VICTIM CARRIED FROM DEBRIS — Rescuers carry the body of a victim from smoking debris of the Turkish DC10 jetliner which crashed in the Ermenonville forest, 23 miles north of Paris, Sunday killed all 346 persons aboard. It was history's worst air disaster. A French official speculated today that an explosion just after takeoff may have caused the crash.

346 Persons Perish In Worst Air Disaster

PARIS (AP) — Police, firemen and official investigators combed through a wide forest area today seeking bits of wreckage from a Turkish Airlines DC10 jet that crashed with a loss of 346 lives, the biggest toll in civil aviation history.

Experts estimated that a careful search of the area covering several square miles might take a week. Only part of the black box with vital recordings of the plane's functioning has been found and top priority is being given to finding other pieces.

PERSONAL ITEM

Personal effects of the passengers were being piled together. Bits of clothing caught in tree branches waved forlornly in the light wind.

The newspaper France-Soir said it had received two anonymous telephone calls saying that "this was done voluntarily. It was definitely an attack." The two calls seemed to come from the same man who claimed he was a member of the "Liberal Front," which he said was a political movement started outside France. There was no way of confirming his statements.

The American-built airliner crashed in the Ermenonville forest, 23 miles north of Paris, five minutes after it took from Orly Airport Sunday on a flight from Istanbul to London. Turkish Airlines said the plane was loaded to capacity with 334 passengers and 12 crew members.

NO HINT

There was no indication when the casualty list would be made public. But the airline's European manager said the names of 200 to 250 of the passengers indicated they were British or American, and about 40 Japanese were aboard.

The weather was sunny, and no hint of trouble came from the plane. But "the fact that debris and bodies were found in a village more than 10 kilometers (6 miles) from the accident tends to prove that an explosion occurred in flight," said Aymar Achille-Fould, a top official of the French Transport Ministry.

Persons in the area of the crash said they heard an explosion, but they could not agree whether it occurred before or after the plane hit the ground.

SABOTAGE?

Turkey's communications minister, Ferda Guley, said "considering the world situation," he did not rule out sabotage.

Part of the plane's flight Sunday, and searchers were looking for the rest in hopes that it would give some clue to what happened in the minutes between takeoff and crash.

It was the first crash of one of the wide-bodied, McDonnell-Douglas triets since the plane went into general service four years ago. A total of 216 persons had boarded the plane in Paris for the hop to London, most of them because a wildcat strike by ground engineers at London's Heathrow Airport forced British Airways to cancel all its European flights.

The huge jet slammed into a wooded slope near a highway and close to three villages, but the area in which it hit was uninhabited.

The highest previous death toll in a plane crash was 176 when a Soviet airliner crashed near Moscow in October, 1972, and when a Jordanian jet burst into flames on landing at Kano, Nigeria, in January, 1973.

Urge State Superport

AUSTIN (AP) — A state senator and the vice chairman of the Texas Offshore Terminal Commission urged a Senate committee today to commit state money for a proposed superport off the Texas coast for giant oil tankers.

Such a facility, they told the Economic Development Committee, is too important to let the oil companies build it.

The oil industry "has little regard for our environment when measured against making a buck," said Pete Miller of Galveston, vice chairman of the commission.

Mass Streaking Record Claimed

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Students at Angelo State College claimed the state's mass streaking record Sunday with 28 nude men and a naked woman running across the campus.

Cheering students who watched the Sunday night nude dash said the streak beat the mark of 25 naked dashers who recently ran at Texas Tech University at Lubbock.

Students said six nude men and a nude woman made the first run followed by 21 other men.

'Mr. Jones' Loses Abortion Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declined today to consider the rights of an unwed father in determining whether to abort a pregnancy.

The justices rejected without comment a petition for review from Florida where state courts found no paternal say in the decision.

An unwed father, identified only as "Mr. Jones," unsuccessfully sought an injunction barring the abortion desired by "Miss Smith," a 19-year-old woman with whom he had cohabited.

The Florida District Court of Appeals, drawing on Supreme Court decisions, held that the decision is "purely personal to the mother..."

Steady Thump Was Nothing But Kite

Things that make noises in the night can really startle any resident. A steady thump all night long Saturday at 1406 Princeton sent the residents out in the morning to see what was banging on their roof.

It turned out to be a kite caught on the edge of the roof with a beer can tied to the kite tail.

Temperature Broke Record Sunday

A new weather record was set here Sunday with an all time high of 90 degrees, according to the U.S. experiment station.

The weather records here date back 74 years and the previous high on record was 88 degrees in 1955.

Asks Judge To Dismiss Sissy's Suit

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's campaign manager today sought dismissal of Frances Farenthold's election lawsuit against the governor.

Briscoe's lawyers also filed specific objections to allegations made in Mrs. Farenthold's suit.

Former congressman Joe Kilgore, Briscoe's campaign manager and codefendant, said Mrs. Farenthold has no legal standing to sue the governor on behalf of all Texans.

The governor's lawyers contended the suit was "too general, vague and indefinite" and failed to "state sufficient facts so as to enable defendant to prepare for trial."

Mrs. Farenthold contended Briscoe accepted contributions for his re-election campaign before the appointment of a campaign manager, Kilgore.

But Briscoe's lawyers contended in their objections filed with the court that he did not decide to run for re-election until Oct. 30, the date Kilgore was appointed and the date of the statewide appreciation dinner here at which Briscoe announced his candidacy.

HEARST DECLARES:

'I'm Sure She Is All Right'

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — "I know that pretty soon God will touch their hearts and they'll send you home again," Mrs. Randolph A. Hearst said in a quavering voice.

She addressed her comment to her kidnapped daughter Sunday during a plea to the girls' abductors to break their 11-day silence.

Mrs. and Mrs. Hearst, appearing haggard from their month-long vigil, asked the kidnapers of their 20-year-old daughter Patricia to allow her to communicate with them.

VOICE BREAKING

Mrs. Hearst, her voice breaking and on the verge of tears, addressed her daughter through news reporters:

"Patty, honey, your father is doing everything in his power, and I want you to know that millions of people all over the world are praying for you."

"I know it's a long time, sweetheart, and you keep your courage. We'll keep praying," said the black-clad mother.

Hearst, editor and president of the San Francisco Examiner, said: "We might add to the people who are holding you that you could be allowed to send us a letter or get in touch with us by tape."

The mysterious Symbionese Liberation Army has claimed responsibility for dragging the college student out of her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4. The SLA has said she is being held as a prisoner of war under the international rules of the Geneva Convention.

The SLA has sent four communications to Hearst in the past month, three of them on tape. The last communicate was Feb. 22.

NO DEVELOPMENTS

"I'm sure she is all right," Hearst said during his brief appearance Sunday. "I believe she is being held under the Geneva Convention. We just would like to say hello to her."

Hearst said he knew the abductors wouldn't allow him to see her.

Premier Golda Meir Delays Resignation

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir delayed submission of her resignation today as a stream of political col leagues called at her home to urge her to remain at the head of the Israeli government.

COOLED HER

Mrs. Meir telephoned President Ephraim Katzir early today and told him she would call on him this morning to return her mandate to form a new Israeli government because of criticism of the new minority cabinet she had lined up.

But a night's sleep and the pleading of her associates in the Labor Alignment apparently cooled Mrs. Meir's anger.

A spokesman said she put off the visit to Katzir until late afternoon, and other aides said she was waiting to see if her associates could swing dissident members of the party behind her cabinet list.

Mrs. Meir announced her resignation at a meeting of Labor party executives Sunday night after some of her party's members in parliament criticized the new minority government she planned to present Tuesday.

"This is my final decision," said the 75-year-old grandmother as she stalked out of the party caucus.

UNCERTAINTY

Party leaders flocked to Mrs. Meir's Jerusalem home and pleaded until past midnight with her to continue at the head of the government. But Deputy Premier Yigal Allon reoriented she was "firm in her decision."

Mrs. Meir has led the Israeli government since 1969, and her decision to bow out plunged the country deeper into the political uncertainty that has beset it since Mrs. Meir's Labor Alignment lost ground in the Dec. 31 elections.

Subsequently, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan refused to join the new cabinet, and the National Religious Party refused to join the Labor Alignment in a new coalition, making it impossible for Mrs. Meir to form a majority in the Knesset, Israel's parliament.

In the shock of Mrs. Meir's surprise announcement, the

Mitchell-Stans Loses Motion For Mistrial

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Lee P. Gagliardi today denied a defense motion for a mistrial in the criminal conspiracy case of Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ex-Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans.

The judge made his decision known after a short session in a private conference room behind the courtroom.

OBJECTION

Gagliardi recessed the trial abruptly last Friday to consider the effect of a passage in the opening statement of the federal prosecutor. The words had triggered an immediate objection from Stans' lawyer and a motion for mistrial.

The prosecutor, Asst. U.S. Atty. James W. Rayhill told the jurors at the end of his statement: "As you listen to the witnesses testifying before you, put yourselves in the place of the grand jurors who investigated the case, citizens like yourselves."

JAMES RAYHILL

The defense objected, contending the statement implied the jurors should infer guilt from the indictment.

Gagliardi had instructed the jurors beforehand that indictments are only accusations and not findings of guilt.

Gagliardi said Rayhill's remarks contained "apparent excesses," ordering prosecution and defense attorneys to file statements over the weekend on the mistrial motion.

Friday's sudden turn of events in the conspiracy trial followed a week of careful screening of hundreds of potential jurors. The jury of eight men and four women selected Thursday was sequestered and continued to be kept in isolation as Gagliardi studied the mistrial motion.

CONSPIRACY

Speculation arose that should a mistrial be declared today, it would be more difficult to find a new jury — especially after the Watergate indictments announced Friday. Among the seven former top Nixon administration officials named was Mitchell, charged with conspiracy, obstruction of justice and making false statements.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of trying to impede a Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation into the financial activities of Robert L. Vesco. The government charged that in return, Vesco made a secret $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Glassy Eye May Catch Streakers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The glassy eye of a campus policeman's camera may be on those who dare to streak across the University of Texas campus in the nude.

A campus policeman was quoted by The Daily Texan the student newspaper, today as saying orders came from "Higher up" to begin photographing streakers.

"We do feel pretty strongly about it," said Police Chief Donald Cannon. "We will arrest anyone we find doing this. It is against the law."

The World At-A-Glance

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Two young Arabs who hijacked a British airliner and surrendered after burning it up say their group plans to attack other British and American planes because those countries supported Israel in the October war. The Arabs took over the VC10 jet Sunday after it left Beirut with 92 passengers and 10 crew members aboard, forced the copilot to land at Amsterdam's Schiphol airport, drenched the inside of the $6.9 million jet with the plane's liquor supply, ordered everybody off and set it afire. Two passengers suffered minor injuries sliding out, but the plane was virtually destroyed.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Public approval of President Nixon's performance in office has again slipped to within one point of his all-time low of 26 per cent, according to the latest Gallup Poll. Twenty-seven per cent of those adults polled in two surveys conducted Feb. 8 to 11 and

Feb. 15 to 18, approved of his performance, while 63 per cent disapproved and 10 per cent were undecided. In a previous poll taken Feb. 1 to 4, the approval rating was 28 per cent, two points above Nixon's low point of 26 per cent recorded in mid-January.

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — An extra 650,000 gallons of gasoline began flowing into southern West Virginia over the weekend. But leaders of protesting coal miners say they plan to continue a walkout that has idled some 20,000 miners until federal and state officials meet 100 per cent of their fuel needs. The miners have complained that they can't get enough gasoline to travel to and from work, particularly because of shortened station hours and a state rule forbidding service to motorists with more than a quarter tank of gasoline.

Rest For The Jumbos

Eleven Boeing 747 jumbo jets have taken up more or less permanent residence in New Mexico. They're parked at Roswell's airport, formerly a Strategic Air Command base given to the city. And there they're likely to remain for quite a while.

The jumbo jets belong to two airlines; American Airlines owns seven and the other four belong to Continental. They have been taken out of service because of the energy crisis; smaller planes can move the number of passengers available with less fuel.

But the energy crisis is not the only reason the jumbos are uneconomical. They were operating at less than full capacity already, usually only half-filled on most routes. The fuel shortage is a convenient excuse to ground them, without the airline losing face in the process.

The situation says a lot about airline economics. In the race for prestige, airlines have made a lot of questionable economic decisions. The jumbos illustrate this; once the monster planes became available, the rush was on to obtain them — not because their capacity was really needed so much as because the airline without jumbos would appear to be a poor-boy outfit compared to those that had them.

Airlines have competed in the same prestige race with service and entertainment on board, number of routes, and a variety of other ways. And airlines have been plagued with chronic ill economic health as a result.

Now at least some of the jumbos are grounded. Although payments for their purchase continue, the cost of operating them doesn't. Airlines have dropped some routes. They're carrying more full loads, at greater profitability. And most people who use airlines for travel are not greatly inconvenienced by the cutbacks. The movement of people and goods continues at about the same level, only more efficiently.

There is a lesson in all this for the rural American economy. We have made waste a virtue; overconsumption of energy and other resources, for no sound economic or social reasons, has become standard.

Perhaps some of the subsidies in this direction might have been better applied on research and developments of such fund one forms of travel as the railroad.

But Who Decides?

The other day Radio Peking dug up a philosophy professor who hit the air with a sermon extolling the benefits of occasional brainwashing.

"People regularly wash their faces and take baths so as to keep clean," he asserted. "Why shouldn't a person cleanse his mind of filth?"

Trouble is that in Communist China today's filth may be tomorrow's snow-white thoughts, all depending on condition of Chairman Mao's liver and lights.

Either way, mind bleaching is repugnant to anyone who has known the fresh air of freedom.

We will take good old American democracy, even with its ring-around-the-collar problems.

The Nixon Drag

Robert Novak

CINCINNATI — The burden of Watergate on Republican candidates is starkly apparent in one out of every five Republican voters we interviewed here who openly admitted they would be "more inclined" to vote Republican in next Tuesday's special congressional election if Richard M. Nixon had been replaced as a President by Vice President Gerald Ford.

IT WAS precisely this weight of Nixon-Watergate that defeated the Republican nominee in the Michigan election to fill Ford's old seat. Here in Ohio's 1st Congressional District, the Republican antecedents are also strong. Yet the horrors of Watergate have reduced the 70 per cent Republican victory in November 1972 to an even race that could send Democrat Thomas A. Luken to Washington. If so, that second upset is certain to spread panic among Republicans running for office this year.

Armed with a questionnaire drafted by national pollster Oliver Quayle, we interviewed 63 voters in their homes in overwhelmingly Republican precincts with the help of three Quayle interviewers: Peggy Weiss, Kathleen Wagner and Bonnie Fumarola. We found heavy support for the Republican candidate Willis D. Gradison, Jr., against Luken but not nearly so heavy as usual. Thus, based on our interviews, the congressional race looks nip and tuck — thanks to the Nixon drag.

MOST SIGNIFICANTLY, our scouting expedition showed for the first time that Republican voters are talking about the impact of Watergate on their vote in a purely local contest. The key question: "If Gerald Ford were President, instead of Nixon, would that make you more or less inclined to vote Republican?" The replies: 14 — far more than would be expected in such a district — said they would be more inclined, only 3 less inclined; the remaining 46 gave the predictable answer that it would make no difference.

BUT A SECOND question dramatized even more the dilemma of Republican candidates damned by the Presidents hard-core backers if they desert him and damned by anti-Nixon Republicans if they don't desert him. Of our voters, 19 agreed they think more of Republican Gradison "because he would support Richard Nixon" as a Republican in Congress; but a whopping 33 voters said they would think less of him.

In solidly Republican precincts of Norwood (urban middle income) and Madeira (suburban upper income) where we interviewed, the just retired Republican Congressman, William Keating, won over 80 per cent in 1972. Our interviews favored Gradison over Luken by only a 3 to 2 margin, suggesting a possible Democratic upset.

A 41-YEAR-OLD salesman who voted three times for Mr. Nixon (1960, 1968, 1972) gave only one reason for favoring Luken: "Because Gradison is for Nixon."

The famed Quayle trust scale, for example, shows that 18 of our voters scored him at the very bottom of the trust scale ("don't trust him at all"). Only door-to-door salesmen, with 27, did worse. As for designation and impeachment, our interviews in Ohio's 1st Congressional District ran true to form: 2 to 1 against both impeachment and resignation.

Civil War Widow

Marquis Childs

By JERRY T. BAULCH
(Substituting for Marquis Childs)

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 117-year-old widow of a Civil War veteran has been given a raise in her Veterans Administration pension.

The case of Angela Davalos Moran of Polanco, Mexico, near Mexico City, came to the VA's attention during a check last December on the 272 surviving widows of Civil War veterans.

ALL WIDOWS of Civil War veterans are entitled to VA pensions, and the VA figures that most are so old they probably also are eligible for the $55 given those requiring regular aid attendance.

But the VA has to confirm that they need the help.

James T. Taaffe Jr., director of compensation and pensions for the VA, took the problem to his sister, Dorothy Taaffe, international relations officer for the American Red Cross.

BY COINCIDENCE, Bertil Pettersson, deputy secretary general of the League of Red Cross Societies in Geneva, Switzerland, and a native of Mexico, was visiting American Red Cross national headquarters here.

He was en route to his native country for the Christmas holidays and volunteered to visit Mrs. Moran at her home.

The Red Cross official reported to the VA that he found her very alert and moving fairly well considering her age, although she uses a cane to walk.

As a result of Pettersson's report, the VA increased Mrs. Moran's pension from $70 to $125 a month.

She was married to Henry Moran, who served three months in the New York State Militia Volunteers in 1861 before being wounded near Harper's Ferry, W. Va. He was discharged a few months later.

MORAN BECAME a railroad worker in 1862 in California and did the same type work in Peru, 1869-1873; in Sedalia, Mo., 1873-1874; and in Mexico from 1874 until his death in 1925. He married Angela Davalos May 9, 1838, and they had six children.

Although there are 272 Civil War widows still alive, at last count, no Union or Confederate soldiers are living.

Couple Ready With Undies

LONDON (AP) — Peter Davis and his wife collect old nylon stockings and tights — and their collection has earned them the thanks of a stream of motorists.

They live at Hockliffe, Bedfordshire, north of London, and the road outside their front door is straight and downhill.

Said Davis: "Everyone puts their foot down — and snap. The fan belt breaks!" Awakened by worried motorists who ask the way to the nearest garage — it's six miles away — the Davises produce their stockings. For the trouble is often a broken fan belt and the old stockings make a good temporary substitute. They often have five or six callers a week.

Invest Every Month

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — To John Flynn, who does a booming business in precious metal coins here, there is something quite different about the latest gold rush.

Rather than greed, it seems to indicate great fear and distrust. And judging by the crowds that daily jam their way into his shop, the gold craze has affected a wider spectrum of society than might be realized.

One man explained it succinctly. "You're a bit young and you don't remember it but I do," he said to the salesman as he prepared to buy some gold coins. "I lived through the 1920s." That was the boom that led to the bust.

"People of not very great means are worrying about their bank savings," said Flynn. "They're worried about inflation. Many of them are withdrawing their savings and buying gold coins."

If this is so it hasn't yet made any impression in the statistics. Money continues to pour into savings accounts and the widely held view is that the savings rate will rise through much of the year.

But many thousands of Americans, some of whom would feel mortified if called speculators, are buying up gold coins and probably would be hoarding gold bullion too if they were permitted by law.

"Individuals who have been buying coins lately seem to be holding them for the longer term," Flynn said. "They're just not cashing in. There is no question in my mind that they fear paper money and continuing inflation."

At midweek the price of gold at the big London market was $169.50 a troy ounce, after having been more than $10 higher a few days earlier. But six years ago the price was only $35, and last year between $80 and $100.

Heart Attack And Sex

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the title or who is the author of any book having to do with sexual relations while recuperating from a heart attack?

My doctor seemed embarrassed when I asked him about sexual relations after my coronary (heart attack). He merely said there were books on the subject. I phoned no less than 10 book stores none of which had such a book. Three said there are such books but they could not supply me without the title or name of the author.

Most people I phoned seemed reluctant even to talk about sexual relations. Is this taboo? No wonder we need some sort of education in schools. Or somewhere — M.G.

I don't know of any book on that specific topic, but there are books on sex that discuss it. About as good as one (for that purpose as well as others) is "Sexual Life After Sixty," by Isadore Rubin, Ph.D., published by Basic Books, Inc., in 1965. Check with a book store, and I trust you'll find it still in print.

Both blood pressure and pulse rate rise in the course of sexual relations, but promptly — sometimes within a matter of seconds — return to normal. As you may gather, there has been some scientific exploration of the matter.

Generally speaking (and unless there is some unusual situation involved) there is no reason why a patient cannot resume sexual relations after he has recovered from the acute attack, say in six weeks to three months.

There's this additional warning, though. The nervous tensions and anxieties of extramarital affairs are quite another matter. In such cases the tensions, worry about getting caught, and so on, last much longer, and not just for the limited time of the sexual activity itself. Prolonged tension can, indeed, be dangerous for such a patient. Or under any circumstances, if relations bring on such symptoms as chest pain, shortness of breath or undue fatigue, take it as a warning.

In advance, when wondering whether it's safe to begin, a good rule is that you can if you can climb stairs without heart symptoms of pain, palpitation or shortness of breath.

There is a good bit of unwarranted fear. One patient was merely told to avoid relations "for a month or so" after leaving the hospital. Two years later, another doctor discovered that the man was still afraid. Some experts have reported that such prolonged restraint can build up to the point of causing anal spasms.

There's much more in the Rubin book; I trust you'll get a copy and enjoy it.

And its funnyman Sam Levenson's line that "people are still marrying for better or for worse, for richer or for poorer, but not for long."

THE FELLOW who perfects a woman's purse with a zipper on the bottom likely will make a mint. Isn't that where they find everything?

The wife of many an executive is jealous of his secretary. She wouldn't have cause to be, if she knew what the employe really thinks of him.

I KNEW A fellow who looked forward to celebrating his tin wedding anniversary because he spent those five years eating out of cans. He also offered to send his mother-in-law to Lebanon to teach the guerrillas how to fight dirty.

There are drivers and there are drivers but the best one of all may

AMERICANS have a reputation, and deservedly so, for getting bored wherever they go — whether it be to the opera, Europe or to a hobby show.

They look for stimulation to come from without because they are fearful of being alone, yet they feel alienated in a crowd.

MILITARY people are prone to get bored even when they are based in what is regarded as a "paradise on earth."

Civilians plan all their lives to visit some corner of the world, only to conclude they would have been happier somewhere else. They feel the environment is to blame when in reality their unrest comes from within.

Psychologists who have studied the problem say many Americans are too fearful to become interested in another culture. That kind would look for a McDonald hamburger stand in Omsk and an English-speaking movie in Ulan Bator in hopes of overcoming ennui.

Getting Free Legal Service

How poor does an accused person have to be in order to qualify for free legal counsel? This question is arising more frequently, now that the courts have broadened the rights of the indigent to have a lawyer provided at government expense.

TO BEGIN with, he need not be absolutely penniless. Take the case of a man arrested on a felony charge. He had $100 in cash, but no other assets or income of any kind. A court ruled that he was entitled to have a lawyer appointed for him.

"It is not necessary that an accused person be utterly destitute," said one judge. "Indigence is a relative term, and must be measured in each case by the service to be furnished. It connotes a lack of resources which in the light of everyday practicalities, prevents the employment of competent counsel."

HOWEVER, a cash on hand is not the only test of poverty. In another case, a man charged with drunk driving had just $50 in his bank account. But he also had a steady job, two cars, and an equity in a house. Rejecting his demand for free counsel, the court said "it stretches the imagination" to think he could not find a private attorney ready, willing, and able to take his case.

"THE CONSTITUTION does not require," added a federal court, "that gratuitous services should be extended to persons who can afford to pay."

Suppose the accused himself is broke but has friends or relatives with money. In most cases, that won't matter. Thus:

A COLLEGE STUDENT, arrested on a charge of theft, had no financial resources. He did have a married sister who could afford to hire a lawyer for him, but she refused to do so.

The court thereupon decided that the student was entitled to have a government-paid attorney. The court reasoned that money in someone else's pocket did not make him any richer.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I don't really have a marriage, although I officially have a husband. A real marriage, I think, is where there is true friendship — an interest in each other, and a sharing of experiences. Not only is affection lacking, but he complains about most everything I do. How can one continue in such an impossible situation? M.S.

There's many a marriage partner who feels the mate is something less than ideal. Rather than resign yourself to this incompatibility, however, you can learn to adjust and accept circumstances as they are, until they change.

Once when the apostle Paul discussed a situation where women were thinking of leaving their husbands, he urged continuing the relationship. He knew that a developing adaptability might ultimately win over the problem husband (1 Cor. 7). Divorce usually appears to be the easiest way out. Often, it is the hardest, the most expensive and the least satisfying solution.

You didn't say whether you were a Christian. If you are, there is available the power of God's spirit to adapt to conditions as they are (Phil. 4:11). It's going to take that to live with a complainer, and one who does not return the companionship that you offer. Accept your husband, however, for what he is. Find good points and praise him for these.

Also, you'll need to find ways to feed yourself emotionally. In addition to the companionship of the Lord Himself, God can lead you to activities with friends or at your church — which will give you assurance within — that you are still a person loved and appreciated.

Trace Quakes In Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Far from the regions most frequently jolted by earthquakes, the University of Nebraska is setting up a seismograph. The University expects to become a part of a worldwide network of seismograph stations that locates and measures the intensity of earthquakes around the globe. Nebraska has actually had several slight earthquakes in this century, triggered largely by a Nemaha County fault.

The perfumes were created by PPL, a British fragrance supplier, and are available from Hall's shop. They are worn by both sexes.

Letter To The Editors

To My Pal the Editor:

I hope you don't mind me calling you my pal. A few days back I would have called you my friend, but now I don't know if I have a friend, in regards to this squabble over bees. I am the party involved. This is a personal matter, and I don't think other beekeepers should have to fight my battles or suffer over my problem.

Personally I think a man should stand on his own feet and not get someone else to do their dirty work for them. A bee will not sting only to protect its colony or when it is provoked or disturbed, I have kept these bees for nearly six years in the same location — how come they just now are stinging?

A Devotion-For Today . .

It is good to give thanks to the Lord, to sing praises to thy name, O Most High. (Psalm 92:1)
PRAYER: Father, we will strive to remember Thee in hours of success and give thanks. In the name of Thy Son, who remembered Thee under all circumstances and taught us to pray. Amen.

Knicks Grab Rugged Win

BOSTON (AP) — Anyone who thinks basketball is a non-contact sport has never seen the New York Knicks and Boston Celtics match muscles.

They knock heads and consider it just getting ready for the playoffs.

"It's all part of the game," veteran Bill Bradley said after his usual aggressive tactics helped the Knicks to a 108-102 National Basketball Association overtime victory over the Celtics Sunday before a packed crowd of 15,320 and a national television audience.

In Sunday's other NBA games it was Milwaukee 112,

Houston 105 in overtime; Capital 98, Cleveland 93; Phoenix 113, Kansas City-Omaha 100; Detroit 99, Portland 95; and Los Angeles 108, Golden State 104.

Between pawing, clutching and shoving Boston players — but getting called for only five personal fouls — Bradley scored 25 points. One basket put New York in front 97-96 with four seconds left in regulation time, and left the Celtics amazed.

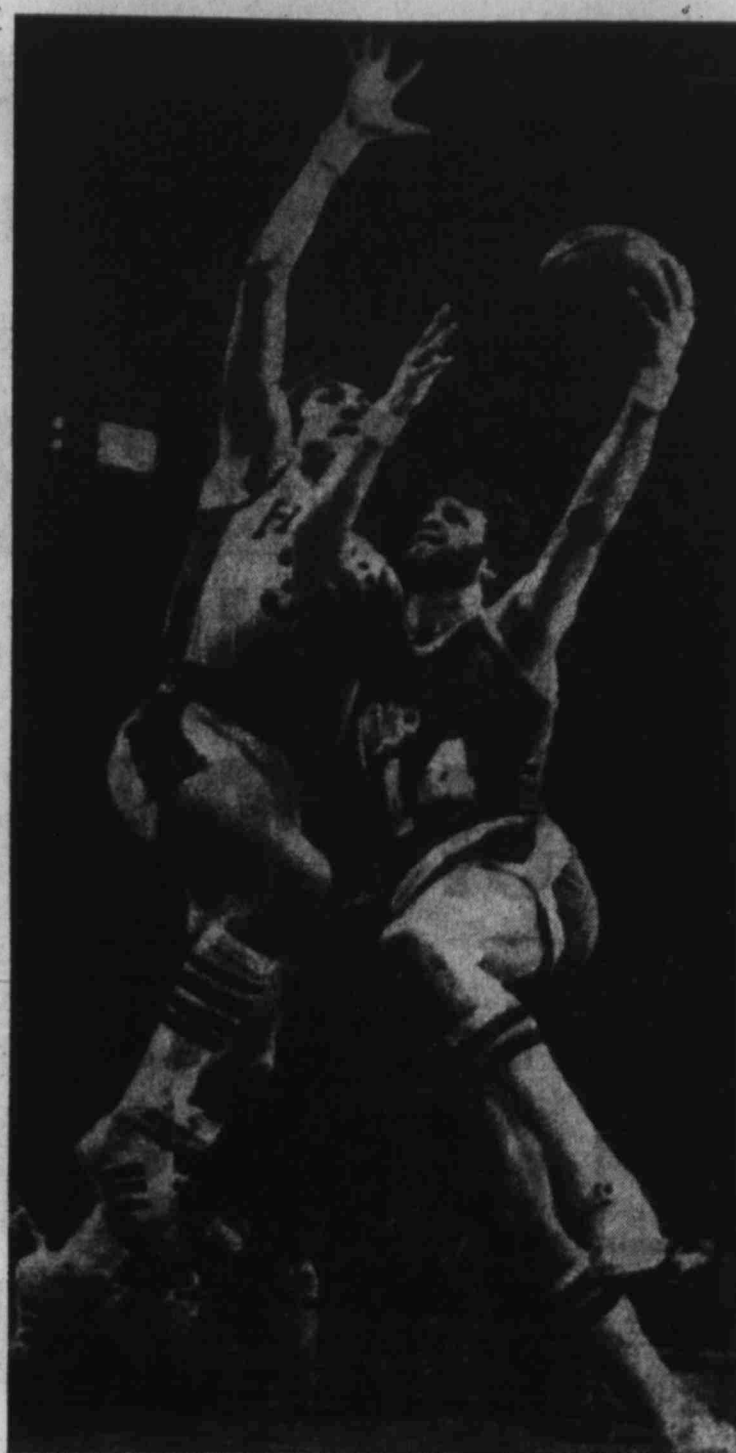

Bucks 112, Rockets 106
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 12 of his season-high 44 points in the fourth quarter to lead the Bucks back from a 10-point deficit.

Bullets 88, Cavaliers 83
The Bullets scored 11 consecutive points to pull ahead in the third period, but went without a field goal for the final 5:19. They still managed to hold off the Cavaliers.

Suns 113, Kings 100
The Suns cracked a seven-game losing streak behind Dick Van Arsdale's 23-point performance.

Pistons 99, Trail Blazers 95
Detroit's Bob Lanier scored 30 points to help the Pistons break their four-game losing streak. Dave Bing added 24 for the Pistons, who made 35 of 39 shots from the free-throw line.

Lakers 108, Warriors 104
The Lakers moved to within a half-game of the Pacific Division-leading Warriors behind Jim Price's 26 points.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

A SHOT THAT MISSED — Houston guard Mike Newlin (14) drives in for a basket but failed at his mission when Atlanta's John Wetzel (33) managed to deflect the ball in NBA action over the weekend. Atlanta won, 129-122.

HC Fems Set Home Finale

Howard College's women's basketball team plays its final home game tonight at 7 p.m. when the Hawkettes host Weatherford in the HC gym.

The HC women, who dropped a 50-35 decision to Weatherford earlier in the year, carry a 9-10 record into the tilt after winning one and losing two in action at the North Texas Invitational tournament last weekend.

Sylvia Montano threw in 24 points and Cathy Reed hit 20 as the Hawkettes ripped Richland Junior College 84-26 in their opener. Sally Echols and Kay Jones each managed eight in the win.

Baylor eliminated the Howard College crew from championship play 85-45, despite marian Hobson's 17 points. Susie Sniker hit 32 for the winners.

In a consolation game, Texas A&M spanked the locals 47-40. Montano led the Howard cagers with 16 points in the loss.

Weir, Guinn Score Wins In Local Motocross Event

Big Springers were held to just two victories, in the senior class action, in the monthly motocross races Sunday at the Hi-Noon Optimist Club Track.

Danny Weir won the 250cc run and David Guinn captured the 125cc honors to highlight the action for the locals, while San Angelo riders scored four wins.

Jessie Baker of Big Spring finished second in the junior mini-bike run, and Johnny McMurray was fourth. Brian Ferrell finished fourth in the 100cc senior action, and John Bryans took third in the 125cc junior action.

Kirk Bomer and Clay Bomer of San Angelo scored a pair of senior class victories, along with Steven Floyd and Chris Duolin from SA. Other winners included Jay Jiles of Midland, Scott Boughan of Odessa, Mike Laurens of Snyder and Craig Waterbury of El Paso.

Heard Returns To Old Form, Captures Citrus

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Heard, considered one of pro golf's brightest young stars until he began a futile, frustrating search for perfection, says he's straightened out his act on some advice from his wife.

"She's watching me hit those big hooks in the woods and she says, 'What the hell are you doing? Why don't you go back to the way you played before?'" Heard said.

He did, and the result was a front-running, three-stroke victory over Homero Blancas and Jim Jamieson Sunday in the $150,000 Citrus Open.

Heard, occasionally whistling softly to himself, fashioned a three-under-par 69 in the final round and won with a 273 total, 15 under par on the 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course and comfortably in front of Blancas and Jamieson, tied at 276.

Jamieson, playing in only his second event after returning from an injury absence, had a 67 in the bright, warm sunshine and Blancas took a 70.

South African Bobby Cole, 69, and Bob Murphy, who once got to within a single shot of the lead midway through the last round, tied at 277. Murphy had a closing 71.

The group at 278 included Lee Elder, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Bruce Crampton of Australia and Leonard Thompson, who scored his first professional victory just a week ago. Elder had a 69, Rodriguez 71, Crampton 70 and Thompson 72.

Lee Trevino matched par 72 in the last round for 284 and Arnold Palmer went to 74-278. Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller didn't play here.

Tribe Might Be For Sale

Alva T. Bonda, executive vice president of the Cleveland Indians, says the team is "not for sale" but admits he plans to meet with a racetrack owner to discuss the possible sale of the American League baseball club.

Things get a little confusing, you see, when you're a last-place team.

However, all's well at the club's Tucson, Ariz., training camp where Manager Ken Aspromonte continued to sound like a broken record Sunday.

"I hate to keep telling you guys the same thing," he said, "but I'm very pleased with the way things are going."

So is Bonda, to tell the truth, but he says that ownership by Edward J. DeBartolo, who owns shopping centers and motels as well as the racetrack, would be advantageous to the team and the club.

Longhorn Golfers Await Loop Action

AUSTIN — Big Spring Steer golfers, playing their final tournament prior to Dist. 5-AAAA competition, finished 14th in the rugged 27-team Austin Independent School District Invitational Tournament last weekend.

Arlington Heights won the meet with a 619 total, and also supplied the meet medalist, Lindy Miller, who shot a 73-74-147. Miller is the defending state champion.

Playing over the Morris Williams layout and the new 7,000 yards-plus Jimmy Clay Municipal courses soared both days of the journey. Bennett Robb led the locals with an 80-78-158 total, and his score was among the lowest in the meet.

Jimmy Stewart shot 85-83-168, for the Steers; Warren Jones managed an 89-85-174; Joe Griffith shot a first round 82 and then blew to 95 for a 177 and Bob Shaffer scored a 92-88-180.

The Dist. 5-AAAA round robin tournament begins Friday in San Angelo, with the first 18-hole round to be played at the San Angelo Country Club. Action begins at 9 a.m.

Odessa, Abilene, San Angelo and Midland will also host tournaments. The Big Spring meet will be March 22.

NINE TEAMS MAKE THE GRADE NCAA Playoff List Grows

By The Associated Press
The NCAA's postseason basketball party is getting crowded. More guests are arriving by the day and it should be a bouncy affair.

Louisville, Vanderbilt and Texas are among nine new faces in the NCAA playoffs. They made the prestigious guest list after clinching conference titles Saturday.

Louisville defeated Bradley 87-84 to win the Missouri Valley Conference championship; Vanderbilt clinched the Southeastern Conference title with a 71-69 victory over Kentucky and Texas was the winner in the Southwest Conference after beating Baylor 95-84.

In addition, New Mexico won the Western Athletic Conference championship by beating Texas-El Paso 67-55; Furman won the Southern Conference by stopping Richmond 62-60; St. Joseph's, Pa., trimmed LaSalle 76-71 to win the Middle Atlantic Conference University Division championship; San Francisco won the West Coast Athletic Conference by beating St. Mary's 80-70 and Ohio University took the Mid-American Conference with a 71-70 trimming of Bowling Green.

Long Beach State finished first in the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference race with a 76-52 victory over the University of the Pacific, but can't play in the NCAA playoffs because of recruiting violations. Los Angeles State, the No. 2 team in the PCAC, will be the representative. The runnerups beat UC-Santa Barbara 93-87 Saturday night.

The new additions bring the NCAA field to 19, leaving five more openings for certain other conference champions. Penn became the first major conference champion in the land, winning the Ivy League crown for the fifth straight year Friday night. The NCAA last week included nine independents to its 25-team affair.

Louisville, the nation's 20th-ranked team, went down to the bitter end — and then some — for the MVC-clincher. Ulysses Bridgeman made a three-point play in the closing seconds of overtime to win it.

Dave Kloubucher and Jim Caruthers made jump shots in the final 53 seconds to tie the score at 76 at the end of regulation.

Steers Battle Snyder Today

SNYDER — The Big Spring Steers, long on hitting but short on defense after their first weekend of competition, travel to Snyder today for a non-district baseball bout.

Coach Larry Horton's Longhorns, who slammed 34 hits but committed 15 errors in their first three outings, carry a 1-2 mark into the contest. The Steers beat Lubbock High 9-8 Friday in Lubbock, then dropped a doubleheader to Andrews Saturday in Steer Park 10-2 and 13-12.

On Tuesday the Steers return home for a 4:30 p.m. affair. Sophomore hurler Pat Carroll will be on the mound for the locals.

John Thomas Smith will pitch today's match with the Tigers, and Roger Battle will be behind the plate. Wayne Dickens will be at first base, and rounding out the infield will be Carroll at second, Sammy Rodriguez at short and John Morelton at third base.

Barry Canning will be in left field, Earl Reynolds is the center fielder and Lawrence Byrd will be in right field.

Two-Faced Longhorns Try Ranked Creighton Saturday

By The Associated Press
The two-faced Texas Longhorns will wear an undisputed Southwest Conference crown Saturday night in a Midwest Pre-Regional basketball tournament game against 15th-ranked Creighton at Denton.

The question is whether the Longhorns are the pre-Jan. 7 team that was 1-11 against non-SWC clubs for the high-scoring unit that finished 11-3 in league play and finished a game ahead of Texas Tech and Southern Methodist at 10-4.

SMU still had a chance to finish in a three-way tie for the title and the playoff spot against Creighton after beating the defending champion Red Raiders 78-72 on regional television Saturday.

But Texas overcame a box-and-one zone defense that held leading SWC scorer Larry Robinson to five points in the first half to defeat Baylor 95-84 and end the Mustangs' hopes.

"I'm not sure this is the best team I've had but it's come farther than any team I've had," said Texas Coach Leon Black of his team's return from the depths.

He was cautious about the Longhorns' chances in the playoffs, however. "Creighton beat Marquette at Marquette and that should tell you how good Creighton is," he said.

"We knew we would continue to stop Robinson if we used the same defense but we had no chance to win as long as (Harry) Larrabee and (Dan) Krueger were hot," said Baylor Coach Carroll Dawson.

Despite Robinson's unproductive first half, Texas led 47-44 at intermission as guards Krueger and Larrabee combined for 30 points and the Longhorns hit 67 per cent as a team. Robinson came back to finish with 20 points, while Krueger had 26 and Larrabee 22.

"Texas has all the elements for a good team," said Dawson. "They have two outstanding guards and a great inside man who is unstoppable."

Ira Terrell scored 24 points and Zack Thiel bombed in 23 for SMU, which used tough defense to keep Texas Tech out of a one-game conference playoff with Texas that would have been held Tuesday in Dallas if the Longhorns and Red Raiders both had finished 11-3.

"Our defense was really great, and I was pleased with the way we played Rich Bullock," said Mustang Coach Bob Previtt. Bullock hit 30 points but most of them came after the outcome was decided.

LIFE AFTER 65

Your Mental Health

By JACK GOURLAY

Old age is a state of mind. It is largely determined by how you feel about yourself at any point in time.

health, why not our emotional health?

All these happen sooner or later to each of us. The person with a good mental attitude is able to shake them off.

Ideally, emotional depression can be guarded against by tuning oneself to the realities of life after 65 long before one reaches that age.

It means coming to grips with the life process. Unless you are willing to do that, you will not enjoy life after 65 to its fullest.

Misfortune, disappointments or disillusionment may occur at any age. Fortunately, as we mature, we develop inner resources which help us cope with them.

Unfortunately, too many of us scoff at the idea of trying to control the emotions of a person who has lived with them out in the open for 40, 50 or 60 years.

Guidelines for developing a positive mental attitude on retirement:

We all face problems. We all feel dissatisfaction with the way things go from time to time.

Certain problems become more important as we grow older. These are brought about by changes which can be a source of worry, insecurity, a fear that life will never be the same again.

There are changes in our physical being. Changes in our adult roles. Man's work makes him feel useful. He has the respect of colleagues for a job well done.

There are changes in living arrangements. Many may find it necessary to give up their home altogether. This often means giving up independence and privacy and giving up familiar things and surroundings.

Each of these changes is a difficult one to face. Yet, most with them because they've developed the inner resources ahead of time.

1. Face reality. Accept the facts of life, make the best of them.

2. Take responsibility. Accept help when needed, but try to solve your own problems.

3. Maintain an interest in others. Don't withdraw from life.

4. Develop strong and varied interests. Share activities with others.

5. Keep up with the world around you.

6. Live in the present and look to the future, not to the past.

7. Maintain good health. Don't dwell on your aches and pains.

8. Stay neat in your appearance and keep your home in good order.

9. Relax and don't take life too seriously.

10. Adapt to change in your ideas and ways when the situation requires it.

Achieving a positive mental outlook in retirement is much the same as achieving the proper attitude in any other period of your life.

Five Steps Outlined By Sen. Bentsen

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., slapping hard at the Republican administration, says the government should take five steps to alleviate economic instability in the United States.

Bentsen, who has been mentioned prominently as a possible presidential contender in 1976, spoke at Yale University here.

In recent travels, he told his audience, "I find people worried—alarmed by runaway inflation, cynical about the administration's empty phrases—and only vaguely aware of how things came to such a pass."

People are beginning to feel "forces beyond their control have taken over our economic destiny," he said.

Included in the steps he outlined were:

—A lowering of interest rates by loosening the money supply; —Direct measures, including federal loans, a program of public-service employment and increased unemployment compensation, "to stimulate production and cushion the impact of joblessness."

—Strong investment incentives to industries; —Ensuring that enough fertilizer is available to produce record crops needed to provide adequate food at fair prices; and:

—A change in the administration's approach to economic policy. "Let us relax controls—but with deliberate speed—and not mere haste," he said.

He noted that the fuel shortage enters into the fertilizer picture and said he had cosponsored a Senate measure "urging the administration to readjust fuel priorities, which could give us an additional 300,000 tons of fertilizer this year."

Fertilizer production plants use certain chemicals whose supplies have been reduced by the energy shortage.

Bentsen said that in current circumstances, "People begin to lose confidence in the whole political and economic system—to feel overwhelmed; to imagine that forces beyond their control have taken over our economic destiny."

A TIGER IN THE TANK — Lipochka, a tiger cub, is immersed in civilian ways by getting a bath with the aid of Lydia Sarynova in the Sarynova family apartment in Alma Ata, USSR.

Lipochka's mother, a Sumatra tigress in the Alma Ata zoo, refused to carry out her maternal duties after giving birth to three cubs. Two of them died. The third, Lipochka, was given shelter by the Sarynova family.

Judge Studying Sealed Report On Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge is studying a sealed grand jury report on the Watergate cover-up and preparing to decide whether to give it to the House impeachment inquiry and also to make it public.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica could decide today what action to take on the 50-page report said to detail the grand jury's findings on possible presidential involvement in the cover-up.

PLUMBERS CASE — Meanwhile, two other Watergate grand juries were moving toward completion of their investigations.

Sources said indictments in the White House plumbers case could be returned as early as midweek.

Egil Krogh Jr., former director of the special investigations unit dubbed the plumbers, already has pleaded guilty to conspiring to violate the civil rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding, the Beverly Hills psychiatrist whose office was burglarized in 1971 in an effort to obtain information about Daniel Ellsberg.

Krogh is serving a six-month prison sentence and is cooperating with the prosecutors.

SOLICITING FUNDS — Former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman, who was Krogh's boss, rejected an offer

Midland Won't Get Houses

MIDLAND — Midland city officials were of the opinion the city had been given five homes here at a cost of $1 each by the Department of Housing and Urban Development but such is not the case.

Mayor Ernest Angelo has been informed the municipality won't be deemed the property.

Angelo said an undersecretary from HUD called him two weeks ago and told him about getting the houses. The homes were to be virtually given away free as long as the recipients repaired the places or upgraded the property.

He said the HUD official explained the homestead project was a pilot program being conducted by the federal department. Other Texas cities involved in the project were Dallas and Amarillo.

At the time of the announcement by HUD about the program, Angelo wasn't told any more about the program. So he called the Federal Housing Administration regional office in Lubbock to attempt to obtain further information.

This is when the mayor found out there are no houses in Midland which fall into the category the government was considering.

"I don't jump to conclusions on any announcements like this where the facts are not totally available. I just wait and see," the mayor said.

THEFTS

A tape player and four tape recordings were reported stolen from a vehicle parked by a men's dorm at Howard College Friday night.

Stolen from the David Baxters at 802 W. 16th St. Friday night were 10 pairs of socks, 10 towels, three t-shirts and one pair of women's pants. Police gave total value of the clothes as $41.

Four tires and four mag wheels worth around $375 together were stolen from an automobile at 102 Lancaster, police said. Jimmy Hopper is the owner.

FIRES

A short is believed to have caused a fire damaging wiring behind Ferrel's Furniture 5:05 p.m. Friday, the Big Spring Fire Department reported.

Dewayne Trausaick was named as driver of a 1965 model car which caught fire at Farm Road 700 and 11th Place at 2:03 p.m. Friday.

Fire burned wiring and hoses on the vehicle.

Belli Suspended For Advertising

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Flamboyant trial lawyer Melvin Belli has been suspended for 30 days from the practice of law in California.

The California Supreme Court ruled six to one that Belli violated state rules of professional conduct by soliciting business through advertising or other means.

The court cited, among other things, advertisements in The New York Times and New York Magazine showing Belli's picture with his endorsement of a Scotch whisky.

Bail Can Now Be Posted On Credit

CANNON BEACH, Ore. (AP) — Motorists stopped for traffic violations here now can post bail on credit.

The police department began honoring BankAmericards Friday for up to $500 in bail charges.

"People carry credit cards instead of cash," said Chief John West. "And the credit card is just as good as cash."

VANDALISM

A truck driver for Foremost Mills Friday night reported someone threw a rock through his windshield at Moss Road and IS-20.

A man estimated to be 45 years of age drove from the J Q J Shamrock service station, 2101 Gregg St., with the gasoline nozzle still in his car tank, police learned Friday night. Damage to the station was placed at $75.

A sink and plumbing in the women's rest room received $80 in damage at the Wagon Wheel Drive-In, 1609 E. 4th St., Friday night, police said.

a resolution in action. Thirty six years ago, when we first began to market petroleum products under the Shamrock brand, we made this pledge: "... to be a good neighbor in the areas in which we market and to merit the confidence and loyalty of our customers; to provide at all times modern products of the finest quality..." Also, our exploration and development programs have been expanded in the Panhandle and other areas of Texas; in Louisiana, Arkansas, Wyoming, Utah and Montana, and important new production of crude oil now is coming on stream in the Rocky Mountain area.

"To save energy and money this summer... cool your home with Gas Central Air Conditioning.

You save with a gas system because it's a more efficient energy user than its electric counterpart. It's more efficient because gas, unlike electricity, is a direct source of energy. You don't have the energy loss that occurs in electrical generation and transmission.

We help you save in another way, too. In addition to determining the exact cooling requirements of your home, our cooling specialists also check your attic insulation. If it's insufficient, insulation is added and included as part of the job. Proper insulation saves energy and money for both cooling and heating. So, beat the summer rush.

LGA Gains Members, Announces Chairmen

Mrs. Clarence Peters, president of the Ladies Golf Association, Big Spring Country Club, conducted a brief business session during the monthly luncheon Friday at the club.
 Hostesses were Mrs. George McAlister, chairman; Mrs. Jo Bright, Mrs. C. G. Griffin Jr. and Mrs. Monroe Gafford. A centerpiece for the main table, carrying out the St. Patrick's Day theme in green and white carnations and mums, was won by Mrs. Adolph Swartz. The U-shaped table arrangement featured pale pink cloths topped with darker pink burlap runners.
 New members introduced were Mrs. Helen Stewart, Mrs. Gary Turner, Mrs. Richard Terry and Mrs. Kent Morgan. Mrs. Ann McCann was a guest.
 Mrs. Pete Cook, secretary, also gave the treasurer's report which included figures on the purchase of new table cloths, yearbooks, etc. Mrs. Howard Carleton is the yearbook chairman.
 Other chairmen serving for 1974 are Mrs. Morris Rhodes, bridge; Mrs. M. A. Snell, Christmas; Mrs. Jerry Iden, Easter; Mrs. Alton Underwood and Mrs. Richard Terry, golf; Mrs. Jerry Spence, house; Mrs. Peters, La Gallinas; Mrs. Harvey Williamson, poker;

Mrs. Henry Butler, pool; Mrs. Jo Bright, publicity; Mrs. Lorin McDowell III, social; Mrs. Delnor Ross, teen; Mrs. J. D. Nelson, telephone; and Mrs. Auriel LaFond and Mrs. A. W. Rees, ways and means.
 Mrs. Underwood announced that women golfers will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Free group lessons by the club pro are slated the last two weeks in April and first two weeks in May. In early summer, there will be free lessons for juniors.
 Mrs. Peters told of a request from the club's board of directors that the LGA provide a bulletin board for the foyer, purchase a microwave oven for the kitchen and pay for the printing of a booklet on club by-laws and regulations. Mrs. Jerry Spence will check on the bulletin board, the La Gallinas bridge group will buy the microwave and Mrs. Jo Bright will obtain estimates on cost of the club booklets.
 Named to serve on a menu committee were Mrs. McAlister, Mrs. Hayes Strippling and Mrs. Morgan.
 Hostesses for the April 5 meeting will be Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass, chairman; Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. James Owens and Mrs. Omar Jones.

Mozzarella Tops Appetite Pick-Up

Chase lagging appetites away with pizza for dinner. Start with a hot roll mix, rolling it out thin to fit a 12-inch pizza pan. Combine a one pound can of drained tomatoes with one can (6 ounces) of tomato paste. Spread this over the dough and sprinkle lightly with garlic salt and oregano. Layer on one pound of thinner slices, and top with 3/2 cups of shredded mozzarella cheese. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes or until crust is golden and cheese bubbly.

Cooked Beef

For a quick dish to utilize cooked beef, take off on chili. Cube the meat and heat with tomato sauce and onions. Add chili powder to taste. Kidney beans drained and included at the end need just be heated through.

Garden City Woman Invited To Program

Miss Kathryn Luckenback, home demonstration agent for Glasscock County, presented a slide program on the use of paneling in decorating when she spoke at a recent meeting of Lees Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Lynn Glass.
 The speaker said that, for practicality, the paneling can be used with washable wallpaper and paint in any room of the home. She distributed booklets giving instructions on how to install paneling and how to blend several colors in one room.
 Mrs. Glass presided. Mrs. V. E. Phillips, who gave the council report, also asked for suggestions concerning new yearbooks.

delegate to the Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting April 4 at First Baptist Church, Stanton. The Glasscock clubs will assist with the luncheon, conduct registration and served coffee that morning.
 There will be a Family Living program and discussion of goals for the county and community at 2 p.m., Tuesday, in the Garden City Courthouse. Home demonstration club members are inviting non-members to attend in an effort to create more interest in the HD programs.
 The next club meeting will be March 12, with Mrs. Tommy Carstensen as a hostess.

For Free Spanish

The free beginner Spanish course being held at Knott Community Center has been changed to Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

The course, open to everyone, is being taught by Charles Hensley of the U.S. Border Patrol. The two-hour sessions are held every Tuesday; the second lesson being tomorrow evening.
 The main text being used is "Spanish Made Simple" by Jackson and Rubio, which sells for $1.95 plus tax. A few of these books are on hand at the center, and more have been ordered by a local newstand.
 More information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Eugene Long, 353-4532; or Mrs. Jean Roman, 353-4518.
 To get to the Knott Community Center, go north on Highway 87 about 14 miles to the Knott cut-off. Turn left and drive about 3 1/2 miles to the old Knott School gym, where the classes are being conducted.
 Because of the good response to the classes, more seating is needed. Persons who have borrowed chairs from the school are asked to return them as soon as possible.

Competition Winner At Sands School

Doris Kay Newcomer has been named Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow at Sands High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newcomer. Her faculty advisor is Mrs. Donita Cunningham.
 Miss Newcomer won the honor by competing with other seniors in a written knowledge and attitude examination and is now eligible for state and national honors. She will receive an award from General Mills Inc., sponsor of the annual educational scholarship program.

The state winners receive a $1,500 scholarship, while state second-place winners receive a grant of $500. The state winner also earns for his or her school, a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America", from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation.
 In the spring, state winners and their faculty advisors will be guests of General Mills on an expense-paid educational tour which will include Washington, D. C. and Minneapolis, Minn.

At this time, the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow will be announced, and that scholarship will be increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth place winners will receive scholarships increases to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.
 This year, 703,074 students from 14,463 schools were enrolled in the competition, which for the second year, included senior boys.
