Orders Watergate Report Delivered To House Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled today that a secret grand jury report on Watergate Nixon's role in Watergate should be delivered to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry.

INVOLVED

Sirica said in his 22-page opinion that "the person on whom the report focuses, the President of the United States, has not objected to its release to the committee."

"Other persons are involved only indirectly," Sirica said.

He also said the report "draws no accusatory conclusions... it renders no moral or social judgments. The report is a simple and straightforward compilation of information gathered by the grand jury, and no more."

Sirica, who steps down as chief judge of the U.S. District Court in Washington on Tuesday, delayed implementation of his order for two days to enable interested parties to file appeals. The judge wrote that "although it has not been emphasized in this opinion, it should not be forgotten that we deal in a matter of the most critical moment to the nation, an impeachment investigation involving the President of the United States."

INFORMATION

"It would be difficult to conceive of a more compelling need than that of this country for an unswervingly fair inquiry based on all the pertinent information," he said.

Sirica said the grand jury "strongly recommends" that its report and a satchel filled with evidence should go to the impeachment committee because:

"Having carefully examined the contents of the grand jury report, the court is satisfied that there can be no question regarding their materiality to the House Judiciary Committee's investigation."

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, the committee's senior Republican, declined immediate comment on Sirica's decision.

Rodino sent word to newsmen that he was waiting for more information and Hutchinson said he did not think he should comment until the order is implemented.

NO OPINION

The judge said it would be up to the House Judiciary Committee "to determine the significance" of the evidence and that the court offered no opinion as to relevance.

Sirica also said the Judiciary committee rather than the court should consider a request from White House counsel for permission to review the grand jury evidence.

The grand jury gave the report to Sirica on March 1, the same day it indicted seven former Nixon administration and Nixon campaign aides on charges of conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Major Oil Producers Vote To Lift Embargo

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The Arab oil producers decided Monday to lift the oil embargo against the United States, Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said.

Yamani spoke on emerging from the 90-minute meeting of the nine oil exporting countries. He said a formal announcement would be made shortly.

NOT SYRIA

"Syria did not vote with the decision and neither did Libya," Yamani said. He stressed his own country as the biggest Arab oil producer would lift the embargo.

He indicated Kuwait, Egypt, Algeria and smaller Arab oil producers endorsed the decision.

Syria and Libya were the only two countries against the decision to relieve the oil supply situation in the United States, Yamani said.

Yamani predicted before the meeting that the embargo, imposed five months ago because of American support of Israel in the October Middle East war, would be lifted, and so did Algeria's official newspaper El Moudjahid.

But Egypt's semi-official newspaper Al Ahran forecast the decision to lift the embargo could be delayed for a week to refer it to an Arab foreign ministers meeting on March 25.

CRUDE OIL

The ministers from nine Arab countries met for three and a half hours Sunday but failed to agree. Syria and Libya were reported blocking a unanimous decision to lift the blockade. However, one unconfirmed report said Syria's objections had been ironed out, and Libya would abstain from the decision by the rest.

Several of the ministers met until late Sunday night in an attempt to draft a consensus document. Others contacted their governments for further instructions, sources said.

Earlier Sunday, 13 of the world's major oil-producing nations, including seven of the Arab states, concluded a week-end meeting here with the announcement they would maintain their posted prices on crude oil until July 1.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said its decision not to raise the artificial price on which their share of the oil revenue is calculated was a good will gesture toward the leading oil consumers — Western Europe, Japan and the United States. But a spokesman warned that unless the industrial nations controlled their "galloping inflation" and the prices they charge the oil nations for their manufactured products, they would raise the oil price again.

The OPEC countries produce

80 per cent of world oil exports. The Arab oil meeting was a followup to one in Tripoli, Libya, last Wednesday. It produced reports that the ministers had decided to end the boycott they agreed on last October in an attempt to pressure the United States to modify its pro-Israeli policy.

Improvement Project Is Completed At Airport

By JOHN EDWARDS
County Commissioners Court this morning:

●Set 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. April 6 as the time for school and college board elections in Howard.

●Discussed specifications for livestock pens and scales for the Howard County Fair Barns.

●Authorized advertising for bids on janitorial service at the courthouse.

●Postponed leasing hangar space.

●And learned installation of new beacon at Howard County Airport completed an improvement project there.

"We're complete and everything's operating," Crim said.

Boss-Linam Electric Inc. was general contractor for a number of improvements including a visual slope indicator, new runway lights, fencing and operations area lighting.

ENOUGH LAND

Commissioner Jack Buchanan raised the possibility of other improvements when he asked the engineer if the county owned enough land for lightening runways for jets.

Howard County does own enough land, but approval of flight patterns would need to be approved, Crim said.

Lt. Col. (Dr.) Donald L. Coleman, commander of the Webb Air Force Base Hospital, offered to pay the county $105 monthly for housing three antique aircrafts in the old T-41 hangar at Howard County Airport.

This lease would run from month to month, and the court would give Coleman 30 days notice of any future cancellation. Electricity would not be included.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell wanted to keep the hangar available in case a new industry or some other party wanted to pay more for use of the entire hangar.

OTHERS INQUIRED

Several persons wanted to rent the facility earlier, Mitchell said, but did not make acceptable offers. The county judge wanted to talk to J. W. McClendon, manager of the airport and Big Spring Aircraft Inc., before taking action.

After first considering taking an offer from Pete Jones of Nu-Way Janitor Service without calling for other bids, the court decided to advertise for bids on the contract work.

"We had him (Jones) on the agenda three times," Mitchell pointed out. "The paper was full of it and there's been nobody else up here to bid on it."

The county judge argued state law allowed contracting in this instance without entertaining for

Runaway Trailer Truck Heavily Damages House

A runaway trailer truck smashed through the bedroom wall of a house Monday morning on the corner of 4th and State and severely damaged the bedroom, its closet, the bathroom and the kitchen.

Mrs. Alma Wilson, who rents the house from J. B. Harrison, 1104 E. 4th, had just stepped out to visit a sick sister, Pauline Buckner, 1101 E. 4th. She missed the accident by minutes.

"Good thing I left when I did. Thank the Lord I'm alive. This is the worst thing I've ever seen. I lost everything I had. I don't have any insurance I know of, and I don't know where I'm gonna go. The poor house I guess," Mrs. Wilson said with tears in her eyes.

A friend said she took Mrs. Wilson to a local hospital "just for shock and to calm her nerves. This beats anything I've ever seen."

The "truck" driver Billy Schull of Colorado City was taken to Cowper Clinic for observation and treatment of minor abrasions and some smoke inhalation.

The house's owner, J. B. Harrison, didn't know what he would do with the house until he talked to his insurance man.

Captain Alvie Harrison's entire shift 13 of the Big Spring Fire Department answered the call. There was no fire besides the truck's muffler exhaust igniting a few puffs.

Drifter Gets His Estate Returned

A wrangle between two apparent drifters ended in the railroad yard in Big Spring Saturday night. It all began in El Paso where one vagabond took the other one's back pack, ring and $6 at knife point, according to the claim of the second man.

One chose the rails, via freight train for his mode of travel and the second man used his thumb and took to the highways.

Ironically, they arrived in Big Spring at the same time. The man who had been robbed spotted the other traveler, complete with his back pack, down near the railroad.

He went to the police and claimed that he had located an armed robber. The police went with the man to the tracks and nabbed the suspect.

Following a discussion of the matter, the railroad vagabond returned the ring, the back pack and the six dollars to the highway hobo. Charges were dropped. And the two world travelers preceded on their way.

Syrian, Israeli Artillery Booms Across Golan Heights

By The Associated Press
Syrian and Israeli artillery boomed for more than three hours across the Golan Heights cease-fire line for the seventh straight day today, with each side claiming the other started the fighting.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Syrians shelled Israeli fortifications in the northern sector of the plateau before Israeli guns barked to silence the Arab barrage. No Israeli casualties were reported.

Israel has named Defense Minister Moshe Dayan to represent it at the Washington negotiations.

FRONT LINES

Speaking Sunday to an audience in Tiberias only a mile west of the heights, Hoffi rejected the argument that the settlements handicapped the army during the October war. Several settlements were overrun by the Syrians but later recaptured.

He said the settlements proved an effective defense line against Syrian long-range missiles which were capable of striking targets behind the front lines.

Premier Golda Meir named Dayan on Sunday after a two-hour session of her cabinet to discuss Israel's position in the negotiations, which will be mediated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said in New York that Israel would not be "dogmatic" about face-to-face negotiations with the Syrians in "Washington. But he added: "I can't imagine we can arrive at a settlement without negotiations involving the heads of government on the spot."

Local Women Are Honored

Mrs. Guy Helper and Mrs. Don Nelson, both of Big Spring, were among persons honored in connection with the founding of the local Salvation Army headquarters, one of the earlier units in Texas. They were honored in Dallas when the Salvation Army's Texas Youth Council celebrated the 85th anniversary of the army's founding in Texas.

Representing Big Spring were Michael and Daryl Stephens, Kathy Moore, Leslie Sullivan, Maj. and Mrs. Don Nelson and Brenda and Capt. L. Z. Sullivan.

The council was attended by selected Salvation Army youths 14 years of age and older, including a total of 400. The councils are designed to further the youths' religious beliefs as well as to develop them as future leaders.

Maj. Ted Arrowood, divisional youth secretary, said the councils are arranged in an effort "to broaden the view of selected young men and women and to acquaint them more fully with the opportunities afforded them for service in the Army."

Poster Display

A poster display in connection with the city clean-up campaign is on display in the county library, according to Larry Justiss, county librarian.

The posters were made by elementary students in local schools in grades 1-6 under the theme, "Clean Up, Shape Up, The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

NIX $317 A WEEK

Editorial Employees Of UPI Start Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of the Wire Service Guild struck United Press International today.

About 50 strikers set up picket lines at the news service's national headquarters here at 8 a.m.

Negotiations for a new contract had broken off a half-hour earlier, according to a guild spokesman. The old contract expired at midnight Friday.

A spokesman for the guild, which represents editorial employees of UPI, said both sides had agreed to continue the negotiations Tuesday at 9 a.m.

Dale Johns, director of personnel relations for UPI, said operations were continuing.

Johns said UPI had enough people working to maintain operations nationwide.

On Sunday the guild authorized a strike for today after UPI rejected the guild's final proposal for 10 per cent across-the-board pay increases in each year of a two-year contract.

The union said other unresolved issues in the dispute include demands for a 37 1/2 hour work week for all employees, minimum weekly and daily car allowances, an agency shop, increased company contributions to pension and medical insurance, and personnel procedures covering operation of the news agency's computerized transmission system.

A guild spokesman said management's final offer was $317 a week for top-scale editorial employees during the first year of a proposed two-year contract and $335 a week during the second year.

Under the expired contract, top-scale newsmen and photographers earned $300 a week.

Local Grant Requests Are Studied By PBC

Two important committees operating under the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council will hold meetings this week at which time they review grants requested, including several in the Big Spring area.

A meeting tonight at 7 p.m. at the offices at Terminal will be held by the health advisory council. They review a grant application for the Big Spring Area Alcoholism Treatment and Rehabilitation Center which was reviewed favorably last week by the Alcoholism Advisory committee.

They will also review a $200,000 grant for two years for the Big Spring State Hospital on behavioral modification with chronic patients. This is a continuation of a previous program.

A committee that meets Thursday at 2 p.m. will view a $87,779 grant for Howard College called Springboard to Opportunity.

The goals and expected accomplishments of the project at the state hospital are to alter behavior so that chronic patients, who until now have resisted all attempts at change, will be able to leave the hospital either to home, work or alternate care facilities. Where applicable for those patients unable to leave the hospital after behavior modification, the second goal is to change behavior significantly so that these patients can participate in the chronic resocialization program; to modify all patients behavior in a positive direction so that the patients will be more self-sufficient and functional and to profit from their geographic unit treatment program if possible.

The staff is selected through the Director of Nursing Service and the Project Supervisor. The staff is then trained on a continuous basis through all types of presentations. The physical arrangements now present are in Unit 6 providing a 50-bed unit. There are plans for expansion to Unit 5 and the addition of 50 beds with the increase in staff.

The patients are selected because they have failed to respond to previous treatment procedures. Specifically those patients that are regressed chronic patients, who lack skills, have bizarre behaviors, who exhibit poor grooming, pacing, inappropriate affect, lethargy, anti-social aggressive behaviors and other behavioral manifestations of apathy. Referrals from all hospital units and local MH-MR facilities are received. The program is carried out by reinforcing behaviors that lead to improvements in personal hygiene and self-responsibility.

This is done through a token economy in the unit that allows the patient to exchange tokens for such things as privacy, cosmetics, cigarettes, coffee or even off-unit privileges. There is a consistent evaluation of the patient as to progress. The program made falls into three phases: Phase I — intensive treatment phase; Phase II — consistent performing by patient in all unit activities and eliminate one target behavior; Phase III — the discharge planning group. There is a follow-up of the patient through follow-up and after-care procedures and facilities. This program has helped in improving the behaviors of over half the patients involved.

Goals of the grant sought at Howard College are also detailed. The project is aimed at disadvantaged high school students in Howard, Mitchell, Marvin, Scurry and Midland counties. These students will be screened, selected, counseled, taught, tutored and guided into an appropriate college with adequate information in regard to financial aid.

Participants will receive a monthly stipend, medical treatment, transportation to and from the campus, and room and board of six weeks in the summer. The high school students who will be served by the Springboard of Opportunity are educationally, socially, and economically disadvantaged. The social and cultural aspirations of their families have contributed little toward motivation for academic achievement or interest in the pursuit of higher education.

Families are more concerned with day-to-day survival. Low income of these families has resulted in a limited selection of books and cultural activities. The students have had fewer opportunities to travel than their more affluent classmates and many of the students have been discouraged because of language handicap.

The proposed grant will represent a dedicated and concerted effort by the project director, assistant director, counselors, instructors, and tutors to lend moral and intellectual support to academically deprived high school juniors and seniors. Students will be screened and selected according to the Upward Bound guidelines.

The largest block of participants will be chosen from Big Spring, the immediate vicinity of the host institution, with small blocks chosen from Coahoma, Colorado City, Snyder, Stanton, and Midland. The program will include a six-week summer residential session of intensive academic, personal and cultural development.

Students, living in dorms under the supervision of guidelines of counselors, will attend daily sessions of reading, communications, mathematics, physical recreation, and other interest areas. Weekend hikes, visits to other college campuses, visits to an educational site of less than 300 miles distance, cultural events, entertainment and individual and group counseling will be provided.

Nixon Will Be Impeached Or Resign, Mills Insists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, predicts President Nixon will be out of office by November.

Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee and vice chairman of the committee looking into the President's taxes, was asked in a televised interview Sunday whether he expects Nixon will be in office by the November election.

"I DO NOT"

"I do not," Mills responded. "By resignation, by impeachment?"

Mills replied: "One or the other, I do not know which at this time."

Appearing on the CBS program "Face the Nation," Mills said he believes Nixon will come under increasing pressure from within the Republican party because of his tax problems and fears of lost votes in November.

The Arkansas Democrat told one of the newsmen interviewing him:

"I would think that probably you and I both may well be surprised when the vote occurs on the articles of impeachment over the number on the Republican side who may vote for those articles of impeachment."

LOSE SEATS

Mills added: "If he stays in office as President, members of his own party know that they'll lose seats in the House."

Commenting on Nixon's income tax problems, primarily involving a deduction for donation of his vice presidential papers to the National Archives, Mills said:

"There is a possibility if the investigation proves that the deduction of the papers given to the archives was improper that there would be fraud on the part of someone."

FRAUD

He said about the capital gains section of the President's taxes, "I've seen no evidence whatsoever of fraud."

Mills added: "Now I'm not saying the President, under any circumstance, but there could be some fraud in connection with the preparation of his return, if he included a deduction for the gift of those papers to the archives in the instance where the papers were given after the cutoff date of July 25, 1969."

Mills said that the decision about whether fraud was involved is up to the Internal Revenue Service.

Mills said last weekend he expects that Nixon will not finish his term of office, mainly because of pressures resulting from his tax difficulties.

A White House spokesman later called the Mills' statement "a dirty, low political ploy."

Food Stamps Used By 530 Families

The Food Stamp Office at 707 E. 3rd St. has certified 530 Howard County families for participation in the program, Gary Garner, supervisor, said Friday.

A spokesman for the State Department of Public Welfare Office in the courthouse basement did not know how many families had been certified here and refused to count them.

If every member of a household is receiving funds through the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, then the state welfare office certifies the family for food stamps.

Others apply through the food stamp office. Garner asked that applicants who could not make appointments notify the office of their intention to cancel the appointment.

Allocation Program Has Fallen Shy Of Objective

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal petroleum allocation program has been of limited effectiveness and has fallen short of the objectives of the congressional act, which itself was flawed, the Federal Trade Commission staff said Saturday.

It made public a 1,000-page report on the mandatory allocation program which it sent to the White House and to Congress Friday night.

One finding was that the gasoline allocation problem has not been solved, and FTC Executive Director R.T. McNamar told a news briefing that there very likely will be long lines at filling stations in late March as there were in February.

The report also questioned whether the driving public was getting its fair share of petroleum.

The staff document, on which the full commission will comment somewhere in the future, says the Federal Energy Office made mistakes — in part because of the difficulty of building and maintaining a staff — but also performed some striking accomplishments in an extremely short time.

"In summary, to this point in time, the mandatory allocation program has been of limited effectiveness," the staff concluded.

The allocation program, setting up distribution of fuel to priority users and states, was set up last year to help meet the energy crisis.

"While building a longer term capability to manage shortages of petroleum supplies, and beset with start-up problems, some of FEO's own making, the program nonetheless falls short when measured on a national basis and against the objectives of the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973," the report said.

"However, the act, because it attempts to deal with many problems without adequately reflecting their interrelationships, is contradictory, and thus vague and often inconsistent in its provisions."

"Hopefully, this report will assist the Congress and the FEO in strengthening the program."

McNamar said the document "in many ways is terribly soft and mushy because we just couldn't get good figures" from the petroleum industry, relying largely on published ones.

The report specifically does not explore whether there is a real petroleum shortage, whether the act is the most effective approach, or whether true competition exists in the industry.

Would the nation have been better off if Congress had done nothing to cope with the problem? The report neither denies nor confirms that would have been true, McNamar said, not having assessed that possibility.

Top Entries Determined

Becky Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Howell, 2502 Carol, was first place winner in the girls division of the VICA appliance repair skill-speed and technical contests held here last Thursday evening.

This was a contest for the local unit and was held in the vocational department of the high school.

Second place went to Lana Smith; third place to Karen Anderson; fourth place to Mary Gonzales; and fifth place to Tena Lonidier.

Drafters Of Constitution Look Ahead To Long Break

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Constitutional Convention delegates returned to work today with expectations of working three more weeks on the new state constitution, then taking a 30-day break for primary elections.

A general session was called for 2 p.m. to resume debate on the executive branch provisions of the proposed new constitution.

Debate on the Executive Article halted last Friday when 21 legislator-delegates failed to return from lunch, leaving the convention without enough delegates to transact business.

Speaker Price Daniel Jr., convention president, warned the 180 senators and representatives who are the convention delegates that they must be prepared to work this Friday afternoon and Saturday if necessary.

The 181st delegate, Rep. Hawkins Menefee, D-Houston, died in an automobile accident last Wednesday, after which the convention took two days off from working on the constitution.

A special election to fill Menefee's place will be held April 20.

Since convening Jan. 8 the convention has finished preliminary work on only three articles—Bill of Rights, Education and Voter Qualifications. In addition to the Executive Article, the Finance Article and the Mode of Amending the Constitution Article are awaiting debate. Articles on the legislature, judiciary, local government and general provisions are still being considered by committees.

Hemispheric Hopes

Latin Americans, whatever they think about the United States, got a taste of the Henry Kissinger style of foreign policy recently during the meeting of foreign ministers in Mexico.

Secretary of State Kissinger, who is probably directly responsible for much of the detente with the Soviet Union, and Communist China, plus potential settlement of the Middle East crisis probably is the most respected American among Latin Americans since the Late President John F. Kennedy.

While the Latins applaud Kissinger's success, Los Angeles Times writer David F. Beinat who specializes on Latin America sees an underlying sense of disappointment in recent developments.

Latins, Beinat writes, "interpret the foreign policies of the great powers—and particularly those of the United States—in terms of direct benefits to themselves. As long as the thrust of U.S. foreign policy is mainly east and west and rarely southward as it has been up to now in the Nixon administration, that policy fails to satisfy the Latin Americans."

During the Kennedy and Johnson years, the United States raised through the "Alliance for Progress" expectations which couldn't possibly have been fulfilled. When it failed, the Latin American nations generally blamed it as being too paternalistic.

That paternalism was abandoned by the first Nixon administration possibly on the presumption that those nations were developed to the point that they could be treated as equals. That was branded as neglect, Beinat observes.

So what does the future of Latin America and the United States hold? Latins apparently are hopeful that Kissinger's "new dialogue" will bring some benefit to their nations. But they're still doubtful about any lasting effects. And they may be correct in as much as a past history has shown much progress in international cooperation between the United States and its neighbors to the south. But then every new attempt to bridge those differences appears to be at least a decent try. Kissinger's dialogue should be expanded.

A Hot Potato

Gov. Dolph Briscoe claimed he had no authority to intervene in the squabble between Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and others, including San Antonio. He said he had no power to make the Railroad Commission rescind its order permitting Lo-Vaca to raise natural gas prices, nor to force a rollback.

He must have been pleased, therefore, when Atty. Gen. Hill agreed that the governor had no authority to intervene. But all the water had not passed under the bridge, it seems. While Briscoe may have been congratulating himself on his good judgment, the San Antonio legislative delegation suggested that he call a special session of the Legislature to give him authority to roll back price increases. Briscoe's answer, a resounding "NO!" could probably be heard all over Texas.

One thing and another:

IF I WERE you, I'd start hoarding those road maps you've been picking up in service stations for years. At least one company is already charging a nominal fee for providing maps to callers. That same concern gave away over 700,000 as recently as last year.

It's a sure indication television is duller than ever when my own kids start doing their homework again before 10 p.m.

SOME MINISTERS are taking to task those professional football coaches who call upon the Lord for help in trying situations, pointing out that many people have come to regard the game as "America's newest religion." One padre calls the NFL "a human demolition derby... a business that masquerades as a sport."

The same critic says many football buffs are "simple enough to rationalize that watching a team with a Locker Room Jesus is a sufficient surrogate for worship at one's church or synagogue."

THE HOUSEWIFE is smartest who can make her husband think he bosses the house when, in reality, all he does is house the boss.

Isn't the rarest of all books one that is returned by a borrower? Most service station operators hate to see that IWW motorist coming. All he wants is information, wind and water.

My dad once told me he had an in-law so tight he'd skin a flea for its hide and tallow.

PUT THAT man down as a politician who sticks out his hand and says "Nice to see you again," even though he's never laid eyes on you before.

Sports operators do it. Ditto airlines. Taxing bodies may have set the example: When patronage (or income) is less than anticipated, the agencies raise prices, thus forcing those who do pay the freight to dig deeper. They do it rather than try to lure fees from those who have decided the experience isn't worth the effort.

IT'S HARD to fault a banker's enthusiasm for his profession. In recent times, he seems to take more and more interest in his work.

Unusual Punishment Limits

Block Thirteen in a certain state prison was known as the "hell hole." Inmates were kept — sometimes for years — in dark, 6 inch by 9 inch cells. Once a day they were allowed outside for 15 minutes, during which time they had to bathe, wash their clothes, and exercise.

BUT WHEN these conditions were called to the attention of a federal judge, he ordered changes made at once. He said the situation was a form of "cruel and unusual punishment," forbidden by the United States Constitution.

Traditionally, courts have maintained a "hands-off" policy toward the administration of our prisons. They have felt that conditions behind bars were generally outside of their jurisdiction.

BUT IN recent years, that attitude has been changing. Repeatedly, prisoners have won cases based on the "cruel and unusual" clause of the Constitution.

A broad spectrum of complaints has come under closer judicial scrutiny — corporal punishment, forced labor, restrictions on mail, restrictions on visitors, inadequate food, faulty sanitation, insufficient medical supplies or personnel.

COURTS ARE still wary, however, of getting too deeply involved in the day-to-day problems of running a penal institution. Thus, one prisoner failed to establish "cruel and unusual" punishment merely because he had been deprived of the right to wear his civilian shoes. And in another case, a court found no constitutional problem when a prisoner's long hair was cut to standard length.

THE COURT SAID:

"A man in jail is not a free man. His right to wear long hair is outweighed by the interests of the state in maintaining sanitary conditions and discipline. The Eighth Amendment expresses the revulsion of civilized man against barbarous acts. The prohibition of long hair is not barbarous."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

My wife and I are young Christians. We don't understand why there is so much misery in life. Why does God allow things like disease, deformity and mental illness to exist?

S.G. Have you ever visited in gift shops where the sign says, "If you break it, you've bought it"? How far would the customer get if he blamed the manufacturer for his mistake?

In a similar way, God created a trouble free world. He should not be blamed for its broken condition. Chapter one of Genesis claims in statement 31, "God saw everything that He had made, and behold, it was very good." The culprit was really Satan, who introduced evil to the human race. God wanted the best for the man and woman He created. But their loyalty was to arise out of love — not coercion. Otherwise, they would be robots — not free willed creatures.

When disobedience was demonstrated by our first parents, judgment inevitably followed. Child bearing was painful, earning bread was a laborious experience, and for the first time, sadness was introduced. All sorts of tragedies have followed to the present day. I want you to know that God is more concerned and disturbed about the state of man today than you are.

For that reason, He has done something about it! The Bible says, "As in Adam all die, even so in Christ, shall all be made alive." I Corinthians 15:22. Hallelujah!

Insists IRS Is Bully

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Philip Long says the Internal Revenue Service is a bully that establishes its own arbitrary standards of justice, sometimes in defiance of the courts, and then threatens citizens who fail to comply.

The intense, graying real estate operator from Bellevue, Wash., is now in his fifth year of contesting what he considers to be an unjustified demand for $38,144 in back taxes.

Long, 57, and his wife, Sue, 31, have spent close to $20,000 in research, in pressing a freedom of information court case, in travel, correspondence, publicity and newspaper advertisements.

The Longs have managed to pry loose information on how the IRS reaches its decisions, but they still have no verdict from the Tax Court on whether their appeal for tax relief has been successful.

They claim a U.S. District Court ruling that the IRS must make available information on its techniques and procedures is actively being thwarted as a matter of policy.

The IRS disputes the Longs on every point. It maintains it doesn't threaten taxpayers or abort the law, but that it has an obligation to collect what is owed the government.

But information obtained by the Longs from the IRS's own files suggests the service does rely heavily on subjective decisions and that its policies may vary from place to place.

If, for instance, you were a delinquent taxpayer in the Albany, N.Y., district in fiscal 1972 there was about a 60 per cent chance that your assets were subjected to levy or seizure. In Boston the chances were cut almost in half, and in Wichita and Cheyenne the chances were only 15 or 16 per cent.

Long and his wife claim to have found other questionable practices:

—The IRS as a matter of policy challenges many individual and small business returns, "not because there is a question of them being wrong but simply to obtain additional funds for the IRS."

—Agents have wide discretionary power to negotiate assessments. Sometimes agents offer to lower the amount in order to bait taxpayers into settling, regardless of the merits.

—You are guilty until you prove your innocence. If the IRS says you owe money you must pay or risk having your paycheck or other property seized. Then you go about proving your innocence.

While the latter might be so in some cases, the Longs themselves demonstrate it isn't always so. They still haven't paid.

Long has for the past 13 years been paying himself $600 a month to run his private corporations, set up to oversee about 60 duplex houses he owns or manages. The IRS views two of the corporations as personal holding companies, subject to extremely high taxes.

Long claims the IRS position reduced his wages to $150 a month and denied him many expense deductions.

How Do You Get A Cold?

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How long after exposure does it take to get a cold, and after getting one, at what point is there no longer danger of giving it to someone else?

My husband started a cold 2 1/2 weeks ago and is seemingly over it, but now I am starting one. I realize I may have gotten it from someone else.

What do you recommend for treatment? I am 71. — Mrs. R. W. B.

In most cases a cold develops from 12 to 48 hours after exposure, and as long as the patient sneezes, coughs or has nasal drainage, it is possible to pass it along to someone else.

In your case you probably picked up your cold from someone other than your husband. Recent studies indicate that the hands are a common means of transmitting cold germs, so if you have a cold, wash your hands frequently. If you are around a person with a cold, do likewise. It isn't a guarantee, of course, but every little precaution helps.

When you have a cold, the bare fact is that you just have to get over it, ordinarily a week or thereabouts. But you can do a few things to make yourself more comfortable.

If you have a fever, go to bed. Fever or not, aspirin or similar medication will lessen the misery.

And here's simple trick that, it seems, not very many people know about. Hot compresses on the face — a folded washcloth soaked in water as hot as you can tolerate — held against the face (across the nose and sinuses) affords quite a bit of comfort. Try it. Among other things, it will provide some steamy moisture which soothes the inflamed areas of the nose.

There's still plenty of dispute about vitamin C, but studies at the University of Toronto support the idea that it helps. Anyway it can't hurt you when you have a cold, and if you take it in the form of orange or tomato juice, the added liquids do their part.

Do NOT start penicillin or antibiotics at the onset of a cold, because these drugs do not affect viruses, and colds are caused by viruses, not bacteria. If fever persists, or a thick nasal discharge occurs, that indicates the presence of bacteria in addition to the viruses (a "secondary infection") and that is the time to see your doctor about antibiotics.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I used to weigh 230 pounds but reduced to 135 in eight months. Of course, at my top weight I had several chins. I have now been left with surplus skin hanging below my chin. What could be done to correct this short of plastic surgery? If plastic surgery is the only answer, what do you think of it and is it costly? — J. M. R.

Plastic surgery is the only solution. Massage, creams and efforts cannot help because the skin has been stretched too much.

However, plastic surgery by competent surgeons produces excellent results. Cost varies, but discuss that with your doctor.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Disturbingly Accurate

Robert E. Ford

Mrs. Housewife, when your husband writes his name in the dust on the furniture, tell him to get a cloth and start work. It may take both of you to keep the house clean this spring.

THIS IS on the authority of D. W. Fryrear of Big Spring out in West Texas and he just never misses. He's got a better odds record than Nick the Greek, the Las Vegas gambling authority.

Fryrear is agricultural engineer at the Agriculture Department's Big Spring Field Station.

Among his jobs is predicting the number of dust storms for Texas.

"It doesn't look very good this year," he said.

"Believe we sent you a little dust last week," he added, referring to dust reaching as far east as Dallas a month ago.

FRYREAR and his staff estimate that there will be 74 days of blowing dust this season, "considerably more," he says, "than in the past 20 years."

The station began making predictions in 1953.

"That year we estimated 56 days of blowing dust and we had 55. Normally we come within three days," says Fryrear.

Last year, for instance, the estimate was 25 days and the station measured 26.

The estimates are based on what is called the "Big Spring formula." And it has nothing much to do with what is happening now. The dust you get today has its history back in September, October, November and December.

THE FORMULA involved rainfall, wind movement and evaporation in those months.

In the area surveyed, Fryrear said, there has been only about three-quarters of an inch of rain in the last four months plus a half inch of snow in January.

"We had high wind movement those months and this aggravated the situation," the researcher added.

The formula results in Big Spring apply pretty well to all of Texas, says Fryrear. He said most of the dust is generated in the Big Spring area west into New Mexico.

Another element of dust storms hasn't been researched by the station but the scientists are beginning to get into the question.

THAT QUESTION is the severity of dust storm.

Some storms have picked up dust from Colorado, New Mexico and Texas in blinding clouds and carried them into the Atlantic Ocean.

But that isn't a good enough description for a scientist. Fryrear said the best his station can do is measure the severity by the distance of visibility as reported by the National Weather Service.

"In 1972 we made some tests with the National Center for Atmospheric Research to see how much dust was in the air," said Fryrear.

"VISIBILITY was a half mile during the test," he said, calling it not a very bad dust storm but bad enough.

"The dust cloud covered 130 million acres, and six million tons of soil were in the cloud," he said.

But that one "was not as bad as the other day," he said, referring to the Feb. 18 storm which reached Dallas and farther east.

The Feb. 18 one was started by winds of 62 miles per hour in the Guadalupe Pass, 55 at Midland and 30 to 40 in other parts of West Texas.

That's not remarkable, but why does the dust blow some times and not at other periods?

VOLUMES OF scholarly works have been written about this. Simplified, one little particle of soil starts moving, bumps into another and starts it on its path.

Multiply this billions of times and you have a dust storm. If the wind is high enough you get sand particles moving and you have a sandstorm which you can strip the paint off a car.

Soil experts have found a way to stop dust storms if there is any subsurface moisture although it doesn't make sense at first look.

It would appear that plowing a field would make the soil looser and more liable to blow.

Fryrear explains it this way: Plowing brings clods of earth to the surface and the wind can't blow them. They protect the soil.

NO LOVE LOST Fights To Operate Commuter Service

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A spunky little Texas airline which is defying the power of the cities of Dallas and Fort Worth and their new $700 million airport will be brought into court again today.

This time it will be the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals which hears the case involving Southwest Airlines.

Southwest has only three planes, but that is enough to keep its business flourishing between Dallas, Houston and San Antonio, the only stops the route has.

When Dallas and Fort Worth opened their new airport in January, Southwest refused to move there. It preferred to operate from Dallas' Love Field as before.

Love Field is on the fringe of downtown Dallas, much easier to reach than the huge, complex new field halfway between Fort Worth and Dallas.

But even before the opening, on April 30 last year, Southwest won a federal court decision in Dallas permitting it to stay at Love Field.

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. ruled in favor of the airline in a suit brought by Fort Worth and Dallas.

Judge Taylor said the proposed exclusion of Southwest from Love Field "constitutes unjust discrimination. . . . So long as Love Field remains operational as an airport, it is not legally permissible for the city to exclude Southwest."

The judge said it was a federal case because Love Field is supported by federal funds and is therefore subject to restrictions against discrimination.

The ruling set off a rush back to Love Field, with Braniff International, a huge worldwide airline, moving there for its Texas commuter flights. Texas International, another commuter service, also moved there.

A major difference is that Southwest did not sign an agreement to move to the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport and Braniff and Texas International did.

The flight away from the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport has brought strong objections from airlines which have not moved.

They contend that the three which have returned to Love Field—Braniff has only moved its commuter flights there—will increase their costs because the new facility is supported largely by landing fees.

American Airlines sought to withhold a part of its landing fees because the commuters' return to Love Field and has been sued.

The cities of Fort Worth and Dallas now have a suit pending in Fort Worth against Braniff and Texas International seeking to force them to return all their services to the new airport.

Dallas Auto Sales Drag

DALLAS (AP)—New passenger car registrations in Dallas County were down 34.2 per cent in February as compared with last year, the Freeman Auto Report shows.

Truck sales were down 24.9 per cent and motor home sales down 60.8 per cent, the report shows.

In January, passenger cars were down 30.1 per cent, trucks down 22 per cent and motor homes down 39 per cent.

Many of the compacts and other cars rated as gas savers also showed declines.

Among the cars surveyed, those showing increased sales were Dodge compact, international trucks, Plymouth compact, and Mazda trucks.

Tax Subsidies For Border Industries

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexican government has announced tax subsidies for small and medium industries along the border with the United States.

The measures, to be officially published today, take effect April 1. They include 100 per cent subsidies to cover duty on needed machinery and 60 to 100 per cent tax subsidies on imported raw materials.

To qualify an industry must have capital below $400,000—all of it from Mexican sources—and produce for the border area market or for export. Industries that process agricultural products and repair or assemble items for foreign clients also are eligible.

The plants must sell their products at prices comparable to those on the international market and remain completely Mexican-owned.

The measures are designed to stimulate production for the Mexican side of the border, whose residents traditionally have crossed into the United States to make many of their purchases.

They also will benefit small "inbound" plants that finish products started in U.S. factories. Assistant Trade Minister Eliseo Mendoza Berrueto said there are more than 460 assembly plants along the border, about 70 per cent more than in 1972.

The ministry of industry and commerce announced reductions Thursday in retail prices of liquid propane gas in several border states and Durango.

Prices in the border area of Tamaulipas state, the lowest of the five-state area, were reduced from 18.3 cents to 16.1 cents per kilogram. In the highest-priced area, part of Durango state, rates were lowered from 21.6 cents to 19.4 cents a kilogram.

The ministry said the prices in Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, Coahuila, Durango and Chihuahua were lowered because U.S. suppliers reduced their rates. The prices had been raised late last year.

Teachers Asking Higher Pay Stage Strike In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Public school teachers asking higher pay and administrative changes went on strike today after a stalemate in contract talks.

District Supt. Robert Medcalf vowed to keep the city's 98 schools open. He said he would seek a restraining order against the strike, voted Sunday by about half the 3,200 members of the Kansas City Federation of Teachers.

Federation president Norman Hudson said 80 to 85 per cent of the membership supports the strike. With promised support from other unions, the public schools could be shut down by midweek, he said.

There are 62,000 pupils in the district.

In a statement issued Sunday night, Medcalf said: "We all deplore the conditions that have created this strike. The employees' frustrations with rising inflation, coupled with the very real financial crisis in this district, make for no quick or easy answers. We cannot, however, condone a strike. . . . Our primary responsibility is to keep schools open."

Hudson said 44 of 62 contract items remained unresolved when talks broke off Friday without any being rescheduled. A key area of disagreement is salaries. The teachers rejected a 5.5 per cent increase, claiming it would be tantamount to a pay cut in view of last year's 9 per cent cost of living increase.

Medcalf has said that even without employee raises and program improvements, the district faces a deficit next year projected at nearly $3 million.

He said the 5.5 per cent offer could only have been funded by passage of a tax levy increase or "deep cuts . . . on the programs and personnel of the district."

The union hopes to raise the salary of beginning teachers with bachelors' degrees from $7,272 to $8,000 — an increase of slightly more than 10 per cent. Hudson estimates it would cost the district more than $7 million.

Medcalf declined to comment about other unresolved issues. These include reduction of class size, teacher representation on school district screening committees and an improved teacher grievance procedure.

Airlines Quiz May Continue

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Federal grand jury scrutiny of Braniff International Airways and Texas International Airlines may not have ended although a grand jury was discharged after returning no indictments. "I expect the antitrust division to pursue the matter with another grand jury," said U.S. Atty. William Sessions. A grand jury empaneled in September 1972 was discharged here by U.S. District Court Adrian Spears a day prior to its 18-month term's expiration. Spears also noted the investigation may not be complete. The grand jury, assisted by federal antitrust prosecutors, heard testimony and called for documents which might show any actions Braniff and Texas International may have taken in connection with Southwest Airlines. On file with the U.S. District Clerk here are documents entitled "Grand Jury Investigation of Braniff Airways, Inc., and Texas International Airlines, Inc." which seek testimony for airlines officials. Operating only in Texas, Southwest has been competing with Braniff and Texas International on key routes between Dallas and Houston, Dallas and San Antonio and San Antonio and Houston.

Hubby Could Oppose Wife

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Democrat Thomas Todd and his wife Barbara, a Republican, may make the 1974 election a family affair. The Todds sail here that each is thinking about running for statewide office — he for Education Commissioner and she for the Public Service Commission. "We'd only have to print one card to give out, 'His' on one side and 'Hers' on the other," he said. Todd, 45, a former Bay County school superintendent, is Education Commissioner Floyd Christian's cabinet aide. Mrs. Todd, 32, is a Leon County School Board member. She also works as a university system program coordinator. Todd said the fact that both he and his wife would have to quit their state jobs to run for office is a major drawback that may keep both from trying it. Mrs. Todd said she would run for the PSC only if Commissioner Paula Hawkins enters the U.S. Senate Republican primary. Otherwise, she says she plans to run for re-election to the school board. The Todds were married on May 15, 1973, the second marriage for each. They have one child at home, Mrs. Todd's by her first marriage.

Topless Bars Ruling Made

AUSTIN (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts has ruled against damages for the owner of three private clubs in Temple that featured topless dancing. Mrs. Sheree Papes brought suit against Temple Police Chief Leonard Hancock and the five city commissioners, claiming they conspired to shut down her clubs by making frequent investigations and filing illegal liquor violation charges. Roberts ruled here there was no evidence of conspiracy and denied the $90,000 damages sought. Roberts said no ruling was made on the re-opening of the clubs and Mrs. Papes would have to go to the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission for renewable of her license.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MONDAY, MARCH 18, 1974 SEC. B

South Breezes Push Warm Air Into Texas From Gulf

By The Associated Press
Spring appeared to be getting too well entrenched today for Texans to worry much about late thrusts from winter. At least the official forecasters shrugged off a new cool front, due to ease into the Texas Panhandle during the afternoon, as too feeble to exert an appreciable effect on the state weather. Oldtimers noticed, however, that nobody was predicting anything yet about the weather for Easter Sunday, which often is a target for a final blast of cold.

Meanwhile south breezes kept pouring warm air into Texas from the Gulf of Mexico and low clouds were spreading toward the north through the coastal plains and the south central and east sections. It was clear to partly cloudy elsewhere.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 47 degrees at Amarillo in the Panhandle up to 70 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi. Sunday afternoon's ton marks reached as high as 88 at Midland and 89 at Wink in West Texas.

Forecasters called for mild to warm weather throughout the state with skies cloudy to partly cloudy over the eastern half and clear to partly cloudy over the western half.

Lowake Inn of San Angelo bounced Nickel Chrysler Plymouth of Midland 76-56 and captured championship honors in the West Texas Men's March of Dimes Basketball Tournament Saturday at Howard College.

Sparked by 27 points from All-tournament pick Phillip Ned, the Lowake cagers rolled to a 42-22 halftime bulge and were never in trouble. Willie Hill, Sandy Lawrence and Skeet Hetrick all hit 11 for the winners while Phillip Sherod notched 17 for Nickel.

In a third place tilt Saturday, Walker Auto Parts knocked off the Civitans 78-71 while the State National Bank took consolation honors with a 73-58 triumph over Cabot.

Church Softball Loop Sets Meet

The Big Spring Church Softball League will hold its first organizational meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church.

Each church interested in competing in the fast pitch action is asked to have a representative at the meeting. A commissioner will be elected and plans for the league's season will be made.

HC Netters Finish Second In Navarro College Meet

CORSICANA — The Howard College tennis team opened its season last weekend with a second place finish in the Navarro College Invitational Tournament.

Mary Hardin-Baylor College won the 12-team meet with 23 points, while the Hawks totalled 12 for second and Cowley and Navarro tied for third. The HC netters return to action this weekend when they enter the Schreiner invitational in Kerrville and the following Monday they open Western Conference action in Borger with a dual match against Frank Phillips.

Hawk ace Bill Alcocer advanced to the finals before falling to Mary Hardin-Baylor's Rello Tuomola, a Davis Cup player from Finland, 6-3, 7-6. "Bill played the best match of his career against Tuomola. I think," said HC coach Will Roan. "He really looked good."

Ray Villareal and Terry Wood bowed in the third round of the huge meet and Jay Box fell in the second round.

DISTRICT PLAY NEARS — These four Big Spring Steers are among the leaders as the Longhorns prepare for their Dist. 5-AAAA opener Tuesday in Abilene against the AHS Eagles. From left, they are Albert Alvarez, Pat Carroll, Earl Reynolds and Sammy Rodriguez. Carroll and Rodriguez will play in the infield against AHS, while Alvarez and Reynolds will see action in the outfield.

Steers Open League Play Against Abilene

ABILENE — The Big Spring Steers, who have been something less than awesome in early season action, try to make a comeback that counts Tuesday when they visit the Abilene High Eagles in a 4 p.m. Dist. 5-AAAA opening baseball bash.

Coach Larry Horton's Longhorns, 2-10 on the year after bowing to Roswell, N.M., 6-4 in the final non-loop tilt Saturday, have been pegged seventh in the loop, mainly because of a pitching staff that has given up an average of seven runs and nine hits a game.

"I think we'll be OK," Horton said. "I feel like we can do much better than we have so far. We've got to find a couple of more people that can get on base for us, though."

One of the top hands so far has been John Thomas Smith, who will be on the mound for the Steers Tuesday. Smith, 1-2, has a 1.50 ERA and he also ranks among the team's batting leaders, hitting around the .330 mark.

Others over .300 include Earl Reynolds, Sammy Rodriguez, Pat Carroll and John Moreton and they'll all be in the lineup against the Eagles. Carroll will be at second base, Rodriguez will start at shortstop. Moreton is the third baseman and Reynolds will be in the outfield. Catcher Roger Battle and first baseman Dick Battle round out the starting infield, and Reynolds will be joined in the outfield by two players from the group of Barry Canning, Billy Don Whittington, Albert Alvarez and Lawrence Byrd.

Abilene will be paced by the play of infielders Brad Mann, Monte Harris and Rusty McLeskey, along with catcher Ronnie Maynard and Bill Stover. The Eagles, 6-6 on the year, lost two starters, Bobby Lawson and Rodney Oliver, to injuries in a doubleheader with Dallas W. T. White Saturday.

Also on Tuesday, junior varsities from the two schools will collide in a 4 p.m. tilt at Rose Park. The Steers of Coach Rex Scofield are 2-3.

Elsewhere in the district Tuesday, San Angelo is at home against Abilene Cooper, preseason favorite Midland leads Odessa High and Midland High hosts Odessa Permian.

Moreton was chased from the game during a five-run first-inning Saturday during the Steers' loss to Roswell, and the big right hander suffered his third loss of the year. Billy Don Whittington relieved and went the rest of the way.

Smith had RBI singles in the third and in the fifth to spark the 'Horns, while Carrell, Reynolds and Moreton also had big hits in the defeat.

Stanton Netters Second At Iraan

IRAAN — The Stanton tennis team finished second to host Iraan Saturday in the Iraan Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Jack Smith of Stanton bowed in the finals to Louis Valdez of Iraan 3-6, 8-6, 6-3, while the Buffs' Darrell Christian took the B division singles over Ernest Valdez of Iraan, 6-1, 7-5.

Also in the tournament, the Stanton girls team played its first competition. Next action for the team is Tuesday, when it travels to McCombs for a dual match.

SPRING BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Smith-Fisk Feud Still Brewing

Bob Darwin homered for two runs, and Steve Harber's circuit blow drove in another three, pacing Minnesota to its first victory of the exhibition season. Houston took a 3-1 lead after Harmon Killebrew had put the Twins on the board with a single in the first inning.

WFL Draft 'Raids' Rival

NEW YORK (AP) — The Washington Ambassadors of the World Football League began raiding the established National Football League today, selecting running back Charlie Evans of the New York Giants as the No. 1 pick of the new league's "all pro" draft.

The Toronto Northern went for running back Larry Csonka of the Miami Dolphins, the Philadelphia Bell chose Tim Rossovich, a linebacker with the San Diego Chargers, and the Portland Storm picked New England quarterback Jim Plunkett.

The 12-team WFL said it would attempt to conduct all 40 rounds of its draft today.

Wooden Beginning To Rattle Wolfpack

UCLA, favored to win its eighth straight National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship, geared up for Saturday's semifinal meeting with top-ranked North Carolina State at Greensboro, N.C., with some old fashioned sabre-rattling.

Coach John Wooden sounded the challenge when he recalled the Bruins' 84-66 romp over the Wolfpack last December in St. Louis.

"I want them to remember we beat them by 18 points on a neutral court with Bill Walton playing only half the game," declared Wooden. "I want them to dwell on that."

UCLA, 25-3 on the season, made it into the semis with an impressive 83-60 rout of San Francisco Saturday in the finals of the Far West Regionals. All-Americans Keith Wilkes and Bill Walton paced the attack with 27 and 17 points, respectively.

North Carolina State cruised into the finals with a 100-72 thumping of Pittsburgh in the East Regionals. The Wolfpack's only concern was the far the well-being of All-American David Thompson, who suffered a concussion when he fell to the floor in the first half. He was hospitalized Saturday night, released Sunday and is expected to be at full speed for UCLA.

Tom Burleson had 25 points and 12 rebounds for the Wolfpack, 28-1 on the year. The other semifinal Saturday will match Midwest champion Marquette against Midwest title Kansas. The Warriors, 25-4, edged Michigan 72-70 on the strength of a pair of free throws by Dave Delsman with 45 seconds left. It marks the first time in nine NCAA appearances Marquette has made it to the semis.

Kansas, 23-5, shaded Oral Roberts 83-60 as reserve Tommie Smith sank a pair of baskets in the final 28 seconds. Danny Knight had 19 points to lead the balanced Jayhawks attack.

At New York's Madison Square Garden, Connecticut, Utah, Boston College and Memphis State scored first-round victories Sunday in the National Invitation Tournament.

Jim Foster pumped in 27 points to lead Connecticut past St. John's, N.Y., 82-70. Ticket Burden's 34 points powered Utah to a 102-89 victory over Rutgers. Jere Nolan's foul shot in the final seconds gave Boston College a 63-62 upset of Cincinnati. Memphis State held off Seton Hall 73-72 by virtue of Dexter Reed's free throw with 30 seconds left.

In Saturday's NIT action, Purdue surprised North Carolina 82-71, Maryland-Eastern Shore dumped Manhattan 94-81, Jacksonville beat Massachusetts in overtime 73-69 and Hawaii edged Fairfield 66-65.

Southern California and Indiana advanced to tonight's finals of the Collegiate Commissioners Association tourney with hard-earned overtime victories Sunday.

The Trojans, 24-4, got by Bradley 76-73 as Dan Anderson and Bob Trowbridge teamed for nine points in the extra period. The Hoosiers, 22-5, edged Toledo 73-72 on a clutch basket by freshman Kent Beson.

West Georgia claimed the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship Saturday with a 97-79 romp over Alcorn State. Tom Turner topped the Braves with 28 points and Clarence Walker, named the tourney's Most Valuable Player, added 24.

er bitter, frustrating disappointment. The big guy, who has been in position to win a half dozen times in the last year, entered the final round in a tie with Green for the top, actually took the lead at one stage then again fell victim to a poor finish.

He closed with a 40 on the back nine, a 76 and a tie for fourth with DeWitt Weaver and Leonard Thompson at 281. Thompson had a final 70 and Weaver 71.

Green's Wins Helping Image

er bitter, frustrating disappointment. The big guy, who has been in position to win a half dozen times in the last year, entered the final round in a tie with Green for the top, actually took the lead at one stage then again fell victim to a poor finish.

He closed with a 40 on the back nine, a 76 and a tie for fourth with DeWitt Weaver and Leonard Thompson at 281. Thompson had a final 70 and Weaver 71.

OFFERED 'HOG FEED' TO POOR?

Hope To Satisfy Terrorists

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — The head of the $2 million Hearst food giveaway program has promised a progress report today on efforts to buy "top quality" food that will satisfy the terrorist band that kidnaped Patricia Hearst six weeks ago.

newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, said the program's funds would be exhausted after three more distributions. The mysterious Symbionese Liberation Army, which abducted the 20-year-old college sophomore from her Berkeley apartment on Feb. 4, demanded that Hearst feed California's needy as a precondition for negotiating her release. It demanded that "top quality" food be used in the giveaway.

The SLA complained that PIN "showed contempt for the people through distribution of surplus commodities instead of top quality fresh meats, vegetables and produce. PIN also intended to shun the people by trying to distribute hog feed instead of top quality dry stuffs."

sell Little, 24, referred to by the SLA as its "soldiers," have asked for a television forum to discuss prison conditions and to give their suggestions for Miss Hearst's release. Attorneys for the two asked Contra Costa County Superior Court Judge Sam Hall to clear the way for the men to read their statement on television, with one camera and one reporter present. No questions would be allowed.

'Tie Down' Law To Take Effect

The state's new "tie down" law goes into effect next Wednesday. It forces Texans buying new mobile homes after that date to properly block and anchor the homes.

The legislation House Bill 1193, was sponsored by the Texas Mobile Home Association. Even though only mobile homes purchased after that date are covered by the law, the association has urged all mobile home owners to secure their homes.

Exempted from the law are mobile homes located more than 300 feet from any other occupied or inhabited building or structure.

Mobile homes in the West Texas area must be blocked and anchored to withstand winds of minimum gale force velocity, 50 miles per hour, according to the law.

The task of inspecting the homes will be that of agents of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards.

Patty Is 'Not Involved' In Terrorist Movement

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Friends and family portray kidnaped heiress Patricia Hearst as an independent, liberal-minded young woman who probably is holding up well under the stress of her six-week ordeal.

But they dismiss speculation that the 20-year-old college sophomore could be involved with or have become ideologically converted by the Symbionese Liberation Army, the terrorist group that abducted her on Feb. 4.

"I'm encouraged that she is a very independent, very strong-willed girl, and I think she's holding up," her fiancé, Steven Weed, 28, said in an interview. "I have a lot of respect for her, maybe even more than I did before."

"Patty is absolutely fearless. She's a real fighter," said Patrick Tobin, a humanities instructor at Menlo College, where she was a student in 1971-72.

Asked what is Patricia's political point of view, her fiancé said: "Previous to the last two months, I would say that she really didn't have one. I think that by the time this is over, she is going to have some sort of political view, there's no way of getting around that."

and the son of a Palo Alto stockbroker, met the attractive, blonde Miss Hearst while he was a teacher and she a student at Crystal Springs School for Girls in her hometown here. They became engaged last December and planned to wed this summer.

"We've been together constantly for the past two years and we know exactly what we do, what each of us thinks," Weed has said. She was abducted from their apartment in Berkeley, where he is a graduate student in philosophy and she is an art history undergraduate.

It was from that two-story apartment that witnesses saw Miss Hearst dragged kicking and screaming by two black men and a white woman who stuffed her into a car trunk and drove off. Weed was beaten by the kidnapers and hospitalized for several days.

In the latest of four taped SLA messages on which she has spoken to her parents from captivity, Miss Hearst rejected the notion of herself as a hapless victim.

"The media, with complete cooperation from my parents, has created a public image of me as a helpless, innocent girl, who was supposedly abducted by terrible blacks, escaped convicts. I'm a strong woman."

However, her father, San Francisco Examiner Editor and President Randolph A. Hearst, later referred to her voice on the first tape as that of "a child scared to death."

Hearst and his wife, Catherine, a member of the University of California Board of Regents, spend most of the time sequestered at the 22-room French provincial mansion where Patricia grew up, the middle of five daughters. With them are other family members, close friends and, sometimes, FBI agents.

Police waited for the streaker at the Greater Pittsburgh International Airport on Saturday but did not arrest him after the 120 passengers refused to press charges.

Bridge Test

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you bid now? A.—Six clubs. Partner's bidding has described a hand with four spades, five hearts and three clubs, and therefore a singleton diamond. In view of partner's strength-showing reverse to two spades, you can expect to lose no more than one trick in the major suits.

Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you bid now? A.—Two no trump. With your hand we would suggest one try for game, and this is the most descriptive bid. Your values are well distributed, and partner has a maximum raise there may be play for game.

Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you bid now? A.—Two no trump. This is preferable to another rebid of your hearts. Partner has shown a rather good hand, and the key to the best final contract could be your club stopper.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A 2 ♣A J 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What action do you take? A.—Three hearts. At no trump, this hand is worth 8 points; at hearts, 10 points. The hand is slightly unbalanced, and an effort should be made to reach a heart game. Partner's no trump overcall in the direct seat shows the equivalent of a 3-4 trump opening bid, and should be rebid three no trump you should respect his decision.

Q. 5—East-West vulnerable as South you hold:

♠9 5 4 3 2 ♣K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you bid now? A.—Pass. It is tempting to double two clubs, and if you could be sure that that would be the final contract we would endorse the action. However, chances are great that someone will run. Suppose West reverses two clubs doubled to two hearts and your partner doubles. What would you do now?

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, you have 30 on score, and as South you hold:

♠A 9 7 4 3 2 ♣K Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you bid now? A.—Despite the fact that you have a seven-card suit, we suggest a pass. Partner's redouble does not necessarily show spade support. His three heart bid, the can only be made with a good suit. Nevertheless, partner chose to bid hearts, and we would get out now.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you bid now? A.—Pass. Remember, partner did not have the values to act over your one no trump opening bid. Now he is merely competing for a part score on a weak hand with at least five diamonds.

Q. 8—North-South vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A Q J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♠A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♣A 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

What do you bid now? A.—There is no doubt that you are going to game, but there is no necessity for haste. A bid of two hearts will serve the purpose, for a new suit in this situation is forcing for one round. It is your intention to support spades on the next round.

Tension Eases After Attempted Coup Fails

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The Portuguese government appeared securely in control of the whole country today and tension eased after the failure of an attempted coup by young infantry officers.

Military police were holding between 20 and 30 army officers in the Lisbon area in addition to the 200 young officers and infantrymen who advanced on Lisbon in a motorized column Saturday.

Troops loyal to the authoritarian regime of Premier Marcello Caetano turned the rebels back without firing a shot. They returned to their barracks at Caldas da Rainha, 60 miles north of Lisbon, and surrendered several hours later.

Lisbon remained calm, and no disturbances were reported elsewhere in the country. Thousands of soccer fans from Oporto streamed into Lisbon Sunday for a game between Oporto and Sporting of Lisbon. Because of the game, the government relaxed a state of alert which had confined the military to their barracks, but it was clamped back on after the game.

The Lisbon club won 2-0. The attempted revolt resulted from a movement in the armed forces for a political settlement to end the war against the native rebels in Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea, Portugal's African territories.

The movement was sparked by the recent book "Portugal and the Future," by the deputy chief of staff, Gen. Antonio de Spínola, which sharply criticized the government's African policy.

Spínola's views won wide attention because as commander in chief and governor-general in Portuguese Guinea, he became one of the country's leading military heroes. Caetano was reported to share some of Spínola's views, but on Thursday he bowed to pressure from President Americo Thomaz and other ultraconservatives, fired both Spínola and the chief of staff, Gen. Francisco de Costa, and confined the military to barracks.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that every time a person has sexual relations he burns up 300 calories.

I would like to lose 10 pounds, and my husband would like to lose 20 pounds. Do you recommend this method of losing weight? And how many calories would a person have to burn to lose one pound?

NO PUT ON
DEAR NO: I'm advised that one must burn 3,500 calories to lose one pound of body fat. The number of calories burned per hour for several types of measured physical activity reads as follows:

- Slow walking — 115 to 200.
- Dancing — 275 to 350.
- Skating or swimming — 380 to 600.
- Tennis — 350 to 700.
- Gardening — 250 to 300.
- Golfing (18 holes) — 150 to 225.

There can be no reliable figure on the number of calories burned during sexual relations because the amount of physical exertion varies with the individual. While losing weight, however, I think you'd be wise to supplement mattress acrobatics with more (or less?) strenuous physical exercise, using the above as a guide.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the seven-year-old Lutheran boy who wanted to turn Jewish because his 10-year-old sister, who was being raised Jewish, got seven presents (one for each day of Hanukkah) and he got only one present for Christmas:

His parents should give him seven presents for Christmas and let him decide later whether he wants to go the Protestant route or the Jewish route.

He might even decide to be a Roman Catholic and go to Notre Dame and beat U.C.L.A. again some day!
BILL K.

DEAR BILL: Judging from some of the names of those fellows on Notre Dame's teams, you don't have to be a Roman Catholic to play for Notre Dame.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a hospital, and I wish you would please devote a little space in your column to the way people should conduct themselves when visiting a patient in the hospital. Recently a patient was admitted with a serious heart condition.

The patient's sister entered, hysterical and in tears. She threw herself upon the patient (who was wired and bottled on both sides) and screamed: "Thank God you're alive. I thought you'd be dead by the time I got back!"

Then the patient's husband said to his ailing wife: "When I told So and So you were rushed to the hospital with a heart attack, she said: 'She'll never make it!'"

This kind of talk at the bedside of a patient is uncalled for, and detrimental to the welfare of the patient. Please ask people to think before they speak, even though they are emotionally upset.

Alpha Kappas Have Dinner, Plan Events

Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held a progressive dinner Saturday evening, beginning at the home of the president, Mrs. Wayne Stroup, 2302 Roberts. Other homes visited were those of Mrs. Steve Broom, 85-A Ent, and Mrs. Clay LaRoche, 600 W. 16th.

Plans for the event were made Wednesday at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Vic Keyes, 601 Circle, with Mrs. Stroup presiding. Announcements of city-wide events included the preferential tea for rushees, April 7, and the ritual April 16, both to be held in First Federal Community Room. The chapter has signed seven pledges who will be inducted at the ritual. On May 4, there will be a Las Vegas party at 7:30 p.m., in the Community Room for chapter members and their husbands.

The program was given by Mrs. Albert Carille of Swartz, showing fashions which will be in vogue this spring and summer. Things to look for included the no-cuff pant with straighter leg, dresses with longer hemlines, Eisenhower jackets and more denim and cotton clothing. She said green, yellow and beige will be popular colors.

The next meeting will be March 26 in the Broom home, and members will be asked to suggest nominees for Girl of the Year and Pledge of the Year at that time.
