KISSINGER WED — Dr. Henry Kissinger and Nancy Maginnes (above) were married in a civil ceremony Saturday afternoon in Arlington, Va. The U.S. Secretary of State and his new wife left Arlington in mid-afternoon for Aca-pulco, Mexico, where they will honeymoon for ten days.

Reviewing the . . .
Big Spring Week
... with Joe Pickle

It hardly seems possible, but the city council election is on Tuesday. For the first time, voting will be by places, but none have outward contests, so the temptation will be to not bother to vote. Yet, it is a pretty sorry commentary on citizenship that it takes an election squabble to get citizens to do their duty by going to the polls. Saturday will bring up the school elections with Big Spring having a record field; even the college trusteeships are contested.

Our area escaped serious damage in the blast of cool air with the first day of Spring, but it was the second surge last Sunday that dipped to 24 and wiped out fruit except for late blooming varieties, and withered one of the best displays of wisteria and rebud in years. While the critical frost deadline is still three weeks away, the old "reliable" mesquite say Spring is here.

Big Spring won a tactical round in the CAB hearing on Texas International's effort to suspend service here. The CAB called for the hearing to be held here June 1. Deadline for submitting records and exhibits is May 15, but that means

Woman Who Exposed Mystery Check Fired

HEARNE, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Mae Beth Bishop, whose questions about a $12,000 mystery check led to the indictment of six Hearne city officials, has been fired.

Mrs. Bishop, the city's bookkeeper, was ousted Friday by City Manager E.C. Suggs, one of those indicted on charges of mis-application of funds and conspiracy.

She made public the existence of a $12,000 check made payable to an engineering firm which no one can find.

A city councilman said the money went to assure a federal grant to the city. But he would not say who received the money.

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Saturday the political lesson of Watergate was "never again must Americans allow an arrogant, elite guard of political adolescents" to dictate the terms of a national election campaign.

Ford referred to the Committee for the Re-election of the President, which ran President Nixon's campaign in 1972.

"It violated the historic concept of the two-party system in America and ran roughshod over the seasoned political judgment and experience of the regular Republican party organization in the 50 states," Ford said. "The fatal defect of CREEP was that it made its own rules and thus made its own ruin."

CREEP is the double-edged acronym Ford used in referring to the campaign committee in his speech to more than 1,000 Midwest Republicans.

The audience, including presidential hopeful Sen. Charles Percy and GOP National Chairman George Bush, stood and cheered when Ford said:

"The political lesson of Watergate is this: Never again must Americans allow an arrogant, elite guard of political adolescents like CREEP to bypass the regular party organization and dictate the terms of a national election."

Ford received another ovation when he said: "Our Republican party organization must be the vehicle for future elections. If there are any more cliques of ambitious amateurs who want to run political campaigns in the future, I say let the Democrats have them next time."

He opened his speech noting, "I was specifically admonished before coming that I shouldn't talk about Watergate, but with some prerogatives of my own, I'll ignore those guidelines."

Pass Packet To Neighbor

The Howard County Easter Seal Society gives direct treatment services to the handicapped by aiding the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and needs help to carry out that mission.

The largest fund-raising activities for the Easter Seal campaign is the neighbor-to-neighbor drive.

There are still approximately 300 neighbor-to-neighbor packets in the city which hasn't been turned in to drive officials.

If you are one of the 300 families in Big Spring that has a packet in your possession, you are advised to donate toward the campaign, then take it to your next-door neighbor as soon as practical.

If you receive a packet within the next day or two, you should help keep it moving after making your donation.

Auriel LaFond, who is chairing the drive, says: "Show handicapped people that you care."

LAND O'LAKES? — This scene may look as if it were captured in an area where there is more water than land. In reality, kids and adults flock regularly to Cosden Lake immediately south of town to engage in the sport of sail-boating. The scenic area is close to Comanche Trail Park.

9 Units Are Sent To Fire

Nine fire units fought over four hours trying to contain an old-fashioned prairie fire northeast of Forsan and south of Cohoma Saturday afternoon.

The fire burned off thousands of acres of grass on the Henderson and Cole Estates, then crossed over into Mitchell County.

The fire was just north of the Chalk oilfield and may have begun from a cigarette thrown from a vehicle off 821. However, fire officials also speculated that it might have begun from hot sun reflecting off a bottle in a pasture.

The fire skipped and jumped through the tinder dry rangeland with fire units and individual pickups carrying firemen to all edges of the burning area.

Fire units went from Silver Heels, Sand Springs, Coahoma, Forsan, Gayhill, Connie Edwards ranch, Webb Air Force Base and some from Mitchell County.

The county barn also sent a road grader to try to grade a fire safety lane and half the spreading flames and billowing smoke.

Girl, 17, Brother Killed By Youth

BEDFORD, Tex. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy used a shotgun to kill a 17-year-old girl and her 14-year-old brother late Friday night while their parents were out of town, Bedford police said Saturday.

The slayings occurred in a comfortable brick residence where police found Kimberly Diane Corbin, 17, shot in both arms and the back, and her brother, Jeff Corbin, 14, shot once in the chest.

The two, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Corbin, were dead on arrival at a hospital around midnight.

DRUNK
Bedford Police Sgt. Charlie Stewart said officers met the 16-year-old boy walking out of the front door about 11:30 p.m. He was drunk and also under the influence of a large dose of aspirin, police said.

"He said he had just shot" the two, Stewart reported. "The parents had gone to Temple, the sergeant said. Sgt. Stewart said the killings had their origin in a party held at the house earlier in the evening.

The sergeant said the youth in custody told police he shot the two because they threatened to tell about the party at which he drank a quantity of beer.

"It made him extremely mad after already being extremely drunk," Stewart said. "He . . . got a shotgun and shot both of them in the big living room. He said he shot the boy first."

The arrested youth was taken to a Bedford hospital, transferred to a Fort Worth hospital and then to the juvenile detention home.

He is being treated as a juvenile. No charges were filed at once.

The sergeant said the boy was shot first. Then, Stewart related "The girl made an attempt to get the shotgun away from him. He shot her in the arm . . . She made a movement to run out the door and he shot again.

Police said they recovered three spent shells from a 16-gauge shotgun. Stewart said the girl apparently died at the scene.

Jeff "lived for about 15 minutes after he was shot," Stewart said police believe.

Superloyalist Chapin Goes On Trial For Lying Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around the White House Dwight L. Chapin was known as a superloyalist, a man of absolute devotion to Richard Nixon.

His reputation was that of a nice guy who did the unquestioning and unquestioned bidding of his boss and patron, H.R. Haldeman. When Chapin gave orders, the bark was really Haldeman's.

Daniel Moynihan once tagged Chapin as a "perfect neutral executor" who never aspired to become a policy maker like others who had held his job: appointments secretary to the President.

CONTACTED CHUM
He and Gordon Strachan, another Haldeman lieutenant, thought ahead in 1971 to the general election a year away and contacted an old chum from their days at the University of Southern California, Donald Segretti.

Segretti said they offered him a job to "perform certain political functions for the re-election of President Nixon."

The job, it turned out, was to pull dirty tricks, or as Segretti said, "similar to college pranks at USC." He understood it to be "nothing improper or illegal."

But Chapin went before a federal grand jury a year ago and said he never gave Segretti any instructions about targeting on particular Democrats; that he didn't know Segretti had distributed campaign literature; that he advised his buddy to go to the FBI; and that he didn't know what Segretti was paid.

A grand jury determined Chapin was lying in each instance and indicted him on four counts of making false statements, each punishable by a maximum fine of $10,000 and 5 years in prison.

Chapin goes on trial Monday before a jury in the courtroom of U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

Chapin goes on trial Monday before a jury in the courtroom of U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

The government's two major witnesses against him will be John W. Dean III, the ousted

White House counsel; and Segretti, fresh from prison where he served 4½ months of a six months sentence for violating campaign laws.

"While the Segretti matter was not directly related to the Watergate, the cover-up of the facts surrounding Mr. Segretti's activities was consistent with other parts of the general White House cover-up which followed the Watergate incident," Dean testified last year.

Segretti told the Senate Watergate Committee that Chapin sent him to President Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, to discuss salary — $16,000 a year plus expenses. He said he received $667 bi-weekly from Kalmbach from the beginning of September, 1971, to Jan. 15, 1972, plus $40,000 for expenses from Kalmbach.

His activities during the Florida primary, distributing fake literature, prompted the charges against Segretti.

When stories about Segretti surfaced in newspapers after Watergate, Dean said, the White House became worried about Chapin's involvement and he was advised to leave. He did and obtained a job with United Air Lines in Chicago as director of market planning. He went on leave from that position after his indictment last Nov. 29.

GUSTY

Partly cloudy with gusty winds today and cooler on Monday. Winds Sunday expected from 20-30 miles per hour and gusty. High today in mid 90s, low tonight, near 50 and high on Monday, near 80.

CROWNED MISS DIAMONDBACK — Terri Sledge (center), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sledge Jr., was crowned Miss Diamondback at the Jaycees' Rattlesnake Dance at the old Cosden Country Club, Saturday night. She is 5'2", measures 34-26-36 and plans to be an airline stewardess. First runner-up is Roni Aciri (left) the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Aciri. Christi Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Miller, the other finalist, is at the right.

THE WEEK

Final figures are in for the 1973 cotton crop. In Ginnings amounted to a record 88,201 bales, said County Agent Bruce Griffith. Including the price of seed, the crop probably was worth in excess of $23 million — far outstripping anything here before.

The city's sales tax took a surge for the fourth quarter. The $153,771 was far larger than the 12 per cent gain for the year, it was up 19 per cent, which meant that volume considerably exceeded even the factor for inflation.

An Educational Opportunity Grant of $87,779 for Howard College almost went down the drain at the monthly meeting of the Permian Basin Council of Governments. A counter-attack mounted by Judge A. G. Mitchell, backed by expert presentation by Doris Huihregste, not only saved it but restored one wiped out for Odessa College. Other grants approved which involve programs here was a continuing appropriation of $200,000 for the Big Spring State Hospital behavior modification project, and $43,303 for the detoxification unit.

New executive director of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will be Jack Davis, currently assistant executive director of the Easter Seal Society Center in Fort Worth. He and his wife are natives of San Angelo and are anxious to get back to West Texas. He is to take over May 1.

There was good news involving your young folk. For instance, Jeff Talmadge, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Talmadge and a 1971 Youth Zale's Achievement award winner, was elected by a wide margin as president of the Duke University student government The Senior High "Cornal" edited by Grenda Tynes, Cynthia Dennis and Jeff Kuykendall, won first place in state competition and Rannels Junior high repeated as outstanding junior high council in this district, as well winning the safety award.

Howard College girls currently are leading the Southwest region in barrel racing, and Raleigh McCullough has a firm grip on the bull riding title as rodeo competition heads down the home stretch.

Borden County was virtually without gasoline for a time last week when its allotment ran out. This is an example of the irony of being in the midst of (gasoline) plenty, yet being unable to obtain the fuel for pumps, especially at the end of a month.

Rehearsals are continuing on Monday evenings for the choral, drama and band portion of the Easter Sunday service, set for the morning of April 14 in the Comanche Trails park amphitheatre. This program promises to be different from recent years.

Jaycees finally hit decent weather for their Rattlesnake Roundup. A couple of weak fronts moved through but did not present enough breeze to bother. That set the stage for a fine turnout for this annual event dedicated to the proposition that, while some will handle them, no one really loves a rattlesnake.

City officials hears a second round in the renewed effort of local hospitals for more realistic support in handling of indigent cases. Citing pure charity figures (as did others) which thus in effect becomes a burden on paying customers, Norman Knox, Medical Center administrator, said that hospitals should not be called on, short of dire emergency, to furnish free service any more than any other business.

The County Court docket grew to 1,195 at the end of February, an increase of 114 cases, or 10.5 per cent, within the past two months. The major reason is a glut of appeals from justice and city court mostly on traffic offenses.

County commissioners, wrestling with the problem of leasing hanging space, gave some consideration to the possibility of erecting additional space. The operator claimed that the 100 planes instead of 50 if more storage were available.

College Auditorium To Be Scene Of Spelling Bee

Fifteen school champion spellers square off Thursday 4 p.m. in the Howard College auditorium in the finals of the Herald's 1974 Howard County Spelling Bee.

The winner, whoever he or she may be, will represent Howard County in the regional finals April 13 in Lubbock. The winner then — and Howard County has furnished two of them — will go to the national finals in Washington, D.C. under sponsor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, which sponsors the activity in this area.

The 1973 county champ, Glenn Margolis, is back, but he faces stiff competition from 14 others who spelled down the best in their schools.

Pronouncer for the County Bee again will be Mrs. O. T. Brewster, who has performed this service almost since the beginning of this activity here. Judges will come from Howard College's faculty and administrative staff—L. L. Lewis, Gary Grant and Mrs. Joy Burned.

School champions will receive blue ribbons and a ballpoint pen and the county champion will get an engraved plaque. At Lubbock there will be a wide variety of prizes.

Named as representative of the various schools are:

LAKEVIEW—Lettitia Hernandez, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hernandez, 303 N. Aylford, champion; Dickie Wrightsil, grand nephew of Mrs. Annie Mae Huey, 917 Ohio, runnerup.

BAUER—Christina Rubio, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Domingo Rubio, 1101 N. Gregg, champion; Maria Yanez, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Yanez, 308 NW 9th, runnerup.

MOSS—Donna De Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Reynolds, 1000 Baylor, champion; Gina Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Robertson, 3301 Cornell, runnerup.

GOLIAD—Kim Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vernon Oxley, 196B Hunter Drive, champion; Paula Witte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Witte, 2617 Central, runnerup.

AWAKENED IN THE FIELD — James Gholar Jr., of Jackson, Miss., awakened in a two-vehicle crash on IS 20 near Cosden Saturday. He was sleeping while a relief driver drove and was thrown out the back of the cab after the trailer was torn loose from the cab in the collision.

Dedicated City Worker Quits

Lester Anderson, assistant superintendent of water and sewage treatment for the City of Big Spring, was honored Friday with an informal coffee at the water filter plant with city employes as guests.

Anderson has worked for the city for the past 13 years, seven months and six days. "During that time, he only had three days sick leave and was a hard worker," Bill Brown, department superintendent, stated.

Anderson and his wife reside at 1312 Virginia. Before working for the city, he worked for Merchants Freight Lines and other local businesses.

Man Asleep Suffers Jolt

By GETA CARPENTER

"I get a relief driver at Sweetwater to drive me to Wicket and I go to sleep and the next thing I know I am sitting on my rear out in the brush," James Gholar Jr. of Jackson, Miss., stated Saturday afternoon at a major accident scene off IS 20 in front of the Cosden Refinery.

"I began to wake up as I realized the truck was pulling off the highway and we were taking a wild ride cross the service road, through the fence and into the field and then I think I got thrown out the back of the cab after it pulled loose from the trailer," Gholar added.

He was the luckiest of the three individuals involved in the two vehicle crash which occurred around 3 p.m. Both drivers, Miss. and R. N. (Dutch) Harvell Sr. of Big Spring, were taken to Malone-Hogan clinic where Williams was treated and released and Harvell was admitted to Medical Center Hospital.

Harvell was suffering from scalp wounds and other possible injuries and was reported to be in a stable condition late Saturday.

The car driven by Harvell was apparently struck by the truck from the rear with the car going off the north side of IS 20, across the ditch, over the service road and bouncing back to the southside of the service road. Both the rear end and the top of the motor were ripped from the vehicle.

The truck, loaded with cotton bales headed for Los Angeles, went out of control, across the service road with the trailer falling loose from the cab, then fell on its side, with cotton bales spilling out in the field. It was a Ralph Walker truck from Jackson, Miss.

The driver was trapped in the cab and a cutting torch was used to get him out. Chappell Gladden, a passing trucker, arrived right after the accident, turned off on to the service road and came back to the scene to help free the driver.

George S. Park Is Death Victim

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Midland for George S. Park, 70, who died Thursday morning.

Burial was in Resthaven Memorial Park. Survivors include his wife, the former Pioneer Prichard, daughter of a pioneer Big Spring couple, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Prichard.

Taking Fifth Maybe Not Good Idea, After All

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — One of eight Ohio National Guardsmen indicted by a federal grand jury in the Kent State shootings said he may have made a mistake by refusing to testify before the jury.

Matthew J. McManus said in a copyright interview Saturday with the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram that he was only following his lawyer's advice, but "taking the Fifth (Amendment) maybe really wasn't such a brilliant idea after all."

The Fifth Amendment guarantees a citizen's right against self-incrimination.

McManus, 28, of West Salem said in an interview that seven other guardsmen had been advised by the same lawyer to take the Fifth.

"They were probably the ones indicted because we were possibly advised wrong," he said.

McManus said the National Guard assigned the attorney to him, but he would not name him.

McManus said he was surprised by the indictment: "I wasn't looking for it, particularly in my case."

The indictment lists McManus, who held the rank of sergeant, as still in the Guard. However, he told the news-paper he resigned prior to appearing before the grand jury.

The federal grand jury, which spent 39 days investigating the May 4, 1970, confrontation between the Guard and antiwar protesters, issued indictments which were released here on Friday.

Four students were killed and nine wounded in the melee.

Others named in the indictment, all of them former enlisted men, were: Lawrence A. Shafer, 28, and James D. McGee, 27, both of Ravenna, Ohio; William E. Perkins, 28, Canton, Ohio; Leon H. Smith, 27, Beach City, Ohio; James E. Pierce, 29, Amelia Island, Fla.; Ralph W. Zoller, 27, Mantua, Ohio; Barry W. Morris, 29, Kent, Ohio.

They are charged with willfully assaulting and intimidating demonstrators on the campus by firing in their direction and violating their civil rights.

McGee consulted his attorney and said Saturday he has been advised to remain silent.

Ralph W. Zoller of Mantua, Ohio, whose 27-year-old son was indicted, said, "This whole thing is stupid. It's ridiculous."

Maj. John E. Martin of Wooster, commander of A Company, 145th Infantry, one of the units from which the lethal 13-second burst of gunfire came, said: "These young men have civil rights, too. I'm wondering if anybody is looking after them."

Martin was not among the indicted.

Pierce also said he refused to testify, citing Fifth Amendment protections against self-incriminations.

Immediately after hearing of his indictment on Friday, McGee said he would have "plenty to say and I will say it," but only after talking with an attorney.

No Real Economic Growth Is Foreseen By Analyst

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The U.S. economy will show virtually no real growth in 1974 despite the lifting of the Arab oil embargo, according to a study by Arthur D. Little, Inc.

In the report released Saturday, the consulting firm said that continued high price inflation over the coming year will mask the real extent of the economic slowdown.

Incumbents Unopposed

Mayor Wade Choate and two councilmen, Eddie Aciri and Harold Hall, are running uncontested in the city council race set for Tuesday between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The apathy of the voting public in the election is indicated by the fact that only one absentee vote was cast and it was cast by one of the candidates.

There are some indications that there may be a last minute write-in effort for one of the posts although there has been no public announcement.

Voting will be at the same polls as last year. Precinct 1 votes at Northside Fire Station and is also No. 1 in county precincts. Precinct 2 in the city is both 2 and 22 in the county with voting at Birdwell Fire Station.

Precinct 3 is 3 and 36 in the county and vote at 18th and Mainfire Fire Station. Precinct 4, which is Central Fire Station, is both 4 and 15 in the county. Precinct 5, which is 8 in the county votes at Airport School.

It is possible for the United States this year if the oil embargo is reimposed or oil production rates in the Mid East held below the levels of last October, the firm said.

The economic forecasts are

George Inness of Galesburg, Ill., president of the American Shorthorn Association, spoke to members of the Big Country Shorthorn Association Saturday at their dinner meeting at the Holiday Inn.

R. Lee Brown, of Tuscola and vice president of the group acted as master of ceremonies and introduced guests and members. Lester Adams of Big Spring is president of the group and Henry Parmenter, Big Spring, serves as secretary-treasurer.

Directors include W. G. Bingham, Don Karns and Maurice Chapman, all of Big Spring; and N. W. Arthur, Odessa; Dean Harman, Tulia; and Mack Kinchloe, San Angelo.

Inness told the group that two of the main projects this year include getting more members and an attempt to obtain more shorthorn purebred females in this country.

part of a study recently completed on the effects of alternative oil supply on the U.S. economy this year.

Vincent Ficaglia, the consulting firm's manager of economic analysis and principal investigator in the study, said the study found that lack of adequate production capacity, rather than lack of energy, would be the most suppressive factor in certain U.S. industries this year.

The study said that of the 215 industry sectors analyzed, 15 per cent were found to be highly sensitive to oil availability. For sensitive industries, the report said, fluctuating oil supply could affect their growth more than 100 per cent.

The study said consumer prices should go up another 10 per cent this year, with increases in food, fuel and service costs. Of the 215 industry sectors studied, the report said 50 expected to raise prices this year by 15 per cent or more, and half of these would boost prices 25 cents or more.

Soda Bottle Had Role In Wreck

SUNBURY, Pa. (AP) — Gilbert Clark's car has been wrecked by a soda bottle, with a little help from a slow but steady freight train.

The bottle rolled under the car's brake pedal as Clark, 49, of Mifflinburg, Pa., approached a Reading Railroad crossing and he could not stop the car, police reported Friday.

The auto was hit broadside, but Clark escaped injury.

Con-Con Delegates To Take Month Off

AUSTIN (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates, obviously unhappy recently in their work, have decided to take a month off for the political season.

After a couple of weeks of rumors and speculation, the 189 legislator-delegates decided Thursday to quit from next Saturday until May 6.

They also extended the life of the convention up to 60 days, closing out July 30 at the latest.

Three of the most important and controversial articles of the state policy document—legislative, judiciary and the general provisions—remain to be considered. Two are still in committee.

UNHAPPY

Throughout the weeklong debate on the finance article, during which 98 amendments were offered and only nine approved, a number of delegates made it apparent they, and their constituents, were unhappy with the progress of the convention.

The dissatisfaction showed again in the three-hour debate over the recess and extension.

"The last few days are evidence that we should go home and reflex on what we have done and talk to the home folks about what we have done," said Sen. Don Adams, D-Jasper, in debate.

"We have reached a point in deliberations when we definitely need to take a few weeks off and talk to our constituents," said Rep. DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, author of the recess resolution which was sponsored by Speaker Price Daniel Jr., convention president.

"This product is in trouble and we are going to have a tremendous selling job to the voters," said Rep. Bill Blythe, R-Houston.

Time and time again the senators and representatives tried to write minute details of law-making into the state's next constitution instead of stating broad policy and leaving the legislating and administration to future legislatures, governors and judges.

Friday, there was one successful amendment that would require each county to have at least one constable. This apparently will require the 65 counties that now have no constables to put out the "Help Wanted" sign if voters finally approve.

The signs of unrest revived talk that the legislators should never have been picked as the only delegates to write a new constitution because of their political interests and ambitions.

NO DOUBT

"There is no doubt we have been more political the last few days," said Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco. "It was obvious that some of the amendments (to the finance article) were offered by those thinking of elections just ahead and not of 10 and 20 years from now."

At a recent meeting of newspaper editors, former State Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert Calvert said he was afraid at the time the convention was called what it was "unfortunate" that all the delegates were to be legislators. "I still think it is unfortunate," he said, "it gets a little unbalanced... I'm afraid that is one of its weak points, but I must say at this point I don't yet think it fatal."

Others who have been involved in the drive to rewrite the constitution have expressed hope the legislators will act more like delegates after the primary campaigns are over.

Prices Stimulate More Drilling

One pronounced effect of the higher prices for crude oil in Texas is an increase in drilling activity.

Daniel, who first confidently predicted the legislator-delegates could finish their job in 90 days, remains confident. He strongly opposes any idea the legislators will not write a new constitution the voters will accept.

"That notion has been totally destroyed in nearly every way," he said Friday.

According to the March 25 report compiled for the International Association of Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company, there were 470 rigs turning in Texas, a gain of nine for the week, and 23 for the month. This compares with 328 drilling a year ago, and increase of 44 per cent. The total for the United States was 1,380 rigs going March 25, an increase of 266.

Man Trying To Do Good Turn Forfeits His Life

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Amos Brown and Debbie West were to have been married Saturday on Brown's 18th birthday. But death intervened.

Six days before he died, Brown and Miss West were walking home when a car stopped nearby. Miss West said they saw a woman leaving the car. A man followed, chasing then he jumped on top of the man and pulled him off of her.

"I told Amos, 'We need to help that woman, she's in trouble,'" said Miss West, 18. "At first he said no, but then he gave in and we went across the street to them."

"Amos kept pleading with the man to leave the woman alone, then he collapsed in his fiance's arms. He had been stabbed in the heart.

Two minutes later, police cars crowded the area. Officers rushed young Brown to County Hospital, one mile away.

For six days following surgery, Amos clung to life.

For six days, Debbie sat and slept near his side.

She was there at 7:45 a.m., March 8, when her boyfriend died.

Police earlier had charged Manuel C. Medina Jr. with assault with intent to commit murder. They said the charge has now been changed to first-degree murder.

Cobra Bite Leaves Snake Handler In Bad Shape

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A snake handler bitten by a deadly cobra Friday was reported in critical condition in a hospital today after receiving a special serum.

Keith Benson, 27, walked into Charlotte Memorial Hospital with a tourniquet around his left arm and matter-of-factly said a cobra had bitten him.

"He was quite calm and seemed to know what was involved," said Dr. Russell Salton, who is treating him. Dr. Salton said that whether Benson lives depends on how much of the venom entered his body. He said that if the dose was massive, the serum won't help.

Benson was placed under a respirator and given nerve medicine to delay the affects of the venom, which attacks the nervous system.

Antivenom serum was quickly ordered from the Miami Serpentarium Labs. It was flown to Shaw Air Force Base near Sumter, S.C., and then brought by helicopter a little over six hours after Benson had been bitten.

The owner of the snake show, which is housed in a motorized trailer, Randy Gallagher, 23, of Albemarle, N.C., said the six-foot Asiatic cobra "got upset and tapped" or struck.

Gallagher said he believed Benson got a large dose of venom because the fangs got stuck in his arm, making it difficult to wrench the snake loose.

"Most of the time you can grab them off" before the fangs penetrate, he said.

Gallagher added that the snake was "the largest I've ever seen. It was six feet long and would have been a 3 foot longer except that his tail was chopped off."

Gallagher said he left his job in a textile mill last year to pursue his life-long dream of owning a serpentarium. He said he carried no serum, and that snake handlers consider getting bitten an occupational hazard.

"There's no way to prevent it. You just accept it if you're going to do it." His traveling show had been parked at a Charlotte shopping area.

He said he met Benson two months ago in Statesville, N.C., when Benson sold him a cane-brake rattlesnake. Since then, "We've been friends, almost like brothers."

Bids Invited For Garden City PO

Bids for the construction of a new post office Building in Garden City are now being accepted.

"It will be a leased facility to be constructed by the successful bidder and leased to the Postal Service for a basic lease period of ten years with four 5 year renewal options," said David E. Holster, Midland sorting center chief.

Anyone interested in bidding on this project should contact William H. Brady, P. O. Box 830, San Antonio, Texas 78293, A-C 512-225-5511, extension 4691. Bids will be accepted until 1 p.m., May 16.

Plan To Develop Energy Resources Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government study of energy policy sharply criticizes the Nixon administration's current drive to develop U.S. energy resources at top speed.

In a preliminary report Saturday, the Ford Foundation's Energy Policy Project said the government should consider seriously an alternative policy of slowing or halting the growth of energy demand by the end of this century.

The report said most of the nation's remaining fossil fuels are in fact owned by the public and their management by the

ENCOURAGES
But it said the existing system was designed to encourage resource development and works against considering other options.

"To our minds," the report said, "the most fundamental choice is a sense of direction about growth in energy consumption."

It said the historic growth of energy demand, about 3.4 percent a year, could be continued through this century, with all-out development of all of the nation's energy resources, including oil, natural gas, coal, oil shale, geothermal energy and atomic energy.

But it said this growth rate could, instead, be cut in half by an all-out effort to save energy through better use of it, with no loss of advantages. It said this policy would require full development of only one major energy resource.

The growth rate could even be slowed and halted, the report said, leveling off slightly higher than at present — high enough to maintain present living standards and to increase those of the poor.

"The federal government is in a unique position to shape the future patterns of national energy policy through control of publicly owned energy resources," the report said.

MUST HAVE PLACE
Dissenting with part of the report, the Edison Electric Institute said, "Zero energy growth does not appear to be a viable approach." The association for the nation's investor-owned electric utility companies added that "in any responsible scenario on energy, the nuclear option must have an important place."

The report raised the possibility of creating a government energy corporation to develop public resources itself instead of leasing them to private businesses.

Such a proposal has already been made in Congress but is opposed by the administration and by the energy industries.

The report, to be followed by others dealing with energy policy issues in greater detail, did not, however, make any specific policy recommendations beyond suggesting consideration of various options.

Efforts To Free Americans In Ethiopia Go For Naught

ASMARA, Ethiopia (AP) — Efforts by Tencoco Oil Co. to negotiate release of three Americans and two Canadians captured by rebels in northern Ethiopia brought no reported progress Saturday.

Members of the Eritrean Liberation Front captured the five after their helicopter went down Tuesday in a storm 45 miles northwest of Massawa on the Red Sea, sources said.

Villagers said the guerrillas burned the craft and took the five with the army in pursuit.

A military search was called off to permit negotiations, and Edward Burchall, chief of Tencoco Oil Co. in Ethiopia, refused to comment on the negotiations until after the five were freed, informants said.

In Houston, Tex., Tencoco said the captured men included Motta Paula, a American consultant to the Ethiopian Ministry of Mines, and two geologists — Powers W. Kayce Jr., 36, of Plainview, Tex., and Clifford M. James, 27, a Canadian.

Tencoco officials in Houston identified a second American only as J. W. Rogers, one of the company's employees.

Canwest Aviation Ltd. of Calgary, Alta., said its president, Don Wederfort, 28, also of Calgary, was the pilot.

They were exploring for oil when they were stranded in the northern province of Eritrea, Ethiopian sources said.

The Front has been fighting Ethiopian troops for a decade trying to win independence for the province, once an Italian colony.

In the past, the organization has kidnapped others and released them after generating publicity for its cause.

Cotton Outlook Bright For '74

NEW YORK — A sharp increase in consumption at home, combined with growing demand overseas, will keep cotton prices strong and steady this year, a study by Cotton Incorporated shows.

Cotton Incorporated President J. Dukes Wooters, Jr. predicts domestic demand for the 1974 U.S. cotton crop will reach a least eight million bales, and the export market will consume 6 million bales. The 1973 consumption was 7.5 million bales.

"All things considered — the outlook for cotton in 1974 is the brightest in many years," Wooters said. "And the outlook continues to be bright well into the future, even beyond this decade on an into the next."

Wooters said his company's market analysts calculate that American cotton growers will plant almost 15 million acres of cotton this year.

Tower Urges President 'To Open Up'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, long a supporter of President Nixon, says evidence exists to exonerate the President but, despite pleas by the Republican leadership, Nixon refuses to release it.

"I'm hopeful this material will be released that is exculpatory of the President," the Texas Republican, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said in an interview.

"I'm convinced in my own mind, I can't go much beyond that. A number of us have been urging him to open up," Tower said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said in January that material he has seen shows John W. Dean III, the former presidential counsel, perjured himself when he testified Nixon was aware of the Watergate cover-up before March 21, 1973.

Tower predicted Nixon would still be in office by next November's elections. But when asked if this would be best for the Republican party, he replied: "It's a long time away. It depends on the climate at the moment."

He said Nixon is refusing to release the material because of his "jealousy of the institution of the presidency."

But Tower said "the leadership collectively has urged it."

Set Aside Times For Streaking

DOVER TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Ethel Zaun has set aside certain times of the year for streaking — running public in nude: Feb. 29, except in leap years, and the sixth week of March.

The proclamation issued Wednesday says: "Any citizen caught streaking at any other than on the officially sanctioned time may be subject to a penalty of up to $1 for each pound of flesh exposed in such activity."

Book-Burning Controversy

MINOT, N.D. (AP)—The Drak School Board has suspended indefinitely a hearing on whether to rehire English teacher Bruce Severy, fired in the midst of a book-burning controversy last fall.

School officials said parents complained that Severy, 26, assigned his students to read several books that contained obscene language, including Kurt Vonnegut's best-seller "Slaughterhouse Five."

The school board ordered the books burned.

Solar Heating Will Be As Common As TV Gear

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By 1984, solar collectors may be as familiar a sight on rooftops as TV antennas are today, predicts an Ohio State University economics professor.

Dr. Richard A. Tybout believes that one-third of residential space heating in the United States could be supplied by solar energy with present technology.

But he cautions that solar heating cannot eliminate the monthly fuel bill — it can only reduce it.

Tybout has conducted a joint study with Dr. George O. G. Lof of Colorado State University, supported by Resources for the Future, Inc.

The current energy shortage favors the economics of solar heating, says Tybout, and within 10 years solar heating should be profitable to install in the majority of U.S. locations.

GENTLE RISES

"The cost of installing a solar heating system will rise with inflation at about the same rate as other consumer durables, while the cost of conventional gas, oil and electric space heating threatens to double and triple."

He estimates that the solar energy falling on the roof of a typical American house is nearly 10 times the annual amount of space heating needed for the house. Even on cloudy days, Tybout says, you get 10 to 15 per cent of the sun's normal radiation.

But in general, solar heat is a fair-weather friend because it isn't there when you need it most — on cold, cloudy days.

"It has to be teamed with a conventional system to provide an even flow of heat on demand," says Tybout.

A well-designed solar heating system has a storage capacity of two or three days, but depending on where you live, according to the Ohio State economist, solar heating can supply 50 to 75 per cent of your heating requirements.

A cool, sunny climate like that of Santa Maria, Calif., is most favorable for solar heating, while a cloudy one such as Seattle, Wash., or Boston is least desirable. Yet even a Boston house could get 50 per cent of its heat requirement from a solar system, says Tybout.

For a typical house, a 500-square-foot collector would add about $3,500 to the mortgage. The cost of the system might range from something like $2,000 to as high as $5,000 over different parts of the country, depending on the size of installation required.

While Tybout foresees a big market developing for solar heating in the near future, you can't buy the equipment yet.

INTEREST TO GROW

"The National Science Foundation is financing some demonstration projects, and I'm sure interest will grow," he says.

Simple in design, a solar heating system consists of pumps and blowers for transferring heat from the collector to storage and from storage to either living space or hot water.

The collector on the roof is made up of one or two layers of glass plates for insulation, covering a network of black metal tubes for circulating water, then a base of black-painted sheet metal.

The angle of the collector is adjusted to get maximum radiation. In this country, collectors must face south and be tilted at an angle equal to the earth's latitude plus 15 degrees, which would be about a 55-degree angle in Columbus.

The system's thermostat stops the flow of water when the temperature of the collector drops below an effective level, and the system becomes inoperative while the conventional heating system takes over the job.

When sunshine again heats the collector, the system's thermostat starts the water circulating through the tubing. The tubes conduct the hot water to the storage tank — about 10 to 20 times the size of an ordinary hot water tank — and from there the heat is circulated by blowers through the house.

What about solar cooling of a house? "The concept is quite practical in the southern part of the United States, such as Miami, says Tybout, but less so in northern U.S. cities.

For this application, cooling is accomplished by absorption, using the same principle as a heat-driven refrigerator.

Air Force Posts Officer Program

In addition to the flight training program, limited number of applications are now being accepted to enter the U.S. Air Force Officer Training program at Lackland AFB. Upon successful completion of the 12 week course, enrollees will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force at starting salary of $600 per month plus benefits.

Those applying for this program must hold a bachelors degree or be a graduating senior and under 30 years of age. The program is limited to the following degrees: Electrical, mechanical, aerospace, Aeronautical civil engineering or in computer science and Mathematics. The openings available are in managerial positions or as part of the Air Force research team.

Recent Rains Improve Dryland Wheat Crop

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Cold weather this past week brought badly needed rains to much of Texas, delaying some land preparation and damaging some early vegetable crops and fruit trees.

The cold weather hurt crops in the northern half of the state, said Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Although the moisture was badly needed in most areas, heavy rains in some southern and coastal areas caused flooding and will make replanting necessary.

PLANTING COTTON
Planting of cotton and sorghum is nearing completion over much of South Texas, with corn and sorghum planting near the half-way point in North Central Texas. Planting will resume in central and coastal areas as fields dry. Preplant irrigation is active in western sections and the Plains.

Wheat and oats are making good growth in North Central and East Texas, and some wheat in the High and Rolling Plains is improving due to recent rains. Irrigated wheat is progressing well.

Cattle are being moved off small grain fields intended for a grain crop. Livestock feeding is still underway in western counties and in the Plains due to lack of forage. Ticks and lice are infesting some cattle in eastern sections and screw-worms are beginning to increase in southern counties, reported Hutchison. Some cattle have also been lost in South Texas from grazing a poisonous range plant, "Lobelia."

WATERMELON
Watermelons, cucumbers and tomatoes are making good progress in South Texas. Onions, cabbage and carrots are moving to market in good volume.

District Extension agents reported the following conditions.
SOUTH PLAINS: Recent rains have improved the dryland wheat crop, but more moisture is needed. Irrigated alfalfa is making good growth. Potatoes and onions are being planted. Farmers are plowing irrigating in preparation for planting. Many cattle are moving to market due to lack of forage for grazing.

ROLLING PLAINS: The small grain crop ranges from good to poor depending on where recent rains fell. Land preparation and applying of fertilizer and herbicides is in full swing. Commercial Irish potatoes are being planted in Hall County. Range conditions are generally poor and feeding of livestock continues.

FRUIT CROPS
FAR WEST: Extremely dry

conditions continue. Recent low temperatures destroyed many fruit crops. Irrigated small grains are making good growth, with some fields beginning to head. Livestock feeding and sheep and goat shearing continue. Calf and lamb crop are making good progress.

WEST CENTRAL: Land preparation continues for cotton, sorghum and forage crops. Planting has been limited due to lack of rain. Recent freezing temperatures damaged some fruit and vegetable crops. Most pastures and ranges are below average. Livestock market prices are down. Livestock feeding is active.

SOUTHWEST: Land preparation is active, along with feeding of livestock and sheep and goat shearing. Peanut land is being irrigated for planting. Hay crops are being planted. Onion plants and potatoes are being marketed, with the spinach and lettuce harvests about complete. Watermelons are up to a good stand.

SOUTH: Planting of cotton and sorghum is moving toward completion in most counties. Some replanting is underway in areas of heavy rainfall. Onion harvesting is increasing and cabbage and carrots are still moving to market in good volume. Tomatoes, watermelons and cucumbers are making to stake out the Solzhenitsyns' rented home. Mrs. Natalya Solzhenitsyn, her four boys and her mother arrived here from Moscow with her husband's books and documents.

Swiss Children Helping Author In Privacy Bid

The Swiss children hung painted and brightly crayoned signs on the fence and locked gate of the Solzhenitsyns' garden, demanding in German "Peace for Solzhenitsyn" and "Reporters go back to where you came from."

They made a large wooden "Peace for Solzhenitsyn" for the Nobel Prize-winning writer, and he sent his 12-year-old stepson, Dimity, out of the semi-detached seven-room stucco house to accept the children's gift.

Solzhenitsyn hung the sign from a balcony facing the street where the journalists were standing, waiting for a glimpse of the family and a chance to talk to the author.

Amtrak Drops Dallas Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak has decided that its Texas Chief passenger train will not be rerouted through Dallas but will continue its Chicago-Houston run through Fort Worth.

Amtrak officials said Friday Dallas is now being served by a run between St. Louis and Laredo.

Amtrak decided last year to reroute the train to provide direct service to Dallas as the assumption the change would result in a "modest reduction in the train's deficit."

But Amtrak says it has now concluded the route change could not be justified in view of the necessary capital expenditures and other costs which would increase the deficit.

ONE OF BIGGEST OIL RESERVES IN WORLD

New Attention Is Focused On Tar Sand

AP Special Correspondent
ATHABASCA TAR SANDS
 Canada (AP) — For a century it was labeled a "fuel of the future." Only trappers and the fleet-footed animals they hunted ventured into the wilderness of stunted pines and bog that covers the Athabasca tar sands.

That has all been changed by the bruising international petropolitics of an energy hungry world. Now the multinational oil giants are focusing their attention on these oil-bearing black spongy sands centered in the Canadian wilderness 50 miles above the U.S. border.

Huge machines have started ripping at the earth as the curtain rises on what petroleum industry officials, U.S. experts and Canadian politicians believe will be Athabasca's entry to the world of major energy suppliers.

TRAPPED IN SAND
 One of the world's biggest known oil reserves — estimates range upward from 300 billion barrels of crude, as much as the known recoverable reserves in the Middle East — is trapped in sand and water at Athabasca.

So far the oil industry has scratched at only a tiny corner of the 19,000 square miles of tar deposits, a region the size of New Hampshire and Massachusetts combined. A solitary extraction plant, owned by Sun Oil of Philadelphia, is producing 52,000 barrels of crude a day.

But a target date of 1978 has been set for a new billion-dollar plant to be on stream. The most conservative industry executives estimate that a million barrels of crude a day will be flowing from Athabasca by the end of the 1980s. That's just a little less than the amount the United States got from Saudi Arabia before the embargo.

Those experts willing to look ahead further see 20 to 30 extraction plants producing three million barrels a day from Athabasca by the turn of the century. That represents nearly a sixth of what the United States currently consumes daily.

"That will be much more than Canada needs," a senior Canadian official in Ottawa told this reporter. "I presume the United States will get the surplus."

OTHER BENEFITS
 America may also benefit from the technological development of the tar sands. Vast reserves of crude oil are held in the generally similar shale oil and coal formations of the United States.

"As we meet these problems at Athabasca then the day will be brought closer when the United States can economically develop coal and shale oil and win true independence from non-North American fuel sources," said Carl O. Nickle, a leading Canadian authority on energy and former publisher of the Daily Oil Bulletin in Calgary.

Athabasca was ignored in the past by the oil giants because crude was much easier to get elsewhere.

Winning a barrelful at Athabasca costs $4 from tar sands near the surface. At Athabasca, men and machines must move and process three tons of peat bog and sand to win just one barrel of crude, in temperatures that hover at 30 below zero in winter and 100 above in summer.

Capital expenditures at Athabasca will be astronomical. Plans for three new mining-operation plants to be completed by the early 1980s call for cash outlays totaling $3 billion.

The first of these, scheduled to go on stream in 1978, is planned by Syncrude Canada Ltd., a company formed by four U.S. firms, Exxon Corp., Cities Service Co., Atlantic Richfield Co., and Gulf Oil Corp., in partnership with the government of Alberta which owns the tar sands.

The Syncrude project, with an extraction plant bigger than most refineries and a power plant large enough to fuel a small city, is the most expensive planned to date, a cost of $1.2 billion.

Two companies of the Royal Dutch Shell group, Shell Canada Ltd. and Shell Explorer Ltd. plan a $1 billion plant to produce 100,000 barrels a day.

THIRD PLANT
 The third projected plant will be built by Petrofina Canada Ltd., at a cost of $850 million to produce 122,500 barrels a day.

"What makes investments this size worthwhile for the oil giants is that the economics are finally coming right," said a senior Canadian government energy official.

The Middle East crude that comes out of the ground at 10 cents a barrel costs refineries $7 because of royalties and taxes.

Experts point out that 26.5 billion barrels of crude can be won at Athabasca by conventional strip mining methods at a cost of a little over $4 a barrel.

More sophisticated methods will be required to tap the oil in tar sands below 150 feet of surface earth.

'Don't Let Party Remain Avis In U.S. Politics'

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., mixed presidential politics and party unity in an opening address to a Midwest Republican conference. An overflow attendance cheered party leaders looking ahead to November elections.

Percy is the only Republican so far to announce he is exploring the possibilities of seeking the GOP presidential nomination in 1976. He said Friday night Republicans must "reject Watergate in all its dimensions" and broaden the party base so it will no longer remain "the Avis of American politics year after year."

Spokesmen for the Republican National Committee, Midwest party leaders and Illinois conference organizers said the turnout for the leadership conference was triple the normal attendance and showed "the party is fighting back." Percy took lighthearted jabs at two potential challengers for the nomination, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Both were scheduled to address the group today.

Percy said his party's major problem is that President Nixon "is in danger of being forced from office."

He told Republicans to formulate "a positive and enduring Republican response to Watergate."

His biggest applause came when he talked of the accomplishments of the "Republican administration." Not mentioning Nixon by name, he listed: the end of the Vietnam War, the opening of the door to China, limitation on the nuclear arms race and the return of American prisoners of war.

The rapid price increase of crude is welcome news to the Great Canada Oil Sands Ltd. (GCOS), a company owned 96 per cent by Philadelphia's Sun Oil Co., that has pioneered tar sands development.

"We're the proud owners of an opened its plant on the banks of the Athabasca river near Fort McMurray northeast of Edmonton in 1967.

The technology — a hot water flotation process that mixes the sands with water and steam in an extraction plant to liberate bitumen — has been known for years. A refinery breaks the bitumen into gas, oil, kerosene and naphtha which is piped to border refineries.

8 1/2 TRILLION KILOWATT HOURS

By the time these youngsters reach age 30 they will require an incredible total of 8 1/2 trillion kilowatt hours of electricity annually. Providing this power with as little pollution as possible is a joint effort of the member-owned electric cooperative and the electric industry. It will call for new generating fuels, new techniques and it will cost more money. But there's an even more pressing commitment today to furnish a dependable supply of electricity at its lowest possible price. The rural electric cooperative is meeting both demands.

Postal Book Fascinates Kids But It's Costly

NEW YORK (AP) — To nine-year-old Lizette Medina, it's fun. To her fourth grade teacher, Sheila Morris, it's fascinating. It's a colorful Junior Postman booklet, 24 pages of puzzles, games and prose designed to teach school children how to send mail.

She commented during a controversial "Student Postal Week." The "week" began Monday but will run to June. Coming so soon after a 25 per cent increase in the cost of mailing a first-class letter, the project has been criticized for nearly five million booklets and other materials.

On the House floor earlier this month, Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., insisted that the education project would surely cost $1 million. He accused Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen of wasting taxpayers' money to promote a monopolistic service through "coloring books."

The official reply goes, "Although it cannot be documented, the program will most likely pay for itself in the long run through increased customer knowledge."

While Long Island City Postmaster Andrew A. Wulforst is enthusiastic about what he terms unprecedented response from the schools, one third-grade teacher had doubts about the nationwide project.

"It's good because the value of it is they learn about the post office," said Elaine Tobias. "But I'm debating whether it's just a waste of money since they just raised the price of stamps. I'm debating whether there's going to be any carryover other than enjoyment."

Texas Family Wins Suit

DENVER (AP) — A Denver District Court jury awarded $1,600 in damages to a San Antonio, Tex. migrant farm laborer and his family Friday in a breach of contract suit against Great Western Sugar Co.

The laborer, Ralph Salinas, had sued Great Western after the company signed him up in 1971 on a "listing sheet" to work for a Burlington farmer and paid him travel money to Colorado. When he arrived here, Salinas said, Great Western had no job for him.

During the two-day trial, Salinas testified that he was recruited by West Western to work sugar beet fields in 1968 and 1970. But he said that when he came to Colorado in 1971 after a Great Western field man, Erle Worden, told him there would be work available, he could not get a job on the farm to which he was assigned.

The farmer claimed bad weather had caused his weed killer to kill beets.

When Salinas was assigned to another farm, the farmer claimed he was working too slow and fired him after hours. Salinas wouldn't receive damages because it was really the weather, not the company, which kept him from getting work.

Magistrate Quits

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Special U.S. Magistrate Joe Cisneros of McAllen has resigned, a spokesman at the federal courthouse said Friday.

Admiral Zumwalt Blamed For Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's top civilian procurement specialist has told Congress that disaster will strike a $3.5-billion program to build 50 new patrol ships, the Washington Post reported today.

In a letter to chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Gordon W. Rule blamed the situation on the chief of naval operations, Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, the newspaper said.

A spokesman for Stennis acknowledged that the senator had received a letter from Rule, but he said he could not comment on the contents immediately.

According to the Post account, Rule asserted that "disaster" would strike the shipbuilding program because the construction schedule did not permit adequate time for testing of foreign-designed guns and fire-control mechanisms for the patrol frigates.

When the foreign equipment is delivered "without proper testing" to U.S. shipyards, resultant money claims from the shipbuilders and other legal problems will be a "major headache," the newspaper quoted Rule as saying.

It said Rule claimed that the chief of naval materiel, Adm. Isaac C. Kidd Jr., urged Zumwalt to delay the delivery

Cancer Threat Diminishing In Babies

HOUSTON (AP) — A kidney cancer which usually strikes babies by the age of 2 is on the verge of being wiped out, a New York specialist says.

Survival of children with Wilms' tumor is now up to 90 per cent, compared to 15 to 20 per cent in the early 1950s, Dr. G. D'Angio of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center said at the American Association for Cancer Research meeting which closed Saturday.

Doctors must now determine whether treatment for the tumor produces complications later in life, D'Angio said.

A cooperative study of children treated at 68 U.S. institutions is now underway, he said, sponsored by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

D'Angio said surgery, followed by anticancer drugs and X-rays has produced the impressive results.

"We are interested not just that children survive, but that they revive in normal health," he said.

Preliminary information from the study indicates that it may no longer be necessary to treat every child with X-rays.

Nothing disastrous happened to children who did not get the x-ray treatment when the tumor was confined to one kidney, he said.

A combination of two drugs, antinomycin D and vincristine, is more effective in stopping undetected spread of the disease than either drug used alone, he added.

The study shows that persons who had the tumor must have regular checkups because belated complications sometimes occur, D'Angio said.

Doctors hope to answer such questions as whether survivors have an increased risk of developing a second tumor and whether present treatment affects childbearing ability of the patients, he added.

Anglers Value Boats Above All

NARRAGANSETT, R.I. (AP) — Point Judith fishermen value their boats more than wives, according to a study by two social scientists from the University of Rhode Island.

In a study comparing fishermen and mill workers, the scientists asked, "What is the worst thing that could happen to you?"

The most frequent response for both groups was the individual's own death or serious illness. The second most frequent response was "loss of boat" among fishermen and "loss of wife" among mill workers. Fishermen put loss of wife third.

Actress Is Dead

PARIS (AP) — Francoise Rosay, 82, one of the great ladies of the French entertainment industry, died Thursday. She appeared in more than 100 films, a number of stage plays and even in opera during a career that began in 1913. Her last movie was "The Pedestrian," which has not been released.

Mark For Speedy Trial Is Claimed

MIAMI (AP) — "You can call it instant justice," says Dade County Judge Dominic Koo. "It's got to be a record for speedy trials."

The case started when Anthony Samman of Paterson, N.J., backed his auto into a parked car at 9:35 a.m. this week. He was in court pleading guilty by 9:45 and fined by 9:50 the same day.

"It happened on the street right outside the courtroom," Koo explained. "We heard a thud and looked outside to see the accident." Koo said Samman didn't complain about his $25 fine and thanked the judge for the speedy decision.

President Is Criticized For Lack Of Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders said today that President Nixon has failed to provide the leadership needed in the field of education.

Pell, in a separate radio address, said his five years as chairman of the Senate education subcommittee "have been five years of constant struggle with the administration as the Congress has sought to give greater priority to education."

In his address, Nixon urged Congress to consolidate most education programs into a single broad grant — a request he has been making for four years without success.

Weed-Killer Not A Soda

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency is cautioning the public to use extreme care in handling weed killers containing a chemical that resembles a soft drink but is so toxic that a single accidental sip can cause death.

The EPA said its warning Friday was prompted by the death of one teen-aged boy in Hawaii and critical illness of another in California who apparently drank liquid weed-killer from unmarked containers.

FALLEN FRIEND — Penny Stebbins, who protected a copper beech tree by sitting in it this week, unties a rope from a section of it. Police apprehended her husband, a Yale art professor, and three juveniles Friday in Branford, Conn., on trespassing charges. Moments later the tree was cut, making way for a home.

No Bullfights At Nogales

NOGALES, Mexico (AP) — The bullring in this northern Sonoran city, located on the United States-Mexico border, has been closed indefinitely and no bullfights will be held this season. Mario de La Fuente Jr., speaking for his father who has been the empresario of bullfighting here for many years, said the local operation had been the last independent ring in the country. "We have always been too independent to take orders from Diversinaes Espectaculares, which now has complete control over the bulls, the matadors and what to present," said de La Fuente.

Also, the current price of land in the center of town makes the bullring site more suitable for apartment for factory workers or perhaps for a factory itself, he added. He said construction of a new bullring near the edge of town was under consideration for a time, but the idea was abandoned because of prohibitive building costs.

Searchers Find Body of Man

COMANCHE, Tex. (AP) — Searchers in Lake Procter near Comanche have recovered the body of Arthur Bridges, 25, of DeLeon. Officials said Bridges was reported missing Monday and the search was concentrated in Lake Procter after his car was found submerged there Thursday. The vehicle was in 15 feet of water about 50 feet offshore. No official cause of death has been established but authorities said the man appeared to have drowned.

Special Awards Are Passed Out By MD Chapter Here

Special trophies went to KWAB-TV for its presentation of the Jerry Lewis Telethon last Labor Day, another to Mrs. Woodrow Posey, a third to George Robertson, and a fourth to Mrs. Jane Ray for outstanding service to Muscular Dystrophy in the Big Spring-Midland chapter. The presentations were made at the annual awards banquet Friday night at Howard College. In a surprise presentation, the local PBX operators, who work hand in hand with the Muscular Dystrophy organization, authorized Mrs. Joyce White of Lubbock, acting as mistress of ceremonies, to present their Boss of the Year award to Jimmy Taylor, president of First National Bank. He was given an engraved plaque.

Should Push Forward On Basic Cause Of Disease?

HOUSTON (AP) — A New York scientist said here the medical profession should stop concentrating on artificial replacements for human organs and instead push forward on the basic causes of disease. The scientist, Dr. Lewis Thomas, president of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, said hoped-for development of artificial hearts represents an attitude that heart disease is an insoluble problem. Thomas told the spring meeting of the American College of Surgeons here that when disease are genuinely understood, relatively simple, inexpensive and easily deliverable treatment emerges. Development of an artificial heart could touch off a long series of equally insolvable problems of cost, distribution and priority, he said. Thomas said that the attitude surrounding development of an artificial heart "assumes the best we will be able to do is to wait until the organ has been demolished and then put into the chest this nuclear-powered, plastic-and-metal, essentially hideous engine." "Who will be entitled to buy and have installed these engines?" he asked. "Those with enough wealth to pay for them? Those who strike the rest of us as potentially useful citizens? As once we have started, there may be no turning back. "Someone simply provide us with a solution quickly to the problem of heart disease," he said.

Energy Crisis Reduces Deaths

AUSTIN (AP) — The apparent life-saving effects of the energy crisis were reflected Saturday by a report that 210 fewer persons have died in Texas traffic accidents this year than at this time a year ago.

The Department of Public Safety reported that 495 persons have died in traffic accidents this year, compared to 705 a year ago—a 30 percent decrease.

DPS director Wilson Speir said in a speech last week that one result of the fuel shortage—which brought on a lower speed limit and less travel—had been fewer highway deaths.

Milk Money Given To Smith's Side

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A dairymen's cooperative official says he complied in 1971 when a former aide to Texas Gov. Preston Smith told him, "We need $1,000 cash. Can you help us out?" The aide, Larry Teaver, who at the time had left the governor's office for a state insurance board position, denies making such a request. Bob A. Lilly, legislative director of the San Antonio-based Associated Milk Producers, Inc., is quoted in an investigative report of AMPI activities. His attorney confirmed the statements Friday. In the 157-page report, Lilly is quoted as saying he borrowed $1,000 from Citizens National Bank of Austin, Tex., on Sept. 10, 1971, and gave the money to Teaver after Teaver called him with the $1,000 request. "I just don't have any idea what kind of reference he (Lilly) is making," said Teaver in a telephone interview from his home in Lubbock, Tex. When Smith was contacted in Lubbock, his reply was, "This is the first time I ever heard of this." Teaver said he didn't solicit contributions while he was on the governor's staff and "certainly not" while he was on the insurance board. He said he was not Smith's "No. 1 lieutenant" at that time, although Lilly gave that description.

Lilly is quoted in a report compiled by the Little Rock, Ark., law firm of Wright, Lindsey and Jennings after the firm investigated AMPI. Lilly's attorney, Nicholas, stood by the Lilly account which was disputed by Teaver. "Whatever Lilly says, he is telling the truth. He has been checked, double checked and rechecked and he has been the most accurate..." said Nicholas. Lilly has been granted immunity by the Senate Watergate Committee and a judge in connection with his testimony before a Watergate grand jury looking into AMPI political activities. Nicholas said Lilly was reimbursed by corporate funds of AMPI through a complicated payback arrangement, similar to the manner in which $100,000 was contributed to President Nixon in 1969. That raises the question of whether the $1,000 Lilly says was sent to Teaver would have been a political contribution. Corporate political contributions are prohibited by law. Smith said if "we" were asking for money in an off-election year, "It was not for political purposes." He said such money would be used for statewide telecasts or mailings. Teaver recalled the milk producers sending him a $2,500 check in late 1971 or early 1972 for the 1972 National Governors Conference in Houston. He said the Internal Revenue Service has ruled such contributions are not political. Asked if he ever asked Lilly for $1,000 cash and then received the sum, Teaver said, "No, that's incorrect."

Chairmen Are Selected For Cancer Fund Drive

The district chairmen for the cancer fund door to door crusade have been appointed by Mrs. Fran Bordofsky, residential chairman. They include Ramon Torres Jr., student volunteer; Ronnie Mullins and Clarence Palmer, student council; Leisa Cook and Donna Carpenter, student council; David Wright and Glenn Carlton, Key Club; Jimmy Douglas, Student Council, the Boys' Club, Karen Jenkins of Tri-Hi-Y; Mrs. James Nisbett and Mrs. Mrs. Marchant, adult volunteers and Greg Horton, student council. The goal for this portion of the cancer crusade for Howard County has been set at $5,000. Big Spring has fallen under its goal in recent years, according to the chairman "but we hope to go over the top this year."

The reason that the chairman thinks this year's drive will succeed is that the teen-agers of the community have gotten behind it. "We have a fine bunch of kids in Big Spring who will really get out and work for what they consider a worthwhile effort." They have been assisted by Craig Fisher, activity director of Big Spring High School and Bert Andries, director of the local Boys' Club. All crusaders will be collecting Monday through Friday. They will have proper identification and literature for the occupants of each home. The director added, "If there is no one who collects on your street and you wish to donate, call 3-3793 to have your donation picked up or mail it to the American Cancer Society at Security State Bank.

YOUTHS SERVE — These youths represent four of the Big Spring youth organizations that are helping with the Door to Door Cancer Crusade Monday through Friday. David Wright, president of the Key Club; Ronnie Mullins from the student council; Ramon Torres Jr., representing student volunteers and Karen Jennings from the Tri-Hi-Y are setting plans for the event.

WINS RECORD COURT JUDGMENT — Mrs. Maryanna Dickens with daughter, Rose, 4, left, and Anna, 5, of Galveston was awarded $1.25 million by a federal court. She had sued the federal government, alleging the plane crash at Austin's municipal airport April 22, 1970, was caused by negligence of federal air controllers. Her husband, Jimmy Doyle Dickens, 27, a Galveston medical student was killed in the crash. U. S. Dist. Judge John V. Singleton ordered the government to pay her $1.25 million, one-half of the total judgement.

Largest Leopard Could Be Doomed Within Five Years

ISTANBUL (AP) — Even in wild boar, deer and wild mountain goats, which like itself have taken to the hills to escape the approach of man. These animals are rapidly becoming rarer, with the result that the panther is left without food.

The Anatolian panther is one of the first animals ever recorded by man. The neolithic city of Catalhuyuk in Asia Minor has yielded a representation of a pair of leopards in the so-called "Leopard Shrine," which has been dated to around 5750 B.C.

Much of the responsibility for their decline belongs to the Romans, who slaughtered animals for amusement. The panther's chief enemy is not the huntsman after its skin, but those in pursuit of humbler game. The panther lived off

Within five years, one wildlife authority here says, the panthers — the largest leopards in the world — will be doomed. Recently a hunting party of peasants near Beypazari, west of Ankara, shot and killed a male panther measuring almost seven feet from nose to tail.

The death, said Prof. Savni Hus of the Forestry Department of the University of Istanbul, was "tragic news for the species."

Hus said he was astonished that the animal was in the region in the first place. Beypazari is an agricultural area on the Anatolian plateau, remote from the scattered mountainous tracts where the leopards are making their last stand.

This has been a particularly severe winter in Asia Minor.

Crime Totals Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI statistics show an increase in crime so serious that the Justice Department is working up recommendations on how to deal with it.

Crime surged by 16 per cent in the last three months of 1973, moving the increase for the year to 5 per cent.

The increase resumes a 17-year upward trend in crime broken only in 1972, when FBI figures showed a 4 per cent decrease.

The figures, revealed Friday in the FBI's preliminary report on uniform crime statistics, were compiled from crime reporting of 5,896 law enforcement agencies.

Some experts contend the increases are because of improved reporting procedures, but attorney general Wm. Saxton said, "I personally feel serious crime is up. I'm not going to try to wish it away by saying it's just better reporting."

The increase is especially disturbing "because the statistics give no clue as to what is causing it," the attorney general said.

Asthma Conclave Slated April 20

The causes, treatment and prevention of asthma will be discussed by internationally recognized specialists in a comprehensive symposium sponsored by The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

More than 300 physicians from the South and Southwest are expected to participate in the scientific event which will be held April 19 at Turtle Creek Country Club and April 20 at the health science center.

Many new developments in asthma are occurring, and its underlying causes are coming to light, plus treatment including Cromolyn Sodium, said Dr. William T. Kniker, professor, head of the immunology-allergy section at the health science center.

Newspapers Are Forced To Boost Product Cost

By DEIDRE DONNELLY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If the cost of your newspaper has gone up lately, you can probably blame most of it on rising paper costs.

Within the last two weeks, several of the nation's largest daily newspapers have increased their newsstand prices 5 cents a copy.

"Practically every major newspaper will be doing the same thing soon because of newsprint costs," says an official of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Newspaper executives say higher postal rates and wages also are contributing rising costs. But one of the biggest increases in their budget has been the cost of paper.

In Chicago, the Chicago Tribune, the Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Daily News plan to raise their newsstand prices to 15 cents per copy from 10 cents effective Monday.

"Our largest single increase in recent months has been the rise in newsprint," says J.G. Trezevant, executive vice president of the News and the Sun-Times. "In our case it's been an increase of $5 million a year."

The Chicago News and the Sun-Times consume about 100,000 tons of newsprint a year.

Dorothy Schiff, publisher of the New York Post, which raised its prices from 15 cents to 20 cents a copy a week ago, says her paper has seen a 33 per cent increase in paper and ink costs in the past year.

Edward Cony, executive vice president of The Wall Street Journal says, "We face a $3 million increase in newsprint and a $5 million increase in postal rates. These are our two biggest cost increases this year."

The Wall Street Journal will cost 20 cents a copy effective Monday, up from 15 cents a copy.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association, whose members include most of the nation's daily newspapers, says the number of papers increasing their prices to 15 cents a copy or more has risen noticeably since the beginning of the year. Newsprint costs have been cited as one of the major cost factors by their membership, the ANPA says.

Right now, newsprint prices generally look like this: $200 a ton for heavyweight paper, $213 a ton for middleweight paper and $225 a ton for lightweight newsprint.

A year ago a ton of heavyweight newsprint delivered to New York City cost an average of $164.58. In 1970 the price was about $152 a ton.

Some newspapers use as much as 350,000 tons of newsprint per year.

In 1973 the settlement of a labor dispute at the largest Canadian mills, increasing wages 17 per cent to 23 per cent over three-year contracts, sent newsprint prices up $25 a ton in one shot, the largest single increase ever.

But mills also blamed rising freight, wood pulp and chemical costs as well as increases on fuel to run their machines.

No fee is charged for either the workshop or the classes.

Classes for beginners and advanced researchers in family history will be featured at the South Plains Genealogical Society's Spring workshop April 13 in the Municipal Garden and Arts Center, 4215 University Ave., Lubbock.

In addition to the instruction sessions, books, periodicals, maps and other source materials will be provided by SPGS members for individual research in the Center auditorium. Workshop hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Classes for persons just beginning genealogical research are scheduled 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. in the studio of the center. These will be taught by Lubbock SPGS members, Mrs. Christine Wood, author of four family histories, and Mrs. Harold Russell, former president of the Society. There will be a session for more advanced researchers.

Officers capped a two-month undercover investigation here with the arrests of 18 of 23 persons sought on various drug charges.

Police Chief Herman Perry said many of those taken into custody were under 21, including four teen-age girls.

The 25 persons were charged with various offenses, including the delivery of marijuana and LSD.

In a coordinated raid that began shortly after 6 p.m. about 30 Arlington officers and four Tarrant County district attorney's investigators made the arrests at residences in almost every area of the city.

The undercover agents said much of the activity involved the sale of LSD.

"There's a lot of it on the market," one officer said. "There's a factory for it here somewhere, but we haven't been able to find it yet."

Lee Rebs Rip Steers By 6-1

MIDLAND — Midland Lee pushed across three runs in the sixth inning Saturday and powered to 6-1 Dist. 5-AAAA triumph over the Big Spring Steers.

Phil Anderson, proving he's not that far behind the Rebels' ace hurler Jan Frazier, overpowered the Steers in the first three innings and scattered four hits as the Rebels upped their loop standing 3-1. On the year the Lee squad is 14-2.

Big Spring, meanwhile, slumps to 3-13 and 1-3.

Earl Reynolds, who had been effective a week earlier in Midland as he handled the MHS Bulldogs, was knocked for nine hits by the classy Rebels, including three triples and a double. Javier Torres had a triple and a single to spark the Rebs, while Brett Blackwell and Bobby Stevens each delivered three-baggers.

Anderson controlled the game early, striking out seven Steers in the first three innings. It wasn't until the fourth inning that the Longhorns, no-hit victims last Tuesday were able to scratch.

John Morelino walked and then scored on John Thomas Smith's double to cut the Lee bulge to 3-1. The hosts took advantage of Reynolds' wildness in the late innings to put the game away.

Anderson, who went six innings before yielding to Frazier, struck out 11 and walked four, while Reynolds, now 2-4, fanned five and walked four. He also hit three batters.

The Rebels stole five bases on the Steers. Lee stranded 12 players in the win.

Joining Smith in the Steer plate attack were Reynolds, who also had a double, and Albert Alvarez and Ray Don Box with one single apiece.

Next action for the Steers, is Tuesday when they host Abilene Cooper in a 4:30 p.m. matchup at Steer Park.

Odessa Permian turned back a late Abilene Cooper surge Saturday for a 6-5 victory that kept the Panthers atop the Dist. 5-AAAA heap with a 4-0 mark.

Midland Lee kept pace with a 6-1 triumph over Big Spring, while Cooper slipped to the also-rans at 2-2. San Angelo and Abilene. San Angelo bombed Midland 13-2 and Abilene topped Odessa 7-3 in other loop action Saturday.

Ray Nunez, who stopped Big Spring with a no-hitter Tuesday, shut out the Cougars for five innings before getting into trouble and Cooper closed to within a run before Alex Kager shut off the charge.

San Angelo used the four-hit pitching of Rudy Izzard and 13 hits to bury Midland. The Bobcats struck for seven runs in the first inning and added three more in the second. Alan Buonassera was the loser for Midland, which slipped to 1-3.

Abilene was paced by Monte Harris' home run and the hurling of Paul Ogden, who got the victory. Garland Reid had a home run for OHS.

Fourteen New Mexico Blacks Boycott Drills

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Most of the University of New Mexico football team's black players were sidelined this weekend, out of uniform, and new head Coach Bill Mondt said that's where they would stay.

Of 19 black players on the squad, 14 boycotted Friday's practice session in support of a protest against the dropping of a black freshman, Paul Shelton, from the school's baseball team.

"As of now, they are no longer on the football team," Mondt said Saturday. "We only have so many days in which to complete our spring drills and there is no way we can make up missed days."

"The people that show up for practice will do the playing next fall. It wouldn't be fair any other way. Besides, you can't win with people

LEE TREVINO MAKING CHARGE In Greater New Orleans Golf Open

BIG SPRING HERALD

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 31, 1974 SECTION B

Trevino, Cole Share New Orleans Bulge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lee Trevino, witness for more than a year, flashed to a five-under-par 67 and tied South African Bobby Cole for the third-round lead Saturday in the $150,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

Cole, the South African Open champion who is seeking his first victory in six years on the American tour, had a 68 in the bright, warm sunshine and matched Trevino's 54-hole total of 202, a distant 14-under-par on the 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club course.

Australian David Graham, with a sparkling 65, and Larry Hinson, 69, were two strokes off the pace at 204.

Rookie sensation Ben Crenshaw moved into contention on the strength of a course record-making 64 that included two strings of four consecutive birdies. The 22-year-old Texan was just three strokes out in the chase for the $30,000 first prize. He had a 205 total.

"It certainly feels good," Crenshaw said. "I've played some bad golf ever since Hawaii. It's probably the longest slump I've ever been in. For a while, it seemed like I'd never play good again."

"But this is my first year. I'm still learning about things. I have to take my lumps, too."

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus couldn't get it going and had to settle for a 70, two under par, but far from exceptional in the remarkably low scoring give up by the long, flat course.

He was tied at 207 with six others, including South African Gary Player, who also had a 70. Also at that figure were Frank Beard and Barney Thompson, each with a 68, and Gay Brewer and Rod Curl, each with 69.

British Open champ Tom Weiskopf matched par 72 for 212 and U.S. Open titleholder Johnny Miller had 69—213, 11 strokes off the pace.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Top third round scores Saturday in the $150,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament on the 7,080-yard, par 72 Lakewood Country Club course:

Bobby Cole 68-68 — 202
Lee Trevino 65-67 — 202
David Graham 70-69-65 — 204
Cory Mitchell 65-68-69 — 204
Ben Crenshaw 71-70-64 — 205
Jack Nicklaus 66-71-70 — 207
Bobby Thompson 65-70-68 — 207
Rod Curl 67-71-69 — 207
Gary Player 68-69-70 — 207
Gay Brewer 69-69-69 — 207
Frank Beard 69-70-68 — 207 strokes off the pace.

"I'm still having trouble with the short putts," Trevino said. "If I wasn't hitting the ball as good as I am, I wouldn't even be close to this score. It's all mental."

He chipped to within six inches on one par five, reached another par five with a long iron second shot and two-putted and scored his other three birdies on putts of 10, 20 and 20 feet.

The last of those came on the 16th, pulling him even with the 25-year-old Cole.

But, while he had a share of the lead, Trevino almost signed it all away. Cole, who was scoring for him, marked a "2" on the third hole where Trevino actually made a three.

"I'd signed the card and was about to turn it in when my caddy stopped me," Trevino said. "He said, 'Hey, you didn't make no two on that hole.' I fixed it."

Had he turned the card in with the incorrect score, Trevino would have been disqualified.

Longhorns 6th At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Steers came up with some of their top individual efforts of the year, but the Longhorns' lack of depth showed in the team standings as the team finished sixth in the rugged San Angelo Relays.

Host San Angelo ran to the Division I team title with 134 points, while Killeen pulled 89 1-3 for second place, Midland was a surprise third with 89. Temple scored 54 for fourth and Snyder took fifth with 46½. Big Spring's total was 43 1-3, while Odessa managed 23 and Lubbock 19 to round out the field.

Angelo State won the college division of the two-day event, Odessa Ector took division II honors, Hamlin won Division III and Sonora captured the Division IV flag.

The lone Steer triumph came in the mile, where Ricky McCormick kept his record perfect with a 4:28.4 clocking in the final action prior to the Dist. 5-AAAA meet Friday in Odessa.

Big Spring raced to a fast 3:23.7 in the mile relay, almost a second better than the team's previous best, but the surprising Bobcats had a 3:20.6 and the Steers could only manage a third place. Donald Walters, Don Beene, Bobby Mayo and Doug Smith ran on the Longhorn relay unit.

Walters turned in his second outstanding performance in a row in the 440-yard dash, taking second in 50.8. Smith was fourth in 51.1. The pair also ran on the 440-yard relay unit, along with Beene and Danny Ferrill, and the quartet took fifth with a 44.0.

David Wood had his best effort of the year in the high jump, 6-0, which was good enough for fifth, while sophomore David White equalled his career best in the pole vault with a 12-0 and earned a tie for fourth. Mayo was sixth in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles in 41.2.

ACC Second In Own Meet

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Kansas State Teachers College of Emporia won only one event but edged Abilene Christian by two points Saturday for the college division title in the first annual Wildcat Relays.

Mark Siverson got the Hornets' sole first place with a 48.9 clocking in the 440-yard dash.

The Hornets finished with 131 points while Abilene Christian, led by sprinter Richard Williams, had 129.

Williams was named the division's outstanding performer after winning the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds, the 200 in 21.5, anchoring the winning 440-yard relay team with a 41.7 clocking and running the third leg on the Wildcats' mile relay team.

Oklahoma Christian was third with 113 points, followed by Howard Payne 90, New Mexico State 47 and Wayland Baptist 35.

Ranger Junior College took the junior college division championship with 151½ points. New Mexico JC was second at 144½, followed by Odessa, Tex., JC 104, Cisco 101, Eastern Oklahoma 42 and Southwestern Christian 6.

Bernard Rose of Odessa JC was his division's outstanding performer after winning the three-mile run with a stadium record of 13:48.8, taking the mile in 4:12.1 and placing third in the half mile.

Finals Today In WCT Play

ATLANTA (AP) — Dickie Stockton overcame fifth-seeded Ross Case 6-3, 6-7, 6-2 and a charging Jiri Hrebec swept past Geoff Masters 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 in semifinal play of a $50,000 World Championship Tennis tournament Saturday.

Stockton, the seventh seed who upset top-ranked John Newcombe in the quarter-finals, will meet Hrebec, a 23-year-old Czechoslovakian for the $10,000 first prize Sunday.

Stockton, 23, who rejoined the tour here after missing three weeks due to injuries, took the opening game when he snapped a 3-3 tie and captured the remaining three sets from Case.

Hrebec, who came to prominence last fall when he topped Newcombe for his country's only Davis Cup victory, started slowly against Masters and looked out of it when he trailed 1-4 in the third set.

but the 5-foot-11, 165-pounder did a complete turnaround and reeled off five consecutive games for the victories and a berth in the finals Sunday at Alexander Memorial Coliseum in Atlanta.

Stockton also made it into the doubles finals, teaming with Brian Gottfried for a 6-3, 6-7, 6-3 semifinal victory over Raz Reid and Sherwood Stewart. They will face Stan Smith and Bob Lutz in the finals Sunday.

The 400-yard powerburst offers a jackpot of $25,267 and headlines a 12-race program which starts unwinding a 1:30 p.m.

When it comes time to decide on a Derby favorite, there's little doubt the fans will lean heavily toward Mr. Hay Bug. The colt, owned by Robert Ballenger and Willie Barnett of Oklahoma City, has won nine out of twelve career starts.

In addition, he's been a model of perfection at Sunland Park. His five trips to the post provided five victories. The colt's bankroll stands at $94,800 — thanks in good part to his breezing 1½-length win in the recent $73,000 Fall Quarter Horse Futurity at Sunland.

In last week's elimination trials, Mr. Hay Bug was picked as a solid favorite and came through with a soft two-length win. He covered the distance in a bristling 19.48 seconds, which established the top qualifying time with plenty of room to spare.

The colt's romp in the trials was his first outing since his Dec. 9 conquest of the Fall Futurity. Mr. Hay Bug kicked off his career at Sunland last spring, taking a nose decision in a trial for the West Texas Futurity.

The victory put him in the West Texas Consolation, and he won that encounter by a half-length. During the Ruidoso Downs season, Mr. Hay Bug capped a strong campaign by qualifying for the finale of the $1 million All-American Futurity.

In the nationally-televised showdown, he finished fifth as an 8-1 shot and picked up a paycheck of $36,000. Jerry Burgess, the colt's regular rider, will be back in the driver's seat for today's test. Each of the 10 finalists is

Houston, Raiders Split Doubleheader

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Jim Horton set down a perfect punt to score Ronnie Matson on a squeeze play in the bottom of the seventh inning and give Texas Tech a 5-4 southwest Conference baseball victory over Houston Saturday.

Houston came back to take the second game of the doubleheader 12-6 behind the power hitting of Steve Reeves and Dave Vinson.

Randy Prince was the winner of the first game, going the distance and yielding four hits to even his record at 3-3. Steve Boren, a Houston relief pitcher, was charged with the loss, his fourth against one victory.

Reeves smacked a two-run homer for Houston in the second inning and Vinson banged another three-run blast in the sixth to pace the Cougars' 13th night cap attack.

Pat Foster hit drove in three runs for Tech with an inside-the-park home run.

Houston is now 9-17 for the year. Tech's record is 5-16. Both teams are 3-9 in conference play.

Frosh Leads NTSU Drills

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Les Varner of Denton, freshman quarterback of North Texas State University, led his unit to 213 yards in 30 plays to become the offensive standout in the first spring football scrimmage for the Eagles Saturday.

Varner, a wide receiver who played sparingly at quarterback last fall, completed six of 11 passes for 94 yards. He also had runs of 30 to 14 yards.

The other passing statistics were sophomore Tony Ford 9-17-79, freshman Greg Van Ness 6-13-62 and sophomore Paul Schroeder 5-8-71.

Sophomore letterman David Kirk was the top receiver with five catches for 84 yards.

Top runner was redshirt sophomore Randy Fry, who ripped off gains of 32, 20, 15 and 13 yards. Oldest son of Coach Hayden Fry, Randy was primarily a defensive back in high school and at SMU as a freshman in 1972.

Sykes Score 3 Times For Rice

HOUSTON (AP) — James Sykes scored three touchdowns, one on a 60-yard run, to highlight a Rice University football spring scrimmage Saturday.

Sykes also scored on a 33-yard run and caught a seven-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tommy Kramer.

Ardie Segars scored on a 53-yard run and Kramer completed his second touchdown pass of the day, a 12-yarder to tight end Kenneth Roy.

SHOEMAKER ENJOYS THE RIDE Miss Musket Wins Fantasy

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — "She's about as good as any filly I've ever ridden."

That's high praise from jockey Willie Shoemaker, who has ridden 6,824 winners during his long career.

The subject of Shoemaker's admiration was Aaron Jones' Miss Musket, the winner Saturday of the $100,000 added Fantasy Stakes at Oaklawn Park.

For Shoemaker, 42, it was the 100th victory in a stakes race worth $100,000 or more.

It was Shoemaker's 12th try for the elusive victory.

"I've done it. It's all over. I don't have to worry about it any more," he said.

Shoemaker said he kept the 3-year-old filly away from the rail because he feared that part of the track might be a little deep.

Miss Musket paid $2.80, $2.80 and $2.80 and earned $79,740, bringing her career total to $143,815.

She covered the 1 and 1-16th miles in 1:44 and 4-5. Out To Lunch paid $10.80 and $7.40 and Fairway Fable returned $11.00.

Jones acquired Miss Musket at Keeneland as a weanling for $3,500. Shoemaker, who flew here Friday night from California, had two other winners and a second in four tries.

Jockey agent Harry Hacek watched in awe. "He talks with his hands," Hacek said.

Whatever he says, Miss Musket understands.

Shoemaker eased Miss Musket into second place rounding the first turn, about a length behind the pacesetter, Fairway Fable. Further back in order, at that point, were Stage Door Betty, Silly Game, Trade Me Later and Bold Rosie.

Following an uneventful backstretch, the action started to pick up entering the final turn as Miss Musket, still under a hand ride, started driving for the front.

Out To Lunch made a big move midway through the turn, coming from seventh place to be third before reaching the stretch. Miss Musket took over the lead heading into the lane, but Shoemaker had to go to the whip in the final eighth to hold off the strong rally of Out To Lunch.

Fairway Fable, nearest the rail, hung stubbornly in third place while jockey Fernando Toro swung Out To Lunch to the inside after Miss Musket started bearing out. Out To Lunch was unable to regain sufficient stride despite Toro's urging, and wound up two lengths behind Miss Musket.

Fairway Fable was another length and a half behind Out To Lunch for third place and Stage Door Betty rallied to fourth, shading Kay's Commander by a head. The remainder of the field, in order of finish, was Ambralaro, Bold Rosie, Special Team, Silly Game, Tappahanock, Speak Action and Trade Me Later.

In addition to Miss Musket, Shoemaker was aboard two other winners, Crimson Signal in the fifth and Merry Jingle in the seventh.

The daily double of Abrocrozier in the first and Zorba III in the second, Nos. 2-10, paid $783.80.

A record crowd of 36,852 wagered $2,694,655.

Norton Buys Release; Foreman Still Hostage

CARACAS (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Ken Norton left Venezuela today, but world champion George Foreman stayed behind to finish ironing out a tax snarl growing out of their Tuesday night title fight.

Norton, who was knocked out in the second round of the bout at the new Poliedro Stadium, boarded a flight for Mexico City and planned to make connections in the Mexican capital for Los Angeles.

He was accompanied by trainer Bill Slayton and a business adviser. Other members of his camp, including business managers Art Rivkin and Bill Biron, left on Thursday night following payment of $47,000 in taxes and posting of a $60,000 guarantee.

Ten members of the Foreman camp, including former light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, also left this morning, bound for Miami and New York.

Foreman, accompanied by trainer Dick Sadler and business manager Leroy Jackson, stayed behind to complete payment of taxes and posting of a guarantee, but were expected to leave later this weekend.

A Foreman spokesman said he understood that the Venezuelan government had asked for $150,000 in cash and a $150,000 guarantee to cover taxes on the champion's $700,000 purse and other earnings.

"We have the $150,000 in cash," the spokesman said. "We have a cashier's check for that amount, but I don't know about the guarantee." Both Foreman and Norton had attempted to leave Venezuela on Thursday but were turned back at Maqueta International Airport by tax inspectors who said they had not paid an 18 percent tax on their purses and earnings. Spokesmen for both camps said that Alexander Romero, the local promoter and manager of the stadium, had advised them on flight day that there would be no tax problems and that they could leave the country without problems.

Bucs Bomed, But Pitcher Still Confident

By The Associated Press
 Dock Ellis says the Pittsburgh Pirates have enough pitching to win a baseball pennant this year.

If they do, they'll have to do better than Friday — when they gave up 17 hits while losing an 11-5 exhibition to the New York Mets.

"Everybody says we don't have enough pitching, but we do," said Ellis despite the Met bombardment at Bradenton, Fla. "You can't tell about pitching from these exhibition games."

Ellis believes in himself, among others, on the Pirate staff.

"We got the lefthanders — Jim Rooker, Jerry Reuss and Ken Brett to handle the West Coast teams this year," said Ellis. "San Francisco, Los Angeles and Cincinnati killed us last year."

In Friday's other exhibition games, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-4; the Montreal Expos trimmed the Detroit Tigers 7-5; the Kansas City Royals nipped the Chicago White Sox 5-4; the Cleveland Indians stopped the Chicago Cubs 4-0; the Cincinnati "B" team beat the Philadelphia Phillies "B" squad 3-1; the San Francisco Giants nipped the San Diego Padres 3-2 in 11 innings; the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Oakland A's 9-4; the Baltimore Orioles crushed the New York Yankees 7-1; the Texas Rangers trimmed the Houston Astros 3-0; the Boston Red Sox whipped the Minnesota Twins 11-7 and the California Angels beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-5.

The Mets' 17 hits included four by Ken Boswell and three by Lute Barnes, George Theodore, a reserve outfielder last season, drove in four runs with a home run, single and infield out for the Mets.

Jose Cruz doubled home two tying runs in the eighth inning and scored on Ken Reitz' single to trigger the Cardinals past the Reds.

Ron Fairly's two-run homer and Barry Foote's two-run triple helped Montreal over Detroit. Jim Wohlford's pinch-doubt off Terry Forster in the ninth gave the Royals its victory over the White Sox.

The Indians jumped on Milt Pappas for three runs in the second and third innings and went on to beat the Cubs.

Jim Lonborg hurled seven scoreless innings, leading the Phillies over the Reds in a "split-squad" game.

ACCORDING TO EX-ROOMIE Ruth Still The Champ

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jimmie Reese roomed with Babe Ruth during two spring training camps of the New York Yankees and still considers him "THE" home run hitter.

"He was the greatest to play the game," declared the 68-year-old coach of the California Angels.

"And he was great with the kids, the fans and the young ball players. I remember waiting for him in his car outside Yankee stadium for two hours while he signed autographs, sitting on the fender."

Roger Maris hit 61 home runs in 1961 and Hank Aaron early this coming season should break the other Ruth record of 714 homers in a career.

"Babe would have accepted it," said Reese. "He might not have liked it but he would have accepted it and congratulated both."

Jimmie still loves the Babe, the man who hit a record 60 home runs in 1927.

"There was pressure on him then, too," said Jimmie. "He would tell me that the people put the pressure on him. He didn't want to disappoint anybody."

"The kids liked him and he wanted to be friends with the kids. Instinctively he liked them."

"The pressure to hit 60 in 1927 wasn't as great as it might have been because the Babe had hit 59 in 1921 and nobody was coming close to that."

"Still there always was the pressure from the people and I think Babe loved it. Everyone in New York would recognize the face. He'd walk with his camel hair coat, and sometimes the matching hat, and people would stop him."

"I'd go out to dinner with him and it was hard to eat because of the interruptions."

Noted for his tremendous appetites, Ruth would breakfast often on six to eight eggs and one or two steaks—beef or ham," recalled Jimmie, who roomed with him the springs of 1930 and '31 but not during the regular season when Ruth wasn't assigned a roomie.

"We talked a lot and he was smart," says Jimmie. "He knew baseball and he could teach a lot."

To the arguments that the short right field set-up in Yankee Stadium helped Ruth, Reese points out, "Yes, true, but don't forget he hit a lot of 500-foot drives to center field that were easy outs because opponents played him so far back."

Reese says, "Babe was outstanding at many aspects of baseball, but people didn't notice because he was No. 1 a home run hitter."

"I remember the Philadelphia A's would be pitching Lefty Grove (now a Hall of Famer) and Babe would look out and say 'I'm going to hit one today.' And he would."

Reserve Leads Milwaukee Past LA; Knicks, Nets Win

By The Associated Press
 It's old hat to get stung by the likes of Earl Monroe, Julius Erving, Elvin Hayes and Gail Goodrich. But pro basketball's "new season" introduced a new hero — Milwaukee Buck reserve forward Ron Williams.

Williams scored six of his 10 points in the last five minutes Friday night, rallying the Bucks for a 99-95 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in the first game of their National Basketball Association Western Conference playoff semifinal series.

Williams, starting in place of the injured Lucius Allen, came back after being benched after he was unable to blanket Gail Goodrich who ended with 31 points.

"I felt like I wasn't contributing, but I finally got going in the second half," said Williams. "I guess I was tight in the beginning, but when I sat down I started relaxing by analyzing the game. Then I told myself I had to go back in and contribute."

A&M Sweeps 2 From TCU

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M raised its Southwest Conference lead by sweeping a doubleheader from Texas Christian Saturday, winning the seven-inning first game 5-4 and the nightcap 16-8.

The Aggies are now 12-0 in league play and 25-5 for the season. TCU dropped to 8-8 in the conference and 20-11 overall.

The first game went to the bottom of the seventh inning before the Aggies pushed across the winning run to break a 4-4 tie. Leftfielder Paul Miller led off the inning with a triple and scored the clincher on a single by John Woods.

Mike Schraeder's solo homer added tied the score for A&M in the sixth.

Jim Juhl was the winning pitcher in relief while TCU ace Frank Johnstone was tagged with the loss, also in relief.

The Aggies broke open the second game with eight runs in the third inning to take an 8-2 lead.

Miller was four-for-four for A&M in the night cap while Schraeder had a three-run homer and drove in five runs.

TCU firstbaseman Tommy Crain drove in four runs for

Rangers Topple Dierker, Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Hard-luck Larry Dierker lost the game to the Texas Rangers Friday night but he's apparently winning his way back into the starting rotation for the Houston Astros.

Dierker pitched seven steady innings against the Rangers, yielding four hits including a solo homer by Jim Fregosi in a 3-0 Rangers victory Friday night.

But when it was over Astros Manager Preston Gomez said he was happy with Dierker's performance.

"I would feel he'll be a starter on this ball club," Gomez said of Dierker, the only 20-game winner in the Astros' history.

The Rangers likewise had good pitching against the Astros. Ferguson Jenkins went the first four innings for the Rangers and yielded but one hit. Pete Probert took over and allowed three more hits and Lloyd Allen hurled the ninth, allowing one run.

Doug Koliczny relieved Dierker in the eighth and gave up to more runs and three of Texas' seven hits. Mike Cubbage singled and scored on Tom Grieve's double and Grieve scored on a single by Lenny Randle.

The New York Knicks beat the Capital Bullets 102-91 in the opening game of their best-of-NBA Eastern Conference semifinal series.

In the first game of the American Basketball Association playoffs, the New York Nets beat the Virginia Squires 108-96, while the San Diego Conquistadores earned fourth place in the ABA West with a 131-111 victory over the Denver Rockets.

Buffalo played Boston in an NBA Eastern Conference game Saturday while Detroit was in Chicago in a nationally televised contest.

The Conquistadores played the Utah Stars in San Antonio Saturday, and was at Indiana in the other ABA playoff game.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Bucks in scoring with 35 and Bob Dandridge added 22, 14 in the second half.

Rice Splits With Baylor

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Mike Macha hit a homer and drove in two runs Saturday to lead the Rice Owls to a 5-2 victory over the Baylor Bears after the Bears had taken the first game of a Southwest Conference baseball doubleheader 4-3.

Mike Zicmesky singled in the winning run for the Bears in the 10th inning of the first game.

The split left the two teams with identical 9-6 records in conference play. The Bears are 20-12 for the year and the Owls are 18-10.

Rick Fox, who came in as a relief pitcher in the sixth inning, was credited with his fourth decision against three losses for Baylor.

In the nightcap Larry Reneau held the Bears to three hits and struck out four as he evened his record at 3-3.

Goliad 8th Finishes Third At Snyder; Individuals Win

SNYDER — San Angelo Glenn Randle Jones topped the freshman effort with a record-setting 1320-yard relay unit to a 2:39.6. Craig Richardson, Mitch Harris and Leroy Cypress were also on that team, and Richardson, Burris, Vansquez and Randy Crockett also ran to a second place in the 440-yard dash in 48.2.

Runnels got a first place out of Robbie Wegner in the pole vault, as he set a new record with an 11-1 leap.

Eddie Puga was the main man for the Runnels seventh graders again, setting records during preliminaries in the 330 (40.1) and 220 (25.4). He went on to win the 330 in 41.0 and placed second in the 220. Puga also won the 100 in 11.2.

Danny Crosby won the shot put with a 37-4 toss for the Yearlings' other first place finish, and he also placed in the high jump and the long jump.

Goliad's Byron Harris won the seventh grade 1320-yard run, while Greg Archer picked up a second in the discus and Leroy Cypress finished second in the 330-Yard dash.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

If there ever has been a people's champion, it has to be boxer George Foreman. I'm not talking about your average, everyday people's champion, understand — not one like Babe Ruth or Jesse Owens or even Muhammad Ali. I mean the champion of the REAL people, the mangled majority who get ripped off day in and day out, systematically, like it was meant to be. Finally, there's a champion we can identify with.

Foreman warmed hearts, brought tears to eyes, and generally revived hope in America six years ago when he beat hell out of that Russian guy in the Olympic Games, then pitter-pattered around the ring with that tiny American flag in his hand. It all looked rather silly, really, but the awkwardness of it all could be overlooked because of this unmatched deed.

While others were defiling their country by wearing black socks under their track shoes, this man — who, incidentally, came up through the ghettos in lump-in-your-throat American fashion — seemed to be making everything right again. God, many people decided, was to walk with this man.

It didn't exactly work that way. If indeed God was walking with George Foreman, it was to the left and far behind. Oh sure, things went well for the young slugger for a while. Let's see, I guess you could say his career took a slide, oh, probably about a year ago — about the time he won the world heavyweight title. Figure out the irony there.

Foreman was, and is, in a league of his own it seems. After he turned professional it was a lot like Brooks Robinson playing Pony League Baseball or Vince Lombardi coaching in the Ivy League. His toughest tests came when he tried to eat post-fight meals after bloodying opponents' faces up, and everyone knew it was just a matter of time before this hunk of strength took the title away from someone.

Not many expected it would come from Smokin' Joe Frazier, and even fewer figured it would be by an unbelievably decisive knockout in the second round. Sure, Frazier had been softened some by the night club life, but six knockdowns in a matter of minutes? Outrageous.

And thus began the downfall — yes, the downfall — of George Foreman, that nice young man who was a firm believer in The American Way and whose very survival probably depended upon such red, white and blue items as milk and hot dogs.

He waited a while to defend his new title, but when he did come back he flattened a patsy named Joe Roman. It wasn't until after that debacle that Foreman revealed that he wasn't exactly reaping all the rewards due a champion of his status. In fact, he was going broke. The money that was supposed to be coming his way from various ring wars was — and is, I assume — tied up in a huge knot of red tape.

Then came a nasty, much-publicized divorce case, and things were looking down for the champ as he prepared to defend his title against Ken Norton, a guy whose credentials included a victory over Ali, regarded by many as the greatest ever. Foreman has since become a firm believer in the when-it-rains-it-pours school.

Trying to be a nice guy the day of the fight, visiting some policemen or something, Foreman pinched a nerve in his knee and the fight was almost called off. The champ had to be taken limping into a hospital.

But Foreman would hear none of this talk about calling off the fight. That would be, well, un-American, sort of. He went out and promptly punched out Norton in two merciful rounds, a punishing exhibition that gave the crowd of 9,000 Caracas, Venezuelans all they wanted. Most were properly impressed.

That's when it happened. Foreman, who decided to hold the fight in Caracas for tax reasons in the first place, was denied exit from the country after the fight... for tax reasons. A small matter of about $300,000, I think it was.

And so the story continues. Foreman, if he's ever released by the Venezuelans, will probably destroy some guy in Vienna in a few months, and after he's through the ring will sink into a canal. Or he'll go to Johannesburg and following a smashing victory over another foe, a heard of rampaging pygmies will trample him in the streets.

But the millions of losers in America will sympathize with him. And they'll remember that tiny flag...

Aaron Says There's No Sweat As Opener Nears

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hank Aaron, on the threshold of the game's most revered record, begins his 21st season in major league baseball at Cincinnati Thursday insisting there's no pressure on him.

"I'm not the flashy type ball player," Aaron said. "I've got to do it my way. I don't like to play under pressure. I can't play under pressure. I think there's been exaggerated talk about pressure. There just isn't any."

The 40-year-old Atlanta Braves slugger needs only two home runs to break the immortal Babe Ruth's lifetime record of 714 and he should become the game's all-time home run king early in the season.

The Braves stirred a boiling controversy last month by announcing Aaron would be held out of the three-game opening series in Cincinnati so that he could take aim at the mark during an 11-game home stand beginning April 8 against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

However, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn ordered the Braves to start the famous slugger in at least two of the games. It is expected that Aaron may play in the opener and almost certainly in Saturday afternoon's clash slated for national television (NBC). The Monday night home opener also will be televised nationally.

The Reds refused to get involved in the controversy and even though Aaron has more homers against Cincinnati than any other club, 95, indications are that he might have a tough time.

To begin with, Aaron has never homered in a season-opening game.

And Sparky Anderson, the Cincinnati manager, has said, "We're not going to pitch around him, but we're not going to let him beat us either. If we have to walk him, we will."

Aaron's rise to baseball stardom has been one of consistent annual productions that left him in the shadow of such contemporary stars as Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays.

His steady efforts have paid off in the twilight of his career, with most of the emphasis placed on his assault of Ruth's home run record.

However, he currently holds 13 major league records and 19 National League standards and is closing in on others.

Of 12 major categories, Ty Cobb currently holds six records. Ruth four and Aaron two and Hammerin' Hank has a chance to capture four more of them this year.

"The only thing people have talked about is the home run thing," Aaron was saying near the end of the spring training camp here. "But I'm very aware of those other records I'm close to. I'm happy and conscious of the fact that I have a chance to break them."

Cobb currently holds the record for games played, at bats, runs, hits, lifetime batting average and stolen bases. Ruth is No. 1 in home runs, runs batted in, slugging percentage and walks. Aaron sets the pace in total bases and extra base hits.

The Atlanta slugger can claim the records for games, at bats, home runs and possibly runs batted in.

Irish Star Shumate Decides To Go Pro

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's John Shumate, who admits his decision to leave school took "a lot of pressure off," now turns his attention to the rigors of professional basketball, a prospect he is sure will be "devastating."

Shumate, the 6-foot-9 All-American center, decided after much thought to pass up his final year of eligibility at Notre Dame in order to join the pros.

"I think it's going to be a hard life, but I think it's going to be a very enjoyable life," Shumate said.

He gained an extra year of eligibility after a serious illness kept him out of athletics in his sophomore year. Academically, however, he is a senior and will graduate in May.

Shumate, from Elizabeth, N.J., averaged 24.2 points and 11 rebounds a game this year, in which Notre Dame finished with a 26-3 record and a No. 5 national ranking in The Associated Press' final poll.

A year ago Shumate led the Irish to a second-place finish in the National Invitational Tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden and was named the NIT's Most Valuable Player. He also set a Notre Dame record for season field goal percentage at .592 that year.

He announced his decision to bypass next year's collegiate wars Friday, admitting "a lot of pressure's off now. I'm just glad that I've come to a decision that I'm glad I made.

"There wasn't pressure that was put forth by other people," he said. "It was just on myself. I was so intent on making the right decision...I was just weighing so many things...and it was self-pressure I was applying to myself."

Shumate said Irish Coach Digger Phelps "told me the advantages of coming back and how I could benefit, and everything. But he really never put any pressure on me. I assume that if it was up to him that he probably would want me to come back."

Wind Nullifies Record In 100

DALLAS (AP)—Chris Garpenberg, a native of Sweden running for the University of Texas at El Paso, blazed to wind-aided 9.1 in the 100-yard dash Saturday to highlight the Dallas Invitational Track Meet.

Garpenberg's time will not go down in the record books because he had a 7.2 mile per hour wind at his back. Six competitors own the world record of 9.1 in the century.

Even if Garpenberg's time had not been wind-aided, there might have been a furor because the electric timer—apparently on the blink—caught him in 9.3 seconds. However, three manual timers clocked him at 9.1 and that was the time that stood.

William Blessing of Hillcrest High School, Dallas, set a national record in the 330 yard intermediate hurdles with a 35.9 second effort. It erased the old standard of 36.3 seconds by Harold Schwab of Centereach, times in 90-degree heat on the N.Y., at Sacramento, Calif., in 1972.

Bushongo Nabs Flamingo Prize

MIAMI (AP) — Underdog Bushongo stamped himself as a top Kentucky Derby prospect Saturday by capturing the $128,800 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah by 2 1/4 lengths.

The lightly raced 3-year-old son of Mongo, ridden by Donald McBeth, ran the 1 1/8 miles in 1:49 to earn $83,720.

Hasty Flyer was second, a length ahead of 1.5 favored Judger.

Bushongo, who went off at 8-1 odds with the crowd of 18,252, returned $19.20, $15.20 and $2.10.

Hasty Flyer, ridden by Mike Miceli, returned $15.60 and $2.10, and Judger, ridden by Laffit Pincay, was $2.10 to show.

Little Current was fourth followed by Gold and Myrrh, Neapolitan Way, Cannodade, Clarion Sky, Pat McGroder and Shady Character.

Bushongo was never less than second nor further back than three lengths during the entire race. Hasty Flyer set the rather slow pace throughout until losing it near the finish.

Hasty Flyer led Bushongo by two lengths at the quarter-pole, a length at the half mile, two lengths at the three-quarter pole and by a head entering the stretch run as Bushongo made his move in the middle of the track.

Shady Character, ridden by Robert Woodhouse, held third for the first half mile before fading. Cannonade, runnerup in the Florida Derby to Judger, took over third only four lengths off the pace at the three-quarter pole but also faded badly.

It was the first major victory for Bushongo, who had failed to run straight in the stretch in previous starts. That flaw caused him to lose by a half-length to Little Current a week ago in the nine-furlong Everglades at Hialeah.

Bushongo is owned by Montpelier Farm, the stable of Mrs. Marion DuPont. The dark brown colt had won two races earlier this year against lesser opposition.

Hasty Flyer, earning $25,760 in second-place money for Hasty House Farm, had captured the seven-furlong Bahamas here March 9.

Judger, owned by Seth Hancock, collected $12,880.

Wind Nullifies Record In 100

It was a day for excellent tartan track at Loos Stadium before a crowd of some 6,000 fans.

Southern Methodist's excellent sprint relay team sped to a 40.1 second clocking—best in Texas this year. Joe Pouncy of SMU bolted to a 20.6 clocking in the 220-yard dash, another low for the state.

Nate Robinson of Texas was a surprise winner in the 120-yard high hurdles with a fine time of 13.8 seconds and the Longhorns' Don Sturgal outlasted a classy field to win the quarter mile run in 46.7.

Southern California's James Baxter ran a strong 1:50.1 in the 800 while Tom Andrews of the Trojans clipped the 400 hurdles in 51.4 seconds.

Steer Falls In Semifinals

WICHITA FALLS — Randy Mattingly advanced to the semi-finals of the Wichita Falls Tennis Classic Saturday before bowing to Abilene Cooper's nationally-ranked Rick Myers 6-2, 6-2.

It was the second victory over the Big Spring ace in as many weeks for Myers, who ranks 17th in boys 18 singles. The two wins make the Cooper standout, who is only a sophomore, the favorite to win the Dist. 5-AAAA singles title this weekend in Odessa.

Murphy Crocker and Vicky Dorfl lost in the semifinals also, falling to Karen Pattillo and Diane Towry of Wichita Falls Rider 7-6, 6-3 in Girls B Doubles. In Girls A Doubles, Judy Jordan and Linda Little lost to Karen Kerbow and Cindy Pink of Wichita Falls 6-2, 6-2 in the quarterfinals.

Also bowing in the quarterfinals were Hugh Porter and Hayes Stripling in B Boys Doubles and Ron Mercer in Boys C Singles.

LL Sign-Up Takes Dip

An estimated 415 boys signed up for Little League play at the city's four parks Saturday, 220 fewer than a year ago.

The National League had just 83, compared to 180 in 1973, while the American League accepted registrations from 131, which falls far short of the 190 who indicated a willingness to play in 1973.

The International League, whose park is located at Webb AFB, will sign boys on Monday only the coming week.

Those residing in other leagues can register by reporting to parks after 5:30 p.m., any day the coming week.

Youngsters who will be seven years of age prior to July 31 are also eligible to compete in the National League in pee wee action. Eighty-two players between the ages of eight and 12 registered Saturday.

City Junior High Cinder Carnival Set This Week

The Big Spring City Junior High Meet will be held this week at Memorial Stadium between seventh and eighth graders at Rannels and Goliad Junior high schools.

Action begins on Tuesday with field events, starting at 4:45 p.m. The long jump, high jump, shot put, discus and pole vault will be completed in both divisions.

On Wednesday track events will get under way at 4:45 p.m. The 440-yard relay will open the action, followed by the 660, 330, and 100-yard dashes, the 70-yard high hurdles, 220-yard dash, 230-yard hurdles, 1320-yard run and 1320-yard relay.

Rannels is the defending champion of the seventh grade, while Goliad won the eighth grade competition last year. Goliad is favored in the eighth grade again this time, while the seventh grade title is a toss-up.

The seventh grade will run first and the eighth grade will follow in each event.

He DIDN'T COUNT ON CAREER BEHIND BARS — Ruben Vance's Cage Career Sidetracked Into Prison

Ruben Vance's Pro Basketball Dream Locked In Prison Cell

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Two years ago Ruben Vance was dreaming of wearing No. 34 for pro basketball's Portland Trail Blazers.

Today the former Canton McKinley High School and Kent State University star wears No. 89139 behind the stark, gray stone walls of the Mansfield Sefomatory.

Vance, 25, is serving 10 to 20 years in prison after being convicted of two counts of possession of heroin for sale.

"I just can't believe I'm in prison," he said. "This place looks like a tomb on the outside and like a dungeon inside. The days are 72 hours long."

The nightmares began for Vance about two weeks ago when he was sentenced in Stark County Common Pleas Judge Ira Turpin's court.

Then it was tossing and turning in the Stark County Jail and telling 4-year-old son, Ruben Jr., over the telephone:

"Daddy has been bad and has to be punished. I will be away awhile."

Vance was a picture of poise and confidence at McKinley High School, Indian River Junior College in Florida and Kent State.

Kent State Coach Frank Truitt recalled, "Ruben and Roger Evans carried us to the Mid-American Conference title

MUSTANG COACH HAPPY WITH SPRING WORKOUT

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University football Coach Dave Smith expressed pleasure at what he called consistency Saturday in the first spring scrimmage.

"All of our fullbacks... ran hard and you can tell we have some experience in the offensive line. They did a good job blocking," said Smith.

"There was nothing spectacular. Just a lot of good consistency from both the offense and defense," said the coach.

Larry Crawford, who quarterbacked the freshman team last season completed five of seven passes for 90 yards and ran for a one-yard touchdown against the No. 2 defense.

Darrell McCullough, a second team fullback from Dodge City, Kan., ripped off 85 yards on 17 carries. Freshman David Bostick, who started last fall at fullback, gained 79 yards on 16 carries, and frosh halfback Rex Garner added 70 on nine carries.

GOLIAD JH Science Club Plans Trip

By BECKY RAGAN
In relay races sponsored by the Student Council, the champion eighth grade team is the team sponsored by Mrs. Lucy Bonner. Team members are Jackie Hanson, Paige Grisham, Becky Ragan, Mark Taylor, Ben Hicks, Kevin Crenwelge, Bart Clark, and Alan Hunt. The seventh grade champions, sponsored by Mr. Duke Atterbury, are Julie Ray, Kelly Hendricks, Cindy Yarbrough, Jeff Joseph, Albert Ybarra, Gerardo Monje, Joe Deanda, and Barry Fish. In the finals between the seventh and eighth grade champions, the eighth grade team won. The next scheduled contest is the egg toss. The seventh graders will toss on Wednesday, April 3, the eighth graders on Thursday, and the finals will be held on Friday, April 5.

The Science Club, sponsored by the science teachers, has decided to take its spring trip to Sand Hills National Park in Monahans and Meteor Crater in Midland. The next Science Club meeting is Monday, April 1 from 6:30 to 7:30 in the school cafeteria.

The boys' track team members went to a track meet in Snyder Friday, March 29. They left school at 11:45. Finals were held from 6:00 to 8:00. Results of the meet will be posted at a later date.

The Library Club will have a meeting Wednesday, April 3 in the library during the eighth grade advisory.

Miss Carmen Johnson's clothing class will begin their construction projects this week. Girls' physical education classes will begin track, and the boys' physical education will finish track and begin gymnastics.

Joe Costello from Runnels was the only new student welcomed to Goliad last week.

Cyclist Ordered To Write Essay

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A motorcycle gang member charged with disorderly conduct has been sentenced to write an essay on "The Joys of Cycling and What It Has Meant to Me."
James E. Shaffner, 30, of Mount Joy, Pa., a member of the Sons of Satan Motorcycle Club, was given 45 days to complete the essay.
Lancaster County Court Judge Anthony R. Appel also fined Shaffner $150 Friday and ordered him to pay court costs and $75 in restitution.

Recover Head Of Tom Thumb

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Mountain Grove Cemetery officials have recovered the head of a statue of Tom Thumb. It had been missing since last week when vandals damaged the 100-pound figurine erected in 1857 as a memorial to the 40-inch circus midget. The head was found perched in a tree near the gravesite.

More Likely Issues

Republican leaders continue to see inflation and the energy crisis as the primary issues of voter concern for this fall's election. Watergate, according to a recent Gallup poll, comes in third, far below the top two.

This was the opinion from the grassroots in the survey which covered 2,384 Republican county chairmen throughout the country.

One might wonder offhand if perhaps the Republican response is a case of the boy whistling in the dark as he walks past the graveyard. But the county chairmen are closer to the people than any other group of politicians and more familiar with their attitudes.

They also have history on their side and know that the gut issues of any campaign are those which are closest to the people and which affect their daily lives. Watergate still is something that happened "back there in Washington" a loony way from home. But inflation and the energy problem are with the voters from the time they get up in the morning until they go to bed at night.

Issues which have a direct relationship to the pocketbook always have tended to sway the voter when it comes to marking the ballot in the voting booth.

As would be expected, chairmen along the Eastern Seaboard and New England were more prone to expect severe damage from Watergate a than were those in the rest of the country.

Republican Chairman Bush believes Republican candidates can do well in the elections by attacking an unpopular Congress, noting that the solons are held in lower public esteem than President Nixon.

While his analysis probably is correct regarding the tide now running against incumbents in the Congress, the feeling is directed toward both Democrats and Republicans. Thus the GOP will have as much difficulty in holding seats as will the Democrats.

It's Encouraging

A couple of keen brains met head-on at Clemson University the other night when James J. Kilpatrick, the noted columnist who bills himself as a conservative; and Karl Hess, now booked on the lecture circuit as a radical winging far to the left, met in debate.

Ironically enough, Mr. Hess turned radical only after helping write speech and other campaign material for Richard M. Nixon in 1960; four years later, as principal speech writer for Barry Goldwater, he pounded out material for the conservative Arizona's unsuccessful bid for the presidency. But now here Mr. Hess was on the platform at Clemson's Tillman Hall. He was bearded and blue-jeaned, in best "radical" tradition. Mr. Kilpatrick was attired "conservatively." Their views were about as far apart.

The two did agree on one thing: they oppose increased centralization of government. So long as a couple of fellows that far apart ideologically can agree on that key issue the republic is likely to survive.

Super-Salesman

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

My bashful aunt, Marie Chastain, who celebrates her birthday tomorrow, says the ultimate salesman is the one who can make his wife feel sorry for the poor girl who left her compact in his car.

THURSDAY was one of those split-level days. I had an engagement at 1:45 p.m. — the exact time to cut my day in two in such a way that I couldn't do anything before or after. It must be a form of limbo.

My priceless cousin, Price Everett, Bridgeport, saw a sign in Carlsbad, N.M., reading:

"There ain't hardly any business goes these days that ain't went out after."

I THINK it was during Jeanne Striegler's birthday party in Odessa Thursday night that she reported the wife of a young coach asked if he loved football more than he did her. "He thought about it, and said, 'I love you more than I do basketball.'"

M-E-R-Y Jo, you know her, says: "All too often a clear conscience is the result of a bad memory."

"If you think the world has forgotten you, just try skipping your bills for a few months."

"In these days of higher prices and talk of recession there are millions of idle people. It is nice to know that most of them have jobs, tho."

"Middle age is that time of life when you finally know your way around, but don't feel like going."

MAKING THE rounds at the moment is a teacher's contract of 50 years ago with the Hutchinson, Minn., school district. The salary was $75 a month, and had these rules:

1. This contract is null and void if the teacher marries.
2. Do not keep company with men.
3. Be home between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless in attendance at a school function.
4. Do not letter downtown in ice cream stores.
5. Do not leave town at any time without permission of the chairman.
6. Do not smoke cigarettes.
7. Do not drink beer, wine or whisky.
8. DO NOT get in a carriage or automobile with any man except her father or brother.
9. Do not dress in bright colors.
10. Do not dye hair.
11. Wear at least two petticoats.
12. Do not wear dresses more than two inches above the ankle.
13. Do not use face powder, mascara or paint the lips.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Concerning the matter of giving 10 per cent to the Lord, didn't the early church use this to care for the needy, the aged and the afflicted? Nowadays, our tithes goes for gigantic churches and organizational structures. Am I right?

I wish you could have been with me on my trip to Korea last year. I saw what missionary dollars from America had done — hospitals, settlement houses, orphanages, schools, etc. This has been true in every part of the world where I have visited. Some needs to really tell the story of what the Christian church has done in meeting social need. Now, I agree with you that perhaps many of our denominational and religious organizational offices could perhaps pare down personnel and cut costs to achieve greater efficiency. We're always conscious of minimizing overhead costs in our own evangelistic association.

But having said that, I must plead the cause of missions, benevolence and evangelism in the local church. Any leadership worth the name realizes that when a local congregation sees only its part of God's vineyard, it starts to shrivel and die. America's leading churches are that because they use tithes money for the wider Kingdom concerns, as well as their own specific ministries. The mature Christian will give his 10 per cent to his church confident funds are being expended wisely. In addition he should have enough to aid community groups like United Fund — as you mentioned. The password in Christian stewardship is that God can do the impossible (Luke 18:27).

Resistance For Common Marketplace

NEW YORK (AP) — For all the planning and talk of changes coming in the way Wall Street does its business, very little in recent years has changed for the truly small investor.

The plan to link the nation's stock exchanges into one central marketplace has touched off great controversy and maneuvering within the securities industry. But it's still been largely business as usual for the person who wants to buy $100 worth of stock.

Another target, however, has been the system of industry-wide fixed commission rates which the Securities and Exchange Commission wants done away with by April 30, 1975.

NEW PLAN MONDAY The option of bargaining or shopping for a good commission rate is currently a benefit enjoyed only by investors buying or selling securities worth $300,000 or more. The SEC, however, has ordered the industry to experiment with competitive rates on trades valued at $2,000 and down starting Monday.

The first position under the experiment was staked out this past week by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., the country's biggest brokerage house.

Merrill Lynch unveiled a surprise plan which would cut rates 16 to 26 per cent on small orders. But only for investors willing to do without a variety of services and privileges, including the ability to actually hold a stock certificate.

There had been widespread speculation that competitive rates on small orders would mean higher rates. Such transactions are relatively costly to a brokerage firm, since a $100 customer might demand essentially the same services as a $100,000 customer while paying for less in commissions.

LIMITED SERVICES That $100 order under the Merrill Lynch plan will carry a $4.50 commission charge, compared with $7.40 under the current industry schedule.

If an investor wants that break, however, he pays other

The Week's Business

Kenyan Frustration

William F. Buckley Jr.

NAIROBI. — Well, now, I have a tale to tell. There I was at the studio in Nairobi, waiting for the Foreign Minister to do an hour's television on the theme, "Black Africa Looks at White Africa." Dr. Njoroge Mungai (he is a medical doctor, licensed to practice after completing studies at Stanford, Calif., and internship in New York City) had said he wanted to talk to me briefly before the tape began to roll.

He was a half-hour late, having met with the President — his boss, his personal patient, and Kenya's God — and sat down easily and smilingly in the waiting room, and we exchanged pleasantries. What, I said finally, looking a little apprehensively at the clock, did you want to discuss in advance of the program? Well, he said, as Foreign Minister I would be very embarrassed if you were to get into the subject of Nixon and Watergate. No problem, I said. Anything else? Well, he said, as Foreign Minister I couldn't criticize any other African state or its leaders or its policies.

We were there, of course, to criticize white Africa, which is to say South Africa, Rhodesia, Mozambique, and Angola. "Those are not states," Dr. Mungai corrected me: "they are colonies — white colonies." All right, I said, but the argument against these states is that their policies are racist in foundation, but this requires us to probe definitions, and in order to do that, it becomes necessary to probe the policies of other African states that might be called racist in character.

But he declined. Even to decline during the televised exchange to answer such questions; such questions were simply not to be put to him. "Well," I said sadly, "it's your country. But it's my program." So I scrubbed the show.

Bright idea. Could he suggest a prominent Kenyan journalist or academician who would be able to discuss freely the policies of other African countries? Nobody in Kenya — Dr. Mungai smiled, but there was a touch of steel there — would be willing to criticize another African country.

I got the picture, and exchanged a glance with my producer. We were, after all, sitting in government studios. And we had been told, in almost as many words that nobody in Kenya would, from that studio, criticize as another government in Africa. I have made inquiries, and here is a more precise way of putting it. You can find, in Kenya, black intellectuals and black journalists who will criticize, say, the expulsion of the Asian minority by Amino in Uganda. But you can't find a black intellectual or a black journalist who will criticize the government of Kenya for failure to criticize the government of Uganda for expelling the Asians.

Things here in Nairobi are to be sure unusually touchy just now. The other day, Kenya Parliament, whose members are all Kenyatta's men — there is no parliamentary opposition — struck out against a television profile shown the day before in Britain of Jomo Kenyatta. The profile was done by Lord Chalfont, a former Labor Minister, who criticized in language entirely moderate the imperial habits to which President Kenyatta increasingly is given. "Worship of 'Mzee' (the Father) has become) a national habit and even receives legislative sanctions. Any disrespect for his person has been made an offense, and any settler found guilty of it, even in the form of a joke, was liable to be expelled from Kenya."

From all of which one deduces that a public discussion inquiring into why the President of Kenya does not criticize racist policies committed by black men could be interpreted as, well, disparaging of the leadership of Mzee.

Importance Of Tests

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there such a thing as sunburn poisoning? I ride a tractor, and my face, neck, hands and arms act as though poisoned. They break out in a rash and itch like poison. — H.O.W.

It's a reaction to the actinic rays of the sun, although not strictly a "poisoning" as from poison ivy, chemicals or whatever. Still, you can call it sun poisoning without getting much of an argument.

As I'm sure you know, people vary in sun sensitivity. Blondes and redheads burn easily; brunets less so; but even blacks can burn if exposed too heavily.

Your rash and itching is your particular reaction — shared by a good many others, however. I can suggest only two ways to combat it that are likely to succeed. One is to develop a tan very gradually at the beginning of the sunny season; the tanning of the skin will protect you.

The other is to limit your exposure to the sun. Protective sunburn lotions (those containing a so-called "sun screen" ingredient) should help but may not be enough.

You know where the trouble occurs — the exposed skin, face, neck, hands and arms. So I'd get in the habit of wearing a wide-brimmed hat, a light scarf or maybe a bandanna for the neck, long sleeves, and perhaps cotton gloves.

Above all, try to develop a tan very slowly, starting as early in the season as possible. But you may still need the hat and other protection throughout the summer. You often see men handling tractors or dozers who are bare to the waist and brown as a nut — but with heavy exposure even they can itch at times. Your solution is to limit the amount of sun you get.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've gotten into the stupid habit of swallowing my saliva. My throat is getting sore and I just can't stop. — N.S.

If you ever broke that "stupid habit" you might be in real trouble.

The swallowing of saliva is a very natural process. In fact it is the very beginning of the body's remarkable digestive mechanism.

Saliva contains important enzymes that help break down the food chemically for digestion further down the digestive tract. One such enzyme, ptyalin, begins the chemical breakdown of the starches and sugars in our food.

I would look for some other cause of that sore throat. If you have excess saliva being secreted, the cause of that might be ill-fitting dentures, for example.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can alcohol and sleeping tablets be transmitted by the mother to her baby that she is breast-feeding? For example, feeding the infant an hour after taking the drug, or a drink or two of wine or cognac? — T.P.

Yes, these drugs (alcohol is a drug, too) can appear in the breast milk, so they are to be avoided by nursing mothers.

Trivia Test

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Watergate has been going on for so long that it is now time for the first Watergate Trivia Test.

ANYONE WHO gets every answer right will be given executive clemency.

1 — What was the name of the man who ran against Richard Nixon for President in 1972? (Since this is a tough one, we'll give you a slight hint. His first name was George and he came from South Dakota.)

2 — Nixon had two Vice Presidents during his second term in office. One was Gerald Ford. Who was the other?

3 — McGovern had two vice-presidential candidates. His first choice was Sen. Thomas Eagleton. When this didn't work out he chose someone else. What was the name of his second choice? His third choice? His fourth choice? Whom did he finally select?

4 — On the night five men broke into the national headquarters of the Democratic Party at the Watergate, several men were stashed away at a motel across the street. What was the name of the motel and how many different flavors of ice cream do they sell?

5 — WHEN RON Ziegler was informed about the Watergate break-in, he said he would not comment on a "third-rate burglary." Name a first-rate burglary that Ziegler has commented on.

6 — After the Watergate break-in, the wife of a former attorney general claims she was held in a motel room in Newport Beach, Calif., against her will. How much was she charged for the two extra days?

7 — WHAT WAS the price of milk before the milk industry promised to donate a sizable contribution to President Nixon's presidential re-election campaign? What was the price after they made the contribution?

8 — The President has had four attorneys general and one acting attorney general since 1972. Which one said, "Judge us not by what we say, but by what we do"? What state was he indicted in?

9 — PRESIDENT Nixon has insisted from the very beginning that he never had any knowledge of Watergate until March 21, 1973. What football games did he watch while the cover-up was going on?

Baker And The CIA

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Of all the characters in the Watergate drama none rose higher and fell faster than Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee. What Baker is up to now as his graph drops lower is a mystification as dense as anything that has happened in the great Watergate scandal.

HE SEEMS to be trying to put blame on the Central Intelligence Agency for the cover-up. He does this by running his own hearings and by bringing Richard Helms back from his ambassadorial post in Iran for a third going-over. That ended, incidentally, with Chairman Sam Ervin, who exercised his right to sit in on Baker's private show, giving Helms a clean bill of health.

Baker waves top secret memoranda which he alone has been allowed to see. But leaks and counter-leaks give clues that serve Baker's purpose, if that purpose is indeed to draw in the CIA.

BY WHY? A widely held belief is that Baker is being nudged by the White House. The nudging agent is Charles W. Colson, one of the seven Watergate figures indicted on March 1 who still keeps a close connection with the White House. Baker denied he is "cooperating" with Colson. Colson brought in as a White House consultant that compulsive spy, E. Howard Hunt Jr. Hunt's past with the CIA, his work with the White House "plumbers," his intervention in the ITT case, his part in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, that is the Byzantine maze Baker professes to be following. One of those convicted for the Watergate break-in, Hunt is free on bond pending an appeal.

AUTHOR OF the declaration that he would trample on his grandmother if need be to insure Richard Nixon's re-election, Colson in the first flush of the Nixon landslide was a happy man. He would leave the White House to become counsel for the teamsters union at a retainer reported to be $100,000 a year. Since his indictment he has left the firm, although he continues out of his law office to do business for the teamsters.

A recent lawsuit filed by James Hoffa, former Teamsters president released from prison on parole by Nixon, charges Nixon and Attorney General William Saxbe with a deal engineered by Colson to deny Hoffa union office until 1980 with a reward for Colson as union counsel. A party to this arrangement, so the suit charged, was Frank E. Fitzsimmons who became union president after Hoffa went to prison.

A Devotion For Today..

"How then can I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?" (Genesis 39:9)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us to live one day at a time. Moment by moment sustain us by Thy power as we reach out to Thee in faith for help in overcoming temptations and for doing Thy will. Amen.

Tent Show's Concept Will Be Revived

LUBBOCK — Remember "Toby," the hayseed with the red wig, loud shirt, patched overalls and outlandish boots? If you do, then you might be the means of supplying the exact bit of nostalgia that Texas Tech's University Theater is looking for.

"Toby" was the stage character made famous by the late Harley Sadler of Sweetwater, tent show entrepreneur of the 1920's, 30's and 40's whose traveling repertory company brought live theater each summer to the towns and communities of West Texas and the Texas Panhandle.

"Plans are under way to revive the tent show concept this summer using some of Sadler's plays if possible, and we are in need of all the information we can get concerning the productions," said University Theater Director Richard Weaver.

Old playbills, play scripts, mementoes and especially recollections about Harley Sadler and his company will be greatly appreciated, Weaver said. Information should be sent to University Theater, Texas Tech, Lubbock 79409. The telephone number to call is 742-2153.

Two Solons Must Decide What Tape Info Vital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most days now, two short gray-haired men can be seen walking into a former hotel on the edge of Capitol Hill where they enter a tightly guarded second floor room, don earphones, and spend a couple hours listening to tapes.

They are Reps. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., and Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich, the chairman and ranking Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee, and what they hear will have a lot to do with whether President Nixon is impeached.

The tapes are part of the evidence gathered by the Watergate grand jury and bundled up in a briefcase for transmission to the committee for its impeachment inquiry. In addition, there are at least a dozen more tapes turned over by the White House that have to be examined.

It is the task of Rodino and Hutchinson to determine what information on all of these tapes is relevant to the committee's investigation, either pointing toward Nixon's involvement in the Watergate cover-up or clearing him of any such suspicion.

Under rules adopted by the committee to protect against leaks, only these two men and the committee's two top staff lawyers — John Doar and Albert Jenner — can take part in the screening operation.

Only the evidence they find pertinent will be presented to the full Judiciary Committee when it must make its momentous recommendation.

In strict observance of the rules, Rodino and Hutchinson aren't telling other committee members what they are hearing and it is hard to get them to talk even about how they are proceeding.

It is clearly a demanding assignment for them. Rodino, 64, finds an hour and a half of concentrated listening is all he can absorb. Hutchinson, 59, puts in sessions of about two hours.

They follow transcripts of the conversations while they listen and much of their responsibility is to determine the accuracy of the written record. But there is more to it than that.

"You can get more from hearing a conversation than from reading it," says Hutchinson. "You get the tone of voice."

The quality of the tapes is generally poor, both men agree, and additional difficulties are caused by background noises such as shifting chairs and ringing telephones, and by two or more people talking at once.

Apparently because of the placement of the microphone in the President's office, Nixon's voice is harder to hear than that of the persons he is talking to, Hutchinson says.

Also under the committee rules, Hutchinson and Rodino cannot take any notes on what they hear, and a member of the staff is always in the room with them while they listen.

They have not said how many tapes they have.

Borden Test Alters Depth

Wood, McShane and Thams No. 1 Canon will be a 7,600-foot Dean explorer in the Borden County portion of the Jo-Mill (A nyon-Spraberry and Fusseman) field. Originally set as a Spraberry venture to 7,400, it has been refiled to 7,600.

Location is 1,980 from the south and 660 from the west lines of section 37-33-5n, T1P.

In Dawson County, Warren-American No. 1 Ray was bottomed at 8,270 and running logs. Omar No. 1 Oldham swabbed to a depth through perforations at 8,258-346 in the Dean after acidizing with 1,500 gallons.

In northern Sterling County, Fisher-Webb No. 1-94 Reed, drilled below 7,934 in lime and shale.

Gulf Oil No. 1 G. W. Glass, 1,320 from the south and west lines of section 3-39-1n, T&P, will be a two and half miles southwest outpost to the Spraberry trend area 11 miles southwest of Tarzan. It is scheduled to 9,700.

Sen. Talmadge Welcome In 'I'll Get You' Clut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Herman Talmadge was welcomed to the "I'll Get You" Club Saturday and informed that he is now entitled to one streak by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz through a supermarket in Georgia.

The "club's" founder, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said Talmadge gained membership by incurring the wrath of the secretary.

"It is my pleasure to inform you that as a result of Mr. Butz' threat to campaign against you in your race for reelection... you are now a full-fledged member of this select group of senators to be rewarded by Mr. Butz' opposition," Cranston said in a letter to the Georgia Democrat.

Last week Butz accused Talmadge, who is chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, of opposing administration farm policies because this is an election year.

In his tongue-in-cheek congratulatory letter, Cranston said the rewards are rich of belonging to the Earl Butz "I'll-Get-You" Club.

Besides the streak, Cranston said benefits include:

—Ten framed copies of Butz press releases predicting a decline in beef prices in 1969, 1970, 1971, 1972, 1973 and 1974.

—Ten shares in the "Russian Trading Corp." That, said Cranston, is the "government corporation which bought U.S. wheat in 1972 from Butz for $1.60 a bushel."

Cranston said Talmadge's 10 shares in the Russian company will entitle him to buy back 10 bushels of the U.S. wheat at the current $5 a bushel.

Early Caller Is Told to Leave

A young girl beat on the front door and hollered at a residence at 609 Johnson around 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

"Let me in this house. You're not going to keep me out," Mrs. Frank Shotte, who lives at that address, went to the door and assured the girl she did not live there and had no business there.

The girl then ran her arm through the front door glass and left with severely bleeding arm. The woman reported that a youth joined her and they walked away. She called the police.

Police notified all hospitals. Five hours later, a 14 year old girl reported to a local hospital with a severe arm cut. Police detectives are investigating the incident.

Westbrook Has Youth Revival

WESTBROOK (SC) — A weekend youth revival closes today with two services. The meeting began Friday evening and included a Fellowship following the service, then included a Saturday sermon.

Jeff Pool is the evangelist and Eddie Curry the music director. Both are Wayland College students. Besides the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services today, there will be Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. and Training Union at 6 p.m., said Pastor Gene Farley.

HIPP THE STREAKER NOT HIP TO STEAK EATERS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, (AP) — It was a case of "streak" with your steak, police say, but the two together didn't please diners at a local steak house.

Police officers investigated a disturbance on Wednesday night at the Steak 'N Ale Restaurant, quoting witnesses as saying a nude man burst from the restroom and streaked among the dining tables.

Witnesses said some unamused diners tossed ash trays, pepper shakers and bottles at the man, who suffered cuts about the head. He was apprehended in the restaurant parking lot but not before he threw a chair himself, witnesses said.

Court officials confirmed Thursday Patrick Hipp, 24, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was charged with misdemeanor criminal mischief and released on a personal bond.

The San Antonio News identified Hipp as an Army reservist sergeant on duty at Ft. Sam Houston.

The news said it reached Hipp's mother by phone in Grand Rapids and quoted her as saying, "No, not my Patrick. It couldn't be."

She said she thought someone else had been arrested "and told the policemen he was Patrick."

Million Sellers Common In Recording Industry

By The Associated Press

During 1973, 186 recordings were certified as gold by the Recording Industry Association of America — 70 singles and 116 LPs. This is the second highest certification in RTAA history, to 1972, when 191 records turn gold — 66 singles and 125 LPs.

A single must sell a million copies to be certified gold and an LP must sell $1 million in manufacturer's sales.

Gold singles are: "Funny Face," Donna Fargo; "You're So Vain," Carly Simon; "It Never Rains in Southern California," Albert Hammond; "Super Fly," Curtis Mayfield; "Rocking Pneumonia and the Boogie Flu," Johnny Rivers; "Crocodile Rock," Elton John; "Love Jones," Brighter Side of Darkness; "Love Train," The O'Jays; "Could It Be That I'm Falling in Love?," and "One of a Kind Love Affair," Spinners; "Harry Hippie," Bobby Womack and Peace; "Killing Me Softly with His Song," Roberta Flack; "The World Is a Ghetto," Don't Dance; "Lodgers and Messia;" "Dueling Banjos," Eric Weissberg; "Last Song," Edward Bear; "Clair," and "Get Down," Gilbert O'Sullivan; "Ain't No Woman," Four Tops; "The Night the Lights Went Out in Georgia," Vicki Lawrence; "Tie a Yellow Ribbon Round the Ole Oak Tree," and "Say, Has Anybody Seen My Sweet Gypsy Rose," Dawn; "The Cover of the Rolling Stone," Dr. Hook and the Medicine Show; "Break Up to Make Up," the Stylistics; "Call Me Come Back Home," and "Here I Am Come and Take Me," Al Green; "Little Willy," the Sweet;

Major Crimes Increased 3.1 Per Cent In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Major crimes increased by 3.1 per cent in Texas last year, even though the murder rate declined, reports the Department of Public Safety.

The number of "major" offenses per 100,000 persons rose from 4,652 in 1972 to 4,777 in 1973. Total estimated crimes jumped from 472,011 to 492,654.

Murders declined from 1,662 in 1972 to 1,654 last year. The rate per 100,000 fell 2.1 per cent, the DPS said.

But the rate per 100,000 increased 1.5 per cent for rape, 17.1 per cent for robbery, 2.8 per cent for burglary, 1.1 per cent for aggravated assault, 2.9 per cent for theft and 2.4 per cent for auto theft.

Texas Solons Split Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two Texas senators split their vote last week as the Senate approved a $2.30 per hour minimum wage bill by a vote of 71-19.

Republican John Tower voted against the bill while Democrat Lloyd Bentsen voted in favor of it.

In another vote last week, Bentsen and Tower again split their vote as the Senate defeated a campaign reform bill amendment that would have eliminated public financing for Senate and House races. Bentsen voted against the amendment while Tower voted for it.

In the House, the majority of the Texas delegation voted in favor of the amendment to the elementary and secondary education act. Fifteen Texas representatives voted for the measure and only three opposed it.

Those voting in favor of the amendment were: Archer, R.; Brooks, D.; Bursleson, D.; Casey, D.; Collins R.; De la Garza, D.; Fisher, D.; Kazen, D.; Mahon, D.; Milford, D.; Pickle, D.; White, D.; Wilson, D.; Wright, D.; Young, D.

Those voting against the amendment were: Gonzalez, D.; Eckhardt, D.; and Jordan, D.

LOSE 10-20 SO POUNDS! Easy To Lose Lbs. Fast With New Vitamin 'E' Diet

HOLLYWOOD (Special) — New scientific discoveries have produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with growing reports of eating weight loss while still eating almost as much as you want.

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists' files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, saucers, gravies, bacon & eggs and still lose weight.

Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wonderful benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical test, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

E-DIET AVAILABLE

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and E Tablets, send $5.00 for 10 day supply (or $7.00 for 20 day supply or $10.00 for 30 day supply) to: Vita-E Diet, Dept. No. VI, 11526 Burbank Blvd., North Hollywood, Calif. 91601 (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.)

Floridan Is Convicted In Daughter's Death

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Circuit Court jury that convicted Ernest John Dobbert Jr. in the death of his 9-year-old daughter and 7-year-old son next decides the penalty. Dobbert faces electrocution for life in prison for the first degree murder conviction handed down Friday in the death of his daughter. A jury of seven women and five men also convicted Dobbert of second degree murder in the death of his son and of torture and child abuse in the mistreatment of two surviving children. Second degree murder carries a penalty up to 30 years, child torture up to 15 years and child abuse up to one year. Dobbert, 36, watched without visible emotion as the court clerk read the verdicts on each of four counts in the indictment. Three times during the seven and a half hours of deliberations, jurors returned to the courtroom to request a rereading of part of the testimony and to ask the difference between first and second degree murder. After hearing a court reporter read the testimony which blind and battered Ernest John Dobbert III, 13, gave Wednesday, the jury took 9 1/2 hours more to complete its verdict. The first degree murder conviction was based on the death of Kelley Dobbert. Young John said it occurred Dec. 31, 1971, after his father choked the girl. One day earlier, the boy said, Dobbert had kicked her repeatedly in the stomach. John testified that his brother Ryder died a few weeks later, after his father beat Ryder and held his head under water. That was the basis of the second degree murder conviction. Dobbert was found guilty of torturing John and abusing his youngest child, Honore, now 7.

Both are wards of the court in Wisconsin child care institutions. Ball Motor Freight, Inc., died Friday after a lengthy illness. Funeral services were pending. English, 72, went into the transportation business in the early 1920s after buying a touring car for $250. He said he got the idea because of an expensive cab ride from Greenville to Dallas.

LUNCHEONS Senior Citizens of food and delicious meals

SUNDAY, MARCH 31, 1974

READY to serve refreshments at the new center are Miss Bessie Love, right, chairman of Howard County Council on Aging, and Mrs. Doug Williams, publicity chairman.

"BRING A DISH OR A FRIEND"

Photos By Danny Valdes

LUNCHEONS ARE looked forward to at Howard County Senior Citizens Center, for there is always an abundance of food and fellowship. (Years of experience assure delicious meals at the covered dish luncheons.) Around the

A Special Place

By JO BRIGHT

A ribbon-cutting ceremony at 2 p.m., Friday will mark the official opening of Howard County Senior Citizen's Center, located on the campus of Howard College. Wielding the shears will be A. D. Mitchell, county judge, and Eddie Acri, city councilman. The open house will continue until 4 p.m.

Hospitality will be extended by representatives of various retirement groups, and Virgil Clark has arranged entertainment by a musical group, the "Gail Goo-Offs."

Directing the long-awaited event is Miss Bessie Love, chairman of Howard County Council on Aging, assisted by Mrs. Harlan Huibregtse, refreshments; Miss Nancy Easley, decorations; Miss Sherry Mullin, invitations; and Mrs. Doug Williams, publicity.

The opening of the center is the culmination of efforts begun years ago. After several earlier attempts had failed, a concerned group of Howard County citizens met Feb. 4, 1969 to form a county committee along the guidelines of the Governor's Committee on Aging.

These people were aware of the growing problems of the aging in general and were concerned specifically with the aging in Howard County. Contacts were made with known existing groups of senior citizens, church organizations and agencies concerned with the welfare of older persons. The council was formed the following month and its goals stated in the charter.

"The Council is organized exclusively for charitable and educational purposes, and within the limitations of such purposes to study the special needs of older persons, to develop community resources to help meet such special needs, to aid other individuals in organizations similarly concerned with the problems of aged, to explore, by special projects or other appropriate methods, ways of meeting the needs of the aged, to construct and develop facilities and services for the aged and to transact all business necessary to accomplish such purposes."

Although the council membership has varied over the years, it has maintained a nucleus of dedicated workers and remains a vital, interested group working to serve the needs of all older people in the county. Current officers are Miss Love, chairman; John Clancy, vice-chairman; Mrs. Hugh Williams, secretary; J. B. Hollis, treasurer; and Miss Mullin, advisor.

The council has sponsored annual Talent Fairs in which over 150 older citizens have exhibited and sold arts and craft items. Over 1,000 persons have attended the monthly luncheon and activity days which offer recreation and fellowship. A year ago, the council started a monthly newsletter and is currently working on establishing a Telephone Reassurance Program. Projected projects will focus on other needs and problems of the aging.

All Howard County citizens are welcome to attend Friday's open house, and older residents are invited to make use of the facility.

ZOLA BLISSARD AND J. M. CROSS EXCHANGE NEWS

TABLE GAMES get a lot of attention at the center with a number of experts being among regular participants. Dominoes and various card games are the most popular. This foursome is made up of Edith Clark, V. R. Clark, J. R. Hollis and Mary Hollis.

MR. AND MRS. JIM L. ABREO

Golden Anniversary Reception Set Today

Mr. and Mrs. Jim L. Abreo will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary today by repeating their marriage vows in a ceremony at the First Mexican Baptist Church. All friends and relatives are invited to attend the rites which will be followed by a reception at the church.

Mrs. Abreo is the former Miss Carmen Ruiz of Acuna, Coah., Mexico, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amado Ruiz. She was born July 16, 1903, Abreo, who was born at Van Horn June 27, 1902, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim Abreo Sr. who, at one time, lived at Knott.

Married March 26, 1924 at Stanton by the late Judge Atchinson, the young couple made a home at Lenorah for a year, then moved to Del Rio, where they lived for five years. After that, they resided in Van Horn for seven years, moving to the Big Spring area in 1937.

in Big Spring, the Abreos were, as now, affiliated with the First Mexican Baptist Church. They have been active workers, contributing greatly to the growth and prosperity of the church.

BUSINESS
In 1944, they moved to San Angelo, establishing a grocery store which they operated for 12 years, returning to Big Spring in 1957. He is now retired, and they reside at 500 Abrams. They have one son, Sam, 31, who resides in the household.

At various times, Abreo worked for Ford Motor Co. and the Settles Drug. He is an active member of Masonic Lodge 1340 and has been a deacon of First Mexican Baptist Church for 35 years. He is Sunday school teacher for the adult men's class. During World War II, he worked as a carpenter at the Big Spring Bombardier School.

Abreo is a music lover, a self-taught violinist who plays for the church. In earlier days at Stanton, he performed as a "one-man band."

Mrs. Abreo spends much of her spare time in church work and is a substitute Sunday school teacher. She enjoys taking care of her home, family and garden.

CEREMONY
For today's ceremony, Mrs. Abreo will wear a beige Dacron dress with gold trim and a carnation corsage. Serving as matron of honor will be Mrs. Apolonio Vega, and the other attendants will be Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Luevanos, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Luevano, Mr. and Mrs. Sixto Ramirez and Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Ramirez. The flower girl, Amada Solis, will be escorted by David Herrera.

The officiating minister will be the Rev. Apolonio Vega, pastor of the Mexican Methodist Church, and the pianist and vocalist will be the Rev. Mike Ramirez. The altar setting will be enhanced with gold chrysanthemums.

Assisting at the reception will be Mrs. David Leyva, who will register guests; Mrs. Herbert Rubio, who will serve refreshments; and Mrs. Mike Ramirez. The table will be covered with a lace cloth, and flowers, candles and appointments will be gold.

'Quotable Women'

By The Associated Press
Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

England, arguing against a proposal to name a new street after Lady Chatterley.

"I'm not standing for a name like that. Why must the people of Eastwood always be classed with the type of filthy literature? Lawrence was a great author, but he was a dirty old man and a peeping Tom." Margaret Coe, chairman of the housing committee in D.H. Lawrence's birthplace in

"I don't think most people like actors personally — which is a terrible comment to make. Actors have giant ego problems; if they don't, they're no good as actors. You have to understand them to like them, and I do." Monique James, head of the new talent department at Universal Studios.

Tetanus Is Often Fatal

The case for immunization with tetanus toxoid goes like this, according to the American Medical Association:

Tetanus is fatal to more than half of its victims; organisms of tetanus are widespread; all persons not immunized with toxoid are susceptible to infection from minor as well as major injury; with the emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase, keeping immunized against tetanus makes sense.

A national survey by the U.S. Census Bureau shows that about 11.5 million preschool children are not protected against tetanus.

Infection can occur through any wound which penetrates the skin. The Public Health Service estimates tetanus strikes from 200 to 300 persons a year. More than 60 per cent of the victims die.

Dear Abby
 Abigail Van Buren

BRIDE-ELECT — Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Avery, Stanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Marie, to Gary Michael Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lealon W. Brown, Fort Worth. The ceremony will take place May 18 in St. Mary's Street Church of Christ, Stanton. Both are students at Texas Tech University.

Couple Travels To Wichita Falls

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Anderson left Tuesday to visit their great-grandchild who is seriously ill in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. A. C. Moody has returned from a week's visit in Cisco with her son, Ray Moody, and family.

The Rev. and Mrs. Gene Farley and sons are in Oklahoma this week where they were to attend funeral services for his grandmother.

Mrs. Altis Clemmer has returned home after spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. T. L. Ramsey, who is now a patient in Eastland Hospital.

DEAR ABBY: Paul and I decided not to get married until after he had his Army duty behind him, so he enlisted and ended up in Germany for a year.

When he came back he told me that while he was in Germany he had fallen love with a girl named Gisela but the minute he saw me again he realized that I was the one he loved, so we took up where we left off and made plans to marry.

Later I found out that up until a month before Paul and I got married, he was still hearing from Gisela. He called her long distance a few times and even sent her money and tried to arrange for her to come over here.

After we were married he broke off all contact with Gisela, so everything turned out fine but it left me with a problem. Now every time I hear the name Gisela I go into a violent rage. Also I hate every German. I won't let my husband watch anything German on TV and I won't even have a German chocolate cake in the house! If I hear the word "German" on the TV I turn off the program.

I'm afraid if I don't get over this hating everything German I'll drive my husband crazy and ruin my marriage. Any advice?

HURT IN CHICAGO
DEAR HURT: You're lucky you don't live in Germantown, Pa. You'd have to move. Your jealousy is understandable but it's become obsessive. Further, your prejudice against an entire nation is unfair and childish, so put aside your anti-German attitude. If you don't, your marriage will be kaput.

DEAR ABBY: I am almost ashamed to be writing this, but you are my last hope.

I am a 44-year-old businessman who has to take a plane occasionally and my problem is my terrible fear of flying. I have to take about three real stiff drinks before I can get on a plane.

I don't like to arrive at my destination half-plastered but I usually do. I am not ordinarily a drinking man but it's the only way I can face a flight.

Do the airlines have any program or course for people like me? If they don't they should have because I can't be the only person with this problem.

NO BIRD
DEAR NO: I inquired of several major airlines and there's no such program in existence. But if you will tell the stewardess about your problem when you board, she'll give you special attention. It's worth a try. She's trained to provide the passengers with more than coffee, tea or milk.

DEAR ABBY: Is it true you had a Jewish father?

NOSEY
DEAR NOSEY: Yup. And Jewish MOTHER too!

PROBLEMS? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

HATE TO WRITE LETTERS? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Mrs. Dene Sheppard Accepts VA Position

By JO BRIGHT

Mrs. Dene Sheppard has been named director of voluntary services at the Veterans Administration Hospital. An employee of the hospital since 1967, Mrs. Sheppard has worked in the volunteer office for the past three years, as assistant director and, later, as acting director. Also, she serves as public relations officer for the hospital.

The wife of Bill M. Sheppard, an employee of Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., she is the daughter of Curtis Choate and the late Mrs. Marie Choate. The Sheppards, who reside at 1411 E. 18th, have four children, Teresa, 19, a Howard College student; Cindy, 17, a junior at Big Spring High School; Connie, 12, in the sixth grade at College Heights, and Scot, 9, a fourth-grader at the same school.

Mrs. Sheppard has lived in Big Spring most of her life and is a graduate of Big Spring High School. At St. Mary's Episcopal Church, she teaches a first-grade Sunday school class. She is a member of National Secretaries Association and she is vice president of the board of directors for American Heart Association, having served on the board for six years.

"It is a real pleasure to work with those who unselfishly give their time and talents at our hospital," said Mrs. Sheppard. "These are people who truly care about their fellowman. There is a real and continuing need for volunteer assistance at the VA Hospital. The volunteer brings an extra service to the care and treatment of the veteran-patient that cannot be furnished by the paid staff, regardless of its size and effectiveness."

Mrs. Sheppard explained that there is a need for volunteers to serve at the hospital during week days to provide escort service, write letters, take a book cart to the wards, provide administrative and clerical help, work on the wards with nurses and secretaries, read to the patients and assist with evening feeding for bedfast patients.

"It is time for recruitment of youth volunteers," continued Mrs. Sheppard. "Those between the ages of 15 and 13 who are interested may call the volunteer office between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. Appointments will be made for interviews, for assignments must be made before June 1."

Explaining that the hospital serves 57 counties in Texas and two in New Mexico, the new coordinator said many of the veterans' families are unable to visit the patients due to the distance from their homes and finance involved. Volunteers help make up for the separation from family by assisting with bingo games two evenings per week, showing movies Saturday nights and providing coffee and homemade cakes six mornings a week.

Through Chaplain Service, volunteers provide Bible study twice weekly and have Sunday school and Catholic Mass every week.

"Volunteers provide bibles, slippers and lap robes," said Mrs. Sheppard. "We use over 400 bibles a day. Many people who are unable to come to the hospital to work make these items in their home. Over 27,000 volunteer hours were logged last year by persons representing over 60 different organizations and groups serving the hospital."

PBX Honors Jimmy Taylor

Jimmy Taylor, president of First National Bank, has been named Boss of the Year by the PBX Club of Big Spring. A resident of Big Spring for 19 years, he has been associated with the bank since 1961.

A representative of the PBX Club said, "Mr. Taylor is a civic-minded person who is always ready to help our community. We appreciate his willingness to help the PBX Club. He's the type of boss who realizes that a PBX operator can benefit a place of business by being helpful and creating a good impression with the customer."

Taylor was cited for his notable record of community involvement in different areas. He is a vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, a director of the Muscular Dystrophy organization, officer of the Rotary Club, trustee of Howard College, board member for the Industrial Foundation, and an officer of the Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo and the Howard County Hereford Association.

As a worker with the junior rodeo and 4-H clubs, Taylor helps with the annual shows and sales. Also he is a Government Bond chairman and chairman of the Economic Development Council.

As local Boss of the Year, Taylor's name will be entered in competition for the state title which will be announced at the April 18-21 convention in Dallas.

The Taylor family resides at 2800 S. Birdwell Lane.

A LOVELIER YOU Clothes Catering To Tall Girl's Height

The overly tall, slender girl usually claims two problems as her own; finding a man who's taller than she is and finding clothes that make her look shorter than she is. If she solved the latter problem the chances are the first would solve itself.

At the moment she's got everything going for her in the fashion department. A growing number of clothes cater to her stature.

Moreover, some of the newest details in spring fashion are her special cup of flattery. As witness the longer jacket, fuller skirt, flower colors, splashy prints and plaids, bowed necklines, strapped shoes, and a hat with a beguiling wide brim.

And there are other ways to create the illusion of belle-sized proportions. Bras and girdles, designed to accent curves, are a natural. Clever hair-styling and makeup also further the cause.

For a modulating effect, hair should be trimmed just below the ears — neither a close crop nor a shoulder-length fall. It should be contoured to the crown and then puffed all around. In makeup the enhancing touches are a bluish high on the cheeks, a full lipline and a thick fringe of lashes.

But be warned, all goes for naught unless a slim-Jane carries herself gracefully. Slouching never conceals height. Rather it opens up problems of awkwardness.

YOUR GAIN
Are you too, too thin? And you never can gain an ounce? Send for my leaflet, YOUR GAIN. It shows you how to gain a pound a week by eating the right foods, working with spot increasing routines and having fun. Plus tips on your most flattering fashion styles. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller, in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Stanton Church Is Scene Of Wedding

MRS. MILTON CRAIG LAWHORN

The First Baptist Church of Stanton was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss LaWanda Jean Gaspie of Stanton to Milton Craig Lawhorn of Hereford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Gaspie Jr., Rt. 1, Stanton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lawhorn of Temple.

The Rev. J. R. Williams of Rule performed the ceremony, and music was by Mrs. Warren Hall, organist, and Miss Cheryl Curry, Lubbock, vocalist.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., Mr. and Mrs. Lawhorn will reside at 400 Ave. B, Apt. B, Hereford, where he is associated with Vista Land and Cattle Company. Lawhorn graduated from Texas Tech University, which his bride also attended.

flower girl, Kristi Fryar, the bride chose a traditional silk gown enhanced with re-embroidered Venise lace.

The molded bodice was styled with ring collar circled with scrolled lace, and the long sleeves,

Events Set For Single Parents

Troy Durham, a member of the local advisory board for Parents Without Partners, will attend the PWP national convention April 5-7 in New Orleans, La.

Locally, the following events schedule has been announced:

A general business meeting will be held at 8 p.m., Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Louise Kirkpatrick, 2201 Carl, and Saturday beginning at 8 p.m., there will be a game night at the home of Mrs. Estaleen Rice, 1406 E. 14th.

A family skating party is slated at 2 p.m., April 7, and a pot luck supper will be held at 7:30 p.m., April 13 at the home of Mrs. Chris Freeman, 2110 Johnson.

Members will go as a group to Easter sunrise services April 14, with a family bowling event slated that day at 4 p.m.

All single parents are invited to join the organization. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Rice at 267-5769.

Friday Winners For La Gallinas

Four tables were in play for the La Gallinas duplicate bridge game held Friday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club. Winner were Mrs. Paul Meek and Mrs. Ken Perry, first; Mrs. Ross Boykin and Mrs. John Thomas, second; and Mrs. George McAlister and Mrs. Auriel LaFond, third.

Members were reminded that the monthly Ladies Golf Association luncheon will be held Friday, along with the regular duplicate games as well as the La Gallinas play.

Stanton, niece of the bride wore a pastel pink dress and matching picture hat.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the fellowship hall. Assisting at the refreshment tables were Mrs. Future Brewer, Miss Linda Morelli and Mrs. Hal Dean, all of Lubbock;

Mrs. Bruce Lawhorn, Maryland; and Mrs. Tudy Willett, Big Spring. The tables for the bride and bridegroom were appointed with crystal and silver and featured silver candelabra and spring floral arrangements.

Among the out-of-town guests attending were the bridegroom's grandparents, Mrs. Milton Lumby and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lawhorn, all of Temple.

The rehearsal dinner was held Friday in Midland at the Branding Iron with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lawhorn as hosts.

Miss Shirley Lucas Weds Verl D. Shaw

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Dero Shaw are on a trip to South Texas following their wedding Friday evening at the Knott Church of Christ. The officiating minister was Philip Burcham and music was performed by a choral group from Big Spring.

The altar setting was centered with an arch decorated with greenery and blue carnations, flanked by arched candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and blue carnations.

The bride is the former Miss Shirley Renae Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Lucas, Sterling City, Big Spring. The bridegroom is the son of Verl Shaw of Knott and the late Mrs. Shaw.

After returning from the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will reside at Knott where he is engaged in farming. Shaw is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and his bride graduated from Garden City High School.

GUESTS

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Tobias, all of Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Billie Houston, Stanton; and Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Ferguson and family, Killeen.

The bride was attired in a full-length gown of sheer nylon organza, with lace accenting the V-shaped neckline, flounced hemline and deep cuffs of the sleeves. The skirt, which swept into a chapel train, was enhanced with a satin sash which formed a large bow at the center back. Her headpiece was an open-crown Camelot cap of ruffled lace with seed pearl trim which held her veil of illusion. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white gladioli, blue carnations and lily of the valley tied with satin streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Deborah Robinson of Garden City. The bridesmaids were Miss Debra Lucas and Denise Lucas, sisters of the bride; Miss Angela Gillispie and Miss Sherre Shaw, sisters of the bridegroom.

The women were identically attired in full-length gowns of blue organza styled with long, puffed sleeves and skirt overlaid with dotted organza flocked with roses. Their bouquets—similar to the bride's, were of white and blue carnations tied with satin ribbons.

BEST MAN

Richie Tubb of Big Spring served as best man, and groomsmen were Ricky Hughes and Danny Allred, both of Knott; Bob Nichols, Big Spring; and Tony Gillispie, Knott, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Larry Don Shaw, Knott, and James Rayburn, Big Spring, were the ushers.

MRS. VERL DERO SHAW

The flower girl was Tina Diziacinto, Big Spring.

Prior to leaving for South Texas, the newlyweds were honored at a reception in the home of the bridegroom's father, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Jill Tubb, Mrs.

Pam Nichols, Mrs. Leah Hughes, Miss Aletha Kemper and Miss Kay Wells.

The bride's table was covered with white net, overlaying blue polyester and the nuptial bouquets formed the centerpiece. The bridegroom's table was appointed in a similar fashion. Cake, coffee and punch were served.

The bridegroom's father hosted a rehearsal dinner Wednesday evening.

Republican Club Hosts Luncheon

The Howard County Republican Women's Club sponsored a fund-raising bridge luncheon Thursday at the K-C Steakhouse with over 30 tables in play. The use of the restaurant is a courtesy extended to the club annually by Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Green. The menu was planned by Mrs. Walter Wheat, and members provided the food.

Guests were greeted by the club officers: Mrs. Harold Bull, president; Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, vice president; Mrs. Ted Ferrell, treasurer; and Mrs. Garner McAdams, secretary.

The annual spring event features the sale of home baked breads, relishes, etc., and this year's prizes included 10 books of trading stamps and a cake baked (in the shape of a spring bonnet) by Miss Teresa Sheppard. Funds will be used in support of Republican political candidates.

Area Residents Visit Relatives

WESTBROOK (SC) — Debbie and Julie King spent several days in Coahoma with their grandparents, the Clarence Kings.

Mrs. Clyde Chambers and her granddaughter, Judy Lynn, were accompanied by Joyce McKenney for a weekend in Lubbock.

J. A. Moody has been dismissed from Hendricks Memorial Hospital, Abilene.

Add Diced Ham

Add diced baked ham that's left over to a cheese sauce and serve over crisp toast.

Mrs. C. Angel Will Give Book Review

The Friends of the Library will present Mrs. Clyde Angel, well-known area reviewer, at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at Howard County Library, 310 Scurry.

"In One Era and Out the Other," the book which Mrs. Angel has chosen to review, is a current best seller written by Sam Levenson. The program is open to the public at no charge.

'Miss The Good Old Days?' You Can Relive Them Soon

"Shine On Big Spring," the Heritage Museum's next exhibit, is shaping well-according to Roy Peet, in charge of arranging the display. The opening should hit the target of April 8.

There is a need for colored slides of West Texas sunsets, a fiddle, guitar, wooden water bucket (with gourd, if possible) dipper, wooden handle knives and forks, small looking glass to hang over a shelf, a metal comb, kerosene hanging lamps, small lithograph of "Custer's Last Stand."

Thanks to Bill and Faye Reed, "Miss Kitty" will be on hand to welcome visitors at the Fred Korn's Saloon. K. H. McGibbon hopes to have the barbershop ready for a haircut, shave (with your own mug) and a two-bit bath. Agnes Currie has the Widow Murphy's kitchen furnished like it was in the days when she called "come and get it" to hungry cowboys willing to pay 25 cents a meal.

A timely gift came from Webb AFB which is providing its old covered wagon with bows for the wagon shed. Sig Rogers, who has been a faithful supporter of the museum, plans to move and place the wagon on outside display. By the way, tulips planted by the Garden Club Council are beginning to adorn the south flower beds.

If you're in Colorado City 7:30 p.m., Monday or Tuesday or 4 p.m., Monday, don't miss the road show student production of Arthur Fauquez's delightful "Reynard the Fox" at the Playhouse.

Though supposedly a children's play, anyone should find some fun in this University of Texas at Austin production. Children's tickets are $1, and adults' are $1.50, available 1-5 p.m. in the Opera House box office. Call 728-3491.

Midland's Museum of the Southwest will schedule a Robert Marshall watercolor workshop April 22-26. The Utah artist will conduct morning and afternoon sessions totaling 20 hours instruction. Cost for museum members is $50 and $60 for non-members. Eight hours of evening instruction will also be offered for $25 for non-members and $20 for members. A 50 per cent deposit is required on a first come, first served basis. Call the museum, 682-2882, for information.

In Houston, the new Brown Pavilion is open at the Museum of Fine Arts. The place has a host of permanent collections and temporary exhibits that should interest any patron of art.

Mrs. Petty Cited By Altrusans

Mrs. Pauline Petty was honored as Altrusa Club "sweetheart" when the women held a business luncheon Thursday at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Petty was presented a carnation corsage and a book of verse. Mrs. Margaret Ray, a guest at the luncheon and a co-worker of the honoree, gave highlights of Mrs. Petty's career as county clerk. She announced that Mrs. Petty's record has been entered in state competition for the title of Clerk of the Year.

Mrs. Frances Hendrick, president, spoke briefly, telling of new Altrusa clubs which are being formed in England and New Zealand. Members were reminded of the Boys' Club open house today. This is one of the local organizations supported by Altrusa.

The invocation was by Mrs. Ruby Billings.

Political Rally Is Slated Tuesday

WESTBROOK (SC) — There will be a political rally at the regular meeting of the Golden Age Club at 7 p.m., Tuesday. Mrs. Lillie Ward, program chairman, said all political candidates address the group. Mrs. A. G. Anderson, president, said, refreshments will be served.

Cleanup Continuing In All Areas Of City

Reports on the city-wide cleanup were made by Mrs. Odell Womack for the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales.

The Comanche Trail Park is the continuing clean-up project assigned to the Garden Club Council according to Mrs. Womack. Other clubs in the city have been assigned various other areas. The speaker told of "the good work" the garden clubs, city commission and other citizens are doing in the clean-up campaign.

Announcement was made of the new hike and bike trails planned and also of beautification being done on the historical "big spring" site. This work on the city park, Big Spring State Park and Buffalo Trail Park has been reported to Mrs. J. A. Van Auker, state chairman.

Mrs. Womack also reported on the District 1 meeting last week in horticulture and parks and forestry.

Others attending from Big Spring were Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mrs. John Knox and Mrs. Albert Hohertz. Mrs. Paul Guy has made year-books, four for each club officer which will be handed on as the officers change.

Cacti have been donated for a garden in the park.

R INCLUDE MEDICINE CABINET IN YOUR SPRING CLEANING

When as the robin red breast reminds you spring has finally arrived and the good news stirs you into an energetic round of spring cleaning don't forget the medicine cabinet. It's unwise to keep prescription drugs "on hand" after the specific condition for which they were ordered has been cured. You should not take potent medicines without your doctor's advice, self-diagnosis can do more harm than good.

The less crowded your drug storage area is the less chance for a mistake when reaching for a bottle. If you like you can bring us any drugs you wish to discard and we'll be glad to dispose of them safely.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

MRS. DAVID EARL TIDWELL

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

The wedding of Miss Jessica Jayne Billingsley to David Earl Tidwell was solemnized in an afternoon ceremony performed Saturday by Phillip Burcham, minister, in the Knott Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Billingsley, Rt. 1, Ackerly, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tidwell, Rt. 1, Big Spring.

A prelude of nuptial music was performed by a choral group from the Anderson Street Church of Christ, Big Spring. The wedding party stood before an altar accented with a large center arrangement of daisies and white mums flanked by baskets of yellow daisies, mums and greenery.

The bride's wedding attire was a formal-length gown of white nylon eyelet accented with a high lace collar and wide band of lace with satin buttons on the bodice. The empire waistline was banded in white satin. A deep ruffle with lace insert enhanced the hemline of the softly gathered skirt, and the Juliet-styled sleeve featured a band of lace insertion above the elbow. She wore a white straw picture hat trimmed with ruffled nylon and blue satin ribbon, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white daisy mums and blue carnations interspersed with babies'-breath.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Rickey Jackson, Big Spring, who carried a white wicker basket of mixed spring flowers in yellow, blue and white. Her formal-length gown was of blue and white checked gingham featuring white eyelet trim on the bodice and short, puffed sleeves.

BEST MAN

Ricky Jones, Big Spring, was best man, and ushers were Robbie O'Daniel, Coahoma, and Albert LaRochelle of Odessa. Jay Billingsley, brother of the bride, was ring bearer, and the flower girl was Lara Beth Tidwell, Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom. Her floor-length dress, styled similar to the maid of honor's, was in yellow and white checked gingham, and she wore a headpiece of yellow and white nylon flowers.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church where refreshments were served by Miss Donna Gaskins, Big Spring, Mrs. Richie Tubb, Midland, Mrs. Wanda Tidwell, Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Albert LaRochelle, Odessa.

The bride's table was laid with a yellow and white checked gingham cloth with deep ruffle. A white wicker basket held spring flowers, and the tiered cake was topped with mixed spring flowers. The bridegroom's table was laid with a blue and white checked cloth and centered with a large blue candle circled with spring flowers. The chocolate cake was decorated with yellow and white flowers. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

GUESTS

Out-of-town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Michelson, Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Billingsley, Knickerbocker; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anthony, Midland.

Tidwell is a graduate of Coahoma High School who is employed by Wilson Construction Company, and his wife, a Sands High School graduate, is a secretary at Big Spring State Hospital. After returning from a wedding trip to New Mexico, they will reside at 305 E. 13th.

Class For Expectant Mothers

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will offer a special class for expectant mothers which will begin at the center April 2. Each class will be held on Tuesday at 1 p.m. and will run for three weeks. At the end of each three-week period a new class will begin.

The mothers must be enrolled in the class before its beginning and no applicants will be accepted into that particular class once it begins. Those particular applicants will be entered into the next class.

The class is a special prenatal and postpartum exercise program emphasizing proper body mechanics and muscle strengthening. It will be taught by a licensed physical therapist. A physician's referral will be required.

Any interested mother should contact her physician who can refer the mother to the center. Those expectant mothers who are interested should call the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for registration and information.

West Texas Girl Scout Council Plans Canoe Trip For Campers

Reservations are still open for two canoe trips for West Texas Girl Scout campers. Camp Booth Oaks is offering a one-week trip, June 2-8 for girls who have completed the seventh grade up. Rhonda Sands and Lin Bell will take the girls on a wilderness adventure down the Brazos River. Boothe Oaks will also sponsor a two-week canoe trip, June 9-22, for experienced canoeists. This trip will be on the San Marcos River. Beginners have to jump into deep water, recover calmly, tread water and swim with ease as a prerequisite for the trip. The two-weekers must jump or dive into water over their head, surfacing in full control of faculties while fully clothed. They also must swim a recognized stroke for 15 yards, relax in a floating position and tread water with hands held high above surface. Campers will be transported to their river departure points and returned to Camp Boothe Oaks on the last day of the sessions. Area scouts should register by April 15.

Quotable Women

"The Bedford-Stuyvesant Design Works is the latest chapter in the unique development of this marvelous program. I'm proud to be a part of it. I know that Bobby would be, too, because he knew that believing in America is making it work." Rose Kennedy, mother of the late Democratic senator Robert Kennedy, speaking about a textile printing plant, one of a number of industries in the Brooklyn, N.Y., Bedford Stuyvesant area that were inspired by Kennedy.

BOYS' CLUB of Big Spring OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY from 3 to 5 p.m.

Also opening of the New Addition — the Senior Boys Game Room, New Exercise
Room and New Restrooms and Showers.

The new addition building was purchased and donated by a local benefactor and money for remodeling and equipment was donated by the Dora Roberts Foundation.

These two articles were selected as the best in a contest held at the Boys' Club, boys writing on the subject:

What The Boys' Club Means To Me

The best thing I like at the Boys' Club is the arts and crafts. The teachers think of a lot of good things to make, like painting molds. The teachers are very nice; sometimes they even give us candies. And the director is very nice. He lets me make a lot of things; he lets me make some string pictures to deliver them to our friends. He is the best friend I have at the Boys' Club.

And in the work shop, I have a friend that lets me do a lot of things. He is Jimmy De Leon. He is nice too. Another friend is Ken Pollard. He helps me make whatever I want to make.

Danny Chavez, Age 9

The Boys' Club means to me: To have fun. And to have friends. And to keep you out of serious trouble. And to be clean in your environment. And to be loyal to your Boys' Club.

But best of all, it's nice to have a man like Bert around to help us with our troubles, to cheer us up when we are sad. I could say that the Boys' Club is like a cousin to me.

What Is A Boys' Club

A Boys' Club is an all-boy daily building centered program: Where boys, 6 to 18 years of age, may go any weekday afternoon and evening; all day on Saturdays and school vacations . . . the year around.

Where they can find companionship, warmth and friendliness, safe from the physical and moral dangers of the streets.

Where there is physical training and athletics; shower baths with wonderful hot water.

Where there is a chance to make things with their hands in the crafts shops, enhancing carry-over opportunities for hobbies in adult life; and discover and develop talents through group life; library programs, music appreciation, and other cultural activities.

Where they have the everyday guidance of trained leaders in their behavior, attitudes and problems. This is the core of Boys' Club — Boy Guidance — that has inspired the Boys' Clubs of America slogan, "FUN WITH A PURPOSE."

Where any boy can afford to belong as Boys' Clubs Membership are from 25¢ to $1.00 per year. Here then any boy, regardless of his parents' economical status, can feel he really belongs to his Club because he knows he is a Boys' Club member on equal footing with all his fellow members.

Where boys are encouraged to attend the church of their parents choice as Boys' Clubs are unmistakably non-sectarian in both membership and control.

Where honest, strong and useful citizens are developed for a better community and a stronger nation.

All these descriptions together make up a Boys' Club, a unique organization, because there is no other single organization that features all of these points.

The Civic Minded Merchants and Individuals Listed Below, Wish You To Join In A Salute To Our Local Boys' Club During National Boys' Club Week, March 31 - April 6. The Boys' Club of America Is A Community Project of Which We May Be Justly Proud. We Urge Your Support.

Class Attracts Senior Citizens

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Ruby Douglass, 89, has attended her first college course lecture 73 years after leaving school. She enrolled in an evening geography class at Portland State University "so's to get smart, I guess," said Mrs. Douglass, who will be 90 in June. "I wasn't good at geography, and sometimes I'm disturbed that I read in the newspapers and don't know where places are." She wasn't the only senior citizen in the class Thursday night. Sitting in the same row was Ava Garratt, who is in her early 80s. She earned a liberal arts degree many years ago from Pacific University and now audits courses in subjects interesting to her.

room at the local Boys' Club one day this week. The club will host an open house this afternoon.

Expanded Boys' Club Will Have Open House Today

Over 450 boys between the ages of 6 and 18 are members of the local Boys Club. The facility is located at 212 E. 3rd and will host an open house today from 3-5 p.m.

Recent expansion of the club includes a new senior boys' game room which is used every afternoon and on weekends to capacity. Bert Andries, director, said from 70-100 boys attend daily.

A center exercise room is also included in the new section of the recently expanded building. This includes weight equipment, a trampoline and a boxing area.

Wrestling and boxing and muscle building are part of the club activity program.

They also play basketball in a small gymnasium in the back. The back section of the new area includes new rest rooms and dressing rooms.

Other activities sponsored by the club include woodwork, the game room, arts and crafts and others. They also have a television area and a library. They lease a pool from the city in the summer and operate a swimming program.

A board of directors backs the work of the club. Often assisting the director are two of the board members, John de la Rosa and Mrs. Fred Hyer.

We feel the work here is extremely important. It gives a lot of boys a place to go for recreation after school and on weekend. We join boys clubs throughout the nation in saluting National Boys Club week and invite the public to drop by and view our facilities.

Groups To Study Hospital Care

County Judge A. G. Mitchell Monday plans to appoint committee members to work with City Council representatives investigating policy problems with charity hospital care.

County Commissioners Court will open bids on janitorial service work at the courthouse, discuss bids on a typewriter for the county extension office and consider buying a refrigerator. The meeting starts at 9 a.m.

Refreshments For Guests

The Big Spring Boys Club will host an open house today in observance of National Boys Club week and to show off expansion of the club accomplished during the past year.

Bert Andries, director of the club here since its inception in 1967 will direct the open house, assisted by members of the board. Open house hours are 3-5 p.m. with coffee and cookies to be served. Three new sections have been added to the club with the recent expansion.

The board includes Bill Crocker, president; Mrs. Virginia Black, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson, John de la Rosa, Mrs. Fred Hyer, Mrs. G. C. Broughton, Herbert Johnson, Harlan Huijbregtse, Tom Henry, Arnold Marshall and Mrs. Bessie Love.

Mail Should Be Posted By 5:00

Postmaster Frank Hardesty said the 22 collection boxes in principal city routes are emptied between 3 and 5 p.m., and citizens should place mail in the boxes before 3 p.m. to insure dispatch that day.

There are also 75 residential collection boxes, with varying pick-up times posted on the boxes and six substations at locations like Webb Air Force Base and T.G.I.Y. with 3 and 5 p.m. pick-up times. Hardesty asks citizens to note the pick-up times of their area boxes.

Mail is dispatched from Big Spring 4:05 and 5:30 p.m. and should be in the Post Office by 5:20 p.m. if it's to be dispatched the same day. The Post Office now operates 22 city delivery routes, four star routes, two rail routes and a parcel route — all motorized with 23 trucks and jeeps.

Forsan's Cancer Crusade Nearing

The Forsan Cancer Crusade will begin door-to-door operations 7 p.m. next Tuesday with a staff of eight.

The group's chairman is Ann Fairchild and her co-workers are Marie Wall, Jo Strickland, Billie Strickland, Rose Murphy, Sue Holguin, Hattie Griffith and Loretta Yarbrough.

"We'll try our best to get all we can," Mrs. Fairchild said Thursday.

Awards Presented To Pack 29 Cubs

Rank awards were presented to a number of Cubs in Pack 29 at its Blue and Gold banquet during the past weekend.

Cubmaster Bill Cregar presented Bobcat pins to Dave McDonough, Steve Alvarez, and Henry Alvarez. The wolf badge went to Leon Heredia, Mike McDonough, Adolphus Rosas and Wade McMurray; the Bear badge to Layne Mims and Randall McDonald.

Service pins went to Layne Mims, Randall McDonald, Leon Heredia, Mike McDonough, Adolphus Rosas, Wade McMurray, Dave McDonough, Jimmy Cannon, Vance Howard, Kelly Long and Wayne Welander.

Mrs. Daniel Herdia and Mrs. Stanley McDonough, den mothers were honored as was Den Chief Mike McDonald. Guests at the banquet were the Lone Star executive and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Griffith.

Plan To Clean Up Sewage Will Cost $175 Million

HOUSTON (AP) — About 40 million gallons of inadequately treated sewage is flowing into streams here daily because City of Houston sewage plants are overloaded, the city admits.

The admission was in a report the city made to the Texas Water Quality Board.

The city also submitted a plan to clean up the problem within five years, at a cost of $175 million.

THREAT

The water quality board has threatened to stop new connections that would further overload the sewer system unless the city makes more progress in upgrading it.

Nineteen of the city's 43 treatment plants now lack capacity to handle all the sewage they receive on an average day, the report said.

The worst offender is at the city's largest plant on Buffalo Bayou which flows into the Houston Ship Channel, long called one of the most polluted bodies of water in the nation. This plant has a capacity of 55 million gallons a day, but it currently must handle about 87 million gallons, 58 per cent above its capacity.

The other 18 overloaded plants have a capacity to treat a total of 10.66 million gallons a day, but must handle 13.35 million gallons, 72 per cent above capacity.

NECESSITY

Charles Williams, chief of the city's sewer division, says all excess sewage received by these plants is inadequately treated and fails to meet anti-pollution water quality standards.

The city plans to abandon 11 of the overloaded plants in the next three years and divert sewage to other plants being expanded. Expansion also is expected for the other eight overloaded plants.

The city already is refusing to issue building permit for new construction in many sections where the sewer system cannot handle a greater load.

The city report says, "The city is cognizant of the necessity for some form of growth control" until adequate sewage facilities can be provided. Officials here are now studying just what kind of controls are necessary.

The city must submit a master plan to the state for correction by June 1.

Recommends Elderly Sex

BOSTON (AP) — The operators of homes for the elderly should take a more tolerant attitude toward sex among their patients, a gerontologist says.

He recommends that a special room might even be set aside in nursing homes in which patients might engage in sex.

Sex "offers the elderly the kind of relief from anxieties that others find, for example, in alcohol, eating, tranquilizers, marijuana and hard drugs and violent behavior," Dr. Victor Kassel of Salt Lake City, Utah, said.

"An enlightened nursing home recognizes the therapeutic value of sexual activity among the aged because they, too, suffer from anxieties," he told hospital administrators attending the New England Hospital Assembly's annual meeting.

Kassel said the tolerance should extend to homosexuality and sex between unmarried persons by mutual consent.

Laws regulating sexual activity were written to protect the family, he said. However, when an 80-year-old man and a consenting 90-year-old woman want to have sex together, there hardly seems a need for consideration of family, he added.

Kassel maintained that in the care of the elderly there often is too much concern about what others will say. Too many nursing home practices are instituted to satisfy families of patients rather than patients themselves, he said.

"Sex is like a person's appetite for food. It varies with the individual, but generally it follows that if a person had a healthy sexual appetite in youth, that appetite will continue in old age," Kassel said.

78-Year-Old Conned Out Of $10,000

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A 78-year-old retired south side man was conned out of $10,000 in cash, police said.

They reported three men enticed him into watching a card game and then induced him to borrow the money from his bank to "help out" one of the trio.

Policeman W. H. Mitchell said the victim was driving his pickup when the first of the three—a Negro about 40 years old—flagged him down and sought a ride to a motel. He said he needed to go to settle a $13,000 estate.

While they were driving toward the motel, a second man—white and about 28 years old—also stopped the pickup, and a black man asked him for directions to the motel.

The two went to an apartment complex with the retired man and a third man—black, about 26 years old—joined them.

A card game ensued inside the pickup and the white man first lost $10,000, and then won that back plus an additional $3,000. But the first black man refused to pay him, saying the white man had been playing on credit before.

The white man pleaded with the 78-year-old to help him. So the retired man drove to a downtown bank and borrowed the $10,000.

Back at the apartment complex, one of the black men asked to count the $10,000, but the retired man "refused to let him," police said.

"The first black male grabbed the money out of his (the retired man's) hands, and all three ran off while he (the retired man) sat in his pickup," they reported.

He will be in the County Spelling Bee April 4. Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dromsky Jr., 47 Chanute, and Malinda is the daughter of Mrs. Rosa Lopez, 508 NW 6th.

BOYDSTUN'S BEST — Best spellers at Boydston elementary are Kelli Bearden, 10, left, fourth grader, and daughter of Mrs. Norma Bearden, 1203 Wood, the champion, and Tammy Spears, 10, fifth grader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spears, Gail Route, runnerup. Kelli, who won on "amputee" may be the youngest speller in the County Bee April 4.

Some 58,000 Aliens Are Stopped By U.S. Patrol

O. D. Stevens, chief patrol agent of the Marfa Border Patrol sector, quoting L. W. Gilman, Southwest Regional Commissioner, said today that during the period Feb. 4 through March 1 some 58,000 illegal aliens were apprehended in the Southwest Region.

Chief Stevens further states that from March 1 through March 19, 1974, the Marfa Sector Border Patrol, which includes Big Spring has apprehended 1925 deportable aliens with a daily average of 101.31. Chief Stevens points out that of the 1925 aliens arrested thus far this month, 811 were located within 72 hours after their entry into the United States.

In the Marfa Sector, eleven illegal aliens have been prosecuted and sentenced in federal court this month, with prosecution pending against several others for violation of the immigration laws. The aggregate sentence imposed was fifty-four months and five days.

Only the most flagrant violators of the immigration laws are prosecuted. For example, Mario Aragon-Miramontes, a Mexican national illegally in the United States, was arrested by Marfa Border Patrol Agents March 2.

Aragon had previously been allowed to depart the United States voluntarily six times, the last being on Feb. 28. On the present occasion, charges for violation of 8 USC 1325 (entry into the United States without inspection) were filed to which Aragon pled guilty. He was sentenced to three months imprisonment in the Federal District Court in El Paso on Mar. 12.

On February 27, 1974, Ft. Stockton Border Patrol Agents arrested Luis Burrula-Gardea, a Mexican national who had been previously formally deported from the United States. Charges for violation of 8 USC 1325 (entry into the United States

Proxmire Used Wrong Figures, Firm Contends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Monsanto Corp. says Sen. William Proxmire apparently used wrong figures in saying that its president had received a 45 per cent increase in pay, bonuses and other benefits in 1973.

The corporation replied to the Wisconsin Democrat's claims that some top corporate executives had received salary and benefit increases that may have violated Cost of Living Council regulations.

Proxmire had listed Monsanto president John W. Henley as having the highest total salary —$406,900 — of all the executives he named. Proxmire said this represented a 45 per cent increase.

Monsanto replied: "The fact is Mr. Henley's salary rate was the same as that for 1972. The erroneous figures probably came from a New York Times article of March 25, which inadvertently listed Mr. Henley's 1973 salary as his total 1972 remuneration and then proceeded to compare it with his aggregate remuneration for 1973," a Monsanto spokesman said.

Tape Recording Piracy Crippling Music Firms

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — For millions of Americans, the tape piracy racket means saving a few bucks to hear recordings of their favorite music. For the music industry it means profit losses of roughly $250 million a year, and the spending of millions more to avoid those losses.

CRIPPLES IT

"Anytime you take that much money out of an industry, it cripples it. Whether it can stand to be crippled and still walk I'm not sure," says Glenn Snoddy, vice president of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences—NARAS.

"The rank-and-file person who owns a tape player is hard pressed not to buy cheaper tapes," said Snoddy. "But he has to come to the realization that he's buying something that's illegal. I don't think you can call anything that's illegal a bargain."

Selling at anywhere from $2 to $3 apiece, the pirated tapes are being sold by music fans who find the "bargain" at major department stores, truck stops, service stations and record shops.

LAW PROBLEM

"They're retailing the stuff at less than what it's sold for by wholesalers. There's no way a legitimate business can compete with that," said Jack Frances, a New York-based investigator with the antipiracy bureau of the Recording Industry Association of America—RIAA.

The academy, the industry association and the Country Music Association, among others, are pooling their time and money to combat the racket—by providing information obtained through their own task forces to the FBI and local law officials.

One big problem lies with the law, or lack of it.

"Thirty-one states have no statutes outlawing tape piracy, defined as lifting the sound off a legitimate recording and selling it under another label or no label at all.

Federal copyright statutes prohibit tape duplication only on products manufactured after Feb. 15, 1972. Everything prior to that is fair game, played by four rules.

Nevertheless, industry experts say they are making headway against a racket which evolved from the recent advent of eight-track and cassette tapes.

"Our association within the last two years has spent close to $2 million setting up a nationwide network of investigators to track down these pirates," said Henry Brief, industry association executive director.

"It appears now that we are finally beginning to turn the corner on this thing and gain the offensive against the pirates."

Top Rung 1st For Film Man

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Director Stanley Kramer once told film students, "If you want to break into the movie business, don't start at the bottom and work your way up. Go out and raise money and make your own film."

Today an astonishing number of young film makers are doing just that. Some of them have come to grief, spending $20,000 or more on movies that will never be seen by the public. A few, like Terence Malick, make it.

Malick, 30, wrote, directed and produced "Badlands," which won rave reviews at last year's New York Film Festival and is being released by Warner Brothers. Five years ago he was teaching philosophy at M.I.T.

"I was teaching while I was doing my doctoral work for a couple of years," recalled the round-faced, balding Malick, a Harvard graduate. "I wasn't a very good teacher, so I dropped it all to come out here. Why I'm not sure. Except that I wanted to make a living from something I was enthusiastic for."

He had never been a movie buff, but he thought he might like to try his hand at film making. Happily, the American Film Institute in 1969 was beginning its program of fellowships for budding film makers. Malick was accepted.

"It was like going to a vocational school," he said. "We learned a little theory, especially when directors came to visit, but mostly it was a matter of learning how to run machines — cameras, moviola, sound, etc. The training was great."

'Laughing Policeman' Tells Of Mass Murder

"The Laughing Policeman", a detective thriller produced and directed by Stuart Rosenberg and starring Walter Matthau and Bruce Dern is showing now at the Ritz Theatre.

Based upon the "Edgar" award-winning Martin Beck detective novel by Swedish writers Per Wahloo and Maj Sjöwall, the film is the story of the investigation of a mass murder aboard a bus.

The action has been transposed from the novel's setting of Stockholm to San Francisco where Rosenberg spent four months researching the homicide division of the police. Although the film remains true to the novel, many of its events are based on actual incidents he observed.

Also featured in the cast are Lou Gossett, Cathy Lee Crosby, Anthony Zerbe, Val Avery, Mario Gallo, Joanna Cassidy, Albert Paulsen and members

Drag Racer, Kin Filmed At Tracks

FUNNY CAR SUMMER (G), starting Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, follows Jim Dunn and his family through one entire racing season. It was filmed on location in City, Sacramento and Tulsa. A ten man crew shot 60,000 feet of film before the motion picture was shaped into its final form.

Its musical core is the original work of John Andrew Tartaglia, whose credits include music for the "NBC Mystery Movie," the "ABC Movie of the Week," and "Alias Smith and Jones."

Butch, Kid Hit Cinema Screen

One of the most popular films of recent times, 20th Century-Fox's "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," starring Paul Newman, Robert Redford and Katharine Ross, returns on Wednesday to the Cinema Theatre. The George Roy Hill — Paul Monash production was filmed in Panavision and De Luxe Color on location in Utah, Colorado and Mexico.

Produced by John Foreman and Directed by George Roy Hill, "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" deals with the leaders of one of the last of the great bands of riders to take to the outlaw trail. Burch and the Kid did their thing at the turn of the century, much later than Jesse James and his brother Frank whose exploits have had far greater attention from movie-makers.

Sort Of A Gallop Poll

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Constitutional Convention amended its travel expense regulations Thursday to cover Rep. Ben Grant's travels to Austin by horseback.

"I thank you, and my horse thanks you," said Grant, a Democrat from Marshall, after the convention voted 160-1 to give him 10 cents a mile for the 286 miles he rode horseback to the convention.

Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, offered the resolution saying that convention rules did not allow horseback expenses as did the last convention in 1875. He proposed 20 cents a mile, as the 1876 convention allowed, but a committee amended the resolution to 10 cents a mile, the same allowed delegates who traveled to Austin by automobile.

"There are lots of extra expenses traveling by horse," Grant said. "There is the cost of linament for certain portions of my body and then there is the cost of finding hay at each stop, which is not easy."

Mercury Desolate World Of Craters

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10 sped away from Mercury today after revealing the tiny planet to be a desolate moonlike world of craters surrounded by a thin atmosphere of poisonous gases.

Man's first close-up views of the mysterious planet were relayed 92 million miles to earth Friday in a series of television pictures. One scientist said the pictures were "spectacular beyond my wildest expectations."

Hundreds of pictures streamed across television monitors at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, leaving scientists as puzzled as they were excited.

'Chicken' Story Just Didn't Wash

WEST COVINA, Calif. (AP) — "I didn't streek myself," Jeff Matzke beseached the judge. "I was chicken."

Matzke, 19, told Municipal Court Judge Sam Cianchetti that he only drove the getaway car for three friends who streaked through a restaurant last weekend.

But that didn't wash with the judge, who ordered Matzke not to jail, but excused from jury trying a theater operator on obscenity charges for showing the sex film "Deep Throat."

Cianchetti gave no reason.

The flow of pictures was halted only briefly as Mariner skimmed past the planet's dark side just 450 miles above the surface Friday.

Television team leader Dr. Bruce Murray said Mercury seems to be like the moon — pitted by thousands of craters, ancient marks of meteorites exploding against the surface.

Like the moon, Mercury is dry and rugged, so inhospitable that chances of it supporting life seem virtually nil. It is the solar system's closest planet to the sun and is scorched mercilessly.

Sycamore Newsprint

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Researchers say they have developed a process which could double the production of newsprint from American forests.

William L. Belvin, director of Herty Foundation Laboratories, said Thursday the process, called "silage sycamore," involves growing sycamore trees in rows like cotton and harvesting them every three to five years.

The short rotation system is based on the fact that a cut sycamore stump will sprout again and several crops can be grown from the same stumps.

During the 30 years needed to produce a rotation of pine trees for pulpwood, this process would produce 350 to 400 tons of sycamore per acre, according to H. E. Raurk, director of the Georgia Forest Research Council.

Ruark said the annual yield using the sycamore process would be more than four cords per acre, roughly double the average yield of Southern pine.

Geologists were at a loss to give immediate explanations for several features. There was a long depression that looked like a narrow ditch etched into the land, occasional surface cracks, or a 100-mile-long raised ridge slicing across one crater.

They were also wondering about a magnetic field detected near Mercury. It is stronger than that observed near the moon, which is about one per cent of the earth's field.

Temperatures varied tremendously on Mercury — from about 950 degrees Fahrenheit to 300 degrees below zero.

The sharp-sighted spacecraft will continue to photograph Mercury as it streaks away at 24,000 miles per hour. The photo sessions will last until April 11. Then Mariner will sail into an orbit around the sun.

Building Sets All-Time Mark Within State

DALLAS (AP) — Texas construction had the best quarter in history, the Texas Contractor will say in its Tuesday edition.

The industry magazine will say that fuel and other problems apparently have had no effect on construction.

The first quarter figure for Texas is $525,263,252, eclipsing the old record set in 1973 by $95 million.

"The amazing volume so far this year," the magazine says, "is keyed by large-amount contracts such as the $46,861,576 job of building the Southwest unit of Memorial Hospital System in Houston. It was awarded to H.A. Lott.

There were 36 job awards in March which totaled more than a million dollars each.

In addition to the quarterly record, March itself was a record month with contracts for $214,538,933.

The Texas Contractor will say that there are hundreds of small jobs being let, "which indicates the construction activity will continue at a rapid rate for the next several months."

Jones Will Talk On Christ Trial

Big Spring attorney Gil Jones will give a lawyer's version of the trial of Jesus in St. Paul's Lutheran Church 7:30 p.m. today.

SHORTAGES A BOTHER Outside Bomb Belt, Most Argentines Live Quietly

PUERTO MANZANO, Argentina (AP) — "Up here, we don't want to know about them," says a young inkeeper of Argentina's turbulent cities. "If they kill themselves, fine. If they live, that's fine."

This lakeside port, like most of Argentina, is outside the bomb belt of Buenos Aires, Cordoba and Rosario. They hear about kidnaps, terrorism and riots, but that is another world.

"It's like when something happens to a neighbor's children and not your own," said a woman in the Andean town of El Bolson. "You don't really feel it. Argentina is very comfortable. It's only shortages of things like cooking oil and sugar that bother us."

Argentina is a squiggly-edged wedge of plains, mountains and deserts totaling one million square miles, a third the size of the United States and five times larger than France.

Argentines are mainly the children and grandchildren of Italians, Spaniards, Poles, Germans, Englishmen and others who migrated after military campaigns in the late 1800s reduced the Indians to scattered settlements.

Nearly nine million live in Buenos Aires, and they set themselves apart with the name "porteno." The industria centers of Cordoba and Rosario have a million people each.

Elegant ladies and manicured men go from tea shop to opera to the races as in most sophisticated of the world's societies.

But 12 million people live in 250 rural cities and towns, or scattered in ones and twos from icy Tierra del Fuego to tropical Iguazu Falls. For the Argentines, that is all "the interior."

Gauchos in baggy pants on sheepskin saddles still herd cows. Businessmen start work early and then sleep for two hours after lunch. Friends sit around fireplaces and fires playing the guitar and sipping a strong tea called mate through silver straws.

While Portenos elect union bosses and attend demonstrations, rural Argentines vote in a "gypsum queen" and go to the National Hops Festival.

Life often is simple in the interior. One porteno applying for work on a ranch

Catamarca asked if they had hot water. "We haven't even got cold water," came the reply.

The interior is highly political, but it differs clearly from the three big cities. Peronist youth parading in the northern town of Salta giggle and pose for a foreign photographer. In Buenos Aires, a cameraman was carried along in a parade at gunpoint.

In Ushuala, the southernmost city in the world, Peronists are organized but orderly. In Posadas, high in the north, wall slogans speak more of President Alfredo Stroessner of neighboring Paraguay than of any Argentine.

Much of the interior was pioneered by people who had nothing to do with Buenos Aires. Spanish colonizers came from the north and west as well as from the coast. Later, Europeans rode over the Andes from Chile to Patagonia.

Welsh, not Spanish, is spoken on some southern sheep spreads. In isolated little towns, travelers might hear only Yiddish or Dutch all morning long.
