blow." That was a 73 per cent increase for potential wind-damaged land from a year earlier, the agency said.

And during the last two months of 1973 nearly 1.2 million acres actually were damaged by wind, more than tripled from November-December, 1972.

Most of the land actually damaged by wind erosion last November and December was in Texas, 946,952 acres. A year earlier wind erosion there was reported on 124,220 acres.

"Rainfall in the Texas high plains has been far below normal this fall and winter. Soil profiles are dry," the report said.

A sharp increase also was indicated in South Dakota, which showed damage to 93,389 acres, compared with 24,240 a year earlier.

Other states reporting increased damage were Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma. Damage was down in Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Wyoming and New Mexico, the report said. No figures were given for those states.

Do Most People Resent Rules Forced On Them?

By OMAR BURLISON
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A couple of weeks ago this person had his first encounter with an automobile (rented) which would not start without all the buckles fastened.

The attendant at the rental place cut the ignition off when he brought the car around. Forgetting the harness straps, the car would not start and complaint was made that they had brought a vehicle with a dead battery.

Granting it's stupid not to wear seat belts and even shoulder harness, there are just some decisions which some of us would like to make ourselves. In some cities, Washington, D. C., being one, consideration is being given to enacting a law which would make failure to use seat belts punishable by law. One is supposed to appreciate Big Mother looking after us but somehow her concern becomes a little oppressive — not because of her concern for the public welfare, which is her duty, but for we mortals personally. Advocates of these forced safety requirements slough off arguments based on personal freedom with the rejoinder that speed limits, traffic signals, and highway dividers also constitute infringement on personal freedom. There must, however, be a difference between laws that protect us from the action or inaction of other laws that protect us from ourselves.

To this argument experts at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., say that "Persons injured or killed needlessly through failure to wear seat belts impose a burden on society in many ways. At the accident scene, police, fire departments, and ambulance personnel are needed, making them unavailable for other duties." Sure, but would they also support forced wearing of galoshes on the logic that failure to do so could lead to a cold, wet feet, and pneumonia — which would tie up hospital rooms and take the time of doctors and nurses who otherwise would be available for other duties?

It is surely all right to warn those of us stupid enough not to wear all this gear but it is doubtful many people want to be forced to use them at all times.

URBANIZED BIRDS — Dozens of birds, which apparently didn't fly south for the winter won't go very far north, are perched in the tree-tops of a home here. They remain unruffled, even when someone tries to shoo them away. Looking for a handout, maybe? (Photo by Danny Valdez)

Invasion Of Birds To Cost Millions

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An invasion of millions of starlings has prompted officials to call for federal help for this southern Kentucky community.

Gov. Wendell Ford has already declared a state of emergency in Christian County, where agricultural experts say the starlings are causing crop and livestock losses of $2.6 million a year.

And doctors report about 20 new cases each month of histoplasmosis, a respiratory disease which is believed to be spread by the birds.

Ford wants the U.S. Department of Agriculture to coordinate efforts to find an answer to the bird problem.

Local officials say the only solution is extermination.

"Relocation is not the answer," says Mayor George L. Atkins Jr., who has picked up the nickname "Bird Man" for his efforts to eliminate the starlings.

The starlings roost in a 25-acre pine grove at Ft. Campbell, about 12 miles from Hopkinsville. Every morning they swarm out into surrounding farm land, returning to their roosting place at dusk.

The Army, which estimates the bird population at 11 million, says it can't use an exterminating agent until the Environmental Protection Agency approves an environmental impact statement submitted a year ago.

Reeves Davie, former county agricultural agent, said the birds consume 7.5 million pounds of feed per day.

Davie said one farmer suffered massive financial losses when his pigs were wiped out by disease apparently transmitted by the starlings.

Davie says farmers are feeding their animals at night so the birds won't consume the livestock's feed before the livestock can.

Energy Crisis Said Blessing

The energy crisis may be a blessing in disguise in at least one area, said the Department of Public Safety's (DPS) Lieutenant Jimmy Rhodes Wednesday.

Rhodes, a member of the DPS's Safety Education Service, in Midland said, "The total number of accidents have been cut in half, though the number of deaths were the same this last month. But the potential to save more lives is there. We had half as many highway deaths during New Year's Eve and Christmas as compared to last year. We feel the energy crisis poses at least one blessing — fewer killed or fewer accidents. I think we'll see the advantages of the energy crisis on our roads as time goes on."

In contrast, drivers do not seem to have had major trouble adjusting to the new 55 mph speed limit.

"In someplaces ticketing is up, and in someplaces it's less. It averages out about the same. It depends on the area," Rhodes added.

Western Nations Offer Exiled Writer Haven

LANGENBROICH, Germany (AP) — Exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn remained in semiseclusion today at the country home of German novelist Heinrich Boll.

"You must understand my situation," Solzhenitsyn told the hundred newsmen who rushed Wednesday night to the little village of Langenbroich, 13 miles southwest of Bonn.

"I cannot hold a conference and answer your questions now. Now I simply have to collect myself and to understand my situation."

GET OUT

Boll, a Nobel prizewinner like his guest, indicated Solzhenitsyn would make no further statements until his wife and three children got out of Russia.

Following the writer's expulsion from his homeland Wednesday, Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced that his family could join him "when they deem it necessary." But Boll said Solzhenitsyn was suspicious of this.

INTEND TO FOLLOW

Solzhenitsyn left the newsmen to telephone his wife with whom he had not talked since his arrest at their Moscow apartment Tuesday. After a 15-minute conversation, she told newsmen in Moscow he was tired but in good health. "We intend to follow him, certainly," she said, "but when, where... we just don't know."

The 55-year-old writer was arrested after a six-week campaign of vilification in the official Soviet press for the publication in the West of his documentary book on the Soviet network of labor camps, "The Gulag Archipelago." It was the fourth of his five major works published abroad in defiance of Soviet bans.

Evidently fearing the repercussions in the West if it put on trial a man recognized abroad as one of the greatest living writers, the Kremlin stripped him of his Soviet citizenship, put him on a plane to West Germany and banished him to live abroad on the large fortune that his books have accumulated for him in Switzerland.

The banishment decree said he was guilty of "systematically performing actions that are incompatible with being a citizen of the Soviet Union and detrimental to the U.S.S.R."

CHANGED MIND

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, British Prime Minister Edward Heath and a West German government spokesman said Solzhenitsyn and his family would be welcome to make his home in their coun-

A Proven Principle

Houston's new mayor, Fred Hofheinz, has been getting his licks at the Constitutional Convention for relaxation of the principle of dedicating highway use taxes for highway construction and maintenance. He thinks a good slug of this should go to metropolises such as Houston (now the nation's sixth and soon to be the fifth largest city) for development of a mass transit system.

None will argue but this is a formidable problem for Houston and other large cities, but if this is a general obligation to the public, then the public should be afforded the opportunity to support it on that basis.

The Fort Worth Star Telegram aptly pointed out that the best solution — in time, money and efficiency — at the moment for most of the metropolitan centers appears to be buses. And buses must have adequate roads to move over.

Which brings into focus the point that all highway funds are not pumped into the boondocks. Indeed, Harris County (Houston) has received three-quarters of a billion dollars in highway funds since the present state highway department was created in 1917. Or this, nearly $700 billion was in construction and the balance in maintenance. We dare say that the bulk of this has come within the past two decades when the growth of this area has staggered the imagination.

Had it not been for an agency so responsive and so well managed as the Texas Highway Department, there is no telling what would have been the traffic chaos in the Houston area. As it is, tremendous strides have been made in a freeway and belt system which handles a remarkable volume of traffic.

A band styling itself as some sort of liberation front has kidnapped Patricia Hearst and sent word to her wealthy father, Randolph A. Hearst, that the price of her ransom is $70 per underprivileged family in Southern California.

This curious piece of Robin Hoodism just doesn't jell. Regardless of even commendable or lofty motives, what it boils down to is trafficking in human life.

It makes no difference whether it is a group of military Arabs hijacking an airliner, or a calloused criminal trying to make an easy buck, kidnap-

This is because the highway department has had available those funds paid as motorists use taxes. Had these moneys been bled off for other purposes, we shudder to think what would be congestion in Houston.

It boils down to this: We must keep the highway user tax dedication in the new Texas constitution when it is proposed to the voters. This principle has proven its merit over more than half a century; let other needs stand on their merits.

Intolerable Crime

ping is kidnapping. It still is one of the most despicable, repulsive and cowardly acts known to society.

Catching the tormentors of the Hearsts may take time, but caught they must be, and then surely dealt with sternly. A generation ago in the wake of the Depression, kidnapping got to be a serious problem, but the resources of the United States were put behind it to make retribution almost sure if not swift. We need to get back to that.

Certain Advantage

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Everyone who goes to meetings planning civic betterment eventually reaches a day when he wonders why he has to go to so quite so many meetings. Reporters sometime get the same feeling and yearn for something more exciting to cover — like wrecks, and fires and murders.

BUT I remember at least one night when I got enough of those. When you work on small weekly or semi-weekly papers, you go to everything. Some days that is very little and some days that is unbelievable.

I remember a dull day in Andrews a long tedious day and settled down when I had just gotten home from in front of the television. A phone call came. "There's been a bad plane crash almost to Eunice inside the edge of Andrews County east of the highway."

My son decided he'd like to ride along, so off we went toward Eunice. I had a flat. Thankfully, I'd brought the son, I paced around while he hastily put on the spare. We finally got to a place on the highway where there were several law officials vehicles. We climbed through the fence and we walked and we walked and we walked.

We got to the crash scene and it was a particularly gruesome one. I took pictures. One of the deceased was a personal friend and with tears streaming we went back to the car.

We went back to Andrews. I took my son home and went by the home of the widow. I got back to the house and sat down and the phone rang . . . a fatal car wreck, 15 miles out on the Kermit highway. The son went along again. We hoped that another tire wouldn't go flat. I took more pictures. I returned home. My son went to bed. I sat down. The phone rang . . . murder in house four houses behind the bowling alley. I told my son. "Who cares?" he said sleepily.

I WENT TO the murder. There wasn't a murder. A 13-year-old boy needed some help because his father was beating up his mother so he told the law officials there was a murder because the last time he had called, they were slow getting there. They did get there much faster this way. We all did.

I went back home. I did not sit down. I went straight to bed. I went to sleep. The fire siren blew. I ignored it. The phone rang — explosion, gas plant west of town.

"You've got to be kidding," I moaned. I got up. I went to the explosion. I took pictures.

I came home and went to sleep. We were supposed to be at work at 8 a.m. I wasn't. At five after eight, Bertha called from the paper and said, "There's a woman here with a real important story about her daughter winning a twirling contest. Will you hurry to work so you can take a picture?"

"Urbelledurgablurp," I muttered. "What did you say?" Bertha (who never worked after five) asked. "I said tell her to keep her shirt on." I answered. "Well," was all the answer I got.

BECAUSE OF all of these years in what is called "experience," I have the greatest sympathy for Danny Vades.

It takes skill, talent, and patience and most of all the ability to not always say what you are thinking. Danny and his Cuban accent have an advantage.

Sometimes when he has said what he thinks, you're not sure that you understood. It may be just as well.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Why does the Bible use the word "heart" so often when perhaps "mind" would be a better term? Is this just a throwback to the old Hebrew culture? J.O.

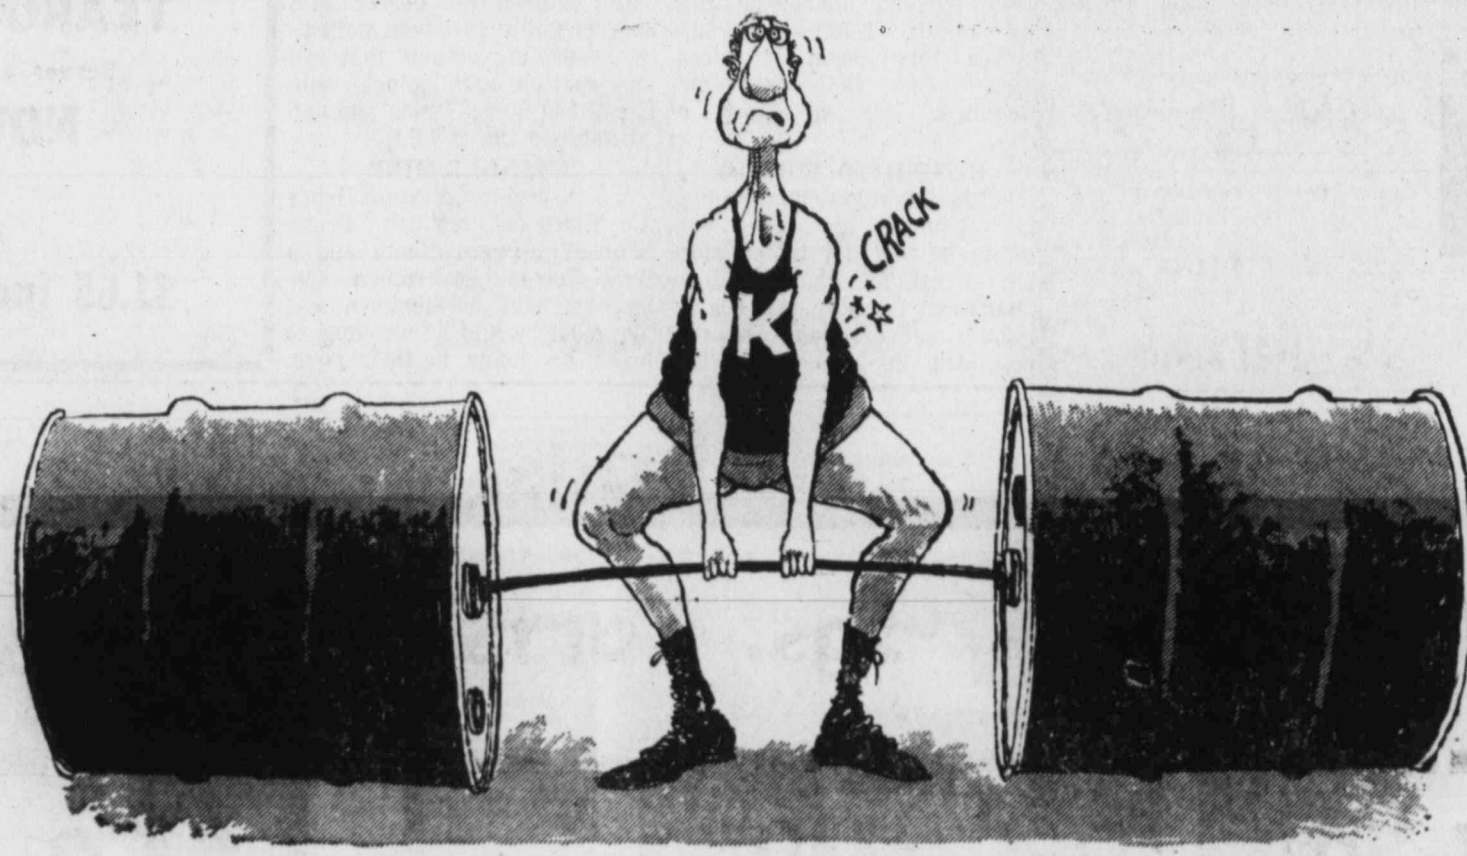

As the central organ in the body, representing a focus of vital action, it has come to stand for all moral, intellectual, and spiritual life. As one has defined it, "the heart is the place in which the process of self-consciousness is carried out, in which the soul is at home with itself." So many of the popular songs use the word "heart" meaning the seat of the emotions.

Thus, the Old Testament commands that you "know your heart" (Deuteronomy 8:5), and later laments the fact that "none considereth in his heart" (Isaiah 44:19).

The Bible teaches the radical corruption of human nature, and relates this to the heart. Exodus 4:21 says the heart can be "hardened," and Jeremiah 17:9 says that the heart is "deceitful and desperately wicked."

The good news of the Gospel, however, is that if we let Him, God can change our heart. As the place where God's law is written (Romans 2:15) it can also become the arena for a work of God's grace (Acts 15:9). Paul in Romans says that it is with the heart that we believe unto eternal life (Romans 10:10).

MANEY

Whatever term you use to represent that which is innermost and deepest and most important, it is just at that place where God meets us in a personal faith.

Budget, What It Is

Hal Boyle

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL (Contributing Editor)

WASHINGTON (AP) — How sad that about the only people who read the Budget on the United States Government are those who ask, receive and spend the billions of dollars.

For the 210 million Americans who have never leafed through its volumes or even seen one, the budget could: cure insomnia, boggle minds, excite math and trivia-freaks and replace telephone books nor raising small children to high tables.

The budget is serious business. It's the President's way of telling Congress how much money he wants spent in the next fiscal year, how much was spent in the preceding year.

It takes some explaining. There is the Budget Message, 21 pages long. Then there is the Budget itself, billed as "an overview" of the proposals. It has 346 pages, costs $2.45. For unsated appetites, there is the Appendix. It has detailed information about the Budget and gives it in only 1,071 pages — about the size of the Sears Roebuck catalogue. The Appendix costs $15.05. The catalogue is free.

All that, of course, requires the next volume titled "Special Analyses." At 249 pages this gives information about government finances and operations as a whole with some nice discussion of trends and developments. Only $1.85.

And for those who'd rather read book reviews than books there is a trim, 60-page volume titled "The United States Budget in Brief," which tells you what the others did. And it has nice four-color charts; 95 cents. The set can be had from the Government Printing Office.

One of the things you learn from having bought the set before is that the $20.30 total represents a 44 per cent increase over last year's $14.10. Percentage-wise it's hard to find a bigger jump in cost in any other category.

But, ah, the reason can be found in the Government Printing Office section. It tells you the GPO is trying to break even on the books it sells.

If it interests you, hurry and order from the GPO. Only about 60,000 copies are printed each year. The biggest customer is Congress, which doesn't have to pay for it. Guess who does?

Timid Congress

William F. Buckley Jr.

There is a professor at Temple University called John Raines, a theologian who teaches courses in social ethics and religion, and is given nowadays to making pronouncements about the plight of the American middle class, which if I may say so, are on the order of someone breaking into a faculty meeting of M.I.T. with the breathless news that he had discovered that the world is round. Prof. Raines has discovered that people in the middle class in America are having a tough time.

IN PARTICULAR, he has discovered that it is extremely costly to send a child to college, but that it is especially expected of middle class Americans that they should send their children to college; and that parents with income of more than $12,800 per year as not eligible for federally-guaranteed loans. Though the figure varies, neither are students eligible for college loans and scholarships if their parents earn more than a particular figure — irrespective of how many brothers and sisters there are to help eat up that income.

I KNOW AN industrious toiler in the vineyards of the middle class. His annual income, at $38,000, is almost exactly four times the median family income in America. He has three children of college age, and they cost him each $5,000 per year. Two of them will go to professional school. Since my friend is in the foreign service, he has seldom lived where his children were near good public schools, so that at pre-college age, they went mostly to private schools. His school bills for the three children will total approximately $170,000. After taxes, food, rent, clothes, and maybe a cigarette every now and then, he figures he will have paid back the bank for his children's schooling by the time he reaches, approximately, age 60. Moreover, the net rise in the actual purchasing power of the average American family, Prof. Raines has discovered, increased in the decade of the 1960's by only $1,160 per year or 896 per month. "How much upward mobility does that represent?" asks Prof. Raines. Well, by the world's standards, a hell of a lot. But by American standards, it's tough going.

AND THEN PROF. Raines, with that unerring academic eye for the false solution, tells us what he would do. What he would do is tax the top one per cent more. He cannot understand it that the American middle class hasn't directed their "social anger and frustration at the top one per cent of the economic scale, where I think it belongs."

One wonders why full professors can't pick up the Statistical Abstract, or even the World Almanac, to keep from saying foolish things. In 1970 (I round off the figures) there were 59 million taxpayers. One per cent of 59 million is 590,000.

NOW IF YOU took everybody in America whose gross income was in excess of $30,000, you would come up with only 428,230 people. In other words, less than one per cent of all Americans make over $30,000. These people are now paying a tax of $12.3 billion dollars — on taxable income of $29.4 billion. That leaves them with approximately 17 billion dollars. And that's less, by one quarter, than $50,000 apiece. In other words, about $37,500 apiece if you take not a penny more in tax.

When will the professors learn that the money doesn't exist up in those high brackets to run a rapid transit system let alone bring relief to the middle class. What the American middle class member suffers from is the high overhead of life. And the principle load on his shoulders is: government, for which he works approximately 18 weeks per year. You talk about lifting the burden on the middle class. If you take away 100 per cent of the income of everyone making a million dollars a year, you have got yourself $624 million dollars. If the government increases its dependent exemption by $100, it takes four billion dollars off the backs of the taxpayers.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Baby TV Watcher

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it not bad for a baby of nine months to watch TV? I think it is bad for my eyes, so I get mad at my husband because he doesn't like to baby-sit our child, and turns on the TV for the baby who seems to enjoy watching it. — Mrs. M. M.

The antics of a TV program mean nothing to a child that age but he is intrigued by the light and movement he sees.

The light from the TV will not hurt his eyes but, depending on the age of your set and whether it is a color TV, the baby should be kept six feet or more away from the screen to avoid radiation.

I may be a voice crying in the wilderness, but it seems to me there's a good deal to be said for letting babies enjoy themselves with such simple things as a couple of big spoons or an old steppan or a ball or other simple toys.

For one thing, that's where dexterity with the fingers begins, learning to pick things up and hold them. I'm told these days pre-school children may spend as much as three-quarters of their waking time sitting in front of the tube.

That's way too much sittin'. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are cataracts contagious? I was visiting two people who had them, and to my surprise when I went to my eye doctor he said I had them. — M. X.

No, cataracts are not contagious, and it is pure coincidence that you happened to discover yours after the visit. The explanation doubtless is simply that both you and the friends you visited are at the age when cataracts are likely to develop.

I suggest that you write for my new booklet, "Cataracts and Glaucoma," which is now ready for distribution. Send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 21 and have been losing hair for about a year — I have noticed the hair receding from the temples. This is accompanied

Bad Prediction For Slav Smokers

BELGRADE (AP) — Medical experts asserted that about 10,000 Yugoslavs will die this year because of cancer caused by smoking. They said that every sixth smoker dies of cancer and every third dies among those who smoke about 40 cigarettes daily, Belgrade "Nin" Magazine reported.

by dandruff, itching and outbreaks of tiny sores that form dry scabs.

Is this male pattern baldness? I have an uncle and brother who are bald.

What progress is there in hair transplants? Do they work on people with male pattern baldness? What is the cost? — T.M.

You may be losing hair due to male pattern baldness, which cannot be prevented — but your mention of the dandruff and itching and sores is not male pattern baldness. Obviously you have some sort of skin disease that ought to be treated and may be accelerating your hair loss.

You may lose hair anyway from heredity, but that's no reason for not going to a dermatologist to see what can be done about an infection that obviously is doing its dirty work, too. As for hair transplants, your dermatologist can give you good information.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To become more familiar with the subject, write to Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

The Cherry Tree

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — In a few days we will once again honor the birthday of George Washington, the first President of the United States who could not tell a lie.

BECAUSE OF RECENT events, I got to wondering what would have happened had the young Washington cherry tree incident taken place in a Watergate-type atmosphere.

This is how the story might have gone:

When George Washington was 6 years old, he was given a beautiful hatchet by his father. A few days later, George's father was walking through the garden and, much to his dismay, discovered someone had cut down his favorite English cherry tree. George's father went into a rage and sought out the guilty culprit.

SQUIRE WASHINGTON confronted his son. "George, do you know who chopped down my cherry tree?"

At first George pretended he didn't know what his father was talking about. But when Squire Washington took George by his collar and showed him the tree lying pitifully on the ground, George said, "It appears to me that some overzealous playmates of mine were involved in this shocking incident."

"Father," said George, "while I do not condone the cutting down of this cherry tree, or any other cherry tree for that matter, I would remind you that people have been chopping down cherry trees since long before I was born."

"GEORGE, I refuse to accept the excuse that just because other people have cut down cherry trees it is all right for someone to cut down mine. Now I'm going to ask you a question point-blank and I want an honest answer. Did you chop down this cherry tree?"

GEORGE LICKED his upper lip. "Father, as you know, someday I'm going to be the first President of the United States. I think it would be a serious mistake in principle for me to admit whether I did or did not cut down your tree.

George's father was livid. "Where is the hatchet I gave you? I want to match it with the marks on the trunk."

"I've been advised not to let you see it," George replied.

FINALLY, GEORGE went into a bush and reluctantly produced the hatchet. The father inspected it carefully. "What is this? Eighteen and one-half inches of this hatchet are missing."

"I think Squire Woods' little girl, Rose Mary, stepped on it."

"George, for the last time, did you chop down the cherry tree?"

"FATHER, I cannot tell a lie. I think we've devoted entirely too much time to the subject of your cherry tree. It's time that we put this cherry tree incident behind us and got on with the business of running this plantation."

Strange Visitor

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Dwight L. Chapin, President Nixon's indicted former appointments secretary who faces up to 20 years if convicted for perjury, recently visited inside the hallowed walls of the White House — pointing out the strangely enduring relationship between the president and his fallen aides.

ORDINARY CITIZENS are barred from the White House inner sanctum, but Chapin — indicted on four counts of perjury Nov. 29 — had no such trouble while in Washington for a federal court appearance. On one occasion, he was closeted with present presidential aides in a senior aide's vacant office.

One aide told us Chapin was paying a courtesy call on old acquaintances. But, coincidental or not, his visit preceded new White House propaganda against deposed White House counsel John W. Dean III. In their campaign against the credibility of the chief accuser of the President and his former aides, Mr. Nixon's present lieutenants are pointing to a confrontation in court next Friday between Dean and Chapin.

A HEARING is scheduled that day on a motion by Chapin's lawyers to prevent Dean from testifying against Chapin on grounds it would violate the lawyer-client relationship. The White House has confided to newsmen that a devastating cross-examination during the hearing will destroy Dean as the special prosecutor's star witness against game much bigger than Chapin.

WHETHER DEAN is demolished or even appears as a witness next Friday remains to be seen. Beyond dispute is the conscious interrelationship of two separate proceedings: the President's defense against impeachment and the defense of his ex-aides, ranging from H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman down to Dwight Chapin, in criminal proceedings.

A Devotion For Today

As he thinketh in his heart, so is he. (Proverbs 23:7)
PRAYER: O Lord, the guide and strength of our lives, tune our minds and hearts this day. Help us to search our hearts and be moved to trust and love you. Amen and amen.

Anniversary To Be Celebrated Sunday

The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Tate of the Tarzan community in Martin County will be celebrated Saturday at the home of a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tate, four miles west of Tarzan. Friends and relatives are invited to call between 3 and 5 p.m.

Hosting the affair will be the couple's other children and their families. They are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Tate, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Thomas, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Berwyn Tate, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Shanks, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Truman Tate, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Tate, Hurst; and Alan Tate, Rochester, Minn. There are 24 grandchildren.

Refreshments will be served from a table covered with a gold cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses. The tiered wedding cake will be decorated in gold and white.

The honorees were married Feb. 15, 1924 at Big Spring in the Baptist parsonage by the late Rev. W. D. Green, with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Graham of Greenwood community and the late Bob McKinley and Mrs. McKinley in attendance. The couple had known each other only three weeks prior to the wedding.

Tate, born in Erath County in 1900, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tate, and his father was a school teacher. A graduate of Hermleigh school, he began work for Santa Fe Railway in 1917 and, in 1919, went to work for the T & P Railway. He served as the telegraph operator in Coahoma, Fayette, Latah, Colorado City, Olden, Barstow and Big Spring.

MR. AND MRS. A. H. TATE

The family moved in 1946 to Knott, where he farmed, and he continued to work for the railway until retirement in 1956. They moved to Tarzan in 1957.

Mrs. Tate is the former Jessie Westfall, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Westfall of Coahoma. Her father was a blacksmith and farmer. She was born in 1905 in Cuthbert, Mitchell County, and moved to Coahoma where she graduated as valedictorian of her class in the Coahoma school. She then attended Hardin-Simmons University (then Simmons College).

Mr. and Mrs. Tate are members of the Tarzan Church of Christ. She is a member of the Grady Home Demonstration Club. He has always enjoyed chess and checkers, being a national checker champion at correspondence play in 1938 and third place winner in 1971 in Texas at cross board play. In recent years, they have enjoyed traveling to many places of interest in both North and South America.

Good Hunting

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me where the men are? Frankly, I'm husband hunting and I'd like to go about it intelligently. I'm not joking. I have only so much money, and I don't want to waste it.

Naturally I want to go where there are a greater percentage of single men. (over 40, please, I am 45.) I've heard that the men outnumber the women in Canada and Australia, so they should be happy hunting grounds, right? What about South American countries? I like Latin types. Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated.

RARIN' TO GO
DEAR RARIN': Try Alaska. There is a shortage of women there like you wouldn't believe. And if you should get lucky, the nights are six months long.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both 30, happily married, and heterosexual. His sister is 24 and an admitted lesbian.

Several months ago she told my husband she was "attracted" to me, and given the opportunity she could enjoy a romantic relationship with me. (Her favorite expression is: "If you haven't tried it, don't knock it.") My husband and I are both quite upset because we can't imagine why she would consider me a candidate for a romance with her.

We have tried to forget it, but she has become very affectionate too, kissing me, and pawing me in a way I do not like at all.

She is not a stupid girl.

I can't imagine what she's trying to accomplish. How should this be handled?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Handle it just as you would handle the situation were she a BROTHER-in-law who started making improper advances. Tell her you are not interested and to keep her distance. And if that doesn't work, avoid her.

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried Latin American woman of 26, which means I'm an old maid by Latin American standards.

All my life I had been fond of a gentleman who was a friend of the family. Now that he is a widower I realize that I am in love with him and have been since I was 14.

He is 67, a retired professional man, vigorous physically and intellectually, and handsome. He's from a good family and is well-to-do. (So am I. My sister and I will soon inherit 5 million American dollars.)

I want to marry this man, but presently he has a middle-aged Indian housekeeper who is also his mistress. (I am very jealous of her.)

Should I propose marriage to him? Or should my father tell him how I feel?

DEAR J: First, tell your father how you feel, and ask him to find out how the gentleman feels about YOU. Don't be too optimistic. He may be quite satisfied with his present arrangement. Sabe?

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: Today is St. Valentine's Day, so be a sweetheart, and do something thoughtful for a shut-in. Flowers? A visit? Or just a phone call would mean a lot to some folks who don't get out much.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69790, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.

The maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Duell F. White of Clyde, and the paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Abernathy, 1609 Sycamore, and George Parks, Hartford, Conn.

Legion Juniors Deliver 'Valentines' To Hospital

The American Legion Junior Auxiliary members will deliver valentine trays favors to the Veterans Administration Hospital today and will present two boxes of candy to veterans who reside at Mountain View Lodge.

The favors were made during a workshop Saturday at the home of Mrs. Troy Melton, chairman. During the meeting, initiation ceremonies were held for Brenda Gilchrist and Diane Gilchrist.

Plans were made for the girls to sell cup cakes and coffee during game night at the post home Feb. 16. Also, the senior auxiliary extended an invitation to the junior members to attend the monthly social meeting at the post home at 7 p.m., Feb. 28.

Each girl was presented a junior auxiliary pin.

Mrs. Ferrill Hamill and Mrs. Bill Bodine were guests at the meeting. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Feb. 16 in the home of Mrs. Melton, 1502 E. Third.

Class Meets In Norrell Home

The Golden Age Sunday school class of Berea Baptist Church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Mabel Norrell, 2202 Warren.

Mrs. J. T. Gross presided, and prayers were led by Mrs. Sally McClammy and Mrs. B. N. Boroughs. Mrs. Boroughs brought the devotions, and Bible games were conducted by Mrs. Norrell.

Mrs. Claude Freeman Sr. was welcomed as a guest.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

"Hospitality Is An Attitude" At Garden Club Sherry Party

"Hospitality Is An Attitude" was the theme of a sherry party and program on wines held recently in the home of Mrs. G. R. Robinson, 2619 Crestline, for the Green Thumb Garden Club.

Cohostesses were Mrs. A. D. Carson, Mrs. Pete Rhymes and Mrs. H. C. Stipp.

The main table was accented with an urn overflowing with fruits and arranged with trailing ivy. Other tables held various sheries, homemade breads, cheeses and fondue.

In the program it was said that the knowledge of winemaking, in general, is so old that no one knows who the first wine-makers were, but the Egyptians knew how to make wine early in their civilization.

Poets have sung the praises of wine through out the ages. Homer, Pliny, and Shakespeare wrote of the friendliness of wine. Omar Khayyam painted an immortal picture of contentment with his verse in the Rubaiyat, "A loaf of bread, a jug of wine, and thou." The Greek god, Dionysus, (called Bacchus by the Romans) was not only the god of wine, but also was looked on as the god of good living, a law-giver, and a promoter of civilization.

Many wines are named for the places in which they first became famous and the sheries are some of those. As the name denotes, they came from the town of Jerez and the Andalusian region of Spain — "sheries" being the English pronunciation of Jerez. It wasn't until 1635, however, that these wines became known as sherry.

The wines are made in the country and are taken to the great wineries in Jerez for the blending into true sherry. It is not a complete wine; it is, in fact, a blend of wines that have some affinity for each other,

DAR Plans Tea Here March 3

Local members of the Daughters of the American Revolution met Monday evening for dinner at La Posada, where discussion centered on further plans to form a DAR chapter in Big Spring. Mrs. Helen Dawson presided.

An organizational tea was planned for March 3 in the home of Mrs. W. A. Riley, Country Club Road. The committee working on the tea includes Mrs. Dawson, chairman; Mrs. Riley, Mrs. David Duke, Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel Jr. and Mrs. Vivian Crutcher.

Violet Club Members Take Greenhouse Tour

The Texas Star African Violet Club held its February meeting in the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main, with Mrs. Grace Odell as hostess. Club members toured Mrs. Moore's greenhouse, and Mrs. J. O. Murphy presented a slide program, "The Genus Saint Paulia", a species of African violets.

Among the types shown were Big Boy, Coon Valley, Charm Song, Lillian Jarrett and Blooming Fool. Mrs. Moore had on display African violets used in terrariums and dish gardens, as well as plants grown from seeds. Also shown was gloxinia, a cousin to the African violet.

Mrs. Thelma Montgomery presided, and Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales was named chairman of the nominating committee. Mrs. Clinkscales, president of the City Council for Garden Clubs, said the council has distributed over 300 bumper stickers during the "prevent litter" campaign.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., March 7 in the home of Mrs. Gertrude Rodricks, 1313 Mt. Vernon.

Book Review Tells Of Political Turmoil

The Modern Woman's Forum met in the home of Mrs. Tommy Gage Feb. 8 with Mrs. W. A. Laswell as hostess and Mrs. C. R. Moad presiding.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever; it can never pass into nothingness," quoted Mrs. Laswell in introducing her program on art. "Since art can cover all types of enjoyable things, a book review can be considered art."

She introduced Mrs. Clyde Thomas who reviewed "Those Who Love" by Irving Stone. It is the story of Abigail and John Adams and the history of early America. John Adams was vice president under George Washington and, at this time, there was unrest "very much like our times today."

"The majority of the people did not like Adams, and his political foes dragged up everything they could find to discredit him," said Mrs. Thomas.

A valentine tea followed the program, and refreshments were served to the members and two guests, Mrs. Marshall Brown and Mrs. C. A. Holcolm.

The next meeting will be at 3 p.m., Feb. 23 in the home of Mrs. Moad, 702 Abrams.

SOME DECORATING QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Can you give an idea on brightening up book shelves?

ANSWER: Break up the monotony of book-after-book after-book by placing flowers or other decorative things on your shelves at intervals between groups of books.

QUESTION: Decorators talk about making rooms "dramatic" or exciting. Can you give one suggestion on how to start doing this?

ANSWER: Here are two suggestions. Try a surprising burst of color somewhere in the room, or try a piece of furniture that does not match the rest of the room, but actually accents or highlights the room.

QUESTION: What should I look for to be sure of getting my money's worth in good upholstery?

ANSWER: Number one, look for a reputable dealer. Upholstery is a long-term investment and the problem is compounded by the fact that the most important parts of your sofa and chair purchases are hidden. The real value is in the unseen construction: frame, springs, filling and the workmanship with which it is put together. For this you must rely on your dealer's recommendation.

We can help you find honest answers to all of your furniture questions and needs, and we invite you to come in.

Brockette Named To School Post

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. Martin L. Brockette of Austin has been appointed state education commissioner effective July 1. He told newsmen he understood Gov. Dolph Briscoe's door "is still open" for a special legislative session on all for financially strapped school districts. Brockette, 60, is now deputy education commissioner. He is No. 2 man to Commissioner J. W. Edgar, 69, who will retire June 30 after 24 years in office. The State Board of Education stood and applauded as it unanimously chose Brockette as Edgar's successor. Brockette said he felt the financial needs of local school districts, many of them faced with declining tax bases and new programs as well as inflation, "will be addressed." Briscoe, who has exclusive authority to call a special session, has met repeatedly with school men and legislators on the problems, Brockette said. "The door, as I understand it, is still open to such a consideration," Brockette told reporters. Charles Purnell, Briscoe's executive assistant, said, "The door is never closed to a session that is needed and can be productive. But as of now, I don't think the governor is convinced a special session would be appropriate in this situation. It obviously would be unwise to interrupt the constitutional convention unless there is a real necessity."

Brockette has been deputy commissioner since May 1, 1970. He joined the Texas Education Agency in 1967 as assistant commissioner for regional education services.

He was superintendent of schools at Hillsboro from 1954 to 1969 and at Orange from 1959 to 1967. He began his career as a teacher in Milford in 1934.

Crib-Burning Item Deleted

by JAY SHARBUTT
 AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An ABC News "Close-Up" report on fire hazards has gotten what the network calls "an unprecedented amount" of requests by various groups for prints of the hour-long television documentary.

BUY OR RENT
 The groups can buy or rent copies of the film, ABC says. The kicker: Even though they aren't for broadcast use, the prints lack a controversial crib-burning sequence ABC planned to use in the show but deleted — because of a court order — just before the program was aired nationally last Nov. 26.

There are two reasons for the omission of the 40-second segment from the prints offered for off-air showing, ABC officials say. One is a $12 million damage suit, still pending in an Indiana court, filed against ABC by Smith Cabinet Manufacturing Co. of Salem, Ind., maker of the plastic crib involved in the disputed segment. The other is an injunction, sought by Smith and granted by the court just hours before the show was aired, that still bars ABC from televising the disputed segment unless it agrees to certain conditions.

 "With this thing still hanging over us, we didn't think it advisable to include it (the segment)," said an ABC official who declined to be identified. But would the sale or rental of the documentary — crib-burning sequence included — violate the injunction if this version of the program was specifically restricted to non-broadcast use? Maybe, the official said. It might lay ABC open to an interpretation that "broadcast" means to "disseminate" material by any means, on or off the air. Hence its caution in the matter.

Before the broadcast, ABC told newsmen the court's conditions couldn't be met by air time and that the network therefore was deleting the sequence entirely, pending an appeal of the court order. The network, recently denied a federal court appeal of the injunction, now says it'll take its appeals through Indiana's higher courts and go from there to the U.S. Supreme Court if need be.

Breast Cancer Units Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven new breast cancer detection centers in seven states, including Texas, were named today by the American Cancer Society and the national Cancer Institute.

The new centers bring to 27 the number of demonstration projects offering free examinations to women 35 years of age and older. The hope is to detect breast cancer in its earliest and most curable stage.

The cancer society said at a meeting of its board of directors that the new facilities should be in operation by mid-year. The new Texas project is at St. Joseph's Hospital, Houston. Dr. Duncan Moore is project director. The screening involves methods ranging from clinical examination to thermography, a heat pattern image of the breast, as well as such X-ray procedures as mammography and xeroradiography. The two agencies have allocated some $5.4 million to support the 27 centers for the first year of operation. Each center must screen at least 5,000 women during the first year and another 5,000 the second year. Each group will be re-examined for five years and followed up for another five years.

Sagging Economy Boosting Sales Of Valentine Cards

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Roses are red, violets are blue. The energy crisis is hitting them too.

Florists in several areas said roses are harder to find and more expensive this Valentine's Day and they blamed it in part on the fuel shortage.

"We're not promoting roses at all this year—they're not worth the price," said Al Casagrandi, owner of an Albany, N.Y., flower shop. Casagrandi said he ordered only 1,000 roses this year—compared to 4,000 last Valentine's Day.

Other Albany florists explained that growers tried to lower the temperature in greenhouses to save fuel and lost many of the buds, pushing up the prices.

A Chicago florist said a dozen long-stemmed red roses that cost $15 last year were selling for $20 this year. He said it's harder to get flowers shipped by air because freight charges are based on weight and the fuel-short airlines are reluctant to waste space on light items.

Somewhat paradoxically, the sagging economy has boosted the sales of Valentine cards.

The National Association of Greeting Card Publishers said two billion Valentines were sold last year and predicted 1974 sales would set a record. "Most stores have been booming," he said.

A spokesman for Hallmark Cards Inc., the nation's largest greeting card manufacturer, said, "It's one of the phenomena of a slumping economy—people turn to greeting cards when, in other times, they might be buying expensive gifts."

A clerk at a Charleston, W.Va., gift shop confirmed the boom. "You wouldn't believe it," she said. "It's just about like Christmas time."

Joe Mays Named Judge In Case

District and administrative Judge C. V. Milburn, Odessa, has appointed Joe L. Mays, a retired district judge living in San Angelo, to preside over a contested probate trial Monday here in 118th District Court.

District Judge R. W. Caton said he, Caton, may be called on to testify in the scheduled jury trial over the Earl Read estate.

Three young men have taken a delayed enlistment in the U.S. Air Force, according to T. Sgt. Don Sisco, USAF recruiter, 322 Runnels.

Upon the completion of the six-weeks course at the School of Military Sciences they will receive technical training.

Activity Day Is Down For Feb. 20

An activity day for Howard County senior citizens will start at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, with table games at the newly named Senior Citizens Building.

This building, formerly the adult education building at Howard College, is located by Adams Drive and north of the Administration Building.

Lunch will be served at noon. "Bring a covered dish and a friend and come to try out the new building," Sherry Mullin, county home demonstration agent, urged.

Demonstration Of Module Set

A demonstration of the automatic cotton Module gin feeder will be given Tuesday at the Mesa gin, about 20 miles west of Lamesa.

The demonstration will begin at 10 a.m., and program participants include J. K. (Farmer) Jones of Cotton, Inc., Lambert Wilkes of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; Roy Roberts of the Seagraves Co-op Gin, and Jerry Harris of Mesa Gin. Several machinery manufacture representatives also will be on hand.

Border Patrol Kept Busy Sending Aliens Home

Border Patrolmen have apprehended and sent back. Besides catching those who slip across the border, the BP often confiscates contrabands such as 260,000 pounds of marijuana, 320 pounds of hashish, eight pounds of heroin and 10 pounds of cocaine last year, he said.

The BP has the power to stop and check vehicles and to interrogate anyone about his citizenship. Mostly, however, it is a sixth sense developed from experience that helps the BP spot those who have slipped over the 8,000 miles of border. It's a good career which Hensley recommended to any young man.

In a brief report, Tom Henry, chairman of the sight conservation and blind fund, said that 67 pairs of eye glasses had been given since the start of school here was 2,786 aliens apprehended in 1973. In the five years that the station here has operated, 14,768 have been ap-

"I love you" is a Valentine statement traditionally accompanied by candy. Sweeties for the sweet will provide nutrients as well when peanut butter is used to make the candy.

It is nutritionally high in protein, phosphorus, the B vitamins and food energy. When combined with dried fruits, cereals, honey or powdered milk, the result is homemade candy with nutritional value rather than just empty calories.

PETER PANWHEELS
 1/2 cup peanut butter, crunchy or smooth
 1/4 cup honey
 1 tsp. orange juice
 1/2 to 3/4 cup nonfat dry milk powder
 Peanut butter or favorite jelly.

Spread with peanut butter or jelly. Roll up from longest side. Chill. Slice 1/4 inch thick. Store in covered container in cool place. Yield: about three dozen.

PEANUTTY CRUNCHIES
 1/2 cup peanut butter,

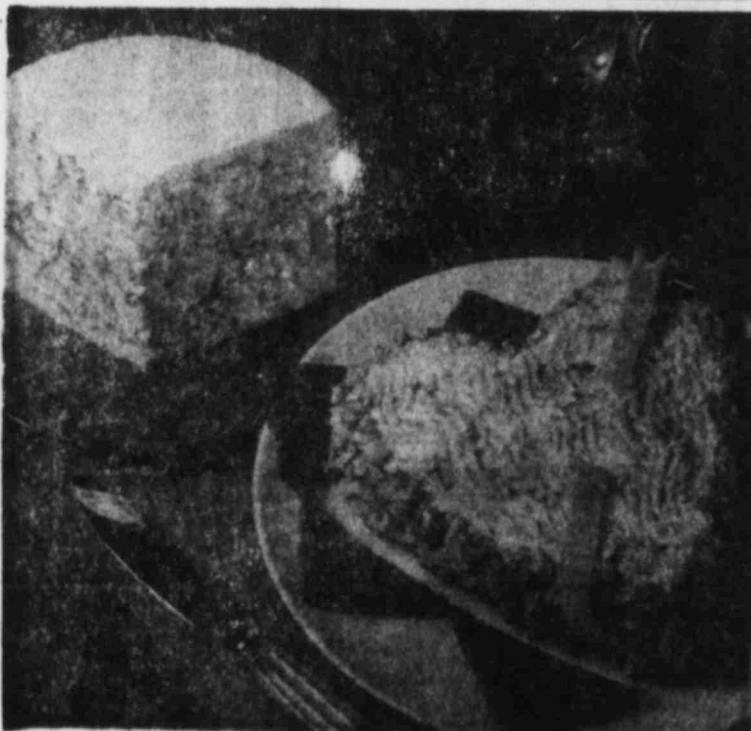

SAY IT with candy, and you'll win his heart. There's no cooking, just mixing, to make these sweets for your favorite sweetheart.

 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 cup chopped mixed dried fruit

2 cups puffed wheat

BE A LOVE, and plan a sentimental party for two, or several sets of twos. Make your cocktail spread a cheese heart that's subtle but spicy — tangy Danish Blue Cheese blended with smooth butter, sweet cream, brandy and nuts. Use the proportions that suit you best.

Valentine Is Dieting? Try This

You may want to invite a score of visitors for other holidays, but the lucky number for St. Valentine's Day is two: just you and your valentine. Holidays, even holidays for sweethearts, carry the calorie burden of special meals and fancy desserts. This year you might plan to keep your Valentine's Day specialties light, and leave the mischief to cupid.

If you decide to serve a cool, tasty drink for a late evening snack, Maple coffee shrub is perfect for valentine of all ages. The unusual flavor ingredient in this shrub is calories reduced pancake and waffle syrup. A serving of shrub is just 77 calories.

Maple Coffee Shrub
 1/4 cup calories reduced pancake and waffle syrup
 2 cups strong coffee, chilled
 2 scoops lemon sherbet (1/2 cup)
 Twists of lemon peel
 Combine syrup and coffee; blend well. Pour mixture into glasses. Top with sherbet. Serve at once topped with twist of lemon peel. Makes 2 servings.

Help Protect Your Heart

By ELAYNE REXROAT
 Overweight? Smoke? High blood pressure? Late thirties? Early forties? Family history atherosclerosis? If so, take a few moments to read this article.

Over a period of years, as numerous astounding achievements and advances have been made revolving around the nucleus of existing elements in this universe, how many people actually know what 'atherosclerosis' is?

It's that phenomena that you hear referred to in some way, practically every day, as 'heart trouble' or 'heart disease'.

To answer questions that have undoubtedly crossed every individual's mind, in idle thought or out of concern, at one time or another, Dr. B. Broadrick and Dr. Robert A. Edwards of the Veterans Administration Hospital staff assisted with material for this article.

Basically, a simple explanation of atherosclerosis would be to say it's an artery disease. An obstruction, being like that of corrosion in pipes.

Heart attacks run hand-in-hand with, or occur as a result of, heart disease. A heart attack might be described as a stroke of the heart.

SYMPTOMS
 The true, hard facts are that heart disease is hereditary, and is more prevalent in smokers than non-smokers. Being overweight and having high blood pressure are definite aggravations of the disease and are a personal invitation for a heart attack. Symptoms that might indicate a heart attack usually begin with indigestion, heart burn, gas, abdominal cramps and subtle stomach pain. Severe pain would then occur in the chest area.

Being aware that an attack can occur at any given time, the most susceptible times would be after indulging in a large meal, experiencing emotional stress, anxiety, upset or exertion.

Statistics reveal that the ratio of men experiencing heart attacks compared to women is two-to-one. The attacks range from mild to serious, and 75 to 85 percent recover and can successfully return to normal living.

A few things that people who have experienced atherosclerosis should constantly combat is becoming overchilled or overheated.

They should avoid strenuous physical activity and fatigue; they should discontinue smoking and stay slim and trim; and, they should always get enough rest and try to remain calm and collected at all times.

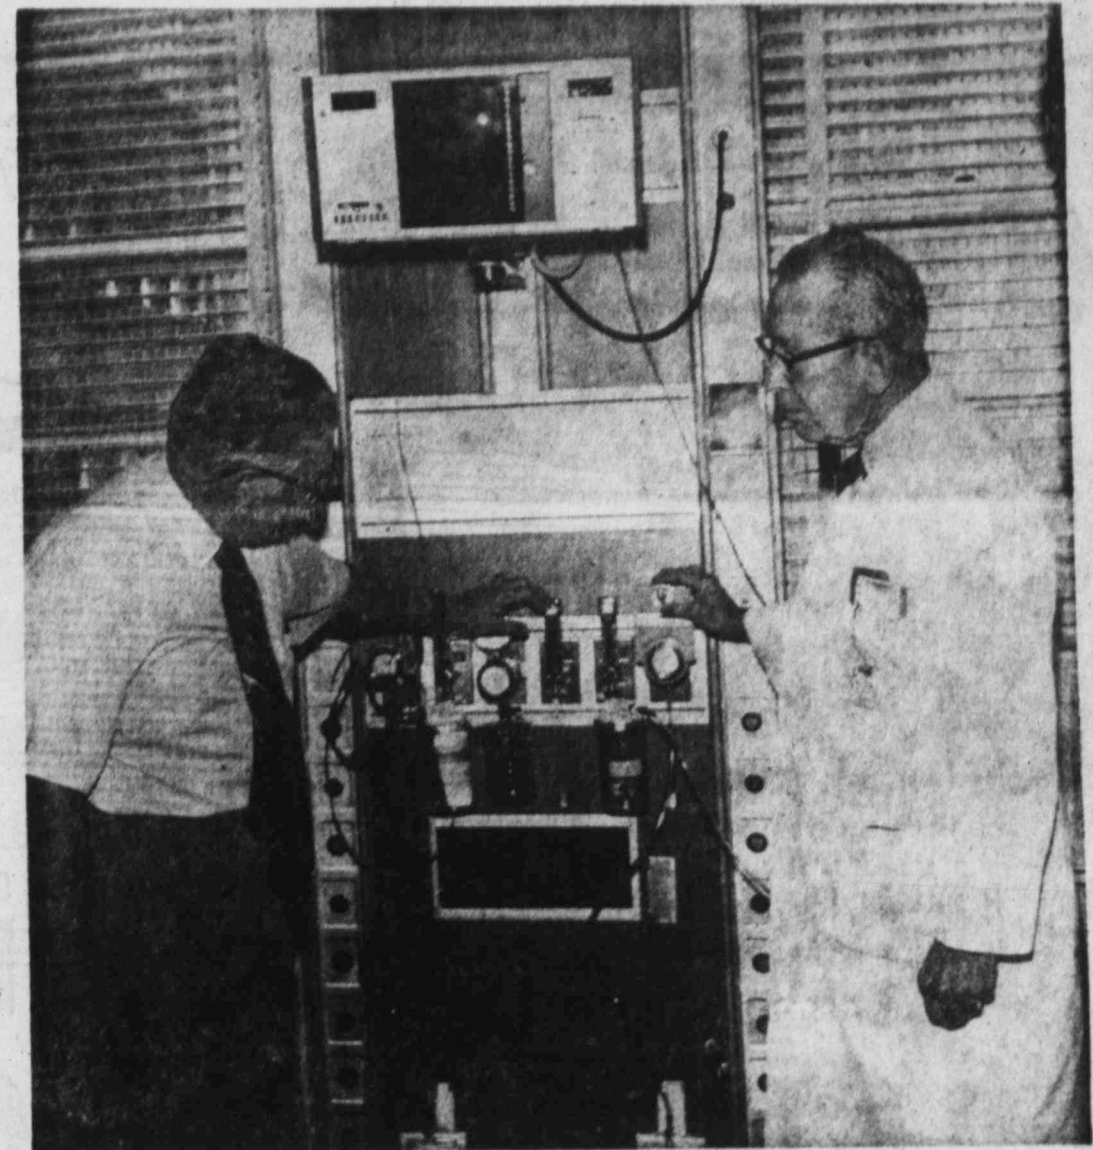

CUTTING RISKS
 Cutting these risk factors to a minimum, 20 or 30 years may be added to their lives.

How does diet play a part in this frightful menace that seems to be no respecter of persons?

There are a variety of special diets that are recommended for patients experiencing a heart attack. However, there is one vital suggestion Dr. Edwards and Dr. Broadrick offered to help in avoiding the aggravation of heart trouble. This is the use of unsaturated fats or oils.

They explained that vegetables contain unsaturated fats and that all animal fats are saturated fats which are the culprits. They supported the idea that everyone should form the habit of trimming all visible fat from meat before eating it.

With various diets involved in the treatment of heart abnormalities, they pointed out the absolute need for a person to consult a physician before undertaking any kind of diet for the purpose of losing weight — regardless of the amount.

Vickie Babcock's Applesauce Raisin Bread

1/2 cups flour
 1 tsp. baking soda
 1 tsp. baking powder
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. cinnamon
 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
 1 cup Quick Oats

1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup salad oil
 1 cup applesauce
 1 cup raisins

Combine dry ingredients. Add eggs, salad oil, and apple sauce and stir 'til well combined. Stir in raisins and fill greased 9x5x3 loaf pan. Bake at 350°F one hour. (note: a cracked top is normal) This recipe is from Vickie Babcock of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. She bakes with 3 Minute Brand Oats because, "It adds a lot of food value for the money."

Pantry Pickups

Stuff each pitted prune with a whole roasted almond and 2 or 3 semi-sweet chocolate bits. Roll in instant cocoa.

Dip Chinese fortune cookies into melted semi-sweet chocolate to coat partially, then into roasted diced almonds. Cool on rack until chocolate is firm. Serve the same day for tea-time treat or with vanilla ice cream for dessert.

Coat fingers of cream cheese with roasted diced almonds; serve on a board with fresh apple wedges.

Into 4 oz. whipped cream cheese, stir 1 Tbsp. each roasted diced almonds and semi-sweet chocolate chips, chopped. Great on hot gingerbread, steamed pudding!

For different grilled cheese sandwiches, first sprinkle cheese with roasted diced almonds.

Dissolve 1 Tbsp. coffee powder in 1/4 cup hot water. Stir into a can of fudge topping or chocolate syrup. Keep warm in chafing dish or over candle warmer. Just before serving, stir in a little brandy. Spoon over vanilla, chocolate or coffee ice cream; garnish with roasted slivered almonds.

Sixty-six percent of California's 1973 almond crop will be sold in the U.S.

Shape butter cookie dough into long ropes; roll in finely chopped almonds. Cut diagonally into short pieces before baking.

Sprinkle toasted sliced almonds over cold or hot cereal for extra flavor and nutrition.

Stir drained canned dark sweet cherries and roasted diced almonds into whipped cream or non-dairy topping flavored with brandy or rum; garnish with chocolate curls.

Stir cocoa and sugar into heavy cream (it won't blend well); let chill about an hour, then whip. Fold in toasted chopped almonds and use to frost and fill one 9-inch yellow cake layer that has been split in two. Garnish with chocolate curls and almonds.

Mix half a cup of granulated sugar with a tablespoon of cinnamon and use it for making cinnamon toast. This mixture may also be sprinkled over the top of coffee cake before it goes into the oven.

COULD REDUCE $100 BILLION MEDICAL BILL

National Health Insurance

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's key strategist for national health insurance says that the new administration plan "in all likelihood" could have reduced the nation's $100 billion medical bill if it had been in operation this year.

James H. Cavanaugh, associate director of the President's Domestic Council, said in an interview with The Associated Press that the proposal would rely upon "cost consciousness" of consumers to hold down expenses, by requiring co-insurance and deductibles up to $1,500 a year.

SEEK TREATMENT

But by making health-care available to everyone, he added, the plan would encourage people to seek treatment before a relatively minor ailment becomes a serious illness.

Cavanaugh said the President intends to make national health insurance his "major No. 1 legislative priority" this year.

Here are questions and answers from the interview:

Q. Essentially, what is the President's proposal?

A. Well, the President's program transmitted to Congress would provide that any individual in the United States would be able to participate in a basic insurance program that would provide financial protection against the cost of catastrophic illness as well as to provide a whole series of health benefits—including unlimited hospitalization, physician office visits and prescription drugs.

LITTLE INSURANCE

Q. How would this differ from what the public is getting now?

A. First, the majority of the population today has absolutely no or very little insurance protection against the cost of catastrophic illness. The President's plan would assure that everyone would have access to that type of protection.

Secondly, his plan would insure out-of-hospital services, so that we would remove the incentive, which exists today, to place a patient in a hospital bed because that's the financing mechanism that the patient has to pay for his medical services that in instances can be obtained more cheaply outside the hospital, but they are not today because there isn't an insurance mechanism that provides that coverage.

Q. Will there be more expense to the individual?

A. The expense in terms of those who currently have insurance today of a rather broad nature will be about the same.

Q. Is it going to be higher or lower?

A. It will vary, again, in terms of the broad-based packages that are available today, in a range of from 5 per cent under existing premiums to 25 per cent over.

Q. Have there been any projections on the total cost of the economic impact of this program—both the total federal price tag, to the total cost to states, and the total cost to employers and employees?

A. The program would not take effect—even if it is enacted this year—until 1976. There have been no firm projections of what would be in place in the medical marketplace in 1976. There have been projections in terms of what the additional federal cost would be and what the additional state cost would be above what is now being expended. That total would approximate $6.9 billion. About $5.9 billion would be increased federal expenditure, about $1 billion would be increased expenditure on the part of the states.

BENEFIT PACKAGE

Q. The nation's total health expenditures now, both public and private, exceed $100 billion a year. If the Nixon administration's plan had been in operation this year would total spending be higher or lower than that?

A. It is difficult to define. Some of the economists that we have talked to in the development of this program have indicated that in all likelihood it would be lower.

That's because of the out-of-hospital benefits that would reduce the cost of hospitalization in the country and, secondly, because of the competitive nature of the insurance program that is envisioned that would actually provide for competition between insurance companies on the benefit package that they would offer above the basic plan.

Q. Critics of the administration's bill say that it does not place enough emphasis on cost control.

A. The President's plan would have each of the states establish a program that would not only provide for regulation of the health insurance industry that would offer policies under his program but would also have a provision for the review of costs that are billed against the program by providers.

Specifically, there is a provision that would review... hospital budgets. There would be mechanisms established that would review rates that would be paid to providers under the program.

In his message, the President indicated he felt that that portion of the economic stabilization program that relates to medical care prices should be extended at the federal level to control and continue the work that's been done on price control in the medical industry until this program were enacted and would be in place.

Q. How does your plan differ from the cradle-to-grave approach that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has proposed?

A. The President's program differs in a number of instances. First, it would require no increases in additional federal taxes. Second, it would not transfer all of the private financing that is now going on across the country into the federal treasury. Third, it would greatly encourage competition among insurance carriers.

She Thinks Warm Thoughts To Fight Migraine Pains

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Once a week, Angela Green attaches her right index finger to an electrode and thinks arm thoughts for a desk-sized instrument studded with dials and knobs.

It's her way of fighting migraine headaches. Angela, 22, began having severe headaches five years ago. She tried various drugs but said nothing was really satisfactory.

HEAVY AND WARM

"Then one day, while experiencing the excruciating throbbing best described as something between having a darning needle sticking in my temples and having a vise clamped over the head, something caught my eye," she recalled.

It was an advertisement last summer in the Marshall University student newspaper that said the psychology department was seeking migraine sufferers willing to try bio-feedback, a method of training a person to control parts of the body.

Now, Angela is one of about 20 persons who make regular visits to be linked to the department's dynagraph—a cousin of a lie detector—that records biological responses.

Hooked to the machine, Angela murmurs phrases designed to soothe and relax: "I am quiet, relaxed... My hands and arms are heavy and warm... I feel very quiet... My whole body is relaxed and my hands are warm, relaxed and warm."

The electrode senses the heat of Angela's finger and the machine displays the temperature on a graph that she can see.

VERY PLEASSED

Donald Chezik, director of clinical training for the psychology department, said the idea is to train a subject to raise the heat of the hands by watching the graph's display of skin temperature.

"The theory is that migraine headaches are caused by the expansion of arteries in the brain and that, by warming up the hands, you channel the blood flow there and relieve the pressure in the head," Chezik said.

He estimated 10 per cent of the population, especially women, is tormented by migraines.

"We don't have a lot of evidence yet, but most of the people we've treated have been very pleased," he said.

"I used to have three or four headaches a week, including a couple each month that would completely debilitate me," An-

Car Sales Dip In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Car and truck sales in Houston were down nearly 15 per cent in January from the same period last year and were off sharply from December 1973 sales, county officials said today.

Sales of new cars and trucks totaled 10,313, compared with 14,246 in December and 12,116 in January 1973. Although sales were off in all categories, standard and mid-sized cars showed the greatest losses.

Only 2,199 standard-sized cars were sold last month, fewer than in any month last year, and 1,568 mid-sized cars were sold, fewer than in any 1973 month except September when 1,483 mid-sized cars were sold. Compact car sales almost caught up with standard-sized sales with 1,900.

Former Rodeo Star Ropes Win In Court

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — One-time Texas rodeo star Jack Favor, convicted in a controversial, 10-year-old murder case, must be given a new trial or be set free, a federal court ruled.

A three-judge panel of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals backed U.S. District Court Judge Alvin Reuben in a decision that was issued here. Reuben had given the state a month to begin a new trial.

Favor appealed on grounds his 1967 conviction involved illegal collusion between the district attorney, the judge and a key witness who was secretly freed later by the state. The key witness was Floyd Cumbey, convicted of manslaughter in the same case.

Two days after Cumbey was freed, he was arrested in Oklahoma City on a charge of murdering his former girl friend and her roommate.

There was no immediate word from the attorney general's office on an appeal but Favor's attorney, J. D. Wells of Bossier City, said he had learned that the state will not ask for a new trial "because they know they can't get a conviction."

Favor was sentenced to two consecutive life terms in the Angola prison. The complicated case centered on testimony by Cumbey that Louis H. Padgett Jr., district attorney at the time, promised him freedom if he would testify against Favor when Favor came to trial on a murder charge.

Both Favor and Cumbey were charged with the 1964 slaying of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Richey at their bait stand near Haughton, La.

Plymouth Duster. More miles per gallon than Nova, Comet, Maverick, Apollo and Ventura.

If you're concerned about gas mileage, the tests Popular Science magazine conducted should be of interest to you. The tests they conducted on '73 vehicles (and adjusted by them for 1974 models and the results of E.P.A. tests) show the "Slant Six" engine that's standard in our Duster can go farther on a gallon of gas than Maverick, Nova, Comet, Ventura and Apollo.

...Priced less than VW Super Bug.

The manufacturer's suggested sticker price for Plymouth Duster is actually less than Volkswagen's Super Bug. The prices, naturally, don't include comparable destination charges, state and local taxes or dealer prep charges. Even though you pay less for Duster, you get a lot more. For example, Duster has room for five inside. VW—only four. Duster's got three times the trunk space of VW. And Duster's got an electronic ignition that virtually eliminates ignition tune-ups. VW doesn't even offer one.

Duster gas mileage and price. Two ways we're out to win you over to Duster this year.
