Treasury Secretary's Resignation Accepted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon accepted with "a sense of personal regret" today the resignation of Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, effective in early May.

LAST MEMBER
Announcing the impending departure of the last member of Nixon's original cabinet to still hold federal office, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the President feels Shultz "has served with great distinction," starting as secretary of labor in 1969.

Nothing that Shultz has talked several times of a desire to return to private life, Warren said the 53-year-old economist would continue to "assume special assignments" after leaving the Treasury post he has held since June 12, 1972.

Warren described Shultz as "a pillar of this administration and this government" and said Nixon has asked him to express "our enormous respect, affection and appreciation for Secretary Shultz."

WELL REGARDED
Asked if Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who also serves as the federal energy chief, would be in line to succeed Shultz, Warren said, "I won't go down a check list of names." He added that Simon obviously is well regarded in administration circles.

Besides serving as Treasury chief, Shultz held the dual appointment of assistant to the President for economic affairs — a position he will also leave.

Shultz, 53, has become one of the two most powerful men in the Nixon administration, along with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Shultz' resignation is understood to reflect his weariness after five pressure-packed years in the administration rather than any disagreement with the Nixon administration or its policies.

Shultz was the first economist ever to serve as Treasury secretary. He has indicated he would like to return to university life after leaving the administration.

CHICAGO
He was at the University of Chicago as dean of the business school when named to serve as Secretary of Labor in Nixon's first cabinet in 1969.

He became the first director of the new Office of Management and Budget in July 1970 and served there until June 1972 when Nixon named him Secretary of the Treasury to succeed John B. Connally.

TRADE POLICY
Shultz also occupies a major role as an assistant to the President, charged with coordinating both domestic and international economic policy, and is chairman of the Council on Economic Policy.

In addition, Shultz is chairman of the East-West Trade Policy Committee whose role is to develop increased trade between the United States and the Soviet Union.

In meeting his many responsibilities, his international travel has been second only to that of Kissinger among top members of the administration.

Shultz is scheduled to travel to Santiago, Chile next month for a meeting of the Inter-American Development Bank and to Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, for a meeting of the Asian Development Bank.

CATCHING UP ON THE NEWS — As marathon talks continued today in an attempt to settle the seven-day strike of San Francisco's municipal employees, the picket took a news break on the steps of San Francisco's City Hall Wednesday to catch up on some much needed reading.

Pay Package Size Okayed By Both Sides

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto reported substantial progress today toward ending an eight-day city employees strike that has paralyzed public transportation in the area.

When eight hours of steady negotiations concluded at 4 a.m., Alioto told newsmen that both sides had agreed on the total size of a new wage package.

"Substantial movement has been made in the last two nights and we did close the money gap tonight," he said. However, the mayor said disagreement remained about whether some employees would receive a larger percentage pay increase than others.

There were reports that the strikers might try to keep Southern Pacific commuter trains from entering the city and close the port to sea traffic today if an agreement was not reached.

A spokesman for the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union said its members would not cross picket lines on city piers.

The striking Service Employees International Union wants $16 million a year in pay raises and a dental health plan. Union members now average $850 a month in jobs ranging from $581 to $1,500.

There are estimates that the strike is causing an economic loss of $20 million a day. In another labor dispute, San Francisco's 130 schools have been operating on a half-day schedule because of a strike of 2,000 members of the San Francisco Federation of Teachers.

The teachers walked out last Friday to back demands for a 15 per cent pay increase during the 1974-1975 academic year.

Some school workers also are members of the striking city workers union, and school bus drivers are honoring its picket lines.

The some 10,000 clerks, janitors, hospital workers, social workers and other civil service staff represented by the SEIU rejected on Wednesday the city's latest pay package. Terms were not disclosed.

Two Rigs Crash Close To Van

VAN, Tex. (AP) — A collision of two heavily loaded truck-trailer rigs near here in East Texas killed two men today, officers said.

Van Zandt County sheriff's officers reported the crash occurred about 4:15 a.m. while both vehicles were traveling west on Interstate 20, and the wreckage blocked that lane of the highway for several hours.

RECORD SET Spotty Rains Fall In Area

Thunder shook the first real rain of 1974 from the sky about 12:25 a.m. today.

The 1.04 inches recorded at the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station set a new record for this date.

Snow melting to 0.52 of an inch in moisture was the only other significant precipitation out of 0.72 of an inch totaled before Wednesday night.

During the first 10 minutes last night, half an inch fell, Donald W. (Bill) Fryrear, location leader, said. Slowing down, rain continued for about two hours.

SPOTTED
Ramada Inn personnel noted one and one-half inch, indicating heavy rainfall along this section of IS-20.

Webb Air Force Base discovered 0.71 in its gauge. Near Memorial Stadium, a 0.75 of an inch soaked the ground.

In Forsan, 0.25 of an inch was measured. The L. S. McDowell Ranch, 20 miles southwest of Big Spring, reported one-tenth.

Elbow counted 0.90 of an inch. Half an inch was the total inside Coahoma, and 0.70 of an inch fell five miles north of the city.

Just a trace was the amount Ackerly saw. Luther had 0.4 of an inch.

From the Colorado River Municipal Water District came these reports: Big Spring pump station northeast of city, 1.50 inches; Lake J. B. Thomas dam, 0.4 of an inch; Morgan Creek, 0.4; Moss Creek, 0.4; and Martin County pump station, 0.6.

'WELCOME'
"It sure is welcome," Bruce Griffith, county extension agent, commented.

While cotton farmers will need more rain, this moisture will help in land preparation, Griffith said. And cotton raisers will feel better, "because it hadn't forgotten how to rain."

Of ranchers, Griffith said: "It's not going to cure all their ills, either, but it will sure make some grass green."

The rain will revive some of the small grains, Griffith added.

Red Planet Data Received

MOSCOW (AP) — An unmanned Russian space probe has landed a scientific module on Mars, and the capsule has transmitted "new important data" about the red planet, Tass reported today.

It said the capsule also sent information on "near-planet cosmic space and properties of the interplanetary medium on the route of the flight."

Details were not given.

The official Soviet news agency said Mars 6, which was launched last Aug. 5, reached the vicinity of Mars on Tuesday and sent the module to the surface the same day.

Mars 7, which was launched Aug. 9, reached the vicinity of the planet a week ago, Tass said. It did not say what it has done since then, but Western experts had speculated in advance that one of the spaceships would orbit the planet to serve as a communications relay station while the other sent a capsule to the surface.

Tass said Mars 6 sent data "on parameters of the Martian atmosphere, obtained through direct measurements during the descent of the apparatus."

Agree To End Oil Embargo Against U.S.

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Arab oil producers have agreed to end their embargo against the United States, a high ranking Libyan official has reported.

Official announcement of the decision reached at a meeting of oil ministers in a Tripoli hotel Wednesday was postponed, possibly until a further meeting in Vienna on Sunday, the sources said. They explained Libya remained opposed to ending the ban and refused to permit the announcement on its territory.

Tripoli radio, in the first account of the meeting, reported that Syria had opposed lifting the embargo against the United States and said governments which proposed this were treacherous.

The broadcast made no mention of a final decision. It said that Algeria, which had been reluctant about cancelling the embargo, supported a proposal to lift it for a two-month trial period.

According to Arab sources, the embargo against the Netherlands would not be lifted.

Fuel Needs Of Airlines Oked By Energy Office

From U.S. Rep. Omar Burleson comes information indicating Texas International Airlines is in a class allowed "100 per cent of its base period requirements" for fuel.

The Federal Energy Office wrote Burleson: "Under the Mandatory Petroleum Allocation Regulations of January 15, 1974, recognition was given to the unique situation of local service air carriers."

"That class of carrier was allocated 100 per cent of its base period requirements, while

Six Innocent Pleas In Break-In Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four men pleaded innocent today to a charge stemming from the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Counsel for one of the defendants told newsmen upon entering the courthouse that he expects to call President Nixon as a defense witness.

Entering innocent pleas were G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio R. Martinez and Felipe De Diego.

They were charged with violating the civil rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding.

Former presidential aides Charles W. Colson and John D. Ehrlichman pleaded innocent to the same charge when arraigned last Saturday. The six men were indicted by a federal grand jury on March 7.

The conspiracy charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Liddy, Martinez and Barker were defendants in the original Watergate break-in trial.

Henry Rothblatt, counsel for De Diego, a Miami realtor, told newsmen he intends to subpoena "every relevant witness."

36 Persons Aboard Plane Thought Dead

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — A twin-engine chartered airplane carrying a television film crew smashed into a mountainside in the rugged eastern Sierra, killing all 36 persons aboard, officials said today.

A helicopter pilot who spotted the burning wreckage in mountainous terrain six miles east of here and landed at the scene said the Sierra Pacific Airlines Convair 440 had disintegrated.

"They were all dead," said Mike Antoniou. "All that we saw was a lot of burning. There was no apparent response to yells."

BODIES BURNED
"It was a very black night. The plane was disintegrated. The biggest part I saw was the tail section. The bodies were burned very badly."

The propeller-driven plane was chartered by Los Angeles-based Wolper Productions for filming the television series, "Primal Man."

The flight was bound for Burbank, about 200 miles south of the crash scene, when it smashed into a ridge in darkness shortly after taking off from the Bishop airport Wednesday night, officials said. A spokesman said the film crew had been in the area since Monday.

Stan Margulies, vice president of Wolper Productions, said the firm had chartered the plane to transport 31 persons from the cast and crew of "Primal Man" back home Wednesday night.

MOOCHING BEAR
Mike Gray, a Wolper spokesman, said the passengers included writer-director Dennis Azzarella, actors, stuntmen and technicians.

One of the dead actors was identified as Janos Prohaska, 51, who has played animals in a variety of roles on television and in movies. His roles included the cookie-mooching bear on the Andy Williams TV show. His son also died in the crash.

Gray said the crew had traveled to the Mammoth Mountain resort area near Bishop because a snow setting was needed to film a Siberian tiger hunt by actors made up to portray Neanderthal men.

The sequence was to be included in the third segment of the four-part series on early man's struggle for survival Gray said. The sequence was to have been shown May 2.

MYSTERY
A tiger had been rented for the filming, but Margulies said the animal was to be returned to Los Angeles by truck.

The plane hit at the 7,000-foot level of the White Mountains, which range up to 8,800 feet high, according to reports from Inyo National Forest officials, the Inyo County sheriff, the Federal Aviation Administration and the Civil Air Patrol.

The weather was clear at the time of the crash at 8:24 p.m. PDT, said the FAA.

The FAA said the cause of the crash was not known. Officials said no known distress call was made.

An airlines spokesman in Bishop said two pilots, an observer pilot, a hostess and a passenger service representative were aboard.

He's Tight With A Dollar

AUSTIN (AP) — The state comptroller should be a tight man with a dollar, and he's that man, says Hugh Edburg.

Edburg, 49, was chief clerk of the comptroller's office before resigning to run for the top job with encouragement from the incumbent, octogenarian Robert S. Calvert.

Bob Bullock, his opponent, was endorsed by the Texas AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) Tuesday, and Edburg said he was not surprised.

"I am more conservative than he is," Edburg said at a news conference Wednesday. "When I am dealing with money, I am stingy, always conservative."

Edburg defended Calvert's record but said he would not run on it.

"Now, I know Mr. Calvert may have made a few people angry during his career. But I think you will agree that, generally speaking, the office of state comptroller has been run efficiently in the past," he said.

Criticisms of Calvert, who will retire next year, have included refusal to hire women for certain jobs or blacks for most jobs. He also has been faulted for heavy delinquencies in sales tax collections.

Edburg said he would be "an equal opportunity employer" and hasten the process of getting the attorney general to file tax collection suits.

Paid Pilot Of 'Boss' Parr From Special Bank Account

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The business manager of a Duval County water district has testified he was not aware of a special bank account from which more than $184,000 was taken to pay for such things as a helicopter pilot, an irrigation system, brush killer and fertilizer.

TAX TROUBLES

Leo Sepulveda, business manager of the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District, (DCCRD) gave the testimony as a prosecution witness at the income taxes evasion trial of longtime Duval County political leader George B. Parr, 73, of San Diego is accused of evading more than $129,000 income taxes between 1966 and 1969.

Sepulveda testified he became business manager of the water district in 1967, but did not learn of the special account until 1972 when an Internal Revenue Service agent told him about it.

COUNTING CATTLEMAN

The slender Sepulveda said he suspected there was such an account, but never asked about it because, "I would have been told it was none of my business."

Sepulveda said Parr now is paid $5,000 per month to serve as legal adviser for the water district. Earlier testimony and water district bank records indicated Parr was paid $1,000 per month.

An Oklahoma rancher testified earlier Wednesday that he was paid $25,909 from water district funds, including $16,900 in 1969, while working as a helicopter pilot for Parr.

James E. Dula of Rubottom, Okla., a small town west of Ardmore, testified he used the helicopter to round up and count cattle and to spray brush killer on the Parr ranch.

Dula, a husky man with a neatly trimmed mustache, testified he did not know the money deposited to his account at the First State Bank of San Diego came from the taxpayer-financed water district.

WEED KILLER

He said he noticed the initials "D.C.C.R.D.", on the deposit slips, but said, "I thought that was some company George owned."

An examination of the bank records earlier in the trial revealed funds from the water district's special account paid more than $14,000 for fertilizer and weed killer; more than $89,000 for irrigation equipment; more than $57,000 to pay a note owed by Atlee Parr, the late brother of George B. Parr; and $3,000 was transferred to George B. Parr's bank account.

D.C. Chapa, president of the water district, testified that he did not always see the bills for items he paid for by signing water district checks.

Chapa is president of the Benavides school board and a former Duval County Commissioner.

Texas Pot Haul Huge

BASTROP, Tex. (AP) — State troopers say an overturned truck at the intersection of a private road and the Old Elgin Road in Bastrop County led to the seizure of an estimated 12,000 pounds of marijuana.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said it may be the largest haul of marijuana made by police in the state's history.

Speir said the truck and trailer overturned Wednesday morning and the driver fled.

Troopers opened the trailer to save the refrigerated cargo listed as pineapples and cabbage, Speir said. They found the marijuana behind the legal vegetables and fruit.

Son Of Industrialist Slain In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff's officers said a San Antonio friend late Wednesday night identified a man found slain on a deserted street as Roberto Ivan Arriaga, 26, of Cuernavaca, Mexico.

Authorities were told he was the son of a prominent Mexican industrialist and son-in-law of the governor in the Mexican state of Morelos.

Sheriff's Lt. Alfred Carreon said investigators learned these details:

Arriaga arrived here Monday on a trip to buy machinery for his bookbinding plant in Cuernavaca, made several business contacts Tuesday and went nightclubbing that evening. He was carrying a large sum of money.

The body turned up in a neighborhood outside the northeast edge of San Antonio. Officers later found Arriaga's car abandoned at a point seven miles from that spot.

Arriaga had been shot and run over by a car. There were several casings for .25-caliber bullets in the vehicle and some blood on a seat.

Investigators theorized Arriaga was shot inside the car, jumped out and then his slayer used the automobile to run over him.

Case With Teeth In It

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld Wednesday the life sentence assessed Kenneth Lee Patterson of Dallas in the mutilation murder of Mrs. Tiny Crossland in 1970.

The most damning testimony in the case was that of a doctor who said a mold of Patterson's teeth fit teeth marks on Mrs. Crossland's severed left breast. The right breast also was severed.

The appeals court said Patterson's constitutional rights were not violated when he was asked to permit the taking of the mold.

But two of the high court's five judges said the case should have been reversed because a policeman testified that Patterson orally admitted the slaying.

The majority said the defense could not complain about that testimony because it came in answer to a question by Patterson's lawyer.

Also, the court said, the trial judge instructed the jury to disregard the testimony.

Patterson testified that the victim was tortured. The defense objected to a prosecutor's statement in his final argument that Patterson "is degenerated to the point where he's almost... the worst of the sadistic killers, those that would eat human flesh."

The appeals court said, "... the murder was of such a brutal nature that the argument complained of, if error, is not such as to call for a reversal of this conviction."

Testimony showed Mrs. Crossland's head had almost been severed and that she suffered a skull fracture, broken ribs, a torn heart sack, a collapsed left lung and other injuries.

'Bonney's Place' Outstanding Novel

HOW FORT WORTH BECAME THE TEXAS MOST CITY. Text by Leonard Sanders, captions by Ronnie C. Tyler. Annon Carter Museum of Western Art, Fort Worth, Tex. 214 pages. $17.50.

Fort Worth actually was a military center but for such a short time that the city hardly rates the term "fort." Yet the Army activities beginning in 1849 started the town.

When the soldiers left, businessmen moved into the fort's buildings and that was the start.

It didn't amount to much for a long time. It became a stop on the trail drives and was a typical wide-open western town. But business grew. For instance, 200,000 buffalo hides moved through Fort Worth in one season, demonstrating where the buffalo went.

Even then, there was a rivalry with Dallas, resulting in a famous nickname for Fort Worth. This came about when the Dallas Herald said contemptuously that a panther slept on Fort Worth's main street.

Fort Worth citizens strangely took this as a badge of honor. Oldtimers can recall when the community proudly bore the second name of Panther City. The baseball team was called the Panthers. There were "Panther" cafes, bars and the like.

The coming of the railroads made the difference. In no time at all it was the intersection of several. It became the city for West Texas, which largely meant the city for cattlemen.

All this and much more is related in the extensive text by Leonard Sanders of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The captions for the multitude of pictures are by Ronnie C. Tyler, curator of history of the Annon Carter Museum of Western Art which published the book.—The AP (REF).

THE OILMEN. By Jay Oregon. Cordovan Press, Houston, Tex. 196 pages. $1.50 paperback.

Readers of this novel may try to draw some deadly parallels with certain regions dominated by one politician. But we warn against it.

The book is simply an imaginative story, the situations and characters larger than life as a good Texas yarn should be.

An oil well driller teams up with a strange geologist who has an oil lease. The dictatorial politician with his unofficial troops tries to keep them from drilling.

But they go ahead and their rig becomes a besieged armed camp. There is murder, conflict, treason, sex, winning over odds and final triumph.

It is an absorbing story.—The AP (REF).

BONNEY'S PLACE. By Leon Hale. Popular Library, 238 pages. 95c. paperback.

Leon Hale's hardcover "Bonney's Place" now is out in paperback, providing a wider readership for an outstanding novel.

It is about the regulars at a rural beer joint, their troubles, fears and victories.

Apparently little realized by those who would stamp out alcohol is the fact that beer joints and some lounges become clubs.

Often it is the only club the drinkers have available. They appear almost daily to talk, gossip, play pool, watch sports on television and only incidentally to drink.

Otherwise why would a man pay 50 to 55 cents for a can of beer when he can buy it at the package store for 20 cents? It is the companionship that brings many to the drinking places.

This is demonstrated in "Bonney's Place," owned by a fast-talking young fellow with charisma who is sort of a rural benefactor.

The owner, Bonney, is part crook and part saint. Into his life comes a man calling himself John Lancaster.

Lancaster is seeking to determine whether Bonney stole $15,000 from Lancaster's dying father.

Lancaster becomes so integrated in the joint's society and achieves such a friendship with Bonney that the chief problem of the novel is whether he shall destroy his close friend.

Hale is a resident of Bryan and a columnist for the Houston Post. His details demonstrate that he has been in a beer joint or two himself.—The AP (REF).

THE AMERICAN SHORT STORY. By Arthur Voss. University of Oklahoma Press, Norman. 399 pages. $7.95.

Arthur Voss of the Lake Forest (Ill.) College faculty became interested in writing this book when he discovered there was no recent critical survey of American short stories.

Voss takes the reader back almost to the beginning of the nation and ends with current writers of special note.

There are extensive discussions of such writers as Mark Twain, Bret Harte and Ernest Hemingway with lesser reviews of persons not well known to the public.

When you put a book like this together, you can only conclude that the short story is far from dead although outlets for it are in a decline which we hope will be only momentary.—The AP (REF).

Strange Voices Spur Guilty Pleas By Two Farmers

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Strange voices on a police radio led to two farmers pleading guilty to charges of alien smuggling in a federal court here, officers say.

William J. Brown, 36, and William F. Foster, 24, both of Anahuac, paid $400 fines and received six-month jail terms suspended for three years after admitting smuggling one alien on Feb. 13.

A Charlotte, Tex., constable testified Tuesday he heard a voice on his radio say, "You'd better go around that junction—there's a police car there."

"I'll have to go through the junction—I don't know any other route," a second voice replied.

Then the first voice said, "That's okay. It's just a constable."

After that, the unidentified constable started following a pickup truck and later arrested Foster.

Fuel Allocations Hike For Permian Basin Requested

AUSTIN (AP) — Saying there were similarities with the coal mining area of West Virginia, Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked the Federal Energy Office Wednesday to increase fuel allocations to the Permian Basin area of West Texas.

He said priority energy product and agriculture users are getting all the fuel they need but little is left over for others.

He estimated the general public gets 28 per cent of the total supply.

Briscoe said the great distances between home and work, combined with the small amount available to workers for their cars, had created a problem similar to that of coal miners in West Virginia.

Texans, however, have acted "selflessly during the energy crisis and have chosen to work within the system," Briscoe said.

Some West Virginia miners have threatened to strike unless adequate fuel can be obtained to get them to their jobs.

Women's Hours Decision Made

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill has struck down a state law that limits the number of hours a woman may be required to work without her consent.

He said Tuesday the 1971 statute violates the U.S. Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The Texas statute forbids an employer to require a woman to work more than nine hours a day or 54 hours a week unless she agrees to do so.

Until 1971, the law flatly prohibited such hours. But the legislature added the consent provision in an effort to comply with the civil rights law.

He said the state law denies to men "the benefits accorded women in relation to the right to refuse to work beyond certain hours and to the entitlement to overtime. Clearly, the sex discrimination attacked by the Civil Rights Act is not limited to discrimination against women."

Bandits Take $15,000, Rape Woman Employee

STAFFORD, Tex. (AP) — Five bandits took more than $15,000 and raped a woman employee during a pre-dawn raid on a supermarket in this Houston suburb today, sheriff's officers said.

Investigators gave these details:

The robbers entered the all-night store, known as Randall's No. 7, shortly after 1 a.m. After firing a single shot to emphasize they meant business, the intruders took a pistol and a shotgun away from a security guard.

They rounded up about 50 customers and employees in the store and held them at bay while gathering up the money. A Stafford policeman who unsuspectingly stepped into the place also was disarmed.

Threatening The Life Of President Charged

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A young Milwaukee, Wis., man, charged with threatening the life of President Nixon, remains in jail under $100,000 bond.

The U.S. Secret Service filed a complaint in U.S. Magistrate's Court charging Allen Lee Schwulst, 23, who authorities said was absent without leave from an Oregon army post.

According to the complaint, Schwulst said in the presence of a Secret Service agent: "I wish to state that, if given the opportunity, I would go to Washington, D.C., and kill the President myself."

Authorities said Schwulst was arrested at the San Antonio airport Tuesday as the soldier was coming into San Antonio from Guadalupe, Mexico. Schwulst appeared, Wednesday before U.S. Magistrate Frank Baskin, who set bond.

Animal Misuse In Films Issue

By BOB THOMAS, Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The cowboy fires his shotgun, and horse and Indian tumble to the ground. Is the movie stunt safe or dangerous?

"If the horse falls on its side, then it is trained and probably won't suffer any injury," says a humane official. "If the horse falls on its nose, then it has been tripped, and the animal might very well be killed."

Falling horses and other dangerous movie stunts have greatly concerned the American Humane Association for some time. Recently, the association made progress in its campaign to make movie sets safe for animals.

BILLY THE KID

Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association, issued a memorandum to film makers asking reaffirmation of "a policy of humaneness to animals." He suggested cooperation with the humane association in reaching the goal "where it can be said of every motion picture: 'No animal was

Carr-Osorio Arguments Draw To Close

DALLAS (AP) — Federal prosecutors have completed the first segment of their stock fraud case against two former high Texas officials and say they may complete all arguments by next week.

SHARP EXCHANGE

The trial before U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. recessed until Monday, but the Wednesday session was marked by a sharp exchange between U.S. Atty. Robert Malony and former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr over a controversial power-of-attorney letter.

Carr, former Texas insurance commissioner John Osorio, and Dallas businessman David Hoover are being tried for stock fraud and conspiracy in an outgrowth of the 1971 Sharpstown investigations.

The government indictment says Carr and Osorio misrepresented controlling stock from RIC International Industries, Inc. in 1969-70 and without registering it, used it to obtain cash loans from several Texas banks.

Carr, who maintains he was not involved in the RIC stock transactions, began to cross-examine government witness Gerald B. Ormand about a letter which gave Ormand and Tom Max Thomas power to act for Carr and Osorio in negotiations for a loan for the National Banker's Life Insurance Co.

"SPEECH-MAKING"

Ormand and Thomas, both former law partners of Carr and Osorio, were dismissed from the government indictment in return for their testimony.

But prosecutor Mahony objected to Carr's cross-examination and accused him of "speech-making" in front of the jury.

Judge Taylor ordered the jury out of the court as attorneys from both sides rose to join the verbal fracas.

Taylor then ruled that Carr could continue to ask about the background of the letter, but not the intent.

Under cross-examination, Ormand said Carr had never been involved in the RIC-secured loan transactions. He said Osorio had directed all such activity.

LEGEND

Ormand, who had been securities law advisor to the defendants, also said he was directed by Osorio to remove special restrictive markings on the RIC stock which indicated the stock represented controlling interest in the firm.

The government said this was part of a scheme to deceive banks into accepting the stock

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Mar. 14, 1974 7-A

as collateral. But Osorio's attorney, Emmet Colvin, told the jury that removal of the restrictive legend was "not illegal per se."

Osorio says the RIC transactions were pledges, not sales, and thus not covered by federal law.

Colvin asked Ormand if such pledges of restricted stock were illegal.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Cosden is pleased to salute our Howard County young people as they start their 37th Annual Fat Stock Show today. Livestock is one of our basic industries and we are happy to see youngsters interested in these important matters.

We feel that livestock raising is fine training for the boys and girls who are concerned in this area and that this show is a valuable teaching tool. We applaud our young people for their industry and urge you to attend the show and the big sale Saturday night.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

If Wilt Chamberlain wasn't talented, just some ordinary clod, he'd have trouble keeping all his teeth. He'd come across as the most obnoxious man in the world and people would think nothing about telling him he stinks. But Wilt happens to be one of the greatest basketball players of time — if not the greatest — and certainly the most dominant figure in the game.

The fact that he is a great athlete makes this super-ego of his less repulsive, you see. And actually, it even enhances his personality so that his book, "Wilt, Just Like Any Other 7-Foot Black Millionaire Who Lives Next Door," is one of the best-selling sports novels around today.

He obviously doesn't sport the thing with his writing. At times, "Wilt" is a good book. It would be hard for a guy like Chamberlain to go through life — his high school days, college recruiting, Globetrotter times, pro years, etc. — without doing something interesting.

But his first literary effort is so full of contradictions, poor philosophy and just plain bragging that it's really tough to finish. The guy uses more statistics than a computer, almost all of them telling the reader about Wilt and about how poor his teammates did most of the time.

After a while, one wonders if Wilt is really the "immensely self-assured human being" the book's cover says he is. It's like he's trying to convince his readers, from page one to 310, that he is truly the greatest.

Wilt claims to be a very persecuted person, and maybe he is. Most celebrities have it tough, I'd imagine. But Chamberlain feels he especially has been a victim of the press over the years and you get the impression from the big guy throughout his book that every writer is jealous of him, and therefore out to get him.

The thing that really stands out though, from start to finish in "Wilt" is the endless contradiction. He said that Jerry West really wasn't "Mr. Clutch," as he had been billed, and moments later he casually mentions how West won a game in the final seconds with a field goal or free throws. Several times he tells about West's bad games — he seems to make a point of them — and then he puts West on his greatest all-time cage team.

Chamberlain scoffs at a home court advantage in the playoffs, saying it really doesn't matter, and on the same page he describes how his Los Angeles team beat Chicago in seven games — each team winning all its home games. He tells how Milwaukee beat Los Angeles 85-84 and he didn't take a single shot from the field, yet Gail Goodrich "had an easy 20-footer in the final seconds and blew it."

An easy 20-footer? Wilt's mind shifts with the wind.

Curiously, though, he has some interesting personal observations in the book on things other than basketball even if the cage portion of the book is lacking drastically. He says what he thinks, which I can admire, and he talks about supporting President Nixon in 1968, on sex, on his million dollar house, and on being black:

"Once I was rooting for a black distance runner, then I got ashamed and wondered why... I was rooting for him just because he was black. That was wrong. Besides, I'm not really black myself. I'm kind of brown or bronze or copper-colored. And whites aren't really white. So why get all hung up in the color thing? It's just a lazy habit. It's easier to pin labels on people than it is to dig down beneath that superficial level and try to understand people."

Aaron Homers In 9-8 Victory Over Houston

By The Associated Press

Spring training appears to be progressing normally for Henry Aaron. He hit a home run in his second at-bat of the exhibition baseball season.

Aaron struck out in his only appearance against the New York Yankees Tuesday, but powered a James Rodney Richard pitch over the left field wall for two runs in the first inning of Atlanta's 9-8 victory Wednesday.

Just one regular-season homer short of the year's best publicized record, Aaron also had a single in two other trips to the plate Wednesday before leaving in the fifth inning. Officially, he still trails Babe Ruth's record of 714 home runs. The Braves won the game in the ninth when Mike Lum walked with the bases loaded. Darrell Evans added a two-run home run and Ron Swoboda had a pair of hits and one run batted in.

Cliff Johnson stroked three hits and drove in two runs for Houston, while catcher John Edwards had two hits and two runs batted in.

In other exhibition games, the Cincinnati Reds topped the Chicago White Sox 3-1; the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4; the Montreal Expos dropped the New York Mets 4-3; the Detroit Tigers downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2, and the Chicago Cubs clipped the San Francisco Giants 9-6.

Also, the San Diego Padres stopped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4; the New York Yankees bombed the Baltimore Orioles 18-3 in eight innings; the Boston Red Sox dropped the Minnesota Twins 7-2; the Kansas City Royals pounded the Texas Rangers 12-1, and the California Angels defeated the Oakland A's 7-2.

Indications are that the hitters are still ahead of the pitchers, as home runs figured prominently in the outcome of four other games.

Ted Sizemore and Ken Reitz connected in the Cardinals' victory over Los Angeles, although Jim Wynn had given the Dodgers a 4-3 lead in the sixth inning.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Both cheered and chastised, the first College Commissioners Association basketball tourney gets underway tonight at the cavernous, 19,000-seat Arena with two games.

Whereas the coach of 10th-ranked Indiana called the post-season test "a waste of time," the director of Southern Cal's 13th-ranked forces is an unabashed fan.

"The tournament is for runners-up," Indiana's 34-year-old Bobby Knight said after his Hoosiers fell to 12th-ranked Michigan in the Big Ten conference playoffs this week.

"We're not runners-up," the fiery Knight insisted. "We're co-champions of the Big Ten and deserving of something better."

Knight's tirade against his squad's appearance in the eight-team CCA could generate interest, however, within a field liberally sprinkled with strong quitters.

USC's Bob Boyd, whose Trojans were crushed last week by UCLA, labels the test "the start of a new season."

"We look forward to the tournament," says Boyd, whose team, 22-4, will take on Southern Methodist, 15-11, a title darkhorse, in the second game of tonight's first round.

In the opening contest, fast-moving Arizona State, 18-8, is rated "as good as we have

NFL Awaits Negotiations On Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Minimum salaries ranging between $30,000 to $40,000, a Super Bowl winner's check of $25,000, freedom for veteran players to move from team to team and increased pension and insurance benefits.

Those were among the proposals suggested by the National Football League Players Association to its members in a confidential memo sent in preparation for contract negotiations with owners beginning Saturday.

The memo, described as a working paper for internal discussion only, spells out recommendations to be considered for increases in pre-season and post-season games, changes in the standard player contract, increases in meal, moving and travel allowances and improvements in pension, insurance and disability plans.

Ed Garvey, NFLPA executive director who wrote the seven-page memo, released a statement through his office in which he said the paper "is not final, in any sense, but will give the public some idea of the demands which are being sought by the Players Association."

The NFL players and owners meet in Washington Saturday to begin negotiations over a new contract, which expired Jan. 31.

In New York, John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, the counterpart of the players' union, would not have any comment on the Garvey paper except to say, "I have seen the memo, I am aware of it."

AP'S CAGE HONOR SQUAD ANNOUNCED

Walton Tops All-America

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Walton and David Thompson, the premier players on two of America's premier teams, were named today to the Associated Press All-America basketball team for 1974.

Walton, UCLA's golden center, and the graceful Thompson from North Carolina State scored big in the voting by sports writers and broadcasters from around the country.

Joining Walton and Thompson on the AP's glamour team are UCLA's Keith Wilkes, John Shumate of Notre Dame and Providence's Marvin Barnes. Walton, the most publicized collegian since the days of Lew Alcindor, made the star-studded team for the third straight year. Thompson, often termed the best forward in the country and a sure-fire professional star, was voted on the first team for the second straight season, his junior year.

Wilkes, one of the smartest and smoothest forwards in the country, was on the AP's Second Team last season. Barnes, the nation's leading rebounder with almost 19 a game this year, was an Honorable Mention last year. This is a first-time for Shumate, the big wheel in Notre Dame's high-powered offense.

Walton and Thompson, darlings of the professional scouts, were also darlings of the voters. With Walton polling the most votes, the two front court players scored by a wide margin over Shumate, the third-best vote-getter. Wilkes outscored Barnes by an eyelash.

Walton, sometimes as mystifying as he is celebrated, was a tower of strength for the powerful Bruins this year. Despite a gimpy knee, UCLA's most famous cripple helped the Bruins run their spectacular winning streak to 88 games halfway through the season. Even when losing to Notre Dame in the streakbreaker, he played with injury — and played well.

Thompson, the only non-senior on the first team, was played to a standstill by Wilkes earlier in the season when UCLA beat North Carolina State in their "game of the year." But the flashy forward came back from that performance with All-America class.

The high-leaping Thompson, easily the best player in the Atlantic Coast Conference, brought the "Pack back from that disastrous showing against UCLA to the top of the college basketball world.

Wilkes, termed "Silk" for his poetic grace, breathed fresh life into UCLA after the Bruins' inexplicable, two-game losing streak at Oregon and Oregon State. Shumate, a muscular center with a great outside shot, led Notre Dame's resurgence this season. And Barnes, a workhorse under the basket, was the primary reason for Providence's berth in the NCAA playoffs.

The AP's Second Team consists of Maryland's John Lucas; Larry Fogle of Canisius; North Carolina's Bobby Jones; Len Elmore of Maryland, and Billy Knight of Pitt.

The third team: Dennis Duval of Syracuse; Tom McMillen of Maryland; Hawaii's Tom Henderson; North Carolina State's Tom Burleson and Campy Russell of Michigan.

Cage Playoffs In 2nd Round

By The Associated Press

The heavyweights come out fighting tonight in Round Two of the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Sixteen of the nation's best college teams, including that old smoothie UCLA, will battle toe-to-toe in arenas across the country.

UCLA, nine-time winner of the national championship, is favored to score a knockout over Dayton's muscled independent in one of the Far West regional games.

In the other one at Tucson, Ariz., it's Western Athletic Conference winner New Mexico State vs. San Francisco, king of the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Kansas, the Big Eight champion, meets independent toughie Creighton, while Missouri Valley Conference champ Louisville takes on Oral Roberts, another nonleague team with punch, in the Midwest in Tulsa, Okla.

In the Mideast at Tuscaloosa, Ala., independent Notre Dame faces Michigan, the Big Ten winner, and independent Marquette challenges Vanderbilt, winner of the Southeastern Conference.

The East regionals at Raleigh, N. C., matches independent Pitt against Southern Conference champion Furman and independent Providence with North Carolina State, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion.

While many of the other teams played first-round games last Saturday, UCLA and North Carolina State were busy settling their own conference races. The Pac-8 and ACC traditionally draw first-round byes in the playoffs.

Michigan and Indiana tied for the Big Ten title at the end of the regular season Saturday and the Wolverines won an NCAA berth by beating the Hoosiers in a playoff game Monday night.

Dayton will be an interesting test for UCLA, a team that obviously is not the super team of past years. The third-ranked Bruins have been beaten three times this season, the first time that's happened in eight years.

Hiking, Riding Important To UCLA's Superstar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Hey, Kareem, how'd you like to go hiking with me next Sunday?"

"Yeah? Where you going?"

"The mountains. I ride my bike over and we start at about 5 a.m. and..."

"Hold on. Forget it. I don't roll over 'til 5."

The conversation preceded an interview and took place one Sunday six months ago over a breakfast of bagels, lox and cream cheese, "Jewish soul food," as host Sam Gilbert calls it. The hiker was Bill Walton; the non-hiker was Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

That, in a nutshell, is the prime reason Walton may wind up not playing professional basketball. The 21-year-old UCLA center likes his life just as it is, replete with bicycles, backpacks and blue jeans.

"People don't seem to understand Bill," said Gilbert, Walton's longtime friend, adviser and the man who'll likely negotiate Walton's pro contract after the end of this season if he seeks one.

Gilbert said he's upset that some sports writers and broadcasters berate Walton because of the player's "demands" that he play only on the West Coast.

"What Bill said was that he'd like to play his pro basketball in a warm climate and if it didn't work out that way it would be fine with him because he liked his hiking and bicycling better than basketball. Bill has never made a single demand to anyone in the National Basketball Association — and he doesn't owe the NBA anything either," said Gilbert, a wealthy construction executive.

"Bill loves the mountains and hiking. I own a house with six bedrooms up in the mountains and when Bill goes up there with my family, he takes his sleeping bag and sleeps outside under the stars — even when it's near freezing. He owns an expensive bicycle and he doesn't really care about whether he signs a giant-sized pro contract."

Net Squad To Andrews

ANDREWS — The Big Spring Steer tennis team will be among the favorites this weekend in the Andrews Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Host Andrews and the Longhorn netters are expected to battle for the honors in the field that includes Kermit Snyder, Monahan's, Fort Stockton and Pecos. Action begins at 10 a.m. Friday, and resumes on Saturday at 9 a.m. on Andrews High School and junior high courts.

Both Randy Mattingley and Judy Jordan of Big Spring will be the top singles seeds in the tournament.

Play Opens Today In WT March Of Dimes Tourney

The West Texas Men's Championship March of Dimes Basketball Tournament gets underway tonight and runs through Saturday at the Howard City gym.

Six local clubs plus powerful Lowake Inn of San Angelo and Nickel Chrysler-Plymouth of Midland make up the field, and action gets under way at 6:15 p.m. tonight in first round play.

The Big Spring Civitan Club and First Federal Savings and Loan collide in the opener, while Cabot and Nickel meet at 7:35 p.m. State National goes against Lowake Inn at 8:55 and Walker Auto Parts meets the Big Spring New Car Dealers Association in the 10:15 p.m. finale.

Play resumes on Friday and Saturday at 6:15. Finals are set for 8:55 p.m. Saturday, with a 7:35 p.m. third place tilt preceding the feature match.

Lowake Inn is the San Angelo city champion, and the team also participated in the state YMCA meet this year. The team includes several ex-Angelo State University cagers, Philip Ned, Charlie Williams, Mickey Pierce and Willie Hill.

Walker Auto Parts won the Big Spring Invitational Tournament, and the local squad, composed mainly of Webb AFB cagers, will be the main challenger for the SA entry, along with the Civitans.

Nickel won the Odessa Industrial League, and the team has been one of the best in West Texas for several years.

Victim Tapes Own Murder

SEATTLE (AP) — The jury in a first-degree murder trial has heard what the prosecution says was the victim's own tape recording of his death.

"God, Dave Smith, don't. No, no, don't. Please don't," said the voice identified by the prosecution on Wednesday as that of Nicholas Kyreacos.

Two sounds similar to gunshots followed immediately and then the tape became muffled.

Dave Smith is charged with the Nov. 20 slaying of Kyreacos, a waiter, in a downtown alley. Smith was fired from his police detective job following the incident.

The tape was found in a tape recorder concealed in Kyreacos' clothes.

Defense lawyers for Smith had asked that the jury not be allowed to hear the recording because it was made without the knowledge of both parties, contrary to state law.

Saying that it was probably the first time a victim has tape recorded his own death, King County Superior Court Judge David Hunter ruled the legislature did not intend the tape law "to cover a situation such as we have here."

ANY THOUGHT OF GENUINE MASSAGE QUICKLY VANISHES 'What'll It Be?' Asks Blonde In Parlor

By JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writer

RENNER, Tex. (AP) — Step into one of the several mobile home massage parlors here and all thoughts of a massage vanish in the twinkling of a false eyelash.

EASY TO SEE
It's easy to see through the sheer negligees that this is no athletic club reeking with sweat and steamy baths. But you really didn't visit a massage parlor for a massage, anyway, did you?

"Hi," says a young woman with long blonde hair. She's half-stretched on a couch, a ruffled peignoir foaming at her knees.

Across the room of this "massage parlor" is a beautiful, smoky brunette. She feigns little interest. A coquette?

No chance.

"What'll it be?" asks the blonde. Two other young women similarly attired are fixing pizzas.

"A massage."

"How you want it?"

WANT A SWITCH

Under the circumstances, a question like that is enough to render one speechless. "I mean," she explains, "you want a switch massage." This means for $25 she massages you for 15 minutes and you massage her for 15 minutes. Of course, it also means, you don't get a Turkish towel. Everything is done "Au Naturel."

The work room is a sparsely furnished bedroom of the mobile home, a red light accenting the massage table. Once you reach this plateau they enumerate a list of sexual delights ranging up to $75 or more. A polite, "No, thanks," doesn't leave the girls grief-stricken. They've already collected at least $20 for the so-called "massage."

Wayne Posey, head of the Dallas Police Department's metro squad, says his men have raided four such establishments in Dallas County in a month.

But the ones located just inside Collin County which joins Dallas County to the north apparently have escape notice from county authorities.

RUNNING THE COUNTY

"Is Renner in Collin County?" asked Collin County Judge W.G. Proctor. "Well, I don't know anything about that. That's the sheriff's business. I've got more important things to do, running the county."

State police, who have made other such raids in Collin County," asked Collin County Judge Sheriff George Smith at the time was in Washington and unavailable for comment. Dist.

Court Judge Tom Ryan, however, quietly ordered an investigation of massage parlors in the county.

"A lot of the massage parlor problem has spilled into Collin County," Posey said. "We're staying after them here, but I don't know what they're doing in Collin County."

In addition to about $7,700 cash, the robbers took a diamond ring and a gold watch valued at $3,000 each and an emerald ring worth $4,500, officers said.

"Narcotics go hand in glove with these operations. We're trying to determine right now if there is a circuit on which these girls move," one investigator said.

Bandits Nab Gems, Cash

DALLAS (AP) — Two holdup men took nearly $20,000 in cash and jewelry from the owner of a truck sales firm and his son Wednesday, the victims told police.

Ector V. Thompson, 46, and his son Vaughn, 23, were forced to surrender the valuables at gunpoint. Both were left handcuffed to a bed along with an employee, Santos Flores, 21.

In addition to about $7,700 cash, the robbers took a diamond ring and a gold watch valued at $3,000 each and an emerald ring worth $4,500, officers said.

The victims told police each of the bandits produced a pistol after they appeared and asked to look at a truck they wanted to buy. They fled in a stolen car that was abandoned later.

STEEL COMPANY SAYS: Ahead Of Schedule In Efforts To Supply Pipe

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Steel Co. says its program to supply enough tubing for completion of a wildcat oil well a day to pipe-short drillers is ahead of schedule.

The company said drillers completed 66 producing wells in 60 days after it offered to supply wildcaters with no other source of pipe.

DRY HOLE

Lack of pipe has hampered recent efforts to increase oil production in the United States. Besides pipe for the 66 wells completed, the firm's list showed pipe supplied for 71 dry holes and 139 wells not yet heard from.

Industry representatives consider recent success rates of wildcat wells exceptionally high, a spokesman for Lone Star said. Normally oilmen drill eight to 10 dry holes for each strike.

B.C. Robertson of Lone Star said the 276 allocations to wildcaters included both surface casing and full string to finish the well, adding that most of the 66 completions already have their full string set.

Lone Star's ability to allocate pipe for the 276 wells in the first quarter far exceeded earlier expectations, Walter T. Moreland, senior vice president, said.

TEXAS TOPS

The company estimated when the program was announced in January that it would be the second quarter before the goal of supplying a completed well a day could be reached.

Lone Star said allocations went to 12 states, with Texas topping the list followed by Kansas and Oklahoma.

Drillers with a state drilling permit who have no other source of supply are eligible for the pipe. The agreement requires drillers to notify Lone Star in the event of a dry hole so the pipe can be transferred to another well.

Most of Lone Star's production is oil field tubular goods.

Local Officers Plan For School

Lt. Jim McCain and Sgt. Tom Belshe will attend a Police Instructor's School for advanced Law Enforcement Officers in Midland.

The course, entitled, Techniques of Group Instruction, will be conducted March 18, through March 22. Field Representatives from the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education will present the course.

Funds will be provided by the National Highway Traffic Safety Commission.

Prices Effect Oil Drilling

Higher crude oil prices are having a sharp effect on drilling activities. The March 11 report of the International Association of Drilling Contractors showed 1,373 rotary rigs turning. A year ago the figure was 1,063, or some 20 per cent less. The total was up 22 from the same date a month ago. As might be expected, Texas led the pack with 453 rigs going, a gain of 102 from a year ago.

Lamesa To Host IS 27 Meeting

LAMESA — The second of six meetings to gauge public sentiment for the routing of the proposed Interstate Highway 27 will be conducted in the Forrest Park Community Center at 7 o'clock here this evening.

The Texas Highway Department will study all proposed routes and refer the data to Congress no later than next Jan. 1, where a decision will be reached on which of ten interstate projects across the nation will be undertaken first.

At a meeting held earlier this week in Lubbock, the following routes were suggested:

- I-27 to follow US 87 through Lamesa, Big Spring, San Angelo, Eden and Menard and join I-10 at Junction.
- I-27 to follow US 84 through Slaton, Post, Snyder and Roscoe then join I-20 through Abilene and following existing routes through Coleman, Cross Plains, Brownwood, Goldthwaite, Lampasas and Austin, then joining I-10 at Columbus.
- I-27 to follow US 84 through Slaton, Snyder and Sweetwater, then traverse open country through Ballinger, Brady and Llano to Austin, then continuing through to Columbus.

• I-27 to follow US 84 to Snyder then swing south through Colorado City, Robert Lee and San Angelo and link with I-10 at Junction.

The meeting in Lamesa is expected to draw mostly the representatives of area cities who support the US 87 routing, including a delegation from Big Spring.

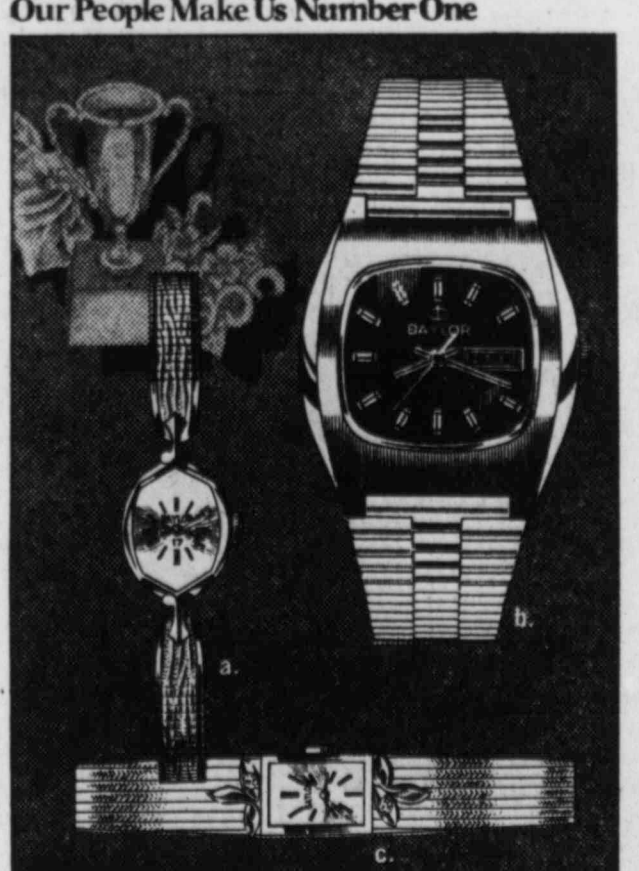

The Lubbock meeting drew 180 persons representing 23 Texas towns and included proponents of all four routes.

The four other meetings scheduled include:
—Snyder, Monday at 7 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum
—Big Spring, Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Howard County Junior College auditorium.
—Abilene, March 22, at 7 p.m. in Abilene Civic Center.
—San Angelo, March 27, at 7 p.m. in City auditorium.

APPLE PIE WITH NEW FLAVOR

How Do You Win Blue Ribbons? The Secret Is 'Easy As Pie'

"As easy as pie," says the Oxford English Dictionary, came into use in the United States about 1912. This surely meant as easy as eating pie, for those pies were far from easy to make. A good many of the bakers in those days used butter or lard they'd churned or rendered; fruit they'd grown; milk and cream from their own cows. Spices, such as nutmeg, which was liberally used for its intriguing aroma, were sometimes the only "store-boughten" ingredients used in a pie fifty years ago.

Today, the making of a pie is as easy as the eating with convenience mixes. And it's just as easy to turn convenience products into pies that are distinctively your own creations — by giving them a dash of old-fashioned spice. Pies for entertaining can be made one-two-three by the following recipes. Spiced Marshmallow Coconut pie is holiday pie which starts with commercial egg nog and becomes special when given a fragrant bit of nutmeg. As a matter of fact, nutmeg — and its sister-spice, mace — have been pie spices for centuries.

SPICED PINEAPPLE CHEESECAKE PIE

8-ounce package cream cheese
¾ cup commercial sour cream
1 tsp. ground nutmeg
½ cup sugar
2 cans (8-¾ oz. each) crushed pineapple, drained
Spiced Graham cracker crust

6 each, red and green maraschino cherries
Soften cream cheese and blend with sour cream. Mix nutmeg with sugar and add to cheese and sour cream. Reserve ½ cup undrained pineapple for later use. Add remaining pineapple to cheese mixture. Turn into a previously prepared Graham cracker crust. Freeze until firm and ready to serve. Remove from freezer 30 minutes before serving. Cut into wedges and top each serving with a rounded tablespoon of the reserved crushed pineapple. Garnish with red and green maraschino cherries. Makes one pie.

SPICED GRAHAM CRACKER PIE CRUST

1 cup fine Graham cracker crumbs
¼ tsp. ground nutmeg
2 tbs. sugar
3 tbs. butter or margarine, melted
Combine all ingredients. Turn into a buttered 9-inch pie plate. Press firmly over bottom and sides. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 8 minutes. Cool.

SPICED MARSHMALLOW COCONUT PIE

½ lb. marshmallows
1 cup commercial prepared egg nog
½ tsp. pure vanilla extract
1 tsp. ground nutmeg
1-½ cups heavy cream
3-½ ounce package flaked coconut
Lady fingers
1 tbs. sugar
½ tsp. pure vanilla extract
Heat marshmallows, egg nog, vanilla and nutmeg together until marshmallows are melted. Chill in a bowl of ice water until egg nog begins to thicken. Do not stir. Beat 1 cup of the cream until stiff and fold into the mixture along with ½ cup of the coconut. Turn into a buttered 9-inch pie plate lined with split lady fingers. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Just before serving, add sugar and vanilla extract to remaining ½ cup cream. Beat until it stands in soft peaks. Spread over pie as desired. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Makes one pie.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE

1 (9-inch) baked pastry shell, cooled OR graham cracker crumb crust
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup cocoa
1 cup water
½ cup cold water
1 tbs. lemon juice
½ cup nonfat milk, dry form
In saucepan, combine gelatin and sugar. Add cocoa and 1 cup water. Place over low heat; stir constantly for 5 minutes or until gelatin and sugar are dissolved and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat. Set aside.
In small electric mixer bowl, combine ½ cup cold water, lemon juice and nonfat dry milk. Beat at high speed on electric mixer about 6 minutes, or until stiff. Pour dissolved gelatin mixture into deep mixing bowl. Place bowl over ice water. Stir until mixture is cooled and syrupy. Remove bowl from ice water. Beat mixture with rotary beater until very foamy. Fold whipped nonfat dry milk into beaten gelatin mixture.
Turn into crust. Chill in refrigerator about 2-3 hours or until set. If desired, garnish with a dditional whipped nonfat dry milk and chocolate curls.

ORANGE CHIFFON PIE

1 (9-inch) graham cracker crumb crust or baked pastry shell, cooled
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 tbs. sugar
¼ cup water
1 (6-oz.) can frozen orange juice concentrate, defrosted
½ cup cold water
1 tbs. lemon juice
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk, dry form
In saucepan, combine gelatin and sugar. Add ¼ cup water and the orange juice concentrate. Place over low heat; stir constantly for 5 minutes or until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat. Set aside.

In small electric mixer bowl, combine ½ cup cold water, lemon juice and nonfat dry milk. Beat at high speed on electric mixer about 6 minutes, or until stiff. Pour dissolved gelatin mixture into deep mixing bowl. Place bowl over ice water. Stir until mixture is cooled and syrupy. Remove bowl from ice water. Beat mixture with rotary beater until very foamy. Fold whipped nonfat dry milk into beaten gelatin mixture. Turn into crust. Chill in refrigerator about 2-3 hours, or until set. If desired, garnish with orange sections.

SPICY MAPLE-FLAVORED APPLE PIE

¼ cup maple-flavored syrup
½ cup sugar
2 tbs. quick-cooking tapioca
1 tbs. lemon juice
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. cloves
¼ tsp. allspice
¼ tsp. salt
6 cups sliced apples (about

6 apples)
Pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie
2 tbs. butter or margarine
Combine syrup, sugar, tapioca, lemon juice, spices and salt in a large bowl. Stir in apples; let stand 15 minutes. Roll half the pastry very thin (less than ¼ inch thick).

Line 9-inch pie pan. Trim pastry at edge ½ inch beyond rim of pie pan. Roll out remaining pastry very thin. Cut in 10 strips ½ inch wide and 10 inches long. Fill bottom crust with apple mixture. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of bottom crust. Weave pastry strips over filling; flute edges.
Bake at 425 degrees for about 1 hour. Cool before cutting.
NOTE: For a crisp, golden-glazed top crust, bake 40 minutes; then brush with 2 tablespoons maple-flavored syrup and continue baking.

Elegant Eggplant Offers Variety

Elegant eggplant is good so many ways. It's delicious baked or broiled, scalloped, topped with cheese, with creamed mushrooms, with sour cream, or tomato. Eggplants are such a beautiful shape and color that they can well be the keynote in a centerpiece of fresh vegetables for the dinner party table.

Where did eggplant come from originally? It had two centers of origin, the first in subtropical India and the second in China. Now that fresh eggplant is in such good supply at your market, enjoy it in your favorite ways.

Threat To Road Funds

For the sake of the chances of approval of the document as a whole, it is hoped that the Constitutional Convention will reverse a Finance Committee report which has the effect in a new constitution of choking the gasoline-tax dedication principle.

After repeated efforts to overturn the constitutional provision which dedicates three-fourths of the five-cents fuel tax for sole use in building and maintaining highways, the panel then turned around and adopted (13-7) a provision which would in effect turn any new gasoline tax into the general fund. The result of this would be one of two things. Either, as a practical matter, it will freeze the gasoline tax where it is, or it will open a Pandora's box of successive gasoline tax increases unrelated to highway improvement.

Veteran Sen. A. M. Akin said bluntly that the people of Texas won't pay any more gasoline tax if it goes into the general fund. We wished we shared the senator's view, for while we recognize that the people won't like it if a new tax levy on gasoline goes for something other than roads, experience has shown that the legislature just might levy it anyhow. Once the solons got a taste of what they felt was an easy and relatively painless touch, the temptation would be there to raise the tax again and again.

But, if we are to assume that no additional gasoline tax would ever be levied, then we face the prospect not of a frozen tax, but a possible receding source of revenue. The Motor Fuels

Division of the Comptroller's office reported that in January for the first time in years the revenue from gasoline taxes dropped by more than a quarter of a million dollars. If this holds level or accelerates in the face of a fuel shortage or a switch to smaller gasoline-stretching cars, then the highway department will be crippled severely. There would be no way out of the dilemma if the Finance Committee diversion is permitted to stand.

Reading And Riding

As the old saying goes, it takes more than a single robin to make the spring, and so it likewise takes more than something that happens in a single city to set a trend.

Nevertheless, out in Oregon, library authorities say they have noted an increase in the demand for books as the gasoline situation had worsened.

Jumping at an unclear conclusion, one would assume that instead of joyriding, the people in that state are tending to spend evenings cuddled up with a good book.

Emily Dickinson once wrote in a poem that "there is no frigate like a book to take us lands away."

That may be true, but we doubt that too many in this motive age will accept it literally. Although we wish they would.

Why Change It?

Around The Rim
Marj Carpenter

After all of the years it took to tame the wilds a little bit, the government is talking about trying to make our wilds wilder.

We're talking about Big Bend National Park. Rene Brown brought up at the local chamber board meeting that the Department of the Interior is considering designating most of the park as a wilderness area. That sounds nice, but look at it a little closer.

BROWN POINTED out that the West Texas chamber is against it and suggested that the local board needs to feel the same way.

It sounds nice and conservative and full of environmental protection but in essence it means you can only go into the area by foot and horseback.

Now if there's one thing that Big Bend Park is... is its Big. And it would take months to go through on foot and horseback. If you take the wrong turn, it might take years.

Designating part of the desert area might be fine but to throw in the Chisos Basin, where a lot of time, effort and money has been spent making it a tourist attraction, would be ridiculous.

I sat there at that meeting thinking that somebody needs to get Ladybird Johnson on the side against the wilderness. Now I realize she's a strong backer of protecting the wilderness, hiding the junk yards and jerking down the billboards.

BUT IT SHE'LL really remember with honesty her trip to the Big Bend and the trip on rafts down the Rio Grande in 1966, she'll know that she could not have done it had it been a wilderness area.

Because the then-First-Lady of the land and the press that was lucky enough to get to make the trip, would not have ever made it on foot or horseback.

I was the only small town reporter that made that trip and as I tagged along behind national television, magazine and top U.S. daily reporters I was fascinated with the planning.

The group flew into Marfa, which is where I met them. We went by chartered bus to the Chisos basin. The rooms for the reporters were filled with flowers, fresh fruit, and all kinds of special gifts. We walked up a mountain, that night went to a special campfire supper and the next day took a special bus down a newly cut road to the river.

The rafts were there waiting and I don't think they walked in or came by horseback. Each raft had a guide from some national park aboard.

We stopped at a sand bar at noon and restrooms had been erected. We were each presented with a box lunch of fried chicken. At the other end of the ride, a Mexican band was waiting. We were served steaks, potatoes, and cheese cake (real wilderness food). A bar was set up. It was all very wonderful. Everybody had a great time.

MRS. JOHNSON and the then-Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall presented us with personalized certificates for our trip through the "wilderness."

Now that's the kind of wilderness that I approve of... Really, I believe in keeping it beautiful. But surely, there's nothing wrong with it being comfortable.

At least where tourists will be able to visit it. We have a distinct feeling that if it's a big old wilderness area, by the time the few tourists who will come walk into that desert a little ways, they are going to say, "Forget that."

Let's at least try to keep it in a condition that tourists can get in to see it and enjoy it. It's of absolutely no benefit if it is not going to be used.

It was sitting out there as an inaccessible wilderness area before they made it a National Park.

Chivalry Still Lives

William F. Buckley Jr.

In Europe you hear it said that travelling in America has got to be tough because a) nobody speaks anything but American, and b) everybody is rude.

CONCERNING the first of these points, it is of course true. And having myself been stuck in strange countries with no means of intercommunication, I wonder how they do it. I mean, the European or Asiatic traveller who wrestles his way from one coast to another knowing no English at all. The key of course is the little guide book of essential phrases, the trouble with which is that the essential phrase one seeks is most generally not there.

Concerning the second complaint, I fear that the distinctive demeanor or New Yorker passes among many Europeans as typical. But even in New York there are surprises. I pass along, for the benefit of those jaded in anti-Americanism, the recent experience of a Spanish lady travelling from Columbia, South Carolina, to meet her husband at the International Airport at JFK, preparatory to leaving for Spain.

THE LADY is very shy, very pregnant, and, alas for the purposes of this story, very beautiful. Arriving in Columbia and presenting her ticket to Delta at the counter, it developed that she could not handle English very well. Whereupon the ticket clerk wrote out a letter explaining in detail the lady's itinerary. A black skycap then took her in hand, checked her baggage through to New York (via Atlanta, which is Delta's idea of how to save fuel), took her right into the airplane, and handed her tenderly to the stewardess, who sat her down, stowed her hand luggage, and smiled warmly.

IN ATLANTA, she was met at the ramp by another Delta stewardess, a lady of great charm who had apparently been wired by Columbia. She insisted on carrying the hand luggage, and escorted her to the gate of the connecting plane, which left on schedule arriving in due course at JFK.

There she proceeded to the baggage collection center and was accosted by a skycap (white, this time) who led her suavely by the hand to a bench nearby, insisting that she sit there. Having inquired into her plans, he telephoned to the motel to verify that her reservations were in order; waited for the baggage; and, when it arrived, went back to the motel telephone to instruct the shuttle to come along and pick her up.

MEANWHILE, a gentleman who had seen her on board the plane and now saw her sitting, apparently disconsolate, alone on a bench, approached her and asked if she was well, and if she needed a ride to New York City. She explained in halting English that she was fine, thanks so much; at which point the skycap returned and, suspecting that the gentleman was being obtrusive, indignantly asked him his business. The lady reassured the skycap, the gentleman left, and now the skycap went outside into the freezing cold to wait for the shuttle bus, instructing her to stay seated where it was warm.

And then — incredibly — when she made the attempt to pay him for his services, he smiled, raised his hand reformatively; and waved her godspeed. She writes me, "They say the Americans are, all of them, rough, and of evil character, and dehumanized, but carrramba, look what a day I had!"

I like that, and thought you would. The Washington Star Syndicate, Inc.

Party Cost About $250,000

John Cunniff

By JURATE KAZICKAS (Substituting for John Cunniff)

MANZANILLO, MEXICO (AP) — For three days and nights the tequila flowed like champagne and every meal was an epicurean's final wish.

Beautiful people bronzed themselves on the beach and then danced until sunrise in the open air discotheque.

It was, said one dazed and gluttonous guest, like the last of the thousand and one nights every night and day.

The guests — 250 of them — were invited by Bolivian industrialist Antenor Patino for the opening of a new resort called Las Hada on the western coast of Mexico. Las Hada on the western coast The party cost Patino about $250,000. For everyone else, it was all free.

The gentle, shy host dismissed the huge expense. "How else to make this place known. It is so far from Europe no one would come unless we gave a party," said the 76-year-old tin magnate.

Patino spent more than $60,000 on alcohol alone, including six gift bottles in every room. The buffets served by the pool or beach with Mariachi bands, prancing horses and rock combos used up 68,000 shrimp, 16,000 lobsters, 600 pounds of beef and 12 tons of vegetables and fruit. The party began with cocktails at airports in New York, Paris and Los Angeles and culminating in an elegant please-only-wear-white ball Sunday night.

Philanthropist Mary Lasker said she came because she adores the Patinos and would "go anywhere in the world to be with them." But actor Robert Stack saw another reason for attending.

"This kind of largesse is a very unusual thing in these days of gas rationing and limited thinking," he said. "People must get away for a while and indulge themselves."

Phlegm Hints Irritation

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am an auctioneer with a voice problem. I have trouble with phlegm coming into my throat all the time. It does not seem to matter what I eat, but from the time I get up in the morning it continues all day.

When I auction before the microphone it is very annoying to customers. My career is on the line. I hope you can help me.

I talked to several doctors about this but they have no suggestions. — L.A.P.

Several possibilities, but the first is smoking. If you smoke, stop. There probably is no other answer for that.

Next comes physical changes from long and harsh use of the voice, and singers and loud orators are known to have such problems.

You say you have "talked to several doctors" but you make no mention of having a throat examination. (You'd be wise to see a specialist.)

The vocal cords should be checked specifically for such things as thickening of the cords, leukoplakia (white, film-like spots), or formation of nodules. Whichever the basic cause may be, the excess of phlegm means irritation from some source. I doubt that what you eat has any effect; milk, ice cream and very sweet foods can cause mucus, but only for a very short time after eating.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor has diagnosed the pain and swelling in my two finger joints osteoarthritis. I am 37.

Can I expect this in all my fingers as well as in other joints? What causes it and will it go away after menopause? What can I do to keep it from getting worse? — J.R.

Osteoarthritis, unlike rheumatoid arthritis, does not skip from joint to joint, so you have no reason to think that all your fingers and other joints will be affected.

Cause of arthritis? For all the study that has been made of it, the cause of arthritis has not been established. We do know, however, from experience, a good bit about preventing it from crippling a person — I doubt that yours will be crippling, but it still deserves attention to keep it from being too painful and to avoid excessive stiffening of the joints.

Menopausal arthritis appears to be a particular type of arthritis, and while you cannot expect it to go away after menopause, you should be able to keep it from bothering you too much. I'd suggest that you send 35 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, in care of the Big Spring Herald for my booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis."

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them." Write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Refinance Panel

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Mr. Maurice Dirck, a lifelong admirer of President Nixon, has just started a new organization called the Committee to Refinance the American President.

IN HIS PLUSH offices on Pennsylvania Avenue, Mr. Dirck told me, "From all indications President Nixon will have to pay anywhere from $350,000 to $500,000 in back taxes, that is to say money that he deducted which probably will be disallowed. Now to the average person that may not be much, but for the President this is a large sum of money. I think we, as Americans, should get together and pay the back taxes for him."

"I'M ALL FOR it, but how do we do it?" I asked.

"The easiest thing would be for Congress to pass a law making it possible for everyone filing a tax return to check off $1 on OUR taxes to pay the President's penalties. In that way all the IRS would have to do is transfer the money from one account to the other."

"I'm not sure Congress would do that."

"NEITHER AM I," Mr. Dirck said.

'Inferno' To Be Filmed

ROME (AP) — Italian film director Franco Zeffirelli says his next project will be to bring Dante's "Inferno" to the screen, in both English and Italian versions. Zeffirelli directed "Romeo and Juliet," "Taming of the Shrew" and "Brother Sun, Sister Moon." The last named film was on the life of St. Francis.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

Can you help me with my constant fear of death? It disturbs me all the time. Perhaps I'm just afraid of the unknown. I have sought help, both psychiatric and spiritual, but my mind won't let me be free. One reason may be guilt feelings over past grievous sins. I am 36, and in the process of getting married again. M. F. You bring up several problems, the short space of this answer permits only superficial treatment.

First, on the matter of guilt feelings. There's nothing unnatural about having them; the need, however, is to handle them. Bring them to Christ in simple confession of repentance and faith. Then, believe absolutely that God has forgiven and forgotten. That's the message of Jeremiah 31:34. Then talk about the unknown. Your second marriage is surely that, and I hope you're prayerfully and thoughtfully considering it. Since the first was annulled, you won't want to make a second mistake, which would only further hurt your two children and yourself.

Now on the matter of death, that prospect bothers everyone if the truth were known. But Christ has given us help in handling that apprehension. Paul said of Christ in 2 Timothy 1:12 that he knew in whom he had believed. Since Revelation 1:8 says that Christ knows the future, then to know Him is to have a guide into the unknown. Paul discusses your problem beautifully in the fourth chapter of 2 Corinthians. Ultimately, the only answer to fear of death is to know Jesus personally — the giver of life and peace.

A Devotion For Today

God sent not his Son in the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. (John 3:17)

PRAYER: Father, for Your redemptive love in Jesus we thank You. As You fill our needs, help us to grow in love until we care for all our brothers. In Jesus' name. Amen.

SHREDDER — A. C. Moore, left, and Edward Cruz, president of the Men's Garden Club, show a shredder and bagging machine which will be demonstrated Sunday at a Spring Festival and Workshop sponsored by Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs. Open to all interested persons, the event will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Moore home, 1907 Main.

Inspection Of Credit Files

"Your record at the credit bureau is open for your inspection any time you want to know what is in your file," said Mrs. Ruth Apple today in response to President Nixon's recent message on the right to privacy.

Mrs. Apple, Manager of the Credit Bureau of Big Spring, said that according to John L. Spafford, president of Associated Credit Bureaus Inc., the problem with the publicity given to the issue of privacy and computers is the "broad brush" approach and over-generalization by the media and government officials of this complex issue.

"For example," Spafford said, "the statement that consumers cannot learn what is in their credit file is false. The law requires credit bureaus to disclose everything in your file and, as a matter of fact, over 1,700,000 disclosures were made by ACB members in 1973.

"The statement," Spafford said, "that credit bureaus collect and disseminate personal information about consumers' morals, characteristics and personal habits is false. Investigative consumer reporting agencies gather that type of information for insurance companies, but your local credit bureau does not. And it is high time the media and government officials get that point straight."

Spafford said the 2,100 credit bureaus represented by ACB have been "abused by and confused with" investigative reporting ever since the privacy issue began making headlines. Credit bureaus, according to Spafford, make full disclosure of sources of information but investigative agencies are not required to disclose sources.

Ruth Class Has Fellowship Event

The Ruth Class, North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church, had its monthly meeting at the fellowship hall with Mrs. Lena Henderson presiding. On the program were Mrs. Ruby Thompson and Mrs. Ellie Bearden. Entertainment and decorations followed the St. Patrick's theme, and Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. M. K. Britton were hostesses to the 11 members and a guest.

Baby Girl Honored By Scouts

"Little Miss Girl Scout '74", chosen by Service Unit 36, is Tricia Diann Pickett, born at 12:14 a.m., March 11, weighing 7 pounds, 13 ounces.

Traditionally, the unit bestows the title on the first little girl born during Girl Scout Week. The baby is presented with a gift and a certificate making her an honorary Girl Scout.

Tricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Pickett, Gall Rd., Box 2, was born at Hall-Bennett Memorial hospital.

The certificate will be presented soon by the Scouts and their sponsors, Mrs. Sally Sparks and Mrs. Marlene Spissman who serve as co-chairmen for the service unit.

Single Parents Invite Guests To Activities

Parents Without Partners have announced forthcoming events, to which all single parents are welcome.

There will be a birthday party Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Barcelona Apartments clubhouse for all members having birthdays in March. Bill Leugoud will be host.

On Sunday there will be family bowling at the Bowlaroma at 2 p.m., and Monday at 8 p.m., there will be a planning party at the home of Mrs. Jewel Wheeler, 1304 Sycamore.

A pot luck supper is slated March 23 at the home of Mrs. Irene Johnston, 710 E. 15th, at 7:30 p.m.

Persons interested in attending the activities or obtaining further information about the PWP organization are invited to call Mrs. Estee Rice, 267-5769.

Bowling Shirt Scores Again

French Men's Wear Designers have hit the jackpot. Last year, it was the baseball jacket. This year it's the bowling shirt, a truly American look with European interpretation that is destined to bounce back to the U.S. in many variations.

'Spring Love Songs' Heard At Luncheon

Wives of the 82nd FTS hosted the March Officers Wives Club luncheon at Webb Air Force Base, with Mrs. George Courington as chairman and Mrs. Edmund Crandall as co-chairman. Mrs. Clayton Cole presided in the absence of Mrs. Roy Peterson, OWC president.

The program, "A Medley of Spring Love Songs," was presented by Mrs. Don Newsom with Charles Farham serving as accompanist.

The luncheon, held in the dining room of the Officers Club, featured a St. Patrick's Day theme in decorations.

During the business session, a number of announcements were made concerning base and OWC events.

The Thrift Shop needs volunteers for one Wednesday or Friday each month from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Persons wishing to assist are asked to call Mrs. Susan Schaub, 263-3260, or Mrs. Cathi Van Zant, 263-6255.

New hours listed for the base nursery on Wednesday are 7:30 to 5:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 11 p.m.

The annual arts and crafts luncheon is scheduled for April 4, with cash prizes to be awarded to the winners. Entries must be original works of the person entering the craft. Individuals may enter as many items as they wish but the deadline is April 2. The divisions are easel art, toile painting, needlecraft, macrame-weaving, pottery, ceramics, sewing and miscellaneous. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Jean Clements, 263-7494.

Also, during the April luncheon, officer candidates will be introduced.

At the March luncheon, a letter of appreciation was read from the Air Force Village at San Antonio thanking the OWC for a donation of $722. Mrs. Nancy Schmidt is the welfare chairman for the OWC.

Say 'Thanks'

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After living with "Mr. Your Job" for 20 years, I have had it. I used to love to cook but it's no fun anymore, because no matter how hard I try, my husband never says it was good. It I ask him if he enjoyed the meal, he said: "Yes, but why should I say anything? That's your job."

I made draperies and curtains for the whole house, and even slip-covered the furniture myself, and he never said one word. When I asked him if he thought the house looked nice, he said: "Sure, but that's your job."

Funny how if he washes the car or mows the lawn and I don't rave about what a wonderful job he's done, he pouts for a week. Please print this, Abby. Maybe "Mr. Your Job" will see it, and take the hint.

"MRS. YOUR JOB"

DEAR "MRS. YOUR JOB": Too bad "Mr. Your Job" hasn't learned the power of praise. Most people need only to know they're appreciated to keep them whistling while they work.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a family disagreement? We've decided to abide by your decision.

We have two children, ages 10 and 12. I require them to write thank-you notes for all the gifts they receive for Christmas, their birthdays, or for any other occasion.

My husband says they are too young to be required to write such notes. What do you think?

DELICATE CRUST
Centered with sweets

Jam Makes Tasty Tarts

It's hard to believe, until you taste them, how light, rich, delicate, and delightful these Jam Tarts can be. And once you start tasting them, it's hard to stop.

The tarts are made with a quick and easy pie crust mix or your own favorite pastry recipe, if you prefer. They're folded around jelly or jam and fried on both sides until lightly browned.

The tarts are best served warm — just out of the frying pan or reheated in the oven for 5 minutes. Just before serving, sprinkle with confectioner's sugar.

Try them for dessert — served one to a guest. Or pass them by the plateful as an evening refreshment with coffee.

For the sweet center, use your favorite preserve. Or for variety, use a number of different flavors. Raspberry, strawberry, peach, apricot, or pineapple preserves; apple butter; grape, currant, or apple jelly are all good.

FRIED JELLY OR JAM TARTS

1 Pkg. (9½ ounce) prepared pie crust mix (or any favorite home recipe made with 1½ cups flour)

1½ pints cooking or salad oil

Confectioner's sugar

Assorted jams, preserves or jellies (raspberry, strawberry, peach, apricot, pineapple preserves; apple butter; grape, currant or apple jelly)

Prepare pie crust mix as directed on package label; cut dough into 2 equal portions. Roll dough on lightly floured surface to ¼ inch thickness. Cut into large rounds using a 3½ inch cookie cutter or use a cardboard pattern 3½ inches in diameter and cut around it. Spoon 2 teaspoons jam, jelly or preserves to one side of center on each pastry round. Moisten edges of crust with cold water, fold dough in half to make a half circle; press edges together firmly using tines of a dinner fork.

Fry pies in hot oil (370 to 375 degrees) 4 or 5 at a time until lightly browned on underside; turn and fry until second side is lightly browned. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve warm. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar just before serving. Yield: 16-20 fried pies.

NOTE: Pies can be fried ahead of time and warmed in a moderate oven about 5 minutes. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar just before serving.

DON'T SETTLE FOR JUST ANY COFFEE OR END TABLES

Oddly enough, many people don't give enough attention to selecting the coffee and end tables in their homes.

Actually, there are more sizes, shapes, and types to choose from today than ever before, and a different coffee or end table can add new beauty and distinctiveness to your home.

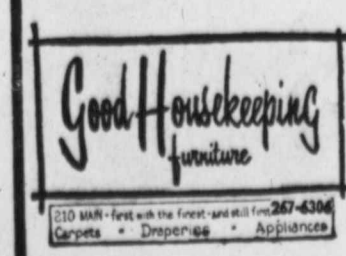

For example, if you've always had a rectangular coffee table in front of your sofa, why not try a round, square or oval one?

You might also think about "bunching" or "piggy-back" coffee tables that can be used as one unit, or separated to give you extra tables when needed around the room.

When it comes to end tables, you'd be surprised how many people have tables that are not right for them or their room. Many of those end tables are either too big or too small for the space and the job the table is supposed to do.

Also, there is no law that says your end tables have to match each other. You might consider making your room more decorative by using two entirely different tables on either end of your sofa.

In any case, you don't have to settle for ineffective coffee and end tables, regardless of your budget. You can get ones that will help your room, and we'll be happy to aid you in your selection.

'I WOULDN'T ADVISE ANYONE TO RUN FOR THE SCHOOL BOARD'

Endless Quarrel Over What Children Should Learn

EDITOR'S NOTE — Some of the most bitter, emotional and least-aided power struggles in Texas are for control of local school boards. These boards can determine what a community's children learn — or don't learn. This is an account of one East Texas city.

By ROD DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — School board caucus at the drugstore. Grumbling in the university suburbs. Fear-silenced teachers. And an endless quarrel over what the children should learn.

This oldest of Texas cities might be considered a microcosm of an oft-repeated struggle in many places between a tight-knit insiders' group that runs the school system and a growing number of outsiders who want a larger voice in education of their children.

THREE RS
At issue is whether the schools should emphasize the three Rs, football and benign desegregation or get more facilities, better teachers and new buildings.

The key is the seven-member school board, currently controlled by a slate known as the "Nacogdoches Citizens for Better Education," formed in the late 1960s in response to federal desegregation orders.

Dissenters in this quiet East Texas city of 20,000 that includes a sizeable university population say the school board shuts them out.

They say the board, though sincere in its own beliefs, is a caretaker with conservative educational views which hurt children's chances of competing in an advanced society.

FOES UNORGANIZED
The dissenters are an unorganized lot, consisting mostly of university-related parents but with strength in the rest of the community. A local dentist, for example, is considering a school board race.

On the other hand, the school board claims backing in the university segment and denies a university-community split.

To back their argument, board members can point to solid election triumphs. And the board says its shortcomings are caused by a lack of money, not insidious intentions.

"I feel I represent what the majority of the people of the community want," said board member Branch Patton, hardware store owner, member of an old Nacogdoches family, and a leader in the controlling slate.

TEA SIPPER
He sipped iced tea at a drugstore where board members often hammer out issues prior to regular meetings, and explained his views.

"They want the best possible education for the dollar spent and that's what we're trying to do."

Under this board's direction, this has happened:
—A new football stadium was built in 1971 while plans for an adjoining new high school are still on the desk.

—A bond proposal to air condition the schools was defeated last year after receiving no support from board members.

—Property tax assessment valuations were raised to a $73 million total but additional revenue was offset because the board then lowered the tax rate.

CLASSROOMS SHABBY
—Classrooms are shabby and at the Raquet Elementary School the lighting is so poor it could not be used as an election polling place.

—A former classroom teacher president resigned after pressing for certain demands and being put on probation.

—Supt. Lenville Martin announced his retirement for Aug. 31, one year before his contract would have expired, citing financial reasons and a desire to give early training to an as yet unnamed successor.

Joe Tom Harris, a former teacher turned lumber yard operator and president of the school board, defends the football stadium, saying the school system which didn't have a stadium couldn't afford to use the one at Stephen F. Austin University anymore.

'HOT' ISSUE
He said air conditioning isn't needed in the classrooms, and contends that critics of the school system don't present their views at school board meetings.

He says the school system should teach its pupils "to read the fundamentals of math... behave as a citizen of the United States... and whatever else we can do toward leadership or vocational training."

And he thinks the school board should be run by businessmen because educators "just won't consider the finances."

The 4,949-pupil system has an operating budget of $3.1 million, of which local money pays about 20 per cent at a $1.52 per $100 rate on 50 per cent property valuation.

MONEY, MONEY
There is money—not a lot—but enough. Yet the quarrel in the community is not so much over money as how to spend it.

"Regardless of how much this board gets, does it have the vision to educate our children?" asked a Stephen F. Austin professor as a group of parents discussed the situation. Dr. Dwane Russell said the above-average child would not be affected but that "the average and below-average child may experience quite a bit of difficulty. Some of them don't have a Chinaman's chance in this system."

At a school board meeting Dec. 11, school guidance counselor Frances Wester said American College Testing (ACT) results for 1969-72 showed Nacogdoches pupils average or below average in most areas.

Suspicious and distrust hide the truth here.

ALL ELECTED
Patton denied the existence of a power group controlling the school board, yet a March 31, 1972 newspaper ad listed Patton, Lee Halbert and Charles Wright on the same campaign ticket calling for "full control, fair and firm discipline and financial responsibility." All were elected.

Several teachers and parents emphasized what this said was a community fear to speak against the board because of possible economic reprisals, actions against children, or, for teachers, dismissal.

"There is an innate feeling not to speak out. Teachers by and large feel any criticism against the board results in disciplinary action," said one teacher.

"Please don't quote me, I'm not ready to move, and if my name appears I guarantee you I'll have to," said another teacher.

A former president of the Classroom Teachers Association was placed on probation after appearing at a school board meeting. Supt. Martin resigned as president and was taken off probation.

did not get through the class textbook by year's end. School Supt. Martin, 63, announced his retirement for Aug. 31. He said it was not because of trouble with the board.

"There's been no consistency. A lot of people are trying to make one, but there's not," he said.

In the end it is a battle of competing philosophies—the university-inspired progressivism versus the deep-seated conservatism of this area.

Patton, whose wife teaches at a private school as do the wives of two other board members, says the educational struggle "boils down to capitalism versus socialism."

Patton, who proclaimed an admiration for the conservative theories of Dallas billionaire H. L. Hunt.

COMPLAINTS

Patton describes the university faculty members as "people who live off taxpayers and said they shouldn't make so many complaints."

Harris says pupils today "don't need as much in education. I think the world is a lot easier now than when I was young. I think our education is going the wrong way. For years we preached 'get off that farm.' But that can't be. Somebody's gotta be there."

And Harris says the school board is getting more than its share of the blame. "I wouldn't advise anyone to run for the school board. As a teacher I had something good happen every day. As a board member something bad happens every 30 minutes."

Bail Bond Law Upheld

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday upheld the constitutionality of a 1973 state law regulating bail bondsmen in big counties.

It rejected a case filed on behalf of lawyers, insurance agents and others who write bail bonds.

A Houston trial court refused to grant J.W. Robinson and others a temporary injunction to stop enforcement of the law, and the Supreme Court affirmed that ruling.

One complaint was that since the law creates county bail bond boards in counties of 150,000 or more, it is a special and local law, forbidden by the Texas Constitution.

The Supreme Court disagreed, noting that the test of whether a law is general or special is if there is a "reasonable basis for the classification it makes and whether the law operates equally on all within the class."

"The legislature in this instance may well have concluded that bail bondsmen in the more populous counties should be regulated and required to secure their obligations because of the high incidence of crime and the difficulties involved in enforcing bond forfeitures and determining the net worth of persons engaged in the business of writing bonds, but that the same safeguards and procedures were not necessary and would be unduly burdensome in more sparsely populated areas."

The injured were not identified pending notification of relatives.

Spokesmen said the injuries occurred Monday when a starboard elevator door broke loose and was pushed into a hangar bay. Rhoades died Tuesday.

At least two aircraft were damaged. The accident occurred about 650 miles northeast of Bermuda.

JUDGE MAY UNRAVEL DREAM AT ABILENE

'Paradise Lost' By Texans?

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

A Texas dream of turning a one-time pirate haven off Haiti into a profitable island paradise has foundered in a welter of lawsuits and countersuits that a federal judge may be called on to unravel at Abilene in April.

The idea for making the tropical green 25-mile Ile de la Tortue (Tortuga or Tortoise Island) into a Bahama-like free port and haven for tourists took off from the unlikely launching pad of Eastland, a town of residents 3,178 in West Texas.

Two local residents, Don and Ann Pierson, founded the important-sounding Dupont Caribbean Inc. and set up offices in the Eastland National Bank.

Dupont Caribbean, Inc., which has no connection with its huge Delaware namesake, is a company that exists solely for developing Tortuga. It started negotiations in 1967 for a free port contract, with the Republic of Haiti sharing equal stock ownership and each party having 10 million shares.

'PAPA DOC'

From January 1972, when the Haiti government released the first land for development under a 99-year leasehold contract, until February 1973, when it abruptly called a halt to further operations, Pierson says over $2 million was invested, while letters of intent and contracts being drawn promised "well in excess of $100 million."

Among the interested investors, according to Pierson, was Gulf Oil Corp.

When President Francois Duvalier "Papa Doc" signed into law the convention with Dupont Caribbean shortly before his death in April 1971, the idea had been to set up a free port authority with wide powers which would function somewhat on the pattern of the British crown colony of Hong Kong.

There would be a tax-free society, duty-free goods, and the investment possibilities would be vast for all concerned.

DIDN'T WORK

It didn't quite work out that way.

There were suggestions in Port-au-Prince, the Haitian capital, that there was foot-dragging by Dupont Caribbean over meeting some of the terms. Two ministers—Edouard Franquise, finance, and Fournier fortune, justice—were dispatched to Tortuga for an on-the-spot inspection. All work was ordered halted.

As a result, the dream of a 23-story hotel, luxurious condominiums, country clubs, duty-free goods, a refinery, a busy tourist airport, remained just that—a dream.

Today, there are only some 12 miles or so of unpaved roads, an air strip, and heavy earth moving equipment rusting in the sun. The island's native population of farmers and fishermen remain what they always were: poor.

LOSER

On Aug. 27, 1972, after a trial at which Pierson claims he never had the chance to present testimony, the court found Dupont Caribbean in breach of contract. Pierson says the judge read the decision to an empty courtroom.

The case was taken to an appellate court which reportedly rendered its decision on Jan. 28. Again, Dupont Caribbean was the loser.

The way Pierson told it, sitting in his ranch-style home at Eastland recently, he was the victim of some behind-the-scenes deal between Haitian officials and businessmen who had bought their way into the project. There was, he suggested, a concerted effort to case him out after higher bidders came in.

IN LIMBO

Pierson fired off a cable of protest to Haiti's minister of justice in which he claimed that "millions and millions of dollars" were being lost to Haiti as result of illegal activities over the Tortuga affair.

"I feel that the truth has been kept from President Jean-Claude Duvalier and his mother, Mme. Francoise Duvalier, the first lady, for a long time," Pierson said in an interview. "He is a young president and people have tried to take advantage of his youth. We are very hopeful that truth and justice will prevail so that the project can go forward."

Meanwhile, Pierson agreed, the money invested is "in limbo" and all the investors are "highly concerned."

William R. Carden, president of Translinear, Inc., of Dallas, told a different story.

Translinear and its affiliated company, Equity Capital Management, signed a management contract with Dupont Caribbean and invested $35,000 in the Eastland company's stock. The management contract did not work out "for a variety of reasons," Carden claimed, so Translinear acquired on sublease all but 400 acres of the Haitian government had released to Dupont Caribbean.

INFORMAL HINTS

"We had decided that, if this thing were to succeed, if Tortuga had any possibilities, somebody was going to have to begin doing some construction or the Haitian government would likely close the whole thing down," Carden said.

A construction contract was negotiated with a California firm and work began in August 1972. When the blow fell on Dupont Caribbean, it fell on Translinear too. All work stopped.

Carden still hopes he can salvage from the Haitian government his company's right to develop the 4,800 acres subleased to it by Dupont Caribbean. Letters to President Duvalier and his ministers asking for clarification on this have not been answered, but Carden says there have been informal hints that things will work out.

Meanwhile, Translinear has filed suit for $2.5 million against the Piersons and Dupont Caribbean in federal court at Abilene, alleging fraud and breach of contract.

Pierson retorts that Translinear was "dedicated to taking over" Dupont and its Tortuga project.

HUGE SUIT

Pierson has a $5.6 million suit pending against Mike Collins, a vice president of Eastland National Bank and a former director of Dupont Caribbean. Pierson charges Collins with steering away potential investors to Translinear.

Exchange Street Corp. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., another management company which formerly worked with Pierson, is bringing action at Abilene for $220,000 damages.

Pierson called the cases pending against him "harassment suits." In most of them, he has filed countersuits.

New Round Of Newsprint Price Hikes

NEW YORK (AP) — A Cost of Living Council decision to exempt paper from price controls has touched off a round of price hikes by several domestic newsprint manufacturers.

International Paper Co., U.S. arm of the Canadian International Paper Co., led the way with an announcement that their higher Canadian prices will be extended to newsprint made at mills in Mobile, Ala., and Pine Bluff, Ark. The price for middle-weight newsprint was raised to $213.30 per ton from $188 a ton at those two mills.

Others posting higher prices include Great Northern Paper Co. and Garden State Paper Co. in the East, and Crown Zellerbach Corp. and Publishers' Paper Co. in the Northwest.

Southern producer Kimberly-Clark Corp. says it is studying the decontrol decision and may have an announcement on prices within a few days.

Publishers Paper Co. said it will boost its price immediately from $176 to $200 a ton for 32-pound newsprint. The firm has mills in Oregon City and Newberg, Ore.

Crown Zellerbach's price had been scheduled to go up from $183 to $198 per ton Friday, stemming from a federal order permitting dollar averaging of the U.S. and Canadian prices of newsprint supplied to customers in the western United States.

Smaller producers, like Abitibi Southern Corp., a U.S. branch of another Canadian company which produces only 150,000 tons of newsprint annually at its Augusta, Ga., mill, says it is not big enough to be among the first to raise prices. But a spokesman says if the larger companies all raise their prices, Abitibi Southern will follow.

Although prices will vary somewhat, companies say they will set prices about equal to those established by Canadian producers last fall. The Canadian mills, which produce about 70 per cent of the newsprint used in the United States, have traditionally been the industry price leaders.

FLOCK OF EAGLES — Eight members of Troop 1776 and affiliated explorer post received their Eagle badges, the highest in Scouting, at Court of Honor Tuesday evening. The boys completed their Eagle requirements while in the troop, making this probably the largest number to qualify from one unit at one time in the Lone Star District. Standing are Greg Horton, Mark Sheedy, Stan Partee, Doug Robinson, Nat Hart; seated, Jimmy Tipton, Richard Crandall, and Bobby Roeber. Dr. Clyde Thomas is leader of the post, and Terry Lizotta of the troop. Both groups are sponsored by St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Some Think They Can Twist Gold Egg From Oil Goose

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C. emanating from angered citizens who are inconvenienced and pay high prices at the gasoline pump, members of the energy shortage proposes port measures which will further strangle the national effort to achieve energy self-sufficiency.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Hastily conceived legislation to meet the energy shortage proposals Congress are motivated to support measures which will further strangle the national effort to achieve energy self-sufficiency. This pressure caused the Congress to roll back crude oil prices as a part of the Emergency Energy bill. It was vetoed by the President and on second thought the U.S. Senate upheld the veto. There continue to be efforts to attach a similar provision to every piece of legislation now coming up which has to do with energy and especially oil and gas.

Opening lead: Nine of ♣.
P. Hal Sims, a bridge immortal, claimed that he never misguessed the location of a queen. As a joke, some friends once stacked a deck against him which contained two queens of spades, and the fate of the hand depended on successfully finessing for the lady. After playing a few tricks, Sims glared suspiciously at his opponents and barked: "I think both of you guys have the queen!"
No competent player should misguess the queen of clubs on today's hand. South became declarer at a contract of seven no trump by a simple process of arithmetic—North added his 22 points to South's announced 16 minimum and leaped all the way to the grand slam. A grand slam that depends on a finesse is hardly ideal, but no bidding system could determine that the jacks of hearts and diamonds were wasted cards.
The moment dummy came down, declarer realized that he would need the club finesse for his contract. Also, he could play either defender for the missing queen. In this type of situation, it is a sound principle to delay the crucial decision as long as possible, to learn as much about the hand as you can.
Declarer started by cashing three rounds of hearts, both defenders following. Next came four rounds of spades, and again both defenders followed to the first three and discarded on the fourth as South sluffed a club. Finally, declarer took his three diamond tricks, and when West showed out on the third diamond the contract became iron-clad.
East was now marked with six diamonds, and he had already shown up with three spades and three hearts. Since there is room for no more than 13 cards in a bridge hand, East could not possibly have more than one club. Therefore, declarer cashed the ace of clubs, and when the queen failed to drop, he finessed West for the queen, knowing with certainty that his play had to win.

Auctioneer Tips Given Students

COAHOMA — Fourth and fifth grades got tips on how to be an auctioneer from Paul Allen on a recent program. He not only gave the pupils a demonstration of the auctioneer's skill, but furnished a storehouse of information on the subject. There is a short-term course for auctioneers, he said, but he stressed that repeated practice is the way the skill is really acquired and perfected. Auctioneers must speak distinctly, clearly, and use good grammar, and they must even be careful of what they eat and drink. He capped off his visit by answering questions, including information about buying and selling at auctions as well as making a career as an auctioneer.
