

THERE MAY BE NO ANSWER Many Jurists Are Vexed By Juvenile Crime Woes

Copley News Service
"How do you rehabilitate somebody who has never been rehabilitated in the first place?" That question was posed by a juvenile court judge from Detroit when asked what could be done to stem rising incidence of violence among the nation's young people. He admitted that he doesn't have the answer. Other judges admit they, too, are vexed by a problem that seems to be mounting in most parts of the country. The stories are familiar. Fights after football games where guns and knives are wielded, armed robberies in which pursuing officers have been shot at and gang warfare. Some judges say the increase in juvenile crime and violence is drug-oriented. "They're buying their habits with a gun," said a Rhode Island juvenile court judge, Edward Healey.

TOTAL FAILURE
Others see the violence-prone delinquent as a total failure, the lowest of the low achievers in school whose frustrations and bitterness are finally expressed at the end of a whip or the barrel of a gun.

A group of juvenile court judges — members of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges — were interviewed about the trends they have seen in their parts of the country — from Los Angeles to Detroit to Rhode Island and south to Mississippi.

They all agreed violence is on the increase, by varying degrees in different regions. "I would say, over the last few years, it has been on the increase," said Judge James H. Lincoln of Detroit.

Detroit, one of the nation's largest cities, will have 700 homicides this year, Lincoln says, between 35 and 40 committed by youngsters.

He said the bulk of violent crime is still being committed by the adult population. "CATAclysmic" Healey, from Providence, says Rhode Island has seen a "cataclysmic" increase in violent crimes by juveniles. Over the last six months, he said, the use of guns by youths in committing armed robberies has been rising at a continuous pace.

The victims have been primarily "mom and pop" stores, Healey said, with the young offenders shooting at policemen when they have been chased. These youngsters — unlike teen-age lawbreakers in other more populous areas where there are large ghettos, have come from middle-class homes, the judge said.

He characterized them as youths "oriented toward drugs who need to get the cash and buy the stuff." In Los Angeles, the level of violence among the black and Mexican-American youths has been increasing, reflected to a large degree by gang activity, according to Judge William Hogoboom.

Alluding to Judge Lincoln's statement on school failure as a major cause of violence and lawbreaking, Hogoboom said the turnover of students at Manual Arts High School in Los Angeles is so great that teachers don't expect to see the same students they start with complete the semester.

Lincoln, a past president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, said violence has been most predominant in his area among 13- and 14-year-olds. But, he added, he has "seen it right across the board."

Lincoln believes the trend toward violence is not only spawned by school failure ("The common denominator of delinquency is school failure") but also by television advertising. Many parent groups have criticized the networks for showing too much violence.

Lincoln, however, sees the culprit in all those commercials which show a society bursting with material wealth. "It teaches them to have middle-class standards before they can afford them," he said, "like you have to have a fine car, a new home or some material thing."

As a backdrop to this, he says, is a society under siege — the schools, government, moral codes and the law enforcement system.

"The juvenile court isn't going to stop it (crime and violence). The churches aren't going to stop it, nor are the schools or anybody else," he said. "The best solution, Lincoln feels, is to find some type of work for those youths who have dropped out of school and have little chance of finding employment, something to give them a sense of security and occupy their time."

Juvenile Court Judge Carl Guernsey of Jackson, Miss., said another possible alternative is to spot those youngsters failing in school before they become embittered. Helping them in the second or third grades, he said, can possibly save a child from later breaking the law.

Whatever the alternatives, according to Healey, it is a community problem and one that must eventually be solved by the entire community.

How important is the price of your glasses or contact lenses?

Price is important, but not as important as clear, comfortable vision brought about by accuracy of prescription, lens quality and proper fit. Frame quality and style are important, too. You want a frame that is comfortable, proper for your individual prescription, looks nice on your face, is well made and maintains the proper adjustment. TSO is most concerned with how well and how comfortably you see. Because different people have different requirements for their prescription lenses and frames, the amount of workmanship required and the type of materials used will vary. Thus, to be exactly correct for the individual, they may vary in price, like a prescription for drugs. Maybe you think you may pay less for eyewear somewhere else; but will you get the quality your eyes need for clear vision and comfort? At TSO you get both—finest quality materials and the lowest price consistent with quality. Why take any risk when it comes to your eyes? Stop in soon and see.

CANCER CRUSADE — On April 1, the door to door campaign will be held for the local cancer crusade from 6-8 p.m. Residential crusade chairman is Mrs. Fran Bordofsky, assisted by Mrs. Joe Clark and Mrs. Wayne Beene. Members of the high school student council, The Key Club and student volunteers will assist.

BUT THEY'RE STILL HOPEFUL Good Times Just Beyond Grasp Of Some Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Living standards are inching upward for Ryuko Otani and his wife, but it takes hard work and sacrifice. They live with their 5-year-old daughter, Chikako, in a single crowded room. Mrs. Otani teaches high school English all day. Her husband frequently spends 10-14 hours a day struggling to keep his small plumbing fixtures firm float in Japan's troubled economy.

Together they make the equivalent of about $9,000 annually. They sacrifice for the future and are able to save about half their income. Some day they may enjoy the good life if inflation, the oil crisis or some other shock does not upset their careful planning.

$505 IS AVERAGE
The Otanis are typical of the patient, hard-working Japanese workers who have built their country into the world's No. 3 economic power. Despite Japan's wealth, however, the Otanis have a hard life that many Americans or Europeans would find appalling. There are 51 million in the Japanese labor force, of whom about 9 million are small businessmen. The average monthly income of a Japanese wage earner is the equivalent of $505, according to the Prime Minister's office.

"A man lives for his work," says Otani. "All Japanese think this way. Anyway, as long as we are healthy we must work hard in order to have a happier future. I don't think money is everything," he adds, "But I'd like more than I have now."

Orphaned when he was six, Otani lived with relatives until college. Then he worked his way through Meiji Gakuin, a Protestant school that awarded him a bachelor's degree in English literature.

There were jobs in textile and plumbing equipment factories before he started his own small company four years ago. Otani is happy to be on his own, but he has lost the job security, annual bonuses and other benefits of working for a big company.

low-cost housing or housing allowances, large retirement allowances and twice-a-year bonus equivalent to three to five months pay each. Often medical benefits are free.

Otani gave that up for a cramped office in downtown Tokyo where he spends six days a week processing orders from building companies or tracking down supplies from plumbing equipment manufacturers. About 5 or 6 o'clock he starts on the second half of his business day — entertaining potential buyers.

He is like millions of Japanese businessmen who conduct some of their most important business at night in small bars and night clubs.

Perhaps two or three nights a week, Otani gets home "early" from the office — 7 o'clock — to spend the evening with his family.

Edward Nixon Paid $15,000 As Consultant

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Edward Nixon, brother of the President, was paid $15,000 in consultant fees during 1973 by the tax-exempt Richard Nixon Foundation, the foundation president says.

Leonard K. Firestone said in an interview Friday that Edward Nixon was paid $1,500 a month from January through October to assist Whittier College, the President's alma mater, with an oral history project on the President's prepolitical years.

Firestone had disclosed previously that the foundation, formed by friends of President Nixon in 1969 to plan and build a presidential library, paid Edward Nixon $21,000 to help select a suitable site for the library. Those fees were also paid at a rate of $1,500 a month for a 14-month period between December 1970 and January 1972.

The oral history project has been completed, Firestone said. Terry Holcomb, a vice president of privately-operated Whittier College, said Edward Nixon provided background on the President's life before 1945, arranged introductions and set up tape-recorded interviews with persons who knew the President in his early years.

Asked about the foundation's current projects, Firestone said, "We are working on nothing at the moment." He said the President's youngest brother had reviewed six possible sites across the country for the library and had recommended that a final selection be made among three in Orange County.

But Firestone said the foundation is holding the presidential library plans in abeyance. "There are too many other things going on that make what we had to do unimportant," he said. "I don't think we'll be doing anything regarding the library until the President is out of office."

Seminar Due For Area Businesses

Local and area businessmen are being urged to enroll for the seminar to help small businessmen obtain more government contracts.

The one-evening course is set for 7 p.m. March 28 at the Student Union Building on the Howard College campus. It is being sponsored by the Small Business Administration, the Chamber of Commerce and college, with full cooperation of Webb AFB. Last year Webb, a prime government purchaser in this area, spent more than a million dollars in Big Spring, but in all it acquired some $6 million in goods and services.

Ralph McLaughlin, Chamber president, urged all interested businessmen to call the chamber office (263-7641) for information.

Hidden Stash Of Nixon Tape Belts Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's personal secretary has told Senate investigators of a "hidden stash" of recording belts personally dictated by Nixon, columnist Jack Anderson says.

In a column syndicated to 500 newspapers for publication today, Anderson said Rose Mary Woods made the disclosure to Senate Watergate Committee lawyers in secret testimony Feb. 20.

The President, "from time to time, for his own private, personal files, does some tapes, I have been in the Lincoln sitting room at times when he will remember something from a conversation and put on a dictabelt," Anderson quoted Miss Woods as saying.

OUT OF BAG
The columnist said, "At that point, apparently realizing she had let a White House cat out of the bag, Miss Woods paused and hastily added, 'such as Julie said this or that to me.'"

Anderson wrote that Miss Woods testified the belts were sealed into envelopes, which were dated and placed in secure filing cabinets in the White House basement.

"We have no idea what is on them—they are his (Nixon's) own personal, private things, which are not transcribed," he quoted the secretary as saying.

Anderson said Miss Woods' attorney, Charles H. Rhyne, was assured by Watergate committee counsel Samuel Dash that her testimony would be kept confidential and the sole transcript of it locked in a safe.

Rhyne, however, duplicated the testimony and sent copies to committee members and staff employees, "thus leading indirectly to our obtaining it," Anderson said.

Miss Woods is to appear before the full Watergate committee in a private session next Friday.

FIRST MENTION
Anderson said that as far as he could be determined, Miss Woods' February statement was "the first mention of this hidden stash of tapes." Investigators reported that none has been forwarded to the special prosecutor, the Watergate committee or the House committee studying impeachment, he said.

It is known that Nixon often dictated his personal summary of a day's events into recording equipment separate from the voice-actuated White House taping system.

The President has turned over to the special prosecutor a dictation belt of recollections of a telephone conversation he had with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell three days after the Watergate break-in in June 1972.

Firm Is Seeking Boost In Rates

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Power & Light Co. is seeking a rate increase its officers say will bring in about $18 million a year.

The increase of just over 11 per cent would hike the average monthly electric bill from $15 to $16.61.

The firm was granted a six per cent increase in rates in February 1972.

No Ransom, Boy Freed

PIEDMONT, Calif. (AP) — Police were searching today for the abductors of a young boy who freed their captive after about 12 hours when they apparently gave up on demands to collect $100,000 ransom.

"The kidnapers made several calls throughout the day to the parents' home," Police Chief Donald Asher said Thursday night after a 6-year-old Robbie Richard's release. "They first asked for $100,000. They indicated they would take less as time went on during the day. But there was no ransom paid."

Police said they were not searching "for anybody specific now" and said they planned to question the boy thoroughly after he had gotten some rest.

Asher said Robbie was kidnaped Thursday morning as he walked alone to the school in Piedmont, a wealthy suburb across the bay from San Francisco. He was kept in an automobile trunk throughout the ordeal with his mouth and eyes taped, and his hands and feet shackled.

Asher said the boy was set free from a garage in neighboring Oakland. His abductors removed the tape and handcuffs, but told Robbie to keep his eyes shut.

DAV Convention Slated April 6

The Disabled American Veterans and Auxiliary, Chapter 47, are holding a spring convention in the Settles Hotel on April 6.

Refreshments will be served from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. The banquet runs from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. and the dance from 9 p.m. to midnight.

— NOTICE —

Contrary to rumors being circulated within the city and which are wholly unfounded, I wish to state that I am not leaving Big Spring and have no intentions of doing so. Thank you.

FIRST SPELLING CHAMPIONS—Moss Elementary School is the first to name champions in preparation for the Howard County Spelling Bee. Donna D. Reynolds, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Reynolds, 1000 Baylor, won by spelling "plasma" after Gina Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Robertson, 3301 Cornell, missed it. She then went on to spell "reeled" correctly. Both are sixth grade pupils of Bill Irwin. School champs are to be named not later than March 30, and the County Bee is April 4. Practice books are still available at The Herald.

(AP) — This small community in the hills of northwestern Frederick County isn't on any major highway, or even a state highway, but extra state policemen have been assigned to Graceham this week to direct the expected traffic. Graceham has been the host to an estimated 10 million blackbirds, starlings and grackles since last fall. Recent national publicity has brought the curious and townspeople say they are almost as bothersome as the birds.

Con-Con People Slow To Show Up For Work

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — One of the biggest problems of the Texas Constitutional Convention is getting its delegates to show up for work. Debate on the highly important proposed power of a Texas governor to reorganize state agencies halted abruptly Friday afternoon when a head count showed only 110 of the 180 delegates ready to work. A quorum of two thirds, or 121, is necessary to do business.

Official convention records show that 64 legislator-delegates were absent Friday afternoon. Some were excused because of illness or "important business," but others just played hooky. "I refuse to accept the notion that the delegates are not willing to work," said Daniel afterwards, obviously dejected by the forced adjournment. "Some of them have said they did not hear me say last Friday that we planned to work this weekend."

There will be no excuse for next Friday and Saturday, Daniel told newsmen, after telling the delegates to return Monday at 2 p.m. with plans to work clear through next Friday afternoon and Saturday. "If we get in a position for a recess the first of April, we will have to work some Friday afternoons and Saturdays," Daniel said.

"It is a necessary goal now, not to finish in 90-days but to get the second reading (tentative approval) of all articles by the recess."

Daniel said he was "leaning" toward a 30-day recess about the first of April for the primary elections, returning to work about May 6.

"I don't think it will take that long, but our ultimate goal is to finish up by July 31."

Delegates return Monday at 2 p.m. to resume debate on the executive branch provision in the new constitution. If all goes well they will finish the Executive Article by mid-week and switch to the highly controversial and complicated Finance Article.

When the Friday morning debate began, newsmen counted 54 delegates in sight on the convention floor, despite the fact that the attendance record showed 129 present. Some reportedly were in the members lounge having coffee and reading newspapers and others were in the telephone booths.

Actually the convention only worked on the new constitution two full days during the past week—Monday afternoon, all day Tuesday, and Friday morning. A recess was declared Wednesday following the death of Rep. Hawkins Menefee, D-Houston, and the only session Thursday was a half-hour eulogy service for Menefee.

Since the delegates appeared at the convention hall each day of the week they will draw full five days pay of $35 daily expenses and $37 daily salary.

Daniel gave up hope this past week of completing work on all 11 articles of the new constitution and taking a final vote by April 7, the 90-day goal he first set.

Ads For Oil Discouraged

TORONTO (AP) — A Toronto newspaper said today that a warning from Canada's ambassador to Washington kept the Ontario government from using gasoline advertisements to lure American tourists. The Globe and Mail said Ambassador Marcel Cadieux advised the Ontario authorities through Ottawa about possible political embarrassment and backlash from ads stressing the availability of gasoline in the province. "It would be pretty hard for some Americans to reconcile," the paper quoted an embassy official as saying. "On the one hand there was Canada saying it had no surplus oil to a belt-tightening U.S., and on the other hand there were advertisements boasting about how much gas the provinces had for the cars of American tourists," the official reportedly said.

LEGAL NOTICE

ELECTION ORDER AND NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF HOWARD
On this 11th day of February, 1974, the Board of Trustees of the Howard County Independent School District convened in regular session, open to the public, with the following members present: President J. W. Little, Ralph McLaughlin, Jerry Jenkins, Tom Fellers and the following absent: Dallas Ross and Dan Wilkins constituting a quorum and among other proceedings had by said Board of Trustees was the following:
WHEREAS, the term of office of Thomas W. Fellers, Jerry G. Jenkins and Ralph McLaughlin, members of the Board of Trustees of this School District will expire on the first Saturday in April, 1974, and on said date a trustee election will be held in said School District;
WHEREAS, it is necessary for this Board to pass an order establishing the procedure for filing for and conducting said trustee election;
THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF HOWARD COUNTY INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT:

1. That an election be held in said School District on April 6, 1974, for the purpose of electing to the Board of Trustees of said School District three Trustees.
2. That all requests by candidates to have their names placed upon the ballot for the above mentioned election shall be in writing and signed by the candidate and filed with the secretary of the Board of Trustees of the superintendent's office on or before 30 days prior to the date of said election. All candidates shall file with their application the loyalty affidavit required by Art. 6.02 of the Election Code.
The Secretary of this Board of Trustees shall post on the bulletin board in the building where the Board of Trustees meets the names of all candidates that have filed their applications in accordance with the terms and provisions of this Order, and said Secretary shall otherwise comply with the terms and provisions of Art. 13.32 of the Election Code.
That said election shall be held at the following places, and the following named persons are hereby appointed officers for said election:

(a) In election precincts numbered 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 13, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, and 22 of Section 1, High Vocational Building, in Big Spring, Texas, in said School District, with Lawrence Robinson as Presiding Judge and Mrs. Alton Underwood (Alternate Presiding Judge) and Mrs. D. D. Johnston, Clerks.
(b) In election precincts numbered 1 of North Side Fire Station Building, in Big Spring, Texas, in said School District, with Mrs. Rufus Davidson as Presiding Judge and Teresa Rocha (Alternate Presiding Judge) and Mrs. Paul Abundez, Clerk.
The polls of the above designated polling places shall on election day be open from 8:00 o'clock a.m. to 7:00 o'clock p.m.
A Pauline Petty is hereby appointed Clerk for absentee voting. The absentee voting for the above designated election shall be held at Howard County Courthouse within the boundaries of the above named School District and said place of absentee voting shall remain open for at least eight hours on each day for absentee voting which is not a Saturday, a Sunday or an official State holiday, beginning on the 20th day and continuing through the 4th day preceding the date of said election. Said place of voting shall remain open between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. on each day for said absentee voting.
The above described place for absentee voting is also the absentee Clerk's mailing address to which ballot applications and ballots voted by mail shall be sent.
Absentee voting, both by personal appearance and by mail, shall be by paper ballots and shall be canvassed by a special canvassing board, and Lawrence Robinson as Presiding Judge, Mrs. Alton Underwood, (Alternate Presiding Judge) and Mrs. D. D. Johnston, as Clerks, are hereby appointed the Special Canvassing Board for said election.
5. The manner of holding said election shall be governed, as nearly as may be, by the Election Code of this state and this Board of Trustees will furnish all necessary ballots and other election supplies requisite to said election.
6. Immediately after the votes have been counted, the officer holding said election shall make and deliver the returns of said election and perform all other duties as provided by the Election Code.
7. The Board of Trustees shall give notice of said election, and this combined Election Order and Notice shall serve as Notice for said election. The President of the Board of Trustees is hereby authorized and instructed to post or cause to have posted said combined Election Order and Notice of three public places where notices are customarily posted in this school district, and said posting shall be made at least 20 days before the date of said election.
8. The President shall also cause a copy of this combined Election Order and Notice to be published one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where this school district is located. Said publication shall be not more than 30 days nor less than 10 days before the date of said election.
9. If it is further found and determined that in accordance with the order of the Board of Trustees the Secretary posted written notice of the date, place and subject of this meeting on the bulletin board, located in the administrative office, a place convenient to the public, and said notice having been so posted and remained posted continuously for at least 3 days preceding the date of this meeting.
It is further found and determined that this district is located in one county and that written notice of the date, place and subject matter of this meeting was furnished to the County Clerk of each county in which this district is located and that said notices were posted by the County Clerk of each of said counties on the bulletin board of said county, a place convenient to the public, at least 3 days preceding the date of this meeting. The returns of said posting shall be attached to the minutes of this meeting and shall be a part thereof for all intents and purposes.
The above order being read, it was moved and seconded that the same do pass. Thereupon the question being called for the following members of the Board voted AYE: J. W. Little, Ralph McLaughlin, Jerry Jenkins, Thomas W. Fellers, and the following voted NO: NONE

Oil Executive Says Higher Prices, Margins Unneeded

Mike Dennis Back Home

Mike Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Hatfield of 1106 Sycamore St., has been discharged from the Willford Hall Hospital in San Antonio and has returned home.

Victim of a freak accident that cost him part of both legs, last Labor Day, Mike now is equipped with artificial legs and is learning to walk with the aid of a can.

His doctors say he has made "marvelous progress" since the series of operations and even now maneuvers better than some people who underwent less serious surgery.

His mother estimates that the plucky teen-ager underwent upwards to 16 operations. He was in the hospital a total of 6 months, 3 weeks.

Dissident Units Encircled By Loyalists In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Police and army troops surrounded a cavalry barracks north of Lisbon today after dissident cavalry officers tried to take a motorized column to the Portuguese capital, newsmen reported.

The newsmen at Caldes da Rainha, 60 miles north of Lisbon, said the paramilitary Republican National Guard, troops from the town of Tomar and plainclothes police circled the barracks.

There were unconfirmed reports of dissident officers being surrounded by troops loyal to the government at Santarem, also north of the capital.

The cavalry officers, protesting against the government's African policies, tried to drive to the capital Friday or early today, reports said. They were turned back by police about 10 miles from Lisbon. About 200 were in the column.

There also were unconfirmed reports that Gen. Antonio de Spinoia, fired by Premier Marcello Caetano two days ago for criticism of the government, was in the northern town of Lamego, the center of a commando unit.

Lisbon streets carried traffic as usual. But airport security was tight. Cars en route to the airport were searched and their occupants questioned.

The 7,000-to 9,000-man Republican National Guard apparently was called on by the government to back up the order confining all military personnel to barracks.

Police surrounded the military academy in Lisbon early today as young officers met inside.

The Guard was out in extra force at the home of Premier Marcello Caetano and at the national Belem Palace.

Caetano faced the worst political crisis in 40 years over military dissent because of the country's African policies.

Earlier, young army officers circulated an underground paper protesting these policies.

Unconfirmed reports said number of the officers, said to be between 80 and 300, were arrested. But the country appeared calm and the government-controlled press reported a wave of telegrams supporting the government.

The paper, signed by "a movement of officers," called for a political—instead of a military—solution to Portugal's problems with native liberation movements in Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea.

It said the officers "intend to do their duty by denouncing errors" and recognized "the uncontrollable and irreversible reality of the deep aspirations of the African peoples." The paper also called for more freedom in Portugal.

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of the world's largest oil company says the industry does not need higher prices and profit margins to finance new energy development.

J. Kenneth Jamieson, chairman of Exxon Corp., said in an exclusive interview that "the industry should be able to operate, generating the capital it needs, with the current rates of return."

Jamieson also said Exxon might bring increased petroleum supplies quickly into the United States by diverting them from Europe after the end of the Arab oil embargo.

But he said U.S. refinery capacity could not meet unrestrained U.S. demand even if unlimited crude oil becomes available.

DIDN'T EXPAND

He said companies failed to expand refinery capacity in recent years because of the federal quota on oil imports, which President Nixon had retained until a year ago despite a Cabinet task force recommendation in 1970 that it be removed.

Oil industry profits increased some 47 per cent in 1973, and Exxon's worldwide profits soared to a record 59 per cent, enabling the company to increase its dividends 45 cents per share and still reinvest almost $1.5 billion — some 60 per cent of net earnings.

Jamieson said the oil companies do not really need new "incentives" to invest in efforts to increase energy production, but it would like the federal government to stop imposing new regulations and tampering with old ones.

"I think what the industry is saying is: Leave us alone," said Jamieson.

Here are excerpts from the interview with Jamieson, held in his office 51 floors above central Manhattan:

Q: If the embargo is lifted, what is Exxon's first step going to be?

A: It is possible that we could start diverting some supplies that were destined for Europe to get a fairly quick response over here, because the European supply situation is relatively easy at the moment.

But I don't think people should have the illusion that the shortage is going to disappear

(AP WIREPHOTO)
J. KENNETH JAMIESON

just like that, because it's a long, complicated supply system.

We really didn't see much effect from the embargo for 60 days and the full effect for almost 90 days, so you will have the same kind of a cycle coming back ... It may respond a little faster, I don't know.

Q: I understand the United States has a shortage of refinery capacity. Is that so?

A: I think there has been some misunderstanding on that. Refinery capacity was tight last year, but the industry was able, by bottleneck elimination and better maintenance techniques, to find quite a lot of capacity.

I think our refining how is sufficient at least through this year and possibly next.

Demand will be the key to the refinery capacity. If the demand gets back into the rate of growth it was on last year, then there will be a shortage of refinery capacity.

Q: In recent years, Exxon expanded refinery capacity in Europe in anticipation of growth. Why didn't it do that in the United States?

UNCERTAINTY

A: Well, we had this uncertainty about our crude supply in the United States, where the import regulations were quite confused ... Now with the clarification of the import regulations, it shifted the economics definitely back into the United States to build this refinery capacity.

Also, there were refinery siting problems and a lack of facilities for handling big tankers.

Q: About a year ago, President Nixon lifted the quota from oil imports and since then a lot of companies have begun expanding refinery capacity here. What happens to remove the siting problems and lack of deepwater ports?

A: Most of the refinery expansion today is in existing refineries.

Q: Then that expansion was not blocked by siting problems or port problems and could have been done at any time?

A: Right.

Q: Then it comes down to the availability of foreign crude under the import regulations.

A: Right. It was under regulation and uncertainties so we were not sure what supplies we would have.

Q: Oil industry profits rose sharply in 1973 and Exxon's profits jumped 50 per cent, but it appears the large increase came mainly from out operations abroad, not the United States. Is that correct?

A: That's right. Our profit off oil and gas operations in the United States rose just about in proportion with our sales here. The bulk of the profit increase came out of Europe, and Japan to a degree. And our

For One Woman, Her Hobby (Flowers) Grew And Grew

By MARJ CARPENTER
It's St. Patrick's Day and time for the wearing of the Green. Some will simply pin a shamrock to their costume while others will go all out with bright green garb.

But there's one woman in Big Spring who does not have to dress up in green for St. Patrick's. Because she has the greenest thumb in town.

We're talking about Mrs. A. C. Moore, out on 1907 Main, known to many as "the African violet lady." As a matter of fact, all of the local garden clubs are today holding a St. Patrick's Day open house and flower show at her home. This is highlighted today's women's section of the Big Spring Herald.

Moore sounds like a good old Irish name, but Mrs. Moore says her husband is a large part Indian. "But I've got lots of Irish ancestors," she adds.

If she brags that she can make anything grow, you still can't accuse her of kissing the blarney stone because she really can apparently make anything grow.

Some 17 years ago, her sister-in-law gave her an African violet leaf and she planted it. It grew, and grew, and grew. She began to move her violets to more clay pots. Then she traded some for other varieties and when they grew traded them for still others.

People began to realize that she liked violets and gave her other varieties as gifts. They grew. Her brother built two extra rooms on the back of the house. It was soon filled with violets.

As was every other room in the house. All of the window sills, or wherever there is light, were filled with plants. The living room has tables full of violets under artificial lights. The screened front porch has been filled up with violets protected by a curtain filtering the hot afternoon sun.

CLOSED IN
The garage has now been closed in for room for the expanding hobby. Mrs. Moore joined two violet clubs and takes the national magazine. She began ordering self-watering plants so she wouldn't be watering plants all of the time.

She began to cross the plants by splitting and tying leaves together. She has one new variety named Allie (her given name) and plans to register it with the National African Violet Society of America.

One of her special prides is a variety developed by a six year old youth named Dwayne Elie, son of floral enthusiasts. He recently died in a tragic illness.

She raised a daughter and has three grandchildren, one of whom is in the army.

In answering questions about her success with plants, she doesn't claim such miracles as talking to them. She has too many. She uses rainwater, plant food and never overwaters. The plants also need light. That's about it.

But she definitely has the luck of the Irish in raising violets.

HEALTHY
In one room, there is a shelf full of the healthiest looking ivy plants you ever saw. It's kind of startling after viewing rooms and rooms of violets.

"Where did the ivy come from?" "Well," Mrs. Moore answers, with an Irish twinkle in her eye, "Somebody gave me a little stem of ivy without any leaves."

You already know the rest. With lots of green leaves and one green thumb, there's plenty of green accent at the Moores today.

Club Looks To Playday

The Howard County Youth Horsemen held this year's third business meeting last Monday in the Federal Savings and Loan building with presidents Mark Sanders and Mike Hull presiding.

The club has passed new by-law revisions, copies of which will be given to members at the next meeting 7:30 p.m. April 8. Members can now attend the board of directors meeting but cannot vote at them.

Ten junior members and three adults rode in the San Angelo Rodeo parade last Friday, and the group won a second place trophy. Senior Queen Lana Smith also recently placed fourth in the Lubbock ABC Rodeo queen contest. She was judged on personality, horsemanship, and points received in ticket sales.

Upcoming events include a District IV, AASP7RC, playday in the club's Garden City Highway arena April 6. Mrs. E. R. Weatherman and Mrs. Preston Myrick will captain the concession stand. West Texas Appaloosa Horse Club horse shows will be March 16 and 30 and April 13 at the Club's Midland arena. Events will include showmanship at halter, Western pleasure and riding and barrel, role and flag racing.

The Youth Horsemen's Little Britches Rodeo will be April 19-20, at which time the announcer will be Donald Lynch. New Club members are Karen Coffee, Julie Murphy, the Larry Greenfield family, and Mrs. and Mrs. Joe Oliver. Tina Hinkle won the halter.

TNA Convention Opens April 3

"Positive Dimensions" in nursing will draw nearly 1,000 Texas registered nurses to the 63rd annual convention of the Texas Nurses Association in McAllen, April 3-6.

Nursing leaders from Arizona, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and Texas will address the professional nurses on current nursing issues such as standards of practice, collective bargaining, research education, practice and legislation. The convention will conclude with a Saturday workshop on POMR (problem oriented medical records) — a new patient charting method being introduced in U.S. hospitals.

Loretta Ford, RN, Ed. D., one of the foremost nursing educators in the country, will keynote the first program session. Ms. Ford is Dean and Director of Nursing at the University of Rochester School of Nursing, New York.

Film Critic Dies

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Charles T. Samuels, 38, film critic, author and associate professor of English at Williams College, died Wednesday. The cause of death was not immediately known. He was film critic for American Scholar Magazine and a regular contributor to The New York Times, the Atlantic Monthly and Vogue.

CRMWD Meeting Set Thursday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday in the district headquarters, 1318 E. 4th in Big Spring, to handle miscellaneous business.

Among the items on the agenda are the extension of the water sales contract with SACROC. The original contract was made 20 years ago when the district began operations and carries with an option to renew.

The board also will receive from Texas Electric Service Company a proposed rate increase for electric power. It is possible also that the board will have reports of the election held Saturday in Robert Lee on a proposed water sales contract with the district.

Council Backs Randolph Trip

The Base Community Council of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an information and good will trip to Randolph Air Force Base, ATC Command Headquarters for Webb AFB on March 26-27.

Main purpose of the trip will be to hold a personal review of ATC and to hear a briefing by Lt. Gen. William V. McBride and his staff on Wednesday morning.

Immediately following the briefing, the group will visit the training facilities at Lackland

Air Force Base and have lunch with the trainees.

The group will travel by charter bus, leaving Big Spring at 10 a.m. Tuesday. There will be close to 35 in the group including members of the Base

Community Council, the chamber board of directors, city and county officials.

Anyone interested should contact the chamber office where reservations are being made on an availability basis.

Wilkes, Bruins Roll By San Francisco

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — UCLA's Bruins rode the 26-point shooting of All-American Keith Wilkes to an overwhelming 83-60 victory over the University of San Francisco Saturday and into the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championships where they will battle for an eighth straight title.

West Coast Athletic Conference. New Mexico led 26-22 at the half against the club which forced UCLA into three overtimes Thursday before losing 111-100. Shortly after the second half opened the Lobos rattled off 10 straight points with Taylor, a 150-pounder, hitting six of them. Dayton never could make up the deficit.

Taylor and Bernard Hardin each scored 14 points to pace the winning champions of the Western Athletic Conference. Don Smith scored 22 for Dayton's Flyers but Mike Sylvester, who had 36 against UCLA, scored only 10 in this consolation game. The victory completed New Mexico's season at 22-7 while Dayton finished 20-9.

A TOUGH RACE — There seems to be all kinds of troubles for runners in this 70-yard high hurdles preliminary race Saturday at Big Spring's Memorial Stadium in the Optimist Junior Relays. Keeping one's balance, landing just right and trying to miss the barriers are some of the problems encountered here. Midland Austin won the ninth grade division and Midland San Jacinto took the eighth grade honors in the one-day event. See results, page 2-B.

$25,000 MINIMUM SALARY Players Make Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League Players Association asked the club owners Saturday to provide a minimum salary of $25,000 a year for veterans, $25,000 for members of the winning Super Bowl team and more freedom to permit players to move to the team of their choice. The 57 demands were made during the first meeting between the NFL Players Association and the NFL Management Council, the bargaining agent for the players.

insurance plan premiums in the face of a possible strike during the exhibition season. "They're presuming a strike," said Ed Garvey, NFLPA executive director, after the meeting. "It is an insult." Theodore Kheel, general labor counsel for the management council, said the owners would continue to pay the premiums if the players guaranteed there would be no strike before the first regular season game. But he received no reply from the association. "We'll pay the premiums, but we're not going to subsidize a strike," said Kheel, adding that the payments are some $64,000 a month. The owners informed the players in January that the premiums would not be paid by them as of March 31, per the collective bargaining agreement which expired Jan. 31. The players contend a covering letter on the insurance booklet says the owners will pay the premiums up to the first regular season game. John Thompson, executive director of the council, said the owners' counterproposal probably would not be made until early April. "We expect and anticipate drastic improvement in that attitude over the next few months."

Steers 3rd; McCormick Sets Record

BROWNWOOD — The Big Spring Steers scored their third consecutive third place finish Saturday, following Killen and Temple in the Brownwood Bluebonnet Relays Standings.

Killen's 123 was good for an easy first, while Temple had 81 for second and the Steers were next with 54. Abilene High finished fourth with 16 points, while Cooper was in eighth spot with 20 points. Ricky McCormick kept his string of unbeaten miles alive, winning the four-lapper in a record time of 4:26.4, beating the old mark of 4:31.8 set by Joe Wilkinson of Fort Worth Eastern Hills last year. It was McCormick's best effort of the year, and moves him up among the top five milers in the state. The Steer mile relay team of Doug Smith, Don Beene, Bobby Mayo and Donald Walters finished second in 3:25.5, a time that also bettered the existing mark. Temple topped the Longhorns, however, and now hold the relay mark of 3:24.5.

Wolfpack Rips Pittsburgh In East; Thompson Hurt

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A grim Tommy Burleson scored 21 of his 26 points after All-American teammate David Thompson was lost with an early injury and led North Carolina State, the nation's No. 1 basketball team, to a 100-72 rout of Pittsburgh Saturday for the National Collegiate Athletic Association Eastern Regional title.

The Wolfpack's 20th straight victory in a 28-1 season moved it to the national semifinals at Greensboro, N.C., next Saturday against the Western Regional winner. Thompson, 6-4 junior frontcourt leaper, crashed to the floor after soaring up after a missed tip shot with 10:17 left in the first half. He lay still for several seconds as play continued and Pitt's Keith Starr scored a basket that cut State's lead to 24-21. Play then was halted for several minutes and a high fell over the previously roaring crowd of 12,400 as Thompson lay motionless while his teammates paced the floor in anguish. Finally, Thompson was placed on a stretcher and taken to a hospital where X-rays later revealed no serious injury. It was right after Thompson left that the 7-4 Burleson went to work, aided by two ball-hawking guards, Monte Towe and Mo Rivers. Burleson hit corner shots, hooks and layups for 11 points and a halftime total of 16 to give his team a 47-41 lead at intermission. It was the 28th straight home court victory for Coach Norm Sloan's team which ran up the highest score yielded by Pitt in its 25-4 season. If State needed any further inspiration, it came with 10 minutes left in the last half with the aroused Wolfpack leading 70-49. An announcement was made that X-rays revealed no serious injury to Thompson who had scored eight points before he was hurt. With less than seven minutes to go, Thompson made a dramatic reappearance at courtside, his head bandaged after several stitches had been taken.

Duran Kayos Challenger, Keeps Lightweight Crown

Short Buys Purdue Stuns North Carolina

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The famous "Buy me some peanuts and crackerjacks" song could be changed to "Buy me some peanuts and gasoline" this summer if Texas Rangers owner Bob Short's plans become a reality. Arlington City Manager Ross Calhoun said Friday that Short has purchased a service station near the Rangers' stadium. Calhoun said Short plans to keep the gas station open on days, including Sundays, when his team plays baseball at home.

New York (AP) — Jerry Nichols scored three straight baskets in a minute and a half and finished with 22 points as Purdue rallied in the second half to upset seventh-ranked North Carolina 82-71 in the first round of the 33rd National Invitation and Bobby Jones had 13. Maryland-Eastern Shore downed Manhattan 84-1 earlier in the day at Madison Square Garden as William Gordon scored 26 points to pace a second-half Hawk explosion that ran their record to 27-1. In night action of the basketball classic, Massachusetts met Jacksonville and Fairfield played Hawaii. Down 42-36 at the intermission, Purdue's Boilermakers rallied in the second half, outscoring the top-seeded Tar Heels 29-10 in the first 10 minutes. Nichols' basket at 15:25 put Purdue in front 49-48 and the Big Ten team never lost the lead, building up a 14-point margin with 6½ minutes to play. North Carolina, an Atlantic Coast Conference team which had led in the first half when Walter Davis scored 12 points, was hurt in the second half of the game not only by cold shooting but also turnovers. The Tar Heels had 33 turnovers in the first 18 minutes of the game as well. Frank Kenrick finished with 19 points for Purdue, 18-8, while Davis had 18 for North Carolina, 22-6, and Bobby Jones had 13. Maryland-Eastern Shore fell behind in the early going as Bill Campion led Manhattan to a 32-21 margin with 7:17 left in the first half. However, the Jaspers turned cold at the free throw line, missing nine straight, and Gordon scored 16 first-half points, bringing the Hawks within 41-40 at halftime. Maryland-Eastern Shore finally took the lead 46-44 on a basket by Joe Pace, and held it the rest of the way although Manhattan closed to a point in the final minute. Campion finished with 25 points and George Buccì had 22 for the Jaspers. Tommy Nelson scored 16 for Maryland-Eastern Shore, now 27-1. Manhattan ended its season at 18-9.

Tense Victory To Marquette

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Junior Dave Delsman's two free throws with 45 seconds remaining gave eighth-ranked Marquette a 72-70 victory over Michigan Saturday for the championship of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Mid-East regional basketball tournament. Marquette, ending years of frustration in NCAA competition, still had to withstand a couple of late opportunities for Michigan, both of which went astray when Campy Russell missed two shots out of the left corner in the final 18 seconds. Sophomore Lloyd Walton had an opportunity to give Marquette a four-point lead with 25 seconds remaining but missed the first shot of a one-and-one free throw situation and Russell claimed the rebound. Marquette now advances to the national semifinals at Greensboro, N.C., next Saturday against Big Eight champion Kansas, which won the Mid-West title with a 93-90 overtime triumph over Oral Roberts. Marquette, making its ninth appearance in NCAA tournament competition, had lost five times to Big Ten conference teams in previous tournaments. This marked the first time the Warriors have ever reached the round of four finalists. Earlier Saturday, third-ranked Notre Dame won the consolation game by beating sixth-ranked Vanderbilt 118-88. All-American John Shumate and freshman Adrian Dudley combined 59 points to help the Fighting Irish.

West Georgia NAIA Champ

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Deceptive Clarence Walker and deadly Tom Turner turned in dazzling performances as 14th-seeded West Georgia beat No. 4 Alcorn A&M 97-79 for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball championship Saturday night. Freshman Gerald Cunningham tossed in 35 points as Kentucky State took third place with a 95-79 victory over St. Mary's of Texas in the first half of the doubleheader.

Wiechers, Green Deadlocked In Jacksonville Open Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jim Wiechers rode the best round of the golf tournament, a six-under-par 66, into a tie for the lead with Hubert Green Saturday in the third round of the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open. Wiechers, a husky 230-pounder from the California wine country, grabbed his share of the lead with an eagle-three and put together a 54-hole total of 205, 11 under par on the 7,088-yard Deerwood Country Club course. Green, the 36-hole leader, retained a part of the lead with a four-under-par 68. John Mahaffey shot a 69 and was third with a 207, nine-under-par and two strokes back going into Sunday's final round in the chase for a $30,000 first prize. New Zealand left-hander Bob Charles, making his first start of the year in this country, Homero Blancas and Labron Harris were another two shots behind at 209. Charles had a 68, Harris 69 and Blancas 71. Tom Weiskopf headed another trio at 210. He had a 70 and was tied with DeWitt Weaver and rookie Larry Nelson, each of whom managed a 68 in the mid, partly cloudy weather. Arnold Palmer, only two strokes off the lead at the end of two rounds, made a double-bogey six from the water on the eighth hole, played the front nine in 40 and finished with a 77 that dropped him 11 strokes off the pace at 216. Wiechers, a jut-jawed, soft-spoken veteran who has not scored an official victory in eight years on the pro tour, said, "If I can play half as well tomorrow as I did today, I will win. I'd just like to take that swing I had today and file it somewhere so it doesn't get lost for tomorrow."

fish the rod should do most of the work. Also tell him to keep the fish hooked by keeping the pressure on the line at all times.

If the fish starts a long run, have the boy raise the rod tip immediately and let the line run out. When the fish stops its run, have the boy raise the rod tip and then reel in steadily as he drops the tip. He's to repeat this action until he lands the fish or it starts another run.

A word about safety. Make certain your boy looks around for other fishermen and for possible obstructions before each cast.

With a little effort on your part, your son can become an enthusiastic fisherman in no time. Once he gets the bug, he'll probably have it for the rest of his life.

Dear Virgil,
While fishing in Wisconsin I caught a good-size fish which I thought was a large northern pike. When I got back to shore a fellow told me it was a small muskellunge. Is there any easy way of distinguishing these two species?

Richard Jaye Warren, Mich.

Dear Richard,
There certainly is an easy and quick way of telling a pike from a muskie, which, as you may have guessed, is a member of the pike family. The muskellunge lacks scales on the lower half of the cheek and gill cover. Also if you look at the lower jaw of each, the northern pike has five or fewer small openings or sensory pores along each edge of the lower jaw while the muskellunge has six or more.

TEACH YOUR SON HOW TO FISH

There probably isn't a fisherman around who doesn't take a crack at teaching his son how to fish. Here are a few thoughts that may be helpful.

While any age can be the right time, I've found kids learn best when they're from five to seven years old. They seem to have the right amount of interest during these years.

Good equipment is a distinct advantage. While you can rig a pole, your son eventually will go to a standard rod and reel. So why not start there?

Drop in at a tackle shop and look over starter sets such as the Skipper by Johnson. These sets usually consist of a fiberglass or metal rod and closed-faced spin casting reel already matched and strung with four- to six-pound test line. (A five-foot or five-and-a-half foot rod should be about right.)

After you both pick out a set and he has become familiar with its parts and action, show him how to hold the rod and how the thumb lever works on the spin casting reel.

The next step is practice. Your son should learn to cast in his backyard or some other open area rather than at a lake or stream. While he may not like the idea of not being able to go right out and fish, if you make practice something of a game you should be able to divert him long enough to learn how to use the rod and reel. Have him cast to a specific target.

When you're satisfied he can handle a rod and reel with a fair amount of precision, take him to a farm pond if one is convenient. These ponds often offer very good fishing. Otherwise, go to a nearby stream or lake.

While he can use natural bait, I prefer he start with artificial lures. They practically eliminate the possibility of his snapping off the bait.

Tell him that if he hooks a

New Fish, Game Laws Proposed

BY PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPARTMENT

AUSTIN — Proposed changes in Texas hunting and fishing regulations for 1974-75 would increase protection for both fresh and salt water sports fishes and still provide for a continued harvest level of marketable Gulf Coast seafood, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department executive director Clayton T. Garrison.

They include stricter control of all trotlines in salt waters and limited nighttime winter netting for commercial fishermen in portions of the lower coast.

Public hearings on the proposed changes will be conducted statewide during March 25-29 and the results will be presented to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission in public sessions scheduled for April 25-26 in Austin for establishing regulations for all Texas counties under its regulatory authority.

The hearing for Howard County will be March 27 at 10 a.m. in the county courthouse.

Artificial lures on trotlines and throwlines would be prohibited in coastal waters of 12 counties under Commission authority in the new proposals. Presently used by both commercial and sports fishermen, the plastic lures are reported by department fisheries biologists to be especially selective on small redfish. That is, the young reds find them irresistible and, consequently, are hooked in great numbers.

It is also recommended that the artificial lures be prohibited since unattended or abandoned trotlines baited with them continue to catch fish which are left to die on the hooks.

This, of course, does not apply to artificial lures used on rods and reels.

A change applying to all game birds, game animals, fur-bearing animals and fish would make each single specimen taken in violation of game laws a separate offense, a more precise definition for law enforcement purposes.

Hunting regulations up for changes include a recommendation for a standard season on javelina in some counties and closed season in others.

An Oct. 1 through Jan. 1 javelina hunting season is proposed for Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Runnels, Concho, McCulloch, San Saba, Llano, Blanco, Hays, Caldwell, Gonzales, DeWitt, Victoria, Calhoun and all regulatory counties south and west of these counties. Bag limits would be two per season.

The season would be closed in all others north and east of these counties.

Department biologists also propose that antelope bucks be taken in the Trans-Pecos and Permian Basin without permits. Landowners, under the change, would decide the number of bucks to be harvested so as not to damage the breeding potential of the herd, while permits would still be required for shooting doe antelope.

Permits will still be required for taking buck antelope in the Panhandle; bag limit is one per season. Antelope season would be closed due to lack of huntable populations in the Possum Kingdom district under another proposed change.

An extra weekend of quail hunting would be afforded about half of the time in future seasons under a proposal to end the quail dates on the Sunday nearest Jan. 31 and Feb. 15 for those counties with seasons which now close specifically on those calendar days.

Turkey season would be closed by a department recommendation in Bosque, Collins, Cooke, Dallas, Denton, Eastland, Ellis, Erath, Grayson, Hill, Johnson, McLennan, Palo Pinto, Parker, Somervell, Tarrant and Wise Counties where the birds do not exist in huntable populations.

A special firearms season on antlerless deer to be held Oct. 12-27, both days inclusive, is proposed for Gillespie, Llano and Mason Counties.

BOMBED-OUT SHOPS RISE AGAIN

How's Old Ireland Today?

Editor's Note: The trouble goes on in Northern Ireland. The death toll on this St. Patrick's Day approaches 1,000 and the devastation amounts to millions of dollars. Yet the bombed-out shops rise again from the shreds and ashes. Business is booming. There is hope the tourists will come back, and people on both sides still have their Irish sense of humor. AP Special Correspondent Hugh Mulligan has just toured the 22-mile border between Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic. He visited eight counties on both sides of the line and talked with all kinds of people. Here is his report.

By HUGH MULLIGAN AP Special Correspondent

BELFAST (AP) — It was what you might call a typical Irish day: Soft with the fall of rain and the musical talk of the people; harsh with the discordant noise of the troubles that won't go away.

A street singer with an accordion stood in front of the recently reopened Woolworth's Store, still reeking of smoke from the fire bombs, and sang about some day going back to Ireland, be it only for the closing of the day.

As he sang, fire engines screamed down Royal Avenue, Belfast's main shopping street, to catch up with incendiary bombs going off in a printing plant a few blocks away.

Newsboys called out the afternoon headlines in a nasal singsong: All about the search for the teen-age killers of a policeman shot down the previous Saturday in front of crowds of Belfast shoppers.

A patrol of British soldiers in jungle fatigues and flak jackets moved down the avenue, almost unnoticed by the throngs, hugging the building lines and ducking in and out of doorways with their rifles cradled in their arms.

Shoppers raised their arms and submitted to a body search at an army checkpoint, then opened their handbags and parcels before passing through a steel revolving gate that led to the bomber's mall, the fenced off inner streets of the shopping district where vehicle traffic was excluded as a precaution against car bombs.

What nonsense are you singing? A woman emerging from a boarded-up clothing store turned on the sidewalk troubador.

"You're in Ireland now, and it may be the closing of the day for all of us."

He changed his tune to that dear little town in the old County Down, but the choice was not a happy one. That night bombs erupted in Newry, Portaferry and several other towns in the old County Down, including a massive car bomb that wrecked the business district of Downpatrick. If St. Patrick really is buried under the granite boulder marked Patrick in the cathedral yard of that once quiet market town, he must be wondering what's become of the island of saints and scholars he rescued from the pagan Druids 1,500 years ago.

The question was put to a shipyard worker standing in the rubble of where up until recently Paddy Lamb's public house used to stand. "Saints and scholars," he laughed derisively. "Don't be daft. There hasn't been a saint canonized in Ireland in 900 years. We've become the island of assassins and murderers." He spoke from the Shankill or Protestant side of the so-called peace line that has divided Belfast into armed camps since the troubles broke out again. In the clearing left by the vanished pub, a giant crane named Big Ian loomed over the Harland and Wolff shipyards, where despite the devastation downtown, work is ahead of schedule on a half-million-ton jumbo tanker. The crane is named for the Rev. Ian Paisley, the fiery Protestant leader whose hard-line loyalist faction in favors continuing Ulster's link with Britain. It has just won 11 of the 12 Northern Ireland seats in the newly elected British Parliament.

At the heart of the Irish question, backed by the guns and bombs of the outlawed Irish Republican Army and opposed by the bombs and guns of the Ulster Defense Association is the old Republican dream of reuniting the six counties of Northern Ireland with the 26 counties of the south that declared their independence in 1921.

If it wasn't for the St. Patrick's Day cards in the windows and the signs advertising the health-giving attributes of Irish malt beverages, Belfast and the towns along the border on the Ulster side might be mistaken for Vitenam or the Gaza Strip. The police stations and military posts are piled high with sandbags, curtained off with camouflage nets and coils of barbed wire and hidden bomb-proof fences of sheet metal.

At night the streets are deserted, save for an occasional prowling armored car. Most business districts have become control zones, where parking is forbidden at all times.

"Fear is the only word for this city," said a Belfast taxi driver named Malachy. "When a car comes along the street at night, you instinctively step into a doorway till it goes by. You cross the street, if you see some fellows coming the other way. There's genuine tension here, fear of assassination. A knock at the door, and you go to an upstairs window to see who it might be."

In the past three years, 216 British soldiers, 40 local defense troopers, 39 policemen and 666 civilians have died in Ireland's urban warfare, and thousands have been wounded or burned out of their homes. "At evening, coming up the Crumlin Road to the Ardoyne Chapel, I never know whether the sky is crimson with the setting sun or another bus is on fire," said Helen, a waitress in a downtown hotel who walks home two miles every night because she lives in a no-go area where the buses won't go. Both the IRA and the UDA have organized taxi services at 10 pence — 25 cents — a head to ferry shoppers to and from the no-go areas.

The Papes — for Papists — as the Catholics are called, are ferried up the Falls Road; the Prods, for Protestants, negotiate the same hill along the Shankill Road. In recent months, the firepower has escalated. Stones and petrol bombs have given way to semiautomatic weapons and rocket launchers and there have been mortar attacks on military and police posts. Three men and a girl even hijacked a helicopter and dropped two bombs in milk churns on the police headquarters at Strabane in County Tyrone. One landed in the river, the other failed to go off. The Irish in the troubled northeast corner get used to driving around barrels and over bumps when they pass a police station, and to being frisked when they enter a store in a control area.

Patricia, a clerk in a shoe store has helped three times to sweep the water and the broken glass out of the shop after a bombing.

GO HOME

"I'd move away tomorrow, if I could afford it," she says. "You'd be afraid to say anything around here. People saw that policeman shot Saturday. They saw the boys run away. But they daren't say boo or they'd be dead too."

In the park across from the Rev. Paisley's Free Presbyterian church is a large police billboard: "Murder. Brian McDermott. Someone, somewhere, saw or heard something. Ring the police at 55150."

But the murders go unsolved and attitudes harden as the billboards peel. Even the graffiti on the walls grows faint with time but not with fervor:

"Prods out" "IRA murders" "You are now entering free Derry" "British killers go home."

When the fire engines leave and the smoke fades into aromas, Ulster hangs out its only sign of hope: "Bomb damage stock sale."

With quick bomb damage compensation from the Northern Ireland government, shops and businesses keep coming back from the shards and the ashes. On Belfast's Royal Avenue, three bombed-out shops stand forlorn and windowless in a gutted row, then comes Paige's Shoe Store, getting ready for a grand reopening on March 19.

SMUGGLING

"It's a triumph of economics over fear," explained a downtown merchant. "Businesses that rebuild get their money right away from the government. Those going out of business have to wait years for their compensation claims."

Deliveries Up, Income Down A Bit In District

Revenues are running slightly behind through February for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, but deliveries are up.

The small decline in revenues of $716,595 through two months is due to lesser use of water by oilfield repressuring customers. Municipal customers paid in $402,279, a gain of $10,000 for the two-month period, but repressuring revenues were $303,174, down $17,000. Recreational revenues of $11,009 were up about $1,300.

Operational expenditures for the first two months amounted to $228,884, a gain of $29,000 over the same period a year ago. Most of the increase is in water purchases in the Ward County field, plus additional power costs.

The $487,711 difference between expenses and revenues for the first two months goes into the net revenue fund to retire bonds, pay interest and go to special indented funds. In February, 2,266,690,000 gallons were billed to Odessa, 200,355,000 to Big Spring, 60,708,000 to Snyder, 6,001,000 to Stanton 18,229,000 to San Angelo and 190,300,000 to Midland. Total billings, including cities and oilfield customers, stood at 2,542,000,000 gallons, up 242,000,000 gallons over the first two months of 1973. Billings are on the previous month's consumption.

Energy? We Have Plenty In Sight

There are more energy reserves in the state of Wyoming now than the United States has used in the last 200 years, according to the Rev. John Baker of Rapid City, N.D., executive secretary of the North Plains Baptist Association.

The Rev. Mr. Baker was speaking before members of the Kiwanis Club at noon here Thursday. The agency Baker represents embraces south Dakota and Wyoming, as well as Wyoming.

"If they tripled the mining of coal," Baker told his listeners, "they would still have enough for the 300 years. If they mine a million tons of coal a year along the Powder River, they'd have enough for the next 285 years."

No guests were present for the luncheon meeting.

Fears Of New Trade War Are Voiced In Europe

By The Associated Press
Fears of a trade war and a new period of American isolationism were voiced in European newspapers today in the wake of President Nixon's Chicago speech charging his transatlantic allies with noncooperation.

In London, the Daily Mail pushed Britain's domestic crisis aside and gave over its front page to a story headlined "Nixon's Fury on Europe."

It said his remarks shocked North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Common Market officials.

"They believe it makes a new period of American isolationism a real possibility," the Mail commented. "The immediate danger is of a trade war causing massive damage to Europe."

Rome's largest newspaper, Il Messaggero, claimed that the Nixon speech "has officially and deliberately placed America's foreign policy on a route of collision with Europe."

It accused the President of dramatizing the contrasts between the United States and Europe to cover up his difficulties at home.

Some other European newspapers accused Nixon of putting "the heat on Europe" and of waving "the big stick."

The London Times carried a story from a Washington correspondent describing the President's statement as "by far the strongest language Mr. Nixon has ever used about Europe and completely eclipses the academic and reflective reproaches which Dr. Kissinger has directed across the Atlantic."

Nixon's warning that unless Europeans cooperate on the economic front with the United States they would "find it almost impossible to get congressional support for troops at the present level" was significant for West Germany, which depends for its security on 229,000 of the 300,000 GIs stationed in Europe.

In a statement released after Nixon's speech, in which the President virtually ruled out a trip to Europe next month for the signing of a new military agreement on the 25th anniversary of NATO, the Bonn government struck an unruffled note.

"The decision ... will permit deliberations necessary for an improved harmonization between the nine Common Market countries and the United States to be suspended without time pressure," it said.

Despite this official calm, observers in West Germany viewed Nixon's statement as a major escalation in the transatlantic war of words that flared when European countries decided to find an answer to their energy problems by treating an individual path to Middle East oil producers.

Area Students Are Pledged

Three students from the Big Spring area have pledged social clubs at Abilene Christian College during the Spring semester.

Brent Clifton, son of Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Coffee, 2802 Cactus, is pledging the Kinsment club. He is a 1972 graduate of Big Spring High and is a sophomore accounting major.

Mischa Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill E. Read, 312 N. Main, Coahoma, is pledging Sigma Theta Chi women's social club. She is a 1972 graduate of Coahoma High School and is currently a junior home economics major at ACC.

Phyllis Wynn daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Wynn, also of Coahoma, is pledging Delta Theta women's social club. She is a junior physical education major and a 1972 graduate of Coahoma High School.

Governor's Veto Power Trimmed

AUSTIN (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates put another nick in a Texas governor's power Friday by making it easier for the legislature to override his veto.

OWE IT

The convention continued work after taking two days off following the death and funeral of Rep. Hawkins Menefee, D-Houston, who was killed in a car accident early Wednesday.

Only 54 of the 181 delegates were on the convention floor when debate began this morning and a bare quorum to do business was present when the first vote was taken. The vote showed 120 present. A quorum is 122 delegates — two-thirds of the total.

Speaker Price Daniel Jr., convention president, urged the delegates to work both Friday afternoon and Saturday despite the sparse turnout. "We owe it to the people of Texas to devote ourselves more seriously and fully to finish our work," he told the delegates.

Shortly afterwards Daniel told a newsman that he now feels certain the convention will not be able to complete its work without a recess for the primary elections.

PRETTY CLEAR

"That's pretty clear," he said when asked if he now thought a recess would be necessary.

The delegates voted 64-62 against an amendment that would preserve a governor's power to veto bills at the end of a legislative session without the legislators having a chance to override his veto. The vote puts into the proposed new constitution a new provision that says if the legislature is called back any time during its term it will take up any governor's vetoes pending.

Earlier, the convention voted to let governor's vetoes be overridden by two-thirds of the legislators present, not two-thirds of the membership of either the Senate or House, as now.

"We have not had a governor's veto overridden since 1941," said Sen. Bill Meier, D-Euless, whose committee recommended the change. "We are just trying to restore the checks and balances."

'DOWN TO EARTH' gardening will be highlighted today at a spring festival and workshop sponsored by Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs at the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main. Three of the gardeners who will assist at the event are, from left, Mrs. Dale Smith, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Paul Guy, shown with some of the African violets which will be displayed.

Down To Earth Gardening

The Big Spring Garden Club Council is sponsoring a spring festival and workshop today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main.

According to Mrs. Moore, the event is open to all garden club members, garden lovers or "those who are just interested in gardening." Hours will be from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The theme, "Down to Earth Gardening", will be emphasized in the workshop. Dr. Paul Koshi, president of the Organic Garden Club and a soil scientist at the U.S. Experiment Station, will show how soil is tested. A demonstration of a shredding machine will be by A. C. Moore, Edward Cruz and Johnny Johansen.

In other areas, Mrs. Dale Smith will discuss flower arranging, Mrs. John Coffee will discuss African violets and Mrs. Odell Womack will detail the construction of terrariums.

Gardeners will bring pot plants, cut flowers, African violets and terrariums for judging, with Mrs. D. S. Riley serving as display and entry chairman. Mrs. David Wolf will work with several children in potting plants.

During a tour of the Moores' African violet greenhouse, discussion will center on how and when to root the violets and proper care after the plant is rooted.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Moore, Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, Mrs. Paul Guy and presidents of local garden clubs.

HOSTESS PAJAMAS that recall the movie-star allure of the 30's in today's newest fabrics. The long fluid look is captured in a belted tunic top with deep slit neckline that falls softly from gathers at the shoulders. With it, the flowing pajama pant, in a sensuous anti-cling nylon crepe.

SOFT LOOK FOR SPRING in an easy, feminine non-suit which heads the fashion bill this spring. The pleated skirt, knit top, silk blouse, higher heels and sheer stockings make up the "look" which is a refreshing change from pants. Spring hair styles are soft and flowing, too.

A REGULAR VISIT to the beauty salon is well worth the trip when you can get a lovely looking coil like this. Madison Avenue master stylist, Maurice Tidy, created this romantic new style for spring and summer.

Women Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — About three times as many women will be running for public office on the national and state levels in 1974 as ever before, according to the National Women's Political Caucus.

Watergate is partly responsible for the large number of female candidates and may help many of them win office, the caucus' political strategists believe.

More than 3,000 women are expected to seek office on state and national levels this year, Liz Carpenter, a former White House aide under Lyndon B. Johnson and a co-founder of the caucus, told a news conference Wednesday.

That is about triple the record 1,028 women who sought such offices in 1972. She said of these, 483 won their races.

"Watergate has stepped up the influx of women candidates," said Ms. Carpenter, as she prefers to be known. "Many who would not have run before were prompted by Watergate."

The opening of a nationwide, bipartisan "Win With Women" electoral campaign by the caucus was announced at the news conference.

And 15 women candidates were introduced as "sex symbols" — prototypes of thousands of other women candidates.

The 15 women, who included candidates for governor, senator, House member, state legislator and city council member, all indicated that financial disclosure would be an important part of their campaigns.

All said they would be willing to make public information on their financial assets and liabilities and income tax returns.

OVER A BARREL about fashion? Here's a new look that can solve several wardrobe dilemmas: Starting at the bottom, classic clog-sandals will go almost everywhere in style. Equally versatile, the gingham suit teams a new, longer-length skirt with peplum jacket, to swirl through the day into evening.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Dub) Bryant, 1602 Tucson Rd., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Denise, to John Richard Boicourt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Boicourt of Syracuse, N.Y. The wedding is scheduled May 24 at Wesley United Methodist Church with the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand of Midland officiating. Miss Bryant and her fiancé are students at East Texas State University.

Mrs. J. J. Nash Presented Gift

The birthdays of Mrs. J. J. Nash, Mrs. Marvin Sewell and Mrs. Erwin Daniels were celebrated by the Sew and Chatter Club Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood.

Mrs. Nash is not a member of the club, but she has assisted by providing quilt tops for the group. In appreciation, club members gave her an African violet plant.

Fourteen members attended the quilting session, after which refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be March 30 in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, 602 E. 17th. This is a change of day from the regular schedule.

JUNE PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Allen, Knott Rt., and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bradley, Box 1702, announce the engagement of their children, Londa and Gary. The couple plans a June 22 wedding.

Ceremony Performed In Methodist Church

Miss Claudia Ann Richardson became the bride of Lt. Thorstein Vikse in an afternoon ceremony Saturday in Wesley United Methodist Church.

The couple stood before an altar illuminated by candelabra adorned with pink carnations and pompon chrysanthemums as the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand of Midland. Miss Annabeth Deats was the organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Richardson 702 Birdwell Lane, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Gerd Vikse of Tonsberg, Norway and the late Torleiv Vikse.

Carrying a bouquet of pink roses and babies'-breath, the bride was attired in an Edwardian-style gown accented in Cluney lace. The molded bodice featured a yoke of Cluney lace, a high neckline of lace and bishop sleeves gathered to wide lace cuffs. The full, circle skirt formed a mini-train, and flowing over it was her mantilla veil, which was bordered in Cluney lace.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Linda Richardson attended her sister as maid of honor, and another sister, Mrs. Edward Akin, was the matron of honor. Their similarly-styled gowns were of pink dotted voile styled with ruffles at the V-neckline and on the short sleeves. Ribbons which matched their gowns were accents for their picture hats. Each carried a long-stemmed pink rose.

Lt. Jeffrey Devore was best man, and Lt. Dave Kapaska served as groomsmen. The ushers were Lt. Paul Barton and Lt. Charles Simpson. All the officers are stationed at Webb Air Force Base. Leslie Belew was flower girl.

RECEPTION
Immediately after the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the church parlor, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Allan Clark, Arlington; Mrs. Noble Nordahl, Fort Worth; and Mrs. Chester Arnold, Austin. The all-white table was covered with a flounced cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. The centerpiece was a spring arrangement of pink daisies, pink roses and white spider chrysanthemums.

MRS. THORSTEIN VIKSE

Tea Room Scene Of Club Meeting

Mrs. Rogers Helley presided for the Tuesday meeting of the Past Matrons Club, Big Spring Chapter 67, Order of Eastern Star, at the Downtown Tea Room.

Hostesses were Mrs. Russell Stringfellow, Mrs. Geroge Bair and Mrs. Wayne Parish, and the invocation was by Mrs. C. R. Dunagan.

Named to the April visitation committee were Mrs. Tom Melton, Mrs. Steve Baker and Mrs. Dorothy Hull. Vists and cards to the sick were reported.

Hostesses for the April 9 meeting will be Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr., Mrs. Pyle Bradshaw and Mrs. Orbin Daily.

Out-of-town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. King, the bride's grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom King, all of Clyde; Mr. and Mrs. Burl Owens, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hubbard, Euless; Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Stevens, Abernathy; Mrs. L. H. Moeller, Houston; and Mr. and Mrs. D. P. King and Mrs. Marguerite King, both of Cisco.

Lt. and Mrs. Vikse, who planned a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., will reside at 1506-B Wood. Lt. Vikse, who attended Tonsberg Gymnas, is stationed at Webb AFB in the Foreign Training Program. He will complete training in June.

Mrs. Vikse is a graduate of Howard County Junior College and the University of Texas at Austin. She is employed by Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

Elbow Meeting

The Elbow Home Demonstration Club will meet at 9:30 a.m., Thursday in the home of Mrs. Jack McKinnon, Garden City Route.

Bridge Scores Are Reported

Eight tables were in play for duplicate bridge games Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club.

North-south winners were Mrs. Pete Cook and Mrs. Morris Rhodes, first; Mrs. J. H. Parks and Mrs. Paul Shaffer, second; and Mrs. Joe Pickle and Mrs. Elvis McCrary tied for third and fourth places with Mrs. Garner McAdams and Mrs. Henry Bell.

Winners in the east-west position were Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. M. A. Porter, first; Mrs. Ray McMahan and Mrs. Ross Boykin, second; and Mrs. R. H. Weaver and Mrs. Clarence Peters, third.

'New' Sound Of Church Music Provides Study Club Program

"The New Church Music" was examined by the Music Study Club during a meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Bob Simpson, 1727 Yale. Mrs. Walter Osborne and Mrs. Walter Wallace were cohostesses.

Joe Whitten minister of music for First Baptist Church, was guest speaker, and he told how music in churches has changed to a great extent during the past few years. Whitten, who has been in church music work for 24 years, said he was "reared" in a small church that had strictly gospel music. At that time, churches did not have ministers of music, but this field developed about the time of World War II. Now, many churches have a full-time staff member for this position. Also, churches now feature instruments other than piano and organ, including guitar accompaniment.

Using recordings in conjunction with his talk, Whitten played "Heavenly Sunlight", a gospel song recorded with a Nashville beat. He said some gospel songs are arranged to sound like popular music.

In conclusion, he played a portion of a record, "It is Cool in the Furnace", a modern cantata which will be performed at his church soon. Accompanied by Mrs. Rodney Faubion, Whitten sang "Season of the Long Rains" by Ralph Carmichael. Mrs. Mike Skalicky was the program leader.

During a brief business session $5 was donated to the Band Boosters. The next meeting will be April 3, instead of April 10, in the home of Mrs. Charles Bell, 502 Highland.

Speaker Cites Need For Social Worker

Mrs. Lonnie Bartley explained "the great need" for a full-time child social worker in Big Spring when the Child Study Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Don Grantham, 1602 Osage, with Mrs. Stanley Haney as cohostess.

"People need to be made aware of the neglected and abused children who need help," said the speaker. She urged the club members to support this issue.

Mrs. Curt Strong, president, appointed a nominating committee made up of Mrs. David Elrod, Mrs. Don Long and Mrs. Stanley Haney.

The program was a debate, "The Popular Child is the Happiest Child". Speaking for the affirmative were Mrs. Scott Davis, Mrs. Howard Stevens and Mrs. Elrod. The negative viewpoint was given by Mrs. Bill Reynolds, Mrs. Bartley and Mrs. Calvin Daniels. Mrs. Don Long was the moderator.

New members accepted by the club were Mrs. W. A. (Dub) Moore, Mrs. Rondel McBride, Mrs. Jimmy Mays and Mrs. Dan McClinton.

The next meeting will be April 10 in the home of Mrs. Joe Whitten 2809 Goliad.

ABWA Event Slated Today

Scenic Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will hold its annual Hand of Friendship enrollment event today in the home of Mrs. Lambert Mizek, 2307 Lynn, according to Mrs. Geroge Mixon, chapter president.

This event is held semi-annually to introduce the organization and the local chapter to business women in this area. At the same time, similar events will be held across the country by more than 1,100 other ABWA chapters.

Mrs. Blackburn To Show Slides

Mrs. Truett Thomas challenged women to accept responsibility of sharing in mission work during a study program on Brazil-Amazonia Tuesday night for the Women's Missionary Society, First Church of God.

The next meeting will be April 8 when Mrs. Sam Blackburn, guest speaker, will show slides of wild flowers in Texas and New Mexico. The program will be at 7 p.m. at the church, followed by the election of officers and presentation of honor awards.

"The chief function of ABWA is to help women in business advance through education, increased competence, and through upgrading of professional skills and business attitudes," said Mrs. Mixon.

The association, founded in Kansas City, Mo., in 1949, now has over 74,000 members. One of its projects is giving scholarships to women students.

Chapters awarded over 450,000 in scholarships from Oct. 1, 1972 to Sept. 30, 1973. During this period an additional $100,000 plus in scholarships was awarded from SBMEF, the national scholarship fund.

Scenic Chapter has awarded local scholarships to several worthy recipients.

Busy Bee Club Continues Work

The Busy Bee Club met Thursday at the Hobby Center to complete projects of antique inking, oil painting and clay modeling. Mrs. Herbert Ross demonstrated patch work applique. Mrs. J. H. Duke presided, welcoming new members, Mrs. R. B. Covington and Mrs. Pat Boatler. The March 21 meeting will be at 10 a.m. at the center.

David Mitchell Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. David Mitchell, Houston, announce the birth of a daughter, Kimberly Michelle, at 1:25 p.m., March 13 in Memorial Baptist Southwest Hospital, Bellaire. The infant weighed 5 pounds, 8 ounces. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Lenora Williams, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mitchell. All are of Big Spring.

Gleaners Class Meets Thursday

Mrs. Mabel Kirkland, 1615 State, was hostess Thursday evening for the Gleaners Sunday school class, Baptist Temple, with Mrs. E. T. White and Mrs. W. L. Sandridge as cohostesses. Prayer was led by Mrs. Nannie Garrett, and the devotion was by Mrs. J. S. Bennett. Mrs. Ethel Simmons directed games. Guests were Mrs. J. E. Meeks and Mrs. J. S. Bennett. The next meeting will be in June, with Mrs. Ealy Jackson and Mrs. Winifred Wood as hostesses.

Club Sews Toys For Children

A demonstration on bottle cutting was given by Gilbert Webb Wednesday afternoon for Newcomers Handicraft Club which met at American Handicraft.

Mrs. Hughetta Roberts was hostess, and Mrs. Linda Colosimo presided, introducing three guests, Mrs. Kathy Henson, Mrs. Karen Tarbox and Mrs. Sandy Weaving.

Gilbert said any size or shape bottle can be cut, but he advised that round bottles are simpler for beginners. Each of the members made a candle holder from a bottle, and they were presented with copies of a crafts magazine.

On March 20, at 9:30 a.m., the women will meet at the home of Mrs. Sandy Howland, 2008 Johnson, to work on stuffed animals which will be given to children at West Side Community Center at Easter. The next regular meeting will be at 11:30 a.m., March 27 at the home of Mrs. Susan King. They will be an election and luncheon.

Lingerie Being Made Larger

Big and beautiful? A recent survey reveals that 12 per cent of American women — about 10 million — are now wearing size 38 to 52 clothes. Never fear, larger ladies — lingerie houses are now, shall we say, expanding, to take care of this, shall we say, larger market.

Wedding Solemnized On Friday Evening

The wedding of Miss Evie Miller to Doug Bankhead was solemnized Friday evening in Berea Baptist Church with the Rev. Eldon Cook officiating. Organ selections were performed by Miss Debbie Haller.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Miller, 3303 Drexel, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Vertice Bankhead of Lubbock.

The bride, who carried a cascade of white daisies showered with satin streamers, was attired in a white knit, two-piece suit with green blouse. Serving as her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Gary Phillips, who wore a yellow and white knit suit. Gary Phillips served as best man.

Following a wedding trip to El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, the couple will reside at the Barcelona Apts., No. 104. The bridegroom attended Lubbock Monterey High School and graduated from Texas Tech University with a BBA in finance. He is employed by the State National Bank. The bride graduated from Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College. Currently, she is employed by KWAB-TV.

The couple was honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church, where out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's mother, as well as Dana Bankhead and Bryan Bankhead, all of Lubbock; Gladys Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Gates Jr. and children of Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Miers, El Paso.

A white lace cloth with

MRS. DOUG BANKHEAD (Frank Brandon Photography)

yellow underlay, covered the refreshment table, and appointments were of silver and crystal. The centerpiece was formed of white daisies and yellow candles.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Donnie Baker, Mrs. Jerry Richbourg, Mrs. Judy Gillespie, Ms. Pam Holtorf and Mrs. Eddie Engel.

Complimentary Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Evie Miller, who was married Friday to Doug Bankhead, was honored with a gift shower Wednesday in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room with hostesses being Ms. Pam Holtorf, Ms. Judy Gillespie and Mrs. H. H. Dyer.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. William E. Miller, were presented corsages of white daisies.

A lime green cloth covered a table appointed with crystal and silver, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of white daisies.

Attending from out of town was Mrs. Bobby Miers, El Paso.

College Women Joins Streakers

"I ran because if men can do it, women can do it. The idea of a woman stripping had different ramifications than a man, and I wanted to destroy that." Pamela Margoshes, a Columbia University student who considers herself a feminist, about joining "streakers" on a naked campus jaunt in New York City.

'Quotable Women'

"Dick wishes he could be here, but he sent the closest thing to his heart — me." Pat Nixon, speaking to President Rafael Caldera of Venezuela during a diplomatic mission to Caracas on behalf of President Nixon.

"I couldn't get a feeling toward them. They were a fairly cold audience. They don't deserve it." Opera star Maria Callas cancelling a backstage receiving line scheduled after her performance in Detroit.

"We wanted to bring into the nursing profession men students who by nature of their background would change the image of nursing as being a woman's career. I expect to see these men go into leadership positions in crisis areas." Dean Marguerite Holmes of the Hunter College-Bellevue School of Nursing, New York, explaining a special program for police and fire personnel.

"It's the FBI who wants to murder me... I have the feeling I have been written off." Patricia Hearst, in a tape recording received by her parents in San Francisco from her terrorist kidnappers.

"Unhappy kids become unhappy parents. Trauma in their own childhood results in a setback in personality development and em-motional capacity, and they will be less able to become mature and give to their own children." Shirley Camper Soman, author of "Let's Stop Destroying Our Children," calling for a constitutional amendment on behalf of children's rights.

AAUW Executive To Speak Here

Mrs. Polly Orcutt, state president, American Association of University Women, will be guest speaker Monday evening for the local branch meeting at 7:30 o'clock in First Federal Community Room. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Mrs. Orcutt's subject will be "Dynamic Learning — Releasing Human Potential". Also, Mrs. Jean Clements will discuss projects which women at West Air Force Base are encouraged to work on, with the aim of learning something new.

Jamaica Island Tour Described To Club

Mrs. Florence Rhoton and Mrs. Fred Bakers, who recently returned from a tour of Jamaica, described their travels in a program last week for the Center Point Home Demonstration Club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. W. L. Eggleston, 1307 Main.

The speakers described the island as being 90 miles from Cuba and its population predominantly black. The Jamaicans were termed a proud and polite people who always fenced their homes for privacy. The tour headquartered in Kingston, the island's largest city, which is famous for its art exhibits. The island's climate affords warm days and cool nights. While there, the women toured a perfume factory and another factory where beads were made from colorful seeds.

Mrs. Bob Wren presided for the business session, extending an invitation to the March 20 luncheon in the Senior Citizens Center at Howard College. Anyone who is interested may attend the luncheon.

Assignments were made for work at the stock show, and plans were made for the club to host the council meeting at 2 p.m., April 2. The announcement was made of a program, "Diners on the Double", to be presented by Mrs. Miram Curry of Midland at 2 p.m., March 18 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

The district conference will be held April 18 at First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Wren stressed that the conference luncheon is open to the public at a charge of $2 per person. Howard County College will cater the affair.

In other business, $5 was donated to the Aubrey Russell Scholarship Fund.

During the recreational period, there was an exchange of homemade products. The door prize was won by Mrs. James Petty.

The next regular meeting will be held at 2 p.m., March 26 in the Eaker home, 1500 Main, with Mrs. N. R. Jarrett presenting the program, "What's in Your Food Dollars?"

Politicians Will Speak At Rally

A political rally has been planned March 29, at 6 p.m. in the IOOF Lodge Hall, 3203 W. Highway 80, under the sponsorship of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153. Political candidates in the area will be invited to speak at that time. There will be a cake auction, and Rebekahs will sell sandwiches and pie prior to the program.

The plans were made at a meeting last week, presided over by Mrs. Charles Leek, noble grand. Mrs. Estelle Eason was initiated into the lodge, and the charter was undraped for the late J. C. Pye. Performing the latter ritual were Mrs. Ralph LaLonde, Mrs. Barney Hughes, Mrs. Thelma Roberts and Mrs. O. L. Rodricks.

Resolutions of sympathy were read by Mrs. Pauline Petty and Mrs. LaLonde in honor of the late Marvin Erhardt and Dixie Lee Bakling. Twenty-six visits to the sick were reported.

FUTURE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Sawyer of Lenora announce the engagement of their daughter, Darla Gay, to David Clark Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Saunders of Stanton. The couple will be married May 18 in the First Baptist Church, Stanton, with the Rev. John Rankin performing the rites.

BETROTHED — Mr. and Mrs. Asa W. Tindol, Coahoma, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Peggy Ruth, to Ronny Edward Collier, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. (Babe) Collier, also of Coahoma. The couple plans to be married June 28 in the First Baptist Church, Coahoma.

UP FOR SOME DOWN FOR OTHERS

Some drugs will have the exact opposite reaction when taken by one class of people than it will when taken by others. For example, one well known drug that acts as a stimulant to the adult system will have a calming effect when it is taken by children. This one drug is therefore used for two completely different responses.

Many factors can influence the use of the same drug. Age, weight, sex, race, etc. So you can readily understand from this why it can be very dangerous to take a medicine a physician has prescribed for someone else.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Club Will Participate In Cultural Festival

Mrs. Gudrun Burton, 419 Edwards Blvd., decorated her home in the St. Patrick's Day motif when she was hostess for Wednesday's meeting of the International Women's Club.

Mrs. Miriam Johnson presided as plans for future meetings were completed. The club will participate in the Cultural Festival to be held April 6 at Webb AFB Recreation Center and, on April 10, there will be a white elephant sale. Proceeds will be used for a summer family picnic. Plans are being initiated for a fashion show in May.

Guests at the meeting, and the countries they represent, were Mrs. Minoo Khosravi (Parviz), Iran; and Mrs. Jan Brown and Mrs. Eileen Conley, both of England.

Mrs. Lucy Mulhern from Germany was welcomed as a new member.

Guest speakers were Mrs. Joanna Patterson and Mrs. Sharon Minyard who gave a cosmetics demonstration, with Mrs. Marga Palmer serving as their model. New products and techniques of application were shown. Red rose corsages were presented to Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Minyard. Prizes were won by Mrs. Christel Martinez, Mrs. Soon Lee, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Eileen Conley.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m., April 10 in the home of Mrs. Marlene Salter, 192-B Hunter. Any foreign-born woman is welcome to join the club. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Johnson, 263-8247.

Suspicious

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I don't have any actual proof, but I think my husband is cheating on me.

First he came home smelling of real strong perfume with lipstick on his collar. (He said his boss' wife came in and hugged him "hello," but that was all.)

Another time when he took off his shirt, I noticed several long scratches on his back. He swore he didn't know how he got them, but Abby, they were too deep and long for him not to know. (I think some lady did it with her fingernails.)

Also, he's come home with hickies (love bites) all over his neck, and when I asked where he got them he said it must be "hives" from eating strawberries. (Where could he get strawberries now?)

I've quit calling him at work because the guys down there always say: "He just stepped out for a minute." — then I hear them laugh.

We've been married for two years and he would like a child, but I'm not sure he'd make a good father. He says he loves me. Should I believe him, or do you think he's playing me for a fool?

DUM DUM
DEAR DUM: If circumstantial evidence could hang a guy, yours has all the rope he needs. First let him prove he can be a good husband before you make him a father.

DEAR ABBY: Should a family alter their lifestyle each time the husband's parents come to visit?

We are in our early thirties, and my husband has been smoking and drinking (moderately) since his college days, but his parents still don't know it.

When they come, everything of which they disapprove is hidden. This includes coffee, soft drinks, candy and, believe it or not, sugar, cough syrup, and aspirin. We even keep our friends away if they are Catholic, Jewish, or black.

My husband's parents live 250 miles from us and visit about three times a year, and when I know they're coming, I feel like a hypocrite hiding things, and substituting honey for sugar, and ditching some of our good friends.

My husband says that life is too short to cause family disharmony when it can be easily avoided, but I think all this pretense is setting a bad example for our children.

What do you think?
WONDERING IN N.C.

DEAR WONDERING: You shouldn't flaunt the contrast in your lifestyles (smoking and drinking, for example), but neither should you alter yours in order to deceive your in-laws. If they don't adjust a little to your way of living, they may stay away a lot. And from your description of them, you and your children might be better off.

DEAR ABBY: Who said: "No public man can be just a little crooked?"

JACK K.
DEAR JACK: Herbert Hoover. (But it sounds more like something United States Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas would have said.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. Mc N.: True, "a little learning is a dangerous thing" — but it still beats total ignorance.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

TELLS PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wright, 128 Jonesboro, announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Arlene, to Sgt. Nelson Miranda of Webb Air Force Base. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Miranda of Beltsville, Md. The couple plans a home ceremony in July.

Friendship Club Fetes Member

The Friendship Breakfast Club honored Mrs. Frank George on her birthday at a meeting Thursday at Holiday Inn, with Mrs. O. G. Burns, the hostess, presenting the devotion.

Mrs. L. A. Yater and Mrs. Phebe Howard were guests. During the meeting, cards were signed for members who are sick.

Mrs. Clint Forrest will host the April 11 meeting at Holiday Inn when Mrs. J. C. Pye will be the birthday honoree. The April and May meetings will be on the second Thursday of the month, but the club will be back on the regular schedule the second Tuesday in June.

"Eddie wasn't a coward. He just hated violence. They never should have put him in a combat role...If it hadn't been for the incident (Slovik's execution) my life would have been different. Since then, it's been nothing but hell." Antoinette Slovik, wife of Pvt. Eddie Slovik, executed during World War II.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE 'Fine Arts And Treasures' Has Final Showing Today

The past week's showing of "Fine Arts and Treasures" of local people closes at 4 p.m., today at Heritage Museum. Many area residents were generous in sharing their treasures for the enjoyment of the public, and this has proven to be one of the most interesting and successful exhibits the museum has sponsored.

Mary Nell Mansfield, Annabell Neal and Zane Neal were in charge of setting up the exhibit. Exhibit chairman was Jerry Worthy. Others on the committee were: Ann Weaver, Sallie Wasson, Louise Middleton, R. H. Weaver, Ruby Whipkey, George Bair and Dr. P. W. Malone.

Acting as hostesses during the week show were: Agnes Currie, Polly Mays, Sallie Wasson, Louise Middleton, Jonnie Gunnels and Kathy Gunnels.

The museum will be closed to the public beginning Monday for a complete repaint job.

Watch for opening of the summer exhibit "Shine on Big Spring," from the book, "Big Spring," by Shine Phillips. Lorin McDowell III is exhibit chairman. Other members of the committee are Roy Peet, Craig Fischer, K. H. McGibbon, Faye Reed, Bill Reed, Agnes Currie, Tom Adams, Joe Hedleston and Ellen Ezzell.

The first annual Brazos National Western Art Show will run March 23-24 in Waco's Cultural Center with paintings by more than 20 artists on sale and exhibition. The exhibit will open 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday, March 23 and 1-5 p.m. Sunday, March 24.

Three Lubbock artists, whose works have been exhibited nationwide will exhibit works on Snyder's Western Texas College campus through March 29, in the Fine Arts Building. Silk screen prints, drawings, sculpture and multi-dimensional work are on display.

The artists — Wayne Greene, Lynwood Kreneck and John (Terry) Morrow — are Texas Tech faculty members.

One of the biggest film-oriented events in Texas, the USA Film Festival, will run March 25-31 in the SMU Bob Hope Theater. Leading film critics such as Judith Crist and Arthur Knight will present new, unreleased films like "The Sugarland Express," made recently in Texas.

Midland's Museum of the Southwest's exhibitions of "Children in Bondage" and Circus Posters" will end April 4. Both are worth perusing if you're in the area. The Lancaster Garden Center's annual tasting luncheon will also be served in Midland March 26, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. at $2 a head at 1705 W. Indian.

Barbara Mandrell and the Do-Rites will perform through March 20 at the Derby Dinner Theatre in Hot Springs, Arkansas. From March 21-27, Jack Greene and Jeannie Seely will perform with the Jolly Giants. They'll do two shows nightly for the horse race fans.

Six Flags Over Texas is now open weekends in Arlington. New features in the 145-acre amusement park include a new, half million dollar amphitheatre, a full-scale musical show, a new puppet show in the Sid and Marty Krofft Puppet Theatre, new ride equipment and new landscaping. There are more than 95 shows and attractions and five major restaurants besides the hordes of quick-eat stands.

Kids' ages 3-11 tickets are $5.50 and adults' are $6.50. It covers all the rides and shows.

Special professional musician concerts are held at 3 p.m. each Sunday in the Dallas Fine Arts Museum Auditorium, Gallery Talks 11 a.m. every Wednesday, a $2 Gallery Buffet 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m., Tuesday through Friday and special events on Thursday nights through March 24, the last day of the popular "De Gas Bronzes" exhibition.

Deana Martin is now starring in "A Shot in the Dark," the Midland Community Theatre's guest star play running through March 30. Write the MCT Box 4847, Midland, 79701, for ticket information and literature on other MCT activities.

Another art exhibition, featuring photographs by Houstonian, photographer, college instructor, bookwriter and film maker, Geoff Winningham, will open March 23 in Houston's Museum of Fine Arts. Pictures of Houston's wrestling subculture are the main attractions.

For your information, these books, Hearon's "The Second Dune," Gould's "Progressives and Prohibitionists," Sullivan's "Alligator Gar" and Bode's "The Making of a Legend" won major honors from the Texas Institute of Letters recently. If they're in the library, they may be worth reading.

Pantry Pickups

Over 300 frozen prepared foods are available to the homemaker today. These frozen items come as main meat dishes, complete meals, national and regional specialties, soups, juices, fruits as well as bakery products and desserts.

When chilling individual molded salads and desserts, set the small cups into a muffin tin. You can handle a dozen at a time easily as you can slide the pan in and out of the refrigerator with little danger of tipping. If anything spills there is only one pan to wash.

A tart 'n easy sauce is just the thing for barbecuing beefburgers, chops or kabobs. Just mix together 1 cup soy sauce, 1 cup salad oil, 3/4 cup lemon juice and a halved clove of garlic. Baste the meat as it broils.

Bacon curls spark up eggs, salads and sandwiches. They're an easy garnish. Panbroil the bacon slightly, then wind it around a fork and finish cooking until crisp.

School Funding Is Due To Reach New Plateau

Total Foundation School Program funding for Texas public schools is expected to reach nearly $1.3 billion by the end of the current year, according to estimates reviewed Saturday (March 9) by the State Board of Education.

The Board also set the local school districts' total share of the Foundation School Program for 1974-75, a figure expected to tally out at $296,900,000.

This local fund assignment represents 20 per cent of the cost of the 1973-74 Foundation School Program plus credits allowed school districts for that year. However, the share to be contributed by any one county will be determined by a complex formula based on county income from various sources and the number of students attending school.

Each county's 1974-75 economic index developed under this formula, was also approved Saturday. Counties with the high economic index rates pay the largest local shares into the Foundation School Program.

Howard County's index increased from $1,077,379 to $1,077,747 for very little change. Although it is an actual increase in moneys, it still means a 5.2 decrease in applying it to the Foundation program throughout the state.

The index is averaged out over a three-year period. The county index is assigned to all foundation schools in the county. Actually this year shows an increase in the local fund assignment by about 10,000 but Coahoma Independent School District will be slightly reduced. Forsan School District is what is referred to in Austin as a budget-balanced district and does not receive foundation funds.

Dawson County's index is $571,039. Mitchell County's is $287,900 and Glasscock County shows an 18.2 per cent decrease for what may be an approximate $25,000 reduction in Garden City.

In this area, Martin County's index shows the sharpest increase with a 33.2 per cent increase to $332,528, much of which will be in the Grady School District rather than in Stanton's. However, both will show increases.

Harris County (Houston) tops the list with an index of 18,604, followed by Dallas County with an index of 14,486, Tarrant County (Fort Worth) at 5,934, and Jefferson County (Beaumont) at 3,400.

Real and Swisher counties rated the lowest indexes at .007 each.

State salary support for professional staff members and teacher aides carves the largest single slice out of the Foundation School Program funding package during 1973-74 — a total of $1,158,200,000.

Maintenance and operation, second largest allocation, will earmark $83,309,000 for the local schools.

Transportation, including bus services for exceptional children and vocational education, will receive $40,913,000.

A total of $14,200,000 will be spent on special education programs, including appraisal services, special materials and seating, and electronic communication services, in addition to salaries.

The Texas Education Agency will receive $2,846,000 for administration, vocational contract services $690,000, and bilingual education $625,000.

Total cost of the Foundation School Program for 1973-74 is pegged at $1,290,783,000.

Local taxes, federal funds, and other state contributions will bring the total cost of operating Texas public schools during 1973-74 to an estimated $2.7 billion.

Building Plans Are Approved

COLORADO CITY — The school board gave unanimous approval to the final plans for the new high school and gave the go-ahead for letting bids. The bids will also be taken for renovation of Kelley, Hutchinson and the present high school.

Bids will be taken April 4 at 2 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. The architect, Tommie Huckabee of Rihard and Huckabee, went over the plans with the board at their meeting Monday night.

TV Exec Dies

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Thomas K. Barnistable, 62, chief executive officer and chairman of the board of Central Minnesota Television Co., owner of five television and radio stations in Minnesota, died Wednesday.

SNAKES AND CARS BILLED HERE — Big Springers and visitors will have an opportunity to see street rods, motorcycles, antique cars and custom cars the same weekend of the Rattlesnake Roundup. Raymond Hogg, secretary of the Early Car Club, shows a street rod he will be exhibiting along with 40 to 50 others at the fair barns March 30, 31. It is a 1940 Ford with a new Chevrolet engine. Fred Simpson, president of the Big Spring Jaycees, demonstrates what you have to do for a cash prize and trophy at the Rattlesnake Roundup — catch an outstanding rattler alive.

Tough Schedule Set For '7-Up' Filming

"The Seven-Ups" the 20th Century-Fox police thriller group actually existed, but the story dramatizes and combines several events which took place. The basis for the fictionalized account was written by Sonny Grosso, the New York detective who was first associated with D'Antoni on "The French Connection" which itself dramatized the real-life story of two Narcotics Squad officers (one of whom was Grosso). He also acted as technical advisor on the new project. Al Ruben and Alexander Jacobs wrote the screenplay.

But it is typical of producer Phil D'Antoni, whose other motion pictures, "Bullitt" and the Oscar-winning "The French Connection," were carefully and lovingly planned, produced and edited. He believes each project should be executed with infinite care and detail and, spends 18 months to two years proving this each time.

As with all his endeavors, "The Seven-Ups" was shot entirely on location, within the New York metropolitan area and outlying districts. D'Antoni makes his directorial bow with the new attraction.

"The Seven-Ups," an action thriller, refers to a special group of New York City detectives who use unorthodox (and sometimes un sanctioned) methods to track down known and wanted criminals whose felonies are punishable by seven

Dryland Boat Star In Show

Who are the stars of Warner Bros.' frontier epic, "Man in the Wilderness," which is now showing at the Jet Drive-In Theatre, the movie quiz master asks?

Richard Harris and John Huston, the movie buff replies. Wrong! says producer Sanford Howard.

"There are three stars in my picture. Harris, Huston and 'The Moby Richard.'"

Named by Harris and christened with champagne, the Moby Richard is perhaps the weirdest star ever to grace a call sheet, for Moby is a prop — a 45-foot-long boat that rolls across land on oxcart wheels pulled by 22 mules.

Producer Howard had the Moby Richard toolled from design specifications found in Lewis and Clark papers filed following the first expedition into the uncharted Northwest Territory in 1804.

The plainsboat, or keelboat, as it is sometimes called, was used widely by fur traders.

"Man in the Wilderness," a panorama of the west before it became the wild west directed by Richard Sarafian from an original story by screenwriter Jack DeWitt, chronicles man's ability to survive against insurmountable odds.

Serpents, Custom Cars Show Same Weekend

Early Car Club Members and Jaycees here decided to make the most of a coincident.

Both organizations chose the weekend of March 30-31 for exhibitions.

Car club members will show a few of their vehicles at the armory. And posters advertising the other groups' activity will be posted at the respective exhibition sites.

VEHICLE DISPLAY
 Most of the 40-50 street rods, motorcycles, antique cars and custom cars will be displayed at the Howard County Fair Barns.

Entries are expected from a number of area cities, including Abilene, Odessa, Midland, Stanton and Lubbock. Visitors will choose a favorite car and favorite motorcycle.

The third annual car show will start at 8 a.m. Saturday and Sunday and stay open those nights until guests stop coming. Cost will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Persons desiring to enter a vehicle in competition should contact Russell White, chairman of the show.

Members of the car club regular take their stylized and rebuilt vehicles for rides. But style and beauty, not speed, are the sources of competition, Hogg said.

"It's for pleasure instead of (racing) competition," Hogg said.

3,000 SNAKES
 In addition to a few cars, around 3,000 live rattlers will be shown at the Jaycees' Rattlesnake Roundup at the National Guard Armory.

The Prospectors' Club will display unusual rocks, and a snake dealer from Wichita Falls will sell reptiles of all types.

Delbert Hutcins will demonstrate snake handling.

SNAKE BUYING
 Jaycees will begin registering hunters and buying snakes at 8 a.m. Friday.

Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., guided tours will be held. The same hours have been set for Sunday.

Tickets will cost adults $1 and children 6 to 12 years of age 75 cents.

PAGEANT, DANCE
 Winner of the Miss Diamondback Pageant will be announced at the Rattlesnake Dance starting at 9 p.m. Saturday at the old Cosden Country Club.

The pageant will be held at the Webb Air Force Base Officers' Club Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Veterans First Paired In 'McQ,' Police Flick

Interesting thing about the making of "McQ," which opens Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre, is that it marked the first time John Wayne and John Sturges ever worked together.

Wayne, the star, has round-hooped, stiff-armed, keel-hauled and blasted bad guys on practically every theatre scene in the world. His 200 pictures, give or take a few, have grossed some $700,000,000. And that's an authenticated figure. He is the superstar of films, the undisputed boxoffice champion of all time.

DIRECTOR
 Sturges, the director, is equally distinguished behind the camera.

An Oscar-winner for the unforgettable "Bad Day at Black Rock," the green-eyed, six-foot two inch, 180-pounder has also master-minded such other action epics as "The Great Escape," "The Old Man and the Sea," "Gunfight at O.K. Corral," "Ice Station Zebra," "Last Train From Gun Hill," "Hallelujah Trail" and "The Satan Bug."

And also along his star-studded trail is "The Magnificent Seven," already a classic in its own time.

And so, to think these two never worked in harness is hard to believe.

THE STORY
 In the story, Wayne steps out

Dryland Boat Star In Show

of the saddle and into the role of Lon McQ, a tough, dedicated detective who likes to play a lone hand. When his best pal on the police force is murdered, he goes on a rampage and sets out to pin the act on the big city's dope king. He defies departmental orders in a clash of wills with his superior, Eddie Albert, but eventually solves the crime. In so doing, however, he uncovers police corruption and discovers infidelity and greed in a woman he might have loved.

ON LOCATION
 The film was shot on location beginning in Seattle, Wash.

For some six weeks the company bounced all over town, in and out of hospitals, to boat docks at marinas on Puget Sound, to used car lots and gas stations, office buildings, sleazy cafes and rundown bars, to the Seattle Coliseum, cheap rooming houses, of and off freeways, into back alleys, shops, night clubs, the waterfront shipping piers, to the exclusive residential sections of town and especially to Seattle's big municipal building where Police Headquarters were situated.

Holbrook Well Reports Flow

A flowing potential of 75 barrels of 42.6-gravity oil has been entered for F. W. Holbrook of Midland No. 1 Grantham, northwest Howard County wildcat.

This test flowed through 13-64th choke from perforations 9,086-196 feet and made no water. It was drilled to 9,120 feet where operator set 4 1/2-in. casing, then plugged back to 9,107 feet.

Location is 467 from the south and west lines of section 8-33-2N, T&P, 14 miles northwest of Big Spring and seven-eighths of a mile west-southwest of a depleted Knott (Pennsylvanian) producer. The oil in Holbrook No. 1 Grantham also is from the Pennsylvanian.

Mitchell lost a wildcat venture when Les Fuller No. 1 Wulfen, 1,980 from the south and 660 from the west lines of section 89-26-1S, T&P, was plugged at total depth of 7,857 feet. It was a re-entry test seven miles south of Colorado City.

SOME WHEAT REVIVED Needed Rains Fall Over Texas Plains

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Needed rains fell over part of the Texas plains last week and brought some relief to the drought-stressed wheat crop. Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, said.

The rain should revive some dryland wheat although some wheat has been lost due to extremely dry conditions, Hutchison said.

POTATOES

Planting of cotton, corn and sorghum remained active in South Texas and coastal areas, he said. Rice was being planted in the Coastal Plains. Corn and sorghum planting was past the halfway mark in South Central Texas and in Bell, Hill and Navarro counties of Central Texas, he said. Some potatoes were being seeded in the High Plains, and potato planting made good progress in Knox County, Hutchison said.

Livestock conditions over the state remained generally good although forage was short over the western half of the state and in South Texas. Small grains and cool season grasses provided grazing in eastern areas.

Calving was still active in some parts while most areas boasted a good calf and lamb crop but prices were generally lower at most markets, Hutchison said.

District Agriculture agents gave these reports:

South Plains: Rains of over an inch should boost the small grain crop but additional rain will be needed to replenish the deep soil moisture lost during the dry fall and winter months. Preplant irrigation continues to increase.

RAIN

Rolling Plains: Rains of up to four inches in a few counties brought some relief to the wheat crop. However, most counties need additional rain. Some fields are being top-dressed with nitrogen. Land preparation is active.

Far West: Dryland small grains and range conditions are in poor shape. Most land is ready for spring planting. However, rain will be needed before dryland crops are planted. Livestock feeding remains widespread. Most fruit trees are beginning to bloom.

West Central: Soil moisture is still very short over most of the area. Some early vegetables are being planted in homegardens, pastures and ranges are below average. Goat shearing and lambing are in progress. Many fruit trees are blooming. Rabies are a problem in wild animals.

Central: Planting of corn and sorghum is active. Some forage sorghums also are being planted. Home gardening activity is increasing, most small grains are in poor shape and crop prospects are bleak. Goat shearing is past the halfway mark. Peach, plum and pear trees are blooming.

FRUIT TREES

Southwest: Moisture needs are critical throughout the area. Small grain prospects are poor. Preplant irrigation of spring crop land is active. Greens, carrots and cabbage are being harvested. Strawberries are coming into good supply. Most melons are planted. Onion plants are being marketed. Fruit trees are in bloom. Ranges and pastures are dry.

South: About 60 per cent of the cotton acreage has been planted in the Rio Grande Valley. Some fields are up to a good stand. Sorghum is about 70 per cent planted. About half the cotton is planted in the Coastal Bend. Sorghum 85 per cent planted and corn 75 per cent planted. Moisture is needed in most counties. Cattle are beginning to lose weight and feeding continues.

Dates For 1975 Show Determined

The 1975 Big Spring Prospectors Club's Rock and Gem Show will be held March 1-2, it was decided at Thursday night's meeting of the organization. Bud Lewis will again serve as show chairman.

The club is considering an invitation to demonstrate lapidary equipment and display collections at the upcoming Rattlesnake Roundup.

Dr. Dick Lane, Mrs. Nora Nixon and Mrs. Chaney had charge of the program. Dr. Lane limited his talk to the care of teeth. The two women discussed lost wax casting.

George Foster presided at the meeting, which took place in the Flame Room at the Pioneer Natural Gas Co.
